This was interpreted to mean that Turkey, acting probably with the counsel of Soviet Russia, had decided to await developments before going to war. These developments might be a direct attack on Turkey or entrance of Bulgaria into the Greek-Italian war on the side of the Axis.

Belgrade dispatches said the Italians were hammering at Greek positions in Plosteria pass, at the northeast end of the Albanian frontier.

Close the bathroom windows, run several inches of steaming hot water into the tub and allow the frock to remain until the pile of the velvet is fluffed. Avoid leaving the dress in the steamy room too long, else it may become too damp and water-stained.

Punishment To Be Subject Of Sermon

"Everlasting Punishment" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 3.

The Golden Text is "Righteousness keepeth him that is upright in the way; but wickedness overthroweth the sinner" (Proverbs 13:6).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord is known by the judgment which he executeth: the wicked is snared in

Clinic In Sunday School Work To Be Conducted

Dr. G. S. Hopkins and five State Sunday school workers will be at the First Baptist church, from Monday through Friday, in a Sunday School Clinic.

Hopkins, who is director of Sunday school work for the General Baptist convention in Texas, is known throughout the southland for his leadership in this field.

Subjects to be taught and the teachers will be as follows: "The Adult Department of the Sunday School," Dr. G. S. Hopkins; "The Young People's Department of the Sunday School," Mrs. J. W. Marshall; "Intermediate Sunday School Work," Mrs. H. W. McIntyre; "Guiding Junior Boys and Girls in the Sunday School," Mrs. H. E. Walker; "Guiding the Primary Child in the Sunday School," Mrs. O. E. Parris; and "Guiding the Little Child in the Sunday School," Mrs. Harold E. Jones.

Classes will begin at 7 o'clock. The Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, the pastor, will teach "The Grace of Giving" to the members of the church who are not officers and teachers in the Sunday school.

The Rev. B. A. Norris, above, is pastor of the local First Christian church at which a revival campaign is being conducted by the Rev. Spencer P. Austin of Duncan, Oklahoma. Tonight Rev. Austin will speak on "How Much Are We in the Church?" John E. Hutchinson of Fort Worth is in charge of the music during the revival.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Remove error from thought, and it will not appear in effect" (page 40).

Evangelist To Speak On Holy Land Tonight

The Rev. Spencer P. Austin will speak on the Holy Land at tonight's service, which closes the first week of the revival held at the First Christian church.

The Rev. Austin has traveled extensively throughout the Holy Land and will present a vital and forceful message on his experiences and the many facts he learned while over there.

In spite of the rain and Halloween, the revival has been progressing satisfactorily. The Rev. Austin has set an attendance goal in church school for 500 Sunday morning and urges every member to be present and take a large delegation.

John E. Hutchinson, song leader for the meeting, has been training the children's choir each afternoon at 4 o'clock. The children are learning three-part harmony, and will be presented in one of the evening services next week.

The War Spreads

Like an ugly ink blot, the European war has spread in a little more than a year across the whole map of a continent.

It is hard to realize now that all this started over a border dispute over Danzig and the Polish corridor, just as the World War started in a dispute over responsibility for the murder of an archduke.

The dispute over Danzig might have been settled across the table, given the slightest good will, the slightest desire to settle it. But already whatever goodwill was left had been dissipated by the futile Munich effort at appeasement, the mounting evidence that Nazi Germany was not to be satisfied by mere amicable adjustments or borders.

And because there was not enough statesmanship, enough goodwill in all Europe to compromise a matter of access to the Baltic Sea, the conflagration started which now spreads across all Europe.

More even than in 1914, the world is interdependent. And even then a dispute between Austria and Serbia eventually dragged a world to war. Today—

Within two days after the Danzig failure, Britain and France entered the war. Within two weeks, Russia was plunging into Poland for its share of the swag, and within two months it was invading Finland.

Within seven months Denmark and Norway were gratuitously moved down, protesting their neutrality as they fell. Within nine months Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg followed. Before a year was out, Italy plunged in. The tenth month saw Russia partitioning Rumania, and Egypt was invaded just after the first year closed. With the fourteenth month Greece likewise engulfed.

What is significant is this: Of all these countries not more than one or two wanted war. Yet war was thrust upon them all.

Once war on this scale is unleashed, those fighting have only one objective—to win. Thus Greece, whose dictatorship under Metaxas was scarcely less oppressive than those of Germany or Russia, is welcomed as an ally of democratic England, just as the democracies welcomed autocratic Russia in 1914. Dictator Mussolini does not hesitate to try to crush Dictator Metaxas.

Behind the fine-sliced bologna about ideology lies the naked struggle for power, for survival.

People have known freedom from time to time down through the centuries. But they never failed to regret its loss and to strive to regain liberty.

The world has changed, the editors of "Das Reich," a Berlin newspaper, seems to believe. For this paper is urging the people of the Netherlands and of Scandinavia to cease regretting their lost freedom and be glad to join the German Reich . . .

Behind The News

By BRUCE CATTON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The most significant fact in the entire presidential campaign may eventually prove to be the shift in sentiment noted in the great middle western region during the past month. Around the first of October, Democratic leaders were rubbing their hands and talking confidently of "another 1936." The middle west was looked on as sure, with a few minor exceptions. Everything in sight was being flamed for President Roosevelt, and Republican leaders privately weren't inclined to do too much arguing about it.

Then something began to happen. Willkie's vigorous, untiring campaign began to have an effect. The powerful anti-war sentiment of the entire interior of the country began to assert itself.

Today, even strong Democratic partisans admit the middle west as a whole is a toss-up.

NDIANA AN EVEN BET

Most hotly contested ground is the central region, lying from the Alleghenies to the far side of the Mississippi.

Ohio is believed to lean toward Willkie. Roosevelt will run well in the Cleveland-Youngstown-Akron industrial area. Elsewhere, Willkie is immensely strong. The Republicans have the advantage of a strong local ticket, with popular Governor Bricker running for reelection against the generally discredited ex-Governor Davey with Mayor Burton of Cleveland practically conceded election to the Senate.

Indiana is considered about a 50-50 bet. Paul McNutt is fighting hard for the Roosevelt ticket. The Senatorial fight, in which Senator Sherman Minton is opposed by Raymond E. Willis, will probably go the way the presidential fight goes. The "war issue" is helping Willkie grow.

No one is making any very confidential predictions either way about Michigan. Roosevelt still has the workers in the great industrial region around Detroit and Flint, and John L. Lewis's attack is not expected to pull many votes away from him. Gov. Luren Dickinson is no tower of strength to the Republican state ticket. The rural areas are heavily Republican.

Illinois likewise is on a knife-edge. The Kelly-Nash machine is counted on to make up a big Roosevelt vote in Chicago, of course; but the state has upward of 750,000 citizens of German descent and 200,000 more of Italian ancestry, who are expected to go strongly for Willkie. Illinois' immense farm area is regarded as heavily Republican.

Wisconsin could easily go Republican. Many Democrats are sore over Secretary Wallace's endorsement of Senator La Follette. State Republicans are united and believe they will not only get Wisconsin's presidential vote but will also unseat La Follette.

Minnesota—from this distance—seems likely to go Republican. Iowa shows few signs of following native-son Wallace and may follow Minnesota. Kansas is considered sure for Willkie, and unless Senator Norris's stumping turns the tide Nebraska will go the same way. Missouri should go Democratic, although

Common Ground

This column contends there is common ground between the New Deal and the God-given equal rights supreme also has a right to create.

NEW DEAL AND ATHEISM

When we finally analyze all the movements of the New Deal, it resolves itself into atheism or in the belief in a God that is inferior to the crowd. It will be remembered that the New Deal has discarded the laissez faire principle or idea, on which this government was founded—that men have certain inalienable rights with which the majority or a dictator has no right to interfere.

As logic to support the above conclusions, I wish to quote from the greatest political economist, in my opinion, who ever wrote on social subjects. The quotation is from Bastiat's second book, "Harmonies of Political Economy". I quote: "Believes In God"

"There is a leading idea which runs through the whole of this work, which pervades and animates every page and every line of it; and that idea is embodied in the opening words of the Christian Creed,—I Believe in God.

"Yes, if this work differs from those of some other Economists, it is in this, that the latter appear to say, 'We have but little faith in Providence, for we see that the natural laws lead to an abyss. And yet we say laissez faire! (Let production alone.) Merely because we have still less faith in ourselves, and because we see clearly that all human efforts designed to arrest the action of these natural laws tend only to hasten the catastrophe.'

"Again, if this work differs from the writings of the Socialists, it is in this, that the latter say, 'We pretend to believe in God, but in reality we believe only in ourselves; seeing that we have no faith in the maxim, laissez faire, and that we all give forth our social nostrums as infinitely superior to the plans of Providence.'

"For my part, I say, laissez faire; in other words, respect liberty, and the human initiative, . . .

"because I believe that it is under the direction of a superior impulse, because, Providence being unable to act in the social order except through the intervention of men's interests and men's will, it is impossible that the natural resulting force of these interests, the common tendency of these wills, should be towards ultimate evil; for then we must conclude that it is not only man, or the human race, which proceeds onward towards error; but that God himself, being powerless or malevolent, urges on to evil his abortive creation. We believe, then, in liberty, because we believe in universal harmony, because we believe in God. Proclaiming in the name of faith, and formulating in the name of science, the Divine laws of the moral movement, living and pliant as these laws are, we spurn the narrow, sinister, unbending, and unalterable institutions which the blind leaders of the ignorant would substitute for this admirable mechanism. It would be absurd in the atheist to say, 'laissez faire le hardi'—seek not to control chance, or blind destiny. But, as believers, we have a right to say, seek not to control the order and just of God—seek not to control the free action of the sovereign and infallible mover of all, or of that machinery of transmission which we call the human initiative. Liberty thus understood is no longer the anarchical defecation of individualism. What we adore is above and beyond man who struggles; it is God who leads him."

It is evident that all the laws recommended and enacted by the New Deal that interfere with the inalienable equal freedom and rights of mankind, are the result of the egoism of the advocates of these Utopias or that they are simply plain atheists and believe there are no everlasting truths and everlasting principles and laws and that man, through the majority, can create new and better social relations or laws.

A FEW TRUISMS

As we are thinking about what will be the common interests of people, here are a few truisms a friend of mine handed to me. I quote:

1. You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.
2. You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.
3. You cannot help small men by tearing down big men.
4. You cannot lift the wage earner up by pulling the wage payer down.
5. You cannot keep out of debt by spending more than your income.
6. You cannot further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatred.
7. You cannot establish sound social security on borrowed money.
8. You cannot build character and courage by taking away men's initiative and independence.
9. You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they should do for themselves.

The New Deal has violated all these eternal and everlasting truths and we are reaping exactly the kind of prosperity we are entitled to. Never in our history before, have we had any depression period for longer than four years. Now we have had it for nine years. All because we have violated these simple truisms and axioms.

ROOSEVELT REFUTES WORDS OF LINCOLN

(Bucyrus, O., Telegraph-Forum)

President Roosevelt is trying to do what Lincoln so truthfully said could not be done—fool all of the people all of the time. The President, at his press conference Wednesday, announced that he is hopeful of finding time to "inspect" defenses in Pittsburgh area and also that he would "like very much to see what is going on in aviation in Ohio."

No one is being fooled by such announcements. What the President wants to do, what he intends to do and what he will do is make a campaign tour to Pittsburgh and Ohio.

As for "inspecting" defenses, our army has plenty of officers far more capable of making such inspections than Franklin Roosevelt. In this same conference he explained anew that he does not want to get farther than a night's journey from Washington for fear he might get "caught off base" by developments abroad.

Here again he attempts to fool all of the people. Average high school students know that when the President of the United States is he is surrounded by secretaries and lines of communication which constitute an elaborate executive mansion even if he is in a private neighborhood. The war issue is a burning Roosevelt ally. Willkie will probably get the Dakotas.

All through this region, it seems to be the war issue that is most important. The bulk of the isolationists and anti-conspiration votes in Congress came from the mid-west.

THE RAISED HANDS

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1.—Pretty soon, now, you won't be having to sneak in with the kids on Saturday afternoons to see a western serial. Universal is making one for adults. At least, it plans to release "Riders of Death Valley" in first-run theaters and on regular programs, taking over cliff into take 100 feet below."

It has everything except peanuts for the customers. The "weenie," or bone of contention, is a bunch of gold claims. Episode One ends like this: "Exterior, high cliff. Shooting toward top of cliff. Stage plunges over cliff into take 100 feet below." Episode Two concludes with a stampede of wild horses in a canyon. The hero's horse has stumbled and thrown him. "Jim in foreground tries to get to his feet and on one knee as the running herd comes out of the background, over him and out of scene over camera." Continued in our next.

"Riders of Death Valley" is being called "The Million Dollar Super-Serial," but the most colossal thing about it is the cast: Buck Jones, Dick Foran, Leo Carrillo, Charles Bickford, Lon Chaney, Jr., Big Boy Williams and Noah Beery, Jr. The heroine is blonde Jeanne Kelly, who made a series of Paramount pictures with Tito Guizar and didn't make a dialog coach because she speaks the Spanish very well. Born in Costa Rica, she also speaks French and German.

UNHONORED DEATH

In spite of a couple of casualties among the series (not serial) pictures, there soon will be more of them than ever. When the Warners took a look at "Tugboat Annie Sings Again," along with a whistle-shooting premiere at Tacoma, they decided to make a series with the character created by Marie Dressler and now revived by Marjorie Rambeau.

But the decision was bad news for one of the principals in this first picture. Big Harry Shannon, who plays the bibulous Cap'n Mahoney, happens to be a free-lance character actor. (He's Lucille Ball's father in "Too Many Girls" and Orson Welles' father in "Citizen Kane.") So Warner Brothers were faced by the choice of putting him under long-term contract so he'd be available for future Tugboat Annie films or of minimizing his role in the first picture. Shannon wouldn't miss him in subsequent ones.

Cutters were put to work chopping out some of his best scenes. And as a final indignity, they killed him off. Shannon wasn't even called in to do a dramatic death scene; the studio merely gave Miss Rambeau an extra line in which she sadly announced that Mahoney was dead.

STOOGING FOR CHAPLIN

Charlie Chaplin's "Great Dictator" has been released to mingled disappointment and loyal applause, and the Chaplin studio has relaxed into its usual drowsy state. Of the employees who remain, one is a gag man who has been on the payroll 15 years and probably will remain as long as he fails to claim any original ideas.

This fellow knows Chaplin well enough to realize the comedienne likes to think of everything himself. So when a picture is in preparation, the gag man will figure out a piece of business for a sequence and say to Chaplin: "This is a good place for that escator gag you figured out last year, you did. It was about a man who, at lunch, and I made a note of it." Then he'll go on to "remind" Chaplin of the details, and the star's quick mind automatically will grasp and adopt the idea.

More than 100 towns and cities in the United States have names containing the name of the national bird, the eagle.

CHAPTER 16 ALADDIN'S LAMP

By Samuel B. Pettengill

"By their fruits ye shall know them." American free enterprise is doing infinitely more good to people than all charitable organizations and governments put together, including the social welfare workers. It does that and in addition supports all charity, all education, all churches, and all government as a part of the day's work.

In tens of thousands of shops, mines, offices, farms, laboratories, the lamps of Aladdin are being rubbed by modern genius, set free by the constitution of the United States, the barrier against Caesar. There is the great chemical industry marching with giant strides since the end of the World War; chemistry on the farm; the sanitary packing and canning of meat, fish and food; the conquest of disease; communications, radio, telephone and telegraph, shortening the business day, bringing news, music, sports, plays and public discussion into 27,500,000 homes, and extending their friendly roofs over far distant relatives; electric refrigeration; air conditioning. And naming these, you have just begun.

But as a sample of free enterprise—the automobile. It pays heavy taxes, receives no subsidies from government, asks little but freedom to plan and perform, is constantly selling a better and better car at a low price for a very low margin of profit and pays high wages for a shortening week's work. The makers of the four or five popular-priced cars average no more than $29 per car, and of this amount one-third, to one-half is profit from accessories and replacements.

There are now about 30,000,000 registered automobiles and trucks in the United States, 68 per cent of world total. Americans have one motor vehicle to four persons; Germany one to 42 persons; Italy one to 93 and Russia sayeth no. No record.

To manufacture these cars and equipment $1,300,552,000 is invested in plants employing directly in a good year, like 1937, 517,000 workers. The motor vehicle industry—cars, trucks, bus and tractor—takes 30 per cent of all gasoline, 80 per cent of rubber, 69 per cent of plate glass, 51 per cent of strip-steel, 53 per cent of malleable iron, 40 per cent of mohair, 29 per cent of nickel, 35 per cent of all lead consumed in America, to say nothing of cotton, leather, aluminum, zinc, lumber, etc. The automobile industry is a huge buyer of soy beans, turpentine, wool, sugar, cane, corn, flax seed and the "little busy bee employs each shining hour" to produce tons of beeswax annually for automobiles.

These 30,000,000 motor vehicles 8,870 miles yearly, or 266 billion miles—enough to go to the moon and back nearly 554,000 times! A round trip of 480,000 miles!

In 1929 we produced 3,227,349 cars and trucks that sold at average retail price of $1,336. In 1937 this giant of free enterprise produced 5,016,437 cars and trucks which sold at an average of $788—a far better car, in looks, performance, comfort and safety for $847 less.

If these 5,016,437 vehicles had sold at the same price that prevailed in 1929 the cost would have been $2,743,991,039 more. That saving, plus a better car, was passed on to these 5,000,000 buyers. In short the industry, without prodding from government, gave the buyer a better car, and by cost comparison, $847 to spend on other things. In other words, in 1929 the buyer would have had to spend $1,336, retail cost, for a car alone. Today he can buy a better car for $788, retail cost, and keep or spend the difference of $847. This released $847 to him as a buying

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

I have reached unimpeachable information that there is in France a growing anti-German unrest, accompanied by actual under-cover sabotage—a condition which casts still further light on Herr Hitler's anxiety to bring that country into the Nazi fold and secure the co-operation of the general public.

One suspects that the Fuehrer is beginning to find much truth in the old Chinese adage that he who rides a tiger finds it difficult to dismount.

The Nazi chief has plowed a large portion of Europe under with his mighty war-machine without much opposition. He probably will plow more under.

But in every instance where he has occupied a country by force he has found that while he could break physical resistance he could not destroy the spirit of the nation as a whole. The situation in France is symptomatic of that existing in other parts of occupied Europe—a potential danger of vast proportions.

This can only be kept in hand by armed over-lordship, and that will be increasingly true as the conquered countries recover from the shock of assault.

I understand there has been a remarkable underground change of sentiment in France in recent weeks. The country was utterly smashed by its military defeat, and at that time there was much bitterness against the British (a flame fed eagerly by the Germans because of a rather widespread feeling that the French had been "let down" by their ally).

That feeling has undergone much change, although there still is an anti-British party which may be said to be represented by Vice-Premier Laval who has proclaimed that he believes democracy is dead in all countries and is working overtime to swing France into the Nazi camp.

However, there has been a widespread shift of sentiment in favor of England. This has been due mainly to determined and successful British resistance, Germany's failure to launch the much-advertised invasion of England, and the material support the United States has been affording Britain.

I don't wish to give the impression a revolt is imminent in France. The country is not utterly defeated for that. However, the power of resistance presumably will grow, and already there is much sabotage reported in Nazi bases.

This situation in France is only one of many.

Embittered passive, and often active, resistance on a considerable scale is meeting the German occupations. It has been particularly marked in shattered Czechoslovakia, Poland and Norway.

One needs look only at the number of refugee governments in London to realize that there is an undying resistance.

TEX'S TOPICS

By DeWeese

LAST night was Halloween, according to the calendar, and we didn't get to do much about it. . . . We had planned to go some place and do something, but we got to thinking about that Kiwanis club revue coming up Wednesday and Thursday nights and decided that the work we had to do on it would never get done unless it was done last night. . . . We often wondered what a musician comedy revue master of ceremonies thinks about these nights before dress rehearsal, and now we know.

The thing we thought most about was the fact that we had given very little attention to this particular angle of the show, having been so interested in the rehearsals of the real meat of the show which is to be found in Ken Bennett's musical scenes and the scenery and stage effects of Kenneth Carman and Jim Edwards which are so beautifully embellished by a heavy of pretty girls, good dancers and singers, and an outstanding number of plays. . . . We will completely steal the fancy end of the show.

WELL, we got to thinking about that swell show and how tragic it would be if we couldn't let the rest of the production down through lack of preparedness on our part. . . . So what do you think happened? . . . The more we attempted to prepare the more we discovered that here in Pampa we had let the rest of our preparation. . . . You could prepare something and it might never work out at all. . . . We talked with some of the show committee about it. . . . They warned against any attempt to prepare anything which was not to even think about that part of the show until the minute we step through the first curtain Wednesday night. . . . Some fun, eh?

If you will just stop to think about the fact that an emcee cannot prepare his lines for this show, it should give you a rough idea of the production style. . . . The show committee is going to make a list of the names of the emcees. "Now don't worry—let nature take its course when you step on the stage. . . . Most anything is likely to happen, and you just hand it off to the emcee." . . . We can't figure out whether that's a threat or a tip. . . . We saw them holding a secret rehearsal the other night so we were stiff that looked like dynamite to us. . . . Maybe we'll find

Pampa To Battle State Champions Tomorrow

Harvesters Fired Up For Lubbock Tilt

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the Harvesters will meet the Pampa Harvesters in the first home game of the season when they meet the defending state champions, the Lubbock Westerners, in the second conference game of the season for both teams. Lubbock has won 15 consecutive games.

And the Harvesters are fired up for the game. In fact they're so hot for a victory that they're smoking. Coach O'Connell reported after another long, stiff workout yesterday afternoon.

"The boys are determined to upset the dope bucket and knock off the Westerners," Coach Mitchell said.

With the exception of Ralph Burnett and Leslie Burge, the Harvesters will be in good shape for tomorrow's battle. Burnett has a bruised rib that will probably bother him while Burge is recovering from a bruised ankle. Both Burnett and Burge, who received head injuries two weeks ago, are nearly well as far as the cuts are concerned and they'll be in the starting lineup.

The Harvesters line will have a big weight advantage over the Westerners in a 13-0 upset of previously unbeaten Texas. The Owls threw three—only 3—passes, completed none.

Meanwhile, the Owls, who tossed as many passes as anybody in 1939 and 1938, made their running attack click for two touchdowns against the Longhorns. Then they made their defense stand up.

Perhaps the reason is Head Coach Jess Neely's theory, which certainly embodies a sound running game and a staunch defense as foremost requisites, or perhaps it was the fact that passes backfired badly in Rice's loss to Tulane. In any event, Neely, who some observers thought would have trouble getting accustomed to the Southwest's open game, hardly can improve on his debut.

Tedious effort with the Rice running attack since September paid some dividends in the Texas game. Neely and his aides must have felt repaid for patient coaching when T. A. Weems got away against

Champ Fever Hits Corpus

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Nov. 1 (AP)—Down along the Gulf coast these days, the followers of Texas schoolboy football are humming a tune that sounds much like that of 1938 when Corpus Christi High school crashed to a state championship.

The Buccaneers, who couldn't move out of their tracks last season when the critics said they'd go all the way, are now in the midst of a winning streak that stamps them as heavy favorites to win their district title.

And once outside the district, the Bucs would be hard to head, what with a young and hustling ball club that improves so fast each week it makes the opposition's head swim.

In six games, Corpus Christi has rolled up 199 points to 19, but here's the real tip-off: The Bucs have gained 1,684 yards while holding their opponents to less than 100.

It is a versatile club with a lightning passing attack and a trio of backs who get up and scat. There are Dickie Haas, brother of all-state Charlie in 1934; Jack Creager and Drexel White. Haas and Creager are fast and elusive and White is a terrific power runner.

For instance, last week in the mud of Crocker whipped a 62-yard jaunt for a touchdown as Corpus Christi downed Fort Worth Tech 26-0.

Corpus Christi is keeping a weather eye on Robstown, which has 17 lettermen back from the squad that beat the Bucs last season. Also there is the matter of Harlingen, which is undefeated and untied.

This week finds the district driving into the midst of the conference campaign with Robstown playing Beville, Edinburg meeting San Benito and McAllen tackling Brownsville. Corpus Christi and Harlingen have non-conference games.

Elsewhere in the state, the race goes into the crucial stretch with Amarillo, which, along with Robstown, is the last team not to have tasted conference competition, taking place in the Panhandle district against Borger.

Only one game this week matches undefeated teams. Jeff Davis of Houston clashing with Lamar (Houston) in a tilt due to decide top place in district 13—and also to cut the state list of unbeaten clubs to 16.

Jeff Davis is undefeated, untied and unscored on. Lamar has been tied. Other "perfect record" teams in the state are Amarillo, Lubbock, Plainview, Paris, Sherman, Masonic Home (Dallas), Stephenville, Lufkin, South Park (Beaumont), Austin, Kerrville, Corpus Christi, and Harlingen.

Kilgore, which shocked the state with a 14-7 victory over the highly touted Longview Lobos, is unbeaten but has been twice tied.

Peewees And Reapers Win By Big Scores Yesterday

Two Pampa Junior high school football teams won lopsided victories yesterday afternoon when the Reapers defeated Horace Mann of Amarillo 33 to 0 in a Panhandle Junior high conference game played in Amarillo, and the Peewees swamped the Phillips Midgets 40 to 0 here.

Yesterday's Reaper victory clinched second place in the conference race. Today Central and Sam Houston meet in Amarillo and the winner will be the conference champion. The Reapers won three, lost one and tied two conference games this season.

Held scoreless the first half, the Reapers came to life in the second half and Boyles ran 25 yards for a touchdown. Before the half ended Boyles intercepted a Horace Mann pass and returned it 30 yards for another six points.

The Reaper passing attack went into high gear in the final quarter, Dunham throwing 18 passes and completing 11, three for touchdowns. He also passed twice for extra points while Boyles powered over for the other point.

Dunham first passed to Robbins for a touchdown. Then he heaved to Boverman, other end, for a counter. The last shot was to Kuehl, reserve end, for a touchdown.

The Reaper line played its best game of the season, charging low and hard on offense and holding steady on defense. The Harvester attack was well handled by Dunham, Boyles and Berry.

The Reapers will play their last game of the season next Thursday against the Borger Bull Pups here.

While Gething and Beezley led the Peewee ground attack, Griffin passed to Clay for several touchdowns.

Rice Passed Thrice Against Texas And Completed None

HOUSTON, Nov. 1.—Check back through your files, boys, and see if you can find the last time a Southwest conference football team won a game without completing a forward pass.

It's unusual, if not monumental, in this pass-crazed circuit to win strictly on the ground.

But Rice Institute did it Saturday in a 13-0 upset of previously unbeaten Texas. The Owls threw three—only 3—passes, completed none.

Meanwhile, the Owls, who tossed as many passes as anybody in 1939 and 1938, made their running attack click for two touchdowns against the Longhorns. Then they made their defense stand up.

Perhaps the reason is Head Coach Jess Neely's theory, which certainly embodies a sound running game and a staunch defense as foremost requisites, or perhaps it was the fact that passes backfired badly in Rice's loss to Tulane. In any event, Neely, who some observers thought would have trouble getting accustomed to the Southwest's open game, hardly can improve on his debut.

Tedious effort with the Rice running attack since September paid some dividends in the Texas game. Neely and his aides must have felt repaid for patient coaching when T. A. Weems got away against Texas for 41 yards on one running play, and 56 yards on a kickoff return, or on several runs by Bob Brumley, probably the league's most improved fullback. The Owl coaches have been working on the theory that all plays can be good for long yardage from the beginning of practice.

Weems showed vast improvement in the Texas game. If the Rockdale boy continues to play as he did against Texas, then the Owls will be much more dangerous.

Brumley, 10 pounds lighter and 100 per cent better than in 1939, is Rice's leading ground-gainer. The Edinburg boy, weighing 185 now, calls the plays and is the key man in the Owl running attack from his spinner job. As a defensive halfback, so far he has had few equals.

But defense is as much a part of Rice's success as offense, and it also is a team proposition. Fred Hartman, the big tackle from Pampa whom Coach Red Dawson of Tulane called an All-American candidate; Lavy Bassett, guard from Bhenham; Captain Tutty Whitlow, center from Wichita Falls, and Jack Everett, line-backer and blocking back from Putnam, perhaps have drawn a little more notice, but it's the co-ordinated unit that makes the defense successful. And the Owl tackle.

All of which is by the way of saying that Rice is back on the right road in football.

Mustangs And Aggies Risk Their Necks Again Saturday

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
DALLAS, Nov. 1 (AP)—Two stunning football teams, only a week removed from a face-to-face challenge that could be the nation's game of the day, have immediate business coming up tomorrow that may wreck everything.

Impressive, undefeated Texas A. and M. and Southern Methodist, billed for an encore to their famed 1939 battle on Nov. 9 at Dallas, risk their necks and glamor of their meeting against dangerous Arkansas and Texas, respectively.

Pressed by Baylor last week-end, the Aggies, winners of 16 straight games, worked into nightfall throughout the week readying for the invasion of Arkansas at College Station. No same football team ever takes Arkansas lightly.

The Methodists had time to breathe the past two weeks during an idle period, and they needed it with 12 injuries on the roster. Now, Coach Marty Bell has his bunch shaped up and ready, with the exception of Halfback Bill Thomas, out for the season.

Rated the country's best defensive team against rushing, the Aggies, who have permitted only 127 yards by ground in five games, also rate as one of the sector's top offensive units. A total of 1420 yards have been ground out by the Red machine—and almost half of them came from Marion Pugh's wizardry. The running quarterback has accounted for 669 yards by running and passing.

Strangely, the Arkansas passing game, its deadliest weapon for many years, is the worst in the conference, statistically speaking. Their percentage of completions is only 330, but the joker lies in the fact that they have done well with the ones they have completed—593 yards to be exact.

Highly favored Oklahoma pulled out of its typical stunts and beat last week-end Ole Miss, 21-20.

But there's no other choice than the Aggies here.

Some of the punch left the Texas-SMU meeting when Rice sneaked in its haymaker to Texas' chin last week-end, but the Methodists weren't fooled. Coach Bell scouted the Texans, and came away remarking that Jack Crain missed "by just about six inches" getting away on a couple of runs that could have made it a more interesting afternoon.

Crain, not up to physical par against Rice, is sound again. But Texas was pinning quite a bit of hope on Fullback Pete Layden, who ran and passed beautifully against the Owls.

The hunch is a tie, with SMU by a field goal in wet going.

Texas Christian and Baylor, both defeated in conference play, meet at Fort Worth. The Christians are putting up everything on this game, including injured Kyle Gillespie, and it may be their turn to beat a Baylor team weakened by the Aggie effort last week. Jim Witt is hurt, and that hurts Baylor.

Rice doesn't plan a tea party against Texas A. and M. in a night game at Houston. It's serious business, but the Owls won't let anyone sneak up on their blind side the way they are going.

IRON MAN

The iron man of the Pampa Harvesters football team is frail looking Leslie Burge, 140-pound center, who has played every minute of every game this season. And Burge has played hard. In fact he is the star of the line both offensively and defensively. "I figured he would be the first boy to need relief," Line Coach J. C. Prejan declared today. But Burge has never even asked to be relieved and tomorrow he'll be at his regular position despite a badly sprained ankle. And Burge has another year of eligibility.

Fordham-North Carolina: No surprise either way. Out of the hat, Fordham.

Penn-Navy: With Reagan a doubtful quantity, this corner's nod goes to Navy.

Ohio State-Indiana: The Buckeyes have the greater manpower and that might prove decisive. Ohio State.

Tennessee-Louisiana State: Can't look beyond Tennessee.

Kentucky-Alabama: Taking Alabama, but not too happily.

Georgia-Auburn: The loss of Rufus Deal will hurt Auburn and Georgia seems to be making excellent progress. Still, Auburn.

Vanderbilt-Mississippi: Haps, Hovins and Mississippi.

Texas-Southern Methodist: Jack Crain apparently is not fully recovered, influencing this ballot for S. M. U.

Texas Christian-Baylor: Baylor. California-Oregon State: At the coin decide. Oregon State.

Boston College-Manhattan: Adds nod to Boston College no matter how you figure it.

Duquesne-Marquette: Taking Duquesne.

Harvard-Princeton: Doubt that Harvard can stop Dave Alderdice's passes. Princeton.

Holy Cross-Clogate: Clogate rates the nod.

Penn State-South Carolina: The game cocks were terrors against Duquesne and Clemson but Penn State is the choice.

Syracuse-Georgetown: Definitely a risk for the Hoyas' long undefeated string but the selection still must be Georgetown.

Yale-Brown: Close enough. Brown.

Iowa-Purdue: Ditto this one. Purdue.

Wisconsin-Illinois: And still another, Wisconsin.

Michigan State-Kansas State: Taking Michigan State.

Oklahoma-Nebraska: Might be close but Nebraska gets this vote.

Missouri-New York University: Looks safe for Missouri.

Villanova-Kansas: Looks like Villanova.

Detroit-Tulsa: A threat to the Titans' unbeaten record but we'll still take Detroit.

West Virginia-Washington and Lee: Quick, Watson, the coin. West Virginia.

North Carolina State-Furman: Taking State.

Georgia Washington-Wake Forest: Out of the fish-bowl, Wake Forest. Also: Temple over Bucknell; Dartmouth over Sewanee; William and Mary over Virginia Military; Virginia over Virginia Tech; Washington State over Idaho; Oregon over Montana; Colorado over Utah; Brigham Young over Utah State; Lafayette over Washington and Jefferson; Santa Clara over San Francisco.

Irish, Pirates To Battle Tonight

LEFORS, Nov. 1—A gang of Irishmen and a crew of Pirates will get together on a vacant lot Friday night here in Lefors and what will happen is unknown. The field will have a big fence around it and it will be all marked off in sections and the two gangs will be handed a football with which to play. The battle will be called at 8 o'clock sharp.

The occasion will be the annual clash between Coach Francis Smith's Lefors Pirates and Coach Forrest Kilne's Shamrock Irish football teams.

The Irish will show fans one of the slickest passes in the game when Tailback Galbreath starts throwing the ball. Shamrock boasts an original "watch charm" guard in Prince, 135-pounder, who stops everything

Husker-Sooner Tilt May Decide Big Six Crown

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 1 (AP)—Maj. Lawrence McConney Jones, better known to the football world as "Burr" but best remembered in Oklahoma as the man who brought Tom Stidham back to his native state, returns tomorrow to the grid camp he once commanded.

And smack in the middle of the path his Nebraska Cornhuskers are beating toward the Big Six title, the Major again finds Oklahoma's rugged Sooners—the team he gave up four years ago, now coached by Stidham, his former lieutenant.

Three times their teams have met since Stidham and his old boss parted, but the score is still all-square. Jones resigned as Sooner head coach to return to army life and Stidham stepped into his shoes.

But Nebraska's outbid Uncle Sam, and 1937 found Jones picking up where D. X. Hibbe left off as head man in the Husker show.

Oklahoma and Nebraska fought a scoreless draw in the mud that year, but in 1938 the Sooners won, 14 to 0, and rolled on to the conference crown.

It was the Biffer's turn in 1939, and his Cornhuskers evaded the count by blistering Oklahoma, 13 to 7, after both had been stopped by Missouri.

With the 1940 season only half gone, the two teams are neck and neck in the conference, even the count by blistering Oklahoma, 13 to 7, after both had been stopped by Missouri.

Nebraska with its superior reserve strength, is the favorite. The Sooners, however, haven't lost on their home-soil since 1937.

Chalcedon Favored To Beat Can't Wait

BALTIMORE, Nov. 1 (AP)—Chalcedon, reigning king of the turf, goes forth in the Pimlico special today heavily-favored to defeat his one opponent, Can't Wait, and add another bright jewel to his crown.

The special, featuring the opening-day program of Pimlico's 15-day fall meeting, brings Chalcedon and Can't Wait together in a mile and three-sixteenths test for a winner-take-all purse of $10,000.

Such a prestige, as well as the rich purse, awaited the winner, for the Maryland Jockey club has termed the event a race to determine the outstanding horse of the year, a title Chalcedon won last year.

DIFFERENCES IN YEARS

A tropical year, used in reckoning of time, is the interval between two returns of the sun to the equinox, and its length is 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes, 46 seconds.

A solar year is the interval between two passages of the sun past the same star. Its length is 365 days, 5 hours, 9 minutes.

Hack Miller To Manage Lamesa Lobos In 1941

Hack Miller, member of the 1928 and 1939 West Texas-New Mexico league champion Lubbock Hubbers and manager the first season, has announced that he will manage the Lobos in 1941.

Playing last season with Meridian, Miss., in the Southeastern league, Miller batted .301. He was promised free agency at the conclusion of the playing season.

He will succeed Jodie Tate, who has guided the Lobos in the three years they have been members of the loop. Tate is reported to have offers from clubs of higher classification.

Miller, a catcher, managed the Lubbock Hubbers to a title in 1938 and played on the 1939 championship club.

Masonic Home And Jeff Davis Win Games Last Night

(By The Associated Press)
Masonic Home's Mighty Mites and Jeff Davis' Panthers kept their goal lines uncrossed last night as they won conference games in the Texas schoolboy football race.

Members of the select circle of 15 teams without defeat or tie, the Masons won over Fort Worth Tech 27-0 in the Fort Worth district and Jeff Davis downed Lamar 13-0 in the Houston district.

Both are strong favorites to win their sector titles. Davis is undisputed leader. Masonic Home is tied for the lead with Arlington Heights, which plays Riverside (Fort Worth) tonight.

Two other games scheduled last night were postponed.

Tyler's tilt with Jacksonville, originally set for tonight, was moved from last night to tomorrow night due to inclement weather.

The Jeff Davis-San Antonio Tech game in the San Antonio district, scheduled for last night, will be played tomorrow night.

Thirty seven contests will be played today and tonight over the state, with five more tomorrow.

coming his way. Anderson, 165, is an ace end for the Irish.

The Pirates will probably start Jody Hambrick and Waylon Hughes at the wing-back positions.

Coach Smith has been working his Pirate ball tozers overtime this week while Coach John Rankin has been giving the line a rough time.

An overflow crowd is expected to witness the game, many fans coming from Shamrock.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Duc Sutherland left PH in 1938. But he still races. He got 60 votes in a contest to determine the sports figure who did most to publicize Pittsburgh in 1939. Pro football men say Clyde (Bulldog) Turner of the Chicago Bears will be Mel Hein's successor as all-league center.

Today's Guess Star

Jere Hayes, Dallas Times-Herald: "On the theory that the further I get away from the unpredictable Southwest conference, the better my chances are to nail a winner, I'll take a flyer on U. C. L. A. to thump Stanford this week--and then retire to my bomb shelter."

Chitter Chatter

If he's feeling good, Ken Overlin should be much too cute for Steve Beloise tonight. Horse racing may be back in Texas in a big way next year. "Sweet" Lalanne, North Carolina's passing artist, practices from two to four hours a day all through the season--throwing pigskins at a bull's eye. Congratulations to Freddie Fitzsimmons who has been voted the "veteran of the year" in a contest conducted by the "Sporting News."

One-Minute Interview

Bob Zuppke, Illinois coach: "Elmer Layden and I have a lot of problems in common. Elmer has trouble deciding which 36 men he'll take on his trips. I have trouble finding 36 for a traveling squad."

On Political Firing Line

(By The Associated Press) Campaign statements vied with speeches for attention on the political firing line.

Irving Fisher, Yale professor emeritus of economics, said in a statement issued by the Republican national committee that "our negative program of not producing has retarded us. A positive program of producing is needed. This is a job for a business man and a man who sees this need clearly. Roosevelt is not such a man. Willkie is."

market Briefs

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Stocks barbed their shins on profit-taking in the market after an early upward sprint led by steel, utilities, rails and assorted industrial specialties.

Extreme gains running to a point or more for favorites were substantially cut or canceled at the close as traders cashed in on the three-day upswing. Final prices were a shade irregular.

Dealings flattened out as prices wavered. The turnover, of around 1,800,000 shares, however, was one of the largest since last June.

Many customers, brokers said, inclined to step aside as the week-end approached, although the majority still were bullish for business and a trifle more hopeful politically.

SERIAL STORY

NEW YORK JUNGLE

BY WRAY WADE SEVERN

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY, Barkes is trapped, hiding a package in a tree. He explains to Plozman that he has been innocently involved trying to save his dog, trying to keep Langdon from discovering it. Then after the murder, he had to get rid of the dog, in an attempt to smuggle it. It was he, whom Brantwood trailed down the passage into the Jungle. Plozman asks him about $500 Langdon had at the time of the murder.

FLOWMAN MAKES AN ARREST
CHAPTER XXII
FOR a moment Barkes was silent. Then he faced Plozman furiously.

"You can't railroad me, Plozman," he shouted. "Mr. Langdon knew I had that money. He gave it to me. I cashed the check for him at the bank. The teller telephoned him to make sure it was all right. You can ask him."

"Mr. Langdon had told me to take the midnight train to the city, I was to see his doctor and get a special prescription. It was to be ready for me. I wondered about taking that much money, just for medicine. Mr. Langdon said it was a remedy for jungle fever, that it was very costly. He told me not to talk anyone that I was going on the errand."

"Why didn't you tell us this before?" Plozman shot back. "I was afraid to. I didn't think you'd believe me. All this money for medicine. Extended to return the money to Mrs. Langdon."

"All right, all right. Come along, Barkes. He motioned to a trooper to take the chauffeur away."

"Any new evidence?" Sidney turned back to Captain Plozman. "Plenty," the officer replied. "We found the money hidden in the garage. Found a gun, too, but it had been cleaned. Then this friend, whom Barkes claims to have talked to in town, this fellow Brantwood, has a record. He has a green sedan, too."

"Brantwood may have been just a casual acquaintance," Sidney argued. "There are hundreds of green sedans. Barkes didn't recognize the driver. He wouldn't offer Brantwood an alibi if he knew he wasn't in the village."

Plozman ignored his arguments. "The way I see it, Mr. Brantwood, is that Barkes cashed the check all right, brought the money here, gave it to Langdon, then stole it again and hid it in the Jungle."

"Suppose he has a confederate in the Jungle. Say the valet. The red blood between them may have been faked. The confederate puts out the light so that Barkes could escape through the chimney, while the entire company think they have been locked in from the outside, so that the thief could loot upstairs."

"I don't agree, but it could be true," Sidney commented. "You all saw Barkes drive off and he had a witness who had seen him in the village. He admits he came back. He says, before he drove to the village. It couldn't have been after."

"Suppose he did get back before you came downstairs for coffee instead of after. It needs no stretch of the imagination to figure that he was in the Jungle with the plan to go up through the flue into Langdon's room for the pearls when you all came in, so he hid. He could get up through the flue without anyone hearing him. But when you surprised him by coming down for coffee so soon, he was in a jam."

"You are making out a case, Plozman, but I still don't agree." "Wait until I have finished," Plozman half smiled. "Barkes short-circuited the lights in the smaller room while Togi turned them off in the larger room. Togi locked the door. When Togi was on the ladder he saw Barkes hiding and they signaled each other. In the darkness Barkes was to make the flue."

"Then came the lightning. Langdon saw Barkes sneaking forward the passage. He aimed, but Barkes shot first. In the thunder that followed, no one heard him. He was frightened by what he had done and gave up going after the pearls, especially as he knew you men were on the way upstairs. He went out the drawing room window, that accounts for there being no wet prints on the parlor carpet. He was leaving, not entering."

"Well reasoned, if you can prove it," Sidney admitted. "Maybe I can and maybe now I can't, Mr. Brantwood," Plozman said, in a tone that left Sidney in doubt.

THE clock in the hall had emitted a solitary tinkle when Sidney knocked on Patricia Langdon's bedroom door. "Sorry to disturb you at such an ungodly hour, Mrs. Langdon," the lawyer said, with a touch of weariness, "but Plozman has just made an arrest and I thought you'd want to know it."

"An arrest!" Pat gasped. "He can't have fastened the murder on Craig?"

Her dark eyes narrowed and her face lost color. "No, not Gundrum. He's arrested your chauffeur, Henry Barkes."

"Oh, Barkes." Pat's relief was evident. "What can he have learned about that poor, simple man?"

"He believes, or says he does, that Barkes worked with a confederate, a fellow he met at the hotel. He thinks the confederate, Brantwood, he called him, came up here sometime before dinner to look for your pearls and failed to find them, so he left the actual theft to Barkes."

"Barkes missed the pearls, but he did take $500 from Adam's desk. Barkes claims that Adam gave him the money to take into New York for some medicine. He had the money hidden in the garage and was expecting to take the midnight train for New York after bringing back your packages from the village."

"Plozman reasons that Barkes, after taking the money, went down into the Jungle through the passage—which he admits having explored—and hid the money there. He was about to have another hunt for your pearls when he heard us coming downstairs and he did not have time to get to the fireplace before we opened the door. After that the story goes pretty much as Gundrum had figured it."

"Marvelous detecting!" Pat sneered. "I don't believe Barkes would kill a fly, intentionally."

"Did Barkes know you had the pearls?" Sidney asked. "How could he know about them? I haven't worn the string since I left Capetown."

"That," said Brantwood, "was what I came up to and out. If you haven't worn the pearls or displayed them, I can't see how Barkes could have known you owned them."

"Adam and I did not even land New York. We came on a freighter and landed in Savannah. We flew up here." She laughed. "Barkes is in no danger if that is Captain Plozman's case."

"I understand," Sidney said gravely. "You telephoned Gundrum to come here for your own protection, didn't you?"

Pat flushed. "What if I did? My father is in Capetown and there was no one else to whom I could turn. Craig did not shoot Adam."

"I know it," Sidney said. "Good night, Mrs. Langdon."

Plaque On Derrick Will Commemorate Discovery Of Oil

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1. (AP)—A plaque commemorating the discovery of oil in Texas will be placed on a stainless steel derrick at Corsicana Nov. 7, a tribute from the Texas Mid Continent Oil and Gas Association.

The association, in annual convention here, yesterday presented presentation of the plaque to J. L. Collins of Corsicana, vice president of the east central district, who in turn presented it to Joe E. Butler, president of the Corsicana chamber of commerce.

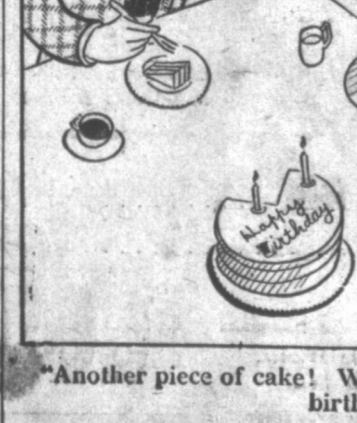

Butler announced a dedication ceremony would be held. President E. L. Smith of Dallas laid before the association a definite program to serve in part to guide activities of the organization in the coming year.

The program included greater support of the interstate oil compact commission, work for greater economy in state and county school districts, reenactment of the state oil conservation laws that expire next September, support of a state constitutional amendment to prohibit diversion of gasoline taxes for purposes other than building adjustment of the state's mining laws and aid for a fight for retention of the depletion clause in the federal income tax laws as pertaining to the oil industry.

Texas Fliers Killed In English Skies

DALLAS, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Times Herald says today that friends here of Harold C. Phillips and Horace Hising, well-known Texas fliers, had been informed that both men had been killed in action in England. A cablegram, according to the newspaper, said the aviators died when a Spitfire pursuit plane zoomed into a balloon barrage cable and crashed during a dogfight with a German plane over London. Both men were connected with Dallas aviation before going to England several months ago. Phillips is a native of Graham, Young county, where his wife and parents are residing.

Roosevelt Failed, Says Joe Martin

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Republican national chairman, said today he considered President Roosevelt's Boston speech last night an indication that Mr. Roosevelt realized "his effort to break the sacred American tradition" against a third term "has failed." "Can it be, Mr. Roosevelt, your attack upon the Republican members of congress is because house Republicans prevented you from re-adjourning congress last June?" Martin asked in a statement. "If this adjournment had taken place, the defense program would not even have been on order."

AMENDMENTS

In instances involving the constitutionality of certain laws and orders. What Amendments Mean. Taking the four in order, the first applies only to Red River county inasmuch as the voting totals are concerned, and simply provides that county with authority to call an election on the tax levy question. It does not mean that the tax levy is carried for Red River county if the majority of voters over the state vote "aye."

Reason for the Amendment and the reason the entire state votes on the question is that under state law counties cannot levy a tax to refund outstanding warrant indebtedness on their general fund. In Red River county, the general fund is in the "red" by $175,000.

Purpose of the second amendment is to speed up the naming of notaries public. Under the present plan the legislature, intermittently in session, appoints the notaries. By having the secretary of state, a full-time official, do the work, the issuance of commissions will be more rapid. The same reason applies to the fourth amendment. Under the present plan, appeals are taken from district court to court of civil appeals, thence to the supreme court. Efficiency is the aim of the third amendment. It means that cities do not have to limit the period of employment of city employees when they are covered by the civil service plan. Election Supplies Gathered. Requirements for voting in the general election are: 1. Citizens do not have to limit the period of employment of city employees when they are covered by the civil service plan. TURKEY

Tirana, capital of the Italian "puppet state" of Albania, and other Albanian cities. Other British aid to the little Balkan kingdom was evident, however. The British fleet was said to have completed sewing a network of mines around Salonika and other Grecian harbors, and a steady stream of British supply ships and transports was reported steaming under convoy across the Mediterranean. For the third successive day, the Italian high command issued only the tersest communique on the battle with Greece, giving the following 23-word description: "Operations in Epirus (northwest Greece) are proceeding regularly. Our forces reached a crossroads at Kalibaki. Work of repairing interruptions caused by the retreating enemy continues. This was about one-sixth of the high command's daily communique, with the rest devoted to North Africa and Naples. Reports of increasing German military activity in Rumania stirred anxiety in Bulgaria that Adolf Hitler might be planning a thrust at eastern Greece from Rumanian bases despite expressions of confidence in Berlin that the Italian-Greek conflict would be "localized." German troops would have to pass through Bulgaria to reach Greece from Rumania. The Bulgarian government discounted rumors such a move was likely "within 10 days."

GERMANS

When he plans to play his ace card remains in doubt. Almost every family in France has a son, brother, husband or close relative in the "vanished legion" of 1,500,000 or more prisoners now in internment camps in Germany or German-occupied parts of France. Announcement that two-thirds of these men soon would be back home certainly would bring joy to millions. About 500,000 prisoners, diplomatic sources said, will be forced to stay in these camps until the end of the war against Britain. Some still will be held because they sympathize with the "free French" movement of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, it was said, and others because their homes are in zones along the English Channel and northern Brittany now restricted to German military operations.

Mongolian Pheasant Lands In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Of all the places to make a forced landing, 42nd street at the rush hour probably is the worst. And of all the creatures to make such a landing, who'd ever expect it to be a Mongolian pheasant? But it happened that way yesterday. The bird landed with a thud on an auto fender and was captured by passersby, who turned him over to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Nobody seems to know where he came from.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 1 (AP)—Boer farmers in this vicinity report that some of the storks arriving here in their annual 7,000-mile migration from the Netherlands are carrying written messages on the condition of the Dutch under Nazi rule. Another said, "The Dutch people are dying under injustice."

the world, is a symbol in recognition of Dunant's memory, because in his honor the flag of his native Switzerland, the red with white cross, was reversed to make the flag of the International Red Cross. Dunant first became known in Europe when he published a volume entitled, "A Memory of Solferino." It contained a brilliant and striking description of a great battle, written from the point of view of a non-combatant humanitarian. This was presented to the Pampa High School library last year by the Pampa Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Windows Soaped, Damage Reported

Spooks, goblins and witches roaming Pampa streets last night were unusually quiet and law abiding Police Chief J. B. Wilkinson and Sheriff Cal Rose reported today. Everyone had lots of innocent fun and there was little destruction of property reported. The Halloween celebration consisted chiefly of masquerading boys and girls parading up and down the streets. Few downtown windows missed a good soaping although the quantity was much less than last year. Gangs of boys bent on destruction were met by patrol cars and soon broken up. Only a few were taken to the police station to be searched. There were only two reports of boys opening fire hydrants last night, whereas last year there were many. Firemen were notified by officers and the water was soon shut off. Only two or three street barricades were found by cruising patrolmen. "It was the quietest Halloween in history," officers unanimously reported. "We appreciate the cooperation given us by both parents and youth of the city," Chief Wilkinson said today.

Spooks, goblins and witches roaming Pampa streets last night were unusually quiet and law abiding Police Chief J. B. Wilkinson and Sheriff Cal Rose reported today. Everyone had lots of innocent fun and there was little destruction of property reported. The Halloween celebration consisted chiefly of masquerading boys and girls parading up and down the streets. Few downtown windows missed a good soaping although the quantity was much less than last year. Gangs of boys bent on destruction were met by patrol cars and soon broken up. Only a few were taken to the police station to be searched. There were only two reports of boys opening fire hydrants last night, whereas last year there were many. Firemen were notified by officers and the water was soon shut off. Only two or three street barricades were found by cruising patrolmen. "It was the quietest Halloween in history," officers unanimously reported. "We appreciate the cooperation given us by both parents and youth of the city," Chief Wilkinson said today.

Are you tired of adding oil so often between drains? Then try Sinclair Opaline or Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil. They last so long they save you money.

Do you know why Sinclair Motor Oils last so long? It's because Sinclair takes an important extra refining step. And that step is taking out wax and petroleum jelly, which are non-lubricating substances.
