

Roosevelt Bares Hitler Plot For Partitioning Latin America

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt damned the torpedoes and called for full speed ahead today in the nation's efforts to hasten "the destruction of Hitlerism."

In a Navy Day address that went to the four corners of the earth by radio, the chief executive declared last night that "the shooting has started." America has been attacked.

Then he used his keynote the fighting words which Admiral Farragut gave to history in the battle of Mobile Bay.

He pledged that military supplies of all kinds would reach Hitler's foes, despite all Nazi seaward threats, and he added with firm assurance:

"In the light of a good many years of personal experience, I say that it can never be doubted that the goods will be delivered by this nation, whose navy believes in the tradition of 'Damn the torpedoes; full speed ahead!'"

He told the world that "the forward march of Hitlerism can be stopped—and it will be stopped."

"Very simply and bluntly," he said, "we are pledged to pull our own oar in the destruction of Hitlerism."

He called attention to his order commanding the navy to "shoot on sight" whenever Axis raiders are encountered.

"Those orders stand," he said sternly.

The speech was Mr. Roosevelt's first public pronouncement on international affairs in six weeks, and he used it to cover an important series of topics.

He charged that the Hitler regime had already mapped and planned the future partitioning of Latin America into five vassal states. Documentary proof of this, he said, is now in the hands of the United States government.

He charged, too, that the Nazis had completed a secret program—to be put into effect when the time comes—for exterminating all existing religions and replacing them with a new order credo which would have Mein Kampf for its Bible, the swastika and naked sword for its symbols.

He gave his promise that once the "curse of Hitlerism" had been ended, the United States shall help to establish a new peace which will give the decent people everywhere a better chance to live and prosper in security and in freedom and in faith."

And amid two great outbursts of applause and cheers from his immediate audience—he struck out against the "selfish obstruction" of defense production by labor disputes.

The first occasion was an inescapable reference to the captive coal mine strike which Mr. Roosevelt has since asked CIO's John L. Lewis to call off.

"Our nation will and must speak from every assembly line," Mr. Roosevelt began, and then departed from his prepared text to interpo-late:

"Yes, from every coal mine—from the all-inclusive whole of our vast industrial machine x x x Our output must be multiplied."

He continued:

"It cannot be hampered by the selfish obstruction of a small but dangerous minority of industrial managers who hold out for extra profits, or for business as usual."

"It cannot be hampered by the selfish obstruction of a small but dangerous minority of labor leaders who are a menace . . ."

Applause and cheers hailed him momentarily here, but presently he was able to continue:

" . . . For labor as a whole knows that small minority is a menace to the true cause of labor itself, as well as to the nation as a whole."

The setting of the President's address was the annual dinner of the Navy League in the glittering ballroom of the Mayfair hotel. There were uniforms and gold braid in profusion. Ensigns, admirals, army and marine corps officers rubbed elbows, and shared tables with congressmen, members of the judiciary and representatives of foreign countries. The fare was foreign fare—navy bean soup, fat back and cabbage, and navy frisket, Mulligan style.

At the very outset Mr. Roosevelt indicted Hitler for attacking shipping in "areas close to the Americas in the North and South Atlantic."

He cited the loss of American merchantmen and the two torpedo attacks on U. S. destroyers—the unsuccessful one on the Greer, and the German troops were reported fighting today within 10 to 15 miles of Rostov, gateway of the Caucasus oil fields, the great "turning point" in the battle of southern Russia which may bring Great Britain's million-man armies of the middle east into action.

London sources have predicted freely that if the Germans capture Rostov, the green light would be flashed to Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's imperial forces to march through Iran (Persia) and establish a new British fighting front in the Caucasus.

Authoritative quarters in London said the German armies on the central front were still 38 to 40 miles from Moscow at the nearest point, but they acknowledged that in the south the Nazis were closing in around Rostov and imminently threatening to overrun the entire Donets river industrial basin.

Military advisers reaching London said the Germans already had succeeded in knocking most of the Basin's war foundries out of action, with several key points actually in Nazi hands and others isolated by crippled communication lines.

The Moscow radio, however, insisted that the big industrial city was still in Soviet possession. Official German reports said the city fell last Thursday.

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters, picturing the Russians as on the run, reported that German troops yesterday penetrated the town of Kramatorskaya, 100 miles southeast of Kharkov, in the sweep through the Donets basin.

"Thus the Soviet Union lost one of its biggest tank factories," the Nazi communique said.

"Other important industrial towns were taken by Hungarian units. Pursuit of the retreating enemy is being continued."

German front-line dispatches said bad weather was proving a powerful ally of the Russians, but asserted the Red armies already were defeated from a military point of view and that a break in the weather would bring the destruction of remaining Soviet forces and "thus conclude the war in the east according to German plans."

A Red army bulletin reported that fierce all-night fighting raged in the sectors of Mozhaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow, and Maloyaroslavets, 65 miles southwest of the U.S.S.R. capital, while on the Ukraine front, the heaviest action centered around Kharkov and Taganrog.

Military dispatches from Kulshev, auxiliary Soviet capital, said

John Lewis Faced With Virtual Ultimatum

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—President Roosevelt confronted John L. Lewis with a virtual ultimatum today for a speedy end of the captive coal mine strike.

Underscoring his third appeal to the CIO mine chief to call off the strike, Mr. Roosevelt declared in his Navy day speech last night that "our nation will and must speak from every assembly line—yes, from every coal mine—in our vast industrial machine."

A few hours earlier, the President had told Lewis:

"There is every reason for the continuance of negotiations. There is no reason for stoppage of work."

"It is, therefore, essential that the mining of coal should go on without interruption."

Mr. Roosevelt gave no hint of the action he would take if Lewis failed to heed his latest manifesto. Everything, however, pointed to an imminent showdown which might affect not only the captive mine strike but the whole future question of labor disputes in defense industries.

In congress many tempers were growing short. In the restive atmosphere, talk already was heard of quick legislative action to remedy the situation unless the work stoppage was ended hastily. It was reported that the general subject was touched on briefly during the President's conference with congressional leaders yesterday.

The United States Steel corporation, owner of a number of the mines tied up by the walkout of 53,000 CIO members, announced an immediate curtailment of operations at most of its steel mills, which depend for their coal on the captive collieries.

For the second day, miners at the Rosedale mine of the Bethlehem corporation in Johnstown, Pa., defied the strike order and went to work. More than 100 pickets patrolled the approaches to the pit in Johnstown's 14th ward but made no attempt to restrain the workers, variously estimated to number 100 to 250 of a day crew of 475.

Union men opposed to the strike call had predicted a back to work movement would start at the company's Franklin mine near Johnstown, but the move failed to materialize. There were reports of a break in the strike front elsewhere.

A number of labor leaders privately voiced uneasiness over the situation growing out of the United Mine Workers' demand for a union shop. They feared that if the public's temper became further frayed, there might be legislation—or possibly an executive order—prohibiting compulsory membership in a labor union as a condition of employment on work connected in any way with the defense program, or otherwise sharply circumscribing union activity.

The UMW's demand for a union shop was the sole issue in the strike which took practical effect yesterday morning in steel company-operated coal mines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Alabama. With the union shop in

Citrus Fruit Praised At Dental Meet

HOUSTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Citrus fruit is a stout aid in the vitamin attack on dental disease, Dr. Dorthes F. Radusch of Minneapolis reported today to the American Dental association.

Dr. Radusch said the general opinion of scientists was that three or four ounces of orange juice, taken daily, would fortify the blood so as to ward off scurvy and help greatly to maintain the health of the mouth's mucous membranes.

She said man must replenish his supply of vitamin C daily or weakening of small blood vessels, stiff and sore joints, swollen gums and the slow healing of wounds would result.

"A diet completely lacking in vitamin C will produce extensive inflammation of the gums," she reported. "Low vitamin C intake has been associated with gastro-intestinal disturbances."

Citrus fruit and tomatoes are the best food stand-bys for vitamin C, Dr. Radusch said, although others with goodly supplies are fresh cabbage, peppers, rutabaga, cauliflower and Brussels sprouts.

Potatoes, she reported, lose about half their vitamin content if stored through the winter. In cooking, vegetables should be brought to a boil quickly, she said, to prevent large-scale solution of vitamins.

FARMINGTON, Me., Oct. 28 (AP)—A diary kept by blonde Florence Buzell, 20, whom Fred Wheeler, 50, wealthy cattleman and father of four children, is charged with slaying, aided and abetted in their investigation of her fatal shooting, Attorney General Frank I. Cowan said today.

The pretty secretarial school student had filled several volumes in recent years with descriptions of "her progress in education and her experiences," the attorney stated, adding that the account was complete up to the time of her mysterious death five months ago. He said it contained the names of "numerous men."

"The state," he declared, "still is following certain information that was contained in the diaries but at the present time the contents are being kept confidential."

State Police Chief Henry Weaver said that Wheeler had financed the girl's schooling at Gates Business college in Augusta, and that he apparently was jealous because another man was "wooing and winning the girl away from him."

Weaver made the statement as he ordered a three-state search that culminated a few hours later last night with the cattleman's arrest in Boston's north station on a murder warrant.

The girl's body was found in a garden in Chesterville last June 7, a revolver at its side. A medical

Thomas Presiding At Farm Meeting

With C. L. Thomas of Pampa, state AAA committeeman presiding, a two-day national farm defense meeting, with 13 agencies represented will be held Thursday and Friday at the Herring hotel in Amarillo.

Purpose of the meeting is to encourage farmers to produce more food, stressing the self-sufficiency of farm families and also to create the foods that are most needed in America's national defense program and by Great Britain, B. F. Vance, College Station, chairman of the Texas U. S. D. A. board reports.

Texas farmers have been asked to increase milk from 4,480,000,000 pounds this year to 4,650,000,000 for 1942. The state goal for eggs is 203,775,000 dozen, compared with 185,250,000 dozen this year. An increase in farm gardens from 299,647 to 352,800 is also being asked.

Panhandle and Gray county quotas will be announced at this week's meeting and individual quotas will be worked out before the

Milk Bottles Net $80 For Children

Pampa Business and Professional Women's club has just recently turned approximately $80 over to funds for the aid of underprivileged children in Pampa's schools.

The club, through a committee directed by Blanche Drescher and Pauline Bruton, raises money through the collection of small change in milk bottles placed in some 35 places of business throughout the city.

The project is being continued, according to Mrs. Drescher, and she issued an appeal today for the continued support of the milk bottle collection fund.

"We appreciate the fine cooperation in the past," she said, "and we hope that the public will continue to drop its extra change into the fund bottles when they're paying their checks and bills in these places."

Many of the bottles are to be found in eating places, at cigar counters, and other points where change is made frequently.

"Your pennies, nickels and dimes will help a good cause," Mrs. Drescher added.

Another Packed House Expected At Revue

It was just lucky nobody got hurt in the rush at last night's opening of the Kiwanis Club's Top O' Texas at Revue in the Junior High school auditorium. The house was packed.

Indications at noon today were that there might be another terrific jam in the aisles when the show is repeated for the last time tonight.

Advice to tonight's audience is to be on hand early. There still were a few good reserved seats left but if the folks go for the general admission seats like last night's crowd, this section will be filled long before curtain time.

The show is good. Some of the draggy parts have been brushed up and last night's running time—two hours and 25 minutes—has been cut nearly a half hour.

The revue is a hilarious hodge-podge of riotous comedy, good music, and snappy dancing which the company of 160 persons presents in near-professional calibre.

There were five excellent scenes of stage show and four intermissions off-stage, on-stage, in the aisles, on top of the seats, and out-of-sight back stage. The din, jumble, and commotion at times was so heavy and so many things were happening at once that Tex DeWeese, master of ceremonies, was going around in circles trying to restore peace and quiet.

If you like nutty, dizzy, insane comedy—it's in this year's Top O' Texas Revue. If you like good music, singing, and dancing and a well-trained chorus and vocalists—you'll find all that in it, too.

Director Ken Bennett has done a grand job of a huge task in training so many persons for so many difficult parts. The pit orchestra also is directed by Mr. Bennett. Bill Browne, who arranged the comedy sequences, also takes a leading part and is as big a hit this year as last.

Other comedians who kept the audience going last night were John Monroe, the bane for each other; H. E. McCarty, as the nose statistician, who makes notes of everything, and for the silliest reason; Maurice Newton, the messenger boy who delivers a flash in a flash (and, what was in that telegram, anyway?); W. A. Nolan, the guy who didn't join the show; Harry Hoare, the guy who change is made frequently.

"Your pennies, nickels and dimes will help a good cause," Mrs. Drescher added.

HOWARD BUCKINGHAM—above, dressed in a play suit, plays the role of a four-year old boy in the Revue. The most spontaneous reaction of the show came as Howard acted as if he intended to hop into a matron's lap.

Train Kills Ignacio Rosas At Hoover

Ignacio Rosas, 49, Mexican section worker for the Santa Fe Railway company, was killed instantly about 8 o'clock this morning when struck by an eastbound passenger at Hoover. Engineer of the train was unaware of the accident until reaching Canadian where news of the fatal accident had been telephoned.

Rosas, his son Manuel Rosas, and two other section workers, were walking from their parked car at a crossing to the tool shed when the passenger rounded a curve, funeral home attendants learned. The son and two other men, walking behind Rosas, said they yelled at him to get off the track but that he apparently failed to hear them until too late. They said he turned just as the train struck him.

Rosas was thrown high in the air by the impact and hurled to an adjoining track. He suffered a compound fracture of the skull, both legs broken, both arms broken, and the left side of his body badly crushed.

Name of the engineer and fireman has not been learned here and no report of the accident has been received by Santa Fe officials here.

Rosas had lived in Amarillo for the past 17 years. He was temporarily working on the tracks near Hoover when the accident happened.

The body lies at rest at Duennel-Carmichael funeral home here.

Rosas is survived by the widow, two daughters, Mrs. Soledad Ornelas and Juanita Rosas, both of Amarillo, and four sons, Manuel, Raymond and Joe, all of Amarillo, and Gertrude, with the U. S. army at Houston.

Man And Three Bottles Found Under Elevator

City police officers arrested a man found this morning lying half clothed under an elevator. He was charged with being intoxicated.

The man, officers said, was lying under the elevator and in his arms was one bottle of wine about half full, another bottle about three-quarters full and a third bottle nearly full.

The man, officers said, had been released from jail yesterday morning after laying out an intoxication fine assessed last week.

Despite the cold weather the man did not appear to have suffered from the cold despite his scanty attire.

Through Yellow Glasses

Hostile critics have called the Japanese imitators or appropriators rather than originators. Their art, their writing and their literature are said to be largely taken from the Chinese. Their modern progress has been an imitation and adaptation from the peoples of the West.

Like Aryans Hitler and Mussolini, the Japanese have shown themselves to be believers in the old pagan rule that might makes right. Adhering closely to that maxim, even before Mussolini grabbed Ethiopia and before Hitler seized Austria, the Japanese took parts of China and ever since have waged undeclared war upon that nation.

The Japanese are weary of that war now. It has cost them much treasure and considerable in the way of dead men. The end is not yet in sight, but there are ardent spirits in Japan who wish to pre-empt a victorious end. It is an end which successful would mean fins to China, subjection to her people and greatly increased military might and prestige for Nippon.

But the advocates of this program of "thorough" do not choose to speak out plainly. They do not care to utter a truth so raw. They prefer to wrap up their thoughts in silken phrases. Thus they hope to fool the world at large. They might, they think, even fool the astute Chinese. They would put a concealing veil over the facts. They show themselves apt pupils of the Goebbels and Gayda clans.

This is how they word it: "It is necessary to restore peace in East Asia as early as possible, thus contributing to the construction of a New Order in the world, bringing happiness to mankind. With this high ideal in view, it is essential not to be left behind in the world's progress and, needless to say, it behooves Japan to take the lead in this effort."

Hope For Poverty Islands

Ever since America acquired the Virgin Islands down in the West Indies, they have been a headache for Uncle Sam because they have been poverty islands.

But now there is hope. The main product of the islands is sugar cane. But sugar from that possession did not come into the United States on a basis to compete with the home-grown or the Cuba-grown product. Therefore a federally-owned company, to help the natives, made rum out of the cane juice so as to give the people a cash producer.

But alcohol is an even better business product. America faces a shortage of millions of gallons of industrial alcohol because it needs all it can get for the manufacture of smokeless powder. The Virgin Islands can help fill the need. Without great expense their distilleries can be turned from rum to alcohol.

It's an ill war emergency that blows nobody good.

The Nation's Press

HUNGEL IN EUROPE (Chicago Tribune)

Thanks to Mr. Hoover the American people now have before them the facts regarding the food supply in the conquered lands of western Europe.

The elements in the problem are neither obscure nor complicated. The countries of western Europe, with the possible exception of France, have been heavily dependent for a century and more upon imports of food from abroad. Without foreign supplies every one in these countries, except a favored few, will suffer hunger; the great majority, if the war lasts much longer, will suffer permanently from protracted malnutrition and tens of thousands of children will not survive the famine.

We know that the infant mortality rate in France is already appallingly high and it is rising. We know that so far as foodstuffs are concerned France is in a relatively favorable position. No one capable of facing facts can doubt that the situation in Belgium and Holland, with their higher concentrations of population, is just as far worse. There is acute suffering in Norway, Denmark, and Poland.

We know, too, that these nations have large sums of hard cash on deposit in this country with which to pay for the food they need. The American people will not have to lend-lease anything they may send to the conquered nations. There will be no passing of the hat, no borrowing. The transactions will be for cash on the barrel head. The food we may send will not cause deprivation in this country or in England. It will merely serve to reduce the already large surpluses of foodstuffs which we have on hand.

These facts we know. And we know, also, that our state department has refused to move a finger to relieve the horrors of the blockade. The Roosevelt, the Peppers, and the Hulls talk big about democracy and humanity but they don't mean it. Belgium, Holland, France, Denmark, and Norway are as democratic as England ever was or will be. It is a singular kind of humanity which distinguishes between those who speak English and those who don't.

Common Ground

"I speak the plain-word principle. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms." WALT WHITMAN.

OBJECTIVES OF COMMUNISM AND SOCIALISM

I used the terms communism and socialism interchangeably the other day. Some of the apologists for socialism and New Dealism didn't like it.

I admit that the common method of bringing about socialism is a little slower than the approach to communism. The results, however, are identical. Under either the individual has only the rights which the state permits him to have. He has no natural or divine rights. Therefore, neither socialism nor communism recognizes a God. Both are atheistic.

If either is worthy of respect, it seems to me that communism is worthy of more respect than socialism. The communists at least have courage. The socialists would bring about their domination over others by the subtle method of majority rule, delegating to an agent the forcing and compelling and restricting. Seemingly about the only difference is that socialists are more cowardly than communists.

One has a tendency to admire and respect courage because the person who has courage might be persuaded to use it in a manner that would be beneficial to mankind. But the man who wants to do things, wants to be important, wants to appear to be humanitarian and of service to his fellowman, but has no ability or is too indolent to do it directly, or lacks the courage to use force himself—this man will probably be of little value to anyone.

So, in using the words "communism" and "socialism" interchangeably, I am using them in their objective results.

Probably socialism is even more dangerous than communism and therefore more to be condemned. The thought of communism is repulsive and frightful to most people, while socialism, because of a failure to understand its ultimate results, has some appeal to people who lack discriminating foresight. Yes, socialism is infinitely more dangerous than communism because it creeps on society slowly. One is horrified at communism and, therefore, is on his guard against it. We should watch, and guard ourselves against, these apologists for socialism.

CARE MORE FOR THINGS THAN PEOPLE

A statement that sounds logical and ethical, but in reality causes confusion, is the statement that "people should not care more for things than people." It might even seem cold blooded to challenge this statement.

The people who make this statement, however, fail to realize that the things which people think of and desire are the things created by human beings. They are not separate from human beings. They are a part of life. It is impossible to separate them. To attempt to take away from a person a thing (wealth) that he has produced, is, when properly understood, not to care for that person. It is to disregard the Divine right of one person in favor of the rights of another person. It is, in short, to attempt to take from one and give to another. That is the part that those who are constantly making the statement fail to understand. They think things (wealth) have no connection with people. Of course, inanimate things that are plentiful and can be had without labor, are not things referred to that people care for, in the way the word "care" is used.

A Bicycle's Built With Two

If a bicycle is to run, both wheels are needed. Who then is to say that "the back wheel is to be more highly regarded than the front?" If both are essential, it is useless to quibble over which is the more essential.

By the same reasoning, people cannot be separated from things. Both are necessary if the human race is to survive. To take away from a man what he has produced is to take away the front wheel of the bicycle. The man can't live, and the bicycle won't run. You might as well have killed the man and wrecked the bicycle. Each is useless with an essential part missing.

Because so many people fail to understand such simple facts, laws are constantly being passed which ignore inherent rights, which take from men what they have produced, and which lead to socialism, statism, communism, and fascism.

The next time you hear a man say that one should "care more for people than things," see if he knows what he is talking about. Ask him if he can separate things from people. Ask him if a government is a "respector of persons" if that government takes from persons the fruits of their labor—the things that are essential to their lives. Ask him if he thinks his bicycle will run without the front wheel.

In Washington they say we must not feed the starving for fear of aiding the Germans, but Mr. Hoover has disposed of that argument. The supplies would be moved in such small quantities and distributed under such careful control and supervision that they could not be secretly diverted, and if they were seized further shipments could be halted. The Germans have agreed to take no food out of countries which receive relief supplies from overseas.

The system was employed under Mr. Hoover's direction in the last war and it worked to every one's satisfaction. There is no reason to doubt that it will work again. There is no reason to doubt that our government could win Britain to the plan. Instead our officials are allowing the British to dominate them in this as in every other question, military or diplomatic.

There is no shame in Washington. While submitting without objection to the needless starvation of millions in Europe, our officials dare to talk of freedom of the seas as an objective of American policy. French and Norwegian babies are dying because the seas are not free to peaceful trade, but the great exponents of unhampered international commerce fold their hands and do nothing.

STATEMENT FROM A FRIEND

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON HOLLYWOOD, OCT. 28.—Behind the screen: Deanna Durbin's quarrel with her studio is not, as reported, just a matter of her demand for a higher salary. She wants the right to make one picture a year as a freelance at some other studio.

Such an arrangement is considered good career insurance by most stars, and Deanna, a big girl now, will have to begin establishing herself as something besides a durable prima. If she wins her fight, Miss Durbin likely will do a picture for Joe Pasternak, who produced all her pictures up to now, and who has moved over to Metro. But if that happens she'll have the satisfaction of collecting $125,000 or more from the studio that once fired her when she was making $50 a week.

VIC CASHES IN

Numerous other stars have been having money squabbles lately, mostly over loanous. A producer lucky enough to have a few good names under contract can make a fortune renting them to other companies. Victor Mature's wage from Hal Roach was $450 a week when Roach made a $3,000-a-week deal with 20th-Fox for the actor's services. On a threat to quit the movies entirely, Mature finally forced Roach to divvy an extra $1,400 a week during the loanout.

Robert Cummings is another leading player whose contract salary from Universal is nowhere near—actually about one-eighth—the price other companies are willing to pay for him. It's a salary row between Joan Fontaine and David Selznick that keeps the low-priced actor on suspension.

Incidentally, going the rounds is an executive's remark: "The story is the important part of a picture. So I don't believe in underpaying my writers, too much."

CENSORSHIPS

Frank Capra is directing "Arsenic and Old Lace," and I suspect that his reputation for dignity and Moral-pointing had a lot to do with the Hays Office's okay of the script. The latter includes all 25 murders (though the bodies must not be shown) and contains a sexy twist that even the stage hit doesn't have.

"The G-String Murders," Gypsy Rose Lee's zesty account of homicidal capers backstage in burlesque, has been optioned for $25,000 purchase by United Artists. How anybody could write or film an acceptable scenario dealing with the uninhibited world of strip-teasers is beyond imagination, especially in view of the recent Hays Office ruling that Barbara Stanwyck, in "Ball of Fire," couldn't even remove two earrings and a necklace.

Obviously, United Artists has been guided by the success of its Arnoold Pressburger in getting something called "The Shanghai Gesture" past the censors after 31 versions and revisions. This was accomplished by removing most of the white slavery, narcotics and certain international complications from the play, together with a change in locale from a you-know-what to a gambling casino.

And so, when and if you see a picture from Miss Lee's book, the victims may be college girls garroted by a daisy chain. Best guess, though, is that the title will be preserved by pinning the yarn on a girl's band and having the members strangle each other with instrumental G-strings.

Oddity The southern California coastline cuts in sharply, and Los Angeles is located approximately 100 miles farther east than Reno, Nev.

People You Know

Mrs. Hannah Ozman, an elderly woman, has come to this desk and identified herself as the woman who fell on the steps leading from the second floor of the courthouse to the first floor, on the first day of the suit involving the sect known as Jehovah's Witnesses. Mrs. Ozman said that she was not a Jehovah's witness but that she "would like to be one."

She said her legs gave way when she learned that a grand-child had been injured and was in a serious condition in a hospital in Amarillo. Then she started praying, she said. "When-ever I feel like that I always start praying," she asserted. "No matter where I am." She said a friend of hers told of the child's injury in the Pampa school courtyard. At the hearing of the Jehovah's Witnesses submitted and cited numerous supreme court decisions upholding them, but there was one that was not mentioned, and it is one of the latest handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States on the activities of Jehovah's Witnesses. This decision holds that a school board has the right to expel students who refuse to salute the U. S. flag. The ruling upheld the expulsion from school of children members of the Jehovah's Witnesses, who refused to salute the flag. This decision was handed down in the spring of 1940, in favor of a school board in Pennsylvania. . . . School officials say that there are a number of students in the Pampa school system who will not salute the flag. . . . Local Jehovah's Witnesses during the week-end recently took advantage of the opportunity afforded them by the local court's ruling that they have the right to distribute their literature. They were out full force Saturday night and Sunday. When I went to work Saturday afternoon, I found a pamphlet on my desk, and when I was at two different houses Sunday a person came to the front door holding out a magazine, saying, "Kingdom News, 10 cents."

Behind The News In Washington

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—On January 31, 1915, a $1,500,000 incendiary fire in the John A. Roebing Co. Plant at Trenton, N. J., manufacturing war supplies for the allies, blew the lid off one of the most amazing series of sabotage cases in world history.

For nearly four years, these tragic "accidents" were to occur in America's preparedness and defense efforts with staggering repetition.

In February, there was an explosion of suspicious origin in the Haskell. More than a million dollars plant and another occurred in the same place three weeks later.

That summer a foreigner made an unsuccessful effort to blow up the Capitol, planting his bomb in the vice president's reception room just off the senate chamber. In 1918, the whole country was rocked by the Black Tom explosions on the New Jersey waterfront in New York harbor. The explosions rattled windows and shook buildings 90 miles away. The damage couldn't be estimated. From the beginning she shed worth of plate glass was shattered in windows and store fronts in Manhattan across the bay.

After more than two years of national defense and industrial effort for Great Britain and her allies in the current war, there have only been nine proved cases of sabotage in defense plants and in not one of these is there the slightest evidence that it was directed or even inspired by any foreign power.

(One possible exception, although it hardly belongs to this story, is the sabotage of Axis ships in United States harbors. These were cases of nations scuttling their own property to prevent use by the enemy in case of seizure.)

This doesn't mean that some of the accidents in national defense might not have been sabotage. It's just that if they were, there's not any evidence of it. It doesn't mean either that there might not be a tragic case of sabotage tomorrow or following that scores of them.

Such possibilities, however, in no way detract from the remarkable record to date. In hundreds of accidents reported as possible sabotage, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, or other investigating agencies, have determined the causes. One such case resulted in an improved and safer method of making powder. It now is in use throughout the country. In some cases, still pretty much a mystery, the evidence has been against sabotage, not for it.

In the nine known cases, the causes have been several. One man who was caught in the act of attempting sabotage in a powder plant now is in a New Jersey institution for the insane, still listening to those "little voices in the sky" which rule his life.

Another minor case was traced to the malicious mischief of three boys between the ages of eight and 12. But mostly they have been the result of some disgruntled employe trying "to get back at" some boss or coworker. One, in a shell-cas plant, which might have had serious results later on, was hardly more than the vicious prank of a perverted sense of humor.

Charles Darwin was not the originator of the evolution theory. His grandfather believed in it; as did several other men. In 1801, eight years before Darwin was born, Lamarck published a book on the subject.

Today's War Analysis

(This daily feature, conducted by DeWitt Mackenzie, is written today by Fred Vanderschmidt.)

Nazi spokesmen quickly cry "fantasy" today in retort to President Roosevelt's charge that the United States government possesses documentary evidence of a Nazi plan to abolish all existing religions. Thus the unexpected accusation and the Berlin reaction bring into focus the fact that Hitler, in the course of this war, has been at pains to soft-pedal the Neopagan and anti-religious aspects of Nazism.

Regardless of what Hitler thinks or plans to do about existing religious creeds, it has become apparent that he has realized from the start of the war the necessity for harnessing German spiritual faith to his total war effort, and for avoiding disturbing events within Germany which would evoke a conflict between the religious convictions of the German people and the military course of the Reich.

Therefore, from Germany itself the world for two years has heard extremely little of such pre-war incidents as the arrests and imprisonment of clergymen, of the destruction of synagogues, of the separation of children from religious instruction or of the subtle but steady replacement of religious by pagan symbols. Before the war this was a continued story and no particular attempt was made to conceal it.

Hitler had another reason for these things to be forgotten: There were other deeply religious countries in Europe which he needed for his "new order," and he regarded it best that their suspicions of Nazi Neopaganism be allayed, both before and after they were conquered or persuaded.

Especially was this true when he turned against Russia and, in what he called a Holy war, set out to "safeguard Europe and thus save it."

Careful readers of Hitler's speeches have noted, since the start of the war, repeated references to the almighty, invocations of divine aid, and expressions of conviction that God is on the side of Nazi Germany. Indeed, Hitler has gone so far as to say that this last had been proved by Germany's very victories. This may be compared with the reports of January and May, 1940 accredited to August, Cardinal Hlond, Primate of Poland, and issued by the Vatican Embassy in the Vatican, relating a story of death, imprisonment and torture of priests in German-occupied Poland and concluding that "Catholic life is almost entirely extinguished in that anguished nation."

MINNESOTA AND TEXAS TIE FOR NATIONAL'S BEST TEAM

Fordham, Duke And Aggies Ranked Next

By BILL BONY
NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—If Minnesota and Texas, leaders in opposite parts of the country and exponents of contrasting types of football, were to meet today their game would end in a tie.

That, at least, is the view of 127 of the country's gridiron experts. Voting in the third Associated Press ranking poll of the year, in which each man lists in order the teams he considers to be the top ten, they placed the Golden Gophers of the Western conference and the Longhorns of the Southwest in a dead-lock at the head of the parade.

On a 10-9-8-7-6, etc., scoring basis, each team polled 1,161 points. Minnesota held the edge in first-place votes, with 60 to 53, but Texas made up for that with more solid support in the secondary positions.

The poll also left little doubt of which teams are the favorites in next Saturday's three major battles, each of which already is an assured sellout. Vindicated by the 7-0 score in their ranking of Minnesota two notches ahead of Michigan last week, this time the experts make the Gophers a strong choice to continue unbeaten against Northwestern, by rating the Wildcats ninth.

Similarly Notre Dame, in sixth place, is given a comfortable margin over Army, rated 14th on four straight victories but probably lacking in manpower to continue its remarkable comeback past this engagement. A closer game, the experts think, should be that between all-winning Penn. at eighth place, and undefeated but once-tied Navy, at 11th.

Last week's results shuffled the order considerably. Minnesota and Texas ran one-two on the first two weeks and D. C. continued in fourth place. But Fordham, the East's best, came up from sixth to third, Texas A. and M. from ninth to fifth, and Notre Dame from seventh to sixth, while Michigan dropped four notches to seventh.

Gone from the first ten are Navy, due to that scoreless tie with Harvard; Tulane, through its second loss of the year (to Mississippi); and Santa Clara, upset by Oklahoma.

In their places are Penn., Northwestern, impressive winner of Ohio State, and Vanderbilt, only all-winning survivor in the Southeastern conference and boosted from 16th to 10th on its rout of Princeton.

Texas and the Aggies have always-dangerous conference dates Saturday, the Steers with Southern Methodist, and A. and M. with Arkansas. Fordham takes on improving Purdue in its fourth interconference game in five starts; Duke meets Georgia Tech and, if it gets by, should run out its season without a loss; Michigan plays Illinois, and Vanderbilt appears in for a thorough test against Tulane.

The standing of the teams (first-place votes in parentheses, points awarded on basis of 10-9-8-7-6, etc.)

First Ten
1—Minnesota (60) 1,161
2—Texas (53) 1,161
3—Fordham (7) 784
4—Duke (5) 702
5—Texas A. and M. (5) 683
6—Notre Dame (6) 636
7—Michigan (3) 396
8—Penn. (1) 315
9—Northwestern (1) 251
10—Vanderbilt (1) 190
11—Navy, 163; 12—Stanford, 156; 13—Temple, 107; 14—Army, 55; 15—Alabama, 42; 16—Duquesne, 24; tie for 17—Mississippi and Mississippi State, 23 each; 18—Missouri, 23; 19—Southern Methodist, 16.

Also ran—Ohio State, 15; Tulane, 10; Texas Tech, 7; Santa Clara, 4; Santa Clara and Oregon State, 3 each; Washington and Louisiana State, 2 each; Oregon and Oklahoma, 1 each.

Bell And Myer To Coach South's Backs

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 28 (AP)—Two exponents of razzle-dazzle play and an advocate of foot football will coach the Dixie squad for its annual North-South battle here Dec. 27.

Matty Bell of Southern Methodist university, L. R. (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian, who favor intricate grid plays, and Lowell P. (Red) Dawson of Tulane were selected for the staff yesterday. It will be their first appearance in the Blue-Gray classic.

Bell and Meyer will tutor the backs and Dawson will be in charge of the line.

Carl Snavely of Cornell and Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern already have been selected to head the North backfield coaching staff for the fourth time, and Bert Ingersoll, the latter's assistant, will handle the Blue forward wall.

Halas Named Greatest Grid Coach By Cardinals' Mentor

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Jimmy Conzelmann, coach of the Chicago Cardinals, has opened a one-man campaign to have George Halas designated as the greatest football genius in the world, and as Jimmy pleads his point in a thin, querulous voice it is plain he is a man who has suffered.

"Halas, of course, is the big, tireless citizen who has built and coached the Chicago Bears to such a terrific margin of supremacy over the rest of the National pro league that the headline on Monday morning always reads: 'Bears Win, 48-0.'"

"We might as well face it," said Conzelmann, sadly. "Halas is the greatest coach in the world. Nobody will ever beat those Bears again. The only outside chance of slowing them down is to get them in a good, muddy field. I'm hoping for a heavy snow the night before we play them, and I'm going to have it washed off with a hose."

"It isn't fair. This Halas has a big Bohemian body that never gets tired, and we other fellows are tired at all the time. I can phone him at 4:30 in the morning to try to get a spare halfback off him and he's so cheerful I flinch. Then I sleep a while and call him again at 7, and he's still there working. Even wants to know how my family's getting along."

All the time he was making his stirring and impassioned address, Conzelmann looked squarely into the eyes of a couple of brother National league mentors, Jack Sutherland and Steve Owen. They stared back misguidedly and nodded assent when Jimmy asked if they didn't think the five-man line was the best way to stop the Bears' "T" formation.

"I think it is," said Conzelmann, solemnly. "Even after 53 to 7 I still think it is. Of course, when Halas gets to spreading his line around just to be bothersome, why my five men look like a bunch of war refugees wondering where to go next. No matter what defense you use, you can always be sure you will wind up with an 11.5 man trying to head off a 10-second Bear ball carrier."

To point up his remarks, Conzelmann employs a blackboard upon which he illustrates the many dirty tricks that can be done from the

Sugar Bowl Fathers Looking 'Em Over

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Sugar Bowl fathers, in an unusual bargaining position because of the muddled situation in the Pacific Coast conference, are getting down to serious business in lining up their football contestants.

"We're starting to discuss prospective teams and map out trips to visit them," said President A. N. Goldberg of the New Orleans mid-winter sports association, Sugar Bowl sponsor.

Goldberg and two other officials will view the Army-Notre Dame game in New York Saturday, and plan to contact several schools on the joint.

It's certain that feelers have been sent out, or will be sent out, in Texas, Duke, Fordham, Texas A. and M. and Mississippi State. Other possibilities include Vanderbilt and some once-beaten clubs such as Santa Clara, Missouri and Mississippi.

Jurors Tested Evidence—New Trial Ordered

IOLA, Kas., Oct. 28 (AP)—Because some of the jurors tasted the evidence, Judge Wallace H. Anderson has ordered a new trial for a man convicted of possession of intoxicating liquor.

Defense Attorney Guy M. Lamar, in his motion for new trial, produced affidavits that some of the jurors sampled the evidence when it was passed among them for observation.

TEXAS OUT-PASSES AND OUT-PLAYS RICE TO WIN 40-0—Spec Sanders (47) passes to Joe Schwarting (89), who laterals to R. L. Harkins (30), all of Texas, for a 15 yard gain against Rice in the game played at Austin, Tex. Outplaying Rice in every department of the game, Texas took the game by a score of 40 to 0.

Gorillas Show Lack Of Practice In Losing 22-0

The Spearman Lynx took advantage of every break to defeat the Pampa High Gorillas 22 to 0 last night on wind-swept Harvesters field before a few dozen shivering fans. The Gorillas played good defensive ball but offensively they were unable to get started.

Lack of workouts was noticeable in the Gorilla play. Coach Jack Davis had his boys in uniform only twice during the past eight days and as a result they failed to show anything resembling a scoring punch.

Spearman scored early in the play after receiving a fumble on the Pampa 17-yard line. Three plays after the recovery Daniels, 150-pound fullback, crashed over from the five yard line and Jacobs added the extra point to put the Lynx seven points ahead.

A bad pass from center and a smothered passer set the Gorillas back on their heels in the second quarter. Then one of Ekins' field goals was intercepted and returned to the Gorilla 30-yard line. Jacobs ran to the 15 and then passed over the goal line to Hester, halfback.

Two more points went to Spearman in the third quarter when Daniels fell on a bare field and the Gorillas were intercepted and returned to the Gorilla 30-yard line. Jacobs ran to the 15 and then passed over the goal line to Hester, halfback.

Last Spearman touchdown came when the Gorillas were making their only real scoring threat of the game. The drive ended when Daniels intercepted a pass on his 15-yard line and ran 35 yards for a touchdown. Jacobs again added the extra point. Defense play of Bridges, who has worked out only once this season, and McCracken, both ends, was outstanding for the Gorillas while Enloe was about the only back able to break away.

Daniels stole the Spearman spotlight from Jacobs, big quarter.

Bell Moans He Doesn't Have Manpower To Stop Texas

(By The Associated Press)
Not for nothing is the coach of Southern Methodist university's Mustangs called "Moanin' Matty" Bell.

After scouting the ponderous Texas Longhorns last week-end, he came back and remarked: "I know Texas' plays well, but we don't have the manpower to stop the team using them."

Hindering the Mustangs was doubt as to whether tackle Joe Pasque, expert placekicker, would be able to play in Saturday's game with the Longhorns here. Pasque of the Longhorns has an injured knee.

At Austin, Coach Dana X. Bible of the Longhorns showed a healthy respect for the Mustangs. Moanin' Matty's remarks notwithstanding, by announcing that his boys would get hard drills on pass defense.

The stout Texas Aggies, who suffered only one injury in defeating Baylor Saturday, began their week by watching the reserves scrimmage the freshmen. Back Tom Fickett nursed a twisted knee. He had already cracked some ribs.

Arkansas, the Aggies opponents this week, went to work, happy because, for the first time this season, all the backfield men were in good condition.

Rice, down for a tilt with Centenary Saturday night, had no injuries to report after taking a 40-0 licking from the Longhorns.

Injuries haunted the Texas Christian university gridiron, however, with Kyle Gillespie reported definitely out for the Baylor game. Half a dozen others listed as doubtful starters against Baylor.

The Bruins checked up on their pass defense as all hands turned out except end Jack Jeffrey, who has a broken hand.

Southern Baseball Association Adopts 'Merchandise Night'

ATLANTA, Oct. 28 (AP)—A money-making scheme known as "merchandise night" has been adopted by the Southern Baseball association to reduce members' club's dependence on ticket sales.

Atlanta, Oct. 28 (AP)—The "T" formation, especially with the Halas refinements.

"There's a lot of talk about it being only a temporary sensation, and they say Greasy Neale's having trouble getting his players to report."

"I only wish I could try it for a couple of years," wistfully. "The only thing is that after two years I wouldn't have any team to coach, but only a house-full of 'T' diagrams to keep me company."

"As a matter of fact, the 'T' formation is about the greatest thing that has happened since football began. It brings the play out in the open, and the spectators love it. I've noticed that the boys enjoy it, too."

"Give Halas credit for what he's done. Maybe he has what wrecked the league, but I'm not going to campaign to break up the Bears. I only wish I had a chance to wreck the league like that, myself. The only suggestion I would make is that hereafter in the draft the bottom teams get four or five choices to place before the top boys get a pick."

With that, Conzelmann sat down, still wearing a puzzled expression. When an auditor asked him if the Bears were as good on defense as they were on attack, he thought it over for a few seconds.

"What the hell?" he said. "Defense? Why they've always got the ball."

Red' Fan Notes 106th Birthday

CYNTHIANA, Ky., Oct. 28 (AP)—Charles Reikel, "grand old man of baseball fandom" who claims not to have missed a Cincinnati Red opening day game in more than 50 years, came to his 106th birthday today.

The retired jeweler and watch-

Service Dept. Pvt. Tryon Banner Conner, who is a pretty fair bowler when he isn't lugging a rifle, complained that dishwater hands he got from K. P. duty interfered with his bowling. So he persuaded a buddy to double for him at the dishpan while he entered the Buddy Bomar tournament at Dallas last week-end.

The Mitchell Field (N. Y.) and Fort Monmouth (N. J.) basketball teams will bring a new collection of former college stars to Madison Square Garden for the Golden Jubilee tournament November 24. Mitchell players include Lieut. Chuck Gelatka from Mississippi State, Lieut. Homer Forsythe of Ohio Wesleyan, Sgt. Sid Glickman of Brooklyn college and Corp. Joe Michalowski of Worcester Poly. They're coached by Lieut. Louis Tschudi of Dayton U.

Heading the Fort Monmouth squad are Julie Kasser of C.N.Y., Joe Gilliam of Georgia and Thurman Hall of Texas.

Texas Will Tackle SMU Eleven Next

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—When Jack Crain, the Nocona Nugget, stepped in as field general he made the University of Texas' great football team, observes cagey Matty Bell, whose Southern Methodist university eleven is the next to take on the mighty Orange Wave.

Bell personally scouts one opponent a year. That comes on S.M.U.'s week-off—the week before the battle with Texas.

Matty saw the Longhorns last Saturday in their 40-0 slaughter of Rice and he says he came back home with headache.

"It's the fastest, quickest charging line I ever saw in college football."

"And the boy who makes that well-coordinated machine click is Crain. He went in as field general last Thanksgiving Day. That's when Texas beat a great Texas A. and M. team, and Texas hasn't lost a game since."

"And I don't think any team is going to stop Texas unless A. and M. upsets them on Thanksgiving Day."

"The Texas team is even better than I thought it was from my reports. I had heard that the opposition was weak. Now I know that's not the case. The opposition is as good as ever. Texas is just great. I only hope we can hold them under 30 points but I'm afraid they're going to do us just like the rest of them."

Texas has run over five opponents this season, beating none fewer than four touchdowns.

This statement will bring blue spots—the blue of S.M.U.—again in front of the eyes of Dana Bible, generalissimo of Texas' gridiron forces.

Bible says that when Bell praises the Texas team, it's just when he's ready to deliver the knockout punch. The Texas mentor has history to back him. Never since Bible helped California to a national title now—have the Longhorns beaten Southern Methodist.

Panhandle To Play Phillips Thursday Night

PANHANDLE, Oct. 27—The Panhandle Panthers will play the Phillips Blackhawk in a conference game Thursday night at Phillips. The game has been set forward to avoid a conflict with a Berger game on Friday night.

The Panthers have had two weeks rest from contest play and all members of the team are in excellent condition.

The game with White Deer was postponed last week because of rain, and will be played on Nov. 7 at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Perryton will be the foe the following week in Perryton.

Phillips won by default over Canadian in a conference game. The Panthers defeated Claude in the opening game of the season, but have lost to Wellington, McLean, and Hereford.

Phillips lost the opening game to McLean, but has defeated Chillicothe, Dumas, Clarendon, and Floyd.

Rivalry has always been high between the Panthers and the Blackhawk, and the fans are expecting to see a hotly-fought contest.

Coaches Jack Atkins and Steve Shepherd report that the Panthers are improving rapidly and are in condition to do the best playing of the year.

The opening kickoff is set for 7:30.

Pewees Defeat LeFors 13 To 6

The Pampa Blues, junior high Peewees team, weren't a bit blue yesterday after losing to LeFors when they defeated the LeFors Midgets 13 to 6 in a conference game.

The Pampa youngsters, coached by Bob Carter, had to come from behind to win the game too. After the kickoff, LeFors pulled a tricky reverse and Clemmons ran 65 yards for a touchdown.

Undismayed, the Peewees smashed right back and marched down the field. Hopkins, fullback, crossing the goal line to tie the score. The Peewees scored their winning touchdown on a break and heads-up football. Hopkins crashed off tackle, broke into the clear and ran 55 yards. Just as he reached the goal line he was tackled and fumbled, but the ball rolling across the goal line where Humphreys, a tackle fell on it for the touchdown. Lindsey added the point after touchdown.

Blinn, Pampa end, kicked off three times and every boot went 50 yards or better, setting the LeFors boys back on their heels. Gray, Peewee's midline center, was outstanding on defense despite his lack of size.

On Thursday afternoon the Blues will meet the LeFors boys in a return game here, kickoff set for 4 o'clock. Thursday night Coach Dick Livingston's Whites, another peewee team, will play Canadian in an exhibition game.

Starting lineups yesterday were: Pampa—Blinn and Mayes, ends; Stewart and Humphreys, tackles; Gilchrist and B. Bain, guards; Gray, center; Proper, full; P. Anderson and Lindsey, halves; Hopkins, full; Subs: Elsom, E. Kelly, A. Wilson and Cooper.

LeFors—Turner and Bonner, ends; Hughes and Tillman, tackles; Cooper and Larken, guards; Nipper, center; Pearson, quarter; Hughes and Clemmons, halves; Sublet, full; Subs: B. Clemmons.

Dope Ranks Harvesters Stronger Than Lubbock

The Pampa Harvesters have decided not to sit around and twiddle their thumbs the rest of the season despite the fact that they have been practically counted out of the district race by a few so-called "experts." The Harvesters have yet to play a conference game but already the Amarillo Sandies are being hailed as the conference champions.

There'll be no open house at Harvesters park this week. All practice sessions will be behind closed gates as Coaches Buck Prejand and Mac Best cook up medicine to give the Lubbock Westerners in Lubbock Saturday afternoon. Kickoff time will be 2:30 o'clock.

Pampa fans, who, like the Harvesters, have decided to stay in the conference race until the last game of the season, will accompany their team to Lubbock on a special train. Round trip tickets at $2.85 are now on sale at the office of the school business manager in the city hall.

Also on sale at the same place are reserve seat, box seat, and student tickets to the game.

Harvesters—Westerners Even

The Westerners lost a 3 to 0 game to the Amarillo Sandies Saturday in a mud battle in Amarillo. But that doesn't make them any stronger than the Harvesters, if the Harvesters get in and play the kind of ball of which they are capable.

Although dope in district usually means nothing, a look at the records for the season show the Harvesters and Westerners neck and neck. Closest check on the two teams is by way of Amarillo and Childress. The Amarillo Sandies defeated the Childress Bobcats 19 to 7. The Pampa Harvesters defeated the Bobcats 19 to 6. Amarillo defeated Lubbock 3 to 0. All of which means that on paper the Harvesters are two points better than the Westerners.

Looking at other dope, the Plainview Bulldogs are by far the strongest team in the district. Plainview beat Yeleta 12 to 0. Yeleta then defeated El Paso high, a team that beat the Harvesters 7 to 0, and also posed a scare since the national football league season began.

The incomparable Don Hutson and his mates knocked over Detroit and Cleveland before bowing to the undefeated Chicago Bears in Green Bay five weeks ago. Since then the Bears and Packers have bowled over everything in sight, marking time until their second encounter.

This meeting comes Sunday in Wrigley Field.

The eastern race was thrown into a scramble between Washington and New York Sunday when Brooklyn snapped back from three straight defeats to whip the Giants, 16 to 13. Washington, a half game behind the Giants, outlasted Cleveland to win 17 to 13.

The Bears notched their fifth straight over a stubborn Pittsburgh eleven, 31 to 7.

Green Bay also had an easy time yesterday, whipping Detroit, 24 to 7, with Hutson in another field day.

The Chicago Cardinals started too late to catch the Philadelphia Eagles, losing by 21-14.

H-S Next Foe Of West Texas

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 28 (AP)—Football's fickle fortunes have placed the Texas College of Mines in a fair spot to play hob with the title aspirations of West Texas State and Arizona, co-leaders of the Border conference campaign.

The pass-prone Miners, twice beaten in conference play but still respectfully regarded by all hands, meet Arizona at El Paso Saturday night and West Texas State November 15—one of the remaining two games on the schedule of the leaders.

Arizona, once past the Miners, would be a top-heavy favorite to whip cellar-dwelling Arizona State of Flagstaff next week and finish conference play unbeaten and untied. West Texas State has to hurdle the formidable Cowboys of Hardin-Simmons at Abilene this Saturday.

Arizona won its third straight circuit victory Saturday, 20 to 7, at the expense of Arizona State of Tempe, defending titlist. West Texas State's third win—a 27 to 7 decision over Flagstaff—gave Halfback Ben Collins a chance to boost his scoring total to 87 points for six games. He scored 15 points against the Lumberjacks.

The hapless New Mexico Aggies, tail-ending the conference, were humbled, 26 to 0, by Bradley Tech at Peoria, Ill.

New Mexico university, trampled 26 to 0 by Texas Tech, entertains Nevada university in Albuquerque Saturday.

Packers And Bears Will Meet Sunday

SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN PARADISE

BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THIS STORY: Two murders at Paradise Lake renew the romance between school teacher Mary O'Connor, vacationing there with her mother, Maudie, and reporter Dennis Ryan, sent down from the city to cover the story. Police are convinced sophisticated Herbert Cord was killed by gangster Stan Yerville, although Cord's death at first implicated Jeanie Morris, whom he had courted for two summers only to bring Maggie Dixon to Paradise this year as his fiancée. Second mysterious death was that of Miss Millie Morris, Jeanie's stern spinster aunt, who kept locked in her heart the secret of a girlhood romance with someone who signed his letters "Kit."

LIZA DISAPPEARS
CHAPTER XX
IT was another hour before I got to bed, for Maudie was not asleep and insisted upon getting up to hear about the doings in town. After she'd put away a piece of chocolate cake and made Finn McCool miserable by sticking caramels on the roof of his mouth she finally yawned and locked the door and kitchen window.

"That policeman came around about an hour ago," she said. "I could see his flashlight and hear the car when he turned it around in the road."
"I wonder how long they're going to keep up this service," I asked. "If they wait until they solve the mystery of who killed Miss Millie they'll be coming here after we've headed back for the city."
McCool was practically standing on his head trying to get that sticky mess out of his mouth and I shoved him into Maudie's room. "By the way, Miss Millie had a romance once," I remembered to tell her. "I knew you'd enjoy that bit of information. You can use your imagination as to whether the letter writer, Kit, was a dashing young-man-about-town, a country farmer, or a broken-down poet. Anyway it's a rather sweet note to finish the night on—"

Apparently she thought so, too, for when I left her she was sitting on the edge of the bed rubbing McCool's back with her foot and gazing off into space with an abstracted stare.

DESPITE the hour when I fell asleep I was awake early next morning and by 10 o'clock I had exhausted the possibilities of the cottage. The dishes were washed, the floors dusted and I'd helped Maudie arrange the weeds which she gathered in lieu of flowers. The day in town had left me restless; I said I thought I'd go for a walk.

"I picked up some of Jeanie's magazines along with my own when I got out of the car last night," I said, "and I think I'll drop them off at her house."
I hadn't realized how early in the day it was until I'd rung the bell again and again at the Morris house and finally had the door opened by Jeanie, her hair done up in a blue ribbon, and her eyes still heavy with sleep.

There wasn't much I could offer in the way of an excuse for getting her out of bed, but she said it was time anyway. "I must have been terribly tired, because I don't even remember hearing Liza this morning. I almost always hear her in the kitchen, but the bell was the first sound I heard."
She insisted I come in. "We'll have something to eat. You can at least have some coffee and it won't take her a minute to get things ready. My breakfast has probably been waiting."

We went through the dark parlors and I snivered in the gloom. "Yes, it's dreadful," she said, pointing to the windows and raising the shades. "You know I still can't get used to doing these things. Aunt Millie always had her own way of keeping house and I never dared change so much as a picture." The sunlight helped, and we went through to the dining room. The curtains were down there, too.

"I do believe Liza overslept," she said, going on through to the big, old-fashioned kitchen with its huge wood-burning range and scrubbed pine floor. There was no sign of Liza there.

JEANIE stood a moment looking bewildered. In her pink, woolly robe and her hair tied up in that ribbon, and with her blue eyes just clearing from sleep she looked about 10 years old. She rubbed the back of one leg with a bunny-clad foot and ran a hand through her brown locks.

"Maybe she's gone to the store," I said. But we both knew that Liza would have had the curtains up in the kitchen had she been downstairs at all. "Well, maybe she's sick," I added, while Jeanie stood there looking lost. "Come on, we'll see if she's still in bed."

She led the way up the old box backstairs and down a narrow hall to an open door.
Liza wasn't there. Furthermore it was obvious she hadn't slept in that bed last night. The patchwork quilt was carefully folded on the bed, and on a nail behind the door hung her old flannel nightgown with high neck and long sleeves. There was a little personal y to that room as there was to the drab, colorless figure of Liza herself.

"Could she have gone some place to stay the night?" I asked, but Jeanie shook her head.

"She has a niece in a little town about 30 miles from here, but she makes a visit there only two or three times a year. She just never goes away—"

WE stood there for a while watching a bluebottle fly buzz persistently against the window. Finally I turned toward the door. The girl followed me, still with that puzzled expression on her face.
"Didn't you know you were alone here last night?"
"I never thought I was alone. I just took it for granted that she was in her room. I was awfully tired after the city and all. I remember that I was careful when I went upstairs not to step on that squeaky place, so I wouldn't disturb her."

We came out into the hall and I turned back toward the kitchen stairs. A door was open at the end of the hall and it moved a little. Jeanie was still standing there looking more than ever like a helpless child.

"What's in there?" I asked, nodding toward the door.
"It goes up to the attic."
Perhaps it was a jumbled memory of facts gleaned from hearing Maudie discuss her mystery stories; perhaps it was just the necessity to continue our search for Liza Holmes; I don't know what it was, but anyway I opened the door wider.

"Let's go up and have a look," I said, and Jeanie followed me docile as a lamb. And just as unprepared.

Bridge Across Rio Grande Collapses

RIO RICO, Mexico, Oct. 28. (AP)—The international bridge across the Rio Grande collapsed early today under the pressure of flood waters which have been tearing at it for a week.

Only a few concrete slabs remained after the 80,000 structure collapsed in the center.
Rio Rico, from which residents were evacuated by boats last week, was under four feet of water.
The river was receding slowly.
The Rio Grande last week shifted its course a half mile south from the American side and reentered the main channel at the bridge.

The Mexican customs house was swept away last night, throwing the flood current directly against a half-million pound anchor to which the bridge cables were attached.
A few hours after the center buckled into the channel, a few cables attached to the north pier were all that remained visible in the torrent.

The structure, built in 1929 at a cost of $10,000, was about 1,000 feet long, including approaches.
Mrs. Kate Chadick Martin, bridge company manager, said a two-car ferry and similar boats would be used until a new bridge can be built.
Destruction of the customs house and bridge anchor laid Rio Rico open to the full force of the flood which was cutting a channel toward frame buildings along the main street a hundred feet south of the bridge pier.

Nov. 16 Visitors Day At Camp Bowie

CAMP BOWIE, Oct. 28.—Circle Sunday, November 16, on your calendar as the day you will visit Camp Bowie, home of the 38th Division, to see just exactly how your son, brother, husband, or sweetheart lives.

November 16 has been set aside as your day.
You will have a chance to go to church in one of the beautiful, modern new chapels situated at central points in the camp area. All tents, recreation rooms, day-rooms, shops and offices will be open for your inspection. Probably 'Johnny' will be proud to show you how he makes up his bed and 'stores' his clothes.

At noon you will be invited into the Company mess halls to eat 'soldier food.' This will be the best way for you, Mom, to find out makes up his bed and 'stores' his food.
Dad, too, will get a real surprise. 'Johnny' will show you over the whole camp and you will have a better idea as to just how big a 'city' Camp Bowie is. In all probability you will go home Monday morning and say, "Things weren't like that when I was in khaki."

Rear tires generally give 45 to 60 per cent less mileage than the front ones.

Lieut. Roy Webb Now Stationed In West Indies

Assigned to "project x" in force "a," Lieutenant Roy A. Webb, son of Dr. R. A. Webb of Pampa, has been flying over a wide area of the Caribbean recently, he said in two letters received here.

Lieutenant Webb's address is: Lieutenant Roy A. Webb, Force A, Project X, A. P. O. 803, Trinidad, B. W. L.

The second of the letters is from Trinidad.

"Just a few lines to let you know I arrived here o.k. Guess you will get my letter from Maricao tomorrow. Left Maricao at 8 a. m. and was in Trinidad at 2 p. m.

"The island is very pretty, flowers and fruits are plentiful, the water is clear and blue. You can see the whole island at once from 10,000 feet up. The people are about 95 per cent negro, 4 per cent British, and 1 per cent foreigners."

A postscript to the letter, dated Oct. 21, three days later, reads:

Walks In Jungle

"Well, here I am again. I've looked around some more and truthfully this is a terrible place. Panama was much better. There is absolutely nothing to do here. I don't know why the British protect it.

"Took a walk through the jungle today. Didn't see anything except a buzzard. Negros everywhere in the jungle."

First letter dated Oct. 16, describes an experience in Venezuela: "I am at Maricao, Venezuela, at this time, staying in a nice place of the Standard Oil company. We, eight of us in eight P-40s, took off from Albrook, this morning at 6 o'clock, arrived at Barrinque, Colombia, at 8:05.

"We gassed our ships and took off at 9:55 and arrived here at 11:15 a. m. We passed by a 18,000-foot mountain in Venezuela, with snow on the peak.

"(The first snow I've seen since I left home.) Our ships are loaded heavily with baggage and guns so our speed is cut down a great deal. We averaged very little over 200 m. p. h.

Cigarettes $1.50 Carton

"I have taken a few pictures of the trip, so I'll have them developed in Trinidad.

"The money is $3.50 bolivars for $1 here. Cigarettes cost $1.50 per package, meals are anywhere from $3 to $5 in bolivars, average $4.

"The country right around here looks like the flat country of New Mexico, many cactus and flat plains, not much grass, and lots of oil.

"Last night the Allison motor representative (motor we use in P-40), gave all of X flight a turkey dinner and it was a honey."

JAMES P. BROWN, 712 N. Gray street, Pampa, has been appointed editor of the "Nibs," campus literary quarterly at St. Edward's university, Austin. The appointment was made by Rev. James d'Autremont, C. S. C., faculty advisor of publications, on the strength of Brown's work for the quarterly during his freshman year. Brown, a sophomore in the college of commerce, is also student assistant to the director of intramurals at St. Edward's where intercollegiate football was discontinued a year ago in favor of an intense intra-school athletic program.

Pranksters Lock Cowbell On Joe Gordon's Neck

It must be the Halloween spirit, for the "court house gang" is really all-out for fun these days.

This morning Newton P. Willis was the victim of a gag by H. E. Stanley, when the liquor control board agent threw a lighted firecracker at the attorney's feet that resulted in Mr. Willis' speedy exit from the sheriff's office.

A cowbell locked on his neck was County Attorney Joe Gordon's "bon voyage" yesterday from Deputies Glenn Carruth, Roy Pearce, and James Barrett, of the sheriff's department, agent Stanley, Constable Jess Fletcher, and County Judge Sherman White.

Reason for the gift was the county attorney's departure today on a hunting trip near Gunnison, Colo. The deputies gathered in the attorney's office, made a pseudo-farewell speech, then grabbed his arms and hung the cowbell around his neck. "So he couldn't get lost and would find his way home."

The bell was attached to a chain and locked. With the cowbell jingling merrily, the county attorney was then "hi-jacked" for coffee for the crowd at a local cafe.

When Deputy Barrett came back to the county attorney's office later that afternoon, he found that Barister Gordon was something of a magician, for the bell was missing, and the attorney said he had managed to "reverse and remand" the musical accompaniment.

Accompanying the county attorney on the hunting trip were W. R. Combs and County Commissioner Arlie Carpenter, both of LeFors, and (Shorty) Caldwell, the sheriff's department said.

Stevenson Liked Speech

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—President Roosevelt's speech urging destruction of the Hitler regime today was commended by Governor Coke R. Stevenson.

"It was a good presentation of our situation," the governor commented.

Coke Thankful For Texas Grid Teams

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—As Thanksgiving day approaches, Texas has two, and maybe three, things for which to be thankful, Governor

Coke R. Stevenson said today. He was chatting at a conference with press correspondents.

"I refer, of course," to football," he said.

"It looks like Texas and A. & M. both have great teams. And it may be that S. M. U. has a fine one."

Arsenic Drives Hughes And Minks To The Mountains

EL PASO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Arsenic is driving H. L. Hughes and his depleted crop of minks to the mountains.

Hughes, a former Philadelphian, said today he has lost 300 minks as a result of arsenic poisoning, adding that the arsenic apparently was blowing in from nearby cotton fields.

Laboratory tests revealed the cause of the deaths, the mink farm operator said. Arsenic is used for poisoning cotton pests.

Hughes was planning to relocate his farm to the mountain country between Ruidoso and Alto, N. M.
