Counties Ask Reservations At Banquet

Motley, Hansford Hutchinson Will Send Delegates

Reservations have started to come in at a fast rate for the district Democratic jamboree to be held in Pampa on the night of January 23.

J. L. Briggs, Phillips, chairman of the Hutchinson County Democratic executive committee, has asked for 25 reservations at the banquet to be held at 7:30 o'clock a week from next Tuesday.

E. L. McClellan of Spearman, Hansford county chairman, has asked for 10 reservations. Angus Wood, Kress, Swisher county chairman, and Pat Sheridan of Matador, Motley county chairman, for two reservations each.

Tickets for the banquet sell at $1.50. Locally tickets will not go on sale until January 18. Reservations may be made with either John Ketter, secretary, of H. C. Coffey, chairman, of the Gray County Democratic executive committee.

Telegrams were received in Pampa Friday by Mr. Coffey confirming promises of E. B. Germany, Dallas, state Democratic chairman, and Mrs. Clara Driscoll, County Christi, to attend the banquet here, which is to be attended by Democrats from the 28 counties comprising the 18th district.

The telegram read: "Confirming telephone conversation will be in Pampa for your Democratic rally January 23. E. B. Germany."

"Thanks for your invitation to your rally January 23. My health permitting I will be there. Clara Driscoll."

Jap Cabinet Falls, U. S. Treaty Hinted

TOKYO, Jan. 14 (Sunday)—(AP)—The cabinet of Premier General Notuyuki Abe resigned today, in a decision closely connected with Japanese relations with the United States.

Japanese army and government leaders were exerting pressure on Prince Fumimaro Kono, former premier and president of the privy council, to take over Abe's post. A number of political personalities believed he would accept.

Abe's resignation had been expected for several days, following upon predictions that his government would fall if the United States declined to react favorably to Papan's proposals for reopening the lower Yangtze to third power trade. This was considered as an overture to facilitate a new trade understanding with the United States when the present treaty is terminated—upon Washington's initiative—January 26.

Youth Returned To Oklahoma On Car Theft Charges

Two deputies from Sapulpa, Okla., arrived in Borger Friday afternoon to return a youth who said his name was James Ball and his home El Reno, Okla., and wanted in Sapulpa on a car theft charge. The youth was arrested in Borger late Thursday night upon information furnished by Pampa police officers.

The youth is alleged to have attempted to trade a 1938 Chevrolet for a car to Roland Hawkins of Pampa for a motorcycle and $50 to boot. Hawkins became suspicious and notified police who started an investigation which revealed that the car had been stolen.

A representative of the Federal Bureau of Investigation visited in Pampa Friday and later went to Borger. It had not been learned last night whether federal charges would be filed against the youth.

Legless Girl Shops

HACKENSACK, N. J., Jan. 13 (AP)—Jessie Simpson, 21-year-old beauty who lost her legs in a railroad accident nearly three years ago, went on a shopping tour in New York City today and made final preparations for her marriage to James Stewart, young advertising executive.

Miss Simpson took the trip in stride and when she returned home with three bridesmaids they were more fatigued than she.

High Wind Drives Snow Over Panhandle

Propelled by a 30-mile-an-hour wind from the north a driving snow covered the Pampa area today as a result of a blowing snowstorm that enveloped the Panhandle yesterday. Locally the snow depth varied from a few inches to two and three feet, in places where windbreaks allowed the snow to pile up in drifts.

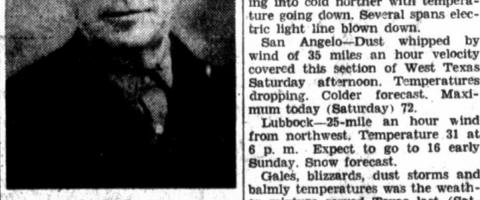

From Friday's midnight temperature of 39 degrees the thermometer dropped to 27 degrees at 6 a. m. Saturday, then dropped nearly every hour to reach a daylight low of 19 degrees at 4 p. m. yesterday.

The forecast was for the storm to gradually diminish after 3 p. m. Saturday until 2 o'clock this morning, but at 7 o'clock last night the snow had ceased to blow, at least temporarily.

Employees of the U. S. weather bureau here got a smile from the first weather forecast received at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning. It read "fair and colder." The snowstorm was getting under way in Pampa at the time.

Cost of material is being secured but no contracts have been let. The building will be of brick and stone consisting of 27 class rooms, laboratories, offices, library, gymnasium and auditorium. It will be erected on school owned property west of Harvester park.

Utility Ready To Assist City On Audit Job

Cooperation Assured; Company Willing To Negotiate

Assurance of full cooperation with the City in connection with the city commission's plan to acquire the property of The Southwestern Public Service Company in Pampa, was given today by C. S. Makeig, Amarillo, president of the utility company.

The information was contained in a letter written by Mr. Makeig to Mayor Ed S. Carr and members of the city commission.

The utility company president sets forth in the letter that J. E. Cunningham, general manager of the Southwestern Public Service Company, is available to represent the company in further discussions leading to the consummation of the contract of purchase and sale, in accordance with the exact terms thereof and if the City so desires, to explore the possibility and advisability of a new franchise upon terms mutually beneficial to the City and to the company.

Mr. Cunningham, the letter states, will be assisted in the discussions and negotiations by other company officials and representatives, including James M. Collins, company manager in Pampa, and William J. Smith, Pampa, company attorney.

Late last November the city commission notified the power company that it was ready to exercise a purchase option clause in the company's franchise with the city, and asked the utility to furnish the City with figures on construction and betterment costs plus four per cent interest on the company's facilities in Pampa and vicinity.

Last Dec. 30, the company submitted, in accordance with that request, a figure of $71,000.

The City acknowledged receipt of the figure and in a resolution asked cooperation of the company in assisting city-employed engineers and auditors in a check of the company's report.

Mr. Makeig's letter today was in compliance with that request, according to Mr. Collins, local plant manager.

One paragraph in Mr. Makeig's letter stated:

"The Southwestern Public Service Company will allow persons designated by the City full access, at all reasonable times, to all information, records, inventories and properties in its possession, which reflect the construction and betterment charges and interest."

News Asks For Six Types Of Pictures For Snow Contest

Nearly 100 pictures of snow scenes which were entered in the News snapshot contest last night, but still not represented sufficiently among the entries were pictures of the following scenes which the News would like to have before the contest:

- 1) Pictures of snow men.
- 2) Snapshots of children sliding down the hill on sleds at the city park, or elsewhere.
- 3) Views of skaters at the city lake.
- 4) Pictures of snow ball fights.
- 5) Cars stuck in the snow, or covered up.
- 6) More pictures of residents shoveling snow.

If any Pampans has snapshots of such scenes they are urged to bring or mail them to the News—or if they have other good snow scenes, preferably with people in them (because a picture is always better if people in action are in it), the News will welcome their entry. Only a

Three Birthday Dances Will Be Held In Pampa

Presenting three good dances in Pampa that will attract capacity crowds will be the aim of the Gray county 1940 committee for the celebration of the President's birthday, R. C. Watson, chairman, said Saturday.

Mr. Watson explained that it had been decided the best results could be obtained by concentrating efforts on the dances, rather than diffusing work over too many activities in order to raise money for the infantile paralysis fund.

Mrs. H. H. Helskel has been appointed chairman of the old timers dance to be held as a part of the celebration, January 30. Invitations for hosts and hostesses from surrounding towns are to be mailed soon. Other members of the old timers dance committee are Mrs. Gene Shackleton, A. A. Tiemann, and Dave Turotte.

George Grammas has been appointed secretary of county committee and Charles Lamka, treasurer. Other committee members are Jimmy Myers and Emory Smith.

The 1940 committee is to meet with the 1939 committee, of which L. H. Johnson was chairman, this week, after which meeting plans for the 1940 celebration are expected to be in full swing.

Cardenas Charges Intervention Plot

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 13 (AP)—Leaders of the dominant revolutionary bloc of the Mexican congress today initiated a movement that threatened to curb Mexico's press and charged that general Juan Andreu Almazan, leading Angli-government presidential candidate, was trying to start a rebellion which would lead to intervention by the United States.

The meeting also heard charges that Almazan, sharp critic of the government, had reached an agreement with the Mexican Catholic church and the United States oil companies to raise a rebellion.

Influential senator Jose Davila declared:

"In the press of the United States, Almazan with the money of the oil companies is making a campaign of Calumny against general Cardenas and his regime. We affirm that his work is infamous and unpatriotic."

"I have proofs and documents that Almazan and Sanchez Tapia (general Rafael Sanchez Tapia, another independent presidential candidate) are conspiring with the Episcopacy of Mexico and the oil companies of the United States."

Witherspoon Appointed To Succeed Tatum

AUSTIN, Jan. 13 (AP)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel said today he had appointed district attorney James Witherspoon of Hereford to succeed Reece Tatum, district judge at Dalhart, who died recently.

O'Daniel said the appointment was effective immediately.

Finns Report Over 200 On Casualty List

Soviet Threatens Helsinki With Destruction

By WADE WERNER
HELSINKI, Jan. 13 (AP)—Russian bombs fell close to the United States legation in suburban Grankulla today when Red army warplanes engaged in their first raid of 1940 on Helsinki.

The Grankulla district, where many foreigners took up temporary residence after the Soviet invasion, was hit severely by the detonating bombs.

Twelve 100-pound bombs fell in the Espoo district close by Grankulla, but no deaths were reported there.

In Helsinki, however, two men and one woman were on a death list made public late tonight and 200 others, including nine women, were reported injured from the 40 bombs rained on the city by the raiders.

A Reuters (British news agency) dispatch later said 13 persons were killed and 71 wounded in the air raids today. Five hundred bombs were reported dropped.

Finnish officials said at least 400 Soviet planes, the same number that participated in far-ranging attacks yesterday, took part in today's raids throughout Finland.

Helsinki escaped yesterday's raids, but this was a perfect bombing day, with high clouds which permitted the Soviet fliers to disappear at will and dodge defensive fire.

More than 100 bombs were dumped on twice-raided Hyvinkaa, railroad junction some 30 miles north of Helsinki. The explosives for the most part fell wide of their mark, causing only one death, injuries to 10 persons and some property damage.

Karis, on the Helsinki-Turku railway, also was raided.

When the sound of the raiding planes died away Russian broadcasts, supposedly emanating from Moscow, went on the air shouting Helsinki with complete destruction.

With today's raids, military observers drew the conclusion that the Soviet high command was seizing every opportunity in favorable bombing weather to strike terror into Finland's civilian population to offset failures on the warfront.

The raids were directed chiefly

Harvesters And 'Glamor Boys' Win Games

Yannigan Club Defeated In Exciting Game

The Harvesters made the Sandies look as weak as a day-old chick Friday night in winning 43 to 28, but those 17 of "glamor pants" reserves of the Harvesters squad stole the show in the first game by going out the unbeaten Yannigans from Amarillo in an exciting 21 to 20 battle.

It was a you-make-one-and-I-make-one battle all the way, with the score tied up a dozen times and deadlocked as tight as moose horns a half minute before the game ended. Then Junior Frasier, reserve center who had not practiced all week on account of being sick at home, finally swished the net in a free shot. It was the shot that won the game. In the preceding three minutes he had missed three free shots.

The game was rough and hard-fought with the Yannigan coach sending in three different teams every so often. J. C. Knowles of Berger who called both games had his hands full in both games, but the first one was a dilly to call. The score sheet shows that he assessed 16 fouls against the Yannigans and one against the reserves, and the crowd boomed and protested because he did not call more. He might have called more but every one he called was committed.

Gymnasium Filled
The gym was practically filled, and the crowd came early to see the first game, and continuously cheered the reserves who have become favorites with the fans.

The Yannigans looped 10 field goals to the Harvesters 7, but the Pampa boys made 7 free shots—and missed 15. The Yannigans got one free shot and missed it. The reserves have not been defeated this season.

The Sandies were almost as rough as the Yannigans, and they drew 15 fouls to 8 for the Harvesters. Knowles was selected as referee at the request of Coach T. G. Hull of the Sandies.

Harvesters Improve Greatly
The Harvesters showed new improvement, and were never in any danger. They scored 11 points before the Sandies could make a point and were leading 13 to 4 at the first quarter. They led 22 to 11 at the half, 33 to 21 at the third quarter and led the Sandies from 6 to 15 points all the way. The Sandies used 15 men in the game but their best boys were Hitch, forward, who scored 7 points and Baker, guard, who led the Sandie sharpshooters.

Norton Gets Five-Year Job And $10,000 A Year

Dizzy Dean points to the bargain figure he says he'll work for. The Cub pitcher who received $20,000 last year, admits he didn't come up to expectations, but declares he won't toil for the 50 per cent cut Chicago is trying to hang on to.

Coaches Reach No Decision On Fight On Age Limit Rule

with 10 tallies. The Sandies were slow and awkward compared with the Harvesters who broke fast and nabbed practically all the rebounds.

Pete Dunaway played one of his best games of the season, scoring 14 points, the same number as Red Bearden, and shining in offensive play. Seth Cox, a consistent player, did a good job at his new forward position, hitting the basket for four field goals and two free shots. The scoring was pretty well divided up in the first half with Bearden scoring 4 points, Seth Cox 4, Terrell 4, and Dunaway 6.

That Coach Odus Mitchell has two crowd-pleasing teams this year was evident, and the reaction of the fans indicated that attendance at the games from now on will be good. The crowd saw plenty of thrill-bringing action—brilliant dribbling, spectacular shots, clever feinting.

The Harvesters did not play at Canyon last night as scheduled, due to the snow storm. Last Saturday night a game at Panhandle was cancelled on account of a snow storm. The next game will be here Thursday night against the Plainview Bulldogs. A doubleheader will be played, as usual, with the reserves of both teams playing in the first game, and the regulars in the second. Admission will be 25 and 10 cents.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
ATHENS, Jan. 13 (AP)—Austin was selected by the executive committee of the Texas High School Football Coaches association today as the site of the seventh annual coaching school.

The school—known as the world's largest—will be held from August 4 to 10. The committee had not obtained the school instructors but hoped to finish up this business over the week-end. Contacts have been made but decisions from the coaches offered the posts have not been received.

Indications were that Major Bob Noyland, coach of the University of Tennessee, would head the staff of instructors.

Bidding for the school were representatives from Dallas, Fort Worth, Tyler, Mineral Wells, Kerville and Austin. Kerville's bid, however, was made only on the possibility that the school would be given a permanent location.

The committee, which met last night and for several hours today, reached no decision on what it would do regarding opposition to the new 18-year age limit to be invoked next season by the Inter-scholastic league.

This item of business was tabled but it was learned this did not mean the association had abandoned its efforts toward getting the rule repealed.

No Fight Made
The point was stressed, however, that no organized fight was being made on the interscholastic league but that the rule had been submitted to a vote of some 400 coaches and superintendents in an effort to show the general sentiment as a guide for the interscholastic league to follow. The rule was invoked without a referendum vote among the member schools.

Plans were made for selection of 48 boys who finished their high school eligibility last season to play in the annual all-star game, as a feature of the coaching school program.

The state was divided into regions that take in areas such as used in the basketball plan. Each region committee will turn in 12 nominations to the region chairman.

The chairman turn these nominations over to general committees by February 10 and 24 boys are selected for each side, 24 representing the northern section of the league football plan and a like number for the south section.

Committees Named
The general committees are: South—Buddy Savage, Beaumont, chairman; Lee Mitchell, Yoakum; Clyde Park, Fort Stockton, and Buck Barr, Kingsville.

North—Ted Jeffries, Wichita Falls, chairman; P. E. Shovel, Longview; Harry Taylor, San Angelo, and J. G. Keys, Lubbock.

Nominations are made from eight regions. D. X. Bible, coach of the University of Texas and a member of the national rules committee, said the rules of interscholastic football next season would limit the quarters of high school games to 12 minutes.

The interscholastic league plays under these rules so the 12-minute limit will apply to Texas. This rule was abandoned to better equalize play for teams with small squads against larger ones and cut down on injuries.

It is said that Jerusalem derived its name from a word meaning "abode of peace."

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 13 (AP)

Mild Homer Norton, a man who strode from the doghouse to the top of the football coaching heap in four months with a great Texas A. and M. team, today signed a new five-year contract.

Formally approved and rewarded by the same athletic council that only last season pondered the thought of dismissing him before the '38 schedule had been completed, Norton got a lusty salary increase and the security he demanded.

The contract was dated Sept. 1, 1940, to extend through the playing season of 1945.

Simultaneously came the report that Norton, with eight of this year's No. 1 ranking team and Shun Bowling returning next year, would play one of football's roughest schedules.

Although the schedule was not completed, it was announced the Aggies would play the University of California at Los Angeles. Other teams expected to be scheduled are California and Ohio State in addition to the usual suicidal Southwest conference schedule.

Previously, Norton had intimated the Aggies could play a light schedule in 1940.

$10,000 Salary Reported
No definite salary figures were cited after the Aggie board of directors approved Norton's new contract, but it was believed the veteran of 20 years coaching signed at a figure in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Board members expressed gratification at securing Norton.

"So far as I'm concerned," the coach said, "I'm very happy and am not interested in a job anywhere besides A. and M. college of Texas."

The board announced after a discussion of many attractive pre-conference game offers, that the athletic council would announce the schedule within a few days.

Only a season ago Norton, a mild man of 43 who has spent 20 years in the coaching profession, was threatened with dismissal after a potentially strong cadet team stumbled through the season with a minus record of four wins, five losses and a tie.

The blow came when the University of Texas, loser of eight straight games, played an amazing game to defeat an Aggie team favored by two touchdowns in the '38 Thanksgiving Day classic.

Some reports, never verified, were that athletic heads had discussed the thought of relieving Norton before the '38 schedule was completed.

The bald mentor got another one-year contract when it seemed he was certain to be replaced.

Changes Tactics
Virtually the same team, with the exception of Dandy Dick Todd, great climax runner, reported this year and Norton, changing his tactics, threw the team to the finest season in A. and M. football history.

Complaints that Norton, a sick man for two years, wasn't making the proper contact with his boys vanished when he started sitting on the bench with the head coaching game and destroyed a makeshift tower he had used during his illness.

Norton, in '38, sat atop a 25-foot tower and directed daily practice through a loudspeaker.

Norton was graduated from Birmingham-Southern college in 1916, starting in four major sports. He played professional baseball before becoming head coach at Centenary college in 1920. Two years later he became line coach under Bo McMillin and was again made head coach in 1926.

Norton's Centenary teams wrecked Southwest conference squads for years before he was chosen to succeed Matty Bell as head coach at Texas A. and M. in 1934. He had three undefeated teams at Centenary, two coming in 1932 and 1933, just before his switch to the Aggies.

In 15 years of head coaching, Norton's teams have won 93, lost 42 and tied 15. His Aggie teams have won 33, lost 23 and tied six.

School Head Goes Quail Hunting And Now Has Pet Bird

Special To The NEWS
WHEELER, Jan. 13—Allen Kavanaugh, Wheeler county school superintendent, went quail hunting the other day and got one quail—but not in the usual manner.

The hunter was following tracks in the snow and as he stepped into a snare trap he got set to shoot because he knew the covey was in that particular patch. As he stood still a moment he felt a movement around his legs and looking down he saw a large quail nesting between his legs.

Mr. Kavanaugh picked up the bird and put it in the pocket of his hunting coat as the rest of the covey flew away.

Now Mr. Kavanaugh has a pet quail at his place.

Kunschik, who supervises boxing, placed Buddy Scott of Dallas at the top of the heavyweight class, Jimmy Webb of Houston, light-heavyweight, Billy Pryor of Houston, middleweight, Kenny La Salle of Houston, welterweight; Lew Johns of Sweetwater, lightweight; Marcelina De la Rosa (K. O. Borrado) of Laredo, featherweight; Gasimiro Sanchez of San Antonio, bantamweight; and Jose Torres of Laredo, flyweight.

Kunschik said he was not designating champions in any division but would sanction any bout between the best man in each first and only of the four rated below him, preferably the No. 2 man, as for the championship of the state in that weight.

Other than the No. 1 men, the ratings of boxers in the various classes were in the following order:

Heavyweight, Jack Marshall, J. D. Henry, all of Dallas; light-heavyweight (175 pounds), Billy Colbert and Elby Pettaway of Houston; middleweight (160 pounds) and Jimmy Slaty of Houston; lightweight (140 pounds), Al Bernard and Tony Bruno of Houston, Wild Bill McDowell of Dallas, and Paul Coitlyn of El Paso.

Welterweight (147 pounds), Johnnie Stevens and Johnnie Flores of Houston, Billy Deeg of San Antonio, and Jose "Kid" Mezleca of Laredo; lightweight (135 pounds), Manuel Villa 2d and Jose Lopez of Helotes, Sammy Musco and Harry Thelapape of Houston; featherweight (126 pounds), Jose Mendosa and Francisco Contreras (Pancho Villa) of Laredo, Frankie Limon of San Antonio, and Jimmy Lawrence of Dallas, bantamweight (118 pounds), Frank Padron and Herb Gilmore of Houston, Martias Ruiz and Alexandro Garcia of Laredo; flyweight (112 pounds), Augustin Martinez of Brownsville, Willie Castillo and Felix Torres of Laredo.

Aggies Will Play Ohio State Oct. 5

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13 (AP)—Ohio State university today selected Texas A. and M., undefeated and untied in last season's play, for a football game here Oct. 5.

The game, to fill an open date caused by the withdrawal of University of Chicago from football, is dependent up on the Texas school's arranging its playing dates to conform.

The 1941-42 schedule for the Buckeyes, given final approval, included two-year agreements with the University of Southern California and Pittsburgh and the return to Missouri to the Ohio schedule in 1940 and Indiana in 1942.

The 1941 schedule listed the Southern California game for Oct. 4 at Los Angeles. In 1942, Southern California will play here Oct. 10.

Bill Kern Named Head Coach At West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 13 (AP)—William F. (Bill) Kern, gridiron coach at Carnegie Tech for three years, today was selected as head coach of West Virginia university, a school with an enrollment of 3,000 and ambitions to return to power on the gridiron.

Appointment of the 33-year-old blond-haired, chubby mentor, who was named "coach of the year" in 1938, fulfilled student and alumni demands for a major college coach to guide the mountaineers back to the gridiron pinnacle attained under Dr. Clarence Spears in the early 20's.

Kern, who resigned at Tech last Monday, was recommended for the post by Director of Athletics Roy M. Hawley. The appointment was made by the university's board of governors in a special session here. Kern succeeded Dr. Marshall Glenn who resigned last December at the end of one of the Mountaineers' poorest seasons.

Still current in the West Indies are goals or British four-penny pieces, which long since have been out of use in the mother country.

US Must Fight To Save Land Says Bennett

DALLAS, Jan. 13 (AP)—Dr. H. H. Bennett, chief of the department of agriculture's soil conservation service, told Texas agricultural workers in their opening annual session today the United States must fight to save the abundance of land it has.

He praised Texas for its soil conservation projects. "Nations in other parts of the world are warring with each other to gain or hold land," the nation's chief soil conservator said. "In this country we now have in abundance what these nations are fighting for, but we must also fight to protect our land. We must fight uncontrolled wind and water, careless and inconsiderate, as well as ill-advised, antiquated farming practices that were bad in great-grandfather's day."

"Already, more than half the land in the United States—more than a billion acres—has been ruined or damaged to some extent by soil erosion. Half of the crop land of the country today has lost all or a considerable part of its productive topsoil."

Louis F. Merrill of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Agricultural Association, in opening the session told members "we feel that in the constant drive, pressure and tension with which each agency has attempted to properly meet its own responsibilities during the somewhat critical years of the past decade that sufficient time has not been taken to study and evaluate the work of other agencies."

Improvement in rural living parallels the development of scientific agriculture, Margaret W. Weeks of Lubbock told the convention. She is dean of the division of home economics at Texas Technological college.

"Home economics educators have endeavored to modify their teachings to meet new situations by changes in curricula," she said. "more emphasis is placed on the economics of family-living, family money management, consumer education, housing and equipment."

Dr. W. B. Allen (CQ), of Washington, said the views of farmers expressed through their county land-use planning committees are already beginning to influence national farm programs. Dr. Allen heads the State and local planning division of the federal bureau of agricultural economics.

Stressing the need of conservation, Dr. Bennett said:

"Texas has been a leader in the (conservation) movement from the beginning. Throughout the state you can find outstanding examples of progress in the direction of conservation. Newhall, Garland, Hereford, Channing, Lindale and Temple work has been done which any farmer and any state can be proud to call their own. The achievements at Lindale and Temple are especially illustrative of what has been done and what can be done."

"The watershed of Elm creek, near Temple, boasts the largest soil block of conservation—treated farms in the country. Working with technicians of the soil conservation service, farmers in that watershed have established erosion control measures that are holding soil and rainfall on 165 adjoining farms, covering about 30,000 acres."

"In the Duck creek watershed near Lindale, an economic survey has been made every year since 1935 to compare the income of farmers practicing soil conservation, with the income of farmers using the customary methods. Over the four year period, the farm income on the conservation farms has risen steadily in comparison with the others. Last year it was several hundred percent greater."

Connally Assures Pension Payments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) telegraphed Governor Lee O'Daniel today there would be "no difficulty" about federal old age assistance payments to Texas for January, despite disagreement for the Texas Unemployment compensation commission and the State Welfare department.

Connally said he had discussed the question with Arthur J. Altmeyer, chairman of the social security board, who told him the board disagreed with an opinion of the Texas attorney general that the two states agencies could not set up a joint council to examine and certify applicants for appointment in conformity with the board's regulations.

The board insisted, Connally said, that each of the two agencies still would make its own appointments if a joint board were created, "and that the merit requirements would only be a method of exercising the power of appointment."

If a joint merit council were undesirable, the board said, "it is clear that each agency may establish its own merit council and exercise its own power of appointment without requiring the concurrence of the other department."

NLRB Probe Turned Over To Attorney

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—The House committee investigating the National Labor Board decided today to turn over the inquiry to Charles Fahy, board general counsel, on Jan. 29.

Chairman Smith (D-Va) said that the committee would let Fahy call any witnesses he chose and present "The Labor Board's side of the case" for perhaps a week.

Fahy has complained that the board has had no opportunity to reply to testimony and evidence thus far presented at the public hearings.

Presumably Fahy first will call Chairman J. Warren Madden of the board, and Edwin S. Smith, another board member.

With the resumption of hearings Monday, the committee will question trial examiners on whether they try to "build up cases" for the board.

A committee official said nine examiners had been asked to appear, and that they also would be asked to explain certain phases of their judicial work which appeared to be "irregular."

Finns' Claims 'Utter Lies,' Says Russians

MOSCOW, Jan. 13 (AP)—The Soviet Russian army command declared tonight that "animal fear before the prospect of a military bloc between Germany and the U. S. S. R." had inspired what it described as foreign reports that German military instructors were reorganizing the Red army. It said the report was a "stupid, extraordinary lie."

The long statement asserted also that only 900 Russian soldiers had lost their lives in the Finnish campaign and these casualties were "due to the sudden cold which set in, rather than to the action of Finnish troops."

On the other hand, the war review issued by the Leningrad area military headquarters through Tass, official Soviet news agency, declared Finnish troops have lost not less than 2,000 killed and wounded.

It declared, further, that "foreign gossiped carefully pass in silence" the fact that "members of the Finnish Schutz corps brutally killed their wounded" so they could not talk to Russians who might capture them.

To the night communique telling of bombings of some "railway junctions and military objectives," was added the review of the "second three-weeks period of hostilities in Finland." This insisted that in that period "no substantial changes took place at the front."

The review included a vehement condemnation of "fabrication and seditious inventions regarding the Soviet troop" by the foreign press.

Laughable Lie
It said that foreign agencies, "referring to mythical 'sources' in Geneva, Helsinki and Riga assert—not assert, but shut themselves hoarse—that Finnish troops have broken through the front in all directions, cross the Soviet frontier and waged operations on the territory of the USSR."

"This is an utter lie and a childish, witless, laughable lie at that," the statement said that foreign agencies had alleged that in the 44th division in middle Finland and the 44th Soviet division lost 14,000 men and added "this allegation is due to the super-natural fantasy of its authors. The 44th division in all had no more than 10,000 men on the front, then how could it lose 14,000?"

On the present status of the war, the statement said that in the Vipurri area in southern Finland Finnish troops are about 44 miles from the frontier; in the Arctic Petsamo section about 80 miles from the frontier and that in the Suomussalmi sector in the "waks" of Finland, the Finns were occupying Russian territory, between six and ten miles from the frontier.

It declared Finnish troops had not reached the frontier at a single point and that the Murmansk railway, instead of being cut, had not suspended service for "a single minute."

Moreover, the review contended that Soviet troops had advanced more than 80 miles into Finland from the Petsamo Arctic district.

Heads Together Over Big Navy Plans

New Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison (right), went right to work following the request of the Chief of Naval Operations for $1,300,000 to pay for a 25 per cent tonnage increase in Uncle Sam's ships. Secretary Edison, supporting the request, is pictured in conference with Representative Carl Vinson, House Naval Affairs Committee chairman.

Judges Would Untangle WPA Intake Snarl

AUSTIN, Jan. 13 (AP)—Committees of the county judges and commissioners association of Texas voted today to send a delegation to Washington next week in an effort to untangle the W. P. A. intake snarl.

The meeting of the association's legislative and executive committees was enlivened by criticism of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, the legislature and "persons in Washington who want to create more jobs for social service case workers."

Judge Jake J. Loy of Sherman said: "After a recent three-hour conference with the governor, I was convinced he doesn't know and doesn't care about the poor people or the old people of this state."

The delegation to the national capital will be headed by Homer Bouldin of Albany, president of the association, who will name its other members. The group will seek quick approval of a plan under which Texas can again start certifying new eligibles for W. P. A. after being unable to do so since November 1.

Under that plan, suggested by Adam R. Johnson, state public welfare director, the state old age pension organization would supervise certification of persons eligible for W. P. A. aid.

Federal social security authorities insist that some state agency supervise local W. P. A. investigations. The governor and legislature have provided no money to finance an independent agency for that work.

Washington Criticized
Judge Roy Hofheinz of Houston, referring to inability thus far to obtain federal sanction of Johnson's plan, said: "It is quite clear to me that too many individuals in Washington today are far more concerned with the creation of more jobs for social service case workers and supervisors than they are in seeing to it that relief comes to those in real distress and need."

Several speakers said they saw no chance of Governor O'Daniel calling a special session of the legislature to create a separate W. P. A. supervisory agency.

"Texas cannot handle this situation," asserted Judge C. C. Randle of Waxahatche, "because our governor and legislature in their spite with each other have completely ignored the human side and there is no chance to secure a special session to save 50,000 Texans from misery and want and starvation."

Sales Tax Expected To Be Major Issue

AUSTIN, Jan. 13 (AP)—Announcement of Rep. Albert Derden for Governor was viewed here tonight as strengthening the possibility that the general sales tax will be the principle issue in the approaching campaign.

Whether it will speed Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's disclosure of his intentions in regard to seeking re-nomination was a subject of speculation. Nearly all observers believe O'Daniel will try for the traditional second term but he has said nothing definite on the matter.

Last spring, O'Daniel endorsed a proposal constitutional amendment which would have levied a 2 per cent sales tax. Derden was one of its leading foes.

Friends of railroad commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, runner-up in the 1938 Governor's race, say he is certain to run again. Other prospective gubernatorial candidates include Jerry Sadler, also a member of the railroad commission, and highway commissioner Harry Hines.

British Claim Survey Flight Greatest Yet

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Britain's air force answered persistent German reconnaissance flights and attacks on shipping with "the greatest survey flight" of the war during the night and today.

Both sides appeared to be setting the stage for future aerial onslaughts.

As German planes dodged along the east coast of England for the fifth successive day, the air ministry announced that British aircraft had made mass scouting flights over Austria and Bohemia, dropping propaganda leaflets in the vicinity of Vienna and Prague and reconnoitering extensively in eastern Germany.

It was the first time in the war that British planes had been reported over the newly annexed parts of greater Germany. A British war correspondent in France said the flights had been made from French bases.

The flights culminated a week of unusual scouting activity by both British and German air forces which military experts regarded as necessary preparation for determined air offensives.

The British reported that two German aircraft were downed during the day but denied a Nazi high command announcement that two royal air force planes had been destroyed.

In the war at sea it was disclosed that the Trawler Lucida had gone down with the loss of all her crew of 12 after hitting a mine.

On the home front fears of sabotage were stirred by a series of incidents.

At Donaghadee, northern Ireland, a sentry's shots drove off four men apparently attempting to cut the cable between Scotland and northern Ireland, while at Hendon airport, in suburban London, airplanes fired at an intruder who ignored their challenge.

Fire routed northern Ireland's Governor, the Duke of Abercorn, and his household from 300-year-old Baronscourt castle.

Explosions and fire swept a shipyard at Northwich, Cheshire, approximately 30 miles southeast of Liverpool, but officials said sabotage was not involved.

Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, urged Britain to greater sacrifices in order to "continue war without inflation" and "avoid a post war slump."

Sir John told a St. Andrew's hall audience in Glasgow that it was imperative to restrict consumption further, both to provide war funds and limit competition.

Reveals New Plan to Fortify Guam

New plan to spend $4,000,000 to fortify and improve harbor at Guam was revealed in testimony of Admiral Harold Stark, Chief of Naval Operations, before House Naval Affairs Committee. Proposed bill for similar project was defeated in Congress last year.

The President's budget proposed curtailed expenditures for many domestic purposes, but included a record national defense total of $1,800,000,000. Adams and some other senators have contended the defense allotment should be whittled down, and the money diverted to farm relief, or other domestic programs.

A senate appropriations subcommittee will meet early next week to consider the House-approved $264,000,000 deficiency appropriations bill. The measure carried $7,000,000 less than the amount recommended by the administration, and several senators were seeking to reduce it even further.

Any Increase In Budget To Be Opposed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Supporters of the Harrison plan to create a joint congressional budget-making committee conceded today that it was dead for this session, but senate economy advocates made it clear they would wage a vigorous fight to prevent any increase in President Roosevelt's budget.

Senator Harrison (D-Miss), chairman of the senate finance committee, proposed creation of a special committee of 12 senators and 12 representatives to study President Roosevelt's spending and tax estimates and make recommendations to Congress.

The senate approved the proposal unanimously last Wednesday, but House leaders have indicated antagonism to it, contending that regular House committees already were far advanced in study of appropriation needs.

Subsequently, the House appropriations committee instructed its subcommittees to hold expenditures within the President's budget estimates.

This action generally was considered as a counter-proposal to Harrison's plan, and persons close to Harrison said today he was convinced the House would not accept his proposal. The Mississippi was represented, too, as having decided against carrying out an earlier plan to set up a separate 12-man senate committee, and to be hopeful, instead, that the senate would adopt the same idea as the House committee and put a ceiling on spending.

Economy-minded legislators said that they would make their fight on the basis of holding spending down to the $8,400,000,000 total proposed by Mr. Roosevelt.

Aviation Has Big Year

It's as safe in an airplane these days as it is in a baby's crib. Or at least it was during 1939, according to a host of heartening statistics released by the Air Transport Association of America.

Domestic airlines carried 1,400,000 persons over a total of 820,000,000 passenger miles without even scratching the nose of a single person. Col. Edgar S. Correll, president of the Air Transport Association, was probably right when he said that this was the "greatest increase in safe travel of any class of passenger service for any similar period in the history of transportation in the United States."

The safety record becomes even more remarkable in view of the fact that the number of passenger miles flown both by domestic and international lines originating in this country increased from 635,000,000 in 1938 to 820,000,000 last year. Mail and express shipments also increased, according to the report.

The increase in passenger travel is directly linked to the enviable safety record set by commercial pilots, mechanics and all others who are responsible for the safe flight of transport planes. The increased enthusiasm for air travel enabled airline executives to dip into the black ink bottle again for the first time in several years. For the past several years, airlines have been operating at a net annual loss of $2,000,000, Colonel Correll said.

It is also true that the confidence of the public in air transportation is making it possible for airlines to rely less on mail contracts and express business, and more on passenger services. Only five years ago, about 70 per cent of the business handled by transport ships included mail and express shipments, and passenger service comprised only 30 per cent. Last year, 80 per cent of the commerce handled by commercial aviation firms was in the form of human cargo.

While safety played a prime part in vitalizing passenger business, the airline firms also bestow a certain amount of deserved credit upon the smooth functioning of the Civil Aeronautics Act and on the Air Traffic Conference which opened up a system of coordination among the various lines.

Aviation is still a growing industry. No one would contend that it has reached the peak of its efficiency, the pinnacle of its ability to serve the public. Fifteen years ago there was no scheduled passenger service. Twenty-five years ago, most people still regarded the flying machine as something with which only a fool would play.

Yet, despite its comparative youth, aviation has already set a record which no other mode of transportation in this country in 1939. But they did not happen to the nation can claim. There were airplane accidents in trained pilots of the transport companies. The airlines have proved that, given good equipment, and expert personnel, there need be no fear of accidents. It is the best kind of publicity aviation can possibly get.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Official but effective work is being done to land the Republican presidential nomination for Congressman Joe Martin of Massachusetts, minority leader in the House.

Martin is not a candidate, active or passive, has no "organization" and is not lifting a finger. Nevertheless the work is being done.

A group of Republican congressmen have taken it upon themselves to see to it that if the Republican convention chooses a dark horse, Martin will get a break. They are quietly contacting supporters of the active presidential candidates and saying:

"When the convention comes, if your candidate is stopped and you have no other commitments, will you give Joe Martin some votes?"

This group has not formally organized and can't be spoken of as a committee at all. The fact that it came into being on a spontaneous-combustion basis is a tribute to the liking and respect which Martin's Republican colleagues in the House have for him.

Incidentally, to date the group hasn't had a single turn-down.

JUDGESHIP MAY SAVE SCHWELLENBACH
If President Roosevelt does as expected and appoints Senator Lewis B. Schwellessbach of Washington to a federal judgeship, he will be saving the political life of one of the most loyal New Dealers.

Senator Schwellessbach is up for re-election this year, and he faces extremely hard sledding. Between himself and the other senator from Washington, Homer Bone, there is bitter enmity. General understanding in Washington is that Bone is out to beat Schwellessbach and has the cards to do it.

ROOSEVELT'S TAX SOPHISMS

News dispatches report that President Roosevelt opposes taxes which will curtail consumer purchasing power. The inference is that there is a discriminatory sort of a tax that does not reduce consumer purchasing power. The only kind of a tax that does not reduce consumer purchasing power is a uniform tax the proceeds of which are used to perform services which can be done more economically by the government than they can be done by private citizens, such as fire departments, policing, judicial and national defense.

But, when the government does things that can be done better and more economically privately than they can be done publicly and attempts to claim that this can be done by taxing the big producers, they are making a claim that does not stand up under logic or the experiences of history. It is a fallacious claim, because the money which they take from the big producers is money that would be used to buy labor to create new wealth. And this new wealth would make every consumer in the land buy more for the wealth that he produces. It would raise their standard of living. So, when the government attempts to tax people on a magical theory that they are not reducing purchasing power by so doing, they are, in reality, reducing purchasing power in the long run, much more than they would be reducing it if they taxed directly so that all would pay on the same principle.

They are, in short, simply eating up the seed corn and every consumer, consequently, can have less food, shelter and comforts. If only the people could understand the hypocrisy, or errors, of the Roosevelt theory of taxes, the whole New Deal scheme would collapse. Their whole plan is based on the fallacious theory that there is some way of levying discriminatory taxes without reducing purchasing power.

WHAT AMERICA NEEDS MOST

What America needs most is more people demanding that each man gets what he produces. Practically every person in the United States will contend that he believes in this principle, yet he repeatedly denies it by what he advocates. He denies it when he advocates anything that interferes with free exchanges, such as graduated taxes, collective bargaining, tariffs, prorate, majority rule education at public expense. All these are contradictions to the axiom that each man should get what he produces.

TOO MANY COOKS SPOIL THE BROTH

Our social problems are a result of too many cooks spoiling the broth. Nowadays, an individual in business has to, in reality, get the consent of the majority, or the majority's representatives, before he can proceed to supply the comforts of life in most any line.

An employer has to get the consent of the government as to whether he dare put on a beginner to learn and how much he may pay them. He has to get the consent of the majority of the people to determine what part of the fruits of the production he may get and what part he may keep from the tax collector, if he happens to have anything left out of the undertaking.

He has to get, in reality, the consent of the majority, or their representatives, if he makes a long time contract, in order to know how the products of his labor will be exchanged for dollars.

The result is he does not have much to say about how wealth is produced and distributed. Our trouble is that we have too many cooks in our social and economic broth. It is an old axiom that everybody's business is nobody's business. The result is less business.

CHANGING NEW YEAR'S DATE

The first day of the year has had a curiously fluctuating history, so far as the actual date is concerned. Using the present January 1 as a point of reference, we find that among the ancient Persians, Egyptians and Phoenicians the year began on September 21, the autumnal equinox.

For the Romans, it was December 21 until Caesar adopted the Julian calendar which placed it on January 1.

For the Jews the civil year has always begun on the first day of the month of Tishri (September 5, October 5) while the ecclesiastical year starts March 21, the Spring equinox.

In early medieval times the Christians observed the 25th of March but in Anglo-Saxon England New Year's Day fell on December 25. William the Conqueror ordered that January 1 be observed because his coronation had been arranged for that day. Later, however, England went back to the customary 25th of March.

When the Gregorian calendar was promulgated in 1582, January 1 was restored to its position as New Year's Day and was immediately accepted by all Catholic countries. By 1700 Germany, Denmark and Sweden had followed suit but it was not until the middle of the 18th century that England changed to January 1.

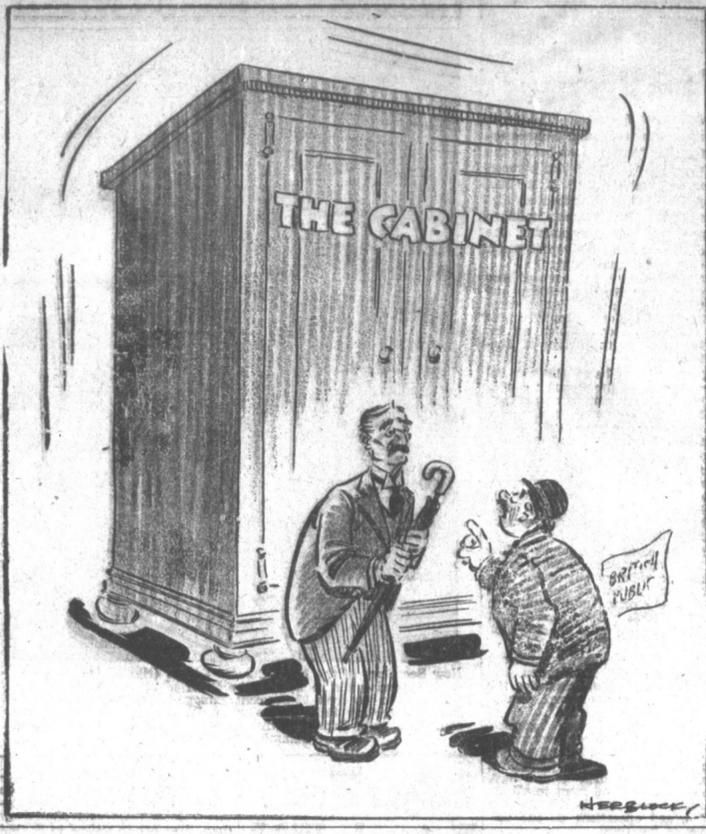

In the United States, of course, the year has always begun on this date; a time for merriment, sober reflection, and most important of all, the making of resolutions.

BENDER'S GEM

(Indianapolis News)

Most people are behind with their reading of the Congressional Record. Somebody is always waiting for a good biography or a naughty novel, and there are the newspapers to be read every day. As a rule the Record is dull reading, and more often than not one who starts out with the best intentions wanders through a few pages and quits. But the reading of all who make the good start perhaps adds up to totality with the result that if something worth while appears, one person sees it and passes it along.

IS IT TRUE THAT THERE'S A SKELETON IN IT?

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—"Four Wives." Screenplay by Julius J. and Philip G. Epstein and Maurice Hanline suggested by Fannie Hurst novel. Directed by Michael Curtiz. Principals: Priscilla Lane, Rosemary Lane, Julia Lane, Gale Page, Claude Rains, Jeffrey Lynn, Eddie Albert, May Robson, Frank McHugh, Dick Foran, Henry O'Neill, Vera Lewis, John Qualen.

The delightful Lemp family of "Four Daughters" returns to carry on its screen humor and heart-tugging. The procedure is, on the whole, a success even though marred, by over-length, by too frequent emphasis on the obvious, and—for the critical—by too heavy doses of plain and fancy humors.

The musical Lemp take up where they left off. Ann (Priscilla Lane) is widowed, since Mickey Borden (John Garfield) died in the first film. Soon to marry Felix (Lynn) she learns that she is to bear Mickey's child and immediately goes over to brooding. Practically a psychotic case, Ann makes everyone miserable by her inability to forget Mickey or his song. Besides there's the child, his only legacy.

Called in to help, young Dr. Foran (Albert) is incidentally made the target of unmarried Kay's (Rosemary Lane's) honorable intentions, Emma (Gale) is already married to Ernest (Foran) and Thea (Lois) to Ben (McHugh).

Digressing from the main theme of Ann and Felix occasionally, the picture takes up the heartbreak of Emma and Ernest, who want a child but can't have one, and the comedy of Thea and Ben, who adopt a child just before they make the great discovery that they needn't have. There are abundant scenes of family life in which the father (Rains) and Aunt Etta (Miss Robson) have opportunity to shine, and here the gay spirit of the first production, and its tenderness, are best re-created. Solution to the Ann-Felix-child problem is attained when Felix completes Mickey's unfinished song, presents it magnificently with full symphony orchestra.

"The Cisco Kid and the Lady." Screenplay by Frances Hyland from story by Stanley Rauh. Directed by Herbert I. Leeds. Principals: Cesar Romero, Marjorie Weaver, Chris-Pin Martin, George Montgomery, Robert Barrat, Virginia Field, Gloria Ann White.

It's Warner Baxter's old role, but Cesar Romero—tall, dark, and toothily gay—is in it this time. The Kid is up to his old tricks, scolding the law and at the same time, the object of a fond, orphan child whose daddy found a gold mine before he was shot, is one of the principal reasons the new edition of the Cisco can be taken pathosily. The baby, Gloria Ann White, is cute and cutely audible—another Baby Sandy, bigshot!

"The Big Guy." Screenplay by Lester Cole from story by Wallace Sullivan and Richard K. Pollner. Directed by Arthur Lubin. Principals: Victor McLaglen, Jackie Cooper, Edward Brophy, Peggy Moran, Osa Munson.

Just stuff with a different angle, "Big Guy" is action melodrama that goes places. McLaglen is the warden of the state penitentiary. By concealing evidence incidental to hiding a fortune he covets for himself, he lets the innocent kid (Cooper) get too close to the house for comfort. Two jailbreaks, chases, and assorted gunbattles add to the merriment.

Three Pampa boys taking aviation at West Texas State college at Canyon have already made their first solo airplane flights. Pascal Massey who has built, thought and lived airplanes since he was old enough to talk was the first out of the entire class to solo. He went up several weeks before Christmas.

We haven't seen Pascal and Vernon but we imagine their reaction was something like W. L.'s who wrote a vivid account of his first flight in a letter to his folks: "My day this morning is here—I soloed this morning at 8:00 a. m. (Thursday, Jan. 11) and received a grade of 'excellent solo' (which is the highest grade there is). We will make a 150-mile cross-country flight in which we will land and take off twice. I think I will fly directly to Pampa, take off and fly to Amarillo, and then back to Canyon. It will be about two weeks before we make these flights. I think that the thrill I had this morning is something that a person has only once in a lifetime. I am so happy that I feel as if I could lick the world with one hand. I must close and go to chemistry lab." W. L. was the second one to solo under his instructor and the fifth in the class. His instructor said the other students would have to shoot high to match his mark.

Well, W. L., we'll be on hand to greet you here when you arrive here on your 150-mile flight, and we would like for Pascal and Vernon to make their solo trips here so we could be at the airport to congratulate them.

One of the most widespread diet deficiency disorders is pellagra. Its true nature has not been understood until quite recently, although it has been known for centuries in European countries. In the United States, it is seen most frequently in the southern states.

Until modern investigations of diets were made, pellagra was believed to be due to all sorts of causes. Unfortunately, most investigators approached the subject with the idea that the disease caused by something that was eaten rather than by lack of vital foods.

Credit for first determining the deficiency character of the disease goes to an investigator of the U. S. Public Health Service, named Goldberger, who experimented with the diets of prisoners in a Mississippi prison farm and who came to the conclusion that there was a factor in the diet which could prevent pellagra and which was absent from the diets of these prisoners.

Today it is known that a substance called nicotinic acid will cure pellagra and prevent pellagra. Apparently, however, not all of the symptoms of pellagra are due to an absence of nicotinic acid. It has been shown that this substance, which is a component of vitamin B, will relieve the most distressing symptoms and some of the skin symptoms, but that neuritis, related to this condition, can be relieved by the use of triamin chloride, which is vitamin B1.

The symptoms of pellagra include changes in the skin which are marked by redness and irritation with secondary cracking and ulceration; soreness of the mouth, and a violent and red appearance of the tongue (here also secondary infections frequently occur). This soreness and redness of the tongue are manifested also in the lining of the whole intestinal tract.

Super-imposed on all of these conditions may be irritability, anxiety, delirium, and even burning sensations in the nerves. The soreness of the mouth and of the intestinal tract naturally prevents patients from eating as they should and it becomes necessary, sometimes, to inject vitamin factors into the body to bring about a prompt result.

As soon as an improvement is noted, it is possible to improve the diet, giving such substances as yeast, liver extract, eggs and lean meat.

Belgian Soldiers On Leave Ordered To Join Their Units

BRUSSELS, Jan. 14 (Sunday)—Belgium by radio and courier late last night suddenly called all soldiers on leave back to their posts throughout the kingdom.

Messengers sped through Brussels in freezing weather and entered cafes, theaters and night clubs to summon soldiers and officers.

On Page One of today's paper there is a story about a contest, solely sponsored by the Pampa News Auxiliary and The Pampa News, a contest in which high school pupils are urged to compete in writing essays on "The Benefits of Democracy," a subject that deals directly with American citizenship. The News is happy to join in the sponsorship of a contest of this type, and we desire to recommend it to every school official and to every high school teacher.

Democracy is imperiled today by enemies inside and beyond our borders. . . . The chief objective of this contest is to stimulate an appreciation of the privileges of being an American citizen in the minds of boys and girls of today who will determine the fate of our democracy tomorrow. . . . The Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has as its purpose to impress in the minds of boys and girls that this country safeguards the rights and freedom of the individual.

And, that this contest may have its most widespread influence in Pampa—is it to be hoped that school officials will recommend to their teachers that the writing of the essays be given to the pupils as an assignment rather than as an invitation. . . . The boys and girls who are getting to study on this subject, the more young men and women we will have who will be getting a better understanding of the benefits we have in America.

The telegraph operators on the Texas-Kansas line are doing them back and forth. . . . For instance, a telegraph operator in New York hears a good one. . . . Comes a lull on his wire, and he fills in his time by sending the story which is picked up by the operators at points in every corner of the nation. . . . They tell and re-tell them, and another good story is dead insofar as fellows like Tom Collins, who must have new ones, are concerned.

THE BUDGET TO BE CENTER OF DISCUSSION

By HARLEY L. LUTZ

Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

The interchange, at long distance, between Senator Taft and President Roosevelt over the balancing of the federal budget presents food for thought. It appears that the Senator said, rather emphatically, in an address to the Senate, that the budget could be balanced in two years.

This little bit so suggestive of a heavy fighting that will develop in the course of the campaign, has a deeper significance. When the President offered a prize for good budget-balancing suggestions, was he merely being facetious, or was there a note of earnestness, even of desperation, behind the offer? Senator Taft said that Mr. Roosevelt had just forgotten, since 1932, what he then knew about budget balancing. If this were all, he'd be a prize for good clean fun.

But it is all so much more than that. It is a matter of lacking the particular kind of capacity required for such a job? The President may have been more earnest in offering a prize for help on his biggest job than he appeared to be. He may have been admitting in this indirect way that the job is entirely beyond him.

Such an interpretation is not too far-fetched when the successive budget messages are recalled. In the 1937 message there was no definite assurance that the balance was simply being delayed for a little time, while some other things, all clearly charted, were being done. This line has disappeared from the later messages. It has been replaced by a defense mechanism which consists of assertions and statistics purporting to show that there has not been much of a real deficit after all. These later budget messages create the impression that every effort was being exerted to make a virtue out of necessity. And, of course, if the President is really unable to balance the budget, the best procedure is to stop talking about why it has not been done and to begin implying that a deficit is not such a bad thing.

Editor Sharing Comforts.—Dear Sir: Years ago I used to reason this way: "There are more people in the U. S. who eat sugar than there are persons who produce it, therefore, for the greatest good to the greatest number, there should be no tariff on sugar, etc."

But "no tariff on sugar" would perhaps mean half of our sugar production would be destroyed and producers would be forced into other fields or into idleness. Say they went into wheat, then there would be too much wheat and ruinous prices for wheat and if tariff were taken off wheat then what of wheat growers?

Same with cotton and a multitude of other crops. With our highly mechanized land, we compete with the cheap labor of other countries. You see I have become a protectionist!

Surely you do not advocate reducing our laboring classes to the level of Japanese workers do you? I know you advocate free trade and I am unable to understand how decent wages could be maintained under such a plan.

Won't you try soon in "The Register" to make this matter clear to a mere woman. There are multitudes of others of my mental caliber who might like to know too.

Question Of Aid To Finland Will Be Threshed Out

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Assurance came from the White House today that the question of possible financial aid to Finland would be threshed out on Monday when President Roosevelt confers with Democratic Congressional leaders.

At the same time, there were reports from Capitol Hill that the treasury would advise that from the purely fiscal standpoint, there were no objections to a loan. The opinion of Secretary Morgenthau and of Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, have been asked by the Senate banking committee.

The White House made known that Mr. Roosevelt would seek to clarify the Finnish question after noting reports of some differences of opinion over whether the executive or the Congress should take the initiative.

Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday that he had asked Congressional leaders to work out the problem on a non-partisan basis. Several of the leaders promptly expressed the view that it was a matter of foreign policy, and should be decided initially by the chief executive and the State department.

In connection with the treasury's study of the question, there was one report in well-informed circles that officials were discussing the possibility of a loan from the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund.

It was pointed out that if money were taken from this fund, the advance would have no effect on Mr. Roosevelt's budget estimates.

The treasury was asked for an opinion specifically on a bill by Senator Brown (D-Mich.) to grant Finland a $80,000,000 loan which could be used for any purpose, including the purchase of arms.

The negro no-billed on burglary charge.

A no-bill was returned by the 31st district court grand jury yesterday in the case of Jullimie Gijson, Pampa negro, who was charged with burglary in alleged connection with his being discovered at 2 o'clock on the morning of December 13 in the kitchen of the Blue Bonnet Inn.

The negro, discovered by the proprietor, George Walters, was shot four times, taken to a local hospital in an ambulance, and later taken into custody and charged by county officers.

After having been in session one and one-half days, the grand jury adjourned at 12:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon without making any indictments in this week's session. No time has been set for its reconvening, District Attorney Clifford Braly said.

War To Date Has Produced Unexpected

By KIRKE I. SIMPSON Associated Press Staff Writer Nearly five months of war in Europe has produced only the unexpected—with one notable exception.

The French Maginot and the German Siegfried lines have influenced the war exactly as neutral military opinion expected they would. They have stopped both Germany and the Franco-British allies from engaging in the bloody business of frontal attack.

On every other front of that war, and in the Russo-Finnish conflict, actual events have made a mockery of predictions. Poland collapsed in days under a terrific German thrust. That not only wrecked hopes of the Franco-British allies that Poland could hold out until aid could reach her, directly or indirectly, but shattered Franco-British post-world war security dreams.

The whole conception of peace in Europe founded on "buffer state" encirclement of Germany went down with Poland. The keystone of the treaty of Versailles peace arch erected by the world war allies failed. Whatever the outcome of this war, it will be a new Europe and a new peace technique that the world sees in operation there if European civilization survives the blow of war.

Germany's ruthless smash in Poland was an unexpected in highest French, British and, most of all, Polish officialdom as was Russia's later attack on Finland.

Great Spee A Surprise The Finns, however, had learned a lesson. They made ready for any eventuality, even as they sought to talk themselves out of danger. And they added another to the list of wonders of the world when they turned on their Russian foe and smashed Red army divisions.

Defeat of the vaunted Nazi "pocket battleship" Great Spee by a trio of British cruisers, outmanned in everything but speed, wrote another stunning chapter of the improbable come true. To cap it, and against every tradition of sea warfare, the Spee's captain took first the life of his ship by Hitler order, then his own.

A dozen other war incidents could be cited on the positive side to prove the rule that only the unexpected is possible. Even more supporting, however, is the record on the negative side, of things of horror that have not taken place—yet.

At the onset of the war, and with the air filled with far echoes of Nazi air bombs in Poland all the cities in the belligerent countries cowered under the nightly "black-outs" in anticipation of a rain of death from the skies. Millions of non-combatant civilians carried on in hourly expectation of air terrorism.

Horror Not Come It has not come. The expected and world-dreaded supreme horror of modern war has not been realized. Nor has the world-wide dread that war in Europe must mean a new world war become reality. Events may be shaping along the shores of the Baltic or in the Balkans to engulf nations in the war whirlpool, yet so far all belligerents are strictly avoiding steps that might widen the battle theater.

Against that background, renewed predictions in England of an impending ruthless German air onslaught, forestalled by evening Nazi air scouting forays, lose some of their force. Similarly, the foreboding of French military observers that Hitler, rendered desperate by the choking effect of the allied sea siege, will order his legions to the charge in spring against the magnet line, may be discounted.

Against that background, also, might be displayed the one, outstanding discernible improbability of the near future which spiritual and mental temporal leaders are prayerfully weighing.

If the unexpected is the rule in this war, early peace would be its greatest boon to humanity.

Young Boys Want To Join Cub Scouts

A survey now being taken in local schools among boys who will become of age for membership in the Cubbing movement within the next year reveals that more than 80 per cent of the boys, and their parents, favor membership in a pack. It was revealed yesterday by Fred Roberts, executive of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout council.

Only two schools had reported up to Friday afternoon. The other schools are expected to complete the survey early this week.

Each boy who will become 9 years of age during the next year or who is within the Scout age limit, is being asked to fill out a form, under supervision of his parents. The questionnaire seeks the age of the boy, his church affiliation, his desires and the desire of his parents regarding his participation in the Boy Scout movement.

'Wind' Not Booked For Pampa Theaters

"Come With the Wind" will be seen at 68 theaters in 63 cities during the period of January 17 to February 18, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has announced, according to a story appearing in the Film Daily.

Locally, no announcement has been made as to when the picture would be seen here. Carl Benefiel, Griffith Amusement company manager in Pampa, said the film had not been booked by his firm for Pampa and he did not know if it would be secured.

On January 26, "Come With the Wind" will open at an Oklahoma City theater, playing three times daily with only the evening show reserved, and twice on Sunday, with the evening performance only reserved.

The city hall, where the former tournaments have been held, will be used for the games that cannot be played in the new building.

Oklahomans Admit Crimes At Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Two men who gave their names as Clay White, 23, and Jimmie Pearson, 28, both of McAlester, Okla., were held in Lubbock county jail this afternoon in connection with a series of armed robberies and kidnappings.

Several persons identified the men as having robbed them in recent days, and the two Oklahomans admitted in presence of officers and newspapermen all they were accused of.

R. P. Wright of Hobbs, N. M., J. B. Vance and C. Harris, both of Odessa, identified the men as having robbed them, and Jack O. Stone, Lubbock toy scout official, said they were the persons who abducted him two nights ago, made him accompany them in his car to Tahoka, where he was robbed.

Whittle was arrested by Bill Shook, Ted Andrews and Hoyt Curry, Plainview officials, early this morning when he registered at a hotel to sleep a couple of hours. The automobile taken from Stone was recovered there. It had been driven 1,100 miles since it was taken from Stone, the owner said.

Pearson was grabbed early this afternoon in a barn 10 miles north of Lubbock.

All property taken had been recovered or accounted for with exception of money, said officials. Charges will be filed tonight, officials said.

Stockmen Oppose Reciprocal Pacts

DENVER, Jan. 13 (AP)—The American National Live Stock association announced by resolution today that it is "definitely opposed to an extension of the reciprocal trade act" which will expire in June.

Other resolutions adopted by the stockmen called for governmental economy and protection of states' rights.

Port Worth, Texas, was chosen as the 1941 convention city and J. Elmer Brock of Kaysee, Wyo., elected president to succeed Hubbard Russell of Los Angeles.

Frank Boloe of Tucson, Ariz., was elected first vice-president and the following as second vice-presidents: Ezra Baer of Meeker, Colo., Jay Taylor of Amarillo, Texas, C. J. Abbott of Hyannis, Neb., A. D. Brownfield of Florida, N. M., and W. H. Donald of Melville, Mont.

The stockmen would argue to an extension of the reciprocal trade act, under which Secretary of State Hull negotiates the agreements, "only on the condition that all new agreements and extensions of existing agreements be ratified by the senate in the manner provided by the constitution," the resolution said.

New York Fair Bids For Dionne Quints

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (AP)—A plan to take the Dionne quintuplets to the New York world's fair this spring was submitted to the quintuplets' board of guardians today by J. C. Holmes, vice-president of the fair corporation. The guardians have not yet considered or replied to the offer.

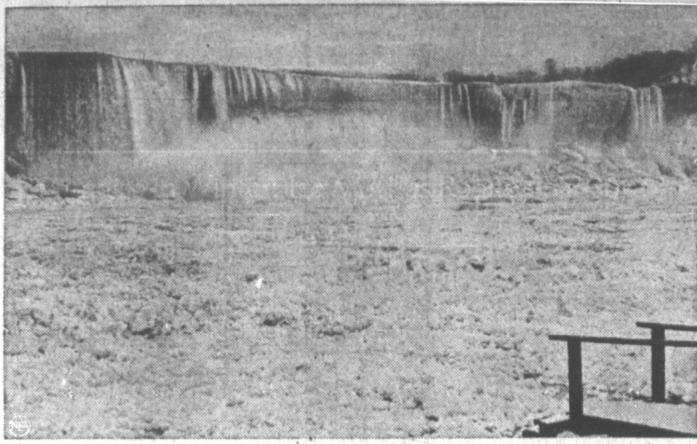

Under the plan the quintuplets would be in New York only for four or five weeks, starting May 11. They would return to their Callander home before the tourist rush ordinarily starts in mid-June.

The fair would guarantee the Canadian Red Cross at least $100,000 for the quintuplets' visit. They would be exhibited in a reproduction of the Dalce nursery, their present home, on the site of last year's Soviet exhibit.

Paradise in Winter: Ice Muffles Roar of Niagara

Nature forms a bridge of ice across the pounding bed of mighty American Falls at Niagara as Niagara to choke up the boiling gorge below the cataract and create a chilled paradise for winter honeymooners.

Indiana Guardsmen Use Finn Tactics

No, this isn't a group of Finns about to snow down another 10,000 Red troops. It's just an automatic rifle squad from Indiana National Guard's 150th Field Artillery using Finnish snow camouflage for winter maneuvers.

Convicts Slug Pen Agent And Escape

BUFFALO, Jan. 13 (AP)—Three life-term convicts who were being transferred to the Huntville penitentiary slugged Prison Agent W. R. Crane and escaped in a stolen automobile today.

They were: Robert Lacy Cash, Dallas murderer; J. W. Mann, Crosbyton, Tex., robber, and Andrew H. Nelson, Abilene, habitual criminal.

A third convict, Sam Van Wagner, under a 4-year sentence for forgery from Brown county, refused to flee and remained with Crane.

After beating Crane unconscious, the trio drove his car to Buffalo and seized another automobile at a service station. They were seen last in the vicinity of Teague.

Jack Wedemeyer, state highway worker, brought Crane to Buffalo. Crane was believed not seriously injured.

The convicts persuaded Crane to stop the car north of Buffalo after one of them had slipped his handcuffs and freed his companions.

The automobile was taken at Buffalo from Virgil B. Hooks of Houston who with Mrs. Hooks was en route to Dallas.

Mann was being returned from Cochran county where he was sentenced to life for robbery. He had been taken from the penitentiary where he was serving time from Nolan county.

Nelson was being returned after escaping last July from the East-ham prison farm where he was serving as a habitual criminal. He was serving sentences from Floyd, Dickens, Stephens and Lubbock counties.

The prison agent left Dallas with the trio early this afternoon. The car taken at Dew belonged to Virgil B. Hooks of Houston.

It was the third escape for Cash, who was sentenced from Dallas Jan. 13, 1938 for murdering Harry Lech Helfmann, Brooklyn salesman, on Nov. 15, 1937 and dumping the body in a sewage pit.

Blizzard Sweeps Southwest States

A near blizzard swept a wide area of the high plains states yesterday, bringing new joy to wheat growers but annoyance to livestock producers and travelers.

In eastern Kansas and western Missouri a freezing rain covered highway and streets with a glaze of ice giving way to a heavy snow.

A north wind carried the storm, a mixture of snow and sleet, southward into the Oklahoma Panhandle and New Mexico. Temperatures were well below freezing.

In western Kansas some highways were blocked by drifts. Telephone service was disrupted. The highway commission warned motorists to remain at home except in emergencies.

The storm moved down from the high Rocky mountains, where snow up to 47 inches in depth was reported in some districts. Montana reported light snow and temperatures ranging down to 11 degrees below zero at Glendive.

In Iowa the storm contributed to the death of at least three persons in automobile-train crashes. All sections of the state, the highway patrol reported, lay under the fresh.

The Dallas weather bureau reported a 50-mile wind at Fort Worth at 6:30 p. m. The forecast was for freezing weather, with a 28-mile wind and temperatures were falling fast.

Austin reported a balmy 71 maximum during the day but occasional rains also were forecast. At Galveston the forecast was for rain and colder weather Sunday, while Corpus Christi's promise was occasional thunderstorms.

DERDEN

12 in one of the bitterest tax fights ever staged at Austin.

"I am also running for governor," Darden asserted, as a defender of representative government. I oppose the idea that has been circulated in recent months that a majority of the county office holders and public servants of the people would bear watching.

"I believe that not only are a majority of these men honest, sincere and upright citizens of their respective communities, but that the majority of the people of Texas are honest, and that they know the men whom they have selected to serve them."

Texas High Court Observes Centennial

AUSTIN, Jan. 13 (AP)—In 1840 Texas' first supreme court assembled on the banks of the Colorado for its initial session.

Today—exactly 100 years later to the minute—the court filed into its chambers and heard the institution described in a centennial program as an enduring ideal worthy of continued appreciation and respect by a liberty loving democracy.

The early day justices, their work rendered more difficult by the trying times of a fledgling republic and without precedents to guide their judgments began a string of judicial interpretations on which many a modern ruling is based.

Speakers pointed to the sharp contrast in the physical surroundings of the court but pointed to an enduring justice meted to rich and poor alike in a hundred years of activity—sometimes in the face of passion and frenzy.

Sidney Samuels, Fort Worth lawyer speaking for the bar of the state, said the original members of the court were Anglo-Saxons, a stock that gave the world its great defenders of liberties.

"They were marked by two principal characteristics," said, "selfishness and honesty, and the love for liberty for which their decisions provided abiding sanctuary."

WEATHER

on strong winds. Livestock warnings were issued for northwest Texas.

Just to add to the picture the weather bureau ordered storm warnings on the Texas coast from Port Arthur to Brownsville.

Odessa reported a 62-mile gale struck the Permian basin, starting temperatures skidding from a maximum of 54 degrees. Bus drivers reported for freezing weather. Dallas was whipped by the gale. No damage was reported but visibility was two blocks as the year's first dust storm accompanied the high winds.

A 50-mile wind lashed Pecos, bringing snow and sub-freezing temperatures. A light north wind struck Plainview in the afternoon and there was a possibility of snow by morning. Temperatures dropped from 43 to 27 at 3 p. m., but had risen one degree two hours later.

Snowflurries and a sharp north wind accompanied 24-degree weather at Borger. Wichita Falls had a dustier riding on a 25-mile wind. The mercury was falling.

The Dallas weather bureau reported a 50-mile wind at Fort Worth at 6:30 p. m. The forecast was for freezing weather, with a 28-mile wind and temperatures were falling fast.

Austin reported a balmy 71 maximum during the day but occasional rains also were forecast. At Galveston the forecast was for rain and colder weather Sunday, while Corpus Christi's promise was occasional thunderstorms.

Hole-In-One Shot In Oakland Open

OAKLAND, Calif., Jan. 13 (AP)—As nonchalantly as he used to whip up a batch of chocolate fudge, Clayton Heafner, reformed candy maker of Irvine, N. C., landed a hole-in-one today in the third round of the Oakland open golf tournament.

That prodigious blow, along with 67 others, boosted him into the lead of the annual $5,000 medal play event, enabled him to buffet and established him as the favorite to win the 72-hole tournament which ends tomorrow afternoon.

When he checked in with his two-under par 68 today, the bulky blond from the Tarheel state posted a 54-hole total of 209. It put him two strokes ahead of his nearest rivals and at the same time put the pressure on the rest of the field.

It was the first ace written into the four-year record of the tournament.

Here's the play by play of the feat: On the 191-yard second hole Heafner took a No. 4 iron. There was a slight following wind. The ball sailed straight for the pin. It landed some three yards in front of the cup and rolled in as if attracted by a magnet.

Some country lads laugh the feat as a fluke but the big fellow with the balance of the round in championship form. He had a 36-33 against par 35-35 for the Sequoyia course.

Hitler Slashes Rations Of Jews

By LOUIS LOCHNER BERLIN, Jan. 13 (AP)—Germany's Jews, already subjected to extensive restrictions, have received another shock in calling for ration cards for the period of Jan. 15 to Feb. 11.

They found that coupons for a total of 125 grams (almost four and one-half ounces) of meat and all coupons for podded vegetables—such as peas, beans and lentils—were invalidated as far as they were concerned.

They further were denied certain general ration cards recently issued to all other Germans to enable them to obtain certain extras when the Nazi regime finds itself unable to grant something beyond the ordinary daily allotment.

From time to time, for instance, a small quantity of sweets may be purchased upon presentation of a special card from which a coupon is clipped.

For certain foods not yet rationed, the court filed into its chambers and heard the institution described in a centennial program as an enduring ideal worthy of continued appreciation and respect by a liberty loving democracy.

The early day justices, their work rendered more difficult by the trying times of a fledgling republic and without precedents to guide their judgments began a string of judicial interpretations on which many a modern ruling is based.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (AP)—Business coasted along this week at close to the high levels set before the holidays, with doubt in some quarters and optimism in others as to its course over the next few months.

Snow, cold and ice helped retail trade to a good showing; industrial activity gained a little on the strength of orders booked last fall, now being hurried to delivery, while demand for the heavier goods continued at between 50 and 60 per cent of the present output rate.

"As sheriff I would enforce the law in every respect and show no favors."

Mr. Stewart for the past year has been fingerprint expert in the sheriff's department here. Methodists Bow To Rice Cagers 36-34

DALLAS, Jan. 13 (AP)—Southern Methodist university's Mustangs put up a game fight here tonight before bowing to the favored Rice Owls in a conference basketball game, 36 to 34, before 2,500 fans.

It was the third conference win out of four starts, for the Owls, and the second defeat in three games for S. M. U.

Arkansas Beats Longhorns 54-44

FAYETTEVILLE ARK., Jan. 13 (AP)—Arkansas' big razorbacks bounced back into the Southwest conference championship race tonight by handily defeating Texas Longhorns their first circuit defeat, 54-44.

Arkansas led almost throughout the battle to divide the two-game series. The Longhorns won last night, 62-53.

John Adams, the Porter's all-conference forward, scored 21 points before going out on personal fouls with two minutes left to play. Texas lost center W. D. Houpt on fouls after five minutes in the rough closing period, and Arkansas was deprived of the services of guard Howard Hickey after 18 minutes in the last half.

The Longhorns tied the score four times in the first half and pulled within two points of the Porters at the half.

Arkansas pulled away after the intermission, when the Longhorn went to pieces. The Porters played smart basketball and gave Texas very few close-up shots.

Forward Chester Granville paced the steers with 12 points, the same number tallied by the Porters' John Freiberger.

Arkansas has played only the Texas series. The Steers now have won three and lost one.

Child Interest Program Topic At Holy Souls P-TA

Holy Souls Parent-Teacher association's executive board met Thursday afternoon at the school for a business session with Mrs. D. C. Kennedy, Mrs. R. J. Kiser, Mrs. Tom O'Rourke, Jr., Mrs. M. F. Roche, and Mrs. J. P. Brown, president.

The regular monthly meeting of the P-T-A unit was held following the executive board meeting when Mrs. D. C. Kennedy presided in the absence of Mrs. Clayton Husted, president.

Mrs. R. J. Kiser opened the meeting with a prayer after which a report was given by Mrs. LeRoy Rice on the review of the book, "Escape," to be given by Mrs. H. H. Hahn on Saturday, January 27, at 2:30 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Hahn is well known in the Panhandle having taught in the English department of Pampa high school before her marriage.

Kathryn Doyle presented two piano selections followed by a chapter from the story book on "Religion in the Home" by Mrs. R. G. Wade. Mrs. E. B. Tracey spoke on "Child Interest and Its Role in Learning."

"Everyone knows that interest is an attitude of mind or a condition of the nervous system which forms the basis of attention. If you watch a child closely you will note that he learns nothing from things in his environment to which he pays no attention—the problem of learning then reduces itself to what one may mistake for a relatively simple process, namely, getting and holding a child's attention or interest," Mrs. Tracey stated.

"Fortunately in every case it is not necessary for parents and teachers to deliberately create the child's interest. The stimuli from that environment does that, and here another problem arises when the parent or teacher attempts to awaken his interest in some one element or detail among a thousand that are clamorous for his attention. Obviously, one of the objects of child training is to prepare the child to discriminate, that he may give attention to those elements in his environment which yield him greatest benefits many of the worthwhile stimuli will arouse a responsive child pre-occupied with other interests. When an adult shows an interest in any experience the child has had, he, by that expression, greatly increases the child's interest in that particular experience. In this way parents and teachers can, in a large measure, control the child's effective environment—the environment to which he responds," she continued.

"The most important service a teacher can render to any pupil is to interest him in worthwhile things, in his school work, in proper behavior, neatness, etc. It is not so much what she teaches the child as when interest has been aroused, learning will follow together with fondness for school. If the child's interest in any subject has been developed, his pursuit of it is likely to extend beyond the schoolroom; on thru the years and largely influence his life work.

"There are several ways of creating interest advocated by educational experts—the first of which is 'if you want to become interested in a subject or project get to work at it.' Advocates of another method would attempt to create the interest before the task is begun. There are obvious advantages to the child if he can be interested in his task before he starts it—he is less apt to find his work irksome; he will learn or become skilled more rapidly; he will get more satisfaction out of his efforts," Mrs. Tracey added.

"Advice that reads well on the hearing of children can be found in almost any magazine and experts on child rearing are always on hand. From these sources valuable information no doubt is obtained BUT each and every child has an individual personality—personalities that should not be crushed by the run of mine rules. Understand your child and use common sense in selecting a program suitable for his personality," she concluded.

Couple To Be At Home Here Following Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alton Hall will be at home tomorrow at 1322 North Russell street after a short wedding trip which followed an impressive marriage ceremony solemnized at Georgetown, Texas, on December 28.

With the bride's father officiating, Miss Dalton Burleson of Borger, daughter of the Rev. W. P. Burleson of Mercury, became the bride of F. A. Hall of Pampa in the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Henderson in Georgetown.

The double ring ceremony was performed before an improvised altar, with a background of palms and ferns, enclosed by huge white chrysanthemums. Seven-tiered candelabra on either side of the altar lent an ethereal effect to the scene.

As the bridal party entered the wedding room, Miss Jessie Scott Price of Midland played the "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin" (Wagner). During the ceremony she played softly and Wallace Evans of Georgetown sang, "I Love You Truly" (Carrie Jacobs-Bond).

The bride's gown was a beautiful creation of brocaded ivory satin, with a basque waistline, full, bustled skirt, and leg-o-mutton sleeves. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held in place with a bandeau of seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was a huge cluster of sweetheart roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The maid of honor was Miss Eula Jayce Burleson of Clarendon, sister of the bride, and Miss Midge Hall Clarendon, a sister of the bridegroom, was a bridesmaid.

Raymond Carpenter of Pawhusks, Oklahoma, served the bridegroom as best man, and G. T. Burleson of Lubbock was usher.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home for the immediate members of the family and friends who attended the wedding. While carriages in crystal holders decorated the table with Miss Irene Henderson of Georgetown presiding at the coffee service.

The bride chose a wool suit of navy shepherd check with black patent accessories for traveling.

Mrs. Hall, who before her marriage served Hutchinson county as home demonstration agent, was graduated from Mary Hardin-Baylor college, later attending Texas University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. and Columbia University, N. Y. He is now connected with the Shell Petroleum Co. in Pampa.

The holiday season, lovely though it is, certainly left in its wake a trail of beauty problems. At this point, about eighty per cent of the women one knows and meets can be divided roughly into three classifications: those who gained weight between Christmas and New Year's; those who lost entirely too many pounds; those whose complexions are anything but smooth and clear.

Photoplays Of Exceptional Merit Open Week

Adventure Tale On LaNora Screen; 'Cavell' At Crown

By BROWNWOOD EMERSON

Heroic, lusty adventures in the French Foreign Legion, and a poignant, drama based on a chapter of World War history, highlight the motion picture programs in Pampa this week. Both photoplays are pictures of exceptional merit.

An absorbing, dramatic version of the once popular silent film, "Beau Geste" emerges just as tense, just as exciting and just as suspenseful as its predecessor. The large and competent cast makes each character a vital bit of a perfect whole.

Gary Cooper, Ray Milland and Robert Preston portray the three devoted, gallant brothers who stand by each other even unto death. When the Brandon sapphire is stolen, three brothers, each thinking the other is the thief, disappear and find themselves members of the Foreign Legion.

Magnificent photography, masterly direction by William A. Wellman, and excellent musical score by Alfred Newman. From the novel by Percival Christopher Wren. Showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday.

A poignant, dramatic story based on one of the most stirring chapters of the World War is RKO Radio's historical drama, "Nurse Edith Cavell," opening a three-day run at the Crown today.

It's an authentic documentary film depicting vividly an incident that stirred the entire civilized world, the execution of the famous English nurse on October 12, 1915. Superior acting by a carefully selected cast, with Anna Neagle in the title role, Edna May Oliver, George Sanders, May Robson and Zasu Pitts are the other principals. Interest never flags and there is an occasional gleam of humor to relieve the tension. Tense dialogue, sparsely used. Musical accompaniment adds materially to the somber beauty of the film. Music is by Anthony Collins, direction by Herbert Wilcox, and the screen play is taken from the story "Dawn," by Captain Reginald Berkeley.

LaNORA

"Remember?" with Robert Taylor, Greer Garson, and Lew Ayres heading the cast, is a gay, light, amusing and turbulent romance, offering proof that no matter how many difficulties matrimony may entail, two persons really in love would go right back and do it all over again if they had the chance. New York World's fair serves as background in this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer photoplay. Wednesday and Thursday.

Paramount's "Disputed Passage," showing Friday and Saturday, with Dorothy Lamour, Akim Tamiroff, and John Howard heading the cast, is an adaptation of the Lloyd C. Douglas novel. It's the story of a doctor whose god is science, who is converted to the humanitarian theories of medicine when an experiment on his assistant almost wrecks the young physician's life. An absorbing story, well told, in which sentimentalities are admirably avoided and the strength of a simple, forceful story is carefully retained. Akim Tamiroff gives an exceptionally fine characterization in the role of the scientist and has the support of an excellent cast.

REX

"The Housekeeper's Daughter," Hal Roach-United Artists murder mystery, with Joan Bennett, Adolphe Menjou, and John Hubbard in the chief roles, opens the week. It's a satirical treatment of a murder mystery, involving two newspaper reporters, a self-willed flower vendor, gangsters, their female co-workers, and a wealthy young archaeologist who aspires to become a reporter. Showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday.

Dagwood's many troubles are again brought to the screen in Columbia's "Blondie Brings Up Baby," newest in the Bumstead comedy series, based on the Chic Young comic strip, with Arthur Lake as the harassed husband, Penny Singleton as Blondie, Larry Stimms as Baby Dumpling. This latest in the series is said to answer the question of whether Dagwood or Baby Dumpling is the "baby" of the house. Wednesday and Thursday.

Charles Starrett is featured in Columbia's "Two-Fisted Rangers," classified by The Film Daily as "trip roaring action in large quantities makes film lively entertainment." Starrett, brother of the sheriff of Oak Valley who was murdered by a gang, plans to clear up the town, forming basis of picture's plot. It is Meredith seen as daughter of newspaper publisher. Texas Pension Authorities On Alert For Effect Of New Federal Program

By HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff

Texas old age pension authorities will be observing closely the next months the effect of the new federal insurance program on application for pensions.

With the advent of 1940, the federal government's plan of monthly benefit payments started operating. Hereafter persons who have been contributing one per cent of their salaries for social security will be entitled to monthly benefits when they retire at the age of 65 or older.

It still is too early to say whether federal payments will have any material effect on the Texas old age assistance rolls in the first years of operation. The number of persons past 65 is growing and many are not entitled to benefits under the program.

Adam K. Johnson, state public welfare director, gives as his "off-hand" opinion that the monthly payments won't result in a reduction of the assistance rolls during the next two or three years. He adds, however, that he probably will have a better idea on the question as soon as it is ascertained how many Texans are eligible under provisions of the federal insurance program.

In order for a person to qualify for old age insurance, he must have worked parts of at least six quarters (three month periods) in employment covered by the act. Salaried laborers not covered, generally speaking, are agricultural and domestic workers, governmental employees of religious and charitable organizations. Texas probably will have fewer covered persons than many other states because it is not as industrialized as they are.

Persons who think they might be entitled to monthly benefit payments are contacting the nearest field office of the social security board. Texas has 18 field offices.

The minimum which a man will receive under the federal insurance is $10 a month. The minimum for both man and wife, if both are past 65, is $15 monthly. The maximum during the first year of the program will be $41.60 to a man and $22.40 to both man and wife. The amount is determined by the salary that man has been making and the length of time he has worked.

The maximum pension in Texas is $30 a month. The present average is $8.75 but it has been as high as $14.15. Some 121,000 persons are now on the rolls. The number probably would rise 20 to 30 thousand if there was state money to pay them and to maintain an investigating staff sufficient to keep abreast of all applications. Half of each pension is supplied by the federal government and the other half by the state.

Senator Tom Connally of Texas was one of the leaders of the movement at the last session of Congress to require the federal government to bear a greater share of the pension burden. It failed but perhaps will be renewed at the current session. Connally would have had the federal government match state contributions two for one up to the first $15 a month. Under such a plan, Texas would be enabled to pay average pensions of $15 even though it could put up only $5 from state funds. If it were able to supply $10 state money, the average pension would be $25.

The argument in behalf of greater federal participation is that some states are much wealthier than others and therefore can stand a considerable heavier pension tax burden. That leads to inequalities among states in the amount of grants.

The chief argument against the two for one plan is that it would enlarge the federal deficit.

The end of pensions as a political issue in Texas is not in sight. Whether it has past its peak in voters' interest remains to be seen.

As the federal assistance law now stands, needy persons past 65 are entitled to maximum pensions of $40 per month. It would take a state constitutional amendment, however, for residents of Texas to get that much. Under the existing constitutional provision, the maximum state grant is $15 a month, which makes a federal-state total of $30.

Thus far there has been little talk of increasing the state constitutional limit from $15 to $20. Such talk possibly will develop, either in the political campaigns this summer or the legislative session next year.

The move for pensions to all persons 65 or older appears to have stalled in this state. Gov. O'Daniel advocated universal pensions in his 1938 campaign but the farthest any legislative committee would go along that line was to recommend payments to everyone with an income of less than $30 a month.

Plane Alters War Relief, Hoover Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 - Not only have the mechanics of war changed drastically since 1918, according to Herbert Hoover, chairman of the Finnish Relief Fund, but they have changed the problems of relief also. "The airplane as a weapon of war has completely changed the problem of war relief," he asserted, "for it has driven whole populations from their homes and cities. In Finland, over 70 percent of the population of some cities has had to be evacuated, involving the enormous task of suddenly providing food, shelter, clothing and transportation for all these people."

SERIAL STORY BLACKOUT BY RUTH AYERS

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Dr. O'Connell... MARY CARROLL woke in a soft white bed.

Why did her face feel like hard-baked ginger bread? Why could she see only through little slits of stiff frosting?

Then she remembered... Dr. O'Connell had operated to end the paralysis from the blow she had suffered on the Moravia. Had the operation been successful? Was she Mary Carroll again?

Through the slits in the adhesive tape, cut for her eyes, she could see a white figure at her side. A private nurse, who introduced herself as Miss Babcock.

"What time is it?" Mary wanted to know.

"Five o'clock. You've had a long sleep," Miss Babcock answered.

Mary tried to move. "You mustn't do that," the nurse cautioned.

"You must lie perfectly still." She held Mary's head in her hands to prevent further movement and Mary drifted back into a new world.

It was Paris and spring and there was no war. Only a "war of nerves" and the stout-hearted did not worry.

There was a party at a count's villa at Passy. Mary would wear her Robin Hood red dress. And that distinguished young man with the scar on his face. Who was he?

Why, that's Vincent Gregg, an aviator. He was her fiance. Only not her fiance then, and later when he was—why, Carla Marchetta—

She awakened with a scream. "The ether has made you sick," Miss Babcock spoke calmly.

"Lie still and the nausea will pass away."

SEVERAL days later Miss Babcock told her she was much better. Mary knew it without being told. It seemed a preface of something the nurse would say.

Mary waited. Finally it came: "You mumbled some strange things about the sinking of the Moravia in your sleep, Mrs. Lenox," the nurse said.

"It beats out what I've been thinking all along and what a lot of other people think, too. Someone was behind it, Mrs. Lenox. I know it."

Mary nodded, her face stiff behind the white muzzle of bandages. "I know," she agreed. "I've thought so, a thousand times."

"My father's an inspector at Scotland Yard," Miss Babcock went on. "I've told him what you said in your delirium. It may mean nothing at all. On the other hand, in wartime, one mustn't miss a single chance."

"The investigation about the Moravia will be reopened soon because of new clues. If you are well then, you may be called to testify."

"Of course," Mary said quickly. "I want to. What I have to say may not do a bit of good. But I'd tell every detail I remember."

Miss Babcock rose to attention as Dr. O'Connell's footsteps were heard in the hall. "Someone," she finished hurriedly, "has been tipping off the enemy to the time of ships' departures. The Moravia and others. Find out into whose hands the information went and you'll know something."

DR. O'CONNELL was hopeful, contrary to custom, after he had placed new dressings on Mary's face.

"You're doing beautifully, Mrs. Lenox."

"Would Mrs. Lenox be allowed a full tray tomorrow?" Miss Babcock asked.

"For the past few days Mary had noted a sing-song: Would Mrs. Lenox like this? Would she like that? Would Mrs. Lenox like to hear the radio? Would she care to have the nurse read to her? It was not only her own nurse who asked, but other nurses on the floor.

Mary could not understand why she was getting such attention. In wartime London, with a hospital full of patients, why should nurses be taking all this trouble for a mere refugee?

"Is it because of Dr. O'Connell that you are all so good to me?" she asked the night nurse.

"I don't understand, Mrs. Lenox," the nurse protested. "We don't do any more for you than for anyone else."

"But you have been good to me." Mary remembered the adequate, but scarcely exacting, care she'd had as a ward patient in the same hospital.

"Well, of course, we have tried to make you comfortable," the nurse replied. "For there's nothing anyone in this hospital wouldn't do for Dr. Lenox."

For Gilbert Lenox's sake, then, Mary had been given care that could not have been surpassed for members of the Royal Family. His wife—but only in name. These thoughtful suggestions, these comforts and kindnesses, all because of Gilbert.

"I wish Mrs. Tully could see me now," Mary smiled as she recalled the occupant of the next ward bed when the victims of the Moravia's torpedoing had been nursed back to health.

"THOSE bandages come off tomorrow," Dr. O'Connell bustled into her room one afternoon.

"Can you tell me anything about the results, Doctor?" Mary could not hold back the question. It was so important for her to know if the operation would be successful. It meant everything to her—the difference between sunshine and fresh air and the stifled existence of an eternal blackout.

Dr. O'Connell shook his thatch of iron gray hair. "Tomorrow will tell that," he said.

THE next morning was unbelievably long. The hours dragged until noon was announced from a hundred steeples. A brief sleep shortened the afternoon, but it was growing dark when Mary heard Dr. O'Connell's step at her door.

Soon she would know. But did she really want to know? What if she should always remain Anna Winters? Had Mary Carroll really died on the Moravia? She wished now that she might postpone this moment.

The doctor entered, followed by his assistant and several nurses. Gentle hands peeled the bandages from her face. A nurse seized Mary's hand as she lifted it toward her cheek.

Mary's eyes questioned the surgeon, who stared down at her. His face was inscrutable. She heard a nurse sigh. Dr. O'Connell whistled softly. Someone handed her a mirror.

Board Accepts Canadian's New School Building

CANADIAN, Jan. 13—Final acceptance of the new $180,000 PWA Canadian High School building by the board of trustees of Canadian Independent School district was made Thursday according to J. M. Carpenter, superintendent.

If the weather permits the high school will be moved into Friday. This includes the high school and junior high school. On the same day the first and second grades will be moved into the Isaac building which is being vacated by the Junior High school.

No definite date has been announced for the formal opening but it is thought it will be around the 20th of January. This delay is due to the fact that the public address system is to be installed and the stage settings placed before any definite time can be announced.

Members of the board of the Canadian Independent School District who accepted the structure are J. P. Strach, president, Joe Reid, secretary, T. D. Wiggins, Geo. B. Mathers, and Frank Chambers.

Wallace Defends Trade Agreements

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13 (AP)—Secretary Wallace, declaring he considered the reciprocal trade agreements program "distinctly worthwhile," said today that he knew of no single case where reductions in duties on farm imports had "seriously inconvenienced an American agricultural industry."

"There has been a good deal of loose talk about agricultural industries being singled out for sacrifice in the trade agreement bargaining process," Wallace said in a statement prepared for the House Ways and Means committee. "There is absolutely no foundation for such statements."

The head of the agriculture department appeared to take the wind after Secretary Wallace's still had told the committee that if the reciprocal trade program was abandoned this nation "must go back to long-rolling, lobbying, un-brotherly alliances" of the high protective tariff system.

"It is the only alternative," the white-haired Secretary of State said. He went on to say that the American farmer would have been much worse off without the program. This assertion, however, drew the Republican retort that "that's just a theory."

The Republican critic, Rep. Gearhart of California, interrupted Hull to contend that the program had failed flatly to bring farm income back to its one-time $12,000,000,000 level.

Parrying Gearhart's contentions, Hull declared, "we are watching every chance to get every dollar of our surpluses into trade channels at a fair price."

Mrs. W. F. Plum, Resident Here For 13 Years, Dies

Mrs. W. F. Plum, 66, died Saturday morning at the family home 1520 Alcock street. She had been in failing health for some time. She had been a resident of Pampa for 13 years and with her husband operated a grocery store. Mrs. Plum was a member of the Christian church and the Rebekah lodge.

Survivors are the husband, a sister, Mrs. Mattie Talley, Breckenridge, Mo., a brother, D. H. Pike, Council Bluffs, Iowa, and four nephews, Robert Talley, Pampa, Kenneth Talley, Breckenridge, Mo., Don Talley and Earl Talley, both living in California.

Roberts Installs Hat-Fitting Gadget

Claud Roberts, Pampa hatter, found out that a lot of men in Pampa have odd-shaped heads—they have difficulty getting a hat to fit them—so he set out to do something about it.

The result has been that Mr. Roberts now has installed in his place of business a gadget, known to the trade as a "conformateur."

"Now, a conformateur is a cross between a tambourine and that type of cheapie usually associated with a Spanish cabellero, but it gets the job done, says Mr. Roberts.

In effect, it takes an automatic photo of your head so that a hat can be shaped to meet the individual preferences of all customers. "We are now equipped to give anybody fits," says Mr. Roberts, "or, perhaps I should say, we can fit a hat to any head so that it feels comfortable the first time it is worn."

ROBERTS THE HAT MAN

While the feverish selling of Thursday and Friday dried up appreciably, and an assortment of issues managed to post modest recoveries, buying power was lacking throughout the brief proceedings.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 2 of a point and, on the week, was down 2.1 points, actually the largest week's decline since April 8, last year. The week's turnover, though, was much under that of April. A year ago the composite stood at 81.3. The 1939-40 high was 77 and the low 41.6. Transfers amounted to 424,130 shares against 341,820 last Saturday.

Losses of 1 to 2 were posted for Du Pont, Westinghouse, and Eastman Kodak. Elsewhere fractional setbacks were shown for U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Kennecott, American Telephone, Western Union, Santa Fe, Chesapeake & Ohio, Standard Oil of N. J., and Goodyear.

Bar Will Retain Present Officers

Present officers of the Gray County Bar association will be retained for 1940, it was decided at a meeting of the association held Saturday afternoon in the district court room.

The county association was formed here last autumn with S. D. Stennis as president, Aaron Sturgeon vice-president, and Arthur M. Teed, secretary.

Under the constitution, the Gray County Bar association is to elect officers at its first monthly meeting of the year. Yesterday was the association's first 1940 meeting.
