Nashville Seeks 4th Straight Win

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 25. (AP)—It will be "Katie, Bar The Door," tonight when the Nashville Vols seek their fourth straight win over Dallas of the Texas League in the Dixie Series.

The Vols want to end the series tonight for a lot of reasons, and they'll be a hard club to beat with three victories under their belts and playing in their home park.

Last night the power-hitting Nashville club teed off on Gordon Maltzberger and his relief for 17 blows to roll up a lead of 8-2 that later was narrowed to an 8-6 final score by a Dallas uprising in the ninth.

Flashes Of Life

(By The Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS—Could 16-year-old James Hurl be blamed for having an earache?
James was taken to City hospital from school after complaining that his ear hurt and he couldn't hear. Physicians removed a pencil eraser, a piece of lead and a wad of paper from his right ear and just a mere wad of paper from the left ear.
(P. S.: James' hearing is much better.)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—For a year H. S. Bender, of Moxham, watched his two night-blooming cacti plants, and prepared to call all his friends to see the rare plant when it burst into full flower.
One of the plants finally did bloom—at six o'clock in the morning, a "scandalous" way for a cactus to behave, Bender said, because they usually bloom at midnight. Undaunted he has issued a public invitation to attend the 1942 blooming of his plants.

PARSONS, Kas.—"If he grins when you call him crow, you'll recognize him," 13-year-old Patricia Shifflet told police asking them to help her find her lost mongrel pup.
The skeptical cops tried it out on all the stray dogs, and one of them did grin. Patricia confirmed the identification.

LONG BEACH, Calif.—Hermosa George Smith finally got his birth certificate.
He told the court, he was born August 1, 1886, on the steamer Hermosa between San Pedro and Catalina island. His mother died before the ship docked and no official record was made.
Smith finally found John Noyman retired engineer of the long retired Hermosa, who remembered the incident. The court accepted his testimony and granted Smith his birth certificate.

It's Hitler's Duty To Feed Conquered Nations, Hull Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25. (AP)—Secretary of State Hull advised the senate foreign relations committee in a letter made public today that Germany has a "direct responsibility" for feeding the people in nations which her armies have conquered.
The letter, released by Chairman Connally (D-Tex.), gave Hull's views regarding pending legislation calling on the state department to work out some system, in cooperation with Great Britain, for sending American food to "the small democratic countries of Belgium, Norway, Poland, and the Netherlands." The proposal has the active backing of former President Herbert Hoover.
Yugoslavia, France, Finland, Spain, Greece and Denmark also are mentioned in the resolution, which originally was introduced by 37 senators last June. Until now action on the measure has been delayed at request of its sponsors.
"This government," Hull wrote the committee, "has a deeply sympathetic attitude toward all phases of distress, suffering and needs for relief alike in every part of the world, China to Finland."
But he added:
"It is clear that the responsibility and manifest duty is to supply relief rests with occupying authorities, as it is well known that the German authorities have removed from the countries under occupation vast quantities of foodstuffs belonging to the peoples of those countries and within those countries have diverted food supplies from children to persons working in behalf of the German military effort."

Bomb Victim... An Unusual Closeup of a Casualty

This is one of the few pictures of its kind to come out of the European war. It shows neighbors and relatives bringing out a bomb victim after the German luftwaffe had visited a Russian town. Close-ups of actual casualties from bombings have been rare, but the Germans liked this picture well enough to include it in their film of the Russian campaign called "Victory in the East," which was intercepted by the British.

Amarillo 'Hopeful' For Bomber Site

AMARILLO, Sept. 25—Sen. Tom Connally and Rep. Eugene Worley yesterday telegraphed the chamber of commerce they "feel very hopeful" about Amarillo's chances for securing the heavy bombardment base recently recommended by an Army survey board.

In a telegram to Col. E. A. Simpson, chamber of commerce president, Senator Connally said he and Rep. Worley visited Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Corps, and "pressed upon him approval of the Amarillo bomber site location."

"He advises that he must await formal action of the report of the board by General Fickel at March Field, Cal," he said. "However, he promised us that immediately upon arrival of the report we would be notified and consulted."

"He expressed generally favorable attitude toward Amarillo. We feel very hopeful."

After the conference, Representative Worley and his wife left by plane for their home in Shamrock. Rex Baxter, chamber of commerce secretary reported that he and members of a committee seeking an ammonia and nitrate plant here had started conferences Tuesday. He said, however, he had "nothing definite to report."

Mr. Baxter said he had talked with Capt. C. E. Rosenthal, the Navy's expert on lighter-than-air craft, and learned the captain will reach Amarillo by plane next Wednesday evening.

Six Warships Launched

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The navy hit its fastest ship-building pace since World War days this week with a program of six warship launchings in five days. The new men-of-war—the battleship Massachusetts and five destroyers—brought to ten the total monthly performance since the start of the two-ocean construction program.

Taft Opposes Repeal Of Neutrality Act

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Amid reports that virtual scrapping of the neutrality act would be sought next week, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) declared today that repeal "would be equivalent to a declaration of war." "At the very least," he said to reporters, "it would grant the administration authority to carry on an undeclared war." Taft foresaw a knock-down-and-drag-out battle in the senate against any repeal attempt—a forecast which few legislators disputed—and promised that he and other opponents of the administration's foreign policy would fight vigorously.

However, Rep. Wadsworth (R-N.Y.) believed that the house was ready to repeal or modify the law, and he voiced the hope that it would be "wiped off the statute books." Senator Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the senate foreign relations committee which must first pass on any question of repeal or modification, declared he believed American ships should be able to sail the high seas to any port in the world. Connally predicted last night that the neutrality act "will be amended in important respects." Licensed with the Civil Aeronautics Authority are 3,733 women pilots, of which 265 have flown 200 hours. Protected by three mountain ranges, southern Crimea has virtually no winter.

Miss Ann Hill And Jack Anderson Wed In Amarillo Church

Special To The News: SHAMROCK, Sept. 25—Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hill announce the marriage of their daughter, Ann Aylee, to Jack Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson of Lela.

The wedding took place in the Folk Street Methodist church in Amarillo on Sunday morning, with the Rev. Earl G. Hamlett officiating.

Mrs. Anderson is the daughter of Attorney and Mrs. H. B. Hill, who are pioneer residents of Shamrock. She attended the Shamrock schools where she was a popular student.

Mr. Anderson, a former Shamrock high school athlete, is employed in Borger, where the young couple will make their home.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

BY ALICIA HART
Every woman can profit by a daily facial, especially now when fall breezes blow and dust clings to the skin. It's easier to go to a good beauty salon, but in between visits, you can treat yourself at home, nightly.

The back your hair with some sort of band and apply cleansing cream, lotion or oil, with your fingertips. Of course, every single stroke should be upward. Then wipe off the cream, and also the day's dirt, with immaculate tissues or soft cloth.

Then wash your face. And really WASH it, as you'd wash fine, quite soiled gloves. Then rinse your face with tepid water, then cold. Of course there's nothing like a good fragrant astringent, at this point, if you have some.

Now pat in your nourishing cream. There's a new one that feels exceptionally smooth. An old established house offers it, now, and at a relatively inexpensive price. This cream is homogenized, which is the maker's way of saying it's mixed under pressure. It has a lanolin base.

Patting in your nourishing cream is best. There are two tracks to follow. Both go upward and outward. One begins at the side of your nose, rounds across the fat of your cheeks, and ends at the temples. The other begins at the center of your chin and goes outward to the temples.

"MILK BATH" IN CREAM FORM
The most interesting new nourishing cream I've seen lately is one that's made from milk! That pleasant, cool, softening ingredient accounts for a large part of the cream. In addition, the house presents—cleansing milk. This is used instead of cleansing cream. It forms a very light mask, quickly, and you remove it with a sponge.

Of course, there's nothing new about milk for cleansing your skin—the belles of the nineties made milk-baths famous—but this prepared milk, with extra amounts of vegetable oils added, is different. And it has a delightfully fresh fragrance. It comes in three different preparations—the cleansing milk, an emulsion, and a cream for dry skin—and, just for luxury, a milk-foam bath.

To remove brown stains from china, rub well with a damp cloth, frequently dipped in salt. Wash as usual.

It Can Be Home, Sweet Home—Even Without A Man
By RUTH MILLETT
Girls are beginning to realize that it isn't necessary to have a husband in order to be as domestic as they please.

They have at last realized that a woman's desire for a home and having her own things about her need not be squelched just because there is no man to share it.

And now that they are waking up to this fact, unmarried women are beginning to build more real and lasting backgrounds for themselves.

There is the extremely domestic young woman who, tired of furnished one-room apartments, took the plunge and bought herself a lot and built a little house on it. She figured she couldn't swing it on her job, so she rents one room to a couple of single girls, and she'll continue to rent that room until the house is paid for. Then it will be hers—all her own.

GOT A BIG KICK OUT OF IT
Nothing she ever did in her life gave her quite the thrill of poring over house plans, and then going to work with sewing machine and paint brush to do an inexpensive, but inviting decoration job.

Another girl who likes living in an apartment decided there were no reasons in the world why she couldn't pick out a sterling silver pattern, just as a bride would, and let her friends and family know that she would rather have silver for birthday and Christmas than anything else.

When she got her silver service together, she began on a set of lovely china, and today she is just as proud of the table she sets as any bride.

Still another young woman who had wished for years she had a place of her own so that she could have a flower garden woke up to the fact that if she wanted a garden there was no reason in the world why she couldn't have one.

THIS CITY GIRL WANTED A GARDEN
So she moved from her down-town apartment into one in a quiet home with a large, beautiful yard. She took the apartment with the promise that she could have her own garden, to plant as she pleased, in a spot she could see from her living-room window. Now she rushes home from work, gets into slacks, and has a grand time digging and transplanting instead of sitting in a stuffy apartment wishing she had a garden of her own.

A domestic-minded woman who finds an outlet for her domesticity doesn't miss half as much by not marrying as the woman who thinks that a husband is an absolute necessity around a house.

As one of these resourceful women puts it, "A man in the house is an enviable luxury and I'm the first to admit it. But fortunately for those of us who haven't husbands, he isn't a necessity."

Seamen's Strike For Higher War Bonuses Ends

(By The Associated Press)
 A seamen's strike for higher war bonuses was ended today by an agreement to negotiate the dispute between the sailors and owners before the national defense mediation board.
 The decision, reached yesterday, released for immediate service 25 ships needed for transporting defense materials and lend-lease supplies. On Monday, a conference in Washington will try to adjust the dispute which involves the mariners' demands for a war bonus of $60 a month for voyages to West Indian waters.
 Ships had been tied up by the strike in 7 harbors on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts.
 The mediation board took jurisdiction in another dispute of vast importance to the national defense effort—the threat of a strike by 22,000 AFL mechanics in the Consolidated Aircraft company plant at San Diego, Calif., which holds huge orders for bombers. While 98.3 per cent of the union membership were reported to have voted in favor of a strike, spokesmen for both the union and management appeared confident that the differences could be adjusted without an actual walk-out.
 The union has demanded a blank- et 10-cents-an-hour wage increase. The company's counter-offer called for a 5-cent raise and an increase in beginners' scales from 55-65 cents an hour to 60-75 cents.

REDS WINNING

 London quarters disclosed that British tanks may soon go into action on the east front. British-manned RAF planes are already fighting alongside the Russians.
 London newspaper speculation that British imperial troops might be sent through Iran (Persia) to aid the Russians assumed new significance with the disclosure of a series of military staff conferences.
 Prime Minister Winston Churchill was said to have received first-hand information on just what help Britain could give Russia in the event it was decided to send British troops to aid in defending the Caucasus. Churchill, it was said, heard personal reports from Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander in chief for India; Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, middle east commander, and Gen. Sir John G. Dill, chief of the imperial general staff.
 At sea, Adolf Hitler's high command reported in a special bulletin that German U-boats operating off West Africa had destroyed 11 merchantmen totaling 78,000 tons out of an England-bound convoy of 12 ships, despite powerful protection by destroyers.

 Only one small steamer managed to escape, the communique said.
 On the southern front, the German high command declared that "desperate" attempts by remnants of four Red armies to break out of a Nazi trap east of Kiev had been smashed with "bloody losses."
 Advances reaching London added to the darkening Soviet picture in the south. These reports indicated that a German attack was developing on the Crimea, the site of Russia's Black Sea naval base of Sebastopol, with upward of 68,000 troops engaged in the assault.
 The Nazis themselves asserted that Russia's fleet had now been reduced to a blank cartridge in the Soviet war pistol, declaring that German warplanes had driven Black sea forces into an eastern corner of their home waters and harried the Baltic sea squadron back into the Gulf of Finland.

 But I found it not bad, a little sticky, but not bad at all—all the attendants were pretty young misses and blonde. Their fingers are soft. They rub gently. Their voices soothe. Madame Rubinstein, who really is Princess Helena Gourelli and who opened the shop with her husband, Prince Artchil Gourelli of Georgian nobility, said it was not effeminate to come to the shop—it was just a question of learning to be "sort of carelessly well groomed."

 Pretty Jeanne Landry observed my receding hairline and plumped me into the hair slicking room. She doused me well with scalp lotion to remove loose dandruff to benefit the scalp and hair. An oil shampoo, a hair pomade, and—swish—I was off to trust my physiognomy to Suzan Win, beautiful daughter of a Polish general and diplomat.
 She just squinted at my waistline, ordered me on the scales, led me to the herb room and exhibited some slim wafers filled with vitamins and minerals, but low in calories, and beguiled me with their dietary possibilities.
 Then came more blondes with more bottles. One rubbed my rusty knuckles with hand lotions. Another patted by jowls, when, with an emulsion for men, "more liquid than his feminine counterpart" followed by some talc and cologne in "two refreshing, masculine odors: tang and wild lilac."
 I looked pretty slick when I emerged. But I still need a haircut. I still have to go see Louie. He's my barber.

 Directors of the Kiwanis club will be present at the noon luncheon at which time members may make up attendance. The Kiwanians will call the barbecue at the Girl Scout camp their regular weekly meeting but those unable to attend may make up their attendance at the noon meeting.
 Second of Pampa's outstanding gatherings will be at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when civic club members entertain Girl Scouts of Pampa, their parents and a number of invited guests. Speaker for the occasion will be K.S. "Boots" Adams, president of the Phillips Petroleum company, who will fly to Pampa for the gathering which will be held at the Girl Scout camp site four miles east of LeFors.
 Road to the camp site will be plainly marked. To get to the camp follow the Pampa-McLean road about two miles east of LeFors but instead of turning south over the railroad bridge, go straight east through the Coltex Gasoline plant. Signs will be placed along the road.
 The barbecue will be served at 5 o'clock and at the same time Girl Scout troops will present a program with Mrs. Claudia Bonge narrator. Master of ceremonies for the occasion will be Walter Rogers.
 Mr. Adams will speak at 6:15 o'clock and the program will be over by 7 o'clock in time for guests to attend the Pampa-Clovis football game here. His subject will be "The Oil Industry's Part in National Defense." Mr. Adams has been in Washington attending a defense board meeting.

Farmers Who Planted Castor Beans Praised

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 25 (AP)—Central Texas farmers who are harvesting castor beans planted last summer at the request of the U. S. department of agriculture were praised today by B. F. Vance, chairman of the USDA defense board, for their spirit of cooperation in the defense effort.
 Vance, who made an inspection tour of some of the castor bean fields in Dallas county, said the farmers were to be commended for their willingness to embark upon a project involving the production of a plant with which they had had no experience.
 Last spring, when it appeared a shortage of vital oils might materialize because of inability to transport castor beans from Brazil and India and tung oil from China, an inter-bureau committee, appointed by the secretary of agriculture, recommended increased production of the castor bean in this country.
 Castor oil is used as a lubricant for the recoil mechanism of big guns and for bombers operating at high altitudes.
 The Texas Power and Light Company, which has been experimenting a number of years in adapting pure, high oil-producing varieties of castor beans in Texas, had 40,000 pounds of the seed available and donated it to the U. S. department of agriculture through the Texas A. and M. college extension service cooperating with local AAA committees.
 The seed was distributed to farmers in an eleven-county area in Central Texas especially adapted to the growth of the castor bean.
 The farmers in the eleven-county area, whose castor bean crops will be threshed by the Texas Power and Light Company, are guaranteed 3 1/2 cents per pound for cleaned seed by the Commodity Credit Corporation.
 Counties included in the project are Collin, Dallas, Ellis, Fannin, Grayson, Hill, Navarro, Lamar, Van Zandt, McLennan and Bell.

Director Bennett and President Goldston stressed the importance of all Kiwanians turning out for tonight's meeting of the cast and director.

Frank Smith Took In By Swindlers Then By Friends

A new type of swindle has been uncovered in Pampa. Number of victims is not known because only Frank Smith has admitted that he got "took in." And to make matters worse, for Frank, a bunch of his friends played a dirty trick on him.
 The swindle started a couple of weeks ago when a man visited Frank, telling him that he had some cocker spaniels for sale and that he understood Frank wanted one. The two conversed for a while and the man said he knew several of Frank's friends in Oklahoma. Well, it was finally agreed that Frank would buy the dog and he paid $2 down.
 Days passed and the dog didn't arrive. Then Frank told some friends and several of them admitted that they had been contacted by the same man.

 The gang got together and yesterday they went to the pound, borrowed a broken down dog, crated it and had it delivered to Frank who paid the shipping fee. Just as he opened the box the friends stormed in the front door and the razing started.

Oil Valves To Be Turned A Little Wider In October

AUSTIN, Sept. 25 (AP)—Texas oil well operators can turn the valves a little wider in October.

The statewide 31-day production order effective Oct. 1 authorized a net daily allowable of 1,485,966 barrels, an increase of 70,626 over the allowable reported Sept. 20 and 65,866 barrels more than the U. S. Bureau of Mines estimate of daily market demand.

Announcing the order, the railroad commission, oil regulatory agency, declared that actual production would be about 13,857 barrels above the bureau standard because normally production is 3.5 per cent less than allowable.

It ordered nine general shutdown days for October. This month there were four for the Panhandle and 10 for the rest of the state. October has 31 calendar days compared with 30 in September.

The Panhandle district's allowable formula was based 75 per cent on wells and 25 per cent on acreage, replacing a flat per well allowable of 20 barrels daily.

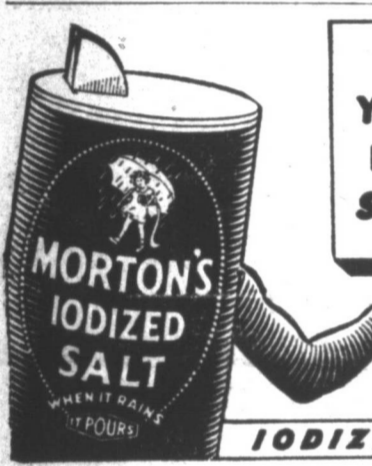

The October basic allowable, not considering shutdowns, will start at 1,966,567 barrels. Application of shutdown days pulls the net average down to 1,485,966.

Other districts were mostly unchanged and very few scheduled field allowables were altered.

Morehead Funeral Held At Washita

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
CANADIAN, Sept. 25 — Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon in the Washita school house for Vance Morehead who was killed in a highway accident near Lawverne, Okla., Sunday.

Mr. Morehead was 45 years old and had lived most of his life in Hemphill county. He is survived by his widow and two daughters.

Mrs. Ed Little of Canadian is a sister of the deceased.
Relatives from Canadian, Big Spring and Pampa attended the funeral services which were in charge of Rev. Eugene L. Naugle, pastor of the Briscoe-Allison circuit of which Washita is a part. Rev. Uel D. Crosby, pastor of the Methodist church, Canadian, delivered the funeral sermon.

Draft Board Ordered To Defer Students Enrolled In College

Local selective service boards over the nation have received permission from selective service headquarters to postpone the military service of students in college in cases where immediate induction would cause undue hardship.

The Gray County Selective Service board has not yet received any instructions from state headquarters on this matter, which was reported in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington Tuesday.

However, such instructions from state headquarters at Austin to Gray county are ordinarily about three days behind the (AP) dispatches. The Associated Press reports a sample of where "immediate induction would cause undue hardship," stating that a student might be permitted to finish a semester before being called.

Extends Earlier Law
This new procedure is applicable regardless of what college course the student pursues, and is an expansion of the prior rule which allowed deferment of medical and engineering students for such time as to receive a degree, provided there was a shortage in the occupation for which they were preparing.

Gray county will send 10 selectees to the induction station at Fort Bliss tomorrow. The men will report this afternoon at 4 o'clock at 301 court house, then leave by bus at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning.

An additional 15 men are to be sent from Gray on October 9.

War Games In Louisiana Begin Again

By RICE YAHNER
WITH THIRD ARMY, Sept. 25 (AP)—Orders for dawn attacks signalled the renewal of the lightning war in the Louisiana maneuvers today.

Grounded by storm winds and poor visibility at the opening of the final week of the field exercises, almost 800 planes of the second and third armies were released to seek out the enemy from Shreveport, in north Louisiana, to Lake Charles, La., to the south.

Already land patrols of both armies had clashed, seeking the main bodies of troops and testing their strength for the development of a "battle" line almost 100 miles long across the central part of the state.

The second army, commanded by Lieut.-General Ben Lear, has the mission of defending Shreveport against Lieut.-General Walter Krueger's larger third army advancing from the southwest and spread eastward from Texas.

Both commanders apparently held back their armored divisions until the war games developed to a point for a decisive blow.

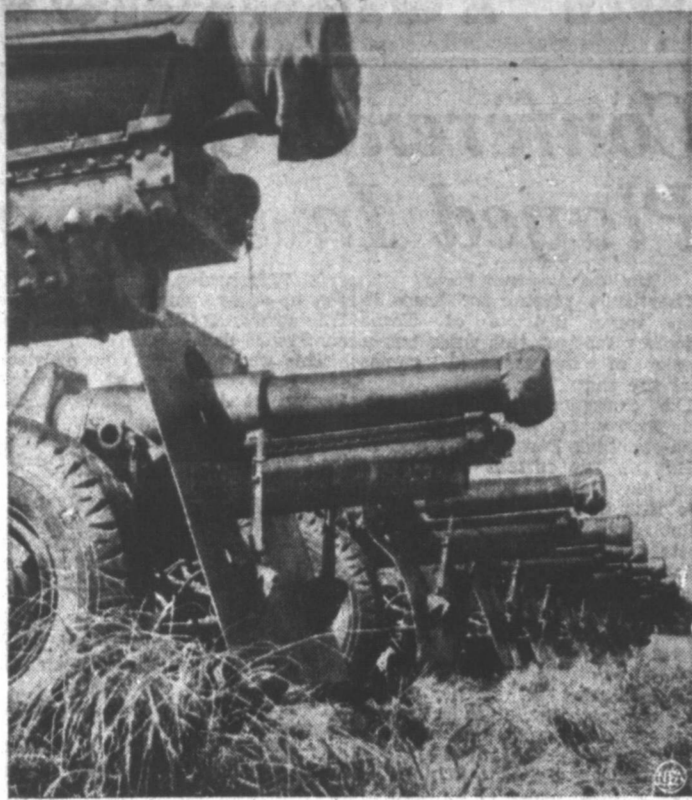

First, armored scout cars of cavalry regiments shot out into the 100-mile wide strip that separated the armies, to reach the enemy quickly and as soon as possible determine the type and strength of the opposition immediately ahead.

Meanwhile, slow but powerful infantry divisions moved forward, each a force of 15,000 to 22,000 men, to hold fast if it met stronger opposition or fight its way through lighter resistance.

The second army apparently jumped off from south of the Red river between Shreveport and Alexandria, La. Meanwhile, cavalry patrols of the third army soon reached Boyce, La., northwest of Alexandria, and seemed in excellent position to hold that town as an anchor for a great stiff-arm swing southwest.

Arkansas has a surface more diversified than that of any central Mississippi valley state.

They'll Be Stripped for Action

Muzzles and breeches of these 155-mm. howitzers will be stripped of their coverings for action with the 45th Division in Louisiana war games involving a half-million troops.

Eleanor Roosevelt At Bedside Of Brother When He Dies In Hospital

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—G. Hall Roosevelt, 50, engineer, banker and transport executive, died early today at the Walter Reed army hospital with his only sister, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, at his bedside.

A brief telephoned announcement from the White House said: "Mr. Hall Roosevelt passed away at 5 a. m. (EST) at Walter Reed hospital. Mrs. Roosevelt was at the hospital."

Hall had been ill many months, first in a hospital at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and subsequently was given army hospitalization by virtue of his World War aviation service.

The relationship between big, bluff Grace Hall Roosevelt and his only sister, the First Lady, was extremely close. Orphaned as children, they were tied by a strong and never-waning bond.

Although Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt was less than seven years old when Hall was born in Neully, France, June 28, 1891, she wrote in her autobiography, "This Is My Story," that "My brother was more like my child to me."

Hall lived with the Franklin Roosevelts when they were a young married couple, occupying a small New York apartment, and down through the years he was often with them in their various homes and on sailing, hunting and fishing expeditions.

The brother-in-law of one president, Hall was the nephew of another, President Theodore Roosevelt.

The White House thus was familiar to him as to any other man who was not president. But he achieved only slight, local prominence himself.

His last business connection was with Harvey Schwamm and Company of New York City.

Hall Roosevelt was twice married and twice divorced. His 1912 marriage to Margaret Richardson of Boston was dissolved in Philadelphia in 1924, after the birth of four children.

His second marriage, to Dorothy Kemp of Detroit, ended in the courts in 1937.

Both his former wives and five children survive. Henry P. Roosevelt, 26, born in the Yukon, lives with his mother, now Mrs. John Cutler, at Dedham, Mass. Eleanor, 21, now Mrs. Edward Procter Elliott, made her debut to society at the White House in 1938 and resides at the present time in Narberth, Pa. Another child of the first marriage died in infancy and the fourth, Daniel L. Roosevelt, was killed in an airplane accident in Mexico in 1939.

All the children of the second marriage live with their mother in Detroit. They are Amy, 15, Diana, 14, and Janet, 11.

Motorists and others bought nearly $500,000,000 worth of auto supplies, grease and service jobs, food and beverages, overnight lodging and a host of other items at service stations in 1939.

Gas Company May Abandon Sooner Towns

SKIATOOK, Okla., Sept. 25 (AP)—The 1,800 residents of this Osage Hills community displayed more than the usual appreciation today of the cherry fires lighted against the chill of an autumn rain.

For in one week, with winter approaching, Skiatook and neighboring Sperry, a town of 600 population, may be without fuel.

Pleading that the supply of gas in Osage county wells was depleted, the Union Gas Company has obtained permission from the Corporation Commission to stop service in the two towns Oct. 1.

Unable to persuade any other company to bring its lines into the city, business men of Skiatook made up a pool of $2,000 and tomorrow will start drilling a gas well just one block off Main street.

The well will be completed in 12 days but even if gas is found, it will be far into the winter before enough wells could be drilled to furnish an adequate supply.

One-tenth of Skiatook's population is going to Oklahoma City next week to plead that the corporation commission order the gas company to continue service until a new supply is arranged.

"It's a strange thing," asserted President Carl E. Brille of the Chamber of Commerce, "that these cities, on the edge of a metropolitan center such as Tulsa and surrounded by gas fields, can't get a supply of natural gas."

"I think the principal reason the company wants to take up its line is the advancing price of steel. It could sell the line for $100,000.

The Oklahoma Natural Gas Company agreed to supply Skiatook if the city would build a gas line from Tulsa. It would cost an estimated $150,000, more money than the city could raise.

Another company said it couldn't get materials because of the national emergency.

Carman Will Teach Night Speech Course

By C. M. DAVIS, Coordinator
 Kenneth Carman has been secured to teach a night school course in effective speech and sales English. He is well qualified to teach this course because he has had practical experience in distributive work and has taught public speaking for several years.

The course will include the development of tone and quality of the voice, increasing the selection of words that one uses, and a brief review of the principles of English.

Other courses to be offered are commercial art, practical bookkeeping and business records for small businesses, and practical business law for distributive workers.

Listen over KPND each night between 7:30-7:45 p. m. for pertinent information about the distributive program.

There will be an organization meeting at 8 p. m. in the Pampa Junior High school Monday night, Oct. 6, for the formation of the scheduled classes.

Pampa Minister Conducts Kimbell Rites At Shamrock

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
SHAMROCK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Louise O'Gorman Kimbell, 25, who died suddenly in Pampa at 3:50 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Services were conducted by the Rev. William C. Stock of Pampa, from the St. Patrick's Catholic church of Shamrock and burial was in the Shamrock cemetery.

Mrs. Kimbell was a daughter of Mrs. Dennis O'Gorman of Magic City and had made her home here since 1928. She attended Shamrock schools and later was associated with the U-Drop-Inn. She had been ill of tuberculosis since 1938 but had recently improved until a hemorrhage Sunday afternoon as she was walking down a Pampa street caused her death.

Surviving besides her husband are her mother, Mrs. Dennis O'Gorman of Magic City and 13 brothers and sisters.

Terrific Damage To Rice Crop Reported

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 25 (AP)—A "terrific" loss in this fall's rice crop, caused by the tropical hurricane which swept inland over Houston Tuesday night, was predicted here today by Homer L. Brinkley, manager of the American Rice Growers Cooperative Association.

"The damage in southwest Louisiana," Brinkley said, "will be light, but in Texas the loss will be terrific."

Texas' loss in the storm he estimated at 1,500,000 barrels valued at $5,500,000.

Scientists Elect Garrett Treasurer

BOSTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The First Church of Christ, Scientist, the Christian Science mother church, announced today election of Roy Garrett Watson of Houston, Texas, as treasurer to succeed Edward E. Ripley, who has requested retirement from that office after 23 years' service.

A former editor and publisher of the Houston Post, Mr. Watson represented Texas on the board of directors of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association from 1922 until the sale of the Post in 1924. A native of Houston, and a graduate of Princeton university, Mr. Watson has traveled widely.

Russians Face War Threat on Even Bigger Front

Japanese maneuvers in Manchukuo, Nippon's protests against floating mines in the Sea of Japan, and departure of Soviet embassy staff members from Tokyo are hints that conflict may develop; a new front for Russia. Maps show this horseshoe shaped Siberian front, if unbroken, would be 700 miles longer than Russo-German front in the west.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

One of the great moments of the war was reached in ancient St. James palace, London, yesterday when Britain and her ten allies—meeting in the spirit of the Roosevelt-Churchill Atlantic charter to which all pledged adherence—agreed to set up a great pool of food and other supplies for European rehabilitation at the conflict's end.

The move savors of a new and kinder international order. Quite understandable from the practical viewpoint was the fact that the allied action in thus casting their bread upon the waters was accompanied by the hope that it would return quickly in the shape of support for their cause by all the peoples of the tortured old world.

Whatever the immediate reaction may be, Europe certainly is going to need that reservoir of food, and the supplies for economic recovery. The finish of the war, unless it comes quickly, is going to see such widespread suffering and economic disorganization as the World War never produced, and as it was.

The pity of it is that thousands now alive will have perished of hunger, and of the diseases which fatten on privation, before the post-war aid can reach them.

It's an ironic circumstance that Europe must pass through this trial before aid can be administered. The British blockade cuts off food from the outside world; the widespread military operations are ravaging the grain fields of the continent.

From the humanitarian viewpoint the question of post-war aid in the shape of food comes first. The experts tell us the provisions for economic revival will have to follow quickly, however, unless the world is to pass into a period of economic chaos which will make the last great depression look like a mole-hill at the foot of a mountain.

The allied conference was brought back from consideration of the future to the problems of the moment by Ivan Malsky, Soviet ambassador to Britain. After subscribing for Russia to the allied program and the Atlantic charter, he made an adherence which in itself was a notable event—the envoy reminded the meeting that the pressing business is "correct allocation of all economic resources and war supplies with a view to the early liberation of all the European people not oppressed by Hitlerite slavery."

He may well have had in mind the crucial battle of the Ukraine, while Red Marshal Budyenny is trying to stem the German rush toward the Caucasus. The old Cossack cavalry leader and his men are having to substitute courage for airplanes, tanks and other equipment, although British planes already are operating in Russia and it is reported that English tanks may soon be fighting there.

Whether there is time for the allies to get aid to Budyenny soon enough to enable the Bolsheviks to hold their present positions is extremely doubtful. A further retreat seems almost inevitable. However, if the Russians are to keep Hitler out of the Caucasus they must hold his armies along the line of the great Don river, which swings itself protectively across the entrance to this pathway southward to all and the strategic positions of the middle east.

Texas Leads Enrollments In State Colleges With More Than 10,000

By BRACK CURRY
Associated Press Staff

Joe and Betty College trooped back to "Texas" institutions of higher learning this fall in numbers substantially exceeding last year's enrollments. The tide runs the other way in the nation.

With a nationwide survey of 469 colleges and universities forecasting a shrinkage in collegiate attendance in the nation, educational institutions in Texas from the mammoth University of Texas to small junior colleges reported stepped-up totals of students as the 1941-42 first semester began.

For the fourth successive year, enrollment at the University of Texas pushed over the 10,000 mark to approximate last year's registration of 11,147 students at the Austin school.

Largest higher educational institution in the South, Texas launched its 59th annual session with 31 new faculty positions, 167 new courses, and three new buildings under construction—petroleum and chemical engineering structures to be completed this fall and a new $475,000 music building to be ready for occupancy in January.

With 400 incoming freshmen including 125 freshmen engineers, Rice Institute at Houston enrolled a total of 1,475, a new high. The previous record was set in 1940 when 1,452 registered.

Officials at Texas Technological college, Lubbock, reported no reduction in enrollment was anticipated after 3,544 had registered. With several hundred additional students expected for late enrollment, Tech attendance will compare favorably with 1940's total of 3,797.

Waco's Baylor university began its 97th annual session with ten additions to the faculty and with an enrollment slightly in excess of last year's total.

Ahlbren's three senior colleges—Ahlbren Christian, Hardin-Simmons and McMurray—opened their doors with banner enrollments.

With its new term opening this week, Southern Methodist university officials reported dormitory reservations ahead of last year and predicted an enrollment of 4,500.

At Sherman, Austin college officials predicted a final enrollment equal to that of 1940-41 as 391 students signed registration cards. Final enrollment figures at Texas State College for Women in Denton will exceed the 2,457 registered for the first semester last year, officials predict. Present enrollment is 2,348.

Attributing a 13.6 per cent increase in freshman enrollment to military training and engineering courses offered, Texas A. & M. officials announced 2,552 freshmen had registered. The entire student body totals 6,640 compared to 6,534 on closing date last year.

North Texas Agricultural college, Arlington, which has maintained steady enrollment gains in the last five years, expects 200 more students this term. More than 1,800 students are scheduled to enroll. Enrollment last year was 1,620.

Classes opened at historic Mary Hardin-Baylor college—marking the 77th year girls from Texas, other states and foreign countries have begun classwork within her halls—as President Gordon G. Singleton announced an all-time high in enrollment.

Twelve states—Louisiana, Missouri, Kansas, New Mexico, Colorado, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Georgia, Mississippi, Arizona, Oklahoma, and California, and Washington, D. C.—are represented in the fall enrollment. Chile, Brazil and Mexico also contributed students.

Texas college of Arts and Industries, Kingsville, reported a heavy enrollment for the institution's 400 individual courses in general and specialized fields.

National Aluminum Drive Fell Short

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—The nationwide aluminum collection campaign yielded an estimated 11,835,139 pounds of scrap, defense officials announced today—a total equivalent to the amount of aluminum needed in 1,900 fighter planes or 350 four-motored bombers.

The campaign, conducted from July 21 to 25, fell below officials' expectations, however, for the OPM had predicted that 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 pounds of scrap would be collected.

BRIDE FROM THE SKY

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

Copyright, 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Associate magazine editor Judy Allen was enlisting herself on leaving her life all around one marriage with wealthy attorney Philip Rogers, handsome and dependable, a continued career, a complete forgetting of her infatuation for dancing and impulsive Sandy Ammerman, aviator, whom she thought she loved until newspaper listed him romantically with actress Peg Gordon. But Sandy is not to be stirred so simply. The day of her wedding he appears, asks her to come with him, kidnaps her when she refuses. On the way to a nearby airport, Judy, bound and gagged, is now sure it is Philip she loves, Sandy she despises. How soon would her mother, her father, Philip, start a search for her?

FLIGHT TO NOWHERE

CHAPTER XV

Judy into the cabin he released her hands and legs, removed the gag from her mouth and motioned to the man on guard to keep an eye on the girl until he started to taxi down the field.

"Happy?" he asked.

"Ecstatic!" she answered in a maddened voice. "I hate you!"

"Nice to know that you're thinking about me!" His voice was gay and irresponsible. "Grand view, don't you think?"

She looked over the side of the plane unconsciously. Oh, yes, it was a wonderful view. Tens of thousands of people moved down there, free to get married, or go shopping, or telephone the police, or do anything they felt like doing. People who knew all about stability and safety and fires and candlelight and how much it cost to have a wedding with bridesmaids wearing cherry bouquets and both a bridal cake and a wedding cake and a husband you met at the altar.

Maybe she should be glad that Sandy had come flying by. Otherwise she might never have known that Sandy was just a moth against a light and Philip was—well, she'd make herself say it—Philip was protection and perfection. All doubts were gone when one rode through the sky. She smiled enigmatically. Sandy himself had taught her that.

Now that her heart had found its moorings she must get home. She spoke again. "Sandy, I don't love you. I'm grateful to you because you showed me something. But, you lunxox, don't you know Philip's father has his finger in some sort of aeronautic pie? He'll have your license taken away for this. But if you'll take me back now, I'll never say a word about

"I'd pull your hair—oh, how I'd pull it! As soon as we land..."

"Kind of you, honey. I know Phil's dad. Nice guy. He's one of a thousand or so who won't look at my parachute. See how I love you? Risking my chance at a future unless you'll come along."

His voice was tired, not so triumphant, but Judy did not notice. Night had come, and with it a mist of rain. She fingered the thread in the wedding gown, found the injured lace and unraveled it again.

"You think everything that is dangerous isn't right. Love, loyalty, faithful—hasn't anything to do with four strong walls and a lot of land. I'll buy you a house some day, a whole apartment block, if a cottage won't do. I happen to love you too much to let you trust your own impulses this time."

The mist was heavier. The night grew darker. Judy would do with four strong walls and a lot of land. I'll buy you a house some day, a whole apartment block, if a cottage won't do. I happen to love you too much to let you trust your own impulses this time."

What are my own impulses? she asked, still searching.

"Oh, telling Sandy you were my fiancée and then starting west to find me."

"You knew?" Her voice was almost a sob.

"What all of it until yesterday when I came. Judy, do you think I'll give you up to anyone now that I know you care at all?" His voice was tender and the sky was vast and lonely. Judy did not notice, though. A little while ago she had mentioned his parachute. He kept it folded like a seat cushion, she knew.

She had taken parachute jumps at the World's Fair amusement. She wasn't afraid to bail out. This lunatic could go to prison. Carefully she put her hand to her chest and found the packet that she wanted.

TOWN KEEPS EVEN KEEL BY REMEMBERING PAST
NEW BRIGHTON, Minn. (AP)—New Brighton is one defense boom town that is trying to keep an even keel under the impact of a $30,000,000 small arms plant by remembering three past booms.

The town fathers hope it will remain just a typical American hamlet, as it did when a packing factory, a big pickle plant and a cast iron rolling mill each in its day brought prosperity and then passed.

Records of the board show: 449,288 liquor prescriptions filled in August, 1940, as compared with 3,892 in August this year, a reduction of 99 per cent.

43,147 gallons of liquor sold on prescription in August, 1940, as compared with 445 in August this year, also a reduction of 99 per cent.

In seven Texas counties where the bulk of "drug store liquor" was sold in the past, the picture is radically changed.

Lubbock county has 12 licensed drug stores where it did have 18, and four licensed physicians as compared with 42 who were writing prescriptions last year. There have been 12 more applications for physician's permits in the county. The number of prescriptions written dropped from 23,789, to 171, and gallons sold from 2,749 to 21.

How Does It Feel To Be Smack In Middle Of Tropical Hurricane?

(Editor's Note: How does it feel to be smack in the middle of a 100-mile-an-hour tropical hurricane? Sidney Bulla, Houston Chronicle reporter, gives the answer in this graphic word picture.)

By SIDNEY BULLA
HOUSTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—They say that only at the height of a storm does nature show the fullest extent of the majesty of her awesome might. I think I know now what they're talking about.

I learned about it sitting in a creaking board fishing shack on the bank of the Freeport ship channel while the tropical hurricane howled in 100-mile fury outside.

I learned about it after bruising, spine-tingling battles in which I tried to walk against that wind with the landscape ahead only a filmy sea of flying water and debris, and the rain stinging my face like a thousand needles.

I learned about it in two roller coaster automobile rides into a out of a storm area they told me I had better not try to reach. Rides in which the road ahead was covered with sheets of water driven in waves at 75 miles an hour and the elements picked up the car, shook it till it shivered and set it own again on the opposite side of the pavement.

Do you know what a 100-mile wind is like? Neither did I, but I found out I was feeling pretty good when I rolled into Freeport about 1:30 p. m.

after fighting a gale that seemed bent on pushing the car in the other direction.

At Truman Bown's fishing camp I saw the gale's peak and had an exciting moment. Suddenly I heard a swish, followed by shouts. I looked out and found myself, I thought, in the middle of the Gulf of Mexico.

The storm had driven a wall of water over the channel banks and the cabin was surrounded. I grabbed my notes, raced out through water over my ankles, and jumped into the car, headed for a Freeport inn.

When all hell breaks loose. The wind's eerie howl soars into a steady scream. Your car trembles and starts to drown out. There is nothing but a racing curtain of water, polka-dotted occasionally with a tree limb, a signboard or something big that you can't make out.

You're not particularly frightened. You're awe-struck. The wind is blowing 100 miles an hour and what amazes you more than anything else is that anything can stand up in the face of it.

The telephone line is going out and the story and pictures must be gotten to the office.

Here we go, with a 100-mile tail wind. How the car stays on the road you don't know. It bucks; it bounces. There is no pavement, as far as you can make out—just a driving sheet of water that stretches everywhere. Then suddenly you're 40 miles away and the gale lets up a little. You stop for gas and the people wonder how you got through. So do you.

Harvard Men Invite Holyoke Girls To Their Showers

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., Sept. 25 (AP)—The drought forced a ban today on tub baths and showers at Mt. Holyoke college—but the girls found plenty of sympathy from Harvard men.

President Roswell G. Ham, at an emergency chapel session of the student body, said that the shortage was serious.

Artesian wells supply water for the school and lack of rain in the past several weeks has left them low.

There's enough, he explained, to provide sufficient pressure to keep the water system in operation, but baths and showers are taboo—and laundry must be kept at a minimum.

Editors of The Crimson, Harvard's undergraduate daily, wired the president of the Mt. Holyoke student council that word of the girls' "dire waterless plight" disturbed them.

They offered to loan their showers and volunteered the services of the college publication as headquarters where other Harvard men may register their willingness to share in this gallantry.

"Now," wired The Crimson editors, "when you feel like girls in the soap suds and when even unwarmed Yale men won't come within ten feet of you, Harvard wants to make friends."

585 Aviation Cadets Start Flight Training

RANDOLPH FIELD, Sept. 25 (AP)—Transfer of 585 aviation cadets, graduates of 10 primary schools, to basic centers for an additional 10 weeks of military flight training was announced by the Gulf Coast air corps training center.

Randolph Field and Goodfellow field, San Angelo, Tex., and the Civil Base Flying school at Brady, Tex., will receive all except 43 of the future aviators, the group of 43 going to the Southeast Air Corps training center field at Augusta, Ga.

This new class, 42-B, will report to their new stations Tuesday, Sept. 30, and Wednesday, Oct. 1.

Randolph Field is to receive 308 student pilots—38 from Cuero, Tex.; 38 from Stamford, Tex.; 47 from Corsicana, Tex.; 42 from Oklahoma City, Okla.; 70 from east St. Louis, Ill.; and 73 from Muskogee, Okla.

Of Goodfellow's 134 cadets, 77 will be from Fort Worth, Tex.; 40 from Tulsa, Okla.; and 17 from Sikeston, Mo. Tulsa and Sikeston are also sending 50 men each to Brady.

Augusta's 43 student pilots comprise the entire graduating class at Pine Bluff, Ark.

Many class members are from college units which were formed at the close of the 1941 spring term.

Now It's Here And Now It's Not Here

HOUSTON, Sept. 25 (AP)—Floyd Baskley, radio station employe who lives near here, drove his auto up his garage driveway shortly after midnight during the height of the hurricane.

Just as he prepared to drive in, the garage, swept up suddenly by the wind, disappeared.

Baskley hunted for it with a flashlight but found no trace.

He was out hunting for it again today.
