Desegregated Schools in Birmingham Are Again Closed by Governor Wallace

Rioting to Halt Entrance Claims Life of Negro

By AL KUELTNER
United Press International

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—City police today surrounded three desegregated public schools, closed at the request of Gov. George Wallace following rioting that claimed one life, to prevent students from entering the buildings.

Police took the stations to head off any possibility of trouble in the event some students had not heard of the closing and gathered at the schools.

Some of the more than 200 state troopers sent here by Wallace Tuesday were seen at the schools, but it was not determined whether they were on duty or merely observers. City policemen refused the offered assistance of the troopers Wednesday night during rioting by 1,000 Negroes enraged by the bombing of a Negro attorney's home three blocks from one of the desegregated schools.

To Go To Court

Birmingham school board attorneys were expected to go into federal court today to seek a stay of the federal court order desegregating West End and Ramsay high schools and Graymont elementary school. Two Negroes attended Graymont Wednesday and three others are cleared for admission to the two high schools.

The school board "acceded" to Wallace's request early this morning and ordered the three schools closed temporarily. Classes had been scheduled to resume this morning.

Wallace had dispatched more than 200 state troopers here in an expected effort to block the integration Wednesday but he backed down and made no attempt to interfere with school procedures.

One Negro Killed

There was scuffling between policemen and segregationists at Ramsay and Graymont schools Wednesday. The bombing of the home of a Negro civil rights attorney Arthur Shores Wednesday night sent 1,000 Negroes into the streets in a wild demonstration that left one Negro dead and at least 19 persons injured.

City policemen quelled the rioting after about two hours of battling between officers, Negroes and white passersby. They refused an offer to state help.

National Guardsmen were put on standby alert in a Birmingham armory.

Wallace called the violence a "tragic thing" and apparently began negotiations with school officials to close down the three schools. His representatives met for several hours with school officials in a Birmingham hotel.

Reach Agreement

Wallace's press secretary, Bill Jones, said agreement was reached at 4:20 a.m. CST (6:20 a.m. EDT). Jones released a statement from Wallace which read:

"I have tonight asked the city Board of Education of Birmingham to close until further notice the schools at West End, Ramsay and Graymont. The board has acceded to my request and the schools will be closed temporarily.

The board has also agreed to my request to join in a petition filed yesterday to stay the federal court order integrating these three schools.

"SENIOR BRIDGE INSPECTOR" INSPECTS LONDON BRIDGE — Senior Bridge Inspector M. K. Brown, center, is inspecting the London Bridge which Brown is financing on N. Sumner. The "inspector" is explaining the process of finishing to Construction Foreman G. L. Coker, left, while Pablo Aguirre completes the finishing. The bridge, nearing completion, will be called London Bridge.

Goldwater Proposes Test Treaty That Requires Russians, Missiles Out of Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., proposed a nuclear test ban treaty reservation today which would require Russia to remove all Soviet missiles and military forces from Cuba.

Would Oppose Treaty

The GOP senator said that while he is confident the President would not be inhibited from defending "this nation," it should be made "perfectly clear" that nuclear weapons could be used to defend freedom in Europe or Asia "as well as on or at our own doorstep."

Goldwater's statement appeared to indicate that if the Cuban reservation that he said he would offer later is not adopted he would vote against the treaty. Should the Senate adopt any reservations, the limited test pact would have to be renegotiated.

In discussing the pact, Goldwater said: "The Soviets gain from the treaty an immobilization of our great nuclear lead, a breathing space in which to put to productive use the data gained from its own unique series of high-yield nuclear tests, a breathing space in which to consolidate its political position around the world."

"They want the treaty; they say they want the treaty; they need the treaty. Well, we need something, too; we need deeds to replace doubts."

Gaining Support

Overall, the treaty appeared to be gaining bipartisan Senate support for ratification. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., all but declared his full support for the pact after Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield threw his full prestige behind the pact which would ban all but underground tests.

Goldwater said the Cuban military withdrawal "could be completed within a few months" and "could make the treaty proposal perfectly acceptable even to its harshest critics." His proposal called for on-the-spot inspection to determine Soviet compliance. Senate sources said they expected chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the armed services committee to vote for the treaty. They looked for Russell to be joined by chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the preparedness subcommittee, which has called the views of military leaders most concerned about the agreement.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., a member of the foreign relations committee which approved the treaty by a 16-1 vote, announced he would vote for it on the floor.

Williams, noting the concern about "safeguards" voiced by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said that "if the Joint Chiefs hadn't been worried, I'd be voting against the treaty."

"I think our position is adequately protected," he said. Mansfield, just back from a 2,000-mile swing through his home

Student Reports Russians Are 'All Over the Place' in Cuba

NEW YORK (UPI)—Russians are "all over the place" in Castro's Cuba, an American student just back from there reported today. They avoid the use of uniforms, he added.

Dick Riemann, 27, of Yonkers, N.Y., en route to a San Francisco Bay area teaching job, said the Russians traveled in groups and did not mingle with Cubans. He said they lived in a "walled city" of their own in Regla, a fishing village across the bay from Havana, and had their own "house of pleasure." The fortified area in which they live is off-limits to all but a handful of Cubans with special passes, he reported.

Riemann was one of 59 American students who spent seven weeks in Cuba as Castro regime guests. He said he "volunteered" for the trip "because I knew the type of group that was going and wanted to lead some balance to it."

Also, Riemann said, "I thought the (Kennedy) administration was downgrading Cuba which, in my opinion, is our No. 1 problem. I feel integration comes after our national security."

Viet Nam Shows No Sign Of Backing Down

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu's charges of double dealing by the United States, indicated today that the South Vietnamese government has no intention of backing down under any pressure from Washington in the present crisis.

Mme. Nhu, the powerful and beautiful sister-in-law of President Ngo Dinh Diem, said Wednesday that President Kennedy apparently has the wrong conception of the Diem regime's parallel struggles with the Buddhists and the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

She suggested at a news conference the United States withdraw some of its civilian aid personnel because she has the impression "some of them are U.S. intelligence agents."

Referring to American aid to South Viet Nam and press charges that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) was involved in a plot against the Diem government, Mme. Nhu said: "I have the impression that with one hand America pats and with the other it strikes."

"She said it appeared to be a 'double policy' which she could not understand.

Mme. Nhu's husband is Diem's brother and chief political adviser. He is head of the secret police, and is believed by many diplomatic observers to have engineered the nationwide crackdown on Buddhist opposition which included raids on pagodas and massive arrests.

The raids brought the Diem government into open dispute with the U.S. government, which expressed strong disapproval of the strong-arm methods used against the Buddhists.

Gun Smugglers' Car Registered To False Address

WESTACO, Tex. (UPI)—A film brought out of Mexico by a Westaco, Tex., television station (KRGV-TV) showed today that a station wagon used to smuggle 250,000 rounds of ammunition into Mexico was registered to a McAllen, Tex. false address.

The film showed a license number on a station wagon which was seized Saturday at Rancho Grande, Mexico, near the Texas-Mexico border, registered to a McAllen address (515 E. Hackberry).

Police said there is no such address but that this was "not unusual."

Mexican officials held the driver of the station wagon, in which they found a $2,650 cache of ammunition.

A number of recent arrests for gun smuggling into Mexico caused speculation that the guns were earmarked for anti-Castro Cubans in South America or for ex-president Lazaro Cardenas who has vowed to unseat the present Mexican government.

The U.S. State Department in Washington discounted the possibility the arms were intended for anti-Castro Cubans, saying such arms smuggling is a constant problem and there is no proof the recent attempts were politically motivated.

Seven arrests have been made in the past month for gun running into Mexico, the latest Tuesday at Ranchita, Mexico, south of Reynosa on the border. A truck containing $20,000 worth of arms and ammunition was seized.

The truck had Texas license plates but was owned by a Mexican national.

A McAllen man was arrested for attempting to drive another shipment across the border at Nuevo Laredo Wednesday.

Burglars Break In Local Feed Store

Burglars broke into the Pampa Feed & Grain Store, 525 W. Brown, last night and stole $18 to $20 in change from a hiding place.

John M. Ramsey, owner, reported the break-in at 8:25 a.m. today. Police said entrance was gained by breaking a window and crawling through.

Ramsey said the store cash register, which contained a small amount of pennies, apparently was not opened.

"The job looked like it was done by someone who had spotted the hiding place," Police Chief Jim Conner said today.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hdwe. Adv.

Pool and Budget Are Studied By City Commission

Further study of Pampa's $1,650,000 budget for 1963-64 occupied the time of the city commission last Tuesday at an executive session in City Hall.

Several proposed changes were discussed but final action on the budget is not due until Tuesday, Sept. 17.

A continuation of last Tuesday's public hearing on the budget is scheduled for next Tuesday.

Prior to the budget meeting, Mayor H. Raeburn Thompson, Commissioners Jim Nation, MacField McDaniel, L. P. Fort and Leon Holmes, accompanied by City Manager Harold Schmitzer, City Secretary Edwin Vicars, City Atty. Bob Gordon and Police Chief Jim Conner, inspected the Municipal Swimming Pool at 800 Sloan St.

Commissioners generally were agreed that the bath house and heating system at the pool are badly in need of repair. Plans are expected to be worked out to make the repairs. The group also visited the Marcus Sanders pool at 438 Crawford St., which was found to be in need of only a few minor repairs.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
 A political storm is blowing over West Berlin.
 It arises from opposition party suspicions that Mayor Willy Brandt's Social Democratic administration is softening its stand against Communist East Germany.
 The dispute could well spread beyond the confines of West Berlin and become a major issue in the 1965 parliamentary elections in which Brandt again will be his party's candidate for chancellor.
 At the storm center is Brandt's crown prince, Deputy Mayor Heinrich Albertz, but politicians agree that the real target is Brandt himself.
 The start of it was a speech by Albertz criticizing the "provincial anxiety" shown by the government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in delaying signing of the Moscow partial test ban agreement. He also expressed regret that the smallest American step to find a way out of the East-West impasse was greeted by "timidity and distrust" in West Germany.
Democrats Demand Vote
 The local branch of Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party promptly demanded a no-confidence vote against Albertz who further aroused their ire by a slighting reference to the West German Federal Republic as a "Rhine State."
 The issue will be debated next month but has no chance of passage because of the Socialists having a large majority in the city government.
 It will, however, put new emphasis on charges which have been leveled before against the Adenauer regime by its political opponents.
 Chiefly they are that the aged chancellor has been too rigid in his approach to reunification of Germany with his all-or-nothing demands for free elections.
 Brandt's press chief stirred wide attention with a speech in which he said the Russians were not simply going to stand aside in East Germany and that the Adenauer policy "is not only hopelessly antiquated and unreal but meaningless in a strategy of peace."
Brandt Clearly Discontented
 For the most part Brandt has kept to the background and permitted his aides to do the talking. They have not spelled out a new program but they have made it clear they are not contented with the old one.
 This in turn has aroused fears among the Christian Democrats and other political opponents that the Socialists are hinting at an increased measure of recognition of the East German regime.
 It led the West Berlin independent newspaper, Morgenpost to demand that the city government say clearly just what its policy is toward the Communist regime.
 The rigidity of the Adenauer regime has been attacked not only by the Socialists, but also by the Free Democrats who participate in his coalition government. The Free Democrats, without spelling out the details, have demanded fresh initiative on the part of the Bonn government which they say has depended too much upon the Western Allies for an all-German settlement.
 Adenauer is scheduled to retire this fall, although against his will.
 His chief fear has been that his retirement will lead to German weakness against the Communist.
 The plumber, user of lead pipe and solder, takes his name from "plumbum," Latin for "lead."

Young People's Science Lab

Making A Compass

- Magnetize a darning needle by stroking the length of it about thirty times with the north end of a bar magnet. By stroking from the eye to the point the latter will become the south pole.
- The magnetic needle must be put into a situation now where it can freely turn until it lines up with the magnetic poles of the earth.
- It may be inserted through a cork and floated in a glass dish partly filled with water. Or the needle may be fastened to a cardboard suspended by a silk thread in a pint jar.
- Be sure no other magnet or iron object is near. They will prevent the compass from functioning properly.
- The point of the needle will point south—the south-seeking pole. The eye of the needle will be the north-seeking pole.

Opportunity Plan Inc. Explained to Rotarians

Milton "Buck" Morris, Director of the ex-student association of West Texas State University, explained the school's "Opportunity Plan Inc." at the Pampa Rotary Club's luncheon meeting yesterday at the Coronado Inn.

Opportunity Plan Inc. is an organization which was established to provide financial assistance to deserving college students, who would otherwise be unable to continue their schooling. Membership may be attained by contributing $10 a year to the plan. Main objectives of the plan, according to Morris, is to help as many youngsters as possible help themselves, and to establish a pilot program that would eventually replace the federally controlled National Defense Loans.

Mrs. Frances McMahon, mother of five children, ages 3 to 10 years, told the club how the Opportunity Plan has helped her provide for her family and at the same time enable her to continue her college education.

John Schofield introduced the program.

Donnie Rexroad, who will serve as Junior Rotarian for the month of September, was introduced by Terry Cylley. Donnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rexroad, 1104 N. Starkweather.

Angus Association Junior Membership Granted to Pampa

Kevin Creston, 14, Pampa, has been granted a junior membership in the American Angus Association at St. Joseph, Mo., according to Frank Richards, association secretary.

Young Creston's new junior membership, issued during August, enables him to register his purebred Angus at regular membership rates and entitles him to the privileges of association until he reaches the age of 21. At that time he will be eligible to convert to a lifetime membership in the Association.

Kevin was one of 239 young people in the United States to receive junior memberships last month.

Reception To Be Held for Educator

Miss Mae Carden, originator and developer of the Carden Method of Language Arts, will be honored with a reception at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Parish Hall of St. Matthew's Episcopal Day School, 727 W. Browning.

Miss Carden, a graduate of Vassar College and Columbia University, arrived in Pampa today and will remain for three days to teach the method here.

The board of trustees of St. Matthew's school recently voted to adopt this new method of education. The teachers at St. Matthew's completed a course taught by Miss Carden in Amarillo last summer.

The public is invited to the reception.

Hemphill County Attorney Denies DWI Accusation

CANADIAN (Sp) — A complaint of driving while intoxicated was filed in Hemphill County Court Tuesday against Hemphill County Attorney Jim Crow.

Crow entered a plea of not guilty, asked for trial by jury, and was released after posting $1,000 bond.

The complaint was filed by State Highway Patrolman Charlie Pryor of Pampa, who made the arrest last Friday night on Highway 60 about two miles north of Canadian. Patrolman Pryor said the arrest followed a high speed chase of several miles.

Crow was jailed here for about two hours after the arrest, and was then released on doctor's advice.

The formal complaint was prepared by the arresting officer Tuesday, and arraignment was before County Judge Sanford Cole.

It will be necessary for the judge to appoint an attorney to act for the county in prosecution of the case.

How to Lick the Tumbleweed Problem?--Feed Them to Cattle!

DATIL, N.M. (UPI) — One New Mexico rancher has licked the tumbleweed problem. He feeds them to cattle!

Ira Mc Kinley, who owns an 18-section ranch in Catron County southwest of Datil, started utilizing the weed when times were hard back in the mid-fifties.

To his surprise he found the cattle thrived on them and a test of the weed at New Mexico State University revealed they were 17 per cent protein.

Mc Kinley had observed the cattle ate tumbleweeds during the winter months when no other feeds were available. He also observed the weeds were most palatable when there was a little bit of moisture in them.

At first Mc Kinley and a hired hand would drive along fences and pick up tumbleweeds which had been lodged by the wind along the fences. Then he would grind up the tumbleweed in a hammer mill, add a little molasses, and feed his cattle. The animals thrived.

Since then Mc Kinley has used the tumbleweed-molasses mixture whenever supplemental feeding was required. He experimented with various ways to handle the prickly weed and now uses a tractor drawn forage chopper and can cover a mile of fence in about an hour, depending on the density of the weeds.

"This spring we had to feed for about three months," Mc Kinley said, "and I fed between 160 and 180 head of cows and big yearlings and all it cost me was $125 for molasses. The cattle stayed in real good condition."

"It's gotten so the cattle would rather eat the tumbleweed than the processed feed we were buying."

Plans to Expand

Mc Kinley now plans to expand his facilities for utilizing tumbleweeds. He is planning a new and larger barn with automated facilities for grinding and mixing the feed. He also plans to send the weeds to N.M.S.U. in their "red" stage for analysis when they still are moist. The "red" stage is the maturing stage for the weeds.

"I believe tests will show them to be higher in protein than at any other time," he said. "If this proves the case I will mow them and grind them earlier when they are thickest."

Catron County ranchers also are planning to test turkey beans, a medium-sized, purple flowering shrub bearing beans similar to a mesquite bean, for use as feed. These "cousins of alfalfa" are rich in oil and Mc Kinley says cattle will eat both the beans and leaves.

But in the meantime Mc Kinley is feeding tumbleweeds and getting good results.

In addition, he has the cleanest fences in the county.

Dallas Youth Shot Trying To Stop Obscene Gestures

DALLAS (UPI)—The six Dallas teen-agers were irked when they saw one of a group of Latin-American youths make an obscene gesture at the teen-agers as they passed the Alex W. Spence junior high school.

So they stopped their car and accosted the Latin-American youths.

One of the Latin-Americans grabbed a gun from another.

"That gun's not loaded," said one of the six teen-agers.

"I'll show you it is," the gun wielder snapped, and began pulling the trigger.

David Fredrick Watson, 19, fell to the ground.

Shop teacher O. G. Dickenson saw the shooting from a window of the school and rushed out to the boy's aid. But it was too late. Watson was dead on arrival at Parkland Hospital, shot once in the chest.

Police were still searching yesterday for a 16-year-old Latin American youth who was just released from the Gatesville School for Boys about two months ago.

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — A comment heard outside Tuskegee High School, as parents discussed the state troopers to prevent desegregation:

"They got more policemen than children. Why does it take so many?"

CHARLESTON, S.C.—Millicent Brown, 15, one of 11 Negroes who attended classes with whites for the first time at four public schools:

"I had a wonderful day. All of the students and teachers went out of their way to be helpful."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Colby & Co. says the outlook for the stock market is "irregularly higher" with quality stocks that have long gone neglected now attracting buying power.

Colby advises to "continue the policy of putting a larger percentage of available investment funds into selected equities, particularly during inevitable periods of weakness. However, these periods won't last long," it concludes.

Spear & Staff notes that this has been a market which has seen relatively minor public participation. It says that if inflationary fears are again aroused, or if momentum alone should carry the Dow Jones industrial average to a new high above 734.4, "investors should tone down any policy of caution."

Investors Research Co. ranks automobile stocks as favorable. The West Coast advisory service recommends new purchases in this group. It says that "even if the market becomes more selective there are still excellent gains to be achieved by switching into this group."

Clark, Dodge & Co. says the list now has the momentum for a vigorous try at setting new highs in the industrial average.

Texas Boating News

By KENNETH CARR
United Press International
Phil Rand, a merchant seaman from Galveston, is tired of working for the other fellow.
He and his wife plan to go to the Bahamas in a home-made boat that he has been working on since April.

Why the Bahamas?
"That's where work is fun and living is cheap," Rand said as he worked on his 45-foot "Texas Dory."

"I intend to work about six or eight months a year fishing and cruise around the rest of the time," Rand said.

Rand is building the boat in his front yard. Only a few hundred yards from where he will launch it in Offatts Bayou at Galveston.

The boat will be powered by a 100-horsepower diesel engine. It will be equipped with living quarters, a galley and sufficient room to store about 20,000 pounds of iced fish.

The ship's cruising range will be 2,000 miles at about nine knots. Rand said by the time the craft is finished, she will have cost approximately $8,000. He estimates the boat would cost about $30,000 on the open market.

Rand's life of ease won't start however, until one more trip to sea for more finances. It will be a year yet before he can live on the sea in his home-made boat.

Odds-and-ends department — Evinrude Motors announced the past week that oil consumption on all of its 1964 models has been cut in half. Evinrude will introduce its 1964 line of outboards Sept. 18. Evinrude's new ratio is equivalent to one pint of oil to six gallons of gasoline instead of the old ratio of one pint to three gallons. . . . Evinrude also will launch its own boats this year—four 16-foot runabouts, two outboard-powered and two propelled by stern drives. . . .

The Texas Water Safari Association was formed the past week to sponsor the Texas water safari next year. The safari, billed as "the world's toughest river race," is a test of skill and endurance over 425 miles of rivers and 75 miles of salt water. Tom Webb, a veteran of the first race, has been elected chairman of the new organization. Those interested in entering can write the Texas Water Safari Association, P. O. Box 721, San Marcos, Tex.

King Gustaf Takes LBJ, Family On Tour of Summer Palace

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—King Gustaf took the family of U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on a tour of the summer palace and grounds Wednesday. After alighting from their helicopter, they walked 300 yards across lawns and through gardens to the red-brick edifice. Prince Bertil and U.S. ambassador Graham Parsons fell in behind the party.

Mrs. Johnson, wearing a white coat and white hat, was very interested in the palace gardens and commented on the "wonderful flowers all around."

"Are you a gardener?" the king asked.

"I like it, but I'm not terribly good at it," she replied.

The king showed Lady Bird his promenade walk, which she found "enchanting."

Queen Louise met the party at the castle doorstep and apologized for not meeting them at the helicopter due to the overcast skies which threatened rain.

Lynda Meets Students

Lynda, who accompanied her parents at the palace lunch, later had a chance to meet Swedish students at an informal party given by the university students organization in Goteborg.

She told the students she was spending part of her time during the visit searching for Swedish relatives of a boy friend of her sister, Lucy Baine.

"His name is Olsson, but I've found out during my stay here there are a lot of Swedes with that name, aren't there?" she said.

The party was followed by a typical Swedish student evening with dancing and other entertainment.

Have U. S. Kinfolk

Lynda seemed to enjoy it, sipping a glass of juice and chatting with the students, many of whom had relatives or friends in the United States.

Some of them told Lynda they have studied at universities in the United States.

Miss Johnson danced often and smiled happily at photographers and reporters.

"Of course this is a much nicer party than that at the Bourse," she said, referring to the official party at the Goteborg Stock Exchange for her parents.

Before leaving the student affair, she was given a white Swedish cap with black peak. She put it on when entering the ballroom at the Bourse to rejoin her mother and father.

Gray County Soil Conservation News

A diversion terrace was staked for Norbert Britten on a place he operates east of Groom, the Gray County Soil Conservation Service announced today. This is the third diversion that Norbert has put in this year. He plans to construct another diversion after sorghum harvest, according to the Gray County SCS.

A pit type pond was completed on Drew Words stock farm north of Allenreed. Drew also completed a cross fence to get better distribution of grazing. Land leveling was completed on farms of George Phillipott, Moody Farms and Arlie Carpenter.

The Gray County SCS supervisors plan to hold their annual picnic Saturday evening Sept. 14 at 4 p.m.

PASO Wants Acceptance, Not Tolerance in Texas

EDITOR'S NOTE—While Negro demonstrations occur in other states, a Latin-American movement for political and economic advancement gathers strength in Texas. It is PASO, the Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations. PASO has directed the takeover of one city's government in Texas. It looks on this as a start.

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press International
CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (UPI)—The way Albert Fuentes Jr. sees it, the Mexican-American is worse off than the Negro in Texas and other southwestern states. The Negro has a tangible cause—segregation. He can demonstrate against it and seek help in courts.

The Mexican-American, according to Fuentes, is not segregated. He can go anywhere, and everywhere he finds himself tolerated but not accepted.

Tolerance, but not acceptance, crushes the spirit as much as outright segregation, Fuentes feels. Fuentes, 33, is state executive secretary of the Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations (PASO).

PASO is growing rapidly. Fuentes said it is organized in more than 50 Texas counties, part of which have more Mexican-Americans of voting age than Americans of other extraction.

The battle cry of PASO is political and economic equality. But its leaders, already successful men, appear to be driven as well by a burning desire for more tolerance.

Win One Election

Crystal City is Paso's showpiece. Last April a slate of five Mexican-Americans took over the city government from a city council that other Americans always had dominated.

Crystal City has 9,500 residents—85 per cent of whom are Mexican-American, 14.5 per cent of whom are not Mexican and 3 per cent of whom are Negro. The 14.5 per cent white-non-Mexicans pay 65 per cent of the taxes.

Those whose heritage is not Mexican (called "Anglos") in Crystal City do not like this new government. They are trying to do something about it.

M. Dale Barker, editor and publisher of the weekly Zavala County Sentinel, summed up the Anglo attitude as follows: "We have no objection to officeholders of Spanish extraction, but we do object to 'outside interests' coming in, directing things and putting puppets in office."

By "outside interests," Barker meant PASO and a local of James Hoffa's Teamster's Union, which provided the backbone in Crystal City for the Latin victory.

Represents Cannery Workers

"If they would just let us alone we would have something real nice here," Mayor Juan Cornejo said. Cornejo (pronounced cor-nay-ho) is the local agent of the Teamster's Union, and his Anglo constituents call him "Mayor Corney-Joe."

The Teamster's Union got into Crystal City politics because it represents approximately 300 workers in the California Packing Co. cannery plant in Crystal City. The cannery workers are not only 100 per cent Latin; they also are the best-paid workers in town, according to Fuentes. And, since they work under "outside contract," they cannot be intimidated.

Fuentes and his boss, Albert Pena Jr., 43, live in San Antonio, 120 miles to the northeast. Pena is a lawyer, a commissioner in Bexar County (San Antonio) and state chairman of PASO.

Fuentes and Pena, the father of PASO, see their Crystal City victory as the beginning. They already are organizing an assault on the county government in Zavala County in next year's primaries.

Seek Negro Aid

They also think that PASO can work itself into a coalition with Texas Negroes, union members of all races, and ultra-liberal members of the Democratic party.

Pena, in an interview, cited these figures: In 1960, there were 900,000 Latins and 850,000 Negro of voting age in Texas.

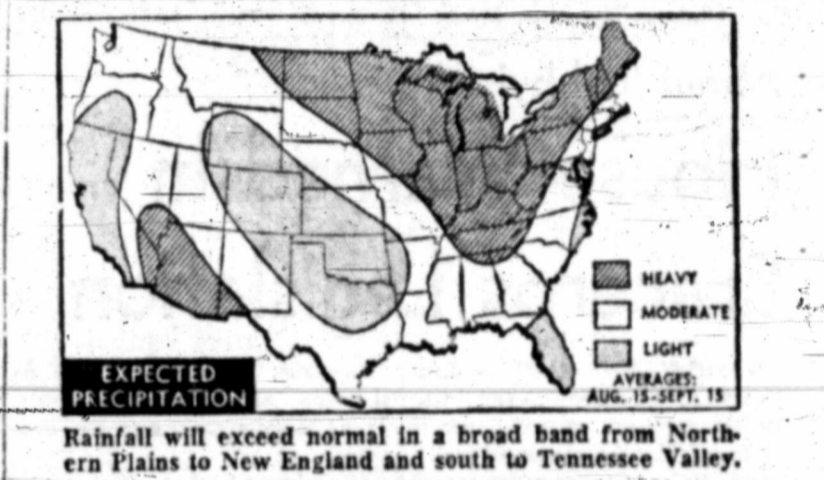

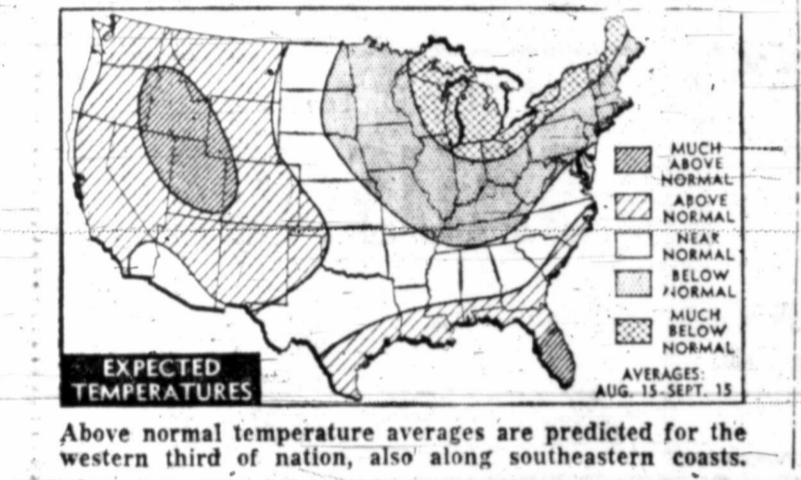

Pena and Fuentes think Latins and Negroes by themselves could determine who is elected next year to state office in Texas and which party candidate carries Texas.

—The Texas poll tax is cut from $1.75 to 25 cents in a special election Nov. 9.

—Enough conservative Democrats vote Republican in Texas next year.

Pena and Fuentes deny that their aim is to elect Latins to office. They say they and PASO support candidates, regardless of race, who recognize the Latin's problems and try to do something about them.

"If they would just let us alone we would have something real nice here," Mayor Juan Cornejo said. Cornejo (pronounced cor-nay-ho) is the local agent of the Teamster's Union, and his Anglo constituents call him "Mayor Corney-Joe."

The Teamster's Union got into Crystal City politics because it represents approximately 300 workers in the California Packing Co. cannery plant in Crystal City. The cannery workers are not only 100 per cent Latin; they also are the best-paid workers in town, according to Fuentes. And, since they work under "outside contract," they cannot be intimidated.

Fuentes and his boss, Albert Pena Jr., 43, live in San Antonio, 120 miles to the northeast. Pena is a lawyer, a commissioner in Bexar County (San Antonio) and state chairman of PASO.

Sinclair Oil Acquires Texas Gulf Producing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sinclair Oil Corp. will acquire Texas Gulf Producing Co. for an estimated $252 million, chief executives of both companies announced this week.

Specific terms were not disclosed but Gordon W. Reed, chairman of Texas Gulf, said stockholders would receive distributions of approximately $62 per share from the liquidation after directors and stockholders approve terms of the proposed sale.

On the basis of the 4,079,279 shares of Texas Gulf outstanding at June 30, this would work out to $252,481,298.

Purchase of Texas Gulf would give Sinclair a large reserve of oil and natural gas, estimated at 132 million barrels of crude, 48 million barrels of natural gas liquids, and 635 billion cubic feet of natural gas in the United States. Texas Gulf also has production operations in Libya and Peru.

Sale of the company to Sinclair also offers a solution to one problem that has been facing Texas Gulf, namely its future. Reed told shareholders at the annual meeting in April that liquidation of the company and sale of assets were in their interest. Oil is becoming harder to find and the cost of finding and producing it is constantly increasing, he said.

Citrus Crop Lowest In Ten Years

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department report on the 1962-63 pack of Florida frozen concentrated orange juice shows how a natural disaster can cut down a crop.

The Florida orange crop for 1962-63 apparently was headed for a record, according to crop reports last fall. This would be both for fresh fruit consumption and for processing. Then, in December, a sharp freeze struck the citrus groves of the Florida peninsula. Here is how the department described the effects of the freeze:

"The 1962-63 pack of Florida frozen concentrated orange juice, completed about July 1, was approximately 51.6 million gallons, 55.3 per cent below the record 1961-62 pack of 116.1 million gallons and the smallest pack in 10 years. The relatively light 1962-63 pack resulted from freeze damage to the orange crop, reducing not only the number of boxes produced but also the yield of juice per box."

The department said the large reduction in the 1962-63 pack was partly offset by a substantial increase in carryover stocks held by packers last fall.

Fall in Ore Chute Fatal to Dumas Man

DUMAS, Tex. (UPI)—George Wayne Rhoades, 22, of Dumas fell into an ore chute yesterday at the American Zinc Co. plant and suffocated when a conveyor dragged him through a 400 degree drying oven.

Workers noticed the conveyor was not operating about 3 a.m. and when they investigated they found Rhoades' burned body caught in a conveyor rake.

Plant officials said it was the second fatality in the 24-year history of the smelting plant.

PASSES UP MEETING
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy will not hold a news conference this week.

ENVOY TAKES OATH
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Adm. George Anderson Jr., former chief of naval operations, was sworn in Tuesday as the U. S. ambassador to Portugal.

Fact

In Egypt about 3000 B.C., when agriculture had become well established, the Egyptians stored the cat to protect their stores of grain. The wild species which they started with was the African wild cat with which modern domestic cats still interbreed freely. In ancient Egypt the cat proved so valuable that it was later thought to be a representation of a deity.

Tokay Yam Boats, A Prize

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Here's good news for grape lovers. California, the nation's greatest grape producing state, will have the largest crop on record. Mrs. Z, a native of that state, sends us her recipe for Tokay Yam Boats, explaining, "Every year in Lodi we have a Harvest Festival and I'm entering this recipe in the Grape Recipe Contest."

You look like a winner to us, Mrs. Z.

GRAPES MAKE yam boats a real treat.

TOKAY YAM BOATS
(Serves 4)
4 yams or sweet potatoes for baking
Salt oil
1 cup Tokay grapes
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 1/2 cups leftover cooked ham, cut into strips
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Milk

Salt to taste
Wash and dry yams; grease with oil and bake in 400-degree (hot) oven about 40 minutes, until done. Cut Tokays in half; seed.
Saute green pepper and ham in butter until lightly browned. Scoop out and mash yams, saving shells; combine with ham mixture and a little milk to moisten. Add salt if needed and Tokays, saving a few to garnish. Fill yam shells with mixture. Return to oven to heat through and brown lightly. Serve with garnish of Tokays.

Shoes will last longer in hot weather if the inside of the shoe is dried out occasionally with the blower of a vacuum cleaner.

Turkey and Fall Harvests Foods

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. The big market news for September is turkeys, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture reports. Production this year is well over last year. They will probably be the best meat buy of the month.

Other harvest time abundant foods will be canned tuna, grapes, cabbage, sweet corn, cucumbers, onions, green peppers, cantaloupe and watermelon. Sweet corn, in our book, is one of God's best gifts to man. On the cob with butter!

But Miss D, food expert, writes that her Fresh Corn Vichyssoise is one of the sweet corn season's most delightful treats. We served it chilled at a dinner party one warm night last week. All of us send our thanks to Miss D.

Note: If you serve it chilled (we think that's the best way although you may not agree), be sure it is thoroughly chilled. And serve it in chilled bowls.

FRESH CORN VICHYSOISE

(6 cups)

1/2 cup finely chopped leeks or green onions
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup corn, fresh, cut-off-the-cob (about 2 ears)
1 cup diced raw potatoes
4 cups chicken stock
1 cup heavy cream
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground white pepper
Chopped chives or watercress
Saute leeks or onions in butter or margarine 2 minutes. Add corn, potatoes and chicken stock. Cover and simmer 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Put through a food mill or push through a sieve. Stir in heavy cream, salt and white pepper. Serve hot or chilled, garnished with chopped chives or watercress.

Garden Party Salad Mold

3 cups consommé, broth or stock
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
4 cups cooked turkey or chicken, cut-up
1 cup diced celery
1 cup chopped cucumber, drained

1 jar (7-oz.) pimiento, drained and minced
1 small green pepper, chopped
1 tablespoon minced chives (optional)
1 3-oz. package cream cheese, softened
1 1/2 cups mayonnaise or salad dressing
Garnishes

Soften gelatin in cold liquid (consommé, broth or stock). Stir softened gelatin over hot water until dissolved; add seasonings. Combine turkey or chicken with vegetables, soft cream cheese and mayonnaise, mix well. Add gelatin and blend thoroughly. Have ready 3 oiled, round cake pans—a large, a medium and a small pan—or use a set of tier-cake pans if available. Divide salad mixture among pans; chill until firm, preferably overnight. To serve, unroll small pan on top of medium layer. Be sure round molds are centered, one atop the other, for a symmetrical "cake-like" effect. Decorate with prepared mayonnaise, cream cheese or radish roses, orange slices, pickles, fruit, etc. Makes 12-15 servings.

Decorating Mayonnaise—Softening 1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin in 2 tablespoons water or fruit juice; dissolve over hot water. Stir into 1 cup mayonnaise and tint a soft green if desired with a drop or two of food coloring. Force through pastry tube as salad decoration.

For a new flavor to a fruit salad, add a little honey to the salad dressing.

Add Cold Beverages, Fresh Fruit To Stand-By Protein Sandwiches

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn. A tray of sandwiches that have enough protein foods in them to satisfy hungry—though wilted—people, a hot or cold beverage, and a bowl of fresh finger fruits make an ideal hot night dinner or supper.

EGG SALAD SANDWICHES
4 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/2 teaspoon powdered mustard
2 teaspoons pickle relish
2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Combine all ingredients. Spread between bread.

EGG AND WATERCRESS SANDWICHES
4 hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped

Steak Sauce Sparks Salads

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn. What next for salad dressing? Steak sauce, answers Mrs. S. "One day while I was mixing my salad greens in a bowl, I knocked over a bottle of steak sauce. Some of it fell in the salad. I decided to taste it. A wonderful surprise. Gives zip to the dressing."

She sends us her recipe for a hefty salad. She uses iceberg lettuce. We suggest she mix in some other salad greens, too, for color, flavor and consistency contrast. Try romaine, Boston lettuce and Chinese cabbage. Chopped fresh parsley and chopped celery-leaves improve the salad bowl too.

SUPERB LETTUCE SALAD

(Serves 6)

1 large head western iceberg lettuce
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 1/2 cups olive or salad oil

STEAK SAUCE adds zing to that special salad.

1/4 pound Roquefort or blue cheese
2 tablespoons lemon juice

2 teaspoons anchovy paste
2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar

1 1/2 tablespoons Worcestershire steak sauce
2 tablespoons bottled steak sauce
2 tablespoons dry red wine or 1 tablespoon lemon juice
Salt to taste
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 large cucumber, diced
1 bunch radishes, cleaned and sliced

Cheese lettuce, wash in cold water and drain well. Place in plastic bag or transparent plastic wrap; refrigerate. Add garlic and oil. Blend cheese with remaining ingredients, except cucumbers and radishes. Discard garlic and add oil to cheese dressing; mix well. Chunk lettuce into bite-sized pieces in bowl. Add cucumbers and radishes. Toss lightly with half of the dressing just before serving. Store remaining dressing in refrigerator.

Athletes Are Using Up Calories, Not Protein, So Cut Down On Steak

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Q—My boy is training now for the high school football team. He says the coach tells him to eat lots of red meat to keep strong. My butcher bills are awful. Does he really have to eat so many steaks?

A—According to the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association, the high school athlete does not need as much meat as your son says he needs. Some meat, of course. But not an unusually large amount.

Writing in Today's Health magazine, Dr. Philip L. White, secretary of the council says, "Although athletes put great store in meat, their demand for it is more psychological than physiological. They frequently associate meat and protein unduly with power. The fact is, the athlete and heavy laborer have no greater protein needs than do their less active counterparts. Using your muscles and pushing your weight around increases caloric requirements, NOT protein requirements." Therefore, tell your "red meat" lad to switch to chicken, eggs and fish now and then. His game will be just as good and your food bills less.

Q—Is it necessary to store all vegetables in the refrigerator to keep them from losing vitamins?

A—Yes. Refrigerate vegetables as soon as possible after purchase. Exposure to warm temperatures causes loss of vitamin C and moisture. Washing leafy vegetables before storage helps provide a moist atmosphere during storage. After washing, drain well and place in plastic bags or in the refrigerator hydrator. Keep lettuce in a bag or container by itself to prevent rust spotting often caused by contact with other vegetables or with fruits.

Frozen Chive Chowder

CHOWDER COMES from cans, but with unique touch.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn. It's a far cry from a pot of chives growing on the kitchen window sill or in the back yard garden to a pack of fresh chives in the freezing unit of the refrigerator.

Have you seen them? Frozen chopped chives—neatly packaged fresh smelling and dark green—are practical. They save pots, gardens and a lot of kitchen chopping.

The reason we thought of them today is that MRS. O. F. book-keeper by day and homemaker by night, sent us her quite filling Friday night chowder. "I don't have time for any chive chopping even though I like them in a lot of dishes. So do my husband and two boys. This chowder now: I make it quick with canned and frozen stuff. Perfect for Friday night, or for a late supper after a night on the town."

FRIDAY NIGHT CHOWDER

(Serves 4 to 6)

1 tablespoon frozen chopped chives
2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
2 10 1/2-ounce cans split pea or green pea soup
2 soup oater water
1/2 pound cooked shrimp, lobster or crab (canned or frozen)
Salt and pepper to taste
3 tablespoons sherry, if desired
Assorted condiments
Combine frozen chopped chives with tomato sauce, pea soup and water; heat to boiling, stirring occasionally. Add shrimp, salt and pepper to taste and add sherry, if desired. Simmer until heated thoroughly. Pour into soup tureen. Serve with condiments such as more chives, grated sharp cheddar cheese and croutons.

Smocking Is A Fashion First

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Smocking, a very old sewing art, has come into fashion's favor this season. It is used on hats, for blouses, for skirts and at the bottom of sleeves. It is especially good for jersey, silk or wool.

Smocking is as pretty as can be in gingham for home wear, with a dress for daughter to match.

Practice a few smocking stitches on a scrap of your fabric before you begin.

If you are using a pattern, as in the illustration shown, you will have a transfer pattern to use to mark your dots for the smocking stitches.

Darts may be used for a fitted midriff should you prefer it to a tie belt. Sleeves may be cut longer if desired.

There are various ways of smocking. The type shown is known as honeycomb and is the simplest and a great favorite. Unless you are working on a fabric having even squares of dots or checks, use a transfer pattern to mark your fabric. Use a knot to begin and work from the left to right. After bringing the needle up through first dot of second row, take a small backstitch over the dot.

Next insert the needle under the second dot, and also under the first dot. Draw dots together. Carrying the thread up to the first row, take a backstitch through the second dot. Taking a stitch through the third dot, first row, draw them together as before.

Continue alternating between first and second rows until end of row. After turning work around so you can still work from left to right, repeat your stitches, alternating between second and third rows. Continue doing this until you have as many rows as your pattern calls for.

No. 8337 is available in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Bust 31 to 40. Size 12, 32 bust, short sleeves, 3 1/4 yards of 35-inch.

No. 8347 is in sizes 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 years. Size 2 short sleeve and belted, 1 1/2 yards of 35-inch.

Dear Abby... Call A Lawyer And Return All The Wedding Gifts!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old daughter eloped with a 22-year-old boy, and when I say BOY I don't mean MAN. When they came home we forgave them and planned a nice church wedding for them. We thought everything was going along fine when, the night before the church wedding was to take place, the boy ran off and left a note saying it was "better" this way. My daughter says she doesn't know why he ran off. She made us stop trying to locate him as she says she doesn't ever want to see him again. (Neither do we.) It has been only three weeks since their elopement. Is my daughter eligible for an annulment or must she go through a divorce? What should we do with the wedding presents?

HER MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: A lawyer can help you. Under the circumstances, return ALL the wedding presents.

DEAR ABBY: I met a man who I thought was nice. When he asked me how old I was I told him the truth. Then he asked me if I'd mind setting my age back a few years, I told him I wouldn't do it. Then he came right out and said if I didn't set my age back we were through. Was I wrong in refusing him that request, or do you think he was just looking for an excuse to get rid of me?

FIFTY AND HONEST DEAR FIFTY: I won't libel used car salesmen by making comparisons. But this man has a more shallow pride than the stuff of a good husband. And if he urges you to deceive others by tampering with your chronological speedometer, he's probably not a boy deceiving you as well. Lose him.

DEAR ABBY: I own a small apartment building. One of my tenants makes a habit of visiting one of the other tenants every single day. She barges in and stays for hours. She is young, and a good-hearted soul, and, although she has children, she must be lonely for adult company. I don't want any of my tenants to move for lack of privacy, yet I don't think it's my place to tell this young woman to leave them alone. What do you suggest?

DEAR WITS: Unless your tenants complain to you about the lack of privacy, do nothing. (They might enjoy her visits.) But if you hear any rumblings to the contrary, better have a speech prepared to deliver to your young, garrulous tenant.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M AND M: Oscar Wilde put it this way: "Children begin by loving their parents. Later they judge them. Seldom if ever do they forgive them." I think your answer can be found in those words.

Scenic Film Shown At Garden Club Meet

A film of scenic beauty was shown to members of the Mr. and Mrs. Garden Club by Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Mitchell during a meeting held recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly, 1116 N. Russell.

During the business meeting, which was under direction of Ira Carlton, it was recommended that plans be put into motion for the Flower Show which will be held in October. Robert Coley, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, stressed the importance of each member entering floral arrangements in the show. Each member was asked by the president to help in securing shrubs for the landscaping project at Highland General Hospital.

Refreshments were served to Messrs. and Meses. Ira Carlton, Robert Coley, John Kelly, Waldon Moore; Messrs. John Hall and A. J. Mitchell, Aubrey Ruff and Mrs. B. B. Higginbotham.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldon Moore will host the next meeting at their home, 1529 Williston, Oct. 1 at 7:30 p.m.

The Clothes Poll

By HELEN HENNESSY Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A friend asked me the other day why there was so much fuss in the press about what the Paris designers were showing for fall when so few women could afford Paris-designed clothes.

One reason is that sheer love of beautiful clothes sparks keen interest among many women in what the designer-greats are doing. More important, Paris showings forecast the shape of things to come for us.

When a new silhouette of total look comes out of Paris, it's a safe wager that it will be copied here—with modifications to adapt it to our way of life.

Naturally, the attention-getting "shockers" of each collection are loudly touted, but they're rarely copied.

From this season's collections, for example, it's unlikely that any manufacturer will turn out by the thousands a version of Pierre Cardin's abstract Kite Coat with its batwinged sleeves.

It's not probable that neighborhood supermarkets will be packed with women in copies of St. Laurent's short Robin Hood jerkin and high-high boots over pants. Even Jacques Heim's drastically dropped hemline stands little chance of becoming an American fashion.

But trends that will be followed did come out of the recent couture collections.

Watch for the St. Laurent influence in the muffled look, with rising coat collars and scarves wrapped high around the chin. And look for head kerchiefs in fur and fur-trimmed fabrics as introduced by Heim.

The military dress and overcoat from Marc Bohan of Dior will easily fit into our fall "sportive look" of elegant ease.

The flounces, panels and pleats that added hemline interest to slim dresses in many of the collections are certain to win popularity with American women, for they leave room for action while preserving a trim silhouette.

And the incredible Chanel, most "copied" of them all, tossed a

PUSH FOR WOMAN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., wants President Kennedy to appoint a woman to the vacant post of postmaster general.

Federation president Virginia R. Allan wrote Kennedy that the "partnership of women in our economy and society will be recognized by the appointment of a woman to the Cabinet in your administration." Kennedy has not yet named a successor to J. Edward Day, who resigned recently as postmaster general.

It used to be the clergymen who prepared people for outer space travel.

Walter Rogers Reports:

Rights March Does Little To Disrupt Day's Activities

I had to read the papers to find out what happened during the civil rights march here last Wednesday. Those of you who witnessed the event on television were in a far better position than I to know what occurred. Where I spent the day—working in my office, in a meeting of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, on the floor of the House of Representatives—there was little to indicate that anything beyond the ordinary was taking place in Washington. The demonstration was confined to the area generally bounded by the Washington Monument on the east and the Lincoln Memorial on the west. Here on Capitol Hill, more than a mile away, only the presence of a large contingent of Capitol Police served notice that the day of the much-publicized "march" had arrived. Wisely, the civil rights movement's leadership permitted only scattered delegations to visit the offices of Congressmen and Senators (although none came to my office) and an unusual week-day calm prevailed on the "Hill."

The problem facing the House on Wednesday had nothing to do with the civil rights march. Confronting us was the threat that unless we acted before the day ended the country would become embroiled in a nationwide railroad strike. The railroads had served notice that as of one minute after midnight they would impose a set of "work rules" bitterly opposed by the railroad brotherhoods. And the brotherhoods adamantly insisted they would strike if the rules went into effect. In the impasse that had developed in more than four years of controversy, it was apparent that a railroad work stoppage would have a catastrophic effect on the nation's economy. It was up to Congress to do something.

Congress had delayed action in the hope that as the deadline approached the railroads and the brotherhoods would finally iron out their differences within the traditional framework of collective bargaining. I was among those who hoped fervently that a settlement between the disputants would remove the necessity for Congressional action. But it became increasingly apparent during August, as the House Commerce Committee of which I am a member and the Senate Commerce Committee heard witnesses representing the railroads and the brotherhoods and the government, that some action by the Congress was going to have to come if the country was to keep its vital rail network functioning.

Time finally ran out. The Commerce Committees of the House and Senate had determined the basic form the legislation should take. On Tuesday, the Senate (by a vote of 90 to 2) passed its version of a proposal to provide for a settlement of the dispute. Wednesday, the House passed what amounted to the same measure (by a vote of 286 to 66), and with less than six hours before the deadline the President added his signature to enact it.

None of us liked the idea that Congress should be used as a forum to settle an individual labor dispute. One of the objections raised against Congressional action in the matter was that any measure passed would constitute an order for "compulsory arbitration." It was said that Congress should avoid setting a precedent that might disrupt the long-established pattern of collective bargaining and bring future disputes before it for resolution. But the measure signed into law Wednesday actually provides for arbitration that the parties had already agreed to in principle; their dispute was not over the question of whether there would be arbitration, the dispute was over when the arbitration would occur. Future proposals for compulsory arbitration, as Chairman

Oren Harris of the Commerce Committee told the House, "are likely to involve both the question of whether there shall be arbitration and when shall arbitration occur." Congressman Harris said, "This resolution is only a precedent with respect to the latter question, since the parties to the dispute had already agreed among themselves upon the answer to the first, and most crucial, of these two questions."

Congress thus called for binding arbitration of the two major issues in the controversy. The two big questions are over the 32,500 firemen's jobs on freight and yard diesels, jobs which management says should be eliminated and which the brotherhoods insist are needed, and the crew consist issue—how many conductors and brakemen are to man each train. Under the new law, these two issues are to be submitted to a seven-man panel (two union, two carrier and three "public" representatives) which then must submit a decision within 90 days from Wednesday. The "award," as it is called, would be effective 60 days later and remain in force for two years. In the meantime, the disputants would resume collective bargaining on six other issues which they have indicated can be settled in the traditional way. These include pay structure changes; increasing the 100-mile standard for a day's pay; yard and road work performed by the same crew; the manning of self-propelled vehicles; employment security; and training of engine service employees.

Army Plans Construction Projects on Two Texas Forts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army has asked the House Appropriations Committee for $7,356,000 for construction projects at Fort Hood, Tex., and for $216,000 for the same purpose at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

The figures were contained in testimony taken by the committee in June behind closed doors, and released Tuesday.

Largest item, among 12 requested, at Fort Hood was $2,961,000 for battalion motor repair shops and facilities. Other requests at the fort included:

- $94,000 for a fuel storage and dispensing facility.
- $1,073,000 for a hangar and work shops.
- $113,000 for division ordnance maintenance shops.
- $176,000 for nuclear weapons maintenance shops.
- $345,000 for ammunition storage magazines.
- $548,000 for three warehouses.
- $307,000 for a hard-surfaced parking lot.
- $338,000 for an armored combat command headquarters building.

—$667,000 for administration and storage buildings.

—$454,000 for an outfall sewer line.

—$144,000 for street extensions.

At Fort Sam Houston, the Army wants to spend $51,000 for alterations to enlisted mess barracks; $135,000 for barracks at Camp Bullis and $30,000 for fire sprinklers.

Glue Is Becoming Stickier Than Ever

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Of Dobbin can relax, the threat of the glue factory no longer hangs over his hoary head.

Today's adhesives industry is a highly competitive search for newer, lighter and tougher synthetic resins which can patch human arteries or hold a space capsule together.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service reported recently that Americans annually use about 2 billion pounds of adhesives each year.

These chemical bonding agents play a large role in the space race, military programming, road and skyscraper construction, home building, furniture, clothing and packaging.

In the last 20 years, glue in a variety of forms has in many fields replaced screws, rivets, nails, pegs and soldering.

It takes nine specific glues to enable you to light up that smoke, including those used in packaging and shipping.

The medical profession has successfully used bonding agents to repair human arteries in delicate brain operations and in treatment of aneurysms. Other epoxy resins are employed to weld broken bones in humans and animals.

One of the first to bring resin into the operating room was Dr. Bertram Selverstone, of Tufts University medical school, who began spraying-bulging arteries with the clear resilient glue in the late 1950s.

A new product on the market, identified as "resiwel 620" by its maker—the H. B. Fuller Co., St. Paul—is billed as "stronger than concrete, harder than granite, almost unbreakable, resistant to chemicals, weather and the thawfreeze cycle." The material is viewed as a boon to state and local highway departments faced with annual spring road deprecations and high repair costs.

The garment industry is heading for the day when entire suits will be assembled with near-perfect seams through use of adhesives. New bonding agents are replacing the thread and nails in shoes.

Richard E. Smith, vice president—research and development for Fuller, feels "adhesives are the logical bonding and fabricating agent for airplanes and spacecraft."

Smith said present aircraft adhesives are designed to withstand about 500 degrees Fahrenheit, but synthetic glues which will take temperatures up to 1,000 degrees and higher are on the horizon.

Ford Frick Must Be Kidding AL!

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

The Yankees' magic number now is 11 and that adds up to a rather empty invitation. Commissioner Ford Frick extended to the Twins and the White Sox.

Frick invited both Wednesday, as well as the Yankees, to attend a meeting in Chicago next Monday for the purpose of discussing World Series arrangements.

Can't you just picture representatives of the Twins and White Sox standing around at that meeting twiddling their thumbs and trying to make themselves believe it'll all be different next year?

One thing is sure: They can forget about this year unless they plan a private squabble of their own for second place. But who ever remembers which team finished second by Christmas?

The Yankees fattened their lead to 12½ games by overcoming the Senators, 1-4, Wednesday, while the Twins took over second place with a 4-2 triumph over the Angels.

Roger Maris' two-run homer in the ninth inning — his 29th of the season and first since July 6 — gave the Yankees their victory over the Senators.

The White Sox dropped to third when the Athletics beat them twice, 4-2 and 7-3; the Tigers ripped the Red Sox, 6-1, and the Orioles edged past the Indians, 6-5.

56th YEAR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1963 13

Rotan 'Hammers, Albany Lions Class A Features

Rotan's Yellowhammers will have just three regulars from last year's state Class A titlist team with which to open its new Texas interscholastic league drive. Rotan won 14 consecutive games after losing its opener 12-10 to Class AA Hamlin on the way to winning the state crown. The champs open against Hamlin again Friday night in one of the 159 games on tap involving the Class A schools. Hamlin returns its backfield almost intact and again figures to be capable of snapping the Yellowhammer victory streak. Rotan's debut will be overshadowed on the inaugural week's program by a meeting between title-favored Albany and another rugged Class AA outfit, the Olney Cubs.

Albany has lost only seven and tied one in its last 57 games over a four-year span that saw the Lions win state titles in 1960 and 1961 and go to the semifinals last year before bowing 28-20 to Rotan. Ingleside's Mustangs, who upset their way to the state finals where they were slaughtered 39-6 by Rotan, seem headed for the same long run this season and will make their debut against Class AA Rockport.

Petersburg and San Augustine, being touted as state semifinalists, open against Class AA Slaton and Class A Groveton, respectively.

Among the clubs figured as likely quarterfinalists, Clifton tackles AA Hillsboro, Weimar

Aussies Defeated At Forest Hills
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—What, no Australians?

The incredible has happened in the men's singles division of the U.S. tennis championships where four Yanks, two Brazilians, one Mexican and one Briton make up the last eight survivors with nary an Aussie in sight in the quarterfinals for the first time in 13 years.

Lanky Frank Froehling III of San Antonio Tex., took out the big one Wednesday with a four-set victory over second-seeded Roy Emerson while Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., accounted for another one in a four-set triumph over young John Newcombe. The other Aussies departed much earlier.

"I don't see how they can leave me off the Davis Cup team now," said the 21-year-old Froehling, the nation's second ranking player who has been having such a miserable campaign he was unseeded here and ignored by Davis Cup selectors.

Frank was due for his next shot today against sixth-seeded Bobby Wilson of England, one of those surprising British Davis Cuppers the U.S. will have to face at Bournemouth, Eng., later this month.

Horses Seek Cat Player First Victory Since 1956

WHEELER (Sp) — The powerful Wheeler Mustangs are looking forward to hosting the Canadian Wildcats Friday night, sniffing their first chance for a win against the Class A club since 1956.

For coach Grady Burnett, it will be a chance for sweet revenge against the team he coached for eight years, which repaid him in his first year at the Wheeler helm last season with a 14-0 defeat. For the Class B Mustangs, it will be a chance for victory over the bigger school which they haven't had in their playing lifetimes.

Burnett admitted this would be a good, close game which could go either way. "Don't sell Canadian short just because they had a losing season last year though," he warned. "New coach Dwa in Currie has done a good job with the boys. I saw them scrimmage Miami and they were very impressive, downing the Warriors by four touchdowns. They're quick, and well-organized. They're improved over the last time I saw them. We'll have weight and experience over them, but they still have the potential."

Burnett reported that workouts have been slow at Wheeler due to the heat and to a rash of minor injuries. "Most of them have been just charlie-horses," said the Wheeler skipper, "and all the boys will be able to play. We haven't had a scrimmage game, so this will be the first action for the boys.

"None of them have been really outstanding in practice, although fullback Mendall Hunter has been looking good. There has been a lot of competition for the left halfback slot. Right now Daryl Snelgroves has the edge as Terry Vanpool has pulled muscle, but Terry will see plenty of action, as will his younger brother Bobby, a 10.2 runner.

"Several line positions have been hotly competed, and right now it looks as if Jamie Moore has the left end slot nailed down, but Bobby Ely will see plenty of action. Jimmy Jamison and Danny Dorman are still running a close race for the left tackle spot, with Dorman probably getting the nod and Jamison starting at right guard. If Jamison takes guard, then Billy Overcast will play defensive center."

One new addition to the team will see plenty of defensive action. Don Burks, a letterman halfback and starting linebacker last year, rejoined the team after the season started, and will play defense in place of the lightweight left halfbacks.

Longhorn Footballers Recover From Heat

By United Press International
Things have begun to warm up in Southwest Conference football training and two University of Texas players who suffered heat reaction Monday, were pronounced "100 per cent ok" today.

James Brooks and Kenneth Brooks (no relation) remained in an Austin hospital for observation, but coach Darrell Royal said the boys were not suffering any after-effects.

Meanwhile, Longhorn teammates worked out in shorts Wednesday morning and donned full pads and suits for their evening session. Charles Talbert of Texas City moved up as number one right end, replacing Sandy Sands of New London. Sands broke his right foot in practice Tuesday.

Aggies Do Better
At nearby College Station, Texas A&M Coach Hank Foldsberg said his team is far ahead of its performance at this time last year, and announced two top linemen would be back in pads for Friday's workouts.

They were letterman guard Melvin Simmons of Odessa, who earlier suffered a leg injury, and tackle Waylon Ward of Mount Pleasant, who had been recuperating from an ear and chest infection.

Texas Christian coach Abe Martin sent the Horned Frogs through their first scrimmage of the season in Fort Worth. Four touchdowns were scored, two in the air and one on the ground.

Gray Mills tossed a 70-yard pass to halfback Marvin Chipman for one of the aerials and then connected to Chipman again from 10 yards out. The other two came on a 10-yard burst by fullback Tommy Crutcher and a two-yard plunge by Larry Bulach, an alternate halfback.

Southern Methodist also had a full suit workout for the first time in Dallas. Coach Hayden Fry said the Mustangs got in some stiff contact work and practiced their goal line stand.

Raiders Slots Undecided
Up in Lubbock, Texas Tech Coach J. T. King was trying to pick a fullback and quarterback with three candidates for each job. They were Leo Lowery, Jim Zanios and Charley Graham for full and James Ellis, Ben Ellredge or Tommy Wilson for quarter.

The Red Raiders had a limited contact session in comfortable, below 90 degree temperatures. Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles was still unhappy with the performance of his highly rated team. "They're so rubber legged they can hardly move," he said.

The Razorbacks also reported two players out with injuries. Wingback George Walker had trouble with a knee he had operated on last December, and tailback Tommy Moore collapsed from heat exhaustion.

Two other teams reported injuries in practice Wednesday. Rice end David Schwartz of San Antonio sprained an ankle in workouts in Houston and at Waco. Baylor tackle Johnny Jessup of Dallas was temporarily sidelined with a kidney injury.

CLUB RETAINS COACH
SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI)—Pat Egan, who has guided the Springfield Indians to three American Hockey League championships in his four years as coach, signed his contract for the coming season Wednesday.

Player, Barber Head Utah Open
SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The $45,000 Utah Open gets underway today at the Salt Lake Country Club course with the spotlight on a couple of goldfom's little fellows — Gary Player and Jerry Barber.

Player and Barber were favored over the bigger boys because the heavily trapped course will require more accuracy than power. Player, the No. 5 ranking money winner on the circuit this year, was a last-minute entry as another little guy, Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez, winner of last week's Denver Open, withdrew.

Cards Still Hope For Flag Chance

United Press International
General manager, Bing Devine says he can see "definite signs" of a St. Louis Cardinals pennant victory despite a wavering voice from Los Angeles that keeps saying that's a lot of birdseed.

Devine claims that the Cardinal players, all fired up by a seven-game winning streak which has cut the Dodgers lead to five games, honestly feel they can overtake Walt Alton's crew.

The Cards, who beat the Mets, 6-5, Wednesday night while the Cubs downed the Dodgers, 2-1, in 11 innings have two big things going for them — the schedule and a burning desire to win the pennant as a fitting farewell for retiring Stan Musial.

Fifteen of the Cardinals' remaining 23 games are scheduled at home and that includes three with the Dodgers.

As for the 42-year-old Musial, he has no intention of sitting around and not contributing his share.

Stan the Man socked the 473rd-homer of his career Wednesday night and his 10th of the season with one man on in the fifth inning after Bill White had hammered his 24th homer in the fourth.

Ken Boyer, however, broke a 5-4 tie when he singled off loser Larry Beauchamp in the seventh for his 100th run batted in of the year. Sam (Toothpick) Jones pitched to one batter in the seventh and that was enough to earn him his second victory.

Ken Hubbs snapped a four-game Dodger winning streak by singling home Andre Rodgers in the 11th inning with the winning run for the Cubs.

In other National League games, the Braves blanked the Pirates, 1-0, as Warren Spahn won his 19th, the Phillies nipped the Reds, 3-2, and the Giants defeated the Colts, 8-3.

Pro Football Roundup

By United Press International
The annual last-minute shuffle is on.

With the start of the National Football League season just 19 days away and the American Football League slated for regular season action this weekend, veterans began shuffling back into the starting lineups and the rookie sensations found their places on the benches.

Los Angeles Ram coach Harold Svare, after looking at rookie Ben Wilson and third-year man Art Perkins at fullback for four pre-season games, decided veteran Dick Bass was still the man for the job.

Svare also named Jon Arnett, Bass' running mate at halfback, to start with Bass in the Rams' pre-season finale against San Francisco Saturday night in Los Angeles.

Terry Baker got the nod at quarterback, but vets Roman Gabriel and Zeke Bratkowski are pressuring the Los Angeles rookie for the job.

Three Detroit veterans sidelined most of the exhibition season will be back at their old posts against Dallas Saturday in New Orleans. Flanker back Terry Barr, quarterback Milt Plum and halfbacks Larry Ferguson, a first-year man, and Tom Watkins returned after being sidelined by injuries.

St. Louis Cardinals coach Wally Lemm named an all-veteran backfield to meet the Minnesota Vikings at St. Louis Friday night: quarterback Charley Johnson, halfback Joe Childress, fullback Prentice Gautt and flanker Bobby Joe Conrad.

Rookie Ray Poage, at the Vikings' flanker position, was the only first-year man named by coach Norm Van Brocklin in his starting backfield. Fran Tarkenton replaced Ron Vanderkelen at quarterback. Tommy Mason returned to halfback and Bill Brown to fullback.

"Holdouts" Sonny Jurgensen and King Hill of the Philadelphia Eagles were scheduled to meet today with general manager Vince McNally. Jurgensen and Hill, the Eagles' two quarterbacks, left the Eagles' training camp abruptly Wednesday in a move to have their 1963 contracts renewed and signed. They had been playing pre-season games without contracts.

Earl Faison, another "hold-out," agreed to terms Wednesday with the San Diego Chargers of the AFL. Faison, the AFL rookie of the year in 1961 at defensive end, had been playing pre-season games without a contract.

Head coach Sid Gilman of the Chargers named veteran quarterback Tobin Rote to start in the season opener Sunday against Buffalo.

Laws and Sleepy Policemen

Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan attempts to defend his so-called "truth in packaging" bill by asserting that you can find evidence on supermarket shelves that present laws are being violated. His point is that although existing laws give the Government power to prevent mislabeling, mislabeling occurs, so we need another law. Well, Senator, if the Government can't enforce the laws it has, will it be able to enforce new ones? How?

It isn't the laws against robbery and murder which make us reasonably safe in our homes, but policemen who enforce the laws. The argument that present laws are not enforced makes no case for new ones. The real purpose of the Hart bill, as it has been pointed out, is not to bring truth to packaging, but to bring uniformity to it. The Government, not the manufacturer or the customer, would decide how many ounces of oatmeal would be packed in a box. The Government would decide how tall and how deep the box would be. The Government would decide what type to use on the package. And it would do this for many thousands of commodities, ordering all producers into uniform, as it were.

The Hook's Still There

Jesse Stalker is off the hook, but the hook is still there, waiting to snag other victims. Stalker is the Ravenna, N.Y., dairyman who found himself faced with penalties of $20,000, for which the Federal Government dunned him until he took the matter to court. The court didn't decide anything, but it urged the Agriculture Department to take another look at the case.

Now, $20,000 exceeds the going penalty for many high crimes. What had Stalker done? He had bought cream, which, of course, is not a crime at all. But he had bought it in containers that held 20 quarts. "Ha," said some bureaucrat, "he is entitled to buy it for resale to his customers only in two quart containers." That was all it took to wreck Stalker's peace of mind by threatening him with possible bankruptcy. Even those in public life who see salvation in Government regulation of anything and everything seemed disturbed. Nobody thought the punishment fit the crime. The Agriculture Department now has decided that Mr. Stalker can quit worrying, and won't have to pay up.

The Spice Of Later Life

Golden agers who live alone tend to embrace the grab-bite from-the-icebox way of life, when they should be adding the spice of good food, well prepared, to the later years. True, the taste buds aren't as sharp as they once were, and living alone is not the best of all appetizers. But the body still requires regular, proper fueling. Nutritionists have some suggestions on ways to add spice to those meals — and, in the process, to add spice to living.

Sharpen the appetite with a walk or with light chores. Try new foods, new seasonings, if the tummy permits. Senses of taste and smell tend to become less keen with age. Give them a lift in doing their tantalizing job.

Brighten the menu with colorful foods (who could work up an appetite while eyeing a leftover hamburger which stares back sullenly from a frost-edged plate?). Make the setting for the meal as attractive as circumstances permit.

It's a beneficial circle—more attractive meals encourage better interest in more attractive meals. And therein lies one key to better health, at any age. Attractive meals could even lure the best appetite-producer of all to the eat-alone's table—company looking for a tasty meal.

The American Way

"CATALYST" FOR FREEDOM
By Willis E. Stone
Chairman, National Committee for Economic Freedom

The battles now being waged for Constitutional principles by conservatives across the nation are serving notice upon our representatives that their "liberal" legislative policies are becoming increasingly unpopular — and this may soon reflect upon them. The fundamental thread that runs through the thinking of the rapidly developing conservative groups is an awareness that the Federal Government is assuming powers which rightfully belong to the people. There is a rebellion against the hundreds of new edicts issued, without Constitutional authority, by swarms of Federal bureaucrats.

Vehicle

If all of the nation's patriotic organizations could be persuaded to unite their efforts at one time upon one common goal — the restoration of the American Republic — it would produce the miracle we seek. We believe a practical vehicle for united action is available.

The "conservative" groups are generally aware of the Liberty Amendment and endorse it wholeheartedly. Yet the Amendment's tremendous potential is not fully utilized. Not only does it have the ability to unify the truly American forces, but it also has the capacity to restore the original Constitution to full force and effect — outlawing the practices of socialism and communism.

The Liberty Amendment is far more than just another idea on the conservative side. It is a catalyst, encompassing every aspect of dynamic Americanism.

The Thorndike dictionary defines catalyst: "The causing or speeding up of a chemical reaction by the presence of a subject that does not itself change."

One might liken the various "conservative" groups to the separate elements — each one is a worthwhile entity in itself. A whole of the conservative activity now going on is being directed at the elimination of a multitude of symptoms of the root disease — Federal usurpation of powers delegated to the States and to the people by the U.S. Constitution. When each "conservative" group selects its own battle to fight, there is an absence of that unifying force through which victory can be achieved.

Direction

By uniting in the common cause of enforcing the Constitution — compelling the Government to confine its activities within the limits the Constitution imposes — practically every target of the "conservative" effort would be attained.

It takes an objective analysis of our present efforts to persuade conservatives to join in the common cause. This is the surest overall strategy for victory if we are to restore equity and justice to all our endeavors. The Liberty Amendment provides this strategy for victory. It aims at the very heart of our problems — not by opposing evils on a piecemeal basis, but by proposing justice as a matter of principle. It does this simply by restoring the Constitution. This is what it says:

"Section 1. — The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial, or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution."

Result

This will cause the Federal bureaucrats to relinquish their vast empires, restoring them to State jurisdiction and private taxpaying management, exactly as the Constitution intended. In the process, this will cut the costs of government in half — enough to accommodate the repeal of income taxes — therefore Section 4 of the LIBERTY AMENDMENT provides:

"Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates and/or gifts."

That this is beginning to serve as a unifying force for all "conservative" groups is indicated by the fact that the LIBERTY AMENDMENT is pending in Congress as H.J. Res. 23 and has already been formally approved by Wyoming, Texas, Nevada, Louisiana, Georgia and South Carolina.

President Exerting Every Pressure To Push Test Ban Treaty Through Senate; Lausche Asks Questions

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy is so bent on ramming the nuclear test ban treaty through the Senate speedily and overwhelmingly that he is personally masterminding an extraordinary high-pressure drive to gain this end. Every possible wire is being pulled and every influence exerted in this massive backstage effort.

Nothing is being left undone to put it over — including yachting trips for senators down the Potomac "in the cool of the evening," and carefully planned and timed publicity pronouncements by notables of all kinds.

The yachting parties are being given by Secretary Dean Rusk and Lawrence O'Brien, chief of White House liaison with Congress. Using the official yacht of the Navy Secretary, they are taking senators on cruises down the Potomac during which they are luxuriously wine and dined.

In the course of these soothing jaunts, the test ban pact is invariably brought up, and stress placed on the President's urgent desire for prompt and decisive ratification.

The President is busying himself conferring personally and by phone with senators of both parties. This is also being done by top officials and important administration supporters outside the government, particularly women active in local and state politics.

It was the President who directly initiated the vigorous backstage move to obtain a unanimous favorable report from the Foreign Relations Committee, and to induce the Senate to begin debating the treaty by early next week.

Told the former would be very difficult to accomplish, the President asked why.

"There are two main obstacles," replied Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont. "(Frank) Lausche (D-O.) and (Karl) Mundt (R-S.D.). They have strong misgivings. Of the two, Lausche is the most critical. He has asked some very tough questions of administration witnesses."

PUTTING RUSK ON THE SPOT — Senator Mansfield was not exaggerating. Graphically illustrative of Senator Lausche's bare-husked grilling was the difficult time he gave Secretary Rusk on Russia's long record of broken and betrayed international agreements.

Citing a detailed list of them, Lausche compelled Rusk to admit that entering into a treaty with the Soviet is risky. Following are highlights of this significant unreported exchange: Lausche: "Russia takes the position that when it makes a treaty, in the absence of specifying a particular period of time that it is to endure, it has the inherent and sovereign right to terminate that agreement whenever it pleases?" Rusk: "I would not want to say that is flat and incompressible on every issue."

Congress as well as the administration would contemplate executing it in the spirit and in the letter.

Rusk: "I think there is no question about that." Lausche: "In that event, not only Congress but the administration and the people should weigh what the probability is of Russia's attitude concerning fulfillment of the promise. On the basis of that premise, I want to recite in detail Russia's conduct in the past on breaking treaties starting in February 1920, when it made separate peace treaties with Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, recognizing their independence and sovereignty, and then breaking every one of these treaties."

Lausche then recited a long list of pacts violated by Russia. "Now we come to the last agreement that the Soviet broke," continued Lausche. "I am referring to the commitment that we would have the right to inspect whether those missiles were removed from Cuba. That promise was not kept."

Rusk: "That is correct. Castro would not accede to that." Lausche: "But a commitment was made that neutral nations would be permitted to ascertain whether the missiles were removed. And that commitment was not fulfilled."

Rusk: "That is correct." Lausche: "In the face of this far-from-complete citation of breaches of pledges and commitments, I ask you if we are to judge Russia in the future by what it has done in the past. In view of that record, what can we expect on this nuclear test ban treaty?"

Rusk: "I am quite familiar with the somber story. I think myself that we should consider whether or not it is the present intention of the Soviet Union to comply with this treaty without necessarily at this stage trying to guarantee to ourselves that this will be their attitude forever in the future. I believe there would be no particular reason for them to enter into this treaty unless they had a present intention of living up to it."

"Therefore we must ask ourselves whether the interests of the United States are adequately protected in the event of violation. I think that answer is yes."

PACT FLASHES: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee's favorable report urging ratification of the test ban treaty was actually written before the committee voted on the issue. On the orders of Senator J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman, the committee's staff started work on this report a week before the hearings were completed. Also to speed up committee action, the administration obtained the proxies of 66 committee members who could not be present for the final voting. The same will be done when the full Senate acts on the agreement.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economic and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "Is Congress setting debt limit helpful or harmful?"

Answer: In the first place, it is a waste of time because they pay no attention to the debt limit, and in the second place, it tends to make people think that debts are not going to be increased by the federal government.

In the third place, it is an untruthful debt limit because it doesn't give the total obligations the federal government has contracted to pay.

If a private business would make a false statement, as to the total amount of indebtedness and try to borrow money on it, he would be violating the commandments "Thou shalt not bear false witness" and "Thou shalt not steal."

The real debt obligation, instead of being $309 billion, is nearer $1 trillion, $300 billion. We must add to the admitted debt limit more than $350 billion of obligations that Social Security has agreed to pay that has no reserve with which to pay. And we also must add all the pensions for the Army, Navy and Air Force and civilians working for the government that they have agreed to pay. Besides this, we must add all the guarantees the government has made on loans, such as guaranteeing bank loans or loans of various kinds made by loaning agencies. When these are all added up, it is $1 trillion, $300 billion to $1 1/2 trillion.

And setting the debt limit makes the public think that we only owe about $300 billion, but the government is constantly running out of money. And it has various ways of having different agencies issue obligations that do not show up in the total debt.

So we would conclude that setting a debt limit is a method of deception that Congress has of keeping the voters pacified, thinking that things will eventually change.

It is the history of nations that all nations eventually repudiate their obligations. Nations have no morality, only individuals have morality, and groups, and agents of groups, seem to think that they have a right to do things that no individual would have a moral right to do if he uses the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence as a guide of what is right.

ON VOTING

Moaners and Groaners
Refuse to Understand

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph. D.

When I refer to moaners and groaners, I do not include the grunt and groaners of the rasling fraternity for whom I have great respect. The rascals, frequently referred to as wretches, provide patrons of their art with a lot of entertainment for every dollar invested. Not so with the moaners and groaners of the socialist confidence game.

For the past few weeks an admitted socialist has been trying to give me a hard time because he knows I will not vote. In his letters he has tried cajoling, threatening, psychology and childish arguing. As a general rule I am disinclined to waste any time, much less a few stamps on members of the socialist conglomerate but this moaning and groaning made not a lick of sense to me and I decided to do a little conscientious investigating.

To begin with I asked myself why a socialist should plead with a non-socialist, hoping he could persuade the non-socialist to vote. It would seem more logical for a socialist to be happy about a situation which would keep non-socialists away from the polls but it doesn't work out that way. WHY?

The socialist is in the same position as a double-crossing trickster who plays cards with a stacked or marked deck, shoots craps with loaded dice or wants you to gamble on his carefully rigged shell game. If you refuse to play, the trickster is out of luck! A marked deck or loaded dice are totally worthless without a sucker, and socialists understand this kind of reasoning. They know that every vote cast at the polls is a vote for socialism or fascism, regardless of the candidates or measures involved. They know that every vote cast sanctions the rule of the mob, majority rule. They know they must get out the vote, regardless. Play their game and you go against a head!

win, tails you lose con game. Refuse to play their game and they have no game!

My socialist correspondent tells me it is my duty to play his game according to his rules. He tells me I must justify my refusal to be a sucker even one more time and when he does that he's acting like any other cheap con man who accuses me of being a quitter or a bum sport when I refuse to toss his loaded dice.

He tells me I must vote for candidates who are opposed to socialism if I don't like socialism, knowing there are no candidates honestly opposed to socialism in all the varying shades and hues. He knows that men and women possessed of no urge for power will not run for public office and he insists that I must vote and give my consent to some power-hungry man or woman, regardless.

The very fact that socialists insist that I go to the polls and vote proves that I'd better stay away if I know what's good for me. The very fact that elections are held in all countries ruled by members of the socialist conglomerate, proves that socialism and fascism and communism must obtain the tacit sanction of the people. I made these suggestions to my socialist correspondent and he blew his last fuse. I hope on a regular day by day basis, I hope to encourage men and women who will be free to go into the market place and provide private enterprise schools to compete with socialist schools, to provide private enterprise police protection for those who want to pay for such protection and private enterprise fire departments for those who wish to subscribe to such protection. I can provide no such encouragement by going to the polls at election time on one day every two years. My socialist correspondent, obviously, wants me to play the game according to his rules; He wants me to vote, turn over my responsibilities to the bureaucracy and then go home to forget the whole thing for another two years. He even wants me to vote for the lesser of two evils, knowing that the lesser evil will still be socialist evil.

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

In 1882, 10,000 workmen took part in the first Labor Day parade at New York City.
In 1962, President Kennedy pledged to stop any possible Cuban aggression.

A thought for the day: English philosopher Bertrand Russell commented: "It is preoccupation with possession, more than anything else, that prevents men from living freely and nobly."

Even the smallest child eventually learns to conquer his fears and step on a moving escalator. When escalators were first introduced, there were many adults who were afraid to use them. No wonder. The early type of escalator was in the form of a conveyor or endless belt on which cleats were provided for riding stability. Jesse W. Reno was issued a patent in 1891 for an inclined elevator, which was later modified and called the Reno-type escalator.

Ft. Worth Was Last Major City in Texas to Integrate

The last of Texas' major cities desegregated its public school system yesterday. Fort Worth admitted at least 11 Negroes to the first grade in four previously all-white schools without incident.

Houston and Dallas, the state's No. 1 and No. 2 cities, in their third and fourth years of integration, respectively, also opened their public schools yesterday.

Dallas admitted a total of 185 Negroes to classes with whites in grades 1-3. Houston schools admitted about 155 to classes with whites in grades 1-4.

Dallas Negro registration in mixed classes was up 160 from last year. In Houston it was up 88 from peak registration last year.

Open First Grade

Beaumont and Northeast Houston school districts opened first grade classes to Negroes yesterday but at last report none had enrolled.

A total of 45 Negroes entered grades 7-12 at La Porte in Harris County, in that city's first school desegregation.

Denton, north of Dallas, threw open all grades to Negroes and students registered yesterday. The superintendent declined, however, to say how many Negroes registered in classes with whites.

A total of 222 Negroes are expected to attend classes with whites in all Texas schools this year.

Nearly all of Texas schools, segregated and desegregated, completed openings yesterday. No incidents were reported in any desegregated schools, the story through nearly all Texas school desegregation.

Grade per Year

A total of 89 Negroes were eligible to attend the first grade in 18 previously all-white schools in Fort Worth. The city will desegregate an additional grade every year.

But only 11 of the eligible Negroes previously registered last week could attend classes today in four schools with whites. Superintendent Elden Busby said additional Negroes may register for mixed classes.

Busby said first reports indicated everything was running smoothly, specially trained police had extra cars in the areas.

Fort Worth put a desegregation plan into effect upon orders from a U.S. district judge.

Ten schools in Houston are now desegregated. Peak Negro enrollment in mixed classes last year was 77. By the end of the year, it was down to 67; 10 either withdrew or transferred back to Negro schools.

Total Exceeds 150

Authorities admitted 88 Negroes to classes with whites for the first time. With the 67 left over from last year this made a probable total of 155 Negroes in mixed classes.

The 185 Negroes attending Dallas schools included 25 left over from the previous two years of integration.

Dallas mixed schools include Amelia Earhart, Ben Milam, E.M. Pease, Harrell Budd, Harry Stone, Henry Longfellow, J. N. Bryan, S. F. Austin, W. B. Travis and W. W. Bushman.

Seven Negroes who were scheduled to attend classes with whites in areas around Dallas and Fort Worth asked for transfers back to Negro schools. Authorities let them go back to Negro schools.

A few of the state's schools opened last week and Monday. But the flood of openings was Tuesday and yesterday and there were more desegregated schools than ever before in the state's history.

'Talking' Rats Aid Human Speech Study

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — Demosthenes, Galatea and Halvah, a trio of "talking rats," at the University of Rochester, may shed new light on the beginnings of the speech process in humans.

The three gabby rodents, whose conversation more properly may be likened to shrill barks and chuckles, have been trained by Dr. Stanley Sapon, director of the University's Verbal Behavior Laboratory.

Sapon and his colleagues hope their project may one day help children first learn to talk and, possibly, how to improve the process.

Until Sapon's experiments, scientists had been unable to teach rats to vocalize. The animals are normally silent except when in pain.

Now, however, Halvah, a star pupil, and the two promising young novices, Demosthenes and Galatea, tell Sapon when they are hungry or thirsty by emitting sharp gurgling barks.

Sapon's experiments first started in Palo Alto, Calif., when he was a member of the staff of the Britannia Center for Studies in Learning. In his laboratory, he came upon Halvah, who was being used for his work on infant learning and who, unlike the other rats, seemed to produce faint gurgling noises.

By giving Halvah a reward of food or water whenever she gurgled, Sapon developed her special talents to their present stage.

To determine whether other rats could be trained to vocalize, he then tape-recorded Halvah's chuckles and played the tapes before and after his new subjects. Demosthenes and Galatea, were fed. They, too, proved apt pupils.

Television In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —

For several years I have envied the critique by a Los Angeles television reviewer of a CBS series called "Window on Main Street," which quickly disappeared. The reviewer stated his case something like this: "If I were standing in a 'Window on Main Street,' I'd jump."

Such slings may seem unduly tart and rough, but they are not when one considers the destruction of excellent talent and the false hopes put forth by the networks in doing a jig over new shows. This thought occurred Wednesday night when I watched a segment of ABC-TV's "Our Man Higgins," which bowed in a year ago starring Stanley Holloway — the magnificent rogue of "My Fair Lady" — and which will bow out very shortly to the lament of no-one save those whose tastes have been broken by video.

Since you probably have avoided "Higgins" for many months now, you may have forgotten that it was about an American family that inherited a model English butler along with some ancestral silver. There was a basis for a series with quiet charm, contrasting this country and Britain in manners. And the singing, dancing and comedy talents of Holloway had great potential on television — and ABC touted them, suggesting they would all be used. What happened? Nothing. The show quickly deteriorated to imbecilic plot junk of the situation comedy, such as in Wednesday night's episode in which Holloway's prime job was to straighten out a mixup at a women's club.

Holloway, at least, has picked up an annuity in wages and residual opportunity, but you may be sure he is happier where he was at last report — making the movie version of "My Fair Lady." Nevertheless, the urge to avoid thinking — and to merely copy what has been tried before — continues on the networks, with slight variations. "Higgins" was an attempt to score with a series about a male domestic after Shirley Booth as "Hazel" had been successful for NBC-TV. And now, in the weeks to come as the 1963-64 season gets under way, we have the following:

"Grindl," a comedy series about a hire-out domestic; "The Farmer's Daughter," another comedy effort, about a Swedish governess in a congressman's family; and the Bill Dana show, in which the creator of "Jose Jimenez" plays a bellhop in a New York hotel. Imogene Coca is "Grindl" and Inger Stevens "The Farmer's Daughter."

With sponsors — insisting on blandness, the situation will generally continue.

The Channel Swim: ABC-TV's folksy "Hootenanny" series, which expands from 30 minutes to an hour this fall, will also present frequent Gospel songs, jazz and comedy related to the basic format. . . . Janet Leigh and Ari Carney guest on NBC-TV's first Andy Williams special Sept. 24.

Guy Williams, former "Zorro" of television, starts a continuing role on NBC-TV's "Bonanza" later in the season, portraying the younger brother of headliner Lorne Greene. . . . This move is expected to coincide with the coming of Pernell Roberts out of the show at his own request.

The Cinerama firm will help develop and sell the much-talked-about British tape recorder of

TIME BUYING GROWS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Installment buying in the United States during July grew by $501 million to a total of $5.1 billion, mostly because of automobile purchases, the Federal Reserve Board reported Wednesday.

A 1950 treaty gives Canada and the U.S. equal shares of Niagara Falls, plunging waters for generation of hydroelectric power.

FAT OVERWEIGHT

Available to you without a doctor's prescription, our drug called ODRINEX. You must lose ugly fat in 7 days or your money back. No strenuous exercise, laxatives, massage or taking of so-called reducing candies, crackers or cookies or chewing gum. ODRINEX is a tiny tablet and easily swallowed. When you take ODRINEX, you still enjoy your meals, still eat the foods you like, but you simply don't have the urge for extra portions, because ODRINEX depresses your appetite and decreases your desire for food. Your weight must come down, because as your own doctor will tell you, when you eat less, you weigh less. Get rid of excess fat and live longer. ODRINEX costs $3.00 and is sold on this GUARANTEE: If not satisfied for any reason just return the package to your druggist and get your full money back. No questions asked. ODRINEX is sold with this guarantee by:
