House Temporarily Rejects Proposal To Fortify Guam Island

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The house tentatively rejected the most controversial item in President Roosevelt's $352,000,000 defense program today—a proposal to make the far away island of Guam a naval seaplane outpost.

Huge Lens Now On Mt. Locke

PORT DAVIS, Feb. 23 (AP)—Astronomers labored today over a 7,000-pound slab of glass, designed for terrestrial explorations from the McDonald Observatory atop Mt. Locke near here.

The 82-inch lens, nearly seven years in the making, arrived yesterday after a tortuous, four-hour haul by truck from Alpine. It required two hours to transport the lens 16 miles from Port Davis to the summit of Mt. Locke, 6,900 feet high.

A crane hoisted the lens and crate, weighing 7,300 pounds, 60 feet, thru the observatory roof.

O. J. Stilwell, vice president of Warner & Swasey, Cleveland lens manufacturers, said the mirror would be uncrated today and probably be installed and ready for test early next week.

Dr. C. T. Elvey, astronomer in charge, would not predict how far the telescope, one of the most powerful in the world, would prove into space. Staff astronomers said the mirror was 100,000 times as powerful as the naked eye.

Dr. Otto Struve, director of both the McDonald and the Yerkes Observatories, said the telescope would serve as a giant funnel of light, permitting astronomers to concentrate in one spot a large quantity of star light.

The observatory here was provided under a $900,000 bequest of the University of Texas by W. J. McDonald, Paris, Tex., banker. The University of Texas and Chicago cooperated in the establishment.

Mrs. Hol Wagner To Review Popular Novel Saturday

"All This and Heaven, Too," the nation's number one best seller, will be reviewed by Mrs. Hol Wagner at the auditorium of the Holy Souls parochial school Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The Altar Society of the Holy Souls Catholic church is sponsoring the review.

The book, by Rachel Field, is a fictionalized biography or historical novel, and the essential facts of the novel are real. All people in the book are real.

I Heard - - -

Aaron Sturgeon telling about going opossum hunting in the south part of the county with Judge John Sturgeon and others and being bothered to death by a tame deer. They tried to drive it away but it followed them like a dog, rubbing against them and being a regular nuisance.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The house passed and sent to the senate today a $48,800,000 naval air base bill after stripping it of the controversial proposal to establish a base for navy scouting planes on the far away Pacific Island of Guam.

Final passage of the measure, an integral part of President Roosevelt's emergency defense program, came after the house had confirmed by a roll-call vote of 205 to 168 an earlier vote to eliminate the $5,000,000 Guam project.

Final passage was on a standing vote of 368 to 4.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—While the House approached a vote on the controversial Guam naval project, two developments raised the possibility today that Congress might expand the army air corps beyond the 5,500 planes authorized by the House.

1. The Senate received from its military committee a unanimous recommendation that the army plane limit be raised to 6,000.

2. Chairman Sheppard (D., Texas) of the committee made public a Feb. 3 letter from Secretary Woodring suggesting that no maximum be set on the number of aircraft the army could acquire.

Woodring urged all limits be removed so if mass production of planes made possible acquisition of a greater number without additional cost, the army could take advantage of the opportunity.

Senator Sheppard said the war department head appeared pleased by the Senate committee recommendation for an increase in the House figure.

Approval Predicted Chairman May (D., Ky.) of the House military committee predicted his group would approve the increase.

The Senate committee, in favoring the air corps development, approved yesterday the army expansion measure constituting the bulk of the administration defense program. It voted to authorize.

Communist Meeting Held Peacefully

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt came in for praise at a Communist rally here last night attended by more American Legionnaires than party members.

The meeting, held despite protests from the Oklahoma City Elk lodge, American Legion and Young American Patriots, was quiet. There was no heckling.

Twelve plainclothesmen and several firemen were in the audience. Outside eight motorcycle policemen, armed with tear gas equipment and riot guns, stood guard.

Washington Likened To Hitler By Nazis Of California Bund

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23 (AP)—Pelted with eggs and overripe vegetables by a violent crowd of anti-Nazi demonstrators, 300 persons attended a meeting of the German-American Bund here last night at which Adolf Hitler was likened to George Washington.

Death of H. A. Schmiedecke, 47, of Dallas, found in his room in a local hotel at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, is believed to have been due to a heart ailment although Justice of the Peace E. F. Young had not completed his investigation this afternoon in which he was assisted by sheriff's officers.

A local physician who attended the man reported that the Dallasite apparently died of carbon monoxide poisoning. The physician said that the gas stove was found burning in the room. Artificial respiration was administered for two hours without effect.

The justice signed a permit for removal of the body this morning and it was sent to Dallas at noon today by the Dusenkel-Carmichael Funeral home. A brother-in-law, J. W. Dorsel of Dallas, who arrived here this morning to accompany the body to Dallas, said Schmiedecke had suffered several heart attacks.

Mr. Schmiedecke, a representative of the Southwestern Music corporation of Dallas, registered at the local hotel at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning and left word at the desk to be called at 3:15 a. m. The clerk called Mr. Schmiedecke at that hour and he answered.

A maid told Justice Young she went to clean the room at 11 o'clock, but heard snoring and did not enter. When the man failed to answer a call at 3:30 o'clock a clerk went to the room where he found the man dead. A doctor and officers were called.

He was a director of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, member of the City Council, and director of the Federal Farm Loan association.

Late News

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said today that he does not need to worry about new taxes but may hope for improvements in present taxes to help business.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Speaker Bankhead told his press conference today President Roosevelt had "rather definitely stated" he did not intend to propose additional new legislation to congress at this session. For that reason, the speaker said, pending legislation to change the social security law and provide aid for the transportation industry and similar controversial proposals would largely determine the length of the session.

AUSTIN, Feb. 23 (AP)—Longhorn Steers may adorn your 1940 automobile license plates.

Sen R. H. Nelson of Tahoka succeeded Wednesday night in getting the Senate Highway and Motor Traffic committee to report the bill favorably to the floor.

One objection—that steer horns would necessitate a reduction in size of the numerals, was raised.

New Uptrend In Business Due In April

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—A group of government economists forecast today that a further business uptrend would begin in April.

After an improvement which carried the federal reserve board index of industrial production from 76 last May to 104 in December, factory paces have been unchanged since Christmas.

The economists who advise major federal departments viewed this recent leveling off as a necessary breath-catching pause. Production, they said, got ahead of consumption, but now the two appear nearly in balance since retail trade has been holding up well.

Government spending, home building, and possible utility and railroad spending are among factors which the economists named in predicting further upturn.

Private prognosticators also have been optimistic recently, including Col. Leonard P. Ayres of Cleveland, who said last week "business gains so far attained are likely to be pretty well held, and that new advances will be expected."

Administration officials have said little publicly about the situation, although Secretary Morgenthau of the treasury told a house committee in January he looked for some improvement this year. President Roosevelt asserted business need not worry about new taxes, the TVA made a deal by the Tennessee properties of the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, and Secretary of Commerce Hopkins is expected to emphasize business cooperation in his speech at Des Moines, Ia., tomorrow night.

The stimulus of federal spending looms large in nearly all the government economists' forecasting. They point out that the federal budget calls for spending about $3,700,000,000 before June 30, and that much of it will be for public works projects.

Similarly, the experts bank heavily on the demand for building new homes and apartments which got under way last year.

Tax Plan Favored 40 To 1, O'Daniel Says

AUSTIN, Feb. 23 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel told the House of Representatives today that the attention he had received were almost 40 to 1 for his transactions tax program.

O'Daniel sent house speaker R. Emmett Morse a big box filled with letters, postcards, and petitions which had flooded the governor's office from all parts of the state. He suggested that any interested house member look through the communications and they then be made available to the senate.

No official action was taken on the governor's letter calling attention to the communications. Rep. Harold M. Hankamer facetiously suggested the matter be "re-referred" from the legislature to the governor's office. Rep. W. J. Galbreath of Wharton, strong critic of the transactions tax, commented which they would formulate a program of those letters with me."

House constitutional amendments and revenue and taxation committees started a hearing Wednesday of last week on various new tax proposals, but had given no indication they would formulate a program in the near future.

Boy Arrested In Canadian Burglary

A 13-year-old Canadian boy was arrested yesterday in connection with the burglary of a Canadian lumber company in which $27.50 was taken from an unlocked safe.

A member of the Pampa police department was sent to Canadian by Police Chief J. I. Downs to assist in solving the case.

Entry to the building has been gained through a window. A small hole had been made in the glass and the latch unhooked. It was on a different window, however, that the Pampa officer found a finger print which was identical with that of the boy who had already been arrested and fingerprinted. The Pampa officer also identified marks in the dirt under the window with markings on the shoes worn by the boy when he was arrested.

After the boy had been confronted with the damaging evidence he confessed and led officers to where he had hidden the money.

Mediation Hinted In France-Italy Dispute

ROME, Feb. 23 (AP)—Hints of mediation by British Prime Minister Chamberlain of the differences arising from Italian aspirations toward French territory appeared today in two Italian newspapers.

Il Popolo Di Roma, in a dispatch from London, said Chamberlain was preparing a plan to settle Italy's as yet unofficial claims for French colonial concessions.

Il Resto Del Carlino of Bologna, one of Italy's leading provincial organs, at the same time listed Fascist obstacles to mediation by Chamberlain and said Italy would prefer Chancellor Hitler of Germany to Chamberlain, but "sincerely hoped for success" on the Briton's part.

Il Popolo's dispatch said overtures were made by Lord Perth, British Ambassador to Rome, in recent conversations here with foreign minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

It quoted an "excellent" British informant who, it is said, did not know whether definite proposals yet had been submitted.

Confirmation was lacking in British official quarters in London. The British view as explained there has been that Italy and France should deal directly.

Mystery Of Sudden SOS Not Solved

Messages Described As Genuine And Not A Hoax

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Captain G. S. Bryan, the navy's chief hydrographer, expressed an opinion today a stray floating mine may have sunk the unidentified ship which yesterday flashed SOS had been torpedoed in the Atlantic ocean.

CHATHAM, Mass., Feb. 23 (AP)—Organized search was abandoned today for the unnamed vessel which yesterday crackled out a sudden SOS, reporting she had been torpedoed near the Azores, and the bewildered affair appeared likely to be recorded as another mystery of the sea.

The radio marine station here reported the Greek steamer Mount Pelion had given up its search of the area named in the distress message—signed only by the distress letters "PECC"—some hours after the British liner Empress of Australia had abandoned the fruitless hunt. Neither vessel found any wreckage or other trace of a torpedoed ship.

Only silent greetings those who listened constantly on the international distress and calling wave for any further elucidation of the SOS. One possibility after another was abandoned by government officials and shipping men in this country and Europe as they sought to identify the vessel that might have been involved.

The British oil tanker Pecten, let-tered for a time as a possible victim, was discovered this morning to be afloat and untroubled and proceeding toward its destination of Southampton, England.

Concerning the possibility that the SOS might have been a hoax, officials here said the message itself was undoubtedly genuine. They explained that the distress call was re-broadcast by other vessels after it first was picked up, as is the custom when a stricken ship is in grave danger.

The message first was received here from the American freighter Tulsa, but later a London station reported it had been heard what apparently was the original broadcast. It was picked up in the Azores.

Mexico Won't Trade Oil For Nazi Planes

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 23 (AP)—United States Ambassador Joseph Daniels announced today he had been informed that the Mexican government had rejected a proposal to purchase 17 German planes in a barter deal for Mexican oil.

It was understood an good authority that Daniels, learning of the projected trade, had registered objections.

Since Mexico last March 18 expropriated oil properties of 17 American and British companies Germany has become a leading market for Mexican petroleum exports.

British Station Bombing 'Mistake' Japanese Explain

TOKYO, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Japanese foreign office announced today that the bombing of a railway station within British Hongkong Tuesday had been explained as a "mistake" to British ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie.

It was said Foreign Minister Hachira Arita invited Craigie to call today and had offered an explanation of the attack, saying that one Japanese plane dropped a projectile within the crown colony boundary "by mistake." Arita expressed regret.

(Nine persons, including a British Indian policeman, were killed when the railway station at Canton-Kowloon railway was struck. Hongkong officials were inclined to consider it a "localized incident.")

Coal Miners Stay Deep In Colliery

HAZLETON, Pa., Feb. 23 (AP)—Sixty-three hard coal miners, protesting they had not been paid, remained deep in a Wolfe Colliery company mine at nearby Oneida for the second day today while company officials arranged to distribute current wages they said were five days overdue.

Bunched around steam pipes for warmth on levels of 250 and 500 feet below the surface, the miners sent up word, however, that they intended to stay underground until they also received back pay they contended was due them for more than a year from a previous company regime.

Stuart Urges All Share In Pension Tax

AUSTIN, Feb. 23 (AP)—Dropped into the maze of bills and proposals for paying the old folks today was a suggestion, well received by a house committee, that natural resources, wholesalers and consumers share in footing the bill.

Still not near actual consideration of any proposal, the joint committee pledged to the task of ferreting out some plan for paying pensions recessed until Tuesday. The committee on revenue and taxation, however, will continue to hear suggestions.

R. A. Stuart, representing the Texas State Teachers' association, warned the committee members yesterday that no single proposal could muster the 100 votes necessary for passage and added: "It's time all hands should get together to compromise this situation. The folks back home sent you down here to do something about the state's four-way social security debt and if you go home without some action, I don't believe they'll send some of you back."

Urges Sales Tax Stuart, who prefaced his remarks by saying he could not speak for all the teachers, proposed a 50-50 tax between natural resources and wholesale and "use," or sales tax.

Estimated revenues from these sources would be some $35,000,000, he said. Wholesalers would be taxed on the first sale of Texas products while a light "use" tax, such as is now on cigarettes, would be levied on foreign goods coming into the state. Stuart had no definite tax to be levied on natural resources, but used one per cent as a basis to estimate that a 50 per cent increase could be made on oil and by-products. He said some $400,000 additional could be obtained from sulphur taxes.

Teachers Oppose Tax Revenue from taxation would be applied to the old age pension and teacher's retirement fund. "Teachers have been, and still are, against a retail sales tax," Stuart said. "They must spend nearly every cent they earn to further their education and take care of living expenses so they can be presentable in their school-rooms. But if it does take a sales tax on our products, they will be agreeable. Our argument, however, is that it can be avoided."

If any funds remain after payment of the old age and teacher's retirement debts, Stuart suggested they go to reducing the ad valorem tax on the floor, comment: "A sales tax is far less reprehensible than a damnable transaction tax." Committee members roared with laughter when he added: "The governor's message was the most inconsistent message ever delivered to a legislature in the history of the United States."

Galbreath, who broached his own plan of careful rendition of property, with a stiff penalty for faulty reports, said: "We haven't been able to work calmly and quietly on our legislative problems down here because of the propaganda that has been spread on the radio and through other sources urging the people to write their representatives and urge passage of this racket tax."

A motion to hear a bill proposing taxation of natural resources for raising revenue for the aged was passed and hearing date set for Tuesday.

Republican Offers 'Cooperation' To Quick Adjournment WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, offered today to cooperate in Democratic efforts for early enactment of a legislative program and subsequent prompt adjournment of congress.

McNary said Republicans would offer no obstacles to speedy consideration of measures which the administration wishes to bring to the floor.

"All we want," he said, "is a reasonable amount of time to study each bill on its merits and we will be ready to vote."

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic leader, announced yesterday he planned to call the chairman of major committees, all of whom are Democrats, into conference later this week to attempt to line up a program.

Although Barkley said he felt the legislative lull which has kept the Senate in recess most of the time since congress convened Jan. 3 was not unusual, McNary said he had experienced nothing like it in his 20 years on Capitol Hill. "The administration does not seem to have a program," McNary declared.

France Takes Strong Stand Against Italy

PARIS, Feb. 23 (AP)—With Frenchmen considered implied American and British support, today, took the firmest stand for "peace with honor" she has adopted since Italy started the campaign for a shore of French African colonies.

Premier Daladier, in a pointed address last night to the American Club of Paris, made plain his government's policy of bending every reasonable effort to maintain peace but refusing to yield to "blackmail."

"We reject any idea of surrender," Daladier declared. "We cannot admit anything but peace with honor." The Premier's words were interpreted widely as a reply to American criticism, like that in the address by Senator Pittman (Dem., Nevada) denouncing the English-French appeasement policy.

Daladier expressed confidence, nevertheless, in the "solidarity" of France and the United States in working for liberty and democracy.

United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt, outlining similar ideas, gave his assurance that "we feel that these are worth defending and we intend to defend them."

The Ambassador said the United States was preoccupied with a growing apprehension that if there should be a war in Europe, we might be drawn into it. He added that "we know we will not start a war with any nation. We are not in the habit of starting wars."

The strongest applause of the evening was reserved for the Duke of Windsor, whom club president Max Shoop introduced with the remark that his presence gave the occasion a "triumvirate" nature.

Despite shouts of "speech" the ex-King of Britain smilingly declined to address the club.

Prime Minister Chamberlain at that moment was quoting Shakespeare in a speech at Blackburn, England, to the effect that "come the three corners of the world in arms, and we shall shock them."

Some saw the speech as another evidence of a hardening stand by the British and French against the German-Italian-Japanese combine.

Nowhere in Daladier's address was there a reference to Germany or Italy by name. But the French Premier's remarks on "threats" and a determination to keep France's "patrimony" were in French eyes plainly directed to Italy.

History May Not Repeat, But It Regurgitates

The glib saying that "history repeats itself" is a dangerous one, taken too literally. Certain it is that some things happen with a familiar ring and a dream-like feeling that "this has all happened" before.

Nevertheless, we are all prone, preoccupied as we are with the tumbling events of our day, to feel that nothing like this ever did happen before. The world was never so topsy-turvy.

That simply is not true. Almost all people seem to have felt that their own times were out of joint. Hence it is interesting to turn for a moment from today's preoccupations to certain letters written in Paris in May of 1905.

In this May of 1905, Adams looked about him from Paris into what many people now back to as a sort of recent "golden age" of peace and plenty. And this is what he reported to John Hay:

"I see precipices all round, and dread every morning to open a newspaper. The situation is frightfully dangerous. Europe is an awful nightmare. It scares me."

Thus Henry Adams, 34 years ago. True enough, 10 years after he wrote, Europe was reeling in a death-struggle as mad as any he had foreseen. But it survived, after a fashion.

Is Hitler's drive for expansion some new, unheard-of dream which this man alone devised? Not at all. Adams, sitting in his quiet room in Paris, saw the same forces moving in 1905 that are on the move today.

"I hope," he wrote to John Hay, "France and England will try to let Germany have her way. As yet she has asked for nothing very serious. The time must come when she will ask for Holland or Austria or the Baltic provinces, or a strip of Poland. Her manners are almost as bad as those of England or France were, 100 years ago. . . yet war would be fatal to everyone, except perhaps to us; and victory would only raise greater dangers and more enemies. . ."

So a wise man reflected in 1905. And the war came which he foresaw, and was nearly fatal to everyone, even to us. And victory did raise only greater dangers and more enemies.

Now Germany again knocks at the world's door like a perennial Oliver Twist, demanding more. We are surprised and shocked. But we need not be. The world's troubles of today are only the grandchildren of the world's troubles of yesterday, and bear a striking resemblance to their parents.

The Nation's Press

THE WRONG WAY OUT (New York Times)

The strongest passage in Mr. Hoover's Lincoln Day address last evening dealt with the weakest point in the record of the Roosevelt Administration. This is its fiscal policy—its gradual abandonment of all efforts to bring the national budget into balance and its complete acceptance of the theory that so long as the business of the country remains unsatisfactory it is a proper and necessary function of the Government to borrow and to spend.

Those who take the view that spending is essential frequently cite the experience of Mr. Hoover himself to support their case. They point out that although Mr. Hoover made an earnest and unflagging effort to keep the budget balanced, business conditions continued to grow worse throughout most of his Administration. What other possible result, they ask, could be expected now if the Government were to stop spending? But this is an unconvincing argument. For it does not follow, because Mr. Hoover's efforts at budget-balancing failed to revive business activity in 1922, that the situation which existed then is the situation which exists today.

Certainly these remedies are worth a more sincere and earnest trial than they have yet been given. For the experience of other countries plainly shows that loose fiscal policy is the greatest of all dangers to democratic government.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life ---

By R. C. Hoiles

"KNOW WHERE MADE AND WHY"

A lady contributor writes for publication advocating that every housewife should know "where it is made and why." She argues that that will help bring prosperity and make work.

She has the same line of reasoning that the Republican Party has had for years in protective tariff. She has the same line of reasoning that the labor unions have in establishing artificial wages. She has the same line of reasoning that the Townsends have—that we can create purchasing power by taking from one and giving to another. She has the same line of reasoning that the New Deal has—that we can create prosperity by making artificial work.

We would like the contributor to explain whether the working man would be better off if Japan could furnish us all the coal we wanted and deliver it to us free, whether in her opinion this would hurt the people of the United States as a whole?

If she says it would, then we would ask this woman whether working people would be better off if we had no tunnels through the mountains so that we could get goods from one place to another more easily? And of course, if her reasoning is sound, then we would be better off if we did not have the gas engines or any machines at all, because there would be more work.

What the advocates of protective tariff and buy at home advocates overlook, is that people in reality do not want work. Everyone can work if they are not particular about the wages they get. But what they really want is bigger reward for a given unit of energy. The real price of a thing is the fraction of a man's life it takes to get it. And if some other country could furnish us all the coal we wanted absolutely free, then we would have this energy to produce something else that we wanted.

There is now more that we want and do not have, than there ever was in our history because we have so many more wants.

And if Japan could trade us something that would take us two hours to make if we made it ourselves for something we can make in one hour that they want, then would we, not them, be better off? And this principle applies in every exchange. No foreign nation will send us anything unless we send them something in exchange and we will not send them anything in exchange unless we can produce it in less hours than we can produce what we get from them. So every time we make an exchange, we are reducing the time and energy required to get what we want. And that is what all machines and all business and all capital is for—to get something for less work or get something that we could not get at all without work.

No, we do not care where things are made. The only thing we care about is what fraction of our life it will take to get it.

It is not buying from abroad that keeps us poor. It is the interference in our own people with free exchanges that causes unemployment by such things as labor unions establishing artificial prices; such things as temporary monopolies; such things as government racketeering by confiscating the fruits of labor and giving nothing in return; such things as manipulation of bank credit, bewildering and confusing people in their exchanges.

And if we had free trade there would be much less likelihood of monopolies that permitted certain groups to temporarily get artificial prices that interfered with free exchanges.

Then again, if we had free trade all over the world, we would have less wars and, as John Ruskamp in his last book said, we would have less severe depressions in any country because if there were a panic in one country, or a pestilence, the whole world would be the market of other producers so that the demand for their goods would not be so disturbed as it is when it is a local or a national problem.

The columns of this paper are open for anyone to explain, if they can, how tariffs can raise the wages of ALL work.

THE WISE WAGE CONTEST

Inasmuch as the judges in the last contest were in an embarrassing position because so many of the prizes went to the locality in which the judges lived, in this contest on "What is a Reasonable or Wise Method of Arriving at Wages?" the judges will not know who the contributors are or where they live. They will have numbers only. This will eliminate any embarrassment on the part of the judges and assure every contestant of absolutely impartial decisions.

There were some splendid articles on "What is a Fair Profit." The question of "What is a Wise Method of Arriving at Wages?" is one of the most important questions facing the world today. It should be thoroughly discussed and analyzed from every point and the contributors in this contest will be performing a great service to their fellowman in discussing this complicated problem clearly.

Contestants need not be a subscriber to the paper. All they have to do is to contribute 500 words or less and have them in the office of the newspaper carrying the "Sharing the Comforts" column, on or before February 24.

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—A bit of speculation engrossing Washington these days is: will Justice James Clark McReynolds presently retire from the Supreme Court?

For a couple of years rumors of his impending retirement have been current, but they have never jelled. One generally accepted story had it that he wanted to retire, but refused to do so as long as Justice Brandeis was on the bench.

Now Justice Brandeis is in retirement. Will Justice McReynolds follow him? Or—as some of the current gossip has it—will he feel that Justice Frankfurter is no improvement, and that he must stay on the bench to counterbalance him?

HITLER TELLS GERMANS 'RECKLESS DRIVING IS A CRIME'

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23.—Until came to the movie capital, Ray Bolger says he never followed horse racing very closely. But out here it's impossible to ignore the temperamental gee-gees. People talk about 'em at parties, and at lunch, and on the sets. Story conferences and other business pow-wows usually are devoted partly to discussion of races, especially if the big boss is a horse owner susceptible to compliments about his nags.

Bolger described a time early in his movie career when he determined to see the studio head and ask for a new contract and more money. He had just been admitted to the office when the producer said, "Hello Ray; sit down and wait a minute. I want to make a call."

So he telephoned somebody and murmured, "Joe? How did Sparberis do in the fifth? Oh, they're running now. . . . At the quarter, it's Sunrise, Tegalong, Topsy and Sparberis, Topsy and Sparberis coming up. . . . Still coming up! At the far turn it's Sparberis by half a length. . . . Now it's Sparberis by two lengths; Topsy's falling back!"

To Bolger he whispered excitedly: "Sparberis is my horse, Ray. And boy!—is he gonta pay a big price!"

Listening again: "In the stretch it's Sparberis and Tag—And here comes Closeup! He's on the outside. . . . Now it's Sparberis and Closeup. . . . They're neck-and-neck! . . . Now it's Closeup by half a length—and Closeup wins." Red and angry, he slammed down the instrument and turned to the uneasy Bolger. "Well whadja wanta see me about, Ray?"

"Why, not a thing, boss," muttered the actor, who knew that his chances for a new contract that day had just been mangled. "I didn't want to see you, especially. I understood you'd sent for me!"

Looking For Novelties Seymour Felix, diminutive dance director of 20th-Fox has sent out a call for vaudeville acts in the hope of finding a couple of novelties to work into the musical pipelines are all clogged and the dope is all wrong—as is very often the case.

One thing to remember is that until the nomination is actually sent to the Senate, no one but the President really knows who is being chosen. The attorney general may know the three or four men from whom the choice will be made; the President's secretary may have a line on the men the President is considering; but no pipeline can go any farther than that.

All of which leaves the way wide open for the creation of booms and boomiets. Sometimes this happens right out in the open. After Brandeis quit, for instance, a bloc of western senators promptly demanded the appointment of a westerner—most any westerner—and Representative Martin Kennedy of New York made a public plea for the appointment of Senator Robert Wagner. More often it is a roundabout affair.

The word begins to circulate that so-and-so is "in line." A day or so after the Brandeis retirement, the gossipers were insisting that Justice Harold M. Stephens of the U. S. Court of Appeals was due to get the nod. The next day they were talking up Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington. Next day the word was that Tommy Corcoran himself was backing W. O. Douglas of the SEC.

ONLY PRESIDENT REALLY KNOWS

It would be perfectly possible for a man to start a rumor about himself simply for the publicity. More often, his friends start it. Often it is a form of pressure—a little campaign aimed at the White House. It is, of course, perfectly proper for anyone who can get in to call at the White House and plead the cause of a possible nominee.

Tex's Topics By Tex DeWeese

THIS SPACE HAS been tipped off three times, now, that somebody is going to make things tough for us. . . . We would rather play ring-around-the-rosie than get rough, but just to keep the records straight: that's the 729th time during a lifetime that somebody has decided to make life miserable. . . . It's getting to be a habit. . . . Step right up! Who's next?

Being a pacifist, we have just about decided, reaps no rewards in this or future worlds. . . . Holding back or hindering the records isn't going to help anybody. . . . Just so long as everything is kept open and aboveboard there is nothing to fear. . . . It's when somebody begins to shush-shush and explain why "such-and-such" shouldn't see the light of day that you begin to wonder if there isn't something shady in Denmark.

IF YOU CAN REMEMBER WHEN A MOTHER PERMITTED A GIRL TO PUT UP HER HAIR AND LENGTHEN HER SKIRTS (SIGNIFYING SHE WAS READY TO "CATCH A BEAU"—YOU LOOK YOUNGER WITH YOUR HAIR ON.

HERE'S SOMETHING ELSE TO worry about. Are you a hoist or a mericist? . . . Don't laugh—it's important. . . . At least it was important to a group of educators who have met recently and indulged in a heated but refined controversy on the subject.

So you thought they were diseases, did you? . . . Well, they aren't. . . . A hoist is an educator who believes a school is responsible for the development of the student's whole personality. . . . A mericist is one who believes that a school should just teach Johnny algebra, Sanscrit, or the theory of functions, and let him develop his personality free-hand.

IT JUST GOES to show how really despicable a discussion can get if you attach a four-dollar name to any little old dime-a-dozen idea. . . . As for the average college student himself, he could probably quickly answer the question of whether he himself was a hoist or a mericist. . . . He'd say, "I prefer Benny Goodman! I'll take the saxophone, any day."

How's Your Health?

By DR. MORRIS FISHBAIN.

There are occasional reports in medical literature of instances in which a portion of the nose or of the ear has been lost in a motor car accident and has been immediately reattached and sewn in proper position with the result that healing occurred and the damage was thus taken care of.

This does not mean that it would be possible in the case of a person who has lost a considerable portion of the nose, the ear or any other part of the body to take such a portion from another human being and transplant it successfully.

This would be ideal if it could be accomplished, but the human body is so complex, the blood and tissues of each human differing so greatly from those of other human beings, that apparently it is impossible for large masses of tissues taken from one human being to live in the body of another.

However, it is possible to repair a defect of the tissues of one human being with material taken from his own body. For example, in certain cases in which a portion of the nose has been destroyed, a portion of skin may be taken from the thigh or from the neck or from the breast or some other portion of the body where there may be excessive skin and tissues and transplanted in such a way as to repair the defect.

An instance is reported of a man who was bitten in the left ear in a street fight. A regular elongated piece was missing from the upper part of the left ear. After this wound healed so that there was freedom from any possibility of infection, the excessive scar tissue was removed and the ragged edges of the skin were cut evenly.

Then excess tissue was taken from the ear itself and transplanted in such a way as to completely occupy the area that had been lost. This resulted in successful healing.

The modern plastic surgeon avails himself of the procedure that is called the traveling skin graft. Thus the tissue maintains its life as long as it is kept in contact with the nerve supply and the blood supply.

By this means a portion of the skin may be elevated from the breast or the neck, or any other portion of the body in which loose tissue is available and transplanted upwards a few inches.

After it has healed into position it may be transplanted another few inches and this procedure continued until the final defect where the skin is needed is reached. Here it can finally be put into place. By this means many a person who has lost portions of the ear, the chin, the nose, or the tissues under the eye, has been able to secure an eventual normal appearance.

(Editor's Note: The following is the fifth prize article in Junior group on "What Is a Reasonable Profit?")

What is a Fair Profit? Here in America, ability and talent are recognized and every opportunity and privilege for their use and application is given. Perhaps no tangible means is available for determining how much profit should be taken because all business is static and conditions are never twice the same.

The entrepreneur or capitalist assumes the risks of business. There is hardly a business which one can think of in which there are not some risks in it—be it opening a store, building a factory or railroad.

The owners of small enterprises many times have everything at stake, while in large corporations, especially those who perform the executive functions, have little financial interest in the enterprise. The annual profits of a keeper of a news-stand is only a small sum, but it does not take much ability to run a news-stand, and the risk is not very great. The skill required, however, to run a very large corporation is very great and the risk is proportionately great. In this case, the profits should be also larger.

The laborer would not be able to make use of his potential productivity if it were not for the capitalist.

The difference between the returns of an enterprise and the total expenses is called the profit. The efficiency of the entrepreneur or manager is determined by his ability to make profits. One of the elements of expense is the cost of labor. Naturally, the lower the costs of labor the greater the profits. However, profit should not be exacted at the expense of the worker.

To earn a profit, there must be cooperation. Cooperation has two sides but employers frequently see only one. They believe that workmen should cooperate with management to produce goods at low cost, but they are blind to the fact that they should cooperate with the men to assist them to earn higher wages. The management and workman can obtain what they are working for—that is, low costs for the management, and higher wages for the workman, only by cooperation and working together.

I think that the profit sharing plan is impractical because one cannot in all fairness, share profits without also sharing risks. The entrepreneur must receive a profit that will be an incentive for him to go ahead and foster new enterprises. I think that this method would benefit more people in the long run, than if his profits were so limited that he could not afford to engage in new enterprises.

Dies To Send Out Nine Investigators

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Dies committee on un-American activities announced today it soon would send at least nine investigators to all parts of the nation to assemble evidence of subversive influences.

Reps. Dempsey, Democrat, Mont., and Starnes, Democrat, Ala., committee members, said these aides would spend three or four months examining organization records, gathering evidence and taking testimony for presentation at public hearings here next summer.

Rhea Whitley, 35, former federal bureau of investigation agent, will direct the work.

The committee has been considering the advisability of dividing into three subcommittees to investigate communists, fascist and Nazi activities. A decision probably will be reached as soon as Chairman Dies, Democrat, Texas, returns to Capitol Hill after recuperating from an appendicitis operation.

The House recently recreated the committee for another year and appropriated $100,000 for the investigation. The committee had only $25,000 last year.

Charge In Ivey Case Will Be Read By Judge

District court was inactive today while District Judge W. R. Ewing prepared the charge to the jury in the case of W. H. Ivey vs. the Texas Co. et al. The charge is to be read to the jury at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Testimony in the case was concluded at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The trial started at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

In the suit, plaintiff is asking $31,000 damages for the loss of a leg, suffered when the truck on which he was riding was in collision with a Texas company truck on a bridge near LeFors on June 30, 1937, according to the plaintiff's petition.

SHIP

Portsmouth radio station, England, reported the British tanker Pecten had accepted a radio inquiry from the Associated Press at 3:23 a. m. C. S. T., giving assurance that the tanker, believed for a time to have been the vessel which sent the SOS, was still afloat.

Owners of the British vessel, the Anglo-Saxon Petroleum Company, said "there is every indication" the vessel which sent the SOS was not the Pecten. Spokesmen for the company pointed out the ship was 1,000 miles away from the point where the call for help emanated.

They said the call letters used did not apply to British, but to foreign vessels.

Two facts led to the earlier belief in shipping quarters that the vessel which sent the message had been the Pecten:

1. The letter "C" in International Code stands for "ten" or "Pecten."

2. The Pecten, enroute from Trinidad to Southampton, apparently was in the area from which the SOS came, as indicated by its last reported position.

Radio officials expressed belief that if the message was genuine the fact that it was not repeated indicates the vessel plunged to the bottom immediately.

Landing credence to the affair was a report from Horta, the Azores, by shipping officials who said officers of a vessel which reached there last Friday announced sighting two submarines of unidentified nationality in the vicinity of Fayal Island, in the general area from which the SOS was sent.

The message, picked up by the Portuguese navy department at Lisbon, Portugal, as well as by the station here, said: "Have been torpedoed by unknown submarine. Holed below water line. Sinking. Urgent."

$50,000 Allotted For Studies On Dam At Denison

DENISON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Allotment by the war department of an additional $50,000 brings to $500,000 the total allocated for the U. S. engineers' final design studies on the $4,000,000 hydro-electric flood control dam on the Red river, four miles northwest of Denison.

Studies on which working drawings and specifications will be based are entering the final stage, army engineers explained, and the being pushed with the view of establishing design criteria for submission to the war department by April 1.

The Denison organization, now a district office of the U. S. engineers, embraces 285 persons with 50 of these engaged in a Red river valley river report, separate from the dam project but under jurisdiction of the local staff.

Foundation exploration work at the dam site has entered its final stage with six drills in operation on both the Texas and Oklahoma sides of the river. Rock samples are being sent to the Vicksburg, Miss., laboratories for tests to determine strength to guide the engineers in laying the dam foundation.

After submission of design criteria and its approval by the war department, the engineers will proceed with working plans and specifications for actual construction. The first allotment of construction funds is expected with the beginning of the new fiscal year, the amount likely to be between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

During the five years that will be required for completion of the project it is expected allotments will be made annually from the lump-sum appropriation made by congress for the nation's waterway program.

First work may begin late this year.

Hines Trial Nears Summation Stage

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—One of New York's most politically important trials in many years—the second Johnny racket conspiracy trial of Tammany District Leader James J. Hines—entered its final phase today.

The Democratic leader's chief counsel, Lloyd Paul Stryker, went before the jury with the defense summation and District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey prepared to wind up for the state tomorrow.

The jury was expected to begin deliberating Saturday.

Hines, accused of taking $500 to $1,000 a week to furnish political protection for the late Dutch Schultz's $20,000,000-a-year policy syndicate, faced a possible maximum penalty of 27 years in prison if convicted.

Stryker's opening dealt with the testimony of George Weinberg, government witness who killed himself two days before he was to testify in this, Hines' second trial. "The testimony he gave in the first trial was read to the jury."

"He was an unqualified, conscienceless, experienced liar," Stryker told the jury, "a witness who had never taken the stand without committing willful, deliberate perjury."

It was Weinberg who linked Hines with the policy mob controlled by Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, Fiegenheimer, slain gangster who, the state alleges, paid Hines $500 to $1,000 weekly to protect the numbers racket.

"There have been many lies in this case," Stryker said, "but none like this crook's."

Thomas Named Chairman Of Dairy Judging At Plainview Show

County Farm Agent Ralph E. Thomas was named as chairman of the dairy cattle judging committee for the 1939 Eastern Panhandle Dairy Day program, to be held April 21, at Shamrock, when county agents of Hemphill, Roberts, Donley, Hall, Wheeler, Childress, and Gray met at Wheeler Wednesday.

Marvin J. Simms, former AAA assistant county farm agent of Gray county, now assistant agent in Wheeler, was named as chairman of the grounds committee.

Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, Gray county home demonstration agent, was named as a member of the dairy products committee.

This show which will include dairy cattle and all dairy products will be held on a different plan from the ordinary livestock show. The entries both in cattle and dairy products will be judged against a score card for the ideal in each class and no entry will be put in competition to any other entry.

For example dairy cattle that rate 85 points or above will be awarded the blue ribbon, those rated from 75 to 85 points will be awarded the red ribbon, and those rated from 70 to 75 points will be given white ribbons.

The rating cards are worked out on the entire United States by the American Jersey Cattle club and in this manner an owner may rate his dairy cattle as to their standing with the best in the United States.

Dairy day is sponsored by the Texas Extension service, dairy department, and the Texas department of the American Jersey Cattle club.

Directing and assisting in the dairy event and in the judging of cattle and products will be E. R. Eudaly, extension dairyman of the Texas extension service; G. G. Gibson, assistant extension dairyman; W. V. Maddox, extension specialist in dairy manufacturing; D. T. Simons, Texas field man for the American Jersey Cattle club.

E. R. Eudaly, extension dairyman, was present at the meeting and explained the dairy day program which is to be put on in the 16 districts of the state. He urges all farmers and dairy owners to have their cattle and dairy products rated in this show so that they may have a basis of determining which cows to use as future breeders.

Committees appointed for the dairy day program were: General J. L. Tarter, chairman; Bedford Harrison,

Three Cotton Plans Listed By Wallace

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Secretary Wallace outlined today three possible plans for dealing with the large surplus of American cotton, then indicated he favored some means of subsidizing exports.

The administration's farm chief appeared before the Senate agriculture committee as it began public hearings on several bills dealing with the cotton surplus.

Declaring the present administration farm program was "fundamentally sound" Wallace said it had kept cotton prices from falling below present levels, and the surplus from growing much larger than it now is.

At the same time, Wallace said the program could not continue to pile up stocks of cotton under government loans and ignore the decreasing exports of American cotton to the world.

Wallace said there were three possible ways of dealing with the surplus problem:

1. Continue the present loan program and find some way to place American cotton in world markets "on a competitive basis."

2. A program of increasing cotton growers' income so they would give up government loans and permit a large amount of cotton to flow into domestic and foreign channels.

3. A plan for fixing a high price on domestic cotton that would let the surplus flow into world markets for what it would bring.

Recalling that cotton growers had voted to continue the present control and benefit program with its mandatory loans, Wallace said any change this year in loans "might be breaking faith with growers."

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (AP)—The secret launching of a new fighting ship for the Soviet navy was reported today in the government organ Izvestia.

The account in Izvestia's edition commemorating the twenty-first anniversary of the Red army and navy did not disclose the new warship's name, tonnage or even where it was launched. Officials kept all details closely guarded secrets.

Izvestia's caption said merely "this is one of the first," referring to a new naval building program outlined in an article in the same edition by Navy Commissar M. P. Prinozov, who predicted that the Soviet navy would become invincible.

It was published today in the Reich government Gazette and became effective last Tuesday.

The order followed one by Minister of Economics Walter Funk on Dec. 12 by which Jews were forbidden to pawn or sell such objects and were instructed to deposit with banks all shares, stocks, bonds and valuable certificates.

Change In Farm Price Policies Being Forecast

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—A change in administration farm price policies was forecast in authoritative circles today in American efforts to promote international cooperation to boost commodity prices.

The administration is attempting, by means of informal discussions, to get major wheat and cotton producing nations to join in conferences to discuss marketing and price problems.

To date these efforts have borne little fruit. A committee representing the wheat nations is meeting in London now in an attempt to agree on an agenda for a proposed conference. Little headway has been made on a cotton conference.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace have suggested such conferences might adopt export quotas under which world markets would be divided "equitably" among all producing countries. This would make it possible to eliminate price-cutting and export-dumping policies.

Present farm price policies have had the effect, government economists said, of holding domestic as well as world prices of cotton and wheat at levels higher than they otherwise would be. They cite commodity loan programs which give farmers the privilege of withholding crops from the market by placing them under government loans. The loans have been set at levels higher than market prices.

Foreign as well as domestic producers of these crops have benefited. It was said. Economists have voiced the opinion world cotton prices now would be two or three cents a pound lower except for the American cotton loan program.

Swartout Takes Place Of Orator At Graduation

By EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Mid-term graduates of George Washington University went into the world today with the sweet notes of Gladys Swartout ringing in their ears instead of the customary words of wisdom from a commencement orator.

President Cloyd Heck Marvin explained the university presented a singer rather than a speaker at the exercises last night because of the important role music plays in the national life.

It was an odd ceremony. At that point in the program where ordinarily a barrel-chested orator struts to the front of the stage, Miss Swartout, arrayed in gay colors, swept out of the wings.

"Ah," gasped the graduates. "Instead of the customary: 'Young men and women who are about to enter into that great state of life...'"

Here's what happened: Miss Swartout sang "Spend-thrift" by Ernest Charles.

About the time when the orator usually tells the young graduates to save their money and apply themselves, Miss Swartout burst into "My Pagan Love."

Few orators ever got the applause she did. Then came a couple more numbers—"Clouds" and "The Janitor's Boy."

Between songs, the University presented a citation to Nelson T. Johnson, American ambassador to China, and an honorary doctor of laws degree to Oswald Aranha, Brazilian minister of foreign relations.

Judge Refuses To Stay Electrocutation

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23 (AP)—Judge Rufus E. Foster, senior judge of the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals here, again today denied an application for a writ of probable cause which would have stayed tomorrow's electrocution in Raiford, Fla., of Franklin Pierce McCall, 22, for the kidnap killing of James Bailey Cash, Jr., 5.

Late yesterday Judge Foster denied a similar application of Eugene C. Rutledge, Jacksonville, Fla., attorney for McCall on grounds of sufficient reason for interference had not been given.

It was reported here that Rutledge's associate counsel in the fight to gain a stay in McCall's execution, C. A. Averitt, now in Washington, would be given a hearing at 1 p. m. (EST) today by Associate Justice Hugo L. Black of the Supreme Court.

It was understood Averitt would ask for a stay of execution and a writ of certiorari.

Mack Plant Closed By Sympathy Strike

DETROIT, Feb. 23.—A "sympathy strike" at the Briggs Manufacturing Company's Mack Avenue plant closed it this morning and made 5,900 day shift workers idle, less than 24 hours after the start of a walkout at the Chrysler Corporation's Plymouth plant which had affected more than 23,000 auto workers.

Since the Briggs plant supplies bodies to Plymouth, Briggs officials said the Plymouth plant would be unable to maintain operations.

United Automobile Workers members who drove body trucks refused to deliver Briggs bodies to Plymouth. Briggs officials said Emil Mazey, president of local 212, warned them he was ordering the workers from their jobs in support of the striking Leo Lamotte-CIO faction of the UAW at the Plymouth plant.

Two Minor WPA Figures Fined In Conspiracy

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 23 (AP)—The federal government recorded the conviction of two minor WPA figures today as it postponed for two months further action in its prosecution of the New Mexico WPA conspiracy cases.

SI Olguin, former WPA foreman, was fined $200 and sentenced to a year in jail on each of seven counts, the terms to be concurrent, after a jury convicted him yesterday of diverting WPA labor and falsifying payrolls. He was charged with using WPA labor to build himself a house.

His fellow-defendant, Manuel Turrieta, a timekeeper, was convicted of aiding the payroll falsification and was placed on two years probation.

Their convictions were the first obtained by the government since it began on Jan. 30 its trials of indicted persons who originally numbered 73.

Cases dismissed totaled. One jury acquitted 14 defendants, including several close relatives of Senator Dennis Chavez, and deadlocked on 11 others.

Two other defendants were acquitted yesterday.

Contracts Let For Two River Bridges

SHAMROCK, Feb. 22.—Contracts were let Tuesday for two new bridges on state highways in Collingsworth county spanning the Salt fork of Red River by the state highway department in Austin. Total contract prices were $317,152.00.

Both the new structures will supplant old bridges washed out by the terrific floods of last June.

The new bridge on Highway 83 between Shamrock and Wellington that was washed out in June with the loss of two lives will be replaced by the Pittsburg-Des Moines Steel Company of Des Moines, Iowa, at a cost of $190,989.00. A temporary bridge has been serving since the old one was swept down stream early in June by the debris from the Port Worth and Denver railway bridge that had gone out up stream.

The P. & B. Construction Co. of Port Worth submitted a low bid of $128,163.00 for a bridge across Salt Fork on state Highway 52 between Wellington and Mangum, Okla.

A bill has been introduced in congress by Senator Truman (D., Mo.) to prevent automobile drivers from crossing state lines unless they have a driver's license approved by the federal government.

Japs Seek Control Of Foreign Sectors

SHANGHAI, Feb. 23 (AP)—Japanese authorities seeking a stronger hand in administration of the international settlement of Shanghai turned today to the commanders of United States armed forces for presentation of their requests.

The Japanese arranged to see Admiral Harry Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, and Col. Joseph C. Fagan, commanding the fourth regiment of marines stationed here.

The Japanese already had conferred with civil authorities of the settlement and commanders of British and Italian defense forces. Japanese marines, yesterday with Italian consent, took over part of the Italian defense sector in the northwest corner of the city.

The Japanese ascribed their pressure for a greater hand in the internationally administered settlement to the necessity of suppressing a wave of crime, including assassinations of pro-Japanese Chinese.

Pampans Go To Regional Meet Tomorrow

Harvesters Practice In Buffalo Gym

Confident that they will be the best team at the regional meet at Canyon, and in good physical condition, the Harvesters will leave tomorrow morning for Buffalo gym on the campus of West Texas State college where at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon they will meet the Lubbock Westerns, a team they beat 30 points in their last meeting.

The Harvesters for the first time since they have been going to the regional meet at Canyon actually believe they are the best team of the four that will compete for the right to enter the state tournament at Austin, and the Pampa lads and their coach, Odus Mitchell, have figures to back it.

They are favorites to win the tournament for the first time. They have beaten Lubbock twice, they have swamped a team that lost a heart-breaking game to Medicine Mound by a few points—Turkey, they have defeated the team that beat Dalhart, the other district champion.

Go To Canyon. Yesterday afternoon Coach Mitchell took his boys to Canyon to practice on the floor of Buffalo gym. He took the first and third strings, leaving the second string at home. Recently, the third string, composed of R. G. Candler, Glenn Nichols, Jack Crout, Joe Nelson, Jess Hamilton, has walked the seconds several times. The second line of reserves Monday took a 16 to 6 beating from the thirds.

Coach Mitchell's first string is composed of Bob Andis and Grover Lee Heskell, forwards; Miller and Kyle, centers; Doyle Auld and Pete

Davis Will Return For Match With Mr. Peterson

Mace Brown Makes Baseball Grade, Lands In Who's Who

Dunaway, guards. Miller and Kyle alternate at the center position. Although the Harvesters are favored to beat Lubbock in the first game tomorrow afternoon, they are expected to have a battle on their hands. Lubbock fans claim their team has improved 1000 per cent since they lost to the Harvesters, and that the team only found itself in the week before the district meet at Lubbock, but Pampa fans counter with their belief that the Harvesters have also improved, and that the Westerners may have improved greatly, all right, but that they couldn't be as good as their supporters think.

However, the Harvesters are prepared to play their best because they are not taking anything for granted. They concede that Lubbock could have improved miraculously, and they are prepared to put out everything they have from the very beginning. If Pampa wins the next game they will play the winner of the Dalhart-Medicine Mound battle which will begin at 1 o'clock. Medicine Mound is favored to win this game, if the Hardean county team does win, and Pampa wins the second afternoon game, then Pampa and Medicine Mound would meet at 8:30 o'clock Friday night, and if Dalhart and Lubbock lose their afternoon games they will clash in the 7 o'clock game Friday night.

If Pampa beats Lubbock and wins the second game, the Harvesters will play in the finals. If they lose either Friday afternoon or night game they will have to play at 10 a. m. Saturday morning for the right to enter the finals. The winner of the 7 o'clock game will play the loser of the 8 o'clock game Saturday morning.

Officials will be Bronson of Amarillo and Vannoy of Plemmons. Buffaloes Will Enter El Paso Cage Tourney CANYON, Feb. 23.—The tallest basketball team in college play is practicing now for the Southwest tournament at El Paso, where some of the strongest teams in the region will meet on Feb. 27 to March 2.

The Buffaloes of West Texas State college will enter the tourney with a record of 23 games won and seven lost. Their most recent experience was a trip to East Texas State at Commerce, where they won handily the first night, 45 to 35, only to be conquered in the second game, 44 to 38, after taking a half-time lead, 22 to 16. The Lions played frenziedly and well in the second period, while the Buffs saw shot after shot roll off the hoops.

High point man for the Buffs is Raymond Shackelford, the 6-foot, 9-inch giant who has made 263 points in the 30 games played. Second is Ernest Schur, a speedy guard who has produced 204 points to pass Lother Stephenson, 6-foot, 7-inch forward, who has 193 points to his credit. Dewey Johnson, the other starting forward, is fourth with 134 points and Joe Hayes, sensational guard, is fifth with 126 points. Other scorers are Kendrick, with 36; Price, 26; Cullender, 22; Nippert, 9, and Stagner, 5.

Rogers Wins Medal Honors At Houston

Small Town Boys Star On Wesleyan Hardboards

HOUSTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Warmest favorite in the field of 32 in the championship flight, Lieut. Ken Rogers of Montgomery, Ala., the medalist, today faced Milton Ward of Corpus Christi, Texas, in the first round of match play in the Houston invitation tournament. Lieut. Rogers, Hawaiian open and amateur champion and the 1936 Houston amateur winner, yesterday finished with a par 71, one stroke ahead of a four-way tie at 72.

Ward, on the other hand, yesterday came in with a score of 78. Early in the day the thermometer was near the freezing mark but the cold was not expected to hamper the championship flight as it did the 240 amateurs who teed off yesterday in the qualifying round. Fred at 72 was Johnny Goodman of Omaha, Walter Emery of Houston, defending champion; Don Schumacher of Dallas, and Gus Layton of Houston.

Slim Bobby Riegel, bracketed with Emery as the leading hometown pair, was one of four golfers at 73. Billy Bob Coffey, tiny Fort Worth driver, O'Hara Watts and Harry Todd, both husky threats from Dallas, were the others. Willie Maguire, son of the course professional, was alone at 74. Fred Cooper Jr. and Horace Young, two more Houstonians, made up the race yesterday by five lengths, drifting away on up to Reynolds Smith, Walker copper from Dallas who had a 79, and to Johnny Dawson, two-time champ from Hollywood, Calif., who turned up with an eye-opening 80 knocks.

At 78 were Ossie Carlton Jr., three-time champ from Houston, and Ed White, Houston player who won the medal last year. Gus Novotin, Chicago veteran, and John Barnum, promising youngster from Edinburg, finished at 77, while Jack Munger, Dallas; Laverdus Kluppel, Houston boy school champion; Tom Hume, L.A., and Ed Herton, Houston, were members of the 78 group. Bill Weich, Austin swinger who upset Goodman last year; Howard Greel, left-hander from Pueblo, Colo., and W. C. Hunt, Houston, and Rufus Smith and the rest of the field, 14 had no excuses. Glencia, ably ridden by Jockey Carroll Bierman, virtually ran them off the track as 50,000 awed spectators looked on.

The Clowm, with Nick Wall aboard, set the pace, surrendered it once to Porter's Mite and then both fell back before the spirited charge of this Texas-bred miss from the vast King ranch in Texas. Victory to the winner, owned by Richard Kieberg, was worth $41,850; Xalapa Clowm won $10,000, Impound $5,000 and Porter's Mite $2,500. Glencia is no Staghound, but she'll do until another winner of the Santa Anita Derby comes along in 1940.

Wayne Sabin Will Try Out Sprained Knee In Tourney NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Wayne Sabin, who started a sorry 1938 tennis campaign by wrenching his knee when the national indoor tennis title was almost in his grasp, comes back for another try today as the annual tournament opens at the seventh regiment armory. The chunky lad from Portland, Ore., goes into action as No. 1 seed of the 64 entries and a heavy favorite. In recent weeks, he has won five southern tournaments, with Gene Mako as his victim in each one, and as a result is in a strong position in the "morning line" of 1939 U. S. Davis Cup team candidates.

His opening match, with Martin W. Juster of New York university, should give Sabin little more than a warm up. The same applies, in a lesser degree, to the three other seeded players who see action today: third-ranked Sidney Wood, who meets Henry H. Daniels Jr. of New York; fifth-seeded veteran Gil Hall, who faces Michael Cafarella of Brooklyn, and seven-seeded Greg Mangin, lone former champion in the field, who may have some trouble getting by Louis Valentine of Princeton. Mako, seeded No. 2 and third in U. S. ranking, makes his indoor bow tomorrow, when he tackles aggressive little Baron H. H. Von Kohorn of Yokohama and New York.

Galento Promises To Kayo Feldman MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23 (AP)—Tony Galento, brought into better fighting trim by a few extra bottles of beer, declared himself ready to go into the ring tonight and kayo Abe Feldman in masterful style. Promoters of the heavyweight scrap, successful in selecting the only overcast day Miami has seen recently, postponed the fight last night. Two-Ton Tony was undisturbed by the delay. "I'll knock Feldman kicking and then they can bring on Joe Louis, if he will fight me," he modestly announced. It is expected the crowd will total nearly 15,000 and the gate will range between $25,000 and $30,000. Tony weighed in at 223 and Feldman's 187½.

Texas Filly Wins $50,000 L. A. Classic

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23. (AP)—The name of a great little filly, Glencia, took its place in the hall of fame today in the high school gymnasium when the Berger Lions, Panhandle champions, meet the Phillips 66 Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., in a single game, starting at 8 o'clock.

Tickets for the game, at $1.10 each, are now on sale at Briggs Pharmacy in Phillips and at City Drug Store in Berger. All seats in the gymnasium will be reserved for the game. With a record of 11 wins against one loss, the Berger Lions are all hot and bothered about the big game. They dropped a decision to Phillips last year but believe this is their year to even the count.

The Lions team is composed of Catfish Smith and J. C. Knowles of the Berger schools, Gene McCollum, coach at White Deer, Francis Smith, coach at LeFors, Bob Clark, coach at Lakeview, and Lawrence Clark and E. W. Jones of Berger. Joe Fortenberry, former giant of the West Texas State college Buffaloes and three-year All-American center, leads the Phillips Oilers. Proceeds from the game will be used to defray the Berger team's expense to the state tournament March 7 to 10 in Dallas.

The Lions, coached by Victor Shawgo, formerly of Kansas City, has hung up 793 points while holding opponents to 458 points in 12 games.

Cunningham Crushes Jersey Negro Star BOSTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, the kitting Kansan, is still the greatest miler of them all. Less than 48 hours after John Borcan stunned the track world by beating the durable veteran in the "1,000" at Newark, Cunningham wiped out the setback by administering a crushing beating to the New Jersey Negro star, who finished last in a field of five in the Veterans of Foreign Wars meet last night. Cunningham turned on his justly famed kick on the track to the last lap and raced to a two-yard victory over Chuck Fenske in 4:15.5 for his 21st consecutive victory at his favorite distance. A little later, Tommy Deckard, who upset Don Lash at Newark on Monday, proved it was not a fluke by taking the world record holder, a fellow Hoosier, into camp again, in the two-mile event. Deckard won by a yard, in 9:13.4.

Texas Tech Leaves On Conference Trip

LUBBOCK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Texas Tech, tied with the New Mexico Aggies for the Border Conference lead, left today on a road trip that will carry it to the Aggies' home court and go a long way toward settling the teams' dispute.

First Tech will drop off at El Paso to meet the Texas School of Mines tomorrow and Saturday nights, but the Red Raiders are expected to move westward to Las Cruces for the brush with the Aggies Monday and Tuesday.

The leaders have identical records—11 won and 1 lost—but the New Mexico series and a return engagement at Lubbock March 3-4 will afford plenty of chances to decide the case definitely.

Count Would Like To Have Wood's Title

By GAYLE TALBOT MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 23. (AP)—Count Theo Rossi, who is what you might term the leader of the younger set of speed boat drivers, is in a predicament these days.

The count, who owns most of the vermouth mines in Italy, wants to challenge Gar Wood for the Harmsworth trophy so bad he can taste it, but he can't find in all the world any engines suitable for the task and he can't quite make up his mind to spend approximately a million dollars building such an engine, himself.

That's what is embarrassing to the count—to have to let a little thing like a million dollars stand in his way.

"Sure, I could have such an engine designed and built for me," he said, debating the matter with himself. "But it would take maybe a million dollars and three years to do it. I'm afraid that would be a little foolish. I guess I must wait and see if some airplane factory develops such an engine soon."

The count wants to be recognized as the world's speedboat king. He won our Gold Cup and the President's Cup last year hands down, and nobody seems to doubt he will do it again next summer. His present racer, the 26th he has built, is the hottest thing on the water.

That is, it's the hottest until it starts fooling around with the old heavyweight champion, Gar Wood's America 50. Then it is up against the same proposition as a good, fast middleweight trying to swap punches with Joe Louis.

The Harmsworth is a brute. It calls for three separate races of 50 miles each over a triangular course. It demands a terrific amount of boat.

To me, the most remarkable aspect of the situation is that Miss America's motors now are nearly 15 years old, and yet a man like Rossi, of almost unlimited wealth, can't find a set of powerhouses to match them.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ. NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Script trouble is delaying Maxie Baer's film debut as a singing cowboy.

A New York paper says Joe Louis has bought his own private training camp near Pompton Lakes, N. J.

How about the gunnament that he was going to train for a June bout on the world's fair grounds? Larry MacPhail, Brooklyn's one-man loud speaking system, now roars Van Mungo can sign for $5,000 or spend the summer at Pageland.

The Cadet club, a Kansas City kid team, will set the pace for sandloters by going to Dallas for four days of spring training.

Old Dazzy Vance, recuperating from pneumonia in Florida, is visited daily by Judge Landis.

Montreal's Frankie Frisch may take a sports-casting job in Cincinnati this summer.

Card officials were tickled to end when Pepper Martin promised to give up his hillbilly band, his midjet racing car, his one-man stable and quit raising hell in general, to pitch in and help revive the old gas house gang spirit.

You learn from "Who's Who in Baseball" that Bill Terry and Pie Traynor still are on the active lists of the Giants and Pirates.

They may be before the end of the season, at that.

Ed Barrow, who predicted all the Yank big shots would be in the fold come Saturday, is thinking maybe he talked too fast.

What is claimed to be the fastest race car in Europe will be brought here for the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

It is an Italian "straight 8" equipped with two carburetors and two super-chargers and has gone 170 miles per hour on the straightaway in test runs.

It was driven by Wilbur Shaw, who won the 1937 race and finished second last year, probably will drive the new car at Indianapolis.

Citrus Fruits Rich In Vitamins

WHEELER, Feb. 21.—Vitamin studies proved that citrus fruits are unusually rich natural sources of vitamin C, and that a daily supply of this vitamin is necessary because it cannot be stored in the body.

Citrus fruits are most welcome on the winter markets, when supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables are at their lowest.

The person who starts the day with an orange, or a serving of one of the citrus fruit juices, say half a cup of juice—or perhaps half a large grapefruit—has assured himself of a considerable part of his vitamin C needs for the day.

While citrus fruits established their reputation with nutritionists on the basis of their vitamin C content, they are also good sources of vitamin B, supply some vitamin K, and a fair amount of the essential minerals.

Shoppers who want to get the most for their money when they buy citrus fruits, select fruits that are firm and heavy for their size with smooth and thin skins.

The best grapefruit are also well shaped and springy to the touch, never soft, willy, nor flabby. The best oranges have a fine textured skin for the variety.

The brown or "russet" coloring found on the surface of many citrus fruits is a little less than skin deep, and does not affect the flavor, sweetness, or food value.

Cards Sign Up Adams

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 23 (AP)—Elvin Adams, a young outfielder, sent his signed contract to the Cardinals, the twenty-seventh player to sign this season.

Adams was sent back to Sacramento of the Coast League after training with the Redbirds last spring.

Investigator Dies Will Not Die Under Fire; Bears Down As Congress Flashes 'Go' Sign

By BRUCE CATTON Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—Having been given a green light and a pat on the back by Congress, Martin Dies is not to make his famous investigation bigger and better than ever before.

His committee is more experienced, it will have more time—and it will have $100,000 to spend.

"We've got the outline," says Congressman Dies, "now we're in with hard facts." And he plans to begin with a quiet, systematic survey of the whole field before holding any public hearings.

Leaning back in his chair and chewing hard on a cigar, the stocky Texas recalls that just two years ago he was roundly booed when he moved for Congressional investigation of the sit-down strikers. He mustered only 118 votes and lost.

"SIGHTS AN AMERICAN WAVE" A few days ago only 35 congressmen voted against extending the life of his committee. Mr. Dies looks on the change as indicative of one of the greatest shifts of sentiment in American political history.

"People are sick and tired of European ideologues," he says. "They do not want Communism, or Nazism, or war, or any kind of notions from abroad. They want the traditional, fundamental Americanism—and any public men who don't recognize this are going to be on the outside looking in after 1940."

Out of this trend, he believes, will come a balanced program that will lead the country to its greatest period of prosperity.

"The present administration has done some wonderful things," he says. "But there is such a thing as an overdose. It's like medicine, you have got to let nature do nine-tenths of the healing. The field in which government can operate is limited."

Inquisitor Dies; stogie, wrinkled brow are standard equipment.

Pro Basketball Kill Own Game, Says Garden Promoter

By HARRY GRAYSON NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The phenomenal success of collegiate basketball in recent seasons has led to talk of reviving the old American Professional League.

Properly promoted and played, there is little doubt but that there is room for the money players, but the first who would have to be whipped into line are the money players themselves.

The professionals kill their own game, according to Ned Irish, the young New York sports writer who put the hoop sport on big time in Madison Square Garden.

While the money players certainly are accomplished, the fact is, the pro game today simply is a pop shooting contest from mid-court.

Any athlete silly enough to cut practically gets murdered.

Pros hold and shove to such an extent that there is no limit to personal, but a combatant has to be scripted, or something like that, to get a foul shot.

Many old-timers hanging on refuse to encourage the more satisfactory and pleasing college rules.

PROFICIENCY MATCHES PRO GAME'S POOR RULES The pros still use the two-handed dribble.

The pro rules are poor and the officiating matches them.

Inability to arrange for the better and larger arenas and halls is another tremendous handicap.

There is also talk of the phonus balonus.

The finest basketball of today probably is played by the so-called amateurs of the A. A. U. Missouri Valley League. The clubs are sponsored by oil companies, etc. Players get around $1,500 a season. . . on jobs, of course, to keep their simon-pure.

The slickest of these teams is the Phillips 66 Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., managed by Chuck Hyatt, famous Pittsburgh forward of a decade ago.

But out-and-out professional basketball has dropped to a status where the salary is $10 or less a game.

Irish, the Garden's director of basketball, is confident that basketball will play to 300,000 paid admissions in the Eighth Avenue Arena this season.

MONEY PLAYERS SHOULD TAKE TIP FROM COLLEGES College basketball is in its fifth year in the Garden. It was launched with a meeting between Notre Dame and New York University in December, 1924. That was a sellout limited to 16,000 by the hockey setup. The boxing setup is now used with seats right down to the floor all around.

The Garden's record all-time high for basketball is 18,344, established this winter. Long Island University has performed before more than 18,000 three times in three campaigns.

From eight programs in the first season, the Garden now holds 14 and in two more winters Irish believes the improvement of metropolitan combination will make it possible to stage 20 or more successful double-headers. . . if he can land the dates.

The pros should take a tip from the collegians. . . keep basketball open, clean, and fast.

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES

Yesterday Susie has nearly finished her beauty program, and is ready to start in earnest.

CHAPTER XVII

JEFF went back to the lay-out and Susie, in a series of graceful twirls, made for the piano. Her hand ran across the keys in a growing crescendo of chords and trills.

It was a song of triumph, of exultant youth. Why she sang like that she could not have told.

Thanking him, Susie put a hand on his arm. You've been so kind, Sven—and Emma—looking past him to smile at his wife.

They said incoherent and embarrassed things. It had been a pleasure—they wanted to see her again—they backed away in confusion.

Left alone in the gymnasium Susie played for an hour, lovely melodies, popular numbers which she had picked up by ear.

ON the following morning Harker's beauty salon was a beehive of activity, of consultation, of assent and agreement.

She had arrived at nine wearing a plain little dress loaned by the Missus section, fresh, glowing, eyes dancing with expectancy.

Followed an exacting process. Susie, stretched on a table, eyes tightly closed, gallantly suffered a forest of eyebrows to be removed.

At each step the commercial artist was nearby, making idealized sketches. It was the most widely publicized program ever sponsored by Harker's.

SUSIE'S lunch was served in a dimly lighted room specially set aside for her. Like a mummy, swathed in white, she lay back on a chaise longue and allowed herself to be waited upon.

Jeff came in while she ate chicken breast and thick slices of tomato and thinly buttered toast.

He looked down, twisting his hat. "Kane's the boss. He put this campaign over."

His laugh was light, a shield against his discouragement. "After all I'm just the errand boy," he said.

what you've done? I'll tell him—that's what I'll do. "We know, Jeff," she said softly. "We know about the night you saved me from a maled milk, all the times you've kept me on the right track. I won't forget—ever."

He looked down at her. "I'll be hanging around," he promised. Susie's tray was whisked away. She was taken to a light, corner room to be immediately surrounded by heads of departments with soft, delicate underthings, cobwebby hose at four dollars a pair, shoes of fine leather and dull suede, gowns, furs, strange hats like feather trimmed skull caps and tailored pancakes, gloves and costume jewelry.

At last Emily's tenseness relaxed and she stepped back. "Look at her!" she said to the manicurist. "I never would have believed it." "Beautiful," the manicurist agreed. "Let me see," Susie begged. "After all it's my face."

Emily looked surprised, as if speech had come from an inanimate object. "Not yet," she said. "Not yet."

Key men in both branches of the Texas Legislature are blind. In the Senate Olan R. Vanzandt of Tioga, one of the hardest workers and an astute parliamentarian, is chairman of the civil jurisprudence committee.

The Senate chamber is a virtual art gallery. Pictures of living and dead statesmen adorn its walls. The one least seen by visitors perhaps is a portrait of Sam Houston hanging on the back wall of the gallery.

Legion Hears Walker Urge Scouts Ideas

American Legion posts should encourage the Boy Scout movement because the organization inculcates Americanism, one of the fundamental principles of the American Legion, Postmaster C. H. Walker of Pampa told an audience of 238 persons at the 18th district American Legion and Legion Auxiliary monthly meeting at Hereford Tuesday night. Mr. Walker is national representative of the B. S. A. Adobe Walk council, that has headquarters in Pampa.

Mr. Walker explained that sons of American Legion members received the inspiration of Americanism from their fathers, but that for boys on the outside, the Boy Scouts of America was their source in Americanism training.

While the Boy Scouts of America is a non-military movement, Mr. Walker said the training in national traditions received by Boy Scouts adapted their minds to the idea of defending their country should the need arise.

Mr. Walker received applause when he declared that he would be among the first to enlist should America be invaded.

There were 24 posts represented at the district monthly meeting, which was held in the Hereford city hall auditorium. The program included a feed, business session, and a dance.

On the speakers platform were C. H. Walker, Mrs. Carrie Wilcox of Amarillo, state historian; Mrs. John Deaver of Memphis, 18th district auxiliary president; A. D. Monteth of Pampa, grand chef de train of the 40 and 8; James Lipscombe, commander of the Hereford post, and Charles J. Maise, Pampa, 18th district commander.

A resolution was adopted that the district organization petition Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel for retention of the state veterans service office, which is in charge of George W. Betts. Floyd Sloan of Amarillo is representative of the office in the Pampa.

Announcement was made that the 18th district membership now totaled 2,180. Quota for the district was 1,940.

For their work in securing new members, prizes were awarded to Lou J. Roberts, Borger, district membership chairman; Sam Green of Skellytown, member of Kit Carson post 441, Panhandle; R. U. Counts, Dalhart; Arch Dobbin, Hereford; E. T. McEntegert, Amarillo, adjutant of Hanson post 54.

ing felt well enough to take his first automobile ride, and five days later, in a ceremony limited to two minutes received from Henry H. Wilson, Lincoln, Neb., a badge denoting 50 years membership in the Masonic Lodge.

When feeling particularly well, General Pershing works on his memoirs, which may be made into a motion picture.

General Pershing keeps informed of international developments, but, true to his often expressed code of a soldier, he avoids expressing his opinions publicly.

Pershing Takes Life Easy Under Arizona's Sun

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 23 (A)—With age heavy upon his shoulders, Gen. John J. Pershing, just a year after his brush with death, is leading a quiet, secluded life, refusing interviews, receiving only close friends.

At this time a year ago, the 78-year-old World War commander lay critically ill, but he recovered in the face of complications which once a physician said "would have killed any other man three days ago."

This winter the general has been far less active than during any of his previous visits.

Recently he has been sitting in the sun at his resort hotel cottage, chatting with such old friends as Gen. Charles G. Dawes, the former vice-president, and Gen. James G. Harbord with whom he was closely associated in World War days.

On other warm days automobile rides take him into the nearby desert where in past winters he rode horseback with much of the rest he exhibited as a cavalry officer.

The general has made no public appearance this winter and accepts no social engagements.

250 Head Of Cattle And 15 Hogs Sold In Higgins Sale

HIGGINS, Feb. 23.—(Special)—Due to snow, high winds, and extreme cold weather conditions, receipts at the Higgins livestock sales pavilion Tuesday were much lighter than they have been for many weeks, about 250 head of cattle, 15 hogs; and one horse brought the total receipts to approximately $5,200.

With heavy snows composing most of the consignments in the hog yards selling up to $6.50 per hundred, no top hogs were brought in for sale. A few in the 300-pound class crossed the scales at $7.45, and some nice stocker pigs were sold in the owners' trucks at $6.25 per hundred.

As the result of a new ruling, with the exception of butcher hogs, no classes of hogs are to be sold through the ring. In the future, all stocker and feeder hogs must be sold in the truck of the owner and transferred directly to that of the purchaser.

In the cattle yards consignors from a distance included R. E. Thompson and W. D. Stribling of Miami; Clint Nixon, Mobeetie; W. N. McDaniels and G. W. Gideon, Pampa; Charles and Claude Cook and Alfred Freeman of Gem; O. E. Watts, Vici, Okla.; and Bud Armstrong, Woodward, Okla.

Most of the consignments in this division consisted of dogy calves and yearling calves of any quality sold in small bunches up to 150 each while plain little Jersey steer calves sold readily at $4.

One string of 34 medium to good quality whiteface horned steers weighing around 340 pounds sold at $34.75 a head. Another string of yearling steers weighing 600 pounds sold at $7.65 per hundred.

A pair of whiteface heifers weighing 575 each brought $7.90 per hundred. Cows made a top of $5.25—however, these were aged and carrying an excessive fill.

A truck load of plain Oklahoma red steers were weighed at $7.40 per hundred. Plain quality yearlings, both steers and heifers, with any flesh, found a ready market at prices ranging from $6.25 to $7.25 per hundred.

Several head of milk cows sold with the best bringing $56. A 14-month-old whiteface bull calf was cashed at $62.50.

Hemphill county consignors were Bill Kellin, C. Walker, C. E. Norris, A. Hinderholt, and J. J. Hoobler. From Lipscomb county were Messrs.
