Should Pep Rallies be held during school hours?

Mrs. Kenneth Dunn, 913 Rhoads: "If I were one of the kids going to school... sure!"

Stanley Schneider, 816 Lynn: "I would be in favor of having it during school... to bolster school spirit. It also allows all students to attend."

Mrs. Charles McClure, 1801 N. Nelson: "No, I don't! I think there is too much emphasis on athletics already. There is little enough time for necessary studies as it is."

Paul Carter, 1040 S. Christy: "I think it should be after school. It would force some students to miss some of their regular classes."

Carolyn Gallman, 805 Lefors: "Yes, I do. Discussions of the game are held during classes... so why not?"

First Manned Space Station May Be Russians

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—The first manned space station to orbit the world may bear the hammer and sickle of the Soviet Union.

Space experts attending the annual meeting of America's most prestigious aerospace society said the Russians already have flight tested all the elements of an embryonic space station and may soon attempt to create one.

A major puzzle, they said Monday, is why no such station was put together during the flight of Soyuz 6, 7 and 8 this month. The answer may be that trouble developed during the flight, they said.

Fritz C. Runge, advanced space station program manager for the McDonnell-Douglas Astronautics Co., said the three space vehicles—carrying a total of seven cosmonauts—constituted the sections for "modules" of a total station.

"They had space station equipment up there," he told a news conference at the sixth annual meeting of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

Another possibility, Runge said, is that the Russian were testing the station components individually before trying to link them up—a technique already demonstrated on earlier two-spacecraft Soyuz flights.

Charles R. Ellsworth, manager of the agency's early space station program at Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., said the United States today has all the technological know-how needed to build space station. U.S. plans call for a three-man orbital workshop in 1972, followed in 1975 by a 12-man space station that would be enlarged, section by section, until it became a 50-man space base by 1980.

Houstonites Ask For Clean Air

HOUSTON (UPI)—Houston residents told the Texas Air Control Board Monday they were tired of breathing bad air daily. They asked the board to take action to clean the air and one man said the board was guilty of dereliction of duty.

"Time is running out," said Harris County Judge Bill Elliott. "We who have been fighting are a little weary of industry and some of the Main Street crowd who have fought against meaningful control and regulations."

Elliott, along with Galveston County Judge Raymond Holbrook and Houston Mayor Louie Welch asked the board to ban visible exhausts on automobiles and trucks. They also requested the board to quit granting variances, a decree granted to industries which claim they are trying to solve their pollution problems.

At the same time, three Houston area firms—Trinity Portland Cement Co., the Allied Fence Corp., and the Warren Brothers Co.—asked the board for variances.

Japanese Leftists Demonstrate Against Regime, U.S. Alliance

TOKYO (UPI)—Hundreds of thousands of demonstrators turned parts of the world's largest city into an urban battleground today in protest against Japan's alliance with the United States.

Nearly 500 persons were arrested throughout the country.

Police said an estimated 450,000 persons took part in the mostly violent demonstrations in 594 points throughout the country—including all major cities—in demanding that the United States immediately turn Okinawa back to Japan.

The protesters forced a halt to subway and rail service in Tokyo. Incidents were reported at two U.S. Air Force Bases in Tokyo's outskirts.

As if to reaffirm U.S.-Japanese ties, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato conferred this afternoon with former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey who had offered to call off the

14 GIs Dead Despite Reported Battlefield Lull

Increased Combat Kills 166 Viet Cong

SAIGON (UPI)—Communiques from U.S. headquarters today listed 14 Americans dead and 34 wounded—the heaviest single day of losses reported since the battlefield lull began six weeks ago.

A total of 166 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed in the fighting—the second successive day of increased combat marring the lull that began Sept. 17.

Spokesmen for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, said the American Command considers the lull still in effect despite the new fighting and reports of impending Communist attacks.

As the level of combat increased, so did the rate of the latest American troop withdrawals. Headquarters said a battalion of the 4th Marine Regiment, 2,300 men, had begun withdrawing to Okinawa Sunday and would be gone by the weekend.

Most intense of the more than 20 skirmishes reported from Monday was a North Vietnamese mortar and ground attack against a group of U.S. Army soldiers waiting for helicopters to pick them up 85 miles north of Saigon.

Military spokesmen said five Americans were killed and 13 others before helicopter gunships, dive bombers and artillery strikes broke the North Vietnamese attack, killing 14 Communist soldiers in 30 minutes.

Other fights flared from the war zone, spokesmen said.

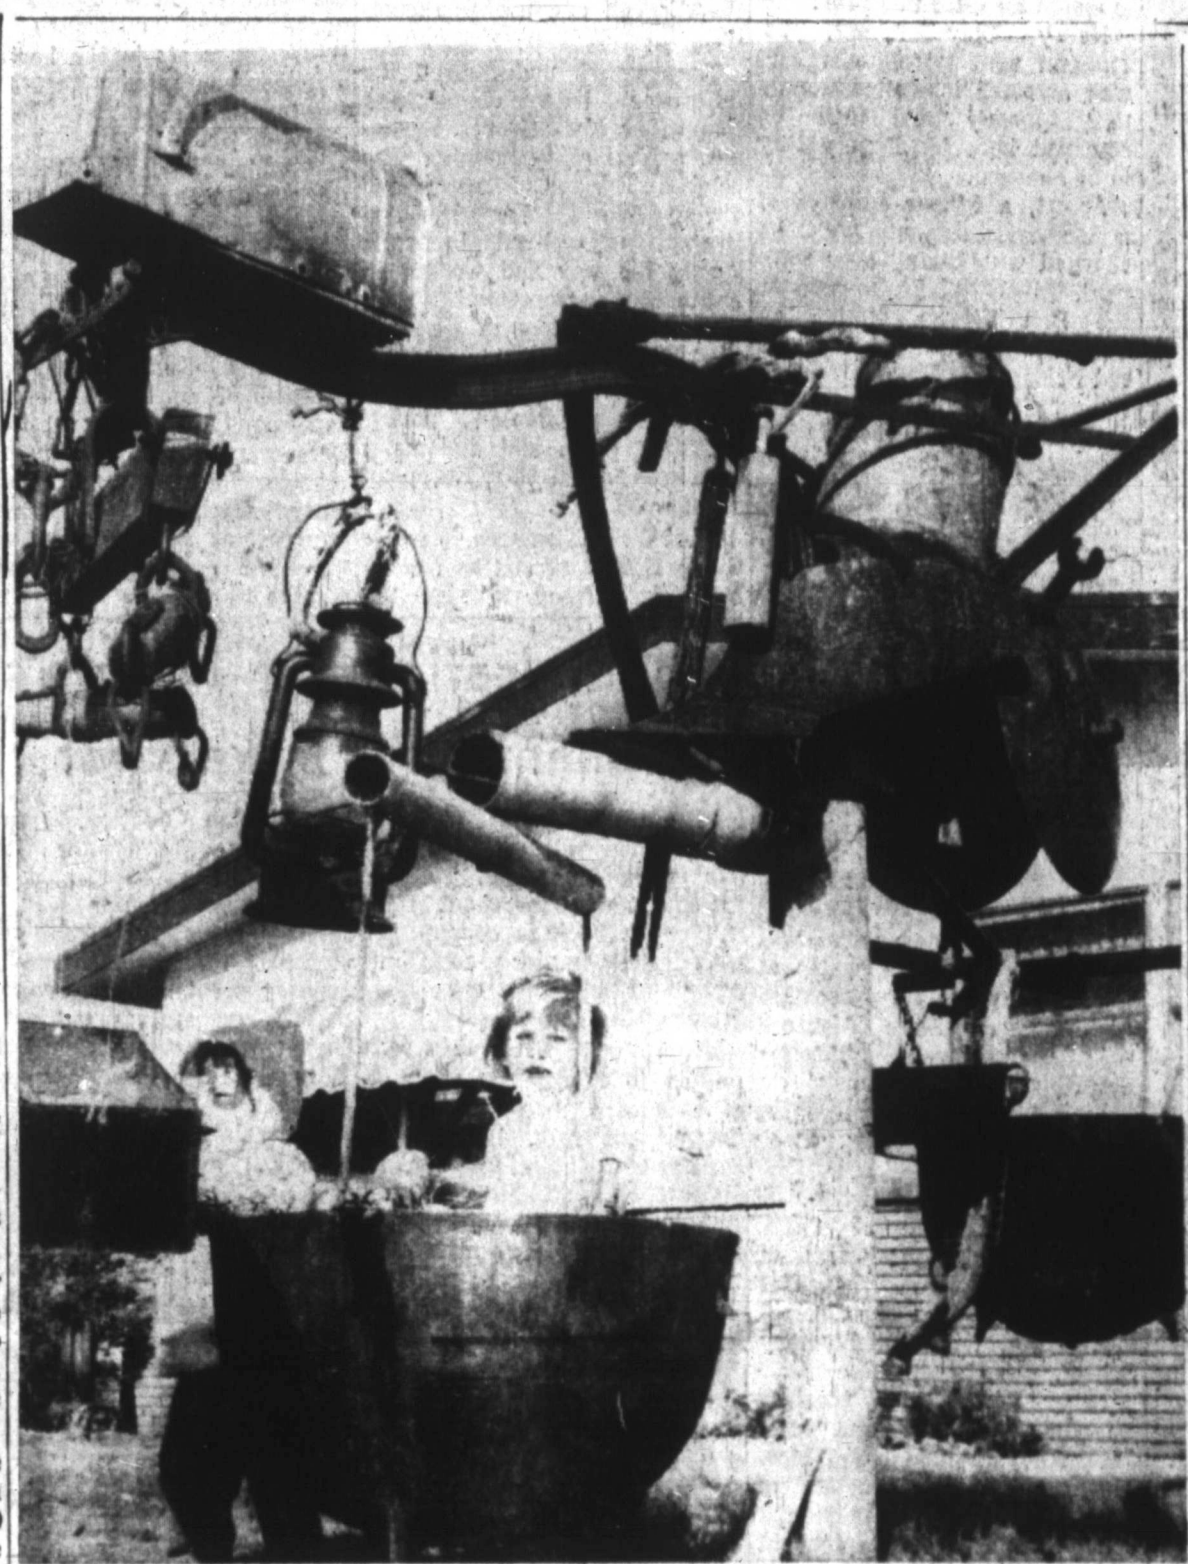

Monday, Allied communiques reported a total of 197 guerrillas slain in one of the heaviest days of fighting in the lull. Many of them died in a South Vietnamese invasion of the U Minh Forest, along a Viet Cong stronghold.

Headquarters said Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops shelled 10 Allied targets during the night, causing light damage and casualties but no American fatalities.

Five flights of B52 bombers raided suspected Communist camps along the Cambodian border, in the Central Highlands and near Hue, on the northern coast—in strikes Monday night and this morning.

With battlefield action at a low level, two more U.S. Army units will be inactivated in Vietnam Wednesday as part of President Nixon's withdrawal of 35,000 more troops.

Spokesmen identified the units—with a total of about 100 men—as the 29th Evacuation Hospital at Binh Thuy and the 534th Combat Support Platoon at Di An. The soldiers who have completed a major portion of their one-year Vietnam tour will be sent home.

Pathologists Give Testimony In Favor Of Kopechne Autopsy

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI)—Two pathologists testified late Monday that an autopsy "could do much" to substantiate or negate a medical finding that Mary Jo Kopechne died of drowning.

The testimony appeared to strengthen the case of Massachusetts authorities petitioning an autopsy on the body of the 28-year-old Washington secretary who died July 18 in the waters off Chappaquiddick Island, Mass., in an automobile driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Testimony was scheduled to resume at 9:30 today. Earlier Monday Dr. Donald R. Mills, associate medical examiner of Dukes County, Mass., told the court that Miss Kopechne's death was "a clear case of drowning."

"There was water in her bronchial trachea and her nose and mouth," Mills said. "There was water deep in her chest. There was a characteristic foam in her mouth such as in drowning cases."

But Dr. Joseph W. Spellman, professor of pathology at the University of Pennsylvania and chief medical examiner for Philadelphia, testified that an external examination alone "frequently fails to disclose internal injuries, fractured skull, bruise to the brain, broken ribs or ruptured internal organs, or natural disease processes."

Spellman, who said he was responsible for certifying some 6,000 deaths a year, said that an autopsy in the reasonably near future "could do much to either verify the impression of Dr. Mills as to the cause of death or produce evidence that modifies or completely negates his finding."

Later a second pathologist, Dr. George T. Katsas of the Boston University Law-Medicine Institute, backed Spellman's view that an autopsy would help verify whether the Washington secretary died by drowning.

Ex-Policeman Gives Reasons For Short Termination Notice

City Manager Charles Hill and Police Chief Jim Conner said today they had no comment on a letter mailed to city officials, news media, sheriff's department, State Highway Patrol and three Pampa attorneys by former patrolman Guy Bowers who resigned from the police force Sept. 30 without notice.

The letter, addressed to "whom it may concern," was written, Bowers stated, to explain why he quit without the usual two weeks notice and to "make available information not contained in his formal letter of resignation."

Copies of the letter were sent to The Pampa News, both radio stations, the mayor, city manager, city attorney, police chief, assistant police chief, personnel director, sheriff, four city commissioners and to attorneys John Studer, James M. Bowers and Bill Waters, and to Sgt. J.L. Dalrymple, area highway patrol supervisor.

In the letter, Bowers set forth what he stated was simply a "wish to make an attempt to bring an awareness to but a few of the poor conditions that exist in the workings of the Pampa Police Department, and some which worsen with the passing of time."

Russia to Offer Czechs More Economic Aid

LONDON (UPI)—Russia will offer Czechoslovakia conditional economic aid and token troop withdrawals as part of a "new era" cooperation move by the Kremlin, diplomatic sources said today.

The Soviet declaration will be presented to the Czechoslovak leaders during their current visit to Moscow for top level discussions of a hitherto officially undisclosed nature.

According to the sources, the Kremlin is holding out the prospect of Soviet economic aid to bolster the tottering Czechoslovak economy plus closer links with other Communist bloc economic systems.

Included in the accord were token withdrawals of Soviet army units from Czechoslovakia, with possible larger withdrawals in a year or two if the Prague leadership performs to Moscow's satisfaction, the sources said.

The Czechoslovak side of the bargain was said to be formal acknowledgment that Russia's invasion of Czechoslovakia a year ago was "justified" and "necessary."

The Kremlin has been seeking such a formal admission since the August, 1968, military action shattered its self-designed image as a peaceful nation with respect for the sovereignty of its Communist allies.

Search Ends For Scottish Monster

DRUMNADROCHIT, Scotland (UPI)—This year's official search for the Loch Ness monster is over.

Neither a yellow submarine television crew, tourists nor members of the Loch Ness Phenomena Investigation Bureau were able to prove the monster exists.

All spent a hard summer scanning the murky waters of the loch for the monster o' monsters that supposedly lives there.

In its final report on this year's observation season, the investigation bureau said there were 20 verified sightings between May 17 and Oct. 12. The total was more than the 14 sightings recorded last year but less than the 23 in 1967 and 29 in 1966.

Scientists determined there was something large and alive in the loch from sonar readings taken during the 1967 season. But this year's assault on Nessie—as the Scots call the monster—was fruitless.

It did nothing to determine whether Nessie actually is an overgrown sea cow or a genuine monster. Dan S. Taylor of Atlanta Ga., took his homemade yellow submarine Viper Fish in to the loch again and again to find Nessie and possibly take a chunk of its hide.

County Loses Prisoner, Gains Another One

Willie Charles Crummie, a 44-year-old parttime construction worker, was taken to Plainview today by Deputy Sheriff D. L. Day.
Crummie will stand trial there for the alleged rape of a 57-year-old Pampa woman in February, 1969. The rape reportedly occurred in Pampa. Crummie was granted a change of venue from 31st District Court here to Plainview.

He will be represented by Pampa attorneys Ben Sturgeon and Jean Martindale. The trial is slated for later this year.
Henry Clay Arnett, 32, charged with taking over $400 was arrested in Potter County late Monday and will be returned here by Deputy Day to be charged.

Arnett, a former employe of a service station, will be charged with taking over $400 from Allen Ratcliff, owner of the Bell Service Station on Brown Street. The theft occurred Friday.

Ratcliff reported to sheriff's authorities, he returned to his service station about 2:30 or 3 p.m. Friday; found the door to a trailer house back of the station locked and the attendant missing.
Also, missing was over $400.

Pampa Educators Will Vote At TSTA Convention

Three Pampa educators will be official voting delegates at the 91st annual state convention of the Texas State Teachers Association Thursday through Saturday in San Antonio.

They are Mrs. Henry Gruben, Bob Parks, and Mrs. Doty Warner.
Mrs. Gruben is president of Gray-Roberts Unit of TSTA. Mrs. Warner is president of Pampa Classroom Teachers Association. Parks is principal of Woodrow Wilson Elementary School.

Other Pampa area teachers attending are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Riley, McLean, and Mrs. Marjorie Gaut, director of educational services for Pampa schools. Riley is superintendent of McLean Schools and his wife is a counselor.

Mrs. Gaut will also attend the Texas Elementary and Kindergarten Nursery Education Conference, a TSTA affiliate, and be installed as a director.

The three Pampa delegates are among the 1,288 certified members of the 1969 House of Delegates, which will meet on the last day of the convention to discuss and act on proposed amendments to the TSTA constitution, new policies, recommendations of standing committees, and other business.

Official delegates are elected from the 419 TSTA local associations throughout the state and certified by districts on the basis of one delegate per 100 members or fraction of 100. Every local association in the state is entitled to at least one official delegate.

With total membership in TSTA expected to hit a record 124,000 this year, attendance at the convention will probably total about 8,000. Featured speakers include Gov. Preston Smith, Sam M. Lambert, executive secretary of the National Education Association, and Charles D. Holeyman, superintendent of schools at Mustang, Okla.

Also attending as an official delegate from the immediate area is Wiley Bailey of Mobeetie.

Willy Brandt Takes Over Government

BONN (UPI)—A new era took shape in West Germany today, with Willy Brandt taking over the helm of the government and steering a course toward closer ties with his nation's Communist neighbors to the East.

The new Bundestag (lower house) was meeting this morning to make it official with Brandt's election as chancellor, a certainty.
"I am going to be chancellor not of a defeated Germany but of a liberated Germany," the 56-year-old former mayor of West Berlin told friends recently.

The remark underscored the difference between outgoing Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger, a Nazi party member who held a Foreign Ministry job during World War II, and Brandt, who lived in exile during the war and worked in antifascist movements.

Brandt promised in speeches prior to the Sept. 28 Bundestag elections that he would make changes in foreign policy, including trade and diplomatic overtures to the East European Communist bloc.

Whereas Kiesinger, under whom Brandt served as foreign minister, refused to sign the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, Brandt said he would.
No changes were foreseen in West Germany's membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) or in its friendship with the United States.

President Gustav Heinemann Monday night accepted the resignation of Kiesinger, paving the way for Brandt to become the first social Democrat chancellor in 39 years.
Brandt rose to the chancellery through a coalition of his Social Democratic party and the smaller Free Democratic party which controlled 254 Bundestag seats in the Sept. 23 elections compared with 242 for Kiesinger's Christian Democrats.

It ended a 20-year skein of Christian Democratic chancellors, beginning with Konrad Adenauer, who ruled for 14 years followed by Ludwig Erhard, three years, and Kiesinger, three years.
Brandt's Social Democrats complained during the election campaign that the Christian Democrats had begun to consider themselves a "state party." Christian Democrats as far back as Adenauer had said the Social Democrats were unfit to rule.

Modernization Of Nation's Merchant Fleet Asked For WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon will ask Congress this week to modernize the nation's aging merchant fleet and put it back in competition with the major maritime powers, including the fast-growing Russian fleet.

Nixon will ask for $300 million to finance construction of 30 ships a year—three times the current rate. He also is expected to urge industry to support a multi-billion private investment program designed to expand the Merchant Marine Administration sources said.

Nixon pledged during his 1968 campaign to try to restore the United States "to the role of a first rate maritime power."
But observers agree the job will not be easy. At present, two-thirds of the 963-ship American fleet is over 25 years old. The U.S. ranks 11th among the world ship-building nations, and its once sleek fleet of passenger liners is down to a handful and is expected to get even smaller.

Worse, critics claim, is the fact that the United States now carries only 5 per cent of its foreign commerce in American-flag ships. Nixon has promised to raise the total to 30 per cent.
Nixon's new chairman of the Federal Maritime Commission.

S.F. Bay Area Law Officers Seek Contrasting Killers
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Law enforcement agencies in the San Francisco Bay area today sought two contrasting killers—one known as "Zodiac" who has bragged of five methodical slayings in cryptic notes, and the other believed responsible for frenzied stabbing attacks on two teen-age girls and an infant.

Zodiac is wanted for the murders of a young couple, two young women and a San Francisco cab driver in four separate attacks in the North Bay area over a period of 10 months.

The teen-agers and a two-year-old girl were victims of two separate attacks over a three-month period in the South Bay area near San Jose. The girls were stabbed a total of 350 times, and an autopsy on the infant revealed 190 stab wounds.

$250,000 Ring Disappears At Texas State Fair
DALLAS (UPI)—A diamond-encircled emerald ring, said by police to be valued at $250,000, disappeared some time Sunday night from its display case at the State Fair of Texas.

Police believed today the thief might have hidden himself inside the Women's Building, where the ring had been on display, and escaped early Monday. The fair closed its two weeks run at midnight Sunday.

The valuable ring, salvaged from a sunken Spanish galleon, belonged to Tom C. Patten, an East Texas millionaire who resides in Tyler. He said the ring was not insured at the time of the theft.

The Women's Building was under normal security guard at all times, police said. The ring was in a glass display case. Police believed the thief could have pried off the case's sliding back door.

Patten criticized the building's security guard, calling it inadequate.

Laurie Said Drifting Along Erratic Path

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Gale force winds stirred up on the fringes of hurricane Laurie breezed inland along the mouth of the Mississippi River today, but the center of the late-season storm drifted along an erratic path 230 miles from shore.

Thousands of storm-weary Gulf coast residents, already ravaged by the blast of hurricane Camille this year, moved inland.
The hurricane's point of impact along the coast was uncertain, and the New Orleans Weather Bureau said the storm's course would continue to be slow and erratic today.

The Weather Bureau said during the morning hours Laurie had traveled eastward at about five miles per hour, putting it about 230 miles south of New Orleans.
At 7 a.m. CDT gale force winds of 35 miles per hour were just beginning to be felt along the southernmost Louisiana coastline.

Mississippi Civil Defense Director Wade Guice said weather experts agreed "if the storm does come it will be late Tuesday evening," and his office was making arrangements for shelters and holding briefings with local officials.

Accidents Send Two Pampanos To Amarillo Hospital

George Patrick Casey, 15, of 114 S. Houston, was listed in satisfactory condition at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo today recovering from a broken leg received Monday afternoon.

According to the investigating officer Casey was riding a motorcycle west on Foster St. and collided in the intersection of Foster and Lefors Sts. with a car driven by Luke Haskell Jones, 54, of 1125 E. Darby.

Brown said the front of the motorcycle struck the right door of the Jones vehicle. Damage to the car was estimated at $200 and to the motorcycle at $250.
Casey was taken first to Worley Hospital then to Amarillo by Duenkel Ambulance.

Mrs. O.L. Derrick, 1515 N. Russell, was rushed to High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo Tuesday morning following a fall in her home.
A painter at the home reported Mrs. Derrick fell while getting out of bed.

She was taken first to Highland General Hospital by Duenkel Ambulance then to the Amarillo hospital.
A 19-year-old Pampa woman was in good condition in Worley Hospital today where she was treated early this morning after an apparent suicide attempt.

According to a Pampa police report the young woman was rushed to the hospital by her husband after she had taken several cold and aspirin tablets following what the husband called, "a little fuss."

A Perryton woman, Rosetta Brown, 45, was treated and released at Highland General Hospital Monday afternoon following a fight at Brown Street tavern.

George Dennis Allen, 24, also of Perryton, was lodged in Pampa City Jail for intoxication after the altercation.
According to the Pampa police report Mrs. Brown and Allen started fighting inside the tavern and were still fighting outside the business when police arrived.

Mrs. Brown was taken to the hospital by Duenkel Ambulance.

tion among administrative heads, supervisory personnel, patrolmen and non-commissioned employes. This not only leads to interdepartmental dissonance and confusion, but places a stigma on the department as a whole.

"Secondly, there is a lack of communication and cooperation disiked at times by personal dislikes on the part of superiors and personnel and corresponding law enforcement agencies. This not only tends to cause resentment among law enforcement officers who should be able to work together amicably and without hesitation, but it leads to a desire on the officer's part, interdepartmentally and otherwise, to avoid any contact with some, not all, Pampa Police personnel due to the previously mentioned causes of tension.

"Finally, outstanding are favoritisms and outright personal statements and acts exhibited by top administrative and supervisory personnel in the Police Department over the various Lieutenants, Sergeants, patrolmen, and other employes, and then later, similar acts being exercised without justification by some of those same lieutenants and sergeants on some of their own command."

City Manager Hill, when questioned about the letter, said since it was not addressed to him personally, he had no reason to discuss it.
The only comment the city manager would make about it was to say the city has regular, established procedures for grievances and complaints of city employes to be filed with his office. This procedure was not used by Bowers, he added.

"We have complied with the only request in his letter that can be complied with," Hill said, "and that is to make the letter a permanent part of his personnel file."
Police Chief Jim Conner said he had no comment at all and that any comment would have to come from the city manager.

Tornado Hits Industrial Area In Andrews
By United Press International
A tornado hit the downtown industrial area of Andrews, in far West Texas, early today and caused undetermined damage.
There were no immediate reports of injuries.
Some utility lines were down and communications were sketchy.
A cloudburst accompanied the high winds and rainfall was estimated as much as six inches. Police indicated some families would have to be evacuated.

Communist East Germany Has Anniversary With Progress

As Communist East Germany observed its 20th anniversary, there were several items of note.

In East Berlin's Alexander Platz, a huge complex of malls, office buildings and hotels bore evidence of the progress of 17 million East Germans from the ruins of 20 years ago to today's highest standard of living within the Communist bloc.

A mile or so away, at Checkpoint Charlie which pierces the wall dividing East and West Berlin, thousands of youths gathered on the eastern side.

McCormack Not Troubled With Conflict Of Interests

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At age 77 a man who started his working career in a broker's office might have been expected to set aside a nice little portfolio, especially when he's been drawing a congressman's pay or better for the last 41 years.

But Speaker John W. McCormack was only 14 when introduced to the brokerage business in his home town of Boston, and drew only $3 a week running errands. And when he dug around in his files to answer reporters' questions about his current stock holdings, he came up with scribbled notes on 90 miscellaneous shares, of which five seemed to be lost and couldn't be immediately named, and all of them together worth about $5,000 at the close of the market last Friday.

Gets $62,500 A Year

The speaker now gets $62,500 a year in the nation's second most powerful post—up from $43,500, effective last arch 1, along with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. So reporters wondered, then, what were his other investments?

No real estate, the gaunt, gray old speaker said, not even a house. "I didn't own a foot of land anywhere," he said. He lives here with his wife at the Washington Hotel. Back in South Boston he rents an apartment.

McCormack looked tired, maybe a little grayer than usual, as he delivered himself of his personal fiscal accounting. In a way he seemed a little embarrassed to admit to so modest a financial statement.

But he was proud too, and after a sad, lonely, contemplative weekend he determined to make plain he had no conflict of interest, nothing to gain, and in fact no knowledge at all of the stock market incident that forced him Friday to suspend his most trusted aide.

Helps With Arrangements

The fact appeared to be that one of McCormack's old friends picked up $50,000 for his walk-on part, and McCormack's $36,000 a year administrative assistant, Martin Sweig, had helped him make the arrangements.

McCormack wasn't ready to pass judgment on anybody concerned. He said he always assumed people were honest until proved otherwise. That is the way he has run his congressional office since 1928, and his old friends said that was both his strength and his weakness.

Career Corner

LEAVE WORD. An informative Bell system booklet, "The Modern Telephone Operator" is yours free if you send me a postcard in care of this newspaper.

Training is on-the-job, usually one to three weeks initially. The minimum age is 16. High school students may be hired part-time preparatory to full-time employment after graduation. A high school diploma is preferred but not always required.

CURRENT MEDIAN EARNINGS: $78.50 per week for beginners; $83.00 after one year; $111.00 for service assistants; $133.00 for group chief operators; and $194.00 for chief operators.

LADY AMBASSADORS. — Operators ARE the telephone company to most customers so it's important to have a pleasant voice, a courteous manner, integrity, responsibility, patience, efficiency, accuracy and swiftness and good judgment. I once worked for a boss who had a thing about everyone in his office "giving a million dollars worth of service on each 10-cent phone call." Telephone employers always have an open line for applicants who buy that philosophy.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from the woman who did not find any physical satisfaction in her marriage. That has been my problem for 25 years.

I talked with two doctors. One told me that I was expecting too much and had been reading too many love stories. The other (a woman doctor) told me that very few women had it any better — they just "pretended" most of their lives.

My man is one of the loving kind, but I have been "pretending" all my married life. Is there no hope for me?

NAMELESS: The first doctor was off base, but the second doctor (if statistics can be believed) was not. You need to see a third doctor — one who specializes in unlocking doors of minds where "hangups" have been stored. This may be an oversimplification, but the reason most women are unable to enjoy marital relations is because as young girls they've been told that sex is a "no-no." And so it is... forever.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of the "no-bra" look?

JUST ASKING: DEAR JUST: It's a good way for some women to get everything off their chests. For others, it's a flop.

DEAR ABBY: You say a lot in your column about "adopting kids." How about a word about the "unadoptable's?" After having two of our own we adopted three. These are children of mixed blood, the last ones to be adopted if they ever

Betty Canary Honor Carrier's Mothers

We are not here to praise the newspaper carrier. He already has a time set aside to honor him. What we want to do is recognize his mother. (She's the one in the station wagon wearing pajamas under her raincoat.) Although I am usually antisocial days, I think perhaps we should observe a national Newspaper 'Boys' Mothers' Day. But, to be honored, she can't just wave goodbye every morning or afternoon. She must take his papers around at least once.

At one time, I had two sons carrying papers and only once did I deliver their routes. Both were going to call in substitutes but I announced cheerfully, "For heaven's sake, do not worry. I'll take the papers for you!" When I got home, I was ready to write a book and call it, "I Was a Carrier's Mother, or How Do They Remember This Stuff?"

I had encouraged them to take the routes because I knew all about newspapers. After all, at the time I was a reporter for my favorite paper, wasn't I? Also, I personally knew several successful men who had started out as newsboys. They were quick to point out how a boy learns to manage his time and handle money and be responsible.

In my mind's eye, I always saw a newsboy sailing down the street on his bicycle, whistling and skimming papers onto front porches. This is a myth. At least, it wasn't true on the routes my sons carried.

Mrs. Kearny, for example, must have her paper put securely in a certain place on the porch. Because she is a crotchety old lady? No, because, after her last operation, she is unable to bend over and pick it up off the floor.

Mr. Sonderling's paper must be inside the screen door, even when it isn't raining, because his neighbor's dog eats afternoon papers.

Mrs. Pierce, the one who gives a big tip at Christmas-time, also offers cocoa on cold mornings and, incidentally, was rather disappointed when I showed up on the route. Her son is grown and lives out of town but it seems my son kept her up on all the latest news from school.

At the Rheems', one must be careful to not let the cat off the porch. At Kelley's, please let the cat out.

I suppose this is what ex-carriers mean when they say, "learn responsibility." But I do not lump it all under one heading. I call it understanding and sympathy and concern, as well as friendliness and cooperation. The first day I asked myself, "How did I ever get into this?" The last day I said, "I'm certainly glad my sons did."

Coed Recalls Heartbreak Tour

PALO ALTO (UPI) — Marianne Bock, a 22-year-old Reed College junior, has a story that will top any of her classmates' yarns about summer.

Marianne recently returned from a week in war-torn Biafra, where she inspected the relief program and saw the effects of the reduction in relief airlifts.

Prior to her Biafran tour, Marianne spent a year in Lisbon studying. During her spare time she helped load food and medicine on relief flights that were then operating exclusively from the Portuguese capital.

She had a chance to visit the scene of the war with the German pastor under whom she was working in the Lisbon relief effort. She wrote some brief impressions of her experience in and around Owerri, Biafra's make-shift capital. Here are some excerpts:

"The children admitted to sick-bay are too weak to eat or even cry. Their small shriveled-up bodies shake with cold as they huddle together on their bamboo beds without blankets. Each successful (plane) landing means that hundreds of these children can be given three small meals a day for the next few days."

"Everywhere we go in Biafra we encounter gratitude for what is being done again and again. The fathers, doctors, missionaries and other relief workers assure us that they could do nothing without the airlift. But the needs are so great that what is being done seems like nothing in comparison with what must be done to save the children and mothers of Biafra from a slow and painful death by starvation."

"Refugees who carry all their possessions on their heads line the road to Owerri; in the pouring rain whole families are on the move in the hope of finding their former homes, but many houses have been damaged by shelling and most are overcrowded."

"Other refugees occupy former school buildings. These refugees are not receiving any relief now; their only source of nourishment is the cassava, or yam they have planted on the former school grounds."

"At the small maternity hospital at Mbatoli we find the doctors and nurses working day and night to save the lives of children, who would die without medical treatment. The doctors are saving a few more children because they are taking the blood from relatively healthy people for transfusions."

"It is hard to imagine that the terrible suffering we have witnessed in the sick-bays, hospitals and refugee camps can be obscured by anything, but the most immediate fear of everyone in Biafra is the fear of air-raids and shelling from the front. When the front shifts to the disadvantage of the Biafrans, thousands of refugees who have just built a primitive shelter for themselves or planted a little cassava have to take to the road."

"As we all hope for a cease-fire, which will make massive relief possible, the war drags on. People no longer dare to predict when the war will be over, but if the airlift is not increased and no other means of bringing in relief is found one can begin to predict when there will be no more children in Biafra. As long as politicians continue to fail to find a political solution, we can't deny these people our assistance."

Senior Center Corner

BY MRS. G. G. MILLER

Since Thursday was a nice day out, we had 60 members attending the Senior Citizens' party at Lovett Memorial Library. Several men were absent as they were watching the World Series baseball games.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Adams, Hebronville, stopped by enroute to Colorado Thursday afternoon and visited her step-mother, Mrs. C. L. Adams who was not able to attend the party at the Center. Mr. Adams will go deer hunting while his wife visits friends in Colorado Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Kendricks went to Lubbock last week and attended funeral services of her aunt, Mrs. Nora Davidson, who died at the age of 77.

Mrs. C. W. Lawrence was back with us at the Senior Center party this week after a long absence. She was on a trip to New Mexico. Her brother, Arthur Walling, has been ill in Worley Hospital the past two weeks.

W. R. Cullison, McLean, was not with us at the Senior Party Thursday because of illness. Hope he will be able to come to our next party.

Mrs. Bessie Harper is one of the new members and says most everyone seems to appreciate the refreshments and games, which the Pampa Altrusa Club and other women's clubs sponsor each week.

Red Cross Volunteers furnishing transportation were Mmes. Lelia Clifford, A. D. Hills and Elizabeth Taylor.

Girl Scout Council Slates Camporee

A "Do It Yourself" Cadette Camporee is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday in the Lake Meredith area. The council-wide event is open to all cadette troops in the 10-county Quivira Girl Scout Council.

The "Do It Yourself" title means all troops are responsible for their own equipment. Each troop will also plan and prepare its own meals. Troops may obtain tents and other equipment from the council.

Camporee registration will begin at 7:30 a.m. Saturday. A program has been planned with several Girl Scout events.

Center columnist, is back in Highland General Hospital for treatment.

Matt Swain is a patient in Highland General Hospital for major surgery.

Mrs. Katie Vincent's recent visitors were her son and his family from Amarillo who took her out to dinner and to the Senior Center party.

Mrs. Myrtle Darsey spent last week on her farm south of Vernon where she grows pear and pecan trees and other crops.

Frank Henry Cullum, Richardson, and his mother, Mrs. Fred Cullum made a trip to Colorado to see the autumn foliage while he was in Pampa visiting recently.

Mrs. George Benham was back with us at the Senior Center party this week after a long absence. She was on a trip to New Mexico. Her brother, Arthur Walling, has been ill in Worley Hospital the past two weeks.

Your Horoscope JEANE DIXON

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 22

Your birthday Wednesday; According to your age and stage of development, your year ahead is a series of rolling readjustments between conflicting drives. Adult Librarians tend to be pulled between contrary social ties and personal desires. No matter which way you drift, you risk either disapproval from your community or frustration. There is drama in these succeeding episodes and tremendous opportunity for growth. Wednesday's natives often possess poetic virtuosity.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Sensitive conditions relating to love and romance, courtship and marriage prevail Wednesday. What you do is important, how you do it is essential to your future happiness.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Unplanned incidents stir up constructive experience in your work. Sentimental interest beckons, most probably among people you've known for a long time.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Personal affairs, family connections may develop sufficient crisis that you must skip some work to attend to them. The results include an invitation to romance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Discretion is needed to protect your interests. There is an uphill job of convincing resistant individuals. Unexpected emotional experiences may draw you away from work briefly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Happy reunions are the order of the day. New attachments seem also readily formed. The sensitive nerve is, of course, the chance of disagreeing about shared money.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Early opposition does not mean the loss of the day's plans. It merely forces you to use a proper and serene approach. Haste is to be avoided. Intrigue, romance, mischief offer high excitement.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your day is mixed; both forward and backward pressures beset you. You must sort out your own wishes without provoking difficulty for others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Gossip is almost certain to burst around you in a sudden storm. Pay no attention. Avoid anything resembling an answer unless it's true and you're proud of being what you are.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Home affairs and personal ventures get in the way of your regular work but do not create unfamiliar problems. Confident dealings proceed smoothly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Public affairs and odd personal repercussions bring excitement into your life now. Romance bursts forth abruptly in some curious, temporary conditions but promises to survive changes for a long time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Business thrives while longstanding social ties dwindle. Sudden meetings provide many chances for temporary partnerships, hasty emotional commitments.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 10): Many minor problems can be worked out much to your satisfaction. Savings are increased, some windfall may occur. Romances bring excitement.

Country Neighbors Select Officers

GROOM (Spl) — The Groom Country Neighbors Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Walter Ollinger with Mrs. George Latta as co-hostess. Mrs. R. W. Willis gave the council report.

After the nominating committee reported the club elected officers for the coming year. Mrs. Harry Britten, president; Mrs. Robert Willis, vice president; Mrs. Jack Barnett, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. Duane Stamps, reporter; and Mrs. Bonnie King, Council delegate.

They acknowledged the loss of two club members, Mrs. R. L. Shifflet and Mrs. C. M. Henderson, who have moved out of the Groom area.

The hostess gift was won by Mrs. R. L. Shifflet.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to members; Mmes. R. L. Shifflet, Harry Britten, Rose Fields, Robert Willis, Glynn Harrell, Mary Kuehler, Robert Kuehler, Bonnie King, Manuel Ruthardt, and a visitor, Mrs. Evelyn Hunter, and the county agent, Mrs. Edith Hughes.

Washington Report

Bob Price

I have been disappointed this week to have received some letters and telegrams from Panhandle residents who believe I have advocated lower prices for your farm products. I assure you that nothing can be further from the truth. I hope partisan politics is not being played in this problem in order to discredit my efforts on behalf of the farmers of the district.

I have made no statement or implied threat that the Commodity Credit Corporation would sell its grain to drive down prices on grain sorghum. (As a matter of fact the disposal of this grain is entirely in the hands of the Commodity Credit Corporation which has sole responsibility for disposing of their stocks under the law.)

In answer to my inquiry regarding the method the Commodity Credit Corporation is required to use in disposing of its commodity holding under the present law and how it might affect our district and the State of Texas, the Department of Agriculture has advised me that:

"With the beginning of a new marketing year on Oct. 1, 1969, CCC has lowered its grain sorghum sales prices by the amount of carrying charges for storage and interest costs. However, sales offerings are being confined to port positions during October and CCC will not be competing with new crop farm supplies in West Texas or other interior locations."

I also have always felt that the members of any farm or commodity organization have the right to take any lawful action they desire to obtain a fair price for their products. I have worked with all these organizations in order to find an equitable solution to the farm problem. I did not leave my farming and ranching operations in the Panhandle to come to Washington to work against the farmer.

We are in a unique position in our area because of the expansion of feed lot operations creating a local demand for our grain as well as livestock. I hope we will not jeopardize this expansion by fighting among ourselves.

This is a local problem between local businessmen, and I will not take sides. However, I stand ready and willing to do anything I possibly can to find an equitable solution to this problem.

I am also sorry to hear that some remarks I made recently in the district were misconstrued. I said at that time I have confidence that the proposed grain withholding action by some farmers will not result in violence as it has in other areas. I believe farm organization leaders and members can agree on a fair price for their products with the consumer without causing extensive damage to our local economy.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following open letter to parents of the Panhandle was released Saturday, Oct. 18, by Congressman Bob Price.

Dear Friends:

The illegal traffic and use of narcotics in Amarillo and other Panhandle communities is on the upswing. This is the alarming news I received from sources close to the problem during my most recent trip to the 18th Congressional District.

This news troubles me greatly. The illegal use of narcotics brings slavery not freedom; drugs possess the potential for ruining the lives of all those who come in contact with them.

The dangers of illegal narcotics can hardly be overstated. I have been advised that samples of some of the illegal drugs sold to unsuspecting young people throughout the Panhandle contain as much as 25 percent strychnine poison and 15 percent opium, heroin, or other narcotic by-products. These drugs are deadly; their use must not be permitted or condoned.

Your cooperation is urgently needed. I urge all citizens to join together and fight this growing menace. Discussion groups both in and out of the classroom are needed to fully acquaint our citizens about the dangers of narcotics and to determine the full extent of this problem in Panhandle communities. In addition, suspicious situations and individuals should be reported to the police immediately.

I am in the process of obtaining a film on the narcotics problem which will be made available for public use through my Amarillo office. For further information concerning what you can do to help rid our local communities of this peril, please contact your local police department.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Tickets Available For Banquet

Approximately 100 tickets still were available today for the annual membership banquet of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce to be held Thursday night, Oct. 30, in Robert E. Lee Cafeteria.

Seating capacity in the cafeteria is 425 and the tickets are going fast, according to chamber officials.

Reservations are being taken at the chamber office in the Hughes Bldg.

Speaker at the membership banquet will be Dr. Walter Kerr of Tyler, director of the National Youth Foundation. His subject will be "The Thunder of Bare Feet."

Entertainment will be by the Pampa High School Stage Band and Concert Choir.

The banquet will mark the formal taking over by new officers and directors of the chamber who will be installed at a board of directors' banquet tonight in Coronado Inn.

Installing officer will be J. Fike Godfrey, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

NIXON TO TRAVEL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon may travel to New Jersey and Virginia in coming weeks to speak in support of Republican gubernatorial candidates, according to the White House. Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler did not mention dates.

FIRE DAMAGE

DURBAN, South Africa (UPI)—A fire which set off explosions of ammunition on Durban's docks Monday caused more than $4 million damage, municipal officials said today.

Teacher Roams World In Pursuit Of Movies

By United Press International

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Most of the time, Albert Johnson teaches film courses at the University of California. But for four months each year, he roams the world in relentless pursuit of movies and movie-makers for the annual San Francisco Film Festival.

His persistence would do a big game hunter proud. Johnson has bagged a major catch for this year's 13th edition of the filmfest, which starts Wednesday at the Masonic Auditorium.

Mike Nichols, former comic and Broadway director whose two productions—"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and "The Graduate"—have revolutionized big studio Hollywood productions, has agreed to discuss his work in one of the festival's retrospective tributes.

What's more, Nichols says that if the brass at Paramount will permit, he'll bring along a chunk of his latest work, "Catch 22." The filming by Nichols of Joseph Heller's masterpiece of black humor is awaited so eagerly that it can only result in Nichols' greatest triumph yet or his first flop.

Nichols could have his pick of personal appearances on television or in person, but usually picks none of them.

That was before he met Johnson, who is program director of the San Francisco Festival.

"I asked Mike to come in 1966. He said he'd like to but he was going to Berlin," says Johnson. "I asked him again next year, but he was making 'The Graduate.' I saw him again this year and he finally agreed. Besides, he really believes that festivals like ours are worthwhile."

Actress Bette Davis also kept turning down Johnson until she finally accepted this year. She'll turn up for a salute to her career, which spans more than 30 years of stardom.

Just to show that he is not about to rest on his laurels Johnson says he has got the legendary Mae West about convinced to come to next year's event.

"The only trouble is that she'll only appear at night and we usually have our retrospectives in the afternoon. But we'll just have to switch things around for Mae."

Wednesday's opening night of the 1969 festival will find a black-tie audience viewing "The Secret of Santa Victoria," Producer-Director Stanley Kramer and stars Anthony Quinn and Verna Lisi will attend.

Twenty-three feature films involving 20 nations will be shown during the 12-day event. Johnson is especially high on "A Nest of Gentlefolk" from Russia as well as the festival's first-ever African entry, Senegal's "The Money Order."

Another film to be screened is "Z," a politically radical French film that caused a stir at the recent New York Festival.

It was at former San Francisco festivals that influential works such as Czechoslovakia's "The Shop on Main Street," and Russia's "Ballad of a Soldier" came to the attention of U.S. audiences.

Johnson concedes that the New York and San Francisco festivals have much in common. They are the nation's only events comparable or perhaps better than the older European festivals.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Last week's market rally indicates that "investors are desperately looking for reasons to recommit their sidelined capital," Alexander Hamilton Institute, Inc., says. However, the firm adds the conditions contributing to the bear market still haven't changed and the market therefore probably has more base building to do before it can launch a sustained rally.

Institutional cash probably fueled the latest advance because some of the blocks sold at advancing prices were suggestive of "panic buying" similar to some of the "panic selling" of last summer, Reynolds & Co. says. It now appears that "the back of the bear market has been broken and the balance of power lies on the bullish side," the firm says.

Foreign News Commentary

By United Press International

The new regimes of Bolivia and Peru are nationalistic, leftist and anti-American.

The ingredients are the same as have faced the United States before in the leftist-leaning government of Joao Goulart in Brazil, in Communist Cuba and in right-wing anti-American governments in Argentina.

But this time the ingredients are mixed in different proportions than in the past and they complicate the problems of President Nixon as he seeks a new approach to U.S. relations with Latin America.

Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia, leader of the Bolivian coup that overthrew the elected successor government to the late Gen. Rene Barrientos Ortuño, has described the policy of his new regime as "leftist nationalism."

He said he would seek "ideological confederation" with Peru whose elected government fell to a military coup on Oct. 3, 1968.

Within less than a month of his take-over, Ovando was following the script.

Over the weekend he announced his government was taking over the $140 million Bolivian Gulf Oil Co. He hinted that other foreign-owned operations in Bolivia also would be seized.

Natural targets, according to Bolivian government sources, would be a U.S. gold mining company and American-owned Bolivian power company that supplies power to La Paz, the Bolivian capital.

In this, Ovando was following the precedent set by Peru which first seized the American-owned International Petroleum Company, claiming a debt of more than $690 million owed by the company to the government for illegal operations, and going on from there to seize mining properties and the sugar interests of the W. R. Grace & Co. Next on the list is a take-over of internal communications effecting the international Telephone and Telegraph System.

The military of both Bolivia and Peru have been described as admirers of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic, a sentiment shared by many of the military in Argentina.

Cuba found quick riches in seizure of American properties and since has been forced to exist on $1 million a day from Russia.

The United States has avoided a final decision on Peru by continuing talks but talks do not make a policy.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—One of the things Washington columnists like to do best is discover hidden significance in obscure government reports.

This enables us to write columns that begin: "Although little noted at the time, a government report issued last (week, month, year, century) actually is highly significant."

The advantages of that type of column are twofold: (1) It implies we saw something in the report nobody else saw and hence are sharper than everybody else, and (2) it glosses over the fact that we overlooked the report when it first came out.

Although little noted at the time, a report issued Oct. 2 by the Agriculture Department actually is highly significant. It says "Preliminary tests show that lunar rock samples brought back to earth by the Apollo 11 astronauts have no toxic or pathogenic effects on insects."

The thing that makes this report highly significant is the growing feeling America is spending too much money on space exploration at this time.

Many citizens favor cutting back the space program and using the funds to solve problems here at home.

But suppose the space program were to develop practical spinoffs. In other words, suppose that solutions to some of the problems here at home could be found in space. That would take much of the steam out of demands for reductions in the space budget. Right?

Very well. One of the major problems here at home is finding some way to kill insects on a large scale without

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by:

The Programs: "A Man and A Woman," the heralded film with Anouk Aimee, is ABC-TV's Wednesday night movie Nov. 5 ... Same network offers another notable motion picture, "Georgy Girl," with Lynn Redgrave, as its Oct. 29 Wednesday film ... Frank Sinatra Jr.'s Sunday night CBS-TV musical hour showed the young singer is coming along nicely as a performer.

The Ratings: ABC-TV's "Room 222," about a Negro history teacher in a high school, seems to be a strong new hit ... But Leslie Uggams' new CBS-TV musical series has fallen off sharply in the numbers race ... The two plush freshman soap operas, "The Survivors" (on ABC-TV, with Lana Turner) and "Bracken's World" (on NBC-TV, about a movie studio) are struggling.

ABC-TV's "Movie of the Week," a new series of 90-minute original teleplays, stays hot in the ratings ... For example, its comic Western, "The Over-the-Hill Gang," about a group of ex-Texas Rangers, finished No. 1 in the 70 market Nielsen, despite opposition from two specials, NBC-TV's "From Here to the Seventies" (two-hour documentary hosted by Paul Newman) and CBS-TV's 90-minute drama "Appalachian Autumn."

Cause Celebre: Prul Keyes, producer and head writer of NBCV's "Laugh-In," has quit NBC-TV's "Laugh-In," has quit the show ... A trade report quotes him as saying, "I left because it's slanted and vulgar, dirty."

One of Keys' superiors says the producer-writer resigned for personal reasons ... A Los Angeles Times story says:

Londoners Can Now Read 'Domesday Book'

LONDON (UPI)—Hear ye, more than $1,200 for a complete set, and take longer to reproduce than the original survey took.

Against the 18 months required by William's men, the 20th century follow-up will need a couple of years. Sansom said they did not expect to start any printing until this time next year, with a first run limited to 500 copies.

Today's owners of popery listed in Domesday think only with pride of the historic connection. But the survey was loathed in its time. It was judgment day on taxes against which there was no appeal.

Land was the prime source of income and William owned the lion's share. After listing his possessions, Domesday set down who had the rest, right down to how many fields, woods, animals, watermills. Peasants were lumped into three categories: Villeins, who were free commoners, cotters, who had a cottage or smallholding in return for giving some service, and serfs, the lowest of the low who had to submit to their local lord's will.

Sansom said, "The great point about William was the way he imposed his wishes as king down through his nobles and serfs, whereas in France and Germany the feudal system was brought upwards from below."

"France's royal history was started by a sort of election between the noblemen which produced Charles Martel as king."

"William decided when he came over here that he was going to be kingpin from the word go. Domesday was a form of legally enforcing this, in effecting saying, 'Well, chum, that's what we've got, that's what you've got, and that's too bad, that's how it is.' It was a very unpopular document."

Bandits Bring Back Another Era In Texas History

Editor's note: Two young bandits has been called throwbacks to another era of Texas history, when Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker roamed free in crime. Their story read like a dime novel badland saga until they were captured last week in Oklahoma. Here is apt of that story.

VIDOR, Tex. (UPI)—Harvey Dale Webb and his sandy haired sidekick Donald Eugene Richardson lived in a world of cocked pistols.

Their story reads more like a dime novel badland saga than what it really is - a tale taken straight from today's police records in Texas and Oklahoma. Lawmen say Webb, 21, and Richardson, 22, were born past their time. They belonged more in the era of the Clyde Barrows, the Ma Barkers, the John Dillingers, the Pretty Boy Floyds.

Webb was fond of calling himself Clyde Barrow. What might have been the final chapter in their saga was written last Monday night on the outskirts of Oklahoma City. The boylike badmen and their girl friends were captured by police after a shootout.

The ballad of Webb and Richardson was written inside four and a half months. It included murder, kidnaping, assault, bank robbery and car theft.

Their tale started when they escaped from the Eastland County jail at Eastland, Tex., last May 27. Sheriff E.L. Sublett was thrashed so badly he required two weeks of hospital treatment.

The story ended on that Monday night on a dark Oklahoma City street.

In between, on Sept. 27, James Farmer, City councilman at Vidor, resisted a robbery attempt by two men. Farmer was left dead on the floor of his grocery.

On Oct. 1, murder with malice charges were filed against Webb and Richardson in the pistol slaying in this tiny town northeast of Beaumont, Tex.

Richardson, of Sweetwater, Tex., and Webb, of Shreveport, La., were daring. They both are 5-10 and both are lean. Both have sandy brown hair.

One has a maltese cross tattooed on his hand and the other has a nude woman tattooed on his chest.

Wesley Whaley, FBI agent in Houston, knows them well.

"Webb has a tattoo of a heart with an arrow piercing it in the palm of his right hand," Whaley said, "and a maltese cross on the back of his left hand. They certainly stand out."

"Richardson has the Spanish word 'alta' tattooed on his right forearm and the letters 'DRG' on his upper right arm," the FBI agent said.

"And if anybody gets close enough to him, they can see he has a tattoo of a naked woman on his chest."

Even before their crime spree through Texas and Oklahoma they were wanted men.

Webb had been sentenced to 75 years in prison for rape and armed robbery and was wanted in Fort Worth on charges of kidnaping in connection with a wild trip through West Texas and New Mexico with a terrified Fort Worth couple.

Richardson had been sentenced to a seven-year term for theft.

Richardson and another prisoner were being escorted from the modernistic Eastland County courthouse last May to the local lockup—a two-story building built before the turn of the century.

Sheriff Sublett was in charge of the prisoners that day because his husky jailer, John Shook, was on vacation. As the prisoners were ushered into the front door of the jail, Richardson and his companion jumped the elderly sheriff.

The two prisoners took the sheriff upstairs and locked him in a cell with his wife. They turned loose Webb, who was awaiting transfer to Fort Worth. The men escaped in the sheriff's car.

The day after the escape, Nancy Simmons, 17, and David Gibbs, 18, were motorboating on Lake Cisco, 10 miles west of Eastland.

When they came ashore, two men were waiting. The men fit the descriptions of Webb and Richardson. Gibbs said the men made him and his girl drive the boat back across the lake to a dam.

"We went to the top of the dam to the highway and they tried to flag down a car," Gibbs said. "They were unsuccessful."

All four got back into the boat and recrossed the lake.

Miss Simmons' parents and her brother and sister had come to the edge of the lake to look for the teen-agers. The two men forced all six hostages into Nancy's father's car and made him drive to Sweetwater—100 miles to the west.

The men released the six hostages unharmed and sped away in the car, which was found abandoned a few hours later.

Easy To Shed Mate In The Golden State

LOS ANGELES (NEA) — Go West, young lady. And get yourself a divorce.

Beginning Jan. 1, it will be as easy as pie to get a divorce in California. The Golden State has a new law — officially, the Family Law Act — which will make California probably the easiest state in the union in which to shed a mate.

"It will be almost impossible," says famed divorce lawyer Marvin M. Mitchelson, "not to get a divorce here."

There will be only two acceptable grounds for getting a dissolution — the new law even changes the wording, and the term "divorce" is out — after the first of 1970.

One is "incurable insanity." The other is "irreconcilable differences."

As Mitchelson says, who hasn't got irreconcilable differences? It is, as he puts it, "a catch-all" for anything you want to say. It will be virtually impossible to disprove.

The point of the new law, which has been signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan (himself a divorced man), is to eliminate the bitterness which has marked many sensational divorce trials. But Mitchelson does not think it will do that.

He points out that the majority of divorce cases — nine out of 10 — are settled out of court anyhow. The one in 10 that does reach court is usually a custody case or one in which the division of a large amount of property is the issue. And these, he thinks, will be fought just as bitterly in the future.

Mitchelson has handled many of them. He had a hand in the Groucho Marx case, in which a $6 million assortment of property was bisected. And he feels that this kind of thing will continue, with just as much bitterness and acrimony as ever.

But, for the average non-loaded man and woman, the new law makes it all a cinch. The waiting period, from the interlocutory decree to the final decree, has been cut from one year to six months. A woman can come to California, start a separate maintenance action immediately (no residency is required for that), and then turn it into a divorce, or dissolution, action later.

The new law also changes some other things, too. In many ways, it helps the man in the case. It makes it a little harder for a wife to get alimony — the court must now take more into consideration — the wife's earning capacity.

The new law will also result, when a marriage ends, in an almost automatic 50-50 division of property. Heretofore, courts have frequently awarded more than half to the wife, leaving the husband with the short end of the financial stick.

But Mitchelson feels the wording of the new law will make it possible for wives to play around more during a marriage, without the risk of divorce-time disappointment.

Under the existing law, the court took into consideration, when divvying up the property, the moral behavior of the two parties. The well-behaved partner did better. The object of all divorce trials was to prove you were saintly and the other partner was immoral, and you walked out with more than half the property.

"But on Jan. 1," Mitchelson says, "the 50-50 split is virtually automatic. So a wife can have all the affair, she wants, knowing that she has that security."

The law, like all new laws, will take awhile to shake down. California's divorce lawyers are currently going through a 10-week course to acquaint them with the law's 30,000 words. But even that will be inadequate.

"This law is setting a precedent," Mitchelson says. "And it will have to be modified as time goes on. I'm sure it will be tested in the state Supreme Court, perhaps even the federal Supreme Court. We'll have to learn, through experience, how to live with it."

The one thing that remains to be seen is how the doctrine of "irreconcilable differences" is applied. If the court chooses to accept, simply, one partner's word for it, there will be nothing to it. But the courts may want to know the details of those differences.

"If that happens," Mitchelson says, "we'll still have sensationalism and bitterness. After all, if a woman catches her husband with another woman, that ought to be an irreconcilable difference."

"DAY OF PRAYER"

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon has invited members of the House and Senate prayer groups to a White House prayer breakfast Wednesday at which evangelist Billy Graham will speak. The breakfast will mark the "Day of Prayer" proclaimed by Nixon urging Americans to pray for "peace and justice for all the world."

COURT SENTENCE ARABS

HEBRON, Occupied Jordan (UPI) — An Israeli military court Monday sentenced two Hebron Arabs to 20 years in prison for anti-Israeli activities. Israeli security forces charged the Arabs monitored radioed commands from Al Fatah guerrillas in Amman, including an order to set off a truckload of explosives in downtown Jerusalem. They were seized before they could do it, Israel said.

Kremlin No Longer Wants Summit With President Nixon

Kremlin interest cooling: Talks: The Kremlin, not long ago on a summit with President Nixon, no longer wants it, diplomats say. For one, the Russians have nothing to offer, nor do they expect to get anything from Washington at present. Moreover, the Kremlin is disappointed in Nixon who, the diplomats say, has not lived up to the hopes he raised for dramatic East-West peace moves when he took office.

The Russians also are indicating they are not yet ready to go into talks on the limitation of strategic arms. One reason is the complicated new weapons that have developed since the United States first offered arms talks about three years ago. Another is that the Russians are anxious to see how their talks with the Red Chinese opening Oct. 20 develop before they make any other important

Kotara Named Top Player In Sandie Game

Harvester tackle Larry Kotara hasn't been mentioned much this year through no fault of Kotara's.

The senior 204 pound tackle isn't a spectacular player, but he is the Harvester's most steady lineman. You can always count on Kotara to carry out his assignment and then do just a little extra.

For instance against Amarillo Kotara played an excellent offensive game and was one of the few bright spots on defense as he picked up four unassisted tackles and assisted on eight others.

Pampa coaches named Kotara Harvester-of-the-Week for his efforts against the Sandies.

Kotara, like the other Harvesters, doesn't like to lose and Pampa will go through hard workouts this week in preparation for their Friday night zone battle in Amarillo against Caprock.

The Longhorns are unbeaten but their feeling all season has been that the one game they would win this year would be against Pampa, a team they defeated, 21-8, in 1968.

Caprock players and coaches feel that the Harvesters are the one weak team on their schedule.

The theme song in the 'Horn camp this week is "Bring on Pampa, Tra-La-Tra-La."

Pampa coach Swede Lee, who was in Amarillo Monday for a district grid coaches meeting, said he expected a real "dogfight" from Caprock. "They are better than their record indicates," Lee said.

Lee also said that district coaches agreed on a 3-AAAA district schedule for 1970 and Pampa's shapes up like this: Oct. 16, Caprock, here; Oct. 23 of 24, at Tascosa; Oct. 30, Borger, here; Nov. 6-7, Palo Duro, there and Nov. 13, Amarillo, here.

Pampa came through the Amarillo struggle with only minor injuries and all hands are expected to be at full strength with the exception of halfback Scotty King, who still has a seriously bruised shoulder.

Canadian Eyes Gruver In 1-A Battle Friday

Conference games are the thing this week among area teams and when the dust has settled Friday night at least three unbeaten will have lost their first league game, unless there is a tie of course.

In District 1-A Canadian (1-0) plays at Gruver (1-0) and in District 2-A Wheeler (1-0) is at McLean (1-0) in important league clashes. District play finally gets underway in District 5-B, also.

White Deer (1-0) will shoot for its third straight victory when it plays at Stratford (0-1) in a District 1-A outing. In the other league game Sunray (0-1) is at Sanford-Fritch (0-1).

Canadian edged Stratford, 10-9, last week while Gruver was just getting by Sanford-Fritch, 12-8. White Deer waxed Sunray, 7-6, as the 1-A teams all played pretty close.

In District 2-A it was a different story, however, with Wheeler zooming past Silvertown, 18-6, and McLean broke a two-game losing streak and opened conference action on a winning note, 19-8, over Happy.

Clarendon, the lone unbeaten in 2-A at 6-0, clubbed Claude, 49-0, and hosts Happy Friday night.

Lefors, Booker, Texline and Groom open league war in 5-B with the unbeaten Tigers at home against Texline (3-2) and Lefors (1-4) plays at tough Booker (2-3). The Klows will be trying to break a three-game losing streak while Lefors has lost two straight.

It will be homecoming at Miami Friday night and the Warriors, who lost 36-0 Friday night to No. 1 ranked Turpin, plays host to Darrouzett in what should be an exciting and razzle-dazzle type game.

Montgomery, Dicus Out For Razorbacks

By United Press International
Arkansas will be without the fabulous passing combination of Bill Montgomery to Chuck Dicus when the Razorbacks meet Wichita State Saturday in Little Rock.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles said Monday John Eichler would start at quarterback in place of Montgomery and David Cox, Steve Hockersmith and John Reese would alternate at the wide receiver spot vacated by Dicus, a leading contender for all Southwest Conference laurels.

Dicus injured his shoulder two weeks ago against Baylor, but Broyles said the ligaments were improving more rapidly than expected and Dicus should return to the lineup when the Hogs meet conference foe Texas A&M Nov. 1. Dicus originally was thought to be out until the Arkansas-Rice contest Nov. 8.

"Chuck is running now and it looks like he might be able to play against A&M," Broyles said.

Dicus, voted the most valuable player in the last Sugar Bowl, caught 20 passes for 384 yards this season before he was injured. Broyles said Montgomery was "still bothered by bruised ribs," injured against Tulsa and re-injured against TCU.

The coach said his fourth ranked Razorbacks looked slow Monday during practice mainly because the team had difficulty adjusting to the more than 80 formations used by Wichita State.

Southern Methodist, one of three undefeated teams in conference play, passed cut awards for work during the Rice game and planned to start practicing today against Texas Tech.

Cornerback Larry Tunnell won the weekly Stallion Award for outstanding play against Rice. The Mustangs worked for two hours on their kickoff coverage and protection for place kickers.

Texas Tech Coach J. T. King lauded SMU quarterback Chuck Hixson and then compared the Mustangs to Mississippi State, the team Tech lost to last Saturday.

"Now that the Mustangs have their running game set they are going to be exceptionally tough," King said. "Hixson is the finest passer in college football. "We expect to face many of the same problems in SMU that we faced against Mississippi State in a great quarterback," King said. "The Mustangs are the type of team that can beat you on one big play."

Tech unveiled its finest offensive performance of the season, despite losing to the Bulldogs.

Rice Coach Bo Hagan said his starting quarterback, Stahlie Vincent, pinched a nerve in his throwing arm Saturday and would not be able to work out this week. But Hagan said Vincent should be able to start

Saturday night against second ranked Texas.

Linebacker Dale Cronics of Dallas was not as fortunate, however. Cronics suffered an ankle injury Saturday against U and will be out indefinitely, Hagan said.

Texas A&M spent Monday listening to scouting reports on its upcoming conference foe—Baylor. Saturday night's contest will be the first the Aggies will play in College Station and their last night game of the season.

Jets Bounce Back, Take Over 1st Place

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Jets are slowly reaching Super Bowl form.

Weeb Ewbank, coach of the defending world champions, admitted as much Monday night after the Jets defeated the Houston Oilers, 26-17, to take over sole possession of first place in the American Football League's Eastern Division.

"This was a good team victory all the way around. We're gonna hang the game ball right up there," Ewbank said, pointing to a pipe that swung down from the ceiling of the locker room.

The offensive line, which had been disappointing in the Jets' first five games, finally protected Joe Namath the way it did last year. As a result, the Jets were able to connect on the bomb—one of their prime weapons last season.

Don Maynard grabbed seven passes for 21 yards. Namath connected on 12 of 24 passes for 306 yards as he turned in his best game of the season. Namath had three passes intercepted, including one which was returned 51 yards for a touchdown by Zeke Moore, but he was on target most of the night and did an excellent job of reading the Oilers' switching defenses.

The Jets, who drew a record crowd of 63,841 for their home opener, trailed Houston only once—7-3 in the second quarter following Moore's interception return.

New York took the lead for good with seven minutes left in the half when Maynard beat all-league safety Miller Farr on a flea pattern for a 57-yard score. With 18 seconds left in the half, Maynard came back again to beat Ken Houston on a 54-yarder and give the Jets a 17-7 lead at the intermission.

Coach Won't Change Policy On Scholarships

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI)—Wyoming football Coach Lloyd Eaton says he gave 14 Negro athletes football scholarships so they can get an education to they can get an education to "really do something for their people" and he won't change that policy.

"This has been the way I have always coached and I certainly see no reason to make the slightest change in that now," said the coach, who dismissed 14 blacks from his nationally 12th-ranked squad last Friday for wearing black armbands in support of a student protest against Mormon-operated Brigham Young University.

The Wyoming Board of Trustees has upheld Eaton's action, but the faculty senate voted Sunday to ask the administration to block the dismissals pending an investigation. Faculty members have suggested formation of a student-faculty committee to investigate the dismissals.

Astros Showed Success Against Champion Mets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Houston is a dirty word around here. Houston nearly botched up the whole works.

That's right. The Astros treated the world champion Mets like little leaguers all year long, beating them 10 out of 12 times, more often than not merely by showing up at the ball park.

No wonder Gil Hodges said what he did after the Mets clinched their division title and they asked him which club he would prefer seeing win the other one, the Braves or the Giants.

Has No Preference
"It's immaterial to me," Hodges said. "I have no preference who we meet—so long as it isn't Houston."

Well, if you remember your history you can recall the night Mets not only went on to beat the Baltimore Orioles for the world championship but on

Tomey Says He's Retired

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bill Tomey, the man many regard as the greatest decathlon competitor in history, has retired.

"This was it," the 30-year-old Santa Barbara (Calif.) City College teacher said Monday after failing to break the world record in a two-day meet at UCLA.

"Naturally, I'm disappointed," the exhausted Tomey admitted. "I wanted to retire with the world record."

"But it just wasn't to be. You have to put everything together and I just didn't do it."

SPORTS PARADE

the day they did last Thursday, wild-eyed, ecstatic Mets fans tore huge chunks out of the Shea Stadium greensward so they could take home souvenirs of the memorable event.

The groundskeepers had only three days to make repairs before Monday night's AFL contest between the New York Jets and Houston Oilers and they did a commendable job, but the field wasn't exactly what you'd call a billiard table.

The Jets beat the Oilers, 26-17, but the condition of the field certainly was a factor.

When the game was over, Weeb Ewbank, the Jets' coach, made it a point to see Wally Lemm, the Oilers' coach.

"I apologized to him for the ball game and he said to me, 'What the hell can you do?'" said Ewbank.

In the post-game excitement Ewbank said he apologized for the ball game when what he meant was the field.

Later, Weeb began to feel the field wasn't quite that bad after all.

"I thought there was very little falling down," he said. "I thought there'd be more."

That wasn't the way Lemm saw it, though.

"We were told the sod would be six inches thick," he said. "It was only an inch. It was terrible."

Not as far as Jim Turner was concerned. Turner is the Jets' place-kicking specialist and although he did miss one boot he made good on four others 17, 48, 45 and 21 yards.

"The only reason I missed that one kick was because I was kicking off the infield," he explained. "That was the first time I did it this season. Otherwise, I was lucky. I didn't have to kick out of any holes."

While some of the players said they felt as if they were on a golf course, constantly replacing the divots, the condition of the field didn't seem to disturb Don Maynard, the Jets' wide receiver, either.

He scored two touchdowns, scampering 57 yards once and 54 yards later on passes from Namath to bring his total number of career TDs in the AFL to 81, which equaled a pair of records.

Sooners, Missouri In Trouble, Both Hurting

By United Press International
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Oklahoma and Missouri go on the road for perhaps their most important Big Eight Conference games of the season this week. And both have injury-riddled defenses.

Oklahoma goes to Manhattan, Kan., to play upstart Kansas State, a team the 11th-ranked Sooners have not lost to since 1935.

But the Oklahoma defensive unit may be without defensive tackles Kevin Grady and John Watson and monsterman Jim Files.

"We've had too many people in and out on defense all year," Coach Chuck Fairbanks said Monday. "We just can't seem to keep everyone healthy long enough to get anything going."

Missouri has much the same problem. The seventh-ranked Tigers visit Boulder, Colo., and the Buffaloes with defensive end Mike Bennett and defensive tackle Mark Kuhlmann on the injured list. Missouri already was without defensive tackles Rocky Wallace and John Cowan.

Buckeyes Stay On Top, 'Horns Still In Second

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ohio State today came within one point of unanimous acclamation as the nation's No. 1 college football team.

The unbeaten Buckeyes, now 4-0, received 34 first place votes and one second-place nomination from the 3-member United Press International Board of Coaches. The balloting gave Ohio State 345 points, just one off a perfect 350 as the Buckeyes were named No. 1 for the fifth consecutive week this season.

Texas, which received the only first-place vote not cast for Ohio State, was ranked second again with 299 points while fast-rising Tennessee moved into third with 224. Arkansas took fourth with 167 while UCLA and Penn State captured the No. 5 and No. 6 rankings.

Missouri was ranked seventh and Southern California fell from third to eighth, Louisiana State retained ninth and Florida moved into the top 10 in the No. 10 slot.

Five coaches from each of the seven geographical areas of the nation comprise the UPI ratings board. Each week they select the top 10 teams in the nation with points awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis on votes from first through 10th.

Senior Bowl Players Given Raise In Pay

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—Inflation has hit the Senior Bowl.

Rea Schuessler, general manager for the post season All-Star Classic held here for the past 20 years, said Monday players participating in this season's event, scheduled for Jan. 10, will get a $250 pay increase.

The new pay figures will be $1,250 for members of the winning team and $1,000 for members of the losing team in the game which is drawn on North-South lines. The winner's share previously was $1,000 per player while the losers pocketed $750.

Besides the pay boost, there will be an added incentive for college seniors to play in this year's Senior Bowl, Schuessler said.

More than 65 professional scouts are expected to attend the game because it will be played close to the site of this year's Super Bowl, scheduled for New Orleans. The Super Bowl will be played the following day.

Traditionally the last All-Star Game before the professional draft, the Senior Bowl features college players who are interested in continuing their careers in pro ranks.

secrets when I say Colorado will come out and run at us. They know it and we know it."

"Colorado can stick that ball at your real good. They may be the biggest team physically in the history of the conference."

Elsewhere Saturday, Kansas will be at Iowa State and Oklahoma State at Nebraska.

Kansas lost its outside threat, Ron Jessie, with a broken hand in Saturday's loss to Nebraska. Jessie, who ran for 73 yards and caught four passes for 86 yards, was switched from tailback to wingback last week.

Iowa State also is hurting. Quarterback Obert Tisdale did not practice at all last week. He came into the game against Kansas State late in the first half, played part of the second half and reinjured his sprained ankle.

Shocks, Junior Highs Seek Thursday Wins

Pampa schools football teams, 1-5 last week, will try to reverse the trend Thursday and Friday.

Pampa Shockers, a 1-7 loser to Plainview last week, plays at home against Monterey in a 4 p.m. game on Harvester Field. Friday night Pampa plays at Caprock.

Pampa's four junior high teams are in action Thursday also and only Lee eighth grade has a winning streak to work on.

Lee ninth (3-2) and loser's of two straight, plays at Dumas, a 36-0 winner over Pampa ninth last week. Lee eighth (4-1) hosts Dumas eighth, an 18-0 winner over Pampa eighth last week. Both games are at 4 p.m.

Pampa Junior High ninth (1-3-1) plays at Borger Houston and Pampa eighth (0-4) and shutout in its last two games plays host to Borger Houston eighth, with both games slated for 4 p.m. starts.

Last year Monterey's Junior Varsity drubbed the Shockers, 41-6, but the Pampa offense has been stalled just once this season and that was last week when they couldn't overcome their own mistakes.

Mass Mail Appeal Urged

Now that hundreds of thousands of Americans have manifested their concern over continued bloodletting in Vietnam, presumably telling President Nixon something he did not already know, and agree with, one wonders if there might be enough energy left for other universal expression of concern having to do with other aspects of man's inhumanity to man arising from his war.

There is little likelihood of demonstrations on this issue, however, since it implies that the tiniest bit of a fault may exist with North Vietnam. Still, it may be worth considering. Latest figures from the Defense Department state that 35 American officers and enlisted men are known to be prisoners of war in North Vietnam. Another 918 are listed as missing and are believed captured. Most of them are pilots who were shot down over North Vietnam.

Since the beginning of the war, the American Red Cross has sought, through the world Red Cross organization and through diplomatic and other channels, to assist these prisoners.

The government of North Vietnam, though a signatory to the 1949 Geneva Conventions covering the treatment of prisoners of war, has consistently refused to permit delegates of the International Committee of the Red Cross to visit prisoner camps in North Vietnam. It has even refused to provide the committee with the names of American prisoners or to permit the regular exchange of mail between them and their families.

In case anyone is wondering, the government of South Vietnam, which has charge of all prisoners taken by both its forces and by U.S. forces, has been fully co-operative with the International Committee of the Red Cross in Istanbul, Turkey, last month, a resolution was adopted unanimously by the representatives of 77 governments and 91 national Red Cross societies urging North Vietnam to observe the conventions it has signed. The American Red Cross has followed up this action by cabling Red Cross societies in all parts of the world asking that they appeal to the Red Cross Society of North Vietnam and that they urge their governments to make similar appeals to the North Vietnamese government.

The Red Cross further suggests that since Hanoi keeps a close weather eye on American public opinion, if enough Americans were to invest 25 cents in an air mail letter to Hanoi, this direct appeal might also go far toward persuading the North Vietnamese to bring their treatment of prisoners of war up to the level of decency which even the Nazis observed in World War II.

The address is: The Office of the President, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam.

All this may be offensive to admirers of the late Ho Chi Minh, who may argue that the United States government is ultimately responsible because it sent these men to Vietnam in the first place. Yet Sen. J. William Fulbright, whose credentials as an opponent of American involvement in Vietnam have been impeccable ever since the involvement began, once expressed his support of the Istanbul resolution on the floor of Congress as a simple matter of humanitarianism having nothing to do with the nature of the conflict.

Even if the United States were to sign a peace with North Vietnam tomorrow, or were to withdraw from Vietnam immediately and unilaterally, the machinery of repatriation would take time. Pending that day, it would mean a great deal to the families of American prisoners of war if they could at least learn that their loved ones are alive.

Safety Belts Save Lives

An estimated 2,000 lives were saved in traffic accidents in 1968 because of safety belts, reports the National Highway Safety Bureau.

Yet despite the obvious benefits, millions of motorists, something like World War I pilots who disdained the use of parachutes, persist in refusing to utilize this simplest and most important safety device on their cars, outside of its brakes.

One reason may be, of course, that putting on the belts is not always so simple a matter. Soiling out, straightening out and fastening together all the gear, especially since shoulder harnesses have been added, can be exasperating. At least, it is as good an excuse as any for pushing the whole mess aside.

Moreover, every automaker has a different arrangement of buckles and straps, a confusion that may particularly discourage their use by people who do much driving of rental cars.

Recognizing at long last the need to standardize safety belts, the bureau proposes amending the federal safety code to require standard buckle release methods, a provision for ready identification of corresponding tongues and buckles and combination adjustment and webbing storage devices. An effective date not later than July 1, 1971, "is being considered."

This common sense may come to automobile safety belts some six years after they were first made mandatory on all new cars and some 60 years after automobile accidents began assuming significance as a method of limiting the population.

That this is a time of testing also is revealed in the Senate hearings on the nomination of Federal Appeals Court Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the U.S. Supreme Court. Not in a generation has any nominee for a court post been subjected to the kind of smear campaign directed at Judge Haynsworth.

The liberals and left-wingers are in a frenzy because someone who isn't a partisan of social revolution has been nominated for the Supreme Court. They can't make a case against Clement Haynsworth, who is regarded by those familiar with his record as a quiet, distinguished judge of high ability. But the AFL-CIO, the NAACP, Americans for Democratic Action and other liberal groups don't hesitate to distort the judge's record or spread ugly personal rumors in an attempt to prevent his confirmation. The Senate, which is supposed to be the greatest deliberative body in the world, has been the scene of unconscionable headline grabbing.

What lies behind these attacks on Judge Haynsworth is the determination of the liberals to continue their veto power over judicial nominations. They had such a veto under the Roosevelt, Kennedy and Johnson administrations. No one was elevated to the bench unless he was cleared by the liberals. Supreme Court nominations went to men such as Thurgood Marshall of the NAACP and Arthur Goldberg of the AFL-CIO, men with real conflict of interest problems insofar as unions and protest groups are concerned.

Shakespeare will not be out of date in the next century, however. Having slept better, the fortunate citizens of the future will perform awake more refreshed and well might cry with the Bard: "Now are our stern alarms changed to merry meetings."

A Time Of Testing

October and November constitute a time of testing in the United States. Powerful forces are arrayed against America, trying to weaken the country at home and abroad.

Last week's so-called Vietnam Moratorium and other Vietnik demonstrations planned this month and next have as their real objective not simply the immediate withdrawal of U.S. troops from an anti-communist struggle but the defeat and humiliation of the United States and its total disruption within.

First of all, the planners of the Vietnam Moratorium — the stoppage of school and college classes — aim at applying such intense pressure on President Nixon that he will immediately order all U.S. troops out of Vietnam, thereby assuring victory for the Viet Cong and the Hanoi regime. The communists have been unable to win on the battlefield, but believe they can confuse and trick Americans into accepting a peace that amounts to victory for communism in Asia.

Beyond that, the communists, communist splinter groups and assorted revolutionaries such as the Black Panthers and the SDS hope to shatter the morale and unity of the American people and lay the groundwork for a real revolution inside the United States.

Fortunately, only a minority of Americans support leftist causes. But this minority is loud and militant. Moreover, it is superbly organized for propaganda purposes and has succeeded in enlisting the support of numerous dupes who mistakenly think they are promoting "peace" when they join in the Vietnam Moratorium and similar protests. A hard core of radicals and New Left supporters in Congress, such as Reps. Allard K. Lowenstein and Shirley Chisholm of New York, have managed to attract tremendous coverage from the liberal news media.

The nation is in a state of peril, for many people who should be standing firm against revolutionary forces have been duped into aiding the New Left or simply don't understand the threat that exists to the American way of life and U.S. security overseas.

The tragedy of misunderstanding is evident in the actions of the churches. For example, many members of the Protestant Episcopal Church were shocked recently when a special convention of the denomination indirectly granted $200,000 to the National Black Economic Development Conference, the organization that adopted the notorious, pro-revolution "Black Manifesto," in many parts of the country and in several denominations, concerned churchmen are making a silent protest by withholding their contributions to church bodies that aid revolutionary groups.

That this is a time of testing also is revealed in the Senate hearings on the nomination of Federal Appeals Court Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the U.S. Supreme Court. Not in a generation has any nominee for a court post been subjected to the kind of smear campaign directed at Judge Haynsworth.

THE GLOBAL VIEW

Czech Refugee Treasures Freedom He Found In U.S.

By LEON DENNEN
NEW YORK (NEA) — A year after Russian troops occupied Czechoslovakia to crush the nation's march toward greater freedom, the memory of Moscow's brutal invasion is already fading in the West but for some of the 50,000 Czechoslovak refugees it remains a grim reality.

Many still languish in the camps of neighboring Austria where the majority of refugees first go. They need help — food, clothing, shelter and, above all, advice on obtaining asylum elsewhere in the free world.

Jack Vacek (he changed his name to protect his parents who are still in Czechoslovakia) is one of the lucky escapees. With the help of the International Rescue Committee, he and his wife and infant son finally managed to reach the United States.

"I was searching for a free world and a better future, and I found it in America," he told this writer.

Jan Vacek, 26, was in many respects a successful man in the Marxist-Leninist dictatorship. A brilliant student, he attended the University of Brno, where he received a Ph.D. in philosophy.

Like most young Czechoslovaks, Jan was happy with the growing relaxation of the Communist oppression and terror under the more liberal regime of Alexander Dubcek. His future seemed assured when he was appointed in 1967 to the faculty of a leading foreign language school. The son of a humble shoemaker was going to be a professor.

Perhaps, Jan thought, there was something to Dubcek's claim that communism could have "a human face."

But in the early hours of Aug. 21, 1968, Russian tanks and troops, supported by forces from "fraternal" Red countries, invaded Czechoslovakia. They seemed to be everywhere. The people were at first frightened and then angry.

At six a.m. Jan and his pregnant wife drove to the University of Brno where students and professors were erecting barricades to prevent a Russian take-over.

It was a pathetic protest. One cannot resist tanks and machine guns with bare hands or with rocks and bricks while the free world remains passive.

Nevertheless, the students displayed signs and posters which demanded an immediate Soviet withdrawal. Then they started to march through the streets.

"It was a spontaneous protest," Jan said. "I talked with many of the invading troops. The Russians — many of them teen-agers — did not even know they were in Czechoslovakia. They had been led to believe that they were taking part in military maneuvers — not a new thing for them."

Some Russian soldiers cried from shame when they realized what was happening.

The rest is another ugly chapter in recent history. Dubcek, the man who naively believed that he could humanize communism, was kidnapped by the Russian secret police (KGB) which descended on Prague after the invasion. He returned from his Soviet captivity broken in spirit.

It did not take long for Jan to realize that all hope of freedom in Czechoslovakia was dead. He could have continued to live comfortably but he agreed to submit to the terror of the KGB. "But what is survival without freedom?" he asked.

After months of careful planning, he escaped with his wife and son to Vienna where he knocked on the door of the International Rescue Committee, the private U.S. agency dedicated to helping refugees from totalitarian tyranny.

Now Jan is one of 30 Czechoslovak refugees who found work with the Westinghouse Electric Co. in Jersey City. He lives in the poorer section of town.

"But it is clean and has trees and the neighbors, like most Americans, are kind and friendly."

However, it is his freedom that Jan enjoys most. "My future and my family's is in America," he said. "I would rather be dead than live under the Communist tyranny."

Got something you would like to "get off your chest"? That's what the "Clearing House" is for. It has been suggested there should be more letters to the Editor, that people should speak their mind. So, in the public interest, write to the Editor and "get it off your chest."

Editor: Thank God for Americans who had the guts to fly the American flag Oct. 15, and I pray that it will forever wave. The majority of Americans still love their country and are willing to fight for it.

Sure we all want peace, but is peace destroying property, being immoral, ignorance, laziness, filth, ungodliness? Many of our so-called citizens worship everything ungodly and unclean.

Is there any love for country, neighbors or parents among those who participate in riots, looting and force?

There was a time when young people loved and respected their parents, school, church and nation. We were a nation honored by other nations, but we are getting weaker every day and it is up to the youth of America whether we rise or fall, and if they want peace let them unite in all-out war against anything that will destroy us and then and only then will other nations be ready to respect us and fear us.

I love America and other nations, too, who want peace for the world. But there are those who rejoice when we destroy ourselves.

I am an American, a mother and grandmother, a lover of people and of America. Long may it stand.

Key Disengagement Word Is "Battlefield"

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's anti-war critics keep sighting straws in the wind which suggest that, despite the President's troop withdrawals, the administration's Vietnam policy involves a continuing U.S. force commitment there.

That is why some of the critics are turning to deadline proposals which call for disengagement by a given date. They can get no hint of when the Vietnamization of the war can be completed and when the final U.S. units can be withdrawn.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers says the President has such a disengagement schedule, though it may change with events. Critics get little satisfaction, however, when they seek elaboration on the timetable from the military experts.

For example, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the former commander in Vietnam who is now the Army chief of staff, has given Congress a carefully hedged secret appraisal, behind closed doors, of when South Vietnamese forces will, with U.S. help, be able to take over "the majority of the battlefield burden."

Clearly, however, the key word in the general's statement is: "battlefield." The obvious suggestion is that the picture is quite different for U.S. military units behind the battle lines.

Westmoreland has stated confidently that the South Vietnamese army will continue to improve, "but they will still depend on us for considerable logistic support. They will depend on us for mobility, troop carrier aircraft, and a certain amount of helicopters, and they will need our fire support."

To the President's critics, statements of that sort mean a continuing U.S. involvement of supply units, air crews, artillerymen, and the like.

"FORESEEABLE FUTURE" — Like the secretary of state, Westmoreland contends that the Vietnam timetable depends, in large part, on "what the enemy does." Specifically, the general mentions the size of the force sent south by Hanoi and what use it is permitted to make of sanctuaries in Cambodia.

Those sanctuaries, according to Westmoreland, are essential to Hanoi in providing logistic support for their units in the southern portion of South Vietnam.

The general foresees a situation in which South Vietnamese forces will be able to cope with local, Vietcong forces. He says, however, "They will need our help to cope with the aggression of North Vietnamese in the foreseeable future in my opinion."

Pressed for elaboration in one closed-door congressional hearing, Westmoreland added: "To put it another way, I think the Republic of Vietnam military forces can cope with the Vietcong, and they can eventually defeat them. But the Vietcong, plus the number of divisions that the North Vietnamese now have in the South, if properly supplied, they will be unable to handle at this time in their history."

The general's further comments on when that situation might shift were deleted from unclassified accounts of the session.

GI's & "P.I." — Responding to congressional inquiries, the Army has given assurance that a soldier who writes his congressman or senator, about unpleasant duty assignments or other grievances, will not have his official record tabbed "P.I." — for political interference.

A Pentagon memo notes, however, that the Army has no way of preventing "some installation or unit from so identifying records maintained within their jurisdiction."

Lt. Gen. A.O. Connor, the Army's deputy chief of staff for personnel, disclaimed any knowledge of the "P.I." designation when Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., recently inquired about it. He said he had never seen that designation.

However, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., a reserve major general, said he had been told definitely that the tab is used. Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., added, in a Senate hearing, that the designation is said to be "poisonous" to the officer or enlisted man who seeks congressional assistance.

Subsequently, Connor supplied a memo stating that there is no Army policy or system which authorizes such a tab. In fact, he said, field units are specifically advised that individuals are not to be penalized when inquiries are made as a result of congressional interest.

"It is a policy that the official DA (Department of the Army) military records file of an individual is in no way annotated, flagged or otherwise marked to reflect political interference or political interest," the memo said.

It then added that there is no army "system in being" to preclude the flagging of local records.

Why Do We Kill Ourselves?

By PAUL HARVEY
A congressional committee is huddling with safety experts, trying to write new laws to protect us from ourselves.

Already lawmakers have thus sought to discourage us from smoking, to limit our exposure to radioactivity, to discourage us from drinking while driving and to protect us from on-the-job accidents.

But we continue to smoke; we continue to market and buy unshielded color-TV sets despite their potential for harmful radiation; 55,500 Americans are dead because they drank and drove last year.

And wait'll you hear what we paid for carelessness on the job!

If you and I should suddenly hear the announcement of 114,000 American dead littering a battlefield somewhere, we'd be aghast. Yet that many Americans died from home-front accidents last year and another 11 million were disabled!

The dollar cost of the deaths, injuries and man-days lost, which we all share, came to $11.6 billion.

Why? Psychologists are confounded. During the 1929 stock market crash a comparative handful jumped out Wall Street windows. Now, when we are most prosperous, most well fed, presumably most comfortable, we are apparently most miserable. Overtly, we kill ourselves 21,000 a year.

"Unintentionally," we are killing ourselves at many times that rate.

Harrison Williams (D-N.J.) is conducting public hearings on the subject.

Already it has been determined that the most hazardous occupations are farm work, mining, construction and lumbering — in that order.

In the factory, management and unions have done a pretty good job of inspiring safety-consciousness. In these other industries, however, our job safety record is frightful.

Worker accidents cost us 242 million working days last year. To say nothing of the suffering and expense and resultant family distress, the productivity loss from accidents was six times greater than the loss from all strikes.

President Nixon has signed a bill authorizing safety standards for construction work. A measure to set stiffer safety regulations in coal mines is pending on the Hill. Perhaps farm-equipment safety standards can be standardized and enforced.

But in no event, there is no law and no device which can prevent carelessness.

Indeed, most of us weary of hearing Safety Council scare announcements. As an overly protected child rejects repetitious admonition, we appear to resent and perhaps rebel against health announcements and safety slogans.

So I do not know what Congress thinks it can do to force you to do what's best for you. Do you suppose that acceptance of health hazards and willful carelessness are the ways our overpopulation situation is going to take care of itself?
