Perry views devastated area, calls it worst in state's history

By DAVID BOWSER Staff Writer

AMARILLO -- Gov. Rick Perry stopped in Amarillo Thursday afternoon long enough to describe the devastation he saw across the eastern Texas Panhandle following a week of wildfires that burned about a million acres or pasture land, numerous homes and was being blamed for 11 deaths.

Calling it the worst range fire in the history of the state, Perry recounted seeing fire retardant dropped on the very doorsteps of homes in Skellytown by Texas Forest Service planes.

He said that he had watched from the air as flames flared up again between Perryton and Canadian after the local Texas Forest Service coordinator said there was nothing but hot spots left in that area.

Noting that in the past 12 months some five million acres of land had burned off in the state, destroying 399 residences and causing dozens of deaths, Perry said conditions for additional range fires remain ripe because of drought conditions.

He commended the firefighters who fought the blazes that have blackened some million acres now and called them heroes.

Perry, noting that Pampa State Rep. Warren Chisum had in the past sponsored legislation to aid volunteer fire departments, said he expects when the Texas Legislature meets in 2007 in regular session to see aid to volunteer fire departments extended and expanded.

"A lot of people want to help volunteer fire departments," Perry said.

He offered no specifics.

After talking with Dale Smith, a partner in McLean Feedyard, Gov. Perry said he hopes the U.S. Department of Agriculture has some money for livestock producers who have suffered losses from grass fires this year.

Perry said the state's livestock industry has been negatively impacted by wildfires, but they will overcome those problems just like they have overcome drought and down markets in years gone by.

"You can't crush the cattle industry in the

A Pampa man remains in Gray County Jail today on a 24-hour detainer after he was arrested and charged with cruelty to animals and assault causing bodily injury/family violence, according to jail records.

Tristain Netters, 23, of 1825 Coffee was arrested after a woman involved in the incidents reportedly flagged down a passing Gray County Sheriff's deputy vehicle. Pampa Police Department was called at 3:18 p.m. to respond to the address, according to police reports.

The woman alleged that Netters threw a puppy out the door of the residence after the puppy had eliminated waste inside the resi-

Program land northwest of White Deer, the Texas Forest Service called in airdrops of fire retardant on the CRP land southwest of town.

The fire southwest of White Deer was just north of Farm-to-Market Road 293 on the east side of Carson County Road V.

Texas Forest Service officials said lightning may have been the cause of the two new fires in Carson County this morning.

White Deer units and firefighters from Groom along with Carson County road crews were battling a wall of roaring flames late this morning as Texas Forest Service crews on the scene called for air drops and set backfires.

The fire southwest of White Deer quickly spread across several sections the thick grass on the CRP land.

Cold north winds fanned the flames although a light rain and sleet seemed to have little effect on the blaze. The thick gray smoke from the grass mixed with heavy gray clouds promising more rain as the acrid smell of smoke mixed with the sweet smell of rain.

Pampa community is full of great mentors

A big illusion that we have today is that great mentors are not available or accessible.

We have somehow connected the highly visible and inaccessible pro athletes to be ideal great role

The truth is that Pampa has plenty of outstanding people that would make great mentors and are just waiting to be asked.

In the Greek tale, The Odyssey, while preparing to go off to war, King Odysseus of Ithaca entrusted the care and training of his only son to his wise friend Mentor.

It is in Mentor's character that we see the traits that we should look for when choosing a mentor: the more his values became a part can't teach what you don't know, content of character, breadth of of me. experience, and quality contacts.

The first thing to look for in a mentor is the values that make up his/her character. Don't assume that your mentor has to look like

You can get more out of life by experiencing differences than you can similarities.

My mentor was a white male, 20 years older, and lived in the suburbs. I learned more from him about life than any other source. His character was soaked in the values that I admired.

The more time I spent with him,

David Cain Columnist

Secondly, look for a mentor that has a wide breadth of experience.

In order to share proper guidance, a mentor must have life experiences in the area of which he/she offers guidance.

The adage that declares "you and can't show where you don't go" is very true with mentorship.

I've never golfed before, but imagine Tiger Woods' performance if he allowed me to counsel him on his game. It would be a disaster.

Lastly, look for a mentor that is willing to give you quality contacts. A great mentor will sacrifice his most valuable possession; time.

By spending a lot of time with a few people, a mentor can effectively change the world.

This centuries old method was perfected by the master mentor Himself, Jesus Christ: the world felt His impact because He spent a lot of time with a few people, His disciples.

Pampa is full of great individuals that would make great mentors if given the chance. All you have to do is look around you.

Don't just choose a mentor because they are rich, poor, black, white, male, or female ... choose a mentor because you admire their character, because you believe you can learn from their experiences, and because they are willing to invest their time in you.

David Cain is facility general manager of Cabot Corporation's Pampa plant.

Today in History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, March 17, the 76th day of 2006. There are 289 days left in the year. This is St. Patrick's Day.

Today's Highlight in History:

One hundred years ago, on March 17, 1906, President Theodore Roosevelt first used the term "muck-rake" as he criticized what he saw as the excesses of investigative journalism in a speech to the Gridiron Club in Washington. On this date:

In A.D. 461, according to tradition, St. Patrick — the patron saint of Ireland — died in Saul.

In 1776, British forces evacuated Boston during the Revolutionary War.

Television is a device that permits people who haven't anything to do to watch people who can't do anything."

— Fred Allen American comedian (1894-1956)

In 1910, the Camp Fire Girls organization was formed. (It was formally presented to the public on this date two years later.)

In 1941, the National Gallery of Art opened in Washington D.C.

In 1950, scientists at the University of California Berkeley announced they had created a new radioactive element, "californium."

In 1956, 50 years ago, comedian Fred Allen died in New York City at age 61.

In 1958, the U.S. Navy launched the Vanguard I satellite. In 1966, a U.S. midget submarine located a missing hydrogen bomb which had fallen from an American bomber into the Mediterranean off Spain.

In 1969, Golda Meir became prime minister of Israel. In 1992, 28 people were killed in the truck bombing of the Israeli embassy in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Ten years ago: In Dunblane, Scotland, Queen Elizabeth II came with flowers and sympathy, as residents paused in silence to mourn 16 murdered children and their teacher.

Five years ago: OPEC decided to curtail its official output by 4 percent, or one million barrels of oil a day, in an effort to halt a recent slide in oil prices, a decision the Bush administration called "disappointing."

One year ago: Baseball players told Congress that steroids were a problem in the sport; stars Rafael Palmeiro and Sammy Sosa testified they hadn't used them while Mark McGwire refused to say whether he had. Rapper Lil' Kim was convicted of lying to a grand jury about a shootout outside a New York radio station. (Lil' Kim started serving her 366-day sentence just before her fourth album was released in September 2005.)

Stephane Lambiel of Switzerland won the men's title at the World Figure Skating Championships in Moscow. Diplomat and Pulitzer Prize-winning historian George F. Kennan died in Princeton, N.J., at age 101.

Today's Birthdays: The former national chairwoman of the NAACP, Myrlie Evers-Williams, is 73. Rock musician Paul Kantner is 65. Singer-songwriter Jim Weatherly is 63.

Both Hugo and Charles Dickens can give you a very vivid picture of what capitalism without a safety net was really like. That is appropriate, because there are some in our own country who seem to wish to remove the safety net and revert to the law of the jungle.

The misery that the Revolution Industrial wrought also gives you an understanding of why and how communism and socialism arose. I've concluded that most of human history is reaction, not initiative. Problems arise, and people react to them. Certainly socialism arose as a reaction to the misery caused by cap-

If paradise there be, it will be found somewhere else besides Earth. We are stuck with ourselves, the human race, ever prone to fallibility and folly.

One of the reasons young people in particular need to read history and historical fiction is so they will realize that things we take for granted today all had to be fought for. If there were no environmental regulations, no health and safety regulations, no workers' compensation, no unemployment insurance, no Medicare or Medicaid, no food stamps, no Social Security and no public housavoid making their high ing, then you would see what Every benefit Americans enjoy today had to be fought for, sometimes politically, but often physically, as owners set thugs and murderers on people trying to form unions.

Thus the work of the citizen never stops. We are always trying to find that balance between public and private power, between production of wealth and a fair distribution of it. We are always forced to combat corruption, lawlessness and exploitation.

Our problem today is that so few people seem inclined to join the ranks of active citizenry, preferring instead to pursue their own private pleasures and ambitions.

Well, all I can say is that you will be governed - well Male children were put to or badly, and your only protection against bad government is participation in the political wars.

There is one other thing you can learn from history, and that is impermanence. What we have, we can lose. Status quo is the mother of all myths. So think about abandoning the couch and the remote and joining the rest of us on the barricades. It's certainly more interesting than reruns.

Texas Thoughts

By The Associated Press

A sample of editorial opinion around Texas:

March 6

San Antonio Express-News on Texas redistricting:

How much partisanship is too much partisanship? The Supreme Court took up that question last week, hearing arguments about the constitutionality of a redistricting plan drawn up by Texas Republicans in 2003.

The last time the court heard a similar case, it deadlocked over how to define a standard for excessive partisan influence in the gerrymandering process.

The swing vote in that 2004 decision, Justice Anthony Kennedy, may well find that a second redistricting after the 2000 census establishes the benchmark. The suppression of a unanimous determination by Justice Department staff attorneys that the redistricting plan violated the Voting Rights Act might bolster that finding.

If the high court deems the current Texas map unconstitutional, it could mean chaos. At best, some legislative districts would have to be redrawn for 2008 elections, only to be redrawn again after the 2010 census.

How much partisanship is too much partisanship? It may not make legal history, but most Texans would abide by former Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart's definition of obscenity: You know it when you see it.

The Texas gerrymander is a political obscenity. And it didn't begin in 2003. The current Republican plan is no more egregious than the 1991 Democratic plan. That plan faced 10 legal challenges that dragged on for seven years.

The solution is to take redistricting out of the hands of partisan legislators and give it to a commission. State Sen. Jeff Wentworth has championed this approach since 1993. Unfortunately, too many colleagues in both parties are intoxicated with the power of drawing political boundaries.

Given the abuses of this power in Texas, the Supreme Court rather than state leaders unfortunately may have the final say about how they draw those boundaries.

Prairie Rivers Musical to end season Saturday

CANADIAN — Prairie Rivers Musical will present its last show of the season at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Canadian Middle School Auditorium.

"It is hard to believe we are wrapping up seven successful seasons of Prairie Rivers Musical," said Jay Godwin, one of the original organizers of the show. "Our hats are off to our great base of fans from Western Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle who have been so supportive."

The show continues a tradition of not charging for admission and is smoke and alcohol free. Comfortable theater type seating is available for everyone.

Regular performers expected include Hank and Venita McPherson, George Briant, Dale and Kayla Jenkins, Wayne Wright, Phil Ridgway, Mary Lynn Schafer, Lonnie Cox and Godwin. Fiddle player David Jenkins will make an appear-

First-time guests K.R. Henry of Fort Supply, Okla., and J.W. Lane of Allison are also committed to appear at this show. A group of very young clog dancers will demonstrate their skills at intermission.

Students fellowship while waiting for worship to begin during First Baptist Church's "Disciple Now Weekend" recently. Eighty-eight students from 18 to 11 years of age recently participated in First Baptist Church's "Disciple Now Weekend." The weekend theme was "Image is Everything," based on Psalm 139. "We live in a world today where students are many times driven to place their value on their performance and what others think about them," a press release from the church said. "The danger of following this formula though is most students end up with low self-esteem. Over the weekend, students were given hope and direction in how to avoid this 'self-image' trap." For more information about Disciple Now or other programs at Pampa's First Baptist, contact the church at 669-1155.

Kutless to headline WBU concert

PLAINVIEW — Wayland Baptist University will be rockin' during Big Weekend, March 31-April 1, as the Christian rock band Kutless takes center stage at the annual concert event at 7:30 p.m., Friday in Harral cert takes place at 7:30 fol-Auditorium.

Kutless will be in concert along with Falling Up, Disciple and Steller Kart as part of their "Hearts of the Innocent" tour.

Tickets are included with the registration fee for Big Weekend and will also be on sale at the University Bookstore in Plainview, at Lifeway Christian Store in Amarillo and Lubbock and at Mardel's in Lubbock. Tickets cost $10.

The concert is the feature event for Wayland's college preview. High school juniors, seniors and college transfer students are invited to Wayland to experience college life on the WBU campus. Prospective students may sit in on college classes, attend chapel, audition for music, art and theatre, tryout for the cheerleading squad and the junior varsity basketball teams, attend an academic fair, watch a baseball game and learn all about Beal said. WBU

Friday morning, prospective students are encouraged to attend classes and chapel with the afternoon set aside for fun and games. The conlowed by a late-night breakfast where faculty and staff members serve students and prospective students in the cafeteria.

"That is actually my favorite thing," WBU Director of Admissions Jennifer Beal said of the latenight meal. "The best thing about Saturday is 'All About WBU' and the 'Academic Fair.' Those events give prospective students and their parents an opportunity to see what Wayland has to offer, and it gives them a chance to meet and visit with faculty and staff."

A special breakfast will be held for the parents where a panel consisting of parents of current students will discuss Wayland and answer questions from the parents of prospective students.

"Parents will be able to voice their concerns and make sure the needs that they have are being addressed,"

Wayland's offices will be open on Saturday to answer questions concerning financial aid, registration, admission requirements and other areas of concern.

Big Weekend will conclude with a Baptist Student Ministries praise service following dinner on Saturday.

Approximately 80 students have registered for the event so far.

Prospective students may register for $25 which includes all meals, lodging and a concert ticket. Students may purchase a Big Weekend t-shirt for an additional $8. Parents and sponsors may register for $20 each. That price does not include lodging.

For more information, contact the Office of Admissions at 806-291-3500, 1-800-588-1928 or visit our Web site at www.wbu.edu.

JUBILEE

Goodlett to host jubilee, cookout

GOODLETT Goodlett Gospel Jubilee will present and Thomas in concert at 7 p.m. April 1 at the Pease River Playhouse in Goodlett.

"The Thomases are a team devoted to spreading the gospel through music," a press release from organizers said. "They use a blend of sounds including adult inspisouthern rational, gospel, praise and worship and great hymns of the church. They keep a 180-date annual schedule touring across North America, playing churches, concert halls, conferences, women's retreats and revivals."

Libby Thomas has written a number of including songs "Simple Faith" and the duo just completed a fourth recording titled "Live in Branson" in both DVD and video format. The project is scheduled to air on TBN, GMT and other Christian networks in

The jubilee is a project of Mark Farr, pastor of Corinth Baptist Church in Eldorado, Okla., and Pease River Productions, Inc., a public charity. Farr scouts and artists and Pease River provides the hall and handles production.

The Corinth Sisters host the jubilee, delivering southern gospel numbers in five-part harmony. The group consists of Donna Mefford, Geneva Smith, Terry Mefford, Beth Manney and Farr.

Admission to the jubilee is free. A cookout is scheduled prior to the concert at 5:30 p.m. at the Ole Town Cotton Gin. For reservations, call the gin at (940) 674-2477.

Jerry Smith will present The Isaacs live in concert at 7:30 p.m. March 25 at Borger High School auditorium in Borger. Admission to the concert is free. A family group, the Isaacs are based out of LaFollette, Tenn. This gospel group consists of Lily Isaacs, Ben Isaacs, Sonya Isaacs, Rebecca Isaacs Bowman and John Bowman.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married just short of one year and are expecting our first child in about four months. Our marriage is a good one. We communicate well and love each other. There is one area, however, that continues to be problematic. I have been a youth basketball coach for three years. I was a coach before I met my wife and throughout our courtship. I have coached the same group of players, many of whose parents attribute their higher grades and better teamwork to their participation in the sport.My wife insists that I quit coaching these 11-yearolds once the baby arrives. Practice takes a week. I don't think that's a lot because I'm wife and the fact that we will be parents. I don't think I'm asking too much when I tell her I'd like to continue coaching. # Pampa falls to Abilene Wylie 9-3 in Boomtown Classic tournament

By MICHAEL J. STEVENS Sports Editor

Despite a solid start to the season, the Pampa Harvester varsity baseball team has endured its share of struggles and woes since competing in the Snyder Tournament March 9-11. Pampa entered that tournament undefeated but the post-Snyder win column has been tough to find.

The Harvesters fell to Perryton on the road Tuesday, 5-3, and lost game one of the annual Boomtown Classic in Burkburnett Thursday afternoon to Abilene Wylie, 9-3. Wylie got the best of Pampa in the Snyder tournament as

But before you fell sorry for the good guys in green and gold, you should know they are far from down. "The guys' spirit is still strong. They compete in every game we play," said head coach Clay Wilson. "They are far from down."

"That's the thing about these tournaments," Wilson continued. "You will always see each team's very best. This does nothing more than make us stronger and better prepared when district season starts.'

In describing Thursday's loss to Wylie, Wilson said, "We played six of the best innings you've seen. I couldn't be more pleased with how our kids played."

Pampa was scheduled to face the host team, Burkburnett, at 11:30 this morning. Again, Wilson pointed out, "I expect we will see Burkburnett's ace pitcher this morning. I don't know a lot about the team, but do know the kid throws in Wilson said Bradley Johnson (0-1) would take the mound to start the game for Pampa.

The Boomtown Classic will conclude Saturday. The Harvesters start district play March 28.

Batens to lead youngsters

A husband and wife team will head up the T-ball league and the pitching machine league for the Pampa Optimist Youth Club baseball program this season, according to Baseball Commissioner Kevin Davis.

Misty Baten will handle the 5-6 year old T-ballers while her husband, Brent Baten, will be Commissioner for the 7-8 Pitching Machine League.

Misty Baten has been a dental assistant for Dr. John Sparkman for eight years. Married almost 15 years, the couple has three children, Destry, 10, Clay, 7, and Jaycey, 5. The Batens are members of the Calvary Baptist Church.

"I played Optimist ball when I was a kid," Misty Baten said. "This will be my fourth year to coach. Jeanna Zuniga and I coached the Memory ested parents will be held at Gardens in the boys pitch- 6:30 p.m. Monday, March ing machine league last year and had a blast. I absolutely love it! I am looking forward to being the commissioner for the younger T-ballers."

Misty Baten has also been a coach in Optimist flag football and boys' third and fourth grade basketball.

Brent Baten has helped with every team their children have played on while working shift work as an operator for Celanese.

"It is rewarding for the kids, parents and coaches to be involved in T-ball," Misty Baten said. "It's all about the kids. That's why I'm here."

Registration for Optimist Baseball/Softball 2006 is set for March 21 through 24 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the Optimist Club.

T-ballers and pitching machine players are not required to try out and will be assigned to teams by a blind draw.

An organizational meeting for managers, coaches, league officials and inter-20 at the Optimist Club.

The Pampa Optimist Youth Club is a Pampa United Way agency.

Selig being careful in Bonds case

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Commissioner Bud Selig is proceeding cautiously before deciding whether baseball should launch an investigation into allegations that Barry Bonds used performance-enhancing drugs for at least five seasons.

Selig dismissed a report in the New York Daily News, citing an unidentified baseball official, that the commissioner had already decided to investigate Bonds.

Bonds, who broke Mark McGwire's single-season record with 73 home runs in 2001, is accused in an upcoming book of using steroids, human growth hormone, insulin and other drugs for at least five seasons beginning after the 1998 season. Baseball did not have a joint drug agreement with the union banning steroids and other performance-enhancing substances until September 2002.

Mexico eliminates U.S. from WBC

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) Roger Clemens bid goodbye to baseball in uncharacteristic fashion with a loss.

Oliver Perez and seven relievers combined to pitch three-hitter, leading Mexico to a 2-1 victory over the Rocket and Team USA on Thursday night, eliminating the Americans from the inaugural World Baseball Classic and putting Japan in the semifinals.

Clemens pitched reasonably well, but received little offensive support as a lineup loaded with All-Stars failed to get the job done. He has said he would retire when the Classic was over. The 43-year-old right-hander did nothing to discourage that notion after facing Mexico.

"For me, right now, it's goodbye," he said in a brief statement issued through Team USA. "I felt great tonight and my body responded well. I'm very thankful for the opportunity to participate in this event. It made all the work I did in the last six weeks worthwhile."

At least one of his United States teammates isn't so

"I just feel it," Derek Jeter said with a smile when asked if he thought Clemens would return.

Clemens, who has won 341 games and struck out 4,502 batters in 22 big league seasons, wasn't at his best, allowing six hits and two runs in 4 1-3 innings with no walks and four strikeouts. He threw 73 pitches — seven below the maximum for the second round.

South Korea had a 3-0 second-round record in Group One, with Team USA, Japan and Mexico all going 1-2. Japan earned the second semifinal berth from the group by allowing the fewest runs in games between the tied teams.

Japan, which has already lost twice to South Korea in the Classic, faces its archrival in the nightcap of Saturday's day-night doubleheader in San Diego, Dominican the Republic meeting Cuba in the opening semifinal game. The winners play Monday for the championship.

Meanwhile, Team USA members return to their major league teams to finish spring training expressing gratitude for this experience and sadness with the out-

"You know, there was a lot said about Team USA not really taking this seriously, but I can guarantee you there's a lot of guys hurting down in that clubhouse right now," manager Buck Martinez said.

Jake Peavy, who would have pitched in the semifinals, agreed, saying: "This is up there with anything that I've ever done. It's disheartening. There's a lot of emotional guys in the clubhouse. It's not easy to deal

Martinez said he thought Clemens threw the ball well, but was ready to come out of the game when the time came.

"Rocket looked at me and looked fatigued," Martinez said. "He says, 'What do you got out there?' That was a sign that he felt like I did. We probably had a better shot with a fresh arm out there."

Scot Shields entered with runners at first and third and one out, and Jorge Cantu's grounder drove in what proved to be the winning

Perez allowed only one hit in three scoreless innings, and the Mexican bullpen retired 12 straight batters until Chipper Jones drew a one-out walk off Jorge De La Rosa in the ninth. "We just never got in the groove with the bats," Team USA manager Buck Martinez said, noting his team scored only eight runs in three second-round

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday,

March 18, 2006: You might want to think through your decisions with extra care. Unexpected developments frequently take you in new directions. Nevertheless, others find you unpredictable and sometimes react to that behavior. Arguments come from those you least expect. Work on seeing yourself as others do, and you will be a lot happier. If you are single, the odds of having a peaceful relationship aren't good. Expect excitement to surround you. If you are attached, a move or change in your home is likely. SCORPIO
