600 Apply For Roles In Coronado Entrada GERMANY BLITZKRIEG SWEEPS INTO FRANCE

Vets Asked To Form Two 'Companies'

Out Of Town Folk Invited To Apply For Show Roles

By THE ROVING REPORTER.

The Roving Reporter had to stand in line today to get in the Coronado Entrada cast. But he finally signed up, although C. H. Walker, casting generalissimo says the R. R. will have to be a squaw and carry a papoose, despite his beard and whiskers.

Mr. Walker isn't having any trouble at all getting a cast, and he figures that by next Friday night there will be at least 700 people signed up for the show. Today there were more than 600 signed up. A cast of 1,000 is needed.

This morning Harry Kelley who is in charge of high school casting, announced that 531 high school students, including 300 girls and 231 boys, had applied for roles in the Entrada. Mr. Kelley restricted the applications to boys five feet six inches tall and over and to students who will be here this summer during the VFW. Mr. Kelley, coordinator of diversified occupations, also a prominent Jaycee, said that students signed up as follows: 180 high school boys, 231 high school girls, 53 junior high boys, 67 junior high girls.

Thursday night, the casting committee expects to add at least 200 more names to the muster roll which will begin rehearsals Monday night, May 20, in the high school gym under the direction of Larry Doyle.

All ex-service men have been invited to attend a mass meeting at the Legion hut Thursday night for the purpose of recruiting a "battalion" for the Entrada. It is planned to use a solid unit of ex-service men for Coronado's army. They would perform as a unit in the $100,000 show which will have its Texas premiere in Pampa June 13, 14 and 15.

The Jaycees will have a dutch lunch, refreshments and pop on hand for the veterans who are requested to meet at 8 o'clock. Every ex-service man is invited regardless of whether he belongs to the Legion or the VFW. Mr. R. R. Francis, VFW commander, called the mass meeting.

The casting committee would like to have the full cast signed up by Friday night when Walter Reger, promotional director, will return to check up on progress of the casting. At that time, he will meet with representatives of clubs, schools, also Jaycee officials, churches and other groups in the chamber of commerce.

All organizations were cooperating today with the casting committee.

R. W. Prentice, Santa Fe trainmaster at Amarillo, should be on the stage or in pictures the more than 400 persons who attended the meeting of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute in the city hall last night.

Prentice told stories, quoted poetry and imitated Harry Lauder, a Negro mammy singing "Shortenin Bread," and a radio broadcast.

Electrical treating of paraffin was described by R. E. Allen, superintendent of the Electrical Treating company, who answered numerous questions.

The technical picture, "Cavalade of Texas," was shown at the close of the meeting.

Chairman George Berlin announced that next meeting of the chapter would be in September in conjunction with the Panhandle Safety Conference exposition.

Mrs. McConnell Shot In Back By Mexican

Murder charges have been filed against Paul Hinojosa, 40, railroad mechanic, alleged assailant who fired the rifle bullets fatally wounding Mrs. Sue McConnell in a Kingsville cafe Friday night while horrified patrons looked on. He has not been arrested according to late information. The body of Mrs. McConnell, former Pampa woman, was brought here last night and funeral services were to be conducted in Miami this afternoon.

Immediately following the shooting Sheriff Jim Scarborough sent out a description of the wanted man to all nearby towns, with special emphasis south toward the Rio Grande river as Kingsville is only 120 miles from the Mexican border.

Up to noon today no information as to the whereabouts of Hinojosa has been learned. Sheriff Scarborough said he believed the man had made good his escape over the river as dryness the past months would make it possible for him to walk across the river bed at a number of places.

Possibility that the killing was premeditated is theorized by officers who have discovered that Hinojosa attempted to borrow $100 from a Kingsville man Friday, signing over his pay check as security.

Mrs. McConnell died almost immediately when bullets described as being fired from a .30-30 caliber rifle entered her right rear shoulder and emerged through the front of her chest. As she fell to the floor, her assailant fired a shot into the air and then fled into the night.

Mrs. McConnell resided in Pampa from 1914 until 1927. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Stribling of Eagle Nest, N. M., three brothers, Dave Stribling of Miami, and T. A. Stribling and C. K. Stribling of Eagle Nest.

Funeral services were set for 3 o'clock this afternoon in the First Baptist church, Kingsville. Rev. H. B. Cornelison, pastor, and the Rev. W. A. Hitchcock, pastor of the Miami Methodist church. Burial was to be in Miami cemetery under the direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home who brought the body here from Kingsville.

Petroleum Stores Set Fire By Dutch

AMSTERDAM, May 14 (AP)—Large petroleum stores by Amsterdam were set afire today by the Dutch as a defense measure. It was officially announced, as the Dutch army defending western Holland fell back to its main water defense line.

The mayor of Amsterdam broadcast a message to the citizens of the Dutch capital assuring them that there was no reason for anxiety as the fires in the harbor district were started by the military authorities as a precautionary measure.

The principal contingents were at petroleum storage places in the western part of the harbor and the Bataafsche petroleum depot across the harbor from the central part of the city.

The Dutch high command reported that a German thrust at the huge 16-mile dam across the Zuider Zee, which holds back the North Sea from the Zuider Zee (IJsselmeer) had been repulsed.

A communique said the attack on the dam was preceded by artillery fire for an hour.

The high command report also said German planes attacked ships of the Netherlands navy yesterday along the coast of the North Holland province.

Mexico Convinced U. S. Will Enter War To Aid Allies

MEXICO CITY, May 14 (AP)—A high official of the Foreign Ministry said today the Mexican government is convinced that the United States will enter the European war on the side of the Allies in the near future and that Mexico should begin preparing for that eventuality.

If and when America enters the conflict, this official, Mexico-diplomatic fundamental desire for peace—will observe a "benevolent neutrality" and will collaborate with the United States as fully as possible, without involving herself.

He said he believed the other nations of the Western Hemisphere would adopt a similar attitude.

Recent developments in Europe, the spokesman added, have advanced by many months the date of possible American entry into the war.

President Roosevelt's frequent appeals to Germany and Italy, and his recent warning to the Americas that they no longer enjoy a "magic immunity," have sown the seeds whose harvest will be military aid to Britain and France, the official declared.

Pampans Off To Push New Road Program

Opening of a vast trade area to the north through highway plan and consequent development of Pampa and Gray county, a nine-year hope of interested Pampans and other Gray county citizens, moved one step further toward realization today.

Leaving for Austin today are County Judge Sherman White, Commissioners John Haggard, Arlie Carpenter, C. M. Carpenter, and Thomas O. Kirby; John V. Osborne, president, Garnet Reeves, manager, M. A. Graham, highway committee chairman, all of the Pampa BCD, and R. C. Wilson, county auditor.

Purpose of their visit to Austin will be to outline the entire road program that calls for a highway from Pampa to Perryton, a bridge across the Canadian, and paving of Highway 18 all the way across Gray county.

This plan is to be financed under the state road bond assumption act, whereby Gray county will issue $600,000 worth of road bonds, to be paid for out of the money collected on the gasoline tax.

In Austin, the delegation will confer with Julian Montgomery, state highway department engineer, and Brady Gentry, highway commission chairman.

Those interested here in the plan are cheered over the prospect as it may mean that the long hoped for road may be obtained, and at no cost to the county.

Decision of the county judge and county commissioners to make the trip came at the conclusion of the commissioners meeting yesterday afternoon.

As much as the matter is of vital concern to the county, the commissioners agreed that it would be best for the county officials to go to Austin, so that state officials might learn at first hand exactly what they thought of the proposal.

Action on the proposal, of course, will depend upon the entire highway commission, but a member of the local delegation pointed out today that favorable consideration of the plan by the two highway department officials could be regarded as an indication that the proposal had a good chance of being executed.

U. S. Would Protest Germany's Invasions

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The United States expressed today its willingness to join with the other American republics in a joint declaration of protest to Germany over the invasion of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

The State Department told the Uruguayan government, which originated a move for a joint declaration, and the Panamanian government which communicated the Uruguayan suggestion to the other republics, that the United States would be glad to join with Uruguay and the other republics in such a declaration.

A State Department note added that this government was in full agreement with the draft of a text for the joint declaration of protest, as written by Uruguay.

Situation 'Extremely Serious' For Allies

Emma Goldman Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, May 14 (AP)—Death came today to Emma Goldman, once the flaming champion of Anarchy in America.

Ill since suffering a stroke in February, she would have been 71 years old on June 27.

At the bedside in her home were a brother, Dr. Maurice Goldman, and a niece, Mrs. Stella Ballantine, both of New York. Mrs. Lena Cummings, a sister, of Rochester, N. Y., also survives.

Her death raised echoes of a radicalism that extended back for half a century and reached its climax in the world war years that brought "Red Emma" Goldman's imprisonment and later deportation from the United States to Russia in 1919 for obstructing the draft. With her went Alexander Berkman, her companion and colleague for two-score years.

In the new Soviet Russia she quickly found disillusionment, and fled to roam in many parts of the world, still a strident voice for social changes, but somehow lacking in the old-time urgency.

In 1924 she published a book, "My Disillusionment in Russia." Two years later she appeared in Montreal as Mrs. James Colton, announcing she had married a Welsh miner, and thus was a British subject.

Vainly she sought admittance to the United States in 1934. While lecturing in Canada in 1934, she finally won permission to visit the United States for 90 days only, and on Feb. 1 arrived in Rochester, N. Y.

She made a few lectures in New York and elsewhere, expressed displeasure with Nazism and predicted the downfall of Adolf Hitler, then returned to Canada when the permit expired.

On June 28, 1936, a quiet, obscure resident of Nice was found shot to death—a suicide, police said. He proved to be Alexander Berkman.

Big Coronado Cast To Rehearse In Gym

The cast of the Coronado Entrada, to be presented here June 13, 14 and 15, will rehearse in the high school gymnasium. Permission to use the gym for training of the cast was given a delegation of Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce members who appeared before the school board yesterday afternoon.

The Jaycees agreed to pay for lights, custodian, and for any damage done to the gymnasium floor during rehearsals, which will begin May 20. Appearing before the school board were D. L. Parker, Jaycee president, Jimmy Dodge, chairman

War Refugee Fund Urged By Speakers

Drive For Quota Of $80 Taken To Air Today

Radio speeches every half hour today over the Pampa station KPDM called on Pampans to send their contributions in at once to the American Red Cross fund for the relief of war refugees in all nations, except Germany, Russia, and Japan.

The campaign here will continue until the $800 quota of the Pampa chapter is raised. Efforts will be made to secure the money through voluntary contributions, with solicitation to be used only as a last resort, according to Guy E. McTaggart, chairman of the local chapter.

All the money raised goes to war refugee relief, none is to be spent for administration, Mr. McTaggart said. Persons cannot designate for what special group they desire their contributions to go, but can name the special country, if they so desire.

Roy Bourland directs the campaign with Alvin Bell as co-chairman. The two were elected at a meeting held in the district court room at 8 o'clock last night.

Pampans and other Gray county citizens who wish to contribute to the fund can send checks made payable to the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross, and addressed to Box 1036, Pampa. In case Pampans desire to make cash contributions, they can telephone the radio station and a messenger will be sent to their homes or offices for the money.

Speakers over the radio this morning were Guy E. McTaggart, the Rev. Roy Boshen, Paul D. Hill, the Rev. B. A. Norris, Travis Lively, the Rev. W. M. Pearce, Ernest Cane, and John V. Osborne.

Warning strongly against optimism about the lowlands campaign, this source said that in Belgium British troops now were cooperating with Belgians in covering Brussels.

He added that a great battle was developing in the area east of Brussels.

"It will be a few days yet," this source said, "before we can estimate the position" in this phase of the war.

The German attack was described as bearing to the west rather than to the south, and observers here expressed the view that the smash at Sedan—which the Germans reached today—is part of the drive against Belgium, rather than the beginning of a blow against the Maginot line.

The military source asserted that it is regarded in London as "likely" that Liege itself is isolated.

But he added: "We believe that fighting is going on in the (Liege) citadel and have no reason to believe that Liege has fallen or need fall in the near future."

The German high command announced the capture of the Liege citadel yesterday.

Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands was joined in London this morning by Premier Derek Jan de Geer and other members of the Dutch government, who arrived from Holland.

The Netherlands minister of justice, Prof. Pieter S. Gerbrandy, said 11 members of the government came to England aboard a British warship, as did the queen and the other members of the royal family who arrived yesterday—Princess Juliana, Prince Bernhard, and their two daughters, the Princesses Beatrix and Irene.

Allies Fall Back To Meuse River

(By The Associated Press)

Germany's blitzkrieg swept westward today in France, smashing through the pierced defenses of the low countries.

The Meuse river again became Europe's main battleline in its historic role as a defense in wars between western and central Europe.

As the Allies fell back to positions on the Meuse line, a great battle developed there with the whole course of the war probably depending on its outcome. It is the first great test of the Allies' men and arms against the massed might of Germany's army.

Here is a bird's eye view of the picture: FRANCE The Germans say the French-Belgian and the French-Luxembourg border has been "crossed in many places." A French spokesman acknowledges that Sedan, French city in the fortified zone 10 miles south of the Belgian frontier, probably has been captured by the Nazis.

BELEGIUM The Germans claim possession of the city of Liege. The Allies dispute this, saying the only fort in the Liege defenses captured by the Germans is Eben Emael, 10 miles to the north. The Germans say the Albert Canal, conceived as a strong defense line north of south across Belgium, has been nullified.

HOLLAND The Germans claim to have widened their breach through the Grebbe line of water defenses toward Utrecht and to have reached the big port city of Rotterdam. The Dutch admit they have fallen back to their main water defense line in Utrecht province.

(By The Associated Press) Germany dealt two smashing blows in the war in western Europe today.

The French conceded the "probable" fall of historic Sedan—10 miles inside the French border in the fortified Franco-Belgian defense zone—directly before France's "Little Maginot" line extension to the North Sea.

It was here that France suffered her most disastrous defeat of the Franco-Prussian war in 1870.

The British acknowledged that Nazi blitzkrieg legions were driving through southern Holland to make the situation there "extremely serious" for the Allies.

The Dutch field army defending western Holland fell back before the savage German onslaught, retreating to their main water-line defense in Utrecht province, the high command announced.

Berlin reported German forces in central Holland have blasted through the Dutch Grebbe defense system and are advancing toward Utrecht.

Gort Confident Lord Gort, commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary force in the lowlands, cheered his troops with a message: "The struggle will be hard and long, but we can be confident of final victory."

In Rome and other Italian cities, Germany troops crossed into France today, the fifth day of the Nazi blitzkrieg through the lowlands, and the Nazi high command declared they also had smashed through key defenses in Belgium and the Netherlands.

Today's communique claimed these successes: "The French-Luxembourg and French-Belgian border up to the points of Mezieres-Charleville has been captured."

I Saw...

C. H. Walker, Entrada casting chief, keeping mum and acting as if he didn't hear when Jaycees said, "can't you give us some sort of an idea about the person you're going to pick for the role of Coronado?" "I'm not telling even Jaycees—and besides I haven't made up my mind," replied Mr. Walker who today announced that he had signed up the following for roles in the Entrada: Dr. Calvin Jones, Dr. R. M. Johnson, Bob Thompson, Roy Bourland, Sherman White, John Hensley, P. A. Peake, D. E. Cecil, Edwin Vicars, Barnes Samuels, E. M. Behrman. The bunch he will announce tomorrow will make the headlines and no foolin'.

War Flashes

LONDON, May 14 (AP)—The War Office announced tonight new Allied forces had landed successfully at Bjerkvik, seven miles north of Narvik, Norway, with only "a few minor casualties."

"Bjerkvik is in the rear of the German positions in the Gratan area, where our forces made a successful attack at the same time," said a communique.

"An enemy detachment which had landed at Hennes was bombarded by a British warship. Casualties were inflicted on the enemy."

BERLIN, May 14 (AP)—It was announced officially tonight that German fighting planes shot down 70 enemy planes in the Sedan area near the French-Belgian border today. The Germans are fighting on French soil in this sector.

Mrs. Rogers then told of the origin of Mothers day as it is commemorated now.

A corsage was pinned on six mothers whose duties as mothers have a special meaning. First was Mother M. Justin as superior of the Holy Souls convent; Mrs. Mary Ickard, the eldest mother; Mrs. Dick Sulins, youngest mother; Mrs. J. F. Schwind, the only mother having a daughter who is a nun; and Mrs. L. H. Sullins and Mrs. C. J. Greene as having the largest families.

Mrs. Rogers then introduced the president of the six organizations, Mrs. Ed Wesson, and concluded by citing the three-fold duties of Catholic mothers: "Duty to the church, country, and home," stating that they had fulfilled all three.

At a meeting of LaRosa sorority Monday in the home of Miss Doris Taylor, new officers were elected by the group.

They are: Doris Taylor, president; Kathleen Palmer, vice-president; Willetta Stark, secretary and treasurer; Inez Shaw, reporter.

A new constitution was written and as the sponsor, Mrs. Noble Mounts, has moved to Seminole, two new sponsors will be elected at the next meeting.

Refreshments of jello, cookies, potato chips, iced tea, and ritz sandwiches were served to Misses Inez Shaw, Willetta Stark, Kathleen Palmer, Doris Archer, Dorothy Hollingshead, Barbara Marks, Betty Mounts, and Mrs. A. E. Shaw and Mrs. Homer Taylor.

Volunteers For Poppy Day Sale To Be Organized

Call for volunteers to serve in the American Legion auxiliary's Poppy day forces is being enthusiastically answered by the young women of Pampa. Mrs. Al Lawson, poppy chairman of the Pampa auxiliary unit, announced today.

Organization of the workers who will distribute the memorial poppies throughout the city on Poppy day, May 25, is proceeding rapidly. The women who are offering their services are being assigned to teams, each of which has a definite part of the city to supply with the little red flowers. Working in relays, they will be on the streets throughout the day.

"The response to the call for Poppy day workers is very gratifying," said Mrs. Lawson. "It shows that the spirit of patriotism is very much alive in the women of Pampa today. All will serve as unpaid volunteers, every penny of the money contributed for the poppies going to the Legion and auxiliary services for the disabled veterans and dependent families of veterans."

"It is a real sacrifice for many of these women to serve on Poppy day. They must leave their homes and put in hours of hard, unaccommodated work. Their only reward will be to see the poppies blooming on every curb in tribute to the nation's heroic dead and to feel their coin boxes grow heavy with contributions for the war's living victims. I am sure everyone in Pampa will appreciate what they are doing and will respond gladly to their appeal to wear a poppy."

Junior American Legion auxiliary members entertained their mothers and two god star mothers of the auxiliary with a Mothers day tea and program in the club rooms.

Readings were given by Martha Sue Allen, Helen Marie Hagerty, Ruthie Lee and Jo Alice Franks. Phyllis Perkins; a vocal duet by Clarice G. Cordova and Ursula Jones, and a piano solo, "Mother Macree," by Clara Mae Lemm.

A gift from the auxiliary was presented to each god star mother. Mrs. Alice Crossman and Mrs. Eselle Polite, by the first vice-president of the junior auxiliary, Clara Mae Lemm.

Mothers present were Mmes. W. C. de Cordova, Decker, Earl Perkins, Frank Tuttle, Leo Franks, Gabe Hagerty, Emmett (born), and Hoyt Allen.

Phyllis Perkins, Helen Haggerty, Duane Vieux, Elmer and Martha Sue Allen, and three visitors, Sybil Osborne, Evelyn Wilson, and Mary Alice Board, assisting chairman with Mrs. Katie Vincent.

Students In Rome Burn Allied Flags

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

ROME, May 14. (AP)—Shouting students burned a British and French flag on a simulated coffin before the British embassy today in a new outburst of anti-Allied demonstrations.

Earlier, they had demonstrated at the French embassy and then marched across town to Porta Pia, the famous gate in Roman wall adjacent to the embassy.

Armed troops stood guard before a huge throng in front of the French embassy after about 5,000 others had massed under Premier Mussolini's balcony and clamored in vain for a speech.

A column of several thousand schoolboys, ranging in age from 12 up, marched to the French embassy through congested downtown streets.

They carried a coffin wrapped in the French flag with an umbrella on top, a caricature of France labeled "Poor Chamberlain's Follower" and another of England with the title, "Her Boy Friend."

Besides Italian flags, the students had one big swastika banner and another with the legend, "Down with the French Republic."

Most of the boys carried clubs, but apparently only for appearances. There was no effort to wield them. Interspersed in the crowd were several hundred schoolgirls, striving to keep up under the burden of their schoolbags and books.

New York Gets Steamed Up

Smilingly he acknowledged the demonstrators' greeting, but he maintained the silence which, he said last week, "only facts" could break.

The British were expected to protest to Italian authorities over the slapping of a Briton identified as Lord Philip Hardwicke, Viscount Royston, at a fashionable night club last night by an Italian distributing anti-British leaflets. The incident was said to have occurred when the earl, a personal friend of Bruno Mussolini, refused to read a leaflet laid on his table by the Italian.

Congressmen Watch Giant Mock Battle

CAMP BEAUREGARD, La., May 14 (AP)—Three members of the house military affairs committee watched today as the army tested its mechanized forces in a gigantic mock battle between 25,000 invading "Reds" and 45,000 defending "Blues."

The Reds crossed the Sabine river from Texas to invade Louisiana last week, while the Blues sped from Georgia to defend Louisiana in the first phase of the games. Red airplanes, seeking to impede the Blues by bombing communications and straggling troops, played a major role.

Now the army is testing to see what happens when a fast-striking attacking unit, backed by superior air power, collides with a mechanized and numerically superior defense force.

The high command has shifted the seventh brigade to the Reds giving them the fastest-striking force in the entire army. The action was scheduled on a wide front west of here.

One officer said the present war games provided the "only chance to see how we work together."

"There was a whole year, about eight years ago," he said, "when not a round was fired in the whole army, not even from pistols, because expenditures were cut down."

Chairman Snyder (D-Pa.) of the house subcommittee on military appropriations, now observing the maneuvers, said he considered the American army the best in the world for its size, with "planes as good as anybody's."

Commissioners To Be Equalization Board For County

Gray county commissioners at their regular meeting Monday afternoon passed the routine order setting up the county commission court as the county board of equalization.

This is in accordance with the state law providing for the creation of the board on the second Monday in May.

It was voted that the board would be in recess until July 1, then start its regular work on June 8.

Purpose of the board is to hear complaints on tax assessments and to consider adjustments.

Five Teachers Hired By Board

Applications of five new teachers were approved at the meeting of the Pampa school board yesterday afternoon. The teachers will report next September to fill vacancies which will occur in the system.

The new teachers will be assigned their duties when school opens in the fall.

Miss Betty Lee Cozatt of Oklahoma City was named a physical education instructor. She will receive her degree of bachelor of science next month. She comes highly recommended.

Miss Mary Herriage of Shamrock, now a teacher at Texola, is an instructor in mathematics, English and Spanish. She is a graduate of East Texas State Teachers college.

Miss Louise Orr of Panhandle teaches languages and art. She received her degree from West Texas State college at Canyon and did post graduate work at University of Iowa.

Miss Lanette Schelagen of Hereford was named to teach music at Horace Mann school. She will receive her degree from West Texas State college next month and comes highly recommended.

Jack Edmondson of Memphis was named to instruct physical education. He is a graduate of West Texas State college at Canyon.

Goodyear Announces All-American Tire

Timed to the approaching Memorial day, when motorists begin thinking about Memorial day weekend holiday trips, is the announcement of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company's new All-American Tire company.

The new tire is priced within the reach of 70 per cent of the majority market of users.

In discussing the tire Frank Dial, local manager, said: "It's full-sized and bears a life-time guarantee without time or mileage limitations. These are the sizes: 6.00-16, 5.25-17, 5.50-17 and 4.75-19/5.00-19, so you can see that it is tailor-made to fit a lot of cars now operating for several years."

"Smart in appearance, the new All-American has the same high-carbon, high-tensile steel wire for beads as is used in all Goodyear passenger car tires. Its body is made with low-stretch Superwrist cord, which has even higher tensile strength than did quality tires of two years ago," Mr. Dial pointed out. In addition, there is a double cord breaker of high tensile strength to give greater protection against bruises.

"The first step is for the patient's family to try to realize that the alcoholic needs help and sympathy rather than scolding and nagging."

He said families could aid also by seeing that the alcoholic eats enough—plenty of vitamins—and by encouraging him to pursue "other recreations or hobbies besides drinking," but he added that the chief

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH Associated Press Science Writer WASHINGTON, May 14.—Discovery of a new disease threatening the health of the Americas was described today to the Eighth American Scientific Congress.

Dr. S. Gozales Herrejon, head of the public health department of Mexico, reported that the disease has been found in Mexico, Cuba, Guatemala, Honduras, Colombia and Ecuador, where it is known variously as "pinto," "carate" and "azul."

He said that it may be prevalent in the United States without being recognized.

"The disease, which produces white, lead-colored or red patches on the skin and marked changes in the red blood cells, was not isolated until 1932.

It is caused, Dr. Herrejon said, by a variety of the spirochete germ which causes syphilis and yaws, but apparently is not a venereal disease. The germ has been identified as a form of the treponema bacillus.

Intensive work is now under way to determine how it is transmitted. Certain blood-sucking insects are suspected of spreading it in the same way that mosquitoes spread yellow fever and malaria.

19 Nazi Merchant Ships Seized In Dutch East Indies

LONDON, May 14 (AP)—A British naval source said today 19 German merchant ships were seized by Netherlands authorities in the Dutch East Indies and seven in the Dutch West Indies.

This source said five other German ships were mined and sunk by the Norwegians or scuttled or set afire by their crews between May 6 and May 11.

He placed the total tonnage lost to the enemy between those dates at 171,049.

The British source said each of the 31 ships the Germans lost during this period was of less than 10,000 tons.

Ohio Voting For Taft And FDR Today

Ohio Democrats and Republicans were voting today to throw their big blocs of national convention delegates to President Roosevelt and Senator Robert Taft, respectively.

The two men were unopposed in presidential balloting. The Democratic delegation, with 52 votes, was pledged nominally to National Committeeman Charles Sawyer as a "favorite son," but the party's state organization has bound it to support the president if he runs again.

The Ohio Republican delegation is the first one, aside from two district delegates in North Carolina, to be chosen formally for Taft.

The Ohio senator claims unqualified support in several states. However, his managers hoped that at least part of the unpledged West Virginia delegation being elected in a primary today would back him.

West Virginia Democrats also were picking an unpledged 16-vote delegation, while in Connecticut a Republican convention was called together to select 16 delegates.

North Dakota's eight national convention votes went to Mr. Roosevelt in a Democratic state convention yesterday. At the same time Wyoming Democrats instructed their six-vote delegation to cast its first presidential ballot for Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of that state, but thereafter it would be free to support Mr. Roosevelt if he seeks a third term.

Hard-fought contests for senatorial and gubernatorial nominations were involved in the Ohio and West Virginia primaries. Gov. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) was unopposed for re-nomination, but seven Democrats were battling to oppose him in November. In the gubernatorial race, Martin L. Davey and George White.

Senator Vic Donahey (D-Ohio) was not a candidate for another term. Seeking the Republican nomination were Mayor Harold Burton of Cleveland, Rep. Dudley White, and Charles Wharton, a Kenton merchant. In the Democratic race were former Rep. John McSweeney and Herbert S. Bigelow.

A factional Democratic struggle in West Virginia included the unusual situation of a senator, M. M. Neely, trying for the nomination for governor.

Senator Rush D. Holt, youngest senator ever to take his seat, was up for re-nomination against Judge Harley Kilgore, former governor H. G. Kump, and State Senator J. Buhl Shahan.

Miami Boxers Given Jackets

MIAMI, May 14.—At a special chapel program Friday afternoon, the awards given to the winners in the recent Boxing Tournament of Champions, were presented to the two Miami boys who won them.

At the conclusion of a program, given by the students impersonating the faculty, Arthur Patton, representing Coach Rush, awarded a Jacket to Jack Osborne, for a first place in his weight and a beautiful boxing figure trophy to Keith Kivlehen, for winning a second place in his weight at the meet in Pampa.

Texas Red Forces Due To Fall Back

WITH THE RED ARMY IN LOUISIANA, May 14 (AP)—The Red army's "Hiltkreuzers," a trick name devised by underlings of Gen. Walter Krueger, its commander, struck swiftly today to chop a hole in the Blues' ranks before withdrawing.

It appeared inevitable as the second phase of the army's greatest maneuvers began, that the Texas Red forces would have to fall back before superior strength. The Blues had 45,000 troops to throw into the battle, and the Reds, 25,000.

New Frontiers

A society, a people, a culture, to be worth anything must be dynamic. That is, they must be full of energy, and they must be going somewhere.

Throughout the 1800's, the United States was expanding westward to build a new physical empire. Through the 30's it reached to wonder "What frontier now? Have we reached a dead end?"

That period of confusion over, America now looks ahead to new frontiers, new industrial worlds to conquer. They are there. The problem is to find them, line them up, conquer them.

Forums for discussion of this problem, like the University of Rochester's "Frontiers in American Life" program, are valuable. Here students, faculty, and industrial leaders all meet to explore the opportunities of the future. The fact that firms like Eastman Kodak, General Electric, Freeport Sulphur, U. S. Steel, Armstrong Cork and duPont send representatives shows industry's heightened consciousness of its vital part in uncovering that future.

Sportsmanship

All the world loves a sportsman—a man who can lose, remain good-natured, and try again.

No. 1 good sport for 1940—a year not notable for sportsmanship—is the Netherlands. Last fall that government gave New York City a million tulip bulbs to plant along Riverside Drive. They were to have formed a magnificent display this spring and to have made a basis for a spring festival.

Came spring, but no tulips. Almost all the bulbs had died. The Netherlands had every right to be good and sore.

But like good sportsmen, the Dutch decided that the failure was just one of those things. They weren't sore, and they came right back to offer another million bulbs for next spring.

Better luck for spring, 1941, and the best of luck to a country sporting enough to meet a disappointment with a gallant shrug and a smiling comeback.

Convention Time

Convention season is about to begin in earnest. Conventions are one of the institutions that mark American life off from life in almost any other country. Fraternal, commercial, political, religious, social, business and cultural institutions center around their annual conventions.

It's a good custom. It forms an annual check and audit for the organizations. It creates new friendships and associations, gets the country acquainted with itself, lessens sectionalism. And it is a big industry in itself, helping to spread money around.

The average convention guest stays 4.23 days in the host city. He spends $14.76 a day, according to the International Association of Convention Bureaus. And he has a whale of a good time, according to our own observation. Hall, convention season! Welcome, convention guests!

Behind The News

WASHINGTON, May 14—The long-standing row between C.I.O.'s National Maritime Union and the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation is beginning to break into the open.

Biggest Maritime Union complaint is the charge the bureau has been anti-union and has used its powers under the navigation laws to discipline militant union men while letting steamship owners off with a slap on the wrist.

Early this month the union distributed about Washington a pamphlet, summing up its charges, demanding a revision of policies by the bureau, and calling for dismissal of the bureau's director, Commander R. S. Field. This will touch off some fireworks.

The bureau is a part of the Department of Commerce, and hence is responsible to Harry Hopkins. It is an open secret that top department people aren't wholly satisfied with the bureau's record, and that certain changes are in the cards.

There will be an immediate backfire, however, if anything of the kind comes on the heels of the union's pamphlet. For the rumors of an impending shake-up in the bureau sound to some congressmen like advance announcements of a "surrender to the C. I. O." and some ardent anti-New-Dealers are already collecting ammunition.

RIGHT TO STRIKE IS BASIC ISSUE

Basic cause of the trouble is disagreement over when and how a sailor may strike.

It's pretty generally agreed a strike while a ship is on the high seas is either mutiny or something very much like it. The union, however, argues that while a ship is at anchor or at dock in a port the seamen may strike without incurring any more penalties than factory hands ashore would incur. Commander Field doesn't see it that way.

As Field interprets the law, once a sailor has signed articles aboard ship he is under contract. Under that interpretation, a sit-down strike by men who have signed on is illegal, even though the ship may be tied up at wharf.

Field points out, however, a man may not be held to involuntary servitude aboard ship if a crew wants to strike its members may simply go ashore, or desert ship, without suffering any penalty other than forfeiture of pay.

BUREAU CAUGHT IN OLD UNION ROW

To a certain extent, the bureau has been caught in the old A. F. L.-C. I. O. crossfire. Under the navigation laws as revised in 1936, merchant seamen are supposed to possess continuous discharge books giving a record of each voyage. The C. I. O. sailors have denounced this as "ink book," asserting it makes possible black-listing of union sailors; they carry certificates

PROOF OF HOW AVERAGE WAGES ARE ESTABLISHED

In a new and remarkable book, "Capitalism The Creator," by Carl Snyder, a new approach to the study of how wage levels and general well-being are produced, is presented from a scientific approach. It probably is the first study of this kind ever presented to the public. The author contends we now have enough data and statistics to definitely make conclusions and put political economy on a scientific basis, just as we have a science of astronomy by observation without the ability of the observer to control the experiment. I predict that this book will eventually, when its true merits are recognized, go down in history as one of the great turning points in the study of social problems.

Under the heading of "Capital and Wages", the author has the following to say:

"There is a widespread belief, not only among workers, but also among many others, that the average rate of wages is somehow the result of 'custom', or 'bargaining power', or similar factors: always with a nod to the 'cost of living', and the like. Therefore, that a higher level of wages could be brought about by laws, through setting a higher customary standard, or by trade unions, through increasing the 'bargaining power' of labor!

"The thesis presented in this volume is that the average wage in any country at any time is, to borrow a Pavlovian (Pavlov was a Russian physician and winner of a Nobel prize) phrase, a strictly conditioned reflex; (the word 'reflex' meant without consciousness) that neither the capitalist nor the employer, the wage earner or the labor union, sentiment or law, has anything to do with fixing this wage; that it is determined by definite measurable factors: the average product per worker, which in turn is rigorously determined by the amount of capital employed in industry, the degree of mechanization of production, and the number of hours worked.

"Neither law, nor custom, nor 'bargaining power' can affect money wages; with an artificial level of money wages, prices will also be higher, and the 'cost of living', and the average real wage for the same volume of employment will thus remain the same. Further, an arbitrary increase in money wages MAY HAVE AN ADVERSE EFFECT ON EMPLOYMENT, and thus diminish the real income of the working class.

"If the prevalent illusions regarding wages had any factual basis, if the average wage were even in slight degree a matter of law, volition or custom, we should not find the high correlation that exists between the wages paid and the determining factors: the amount of capital employed in industry and the degree of technical development. This correlation is proof that these factors determine the average wage so closely that, given certain details as to the wealth and income per capita of a country, and the amount of machinery employed in industry, one could easily estimate the average wages paid. And this would probably hold for any country, at any stage of its industrial development."

The author gives a very good reason and explanation as to why wages were so high in America, because of thrift and the high profits and the respect that the people, through their government, had for man's rights in property. Mr. Snyder continues by saying: "But opportunities here for business venture, under the prevailing conditions of a scarcity of goods, high prices, high profits, and high wages, soon had the expected effect. And it is to this, rather than to our fabled 'natural resources', that the prodigious industrial development which followed was due. A fortunate combination of economic conditions which more or less continued until the new spirit of emotional humanitarianism."

Dr. Snyder, I believe, was the first to point out that for 150 years America's wage, America's amount of capital and America's total production increased constantly, measured by five year periods, until 1930. On this subject of continued failure to increase employment, wages and production, Dr. Snyder completes one chapter by saying:

"The prevailing unemployment, about which there is so little understanding, has nothing to do with technical progress. Almost wholly the result of economic ignorance. In another generation, when these problems are more fully understood, our serious depressions will disappear."

BRIDGES AND THE N. L. R. B. (Los Angeles Times)

After the revelations already made before the Smith committee, nobody could be astonished at anything that comes out about transaction of public business by the National Labor Relations Board. But the testimony of Edwin S. Smith, a board member, that Harry Bridges not only dictated appointments by the Labor Board to Pacific Coast and Hawaiian posts and had the staff shifted about at will but was empowered to use the long-distance telephone at government expense to give the board its orders is at least mildly surprising.

The Honolulu representative, Bridges complained, was willing to listen to arguments of employers; he was replaced, Smith said, with the man Bridges wanted.

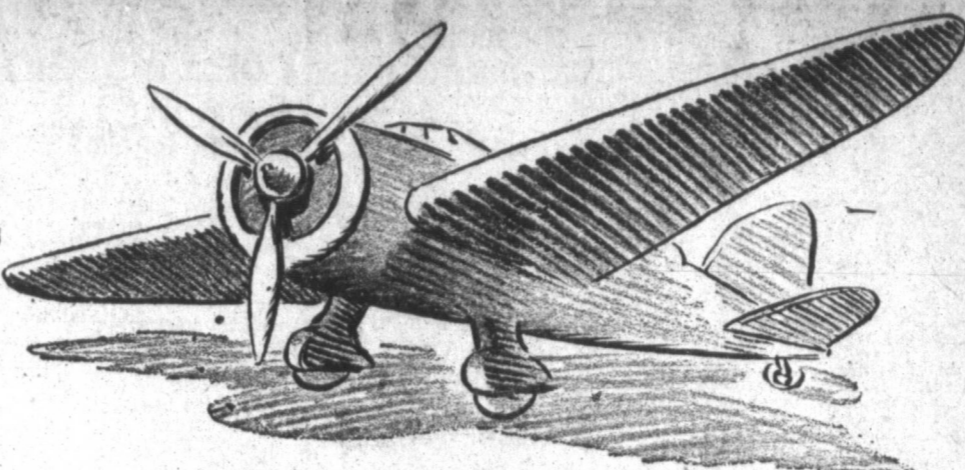

The testimony, if there was nothing else before Congress, would furnish ample ground for the immediate dismissal of Smith by the President, or his impeachment for gross perversion of duty if the President fails to act. It is also ample ground for legislating the entire N. L. R. B. out of office and for Congressional safeguards to prevent any such occurrences in the future.

When an arm of the government is run by a radical alien to suit his convenience, things have gone pretty far. The ultimate responsibility is plainly the President's; he put Smith in and keeps him there. And if he condones Smith's action in regard to Bridges, now that it is admitted in sworn testimony, the nation will know what to think.

"There is no limit to the interest which civilized nations have in each other's economic and political wisdom, for they all bear the consequences of each other's follies."

'IT SEEMS TO BE HERE TO STAY'

Around Hollywood

By BILL PORTER

HOLLYWOOD, May 14—Two years in bed with a broken back was instrumental in providing Major George Campbell McBride with one of the strangest jobs in Hollywood.

McBride is the man who teaches movie stars how to manipulate playing cards for pictures. In other words, he's a card shark. As he talked this tall, lanky Irishman on the set of "Rangers of Fortune" kept making cards fly through the air as though the whole deck were fastened together by a rubber band. And he'd make a card disappear and reappear as some other card.

His job on this picture is to teach Fred MacMurray, Albert Dekker and Gilbert Roland expert poker technique for a gambling scene. For amusement he's teaching them about the housing problem. The women of the families had already packed up their bags for their return trip when they decided to call on Mammy.

And the moral of that little incident, dear reader, is that one reason why the population of Lubbock gained 10,000 in the last ten years and Pampa's didn't is because we have done nothing about the housing problem but talk and deplore it, and fewer rent houses and high rents still prevail, just as they did ten years ago. Why don't we put on a building drive, a housing drive, a housing campaign, just as we put on a drive for a highway or for relief or the Red Cross? We need highways and bridges all right, but it's dead certain we can't increase the population of Pampa unless we have some place to put the people. The experiences of the 17 families of the seismograph crew would indicate we have no place for any excess population that might want to move to Pampa. Feminine members of some of these families have already gone back to Oklahoma.

Shouldn't we work more diligently at this housing problem than at anything else, since it is the worst obstacle that blocks growth of the town? Who will deny that the population of Pampa would have increased as much as Lubbock's if we had taken care of our housing problem as Lubbock has? It will increase 10,000 in 1940 if we do that. Every once in a while, you hear some Pampaan ask, "Why don't they bring such and such a convention to Pampa?" And the answer always is, "Pampa hasn't got the hotel accommodations to handle a convention." Some one asked recently, "Why don't the Javices and the Chamber of Commerce publicize the Entrada in the middle west and East, and try to bring tourists here?" And the man to whom the question was addressed was sitting in the Chamber of Commerce room. His answer was "There's no use bringing tourists to Pampa. We have no tourist courts in the real sense of the word, and we have no hotel accommodations for tourists. We'd have to send them to Amarillo."

For picture work I can do a pretty good job in a week. "When I get through with MacMurray," he said, "he'll be able to cheat at poker and never get caught. I feel safe passing along my secrets to movie stars because they have enough money so they don't have to cheat at cards." McBride is probably the only honest card cheat in Hollywood. He'll cheat at solitaire just to amuse his friends. No matter what kind of a game of solitaire they choose he'll win it and they won't catch him cheating. "A few weeks ago McBride was

People You Know

Well, at least part of the seismograph crew that came to town last week-and won't have to go back to Tulsa because they couldn't find any place to stay in Pampa. Yesterday one of the young couples knocked on the door and asked Mammy if there were cars parked all around, and before night two of the families and their trailers were parked on the east side of the house and one couple had set up inside the house, and now there are cars parked all around, people going and coming, the telephone ringing, and Mammy who had eight children and 10 brothers and sisters and has always been around lots of people is enjoying it. The women of the families had already packed up their bags for their return trip when they decided to call on Mammy.

HOW to EAT to BEAT the HEAT

YOUR TEETH ARE AS GOOD AS YOUR DIET - YOUR DIET FROM BIRTH ON

By ALICE H. SMITH Nutritionist, Cleveland Health Council

Teeth! Everybody uses them, but how many do anything about them? Apparently too few. Poor teeth are one of the great health menaces today. Hundreds of surveys have shown the appalling number of decayed teeth among school children alone. And there are millions more suffering all forms of dental difficulty. Likely, with most of these, the trouble began in their childhood; even before childhood, since the "baby teeth" are formed before

Teeth need vitamin D, and one of the ways to get it is by exposing yourself to the sun.

Permanent teeth are formed very early in life. You can have your teeth fixed anytime you want after that, but you can never restore what your teeth lost in the beginning.

Which brings us to the question of how and when to begin dental care. As yet science has not been able to tell us the whole story about the cause of and cure for dental caries (decayed teeth). Science has, however, shown the importance of diet in forming normal teeth and in keeping them. Teeth, like any other structure, stand up better when well fortified.

Long, exhaustive research gives us a pretty clear picture of tooth structure and tooth needs. Teeth are made up largely of minerals, calcium, and phosphorus. They are nourished by the same supply of blood nourishing all other parts of the body.

To build these teeth we must have generous amounts of vitamin D and C. In terms of common foods that means milk, heading the list, and fruits and vegetables, especially tomatoes and citrus fruits, next. The vitamin D is not supplied very generously in food, except vitamin D milk, and so it must be secured either in a concentrate, such as fish liver oil, or else by exposing the body to the ultra-violet rays of the sun.

To assure good teeth for children a campaign of education should begin with the mother. She must learn the necessity of an adequate pre-natal diet and she must continue that adequate diet for the child with the protective foods from the first day of the child's life.

Working at Universal teaching Bob Burns some clever passes at cribbage for "Alias the Deacon." When he finishes "Rangers of Fortune" he will start training Fredric March and Betty Fields so that they can cheat at whist in the Joseph Conrad story, "Victory."

Pettengill Yesteryear In The News

Eight Years Ago Today Democrat From INDIANA

"Ignorant, Gullible or Political?" Veteran fliers of our passenger airlines have come to Washington to protect the abolition of the Air Safety Board and the transfer of the Civil Aeronautics Authority to the tender mercies of Harry Hopkins. For their temerity Mr. Roosevelt has called them ignorant, gullible or political.

Perhaps he said something. These pilots are evidently ignorant of White House technique; gullible in assuming they might be treated as sincere and honest men; and political in thinking they still had a constitutional right to petition Congress for the redress of grievances. Guilty on all counts! Citizens who are thus ignorant, gullible and political should avoid Washington. "They're not to reason, their brains are dead."

When the next crash comes, and the old political whitewash is applied to cover up the man or mechanism at fault, these pilots will be permitted to attend the funeral of the man who died at the controls, and perhaps drop roses from the sky and keep their mouths shut.

I remember when the black headlines stung me enough to the hearts of millions with the news that Knute Rockne was dead! That Senator Cutting was no more! And day after day, week after week, air fine young army flyer died trying to fly the air mail. Oh yes, there were investigations, inquires, post-mortems de luxe. An attempt was made to crucify Lindbergh who might have found out something and sold what he found. And everybody was so sorry! But what came of the investigations? And of the accidents at sea? The steamship off the New Jersey coast when scores died in a burning wreck without fire apparatus or life belts. Ships and planes under the department of commerce, reeking with politics, rotten with nepotism, staffed with the in-laws of the great.

Keep your mouth shut, pilot. Don't be gullible, pilot. Dead men tell no tales. 130 fatal accidents; 146 pilots under the sod and the dew; 46 fine young air hostesses who will bring no more hot coffee, and 279 passengers pushing up the daisies. But don't get political, pilot. The dean shall bury the dead.

The delegation of veteran flyers which went to Washington represented 1500 other pilots. It was not made up of ward healers. No big city machine gave them jobs for votes. Oh, if ward healers had come to Washington to ask for something, that would have been different. The doors are always open to non-political ward healers in this non-political town. They "never went away" handed. These pilots are different. They are not the cocktail crowd of the payroll brigade you see choking every Washington barroom immediately after the clock strikes. Yes, they are different—men who don't drink, men of fine character, splendid discipline and iron courage.

But they have no business in Washington. They are not the emissaries of Kelly-Nash, or Boss Hague or Pittsburg Plus. They are nothing but pilots, you understand.

Of course, as Mr. Roosevelt added they are "well intentioned," but he said he was "being frightfully polite" in so describing them. Last year they flew 87,225,145 miles, and brought everyone of their 2,028,817 passengers safe to their homes. They are proud of that marvelous record. And now they are sick with worry.

But being ignorant, gullible and political they flew to the wrong town. There is no beacon for pilots in Washington! Win or lose, these pilots have told the story of the bureaucrats more effectively than any other group. They are waking up the country and it is fighting back. The folks back home know that pilots know more about flying than the arm chair quarterbacks in Washington. And that goes for a lot of things beside aviation.

You and Your Nation's Affairs

SAVE US FROM THOSE WHO WOULD PROTECT!

By HARLEY L. LUTZ Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

The presumption that government knows best has always been a characteristic of the dictatorial state, from antiquity to the New Deal. This prejudice is shown by the fact that under all schemes for economic planning, whether it be mercantilism or the ever-normal granary, the extension of government control over economic affairs, that they did not interpret their function as shown by the fact that none of them has been removed, or even rebuked, despite the mounting evidence of abuse of administrative power. It is shown also by the desperate tactics used in the effort to block enactment of the Logan-Walters bill.

A striking instance of what is to be stored under this new fourth branch of government is provided by the effort of the Federal Communications Commission to block the development of television. The alleged motive was to protect the people from buying television sets before the process and the instrument had been perfected. If there had been, forty years ago, a governmental agency with this viewpoint, the world would still be no more than "hazy" with a whip socket in the front. In the telephone field, we should still be turning a crank to get central.

Naturally, the present television sets are not perfect. They can only be improved by the same process as that which improved while it greatly reduced the price of the automobile, the telephone, the radio, and every other modern product. The people do not need protecting from anything as much as they need protection from an officious, paternalistic government which is trying, in every possible way, to convert paternalism into complete control, not only of production but of consumption as well. Unless this tendency is stopped, a dictator will presently be able to take over, with no more trouble than there is knocking a ripe apple off of a tree.

Exes Will Outweigh Harvesters Tonight

Pint-Sized Heiskell Only Veteran Back

Although it's baseball weather, football will reign as king here tonight when the Pampa Harvesters of 1940 meet the ex-Harvesters from last year ineligible for further competition and other exes still in school. Game time will be 8:15 o'clock and the game will be free.

The Harvesters, as will probably be the case in most of their games this fall, will be outweighed and will be on the short end of experience. But the kids who will wear the green and gold this year shouldn't be sold short.

Coaches Odus Mitchell and J. C. Prejan have some mighty promising looking boys out for football and all they lack is experience.

They might snap out of it and the team be a real contender next season. The backfield has been built around Grover Heiskell, 140-pound quarterback and only returning backfield letterman from last season.

The starting line up will probably be the biggest boy on the field unless R. G. Candler of the exes outweighs him slightly. Bob Louvier, big Guerilla tackle who has been on the injured list, tops them all.

However, with his 225 pounds, Midget will be Ralph Proper, up from the Reapers, but he hits like a ton of bricks considering his weight.

The exes have not named a starting lineup but available will be the two Clemmons boys, Nichols, Mullings, Candler, Bailey, Isbell, Cox, Dunaway, Green, Giles, Jensen, Molesworth, Matthews, Giddens, Carlisle, all from last year's team, assisted by Carr, Miller and others from earlier teams.

Starting Harvesters will be selected from Nichols and Otis, ends; Phillips and Burnett, tackles; Fide and Thompson, guards; Burge, center; Heiskell, quarter; Arthur or Daugherty, right half; Pendleton, left half; Smith, Proper or Epperson, quarter.

Cards, Reds Battle To 8 To 8 Tie In 14 Innings

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The little game that wasn't there, a national baseball battle as far as the national league was concerned, was probably the lushest 14-inning interlude that ever ended exactly where it started.

It was an 8-8 tie between the league-leading Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals with darkness finally halting the show. It also was one of three games played in the majors yesterday, the others likewise being in the National League with the New York Giants beating Boston 11-5 and Brooklyn downing the Phillies 6-3.

It's a story begun on an historic occasion. A flood April 23 washed out a contest the Cards had scheduled at Cincinnati. It was the first time a flood ever had caused postponement of a major league game.

Later someone thought of using the open date both teams had on Monday, May 13, when they would be heading east together after playing a series in St. Louis. The newspapers were notified. Fans were told. It was a special ladies day and 9,370 women thronged Crosley field. But the national league office in New York didn't know anything about it.

President Ford Frick didn't assign any umpires.

Larry Goetz, one of the league's regular staff of arbiters, was located enjoying a day off at his home in Cincinnati and summoned to duty. Coach Jim Wilson of the Reds and pitcher Lon Warneke of the Cards were pressed into service and the game got started half an hour late.

Manager Bill McKechnie kept it simple by sending Johnny Gehr (with no hit) Vander Meer to the mound for the first time this season. Before he could get anybody out in the fourth he had given up three walks and five hits, including five home runs, only the overture.

Johnny Mize hit three home runs and Joe Oregano one for the Cards. Bill Werber of the Reds tied a major league record by getting four doubles. Cincinnati used five pitchers and St. Louis four. With the score 7-7, Clyde Shoun of the Cards and Mill Shoffner of the Reds, both southpaws, hurled six scoreless innings from the seventh through the 12th.

In the first of the 13th Mize hit his third home run and the Reds rapped right back with a run on a pinch double by Bill Hershberger and a single by Werber. That was the way the game ended an inning late when umpire Goetz called the game because of darkness.

The tie kept the Reds half a game in front of the second-place Dodgers, who put down the Phils with a minimum of effort.

The third place Giants snatched their sixth straight victory with an economical 10-hit attack on Six Boston pitchers.

Midget Races Set For Friday And Saturday

Midget auto races under artificial lights will be presented here Friday and Saturday night's of this season. Joe Berry announced today. Races will be held on the track in front of the grandstand at Recreation park at 8:15 o'clock, with admission price reduced.

Today's Guest Star
James S. Kearns, Chicago Daily News: "One line forecast: The U. of Chicago case will scarcely be mentioned at the Big Ten meeting, May 24-25."

Gerard B. Swope, one retired industrialist, may be interested to learn from this week's newsreels that he is chairman of the N. Y. State racing commission, a job most of us thought was held by his brother, Herbert. . . Freddy Fitzsimmons, the portly Dodger pitcher, needs only six more wins to run his National league string to 200. . . The bad hole on the south bank is being repaired by digging out the sand and tamping in caliche and top soil.

At least a dozen of the best racing drivers in the southwest will be here. It is expected that several newcomers will be on hand, to contest Red Hodges and Ted Parker who ran away with most of the prize money at the last races.

ASHES OF CAPT. LOSEY

NEW YORK, May 14 (AP)—Closely guarding a diplomatic mail pouch in her journey across Europe from Stockholm, Mrs. Ole Hagen, wife of the American naval attaché in Scandinavia, learned belatedly that she was carrying the ashes of Capt. Robert M. Losey, U. S. military attaché who was killed in the German invasion of Norway.

Mrs. Hagen related the story of her grim assignment today on arrival from Europe aboard the liner Manhattan. She said her husband gave her the sealed pouch with instructions to see that it reached the state department in Washington. A U. S. naval attaché in Berlin disclosed the nature of her burden.

The ashes were delivered to a representative of the department at the pier today and will be sent to Capt. Losey's parents. He died of wounds received when German planes bombed a railway station near Lillenhager, Norway.

Mrs. Hagen will visit her daughter, Mrs. John Droeger, in Brownsville, Tex., then join her son, Robert, a student at the University of Texas, Austin.

Softball League To Be Organized

Softball in Pampa will get away to a flying start Wednesday night when sponsors and managers of clubs in this section meet at 8 o'clock in the recreation office adjoining the police station in the basement of the city hall.

A league, or leagues, will be formed at the Wednesday night meeting.

"We will hold our second and last organization meeting Wednesday night and it is imperative that all team sponsors, managers, or representatives who can make decisions, be present," Jack Back, Panhandle softball commissioner, declared today. "We may have to meet later to adopt a schedule but tomorrow night is the last meeting to organize."

YESTERDAY, when Monitor is injured, Shep asks to ride Pepper Boy in the Derby and Sherry agrees. Pepper Boy draws a crowd...

CHAPTER XVII BREATHTAKINGLY handsome in the scarlet jacket, purple cross sash and white cap of the Lone Tree Stable, Shep Grant strode to stall 7 in the Churchill Downs paddock...

"Sherry, you must pardon this morning-bit of exuberance, and all that. Willie Bond's a peach—he walked the devil out of me—"

"That's swell, Shep," she spoke crisply. "Now today—"

"Don't worry! Know your orders by heart. Get out in front and die there. Right?"

"I've got the best horse, Sherry. And the sweetest revenge to boot. Wharton will be to make Red Soldier take dust."

"Never mind this revenge business—you just get out—get out and win."

The notes of a bugle, clear and strong, sounded over the course. Boots and saddles. Calling the horses to post.

"Riders up!" the paddock judge called from the center of the line. Sam tossed Grant into the saddle. The rider quickly knotted his reins, grasped the whip.

"All out for the Derby! Number one horse, lead out!"

PAUL WHARTON'S Red Soldier, with Jockey Mann in the light green and cherry red blocks, started the line out.

"Good luck—good luck, Shep," Sherry managed to say, as Pepper Boy, his head proudly erect, took the first step forward.

Shep smiled down on the little group. "Be seeing you!" Then he was in line, marching down the track, his head held high.

A strong arm went through Sherry's. "We've done all we can do," said Paul Wharton. "Come on, let's go out in the infield and see 'em fight it out. What say?"

"Why—all right, Paul," Sherry was glad to see Paul behind her. She needed his strength now, more than ever.

As they followed the horses to the track, a deep silence fell on the vast throng—a silence so deep that even the hoofbeats of horses on the track could be heard distinctly. Then the band broke into the notes of "My Old Kentucky Home." "Sort of gets you, doesn't it?" Paul whispered. She glanced at him. There was a look on his face that she had never seen, as if a mask had dropped for an instant.

"Yes," she said, huskily. He held her arm tightly—they were crossing the sandy loam track. Guards opened an infield gate—made a path for them through the thousands jammed on the rail.

"Come on," he grinned, "we're going to the center, with the stablehands. I believe the ground's a little higher there; we can see every inch of the race."

Now the horses were at the post. Were going into the stalls. "Well, Sherry—this ends months of planning, and worry and care. One horse wins—goes into turf history—and Sherry—"

"Yes, Paul?" Somehow, this was a new and more gentle Paul Wharton; or was she seeing the real Paul the first time?

"I swear I'm trying to beat you—I believe I'm going to beat you. You wouldn't throw me not try?"

"Of course not, silly." "Sherry, I—"

THEY'RE OFF!!! FIFTEEN thoroughbreds had been caught in line—and the Derby was on!

A mass of color was streaking down the stretch to the roaring cheers of thousands of throats.

"You and I—we're scrambled back," he spoke with sudden savagery. "See that first horse—jockey in white, black cap? That's Liana—fastest filly in America—almost beat the barrier. That's Castanets running along side her—colors, yellow with blue stars. We're—gosh, we're in the second division!"

Six horses, almost on a line, flashed past the opening post the first time around—and behind them came nine others, jammed together—a full length to the rear. Sherry saw Paul's bay, now on the rail—and running alongside him was Shep Grant on her black Pepper Boy. She could see—through the glasses—that Grant had a snug hold on the colt.

"I told him to get out in front—and he's just rating him along!" "I told my boy the same thing—and look at him. But say, Sherry, they're running awfully fast—"

The field was sweeping into the backstretch. Six horses jumbled together in the first division, Liana, the chestnut, sprinting in the lead. Castanets, half a length behind, with four other horses; then the black Pepper Boy on the rail—

"There you come!" she shouted to Wharton. "You're coming alongside of me, now—but you've got to run fast, Paul." She saw the jockeys in front—in that first division—swerve over together, trying to keep both Pepper Boy and Red Soldier behind.

"Darn—we pocketed!" Wharton exclaimed. "But I can come around easier than you can—look my boy's starting around, now!"

So he was—at the half-mile pole. He was drawing out toward the track's center, to go around the first division. But a boy in black and red pulled out just a bit.

Wharton's face was grim, determined. "Now watch—they're coming to the three-eighths pole—every jock in the race is going to start his run—and look, Liana is folding up!"

The filly was falling back. Shep Grant jammied Pepper Boy between her and the rail.

"Thunder—that throws Red Soldier farther out!" Wharton swore to himself.

"Look at 'em—look at 'em," Sherry screamed. Not one, but two horses in that first division were spurting ahead, as they entered the far turn. Shep and Pepper Boy followed—Liana was dropping back—Mann was swinging Red Soldier over against Pepper Boy—but Pepper Boy was sprinting a half length ahead of him. Behind came the field, crowding them.

Now a mass of horses, all jammed together, were swinging around the far turn.

"They're going fast—it's a fast race," Wharton said hoarsely. "If Red Soldier just gets a chance—say, look at that. Come on, Mann—come on, Mann!"

RED SOLDIER jammied his nose between two of the front line horses—the outer one was giving way—Red Soldier was surging forward—Red Soldier was coming through—Red Soldier's nose was in front as they hit the top of the home stretch.

"Mann—Mann—ride him, boy, ride him!" Wharton was shouting. Mann had Red Soldier in the middle of the track—was shooting straight down the last two furlongs—a half length ahead of the field. Shep Grant was fourth—or was it third?—as they turned into the stretch. He was on the rail—he could have spurred forward—but he held his pace.

"Shep—Shep!" Sherry shouted, words lost in the cries of thousands. "Make your run, Shep! Make your run!"

General Second Guesses Pitcher

By EDDY GILMORE

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The stern, bearded man who 22 years ago helped speed 400,000 American soldiers to Europe in a month, bit his lip and shook his head.

"I'm afraid," he said in clipped tones, "we're about to witness a catastrophe."

General Peyton C. March, army chief of staff in 1918, a man of boundless energy at 75, took out his pencil, shifted his position and studied the action with intensity.

"Watch," he said, "watch this maneuver. I think it will work. He's going to fire with the most deadly weapon he has—the knuckle ball."

The general was right. Dutch Leonard's next pitch was his famous knuckle ball—a hard thing to hit. The enemy batted it into the dirt, the side was retired and the run didn't score.

Every afternoon the Washington Senators play at home, the tall man with the beard climbs the many steps to the second tier and takes a seat behind the catcher.

"I've always loved baseball," he said. "I like to look ahead and guess the maneuvers the managers will use—to second guess the pitcher and the batter."

General March thinks the major leagues will see big attendance this year.

"The war," he said, "will send fans to the game, just to get their minds off things, if nothing else."

Nazi Parachutists Lynched In Brussels

PARIS, May 14 (AP)—Havas, French news agency, reported from Brussels that German parachutists were landing this morning in the Belgian capital, but were pounced on by the inhabitants as fast as they touched ground.

One parachutist who landed a few yards from the Belgians was lynched by the crowd after he tried to make use of his firearms, Havas said.
