U. S. Ship Sunk By Nazi Submarine, Says State Department

FIESTA OPENS TONIGHT, INTEREST FEVERISH

Report Based On Stories Of Survivors

Commander Fully Aware Vessel Was American Ship

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The state department announced today that a preliminary report from the American consul in Pernambuco, Brazil, stated that the United States ship Robin Moor was undoubtedly sunk by a German submarine.

The report added that the commander of the submarine was fully aware that the Robin Moor was an American vessel.

Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, made the announcement at his press conference. The report of the consul, Walter J. Linticum, was based on interviews with the 11 survivors of the ship which was sunk on May 21 in the South Atlantic. Thirty-five persons are missing.

Welles read this summarized version of the consul's report:

"The Robin Moor was undoubtedly sunk by a German submarine at 6 o'clock Greenwich time on the morning of May 21 at latitude 6 10 north and longitude 25 40 west. The commander of the submarine was fully aware that the vessel was American. All survivors in good health. Depositions of survivors taken and comprehensive summary will be sent soon as coded."

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said a full report is expected Monday, but it might be later. It must be studied by officials here, he said, before a course of action, if any is set.

Welles was grave faced as he appeared before reporters and read the brief statement.

He added that the Robin Moor's cargo contained no implements of war or other military materials inconsistent with the neutrality act.

The general cargo, Welles said, consisted of many types of goods from steel rails to women's hosiery and including automobiles, automobile parts, radio parts and numerous other items.

Welles said the cargo was consigned to Lorenzo Marques, Port Elizabeth, Capetown, Port Natal and east London.

Mary Jean Evans Will Be Queen Of Arkansas Float

Mary Jean Evans will be the Arkansas queen at a meeting of the Arkansas society held yesterday afternoon, and will ride on the Arkansas float in the Fiesta parades Friday and Saturday.

Arkansas was a unintentionally omitted from the list of states represented in the parade in a story in yesterday's News. Arkansas will be fourth in the parade order, following the Jaycee, Texas and Alabama floats.

An apple-blossom decorated trestle will be a part of the float's construction.

Financial arrangements were being completed today by the club. The society has a window display at Behrman's.

We know that they and their descendants have not forgotten Connecticut; and Connecticut has not forgotten them. (By The Associated Press)

The mushroom outbreak of defense production stoppages and strike threats of the last week diminished appreciably today, but left a growing controversy over proposed drastic governmental measures to curb their recurrence in strategic industries.

Resumption of work at near-normal capacity on warplane parts in five Detroit plants of Bohn Aluminum and Brass company and six Aluminum units in Cleveland was scheduled for today after short-lived CIO strikes.

In California's vast aircraft industry "production as usual" was the order of the day as the soldier-management of North American Aircraft Corp., at Inglewood reported "100 per cent personnel and 100 per cent efficiency." In San Diego the AFL machinists employed in the big Consolidated Aircraft plant met to consider ratification of an undisclosed new contract. Approval was expected, cancelling a strike threat there.

At Inglewood, however, troops guarding the plant were augmented yesterday by armored cars and mechanized cavalry forces. No reasons for the reinforcements were given.

There remained several live disputes. At Pittsburgh AFL truck drivers who have struck against 179 operators rejected a labor department peace proposal.

In the same city CIO steelworkers threatened to strike two plants of Curtiss-Wright propeller division unless wage demands or the alternative of arbitration were accepted by midnight tonight.

At St. Louis the Globe-Democrat said a handful of troops deemed materials from one of 11 steel fabricating firms shut down by an AFL strike.

And in Detroit metal stamping plant a CIO work stoppage planned to render idle 30,000 employees of the Chrysler and Briggs Manufacturing company automobile factories.

Defense officials charged with halting production lines moving gave a good part of their attention to developments in the capital, however.

A high official in Washington said the government was prepared to bar individual strike promoters from all defense employment if production stoppages continued under circumstances found to be "subversive" rather than legitimate union activity.

Both senate and house debated bills to curb proposals, and informed house sources said legislation might soon be offered to penalize strikers who defied the national defense mediation board by depriving them of their rights under labor laws—such as the rights of peaceful picketing and collective bargaining.

A blast from Philip Murray, president of the CIO, made it clear the national CIO leadership would fight such a program. In a formal statement to every CIO unit in the country he denounced pending congressional measures to check work stoppages.

Upholding the "fundamental right to strike," the CIO head and member of the mediation board charged that the proposals under debate were "vicious and have but a single intent—to destroy organized labor. They must be found and defeated."

Testimony Starts In Spearman Murder Case

SPEARMAN, June 12 (AP)—Testimony was started today in the trial of Orrin J. Brown, charged with the slaying of Leota Frances Murphy of Marion, Indiana.

Mrs. Murphy's body was found bludgeoned on a lonely road 25 miles west of here last March 20.

Brown pleaded innocent on arraignment, and District Attorney W. L. McConnell outlined what the state expects to prove in the trial.

Noble Watson, truck driver, who discovered the body of the woman, was the first witness called. J. W. Jenkins, a filling station operator, was the last juror selected.

Legislature To Confer On Oil Proration

AUSTIN—June 12 (AP)—The senate extended a hand of conciliation to the house today, granting the latter's request for a conference committee to adjust differences on a bill extending Texas' general oil proration statute.

It was an important move toward breaking a deadlock on the oil industry.

The request previously had been refused by the senate, which had voted to extend the proration law two years, as had been done for some years past. The house had declared for indefinite extension.

The differences over oil legislation have been considered an important reason for prolonging the session beyond the time it normally adjourns.

The senate passed to the house a bill by Senator T. C. Chadick of Mineola assessing penalties ranging from two years imprisonment to death for sabotage.

Shortly after a message from Governor W. Lee O'Daniel urging the action, the senate also passed to the house a bill by Senator John Lee Smith of Throckmorton remitting, because of floods, one-half of the state ad valorem taxes collected in Shackelford county for 10 years.

The governor said the legislature constituted "a great public calamity" and citizens in the area were "in dire need of financial assistance."

The house adopted a concurrent resolution authorizing the addition of $202,000 for the new biennium to the general education appropriation bill to construct a $650,000 library building at the Prairie View school for negroes and provide medical and graduate instruction.

Prairie View was the only school in the $22,600,000 bill which was not granted a larger appropriation than received in this biennium. The house approved a conference report on the bill yesterday.

The resolution, which is to be effective must be adopted also by the senate, would cut by $15,000 a year an appropriation to send 20 graduate students to schools outside of Texas.

The United States supreme court has held repeatedly in substance that a state must admit negroes to its institutions of higher learning or provide educational opportunities elsewhere.

In debate on the bill, Rep. J. E. Winfree of Houston declared that if Texas did not improve conditions at Prairie View it was inevitable that negroes would attend the University of Texas.

In another message, Governor O'Daniel declared that unless the legislature enacted pending bills making state social security statutes conform to federal and setting up a merit system for social security employees federal contributions to old age assistance might be cut off.

Survivors Relate Stories On Sinking Of American Boat

RECIFE, Brazil, June 12 (AP)—United States representatives considered the stories of 11 survivors of the 5,000-ton American freighter Robin Moor today to formulate a report as to whether her sinking in the South Atlantic May 21 was the deed of a German submarine.

All apparently in good health, the survivors were questioned in careful relation for four and a half hours by U. S. Consul Walter J. Linticum and Capt. W. A. Hodgman of the U. S. Navy, after their arrival here last night aboard the Brazilian rescue ship Ozorio. Then they were taken in three motor cars to hotels to rest.

The Ozorio, refueled, headed southward for Rio De Janeiro. Special police guarded the group during questioning of the survivors—10 crewmen and a passenger—to prevent others from going aboard.

A small crowd of the curious watched from behind barred gates along the dock until midnight, when the watchers straggled homeward.

Phillip Williams, secretary of the United States embassy in Rio De Janeiro, arrived here by plane this morning after an overnight stop at Macao on a 10-hour flight with Linticum at the consulate.

It has been estimated there are 2,000 midgets in the world.

Laughs From Legislature

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 12—Speaker of the House Homer Leonard of McAllen chose a subtle way of announcing the birth of a son to Rep. and Mrs. Price Daniel of Liberty.

Said Leonard to the entire house: "The chair acknowledges with gratitude a 10-cent cigar, which is twice as good as the ones I am used to, from Representative Price Daniel."

"Representative Daniel is only one-fourth the man the speaker is because he has one son while the speaker has two girls."

Daniel and Leonard are the only candidates for speaker of the next legislature.

The Daniel baby, a nine-pounder, was born in Austin, and the house was prompted in adopting a congratulatory resolution for the parents.

The talk of new babies and hospitals mingled with that on appropriations to apparently cause a curious slip of the tongue.

One member, moving that a colleague be excused for the balance of the day, explained the wife of the member had undergone an "emergency appropriation." He meant "operation."

There was a great deal of serious debate—and some levity—as the house refused to purchase new desks for its members.

A resolution authorizing the National Youth Administration or prison system to make them at cost—the house to furnish only the material—was lost.

"What's wrong with the present desks?" someone asked. Replied Rep. C. H. Gilmer of Rock Springs: "It seems they are just hard to fill."

The house desks are somewhat aged and very battered although serviceable.

Suggested Rep Earl Huddleston of Oglesby, a farmer: "Lots of people have furniture not as good as this in their homes and they are the ones who would buy new desks for us."

Rep. Jeff Stinson of Dallas viewed the purchase of desks as the beginning of an expensive cycle. "If we get new desks a new carpet will follow," he said, "and further, if we get desks the senate will want them, too."

The puns are souring as the session drags on.

Officer Decries Lack Of Noise In Tennessee Battle

WITH THE ARMY IN TENNESSEE, June 12 (AP)—"We've simulated too long," a high staff officer commented today as the first two-sided "battle" of the month-long field exercises of the second army began today.

The officer, who preferred anonymity, decried the lack of the "noise of battle," and added "you can't make men be careful when they know nothing ever happens or when there is no danger."

"A stick of dynamite would let those fellows know more what real war is about," declared the officer, one of the seniors on a high staff. "For whatever reason, we don't have anything to make this realistic."

There are only 505,000 blank cartridges for the whole month of maneuvers and all are 30 calibre for rifles or machine guns, nothing for artillery.

There are 55,000 men of three divisions participating in the war games in middle Tennessee. Except for motor truck noises that would be heard on a busy Metropolitan thoroughfare, there were no unusual sounds over the Cumberland plateau as the 5th and 27th divisions jumped out of obscured positions to meet the 30th division in the first field problem in which the enemy was more than simulated.

Monkeys have no facial muscles with which they can smile.

Gray County To Furnish Eight Trainees In July

Gray county will be called upon to furnish eight trainees for one year's military service next month, for the state, the call is for 2,100 Texans, 2,000 white and 100 negroes. White selectees will be inducted between July 7 and 14, negroes on July 1.

The call for negro trainees is not applicable to Gray county, as the official call form received here is marked "none." Confirmation of the call for white selectees has not been received by the Gray County Selective Service board but notification is expected within a few days from state headquarters.

When the two calls have been completed, Texas will have sent 1,804 men to camp. The Panhandle will furnish 112 of the 2,000 on the July 7-14 call.

Enroute to the induction station at Fort Bliss today were eight of the nine selectees from Gray county, answering the June call.

Deferrment has been granted the other selectee, Dan Wallace, 176, Brownwood, because of a knee injury. He will report at a later date.

Nazis Reported To Be Manning Troops On Russian Border

LONDON, June 12 (AP)—Coinciding with the arrival of Sir Stafford Cripps, British Ambassador to Moscow, usually reliable sources said they had received reports Germany was putting heavy pressure on Russia for access to the wheat granaries of the Ukraine, even going so far as to plan a joint German-Rumanian invasion by mid-June.

(These reports said 155 German and Rumanian divisions—1,850,000 to 2,325,000 men—were massed in Poland and Rumania, ready for a drive to win wheat, oil, and minerals to carry on the war against Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, Berlin accounts which pictured German-Russian relations as extremely cordial.)

Russians in London said they knew nothing of these reports but opinion was expressed in other quarters that Sir Stafford, who arrived yesterday, would be consulted about them.

No one in the British capital speculated what Germany hoped to get from Russia by the reported show of strength at Krakow, in occupied Poland, and in Rumania, but speculation centered around oil and the great Ukrainian wheat fields.

(Turkish and foreign quarters exchanged reports in Ankara a week ago today saying that Germany was putting heavy pressure on Russia for access to the wheat granaries of the Ukraine, even going so far as to plan a joint German-Rumanian invasion by mid-June.)

Aid-To-Britain Advocates Irked By Small Amount

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—Aid-to-Britain advocates expressed surprise and disappointment today over President Roosevelt's report that only $75,000,000 of lease-lend equipment had been transferred in the period between March 11, when the program started, and May 31.

Some opponents of administration foreign policy expressed gratification, however, and Senator Clark (D-Ida.) professed happiness that so little of the $7,000,000,000 voted for lease-lend supplies "has been used to buy an interest in a lost cause."

To Senator Wheeler yesterday's report demonstrated there was no need for convoys, although "there has been a lot of howling for them."

"We have sent over only $75,000,000 worth of lease-lend goods," he added, "and there is no claim by the president that any of that has been sunk."

Senator Connally (D-Tex.), a sponsor of the British and legislative, found it "distressing" that more equipment had not been transferred and Senator Byrd (D-Va.) asserted that the amount was "greatly disappointing."

"This shows the need for a coordinator of defense to make the program effective," Byrd told reporters. "We ought to cut the red tape, stop strikes and get to work to help England and defend ourselves."

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), advocate of more vigorous steps to aid Britain, said that $75,000,000 worth of war materials "won't stop Hitler and it won't keep us out of war."

"If the volume can't be tremendously increased within a very short time," he said, "our chances of keeping Hitler and the war in Europe are mighty slim and Britain's chances are desperate."

War Strategy For Defense Of U. S. Ordered Manned

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The creation of army defense commands to map actual war strategy for defense of the United States against military invasion was disclosed today with the assignment of the first staff officer to such duty.

Lt. Col. William F. Lee, of Amherst, Mass., was ordered to Governors Island, N. Y., effective June 20 for general staff duty with the northeast defense command. He is now assigned to the office of the chief of infantry here.

In addition to the northeast command, charged with defense strategy in the vital New England and middle Atlantic industrial states, it was learned there would be three others responsible for similar war plans for the southern coastal area, the west coast, and the central states.

The plans developed would become the master strategy should any of the defense command areas become an actual theater of war. In formulating this strategy the commands will work in close touch with the navy, which, it was learned, already has set up a similar war operations planning staff for the defense of the northeastern states. It was named the North Atlantic naval coastal frontier, and placed in command of Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews, commandant of the third naval district with headquarters in New York. Navy officials were reluctant to discuss the subject, but said that similar staffs would be established for other coastal regions.

Army officials also were unwilling to discuss the new invasion strategy units beyond confirming their establishment.

Bill Authorizes Educational Fund

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 12—Boosted more than $5,000,000 over current appropriations, a bill authorizing expenditure of $22,602,069 on higher education institutions in Texas the next two years today awaited state senate action.

The conference committee report was adopted by the house yesterday despite vehement objections it violated all principles of economy.

The senate concluded its day's stint without acting on house amendments to an appropriation of $1,750,000 monthly in June, July, and August for old age pensions to avert a cut in payments.

After the upper chamber killed a house proposal to recess the overtime session, June 16 to July 16, the house rejected a senate resolution for adjournment June 16 and sent the senate a proposal to recess June 16 to July 14 and adjourn July 21.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's veto of a bill authorizing Texas membership in the council of state governors was overridden in the senate but a similar move failed of the necessary two-thirds majority in the house.

Another attempt to consider a house-approved bill designed to eliminate asserted selective buying of crude oil met defeat in the upper legislative branch.

Sex Rears Head In Cigarette Crisis

LONDON, June 12 (AP)—Sex has reared its head in Britain's cigarette crisis.

Grumbling London men blamed the lack of smokes today on purchases by feminine consumers. Some retailers have refused to sell cigarettes to women.

"Some of them," snorted a dealer, "go from shop to shop buying all they can. They do this while men are working."

Other dealers reported hell hath no fury like a woman scorned on a cigarette hunt.

"They accuse me of hiding them under the counter," said a harassed retailer.

Large Aviation Plant Planned

CINCINNATI, O., June 12 (AP)—On a Mill Creek valley site that a year ago was growing corn, alfalfa, wheat, and vegetables, the American aviation industry's largest plant was dedicated today.

William S. Knudsen, director of the office of production management, was scheduled to make the principal address exactly one year after he received plans for the plant.

The plant, which will employ 10,000 men, is being built on a 50-acre, $37,000,000 factory which, though still unfinished, turned out today the first of 1,000 aircraft motors it is expected to produce monthly.

A special train brought officials of the Wright Aeronautical corporation and its parent company, the Curtiss-Wright corp., from Paterson, N. J.

Department store sales in Washington, D. C., are more than 20 per cent higher than a year ago because of the influx of defense workers.

Oil Test To Be Drilled In Hemphill

Special To The News
CANADIAN, June 11 — Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company geologists and drillers, about 20 men in all, arrived here Monday to get started on a test well to be put down on their leases in Hemphill county.

When they got across Red Deer creek, they found that the site located by the company engineers for the well had been washed away by flood waters caused by continued heavy rains over the entire course of the creek.

Monday forenoon the wagon bridge which spans this creek near Canadian gave way, 300 feet of it going out. This made it necessary to take machinery and materials over the highway to Mendota and await there the going down of the waters.

A catpillar engine is at Mendota in readiness to assist them in founding as soon as it is considered safe to attempt a crossing.

Following telephone instructions from the head office of the I. T. I. O. company in Oklahoma City, the test well will be made as near the previously indicated site as possible.

This well will be near Red Deer creek, on the Darrell Wiggins lease, about 60 feet from the boundary line between the Wiggins and Sam Isaacs property.

The company has already been at work near the drilling site making roads to facilitate transportation of material to the well.

The company hopes to get work started this week, their contract calling for a beginning by June 15.

STONE

He regarded it as anything but stable. For several years, Stone was noted as a dissenter, frequently joining the celebrated Justices Holmes, Brandeis, and Cardozo in disagreeing with majority opinions.

Later, however, when so-called "liberals" dominated the tribunal, he wrote many of the famous majority decisions. He was considered the court's tax expert.

Ray Horton Injured In Fall From Rig

Ray Horton, rig builder for W. A. Spoonmore, suffered two broken legs, broken hand, and dislocated jaw when he fell 53 feet from a well derrick near Berger Monday afternoon.

His condition today was reported favorable in a local hospital where he was taken following the accident. He slipped and fell while assisting a crew in erecting the derrick.

Nearly all the fish in Navajo lake, Utah, were killed when the lake froze almost completely several winters ago.

Haywood used the expression, "a broom sweeps clean," as early as 1546.

CHURCHILL

Britain's allies in London that every stain of Adolf Hitler's "infected and corroding fingers will be purged and if need be, blasted from the surface of the earth."

Representatives of 15 allied governments, or governments in exile, in the first formal meeting since Hitler's legions swept clear across Europe, solemnly pledged themselves to fight "until victory is won."

King George VI visited with the government leaders in St. James's palace. They represented Great Britain, Northern Ireland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Yugoslavia, and Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Free Frenchmen.

"Hitler will find no peace, no rest, no halting place, no parley," Churchill declared.

"It is here on this island fortress that he will have to reckon in the end. We shall strive to resist by land and sea. We shall be on his track wherever he goes."

As Churchill spoke, RAF daylight raiders were slashing violently at Nazi "invasion ports" across the channel.

Bomb-hardened southeast coast residents said the thunder of explosions across the channel was unusually severe, and throughout the afternoon waves of RAF planes continued flashing toward the continent.

The German press, meanwhile, indicated that Britain's island fortress of Malta in the central Mediterranean would probably be the next target of Hitler's aerial invaders.

As in the case of Crete, German newspapers began publishing detailed maps of Malta and suggested that readers cut it out and save it. On the middle east war front, a fighting battle between British tanks and French warplanes raged on the outskirts of Damascus, capital of Syria, as Vichy French troops still held the allies at bay east of Kismou, 10 miles away.

Late today, British troops were reported to have reached the ancient port of Sidon, about 20 miles from the Lebanese capital, Beirut, while Free French soldiers fought on the southern outskirts of Damascus.

Death Toll In Texas Floods Reaches 20

(By The Associated Press)

The week's death toll in Texas floods and storms reached 20 today as the Trinity river in the Dallas area drove hundreds of persons from their homes, damaged crops, cut off main highways, and surged upward toward a record crest.

Water crept into portions of south Dallas, automobiles were marooned on northwest highway between Dallas and Grapevine, U. S. highway 77 was blocked, and city and county officers and firemen evacuated lowland residents.

High water standing in streets at Houston caused some damage, but threat of a major flood on Buffalo, White Oak and Little White Oak bayous there was averted.

At Albany, where 12 were drowned in Tuesday's flash flood, attention turned to immunization against disease and to rehabilitation. Workers still searched debris for possible additional victims.

The Rev. Jack Harris, 33, Baptist minister and Cotton Belt railroad employe, was killed by a train while guarding a trestle at Carrollton, north of Dallas on the Elm fork of the Trinity. He was the latest victim of the widespread weather disturbances that have plagued Texas for ten days.

Four persons were killed early in the week by Panhandle tornadoes. Floods took an additional 16 lives, including that of the young minister, employed to guard the trestle against the pressure of piled-up driftwood.

Weather bureau observers expected the Trinity at Dallas to reach its highest level since 1908. It was rising one foot an hour at mid-morning, passing the 42-foot stage. The weather bureau expected it to go to 44 or 45 feet during the next 24 hours. Flood level is 28 feet.

Calls for help came from the vicinity of Midlothian as water rose in that area, and rescue workers were dispatched.

At Laredo and Corpus Christi, new heavy rains were reported. The precipitation at Laredo was accompanied by a heavy electrical storm. Rainfall at Corpus Christi totaled 1.79 inches, bringing precipitation since January 1 to 27.72.

This surpassed Corpus Christi's normal rainfall for the year by 1.29 inches.

be completed tonight, and would be ready to go tomorrow.

Mr. Stilwell, who has lived in Pampa only a few months, was more or less of a stranger to most people, but he isn't now. He has met hundreds of people from every state in the union in the last six weeks, and he says that that was worth all the time and energy he gave to the Fiesta.

Since Mr. Stilwell worked so hard, and successfully, on the Fiesta, it's no wonder that the Jaycees insisted that the modest Mr. Stilwell ride at the head of the parade beside Don Wilson, and there you'll see him tomorrow.

25 States Ready To Organize Units Of Defense Guard

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Home guard units to replace federally-called national guardsmen are to be organized in 25 states under legislation passed in sessions just ended. The council of state governments in announcing this today also reported passage of legislation on sabotage prevention by 12 states; on explosives control by 13; on protection of interstate public property by two, and on defense housing by 13. The legislative roundup, which further disclosed that 46 states now have defense councils to coordinate emergency defense steps, came on the eve of a conference of officials of 12 northeastern states who will meet here tomorrow to discuss new plans for added defense measures in this region.

The state guard law was enacted by Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

Second Battle Of Texas Armies Begins

CAMP BOWIE, BROWNWOOD, June 12 (AP)—The second battle of the eighth army corps maneuvers opened today with the invading Reds again attempting to pierce territory held by the Blues.

The first scrap ended in a draw when the weather stepped in to slow the armies down so much they couldn't establish contact in full. With better weather predicted, the generals hoped to have a good workout in the final phase of the mock war, which will end tomorrow. Yesterday was called a day of rest but for many thousands of soldiers, it meant merely they were given time to assume new positions for the second tilt.

What the positions were was not announced. Newcomers to the battle scene—500,000 acres south and east of here, over which 70,000 soldiers are maneuvering—were Lieut. Gen. L. J. McNair, chief of staff of general headquarters, Washington, and Brig. Gen. J. A. Atkins, chief of staff of the third army.

Daughter Refuses To Dance, Man Kills Wife And Himself

OLIPHANT, Pa., June 12 (AP)—An argument over the refusal of his 14-year-old daughter to dance with him led Steve Hosa, 46, a coal mine motorman, to kill his wife and himself with a pistol in this southeastern Pennsylvania town early today, Deputy Coroner R. L. Sharp reported.

The daughter, Dorothy, told the deputy she wouldn't dance with her father last night because she had to "get up early in the morning" to deliver a newspaper route for her brother, Eddie, 19, who was in Uniontown seeking work.

Sharp, who termed the shooting murder and suicide, said Dorothy gave him this version of the tragedy: A quarrel ensued between Hosa and his wife, Elizabeth, 36, because Mrs. Hosa wanted the children to continue delivering the paper until the end of the month, and Hosa wanted them to quit immediately.

At that point, Dorothy, Eva, 13, and Ethel, 9, went to bed, while their parents remained in the living room, arguing. Then Hosa went upstairs but returned a short time later, clad only in his underwear, and told his wife:

"If you ever said your prayers, say them now."

At that, Hosa shot her in the heart and fired two bullets through his head.

Rodeo To Be Held Friday And Saturday

An amateur rodeo will be one of the highlights of the Top O' Texas Folk Fiesta. The rodeo will be presented Friday and Saturday afternoons at Recreation park east of the city on U. S. Highway 90, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

Monte Reger of Woodward, Okla., will announce the rodeo and his two daughters, one 10 and the other 12 years old, will do trick riding and roping. Panhandle Pete will be clown of the rodeo.

Events will be calf roping, bronco riding, bulldogging, steer riding and wild cow milking. Two special events will be a flag race for women riders of Gray county and a calf roping contest open to Pampa business men.

Bucking horses for the rodeo have been brought here from Woodward, Okla., and the Lazy J ranch near Canadian. Aubra Bowers furnished 25 Brahma steers and 25 calves. Bulldogging steers were brought from Elk City, Okla.

The grand parade at 2:30 o'clock each afternoon will include all amateur rodeo hands entered in the contests, trick, fancy ropers, clown, Junior Chamber of Commerce leaders, horses entered in the Palomino contest being sponsored by the Jaycees. Later the Palominos will parade before a group of judges who will select winners of the two bridles being given by the Jaycees.

Professional rodeo hands will be barred from the rodeo this season.

Youth Committee For Inter-Church Singing Formed

At the first inter-church singing for young people on Sunday night it was voted that a steering committee, including at least one person from each church cooperating, be formed at once in order to promote a wholesome program and avoid the necessity of transacting business at the singings.

The following young people met last night and organized: Pauline Stewart, La Verne Covington, Herbert Maynard, Burl Foster, Gordon Bayless, Leon Holloway, and Joe Cargile. The last named was elected chairman and Pauline Stewart as secretary.

Since not all churches were represented, it was decided to postpone the completion of sub-committees until the next meeting, which will be held in two weeks. Gordon Bayless was chosen to serve as devotional chairman, and Leon Holloway as program chairman.

Such important matters as types of programs, qualifications and nominations for a music director and a pianist, schedule of the churches, promotional activities, were considered. At the next singing, which will be held on Sunday night at the McCullough Methodist church on W. Alcock street, a report of the committee will be submitted for approval.

It was decided that the hour for these back-from-church singings should be from 9:15 to 10:15 p. m. Churches which failed to select their representatives for this committee are asked to do so this week-end and report at the meeting Sunday night.

Engraved with the winner's own name, the award is a handsome souvenir of his local Derby victory.

Diplomatic Service

LONDON, June 12 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today that Britain's foreign service, long criticized as dominated by "old school" men, would be opened to deserving candidates without sources of private income.

The revolutionary change, it was said, will open high posts to men of all classifications in diplomatic and consular branches.

Gray County Wheat Loan Rate Given

Loan rate on Gray county wheat for farmers cooperating with the national farm program on the 1941 crop will be 94 cents on No. 1 hard red winter wheat, the state AAA office at College Station announced today.

Value differentials on the other grades for Gray county will be 93 cents on No. 2, 91 on No. 3, 88 on No. 4, and 85 on No. 5.

The average loan rate for the state will be about 94 cents on No. 2 hard red winter wheat. Fred Rennels, assistant state administrative officer in charge of the AAA, said the loan values will vary according to grades with premiums for protein content.

The loan this year is based on 85 per cent of parity price for wheat and is expected to give Texas wheat farmers additional returns of from $13,000,000 to $20,000,000 over the income from last year's crop, depending on the size of the harvest this year. Rennels declared. Producers cooperating with the AAA program will earn in addition conservation and parity payments totaling 18 cents a bushel, bringing the total return on the crop to the approximate parity goal.

All loans in Texas are based on a rate of $1.17 per bushel at Galveston with variations throughout the state to allow for freight rates to Gulf ports.

The following loan value differentials were announced for various grades of wheat:

No. 1 hard red winter—1 cent more than for No. 2.

No. 3 hard red winter—2 cents less than for No. 2.

No. 4 hard red winter—5 cents less than for No. 2.

No. 5 hard red winter—8 cents less than for No. 2.

Yellow hard winter—2 cents less for all grades than for hard red winter.

Light smutty—3 cents less for all grades.

Smutty—6 cents less for all grades. Mixed wheat—3 cents less for all grades.

The rates are applicable on wheat stored either on the farm or in approved country warehouses in the county.

Mrs. Crawford Named Honoree At Panhandle

PANHANDLE, June 12—Clever in detail was the miscellaneous shower given Thursday evening in the Panhandle Inn, honoring Mrs. Audrey Crawford, the former Helen Carter. Hostesses were Misses Mabelle Pruitt, Evelyn Slagle, Jo Anne Skaggs, Helen Urbaneky, Mary Sue Walker, Larkie Richmond, Mrs. J. C. McCollough, and Mrs. H. W. McFarling.

The background for the affair was formed by a sky blue screen, spanning a rainbow, at the end of which was the traditional pot of gold, filled with gifts for the honoree. Rainbow streamers hanging from the chandeliers further accentuated the theme of the occasion.

Miss JoAnne Skaggs was seated at the guest register.

Dominating the tea table, laid with a yellow linen cloth, was a punch-bowl at one end, and at the other, white tapers burned in crystal holders. Red roses entwined with honeysuckle were arranged in a criss-cross pattern the length of the table, forming the connecting links to the point of interest at either end. Miss Evelyn Cox presided at the punch bowl, which was nestled in an arrangement of roses and honeysuckle.

As the guests entered and were served punch, Mary Ruth Evans entertained with piano numbers.

Announcer for the pot of gold program was Mrs. J. C. McCollough. First to appear was Mary Ruth Evans, playing an accordion solo, "Indian Love Call," followed by a reading, "Home," by Edgar A. Guest, interpreted by Gloria Cantrell. Another feature was a tap dance by Jean Maggart, accompanied by Mary Ruth Evans. Concluding number was a vocal solo, "Over the Rainbow," by Peggy Lou McNeil, with piano accompaniment by Miss Evans, after which the announcer presented the pot of gold to the holder of the lucky number, Mrs. Audrey Crawford.

The guest list included Misses. Ernest Fletcher, Wilson Hatcher, Baker Henry, Fred Thompson, and J. V. McAllister, all of Pampa; L. H. Skaggs, Carroll Furline, Dorothy Ferrell, Gary Simms, Jack Hartsell, all of Amarillo; Mitchell Powers of White Deer; I. Galtner, Escar Watts, C. W. Atkins, M. E. Cox, Clarence Shepherd, J. S. Carter, Julia Thompson, Richard E. Orr, B. A. Mitchell, H. L. Welsh, Herman Powell, D. C. London, Olive Tipton, J. C. Jackson, Deahl Howe, Dexter Jay, M. C. King, K. H. Claycomb, Fannie Williams, Roy Carhart, Gladys Roberts, Earl Cox, Letha Gramer, Janie Smith, John S. Sparks, Ernie, J. D. Bender, Nanny Henry of Pampa, Dick Weatherly, M. B. Welsh, O. R. Beddingfield, S. G. Bobbitt, Wilson, Belmont Slagle, Van Carter, Lucy Line, Ruth Perry, J. B. Howe, Ben Urbaneky of White Deer, Mable Bailey, Faye Herndon, Harris Landon by Amarillo, George Crossman, D. L. Slagle, O. L. Thorp, L. C. Shepherd, R. M. Chastain, Olin Thorp, Eva E. Craig, and C. M. Pyron.

Misses Berga Goad, Laura Bieble, Mauna Lee Callahan, Ruth Metcalf, Naomi Smith, Maxine Bender, Joyce Lemons, Louise Schulze, Virginia Line, Angelina Urbaneky of White Deer, Juanna Jo Wigham, Nancy Sparks, Alene Shepherd, Nanda Shepherd, Margaret Helen Fyron, and Mildred Chastain.

A gift was sent by the Order of the Rainbow for Girls.

Another post-nuptial affair honoring Mrs. Crawford was given Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Marlin Eagle, with Miss Alene Shepherd as hostess. A patriotic theme of red, white, and blue was featured in the decorations and arrangements for the kitchen display.

Entertaining numbers on the program were an accordion solo by Mary Ruth Evans, followed by a reading, "Advice to Brides," given by Miss Wanda Shepherd.

The kitchen shower was cleverly introduced when Dan Cupid, Little Kent Eagle, entered the room, pulling a wagon laden with gifts for the honoree.

Mrs. Exley Hostess At Circle Meeting

A meeting of circle three of Women's Society of Christian Service was conducted in the home of Mrs. W. S. Exley this week with 10 members and one guest attending.

The group joined in singing "How Firm a Foundation" after which Mrs. Curtis Douglass gave the first two chapters of the Bible study, "Explaining the Bible."

A business session conducted by Mrs. J. M. Turner, president, preceded the program.

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

- Should one return a borrowed book just as soon as he has finished reading it?
- Is it all right to "borrow" a book and then pass it around to one's friends before returning it to its owner?
- If you should happen to damage a book you have borrowed, should you replace it with a new copy?
- If you find a letter stuck in a book loaned you by a friend is it all right to read the letter?
- Is it all right to write one's name in the front of a book before lending it to friends?

What would you do if—

You lose a book loaned you by a friend:

- Tell the friend what happened and if he says, "I don't care about keeping the book anyway, just forget about it," let the matter drop?
- Buy another copy of the book before mentioning what happened?

Answers

- Yes.
- No.
- Certainly.
- No!
- Yes. You stand more chances of getting a book back if you have your name in it, as persons who are careless about returning books sometimes forget where they borrowed them.

German, Croat And Italian All In U. S. Army

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
CAMP BOWIE, Brownwood, June 12 (AP)—The army makes strange bedfellows, but the 158th infantry, 48th division, believes it has a timely coincidence which tops them all. Three of the closest buddies in Company D are a German, an Italian, and a Croat, a strange assortment of nationalities in view of the world situation.

Since the day they were inducted into service Jan. 28 in Tucson, Ariz., they have been pals—Ettore DeConcini, Peter Kusian, and Ralph Benz.

In 1938, Kusian visited on the Dalmatian coast of Yugoslavia. The day after he sailed from New York on the Queen Mary, England declared war on Germany.

"Having been born here and having seen aggression in Europe, makes me appreciate this country more," said Kusian. "When I returned from Europe and saw the statue of liberty and walked up the streets of New York, freedom was just written in the air."

Major Senatorial Aspirants Agree On Prominent Issues

(By The Associated Press)
Each of the four Texas senatorial candidates paddled his own canoe today among sudden shoals and confusing cross-currents represented by voting opinion in a campaign distinguished by the absence of disagreement on issues.

The four major aspirants have said they agree on the two most prominent issues. All of them have endorsed the national defense program and pensions for the aged, although they may not see eye-to-eye on how results can best be obtained.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel continued his campaign by proxy last night with a transcribed speech at Yonkum in which he asked that his record as governor be considered as the basis for his election to the senate.

The speech was broadcast from a sound truck in charge of the governor's son, Mike. A hillbilly band entertained spectators.

At San Angelo Attorney General Gerald C. Mann declared in a talk that the senatorial race had narrowed down to himself and the governor.

Congressman Lyndon Johnson asserted at Lubbock that Mann erred in saying that "the congressmen in the senate race voted against parity for the farmers."

He told an audience that both he and Martin Dies had voted no on a motion by Representative Cannon of Missouri to reduce the amount contained in a senate amendment to the farm bill from $85,000,000 to $72,678,812.

Dies in an address at Mexia warned that seven million members of foreign-controlled organizations are pledged to overthrow the United States government and that if immediate steps are not taken the defense program would be sabotaged.

Sadler Urges Senate Action On Proration

AUSTIN, June 12 (AP)—Prevention of federal control of the oil industry rests largely with Texas oil men and the state senate in the opinion of Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler now in Washington. Sadler asserted yesterday, in a statement to his Austin office, that Texas, California and Illinois had better "get their houses in order" if they expected to avert federal control.

Naturally, Texas should lead the way since it is the most vitally affected state when it comes to oil regulation," he declared. "I believe authorities here in Washington had rather see states get their own business straight than be forced to take over."

"Interest which Texas oil men once manifested in trying to keep federal control out has sadly waned," he continued. "These men, whose industry affects over 1,000,000

Texans, have gone to sleep at the wheel, and it is now high time that they get ready to cooperate or the state will have the most stringent form of federal regulation. These statements are not threats. They are not imaginative. They constitute first-hand information and are true facts.

"Now pending in the senate are house bills (designed to eliminate selective crude purchases and) making oil proration permanent. It is imperative that both of these bills receive approval or, we will have Washington regulating and controlling our own Texas oil business."

turns for 1939, filed through December 1940, according to figures released today by Guy T. Helvering, internal revenue commissioner. Of that number, 1,240 were from Pampa.

Total returns for 1939 in the nation were 7,648,863 or 1,399,590 more than in 1938.

Individuals in Hutchinson county filing returns totaled 989, of which 649 lived in Borger. Potter county showed 4,205 returns with only three residing out of Amarillo. Returns from cities under 10,000 population were not listed in the report.

United—Service—Organizations

They chose well who named a certain malady "homesickness." It is a sickness. Many a young man, leaving his home and the friendly surroundings of his native community for the first time when he enters the army, is really sick with the sense of separation. Big, strapping six-footers have been known to lie on their barracks bunks at night and sob from the ache of it.

They don't die of it, these soldiers, nor anybody else, except in fiction. But they do suffer, and there is nothing unmanly in that suffering.

One of the ways to alleviate it, and to cure the disease, is providing places where the soldier and sailor can go when he is off duty—a place where he can have clean amusement, decent surroundings, little facilities for writing home, or reading; where he can get sympathetic advice or religious consolation when he needs them.

That, roughly, is the purpose of the drive of the United Service Organizations to raise an initial $10,765,000 for camp service clubs. These centers, operated by six national voluntary welfare organizations all experienced in such work, will be off military reservations, giving the men a chance to relax once in a while outside military supervision. The army itself provides libraries, movies, and post exchanges, but a fellow who is under military supervision 24 hours a day likes to "get out from under" it at times.

Plenty of private persons and organizations realize that, and are always ready to put diversion of a sort at the disposal of the soldier and sailor, especially on pay day. Much of this sort of diversion is bad in itself and offered with cheer exploit intent.

There is only one way to beat that game and protect the welfare of American soldiers and sailors. That is to offer something better.

The USO proposes to do it, and its fund drive is an opportunity for every man and woman to do something very concrete and very necessary to advance the country's defense.

The name is appropriate. "It is 'United,'" joining in one effort the work of many organizations. It has the single purpose of "Service" to men of the armed forces. And "Organization" is its keynote in a world in which only organized effort wins.

Behind The News

By PETER EDSON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON, June 12—An imposing array of opponents of the St. Lawrence seaway development is marshalling its arguments for an all-out offensive to defeat this $285,000,000, Canadian-U. S. power and ship transport project which has been kicked around ever since 1895.

Opposition is not political. Republicans and Democrats are both for and against it, and the seaway idea got its first real boost in the Hoover administration, from which President Roosevelt picked it up and has given it his blessing. Opposition comes from several sources:

Private utilities in the area naturally don't want government power expansion, for the 1936 New York State Power Authority act prohibits a private utility from operating on a navigable stream.

Railroads, particularly the eastern roads, are opposed to it because it is a competitive threat that water transport always gives land transport in forcing downward readjustment of rates. Western roads, however, are inclined to favor the seaway because they feel the cheaper water routes east of Chicago would enable them to ship more goods to the Atlantic seaboard.

FORTS FEAR LOSSES

Fort authorities at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and even Norfolk, fear that opening the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes to ocean going vessels would cut down the business of their harbors. New York state barge canal from Buffalo to New York might suffer. Mississippi valley, particularly port of New Orleans, opposes for the same reason.

Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia coal producers oppose it not only because water power always competes with steam generated power, but also because they fear the loss of Canadian coal markets if the St. Lawrence is opened to cargoes of British, Nova Scotia, or even South American or European coal which could be hauled in as ballast on the return voyages of grain vessels.

This one is a bit hard to figure. U. S. coal exports to Quebec and Ontario are now 11,000,000 tons a year. In spite of a tariff of 75 cents a ton against U. S. coal which has to be rail shipped from Lake Ontario to Montreal, U. S. coal has been outselling British coal 753,000 tons to 193,000 tons, and the Nova Scotia mines have an additional capacity of only 2,800,000 tons, only a fourth of the present U. S. sales.

ABOUT THE DEFENSE ANGLE

The big argument for the St. Lawrence project now is that it is a defense measure, but a big battle will wage over just how much of a defense project this is.

Its vulnerability is unquestionable. One well placed bomb on any of the 16 sets of locks could put it out of business. It would be closed by winter from Nov. 15 to April 15, making it useless five months every year.

The National Economy league and plenty of others argue that the country can't afford it now, and there is no question that it would cost money—$116,000,000 federal funds, $90,000,000 from New York state, $60,000,000 from Canada plus another $50,000,000 from all sources for deepening harbors, dredging the Sault Ste. Marie locks and other shallow channels to accommodate 27-foot bottoms of ocean going vessels.

It would take from two to four years to complete, maybe longer.

Is the manpower available to do the job, particularly in these days of skilled labor shortage? Engineers say the average employment would be 10,000 men, much of it unskilled or semi-skilled labor, which is one of the things the country seems to have a six-

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

NO LIQUOR ADVOCATE

Judging from some of the letters from readers of my article on "Is Legal Prohibition a Christian Act?" they must have drawn the wrong conclusions from the article. One reader quotes from the Bible to prove the ill effects of strong drink and drunkenness. They seem to think I was attempting to defend the use of liquor. I had no such thought in mind. I believe that alcohol is one of the great corruptors of civilization.

One reader asks the old question as to whether I would object to a fertilizer plant in my neighborhood. Certainly I would, if it interfered with my inherent rights. I object to a drunken man interfering with my inherent rights, but I already have laws aimed at protecting me for this offense.

The same reader says, "in the final analysis, people only drink to numb their sense of responsibility to society. Who has any right to do this? As long as we are a part of society, we have no right to purposely reduce our efficiency so that we cannot lift our share."

This is certainly a true statement. We have no MORAL right to do anything that interferes with our efficiency. The only question I was raising is whether it is wise to attempt to legally prevent a man from doing things that many people believe are not harmful to themselves.

Another reader asks "why limit the question to whether prohibition is a Christian act to Christians?"

The answer to that is that Christianity is largely based on voluntary agreements rather than force. The very heart of Christianity is persuasion and not force. Jesus, it will be remembered, said, "Forgive those who offend thee not seven times, but seven times seventy." He also said, "I send you forth as lambs among wolves." He did not expect the state to take away all the risks of life when people had the right to make mistakes and were free moral agents.

Fear Not Killer of the Body Then again, real Christians should have more patience, more tolerance and less fear toward erring people than those who profess no Christianity. And Christians certainly should have more courage than non-Christians to be willing to put up with inconveniences and even risk their lives than non-Christians. They, as Jesus said, should "fear not them who kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul." And only man himself can kill his own soul.

It is this failure of Christian people to see the difference between moral persuasion done by Christian people, and the right of Christian people to use force to attempt to make people restrain from injuring themselves and inconveniencing others that I was trying to emphasize.

We sooner or later get into trouble when people begin to believe that the state should do this and that and tother in taking away a man's inherent rights to do what he thinks will help give him pleasure when he is not directly interfering with other people's rights. That is what I was attempting to point out. When the people come to believe too strongly in the majority having the right to use force to restrain others, it is only a question of time when we have a collectivist or a totalitarian state.

This is the last thing in the world that the Christian people should want. When this happens, their right to worship and to educate and have free speech, sooner or later, goes with state encroachment. . . .

WHOSE JUDGMENT? I was talking with a strong believer in the New Deal and told the party that business men were thoroughly disheartened. As evidence, I pointed out the price at which stocks were selling. This did not seem to have any effect on this party. She nonchalantly said that if those who were disheartened did not put money in business other people would. But she had never employed anybody in her life, never saved anything and knew nothing about the probabilities of her wishes becoming facts.

The way to determine whether a man's judgment is good or not is to look for the fruits of his judgment. Any man who has had good judgment in the past as to values, has something to show for his judgment.

Yet, this woman brushed aside the warnings of all people who have something to show for their judgment and blatantly proclaimed that if business men now in business did not invest their money, other people would.

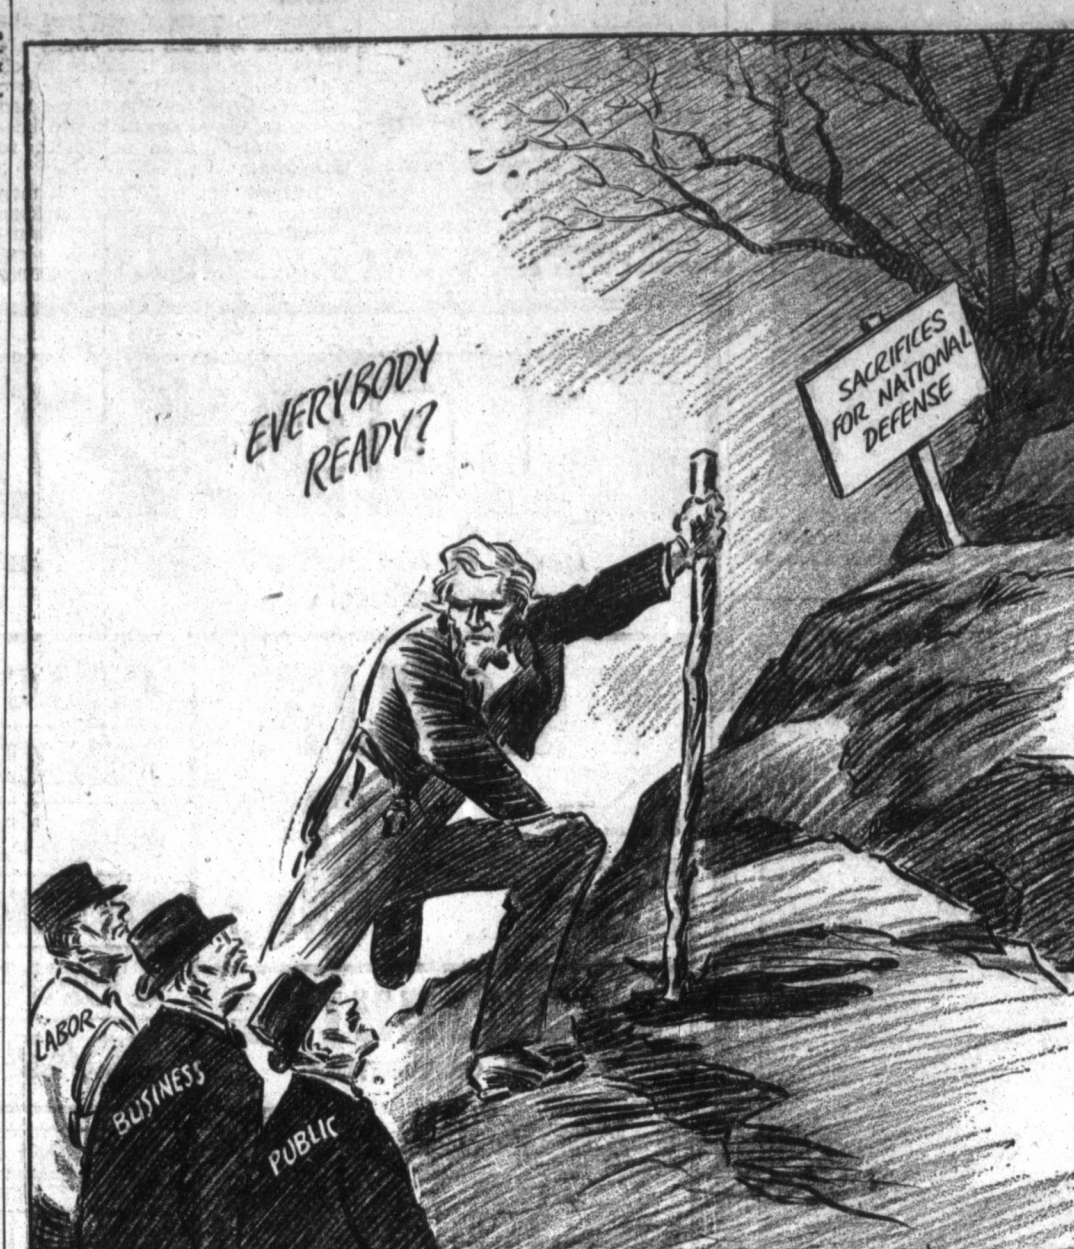

When you hear people making statements as to what will happen and acting as prophets, it is always well to judge the probability of their predictions coming true from the success they have had in making predictions and passing judgments in the past. If they have nothing to demonstrate that their judgments have been good, in the past it is the strongest kind of evidence that their present predictions will not materialize and that they are only talking to make themselves appear kind and important and are more interested in the sound of their voices than they are in the welfare of their fellowman.

million abundance of. The power shortage and the need for more shipbuilding facilities are two of the principal defense arguments of the seaway supporters. All this buildup on existing power shortages has been good St. Lawrence propaganda, but there is no question but that the New York area can well use the two million horsepower of the St. Lawrence dams could produce for the big electro-chemical, alloy, aluminum and kindred industries which center around Buffalo.

As to shipbuilding, there are 30 shipways in the Great Lakes which can take vessels of 500 feet and over. Most of them are idle now, or used only for repairs. The long-range idea is to use these protected, inland sea drydocks for the construction of cruisers, which are 18 months or more on the ways, releasing the coast facilities for building ugly ducklings and the like, which are on the ways only three or four months. Cruisers even up to the Wichita class, 600 feet long, 61-foot beam, 20-foot draft, could easily be built in the Great Lakes yards and get through the Welland canal locks, the "bottleneck" which will pass vessels up to 850-foot length, 80-foot beam, 27-foot draft.

Those limits, by the way, would permit 72 per cent of the world's freighters to come right to Detroit or Chicago. And on the voyage outbound, they would have a thousand miles less open ocean to navigate on the great circle route under Greenland and Iceland, to England.

Highlights From Latest Books

WHISTLE STOP IS SHARP, RELENTLESS HISTORY OF FAMILY There's nothing school-girlish about Maritta M. Wolff's "Whistle Stop" (Random House; $2.50), although the story was written during the author's final year in college. Here is a mature book by an author who promises more and finer works.

"Whistle Stop" concerns itself with the fortunes of the Veech family, a bunch of no-goods, if there ever was one. In any section of the country, they would be known as "poor white trash," but they do provide material for an excellent yarn.

Don't expect another "Grapes of Wrath." This isn't it. No sociological study, "Whistle Stop" has its greatest value in presenting an accurate picture of a definite type of family. And what the Veeches do, and how they do it, will keep you interested from first to last.

There's Molly Veech, the mother, who tries to hold her brood together, ineffectively; Kenny, lazy, worthless, conceited, who looks for trouble and usually finds it; Mary, entangled in an affair with a wealthy hotel owner; Josie and Jen, sisters with directly opposite ideals and aims.

Take Kenny, for example. Girls fell for Kenny. He leaves one in a hospital disgraced for life as a result of his automobile wreck. And he tells another he despises her as she lays dying. Only Mary understands Kenny, and theirs is a strange affection, broken when Kenny runs into trouble in a filling station hold-up.

And don't forget Dorothy, Mary's daughter. A cruel, plotting mind in a child's body, choking a cat to death, coldly urging an old man on to suicide. You won't like Dorothy. For all the unpleasant qualities of the Veeches, for all their worthlessness, their story is worth your time.

Around Hollywood

By LUCIE NEVILLE NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, June 12—Closures offscreen: Bing Crosby is color blind. Once he went to a funeral wearing a bright red tie and wondering why people stared and glared. Henry Fonda is gradually winning immunity from the intimate snootings of fan-mag writers. A gushy one cornered him the other day and said, "Now I want you to tell me every single thing you did over the week-end." So he told her. At least he was telling her when she fled. The breakfast napkins at Douglas Fairbanks home have embroidered greetings on 'em. The one at his place says, "Good morning, Doug," in his wife's handwriting, and on the undergarment lights, but Wayne Morris has provided something for the boys to dive to see—a voluptuous mermaid painted on the bottom.

NO TAX DODGER Louis B. Mayer of M-G-M was the highest salaried executive in the United States in 1940 for the third successive year. Loews, Inc., the parent company, paid him $97,048 in wages. Hollywood business managers are usually in a bigwig who'll never have trouble with the income tax people. He ignores most of the deductions recommended by his high-powered experts and pays a lot more than necessary, just to be safe.

You can find almost anything in Hollywood swimming pools, from wrist watches and evening slippers to house-guests left over from a previous week-end. Quite a few, too, have fancy designs in tile and underwater lights, but Wayne Morris has provided something for the boys to dive to see—a voluptuous mermaid painted on the bottom.

Joan Crawford's usual form of doodling is drawing unflattering caricatures of herself. Humphrey Bogart's pet name for his wife, Mayo Method, is "Sluggo." . . . W. C. Alice Faye usually looks as if she were on her way to a night club. And she usually is. . . . Tyrone Power's hobby is taking unflattering photographs of his friends. Any of the picture magazines would give a fortune for the collection of deglamorized beauties and unromantic-looking screen heroes.

COLMAN ANTI-GOSSIP Ronald Colman is supposed to be a mystery man of Movietown, but he's a mystery to movie gossip writers, whom he distrusts and avoids. Lots of people know him, especially since he married Benita Hume, who likes to give parties. Colman is a patient fisherman and a business-like poker player for low stakes. He knows half a dozen rather simple card tricks which he has been delightedly displaying for years. Another hobby is photography.

He quotes a good deal of Shakespeare, personally keeps all the accounts of the household, never owes anyone a penny. The time he relaxes most successfully is around a piano—usually with Frank Capra, Bill Powell, and Harold Lloyd—singing barbershop ballads.

THE LOOKING GLASS

By Stella Hailit THE HERO If Doc had said the world was made of green cheese Polly would have believed him. For Doc was her hero. He could play Casey Jones on a moath organ, he could touch the ceiling without tiptoeing, and he had frozen feet. These things distinguished him from all the other men Polly knew. He'd cup his big hands all around the moath organ and tap his foot and volumes of music would come out. Polly was only six and all she could play was "Home, Sweet Home," without any bass, and it didn't help at all to cup her hands. Doc was way over six feet and he didn't stretch to touch the ceiling.

But his feet were his most fascinating feature. In winter, when he'd be all nice and comfortable and the stove got red hot on the sides, Doc would have to take off his shoes and go out on the porch and rub his feet in the snow because his feet hurt when they got warm.

When Doc told Polly that black hair from a horse's tail if put in a bottle of water would turn into a snake in nine days, she believed it absolutely and she was excited to try it. Doc certainly had been right about warts. He said they came from playing with toads.

The only horse that had a black tail was Dick, and Polly was afraid of him, but one day when he was near the fence she reached through and pulled a hair and put it in a bottle.

Tom said it wouldn't turn into a snake. The hair changed positions in the water. When you looked at it real closely it seemed to be alive all right and when it turned into a snake she'd show them all.

Doc was there on the eighth day and Polly told him confidently that the hair was Dick, and he was winding up to pitch imaginary ball games, and knocked over the bottle with the hair. Polly was crushed as well as the bottle. But Doc said who wanted a snake anyhow. He said it was best not to have any more snakes. Suppose it became a rattler. He knew a much better trick than that. He could find a little fish that would turn into a frog. Not a toad, but a frog, but a sure enough frog. Polly was all eyes so Doc took her down to the creek and they found a fish which they brought home in an old tin cup. Sure enough in a few days it turned into a frog. Polly thought Doc was the smartest man in the world.

TEX'S TOPICS

By Tex DeWesse

YOU can dance tonight, and the fiddler will pay you tomorrow! . . . That's a way of saying that the benefit club's Fiesta dance will get the big celebration under way tonight and then tomorrow forenoon the Junior Chamber of Commerce will give you something free with the opening gun of the annual Top O' Texas Fiesta—that big parade of the states. . . . Riding in the parade, of course, will be the star of radio and screen, Hollywood's roly, jovial and genial Don Wilson who, with his recent bride, will arrive in Pampa early tomorrow to be the Fiesta's guests of honor for two days.

And don't forget the rodeo attraction out at Fairgrounds park. . . . There will be shows on both Friday and Saturday afternoons. . . . This is going to be one of the best rodeos ever staged in Pampa, and if you like the thrill of bucking horses and daring bronc busters, you'll not want to miss this 1941 Fiesta rodeo. . . . It is more than likely that Don Wilson will make an appearance at the rodeo. . . . One of his latest movie roles was in a western. . . . He appeared as the sheriff in "The Roustabout" which showed in Pampa recently.

AND while we're mentioning some of the unusual things about this Fiesta, let's not forget the Jaycee benefit clam bake at the Brown street site of the new Jaycee recreational building at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. . . . If you never have attended a clam bake, attend this one and you'll be a confirmed addict to clam bakes. . . . Of all the good things you eat, you haven't eaten anything yet if you haven't had the experience of eating food prepared clam bake style. . . . The location for the clam bake is on the lot just east of the Knotty Pine driveway. . . . All profits from the clam bake goes to the Jaycee building fund. . . . Don Wilson will attend the clam bake, too.

Tokio newspapers say the United States may be opposed in war by Japan, Russia, Italy and Germany. . . . Now what are we supposed to do. Burst out crying? Japan was going to knock China over in two months and has been at it three years and is getting nowhere faster every day. . . . It took 10,000 Russians to subdue one Finn and after Stalin saw what his army amounted to in action he went into a cold shiver of apprehension from which he has never recovered and shakes like a plate of Don Wilson's jelly in the heat seat of a flivver every time the Nazi ambassador to Moscow says "ho!"

Father's Day is next Sunday . . . Which reminds us we have with much justice honored gold star mothers; now how about the gold star fathers? . . . Seems we should be giving the dads a little better break all around. . . . Think the well-known saying should be amended to read: "A boy's best friends are his mother and father." . . . In the meanwhile start thinking of something really good to give your pappy on Sunday.

TWO smart looking young Pampa women—most of you know both of them—hesitated in very heated conversation on the curb at Cuyler and Kingsmill about 4:30 yesterday afternoon. . . . They were waiting for the light to change. . . . Said one, "Listen, can I help it if your boy friend keeps calling up and wants to go out with me?" . . . The light turned green and that's about all of the conversation the crowd behind them caught, but it reminded us of that old ditty that goes something like this:

If you don't like my apples, Don't shake my tree;

The War Today

(This daily feature, conducted by Dewitt Mackenzie, is being written in his absence on vacation by Fred Vanderschmidt.)

The reich is husbanding its air might and regrouping its armies for the climactic offensive of the summer. The British appear to be fairly sure that this offensive will be directed with the greatest of ferocity against the valley of the Nile and Suez, against the armies of Egypt's western desert and delta; behind the backs of the imperial troops in Syria, Palestine, Iraq.

No one can predict this with certainty. Winston Churchill this week pointed out to the British people that the Germans, controlling Europe's whole chain of permanent airports and the entire continental railway system, can put a vast movement of aircraft and armies into reverse in very little time.

Right now there is a new rash of London reports, that Germany is concentrating tremendous armies on the Soviet border and, perhaps, threatening a movement through the Russian Ukraine and Caucasus in order to seize Iran and knock off the whole British position east of Suez.

This may be fact, it may be fancy and it may be merely wishful of a German-Russian conflict, which certainly looks doubtful at this point. But things are in shape for the assault on North Africa and, again to quote Mr. Churchill, the formidable threat of the Axis armies at the western Egyptian border must remain, above all, Britain's chief preoccupation in the Middle East.

The fight there is bound to be on a much greater scale than any yet contemplated in either shore of the Mediterranean. With the imperial conquerors of Italian East Africa flowing northward to bulwark the defense of the Nile, the British may be a match in manpower for the Germans and Italians, who unquestionably have been reinforced with men and tanks by every seaborne means. From the standpoint of planes and machines the battle is almost bound to be unequal, however.

German planes in vast numbers have swarmed with ease down through Europe and into the Mediterranean area; they may, by now, be using French as well as Italian bases on both shores of the sea. Dive bombers have made the western Mediterranean approaches too hot for the priceless British convoys carrying planes, tanks and guns to Egypt.

Mr. Churchill's revealing speech of Tuesday disclosed that British planes, by contrast, are being shipped in crates all the way from home to the African cape and there set up for overhauls and repairs in the East. Other material, he indicated, is going all the way around the cape and into the Red sea and thence, from point of origin to point of action, this material is useless for many weeks.

Despite these tremendous difficulties of transport, the British are resolved on a last ditch defense of every strategic African bastion.

DANGER SIGNALS

CHAPTER X

"WHILE I was standing outside Yu Chen's chop house a few minutes ago, Angela hurried on. I happened to overhear Jose Pastia talking to one of his crew as they passed. I was waiting—"

"For Heaven's sake, Angie, this is no time to indulge in total recall. Never mind what you were waiting for. Who is this Jose Pastia, and what can he possibly have to do with Stephan?"

"He's the skipper of a launch that's supposed to be taking Stephan somewhere tonight. . . . Where, to, is all very hush-hush, I gather, but—"

"Then how do you come to know he was taking Stephan anywhere?"

"I overheard enough to get these Portuguese straight. I can understand them. I followed Jose and got a little more out of him."

"More of what?" Deborah was almost frantic with suspense.

"Look here, Debby," snapped Angela, "if you'll give me half a chance, maybe I can get on with this. Jose has information—"

"That there's some one hanging around town who's going to make it his business to see that Stephan doesn't get away—by force, if necessary."

"Why didn't this—Jose—come and warn Stephan, himself?"

"He was on his way to—although he didn't seem to think it would do any good. But we decided that since I'm in on it, I would be smarter for me to come—in case anyone was hovering about watching the house."

"Watching—the house?" Deborah echoed faintly. "But who?"

"If I know, he wouldn't tell. I don't think he does know."

"Why hasn't he warned the police?"

"He seemed to think that was the last thing Stephan would want. . . . It's my private guess that the parties interested are from the Department of Justice—and I suppose I ought to be stood up against a stonewall for meddling."

"If you really believe that, why did you come, Angie?"

"Well," Angie admitted with a grudging grin, "because I can't help liking the guy, I guess. . . . I'm slipping out the back way. If I see anyone strolling around, I'll telephone when I get home. . . . Make him listen, Debby. Jose isn't the kind to go off the deep end for nothing."

"Did Jose say Stephan shouldn't try to go?"

"Well—no," Angie admitted. "He just wanted him to know."

WHEN Deborah hurried upstairs to Stephan, he seemed rather elated than otherwise.

"So that one has come, too," he said thoughtfully. "Now that makes it really worth while."

"But, Stephan, you're surely not going? Just before I came upstairs, I looked out—and there is some one outside, skulking in the shadow of the evergreens."

Stephan threw back his head and laughed.

"What you saw," he said, "was probably good old Wilhelm. He isn't much to look at, but in a scrap, he is something to write home about. . . . Not that I expect any trouble," he added hastily, catching the terror in her eyes.

Then all at once, in that last few minutes before he really must go, all the futile little things that still had to be said came flocking in upon them.

"You'll write me often, Stephan?"

"As often as I can be sure of getting my letters to you in something like their original form. I'm sure you wouldn't like one that read just: 'Dearest Deborah—blank-blank-blank. . . . Your adoring Stephan.'"

"I should like the 'adoring Stephan' very much—but oh, my dear, don't try unless it's entirely safe for you! . . . Anyhow, I shall write every day. I shall be very careful what I say—"

"But that's the worst of it, my darling. I may not be able to let you know for months where you can be sure of finding me."

Not even letters—except on those rare occasions when one might be slipped through. . . . Perhaps not for months.

"Stephan," she said, "that last night in California—when you did not come, or even telephone—I thought, it's like having a beautiful story abruptly cut short, without so much as a 'To Be Continued.' Now—"

"But it has been continued, hasn't it? And it will go on as long as we both—"

he caught himself up sharply, as if startled by the implications of what he had been about to say. "You'll see," he finished. "I'll be back—" almost before you have time to miss me."

WHEN at length he turned to pick up his bags, and she moved, with tear-blinded eyes, to lead the way downstairs, he hesitated, then said swiftly, "Please—no! I should rather remember you here—where for a little while we have been happy together. Or wait—I have a better idea."

He led her to the window.

"Now," he directed, his hands warm upon her shoulders, his lips against her ear, "if you stand just here, in front of the lamp, I shall be able to see you as I drive away. Then I can always think of you that way, and—"

"Oh, no! Not that way! . . . Not watching you go, Stephan! You must think of me as waiting here—for you to come back."

"And you must remember—every time you think of me—that nothing in Heaven or earth can keep me away from you."

Then for the priceless moment they had left, they stood, clinging silently to each other, because they could not trust to words all the many things that still ached to be said.

After he had gone downstairs and out into the night, she continued to stand there where he had left her, waving until the rasp of his feet on the gravel had died away.

Perhaps, she thought, if the fog has lightened a little, he really can see me.

BUT she stood with tightly closed eyes, because she knew that when, on long nights to come, she startled awake—as she must do, perhaps, many times before he came again—with the moan of the foghorn in her ears, she must not have to recall seeing him in that last instant before his gleaming white-coated figure and bright head were finally engulfed in the mist.

Finally, because there seemed to be nothing else to do, Deborah went downstairs to the living room. She had barely seated herself before the dying embers of the fire when the telephone rang sharply in the hall.

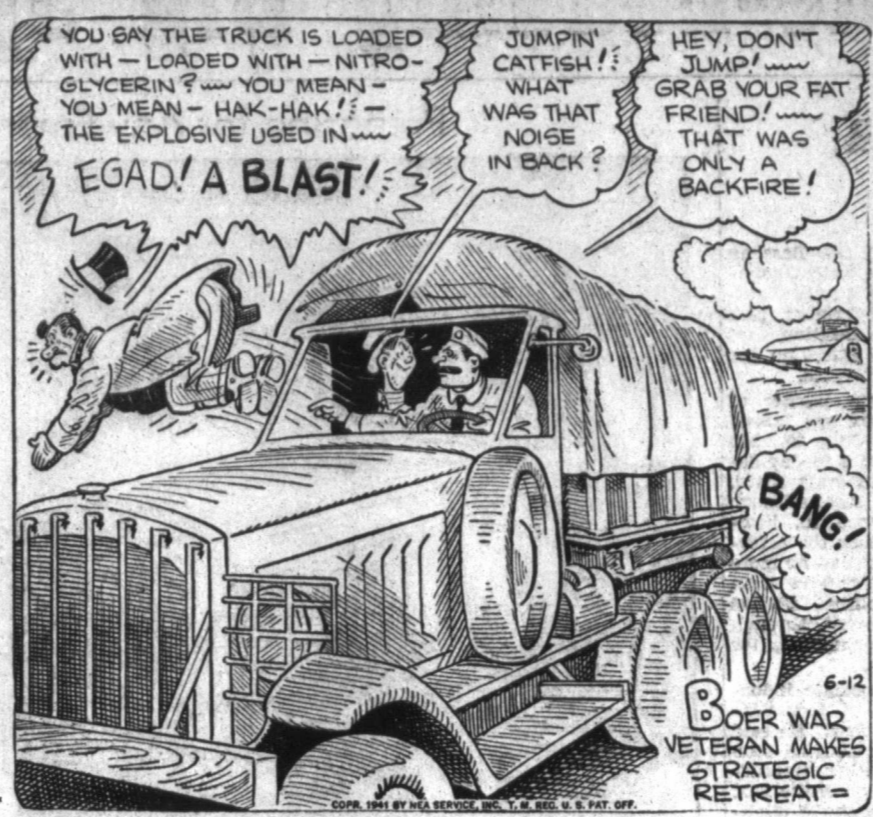

Angie, Deborah told herself doggedly as her heart turned over with a sickening thud. She's probably seen some innocent citizen stop to fumble for his latch-key, and decided he's reaching for a gun.

Before she could get up, the kitchen door opened, and Bridgie, fanning herself with her apron, bustled out and took down the receiver.

Oilers Defeat League-Leading Big Spring Bombers 11 To 3

Same Teams To Play Here Again Tonight

Continuing their dizzy hitting, the Oilers last night took the league-leading Big Spring Bombers 11 to 3 in the opening game of their current series. They play again tonight and tomorrow night before the Oilers leave on a road trip.

The fact that the Bombers are far out in front in the league race didn't seem to bother the Oilers. They just jumped on Mohrlock, starting pitcher, for seven runs and seven hits in four innings and then kept up their bombardment on Ramadall, one of the best chuckers in the league.

Bill Phillips, new third baseman, went on a hitting spree with three singles. Lou Frierson, right fielder, lapped one over the right field fence in the sixth with one aboard, after getting a single in the fifth.

Big Harley LaFavers started on the mound for the Oilers and up until the seventh he had allowed only two hits. Then in the seventh he walked one and gave up three hits, ending his big night.

The Oilers, who were with eight hits against him, the big Oklahoma also got a share in the batting honors, blasting two singles good enough to score three runs.

Fielding Spectacular Although bobbing up with five errors, the Oilers came through with several spectacular plays. Afield, Frank Scott and Homer Matney picked off a couple of fly balls that were labeled sure hits and Jim Reynolds, catcher, crashed into the netting back of the plate but held on to a high foul fly.

Robbery without a gun was committed by Reeves. Big Spring left fielder, when Scott blasted one far to left, the Oilers came through with several spectacular plays. Afield, Frank Scott and Homer Matney picked off a couple of fly balls that were labeled sure hits and Jim Reynolds, catcher, crashed into the netting back of the plate but held on to a high foul fly.

Mohrlock started for Big Spring. He gave up a walk and four hits in the second for four runs. He was settled down until the fifth when Scott, first man up, drilled one back at him, the ball hitting him on the hip. He stayed in the game but was ineffective, walking one, hitting one and allowing a single. Ramadall, who won half of Big Spring's ball games last year, relieved but was banded around for five hits, including Frierson's home run.

Ernie Myers, big rookie curve ball artist, is scheduled for mound duty for the Oilers tonight, probably opposed by Kahout, leading pitcher in the league.
