FDR Address Expected To Be Significant

Defense Strikes Will Be Discussed By President

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt made no engagements except the usual Monday conference with legislative leaders today so he could finish his speech for tonight's Navy Day dinner—a speech expected to be of paramount significance in the field of international affairs and national defense.

The entire nation joined the navy today in observance of a day set aside to honor the ships and men of the fleet. Vessels in port donned the full dress of signal pennants but for those churning Atlantic and Pacific swells it was battle dress as usual.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his first talk on international affairs in six weeks, is expected to stress not only the war in Europe currently affecting America but also enter-related domestic problems such as defense strikes. It was believed he would mention specifically the strike in coal mines owned by companies who turn out defense-vital steel.

The speech also may discuss the progress of the navy in keeping Atlantic sea lanes clear of hostile craft. It will be delivered shortly after 10 p. m. Eastern Standard Time, and will be broadcast over all the major networks.

Mr. Roosevelt's last major speech was on Sept. 11.

In a preliminary Navy Day statement—sent as a letter to Secretary Knox—Mr. Roosevelt praised the nation's sea force for its readiness to assume the role of front line defender, and at the same time he called on "all Americans x x x to pledge to their navy a support involving willing sacrifice of personal, sectional and group interests in order that we may remain united and unconquerable."

Although numerous observations were arranged for the evening, they were closed to the public because of the existing emergency.

Detour On '60' To Open Tuesday

It was still Panhandle and Amarillo via Borger today for west-bound motorists on U. S. Highway 60.

Two miles west of White Deer, a two-foot "lake" has covered an area extending from north of the railroad tracks, through the railroad culvert, and south to the highway. Extent of the lake is about 1 1/2 miles in all.

A five-mile dirt road detour around the "lake" was under construction today by the Texas Highway department, working out of the Panhandle office. The road will be open from one-half mile east of the lake, then south a half mile, then due west to intersect the highway, according to the engineer in charge.

He said the detour would be too wet to travel today, but a main-tainer was in operation and the detour should be open tomorrow.

The Texas Highway department information from the local office and Amarillo are being routed through Borger.

There is no trouble on U. S. 60 east of Pampa, or on any state highway in Gray county, the local office of the Texas Highway department said today.

Members of the Texas Highway patrol were busy directing traffic on U. S. 60 west of here.

Shortage Of Private Telephones Reported

Government priorities orders are making themselves felt in Pampa's telephone industry.

L. E. Johnson, manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here, said today that because of an inability to obtain needed materials it now is impossible to install private telephones in many sections of the city.

"It's a loss of revenue to the company," Mr. Johnson said, "but because of the government priorities on materials we find it impossible to fill all orders."

The telephone company official stated that in many instances the company is forced to request subscribers with private lines to share their lines in order that their neighbors can have even a party line telephone.

HEARD

That Joe Gayden drove to Lake McClellan yesterday and borrowed a row boat so that he could get to a couple of his oil wells located in the center of the "McConnell Lake," five miles west of Pampa on the road to Borger. Owners of other wells in the lake in turn borrowed the boat from Joe who has suggested that the owners get together and buy a row boat.

15 Burned To Crisp In Alabama Bus Crash

Filibuster Not Likely, Says Texan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—A statement by Secretary Hull that "We won't be in any way until Hitler decrees that we shall" was presented to the senate today as it opened debate on a measure to remove the neutrality restrictions on American shipping.

The senate foreign relations committee made public the testimony that Hull, Admiral Harold R. Stark and others gave in closed session considered the bill which it approved Saturday, 13 to 10.

The legislation, as passed by the house, would repeal the neutrality act ban on the arming of merchantmen. The committee broadened this to repeal also of the prohibition against American ships' entering belligerent ports and combat zones.

Hull testified that the United States had "No purpose or intent to rush out somewhere and get into a real war" but was pursuing a course dictated by "the law of self defense."

"It is all important that we defend our rights on the Atlantic against an avowed movement of force and lawlessness," he said. "We should pursue a somewhat resolute course, not enough to be foolhardy, not enough to get unnecessarily into trouble, but enough to command the respect that one brave man has for another."

Stark, chief of naval operations, expressed his opposition to the repeal of the successful attacks against merchantmen in the current war had been aimed at unarmed ships.

Following committee approval of the expanded measure, White House lieutenants called for final action within two weeks.

Although Nye's remark seemed to hint at prolonged debate, Connally (D-Tex.) of the relations group held this view:

"I do not believe it will take more than two weeks to pass the bill through the senate. Although there have been mumblings about a filibuster, this is not the kind of a situation in which anybody would conduct a filibuster."

"This is a time of emergency, and I do not believe the country will stand for any filibustering tactics. You can filibuster little issues, but not big ones. We have the votes and the people know it."

Connally remarked that several opponents of administration foreign policy had assured him they had no intention of seeking to delay action on the pending measure.

Lewis Defies FDR--Miners On Strike

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—The United Mine workers claimed today that practically all of the 53,000 coal miners in captive mines of the nation remained idle in answer to a strike order of President John L. Lewis despite a second appeal by President Roosevelt that the miners stick to their jobs.

K. G. Adams, press official of the UMW, said Lewis would reply this afternoon to Mr. Roosevelt's second request that the mines continue in operation in the interest of national defense.

Adams said all captive mines were shut down, and that a "stack of telegrams from local unions endorsed Lewis' rejection of the President's first request, that mines remain at work pending further negotiations."

The UMW claimed it had about 95 per cent of the miners in the captive mines organized, with nearly 100 per cent strength in some mines. Captive mines are so-called because they are owned by steel and other corporations which use practically all their output.

Principal issue at stake was the union demand for a union shop, under which all miners must become union members after serving a probationary period of employment.

UMW officials at Pittsburgh said 5,000 miners at the Jones and Laughlin and Allegheny Ludlum mines, which have already granted the union shop, were at work, but that 25,000 others were idle. There was no picketing at the western Pennsylvania mines. A few miners showed up for work at southwestern Pennsylvania mines but they were closed.

In southern West Virginia mines were picketed and 11,000 to 12,000 miners were idle, while in the northern part of the state there was no picketing but 1,800 were idle.

At Lynch, Ky., there were 4,300 miners out at the U. S. Coal and Coke company, a subsidiary of Unit-

17 Left Dead By Tornadoes In Arkansas

Twister Injures At Least 200 At Hamburg

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 27 (AP)—Tornadoes struck two widely separated rural sections of Arkansas last night, leaving 17 known dead, scores injured and many homeless.

A twister swept into the little southeastern Arkansas town of Hamburg shortly before midnight, killing at least 12 persons and injuring an estimated 200.

Some six hours earlier another tornado roared across the Arkansas river near Dardanelle in north-central Arkansas, killing five and injuring at least 15.

The dead at Hamburg, a community of about 1,500, were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Jordan and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Ullis Walker and son, Clayton, 21, Mrs. Charley Kelly, Mrs. Tom Collins, Travis Sawyer and his three-year-old son, Mrs. Vester Austin, 40, and a negro named Robinson.

Those dead in the Dardanelle section were Mrs. Bill Price and her mother, Mrs. Alfred McDonald of Oak-E-Doak, and Minnie Bruton and her two-months-old daughter, of Dardanelle.

Negro quarters at Hamburg were reported practically demolished.

Mercury Drops To 38 In Coldest Day Of Season

The coldest day thus far this season came to Pampa today with a minimum of 38 degrees recorded at 7:30 a. m. today. September 29 was the date of the previous autumn low, when the reading was 39 degrees.

Rain, a balmy Indian summer day, and colder, was the scale of weather in Pampa over the week-end.

Temperatures rose from a brisk 38 at 7:30 a. m. to reach 49 around noon. The forecast was fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler tonight; rising temperatures.

Sunday was a typical autumn day, with a maximum temperature of 71, minimum of 49.

British Laborer Working Too Hard, Reports Delegate

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—British "man behind the man at the front"—her factory laborer—is working too hard and long for productive efficiency, says a British delegate to a world labor parley opening today.

Here to attend the first conference since the outbreak of war of the International labor organization, an arm of the League of Nations, Sir Frederick Leggett, British government delegate, said the task in England was to cut down hours, not increase them.

Chief interest of the 169 delegates representing 33 nations focused on labor issues raised by the war and the spread of totalitarianism.

Explaining that many British workers labored 70 hours a week, and that the average for the armament industry was about 60 hours, Sir Frederick observed in an interview:

"Fifty-six hours should be the maximum for heavy labor, 60 hours for anyone. We want to eliminate seven-day shifts. A man will accomplish more with one day of rest."

Nazis Push Steadily Ahead Toward Rostov

'There Is No Retreat,' Says Jap Premier

"TOKYO, Oct. 27 (AP)—An unswerving course of "ever-expanding progression" was charted for Japan today by Premier General Hideki Tojo who served notice that "no international pressure can disturb me."

"There is no retreat!" The premier told a group of 200 public officials in a plea for internal solidarity yesterday at Osaka, Japan's great industrial center.

Speaking as home minister, Tojo, who holds the home and war ministry portfolios in addition to the premiership, declared firmly:

"World environment is changing so quickly we can not tell what lies in store for Japan but x x x we must go on and develop in ever-expanding progression."

(United States Navy Secretary Knox said in Washington last Friday that a collision in the Pacific was inevitable if Japan persisted in her course of expansion.)

"Natural difficulties will arise," said Tojo, who took over the Japanese government a week ago Saturday.

"But if Japan's hundred millions merge and go forward nothing can stop us."

"If this state of preparedness is completed, diplomacy becomes an easy matter; wars can be fought on an ease, x x x Unity! Unity! That is what makes people one and a whole, solving all problems."

Japan's policy has been stated time and again to include establishment of a "greater east Asia co-prosperity sphere" settlement of

The entire cast of some 160 persons reported for the final dress rehearsal Sunday afternoon and the cast was worked from 2:30 p. m. until nearly 6 o'clock putting on the finishing touches.

Director Ken Bennett said he was completely satisfied with the show and said it appeared to be the best local talent production ever staged in Pampa.

He was county attorney for Wichita county for two years after that and then returned to private practice.

Hitler Headed For Oil And Rail Center

Moscow Pressure Lessens; British Demand Action

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Oct. 26 (Delayed) (AP)—Russian dispatches said today a mass assault by 100 German tanks was beaten off on an important sector before Rostov but the Germans were continuing to bring up reinforcements.

The situation on the southern front admittedly was heavy with danger as the Germans drove simultaneously on Rostov and on the approaches to the Crimea.

(By The Associated Press)

When Adolf Hitler's armies pounding at the gates of Moscow and Rostov in the west, Russia announced today that a small Japanese patrol had attacked a guard post on her far eastern frontier.

This lash, like many in the past, may have been merely an isolated incident, but against the background of Japanese troop concentration in Manchukuo and the growing question of Japan's intentions as a pact partner of Germany it bulked larger in its implications.

Only yesterday the new soldier-premier of Japan, General Hideki Tojo, pleading for internal solidarity for Japan to meet her destiny, declared for an "ever-expanding progression" for the empire—a course in which "no international pressure can disturb me."

"There is no retreat!" Tojo told his audience of public officials at Osaka.

The Russian-Japanese frontier skirmish occurred last Thursday, according to Tass, official Russian news agency, whose dispatch from Vladivostok said 20 Japanese soldiers attacked frontier guards near the village of Raskino.

Tass said that there were some wounded on each side and that the Japanese abandoned some of their arms and ammunition on Soviet soil.

Russia's immediate, vital concern, however, still was the German drive on Moscow on the central front and Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus, in the south. The hurried Red army was reported to have yielded ground, but strong defenses still barred the Germans from their twin goals.

The German high command said that Russian counter-attacks designed to halt the German advance on Rostov and the industrially rich Donets basin had failed and it gave Italian comrades in the invasion ranks the major credit for the counter-attack.

"The enemy was thrown back with heavy and bloody casualties and left several hundred prisoners in the hands of our allies," said Hitler's daily communique.

As for other operations, including the drive on Moscow, the Hitler command had only this to say: "Offensive operations in the east are making further progress in spite of unfavorable weather conditions." German dispatches from the central front, however, indicated that the Germans had smashed their way near the Donets, having broken the Russian resistance on a broad sector.

Russian dispatches declared that a mass attack by 100 German tanks had been beaten off in an important sector before Rostov but that the Germans continued to bring up reinforcements. The Germans were driving simultaneously against Rostov and along the approaches to the Crimea.

A new press estimate from Kuibyshev, seat of part of the Russian government on the Volga, put German dead and wounded at 3,500,000 men, apart from a huge toll in armament. The Moscow radio, reported that the Red air force had destroyed 500 German planes on the ground alone in the week of Oct. 11-18.

"The enemy still is powerful but does not have the possibilities for considerable reinforcements while we have every possibility to increase our forces and means of waging war," said the Kuibyshev newspaper Volga Commune.

The Russian high command was customarily brief in its report of the

Miss Tripplehorn Will Marry Next Month In Denver

Announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Betty Tripplehorn of Fort Worth, a frequent Pampa visitor, to First Lieut. Everett Crockett Moulton, Jr., of Fort Smith, Ark., has been made by Miss Tripplehorn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Tripplehorn, 1612 Westmoreland Place, of Fort Worth.

The marriage of Miss Tripplehorn and Lieutenant Moulton, a member of the Army Medical corps at Fort Meade, S. D., will be solemnized Nov. 8 in Denver.

The bride-elect, who is a sister of Jim and Bob Tripplehorn of Pampa, was a bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Albertene Schuilkey and Bob Tripplehorn.

Miss Tripplehorn, who attended Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., and majored in dress designing at the New York School of Fine and Applied Arts (Parsons), was presented last fall by the Steeplechase club at its annual debutante ball, and was honored shortly afterward by her parents at a formal dance at River Crest Country club. She is a member of Theta Tau Epsilon sorority.

The bridegroom-elect is the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Moulton of Fort Smith. He received his B. S. in 1937 at Northwestern university, and his M. D. from the medical school of Northwestern university. After internship at Evanston hospital in Evanston, Ill., he was commissioned a first lieutenant in the United States army and is now stationed at Fort Mead, where the young couple will live. Lieutenant Moulton is a member of Phi Delta Theta and Phi Rho Sigma, social fraternities, and of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Epsilon, and Alpha Omega Alpha fraternities, the latter two honorary medical groups.

The wedding ceremony will be read by the bridegroom's great uncle, Dr. C. F. Gates, Congregational minister, who lived in Turkey 50 years, having gone there as a young missionary and later becoming president of Robert college in Constantinople, which post he held 23 years. He has lived in Denver since his retirement several years ago.

Miss Goldie Tripplehorn, a faculty member at Stephens college, will be her sister's only attendant. Mr. and Mrs. Tripplehorn and the bride-elect will leave Nov. 5 and will be joined in Denver by their only daughter, the bridegroom-elect and his parents.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Labor's Opportunity

The recent statement of the President of the United States, in which he said that labor must now forego strikes in the interest of national defense, should be pondered with care by the labor leaders. The President's words, beyond doubt, reflected the opinion of the overwhelming majority of Americans.

This government has established elaborate arbitration machinery to protect labor against any conceivable injustice. The employers of this nation accept without question the decisions made. It is a segment of labor leadership which keeps industrial unrest going, and which holds to the "rule or ruin" principle.

Vote "No" Or Don't Kick

Next year the American people will pay the heaviest taxes in our history. They will pay willingly every dime that is needed for real defense. But they will resent being forced to pay now for government "luxuries" and non-essentials.

Political spending for unnecessary activities is nothing short of a disgrace. For instance, costly WPA "art projects" have again been given official approval. And that is done at a time when the cost of defense will be a great hardship on small incomes, no less than big, and when we are told business cannot continue as usual, and when all must "sacrifice".

It has been reliably estimated that the normal cost of government could be cut by a billion or more dollars a year without imperiling or eliminating any essential activity. But Congress won't move a single step in the direction of economy until the people demand it through their action at the polls. So don't kick at waste until you are ready to vote an emphatic "No" against individuals and agencies that countenance waste.

The Nation's Press

AMERICA: NATION OR COLONY? (Chicago Tribune)

The news from Japan has aroused the British press to a chorus for action—action by the United States. America must declare war on Japan at once if the Japanese make any further move in the Far East, declares the London News-Chronicle, adding that we have the major responsibility in that area. A Japanese attack on Russia might be a blessing in disguise if it brought the United States into the war, the editors continue.

The London Daily Mail says: "The time for decisive American action is at hand," adding that "Japanese aggression is America's business." The fact that the United States has neither the motive nor the means for inflicting a major military defeat on the Japanese does not enter the calculations of British gentlemen who urge, "Let's you and him fight." It is British trade, not American trade, that has been stricken by the Japanese invasion of China. Our own China trade is less than our trade with Japan. It is British imperial satrapies that are menaced by the Japanese move to the south, not American possessions.

Japan can, if she wishes, cut the sea-route from our Pacific coast to the Russian port of Vladivostok, and no military or naval measures this country can take can prevent her from doing so. The route runs within sight of her main islands. It extends thousands of miles beyond the effective range of the United States fleet.

MURIEL LESTER WILL RETURN TO ENGLAND

So much interest has been aroused by the case of Muriel Lester that we are happy to be able to report that she is to be permitted to return to England "on the earliest boat." As our readers know, Miss Lester, while on her way to fill speaking engagements in this country, was taken by British authorities off the American ship on which she was bound from South Am-

THE UN-AMERICAN ACTS OF MOTION

PICTURE LEADERS

The testimony at the trial of George Browne and Willie Bioff should shock the American people. Here we have representatives of the largest motion picture corporations—Loew's, 20th Century-Fox, Paramount, Warner Brothers and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, admitting that they cowardly attempted to buy peace by paying union leaders to hold off their strike orders. They did not care what became of the little producers. They would not take a stand for the principles on which this country was founded—that all men have certain divine rights to pursue happiness.

They were so mundane, so selfish, thinking so much of the material things and so little of freedom and principles, that they were willing to allow these racketeers to rob their fellow-workers and to establish practices that eventually would destroy our country, if continued.

It is hard to censure the working man for falling for racketeers, when leaders, such as Nicholas M. Schenck and Louis B. Mayer, were so cowardly as to pay tribute instead of exposing the racket and fighting for the inherent rights of every working man in the land to work without being obliged to join unprincipled labor groups.

We need rich men who are courageous. We need men who are willing to sacrifice momentary profits in order that we may all be more nearly free. Schenck, Mayer and all the others should bow their heads in shame.

THE EASY ROUTE TO COMMUNISM

When the government will not protect workers in their right to work, without paying tribute to unregulated labor unions, and will demand that the employer pay the wages that a loaded, socialistic, inexperienced arbitration committee recommends, then this is the easy route to state socialism and communism. Especially is this an easy route when the government tells the employer that if he does not acquiesce to all the demands of irresponsible labor unions the government will take over the plant.

Private enterprise cannot exist when organized, racketeering laborers can demand higher wages than other laborers are able to get for the same service, and the government can demand that the employer attempt to pay these arbitrary wages.

The Labor Mediation Board is composed of seven men: four are inexperienced, socialistic and communistically inclined politicians. They are Harry Hopkins, Sidney Hillman, Henry Wallace and Leon Henderson.

"-We have at the head of our government a man without wealth producing experience selecting a mediation board to determine the relative value of services. He has appointed a committee of the same kind, giving them authority to set an arbitrary wage and to force employers to accept this wage or suffer the loss of state protection.

The result, if this practice is continued, can be nothing but the same kind of government that exists in Russia and Germany. There is no need of going to Germany to free the German people, when we are practicing the very same tactics in this country that have brought about a Hitler and a Stalin in Germany and Russia.

When workers can be forced by unions to buy and read only what the union approves, and when the employer can be forced to collect dues from all employees or suffer a strike and have the government take over his plant, then we are on the easy and sure route to state socialism and communism.

"NOT PRINTED AT GOVERNMENT EXPENSE"

I get a lot of mail from government officers and agencies which is nothing but propaganda, on which I find this statement: "Not printed at government expense."

I received such a letter the other day from Senate Leader Alben W. Barkley. I wrote and asked him how much he paid for the job and how many pieces he had printed. I received no answer.

Unless one knows whether these politicians pay the actual cost or some nominal charge, one does not know whether the propaganda one receives is really paid by us, as private laborers, or whether it is paid for by our government overlords as they would have us believe.

HAROLD'S HARD WEEK

It was a hard week for Secretary Ickes, First, a United States district judge held that the Aluminum Company of America is not a monopoly, trust, or trade restrainer. Secretary Ickes decided long ago, though, that the company was a monopoly. On that ground he refused to sell federal power to it. That decision is one reason for the country's aluminum shortage.

NERVOUS PASSENGER

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 27.—The movie industry is simmering in a sort of chocolate quandary. It's the candy business. Picture producers are jealous of the profits made by exhibitors from confection counters and vending machines in the lobbies of theaters.

There's no doubt that the corn-syrup, glucose, cocoa, and other healthful ingredients is paying off in millions. Quite often, in complaining letters to film factories here, theater managers snarl: "Last week I made more money selling candy and nuts in the lobby than I did by showing your latest lousy picture."

A crack like that to a studio executive is likely to set him back two or three months in his fight against stomach ulcers, an occupational disease here. Even the sight or mention of a chocolate-and-peanut-covered marshmallow-caramel bar is enough to give some picture company officials the burps.

CHOMPS FOIL VILLAINS

There are many in Hollywood, especially in the creative departments, who believe on purely artistic grounds that the eating of candy and popcorn in theaters should be discouraged. What happens to realism and suspense if, while the escaping hero is creeping past the prison guard in the chilly night, somebody near you crumples a crackling nugget of cellophane? What gnawing fear can a customer feel if, while watching a little group of castaways starving on an island, he munches on fruit-and-almond nougat? What vicious emotion can he experience if, just as the surrendering heroine offers her lips in a soft-focus closeup, the little boy in the seat behind hunches forward and assails him with fumes of melting licorice?

Of course, anybody who worries about such matters brands himself as a mere aesthete—too sensitive to gastronomic and intellectual indigestion. The more practical producers are not trying to take candy away from the cinema. Their ambition, echoed by the movie trade papers, is to find some way of wanting a slice of the candy practice.

Many theaters now screen brief trailers advertising the gooey goodies for sale in the lobbies. Just before showing such a film, a Redondo Beach theater tempts the customers by blowing through the ventilators a canister of cooking candy. A Glendale manager has introduced a giveaway scheme that has upped candy sales: Numbers are pasted on all packages and sacks, and people in the audience who hold lucky-numbered wrappers get free boxes of chocolates.

SWEET PLAN

What can the picture companies do about all this? If they simply demand a share of the proceeds, exhibitors rightfully will laugh in their faces.

People You Know

Junior Frasher, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Frasher who live a mile north of Kingsmill, is now in Indianapolis, Ind., where he is working for R. C. A. in the daytime and going to R. C. A. school two nights a week. His brother has been with R. C. A. for several years, and has an important job with the company. Nobody ever called Junior anything but "Junior" or "Jar" while he went to school here—he graduated last year—but apparently he decided he had outgrown the nickname "Junior" because he is now going by his real name of "Greg" in Indianapolis, where nobody, except his brother, will ever know that he was ever called anything besides "Greg."

"I got so fed up on the job when one of them came walking down the aisle selling pillows (which they gave away on the Santa Fe) I pretended I was sleeping and at just the right moment I stuck my foot under him. I got myself up again more than the rest of the trip altogether." In his exam to get the job in R. C. A., Junior was fifth in a class of 25, but that was not surprising because in high school he was one of the smartest boys in school and especially in mathematics. He was a member of the basketball team last year and the year before.

VAN DOREN PROBES THE REVOLUTION'S 'FIFTH COLUMN'

In these times, with the world absorbed and aghast at "Fifth Columns" boring from within and all the devious means employed to break a warring country by corrupting its loyalties, Carl Van Doren's new contribution to American history comes with special significance.

Titled "Secret History of the American Revolution" (Viking, $3.75) Van Doren's characteristically thorough work is really the story only of a phase of that period, the story of the intrigues by which the British sought to tempt American loyalties from the struggling new country by promises of money, ease, and honor. Of course the principal emphasis is on the detailed account of the treachery of Benedict Arnold in the betrayal which made his name (until Quisling, at least) a veritable synonym for treason.

Van Doren secured access to the secret service papers of Sir Henry Clinton, British commander-in-chief in New York, hitherto unsearched by historical detectives, and from them he has drawn the material to tell, with detail and authenticity never before possible, the sordid story of the secret war of intrigue which ran foully beneath the clear and honorable stream of the Revolution.

Most of us think of the Arnold incident as an isolated one, and so it was in magnitude. But Arnold was only one of many American leaders who were the objects of abortive approaches (unsuccessful to men like Ethan Allen, Israel Putnam, Silas Deane, John Sullivan, Philip Schuyler, even Washington himself. When the whole scope of the British campaign to undermine the Revolution by corrupting its leaders is shown, the wonder is, as Washington himself said, not that a few were false, but that so many were true.

New angles established by Van Doren's research show that Arnold had been dealing with the British for a full year before his treason reached its climax, that his wife, Peggy Shippen, was fully sympathetic with and involved in his plans. The story of Arnold's plot to surrender West Point builds to a climax matching that of any better story, and has never been told.

Behind The News In Washington

By PAUL MANNING

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Eton Square is a breathing spot in the heart of London's swank West End. It is surrounded on four sides by austere buildings which once were the town dwellings of London's nobility.

Each house had two fluted columns on each side of the front door and as you enter the hallway you get the impression you've stepped back into the mauve decade. Glass chandeliers, curving stairways leading to the second floor, down which lords and ladies once descended to a ballroom of sweeping elegance. Somehow it's reminiscent of Fifth Avenue during the twenties when a few families still managed to maintain their brownstone front mansions in the face of an encroaching city and mounting taxes.

Most of these London buildings have not been inhabited by their owners for a number of years. Each winter, however, during the past few years at the height of every debate season, they were reopened for the debutante parties.

Today most of those homes still stand but the square has entered another phase—German bombs have turned each home into emergency mortuaries and after every raid soldiers and rescue workers help the morticians place along burnished ballroom floors, beneath glass chandeliers which only a short time before twinkled for the belles of London, the scores of bodies salvaged from the ruins of demolished buildings. After a heavy raid, these bodies extend row upon row up each winding stairway to the landing of the second floor.

UNBLITZED BUSESSES

Number 13 bus line, which runs through the center of London out into the suburban section where thousands of medium and low income workers live, still operates during air raids.

Blitz or no blitz, the men who drive and the girls who take tickets on this line continue to work as if nothing unusual occurred. During the dark winter of 1940 they said they'd never stop to take refuge in air raid shelters. And they didn't. When other lines stopped during the height of a raid all London knew that the No. 13 busses would still be running.

It was slow going at times. Several of the big double deckers were demolished by bombs and those inside killed. At one time, due to cratering which blocked roadways, a No. 13 would have to weave all over the face of the city before it could be able to get back to its normal route.

"Gone With the Wind" continues to break all records at the Empire theater in Leicester Square. Every morning seven days a week at 8:30 there is a lineup one block long. All day that line continues to form, diminish, and reform. "Those who wait are soldiers, airmen, firemen, girls of the women's services, charwomen, messenger boys, bank clerks, all waiting patiently for the low-priced seats on their day away from work."

There's a heart throb at every step in big, rambling Euston Street railroad station on Sunday night. Soldiers, sailors and airmen, they've been to London for 24 hours and on Sunday night their all-too-brief leave is over. By the hundreds you see them saying goodby.

They don't say much until the train is about to leave and then they all begin talking rapidly, about little things. They smile and joke a lot of them do, until that last half moment, and then they look grimly sad.

The girls and wives and mothers also laugh and talk about little things until the train is about to start and then, too, their laughter turns to a smiling grimace—through tears. For as the carriage doors slam shut and the train begins slowly to pull up the track the girls and wives and mothers of the airmen and sailors, particularly, know that a too high percentage will not return.

Today's War Analysis

(This daily feature, conducted by DeWitt Mackenzie, is written today by Fred Vandenschmidt.)

It was 25 days ago that Adolf Hitler sent a tremendous army into the battle of Moscow, promising the tired soldiers in field rye that they were beginning "the last great decisive battle of this year."

A week later, on Oct. 9, he felt able to give out through his propaganda machine the claim that this battle was won, that seventy Russian divisions were hopelessly entrapped before Moscow, that Russia's power to resist had been utterly destroyed. One Berlin spokesman went so far as to say that the Russians had no army left in Europe which could be dangerous "for more than two weeks."

The clear implication was given to the world that all the Germans then had to do was round up hundreds of thousands of prisoners in the pockets on the Moscow front and walk right into Moscow where, it was hinted, speedy capitulation was in order.

In other words, the Germans said on October 9 that Hitler's "last great decisive battle of this year" was over.

But today, 25 days after the battle began and 18 days after German propaganda "ended" it, the Russian armies of Moscow are offering the most powerful sort of resistance, Joseph Stalin's marshals are organizing a second line of resistance, Stalin himself sits in the Kremlin and Hitler has broken his latest promise to his soldiers.

Just about all the German people have had out of the "last great decisive battle of this year" are rows of figures intended to represent Russian prisoners, Russian tanks, Russian planes and Russian cannon, none of them edible and few of them exhilarating.

More significant is the fact that the German soldier, whose faith is all-important to the Fuehrer, is provided with yet another example of a Hitler promise. In other words, he can see for himself that Hitler's "last great decisive battle of this year" was in precisely the same category with Hitler's promise to the Czechs at Munich: "This is the last territorial demand I have to make in Europe."

ing the height of the raids last winter and spring have now returned and they, along with the more thousands who are eating in hotels and restaurants until the moments when raids will force them back into their homes, have made eating a real problem.

Some laughingly say the city needs an army so one can again eat in quiet, except for the crump of bombs. Go into any restaurant on any given night and the first question asked is, "Have you booked a table?"

Business is that good. Unfortunately, however, food runs out quickly and unless you are reasonably early there will be no food available, due to the ration allotment which was figured for these restaurants a year ago when the population was considerably reduced. Service, too, is very poor now because most of the able waiters have been called up into the services. And like many of the luxury hotels which no longer accept new customers for lodging because they lack the staff to handle the business many restaurants after they have reached the saturation point at night lock the front door.

SPEARMAN TO PLAY GORILLAS TONIGHT AT HARVESTER PARK

No Admission Will Be Paid; Public Invited

Jack Davis will present his high school Gorillas on the home field for the first time tonight when they battle the Spearman Lynx. Game time will be 7:30 o'clock and no admission will be charged.

The game was originally scheduled for last Thursday night but was postponed because of rain. Tonight the boys will play in typical football weather on a field that will be fairly dry following yesterday's sun and today's wind.

Spearman will send a team on the field outweighing the Gorillas five pounds per player. Spearhead of the Spearman attack and also a power on defense, will be a boy named Jacobs who calls signals, passes, punts and backs up the line. He weighs 174 pounds and will be remembered as an outstanding player on the Spearman basketball team last season. Three sack backs will assist Jacobs.

A couple of brothers, playing side by side, have been line standouts for the Lynx. They are F. Novock, tackle, and R. Novock, end, and each weighs 150 pounds.

Coach Davis has named a starting lineup that will average about 140 pounds per player. Biggest boy on the team will be Davis, who weighs all of 183 pounds.

The Gorilla backfield will average 136 pounds which means that Coach Davis will have to depend on speed and tricks to outsmart the Lynx. He is wondering if he can throw up a defense to stop Jacobs.

Given a dry field, this might be able to pass the Gorillas to their first victory. The 140 pound, heavyweight backfield, has passed and punter while Enloe, halfback, and Kuehl, end, have been looking promising as receivers. Manry and Stevens, a couple of 135 pounders, round out the backfield.

Officials for the game will be Oscar Finger, referee; C. P. McWright, headlinesman; J. H. Johnson, field judge; Homer Craig, umpire.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (The Special News Service)—After surveying the week's football results, there seems to be a question of whether Army's Earl Blaik or Harvard's Dick Harlow should get the nomination for the coach-of-the-year award for what they've done with teams that weren't drawing anything but laughs when the season started. . . . Maybe it would be safer to see what happens next before we decide. . . . Dick Powell, the movie actor, who is here to do a Broadway show, will manage Billy Goode while Paul Moss is away in Hollywood. . . . ## Harvesters Thinking Only Of Lubbock Despite Anger

Coaches Buck Prejean and Mac Best won't have to drive their Harvesters this week or any other week this season. The boys are so mad they wanted to start twice-daily workouts today.

And what made the Harvesters mad? Well, Mr. and Mrs. Fan, did you read press reports from Amarillo in Sunday's papers in which the Amarillo Sandies were described as virtual winners of district 1, following their victory over Lubbock and that Plainview was named as the team in the district that could give the Sandies a scare?

The Harvesters not only read the stories but they read between the lines and it made them mad. . . . This afternoon the Harvesters start preparing for their invasion of Lubbock Saturday and unless the boys injure each other in scrimmages all but George Neef will be ready to go Saturday. Neef is out for the season with a knee injury.

The Harvesters are not thinking of Amarillo this week, or next week, or even the next week. They are thinking only of Lubbock. Am-

Moanin' Matty Bell Personally Scouted Texas-Rice Slaughter

By RICHARD WEST
Associated Press Staff

Texas meets Southern Methodist Saturday and this crucial Southwest conference clash should provide a footnote to science—the physical result when an irresistible force meets an immovable object.

A so-far irresistible Texas side has engaged five opponents and averaged nearly 40 points a game in doing so.

Now they meet the immovable Methodist tutored by Madison Bell, a defensive genius.

In football's scroll of honor Mr. Bell of the Moanin' Bells is known as one who can ably meet a desperate situation and solve it.

On his side he has every psychological advantage. He is the underdog. His team will have rested two weeks. It's home-coming on the Methodist camp grounds. And S. M. U. dislikes Texas.

Against him come a group of poised boys who know how to score and score at will.

Mr. Bell personally scouts the Longhorns and fills his notebook each year.

It works. Never yet has a Dana Bible-coached Texas team beaten his Mustangs.

Saturday the Moanin' says plenty. Texas regulars played only twenty minutes in slaughtering Rice 40-0 then turned the job over to the reserves who scored four more.

White Deer Beats Perryton 12 To 6 In Mud Battle

Special To The NEWS

WHITE DEER, Oct. 27.—In a virtual upset, the White Deer Bucks defeated the Perryton Rangers in a conference game, 12 to 6.

The field was almost covered with water and after the first quarter the turf became very slippery and footing was precarious.

In the first quarter, Perryton made one first down and White Deer two, before Willie Urbanczyk, Bucks' quarterback, went over for the first score. The kick was low.

Taking the ball about their own 35 yard line, on the third play, Perryton went through for another first down, but were forced to kick on the next series of plays. Milton returned the kick to about the 30, from which point little Gilbert Morris, zigzagging behind perfect interference, carried the ball across field for the second touchdown, to end the quarter, 12 to 0.

On the second down, White Deer got the ball on a fumble and Perryton was penalized 5 yards. Dropping the ball cost the Bucks considerable yardage and Hourigan kicked out about the 18 yard line. Mullins of Perryton took the ball on his own 18, and made a spectacular dash all the way to the payoff, making the score 12 to 6. The kicker dropped the ball, then picked it up and attempted to go around end, but was downed.

A short punt gave the Bucks the ball on their own 40, and Hourigan kicked up seven yards. After a penalty, giving them a first down, White Deer fumbled and Perryton recovered. Nice gains, featuring Reimer, took the ball down the field until the Bucks intercepted a pass. The Bucks made a first down, but again fumbled and the Rangers recovered, ending the half with the ball in Perryton's possession.

Because of fumbles and falls, the third quarter was played mostly behind the lines of scrimmage, with only a few short gains.

A fog so heavy that the players were indistinguishable from the sidelines, came down in the fourth quarter. Perryton perked up and slipped through almost to the goal line, where the Bucks held fast and Perryton attempted nine passes, five incomplete, two complete, and one intercepted. The Bucks attempted only one, which was incomplete.

The Bucks will play their next game, Friday night, at Canadian.

Snorter Beat Broncs With Psychology

By CHARLES CHAMBERLIN
KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27. (AP)—Dewey Snorter Lauster, Oklahoma's 135-pound coach, has long thought player psychology was the most important point in football. He proved it last week.

He is a master of the pep talk and speaks up if reciting a poem. His own flow of words praises and upbraids his players just at the right punch. Many a fellow has blushed in the showers from a verbal punch. A lot of others have regained their confidence with a verbal slap on the back.

Snorter, who looks as mild as a biology professor, talked his team to such a high pitch that it stunned mighty Santa Clara, the west coast's unbeaten pride. The ignominious 16-6 defeat Saturday was one of the greatest upsets ever registered in this region.

It was a psychological triumph for Snorter. He used fighting words to pull his team from the depths of embarrassment after a 40-7 trouncing by Texas.

Back of that dazzling victory was a veteran unit, one which thus far had failed to fit in with Snorter's two-team substitution plan. This veteran group had been riding in the rumble seat while sophomores took the glory in two previous wins. Supposedly, the seniors just couldn't acquaint themselves with Snorter's new tricks.

The sophomores got the bows, the seniors booled. It was a sweet bit of psychology. Snorter thought his old bunch was well cooked Saturday so he shoved it against Santa Clara.

Lufkin-Corpus Christi Tilt In Spotlight

(By The Associated Press)

The state's top-scoring teams—Lufkin and Corpus Christi—collide Friday and that's the big news among the schoolboy football front.

There are other important games but none take the spotlight from this clash, matching the eleven rated No. 1 against the acknowledged power of South Texas.

It is the only game bringing together two undefeated, untied teams and except for the one to be eliminated by tilt, the list is due to remain otherwise the same.

The undefeated, untied list has Lufkin, Corpus Christi, Amarillo, Sweetwater, Paris, Masonic Home (Port Worth), Sunset (Dallas), Temple, Waco, Conroe, Goose Creek and McAllen.

Army And Navy To Play Unbeaten Foes Saturday

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Football fans will be saving their dimes and box tops or pawning their summer suits for any seats at the featured games on this week-end's bill that includes Army vs. Notre Dame, Navy vs. Penn, and Northwestern vs. Minnesota.

Of those six teams, only Northwestern has been beaten although Navy was tied Saturday by a hard-charging Harvard machine, 0 to 0.

Last week-end's prolific firing brought the country's elevens to the November mark with only 11 major unbeaten, untied aggregations and three others tied once or more, though undefeated.

Geographically they are split this way:

Pacific Coast: None.
 Midwest: Minnesota, Notre Dame, Rocky Mountains: Utah (tied twice).
 Southwest: Texas and Texas A. & M.
 South: Vanderbilt, Duke, Mississippi State (tied).
 East: Army, Fordham, Navy (tied), Pennsylvania, Temple, Duquesne.

None has a soft touch this week-end and any of them may be listed among the also-rans Saturday night as are Santa Clara, Villanova, Michigan, Ohio State, Detroit and Rutgers for the first time today.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—It was blue Monday in the stock market today, and most of the day was spent in adjustments.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull declares that the United States has "no purpose or intent to rush out somewhere and get into a real war," and is now pursuing a course dictated by "the law of self defense."

Hull is informed the senate foreign relations committee during the hearings on revision of the neutrality act, and his testimony was made public today.

"It is all important," the secretary said, "that we defend our rights on the Atlantic against an avowed movement of force and lawlessness."

"We should pursue a somewhat resolute course, not enough to be friendly, not enough to get unnecessarily into trouble, but enough to command the respect that one brave man has for another."

"That is what we are thinking about. It may not work out, but that is what we are thinking about."

Hull recommended expansion of the house armament bill to permit American merchant vessels to travel anywhere on the high seas, which the foreign relations group approved by a vote of 13 to 10.

The United States, he testified, faces the task of defending its shipping against a "nest of submarines," and he acknowledged that of course somebody will get hurt now and then.

Asked by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) whether this country was conveying ships, Hull replied: "That is my guess."

Discussing this country's policy toward Germany in the past, the state department head said he had spent six years after Adolf Hitler's rise to power in 1933 in an effort to prevail on the Reich "to observe conditions of peace."

Hull, speaking of German plans to invade Great Britain, said the Nazis "had all of their platforms erected in Berlin for the greatest victory celebration in history." But he added, "our aid to England helped to induce the German generals finally to decide against the invasion and that was called off."

At another point Hull stated that "the best authorities I could find anywhere advised that if Hitler should succeed in his own supreme purpose—and that is his supreme purpose—the law of self defense would be in harmony with each other."

"The laws of neutrality are intended to relate more to warfare that is regional or local or continental, rather than to a world-wide movement of conquest, when every nation discovers that it must involve the law of self defense, and that that tried 18 times in Europe."

Hull expressed the view that every act and utterance of Hitler showed that he was "out to dominate the earth."

"If I am wrong about that," he continued, "you throw me out the window. And I feel perfectly safe in the future."

Josh Lee To Speak At Baptist Meeting

DALLAS, Oct. 27 (AP)—The largest annual Baptist general convention, announced that Dr. W. R. White of Abilene will speak at the meeting, which will be held in Dallas, Nov. 11 to 14.

Dr. W. R. White, executive secretary predicted today.

Eight thousand or more will be present, Dr. Melton anticipated.

Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas will preside over the brotherhood convention with an address.

Pat M. Neff of Waco, president of Baylor university, will deliver a patriotic address at the opening session of the general convention. A. D. Foreman of Houston will also be present.

Iron Ore Plant For Texas Discussed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Construction of a $30,000,000 iron ore smelting plant near DeWittfield, Texas, was discussed today by Rep. Patman (D-Tex.) and executives of the Office of Production Management.

Patman said OPM officials had not studied certain data yet and suggested that they confer again next week. He declines to elaborate on the nature of the data, explaining that he did not want to make any premature statements which might jeopardize the chances of the plant being located in Texas.

Deposits of brown iron ore are in the DeWittfield area, near Marshall, and it has been proposed that they be developed in connection with the defense program. Pig iron produced from the ore could be used in the manufacture of steel.

Baptist Church Revival Enters Second Week

With interest and attendance reaching a new high in the special series of services being conducted at the First Baptist church by Dr. Elmer Ridgeway, noted pastor-evangelist, "old-time revival fires broke out and many united with the church Sunday," according to Dr. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor.

The visiting minister spoke to the largest crowds of the meeting which is entering the second and final week today. The meeting, which up until Sunday had been hindered by inclement weather, promises to be one of the finest the church has ever had, the pastor said.

"Blazing Barley Fields" was the sermon subject of the Sunday evening service. The evangelist used as a basis of his discussion the Old Testament account of the first harvest of the barley fields of Abilene. The speaker painted a vivid word picture of events leading up to the act of arson by Abilene and then made the modern application of the biblical truths.

It was necessary, Dr. Ridgeway said, for Abilene to burn the barley fields of Abilene before the latter would give audience to and do the will of Abilene. The vast audience gave rapt attention as the speaker made point after point reminding his hearers that God sometimes finds it necessary to chastise people before they will heed His call and do His will.

A feature of the Sunday night musical program was special music by the choir under the direction of H. Paul Briggs. Special music which begins promptly at 7:30 o'clock will be announced.

The morning services held at 10 o'clock will run through Friday with no services Saturday. The revival will close next Sunday evening.

MURDER IN PARADISE

BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: The tragedy of two murders at Paradise Lake has renewed the romance between...

IT wasn't in vain, though, that spending spree, because by the way Denny's eyebrows went up...

mind off the jolts life had handed her. Jeanie liked my new hairdo...

JEANIE GOES TO TOWN

CHAPTER XIX

ANOTHER day passed quietly. The letdown was rather hard on me...

"Where have you been keeping yourself, you lumb?" she drawled and turned to give me the kind of smile...

I was glad to know that he hadn't been sitting there in the Whirligig every night, but I was conscious of that crack about his having driven her back from the lake...

IT was fun to be there with Denny. He was in a particularly amusing mood with his endless stories about the assignments the boys had been on...

Jeanie seemed completely done in. She'd spent most of the afternoon with her lawyer and then had gone to the town house and spent the evening going over papers that belonged to her aunt.

THE old Morris house must have seen plenty of romance in its day. I thought, looking up at its huge gloomy bulk in the moonlight...

It was a relief to be back with asphalt under my feet after dirt roads, regardless of their rustic beauty.

"I got there about 7," he said, "and we went out for dinner, and then back to the house because Jeanie had some more things to do before leaving."

Tod came back and started the motor and I looked back at the house. A light glimmered through the open door and Jeanie stood there waving goodby.

Who Invented That Funny Term, 'The Dust Bowl'?

The famed 'Last Man's Club' of the dust storm era in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas will get together for the first time in years next month in Dalhart.

Club members will be guests at a banquet, which will climax the search for the person who coined the term, 'Dust Bowl'.

The Dalhart Texan is offering $50 for information leading to identification of the person who first had printed the term which designated the five-state area.

Every spring since 1935 there has been some dust. But this year it rained. The fall in the first 10 months of the year averaged from 30 to 40 inches, far more than normal.

When the members of the Last Man's club gather around the banquet table they will see familiar sights. In 1935 crows built a nest of barbed wire in an old locust tree at the foot of a sand dune.

They report they encountered bad weather, rain and three snowstorms.

Red Cross Defense Program Calls For Greatest Roll Call Response

America's national defense efforts require a great expansion of all American Red Cross activities, Joe Key, chairman of the Pampa 1941 Red Cross roll call, declared today in urging "all-out" support of the greatest membership roll call in Red Cross history, to be held from November 11 to 30.

"We must go over the top in this roll call," he added, "because the continuance of the national Red Cross program depends upon the success of the local chapters in appealing for members."

Funds realized during the roll call period, he pointed out, will be used to enable the American Red Cross and its chapters to carry on its expanded services to the army and navy and to widen its national defense program for the civilian population.

The Red Cross has more than doubled the number of field directors and medical workers in its employment stationed at army and navy posts and hospitals. Red Cross staffs are at 185 stations and hospitals covering 900 points of military and naval service. Approximately 200 field workers and assistants are dealing with the able-bodied personnel of the army and navy, while another 150 workers, assigned to army and navy hospitals, render medical social service and communication service for convalescent patients as well as plan medically approved recreation.

To facilitate these within-camp activities, Mr. Key said the Red Cross has under way a $1,250,000 construction program to erect Red Cross administration buildings at each of 62 army camps. These buildings contain offices, consultation rooms, living quarters for the Red Cross staff, and a reception room and lecture room for classes in Red Cross first aid and home nursing courses.

He added that the Red Cross also is completely furnishing and operating hospital recreation buildings constructed by the War Department at 65 army stations and general hospitals. The buildings will provide recreational service for con-latest action, merely repeating the names of Khar'kov, Taganrog, Moscow and Maloyaroslavets—the last two on the Moscow front and the others in the south—as the scenes of fighting during the night.

Both the Germans and Russians agreed that Nazi vanguards had forged closer to Moscow but the defense of new German successes against the Moscow front news and rains of Russian winter was disputed sharply.

Armored German columns were said in Berlin to have broken Russian resistance on a broad sector of the central front in smashes close to the Red capital.

DNB said the Germans had over-run strong Russian defenses studded with casemates and concrete pillboxes but did not tell whether this drive was on the south, west or northwest—the three directions from which the Nazis have been closing in on Moscow.

The news agency acknowledged that Russians still were offering fierce resistance, however, and said the Germans were meeting intense Red army artillery fire.

Russian reports, on the other hand, acknowledged that the defense line southwest of the capital had been bowled by a German onslaught but declared that repeated assaults, made at heavy cost of men and equipment, had failed to hammer through a break.

But Russian frontline dispatches said, tore up charging German tank columns with point-blank fire, allowing infantrymen to withdraw a short distance and establish a new line in the Maloyaroslavets sector, 65 miles southwest of Moscow.

In bloody but indecisive fighting on the other approaches to the capital, Russian reports said even streets were changing hands back and forth in a grim struggle for Kalinin, 15 miles to the northwest, and fighting was being waged remorselessly at Modzisk, 57 miles to the west.

Although a picture was presented of a fairly static situation before Moscow despite mighty and unending Nazi pressures, Russia's important oil pipeline terminus and rail-water junction at the gateway to the Caucasus, Rostov-on-Don, seemed to be in growing jeopardy.

The Russians admitted the loss of Stalino, important Donets basin industrial center about 100 miles northwest of Rostov and said fighting was continuing at nearby Makeyevka and at Taganrog, on the sea of Azov 40 miles from Rostov.

The Russian announcement confirmed the German claim to have taken Stalino but said it was abandoned only after the Germans had paid with 50,000 men killed and wounded in several days of fighting.

The Russians have not admitted yielding Khar'kov, also claimed by the Germans, but a battle in that region was reported still raging.

Behind the lines on both sides, determined voices were raised in resolve to see the fight through to victory.

In Britain a lusty-lunged throng of 10,000 shouted down government speakers at a labor-sponsored rally in London's historic Trafalgar Square yesterday and insisted on a new western front to draw off some of the Axis strength from the east.

Eisenhower, 6,000 women workers at Coventry demanded that the government "relieve the pressure upon our brave Soviet allies and thus speed the day of victory."

In Italy, Premier Mussolini reaffirmed his will to fight them. He sold peasants yesterday at Littoria that Italy was fighting "until victory" with "inflexible will."

Britain's RAF raided northwest Germany again last night and early today, following up forays over northern France and a smash at German shipping in which a Canadian air squadron was credited with damaging three ships off the Netherlands coast. Hamburg was the main night target.

The Germans listed four ships totaling 20,000 tons as sunk in British waters during the week-end and three others totaling 8,500 as damaged by air attack. Some German raiders bombed England last night but the British said damage was slight.

The German high command listed both Hamburg and Bremen among "several places" bombed in northwestern Germany and said both big port cities suffered dead and wounded. The Germans claimed destruction of nine of the bombers on Saturday night, according to the German communiqué, "a large British warship was dive-bombed and sunk off the North African coast. Yesterday DNB called the warship a light cruiser and said it was sunk with two hits off Bardia, Libya. The Italians said that their torpedo planes damaged a British cruiser Saturday night.

From Alexandria, the British reported that their warships pumped more than 1,000 shells into Bardia concurrently with the shelling of British-held Tobruk on Oct. 21.

LEWIS DEFIES

ed States Steel corporation. In Alabama, 8,000 were idle.

The strike began Saturday midnight after Lewis had rejected a suggestion by the president that it be deferred while the UMW leader and Myron C. Taylor, former chairman of the board of U. S. Steel corporation, tried to work out a solution.

Lewis said then that he understood Taylor was unwilling to participate in such a conference because he felt that if he did so any decision reached might be considered binding on the entire industry. However, he said he was ready to meet with Taylor.

President Roosevelt, in his letter to Lewis last night, said Taylor would meet Lewis Wednesday. The chief executive renewed his request that the UMW officials reconsider his strike decision and get the men back to the pits pending a final settlement.

"In this crisis of our national life," Mr. Roosevelt wrote, "there must be uninterrupted production of coal for making steel, that basic material of our national defense."

Lewis's press representative said last night that Lewis had no comment to make on the president's letter.

Presidents of locals in UMW district four recommended yesterday Lewis supply on hand. Company officials said they had two to four week's supply, but there was an agreement that a protracted strike would halt steel production.

In rejecting the president's original request to defer the walkout, Lewis said the days of hearings by the Defense Mediation board had proved futile and added: "The attitude of the board towards this problem has been casual and lackadaisical to the point of indifference."

Lewis agreed to hold himself "in momentary readiness" for a conference with Taylor, but remarked that he had heard Taylor would not serve because he could represent only S. S. Steel.

The mines involved are in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, shop demanded by the UMW all miners employed by them would be required to join the union.

In the meanwhile another strike on the defense front broke out at the Robins Drydock and Repair company in Brooklyn, where CIO's Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America voted a walkout by 6,000 of its members.

The company has defense contracts and also has been repairing damaged British merchant ships. The union said the strike vote followed the collapse of negotiations for a new contract. At issue was a union demand for a wage increase. The present wage scale and the increase request were not made public.

Elsewhere industrial disputes presented this picture at the start of the new week:

BADIN, N. C.—Local executive board of CIO's Aluminum Workers of America meets tonight to consider calling a strike at the big Carolina aluminum plant there to enforce eliminating of the 20 cents an hour hiring rate differential which union leaders said exists between southern and northern plants. The southern rate is 55 cents, the northern 75 cents, leaders asserted. The Badin plant employs 1,100 workers.

MARYVILLE, Tenn.—Workers at the big Aluminum Company of America plant, which employs 7,500 men, also voted to strike in elimination of the north-south differential in wages. Union leaders declared, however, that the strike vote did not preface an immediate walkout.

(At Washington a spokesman of the Defense Mediation board said that an investigation of the aluminum cases would be completed shortly and the board would make its report by Nov. 15.)

SEATTLE—A showdown neared today as the Seattle Metal Trades Council (AFL) moved to start replacing welders, who have not returned to their jobs, in the welders' strike which has threatened to tie up ship construction in Seattle and Tacoma ways. The welders have been striking to get recognition for their recently formed separate union, after failing to win it in a referendum held by the AFL convention. The welders planned to start mass picketing of the shipyard to force solution of the dispute.

LOS ANGELES—Karl V. Morris, president of the United Welders, Cutlers, and Helpers of America, an independent union, said 2,000 members voted overwhelmingly in favor of strike by 3,000 welders in the shipyards of the Long Beach-Los Angeles area in support of the strike by welders at Seattle and Tacoma. The action was taken, he said, in an attempt to gain AFL recognition as a craft union with a charter and vote, and Morris declared he had ordered heads of 39 other locals throughout the nation to take similar action. Morris said he did not expect the strike to be 100 per cent effective "the first day."

12,000 Texans Serving In Navy

Texas, as it observes Navy Day, Oct. 27, finds two of its native sons in two of the highest administrative posts in the United States Navy—one as chief of the Bureau of Navigation, and the other as commandant of the largest continental naval district.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, born at Fredericksburg, Texas, on Feb. 24, 1885, is responsible, as chief of the Bureau of Navigation, for the procurement and training of the navy's officer and enlisted personnel, a mammoth job in the rapidly expanding two-ocean navy.

Captain T. A. Thomson, Jr., acting commandant of the Eight Naval district, which includes the entire state of Texas, was born at Austin, Texas, and he was appointed to the naval academy from that city.

After completing the prescribed four-year course at Annapolis, Admiral Nimitz saw submarine service, and in 1912 he was awarded the silver life saving medal for rescuing W. J. Walsh, fireman second class, from drowning. A strong tide was running and Walsh, who could not swim, was being rapidly carried away from the ship. When picked up, Admiral Nimitz, then a lieutenant, and Walsh were exhausted.

Captain Thomson, upon completion of the four-year course at the naval academy, saw various types of service before serving abroad during the World War. Later he served as naval attaché in Rome and Paris. He assumed command in 1940 as acting commandant of the Eight Naval district.

Texas at the present time has nearly 12,000 men serving in the United States Navy as officers and enlisted personnel in the regular navy and the naval reserve. This number will grow steadily during the coming year as more and more ships join the fleet.

cial coal mines went back to work after a strike which ended with miners getting wage increases of 25 cents a day, to $5.75, and other adjustments. The state's some 8,000 miners in captive mines were idle in the nation-wide strike by captive miners.

Marshall Blocks Punt, Wins 2-0

ATHENS, Oct. 25—A blocked punt in the fourth period here Friday night enabled Marshall's Mavericks to defeat Athens by a 2-0 margin.

The punt was blocked on the five-yard line and the ball bounced behind the goal line.

Dick Lindsay, Marshall tackle, suffered head injuries and was removed to a local hospital.

Unarmed Ships Easy Targets For U-Boats

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Admiral Harold E. Stark, chief of naval operations, believes that more than half of the "successful" attacks against merchant vessels in the current war have been aimed at unarmed ships.

Admiral Stark, in testimony made public today, told the senate foreign relations committee last week that "armed merchant ships have brought down a considerable number of planes." Stark testified in support of a house-approved resolution to repeal sections of the neutrality law to permit the arming of merchant ships.

The admiral said that the arming of merchant craft would lessen the likelihood of their attack either by airplanes or submarines. Airplanes, he explained, would be forced to fly too high for accurate bombing.

As for submarine raiders, Stark said they would not risk presenting a surface target if a ship mounted guns but would stay submerged where their effectiveness "was very greatly restricted."

Stark, under questioning by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) member of the senate non-interventionist block, said the navy-trained gun crews on merchant ships would be under orders to fire on Axis vessels "on sight." Such tactics would be in accordance with President Roosevelt's orders to the navy, Stark said, adding that "in the interest of self-preservation against an enemy, I think they would have to fire."

Revival Closes At First Christian Church On Sunday

First Christian church, under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pollock and the local pastor, B. A. Norris, concluded Sunday evening one of the most successful revivals in its history. Although the weather was bad for nearly half the time, the membership of the church worked loyally and with good results. Seventy-two were added to the church during the revival.

The entire church was enthusiastic about the effective leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Pollock of Nebo, Illinois. The Pollocks will probably return to Pampa for another revival in the near future. They left Sunday afternoon for Akron, Ohio, where they will be in their next meeting.

At the closing service of the revival Sunday night, in addition to a great baptismal service, certificates of church membership and year books of the local church were presented to the new members in an impressive presentation service. The new members were seated in a reserved section during the service.

Another feature of last Sunday night's service was the generous "love offering" which was given to the local pastor in recognition of his services during the revival. Brother Norris had to take over the preaching duties of the revival at the last minute due to the inability of the scheduled evangelist to come.
