Hitler Claims Three Red Armies Defeated

BERLIN, Sept. 16 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's field headquarters announced today the decisive defeat of three entire Russian armies about 150 miles south of Leningrad and the seizure of important bridge-heads on the broad reaches of a general push eastward all along the front.

In both cases effective support by the air force was credited with a large share in the successes, which were announced while other dispatches from the front pictured Leningrad's steel and concrete fortifications as crumbling and the German forces approaching ever closer to that besieged city.

The Soviet 11th, 27th and 34th armies were beaten south of Lake Ilmen, on the north-central front, a special communique said. Nine divisions were declared "completely annihilated" and nine more "crushed with the bloodiest of losses."

(Estimating a division at about 15,000 men, this might indicate the loss of about 270,000 Red army soldiers.)

(By The Associated Press)
Adolf Hitler's high command reported today the annihilation of nine Soviet divisions and the crushing of nine other divisions "with the bloodiest of losses"—a grand total of about 270,000 men—in fighting south of Lake Ilmen on the Leningrad front.

In a special bulletin, the Fuehrer's field headquarters declared that strong forces of the 11th, 27th and 34th Russian armies had been "decisively defeated" with the capture of 53,000 Red army prisoners, 320 tanks and 625 pieces of field artillery.

German losses, as usual, were not disclosed.

The Nazi bulletin said the vast slaughter occurred "during the past weeks" and indicated a smashing blow to Leningrad's defense army of 1,000,000 men.

Simultaneously, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star reported that a gigantic night battle of heavy tanks for "an important point on the approaches to Leningrad" ended in a complete rout of the Germans, who left hundreds dead on the field.

Nazi military dispatches, picturing Leningrad as doomed, said the great network of steel and concrete fortifications ringed the old city and the capital was crumbling under blows of the most destructive weapons in the German arsenal.

More than 200 Soviet bunkers and pillboxes in the Leningrad defense zone were reported smashed or captured, and German troops at some points were reported to be 15 miles from the heart of the city.

On the southern front, the Nazi high command asserted that German troops after several days' fighting had captured a series of "highly important bridge-heads" across the lower Dnieper river in the Ukraine, clearing the way for a drive into the rich industrial valley of the Don.

At sea, the Russians reported the sinking of ten Nazi ships—seven troop transports and three escorting warships—in northern waters off Norway and Finland, and declared that the Germans had been smashed in an attempt to land troops on the fortified island base of Oesel, off Estonia.

An inkling that Germany now was hurling all available manpower into the bloody 87-day-old struggle, possibly to replace staggering losses, was seen in a British report that Hitler had been compelled to withdraw "nearly 500,000 seasoned troops" from Nazi-occupied Belgium, Holland and France to meet the demands of the Russian campaign.

Meanwhile, the Italian press frankly predicted that hostilities with the United States were inevitable.

Free French Give Gorilla To FDR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt agreed today to accept as a gift a huge African gorilla, presented by Free French authorities as a symbol of the ferocity of their fight against Nazism.

"It's the largest, and we believe, the most ferocious gorilla that ever left Africa," wrote General De Lamoignon, high commissioner of French Equatorial Africa.

Oct. 12 To Be Go To Church Day In Pampa

Sunday, October 12, Columbus day, and the second Sunday in that month, will be the date of Pampa's fifth annual "Go To Church Sunday" movement.

Purpose of the movement is to encourage a better spiritual life among Pampans and to increase regular church attendance.

Clyde Carruth has been elected chairman, John Ketter, vice-chairman, and A. W. Butler, secretary of the fifth annual observance.

There were nine of the city's churches represented at the organizational meeting held Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist church, attended by 26 persons.

Fred Thompson of the First Baptist church was named as chairman for publicity among schools; Carl Benefiel, First Christian, radio, motion picture, and newspaper publicity chairman.

John Ketter, First Methodist, chairman of the civic club committee; George Friauf, Presbyterian, special stickers and handbill committee chairman; J. B. Lindsay, Assembly of God, church announcements and lay speakers committee chairman.

Churches Represented
Attending the meeting were representatives from the following churches: First Presbyterian, the Rev. Robert Boshen, George Friauf, K. W. Bunch, W. H. Geiger; First Christian, the Rev. B. A. Norris, Paul Hill, chairman of the 1940 "Go To Church" movement, Carl Benefiel, Guy McTaggart.

Calvary Baptist, the Rev. E. M. Dunsworth, A. W. Butler; Assembly of God, the Rev. B. I. Greer, J. B. Lindsay, Rod McDonald, M. H. McLean, church of the Nazarene, W. C. Allen, George Clark; McCullough Methodist, the Rev. Aubrey Ashley, A. N. Rogers.

Church of the Brethren, Cecil Hubbard, Clyde Carruth; Harrah Methodist, L. L. McGee, H. M. Hassell, First Methodist, the Rev. W. C. Allen, J. K. Coats, John Ketter, P. L. Stallings.

Mr. Carruth will be named to contact merchants who keep open on Sunday so that each employe will be allowed time to attend church.

Members of the committee, headed by Mr. Benefiel are Claudia Emger, Leroy Land, and Brownwood Emerson.

Good Reserve Seats Still Available

Several hundred good season reserve seat tickets for home football games are still available at the office of the school business manager and they need to be sold immediately.

The Harvesters will play six home games this season, one of them their traditional battle with the Amarillo Golden Sandles. If fans hope to get a good seat for that game they should get their season tickets now at $1.25 or a saving of 25 cents.

The Harvesters and Sandies will clash here on the afternoon of November 20, the President's Thanksgiving. On the next Thanksgiving, November 27, the Berger Bulldogs will be here.

First game of the season will be Friday night of this week, at 8 o'clock between the Harvesters and Burk Burnett.

Fleet Strips Guns For Nazi Raiders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Stripped for action, the United States Atlantic fleet took under the protection of its guns today all lease-lend cargoes in transit on the Atlantic between the North American continent and Iceland.

The zero-hour for this new phase of operations was 1:01 a. m., and the widely accepted view in authoritative quarters here was that it meant the start of actual convoy duty by U. S. naval vessels along a 2,000 mile stretch of the North Atlantic.

ENLISTEES HOMEWARD BOUND AFTER YEAR'S SERVICE—Enlisted men of Companies "K" and "L", 158th Inf., (Arizona) 45 Division, board a train at DeRidder, La., en route to Camp Barkley, Texas and home as 3,000 men of the division who enlisted September 17, 1940 are discharged at completion of their year's service.

Kickoff Breakfast Tomorrow To Open Salvation Army's Drive

Public-spirited Pampans, 52 energetic men representing three service clubs, the American Legion, and the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, will enlist in a crusade to combat human needs, when the Salvation Army's kickoff breakfast is held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Schneider hotel.

The breakfast signals the official start of the Army's annual financial campaign. Goal this year is $5,000, with which to carry on the Army's work in Pampa during the coming year.

Mayor Fred Thompson, who is also a member of the advisory board of the Army, today issued this proclamation, designating the period of today through Saturday as Salvation Army Drive days in Pampa.

"TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS" SHALL COME
"Whereas, in the past the Salvation Army has been of great help to the city and the citizens thereof in their social work, and
"Whereas, they have, with untiring efforts, worked among the needy and underprivileged classes of the city and community, and
"Whereas, their work has been carried on without question and without preference to race or creed, and
"Whereas, such work has been carried on with the donations and funds they receive from generous people that are able to give, and it has relieved the municipal government from the burden of this expense and work.

"Now, therefore, I, Fred Thompson, Mayor of the City of Pampa, Texas, do hereby proclaim September 16-20, inclusive, as Salvation Army Drive days, and urge that every citizen duly consider and promptly aid, assist and make whatever contributions he is able in the furtherance of this good cause.

"Fred Thompson, Mayor of the City of Pampa, Texas,"
Presiding at the breakfast will be L. H. Johnson, Mayor Thompson will make a brief talk, which will be followed by the principal address by the Rev. B. A. Norris, pastor of the First Christian church.

Cards will be issued and zones assigned to the workers following the breakfast.

A report will be made on the progress of the advance gifts part of the campaign, which opened a week ago.

Members of the advisory board, Captain Thomas J. (Jack) Smith, local head of the Salvation Army, and Major Reginald Clewett, public relations director of the Salvation Army in Texas, will meet with the workers at the breakfast.

RAF Bombers Raid Hamburg Industries
LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP)—A powerful force of RAF bombers attacked shipyards, factories and railways of Hamburg last night, authoritative sources said today.

Many large fires were reported started in the raid, which lasted several hours.

Other British forces attacked the German ports of Cuxhaven and Wilhelmshaven and the French port of Lehavre.

From all these operations, nine British bombers were listed as missing.

City Closes Intersection At Underpass

Work on the Cuyler underpass has progressed to the point where it is necessary to close the intersection of Cuyler and Atchison avenue while the grade leading to the underpass is changed and concrete paving laid to replace the brick approach.

As a result of the closing of the intersection, eastbound traffic on Atchison street leading to Cuyler will have to be re-routed but traffic west of Cuyler street will be routed through part of the driveway at the Bale and Lloyd service station. Also, a "U" turn will be allowed on Cuyler street, in front of the barricade at the underpass. City Manager Steve Matthews announced today.

Excavation of the north side of the underpass has been completed and concrete abutments have been placed. Delay in receiving special reinforcing steel for the concrete track has been holding up laying of the tracks and therefore delaying excavation work on the south side of the underpass.

Completion date cannot be ascertained until the steel arrives.

Draft Board Lists September Trainees

Allies Oust Persian Shah, Nazis' Friend

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP)—British and Russian troops tonight were reported marching on the Iranian capital of Teheran as the nation's ruler, Reza Shah Pahlavi, abdicated under the threat of such action.

The British and Russians accused the Shah and his government of dilatory tactics in carrying out an agreement to expel or deliver to the allies all German, Hungarian, Italian and Rumanian nationals.

This afternoon, it was learned authoritatively, British and Russian troops were marching on Teheran with plans for immediate occupation of the city.

A Teheran dispatch, not immediately clear here, said that Russian forces already had occupied the town of Karaj, 28 miles northwest of Teheran, but stated that a British military attaché had gone to inquire into the reason for the Russian move. This dispatch was filed before announcement of the Teheran radio of the Shah's abdication, and before it was stated authoritatively here that the British and Russians were cooperating to occupy Teheran.

The Shah's abdication was announced before an extraordinary session of the Iranian parliament, the Teheran radio stated, the official reason being ill health.

The Shah who ascended the throne in 1925, was reported to have fled the capital, but his whereabouts were not disclosed immediately. He was announced he would be succeeded by his 21-year-old son, the European-educated Crown Prince Shahpur Mohammed Reza.

Informed quarters here said they thought Teheran would be occupied by Iranian opposition. The capital was not included in the zones which previously had been agreed upon for occupation by British and Russian troops. The Russian zone was a strip running north of the capital, and the British territory was laid out in the southwest to include Iran's valuable oil fields.

It was stated by authoritative British source that occupation of the capital had been pending for several days.

Authoritative quarters for days had stressed the "impatience" of both British and Russia at what they called the Shah's "pro-Axis" leanings and efforts to delay as long as possible the fulfillment of the allied demands.

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP)—The Teheran radio today announced the abdication of Reza Shah Pahlavi, the ruler of Iran (Persia), as Britain and Russia, annoyed at Iran's slowness in fulfilling her agreement to expel German nationals, threatened to occupy the capital.

The abdication was announced before an extraordinary session of the Iranian parliament.

Bombers Would Be Flown To Russia From Great Britain

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Observers said today that one of the subjects to be discussed at the Moscow conference of Russia, Britain and the United States would be a project to fly large formations of bombers from Britain to Russia which would drop cargoes of bombs on German cities and communication routes.

Such a delivery would require a flight of a little over 1,400 miles, or only about 300 miles farther than the present round trip from London to Berlin.

Late News

FOLKESTONE, Eng., Sept. 16 (AP)—Flying thousands of feet up and barely visible between patches of clouds, an RAF armada passed over the Dover Strait just before sunset today and headed to attack the coast of German-occupied France.

PARIS, Occupied France, Sept. 16 (AP)—A German non-commissioned officer was shot at here today after a German firing squad had executed 19 French hostages for attacks on other German soldiers.

At the same time it was learned that another German non-commissioned officer was seriously wounded Monday night before execution of the hostages. The German shot at today was not hit.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—The house gave prompt approval today to the $3,533,400,000 compromise version of the new defense tax bill, clearing the way for final action tomorrow by the senate.

Names of the men selected as trainees from this county under the September 26 call were released today by the Gray County Selective Service board.

There are 10 names on the list, one over the quota as one is a transfer from Shreveport, La. He is Grainger Walter McIlhenny, 2905.

Others on the list are: V-498—John Beauford King; 878—James Gordon McConnell; 1211—Ervin Leon Henderson; 1368—Charles Lee Thomas; 1368—Thomas William McClure; 1415—Granville Wyatt Warrick; 1460—Emmett McKee. All are of Pampa.

There is one selector from Liberty, 234—Hassel Delmar Balkum.

There is one other name on the list, that of a Pampa registrant, but possibility of his falling to pass a physical examination made his inclusion uncertain. Should he fail to qualify, another name will be substituted.

The Gray county selectees are to report at 4 p. m. September 25, at 301 Court House; then leave by bus for Amarillo at 8 o'clock the following morning. At Amarillo they will board a special bus for El Paso.

In connection with the latest call, General J. Watt Page, state selective service director, has warned registrants that they should promptly notify local boards of changes of address.

General Page said he had been advised by national selective service headquarters that many cases of delinquencies investigated by the department of justice have been due to carelessness of registrants concerning their duty to report changes of address, or ignorance of the law requiring them to do so.

The selective service act provides that any registrant who violates the law shall be liable for fine and imprisonment, the director pointed out. This punishment, he said, is specified as "by imprisonment for not more than five years or a fine of not more than $10,000, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

House Also Votes Road Bond Bill

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Sept. 16 (AP)—In just one calendar week after the special session of the legislature convened, each branch today could boast passage of a road bond bill.

The catch was, that house and senate versions did not coincide. The senate was first on deck with prompt approval for types of a bill continuing state debt servicing of county and road district bonds and assigning $2,000,000 annually of surplus funds to farm-to-market road construction by the highway department for the benefit of counties. The farm-to-market fund and highway department would share anything left in the till.

This measure won scant attention in the house which approved, 112 to 10, a bill continuing bond servicing and giving the surplus half interest on the bonds to the counties. The farm-to-market fund and highway department would share anything left in the till.

The house then quickly adopted a resolution to adjourn the session sine die Friday night, in effect putting pressure on the senate to do something about the house approved bill.

Typing, Shorthand To Be Taught By Local Teacher

Office workers who are interested in skill improvement are invited to enroll in the annual part-time commercial classes which will be organized in Room 203 in the high school building Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. The classes will be taught by Miss Ruby Foster and will probably include typing, beginner's and advanced shorthand.

The work, as provided by the Smith-Hughes vocational act and sponsored by the local school system, is designed for those people who are already at least part-time employed in office work and whose skill can be improved or for whom promotion can be made possible.

Students must be over 16 years of age, have left the public schools, and must spend more than half of their working time doing office work.

The classes will be taught from four until six o'clock Monday thru Thursday afternoons. A small fee will be charged for the use of the equipment. Employers make it possible for their workers to have the time for the classes because of the increased efficiency that results.

Wage Increases Announced By Two More Companies

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 16 (AP)—Two oil companies announced today wage increases for 3,500 workers.

Mid-Continent Petroleum Corp. increased wages of 3,000 employees earning $200 monthly or less by five per cent. Barnsdall Oil Co. hiked the pay of 500 employees five per cent. Both increases are retroactive to Sept. 1.

Junior High Gym Flames Extinguished

Football Uniforms Badly Smoked By Roaring Fire

Mrs. John Yentes, 1635 South Barnes street, suffered burns that may prove fatal this morning when a flash explosion occurred and fire followed while she was washing clothes in gasoline in a wash house at that address. Mrs. Yentes suffered deep burns over most of her body, and a attending physicians reported.

Firemen called to the scene soon had the flames under control and damage to the building was slight. The alarm was the fifth answered by the fire department between 1:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 8:10 this morning, and was the 11th to date this month.

First alarm at 1:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon was to the 900 block on West Foster avenue where grass was on fire. Thirty minutes later the department went to the 900 block on South Cuyler street where a car was on fire. At 2:30 o'clock firemen extinguished a grass fire along the Santa Fe right-of-way south of the Magnolia camp.

Worst fire was discovered at 9:30 o'clock last night by Mrs. Rosamond Lovell who reported to firemen that the junior-high school gymnasium was on fire. When firemen arrived flames were shooting from three sides and were successful in confining the blaze to one corner of the building.

The fire, according to Chief Ben White, started around the vent pipe from the water heater located in a room on the second floor adjoining the dressing rooms. The fire badly damaged the room and flames broke into the office and into one corner of the main dressing room. Only one gym suit was damaged by fire but nearly all gym suits and junior high football uniforms were badly smoked and will probably have to be cleaned.

Electric wiring was damaged and part of the roof will have to be replaced. Amount of the damage has not yet been determined.

Mrs. Yentes, who was taken to the local hospital in a Nelson Funeral home ambulance, told attending physicians that she was cleaning clothes in gasoline, which exploded, throwing the burning gasoline over her. She rushed from the building and had the presence of mind to roll in the dirt to extinguish the flames. She suffered burns from the waist down and on both arms, physicians said.

Argentine Congress Votes 79 To 1 To Expel Nazi Chiefs

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 16 (AP)—A congressional demand for expulsion of ringleaders of Nazi undercover groups, a category in which an investigating committee named German Ambassador Edmund Von Thermann, presented a problem today for Acting President Ramon Castillo.

Castillo has sought "neutrality toward all" and has refused to expel the Nazi chiefs.

Foreign Minister Luis Gullman declined to say what action the republic's foreign office would take. By a vote of 79 to one, congress late yesterday adopted a three-point resolution:

1—Declaring Von Thermann had "overstepped the bounds of a diplomat and abused his privileges."
2—Calling upon the administration to remove from the country within three days the chiefs of welfare and cultural circles and labor unions which the committee investigating subversive activity called a disguise for the outlawed Nazi political party.
3—Demanding legal rights be stripped from the German Chamber of Commerce, described by the committee as another agency for Nazi political activity.

New Study Book Introduced At Methodist WSCS

Circles of Women's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist church met Monday afternoon in fellowship hall with 84 members, three guests, Mrs. E. B. Howard of Tulsa, Mrs. J. N. Lyle, Mrs. Herman Cline, and a new member, Mrs. J. G. Morrison, present.

Mrs. John Hessey, study chairman, introduced the book, "Christian Roots of Democracy in America," by Arthur E. Holt. She passed out questions on democracy to the entire group. The answers will be given next week. Mrs. Hessey reviewed the life of John Woolman, who lived more than 300 years ago and who had a vision of world brotherhood and objected to slavery, urging his Quaker friends to free their slaves.

County To Call 24 Selectees By Oct. 15

Gray county's selective service board has been called to furnish 24 men for military training on September 26 and October 9. The September call is for nine men; the October, for 15.

Over the state, local boards have been called on to furnish 4,289 men for military training between October 6 and October 21 in the state's 25th and 26th call.

The 26th call will induct 547 negroes on October 20 and 21. Gray county's board has received notice of the call, but no negro selectees are required from this county.

General J. Watt Page, state selective service director, said 3,742 white men would be inducted on the 25th call, the first contingent moving to induction stations on October 6 and continuing until October 17, except for Saturday and Sunday.

Including the two calls, Texas has been asked to furnish 40,491 trainees since the beginning of the draft induction last November.

Among boards called on to supply large numbers of trainees were:

Brazoria No. 1 with 31, Brazos No. 1 with 53, Brown No. 1 with 22, Cameron No. 3 with 22.

Fort Bend No. 1 with 22, Galveston No. 1 with 33.

Harrison No. 2 with 21, Henderson No. 1 with 24, Hidalgo No. 1 with 23, Hidalgo No. 3 with 21, Howard No. 1 with 21, Jefferson No. 2 with 25, Jefferson No. 5 with 28, Jefferson No. 6 with 22, Lubbock No. 2 with 20, McLennan No. 4 with 23, Nueces No. 2 with 32, Nueces No. 3 with 27, Nueces with 44 and 24.

Rusk No. 2 with 22, Smith No. 1 with 22, Smith No. 2 with 30, Travis No. 1 with 20, Wichita No. 1 with 26, and Wichita No. 2 with 23.

In the call for negroes, the Wharton county board No. 1 will furnish 24, McLellan county board No. 1, 18.

Steel Called On Carpet In Coal Strike

(By The Associated Press)

The heads of some of America's largest steel companies have been summoned to appear before the national defense mediation board at Washington tomorrow in connection with a labor dispute which has closed more than 30 "captive" coal mines whose product is essential to the nation's armament drive.

The "captive" mines produce coal used exclusively by the steel companies which own the mines. Some of the mills have only three to six weeks reserve stock of coal.

Upwards of 40,000 United Mine Workers (U. M. W.) have struck for a union shop. The mediation board stepped in quickly to take jurisdiction in the dispute, and asked that the strikers return to work.

The affected mines are in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Illinois and Tennessee, and are owned by the U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Wierston, Wheeling, Crucible, and Youngstown Sheet and Steel companies.

An unrelated dispute among anthracite miners stirred eastern Pennsylvania. About 16,000 hard coal miners, members of the CIO-UMW, spread a work stoppage movement in protest to an increase in union dues and assessments. Dues have been upped from $1 to $1.50 a month, assessments from $2 to $6 a year.

In Chicago, a fact-finding board named by President Roosevelt investigated the strike threat of 1,250-190 railroad workers, members of 19 brotherhoods, who seek wage increases which the carriers estimate would add $900,000,000 a year to their operating expenses.

The unions already have authorized a strike, but such a walkout legally may not be put into effect until 30 days after the fact-finding board has reported.

At Elizabeth, N. J., several hundred CIO employees of the Brasserie Corporations, Inc. airplane armament manufacturers, struck yesterday protesting against what they said were long-drawn-out wage negotiations. Company officials called it an unauthorized strike. The workers asked a minimum of 75 cents an hour, with increases of from 10 to 15 cents an hour in various classes. The present scale was not announced.

Annual production of table cutlery, scissors, razors, pocket and butcher knives, and edge tools—axes, hatchets, adzes, augers and bits, scythes, grass hooks, etc.—is valued at more than $60,000,000, according to the census.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Sept. 16, (AP)—Stocks groped their way through a fog of domestic and foreign questions in today's market and, consistently, gave a fairly good account of themselves.

Dealings frequently were sluggish but, at most active in the late afternoon session. Transfers were around $60,000,000.

Among stocks putting new tops for 1941 were Loew's, American Machine & Metal, Stone's, and Atlantic Gulf & West Indies common and preferred.

Occasional resistance was displaced by the S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Anaconda, Kennecott, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, General Electric, Armour and Wilson & Co.

On the falling side came Du Pont, Dow Chemical, American Can, Union Carbide, J. C. Penney and Montgomery Ward. Scandinavian dollar exchange exhibited strength but corporate bonds were shaky.

At Chicago wheat fell 1/4, to 1 1/2, of a bushel and corn was off 1/4, to 1 1/2, in late trade, was down 75 cents to 1 1/2.

Krueger Masses Men To Meet 700 Tanks

(By The Associated Press)

Speed and steel of the highly mechanized second army's Red attacking force thrust deep into western Louisiana today (Tuesday) but without coming to a real test against the bulk of the third army's Blue defending force.

Fighting only at Alexandria, La. on the southeastern end of the line, General Walter Krueger apparently was swinging his third of a million men into a short, compact line to meet the full force of the 700 tanks which form the core of the Red force of about 170,000 men.

The Reds took Alexandria yesterday but the Blues re-won it in a counter-attack and still were holding it today.

Meanwhile the bulk of the Red armored units was flanking the south from Shreveport, La. The mechanized advance ate up nearly 100 miles southward from Shreveport yesterday, being slowed little by air attacks which were hampered by bad weather.

Massed somewhere along the Sabine river on the Louisiana-Texas border was the Blues' hardest-hitting division, apparently hoping to turn the tank offensive into a pocket between the Blue line and the Atchafalaya swamps south and west of Alexandria.

General Lee seemed in no hurry to test his tanks' striking power in a pitched battle until he could straighten his line, bring up artillery and organize his supply system.

U. S. factories produce more than 72,000 gross of buttons annually according to the census. Pearl or shell buttons lead with more than 20,000,000 gross and synthetic-resin buttons are next with more than 15,000,000 gross. Manufacture of buttons is a $30,000,000 annual business. There are more than 300 button factories and they employ more than 12,000.

More Hostages Shot In Paris By Nazis

PARIS, Occupied France, Sept. 16, (AP)—General Heinrich von Stuepnel, commander of the German occupying forces, announced today that ten more hostages had been shot in Paris in reprisal for attacks on German army men.

The executions were in retaliation for attacks on men of the army of occupation on Sept. 6, 10 and 11, a notice informed the public.

The notice was sent to newspapers of the occupied zone and was posted on house walls.

Iranian parliament, the radio said. The reason officially given was ill health.

Rez Shah Pahlavi, who ascended the throne in 1925, will be succeeded by his 21-year-old son, the European-educated Crown Prince Shapur Mohammed Riza, it was reported.

The abdication followed a reported decision of Britain and Russia to act sternly if Russian-British requirements in Iran in behalf of their occupying troops were not fulfilled immediately. The possibility of occupying Teheran was said to be one of the steps considered.

Efforts of the Iranians to cooperate with Britain and Russia were being impeded, it was said, by German nationals and sympathizers among the Iranians.

British sources had reported popular dissatisfaction with the Shah's regime.

The Teheran radio broadcast announcing the abdication detailed some of the difficulties the British and Russians have had in their efforts to round up German agents which Iran was to turn over to the Germans in Iran.

The British said that it had become "virtually obvious" that "hidden influences were hindering our work wherever possible and helping the Germans in Iran."

A Teheran dispatch carried by Tass, the official Russian news agency, accused the Shah and the Iranian government of a "double-crossing policy" in fulfillment of the obligations undertaken in the agreement with Russia and Britain which ended their invasion of Iran a few weeks ago.

Gestapo Assigned Tasks To Nazi Spies

NEW YORK, Sept. 16, (AP)—Tasks ranging from "enlisting the services of members of the U. S. Air Corps" to reporting on new anti-bomb devices of U. S. warships were assigned to spies in this country by the German Gestapo, according to evidence introduced today at the trial of 16 men on charges of espionage conspiracy.

Government exhibits included a message transmitted from a Long Island secret radio station to the Hamburg Gestapo office on July 24, 1940. It said:

"Dunn says four battalions of Texas class and ten destroyers going Caribbean to scout for England. Six hundred reservists; 600 enlisted men. The Todd Drydock has been contracted to lay laminated anti-bomb deck on U. S. destroyers, 20 new destroyers, 20 World War 2 destroyers, explosion takes place before bomb reaches laminated."

William C. Sebald, American counter-espionage agent who was assigned by the Gestapo to build and operate the station—and who did so with the aid of the Federal Bureau of Investigation—said the message given him for transmission by Frederick Duquesne, a defendant, said Dunn was Duquesne's alias.

Five Arrested In Duncan Field Theft

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 16, (AP)—Five men have been arrested and 40 others are to be questioned by city police and military intelligence officers in connection with the taking of precision tools and other articles from Duncan Field shops, it was announced today by Detective Captain Fred Palmer.

Palmer said a list of 40 names has been prepared and that all of the men are to be questioned as officers seek to recover articles taken from the field during the last six months.

It is expected that all of the stolen articles will be recovered during the next two weeks, Palmer said. City officers are being aided in the investigation by Lieut. A. B. Silvernail, intelligence officer at the field, and military policemen.

It was made clear that officers do not suspect a theft ring is operating in the field and they said the tools apparently had been taken for personal usage.

Oble D. Kilman, aged 17, of Sweetwater, Tex., was arraigned before U. S. commissioner P. A. Lockhart yesterday on a charge of stealing government property valued at $300.

able as a result of Secretary Knox's statement yesterday that the U. S. Atlantic fleet, leased for action, would protect all lease-lend cargoes en route to Iceland.

A heavy slump on the Italian stock market was reported.

"The United States has really arrived at what is called the last step," said the Fascist newspaper Il Piccolo. "What, margin now remains for averting the drama? None."

Under Secretary Knox's orders, the Atlantic fleet of some 125 warships, headed by the battleships Texas, New York and Arkansas, began the new phase of operations at 12:01 a. m. Amplifying President Roosevelt's shot-on-sight command, Secretary Knox ordered the fleet to sweep the 2,000-mile stretch of North Atlantic waters to Iceland and "capture or destroy by every means at their disposal Axis-controlled submarines or surface raiders encountered."

Authoritative quarters in Washington expressed the view that it meant the start of actual convoy duty by U. S. naval vessels.

City Represented At FBI Conference

Pampa is well represented by city and county officers and officials and others at the conference with Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in Amarillo today where the district attorney is "internal national defense."

The meeting is a part of the F. B. I. law enforcement officers' plan for national defense.

Among those who left to attend the session this morning were Police Chief J. B. Wilkinson, who attended the FBI training school in Washington during the summer, and Officers George Iman, W. C. Dillman, Ray Dudley and Lawrence Fishery. Mrs. Marion Parks, bookkeeper and day desk sergeant, City Recorder C. E. McGrew, Deputy Sheriffs Glen Carruth, Dan Cambren and Otto Mims, Liquor Control Agent H. B. Stanley, County Attorney Joe Gordon, State Highway Patrolmen J. C. Reese and Charles Ballard, Fred Shryock and Guy Anderson.

Mobeetie Pioneer Dies In Washington

Death took another early day resident of Old Mobeetie from the roll of Plains pioneers, in Centralia, Wash., where William Wiley Dickerson, 94, died Friday, according to information received by Frank Cooper, a nephew, who resides at 2106 Fillmore, Amarillo.

Mr. Dickerson had been suffering from a fractured skull received in a fall six months ago.

He moved to Mobeetie in the late 1880's and engaged in the cattle business. Later he established the Dickerson Merchandising company, which he continued until his retirement about 1922, when he moved with his family to Centralia.

He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. John Proffitt, of Winnsboro, Wash., and Mrs. R. L. Greene, of Vancouver, Wash., all of whom were at his bedside when death came, his brother, John Dickerson, of St. Louis, Mo., and a sister, Mrs. Jody Thomson, of near Jennings, N. C.

Stamps On The Shelves

All through this week, Pampa stores and a million stores throughout the country, cooperating in "Retailers for Defense" week, are offering the public a product they never handled before.

They are Defense Savings Stamps, and it is hoped that thousands of Americans who seldom go into banks will see these bargains on the shelves and buy them, thus forming a habit that will benefit them, their country, and their liberties all at once.

If you know a better bargain than that, go to it, but it looks like an awfully good one to us. Remember, "To Keep 'em Flying, Keep on Buying" U. S. Defense Savings Stamps. A million retailers are making it easier for you.

Actual Bomb Damage

To read the stories of the great bombing raids on London, to see the pictures of the roaring fires and crumbling walls gives an impression that most of the city must be leveled. Yet we know that this is not the case.

How much actual damage is being done by these ferocious bombings? The Economist, British financial journal, estimates that damage to British property from German bombing in the first two years of the war comes to $480,000,000. They reach the estimate from the actual figures of an insurance company which found losses to its London holdings had reached 3 1/2 per cent.

If this estimate is anywhere near correct (and of course no one can know) the surprising thing about it is that it is not greater. The really great losses of this or any other war are not those which can be measured in dollars.

The Nation's Press

INSTALLMENT BUYING (Hammond, Ind., Times)

The federal reserve bank has placed a list of restrictions on installment buying, such as larger down payments and shorter time in which to pay.

In the final analysis the entire prosperity of the Calumet region is built on the installment plan of buying. About 90 per cent of the automobiles are sold on deferred payments, which is the way they have been made available to the masses.

If the automobile had been restricted only to those who could pay cash for them this region could never have developed as it has in the past quarter of a century.

Steel refrigerators, washing machines, radios, and other appliances sold on small down payments, is made in the mills of Indiana Harbor, Gary, and South Chicago.

Even our utilities, including the big State Line Generating company's plant on the Hammond-Lake front, are dependent for their growth and continued prosperity upon the installment plan of buying. If all the electricity you used in your home went into lights the utility facilities would be a fraction of what they are today.

The consumption has been more than doubled by the universal ownership of radios, ice boxes, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, mangles, irons, toasters, grills, and fans—electrically operated and sold on the installment plan of buying.

It is vitally important to all of us in the Calumet region that the matter of restricted installment buying is carefully handled by the government in order not to dislocate industry and business.

Take for example the plight of 300 automobile salesmen in Lake county whose jobs are threatened first by the proposed 50 per cent reduction in manufacturing of cars and second by the curb on installment buying.

What few cars the dealer will get he can sell without any help if the threat is carried out.

These 300 salesmen will be out of work. Very few have mechanical skill to make them useful in defense industry. The rest can go hang for all the OPM cares.

LEND-LEASE ACCOUNTS

Senator Tobey of New Hampshire has written the President, asking for an accounting of the expenditures for drink and entertainment which British officials in Washington are reported to have charged to the lend-lease account.

Mr. Roosevelt has said there is little or nothing in this and the many similar stories which are current in the capital. On the other hand, the reports came to The Tribune from sources which are regarded as reliable. The President's denial is certainly not to be ignored; but neither is the fact that the books and papers are in his possession. As long as he refuses to submit them to impartial audit in the public interest, his denial lacks that finality which only the actual accounts can provide.

Mr. Tobey's letter gives the President an opportunity to score heavily if the facts are on his side. He should be grateful to Mr. Tobey for the occasion thus presented. As Mr. Tobey said, the American people are willing to pay for legitimate defense expenditures but will not approve waste and extravagance in the use of the money wrong from them.

When the individual or corporate income tax payer claims deductions for business expenses, the treasury asserts the right to check the figures. Men of the highest probity and honor are required, as a matter of course, to justify their deductions by reference to the books and papers. The government has employed the same principle as against the citizen in proceedings before the Securities and Exchange commission and a score of other such agencies. A claim or denial unsupported by the account books carries little weight in any circumstance, and no weight at all if made by the man who has the books and won't open them to inspection.

TAFT ON TUGWELL

(New York Sun)

The Congressional Record for Aug. 22 publishes the text of a speech made by Senator Taft in opposition to the nomination of Tugwell.

Common Ground

This column contends there can be no satisfactory progress until we measure the shares of each man by the common yardstick of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

GERMANY'S RIGHT TO SINK SHIPS It is hard to conceive how people can get excited about Germany sinking American ships that are transporting goods to be used in war against it. The United States has committed many acts that would warrant Germany to declare war against us.

The United States collected damage from England for even permitting a ship to be built in England and sold to the confederacy. If to build a warship for an enemy is a violation of neutral nations, certainly to build ships, give them away and haul munitions is an act of war.

Unless the United States wants to have millions of people killed and the workers of our country impoverished, in order to attempt to control the quarrels in Europe, we had better cease transporting contraband to the enemies of Germany.

We originally intended to adopt the cash and carry policy. We have abandoned both the cash policy and the carry policy, which we had no right to do as a neutral nation.

THE IMPOSSIBILITY OF REGULATING THE VALUE OF MONEY

Most everyone likes to advocate some theory that he contends would greatly improve the lot of the workers. If a man is obsessed with the idea that if his plan were adopted, all mankind would be greatly benefitted, he gets much joy out of this obsession. He then blames their plight on those who do not agree with his scheme.

Probably there is no group of people who is more confused and more convinced that they have a short cut to prosperity, than the people who are constantly repeating that Congress must regulate the value of money. They parrot-like repeat the paragraph of the Constitution in Section 8, Article 1, under the heading "Powers of Congress" which says, "To coin money, regulate the value thereof and of foreign coin and fix the standard weights and measure." They believe that this clause means that Congress should attempt to regulate the value of money.

But when these people are asked how Congress can do this, about all they have to suggest is that it could expand and contract credit. They do not seem to know that this is only fooling and temporarily delaying the exchange value of money. The value of anything is what it will voluntarily exchange for. Money must be something of value in order to continue to be a medium of exchange. And value represents labor saved. If it takes so many hours of a given amount of skill to find and mine the gold in a dollar, there is no act of Congress that can change the amount of labor required to do this.

It can fool the people for a while and make them think that orders for gold, or dollars, or credit, is just as good as an actual dollar but sooner or later people wake up, as they did in 1929, and demand the real thing of value—the gold. Then the crash comes. And the real value, as determined by the wishes of all the people, comes into play unless the government, by force and by law, prevents this unit of money, or this thing of value, from being permitted to circulate. The only way the government can regulate the value of money is by coercion, restricting people from exchanging it.

But the framers of the Constitution never intended, as these theorists think, to attempt to regulate the value of money. They had a lot of experience with the value of continental money. They knew the value of money could not be regulated.

What this clause in the Constitution means is that Congress should guarantee its purity and its weight, just as it establishes units of weight and measure. The framers of the Constitution were wise men—men of experience, and they had no thought that Congress should attempt to determine how much a given unit of money should exchange for. They believed that all the people's ideas on exchange value in a free country was the only way that real values could be determined.

No, the problem of restoring prosperity is not the simple matter of having the government attempt to regulate the value. The fact of the matter is that the government's attempt to do this has disheartened and fooled the people and caused untold misery and poverty.

Tugwell as governor of Puerto Rico. It is interesting as a study in invective by a man who is usually calm in statement, not given to harsh pronouncements on his fellow men.

Senator Taft said he had three primary reasons for opposing confirmation: (1) Because Mr. Tugwell has shown himself, by actual experience in every governmental job he has held, to be an incompetent administrator; (2) Because Mr. Tugwell has shown that he has no sympathy whatever with the ideals of American democracy; (3) Because Mr. Tugwell, instead of holding himself above political parties in Puerto Rico, favors one party there above all others. Since the professor, with other members of the brain trust, came into politics in 1933, the senator continued, he has moved from one job to another, "and I challenge any one to point to any successful accomplishment" in any one job.

As assistant secretary of agriculture and later as undersecretary, Mr. Tugwell, according to Senator Taft, injured both himself and the New Deal. In his effort to obtain enactment of a pure food and drug law he "quarreled with every one with whom he should have cooperated." He was assigned to develop codes for the food industries, but "so much rancor and confusion developed that the subject was transferred from him." He antagonized the advertising industry by suggesting that 30 per cent of all advertising was waste and that proper control and reduction of advertising would throw out of work more than 400,000 advertising men and printers to engage in more useful work. He antagonized sugar beet growers, told business men they did not know how to run their business and farmers that they did not know how to run their farms.

Observing that before the congressional campaign of 1934 Mr. Tugwell was sent abroad, the senator reported a "general conclusion" that he was put out of the way for the period of election because he had antagonized so many persons. Adverting to an appropriation in public works under Mr. Tugwell's administration, the senator said that, as far as results are concerned, "that $278,000,000 might just as well have been thrown into the sewer." Even "inside New Dealers," the senator continued, will admit that the Tugwell-town projects were "probably the greatest flops of all the spending years." He questioned the wisdom of putting such a "free spender" in charge in Puerto Rico, "which is the poorest of all our possessions and the one in which economy is necessary." There was more to the same general effect.

The nomination was confirmed without a vote of record, reporters said the tally was 11 to 9.

CARRYING THE BALL

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16—Behind the screen: A few months ago this department told how most of the studios were building dummy airplanes for aviation pictures and facetiously prophesied that Hollywood might find itself conscripted for actual defense production. It's no gag now. The idea is being discussed in Washington.

All the studios have excellent machine shops and highly skilled mechanics. Without neglecting studio jobs, the lathes, drill presses and other tools could be kept busy several hours daily making small, precise parts. Movie craftsmen have boasted they can make anything from a wristwatch to a locomotive. If for anything, they would likely turn them to optical and fire-control instruments.

Impudent tag for the romantic team of Cary Grant and Barbara Hutton: Cash and Cary... Producer Y. P. Harburg complains: "Now that I've got enough money to go around the world, there's no world to go around."

Indications are that Hollywood will face its greatest labor troubles within a few months. This time it'll be a battle for control between A. F. of L. and C. I. O., with the studios caught in the middle. Just now the lots are so busy that two out-of-town premieres have been held without a star or even a minor player in attendance.

If you've been wondering what happened to Carole Lombard, idle for a year, here's the dope: She hasn't liked any of the scripts offered her, so she has bought an original story, hired a writer to adapt it and plans to offer it with her services. . . . Lot of night work at Warners. Currently shooting are "All Through the Night," "Blues in the Night" and "Bridges Built at Night." Phil Silvers wants 'em to make a musical called "They Jive by Night."

International notes: As a companion piece for "A Yank in the R. A. F.," Darryl Zanuck is rushing arrangements for "A Tommy in the U. S. A." Letter is about the training which Mr. Carman's school and Carman really got the job done in the dramatics department. Mr. Carman asked the dean of Northwestern to recommend a man for the job here and Mr. Ratcliffe was the man he recommended. So that's something too. Not many people knew that Mr. Carman was interested in school administration until he was elected principal, but the truth is that he studied the subject extensively at Northwestern where last summer he got his master's degree, and he knows what it's all about so we predict success for him at Sam Houston. . . . But look Mr. Carman, don't forget all about plays and if anybody asks you to help out in some home talent production or if you can show the ropes to Mr. Ratcliffe—well, there's no use burying your talent.

When Director Raoul Walsh was made a member of the Sioux tribe the other evening he began his acceptance speech by saying: "Now that I'm an Indian, I hope the palefaces won't take my land away from me."

Only a few months ago the movie companies were yelping that the drafts were way down because of the credit. Now it develops that the industry will net about $4,000,000 from pictures shown in training camp theaters during the 1941-42 season.

England has more than a thousand millionaires, if a person with an income of more than $150,000 annually is called one.

According to estimates, it costs about $100 annually to feed an elephant.

Jerry Stroup and Glenn Dyson are back in Pampa for a week, and they are drumming up business for Uncle Sam's navy. Any boy who wants to join should get in touch with those two because for every new sailor they get, their leave will be extended a day. Yesterday, they got an extra day when Jerry led Lewis Simms to the recruiting office, Chief Torpedoman C. M. Norman, who was host to Glenn and Jerry and their mothers at lunch yesterday. The boys have finished their initial training at San Diego and Jerry elected to study aviation mechanics at San Francisco and Glenn chose radio work and will be stationed at Los Angeles. Both of the boys like the navy fine and wouldn't trade it for anything. They looked pretty scrumptious too in their navy dress blues. . . . The boys will go to school the next four months and then if they make satisfactory progress they will go to sea. . . . Phil Silvers wants more about their trade. Finally, they will be stationed on ships of the line.

Note to Indiana club of the Panhandle, Jim Connor in particular: You have a potential member in Robert S. Ratcliffe, new speech and dramatics teacher in the new high school. He's a native of Indiana, I'm told, and probably would be an easy mark for a Texanized Hoosier, so grab him off quick. Mr. Ratcliffe succeeded Kenneth Carman, principal of Sam Houston school, and the high school's loss is Sam Houston's gain. . . . Mr. Carman was, and still is, president of the Illinois native state club, although he was teaching in Canyon school had to be out of town during the Folks Fiesta last June, but he hopes to be able to take a more active part in next year's Fiesta, and if Mr. Ratcliffe wants to get in good with the Jaycees and the Indians he should line up with those two groups first thing. We haven't met up with Mr. Ratcliffe yet, but we hope that he gets along okay. One thing in his favor is that he studied at Northwestern university which is Mr. Carman's school, and Carman really got the job done in the dramatics department.

Mr. Carman asked the dean of Northwestern to recommend a man for the job here and Mr. Ratcliffe was the man he recommended. So that's something too. Not many people knew that Mr. Carman was interested in school administration until he was elected principal, but the truth is that he studied the subject extensively at Northwestern where last summer he got his master's degree, and he knows what it's all about so we predict success for him at Sam Houston. . . . "GEORGE WASHINGTON'S WORLD," by Genevieve Foster (Scribner's, $2.75). Some time past an Evanston, Ill., artist discovered through her two children that it was very difficult for them to recreate mentally the whole world scene as any given period. George Washington's career extended itself through time in an almost sinuous fashion, but the three dimensional world through which the career extended might as well not have existed. So Genevieve Foster decided to recreate this three dimensional world around one great hero, and a book for young readers called "George Washington's World" is the result. It is a useful and a handsome book.

We learn that when the Father of his country was a lad, Daniel Boone was learning to hunt, and Vitus Bering was exploring for Russia up around the tip of Alaska. Benjamin Franklin was the best known American, George II was King of England, George III was being a good boy, Bach still was composing, and James Watt was working in his father's shop.

When Washington was a young soldier Voltaire still was writing, and Ch'ien Lung, Emperor of China, was forbidding barbarian traders, by which he meant European traders, from doing business in his country. A man named James Hargreaves was working out the spinning jenny to replace the wheel that now lives mostly in antique shops, William Pitt was defeating France in war, and Pompeii had been discovered and partly uncovered in Italy, with a modicum of bushes at what some of the walls revealed.

But in the six years before Washington became President, Marie Antoinette was playing peasant, James Madison was writing most of the constitution, Frederick II was dying in Prussia, a balloon ascended (in 1783, to be exact), Rousseau's cult of the simple was the rage, and John and Abigail Adams went to England to represent the United States.

From which Mrs. Foster's method is clear. Drawings often have seemed to impede, rather than assist, the narrative in books for young people. In this case the illustrations are a definite help, and quite often they are essential. This is a perfect example of the highest type of "juvenile."

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—It was Elmer Glyn who first made famous the "three weeks" idea, but when the record of the U. S. defense effort is finally put on paper, the first three weeks of September, 1941, might be known as Donald M. Nelson's. The Nelson three weeks may lack some of the sex appeal of the Glyn three weeks, but they will exceed in dramatic intensity and fireworks. What is happening briefly is this:

The entire priorities section in Office of Production Management setup is being given a thorough working over. Nelson, knowing the weaknesses and faults of the old OPM, now under his new authority as executive director of Supply Priorities and Allocations Board, and also as director of the division of priorities in OPM, has simply gone to work to overhaul the whole shebang. . . . The first week was cleanup week, when on a dramatic Saturday afternoon everything was taken from the tops of some 800 desks in the priorities section, analyzed by thorough, tough material experts from Sears-Robuck, and handed back to the astonished defense executives with curt orders to get all the mail answered within 48 hours and to keep handling all priorities applications within 48 hours from time of receipt or clearance.

UNWINDS RED TAPE The second week in organization week Nelson, coming over his staff with a pair of jackstraw hooks, and any personnel that can be spared without disturbing the organization will be put to more useful effort or dismissed. Consequently, heads are rolling in OPM these days, and by some counts a hundred or more of the red tape underlings had wound themselves around the priorities bottleneck may soon be buying one-way tickets for home. . . . The third week is to be requirements week. No one has ever sat down and figured out the over-all bill of goods, shooting from a half ammunition, for the defense effort. Instead, one set of requirements has been piled pell-mell on top of the last one until now the order sheet is a completely baffled up set of unspecific specifications. Nelson's idea is merely to get Army, Navy, leases, lend-lease, sphere defense, home defense, and civilian requirements tabulated and added up. When that is done, SPAB, OPM, and the country-at-large will know just how much steel, aluminum, rubber, and other raw materials will be needed.

Don Nelson's own dual personality, first as director of priorities under OPM, and then as executive director of SPAB over OPM, may be a little confusing, but when you put this into a parallel of corporation organization for perspective, it becomes a little clearer. As director of priorities, Nelson is a kind of sphere defense, home defense, and civilian requirements tabulated and added up. When that is done, SPAB, OPM, and the country-at-large will know just how much steel, aluminum, rubber, and other raw materials will be needed.

BARUCH BLAST BACKFIRES Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the old war industries board in the last war and still one of the President's closest advisers on defense matters, was all set to condemn this latest defense reorganization. As a matter of fact, Baruch did issue one blast against it, talking to reporters on the White House steps after the way he has his subcommittee. That was before Nelson had talked to Baruch. Afterward, Baruch changed his tune somewhat, for Nelson apparently said him.

What Baruch has always insisted on is that there be one man at the top in charge of all defense activities, and with authority to make decisions. It was Baruch's original idea that the new SPAB organization did not meet his requirements. Nelson pointed out to him, however, that even in the last war, Baruch had over him a war industries board to which he was responsible. . . . It is Nelson's contention that SPAB is parallel. Nelson will take questions to his board, consisting of Vice-President Wallace, Hopkins, Henderson, Knox, Stimson, Knudsen, and Hillman. The board will make the policy and Nelson will carry it out. If he keeps carrying it out the way he has his subcommittee three weeks reorganization, the defense effort is far from hopeless. In fact, it will begin to get places fast.

So They Say

I told the generalissimo my firm belief on this question: that no one should make a profit out of war. —DANIEL G. ARNSTEIN of N. Y., rejecting a lucrative offer to run trucking for China on the Burma Road. . . . We can never accept the overlordship of supermen or the supremacy of any group or race or class of men. —JAMES MARSHALL, president N. X. Board of Education.

19 Gorillas Report For Grid Practice

Coach Jack Davis, new Gorilla coach, issued a call for Gorilla prospects to report yesterday afternoon but only 19 boys called for uniforms. All couldn't be fitted because there weren't enough small uniforms available at the new high school gymnasium.

After Coach Davis had looked the boys over, he decided to borrow some of the Peeewe uniforms for his Gorillas—that's how small some of them are.

The Gorilla call is still out and Coach Davis expects to have several more boys in uniform this afternoon. He'll probably get two or three boys down from the Harvesters to help out.

Most of the Gorillas were with the junior high Reapers last season. They are boys who didn't think they were big enough to jump to the Harvesters in a single season. At least five of the Gorillas have had no previous football experience.

Uncle Sam Takes Valued End At Rice

There's a good deal of head-cracking and hand-wringing going on in Southwest conference football camps these days. The head-cracking comes during the course of bruising scrimmages; the hand-wringing comes when Uncle Sam taps a valued player for military honors or an injury knocks out a man depended upon to uphold the illustrious traditions of alma mater on the gridiron.

Coach Jess Neely of Rice, who has uttered a few tentative chirps of approval at the showing of his green squad, suffered a blow yesterday when Wendell Garrett, a letterman end, was notified to report for selective service at Corpus Christi Sept. 25.

At Austin Coach Dana Biele sweated a little over the necessity of filling the left guard position on the Texas eleven because of the loss of V. D. Bascy. In an effort to plug the gap, he has shifted several players about. Zueli Conoly, 215-pound junior quarterback, will play guard and tackle; Spot Collins, blocking back, will be moved to guard.

Disappointed with the showing made by Southern Methodist in Saturday afternoon scrimmage, Coach Matty Bell dropped the rough work yesterday and divided his squad up so that members could receive detailed instruction on how to remedy errors.

Coach Homer Norton sent his Aggie A and B squads against the frog at College Station. At Fort Worth Coaches Dutch Meyer and Mike Brumbeul drilled the Texas Christian eleven on timing and details in dummy scrimmages.

The Baylor Bears went through a stiff dummy scrimmage and showed flashes of offensive ability. The Arkansas Razorbacks, plagued with injuries so far, continued to have a run of hard luck yesterday when Tackle Jay Lawhon developed a broken toe and Guard Cotton Clark reported with a sprained ankle as a result of Saturday's intra-squad contest.

Four farms were counted in the 1941 farm census and when the schedules are tabulated they will furnish a record of the number of such farms in each state together with the number of silver fox and mink pelts marketed.

Team Deep In Cellar When Seitz Took Over June 1

From deep in the cellar to the championship of the West Texas-New Mexico league in three months under Pampa's Grover Seitz is the story book accomplishment of the Clovis Pioneers who last night defeated the Big Spring Bombers 5 to 2 to take the seventh and final game of the Shaughnessy playoff.

Grover Seitz, former manager and co-owner of the Pampa Oilers, retired from baseball last spring but on June 1 the Clovis Pioneers begged him to return to active duty as their manager. With only nine wins against 33 losses, the Pioneers at that time were seven games in the cellar.

It was a Sunday afternoon and the Pampa Oilers had taken two games from Howard Taylor and his Pioneers here. Seitz took command that sunny afternoon and sent the veteran Jim Rollins to the mound to oppose John McParland, Pampa's ace lefthander. The game was a sensational one, neither team being able to score. The club won 68 and lost 25 games under Seitz.

Seitz put a new light into those Pioneers. They weren't the same team that had been whipped three and three times by the Oilers. They had caught the fighting spirit of their new leader. Well, the game rocked along until the 13th inning when the Oilers scored one run to win the game one to nothing.

Everyone thought Clovis was shot because their pitching staff was dead weary, but last night Mel Kramer, a Lubbock castoff, came through with a five-hitter and was never in trouble excepting in the fourth inning. While Kramer was master on the mound, Paul Schoendienst and Smitty Schmidt were kings at the plate, Schmidt bagging a home run in the National League.

A syndicate to which I am associated is anxious to give Philadelphia a winning baseball team in the National League. We expect to make an offer within the next few days and hope we can acquire the controlling block of stock.

Kelly, champion Olympic sculler back in the early 1920's and former Democratic chairman of Philadelphia, said Big Jim Peterson, who pitched for the Athletics 10 years ago, probably would handle negotiations with Gerry Nugent, president of the tail-end Phils.

However, Peterson, now in the advertising business, and Nugent both professed ignorance. Nugent and Mrs. Nugent, vice president of the club, own a majority of the club's 5,000 shares. The Phils have finished last year for four straight years. To offset dwindling attendance Nugent sold star players, the most recent one being Pitcher Kirby Higbe, peddled to Brooklyn last winter for $100,000 and three players.

"We're just the same as we were before we met in Mexico—very good friends." So spoke Barbara Hutton, the five and dime heiress, as she arrived by plane from the Mexican capital last night. Cary Grant acquired her about the city for several days on a vacation trip. He is returning by automobile.

Team Deep In Cellar When Seitz Took Over June 1

From deep in the cellar to the championship of the West Texas-New Mexico league in three months under Pampa's Grover Seitz is the story book accomplishment of the Clovis Pioneers who last night defeated the Big Spring Bombers 5 to 2 to take the seventh and final game of the Shaughnessy playoff.

Grover Seitz, former manager and co-owner of the Pampa Oilers, retired from baseball last spring but on June 1 the Clovis Pioneers begged him to return to active duty as their manager. With only nine wins against 33 losses, the Pioneers at that time were seven games in the cellar.

It was a Sunday afternoon and the Pampa Oilers had taken two games from Howard Taylor and his Pioneers here. Seitz took command that sunny afternoon and sent the veteran Jim Rollins to the mound to oppose John McParland, Pampa's ace lefthander. The game was a sensational one, neither team being able to score. The club won 68 and lost 25 games under Seitz.

Seitz put a new light into those Pioneers. They weren't the same team that had been whipped three and three times by the Oilers. They had caught the fighting spirit of their new leader. Well, the game rocked along until the 13th inning when the Oilers scored one run to win the game one to nothing.

Everyone thought Clovis was shot because their pitching staff was dead weary, but last night Mel Kramer, a Lubbock castoff, came through with a five-hitter and was never in trouble excepting in the fourth inning. While Kramer was master on the mound, Paul Schoendienst and Smitty Schmidt were kings at the plate, Schmidt bagging a home run in the National League.

A syndicate to which I am associated is anxious to give Philadelphia a winning baseball team in the National League. We expect to make an offer within the next few days and hope we can acquire the controlling block of stock.

Kelly, champion Olympic sculler back in the early 1920's and former Democratic chairman of Philadelphia, said Big Jim Peterson, who pitched for the Athletics 10 years ago, probably would handle negotiations with Gerry Nugent, president of the tail-end Phils.

However, Peterson, now in the advertising business, and Nugent both professed ignorance. Nugent and Mrs. Nugent, vice president of the club, own a majority of the club's 5,000 shares. The Phils have finished last year for four straight years. To offset dwindling attendance Nugent sold star players, the most recent one being Pitcher Kirby Higbe, peddled to Brooklyn last winter for $100,000 and three players.

"We're just the same as we were before we met in Mexico—very good friends." So spoke Barbara Hutton, the five and dime heiress, as she arrived by plane from the Mexican capital last night. Cary Grant acquired her about the city for several days on a vacation trip. He is returning by automobile.

Kelton 6-Man Team To Play Groom Friday

Special To The News: GROOM, Sept. 15.—The "little boys" of Panhandle football, six-man teams, will begin their season in earnest this week. The larger schools of the area, with their eleven-man teams, make a greater showing, draw larger attendances and have more material; but their interest and enthusiasm in the game in no way overshadows their small neighbors. Since its advent into the Panhandle two years ago, the six-man game has grown in popularity with the schools. This year District 1 will have three sections fighting for district championship.

To date, only the southeast section has opened the season. There, Kelton has defeated both Dodson and Alnareed. They are after the Kelton and district titles heretofore held by Groom. Kelton plays Groom at Groom Thursday night at 8 o'clock. With their experience, the Kelton boys bid well to take over the sectional title this year.

Groom will be playing without its entire first team of last year, and the first two substitutes. Alnareed meets Dodson Friday afternoon in the same section. In the north half of the district, where Booker looks like a sure winner, Darrouzet opens the season at Gruver. No games have been played in the southwest section of the district. The teams of this section will not start their schedules until September 26. On this day Adrian plays at Bovina and Happy goes to Vega.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—(The Sports Service)—Tip-off on the pennant race is that when the Dodgers started accepting world series reservations yesterday, the Cardinals were turning them down in spite of a rush that developed after Sunday's double-header victory.

Like the Cards are the sprinters and the Bums the ones to go the long route (before Narragansett). The fans are beginning to get a little sour on the daily battles with the umpires, though. . . . which reminds us of the recent comment from Thomas Jefferson Hickey, ex-president of the American Association. Hickey said he couldn't pull for the Dodgers because he couldn't forget the head-aches Larry MacPhail gave him in Columbus. . . . After watching 50 games in 12 days during his National semi-pro baseball congress tournament, Ray Dumont went to Chicago for a vacation and, of course saw a ball game.

Today's Guest Star James E. Doyle, Cleveland Plain Dealer; Bookie Henry Edwards, should manage to stick with the Indians as long as the other Henry Edwards did, he'd probably be busted in the baseball hall of fame.

The other Henry Edwards, of course, is the pressman American league of rector, who was with the Tribe for almost 30 years—as the plain dealer's baseball writer.

Service Dept. Private Andy Neidig, intercollegiate two-mile record holder, who was inducted recently at Camp Upton, N. Y., runs two or three miles around camp after supper every night and hopes to continue in competition this winter. . . . Any figure the army could work up quite a track meet among such fellows as John Woodruff, Frank Slater, Chuck Fenske, Johnny Quigley, Tommy Carlson and Eugene Bulger. . . . Harry "Moose" McCormick, the old-time Giant outfielder, now athletic director of the First Airforce, is paying more attention to mass athletics than baseball these days but come spring he is likely to come up with a smart ball team or two. . . . Lynn C. Doyle of the Philadelphia Bulletin suggests that half-price football seats for service men aren't a great help, because $21 less deductions would just about pay for two seats, a cab and a bite to eat for the girl friend. . . . The boys up at Pine Camp, N. Y., had some expert refereeing for their boxing show the other night. . . . Lou Ambers handled the job. . . . This dept. could use a few more contributions from the camp, especially those away from our home district.

Odds, and Some Ends The Westminster college Parsons in Utah will have Paul Deacon for their coach this year. . . . Figure this one out: Al Blozis, the big Georgetown tackle, reduced from 250 to 230 pounds while he was working in a brewing company's laboratory this summer, and George Perlich, the other tackle, gained weight laboring in a Michigan iron mine. . . . The winner of the Dapper Dan club's contest to decide which fight should have the top spot on last night's card at Pittsburgh was Mrs. Betty Runyan, who never had seen a pro fight.

Oilers Down Rebels 5-4 In Ten Innings

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 16 (AP)—With the Texas league playoff series all even, the Dallas Rebels will send Otto Nicholas to the mound on their home grounds tonight in an effort to recapture that spark that sent them into the playoffs against the Tulsa Oilers.

The Oilers downed the Rebels, 5 to 4, in a 10-inning encounter, enlivened by ball battering ninth inning in which the Oilers scored three runs to tie up the game.

Terrell Making Hit At Oklahoma A. & M.

Five fullbacks are fighting for the call to succeed Diamond Faubion in the Oklahoma A. & M. backfield and one of them is Ed Terrell, former Pampa Harvester plunger, according to word from Stillwater.

The story regarding the A. & M. Colts reveals that several West Texas boys will be in the lineup. "Fans over the state may be surprised at those West Texas boys in the lineup. More and more Texans are attending A. & M.—not all for football playing, either. It's closer home than the major Texas colleges, if you'll look on the map. Touted to have lots of what's needed is Pampa's Ed Terrell," the story continued.

The five rival fullbacks in order listed are Terrell of Pampa, Zez-anus of Huronville, Jordan of St. Louis, Malone of Liberal and Ward of Marshall.

The proportion of farms in the United States operated by tenants declined from 42.4 per cent in 1930 to 38.7 per cent in 1940, according to the census.

Hitler Should Read What Decatur's Squadron Did To The Dey of Algiers!

(Last of two articles tracing the colorful development of America's freedom of the seas tradition, basis for President Roosevelt's dramatic declaration that the U. S. will keep open her "defensive waters.") bearing a friendly letter which gave the Dey the impression he had support and approval from the British to go as far as he liked in picking on the Americans.

liver broadsides, but Capt. John Downes, little 18-gun Epervier, so skillfully he delivered nine broadsides, killed the admiral and forced the Algerian to surrender.

In 1832 came the longest Algerian expedition against pirates--clear to Sumatra, an island now part of the Dutch East Indies, just below Singapore. Commander of this expedition was the same John Downes who had outmaneuvered the Algerian pirate admiral in 1813.

By PETER EDSON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
There is precedent galore for President Roosevelt's declaration of policy aimed at pirate nations. It makes one of the lesser known but more thrilling episodes in U. S. history.

There had been a brief U. S. war with Tripoli in 1795, which had put an end to the paying of tribute to that country for the protection of American clippers in Mediterranean trade, but because the young republic was in constant danger of war with Tripoli, the Algerian galleys could be kept in European waters, and tribute was continued to the Dey of Algiers in the form of annual payments in naval stores and cash.

Decatur then proceeded to Tunis and Tripoli, having learned meanwhile that these pirate states had permitted British men-of-war to recapture American prizes in their waters. From Tunis, Decatur extracted $46,000 which was the estimated value of the prizes taken there, and from Tripoli the ransom was $25,000, with the added condition that 10 Christian slaves should be liberated.

In the long record of American peacetime expeditions sent to all corners of the world, this theme of protecting the commerce of the United States against piracy is mentioned oftener than any other. In all, there have been nearly 30 expeditions of American soldiers and sailors to China, and the United States had sent only one expedition to Japan. But there were five expeditions in all after Commodore Perry obtained the commercial treaty in 1853. First was in 1863, even while the American War between the States was raging, to attack upon an American vessel. And the next year, "to open the straits of the Shimoda," a precedent by the way for keeping open today's routes of commerce to Vladivostok. In 1867, an expedition to Formosa to punish natives who had murdered the crew of an American bark, and the next year, "to protect American interests during local disorders." The quotes are all from the government publication, "The Rights to Protect Citizens in Foreign Countries by Land and Sea," compiled in 1924.

These two expeditions against pirate nations broke a stranglehold which the barbary states had held over the commerce of all Europe and Asia for 20 centuries. But for the United States, these were but the first of some 85 expeditions which have been dispatched at times of peace to foreign lands for the protection of American lives or American property. Not all but many of these expeditions were against a kind of piracy, international outlawry, or the inability of so-called sovereign states to keep their national control and prevent their citizens from preying on American commerce.

Twice have these expeditions gone to Egypt and once to Smyrna, just as American supplies now go to the Near East. Eleven times have they gone to islands in the Pacific, just as supplies now go to Soviet Russia. All these incidents are exclusive of actually declared wars such as the War of 1812 against British privateering and seizure, the Mexican war, and the Spanish-American war. All these incidents have perhaps been warlike in their characteristics--certainly the American forces were armed and they were not above shooting--but they were primarily policing jobs, protection against outlawry on the high seas or in foreign lands. And they are mentioned here to show precedent for the suppression of any interference with U. S. commerce, including what may be called the new international high piracy of one nation against another.

SERIAL STORY

BRIDE FROM THE SKY

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Associate magazine editor Judy Allen decides she loves a scoundrel, Sandy Amersman, when his plane is downed on a trip to the west coast...

THERE was a pause, so brief it almost might not have been, so definite that it formed a word that spread across the silver wires that carry voices.

Twenty had taken her to a party at a private club on Long Island. Everyone was dancing to the melody of a swing trumpet...

MEMORIES WON'T WAIT

CHAPTER VIII

IT was just a moment until Judy was connected with Philip Rogers' office.

"Judy!" She knew that he was alone from the freedom of his voice. Otherwise, it would have been controlled, courteous.

"No, every man to his own love! Anyway it's silly, Sandy is as free as one of his clouds, it's about the magazine I called."

"You mean it's objecting? Then you have a lot to learn! Buy yourself some outrageous clothes and hats, and center interest on your legs. Camera men like them."

"Of course. Actresses, youth leaders, women corset buyers—that's why the newsreels perch all of them on a ship's rail. But what has all of this to do with me?"

"Only this. A few pictures of you taken right now and appearing immediately might rate pretty high at the moment. Under Twenty would give you a raise."

Judy looked at the streaming windowpanes as she answered. "And think of the rush I'd get in Hollywood. When a girl has a broken heart—I mean when word gets around that she's bought a bottle of iodine for a cardiac scratch—it gives her a certain something. Anyway I don't like dressing up unless I'm going to have fun."

"Her voice, low, sweetly bitter, cynical, never faltered. 'Anyway, why shouldn't this Peg Gordana be in his life? You probably know her, too.'"

"We were on two or three house parties together last year. I met at the club at Lake Placid in the winter. Another time on a weekend cruise. I don't like glittering blonds."

"Yes, I know her. Tall, dark—"

"Never mind the rest. You know the lady," the cynical voice went on. "Maybe she consulted you before she did her dirty work!"

"Her dirty work? What dirty work?" Now his voice was alive and electric, too.

Judy's tones were fluid, sardonic, trying to be amused. "Sara has signed her by-line to a story of mine in this month's book. It's my story, word for word—an interview with a fashion designer—but Sara signed it. Why didn't she do something of her own?"

"Change the by-line and forget it." The dark young lady is, well, lowering in fear, I imagine. I'll speak to her. Don't forget we have a date at 5, Judy."

"I'll be ready and I'll out-glamourize Hollywood, if that's what you want. She hung up, changed the news proofs, changed the by-line on her own story, put the papers in the wooden basket on the desk of the editor's secretary, and went out to get a milk shake at a corner drug store.

People were supposed to eat to keep up their strength, she reminded herself as she discovered a dark, corner booth.

Why did people need strength, though, when nothing was left for which to fight? Of course Sandy was a goop, a brat, a wanderer—no, he wasn't; he was a restless Viking with keen gray eyes, a slow drawl and the power to go anywhere with a plane.

The big room that had been converted into a dining place became steamy from the witness that blew in with office girls who came for sandwiches and milk shakes. The lights dimmed in the electric candles on the tables; the storm became wilder.

One thought rode through Judy's mind, over and over, like an electric belt that went round and round a building. Sandy had known Peg. . . . Sandy had known Peg. . . .

Sipping a milk shake through two straws she lost the present in a memory that hadn't seemed especially important until lately.

It had been a warm, sweet night in June. Phil, who had been more than attentive ever since she had slipped behind the fat-topped desk in the office at Under and child in America should see this subject during these times of national defense," Saffie's letter said. "In fact they are so interested in the playing of the subject that we have been asked to wire immediately the names of those exhibitors who eliminate it. All rentals on the picture are turned over to the government."

Connally Always

Pulling 'With Me'

For Texas, Says Leo

DALLAS, Sept. 16 (AP)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel returned to Texas today with words of praise for the President's foreign policy and for his senior colleague, Tom Connally.

The junior senator expressed the belief that President Roosevelt fulfilled his constitutional duty to defend the nation when he warned Axis ships to stay out of American defense waters. He added he still was supporting President Roosevelt's foreign policy "100 per cent" so long as it is kept within constitutional limits.

"Senator Connally did some fine work in opposition to the community property tax bill," O'Daniel said. "He has been a big help and is always pulling with me for Texas."

O'Daniel said he was paired with Senator Burton K. Wheeler so that his vote would be contrary to any the isolationist leaders cast on any matter that comes up during his absence.

He was greeted by his daughter, Mrs. Jack Wratner, the former Molly O'Daniel, who motored from Tyler, and by his son, Mike, a student at the University of Texas. Mrs. O'Daniel remained in Washington.

O'Daniel will go to Fort Worth tomorrow to remain at Texas hotels until noon when he will journey to Camp Wolters to visit his son, Pat, in training there.

'Propaganda' Picture

Refused In Idaho

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Chairman Clark (D-Idaho) put into the record of a senate investigating committee today a letter from a motion picture company branch manager asserting that the federal government had requested the showing of a film which an Idaho exhibitor rejected as containing "propaganda."

Clark explained that he had received the copy of a letter written by Maurice Saffie, branch manager of Loew's Inc., at Seattle, protesting against the decision of Fulton Cook, St. Mary's, Idaho theater owner, not to exhibit film titled "The Land of Liberty."

The correspondence was submitted before Jimmy Fidler, Hollywood columnist and radio commentator, took the stand to explain a reference he had made to propaganda pictures. Fidler said he had advised the industry not to produce them. The committee is investigating charges that the film industry is disseminating propaganda designed to involve the United States in the war.

Saffie wrote Cook that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, controlled by Loew's was "distributing the picture at its expense and putting it in place of one of our own features, on which we might show a profit."

Tanks Rumble Forward In Maneuvers

WITH THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA, Sept. 16. (AP)—The third army concentrated its hardest hitting division close to the Sabine river on the Texas-Louisiana border today in an effort to squeeze the second army's armored force into a wedge, enabling tank-destroyer groups and dive bombers to smash it.

Apparently the first great test of the 500,000 soldier field problem was in the making with the third army trying at the same time to prevent an unprecedented mechanized attack from breaking through.

Driving almost 100 miles across the Red river and southward from Shreveport in 24 hours, the 700-tank power divisions sent a multi-pronged feeler attack down between the Kistachie National forest and the Sabine river.

Unless halted, the columns of light and medium tanks, supported by armored cars and mechanized artillery-infantry units, have good roads leading directly to vital communication lines of the third army.

Dive bombers and anti-tank battalions, with the division on the western end of the 150-mile front across Louisiana from Alexandria, failed to slow the armored attack yesterday. However, aerial activity was hampered by rain and poor visibility.

Today the 400-plane force of the third air task force, supporting the army of Lieut.-General Walter Krueger, was on the alert for a full strength attack.

Newly-trained but untried anti-tank groups, three motorized artillery units of 2,000 men each, were in position to rush in and shoot it out with the tank forces.

Directly in front of the armored thrusts was the second division, supple and hard-hitting; the 36th division from Texas virtually fighting on its home grounds, and the 45th division (Okla., Ariz., N. M., Colo.) all high in the army's ratings of fighting fitness.

Cairo Suffers First Raid With 39 Dead

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 16. (AP)—Cairo suffered its first air raid of the war today, when Axis planes bombed the city heavily, killing 39 civilians and wounding 93.

This apparently opened the way for British bombing of Rome, for the British last spring warned that bombing of either Cairo or Athens would bring reprisals against Rome.

Cairo is a holy city to the Moslems world, much as Rome is to Catholics.

Although Alexandria, site of a British naval base, has been bombed frequently, Cairo had escaped heretofore, and Athens proper was not bombed throughout the Balkan campaign.

Halifax Favors U. S. Outpost In Iceland After War

LONDON, Sept. 16. (AP)—The broadening of American frontiers beyond the coastal limits of the United States, such as establishment of the defensive outpost in Iceland, will be welcomed by Great Britain even after the war, Lord Halifax, British ambassador to Washington, declared today.

The envoy described the establishment of such outposts as "a reproduction and expansion of the American pioneer spirit."

"The problems of the United States and Britain's defenses have come to be considered as one problem," he told a press conference, adding that it was a problem which would not cease with the end of hostilities.

Crude Production In U. S. Increases

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 16. (AP)—Daily crude oil production in the United States increased 232,745 barrels to 4,027,650 for the week ended Sept. 13, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Texas production was up 213,650 to 1,466,600; East Texas, 71,200 to 298,500; California, 18,425 to 653,150; Kansas, 14,650 to 244,050; Michigan, 2,000 to 51,860; Louisiana, 1,895 to 335,745; Rocky mount area, 1,260 to 105,200, and eastern fields, 100 to 111,500.

Oklahoma production declined 10,875 to 417,300, and Illinois, 9,540 to 391,910.

Wheeler Should Be Allowed To Speak In Texas, Says Leo

DALLAS, Sept. 16. (AP)—In the opinion of Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana should be permitted to speak in Dallas "even though I don't approve of Wheeler's attitude."

O'Daniel, in Texas for a brief vacation from Washington, declared "we ought to have freedom of speech."

O'Daniel's schedule calls for a visit to Austin Saturday until 11 a. m., when he takes a train for Washington.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

This being the day the United States navy starts operating under orders "to capture or destroy" every Axis raider that so much as casts an eye on lease-lend cargoes en route between America and Iceland, an editor suggests that I put myself in Herr Hitler's place and figure out how he will meet this difficult situation.

Always glad of new ideas, still we must be excused from taking the place of any individual who is to all intents at war with our country. We don't care much either to be in the uncomfortable position of tangling with the U. S. navy, for which he has a very wholesome respect—and venture to suggest that the fuhrer has too.

However, there's no harm in guessing what the Nazi chief has in mind. It would seem more profitable though to take a look at his entire war problem, since his action in the Atlantic must be governed to considerable degree by what happens in Russia.

Much will depend, as was pointed out in yesterday's column, on the German position in Russia a couple of weeks from now—or whenever the pre-winter weather begins to lay a heavy hand on military operations. In trying to assay the general war outlook we must keep in mind these vital points:

Herr Hitler likely will have to hold a line through the winter between the Baltic and the Black seas, but if he can bring home his present great offensives, and get himself into a favorable strategic position, he will be able to maintain his defenses much more easily and therefore will be able to release forces for operations elsewhere.

On the other hand, if the Bolsheviks can stand the Nazis off even hold them where they are now—then Hitler will be compelled to keep a great army in the Russian field, and so will have to curtail operations elsewhere.

In order to get himself properly set, or so it seems to me, the Nazi leader must capture Leningrad (and what a job that is proving to be); he must maintain at least his present position in the center of the line opposite Moscow; he must capture Kiev and roll the Red forces in the Ukraine clear back to the Don river, thereby putting himself in position to make a drive down through the Caucasus to Persia.

I was chatting yesterday with General H. S. Sewell, the British military expert; and he feels that Hitler's most likely move, if he gets a favorable break in the present operations, will be to the east. The general points out that if the Germans are able to gain control of the Black Sea, and if they can manage Turkey so as to have no active opposition from her, their way will be open to the Caucasus and the rich oil fields of the Caspian. Once in the Caucasus, the Nazis would threaten the whole British structure in the Middle East.

If a drive down through the Caucasus isn't feasible, indications are that Hitler will put the screws on Turkey and try to get passage of his army across that country in order to get at the lower Caucasus and Persia. There is widespread belief in the Balkans that should the Turks refuse, Hitler might attack them, probably utilizing Rumanian and Bulgarian troops in the assault.

Should Hitler concentrate on the Middle East, his operations elsewhere probably would be restricted—barring the Atlantic over which is pressing a constantly increasing stream of aid for the Allies. Some way he must halt the traffic, else it will overwhelm him.

Now while he ultimately may feel compelled to go all-out in raiding the American-Icelandic route, thereby precipitating open fighting with our warships, he has given plenty of indications that he would vastly prefer to avoid a clash which would bring us into the war and unleash our navy on him.

One would expect him first to try a fresh drive against British shipping as it is coming to England from Iceland. He undoubtedly is holding a large fleet of submarines in reserve, and when the Russian fighting eases off with the coming of winter, he will be able to release bombers to renew their assault on merchant ships and harbors.

Dried Humon Arm And Hand Carried By Brady Youth

(By The Associated Press)

BROWNWOOD, Sept. 16. (AP)—A dried human arm and hand which a Brady youth was carrying in his automobile today sent officers scurrying on the trail of a series of murder rumors.

A soldier hitch-hiking from Fort Worth spotted the specimen in the back of the car and gave Camp Bowie officers the license number.

State Patrolman H. C. Smith said the youth was trailed to Brady where he explained a doctor near Marshall gave him the arm which came from a medical school about 1892.

Hill Claims 'Joker' In Road Bond Bill

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 16. (AP)—Senator Joe Hill of Henderson declared today the highway bond financing bill passed by the senate last week contained a joker which would prevent allocation of $2,000,000 from the gasoline tax for a farm-to-market road program.

Taking issue with Hill, Senator Alvan Shivers of Port Arthur said the bill had been approved by the attorney general's department and was "oked."

In a speech, Hill asserted the bill "does not appropriate a thin dime for lateral roads."

Language of the measure, he declared, appropriated one-fourth of the four-cent gasoline tax to service certain county road bonds on which the state long has been paying principal and interest, and turned the remainder of the tax revenue order over to the highway department.

"It looks to me like a joker which would defeat the intentions of the senate in passing the bill," Hill said later.

The senate adjourned until tomorrow after a 30-minute session.
