British Resistance In Crete Smashed, Claims Nazi Command

FDR EXPECTED TO RULE ON CONVOYS TODAY

Escape Also Frustrated, Say Germans

Allies Admit That 'Situation Is Serious'

(By The Associated Press) Adolf Hitler's aerial invaders captured the capital city of Crete today, the German high command announced, and Nazi dive-bombers have frustrated a British attempt to escape by sea.

The German communique declared British resistance on the 100-mile-long island was smashed, with Allied defenders suffering heavy losses as they retreated.

The communique said dive-bombers had thwarted a British attempt to retreat by sea with the destruction of four ships totalling 5,400 tons and the damaging of two others in Suda bay, site of a big British naval base.

"The situation is serious," a London spokesman acknowledged. The Rome radio reported that Italy's navy had safely escorted two convoys with 70 shipsloads of Axis troops and supplies to the Mediterranean sea.

If true, this would tend to support Axis assertions that the British Fleet has been driven from Crete waters by the fury of dive-bombing attacks. Dispatches from Alexandria, Egypt, said yesterday part of the British fleet had arrived at its base there.

With little naval support and Nazi "chutists" still dropping from the skies in great numbers, British were pictured as waging a desperate, exhausting battle "under the appalling strain of continuous bombing from the air, day and night, with no lull."

DNB said Nazi bombers had scored hits on a 12,000-ton British troop transport south of Crete—presumably en route to the island with the reinforcements which Prime Minister Churchill said yesterday were on the way.

The Germans further claimed Nazi warplanes had sunk four British merchant ships, totalling 13,500 tons in Crete waters. Striking back, a British submarine was reported by the London admiral to have sunk an 18,000-ton liner with 3,000 troops aboard, bound for the battlefields of Libya.

The admiralty said that a 5,000-ton French tanker, escorted by Italian warships and headed for Tripoli, was torpedoed and sent to the bottom, and that another 5,000-ton transport and a 4,000-ton oil tanker were "probably" sunk.

From these reports, it was apparent that Germany and Italy were attempting to ship heavy reinforcements to their columns in north Africa for an intensified drive toward the Suez canal.

On the Ethiopian front, the British reported that an entire Italian division—normally about 15,000 men—had surrendered in the lakes area southwest of Addis Ababa, the capital.

World attention centered meanwhile on President Roosevelt's pledge of active American resistance.

The Strike Menace

Our nation is face to face with labor conditions which threaten its future.

Labor dictatorship which can force men to leave their jobs regardless of their own wishes, the welfare of the nation, and in defiance of government itself, is inexorable.

After all, it is the men, women and children in the United States whose lives, liberty and happiness are at stake in our present drive. No labor dictator can save them from an aggressor, if his acts cause a breakdown in our defense ability. Witness the fallen countries of Europe.

The public favors good wages, fair hours, the best working conditions, and everything within reason that labor has stood for. But, it will finally turn on corruption and arrogance in labor management which threaten the life of a nation, and the right to work for the safety of home and family.

Hundreds of thousands of boys from homes throughout the land are training for the army. Ask them if they have enough rifles, machine guns, airplanes, tanks, anti-tank guns, anti-aircraft guns, enough ammunition for practice—enough of anything?

The boys in training are offering their lives for the nation. Strikers who are deferred from military service at high pay, who shut off coal supplies and manufactured products which are indispensable, actually imperil the lives of the boys who are serving their country for $30.00 a month.

Commenting on methods for remedying this intolerable situation, The New York Times says editorially that the president should permit the National Defense Mediation Board to intervene in any existing or threatened labor dispute on its own motion without having to wait for the secretary of labor to "certify" a dispute to it.

Second, congress should enact a law for defense industries paralleling the Railway Labor act which requires employers or representatives of workers to give "at least 30 days' written notice of an intended change in agreements affecting rates of pay, rules or working conditions," during which time collective bargaining conferences should be held or the services of the mediation board utilized. While no positive legal penalty is suggested for striking in defiance of such provision, it is pointed out that a negative legal penalty seems essential, namely, that workers striking in defiance of such provisions should lose the right under the Wagner act to still be considered employees of the company against which they struck.

Concluding its suggestion, the Times said: "While strikes should not be outlawed, neither should they be encouraged by governmental policy. State and federal labor laws should be revised where necessary to embody the principle that while men are free to quit their jobs at will, they are not free to forcibly prevent other men from taking those jobs. On the same principle employers should not be prevented from offering those jobs to men willing to take them. This means that mass picketing and violence to workers who attempt to enter a plant must not be tolerated by local authorities or by local law. It means also that federal law should not in effect condone or encourage such violence."

These are moderate suggestions that our lawmakers must heed if they honestly want to curb the strike evil and reduce the danger of irreparable loss to our country.

Behind The News

By PETER EDSON

The Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 28—The job of selling the country on the idea of this defense effort is one of the more amazing sidelights of preparedness for war. Since it's the newspaper reader who has to be sold, you may be interested in knowing a little about the inner workings of the sales technique.

It isn't organized into anything like a ministry of propaganda yet, for the main acts are run as separate, independent shows—the army, navy and the Office for Emergency Management. Also, every army camp, naval station and air base has its own publicity officer.

SELLING BY SOUND

The selling job, the idea of getting everybody all hipped up on this program, begins at the top and goes right through every defense agency. There is a constant demand for speakers. Cabinet members in cutaways, assorted admirals and generals in or out of gold braid, and dollar-a-year brass hats in business suits or dinner jackets can always expect a call to say something before national conventions, trade associations or regular sessions of the 75-cent blue plate special luncheon clubs.

Among the starred and striped officers of the armed services, these speeches take the line of telling the citizenry what a great navy and what a great army we will have. Assurances must be given that soldiers and sailors are just one big happy family and the folks back home don't need to worry about their boys.

The job of cabinetiers of late has been to preside at the launching of trial balloons, as witness the recent speeches of Secretaries Knox and Stimson. Here is where real high pressure salesmanship is required as the number of successful balloon salesmen in the country is extremely limited and the American public has considerable sales resistance to merchandise that might get it in trouble.

The real burden of gumshoe salesmanship on the defense effort has therefore fallen to the dollar-a-year men in OPM. Big business men themselves, they have had to go out and speak the language of business to convince chambers of commerce and individual manufacturers that this defense effort is no sideline or by-product, that plant expansion and full speed are necessary, and that normal business pro-

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

LABOR UNIONISTS AND EDUCATION

There is no group of people that has done as much to miseducate the American people as labor unionists. They have done this by various methods. They attempt to intimidate, stab in the back anyone who insists upon their theories being publicly discussed. They have intimidated many newspapers, the politicians and the public educators.

They have done this by threatening not to support the newspapers that pointed out the absurdities and the anarchy of attempting to establish wages by threat of strikes and sudden stoppage. They use the threat of lack of votes on the public educators and on the politicians.

Of course, this is the only way they can gain power because their contentions will not permit an impartial discussion. If they consented to discuss their claims openly and rationally before the public, they would convict themselves of being a law unto themselves, of having no order, no rules of conduct and of knowing no God, except the god of force and extortion and piracy.

They have taught the people to believe that workers can have more by collective bargaining. This, when reduced to its final analysis, means that workers can have more when things are made scarce. The labor unionists' contention is just as rational as it is for a bank robber to contend that bank robbery is good because it improves the lot of the bank robber. Of course, when a few labor unionists are permitted to establish wages on a non-competitive, intimidation, force basis, it temporarily benefits them. But what is not seen and what labor unions will not discuss is where this increase comes from. It comes from higher prices or lower profits. In addition, it greatly reduces production so that it requires more labor for each consumer to get what he needs.

The contention of labor unionists that collective bargaining and labor union tactics raise wage levels is just as rational as it would be for a bank robber to contend that bank robbing raises the standard of living of people. Labor unionists lower the standard of living of all consumers, just as a bank robber who consumes wealth by robbing lowers the standard of living of all the stockholders in the bank by taking wealth that belongs to them.

Truly labor unionists are our worst educators, from a social and economic standpoint. Their theory leads to one restriction after another, to tariff, to immigration laws, to foreign wars. This, of course, means class hatred, destruction, poverty, misery, suffering and death. All due to people being so gullible as to believe the dogmatic, arbitrary statements made by uninformed, enlightened people who believe what they wish. Labor unionists certainly violate the first Commandment—"Thou shalt love thy God with all thy heart." They establish their own rules and disregard all the laws of nature and God. Their education is nothing but propaganda of the worst kind.

The columns of this paper, of course, are open for any labor unionist who will answer questions to explain by what rule wages are to be established, if they are not to be established on a free market basis. We would all like the simple act of wage levels could be raised by the simple act of force, or by law, or by wish, but it is no more possible to raise wage levels by collective bargaining than it is to take more food out of a refrigerator than is put in. Wage levels are a result of production and production is a result of efficient tools and specialization and a free and natural division of labor.

HIGH COST OF BUILDING

I am in receipt of a letter from a trustee in a real estate undertaking out of the suburbs of Akron which says,

"We have been rather disappointed in not having made more lot sales this spring than we have been able to do so far, but the extremely high cost of building has stopped a number of people whom we had as prospects."

When labor costs go up, the price of building homes goes up. The man who lives in the homes, willy nilly, has to pay for it, whether he knows it or not. Labor unionists would leave the impression that it comes out of the air, or out of the big profits of the enterpriser.

But when the enterprisers can make a bigger return on industry that is already in operation, than he can on building new homes or new businesses, he will not go into any expansion work.

This lack of expansion reduces the tools per worker that each worker can use. This reduces his production and, sooner or later, reduces his real wages, no matter how much labor unionists contend to the contrary.

duction would have to be cut if sufficient military supplies were to be supplied in time.

All these speeches have to be carefully prepared and approved so there won't be any apologies and explanations to make later. As a result, there has grown up a sizeable force of Washington speech writers. The big shots obviously haven't time to prepare all these talks themselves so the job is turned over to experts who write rough drafts that are prayed over by economic advisers and passed on by lawyers before they get to the consumers.

TO LET YOU KNOW—

Taking care of the press, the radio and the news-reels, the special magazine writers, columnists and commentators is, however, by far the biggest part of the selling campaign. Perhaps it's incorrect to call this aspect of the work selling. Information spreading is more exact, for the public does want to know what's going on and how and why.

In Washington alone, navy's press office has more than a dozen officers and army more than a score. Army air corps has its own press section, so specialized has its work become. There is a degree of censorship in the work of the organizations, as military and naval operations secrets must be guarded, and photographs withheld that might reveal information of value to the enemy—pardon, the potential enemy.

Office for Emergency Management, including OPM and 16 different defense agencies, has its division of information with a staff of 20 ex-newspaper men turned press agents to ballyhoo the show. It's so big, so complicated and it's growing so fast, it keeps this staff going overtime.

Covering the defense activities in the whole country, with facilities shooting up here, sub-contracts all over the place and civilian cooperation being sought everywhere, has become such a job that OPM publicity men are now being placed in the 12 federal reserve districts.

ONE CRISIS OUT OF THE WAY

Around Hollywood

By LUCIE NEVILLE
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 28—"Me—and my—shadow, strollin' down the avenue—"
Against a big backdrop that was supposed to be a wall or a night club moved a shadowed magnificence—perhaps the best-known silhouette in the world—of Ted Lewis. The slightly cock-eyed battered top hat, the cane, and gestures were all there.

On the other side of the stage, close to the spotlight and the two movie cameras, the old boy was selling his song. Maybe it's corny, the sentimental way he overemphasizes everything as he talks and sings the lyrics; and maybe it's showmanship. You ought to see a list of his bookings.

As the take finished, visitors on the sidelines joined the applause of extras at the tables. It was easy to imagine the envy of some of the atmosphere players who used to be well-known in movies or the theater. Ted Lewis has spanned two or three average careers and is still as busy as any bandleader in America. And it's a cinch that he has made more money than any of 'em, and has been seen and heard by more people.

ADA KEEPS YOUTH

He came over and parked with his wife and this reporter. Lewis is nearly 50 and looks it, but you'd peg Ada at about 32. It happens that they celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary a few weeks ago and Ada was a child-bride either. She was a ballet-chorine on Broadway.

"Pictures are all right except at times like this morning when they got me up at 6:30," Lewis said. "And then we didn't make a shot until about 11. I don't know how they ever finish anything. I coulda been playing golf."

"This is my fifth movie. The last one was 'Here Comes the Band,' and I subtitled it, 'There Goes Lewis.' I hope people have forgotten that picture."

"I don't mind some ribbing, though. In fact, I'm writing a number now called, 'I'm Gettin' Away with Murder.' It'll be about how I can't sing and can't dance, and my clarinet playing's pretty corny, and I do a few 'rums,' but they've learned what kind of fertilizer to use; he has learned that you have to mix sand with this tight soil, and he has learned that odorous blooms do not have as much odor in this county as they do in other counties. The wind does not blow so much. . . . Oh, yes, about Mrs. Waechter. Well, she admits that the flowers are Mr. Waechter's, but she sure glories in them, and I imagine that she does a lot of applauding from the sidelines, maybe lending a hand in growing them now and then. Anyway it was ideal relaxation and a relief to visit their yard after a hard day of wrestling with war headlines and native state flops."

Mr. Waechter, by the way, works for Fumble. They have lived in the Panhandle nearly 15 years.

BORN A BUCKEYE

The singing bandman was born in Circleville, O., and was playing in a kid orchestra at 9. "None of his family was theatrical," said Mrs. Lewis, "unless you count a grandfather who did bird calls."

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

Have you heard the latest about the younger generation? They like to dance and they don't have any place to dance, so they drive out on the paved old Miami road where there isn't much traffic and on the road to Danciger plant, and turn on the radio and dance on the pavement. A carload of young people the other night were dancing on the Danciger road when a car came along and before the kids could scatter the oncoming car hit one of the girls and knocked her down. But save for a few bruises, she was uninjured.

You saw C. P. Buckler's lilacs when they were in bloom, and you have seen Clarence Loveless's roses, but you have another treat coming if you will go out to Fritz Waechter's at 125 S. Neilson and see his peonies, white roses and honeysuckle. Mr. Waechter has achieved the ultimate in growing peonies this spring. He has a long row of peonies now in full bloom. There are white ones, pink ones, and dahlias. They are a breath-taking sight. I didn't know that Mr. Waechter went in for peonies until the other day I saw a big bouquet of them on Mrs. Hughes' desk in the Chamber of Commerce. They are a big thing, taking without luncheon for six months, she went without everything to get a ticket for Bermuda. She got some pretty clothes too.

The boat was lovely. Just the right setting for Honey Chile's charms. She thought the men couldn't escape, but they did. They didn't see her until she had warned each other. "Avoid cruises," they said, "the boats are full of sex-starved dynamic females." Honey Chile was sick at heart and so were all the other cruises who had thought to find a place where the males couldn't get away.

Honey Chile took up culture when she got back. She went to bookshop teas and saw anemic authors being pawed over by vital women. She got to some art openings. But culture was no good for Honey Chile. There just wasn't any way for a girl to get along in the Big Town. All a girl could do was work and work. Honey Chile wasn't that dumb. She knew she could beat that on the front porch back home so she left the Big Town, the horrible, heartless place.

So They Say

It is no longer proper to spend just a little more than you earn. It is now proper to save, and with those savings you should buy Defense Bonds.

—W. ELBRIDGE BROWN, president, Pennsylvania Bankers' Association.

Investigate the libels, untruths, and general insulations which make otherwise fine American homes the breeding grounds of intolerance.

—Dr. E. R. CLINCHY, director, National Conference of Christians and Jews.

In spite of outward appearances, I have the impression that labor and industry can be led and can be loyal to the same leadership.

—ALLAN M. POPE, president, First Boston Corp.

Yes, it is a bit better (in Italy). In Germany they had illusions and lost them. Here we had no illusions.

—BENEDETTO CROCE, Italian historian, in a reported interview in Naples.

THE LOOKING GLASS

HONEY CHILE

By Stella Helt

Honey Chile came up from the South to find her man. Times were bad in the South and men scarce. But the Big Town was hard hearted. Honey Chile didn't have what it took.

When you applied for a job they thought you wanted to work. You could take dictation eight hours a day and nobody ever looked at you. Honey Chile crossed her pretty legs ever so cozily but the dictation went right on. The awful part was that you had to take dictation from women bosses too. What a waste of a girl's time, taking letters from women.

She kept moving from job to job but she wasn't getting anywhere. Honey Chile didn't like dancing. Down south you could just sit in the moonlight in an orgy dance. Not in the Big Town. The girls who went out were all good dancers. So Honey Chile paid a lot of money for dancing lessons. At the end of the course the dancing instructor was supposed to take her to the Waldorf, it was a part of the course. Honey Chile sank all she had in a beautiful dress. She thought she was really getting started. But the dancing instructor had an excuse for not taking her. She made an awful fuss but she didn't get to go.

Then she decided that she would take a cruise. Men couldn't get away from you there. Where was there for them to get but into the ocean. She went without luncheon for six months, she went without everything to get a ticket for Bermuda. She got some pretty clothes too.

The boat was lovely. Just the right setting for Honey Chile's charms. She thought the men couldn't escape, but they did. They didn't see her until she had warned each other. "Avoid cruises," they said, "the boats are full of sex-starved dynamic females." EVERY American is deeply concerned today with preserving democratic institutions. Our love of freedom is redoubled by seeing the pitiful plight of peoples who have lost it. So, because people are activated by violent feelings, one hears violent words. This one that one "ought to be hanged." That or the other "ought to be made to shut up." Various people want to hang or shut up various other people, according to their opinions.

This very violence of feeling and of speech leads us back to a central problem of democracy which Lincoln surveyed in 1864, and on which he commented in words as wise as any American ever applied to practical politics: "It has long been a grave question," he said, "whether any government, not too strong for the liberties of its people, can be strong enough to maintain its existence in great emergencies."

THOSE words were spoken by Lincoln at a time of great emergency. He had the practical problem to face, just as we have it today. Waves of conflicting emotion sweep across the country today just as in 1864. We, too, face the same grave question. We must keep our free institutions as strong as they need to be to preserve them, yet not too strong for the liberties of the people. We must keep production rolling, so as to be able to defend democracy from threats from within; yet we must keep rolling in such a way that its essential spirit is not destroyed within.

It is that spirit which will essentially preserve us in a long run, and nothing else. Those who remember the World War know that in an emergency such as we face today things cannot go on "as usual." Business cannot go on "as usual." Labor cannot go on "as usual."

THERE will be, in the urgent interest of maintaining the government's existence, some infringement on the way and even the liberties of normal peaceful life. Yes, we have turned the balances in that direction before, and yet afterward recovered our normal liberties. In times of grave emergency, we have several times learned to maintain our existence. Each time we have been able to turn the balance back, to show that that strength was not, in the long run, too strong for the liberties of the people. This we can do again, and this we will do.

The cry "Speed Up!" is being heard in almost every field of activity. Here is a field in which the cry is "Slow Down!" and the change is something of a relief.

IT'S the speed of automobiles that needs rationing. Speed has always been the No. 1 killer in auto accidents. Most accidents wouldn't have happened at all if the participants had been driving slowly. Today, when they would have been far less serious. Now there is a further reason to slow down. Tires wear out faster at high speeds. P. W. Litchfield, Goodyear Tire chairman, has stressed the fact that the country has on hand only six months supply of raw rubber. One way to conserve it is not to wear out tires so fast, and one way to do that is to drive slower.

The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

President Roosevelt has taken a seven-league stride toward solving the two most urgent needs—and they are dangerously pressing needs—of Britain and her allies in their present critical position—production and transportation of sinews of war.

This move has come with a momentum to spare if the allies are to be sustained. The European conflict has reached a crisis where the outcome is as finely balanced as an egg on the edge of a knife. A major defeat on either side might start the debacle.

We may say the vital question of transportation of essential supplies is fairly well solved, for in the face of repeated Axis threats, the President says "all additional measures necessary to deliver the goods will be taken." It must be assumed that it is within the power of the allied forces to insure delivery of the goods.

There was finally in Mr. Roosevelt's "it will be done." That means business. If the Axis attempts to carry out its declaration to drive our aid from the seas, the allied production which the chief executive does not recognize that possibility.

The outcome of the war, as the President indicated, is pivoting on domination of the oceans. He pinned the point down with the fact that the allied powers fall to gain control of the seas, they are certainly defeated.

So much for the question of transportation, without which all our efforts at production would avail nothing in the way of aid for the allies. There remains the question of production which the chief executive also has taken in hand.

From the standpoint of the allies, quickening of speed in our manufacture is of the utmost importance. Britain is not getting what she needs to meet the needs of the most powerful war machine the world has known.

Two requirements which are a matter of life or death to her are warplanes and mechanical equipment, such as tanks. Lack of those two arms has defeated her on land, and the Nazi air fleet is a grave challenge to the British navy, which thus far has retained domination of the sea, apart from the submarine campaign along the Atlantic lanes.

If the British lose the battle of Crete—and their position today is reported as serious—it will be due to their lack of air power, upon which the Nazis have depended almost exclusively. Two British cruisers and four destroyers have been sunk in this conflict—by warplanes. The fate of the battle of Crete is reported as serious—it will be due to their lack of air power, upon which the Nazis have depended almost exclusively. OILERS, AMARILLO HERE TONIGHT, TOMORROW

Pampa Splits Two Games With Clovis

The Pampa Oilers ran their current winning streak to five games and then saw it snapped by the Clovis Pioneers last night. The Oilers played an afternoon game 7 to 2 behind the eight-hit pitching of Harley LaFavers, new hurler, but lost the nightcap 8 to 1 when Walters, also a newcomer, was hard hit.

Tonight the Oilers come home for the first of a five-game series. They play the Amarillo Gold Sox tonight and tomorrow night and then entertain Clovis on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Game time tonight will be 8:30 o'clock.

Amarillo had a four game winning streak before running into Berger John McPartland who probably got the call to hurl tonight. Amarillo starter has not been named.

LaFavers limited the Pioneers to eight scattered hits and bagged two singles for himself. He is a tall right-hander whose home is Ada, Okla., but who has been coaching at Stratford, Okla. He played baseball at East Central State college at Ada and had a trial in the Arizona-Texas league last year. He didn't play enough, however, to lose his rookie status.

Prather, Frierson and Matney led the Oiler attack, each bagging a home run and single.

In the nightcap Haralson got two of the Oiler's six hits off Curd, a lefthander. Rain stopped the game in the first half of the eighth and the score reverted back to the seventh. Walters was no mystery to the Pioneers, being nicked for 12 bingles. Five errors behind him didn't help any.

The Oilers presented a patched lineup. They were without Frank Scott, ace left fielder, who pulled a leg muscle here Sunday. Leon Bills, third baseman, who is under observation following an attack of appendicitis, Ernie Myers, pitcher, who was called to Crawford, Okla., by the unexpected death of his mother, and Frank Crabb, pitcher, who is on the temporary suspended list.

Manager Clutch Prather signed Paul of Clovis to fill in at third base and sent Reynolds to the outfield. He has only four pitchers available and only one ready to take the mound within the next two days. Myers may return in time to take the mound tomorrow night. Second choice will be Monty Montgomery.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

When Elden Auker resumed his all-out submarine offensive against the Indians in Cleveland, it was the underhand hurler's ninth straight victory for the new St. Louis Browns. Seven of them registered during the closing weeks of 1940.

In the nine games, Auker has yielded eight earned runs. He has pitched the Indians out of the American League pennant last season by trimming them on five occasions. He was the only chucker to take more than three games from the Tribe.

But his 16 victories made it clear he also was effective against others. Johnny Allen urges Auker to take more time between pitches, but the Kansas says there are two sides to that.

"The way I have been going they don't know whether to swing or wait me out," he smiles.
Fred Haney is confident Allen will return to something approaching his one-time brilliant form.

The fiery Cracker's hard one is humming again.
If the Boston Red Sox or Indians have another pitcher like Elden Auker or Johnny Allen to sell, Fred Haney wishes the management would get in touch with him.

Every time Frank Frisch of Pittsburgh sees Bill Werber of the Reds he wonders why the third baseman was waived out of the American League.
There was a more recent and equally puzzling mystery when Ellsworth Dahlgren moved from the Yankees to the Boston Bees.

Where was Washington, for example, on that one?
The Senators not only need a first baseman, but Buddy Lewis is due for induction into the army and Cecil Travis has a low number.
And Babe Dahlgren plays third base nearly as well as he does first.

Paul Derringer of the Reds has the ideal pitching temperament.
Derringer has yet to be made angry by a mechanical slip behind him, but if an athlete is playing out of position after he's been warned, the chances are he will hear the big right-hander's feelings voiced.
All Paul Derringer asks is that they keep their eyes open.

Nazi Press Hides FDR Speech From People
BERLIN, May 28 (AP)—Late today the German press had not revealed to its public that President Roosevelt had made an important speech last night, but the authoritative news service, Dienst Aus Deutschland, said the address without doubt would receive "a decisive rejection" from Germany.
This news service is not issued for home consumption.

Among the many things Carl Hubbell must have learned in his dozen years of Major league pitching is that the best way to win a ball game is to do it yourself.
Even back in the days when he was pitching the New York Giants to National league pennants, "Old Squares" was the guy who seldom could get a run or two to work on. Now, in the twilight of his career, Hub is finding that the trouble persists, but he still manages to win his share.

Hubbell took personal charge last night in the Giants' first home game under the floodlights, conquering the Boston Braves, 2 to 1, although his team could get him only seven hits.
The Braves loaded the bases in the eighth on two hits and an error but a double-play saved Hubbell and he repaid that kindness in the ninth by singling home Bill Jurges with the winning run.

Another night encounter also wound up in the last half of the ninth, with the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals pulling out a 3 to 2 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Johnny Mize was called upon for pinch-hitting duty with the bases loaded and he rapped a single off Jake Mooty to decide the game.

That victory kept the Cards 2 1/2 games ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who earned an easy 6-0 decision over the Phillies in the National league's only afternoon contest.
The Philadelphia Athletics, currently the "hottest" American league team, had to share some of the day's honors in the Junior circuit with Detroit, which knocked off the league-leading Cleveland Indians, 9-6. The A's took a 5-2 trimming from the Boston Red Sox in the first game, and doubleheader but came back behind the three-hit hurling of young Phil Marchildon to win the second, 11-1.

Bruce Campbell, former Indian who had beaten his old mates Monday, did the same trick again for Detroit, allowing two home runs to drive in four tallies.
Chicago's second-place White Sox remained four games behind the Tribe when Bob Muncie's six-hit pitching and Joe Grace's hitting carried the St. Louis Browns to a 2-2 tie with the Yankees.

The New York Yankees staggered to a 10-8 decision over Washington after Red Ruffing had blown up in the sixth and lost a good part of a nine-run lead. Joe DiMaggio's homer and three singles topped the Yank's attack.

Germans Won't Get Fleet, French Vow
WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—The French government gave renewed assurances in writing today to the United States that the French fleet and colonies would not be surrendered to Germany or any other power.
A note containing specific guarantees was delivered by the French ambassador, Gaston Henry-Haye, to Summer Welles, under-secretary of state.

The note, the ambassador told reporters, was drafted by him on instructions from the Vichy government. It was intended to remove misgivings here on the scope of French-German collaboration.
The French acted apparently in conformity with a request last week by Secretary of State Hull that the Vichy government should define its position clearly in writing if it wished to convince the world the pro-Hitler elements were not in supreme control at Vichy.

Henry-Haye declined to disclose full details of the note but he told reporters:
"We hope that it will be a disappointment to those people who are trying to disturb Franco-American relations."
Richard Roe invented the modern rotary printing press.

Martin Likes His Sacramento Job

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28 (AP)—"Pepper" Martin, the old handy man and ball of fire of St. Louis Cardinal fame, likes his new job as manager of the Sacramento Senators. From the results he's obtained in two months he appears to be out for the work.
The Senators are leading the Coast league from here to there, haven't lost a series yet, and unless half the squad comes up with broken legs, seem destined to breeze in for Sacramento's first pennant.
Martin, aside from master minding the Cardinal-owned outfit, is doing a journeyman's stint in the outfield.
He's scandalized the Coast league by a generous use of powderpuff bunting tactics in a game where he-man home run larruping claims the most applause.
Rival third basemen and catchers are growing fresh crops of grey hairs daily because of this provoking Martin method of snatching tallies on the run.

Both Dallas And Fort Worth Win

(By The Associated Press)
It's difficult to make a prophecy about the erratic Dallas Rebels, but if their pitchers deliver as well as they have for the past few games they might yet be in the upper bracket of the Texas league.
Otho Nicholas turned in a neat fifth job last night at Oklahoma City to give the Rebs a 5-1 win—the second in a row—over the second-place Indians.
By the strategic placing of eight hits, the Fort Worth Cats scored two runs in the first and another in the second to take a 3-1 decision from the Tulsa Oilers.
The only other scheduled game, Shreveport at Houston, was rained out.
The Rebels collected nine hits—Heinz Becker and Bubba Floyd contributed each—and knocked Walter Brown and Pete Mallory off the mound in drubbing Oklahoma City.
Garrison and English, with two hits each, were the siege guns for Fort Worth.

Budge Knocked Out Of Pro Tournament

CHICAGO, May 28, (AP)—A persistent rival and the law of averages finally caught up with J. Donald Budge.
The California redhead has been breezing through all comers, amateur and pro, for a long time. His victims frequently included 26-year-old John Faunce, Hollywood professional.
Faunce always lost his Budge matches until yesterday.
Budge caught his rival in a red-hot streak and was knocked out of the National Professional Championship tourney in straight sets, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3.

SERIAL STORY

THREE TO MAKE READY

By W. H. Pears

YESTERDAY, Dr. Lud, Paula and Tony and the fraternity men... Kilo's voice meanwhile was weaving a husky spell over the League members...

KILO CHALLENGED

CHAPTER XIV

TONY half carried Paula across the rough field. When they reached the barn he was breathing fast but easily. Through the door they could hear Kilo Sherwood's voices...

Kilo recovered first, her green eyes flaming. "What is this? Another Greek-letter invasion?" Tony said easily, "We're here as friends, Kilo. You've got to get out of this barn fast..."

"Worse than that," Tony snapped. "About 50 fraternity fellows are on their way here. Why should that concern you?" "Dr. Lud sent us to warn you," Paula broke in. "He's up the road trying to stop them..."

"You see?" Kilo said. "We're not afraid of a fight. We have permission to use this barn. We're holding a peaceable meeting. We don't intend to let a bunch of Greek-letter hoodlums chase us away..."

"You lowered his voice: 'Could it be, Kilo, that you want this scrap?' 'What do you mean?' 'Well, it's your last chance to strike a blow for Uncle Barney. Tony said shrewdly, 'I wonder how your faithful members would feel if I told them why you've been so active in the League?'"

light of the kerosene lamps showed Tony's hard-set jaw. Kilo broke the deadlock: "Go ahead, tell them," she challenged. "See how much good it will do you!"

"Okay," Tony said, facing the group. "Your president says I can talk. Will you listen? I promise to make it snappy." This was a minor act of disagreement from the members which Tony pretended to ignore. "I want to ask how many of you remember what Cardman was like 10 years ago? Well, I'll tell you. Cardman was on the skids. The professors were second-rate. Enrollment had dropped way down. A lot of grabby politicians were in control. I know all this because my older brother was here..."

Tony paused. Watching him, Paula felt a surge of admiration for his poise. Every minute counted; yet he spoke as calmly as if he were completely unaware of the fact. "Now, look, girls and fellows," Tony went on earnestly, "I'm not going to give you any 'die-for-old-Cardman' stuff. But I doubt if there's one of you that hasn't some affection for the school. You should have. Today it's a fine school. When you graduate from Cardman you can tackle any job with confidence."

"So what?" Tony shouted, banging his fist into his palm. "I'll tell you. It was Dr. Van Horn. 'He's the guy that chased us into this barn!' 'You're dead wrong about that!' Tony retorted. 'A politician named Big Barney Sherwood chased you here. Through Kilo he's been using you people to make trouble for Van Horn. He wants to put some two-bit politician in as president so he can pull the strings. He and Kilo have been making saps of you. Ask Kilo; she won't deny it.'"

"I do deny it!" Kilo leaped to Tony's side, her slim body taut. "Tony Beale wants to get you out of here because he knows that if we run away there won't be any anti-fraternity League next year." Tony backed close to Paula. "Climb into the loft," he whispered, "and see if they're coming." Paula clambered up the ladder. The window of the loft was dust-hazed and covered with spider webs. Shuddering, she swept them away. A procession of headlights moved along the road. She rushed to Tony's side.

"They're coming, Tony!" Tony nodded grimly. "I'll take them at least 10 minutes to get organized and across the field."

KILO'S voice meanwhile was weaving a husky spell over the League members: "I can deny only part of what Tony Beale's told you. It's true about Uncle Barney. He does want to pick the next president of Cardman, and I'll tell you why."

"Attagirl, Kilo!" "He wants justice for all at Cardman. Big Barney Sherwood will put in a president who won't coddle the Greek-letter societies. And that's why I've been making saps of you, as Tony Beale puts it! I've been working for Uncle Barney because he'll make Cardman a grand college. And that's important for those of you who are coming back next year..."

Paula, hearing the ring of sincerity in Kilo's voice, thought in surprise, "Why, she really believes that!" Now the League members were standing, giving a loud cheer to their president. Kilo acknowledged the tribute with glowing eyes.

PAULA saw Tony's shoulders slump in defeat. It was useless to argue further with them and he knew it. Paula's heart seemed to drop to her shoelaces. She ran to the left and, looking out, saw the car headlights being extinguished. The fraternity boys were starting across the field. Her mind raced as Tony joined her and said, "We're in for it, Paulie. Stay up here and you won't get hurt."

But Paula was not listening. Her thoughts darted back to Chris, to what he had tried to tell her at the jail. Once again she saw the expression on his face and knew clearly what it meant. She ran down the ladder to Kilo's side. "Come back where they won't hear us. I've got something to tell you."

Paula dragged the girl into a corner of the barn. "Kilo, Chris is in trouble. He's in jail, and you're to blame!" "Jail?" Color drained from Kilo's face, leaving it haggard in the lamplight. "You're lying to me." "Ask Tony. He swore out the warrant." Kilo studied Paula's face with wide, frightened eyes. In it she read the truth. She swallowed convulsively, tried to speak and failed. Swiftly Paula played her ace. "Chris is in love with you, Kilo. Will you go out and tell the truth about the scarf? Or are you going to let Chris take the blame?"

Annex Dedicated By Canadian Baptists

Special To The NEWS CANADIAN, May 28—The new educational building annex to the First Baptist church here was dedicated last Sunday, the pastor Rev. W. A. Fife, delivering the dedicatory sermon.

This had been designated as homecoming day for all those who had been members of this church but now live elsewhere. Greetings by wire were received from former pastors, E. T. Miller now of Corsicana, E. D. Morgan now of Port Sumner, N. M., and W. C. Harrison now located at Odessa and district missionary for that section.

Former resident members of the church attending were Mrs. J. W. Sanders, Mrs. H. G. Ammons, Mrs. Wesley Murrell, and Mr. and Mrs. John Cureton, all of Amarillo, and Mrs. Carrol and daughter of Plainview.

The congregation both morning and evening enjoyed vocal numbers by Mrs. Sanders, former choir leader of the church and Canadian music teacher.

Mesdames Sanders, Cureton, Ammons, and Murrell who formed the Baptist ladies' quartette when they lived in Canadian and were prepared to sing on all occasions, with or without an accompanying instrument, indoors or out, now members of Baptist church, Amarillo, sang several numbers for the afternoon session.

The banquet room was the scene of much happy reminiscence during the noon hour when a basket lunch was served there.

The Baptist society was organized in Canadian in 1894 though it had no church building until 1910. The pastor and members are already laying plans for a golden anniversary celebration in 1944.

This church has both a piano and a Hammond pipe organ in the main auditorium, the latter installed a couple of years ago, the only pipe organ in Canadian.

Breakfast Held By Cloverleaf Patrol

Special To The NEWS CANADIAN, May 28—The Cloverleaf patrol of the Girl Scout organization here had a breakfast at the Scout hut Saturday morning. Canadian now has 40 Girl Scouts, Mrs. Ben Jordan, scout leader for troop 1 and Mrs. John Wilkinson, scout leader for troop 2.

In the scout hut, troop one meeting Monday afternoon and troop two on Tuesday afternoons.

Before a medium-size bomber is flown for the first time, it must undergo approximately 200,000 different inspections.

A means of keeping land airplanes aloft in the event of a forced water landing has been devised and proved effective. In each wing is a pop-out door inside of which are two deflated rubberized bags. Compressed carbon dioxide gas inflates the bags and keeps the airplane aloft.

Text Of FDR's Historic Speech

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's radio address Tuesday night follows:

I am speaking tonight from the White House in the presence of the governing board of the Pan-American union, the Canadian ministers and their families, the members of this board and the ambassadors and ministers of the American republics in Washington. It is appropriate that I do this. Now, as never before, the unity of the American republics is of supreme importance to each and every one of us and to the cause of freedom throughout the world. Our future independence is bound up with the future independence of all of our sister republics.

The pressing problems that confront us are military problems. We cannot afford to approach them from the point of view of wishful thinkers or sentimentalists. What we face is cold, hard fact.

The first and fundamental fact is that what started as a European war has developed, as the Nazis allow, into a world war for world domination.

Adolf Hitler never considered the domination of Europe as an end in itself. European conquest was but a step toward ultimate goals in the other continents. It is unmistakably apparent to all of us that, unless the advance of Hitlerism is forcibly checked now, the western hemisphere will be in the range of the Nazi weapons of destruction.

Our own defense steps cited

For our own defense we have accordingly undertaken certain obviously necessary measures:

First, we joined in concluding a series of agreements with the other continents. This further solidified our hemisphere against the common danger.

And then, a year ago, we launched, and are successfully carrying out, the largest armament program we have ever undertaken.

We have added substantially to our splendid navy, and we have mustered our manpower to build up a new army which is already worthy of the highest traditions of our military service.

We instituted a policy of aid for the democracies—the nations which have fought for the continuation of human liberties.

This policy had its origin in the first month of the war, when I urged upon the congress repeal of the arms embargo provisions which had been passed in that measure of September, 1939. I said, "I should like to be able to offer the hope that the shadow over the world might swiftly pass. I can not. The facts compels my stating, with candor, that darker periods may lie ahead."

In the subsequent months, the shadow deepened and lengthened. And the night spread over Poland, Denmark, Norway, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and France.

In June, 1940, Britain stood alone, faced by the same machine of terror which had overwhelmed her allies. Our government rushed arms to meet her desperate needs.

In September, 1940, an agreement was completed with Great Britain for the trade of 50 destroyers for eight important off-shore bases.

In March, 1941, the congress passed the lend-lease bill and an appropriation of $7,000,000,000 to implement it. This new realistically provided material aid "for the government of any country whose defense the president deems vital to the defense of the United States."

Our whole program of aid for the democracies has been predicated on hard-headed concern for our own security and for the kind of safe and civilized world in which we wish to live. Every dollar of material we send helps to keep the dictators away from our own hemisphere. Every day that they are held off gives us time to build more guns and tanks and planes and ships.

We have made no pretense about our own self-interest in this aid. Great Britain understands it—and so does Nazi Germany.

And now—after a year—Britain still fights gallantly, on a "flaming battle line." We have doubled and redoubled our vast production, increasing, month by month, our material supply of tools of war for ourselves and Britain and China—human soul in a world where moral standards are measured by treachery and bribery and fifth columnists? Will our children, too, wander off, goose-stepping in search of the gods?

War Coming Closer To U. S.

We do not accept, and will not permit, this Nazi "shape of things to come." It will never be forced upon us. If we act in this present crisis with the wisdom and the courage which have distinguished our country in all the crisis of the past.

The Nazis have taken military possession of the greater part of Europe. In Africa they have occupied Tripoli and Libya, and they are threatening Egypt, the Suez canal, and the near east. But their plans do not stop there, for the Indian ocean is the gateway to the east.

They also have the armed power at any moment to occupy Spain and Portugal; and that threat extends not only to French north Africa and the western end of the Mediterranean, but also to the Atlantic fortress of Dakar, and to the island outposts of the new world—the Azores and Cape Verde islands.

The Cape Verde islands are only seven hours distance from Brazil by bomber or troop-carrying planes. They dominate shipping routes to and from the South Atlantic.

The war is approaching the brink of the western hemisphere itself. It is coming very close to home. Control of occupation by Nazi forces of any of the islands of the Atlantic would jeopardize the immediate safety of portions of North and South America, and of the island possessions of the United States, and of the ultimate safety of the continental United States itself.

Hitler's plan of world domination would be near its accomplishment today, were it not for two factors: One is the epic resistance of Britain, her colonies, and the great dominions, fighting not only to maintain the existence of the island of Britain, but also to hold the near east and Africa. The other is the magnificent defense of China, which will, I have reason to believe, increase in strength. All of these, together, prevent the Axis from winning control of the seas by ships and aircraft.

The Axis powers can never achieve their objective of world domination unless they first obtain control of the seas. This is their supreme purpose today; and to achieve it, they must capture Great Britain.

Control of Seas Called Decisive

They could then have the power to dictate to the western hemisphere. No spurious argument, no appeal to sentiment, and no false pledges like those given by Hitler at Munich, can deceive the American people into believing that he and his Axis partners would not, with Britain defeated, close in relentlessly on this hemisphere.

But if the Axis powers fail to gain control of the seas, they are certainly defeated. Their dreams of world domination will then go by the board; and the criminal leaders who started this war will suffer inevitable disaster.

Both they and their people know this—and they are afraid. That is why they are risking everything they have, conducting desperate attempts to break through to the command of the seas, they are limited to a continuing land war, their cruel forces of occupation will be unable to keep their heel on the necks of the millions of innocent, oppressed peoples on the continent of Europe; and in the end, their whole structure will break into little pieces. And the wider the Nazi land effort the greater the danger.

We do not forget the silenced peoples. The masters of Germany—those, at least, who have not been assassinated or escaped to free soil—have marked these peoples and their children's children for slavery. But those people—spiritually unquarred: Austrians, Czechs, Poles, Norwegians, Dutch, Belgians, Frenchmen, Greeks, Southern Slavs—use even those Italians and Germans who themselves have been enslaved—will prove to be a powerful force in disrupting the Nazi system.

Yes, all freedom—meaning freedom to live, and not freedom to conquer and subjugate other peoples—depends on freedom of the seas. All of American history—north, central and south American history—has been inevitably tied up with those words, "Freedom of the seas."

U. S. Has Fought For Freedom

Since 1799, when our infant navy made the West Indies and the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico seas for American ships, since 1804 and 1805 when we made all peaceful commerce safe from the depredations of the barbery pirates; since the war of 1812, which was fought for the preservation of our rights; since 1867, when our sea power made it possible for the Mexicans to expel the French army of Louis Napoleon, we have striven and fought in defense of freedom of the seas for our own shipping, for the commerce of our sister republics, for the right of all nations to use the highways of world trade—and for our own safety.

During the first World War we were able to send our merchant ships by the use of small cruisers, gunboats and destroyers; and this type of convoy was effective against submarines. In this second World War, however, the problem is greater, because the attack on the freedom of the seas is now fourfold: First—the improved submarine; second—the much greater use of the heavily armed raiding cruiser; third—the bombing airplane, which is capable of destroying merchant ships seven or eight hundred miles from its base; and fourth—the destruction of merchant ships in those ports of the world which are accessible to the bombing attack.

The battle of the Atlantic now extends from the icy waters of the Arctic to the warm waters of the Antarctic. Throughout this huge area, there have been sinkings of merchant ships in alarming and increasing numbers by Nazi raiders or submarines. There has been a sinking even of ships carrying neutral flags. There have been sinkings in the south Atlantic, off west Africa and the Cape Verde islands; in the north Atlantic, off the coast of the American coast; and between Greenland and Iceland. Great numbers of these sinkings have been actually within the waters of the western hemisphere.

Sinkings Far Surpass Ship Building

The blunt truth is this—and I repeat this with the full knowledge of the British government: The present rate of Nazi sinkings of merchant ships is more than three times as high as the capacity of British shipyards to replace them. It is more than twice the combined British and American output of merchant ships today.

We can answer this peril by two simultaneous measures: first, by speeding up and increasing our great shipbuilding program; second, by helping to cut down the losses on the high seas.

Attacks on shipping off the very shores of land which we are determined to protect, present an actual military danger to the American coast. And that danger has recently been heavily underlined by the presence in western hemisphere waters of Nazi battleships of great striking power.

Most of the supplies for Britain go by a northerly route, which comes close to Greenland and the nearby island of Iceland. Germany's heaviest attack is on that route. Nazi occupation of Iceland or bases in Greenland would replace their close to our continental shores; because they are stepping stones to Labrador, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, and the northern United States, including eyes to the icy realities of international bandits, and to the need to resist it at all costs. I am sure they are embarking by the sinister support they are receiving from the enemies of democracy in our midst—the Bundists, and Fascists, Communists, and every group devoted to bigotry and racial and religious intolerance. It is no mere coincidence that all these enemies put forward by these enemies of democracy—all their attempts to confuse and divide our people and to destroy public confidence in our government—all their defeatist forebodings that Britain and democracy are already beaten—all these efforts to make us believe we can "do business" with Hitler—all of these are but echoes of the words that have been poured out from the Axis bureaus of propaganda. Those same words have been used before other, and more, scars in men, to divide them, to soften them. Invariably, those same words have formed the advance guard of physical attack.

Your government has the right to expect of all citizens that they take loyal part in the common work of our common defense—take loyal part from this moment forward.

I have recently set up machinery for civilian defense. It will rapidly organize locally by locality. It will depend on the organized effort of men and women everywhere. All will have responsibilities to fulfill. Defense today means more than merely fighting. It means morale, civilian as well as military; it means using every available resource; it means enlarging every useful part. It means the use of a greater American common sense in discarding rumor and distorted statement. It means recognizing, for what they are, racketeers and fifth columnists, who are the incendiary bombs of the moment.

On Capital and Labor

All of us know that we have made very great social progress in recent years. We propose to maintain that progress and strengthen it. When the nation is at war, it is today, the actual production and transportation of the machinery of defense must not be interrupted by disputes between capital and labor, labor and labor, or capital and labor. The future of all free enterprise—of capital and labor alike—is at stake.

This is no time for capital to make, or be allowed to retain, excessive profits. Articles of defense must be produced in the greatest quantity possible in every industrial plant in the country. A nation-wide machinery for conciliation and mediation of industrial disputes has been set up. That machinery must be used promptly—and without stoppage of work. Collective bargaining will be retained, but the American people expect that impartial recommendations of our

Price Control Hint Sought By Oil Industry

BY EDWARD CURTIS

TULSA, Okla., May 28 (AP)—The oil industry, which has been battling any move toward federal regulation looked today to Washington for some hint on whether price control will be instituted for petroleum and its products.

One conference of oil men and national defense officials already has been held and afterward it was described as exploratory. Another is reported scheduled between Leon Henderson, head of the office of price administration and civilian supply, and crude oil purchasers.

The question of price control apparently is linked with the possibility of rationing of gasoline and oil products in the eastern and northeastern part of the nation. One source asserted rationing should it become necessary, would have to be accompanied by price control.

In the middle west and crude producing areas, still higher prices for crude are predicted. The producers point out that they are facing continued higher costs of production and exploration.

The question of adequate supplies of crude oil and gasoline for the east is a complex one. There are some oil men who believe existing facilities can be pooled and used to bridge the gap left by diversion of Gulf Coast tankers to England long enough to permit new pipe lines to be laid.

Consumption figures for that section of the United States are higher, however, than expected so far this year, and as a result some executives take a gloomy view of the situation.

Projected pipe lines would remedy the situation, but pipe lines take time—and steel—to build.

Pampans To Attend Dumas Rodeo Friday

Pampans have been invited, and have accepted an invitation, to attend the Seventh presentation of the Dumas Rodeo and Old Settlers Reunion to be staged on Friday and Saturday. The Pampans will make the trip Friday in time to witness the big parade at 11 a. m.

W. E. Weathered, chairman of the chamber of commerce goodwill committee, would like those planning to attend the celebration to register at the chamber of commerce and secure hat bands and car stickers.

The Dumas celebration opens Friday morning with a huge parade featuring hundreds of mounted horsemen, stage coaches, chuck wagons, and all forms of frontier day transportation. Colorful spots include the newly formed Will Rogers Rangers of Amarillo, the 1941 preview of the famous Dalhart XII to be held this year in August, industrial sections entered by Texas Panhandle oil and gas, carbon and smelting operating companies, as well as scores of local entries.

At noon Friday, hundreds of Old Settlers of Moore and adjoining counties will spread a mammoth picnic lunch on tables on the Moore county courthouse lawn.

Presbyterian Men To Have Dinner At Church Tonight

Men's Brotherhood dinner for all men of the First Presbyterian church will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in the Fellowship hall of the church.

During the evening there will be entertainment and informal games. Men of the church and their friends are invited to attend.

Investigation Of Hospital Ordered

AUSTIN, May 28 (AP)—Continuing an investigation of state eugenomy institutions, a house committee today prepared to inquire into the recent death of an inmate of the San Antonio State hospital.

The committee last night voted to order an autopsy after Rep. M. A. Bundy of Wichita Falls, chairman, read testimony ascribed taken from the deceased inmate's wife.

Bundy was authorized also to take immediate steps towards an investigation.

He said the woman's statement declared she was prohibited from seeing her husband's body for several hours and that when she was permitted to view it she found his head bruised.

Other letters claiming mistreatment of inmates at state institutions also were read by the chairman.

13 Candidates In Race For Queen Of Sooner Float

With the election of a state queen still nine days distant, members of the Oklahoma club already have 13 candidates contesting for the right to represent the Sooner state on the club's float in the Top O' Texas Folsa Fiesta parade.

The number of candidates was increased by three late yesterday when those nominations were received: Joyce McMullen, McLean, native of Paden; Evelyn Barnes, 414 N. Hobart, Pampa; of McAlester; and Peggy Murphy, 117 N. Gillespie, Pampa, native town not given.

Further nominations are expected to be made when the Sooners meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the district court room.

There's a full schedule ahead for the folks from the 46th state. Contributions for the float expense, collection of relics and other articles for the state exhibit, possible appointment of committees, are on tap for the session tonight.

All Sooners who are keenly interested in promoting the cause of one of the candidates for queen are reminded that the rules specify all candidates must be present when the election is held June 5.

There'll be no "third-generation" Sooner chosen as queen. She must be a native of Oklahoma.

Tonight's meeting is going to be a busy one, and the Sooner president wants a big turnout so that the club can get all set for the Fiesta immediately.

Once Ice, Now Seeds Break Trees At WTSC

Special To The NEWS

CANYON, May 28—Add Panhandle weather vagaries: Campus trees at West Texas State college bowed and broke last winter under a heavy coating of ice.

This week they bowed and broke again—but for a reason strange to this section. The weight now is that of luxuriant clusters of the winged seeds of the ash tree. The limbs could not support the weight of these clusters, added to rain soaked leaves.

Not the least puzzled were Gloria Soto and Beatriz Martinez, Puerto Rican students.

"You told me this was a dry country," Gloria said accusingly. "Instead, it rains almost as much as it does in Puerto Rico."

Commercial air lines of the United States in 1940 flew 108,800,000 miles, an increase of about 2 1/2 million miles over 1939.

Anyone with an atlas and a reasonable knowledge of the world's striking force of modern war, knows that it is stupid to wait until a probable enemy has gained a foothold from which to attack. Old-fashioned common sense calls for the use of intelligence when you see such an enemy from gaining a foothold in the first place.
