LOWER ENERGY PRICES are the goal of labor, citizen and consumer groups, which are trying to force government action on the issue in a week-long protest. Energy prices protest mounts

Tom Corrigan was looking at the snow falling in Boston, the first snowfall of the year, gauging how it might influence his part of this week's 50-city citizens' protest against "Big Oil."
It could help the turnout, decided the New England field coordinator for Wednesday's "Campaign For Lower Energy Prices." October's early snow was a reminder of New England's heavy reliance on heating oil — a fuel whose price has almost doubled since the start of last winter.
"The price problem is really acute here," says Corrigan.
In Louisville, Ken Dupree has been helping local groups organize rallies, marches and demonstrations in cities throughout the South for the day of protest. Local citizen groups are being encouraged to "do their own thing," and Dupree said he's been swamped.

"I'm frankly hard-pressed to deal with the tremendous response we've gotten. People all over are clearly very angry about the price of energy and have reached the point where they're going to demonstrate that anger," Dupree said.
Altogether, some 200 labor, citizen and consumer groups — as disparate as the Gray Panthers, the NFL Players' Association and the United Auto Workers — are participating in the nationwide protest.
"This is a vehicle for people locally to express their outrage in a way that will help counter the enormous influence of the oil lobby in Washington," said Bob Brandon of the Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition, the organization spearheading the activities.

William Wimpinger, coalition chairman and president of the International Association of Machinists, calls the campaign a "national grassroots organizing effort" designed to force government action to lower energy prices.
Wimpinger is also coordinating a national effort to draft Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination and many of the positions advocated by the coalition are those which have been long espoused by the Massachusetts Democrat.

Wheeler man dies in shooting

WHEELER — A domestic quarrel here Sunday left a Wheeler man dead and his wife in serious condition at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.
Neil W. Rogers and his wife Ruth, both 34, were reportedly in the process of getting a divorce and got into an argument at the Richard Porter residence nine miles south of Wheeler. Rogers shot his wife and then was shot to death by Mrs. Rogers' brother (Porter), Wheeler County Sheriff Doyle Ramsey said.
"There was an element of self-defense involved," Sheriff Ramsey said. "I doubt that charges will be filed in the case but the investigation is continuing. We're still trying to figure out which bullet hit who."

Rogers was pronounced dead at the scene of the 4 p.m. shooting by Wheeler County Justice of the Peace Jean Rushing.
His wife was taken to St. Anthony's where she underwent surgery late Sunday night for gunshot wounds to the chest and leg. She was listed in serious condition this morning.
Two guns, both .38 specials, were used in the shootings and were recovered at the scene, Ramsey said.
He added that Rushing had ordered an autopsy. Ballistics tests will follow with a grand jury investigation, Ramsey said.
Funeral services for Rogers are pending with Wright Funeral Home.

Contest still isn't over

Carter holding statewide lead in Florida Democratic caucuses

MIAMI (AP) — President Carter holds a statewide lead in Florida's Democratic caucuses, but after all the hard work, hoopla and money, the tallying still isn't over. In one county, the contest has come down to the luck of the draw.
"I don't know if it'll be straws or cards or what," said Brevard County Democratic Chairwoman Monnie Yungkans of Rockledge.
But, somehow, fate tonight will break a tie between two men who want to go to the Democratic State Convention for a non-binding presidential straw ballot Nov. 18 — George H. Canada, a Melbourne builder who favors President Carter, and Lee W. Rabb, a Merritt Island aerospace technician who supports Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.
They are vying for one of the delegate slots that has not been officially determined from Saturday's caucuses. Final results from 65 of 67 counties, accounting for 65 percent of the delegates, showed 376 delegates for Carter, 119 for Kennedy, 51 for AFL-CIO slates and 27 uncommitted.
White House press secretary Jody Powell said Carter was "very pleased" with his showing. Rain in populous parts of the state held Saturday's turnout far below the 50,000 expected.

New York Lawyer Harold Ickes Jr., a Kennedy supporter and political organizer who came to Miami for the caucuses, said results mean "that we now know we have an organization job to do here and the nucleus of an organization."
Canada and Rabb each received 462 votes for a seat in Brevard County's delegation to the convention in St. Petersburg. The winner will get to vote with 877 other delegates chosen Saturday and 839 non-elected delegates — party leaders, elected officials and their appointees.
The blocs still untallied were the 188-member delegation from Miami and Dade County, where Carter and Kennedy ran very close, and the 116-member delegation in Fort Lauderdale and Broward County, which Carter supporters conceded to the senator because the draft-Kennedy campaign and AFL-CIO ran identical slates.

Neither tally was expected before Tuesday, leaving the final total in doubt.
Depending upon the results in Dade, Carter could widen his lead and claim a "knockout punch" in the draft-Kennedy camp's base or Kennedy could narrow the gap. Carter seemed likely to get at least 34 Dade delegates who favored Carter but were on Carter and labor slates.
Even if Kennedy draws closer, however, Carter seems all but certain to win the straw ballot in November because of his unwavering support from Gov. Bob Graham and other members of the Florida establishment who will make up the "automatics."
The draft-Kennedy forces suffered a blow late Sunday when Palm Beach County, which they had hoped to carry, gave Kennedy only 16 of its 60 delegates. An AFL-CIO slate captured the other 44 slots, but 10 members were also on Carter's slate and two were on Kennedy's.
The labor-Kennedy delegates ran strongest in the Palm Beach area.

Injured

Actor Frank Bonner, who plays sales manager Herb Tarlek on CBS-TV's "WKRP in Cincinnati," was in stable condition early today after a parachute accident in the desert 50 miles northeast of Los Angeles. Bonner, 37, fell about 20 feet when the "ascendancy parachute" from which he was hanging collapsed in a freak wind Sunday at El Mirage Dry Lake Recreational Area, said MTM Productions spokeswoman Josie Williams.

Canadian fires subdued

CANADIAN — A huge warehouse, owned by United Mud and filled with highly flammable cottonseed hull, was gutted by a weekend fire that was still smoldering at press time Monday.
The blaze, intense enough to cripple efforts to put it out, broke out at 8:30 p.m. Friday in a lumber pile behind the warehouse. Fanned by gusting northeast winds, the fire quickly spread to the warehouse and was racing toward a vat of highly explosive liquid. But efforts by volunteer firemen managed to avert the possible explosion, which could have meant serious damage to the city's southwest side.
The huge fire virtually levelled the warehouse, gutting all of its contents, and also spread to three boxcars behind the warehouse on the Santa Fe tracks. Once the cars were moved by Santa Fe crews, firemen were able to halt the fire, thus averting the explosion.
Ricky Tennant, United Mud manager, was on a deer hunting trip to Colorado and was unaware of the loss. John Sirmens, United Mud employee, who spent most of the weekend with the volunteer firemen at the scene, estimated damages could run as high as $200,000. United Mud has another warehouse full of oil-filled material at its office in Industrial Park.
No serious injuries were reported except for several scorched hands and faces belonging to members of the Canadian Volunteer Fire Department.
Units of the fire department had just left the scene of the warehouse fire Sunday afternoon when another large fire was reported near Glazier. The huge grass fire broke out about 1 p.m. Sunday on the northwest side of Glazier on the east side of Farm Road 305.
The fire, fanned by gusty winds, quickly jumped the road and burned out of control most of the afternoon, destroying hundreds of acres of sagebrush in its path. It took all available units from Canadian, Gem City, Briscoe, Higgins, Follett and Darrouzett to finally contain the blaze early Sunday night.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP 'O TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coving Commandment.

OPINION PAGE

Gold inflation factor

The incredible increase in the price of gold is demonstrating the lack of confidence in government ability to control inflation.

In 1976 the price of gold was about $105 per ounce. The price rose to $242 per ounce last October. That increase, just as the more recent increase to well above $400, was a result of concern about inflation. Demonstrating that it knows how to deal with symptoms, the Carter administration a year ago began an attack on the price of gold, not inflation.

The Carter gang was successful for a short time. It brought down the price of gold to $193 per ounce by massive federal gold sales, but the problem of inflation remained.

People are looking for a vehicle to ride inflation out and that is why they are turning to gold. So far they have been right. Remember that for three decades Americans were by law prohibited from owning gold. Now we have the right of gold ownership, and it is proving to be a valuable right for many. It demonstrates the need for people to look to the market, and not to government, for economic protection. The government is the cause of our economic problems. People who expect the solution to come from this very institution will be disappointed.

There are a number of intelligent things the government could do, but that it will do them is unlikely. And while we are not advocating gold investments as such, we do recommend people protect themselves with market alternatives, rather than wait for the government to stop inflation.

Accuracy secondary

It comes as a mild shock to discover that government statistics about the unemployment rate and the economy are loaded, but it is really unsettling to find that making them accurate meets with so much resistance.

Some light was shed on the curious world of government figures recently by the National Commission on Employment and Unemployment Statistics (whatever that group is). Oddly, the commission started its report by faintly praising the U.S. government's statistical report on jobs as "reasonably accurate" and wound up asking for 88 changes in it.

The jobs statistics are compiled because the Labor Department has to have a formula for handing out federal assistance to high unemployment areas. With large sums at stake, regions and communities maneuver to maintain a reporting system that favors them. Accuracy is a secondary concern.

The consumer price index is another flawed federal statistic with many eccentricities. For example, it includes the cost of buying a house and obtaining a high-interest mortgage, but that figure does not accurately reflect inflation for renters.

The price index also omits rising income taxes, although it includes Social Security taxes, which also are surging. When President Carter was considering an income tax cut a while back, his advisors urged him to reduce SS taxes instead, in order to cause a decline in the Consumer Price Index.

Attempts to improve such unrealistic data bases for federal decision-making often run afoul of regional and community interests in retaining statistical quirks in some particular reporting system.

Thus, some cities have an interest in seeing that military employment is not counted in job statistics, because that would automatically decrease the percentage of unemployment.

Such economic pressures point up the need to improve the validity of federal economic reporting so that decision-making will not occur in an atmosphere of deception. Or how about finding some reliable, nongovernment sources of information?

Strikes inflict injury on the innocent

A union of farm workers has been trying to recruit the tomato pickers of Northwest Ohio. A lawyer for the union was quoted on a TV newscast as saying, "The freedom of workers to associate in a union and to demonstrate on the tomato field superseded the owner's right of private property."

No. If this man were a competent lawyer, he would know that the right of private property is a fundamental legal as well as human right, and that others have no right at all to enter property without the owner's permission, and certainly not for the purpose of inciting the owner's employees against him.

Labor unions often act as though what the lawyer said is true. They have little respect for the property rights of owners. The object of every labor strike is to destroy, or threaten to destroy, property of the employer so that he will be intimidated and will grant their demands.

Strikes destroy large amounts owned by people who have nothing to do with the dispute and who could not grant the strikers' wishes even if they wanted to. Often they do not even know the cause of their losses. The recent strike of grain handlers in Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis., is a case in point.

It began in July and lasted 11 weeks. Over that period of time, 13 grain elevators at the head of the lakes were shut down, so that grain could not be loaded on ships waiting to haul it down to the lakes, much of it to foreign ports. Freight cars of grain, arriving from the west, lined up on the sidings. When there was room for no more, the railroads refused to accept shipments.

The new crop of wheat, a record yield, was coming in from the farms of Minnesota and the Dakotas, but the country elevators had no storage space for it. They were already full of held-over 1978 grain. The new wheat backed up on the farms. Whether planned or not, the time of the strike was that which would hurt the farmers most.

When the farmers' own bins were full, they had to pile the grain on the ground. For a limited period of dry weather, wheat and barley will keep in the open, but soy beans will not. And the beans are now coming out of the fields. Though the strike is over, the grain traffic jam in the northwest will take weeks to overcome.

The losses to the farmers are variously estimated at $1 million to $4 million a day. This calls attention to the fact that the nation's system for transporting grain to market is just as deficient as the production of it is efficient. Rail rights of way in the west are so worn out and neglected that on some lines trains cannot safely move at more than 10 mph. The railroads have 25,000 too few grain cars. Two of the chief grain hauling lines, the Rock Island and the Milwaukee, are near bankruptcy.

This situation has been brought about very largely by the rail unions, which for years have insisted on higher and higher wages, plus costly featherbedding rules, while the fortunes of the railroad companies beset by highway competition have been sinking lower and lower.

The American farmer grows more and more grain, and the people abroad buy more and more of it. We normally export about 40 percent of all the grain we produce. But in between the producers and the consumers is the creaky transport system, a bottleneck of antiquated machinery ruled by antiquated ideology.

To strike against an employer which is as near broke as the Rock Island Railroad is to hit a man when he is down. Worse, he happens to be the man on whom you are dependent for your livelihood. But this did not prevent the United Transportation Union and the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks from striking the Rock Island in late August. Normally it hauls 25 percent of the grain shipped in Iowa.

It is impossible to say how much these strikes have cost innocent people. The captain of a Yugoslavian freighter, moored in Duluth since July 15 to load with grain, stated that the strike tying up that port was costing his owners $5,000 a day. It is costing the nation billions of dollars, said Dale Porter, vice president of a grain company, as quoted in the Wall Street Journal.

And what of the consumers, foreign and domestic, at the other end of the line who are waiting for the wheat to make their bread? Are they happy to go without bread so that 450 American elevator workers can, perhaps, increase their wages?

Unionists apparently have a blind spot when it comes to seeing the loss and suffering their tactics inflict on the public. We read of dozens of strikes by school teachers. Detroit's schools were delayed in opening for a month, by a teachers' strike. Plainly, the teachers are more concerned about their own salaries than they are in the welfare of the children.

The American people are sometimes characterized as generous and unselfish. One wonders.

Today in history

By The Associated Press
Today is Monday, Oct. 15, the 288th day of 1979. There are 77 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1964, the Russian government announced that Premier Nikita Khrushchev had been ousted.
On this date:

In 1917, famed German spy Mata Hari was executed in France.

In 1946, Hermann Goering, Hitler's second-in-command and a convicted Nazi war criminal, committed suicide in jail. He was to have been executed the next day.

In 1966, President Lyndon Johnson signed the bill creating the federal Department of Transportation.

In 1968, Moscow and Prague signed a treaty allowing Soviet troops to remain in Czechoslovakia where a more liberal communist government had been topped.

In 1972, the United States reported that nearly 400 American fighter-bombers struck at North Vietnam in a single day.

In 1976, the Food and Drug Administration proposed a ban on all non-essential uses of fluorocarbon propellants.

Ten years ago: The Vietnam Moratorium, started as a student anti-war protest, was joined by thousands of homemakers, businessmen, and workers.

Five years ago: In the Watergate trial, John Erlichman's lawyers blamed the cover-up on former President Richard Nixon.

One year ago: The 95th Congress ended its business by approving a compromise energy package and an $18.7 billion tax cut.

Today's birthdays: Historian and former presidential aide Arthur Schlesinger Jr. is 62. Another former presidential adviser, economist John Kenneth Galbraith, is 71. And baseball player Mitchell Page is 28.

Thought for today: In this world, you must be a bit too kind in order to be kind enough — Pierre Corneille de Chamberlain de Marivaux (1688-1763).

Three coins in a fountain

by ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON--The Treasury Department is very mad at all of us. We haven't taken to the Susan B. Anthony dollar as their experts predicted we would.

Millions of dollars (paper ones) went into research to develop a coin that would replace the one dollar bill. The Treasury engineers worked in their cellars day and night to devise something that would grab the imagination of the American people. They finally came up with a foolproof design—a coin the size of a quarter with 11 sides and a picture of a surferette on it. What more could the American people ask for?

Apparently a lot more. When the coin flopped the only thing left for the Treasury officials to do was to call a meeting.

"Gentlemen, the secretary is very upset. No matter how many Susan B. Anthony coins we put into circulation, people insist on using paper dollars. What can we do about it?"

"My staff has been doing some research to find out why the coin won't fly. Most men we've talked to say that if they have more than seven in their pants pocket they make a hole, and all the coins dribble out into the street. The young people say the dollars make a bulge in their jeans, and women complain if they take enough dollar coins to buy groceries they develop a bad back."

"That's nonsense. This coin was tested under the greatest stress conditions. We put $50 worth in a deputy secretary's pants pockets, threw him into the Tidal Basin and he didn't even sink. One of our women department heads carried 100 coins in her handbag for one week and except for black and blue marks on her shoulder where the strap hung, there were no signs of bodily damage. As for the young people complaining of bulges in the jeans from carrying the coins, my answer to that is, let them buy bigger jeans."

"I'm just reporting on what our research revealed, sir. If you ask me I think it's more psychological than anything else. The one dollar bill has George Washington's picture on it. The people can't tell Susan B. Anthony from the Queen of England. They

Jimmy Carter's learning

Some of those Democratic congressmen who have been frantically bailing out of the Carter campaign balloon suddenly have landed painfully in a thorny political thicket.

They apparently have been frozen out of the patronage gravy linked to about 275,000 jobs created by the 1980 census chore. Friendly lawmakers, on the other hand, have been asked to make recommendations on applicants for the hundreds of census posts in their districts.

The outrage was predictable.

But one of the chief complaints against President Carter has been his reluctance to play the traditional game.

Now that the wounded president has taken a firm grasp on this political weapon, the chagrin among his opponents is caused not by his naivete, but by the evidence that he is beginning to learn.

Dallas picking up pieces after binge

DALLAS (AP) — They are gone now — the hoards that descended on Dallas like an orange and red plague, congesting the city's arteries with a drunken weekend revelry.

The "Big Binge" always precedes the big game; headaches, heartbreak and a long drive generally follow for the losers. The return was easier for the fourth-ranked Longhorns, who parlayed a wobbly pass and a stingy defense into a 16-7 win Saturday over No. 3-rated Oklahoma.

Bail bondsmen, ticket scalpers and harried innkeepers, however, are the real winners each October.

Dallas police arrested about 250 persons Friday night and early Saturday morning, intoxicated celebrants plucked from the ribbons of boisterous partisans that snaked their way along Commerce Street.

They emerged from the city lockup Saturday morning, hoarse, fuming over and eager to rejoin the party.

"It sure looks different in the morning. I must have had a hell of a time last night," remarked one paroled, red-eyed fan.

The downtown rally is the traditional beginning of the weekend madness that accompanies the annual Texas-OU clash in Dallas.

Thousands of fans, their tonsils lubricated by a tide of whisky and beer, challenge each other with biting curses and stumble down Commerce chanting "Hook 'em Horns" or "Boomer Sooner."

One plainclothes officer was injured by another policeman during the confusion, said police spokesman Bob Shaw. He said vice control officer D.R. Wilson was trying to make an arrest when the suspect's girlfriend hit him with a beer bottle. When Wilson tried to subdue the girl, a uniformed officer "put it on him," Shaw said.

Pickups, vans, cars and motorcycles decorated with streamers, paint and signs — in some cases with passengers hanging on for dear life — paraded down Commerce, blaring horns adding to the din of the celebration.

The rally came to an abrupt end early Saturday when city water trucks — called "four flushers" — rolled down Commerce, sending a few hundred stragglers scrambling around corners to avoid the spray.

O'Neal attains Eagle ranking

Kevin O'Neal, 16-year-old son of Carl and Frances O'Neal of 1840 Holly Lane, has been accepted as an Eagle Scout by the Boy Scouts of America.

A member of Troop 404, sponsored by the First Christian Church, he has been involved in scouting for nine years. He is a senior patrol leader and has been on the Camp M.K. Brown staff for two years.

He has won the Brotherhood in World Conservation Award and has been vice president of the prestigious Order of the Arrow. A junior at Pampa High School, O'Neal is a member of St. Vincent De Paul Catholic Church and played on the sophomore football team. He is also a member of Medical Explorer Post, the Octagon Club and Future Teachers of America.

Airport improvements okayed

Approval of county equipment and manpower to be used for improvements to Perry Lefors Airport was granted by the Gray County Commissioner's Court during Friday's biweekly meeting. Richard Morris, of Merriman and Barber Consulting Engineers, presented a general review and planning of future improvements sought by the county Airport Board, including hangar sites and a new terminal.

Future hangars would be added at the south end of the airport with larger hangars at the north end.

Morris sought the commissioner's approval for the county to do the actual dirt work for sight preparation, including putting in a base material for hangar sights and roadways.

He also explained that approximately $37,000 would be needed if private contractors were hired to do black topping at the airport. The commissioners voted to let county equipment and manpower be used, but the cost of materials for the black topping would have to be decided before that job is begun.

Commissioners voted to proceed with the printing of public notices that are required by law before the 1980 budget can be officially approved. County Judge Carl Kennedy said the court hopes to have the budget officially approved by the Nov. 16 meeting.

A formal resolution approving the tax roll was passed and the treasurer's report was also approved.

Short courses offered

The Pampa Center of Clarendon Junior College is offering three new short courses in the adult continuing education program to begin this week.

Pottery Making, a 10-week course, will begin Tuesday night at 7. Cost of the class will be $30.

Another 10-week course being offered is Adult Basic Typing which will also begin Tuesday at 7 p.m. This class is limited to 18 students. Class cost including the book will be $25.

A short class of Needle Point will also be starting Tuesday night at 7. The cost of this course will be $25.

The Pampa Center is located at 900 N. Frost.

Somoza blames U. S. for ouster

HOUSTON (AP) — Calling President Carter a "pitiful liar," the overthrown former president of Nicaragua says the United States is responsible for his country's takeover by Sandinista rebels.

Anastasio Somoza

"The U.S. put a gun at my head," Anastasio Somoza told Jack Cox in a copyright interview published Sunday in the Houston Chronicle.

He blamed Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance for his ouster.

White House officials declined comment on the interview.

Cox is an Abilene, Texas, oilman who met Somoza while living in Costa Rica from 1972-76. The former member of the Texas Legislature traveled to Somoza's well-guarded house in Asuncion, Paraguay, for the interview.

"Never in my wildest dreams," Somoza said, "did I think the U.S. would be part of a plot to place their strongest ally and supporter in the hands of the communists."

Somoza said he believes the Sandinistas are communists and the takeover was communist-inspired, but the Sandinistas deny both allegations.

The former president said he couldn't believe it when Carter appeared on national television and said neither the United States nor Cuba had anything to do with the overthrow of Somoza's government.

"Jimmy Carter is a pitiful liar," Somoza said. "He is a fool and lacks the intelligence to be president."

Committee asks for testing of recycled waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional subcommittee, referring to contaminated oil spread on East Texas roads, has recommended that regulations be revised to require testing of all recycled wastes before disposal.

"The subcommittee found out in hearings on toxic road oil in Texas that some 'recycled' wastes have not been adequately treated," a report released Saturday said.

"Therefore, we recommend that the proposed regulations be revised to require the testing of all recycled waste for toxicity if such wastes will be disposed of in the environment."

The report of the House Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigations also said shipping records should be required for all hazardous wastes until their final disposal.

The oil found on nine roads near Corrigan, Texas, contained toxic chemicals, principally nitrobenzene. Cyanide was also found in trace amounts.

The oil came from the Browning-Ferris Chemical Services Inc. transfer station near Nederland, Texas.

"The company accepts full responsibility and to its credit, promptly consented to remove the contaminated sections of eight of those roads under orders from the Texas Department of Water Resources," the report said.

The subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Texas, had subpoenaed shipping records and held a public hearing last May in Corrigan.

The report said the company did not know the final disposition of materials sent to small recyclers in Louisiana.

"The subcommittee discovered that these small waste oil firms do much of their business with asphalt contractors in Louisiana and Mississippi, thus it is possible that roads in those states may also be contaminated with toxic substances," the report said.

The study found that the company was negligent in the placement of the oil on the Texas roads and the water resource department's district office did not conduct an adequate investigation.

The company testified at the hearing that the contamination was accidental and the procedures leading to the problem had been eliminated.

"However, documents ... suggest, at a minimum, a pattern of negligence on the part of the management of the Nederland facility prevailed through Nov. 2, 1978," the report said.

It said the accounting controls necessary to prevent improper disposal were absent before that date.

The water resources department's district office in Orange, Texas, received a complaint on Nov. 2, 1978.

that cyanide was mixed with the waste oil being dumped near Corrigan.

The state investigator assigned to the case told the subcommittee his check of the company's records showed proper accounting and disposal of all cyanide shipments.

The subcommittee, however, examined the same records and found it impossible to track the cyanide shipments' movements.

The report said the investigator's supervisor "was so convinced of the company's good faith ... that he theorized (at the hearing) the source of contamination to be the failure of a truck driver to properly wash out a tanker prior to the loading of road oil."

"Clearly, these two enforcement officials did not perform the investigation necessary to insure that the public health was protected," the report concluded.

The comments on the Corrigan road oil were contained in the subcommittee's report on hazardous waste disposal throughout the nation.

"The hazardous waste disposal problem cannot be overstated," the report said. "Because of years of inadequate disposal practices and the absence of regulation, hundreds and perhaps thousands of these sites now pose an imminent hazard to man and the environment."

Specialties abound in Texas

'SO' plates identify state officials

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — If you haven't seen your congressman or state legislator recently, start looking for the "SO" auto license plates.

There are 1,467 out there somewhere in Texas supposedly designating the driver of the car as part of the state and federal family of lawmakers and judiciary. Of course, since each lawmaker or judge gets two sets of license plates, the "SO" car may be driven by the wife or other family members.

The "SO" plates are just one of about 10 different special registration plates authorized for Texas cars and other vehicles.

All were legalized by the Texas Legislature at the urging of special groups and interests.

By far the largest group are the 257,866 "exempt" plates. This means the vehicle is exempt from state and local registration fees and taxes because it is supposed to be used only for official business. This category includes cars driven by officials and employees of city, county, state and federal government, including school districts and water districts.

Probably the second largest group of special registrations are those for "prestige" plates. Anyone can get a "prestige" plate by paying the regular registration fee plus a $10 bonus. These are the plates that say "Howdy," "Smile," "Aggie," "Hook Em," and such. No obscene words or initials are accepted. Some business firms get as many as 50 or 60 plates with an identifying name or letters followed by a number. Some groups, particularly backers of football teams, assign the numbered plates according to the size of contributions made to the team.

Two new sets of plates will be showing up on highways and streets this year, as a result of actions taken by the 1979 Legislature.

On Aug. 27, the state highway motor registration division began issuing special plates for former prisoners of war. So far about 850 have been issued with an expected 4,000 as the final total. There is no charge for the plate.

Another new, and exclusive registration is for recipients of the nation's top medal awarded during wartime, the Congressional Medal of Honor. A total of 13 have been issued, at no cost, out of the possible 17 awarded to Texans.

In "SO" plates, the SO1 goes to the Texas governor and is the only free one. All others have to pay the regular registration fees. SO2 goes to the lieutenant governor, SO3 to the House speaker, SO4 to the attorney general, SO5 to the comptroller, SO6 to the treasurer, SO7 land commissioner, SO8 agriculture commissioner, and SO9 secretary of state.

Other special plates go to the Texas Railroad Commissioners, the Texas Supreme Court, and the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Members of the Texas Senate get SO27-57 and the Texas House, SO58-207.

But that's not all the special registration plates.

There were 14,628 disabled veterans plates issued last year, costing only $3 each. Highway officials expect that to increase since new legislative rules allow them for 60 percent disability instead of the prior 70 percent disability rule.

There are about 4,000 special plates issued to amateur radio operators carrying the call letters of the amateur stations. And there are thousands of special dealers licenses issued for new and used cars offered for sale and for demonstrator cars.

But a choice registration plate is that reserved for antique cars.

If your car was made since 1921, you can buy a five-year special license for $25. If the car was built before 1921, the plate costs only $15. About 2,800 of these plates may be spotted, mostly in parades and antique car shows.

Will leaves $3 million estate to aid the blind

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A county court has been asked to decide the validity of a will, scrawled on the backs of old business papers, which leaves most of a $3 million estate to aid the blind.
Just two of Clinton J. Teubert's 35 known relatives were named as possible beneficiaries in the purported will.
Teubert was a postal service employee for 50 years, retiring in 1955 as assistant superintendent of finance. He died a bachelor on Feb. 14 at age 91.
Several of Teubert's kin petitioned Cabell County Circuit Court to have the will declared void. If successful, the bulk of the estate would go to them. No date has been set for court arguments.
The will was discovered shortly after Teubert died. The document, which assigned most of Teubert's estate "to aid the blind only," was tucked away in his desk with miscellaneous papers.
Brenda Wickline Odell, a second cousin, is Teubert's sole relative in Huntington. She and two of Teubert's friends were chosen as curators to look through his personal belongings for the will.
Mrs. Odell was on hand the day the purported will was found, but she refuses to discuss it, other than to say: "There is no will. There is no will."
The will did not include Mrs. Odell as a beneficiary.
Teubert was a son of one of the city's first real estate brokers. An official appraisal on file in the county clerk's office estimated his estate's worth at $2.9 million, with $2.8 million in stocks.
The fortune includes stock in American Telephone & Telegraph Co. valued at $775,000, the documents said.
The first page of the will is the reverse side of a 1960 notice to stockholders of the Union Electric Co. of St. Louis, Mo. The second page is the back of a form used by a local hospital to solicit comments from discharged patients.
Attorneys for Teubert's relatives contend that the two pages, at most, represent a set of notes he made so he could some day write a true will.
A list of relatives filed with the county clerk shows Teubert left six first cousins, 27 second cousins and two third cousins. The two relatives named as beneficiaries in the document are first cousins.

Hua Goes Traveling
Chinese Communist Party Chairman Hua Guofeng is scheduled to begin a week-long visit to France today. Hua succeeded Chairman Mao Tse-tung, who ruled China from 1949, when the communists came to power, until his death in September, 1976. The following month, China's top officials elected First Vice Chairman Hua to succeed Mao. To make sure he would keep his job, Hua quickly ordered four of his key political opponents, including Mao's widow, to be arrested. Since then, Hua and Vice Premier Deng Xiaoping have worked to modernize China's economy and improve relations with other countries, including the United States. Hua is expected to visit the United States during the next year.
DO YOU KNOW — What is the capital of China?
FRIDAY'S ANSWER — Laif Ericson is believed to have reached North America about 1000 A.D.

TEXAS

By The Associated Press
Rain returned to the Texas weather picture during the night with a band of scattered showers and thundershowers developing over West Texas and moving into northern portions of the state early today.
Some of the thundershowers were accompanied by small hail, heavy rains and gusty winds in isolated areas.
Warm, moist air covered the central and eastern portions of Texas today with some low cloudiness reported from Central Texas northward into the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolises.
The forecast called for widely scattered showers and thundershowers in central and eastern sections. Temperatures were expected to reach the 80s in most areas with afternoon readings in the 90s forecast for the Big Bend region.

TUESDAY'S FORECAST calls for a band of showers arcing northward from New Mexico through parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Wisconsin. Rain is expected over Florida and the eastern Gulf Coast States. (AP Laserphoto)

one - third cup sliced ripe olives

Brown beef, onion and celery in large frying - pan. Pour off drippings. Stir in corn. Combine tomato sauce and taco seasoning mix, stirring to blend. Add 1 and one - third cups tomato sauce mixture to meat and corn, mixing well. Spoon two tablespoons meat mixture onto each cornmeal crepe and roll to enclose filling. Spread remaining meat mixture in 13 x 9 - inch baking dish. Place crepes, seam side down, on top of meat. Spoon remaining tomato sauce over crepes. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degree F.) for 20 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese and top with olives. Serves 10.

CORNMEAL CREPES

1 cup flour
one - half cup yellow cornmeal

German Beef Sausage

5 - pound beef chuck roast or pot - roast
3 cups water
1 and one - half teaspoon salt
one - half teaspoon pepper
2 teaspoons allspice
2 teaspoons salt

Place beef in pressure pan, add water and season with 1 and one - half teaspoons salt and pepper. Cook at 10 pounds pressure 30 to 45 minutes or until very tender. (Beef may also be braised slowly in water in Dutch oven three to four hours or until very tender.) Let beef cool in liquid. Skim off fat. Pour off liquid and reserve. Trim separable fat from beef and remove any bones. Put beef through food grinder; add reserved cooking liquid, allspice, and 2 teaspoons salt. Add water, if necessary, until well moistened. Pack into freezer containers, seal tightly and freeze. When ready to use, defrost and slice. Cook in frying pan with a small amount of water until hot. 20 servings.

1 and one - half cups milk
3 eggs
dash salt
oil

Combine flour, cornmeal, milk, eggs and salt; beat with rotary beater until smooth. For each crepe, pour one - fourth cup batter into hot lightly oiled crepe pan or small frying - pan; tilt pan to coat bottom evenly. Cook over medium heat until top is dull and underside is delicately browned. Turn; cook 10 to 15 seconds. Makes 10 crepes.

Serving suggestions:

With pancakes: Place one - fourth cup hot beef sausage on a pancake. Fold in half and top with butter and syrup. Garnish with strawberries.
Skillet dinner: Add 3 cups shredded raw potato and one - fourth cup minced onion to each one cup of beef sausage. Heat in frying - pan until potatoes are done, adding water if necessary.
Sandwich: Place one - fourth cup hot beef sausage on bun. Top with onion and catsup.

Ground beef crepes take cook - off honors

Mexican - style foods are special favorites of Mrs. Lavelle Breland's family in Wiggins, Miss. So when Mrs. Breland began creating an entry for the National Beef Cook - Off, it was only natural that she favor it with south - of - the - border accents.

The final results not only pleased her family, but also the Cook - Off judges. Her "Fiesta Crepes in Casserole" won the $1500 first prize at the Cook - Off, held in Omaha, Neb., on Sept. 27 - 28. This annual event is sponsored by the National CowBelles and the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

The winning entry calls for cornmeal crepes to be filled with a taco - seasoned ground beef and corn filling, then baked in a casserole with additional filling and a spicy tomato topping. Just before serving, the festive crepes are topped with Cheddar cheese and sliced ripe olives.

German - inspired was the second place $750 winner created by Mrs. Darlene Dickman, a licensed practical nurse from Decorah, Iowa. "German Beef Sausage" is made by grinding cooked beef chuck roast and seasoning it with allspice and salt. The sausage is stored in the freezer, ready to be used when needed. A main dish salad was the entry of Mrs. Loraine Kennedy of Grand Forks, N.D., that won her third place and $500. The salad, which can be served hot or cold, features strips of beef top round steak and alfalfa sprouts atop a noodle and tomato base.

Winning the $100 honorable mention awards were Mrs. Caryol Caryell of Boise, Idaho, for "Strips o' Beef Crepes"; Mrs. Diane Lentz of Nicholasville, Ky., for "French Onion - Beef Au Jus"; Mrs. Antonia Hoffpauir of Crowley, La., for "Stuffed Brisket"; Miss Gloria Bove, Bethlehem, Pa., for "Cheese Meringue Topped Beef Torta Italiana"; Mrs. Shirley Byam, Lynnwood, Wash., for "Saucy Beef Taco Pizza".

The Cook - Off contestants prepared their entries before food editors, home economists and the public and then presented their finished products to the judges who scored them on taste, appearance, originality, ease of preparation, and practicality. This year's distinguished panel of judges included Julia Child and Merle "The Butcher" Ellis, both noted authors and television personalities; Doris Eby, food and nutrition editor of Better Homes and Gardens magazine; Dr. Hazel Anthony, Dean of the College of Home Economics, University of Nebraska; Sara Beck, U.S.D.A. consumer meat specialist and Dorothee Polson, food editor of Arizona Republic.

Strip Beef Salad

2 pounds beef top round steak, cut 1 and one - half inches thick one - half pound egg noodles
one - half pound (2 cups) fresh mushrooms, sliced
1 large green pepper, diced
1 tablespoon seasoned salt
one - half teaspoon pepper
4 tomatoes, peeled and sliced, or one can (28 ounces) tomatoes, well drained
2 tablespoons sesame oil
one - half cup cooking oil
1 cup alfalfa sprouts
parsley

Partially freeze steak for easy slicing. Trim separable fat from steak and reserve. Slice steak into very thin strips about 2 and one - half inches long and cut in half lengthwise to make three - fourth inch wide strips. Cook noodles according to package directions; drain well. Place noodles in 11 x 7 - inch baking pan. Place layer of mushrooms and green pepper over noodles. Sprinkle with seasoned salt and pepper. Place layer of tomatoes over seasonings; drizzle with sesame oil. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Slowly heat reserved fat from steak in frying - pan to obtain 1 tablespoon drippings. Discard remaining fat and add 2 tablespoons cooking oil. When noodles have baked 35 minutes, add beef strips to oil, a small portion at a time, and stir - fry quickly, adding oil as needed and keeping pan very hot. To serve, place beef strips on top of tomatoes and cover with alfalfa sprouts. Garnish with parsley. Serves 6.

For cold salad: Follow above recipe reducing noodles to one - third pound and use only fresh tomatoes. Do not bake. Serve on bed of greens with Italian dressing, if desired.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN WILL MEET

Tri - County Democratic Women's Club will meet Wednesday at 12 noon in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company to discuss the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs convention this weekend in Austin. The group also will discuss State Representative Foster Whaley's appreciation program, set for Oct. 27.

Federated Women's Clubs will have district meeting

The fall board meeting and workshop of the Top of Texas District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs will be Tuesday in Wellington.

The meeting opens at 10 a.m. in the First United Methodist Church. Hosting the group of clubs will be the Wellington 1924 Study Club, the Wellington 1954 Study Club, and the Dodson Civic Club.

Theme for the meeting will be "Patchwork of Learning". Two films, one on leadership development and one on protection against crime, will be shown to the group.

A charter ceremony will honor the Potpourri Club, a new junior club from Borger.

Special guests will be District President, Mrs. Harry Youngblood of Lefors, and District Junior Director, Mrs. Scott Whorton of Stratford.

Pampa has four federated clubs, the Civic Culture Club, the Twentieth Century Club, the Twentieth Century Forum and the Varietas Study Club. The Lefors Art and Civic Club is also a federated club.

Rho Eta group hears 'Dear Abby' advice

Rho Eta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met last week for a program on Abigail Van Buren's "Ten Commandments for Husbands and Wives".

Pam Wilson and Lisa Crossman presented the program, which was held in the home of Starla Tracy.

Lisa Crossman, president, conducted the meeting. Darla Pulse was reinstated as an active member. The October service project, announced by Service Chairman Joyce Pulse, will be a purchase of supplies for Browning Day Care Center.

A Model Meeting for prospective members will be Oct. 22 in the home of Kay Newman. The chapter had a Mexican Food - Card Party Buffet for new rushees and their husbands last weekend.

Hostesses for the meeting were Starla Tracy and Joyce Pulse. Before the regular meeting, the chapter's executive board met.

St. Vincent's plans school carnival

St. Vincent's School Carnival will be Saturday from 5 to 10 p.m. in the St. Vincent's gymnasium.

Activities of the evening will include games, prizes, a cake walk, bingo, white elephants, plants, and homemade items.

A meal, including cakes, pies and drinks, will be available for the entire family. The public is invited to attend.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: As a long-time reader and admirer, I was shocked at your advice to the parents of the 12-year-old boy who, with his parents, had visited relatives in another city. On returning home, he told his parents (in confidence) that his 15-year-old cousin had offered him some pot, but he refused.

The parents immediately phoned the cousin's parents to report it. Instead of being grateful for the information, they reacted angrily, saying their son had never smoked pot, and the younger boy must be lying. When the visiting parents asked if they were wrong to have called the other parents, you said yes. (You also said, "Children should not betray their peers.")

Abby, if the kids had stuck up a gas station, or shot someone, would you still have said, "Children should not betray their peers"?

I just can't believe you would advise parents not to tip off the parents of children who are breaking the law and doing harm to themselves.

If I misunderstood your answer, please explain.

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: You did, and I will. If you had read the letter carefully, you would have noticed that the boy said his cousin had offered him some pot. He admitted that he never actually saw his cousin smoke pot.

It was my feeling that the older boy was only talking big to impress his young cousin. Had he actually smoked pot in the boy's presence, it would have been a different story. No pot was in evidence, and none was smoked!

I'm sorry I didn't make myself clear, and judging from the critical mail I received, I did not.

Marijuana is still illegal, and those who break the law should be reported and dealt with accordingly.

However, in this case, no law had been broken. I should have said, "When no law is broken, children should not betray their peers." And to have reported back to the parents with such flimsy evidence, thus creating a rift between the families, was uncalled for. (P.S. I hope the editor of the Rock Hill, S.C., Herald sees this. So incensed was he with my reply that he wrote an editorial about it.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widow for 11 years. My sister and my daughter still remember my wedding anniversary in a quiet way, which I feel is comforting.

However, my son (now married) never remembers my wedding anniversary.

Am I expecting too much of my son? What is proper?

HURT
DEAR HURT: It is not proper to offer congratulations on a wedding anniversary after one of the couple dies.

Perhaps your son remembers the date, but doesn't acknowledge it because he fears it might sadden or depress you. Let him know that you derive comfort from having those you love remember that day. Then if he forgets, you will have a legitimate reason to feel hurt.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.P. IN MANKATO: "CPR" is Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation—a method of maintaining the oxygen supply and blood circulation for a person whose lungs and heart have stopped working. One who has stopped breathing will either die or suffer permanent brain damage within four minutes.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

PEOPLE

THE PEOPLE'S PHARMACY

By Joe Graedon

Q. I take a multiple vitamin tablet daily because I don't always eat as well as I should. Can you tell me how I should take it—with milk, water, or juice? Is it better with or without food, and what time of day is best?

My doctor shrugs his shoulders, and the pharmacist said it doesn't matter. Does it?

A. Your pharmacist is almost right. It usually makes little difference what time of day you take your vitamin tablet or whether you take it with a meal. Most liquids, including water, milk or juice, are fine for washing it down.

But if you prefer tea to coffee in the morning or drink iced tea with your other meals, you need to plan your vitamin taking more carefully. Tea can interfere with the absorption of some common ingredients of vitamin and mineral preparations.

When you gulp your vitamin pill at breakfast along with a cup or two of tea, you absorb less than one - fourth of the thiamin (vitamin B1) in your supplement. And if the product you take contains iron, you could be getting as little as ten percent or less of that important mineral.

Research has recently shown that the tannins which give tea some of its special flavor "hook on" to thiamin and make it unavailable to the body. Other researchers have discovered that tea prevents iron from getting into the system, probably for the same reason.

If you want to work with your thiamin and iron instead of against them, look to vitamin C which facilitates their absorption. So you might want to help that tablet down with a tall glass of citrus juice and save the tea for later.

Q. Many of us oldsters are bothered by the pesky prostate. When I ask a doctor about it, he usually suggests an immediate operation. I'm not really having that much trouble, so I'm not eager to go under the knife.

Seems like the only time my prostate acts up is when I have a cold. Are there any "home remedies" that could help me get through those times?

Renaissance costumes on display at L.A. County Museum

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The exhibition "Renaissance Costumes and Textiles:

1450-1620" is on view at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art through Jan. 27, 1980.

A. There is no earthly reason why a cold should give your prostate problems. But if you are taking a cough or cold remedy, chances are good that's the culprit. Antihistamines, decongestants and drying agents found in many popular products may aggravate that "pesky prostate" making urination difficult. Asthma and allergy pills, medicines for nausea and diarrhea and antidepressants may also make matters worse.

Our associate, G. Patrick Guiteras, M.D., offers the following advice for handling those occasional flareups: "When symptoms first occur or when they change, the prostate warrants close medical scrutiny."

"Many persons with enlarged prostate glands do need surgery at some point to relieve bladder obstruction. However, men often find that the battle with their prostate symptoms is intermittent and they can live with relative comfort between skirmishes."

"If the waterworks seem a bit balky, one remedy is to immerse the unencumbered hand in warm, running water. This may cause enough relaxation to permit increased flow. Another trick is to sit in a tub of warm water — this often works wonders."

"Of course, an ounce of prevention is worth a gallon of cure. Empty the bladder on a regular schedule, say every two or three hours, to prevent it from over - filling, which makes urination difficult. It might be a good idea to limit fluid intake after supper or to schedule a "pit stop" in the wee hours of the morning.

"And remember, many oldsters say that there's no better cure for "pesky prostate" than an active sex life.

"Don't forget, enlargement of the prostate as well as prostatic cancer are serious problems and deserve medical attention. If you are having pain in the area, frequent or progressively worse difficulties with urination, loss of control, fever, or blood in the urine — you'd better see your doctor pronto."

Got a question? Write to Joe Graedon in care of King Features Syndicate, Inc., 235 E. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10017.

The museum says the exhibit was assembled "to display the lavish richness of the Renaissance period when clothing and outward appearance were vitally important."

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

October 16, 1979
 Projects you may previously have considered too large in scope to handle will be easily accomplished this coming year due to several special people who befriend you.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An unexpected bit of luck is on its way for you today. It will dump something quite nice into your lap. This little present is meant just for you. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you don't have any plans, make some to get out where the action is today. Something very pleasant awaits you. Don't be a loner.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Set your sights high, perhaps even on some secret desire you've been harboring. Today the prize has your name on it and is ready to be won.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Valuable information will be gained today through the kindness of one you may know casually. With these new facts you can make something important happen for you.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Someone born under the sign of Virgo could have a very uplifting effect on you today although it may be manifested subtly.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A decision you make today could have far more valuable effects than you may realize at this time. However, the results will be long lasting.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) There can be exceptionally large rewards today if you work on projects that may be considered mere labors of love than chores.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have won to your colors a very helpful ally today as evidenced by willingness to cooperate with you just when you need this person.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't neglect any projects today that could enhance or benefit your life. The results obtained from any such effort could be enormous.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Lady Luck could have a hand today in getting you together with someone you've been wanting to see. It will be a pleasant social encounter.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone with whom you have a strong emotional tie could be instrumental in getting you something today that you'll deem a windfall.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Charm, humor and tact will be the tools you use skillfully today to win others over to your way of thinking and to bring about something quite fortunate.

DALLAS Cowboys' running back Tony Dorsett (33) breaks through the line for a short gain against the Los Angeles Rams Sunday at Texas Stadium. (AP Laserphoto)

Cowboys blow Rams away

And then there was one. Going into Sunday's National Football League games, the Cincinnati Bengals had been one of two teams still looking for a victory this season. Thanks to the unbelievable generosity of the Pittsburgh Steelers, they got it.

Nine times the Steelers fumbled. Seven times the Bengals came up with the ball. And two times the fumbles were turned into instant touchdowns on runbacks of 27 yards by Jim LeClair and 12 yards by rookie Howie Kurnick.

Two interceptions of Terry Bradshaw passes didn't hurt, either. Neither did Ken Anderson's two touchdown passes, to Dan Ross and Rick Walker. And Pete Johnson ran 1 yard for a score.

It all added up to a 34-10 romp for the Bengals.

That left the San Francisco 49ers as the only team with seven losses in seven games. New York Giants rookies Phil Simms and Earnest Gray made certain of that, hooking up on eight passes, two of them for touchdowns, that paved the way to the Giants' 32-16 victory.

Also on Sunday it was Oakland 50, Atlanta 19; New Orleans 42, Tampa Bay 14; Dallas 30, Los Angeles 6; San Diego 20, Seattle 10; New England 27, Chicago 7; Miami 17, Buffalo 7; Philadelphia 24, St. Louis 20; Washington 13, Cleveland 9; Denver 24, Kansas City 10; Houston 28, Baltimore 16, and Green Bay 24, Detroit 16.

"We aided and abetted them considerably," Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll said. "We proved the Bengals are not as bad as their record." And Joe Greene, the Steelers' superb (and philosophical) defensive tackle, added: "We helped them get well. In a season, there are highs and lows, as in life. This is one of the low points."

Just about the only high point for Pittsburgh was Bradshaw's 33-yard touchdown pass to John Stallworth. But it was the last score of the game and meant nothing.

Homer Rice, coach of the Bengals, was exhausted by his team's victory over the defending Super Bowl champions. "So much happened in the game, I can't put it in sequence," he said. "I'm going to have to go home and watch it on film."

Giants 32, 49ers 16

Phil Simms, who made his first pro start a winning one against Tampa Bay, a week ago, passed for 300 yards against San Francisco. Eight of the passes — 169 yards' worth — went to Gray, who had suffered a case of butterfingers earlier in the season.

"I was surprised I kept dropping them, but I knew I could catch them," said Gray, who scored his first two pro touchdowns on passes of 13 and 11 yards in the Giants' 27-point second period. "My confidence never left me but my pride was hurt. I knew I had the talent to catch the ball."

"Earnest did a super job. He made some fantastic catches," Simms said. "I'm really glad for him. I knew it was just a matter of time. He'll be a great receiver."

Raiders 50, Falcons 19

"Things are clicking for us," Mark van Eeghen said after he scored three touchdowns on short runs and Ken Stabler passed for two scores in Oakland's romp over the Falcons. But he cautioned: "There's a lot of the season to go."

Saints 12, Bucs 14

"We stunk!" Tampa Bay Coach John McKay admitted. "It was the worst we've ever played — including the 1976 expansion season. It was disgraceful. I have no excuse."

The Bucs had the league's best defense, but Archie Manning pierced it with passes, one for a TD, and ran for another score in the Saints' romp.

Cowboys 30, Rams 6

Roger Staubach threw three touchdown passes as the Cowboys clobbered Los Angeles, giving him a club-record 137 for his career, erasing a mark held by Don Meredith. Staubach completed his first nine passes and finished with 13 of 18 for 176 yards before leaving midway in the fourth quarter for substitute Danny White.

Chargers 20, Seahawks 10

San Diego's Dan Fouts passed for touchdowns of 20 yards to Lydell Mitchell and 9 and 49 yards to John Jefferson en route to completing 28 of 35 passes for 318 yards against the Seahawks.

Patriots 27, Bears 7

Steve Grogan of New England also threw three TD passes, covering 10 yards to Stanley Morgan, 19 yards to Harold Jackson and 4 yards to Russ Francis, and wound up completing 21 of 35 passes for 244 yards against the Bears.

Rams riddled with injuries

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The crippled Los Angeles Rams lost four more players Sunday night in their 30-6 National Football League defeat at the hands of the Dallas Cowboys.

Backup quarterback Vince Ferragamo suffered a broken right hand on the last Ram offensive play of the night and will be lost six weeks.

Earlier in the game, safety Dave Elmendorf suffered a back injury, cornerback Pat Thomas strained an Achilles tendon and wide receiver Billy Waddy suffered a pulled hamstring.

Last week, Los Angeles lost wide receiver Ron Jessie and guard Dennis Harrah with leg injuries.

Pampa rodeo results

Three Pampa high school rodeo club members placed at the Borger High School rodeo last weekend.

They were Jo Linda Lowery, fifth, barrel and goat tying; Lena Stewart, fourth, goat tying, and Shane Brown, fifth, bareback.

The Pampa team travels to Childress for another contest Oct. 27-28.

Pampa visits tall dons

Pampa spikers take to the road tonight to visit Palo Duro for the second District 3-AAAA for both teams.

The Dons have the advantage in height with 5-10 Tina Wisdom and Valerie Wells and 5-9 Donna Collins and Rose Litchie. Wisdom was last year's Sophomore of the Year.

The Harvesters knocked off the Dons once this year in a pre-district tournament at West Texas State University.

"You could tell they were better than they played in the tournament," said Pampa coach Lynn Wolfe. "I think they can probably hit better than us, but we're better ballhandlers."

Paulette Sharp, Palo Duro's ex-coach and now assistant athletic director, stated that this year's Don team was the best she has seen.

Texas defense stops Sooners

DALLAS (AP) — There's nothing like a little seasoning to liven things up, and Texas' seasoned defense had too much spice for Oklahoma Saturday in their annual interstate football war.

While defenders bottled up Oklahoma and its Heisman Trophy-winning running back, Billy Sims, the perhaps underrated Longhorn offense put enough points on the board for a 16-7 victory and an 4-0 season ledger.

"It's going to take a GOOD team in the Southwest Conference to beat Texas," said Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer. "Only a very, very GOOD team can move the ball on the Texas defense. We never could get our option going against the Texas defense."

"I was very impressed with the entire Texas team and especially in their seniors. They truly have a great defense. It compares to the Texas defense of 1977."

Texas Coach Fred Akers also floated bouquets toward his experienced defenders, but couldn't single out a single star. "Each of those guys made key play after key play on pressure downs," he said.

Akers' Texas troops got all the point they needed from the leg of kicker John Goodson and the hands of backup tight end Steve Hall.

Goodson, who was not recruited out of high school, boomed field goals of 38, 37 and 23 yards. He said he wasn't a bit nervous. "The first couple of games I was. Not any more," Goodson smiled.

Hall one-handed a two-yard pass from Donny Little to put the Longhorns ahead to stay in the second period at 10-7. It was Hall's first TD catch. "Heck, it's the first pass I've caught in two years," Hall said. "It was a great pass." He said of the high wobbler flipped by Little.

Sims, who was held under 100 yards for the first time in 14 games, said "The Texas defense was tough, real tough. Up front Texas is just a tremendous team. We just didn't get in the situations we wanted. We gave 'em a good fight."

Sims finished the day with 73 yards on 20 carries.

"We intimidated him," said Texas safety Ricky Churchman. "He really got frustrated. We were tagging him every time he carried."

Oklahoma showed up for the game in the Cotton Bowl wearing a No. 3 ranking, and Texas sported a No. 4.

There won't be much time for Texas to savor the sweet victory, though.

Arkansas hosts the Longhorns Saturday in Little Rock in a critical Southwest Conference showdown. Arkansas also is undefeated.

Bucs win for grandma

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "They say you're supposed to cry when you're born and happy when you die, but we all do it in reverse," a somber Chuck Tanner said, reflecting on the death of his mother.

"It's tough. I got a lot going because it's what she would want me to do. I have all the faith in the world. I honestly feel she's in heaven and she's happy."

"You have sadness in your heart but you have to be strong. I can be strong because the people around me are strong."

It was a heavy burden that Tanner, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, carried into the critical fifth game Sunday of baseball's 1979 World Series against the Baltimore Orioles.

The Pirates, bludgeoned for six runs in the eighth inning Saturday for a 9-4 beating, were at the edge of the precipice, trailing the Orioles, 1-3 in games. Tanner had only a twice-disabled losing pitcher, Jim Rooker (4-7), to send against the steamrolling bombers from Baltimore.

Tanner was eating breakfast at a friend's home when the telephone rang with the news that his 70-year-old mother, who had suffered a stroke during the National League playoffs, had passed away in a Greenville, Pa., hospital.

Chuck's father, Charles, Sr., a railroad man out of New Castle, Pa., delivered the message.

"I'll come home right away," Chuck said.

"No, your mother wouldn't want that," the father said. "Stay there and go get 'em."

Chuck did.

It might seem mawkishly sentimental to suggest that those monsters of men who wear the black and gold of Pittsburgh's baseball team

"went out and won one for Grandma," as they lovingly referred to Anne Tanner, who reared a family of three boys in the rugged steel town of western Pennsylvania.

But that's the way it was, and it wasn't mushy but beautiful as the Pirates rallied for a 7-1 victory that sent the Series back to Baltimore for a conclusion.

Tanner held up like rod of steel. His players refused to get maudlin. One by one, they went to him and offered their condolences. Some grabbed him an embrace. Then each went to his locker, dressed and strode onto the Three Rivers field — grim-faced and fired with determination.

"He stood 10-foot tall," said Willie Stargell, the 38-year-old warhorse who is the inspirational leader of the swashbuckling Bucs. "I learned a lot about the man — not the manager but the man."

In the locker room was a huge bouquet of at least two dozen yellow chrysanthemums, each tied with a black ribbon — the Pirate colors.

It was sent by the Sister Sledge disco group that recorded Pittsburgh's rallying song, "We Are Family." It was never more appropriate.

"We are family," the lyrics go, "all my little sisters and me. We don't get depressed at what we do, come on, everybody and dance."

Down the corridor, the rival Baltimore Orioles held their Sunday chapel service and one of Chuck's former players with the Chicago White Sox, Pat Kelly, spoke of Tanner's tragedy.

"They tell me it was a stirring speech," Chuck said. "The Baltimore players are the same as our players — both world champs."

Oilers get by Colts, 28-16

BALTIMORE (AP) — The difference in the game. Ted Baltimore Colts coach Ted Marchibroda was Earl Campbell. "Everyone goes into a game against him planning to hold him, but he makes a lot of teams look bad."

Marchibroda fell short of saying it, but Campbell made the Colts look bad, scoring three touchdowns and leading the Houston Oilers to a 28-16 victory Sunday.

Campbell gained yardage on almost every play, amassing 149 yards before leaving the game late in the third period.

Asked to assess the running back's performance, Oilers Coach Bum Phillips couldn't find the words he wanted.

"I'm not eloquent enough to describe it," Phillips said. "Great. That's a way to say it. That's a word I understand."

"I'm tickled to death with the guy," he added. "That's why we have him."

Campbell scored on runs of seven, 20 and three yards. Each was a different type of running, and two were on fourth downs.

On the first, he started inside, spun to his left and broke two tackles. On the 20-yard score, he darted through an enormous hole in the left side of the Colts' line and sped to the corner of the end zone. And on the final score, he moved to his left and bulled sideways for the TD.

"He's tough, very tough," said Colts cornerback Dwight Harrison who was knocked back by Campbell on one play. "On films, I've seen him run through people. But if you brace yourself, he'll run around you." But the game was not all Earl Campbell. Both teams had their share of mistakes, and neither had much of a passing game.

The Oilers mounted a strong running attack in the first half, but had to shift to the pass as they fell behind.

On their first possession, Colts quarterback Greg Landry dropped back to pass, and the ball was knocked into the outstretched arms of defensive end Jesse Baker who romped 20 yards for a touchdown.

Colts returner Nesby Glasgow came right back with a brilliant 38-yard return that gave the Oilers the momentum to move in for a touchdown.

Kicker Steve Mike-Mayer missed the point after, however, and later he missed a field goal. "We had opportunities to score, but we didn't," said Landry, who was intercepted three times, twice by league-leader Mike Reinfield.

"But we missed assignments, had interceptions, and dropped passes. We just made too many mistakes."

"They've got a good, tough football team," said Colts tackle Wade Griffin. "Yet we were able to run on them. But the mental mistakes... We let the game get away from us. Our backs were totally against the wall."

"And we had a feeling coming into this game that we were going to beat them," he added. "It was very frustrating."

The Oilers also made their share of mistakes, and quarterback Dan Pastorini completed only five of 14 passes for 49 yards. He was intercepted twice.
