GOP Fights to Attach Anti-Spending On $11 Billion Proposed Tax Cut Bill

Survey Discloses Southern Negro Has Northern Help

EDITOR'S NOTE: Southern white voters are overwhelmingly arrayed against Kennedy's civil rights bill. But what about northern whites? To get some inkling of their attitude, a team of UPI reporters interviewed nearly two score congressmen just back from the North. Their findings are summarized in the following dispatch.

With United States Soviets Decide to Take Time on Cold War Truce

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has decided to take its time in maneuvering toward a cold war truce with the United States, high Communist diplomats indicated today.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently is in no immediate hurry for quick new East-West arrangements because of his deepening conflict with Red China and his preoccupation with internal problems, such as farm lags and ideological unrest among Russians' intellectuals.

The diplomats indicated strongly that Khrushchev has no plans at present to offer new proposals to the West beyond those presented in the recent partial nuclear test ban treaty.

No Diplomatic Initiative

For this reason, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will not take away new diplomatic initiative when he confers later this month with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, the diplomats said. Gromyko is going to the United States to attend the United Nations General Assembly opening next Tuesday.

The diplomats said the Kremlin at present is not interested in "secondaries" — meaning issues that require time and are not urgent—such as the dissolution of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and the scrapping of Allied bases, which Moscow previously had demanded on every possible occasion.

What is envisaged by the Russians, the diplomats said, is a sort of East-West "detente" as exemplified by the Moscow treaty which banned nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in outer space and under water.

Three Possible Developments

However, Soviet officials will seek continued relaxation by unhurriedly pursuing three possible developments in East-West relations, the diplomats said. They are:

—Measures against surprise attack, including notably the stationing of observers in strategic key points on either side of the Iron Curtain.

—An East-West non-aggression arrangement, preferably a non-aggression treaty between the Atlantic Alliance and the Communist Warsaw Pact.

—Agreement with the West on preventing the spread of nuclear weapons.

The Kremlin, the diplomats said, has no intention of stirring up a new Berlin crisis, although its position on Berlin and Germany is unchanged.

On Cuba, the diplomats said, Moscow will continue its present policy—no withdrawal of its "instructors" until the Cubans have been "adequately trained" and until the Cubans request the Kremlin to withdraw them. The Russians deny they have any combat troops in Cuba.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Northern congressmen returning to Washington this week appear to have found the folks back home supporting the demand of Negroes to vote in the South, but not to live next door in the North.

This picture emerged from a spot check by UPI reporters of non-southern House members who spent last week in their home districts talking and listening to voters.

These congressmen are the key to civil rights action. With southern Democrats solidly opposed to any proposal with a civil rights label, President Kennedy must depend on the northern wing of his party and liberal eastern Republicans — plus any conservative midwestern votes he can pick up.

Most of the returning congressmen said they found interest in civil rights at home surprisingly light in view of widespread racial demonstrations and the attendant massive news coverage. Several mentioned a general disinterest in national affairs.

Sign Reflects Feelings

One midwestern Republican said a tavern owner in his district had posted a sign saying: "Andy ain't mad at nobody."

"It may not be good grammar, but that seems to be the way the people feel," the lawmaker said.

Others, plumbng below the apparently calm surface, found stronger feelings.

Rep. J. Edward Roush, D-Ind., a supporter of civil rights legislation, said he found "there is a recognition that these people have their rights, and should have equal opportunity."

"But there is a deep undercurrent of feeling that we are trying to go too fast, that in pushing the rights of one group, we may be trampling the rights of another," Roush said.

Finds People Uneasy

Rep. Vernon W. Thomson, R-Wis., detected "a feeling of uneasiness." He said the people of his district probably would support efforts to secure voting and educational rights for Negroes and job equality for both races.

But they sharply draw the line at federal action against private businesses which restrict their clientele.

"They don't want Atty. Gen. Bobby Kennedy coming in here and telling the little hotel keeper what to do," Thomson said. He noted that Wisconsin already has a public accommodations anti-discrimination law.

The closest to a common denominator of northern feeling, regardless of party, appeared to be the expression of fear by city and suburban home owners that Negroes would move into their

27 Are Injured in Bus Accident

Twenty-seven people were hospitalized in Shamrock after a west-bound Greyhound bus overturned on Highway 66 12 miles west of Shamrock during the rain and wind storm about 7:50 p.m. yesterday.

"Two vehicles were traveling west on Highway 66 when the driver of the vehicle in front of the bus lost control and started weaving on the roadway," Sgt. J. W. Wilson, Highway patrolman supervisor for the Panhandle area, said.

According to Wilson, the driver of the car, 19-year-old Richard Fisher of Jefferson, Ohio, said the high wind caused him to start swerving and the slick pavement caused him to lose control of his car.

"The car wasn't struck," Wilson said. "It slid off the road into the ditch and the bus turned over on its side on the center median of the highway. The windshield, side and rear glasses were knocked out and scattered on the highway."

Wilson said there were 36 passengers in the 43 passenger bus and two young boys in the car. They were taken to the Shamrock hospital, but were not critically injured.

Madrid Reid, Oklahoma City, bus driver, turned his bus to avoid colliding with the skidding car and the bus flipped over on its left side.

Greyhound officials estimated $10,000 damage to the bus. It had made a stop in Shamrock and was enroute to Los Angeles from St. Louis.

Two highway patrolmen from Shamrock and two from McLean assisted Sgt. Wilson in removing passengers from the overturned bus.

"We had help from passing motorists and doctors and nurses from the surrounding towns who were called in to help. We took them out through the front windshield, rear glass and side windows on the side that was up in the air," Wilson said.

The more seriously injured were removed from the bus by stretchers put through the knocked out windshield. Most of the passengers were able to help themselves out according to Wilson.

Wilson estimated it took 15 minutes for the first highway patrol car to arrive on the scene.

Ambulances from surrounding towns were called in to take the injured to the hospital.

"I don't know who first reported the accident, but it was bound to have been a passing motorist," Wilson said.

A Greyhound bus from Amarillo was called to take the non-injured passengers and the baggage to Shamrock.

It left the baggage of those that wanted it in Shamrock then took the non-injured passengers to Amarillo to continue their journey, according to Wilson.

Negro Students Return to Classes Touching Off Demonstrations

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Five Negro students returned to classes today at three newly desegregated Birmingham schools, touching off another rowdy demonstration by white students at West End High School.

All was calm at Ramsay High and Graymont elementary schools with white attendance climbing toward normal.

Thirteen Negroes also quietly returned to classes with a dwindling white student body at Tuskegee. A strong move was underway in the rural area to start private schools for whites.

Two Negroes began the second day of classes at Murphy High in Mobile.

This made a total of 20 Negroes in five schools in the three cities following Gov. George C. Wallace's failure Tuesday to halt the court-ordered integration.

Return to Classes

Four Negroes also returned for their third day of desegregated classes in Huntsville. Wallace made no move Monday to halt integration in the missile city.

Mississippi was left standing as the only state without racial integration in its schools below the college level.

"I can't fight bayonets with my bare hands," Wallace said several hours after President Kennedy federalized the Alabama National Guard, the last line of resistance Wallace was planning to use in his struggle to maintain segregation.

The National Guardsmen were not on duty at the schools. Local police maintained order at all of the schools.

But at West End, scene of a wild two-hour demonstration Tuesday following the admission of two Negro girls, another boisterous protest broke out outside the school.

Students March

Several hundred white students formed near the school, marched in abreast waving Confederate flags and chanted: "Two, four, six, eight. We don't want to integrate."

Birmingham police were in firm control of the situation although the students spilled over onto lawns of surrounding homes. Attendance was down sharply at West End.

One white youth ignored the demonstration, however, and walked inside.

"I came here stupid three years ago. I ain't going away stupid," he said.

The two teenage Negro girls were escorted into West End by a Negro man under the watchful eyes of about 40 policemen on duty at the two-story brick building.

At Mobile, two Negroes returned to classes for the second day at Murphy High. Six white boys started chanting "Two, four, six, eight. We don't want to integrate" when the two appeared. They stopped immediately when school authorities reprimanded them.

Pampa Receives Heavy Rainfall

The rains came again to Pampa yesterday afternoon and last night to boost the area's precipitation to two inches or more since Saturday.

The rain, began in the north part of Pampa about 5 p.m. and fell in a heavy downpour for more than an hour. Downtown Pampa received less. With upwards of an inch in north Pampa, the Daily News rain gauge registered only .32-inch.

Farmers nearby welcomed the rain as a boon to wheat planting as soon as they can get into the fields again.

Showdown Vote In Two Weeks On House Floor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats are fighting an uphill fight to attach anti-spending strings to an $11 billion tax cut or block its House passage.

The tax-cutting bill, backed by President Kennedy, was cleared by the House Ways & Means Committee Tuesday afternoon. The final vote was 17-8 with all but two of the GOP members voting against it.

Democratic leaders said the showdown vote on the House floor would come in two weeks. House approval was expected but there appeared to be little better than a 50-50 chance that the Senate would complete action this year.

The bill would make two tax cuts for individuals and corporations. It would provide tax savings of $7 billion on 1964 incomes with the full $11 billion in tax relief applicable to income in 1965 and thereafter.

Republicans voted against the bill, and the committee refused to accept a GOP amendment that would have made the second tax cut contingent upon Kennedy reducing federal spending below levels currently projected by the administration.

A similar Republican amendment will be offered on the House floor, but Democrats predicted it would be defeated. Officials said the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, which favors tax re-

Typhoon Gloria Hits Formosa; Five Are Dead

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — More than 100,000 persons were reported marooned in Taipei today by rising floodwaters triggered by Typhoon Gloria, considered the worst in the island's history.

Authorities feared casualties might run into the thousands.

The government ordered more than 10,000 policemen and civil defense workers wearing life jackets to stake stranding citizens aboard rubber rafts and landing barges before high tide tonight.

Reports said several American military families were forced to leave their homes in low-lying sections.

Reports said Shihmen Dam in central Formosa spilled over early this morning and caused authorities to open all flood gates, dumping more than 6,000 cubic feet of water a second into the area's already swollen rivers.

Gloria, the most powerful typhoon in the Pacific so far this year with center winds up to 140 mph, passed within 55 miles of Taipei and was reported bearing toward the Chinese mainland. Officials said it deluged Taipei with 21 inches of rain in 36 hours.

At least five persons were reported killed. They included a mother and child buried in the collapse of their house in suburban Taipei and three train crewmen swept away by a river after their engine was derailed by the winds.

City Custodian Retiring After 35-Year Service

Edgar L. Anderson, city hall custodian, will retire next Monday after 35 years of service to the City of Pampa.

The Monday retirement date, incidentally, will mark Anderson's 67th birthday.

City Hall employees will honor Anderson from 3 to 5 p.m. tomorrow at a coffee to be held in the city engineer's office.

Anderson has served the city for more than 31 consecutive years since the date of his last employment on June 8, 1927.

Prior to that he had served four years on combined city jobs, including the posts of city fire marshal and city fireman.

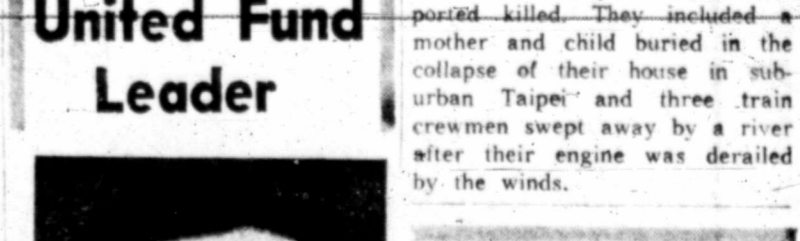

Anderson will begin a two-week vacation Monday and he and Mrs. Anderson will leave on a trip to California.

The Andersons reside at 1002 E. Francis.

United Fund Leader

Kirk Duncan, local insurance executive and son of the late Ivy Duncan, will head the Individual Division of more than one hundred workers to help assure this year's goal of $62,000 to support the Pampa-Lefors United Fund.

The drive kicks off on Oct. 10 with a noon luncheon in the Coronado Inn.

Teeth Found, Owner Missing

If you had to gum your breakfast steak this morning—maybe this story will help you.

In other words, have you lost your false teeth?

Mrs. G. C. Blakemore, 609 Lefors, reported to police that her 15-year-old son, Jerry, discovered the teeth on the floor of his car.

"The teeth are a full set of uppers and lowers," Mrs. Blakemore said today. "and they are in a small box, packed in cotton."

Police theorized that someone put the teeth under the seat of the car by mistake.

The missing choppers can be recovered by calling Mrs. Blakemore at MO 4-8061.

Trapped 'Burglar' Is Only Salesman Seeking Shelter

Ducking into a garage to get out of the rain caused Larry P. Edwards, Muskogee, Okla., salesman to be trapped for 15 minutes last night as a burglar suspect.

Edwards, working with a crew, was walking in the 300 block of Jean St., waiting for other members of his group to pick him up as scheduled at 10:30 p.m.

His associates were a little late. It began to rain hard. Edwards spotted a house at 329 Jean. There was no lights, so he ran into the open garage to get out of the downpour.

About that time, Jerry Foster, who lives at the address, drove into the driveway and the headlights revealed a man in the garage.

Foster quickly got out of the car, closed the garage door on Edwards and then called police to tell them he had a burglar locked up and ready for delivery.

Patrolman C. L. Wallace and his police dog hurried to the scene. By that time, it had developed that Edwards was not a burglar.

—He was just a salesman trying to keep from getting wet.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is carbon copy letters. That's all I ever get lately. I don't know what there is about a carbon copy letter that makes me feel so excommunicated, but I do. I hate letters that begin, "DEAR EVERYBODY." My family, and even my husband's family have gone off the deep end on letters like this. There are pages of happenings that don't concern me, and news of people I don't even know. And for this I am expected to write a reply! Be a pal, Abby and print this.

HATES CARBONS

DEAR HATES: Many people would rather get a "DEAR EVERYBODY" letter than none. I know I would. The only time I ever felt "excommunicated" was when I got the last carbon copy. It was not only so faint I could scarcely read it, but the last page was printed backwards and I had to hold it up to a mirror in order to make it out. (Remember, Sis?)

DEAR ABBY: I have a girl friend that I love very much, but I am having trouble trying to get her to go out with me. We would only go to an afternoon movie

She keeps telling me that she would go, but her mother won't let her, but I have an idea she is just saying that. Do you think it might help if I had my mother call her mother? I am 12 and she is 11.

IN LOVE

DEAR IN LOVE: Don't have your mother call her mother. The little girl is shy (about five years!) so give her a chance to grow up. And by the way, what's YOUR hurry?

DEAR ABBY: Am I an old Fuddy Duddy, or has respect for high-moral standards gone out of style? I just attended a baby shower that was so big and elaborate it was held in the school gym. The expectant mother was prancing around in a maternity dress which she obviously needed.

Just five weeks ago I attended the wedding of this girl and she wore a gown of the snowiest white, with a veil. In my day, when a girl made a mistake, she was married quietly and was not honored at a baby shower. What on earth is wrong with the modern girls? This is the third time that's happened to me this year.

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: ALL modern girls do not fit the pattern of your above-mentioned friend. The THIRD time? You're running with the wrong crowd.

DEAR ABBY: In MY book, the noblest mother of them all is the unfortunate, heart-broken unwed mother, who gives up her child because deep down in her heart she knows he will be better off with two parents who can give her child a normal home.

Post Office To Distribute Acreage Survey Cards
Postmaster O. K. Gaylor announced today that beginning tomorrow rural mail carriers will begin distributing 1963 acreage survey cards to patrons on their route. These reports, directly from farmers, are the basis for official estimates for Texas acreage of all crops harvested in 1963. The Post Office department assists U.S. Department of Agriculture in making this survey each year. Rural mail carriers working on this project are Elmer Byars, route one; C. W. Coffin, route two; Coleman Huffman, star route three; D. Bradford, star route four and Mrs. V. Alexander, star route two. Gaylor urges all patrons receiving a card to fill it out and return it to his mailbox to be sure the Pampa community is well represented in the survey. Huge passenger liners may require more than a half-day to take on fuel and can hold more than a million gallons of fuel oil.

Assistance Offered By Red Cross Chapter

John Gikas stated in the Red Cross board meeting yesterday that the Red Cross would be ready to give any assistance necessary for the families affected by the wind storm that hit Pampa yesterday afternoon.

"In case of a disaster, the Red Cross is the agency in charge of relief of families," Gikas said.

During the breakfast meeting in the Coronado Inn, E. B. Pemberton, chapter president, announced the state convention will be Nov. 8 and 9 in Fort Worth and the Panhandle Association of chapters meeting will be held in Amarillo Tuesday.

Bill Atkinson was appointed fund chairman and Dr. Julian Key was appointed blood chairman on the Red Cross board.

Mrs. Don George, chairman of the water safety program, showed slides of the water safety program held at the Municipal Pool, Pampa Youth and Community Center Pool and Marcus Sanders Pool. Bobby Bybee and Harold Thrasher, water safety instructors, were present at the meeting.

During the standing committee reports, Mrs. Jack Foster, chairman of Volunteers, reported seven high school girls were training for volunteer work in the hospitals. The Volunteers work at Highland General Hospital serving juice trays and coffee to patients on Saturdays and Sundays.

O. F. Kreimeyer, who served in the Red Cross office last month while Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary, was ill, reported on the work done for servicemen, veterans and their families. Ann Christie, vice president of High School Red Cross, reported on the high school chapter's work during the summer and said many boys and girls had assisted with the water safety program at both pools.

Marion Neslage, high school delegate to the Red Cross workshop in Lake Forest, Ill. during the summer, reported on high school Red Cross plans during this fall school term.

Mrs. H. S. Alexander, chairman of Gray Ladies, said they have worked with the hospital, furnished transportation to the Senior Center each Thursday afternoon and taken two parties to the St. Ann's Home in Panhandle during the summer.

John Schofield, new member of the board, invited the group to see the improvements in the Red Cross office.

Twenty members and guests were present at the meeting.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem. The girdle itself is of a "vonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim" is the peak achievement of the designer-genius, Olga.

Panhandle Real Test, Says McLean Skipper

McLEAN (Sp) — Despite his McLean Tigers having pulled off the upset of the fledgling season Friday night when they upset Class AA Shamrock, 7-0, coach Derral Davis was not satisfied with the team's performance.

"We made innumerable mistakes," said the tall Tiger skipper. "What saved us was the fact that every time one boy would make a mistake, another would make up for it. We made a lot of individual mistakes, but luckily, we didn't make them all at once."

"We won the game mainly on hustle and desire," continued Davis. "It was not a real good ball game as far as precision went, however we have to realize that this was the first ball game for both teams. Shamrock made a lot of mistakes too, or they would have beaten us. All in all we did well for our first game, but we are going to get another real test in Panhandle and we'll have to be ready."

"Our pass defense was outstanding. Last week I said that if we could contain their terrific passing attack, we could hold them. They completed only one out of seven, and that was the ball game. Johnny ..."

key interception and Graham did a fine job on the deep men, knocking down several long passes that could have been touchdowns.

"The defensive line had flaws, but Bob Patton was terrific. Patton and Eddie Windom also spearheaded the offensive line. Graham did a great job of blocking in the backfield and Fuller handed the ball very well. Dickie Crockett literally tore up their line, he gained 101 yards in 15 carries for an average of better than 6.7 yards per carry."

Reporting on Panhandle, Davis said "they are potentially as good as Shamrock. They lost, 30-22, to AA Spearman Friday, and Spearman had to win it on a recovered fumble to do it."

"They have a fine passing attack that connected for seven of 11 passes for 114 yards. This will be an even bigger test for our pass defense. Quarterback David Slagle can thread a needle, and he loves to hit end Alton Daniels. Daniels is a fine pass receiver, and big, tough and fast, he can move after he catches it. End Leon Choate and halfback Ronnie Edwards also are good pass receivers."

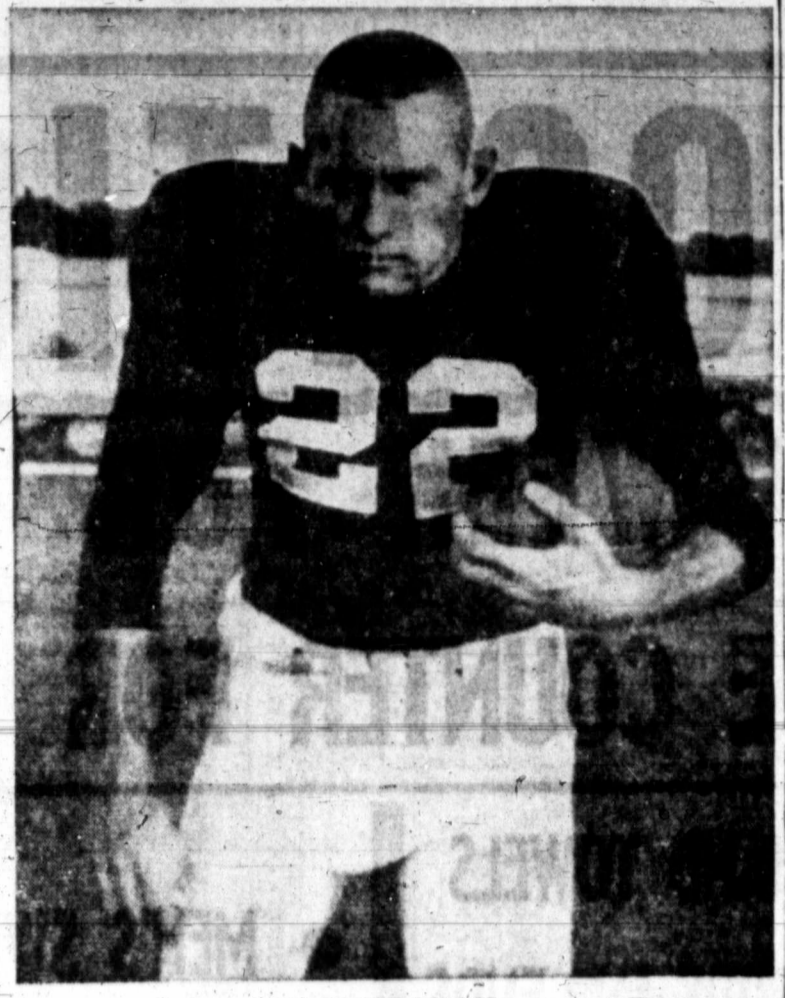

"The big man in the ..."

Jimmy Johnson. He really is tough straight at you, but I'd have to rate Crockett over him because Dickie is better on speed and evasiveness in an open field. Both halfbacks can run well, and so can Slagle on the option rollout.

"All in all, you can't sell Panhandle short by any means. Despite losing their opener, they're a good ball team, and they'll be playing on their home field. They didn't have any injuries in the Panhandle game and should be ready. We got a few bruises against Shamrock, but nothing serious, and all the boys should be ready Friday night."

Probable starting lineups:

Panhandle: LE—Alton Daniels, 170; LT—Glenn Armstrong, 150; LG—Bob Gray, 150; CJM—Pendegast, 145; RG—Bill Gary, 140; RT—Johnny Stone, 150; RE—Leon Choate, 175; QB—David Slagle, 140; LHB—Ronnie Edwards, 140; RBH—Jay Bob Ross, 140; FB—Mike Eklund, 175.

'Grampaw' Musial HRs As Cards Keep Coming

By United Press International

The Cardinals keep coming and the Dodgers keep going on the rather risky theory that lightning can't possibly strike the same race twice.

Don't bet on it!

First of all this isn't quite the same race the Dodgers lost last year although the growing similarity certainly hasn't escaped their attention.

The Cardinals, who made it 13 out of their last 14 with a workmanlike 8-0 win over the Cubs Tuesday night, keep applying the pressure but this time the Dodgers aren't buckling.

They also won Tuesday night, beating the Pirates, 4-2, on a record performance by Sandy Koufax, and their three-game lead looks far more confronting than the 1 1/2 game margin they held a year ago today.

Grandpa Stan Musial and pitcher Bob Gibson were the Cardinal pace-makers, driving in three runs apiece while Gibson also hurled a six-hitter for his 17th triumph.

The 42-year-old Musial, who became a grandfather for the first time earlier in the day, played only four innings but drove in two runs with a first-inning homer off loser Glen Hobbie and another with a single in the second.

Musial's homer was his 11th of the season and 474th of his career while Gibson's three-run homer in the second inning was his third of the year.

Shortstop Dick Groat returned to the St. Louis lineup after missing five games and contributed a single and a double to up his National League leading average to .390.

Koufax erased his own NL strikeout record in fanning nine Pittsburgh batters en route to his 23rd victory in 28 decisions.

The classy Dodger southpaw, who set the old mark of 269 strikeouts in 1961, now has 276.

and his 23 wins in one season also constitutes an all-time record for all Dodger left-handers. Nap Rucker and Preacher Roe shared the previous mark of 21 victories in a single season.

Allows Six Hits

Koufax allowed six hits, including Roberto Clemente's 18th homer in the eighth inning, but by that time the Dodgers already scored all four of their runs off loser Don Cardwell. They went ahead on three singles in the first inning, picked up another in the sixth on an error by third baseman Bob Bailey and Wally Moon clinched the outcome with a two-run homer in the seventh.

Cincinnati shaded Milwaukee, 4-3. New York beat San Francisco, 4-2 and Philadelphia defeated Houston, 6-0, in other NL contests.

Groom Switches Garmon To Fullback, Big Jerry Quirk Back To End Position

GROOM (Sp) — In an effort to pep up his offense, Groom football coach Sobbin' Jack York has moved hard-charging tackle Bob Garmon to fullback, moved Big Jerry Quirk back to end, and switched left end Tommy Talley into Garmon's left tackle spot.

"The change has worked real well," exulted York. "Garmon hasn't played fullback since junior high, but he looked real fine in practice. He was really tearing up the line both blocking and ball-carrying. He's a fine natural athlete and was outstanding against Lefors last week both offensively and defensively. With his weight (175) and speed, he should make us a real good fullback."

"Craig was a little disappointing at fullback against Lefors. He played a good game, but seemed to have trouble adjusting to the new position. He kept running straight up instead of low like a back should. He was a fine end last year and should be much more effective there. He looked real good in practice, both blocking and pass receiving. He was our best pass receiver last year and with his height (6'1") will be a top target for Jerry Roberts' heaves, while his weight, 185, will add plenty of muscle on that end.

Talley never played tackle before, but has adapted real well in practice. He's lighter than Garmon (155) but moves real well and is a good blocker. I think the switches will help us. We've also made some offensive formation changes which will help.

"We played real good defense against Lefors, but couldn't get our offense rolling. They had a great pass defense and stopped us there, and their interior line kept Craig bottled up. We got some good wide running out of halfbacks Dan Craig and Alton Vaughn, but couldn't move the ball when we got inside the 20. I think the position changes will help our power running a great deal."

Looking ahead to Friday night's game at Gruver, Sobbin' Jack abandoned the cheerful attitude and immediately whipped out his crying towel. "We've got to be at least a three-touchdown underdog; if not more," he moaned, "no matter what we do, we still can't play people like Gruver."

"They're a Class A team and a good one. They beat Clarendon last week, 14-3, and Clarendon's a lot bigger than we are. A good A team is just too much for a B team that isn't even a good one yet. You've got to pick Gruver by at least 18 points."

Informed that the Pampa coaches and sportswriters' consensus had picked Gruver, York growled "are they going to be surprised!" Reminded that he had just insisted that Gruver was the better team, York hesitated and then said, "well, they could have some faith in us, couldn't they?"

Bill Dalton, reporting on the Gruver-Clarendon game, said "Gruver is tough as nails. They like to hit. They don't pass much, but they run well, both outside and up the middle. Their fullback, Ray Kelly, is really fine. He's listed on the program at 189, but he looks as if he's at least 185. Quarterback Jimmy Cooksey is a real good ball-handler and faker, especially off the belly series, and he alternates at halfback and is a fine runner. Halfback Wayne Leatherman is an outstanding runner and Bob Gillespie is real fast."

Probable starting lineups:

Albany-Stanton Class A Feature

By United Press International

The Albany Lions, state Class A title favorites whose debut was spoiled by Class AA Olney last week, get a chance to get back on the winning trail this week, but may face another tough assignment.

The Lions, who were nixed out 5-6 by Olney, host Merkel, which played AA Stanton to a 0-0 tie in its inaugural.

Most of the other pre-season favorites will be in action for the second week of the campaign and most are expected to keep adding to their laurels.

Ingleside, last year's finalist and favored to do the same again, plays AA Gregory-Portland after whipping AA Rockport 13-0. Woodsboro, figured to push Ingleside in its own district, plays Yorktown after beating Flour Bluff 28-0.

Petersburg, Albany's chief threat in the northern bracket, takes on AA Abernathy after blanking Stanton 28-0. San Augustine, ranked the No. 2 team in the southern half of the state, plays AA Center after walloping Groveton 28-0.

East Chambers, a 12-0 victor over Hampshire-Fannett, will tackle tough Class B Barbers Hill. Weimar, a 16-14 victor over East Bernard, faces Eagle Lake; Clifton, 6-0 conqueror of Hillsboro, plays Meridian, while Seagraves makes its debut against AA Muleshoe.

Coyotes' Mike McBride Leads Rotating Offense

By JOHN SHIPMAN
Pampa News City Editor

The Wichita Falls Coyotes' offensive attack this year, will be built around Mike McBride, 170 triple-threat halfback, Jimmy Powers, 180 utility-back, and Pat Alexander, 190 fullback, running and passing from both the single wing and the split-T.

"There will be a lot of rotating in the backfield this year," quipped Wichita Falls Sports Editor Charles Wolston, "with McBride throwing the short pass and Alexander uncorking the long bomb."

McBride will be the center of the entire Coyote attack, with his passing, running and punting.

"We will run from the single wing, but will use the T about 25 per cent of the time," Wolston added.

The Coyotes, last year, against the Amarillo Sandies found that the running game was well de-fensed, took to the air lanes twice and won the game, 14-0.

"McBride compares to Kenney Hebert in many ways, as both boys are good runners, passers and punters," Wolston added.

Power Through Middle

Running from the single wing the Coyotes will use power up the middle, with Powers carrying the mail from the fullback slot. However, with the rotation of the backfield, Powers will also run on the end sweep. Powers runs the hundred in 19 flat.

McBride, on the other hand, is not the strong runner that Powers or Alexander are, but is a better broken field runner, due to his ability to quickly reverse field.

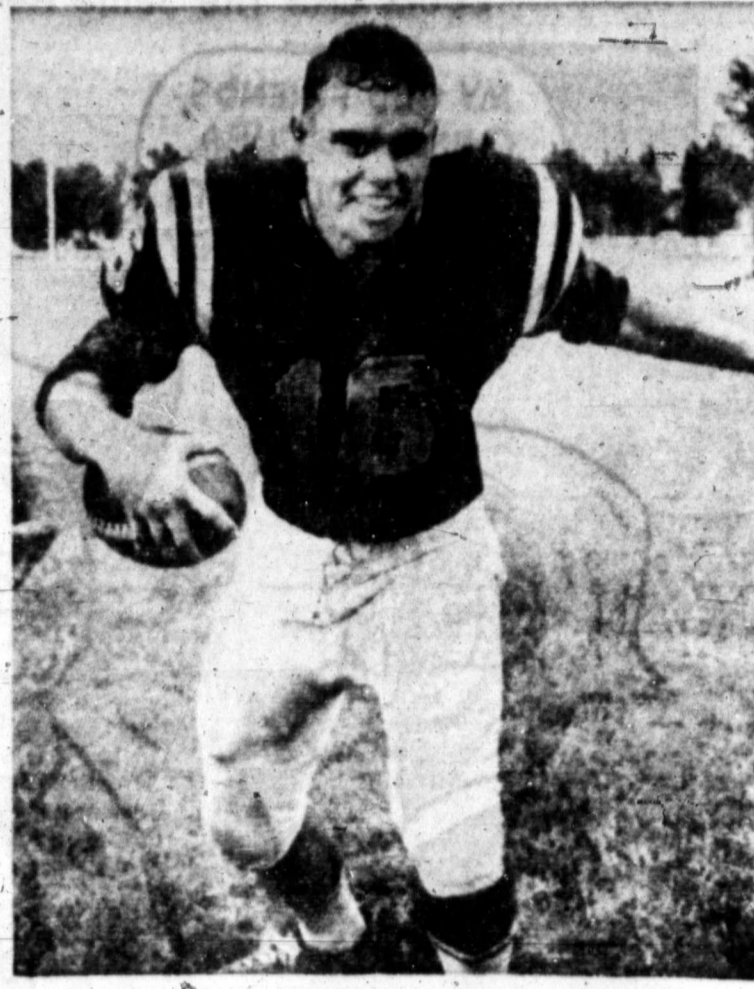

"Swifty" McBride, is one of the fastest men in the Wichita Falls backfield, and will give Hebert a rough go for the outstanding back of the game, as both boys are about equal in all respects. McBride may be a little stronger in the air lanes than is Hebert, only because the Coyotes will use the passing game more than the excellent broken field runner, perhaps his strongest point.

The Coyotes will use power up the middle as long as the holes are opened, but they are also very likely to use the end sweeps and fill the air with aerial bombs.

Don Hanvey, 155 pound senior, will also see a lot of action against the Harvesters. Hanvey is a good runner and a fair passer, who, along with McBride, uses the roll-out to perfection.

The backfield of the Coyotes stacks up as fast and hard running, with a better than average passing attack, that should keep the Harvester defense on their toes all night.

LOOKING GOOD — Ricky Stewart has been shining in practice both offensively and defensively for Pampa. The two letter, 155-pound senior has played offensive end and wingback and defensive halfback and linebacker. This season he is being used mainly as a wingback and halfback. (Daily News Photo)

Pro Football Roundup

By United Press International

The final pre-season cuts by National Football League teams Tuesday were unkind to 30 players, including 18 veterans. But the unkindest cut of all was the release of Joe (The Jet) Perry.

Perry, a 13-year veteran who had gained more yards rushing (8,280) than any other pro performer, was trimmed from the Baltimore Colts roster just three games before he would have been eligible for the new player pension fund.

Jerry Norton, a 10-year pro at defensive back, and eight-year veteran Mal Hammack, a fullback, both of Dallas; Jackie Simpson, a seven-year man with Pittsburgh, and six-year pro Jim McCusker, an offensive tackle with Philadelphia, were among the more prominent players cut.

However, it wasn't a black day for all veterans.

Sam Etcheberry, 31, a national hero in Canadian football for nine years but a flop with the St. Louis Cardinals the past two seasons, caught on with the San Francisco Forty Niners as "quarterback insurance." Etcheberry had been released earlier by St. Louis.

Jim Martin, 39, a place kicker whom the Detroit Lions persuaded to join them, was also released. (See PRO, Page 10)

Texas' Darrell Royal Bemoans Chances

By United Press International

Texas Coach Darrell Royal has suddenly joined Arkansas Coach Hank Broyles in bemoaning his top-rated team's Southwest Conference title hopes.

Royal said Tuesday in Austin that lack of speed and a "staggering number of injuries put the Steers in bad shape and "not as good a football team as people think we are."

Broyles has continually expressed dissatisfaction with the training performance of the Razorbacks at Fayetteville, Ark., but this was the first sign of discontent from Royal. Arkansas and Texas are rated co-favorites for the SWC title this year.

Speaking to sports writers visiting Southwest Conference schools on an annual tour, Royal said "We're just snakebit. In 1961 we played five ball games without any injuries. This year we can't keep them on the field."

AL Homer Derby Three-Way Fight

By United Press International

The race for the American League's home run hitting crown could wind up in a three-man photo finish.

Dick Stuart of the Boston Red Sox and those Twin terrors from Minnesota, Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison, are taking turns battling for the lead down the homestretch.

Stuart broke out of his first-place tie with Killebrew when he hit No. 38 Tuesday night off Bo Belinsky, who marked his return to the majors by blowing a four-run lead to the Red Sox, but the Los Angeles Angels went on to score a 5-5 victory in 10 innings.

Allison, meanwhile, socked a pair of homers in Minnesota's 5-4 triumph over the Cleveland Indians to raise his season total to 35. He's the fellow Stuart may have to keep his eyes on in the stretch rather than Killebrew, who has drawn blanks in the Twins' last five games.

Rally In Ninth

Belinsky, back with the Angels after a two-month hitch in Honolulu, was coasting along with a 3-1 lead when the Red Sox chased him during a four-run rally in the ninth inning that tied the

The Angels, though, bounced back to win in the 10th against Boston relief ace Dick Radatz on clutch singles by Billy Moran and Lee Thomas.

Both of Allison's blasts against the Indians came with a man aboard and helped the Twins wipe out a 4-0 deficit. His first of the game came during a three-run rally in the fourth inning and he put Minnesota ahead to stay with No. 35 in the next frame.

The Dull Delinquents

It has now become usual to deplore in sharp terms the all too customary and frequent youthful disturbances which mark week ends here at home and in neighboring communities.

They are deplorable. But they are something else, too. They are a great big crashing bore, not only to those who have to deal with them but to many who hear of them.

If some of our psychologists are right and this sort of juvenile behavior is designed to attract attention, then they ought to be something of a blow to the smart alec, unruly participants.

Why is it a bore?

Because underlying this inexcusable conduct is the assumption that life for some young people just isn't worth a thing unless it can somehow be juiced up with beer drinking, wild driving, rock throwing and general vandalism.

We all know that the nation has come a long way from the captivating innocence that marked its earlier history. But can we really accept then the idea that for some of us there is no shred of this left?

The answer ought to be "no," which is why these tales of youthful depravation are so wearisome.

What is the matter with enjoying a park as a park instead of a setting for a wild party or raucous brawl?

What is wrong with parties where youngsters just have fun instead of trying to break up the place?

Why should any public place here or in the town square of a neighboring community be the scene of marauding misbehavior?

Whatever became of just plain fun, as distinguished from "kicks"?

We've all heard that youngsters search for "kicks" reflects their quest for identity, for attention, for manhood or womanhood, for a way, too, to express feelings of hostility engendered by the community.

Grant all this, it still doesn't let the unruly kids off the hook altogether. For the many who get beyond the asphalt, brick and concrete, the marvelous world is still here to be taken at its word.

And you don't need a primer at hand to respond warmly to the sky, the sun, the water, the trees, the wide open spaces and all the games and pleasures linked with them.

Unless we just give up and are ready to concede that a good many kids are monstrous automatons incapable of feeling the stimulus of these things, then we have to say they have the eyes, the hearts and the minds to respond.

And we know that they do, if only they will.

Those who react by wrecking, corrupting and depreciating what they see about them are indeed incredible bores. They are still baffled by one of life's most easily fathomed secrets.

any increases that would occur if care for the elderly were to be financed through Social Security.

Take a look, lady. This is but one example of the runaway costs of the Welfare State.

Another example is the compromise offered by having medical care administered by Blue Cross. If Congress should enact such a law, government would exercise control over the Blue Cross operations, and it would be a simple matter for government to remove Blue Cross, once the proposals became law, and take over the entire operation.

It is a recognized fact that legislative proposals for socialized medicine and medical care for the aged constitute one of the greatest challenges in the practice of private medicine.

President Kennedy has expressed a desire to have a hospitalization program for persons 65 and older financed through Social Security. The House Ways and Means Committee will hold hearings on the matter late this summer.

Need the matter be carried further? No doubt you were listening when a deadly wind blew across the restless ocean waves from Frankfurt, Germany, hearing the President's message as he pledged American cities for sacrifice on European war altars.

The Statue of Liberty is a 225-ton copper figure 152 feet five inches in height and faces the ocean from Bedloe's Island. The statue was designed by Frederic Auguste Bartholdi at the request of the French government, as a present to the United States to commemorate the centennial of American independence.

Mighty woman with the torch, please turn around.

Lady, Please Turn Around

Lady, will you turn around, please? America needs your help. It's true you have faced the rolling Atlantic from New York's harbor for the greater part of a century, holding aloft a beacon torch of liberty to far-away lands; your silent copper lips poised with the wistful phrases, "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to be free."

It's true the historic date, July 4, 1776, inscribed on the tablet you carry, is symbolic of inspirational events but, lady, now is the time for you to break the habit of the years. Please turn around.

Lift your lamp beside the golden door of freedom you have guarded so faithfully. Search out and repair the cracks that have appeared in the liberties of which you beckon others to partake.

The cracks are numerous. For example recent developments in Congress will possibly bring about a large increase in compulsory Social Security taxes and pave the way for enactment of socialized medical care.

Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has introduced a bill that would have the Social Security taxes applied to wages and salaries up to $5,400 a year instead of the $4,800.

The bill also proposes higher pensions. If the measure should be enacted by law, it would mean that an employee earning $5,400 or more would pay, starting next January 1, a tax of $195.75, or $21.75 more than he now pays. His employer would be taxed an equal amount making a total Social Security tax of $391.50.

In 1966 the tax would automatically go up to 8 1/2 per cent, which would mean a total of $445.50. These amounts do not include

Essence Of America

In some circles it has become fashionable to disparage the dramatic symbols of this nation's past as corny or old-fashioned.

But there's no evidence that this infection has gone far.

The experience of an American oil company is significant. It finds that there is renewed public interest in the reasons behind America's hard-won heritage of freedom. Here's why: Last year and this year it issued portfolios of color prints running a wide gamut of Americana. MOBOCRACY IN ACTION

Is due process of law to be replaced in this country by mobocratic pressure? This is the root question posed by the Aug. 28 march on Washington. This is not a race question; it is a question of what kind of government we are going to have in this country.

If mobocracy is to prevail in the United States, the Republic will collapse into a state of anarchy. Certainly, Americans have the right to petition and peaceful protest. But direct action in the streets is not a constitutional substitute for public debate or the deliberations of Congress.

Those who urged people to join in the Aug. 28 march, and tragically the list includes men of the cloth who should know better, recommended a course of action that is inconsistent with orderly government or the public peace. Those in high places, spiritual as well as public, who support the mass demonstration in the nation's capital are setting a dangerous precedent. While they may not realize it, they are promoting the return of mobocracy.

This is a government of laws, not of mobs. A mob is a frightful instrument of intimidation. One can go as far back as the deliberations of the Roman Senate in classical times and find political philosophers condemning mobs and the mob spirit. One of the greatest speeches of antiquity is that of Cicero, whose oration against Catoine in the Roman Senate is a condemnation of mobocracy that has lasted through the ages.

Ministers of the Gospel should bear in mind that it was a mob that condemned Jesus Christ to death on the Cross. In modern times, mobs in Nazi Germany introduced a reign of terror. The communist revolution had its origin in the brutal workings of mobs. In the American South, high-minded Southern leaders for generations have spoken out against mobs taking the law into their hands.

Now we find the strange and dismaying spectacle of prominent politicians, professors and clergymen urging that the mob spirit be demonstrated in Washington, D.C. The Congress is presented with the spectacle of huge crowds pressing into the streets and parks of the capital. This mob can only be construed as a threat, as an ominous force that someone can unleash if the mob's will is not obeyed.

Such a scene has no place in America. It is as un-American as anything one can imagine. There is no surprise contained in the fact that a mob plan has been prepared for Washington. The daily press has reported and senators have inserted in the record of the Congress the full story of the chief planner of the Washington march. It has been disclosed—indeed he has admitted it—that he belonged to the Young Communist League. In addition, this individual has supported a wide range of radical causes.

How can thoughtful citizens approve of mass demonstrations? Would they approve of them if conservative citizens planned vast marches in the capital? Suppose Americans by the scores of thousands had poured into Washington for a protest on the summer day when Nikita Khrushchev visited that city. One can be sure that every left-winger in the United States would have screamed with outrage. Their double standard would have been quickly exposed as usual.

As a matter of fact, it would not be right for conservatives to use mass demonstrations. The fact that they have not done so is evidence of the good sense and respect for tradition characteristic of people who believe in the U.S. Constitution and the American way of life. Constitutionals believe in confining protests to orderly, respectable methods—letters, personal visits with legislators, and statements in the press. The ultimate means of protest, of course, is at the ballot box. Only the leftwing extremists use revolutionary methods that have no relation to the history of this country.

The Aug. 28 march on Washington was nothing more than a giant-noon-squad threatening the Congress. It is hard to conceive of any plan more repugnant to the decent traditions of this country. The flooding of the capital with political beatniks should have the disapproval of every respectable citizen.

Federal Reserve Board To Suspend Minimum If Gold Reserves Slip Below Requirements

WASHINGTON — With direct Federal Reserve cooperation, the Kennedy administration is set to resort to a little-known emergency power in the event the continuing heavy drain of gold reserves slashes the total below the 25 per cent required for currency coverage.

When the country's gold reserves sink below the $12.3 billion minimum necessary for currency backing, the Reserve Board will suspend this statutory provision.

This extraordinary authority is included in the same decades-old law that established the 25 per cent currency coverage. The reserve Board has never invoked it.

But Reserve Chairman William McC. Martin has agreed to do so if and when this grave monetary crisis arises.

Purpose of this unprecedented action would be to make good the President's proclaimed intention to continue a "free gold" policy; that is, delivering gold for dollars on the demand of foreign creditors. He has declared that our entire gold reserves are available to back up the dollar in this manner.

Treasury Secretary Dillon has disclosed the Reserve Board's unannounced intention to congressional leaders with jurisdiction over the President's recently submitted elaborate program to cope with the increasingly serious balance-of-payments-deficit problem — of which the persistent large loss of gold reserves is a key consequence.

Since 1958, the payments deficit has averaged around $3.5 billion a year. In 1960 it soared to $3.9 billion; this year it is running around $3.2 billion.

In an effort to plug the menacing gold drain, the President proposes to tax the purchase of foreign securities; in effect, a "sales tax" on investments abroad. The Ways and Means Committee will act on this shortly.

WHAT DILLON SAID — The Reserve Board's highly significant position was revealed by Dillon at a meeting with the Joint Economic Committee, headed by Senator Paul Douglas, D-Ill. The committee is studying the complex balance-of-payments-deficit issue, and Dillon was closely questioned about administration measures to deal with it, particularly the continuing evaporation of the gold reserves.

Since 1952, they have plummeted from $23.2 billion to $15.6 billion. That leaves only $3.3 billion (over the $12.3 billion minimum) for a meeting, potential foreign claims of more than $22 billion.

The bulk of this $7.6 billion loss in gold has gone to France, West Germany, Italy, Japan and other Western countries that have benefited enormously from U.S. economic and military aid.

During this period, U.S. foreign aid expenditures have been more than $45 billion.

If the gold outflow continues at the rate it has in the past five years (around $1 billion a year), the reserves will sink below the required 25 per cent currency coverage by 1966-67.

Senator Jack Miller, R - Iowa, asked Dillon what happens then.

"You state that currency deflation is out of the question," said Miller. "It seems to me that if we continue at the rate we are going, within a matter of two or three years we won't have a free gold to deliver in payment of debts to foreign creditors. In that event, won't we have to devalue the dollar in the world market because we won't be able to deliver gold when it's demanded?"

This contention was flatly rejected by Dillon. The Treasury head emphatically asserted that devaluation of the dollar is wholly out of the question.

"While our laws require a 25 per cent cover for our currency in Federal Reserve deposits," declared Dillon, "our laws also provide that the Federal Reserve System in time of emergency has the right, on its own recognition, to waive that requirement and to allow the sale of gold to continue."

"The chairman of the Federal Reserve has stated that if the situation should arise, it would be his intention to make use of this authority."

"The chairman has pointed out the existence of this authority. So this is not to try to minimize the seriousness of the situation, but merely to point out that there is no particular single point at which suddenly we would not be able to give gold to foreign countries if they so desire. We would still be able to do it even though it would require this waiver. That is the reason for the President's statement in February 1961, when he declared that our entire gold stock is available to back up the dollar."

"Would this impair the value of the dollar on the gold market?" continued Senator Miller.

"No, I don't think it would," replied Dillon. "What would impair the value of the dollar would be failure to live up to our commitment to deliver gold for dollars."

"And the fact there would be much less gold backing up our currency, wouldn't that impair the value of the dollar?" asked Miller.

"No," asserted Dillon. "I think the fact that our gold supply is smaller one year than the year before means that we are less strong. If we got down to that point, we would be less strong, and that would be a situation that would not be as good as it is now. It would be unfortunate. But the mere fact of hitting that particular point would not, I think, internationally have any effect."

"It probably would have more effect at home where people would be disturbed because of the invoking of that currency coverage waiver."

WHAT MARTIN THINKS—Federal Reserve officials are working closely with the administration in grappling with this increasingly grave problem.

They are doing this on their own volition and without pressure from any source. Reserve Chairman Martin and J. L. Robertson, a member of the board, asserted that flatly at a meeting with the House Banking & Currency Committee.

Both were questioned closely on this and other points by Representatives William Widdall, R-N.J. and William Brock, R-Tenn.

Widdall pointedly asked Robertson whether the monetary policy of the country is "the policy of the Federal Reserve Board or the policy of the administration; which is it?"

"It is the policy of the Federal Reserve Board," declared Robertson. "I know of no pressure that has been brought on the board to formulate any decision."

Brock questioned Martin on the consequences of the continuing drain of gold.

"That is causing an increasing lack of confidence in the dollar and is pointing up the balance-of-payments-deficit problem," said Martin. "There has been this constant drip, drip that has highlighted this problem and caused the President to send a special message to Congress."

"What will we be forced to do if the measures he recommended do not solve the problem in the next several years?" continued Brock.

"I hope and pray that the time does not come that we will have to devalue the dollar," exclaimed Martin. "Devaluation of the dollar will not be the end of the world. But I think it would be a great setback to our prestige and position in the world that would take us years to recover from. It would cause a slowing down not only in our trade, but in world trade. That's why I think the Federal Reserve Board should do everything it can along with the administration to see that this unhappy development does not occur."

PINPOINTING THE GUILTY—Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., in a Senate speech castigating the numerous shortcomings of the foreign aid program, caustically denounced our allies who are draining our gold supply.

"Which are some of the countries that have drawn off large amounts of our gold reserves?" declared Morse. "They are the allies into whose treasuries we have poured billions of dollars since 1946 — such as France, Britain, Italy and others. Where are our NATO allies in South Vietnam? They are noticeable by their absence."

Dr. Walter Salant, Brookings Institution economist who directed the 225-page monetary study for the President's Council of Economic Advisers, characterized the 25 per cent gold coverage for currency as a "sacred cow that long ago ceased to serve any useful purpose." He told that Joint Economic Committee, "It should be abolished. Its abolition would make clear that the reserves are available to the full and at all times, not merely in emergencies, to serve their only useful function."

Senators Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., and Frank Lausche, D-O., are leading a bipartisan effort to have a series of committee hearings next month devoted solely to the ominous problem of the constantly dwindling gold reserves. How far they will get on this move is conjectural in view of the heavy legislative schedule still facing Congress.

Defense Secretary McNamara has directed the Joint Chiefs of Staff to speed up the submission of recommendations to further stem the outflow of gold abroad. On the basis of these recommendations the President and McNamara will decide whether to reduce U.S. forces stationed in foreign countries, particularly Korea.

The American Way

I DREAMT THEY REPEALED THE 20TH CENTURY

By Harry Browne, Editor, Freedom Magazine

Last night I had a honey of a dream. The self-styled "liberals" might call it a nightmare — for I dreamt that the federal government had been taken over by a "reactionary" Congress. All economic laws were repealed, the regulatory agencies were disbanded and the government confined itself to national defense. As the saying goes, they "repeated the 20th century."

But the results were astounding. Here are some that I can recall:

First:

1. New labor-saving products were quickly marketed by companies that had formerly been restrained by anti-trust laws, oppressive taxes and artificial regulation. All firms were now free to develop new ways to please their customers.
2. Prices were reduced on most products — as business no longer had to keep costly records for the government, submit expensive reports and defend itself against unjust government accusations.
3. Unemployment went downward as employers hired the handicapped, the teenagers and the unskilled. They were formerly unemployed because they were not productive enough to be worth the politically-established minimum wage.
4. Wages became a measure of a man's worth, instead of an industry-wide policy that provides no incentive. As a result, production went up, wages went up, and prices came down.
5. Taxes were cut in half — as the government no longer needed money for business ventures, subsidies and costs of artificial regulation.
6. Railroads lowered their freight rates — since there were no more government-imposed minimum prices. The truckers and shippers were thereby forced to do the same, and the retail prices of many affected products were lowered.
7. For senior citizens, "social security" became a reality, instead of a political promise. Now every pensioner had a contract from private enterprise, he knew without doubt what he would receive, and he could disburse the benefits as he saw fit.
8. The word "inflation" wasn't mentioned once in my dream— for government was no longer manipulating the money supply with valueless federal reserve notes. Every dollar in circulation was backed up by a dollar's worth of gold or silver.

Everywhere I turned, I could see evidence of a higher standard of living. Incentive had been returned to the economy and most people had an insatiable urge to produce, to compete, to acquire and to prosper. Years of progress took place in months.

Responsibility and self-government were accentuated. Ambition was heightened, but greed was diminished — as more good things came within the reach of more people.

Editor:

Many people are upset about the Supreme Court's decision forbidding religious exercises in public schools. The decision has been heartily endorsed by some religious leaders and bitterly condemned by others.

I am more concerned about the ultimate purpose of the Atheist.

We might remember that this is not a new struggle. The Bible is filled with historical accounts of Atheism versus Christianity. One of the most dramatic accounts is that of the prophet Elijah when the children of Israel and the priest of Baal were before him and he asked, "How long halt ye between two opinions? IF the Lord be God, follow him, but if Baal, follow him."

I personally have no fear of the individual Atheist. I firmly believe he has every bit as much right to be an Atheist, as I have to be a Christian.

I do fear the organized Atheist who intends to destroy everything that Christians believe in. Absolute Atheism is in no way a mere absence of belief in God. It is rather a refusal of God, a fight against God, a challenge to God.

Communism is Atheism, in one of the most terrible forms of organization ever to rear its ugly head upon this earth. Make no mistake about it the Communist Atheist intends to have every man, woman and child upon the face of the earth bow before their materialistic God. They must first change the way people think, more especially in the United States.

Their plan is simple—They use the Termitte system. They will first attack the little things, such as devotional exercises in public schools. As soon as public resentment has quieted down, they will take their next step. Perhaps their next effort will be to have the Supreme Court issue a decision that no song shall be sung in school that mentions the name of God. It all depends upon you, Mr. and Mrs. America, whether you remain indifferent or rise up in arms. If you remain indifferent then they will accelerate their program. Some one says, "oh, but devotional exercises in school is such a small thing, what does it matter if we can't have them?"

I saw a farm one time that had all of its buildings completely ruined by Termites. The roofs of the buildings had fallen in, everything was beyond repair.

But, you know, the first bite that the first Termitte took was such a little bit, tiny thing it seemed unimportant.
