FDR To Address World On Crisis Monday Night U.S. NAVY DISPUTES NAZI CLAIMS

Speech Will Be Of 'Major Importance'

Next Steps Will Likely Remain Military Secret

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt ignored for tonight a Nazi declaration that he had given the navy shooting orders and wanted to incite the American people to war, but he will broadcast an address of "major importance" Monday night to the American people and to the world.

The subject matter was not disclosed when the temporary White House announced arrangements for the speech.

But there was no reason to doubt that it would deal with the explosive international situation, if not in some of its more troublesome aspects, at least in a general way.

That could be ascertained from the advance announcement that the president's words would be heard not only by the American people but also by the entire world in re-broadcasts in 14 languages.

A matter of immediate speculation was the possibility that Mr. Roosevelt would discuss the full implications of a naval action in the North Atlantic Thursday between a German submarine and the United States Destroyer Greer. While neither vessel was hit, apparently, the incident brought strong repercussions both in Germany and the United States.

A Nazi communique, released in Berlin today through the official news agency DNB, said the Greer case proved Mr. Roosevelt had issued shooting orders to the navy and was trying to provoke incidents to force the American people into the war.

Reporters relayed a summary of the communique to the president through William D. Hassett, a presidential secretary. No comment was forthcoming, but soon afterward Mr. Roosevelt's speaking plans were disclosed.

Some persons having close connections with the temporary White House suggested that Mr. Roosevelt's reaction to the communique might take the form of strengthening his publicly proclaimed determination that sea lanes to Iceland must be kept open, that delivery of war supplies to foes of the Axis must be "more greatly safeguarded" and that "we must do everything in our power" to crush Hitlerism.

It was noted, however, that any new steps to carry out these policies would not be announced to the world but would remain a military secret.

They are policies which the chief executive has enunciated in press conferences and in a Labor Day speech last Monday.

Mr. Roosevelt failed to mention Japan and the crisis in the Far East in the Labor Day address, and some individuals thought they might command a share of attention Monday.

Conjectures on the possible range of the address went so far

Tanks Slow Up Armies In Maneuvers

By RICE YAHNER WITH THE THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA, Sept. 6 (AP)—Intense training of anti-tank organizations is making it more difficult for armored divisions to catch infantry and artillery unaware, Major General George S. Patton said today, although a sudden stab by his men in steel brought an unexpected weekend armistice to third army maneuvers.

Before the halt was called the second armored division, commanded by General Patton, ramed its way into the Klatzke National forest northwest of Alexandria, but its advance was slowed by anti-tank defense of 37 and 75 millimeter guns and land mines.

Alexandria itself was started as it has never been since becoming a center of army training when a dawn attack on the city, defended by "Red" troops, brought Blue columns pouring through the streets in such force that a major traffic snarl was averted only by prompt action on maneuver umpires in calling a halt to the proceedings.

The mechanized division's striking power was so powerful that it captured the entire 51st field artillery battalion of the first cavalry division which included anti-tank guns placed to protect the mounted troops' withdrawal.

Previously the principal anti-tank defense of the army had been companies of battalions acting as an organic part of regiments or divisions.

But great groups of specially trained artillerymen with truck-mounted guns are being welded into

GLASGOW, Sept. 6 (AP)—Four American airmen en route to England for service with the RAF perished in the torpedoing of their ship by a submarine whose commander, one Irish survivor said, came to the surface and shamefacedly asked "what caused the explosion."

Seven others among the eleven American flying recruits aboard were landed at a British port yesterday. Two of them were injured.

The names of the dead were not available immediately. The survivors were announced as: Tom Griffin, Mississippi; Rivers Grove, Georgia; Norman Echor, Kansas City, whose mother lives in Seattle, Wash. He left Kansas City Aug. 19 to join the American Eagle squadron in Britain.

Jack Gilliland, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gilliland of Pittsburg, Kas. James Jordan, San Francisco; B. P. Mayes, Texas, who sustained arm injuries.

Robert Pereshin, California, whose leg was broken; Irish seaman Echor, Gilliland, Grove, Mayes and Griffin trained with the British air unit at Tulsa, Okla. All eleven fliers received additional training in Canada.

William Beattie, Belfast seaman aboard the torpedoed ship, said that after the attack the submarine came to the surface amidst the survivor-laden lifeboats and rafts.

In a conversation with the U-boat commander, described by Beattie as a German in his early twenties, the Irish seaman related the latter disclaimed that his craft had fired a torpedo.

"He seemed ashamed of what he had done and asked us what caused the explosion," Beattie related. Beattie said he asked the submarine commander for water and that he replied he had none to spare but did hand over four tins of meat and two bottles of rum.

Upon moving off, Beattie said the submarine accidentally struck a lifeboat and caused the wobbly craft

German Army Reports From Russia Sparse

BERLIN, Sunday, Sept. 7 (AP)—Germans reported today that they had penetrated the defenses of Leningrad in at least one place after attacks by strong German air force units and long-range artillery bombardment.

Discussion of the Greer case diverted attention from developments on the east front, and although the war raged furiously, much of its authentic reports were meager. The high command in just one sentence today said the German operations were "progressing favorably."

War Correspondent Kurt Stolzenberg wrote that "we found a soft place in the defense belt around Leningrad and advanced further."

While the site of the advance was not specified, the correspondent said his units approached the former Czarist capital on "forest planes and byway." The description indicated that German motorcycle units were established in a town near Leningrad.

"Around our town round shots fired by our batteries," wrote Stolzenberg, "and hits in the forests sound as if heavy, high gates were rumbling in a castle."

The news agency DNB said that Russian field and artillery positions were subdued by powerful blows of German bombers and that the Russians "suffered exceptionally heavy losses."

It Was Governor Wehnert Saturday

AUSTIN, Sept. 6 (AP)—Texas had its third governor for the year today as Senator R. A. Wehnert of Seguin occupied the executive offices in the absence of Governor Coke R. Stevenson.

Amid a flood of congratulatory telegrams and visitors, and a banquet in his honor tonight, Acting Governor Wehnert found time for a few official acts, the first of which was signing a commission for former State Senator Morris Roberts of Pettus as a member of the Texas A. & I. college board of regents.

He also received a long discontinued custom of naming honorary members of his military staff in the presence of the senator for 15 years or more. All were made lieutenant-colonels.

Governor Stevenson was visiting Governor Leon C. Phillips in Oklahoma and planned to re-enter Texas Monday. He listed a Houston visit that day and a speedy return to Austin for the convening of a special session of the legislature beginning Tuesday.

Reserve Officers To Meet At Borger

An important meeting of the Pampa-Borger-Phillips chapter, Reserve Officers association, will be held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the club room at the Hutchinson county library in Borger.

An invitation to every reserve officer in this section of the Panhandle to be present at the meeting is being extended by W. B. Reeves, president.

Final re-organization of the chapter will be completed and plans for an active winter program will be made.

'We Are Going To Defend Our Ships,' Connally Asserts

The United States Navy Saturday night bluntly disputed a German claim that the American Destroyer Greer was the aggressor in a clash with a Nazi submarine off Iceland and reiterated that the U-boat made the initial attack on the Greer.

With German-American relations deteriorating to a more critical stage as a result of the seagoing incident, the navy department issued this statement in Washington:

"Notwithstanding German contentions appearing in today's press that the Greer was the aggressor in its action with the submarine, the facts are the same as originally stated by the navy department—namely, that the initial attack in this engagement was made by the submarine on the Greer. It was taken, and not until then, that the Greer counter-attacked."

In phrases of interest to Japan under the Axis pact, official Berlin earlier Saturday in its version of the affair, declared that the submarine aimed two torpedoes at the Greer only after the Greer had depth-bombed the submarine.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—German-American relations entered into a new and uglier phase today with the publication of diametrically conflicting claims as to the circumstances under which the U. S. S. Greer and a German submarine engaged in a torpedo and depth-bomb skirmish on Thursday.

Berlin claimed that the Greer, a destroyer, attacked first, and that the U-boat used its torpedo tubes in self-defense. An exactly similar claim was made for the Greer yesterday by President Roosevelt. The submarine fired first, he said, and the Greer dropped depth-bombs in self-defense.

In its published claim, Germany added strong denunciations of President Roosevelt and American policy, which occasioned little surprise here, and for the time being, at least, elicited no official comment. Berlin charged:

"That the assertion that the Greer was acting in self-defense 'can only be to give at least the appearance of justification to an attack by an American destroyer on a German U-boat."

That it proved President Roosevelt had, contrary to his published statements, issued "general orders to American destroyers not only to report positions of German ships and U-boats but, beyond that, to attack them."

And that "Mr. Roosevelt in this way also is trying with all means at disposal to provoke incidents in order to incite the American people into war against Germany."

Although state department and navy officials were silent on the German communique, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said "the Nazis might as well learn now that we are going to defend our ships and citizens."

"The fact that the Nazis admit a German submarine was involved," he added, "amounts to an admission that it was acting under orders of the Nazi government in firing on our destroyer."

"This spirit of assassination, disregard for the rights of other nations, and arrogant contempt for the United States dragged us into the last war."

"We do not want to become involved in the present war, but if our ships or citizens are attacked we are going to defend them."

Senator Capper (R-Kans.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee and one who has not voted consistently for administration foreign measures, directly challenged the truth of the Nazi statement.

"My opinion is that the Germans have made some misstatements in their communique," he said. "I can hardly believe that the president would order our warships to attack in an effort to incite the people into war. Beyond that, there is little that can be said until all the facts are known."

In any event, the German pronouncement cleared up any lingering doubt as to the nationality of the submarine involved in the incident with the Greer, something which had to be established conclusively before this country could make a diplomatic protest.

Where the conflicting claims are concerned, the American government would, of course, stand upon the report given to it by the commanding officer of the Greer.

Huns Driven Back, Claim Red Armies

MOSCOW, Sunday, Sept. 7.—The Red army claimed today to have driven the Germans out of vital approaches to Leningrad with fierce counter-attacks while the Red air force gave full backing with "massed blows" upon invading panzer troops, infantry and artillery.

The Soviet midnight communique again declared the battle raged on all fronts yesterday. But the fight in the Leningrad sector was the greatest and the most vital of the Russian-German war which entered its 12th week today.

The giant rival armies fought in the northwest over battlefields darkened by rain and fog.

Disparates to the army newspaper Red Star declared the troops of Marshal Kliment Voroshilov, defending Russia's second city, mopped up one occupied zone south of Leningrad, pinched off another German armored wedge, penetrated the German lines at several points and crushed one major Nazi air base in never-ceasing counter-thrusts.

"The Russians also were employing the counter-attacks at Kiev and Odessa, the other great cities to which the Germans have approached closely. They were said to be repulsing or holding the besiegers."

The communique did not elaborate on the deeds of the air force yesterday but the terrific role the Red artillery is playing was seen in the official report that "thousands of German soldiers, hundreds of tanks, armored cars and lorries, scores of artillery minethrowers and machine gun batteries have been annihilated by the accurate fire of our guns."

The communique said that on one single day—last Thursday—the Soviet artillery killed at least 15,000 German officers and men and destroyed over 100 guns of various

Students In Junior High Assigned Rooms

All Junior High students will begin enrolling Monday morning, September 8, at nine o'clock. In order that enrolling may be made easier, students are requested to go to the rooms which are assigned below. The teacher in that room will assist each student.

HERE IS A PICTURE showing progress being made on the new Cuyler street overpass. Despite unfavorable weather conditions, the job is on schedule so far. But a delay may be necessary because of the need of securing special rolled steel for the base for the tracks. National defense has priority on all rolled steel jobs. The concrete abutments have been completed, as shown in the picture. Excavation of the north side of the overpass has been finished. As soon as the tracks can be laid, excavation of the south half can be started. No completion date has been set but it is believed, even though a delay occurs, the underpass will be completed before the new year. The passenger in the picture is the eastbound evening train.

Welcome teachers, students, neighbors. We serve to serve again! Clifford's Service Station. (Adv.)

Hemphill Picnic Attended By 500

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS: CANADIAN, Sept. 6.—The county-wide basket supper, held at Hemphill Athletic field Wednesday night was attended by an estimated crowd of approximately 500 persons.

This was a get-together of town and country neighbors in a picnic supper, promoted by the Hemphill County Farm bureau, of which Gaddy Vise is chairman, and the county home demonstration clubs, of which Miss Vivian Winston is county ED agent, and John Stovall is county agent.

Preceding the eat-a-meeting was held in the high school auditorium. H. C. White, vocational agriculture teacher in Canadian High school led in group singing. Short talks were made by CHN Day, AEA of College Station, and E. R. Alexander, manager of the Texas Farm Bureau association.

Today's War Analysis

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

Young King Peter's suggestion that the British invade Italy promises to keep until he reaches his nineteenth birthday a year hence.

"The time is ripe," as the royal Yugoslav youth told an interviewer, but rather for continuation of the long range serial hammering of Sicily which has been in progress for weeks and the telling attacks of Libya-bound Axis convoys being made by British submarines.

Chances are plans for anything more serious than hit-run raids on Italy, or anywhere else in Europe, are on the high command's future spike just now.

As summer wanes in the desert country, making decisive military operations feasible, what seems immediately ahead of the British is a renewed struggle to hold on in the Mediterranean.

Successful invasion of Italy would demand expulsion of German and Italian forces from north Africa and a British advance 800 miles westward to Tripoli, opposite Sicily.

The avenue of Axis attack on Suez via Asia Minor would have to be blocked meanwhile. Crete either retaken or made harmless as a base for flanking air raids, and the remnants of the Italian navy scattered or destroyed.

It's not a program for a week-end.

What neutral military authorities confidently look for first, as winter approaches in Russia, is a determined Axis rather than a British offensive in the Mediterranean. This time Nazi rather than Italian forces are expected to lead the way.

For the protective test of strength.

Miss California New Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 6. (AP)—The crown of Miss America of 1941 was placed tonight on the pretty blonde locks of Miss California, Rosemary La Plante, 19, hazel-eyed Los Angeles resident and a runner-up in last year's Atlantic City beauty pageant.

She broke into tears as the award, goal of attractive girls from coast to coast for many months, was made in convention hall as the climax of a week-long test of 42 beauties for talent, personality, and appearance.

The judges awarded the runner up position to Miss Western Pennsylvania, Rosella Marie Hammon, 18, of Pittsburgh, and third place to Miss Washington, D. C., Jean Fidelis Cavannaugh, 18.

In fourth place was Miss Westchester, Lillian Helene O'Donnell, both sides are more nearly ready than last year when the Italians galled so miserably in both Libya and Greece.

Recent months have brought a stream of munitions to the British from England, the United States, India and the dominions, along with troop reinforcements, to replace the losses sustained last spring in Greece and Libya.

The outlook for successful British defense of the middle east is thus more promising than it was a year ago, though it does not encourage the idea that Italy can be invaded soon.

Although eliminating her from consideration for the nation's mythical beauty crown, the judges declared Miss Oklahoma, Mifanwy Shumatos, 20, full blooded Indian from Tulsa, was the most congenial of the 42 girls who took part in the week long contest. Gray County's Little Seminole Has 15 Rigs In Operation

26 Locations Reported In 7-Day Period

The newly-discovered oil pool in central Gray county, known locally as "Little Seminole," has 15 drilling rigs in operation, the largest number in any one pool in recent years. Three independent and five major companies are active in the area which was opened less than two months ago by the W. H. Taylor Oil company with a 350-barrel well. The new field is six miles southwest of LeFors, geographical center of the county, and three and a half miles south of nearest production. The first well was discovered on the vast Taylor ranch. Later the pool was extended to the Lovett ranch and leasing has been active. Ten wells have already been completed, 15 are drilling, 10 locations have been made but not yet drilled. The Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company's wildcat in Sherman county is drilling ahead at 4,000 feet, while the Humble Oil and Refining company wildcat in Motley county is going down at 3,900 feet. Twenty-six new locations were staked in the Panhandle field last week with 11 each in Gray and Hutchinson counties, three in Wheeler, and one in Carson. The new activity brought to 542 the number of new locations reported in the Panhandle this year. A total of 12 new oil wells were

Vocational Courses To Be Taught Again

The Vocational Training Program which was so successful here last year will be continued this winter with C. M. Davis, coordinator, in charge. Deadline for registering will be the night of Sept. 29. The courses, in nearly every branch of oil field practices, are designated to help the worker gain more knowledge about his job and its relation to the industry. They tend to hit him for job promotion and give him increased occupational efficiency. Registration slips will be delivered to every company in the Panhandle field and they should be filled out and mailed to Mr. Davis at P. O. Box 955, Pampa.

The courses will be open to anyone 16 years or older who is employed in the industry in which courses are offered. Classes meet during non-working hours.

Among courses available will be: Elementary Math, Advanced Math, Internal Combustion Engines, Maint and Repair of Mechanical Equipment, Steam Power, Electricity, Natural Gas, Production Practices, Blue Print Reading and Sketching, Manufacturing of Natural Gasoline, Compressors.

Trade subjects such as welding, shop mathematics, etc.

Carbon Black subjects such as Mathematics, Science, Maintenance and Repair of Mechanical Equipment.

Britain Admits 30th Submarine Lost

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP)—A British submarine, apparently of a new class, was given up for lost tonight by the admiralty, the 30th undersea craft acknowledged lost by the British during the war.

The vessel, the P 33, is "overdue and must be considered lost," a communiqué said. Details were not given. It was generally assumed that the P 33 represented a new class, since the latest edition of Jane's fighting ships, the authoritative manual on the world's navies, carries no mention of any such designation.

Cash Stolen From Business Places, Four Residences

Petty thieving is being investigated by city police officers who have received reports that money has been taken from two places of business and four homes during the past few days.

Burdette Keim of the Continental Oil company service station reported that $12 had been taken from his cash register and C. L. Vandover of the Vandover Feed Store reported the loss of $15. Both men said the money had been taken while they were absent from their offices for a few minutes.

Four different persons residing in North Pampa reported that children's banks had been stolen from their homes.

Officers are following several clues and arrests are expected soon.

Zachary Taylor was the only President who had no cabinet changes during his term of office.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—The stock market today finished an irregularly lower week with specialties again in demand and leaders generally exhibiting notable rising substance.

The list failed to display a definite trend at the start and closing quotations left the direction in doubt.

The Associated Press composite of 60 issues was unchanged at 42 1/2 but on the week showed a net loss of 3/4 of a point. Several large block of low-priced stocks pushed the volume up to 23,579 shares compared with 231,900 a week ago.

Among active gainers at new highs for the year were Western Union and Postal Telegraph Preferred, these further reflecting talk of progress on the merger proposal. Reverse Copper & Brass Preferred was up 1/2 and American Power & Light Preferred 1/4, both at new 1941 tops.

General Outdoor Advertising "A" was up 2 1/2 in the wake of a $2 dividend declaration on accumulations.

N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern and Southern Railways were down a shade as the wage controversy still handicapped the carriers. On the offside also were Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, Dow Chemical, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Sperry, Lockheed and Philip Morris.

A trifle improved were Standard Oil (N.Y.), Texas Corp., U. S. Rubber, Montgonery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Kennecott, General Motors, Republic Steel, Youngs & Sons Sheet and International Telephone. Amn T&T 5 15 1/2 15 1/2 15 1/2

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 6 (AP)—Prices of all futures deliveries of wheat, oats and soybeans and most corn and rye contracts were marked up to new four year peaks today before profit taking and some hedging sales reduced the gains.

Wheat, rye and oats rose a cent. May contracts hitting $1.26 1/2, $1.14 1/2 and $1.23 1/2, respectively. Soybeans soared 4 cents. May deliveries topped at $1.77 1/2, within 2 cents of the all-time peak quotation posted for that commodity in the five years dating which it has been traded on a future delivery basis here. Corn advanced 1/4 cent to 57 1/2 cents.

Attractiveness of these prices, with wheat showing gains of 4 to 5 cents for the week and 18 to 20 cents for the past three months, proved too tempting for many dealers who accepted profits. Wheat tumbled as much as 1 1/2 cent from early highs and closed 1/2 cent lower to 57 1/2 cents compared with yesterday, September 5, $1.25 1/2. December, $1.21 1/2. May, $1.26 1/2.

Corn finished 1/4 cent higher, September 78 1/2, December 82 1/2, May 87 1/2. Oats 1/2 up, May 59 1/2; soybeans 1 1/2-3 1/2 up, May $1.73 1/2; rye 1/2 off to 1 1/2 up and lay 2 to 3 lower.

Stamp Chain Letters Found In U. S. Mails

Defense saving stamp chain letters, patterned after the "Dime Letters" which flooded the country several years ago, have been found in the United States mails. A few of the letters have been located here and since the practice is illegal, they were confiscated, Postmaster C. H. Walker revealed yesterday.

"He issued a warning to citizens that the chain letter idea is taboo. Only a few letters have been located but many possibly got through.

"The solicitor of the postoffice department has ruled such letters to be a violation of lottery statutes," Postmaster Walker declared. "Anyone sending out such chain letters may be cited to show cause why a fraud order against him should not be issued."

The chain letter is highly flavored with a patriotic appeal, according to the postmaster. The letters carry five names.

Instructions to the recipient are that he purchase a defense savings stamp for 25 cents and send it to the person whose name heads the list. He is then to place his name at the bottom after marking out the name at the top and sending copies of the letter to five other persons. The letter predicts that the sender may eventually get $781.25.

Willkie Calls On FDR To Use Force Against Germany

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie today called on the United States to use "determination and force" to meet Germany's challenge to its policy of freedom of the seas.

Speaking on a CBS radio program celebrating the 18th birthday of exiled King Peter of Yugoslavia, the 1940 Republican presidential nominee declared "once again, savage and bestial might has challenged the right of America to freedom of the seas."

"I know I speak the overwhelming sentiment of my fellow Americans in urging the President to meet the challenge with determination and force," Willkie said. "I hope, and I know you hope, that the President of the United States serves the notice on Nazi Germany that the United States expects its ships to go unmolested in their passage across the North Atlantic, and those interfering with them will receive the result they are entitled to.

"There are certain things a nation cannot yield without losing strength, and certain things a people cannot yield without losing soul. I hope America will lose neither her strength nor her soul."

U. S. DESTROYER ATTACKED BY SUB EN ROUTE TO ICELAND—This is a bow-shot of the U. S. destroyer Truxton, 1,190-ton warship, sister ship of the U. S. S. Greer, reported to have been the object of an attack by an unidentified submarine while en route to Iceland.

PROOF THAT TANK CARS ARE IDLE—In support of his claim before the Senate Oil Investigating Committee that the railroads can knock the oil shortage into a cocked hat if the 20,000 idle tank cars are put into use, J. J. Pelley, president of the American Association of Railroads, presented this picture of several hundred tank cars belonging to private tank car lines which are idle on sidings in private yards. Pelley stated that with these cars the railroads could deliver from the Southwest to the Eastern seaboard a minimum of 200,000 barrels of oil daily, or more than enough to make up the estimated shortage.

Classes will begin immediately after students are enrolled and will continue until 3:45 p. m. Monday. The cafeteria will be open for luncheon at the noon period on Monday. Fifteen cents will buy a nourishing plate lunch.

Since Germany invaded Russia, Japan has become surrounded with actual or potential enemies. Moreover, the United States is shipping war supplies between the islands of the Japanese archipelago to Vladivostok and the Russian army.

German U-boat activities against American naval vessels on the Atlantic, if continued and made general, might have the effect of attracting American ships from the Pacific to the Atlantic, consequently easing the pressure upon Japan.

There was a disposition on the part of some to believe that the Germans actually were without any knowledge of the Greer incident beyond what has been disclosed by the American government.

Expressing this view, Connally said the German communique was merely "a ruse to make it appear that the U-boat had not been sunk."

The Greer steamed into Reykjavik, Iceland, yesterday with her officers and crew expressing a belief that they had sunk the U-boat without a trace. The German statements, if true, would show this not to be the case, since reports of the encounter would have to come from the submarine.

Japan is pledged under the German-Italian-Japanese treaty of Berlin signed Sept. 27, 1940 to help in the Axis "war of political, economic, and military means when one of the three contracting powers is attacked by a power at present not involved in the European war or in the Chinese-Japanese conflict."

The Greer incident was dismissed, however, by the Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi as "nothing but that a belligerent destroyer was attacked by a submarine in belligerent waters." The newspaper declared the United States gave up its neutrality in the occupation of Iceland.

SPEECH

as to cover the chances that the president might be getting ready to ask his countrymen to take up arms against Hitler and his allies but there was absolutely no basis for putting such a step in any category but pure speculation and guesswork.

Whether the German communique today had crystallized a presidential decision to go on the air Monday was not ascertained, although Hasset indicated that Mr. Roosevelt had not made up his mind suddenly.

The address will be delivered from the White House in Washington at 8 p. m. CST, and will be carried by all major radio companies. It will last for 15 minutes.

The Nazi communique was regarded by some individuals at the temporary White House as confirming the American government's opinion, hitherto expressed only by implication, that a German U-boat deliberately tried to sink the Greer.

The navy had announced that two torpedoes were fired at the destroyer, while she was enroute to Iceland with mail, and that she had dropped depth charges immediately.

Hasset said it was "only to be expected" that the Germans would attempt to blame the United States for the engagement.

The Nazis said today that a submarine, justifiably defending herself from attack within the German blockade zone, had launched two torpedoes at a destroyer on Thursday about 200 miles southwest of Iceland.

Nationality of the destroyer could not be determined, the communique said, but the ship was violating neutrality.

The question was raised here how the commander of the undersea craft could have reported that the destroyer acted in violation of neutrality unless he was able to determine that she was a ship of a non-belligerent nation. If the officer was able to make such a determination, it was argued, it would appear that he also could have determined the nationality of the destroyer.

But the president, who arrived here from Washington to spend the week-end with his mother, maintained strict silence on the entire Greer incident.

CONNALLY

Stevenson was accompanied by J. C. Hunter, his representative on the compact; W. A. Moncrief, Fort Worth, chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, and Andrew M. Howley, Albany, Tex., independent oil producer.

Accompanying Phillips, who is chairman of the compact, were W. J. Holloway, former governor and Oklahoma's representative on the compact, and Charles Orr, secretary of the compact commission.

Stevenson also disclosed he would back the agreement of the Texas Highway commission with the Oklahoma Highway commission for routing of Oklahoma state highway 99 across the Red river at Willis to connect with a Texas road into Whitesboro.

"We discussed Highway 99, the oil compact and the livestock industry," said Phillips. "We are in agreement on all of them and other matters such as states' rights."

The Oklahoma governor has insisted that construction of the Red river dam on the border between the two states was a violation of states' rights in that the federal government hadn't arranged for compensation to the state for land to be inundated by the project's vast reservoir.

Members of the Oklahoma Highway commission met the governors this afternoon at the Roy Turner ranch near here. Phillips and Stevenson came to the ranch after spending the night at a cabin on Springtown State ranch near Atoka.

Baku Oil Field Drive Planned, Says Ankara Observer

By PRESTON GROVER
ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 6 (AP)—Germany was declared by a foreign observer here today to have planned a combined land and sea campaign "before the end of October" against the Baku oil fields and the new British-Russian supply line through Iran.

He said his information was direct from Sofia, capital of Axis-dominated Bulgaria.

Germany already is massing speedy torpedo-boats and submarines, he said he was informed, at Bulgarian Black Sea ports to challenge the preponderant but heavy Soviet Russian fleet. Craft of both types are moved overland to sea ports, the U-boats in sections.

A heavy Nazi drive was forecast along the lower Dnieper river, with the double purpose of crossing that strategic stream and tying up Red army forces which otherwise could be diverted to meeting the sea attack.

The foreign source declared paratroopers were training in both Bulgaria and Croatia in preparation for the southern operations.

Pipeline To East Doubtful, Says News

DALLAS, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Dallas News says that immediate construction of a proposed 1,600-mile pipeline from Texas to the New York-Philadelphia area at a cost of $100,000,000 is now doubtful.

The News says that opposition to the carrier developed before a special senate committee investigating the east coast oil shortage "seems definitely to have put a crimp" in the building plans.

"So much so," it adds, "the National Defense Pipe Lines, Inc., corporate organization of the 11 oil companies associated in the project, had notified contractors of indefinite postponement of acceptance of bids."

Injured Texan Joined RAF Last Spring

WHARTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—Ben Freeman Mays, 28, injured in the torpedoing of a ship in mid-Atlantic, joined the RAF at Dallas last spring and was sent to Canada three weeks ago.

He was trained at Pensacola, Fla., and Tulsa, Okla.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Mays of Burr, Texas, have received no official notice of his injury.

Mays was a four-letter man at Southwestern university at Georgetown, from which he was graduated. He attended Wharton High school and Victoria Junior college.

Food Prices Highest In Last Ten Years

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—Retail food prices reached "the highest level in 10 years" on August 12, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. It added that in the latter half of August "the rise has continued."

Prices of basic foods increased an average of 1.2 per cent from July 15 to August 12, the bureau said, and were 12 per cent higher than a year ago.

quick-striking tank-destroyers that seek out the mechanized divisions before they get set to hit. These groups of about 2,000 men each are to operate with the field armies.

While the destroyer groups are being trained the army is producing self-propelled, front firing tank chasers that can go into action as soon as they sight targets instead of having to unlimber towed guns and wheel them around.

After resting through tomorrow the 250,000 men in the third army games will resume activity Monday in the final preliminaries before the giant maneuvers against the second army's 250,000 men starting Sept. 15 and continuing two weeks.

Eggs Kill Snake

KIRBYVILLE, Sept. 6 (AP)—At last a Texas forest service employe has discovered what happened to two glass eggs which disappeared from his hen house. He found them beside the skeleton of a snake which apparently couldn't digest them.

Printing Eliminated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Office of Production Management requested today that printing be eliminated on bags made of burrap and other textiles so that they may be used over again.

Workers Vote To Strike

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 6 (AP)—A large percentage of the workers in the government-operated Pemex Oil company at Tampico voted today to strike unless seniority rights and other demands are recognized.

luncheon during the coming week to designate workers to assist in the drive which opens a week from Wednesday. Major Clevett, Captain Jack Smith, of the local Army post, and Tex DeWeese will visit the luncheon clubs next week at the board's direction.

Captain Smith read a report of the Salvation Army's 1941 activities. It showed that $4,043 was paid on pledges in last year's drive and that $2,700 was raised from other sources during the year. The Army had 436 family relief cases on file during the year, distributed 4,837 garments, issued 286 grocery orders, distributed 614 pairs of shoes, paid rent and fuel for 17 families, brought Christmas cheer to 520 persons in 125 families, gave toys and gifts to 300 children and fruit, gifts, and candy to 290. In addition to the Pampa relief program, the Salvation Army sent 107 blankets and a number of bundles to the British Isles.

In attendance at yesterday's board meeting were Sherman White, chairman; J. M. Collins, vice chairman; Aaron Meek, treasurer; Tex DeWeese, secretary; M. C. Johnson, Mayor Fred Thompson, Arthur Teed, L. L. Stone, Judge C. E. McGrew, George Berlin, L. H. Johnson, R. G. Hughes, Dr. Elvin Jones, Charles Burton, all members of the board; Lieut. Col. Gilks, Major Clevett, Captain Smith, and Adjt. William F. Johnson, head of the Salvation Army in Amarillo.

GERMAN ARMY

Leningrad continued with heavy guns effectively hitting targets, German dispatches from the front reported.

A German dispatch from the front stated that in the past few hours the Germans had made progress southeast of Gomel on the central front to a position which was beginning to menace the rear defenses of Kiev, industrialized capital of the Ukraine.

It was claimed also that the Germans had gained considerable territory east of Velika Luki, which lies south of Lake Ilmen and about 100 miles from the Latvian border. On the lower Dnieper river in the Ukraine another Russian cannon-boat was reported destroyed.

In the vicinity of Odessa, besieged Russian Black Sea port, heavy German air attacks were said to have greatly damaged port facilities and four ships totaling 17,000 tons and to have inflicted numerous casualties among Russian defense forces.

521 Roadside Parks Built In Texas Since First One In 1930

By WALTER R. HUMPHREY
Written for the Associated Press
Travel Texas today and you're impressed with its highways.

And travel the highways of Texas today and you're bound to be impressed with the roadside parks which give these highways a touch of friendliness.

In them is all the variety of Texas itself. They don't follow a single monotonous pattern.

Are they used? Pass any of them at lunch time or supper time and you'll have your answer.

It isn't only the travellers who use them. In localities not blessed with adequate park facilities, they are a constant refuge for local residents. . . . For the picnickers and barbecuers with no place else to go.

What about this roadside park system, anyway?

The highway department has 517 sites of one-half acre or more in size. Of these 445 have been improved.

In addition, there are 304 "turn-outs" and small parks.

Most of the parks are one acre in size approximately. A few of the larger ones are near Van Horn (20 acres), near Woodville (10 1/2 acres), near Crosbyton (nine acres), Del Rio (eight acres), and near Carthage (three and a half acres). All the park sites have been acquired by donation. Usually the donor has been the property owner himself; sometimes, a civic organization.

The landscape division of the highway department designs them, providing for drives, picnic units, boundary fences, low masonry walls, and sometimes arbors. Often there is a stream or a spring to start with.

Maintenance crews in slack periods do most of the improving. NYA labor has been widely used by the department, and some of the parks have been developed as a part of the federal aid high construction program.

Texas' roadside parks aren't just roadside parks.

Down at Langtry, on the Rio Grande, the saloon and court of Judge Roy Bean has been restored and a courteous attendant of the highway department is there at all times to answer the question of traveller and tourist. It's not a concession and nobody pays!

On U. S. Highway 290 east of Fort Stockton, the Tunis Springs stage stand has been rebuilt, and at Willis Point, the old Willis pioneer cabin has been restored . . . into "Roadside Parks."

But these are exceptions. Most of the parks are strictly parks. Places to stop and rest and refresh and picnic. I've stopped at many of them, and each new one intrigues me.

Some of the most attractive ones are these: Near Canyon, on the White river near Crosbyton, several between Big Spring and Pecos. A lookout on the Pecos river on U. S. Highway 90, a park at Del Rio, one not far from the Rio Grande in "the Valley" on U. S. 281, on the Navidad river near Edna, on U. S. 287 west of Woodville, on U. S. 67 east of Mount Pleasant . . . and many, many more.

Who originated these parks, anyway?

As early as 1925 a group of women headed by Mrs. Frank W. Sorell of San Antonio appeared before the state highway commission and asked that roadside parks be made a part of the highway development program.

It was about 1930 that the first roadside park was built, near La Grange, by William Pape, a section foreman of the highway department.

But the real spark came from former Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist. Early in 1933 Mr. Gilchrist and his family went on a short trip and were unable to find a suitable site to stop and eat their lunch along the highways. All the land was being fenced in.

Realizing that it wouldn't be long until all the roadides in Texas would be fenced, he was determined that the highway department should begin acquiring sites for roadside parks.

So the program took sudden life and has grown by leaps and bounds, until Texas has one of the finest roadside park systems in the United States.

The parks, as a matter of fact, are a major part of the state's program in appealing to tourists, who invariably have a good word to say now for Texas' highways.

So, also, are the 11 information offices operated on various major highway entrances to Texas, with ice water, rest rooms, travel information, and other service.

If you want a quick course in the historical lore of your home state, there is another highway asset that can't be overlooked.

Stop, on your next trip, and read every historical marker you pass along the road. It will slow down your speed and entertain you immensely.

These markers date back to the good year, 1936, when Texas celebrated its 100th birthday and suddenly became conscious of its rich historical heritage.

The major markers are the monuments erected by the Texas Centennial Commission that year.

But the highway department itself erected 264 historical markers in 1938, most of them improved with drives and planting.

These roadside parks, these historical reminders and personality to what has become a great highway system.

Out-of-state visitors are appreciating them. Here in Texas we ought to be appreciating them too.

Germans Execute Three Frenchmen

(By The Associated Press)
VICHY, Unoccupied France, Sept. 6.—Three French hostages, reported selected from Communist prisoners of a concentration camp, were executed by a German firing squad at Paris today in reprisal for an attack in which a German sergeant was slightly wounded three days ago.

Unofficial advices reach Vichy reported that the three Frenchmen were removed from the Drancy camp near Paris at dawn, lined up before a wall and shot to death. They were unidentified.

Gen. von Schaumburg, commander of the city of Paris, in a military announcement published in Paris newspapers called attention to his warning of Aug. 22 that hostages would be executed if further attacks should be made on German troops in the Paris region.

"Despite this warning," the announcement said, "a member of the German army has been the victim of a new attack Sept. 3. Inquiry was shown the guilty party could have been other than a French Communist. As reprisals for this dastardly action three French hostages have been shot."

The wounded German sergeant, who also was not identified, suffered only a flesh wound and was reported recovering. He was shot once in the shoulder as he walked on the street near the east station, St. Lamfard.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all!"

Friend In Need

Harriet Elliott of the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, generally known as OPACS, was recently elected to honorary membership in the National Consumer-Retailer Council.

Addressing the council, Miss Elliott said that it "has made a real contribution toward the welfare of the consuming public, the soundness of retail distribution, and the possibilities for intelligent cooperation. It has, moreover, developed a machinery which is available to meet situations where cooperative action of retailers and consumers is needed. It is a contribution which will gain added importance as we face the increasing problems which lie ahead."

The progress made in consumer-retailer cooperation has been little short of amazing. No longer is it true that the interests of buyer and seller are opposed. Both, basically, have the same interests. Your typical modern store, whether it be chain, independent, co-op, or anything else, wants to sell the best possible goods at the lowest possible price. And that is precisely what the consumer wants, and what the chain pinnered.

Stores in little towns no less than stores in big cities are doing this. They are also, individually or through their associations, obtaining valuable information and passing it on to their customers—an activity which is vitally important in these days of shortages and priorities. Your retailer is a real economic friend in need.

Labor And Democracy

The president of one of the principal labor unions recently said this: "To make secure the gains that have been made in the past, our union, as well as all labor, must hold fast to the principles of democracy."

No one can quarrel with that statement. It is an unanswerable truth. But the unpleasant fact is that certain labor leaders have been about the worst and most persistent enemies of democratic principles this country has known.

It is these leaders who want to make it impossible for any man to hold a job and earn a living unless he pays dues to a union. It is these leaders who often establish exorbitant initiation fees to their unions—fees that are far beyond the ability of the majority of workers to meet. It is these leaders who have closed unions to new men, and said, in effect, that non-members cannot be employed, and can starve so far as they were concerned.

You can't have a labor monopoly, or any other kind of a monopoly, and also have democracy. Many labor leaders are sincere and far-sighted men. But that proportion of labor leaders which is making a racket out of unionism casts stigma on the entire trade union movement, because they are destroying democracy.

Equipment For Farmers

The Dairyman's League News, New York, recently commented on the need for allowing priorities for the production of farm machinery and other equipment.

"Farmers are not asking for equipment to give them more leisure time," says the News. "They are now working more hours and for less pay than any other group of workers in the nation. They are certainly entitled to sufficient tools and supplies and machinery to enable them to perform the important job of producing food and materials most efficiently."

It is estimated that for every dollar's worth of raw material or fuel given a priority status for the manufacturer of farm equipment, the nation receives $40 worth of food. Adequate equipment for the farmers who produce our rations is as important as adequate equipment for the army, because food keeps the army and the nation going.

The Nation's Press

WHO PAYS? (Detroit Free Press) The engineering problems of building the Parkside homes were about as involved as those to be encountered in building a chicken coop. Yet this government housing project, finished in 1938 at Warren and Conner, had to be partially rebuilt six months ago because of faulty roof construction.

But it's perfectly all right! Secretary Edwards of the Detroit housing commission assures Detroit's common council that Detroit does not have to pay for it. The United States Housing Authority has paid all the bills, so there is no criticism to be visited upon anybody.

Certainly not! Uncle Sam pays the bills. Yet a vague thought haunts us in our municipal freedom from financial responsibility: Where does Uncle Sam get the money? The local attitude toward the loss of $32,456 is typical of the nation as a whole. Uncle Sam can borrow so many billions for any freak whim that comes up. There need be no worries over book-keeping details. A billion here and a billion there, What does it matter?

LET ICKES GO (From Senator Carter Glass' Lynchburg, Va. News) Standing out among all the explanations of an increase in consumption of gasoline when Secretary Ickes was applying frantically, querulously, and scoldingly for reduction of consumption, is the explanation furnished by Ickes himself. Not only did Secretary Ickes fail to present the problem adequately but Secretary Ickes was not the man to present it. He wasn't the man to present it because of lack of public confidence in him as man and as administrator. The public does not believe in the sanity of his judgments. It does

Common Ground

The column contends there can be no satisfactory program until we measure the status of each man by the common rank of the God-given equal right to create and enjoy anything anyone else has a right to create and enjoy.

LOVE OF GAIN? A critic of mine, who protests that he never advocated socialism, although he has advocated things that socialists advocate, says he does not believe "that the love of gain and this fear of need has been the motive behind our country's marvelous production of wealth."

This is the belief of confused people who are constantly finding fault with the results of free enterprise stifled by socialistic laws. As Jesus said, "He that is not with me is against me." The man that is not striving to bring about free enterprise is advocating socialism and does not know it.

In the first place, ownership is not being management. And no two people think exactly alike. If the government owned all the tools of production, they would select the managers. And the managers would be obliged to operate to satisfy the wishes of the agents of the government and not as the millions of different individuals would manage their property to satisfy the wishes of their customers. If it were a majority rule country, the managers would have to operate to suit the majority. If it were a dictator country, the managers would have to operate to suit the dictator. In either case, they would have to operate to satisfy the "love of gain" of these people who were the agents of the government.

The contributor says he does not believe that Fords or Edisons worked for gain; that they would have worked just as enthusiastically and successfully if their plants somehow became government property and they were given complete authority in its management.

Ford has even said that he would not make war equipment for Europe. The government's determination that Ford shall comply with the Wagner Law and unionize, is proof of the absurdity of the suggestion that if their property "somehow became government property" they (the Fords) would be "given complete authority in its management."

In the first place, if the government owned all business, no one would ever have free choice to control the fruits of his labor and, thus, demonstrate his ability to manage. The managers would always have to get the consent of the government agents before they could try out an idea. So they would not in reality be managers.

Meaning of "Love of Gain" The "love of gain" does not mean that the individual needs to directly consume the gain. But it does mean that the individual must have the right to use this gain as he, and not the government agents, believe will give him the most pleasure. The producer could not be as happy if someone else had the power to compel him to distribute the wealth he produced in a manner different from the way he wanted it distributed. Thus, it would retard his incentive to sacrifice and try to produce.

For instance, it is difficult to conceive how a big industrialist, who understands how wages are raised and how poverty is reduced, would get any joy out of producing wealth, if this wealth were to be taken from him by the government and given to people that he thought did not deserve it. He, undoubtedly, would know that to give it to them would only stimulate their desire for gifts and cause them to become more indolent and helpless; that it would cause them to multiply and replenish the earth and make the problem of raising the standard of living more difficult; and that it would make serfs and slaves of the real producers. The producer would realize that it was contrary to the law of life that each man should live by the sweat of his brow.

There is no statement made by socialists and men who are confused that does more harm than the contention that men will work when they do not have the right to determine who gets the fruits of their labor; that is, to work for gain. They, of course, need not get it themselves. When, however, the government determines who shall get it, it also determines at what the men of genius shall work.

If the government had owned all industry and made all decisions, the men who helped to stamp out yellow fever would not have been permitted to use the fruits of their labor to make experiments to bring this about, unless they had obtained the consent of the government bureaucrats. This is often impossible to get. When given the right to make decisions about unlimited subjects men become arbitrary and autocratic. Besides no man, or group of men, can be posted on many different subjects.

To contend that the government can own and manage industry and that individual citizens can still have the right of choice, is an absurdity and a contradiction on the face of it. It is to contend that a thing can be true and not true at the same time.

It does not believe in the impartiality of his actions. It does not wholly believe in his intellectual honesty. Lacking belief in these qualities in the man, the gasoline-consuming public, not fully convinced of the gravity of the situation, paid scant heed to his advice, his appeals, his threats.

Last November Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes announced that he had tendered his resignation to President Roosevelt in order to give him a free hand in reorganizing his cabinet at the beginning of his third term. That resignation could now be accepted with profit. With profit, too, could that reorganization of his cabinet be effected. Ickes is not the only member who has lost the public confidence, a confidence important in time of stable peace but essential in time of approaching war.

ISHY SMELL (New York News) The gas scare still smells like war medicine to us; war medicine mixed on the theory that we must be made to sacrifice for the war so as to come to love the war. Until these widespread doubts that the crisis is real are cleared up, preferably by Congressional investigation, we think the gas sacrifice will go on being unpopular in these parts and getting more so.

END OF THE TOURIST SEASON

Around Hollywood

BY PAUL HARRISON HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 7.—You often hear about the benefactions of movie stars, who have kids' crooked bodies straightened or drive lethal bugs out of poor people's lungs just by writing checks, but today I want to tell about a studio make-up man, a former juggler and circus clown named Don Cash.

He makes rubber noses. Or ears, or rubber chins. Here is one case: Three years ago, Joe X was a thrifty and respected paint contractor. A year ago—broke, bewildered and masked by a bandage—he stumbled out of a hospital. While removing a cancer, surgeons necessarily had taken off part of his face.

He was too old for extensive plastic surgery. He was so shacking in appearance that there was no use even thinking about trying to resume his business. He suffered under the avoidance of direct glances from his family. Joe X wasn't a coward, but he began thinking about suicide. It seemed a better way to go than crazy.

HAPPY ENDING One day after Joe X had gone to a free clinic for a routine check-up, a young doctor recalled a newspaper account of how Don Cash had made some unbelievable lifelike facial additions to change the appearance of actors. The doctor telephoned. The make-up expert said sure, send him around. The charge? Don't be silly; glad to help.

The end of the story comes from a letter written by a hard-boiled official of a hospital: Joe is re-established in his business. He is happily repaying some medical debts which he didn't have to assume. The plastic nose and connecting inlay worn by Joe X so perfect that acquaintances believe he merely has removed the bandages from a marvelously successful operation.

That gives you an idea. Maybe not the least of his kindly services is a job he did the other day for a chorus girl—not a movie dancer but a girl on ice for a skating sequence in "The Man Who Came to Dinner." She'll have to wear in the new show next week. The ensemble is a few beads and adhesive spangles—sure betrayal of an ugly appendicitis scar which she concealed when she got the job. And she desperately needed to keep that job.

Could he help? Of course. He told her to pour a certain melted material in the scar depression. From that he made a positive cast, and in 15 he baked a strip of light, fleshlike rubber compound. He told her to stick it on with spirit gum and powder. It like her skin. Even the critical gazers at the ringside tables won't see it.

BETTE DAVIS ON ICE Bette Davis, who lost her dignity in a cactus patch in "The Bride Came C. O. D.," is practicing falls on ice for a skating sequence in "The Man Who Came to Dinner." She'll have to wear in the new show next week. The ensemble is a few beads and adhesive spangles—sure betrayal of an ugly appendicitis scar which she concealed when she got the job. And she desperately needed to keep that job.

Charley Chaplin's next production apparently is going to be about Landreth, the French Bluebeard. It'll be a real creepy-jeep, and Chaplin's present intention is to play the lady killer himself. Otherwise he'll just produce and direct.

When a dog barks, he holds his head high, leaving his throat exposed. When he growls, he lowers his head, for a growl means impending attack, and the vulnerable neck is guarded by the sinking of the head.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim I don't want to start a feud between the Scissorsbills (natives of Illinois) and the oil people who hail from Texas, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and the other oil-producing states, but I would like to print a couple of poems that were famous in the Illinois oil boom days of 1910 and 1912 at the Lawrenceville-Bridgeport area, which was famed for its "Hell's Half Acre."

It may not be out of place to print these poems now, especially when one bears in mind what the oil people of the Panhandle have to say about the old timers in the present new oil fields in Illinois when they return to Pampa. I remember that Bill Dunaway was one who gave me the lowdown on the modern-day Scissorsbills. Well, we are going to print two poems, one today and the other tomorrow that will give both sides of the squabble. Many old-timers and others in the oil fields here probably are familiar with both of these poems. I saw a lot of people at the picnic Monday from West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, West Virginia and the other oil-producing states, but I bet you know both of these poems. The first poem gives the side of the oil people who swore that the Scissorsbills over-charged them for food, raiment, rent, etc., and tossed their more rambunctious brethren into the bosogoo with little or no provocation. So the poem, "The Scissorsbills," was hailed with great glee by the oil folks. Here it is.

THE SCISSORBILLS When God this world first did make He made the Gum-Neck and the snake. The Yellowhammer came in line And then the catlike and the swine; The starve-outs from old Fenway's hills— And then He made the Scissorsbills! The last job was the worst of all; For that's what caused old Adam's fall. The poor old fellow tore his hair And at those Scissorsbills did swear, Then the Lord began to pray To take those Scissorsbills away!

And to the angels thus He spake: "I surely made one great mistake, For the Scissorsbill is very strange; He gets the coin and keeps the mane. So tomorrow morn I'll start them out To Illinois, by the Big-4 route!" He said: "That place just takes my eye, For there they'll have to work or die; It's full of fevers, aches and chills; It's just the place for Scissorsbills." So the train pulled up at Willow Hill And put off every Scissorsbill!

But each one had a house next morn And round it planted fields of corn. Then a misfortune fell on them like rain: The army morn devoured their grain; And what crops were not killed by drought, The rain came down and drowned 'em out!

They struggled on and lived it down And cleared their farms and built a town; And some wore shoes upon their feet. They thought their happiness complete. They thought their troubles all were over. But God's curse fell on them once more. For the oil men came on them in swarms, And took possession of their farms.

Highlights From Latest Books

BY JOHN SELBY "YESTERDAY'S SON," by William E. Wilson (Farrar & Rinehart; $2.50) This week I have had the very pleasant experience of reading a novel due to a pattern which is unsympathetic to me, yet a novel which seemed in the end completely satisfactory. The book is "Yesterday's Son," and although it is not William E. Wilson's first book, it is his first novel.

Mr. Wilson combines straight narrative with a succession of flashbacks, and occasional interludes in what approaches the stream-of-consciousness manner. This is a tricky formula, and perhaps more difficult than is necessary, since most stories begin somewhere, go somewhere else, and can be told in logical order. Yet Mr. Wilson's novel does have pace and logic, and does rise steadily to a climax, and does exert a direct emotional pull on the reader. This may prove that his theme is big enough to overcome technical difficulties, or it may prove that I am wrong.

The situation in "Yesterday's Son" is simple. John Corey is now a professor of English literature in a school that might or might not be Yale. He is married to a soft and sweet woman, and he has buried, he believes, the memory of the idyllic affair he had with one Jessica Pindar long before. But the ghost of the affair walks one day into his classroom. It was Jessica Pindar's son, and from the first moment John Corey knows that it also is, his son.

This is the beginning of an odd quadrangular plot, and a changing web of relationships involving the principals. For Larry has been told that Corey is his father by a malicious old man in the Massachusetts village where he lives. Larry's mother knows of course. But her husband does not know, and what happens when he finds out is Mr. Wilson's business. I won't tell.

For me the best part of "Yesterday's Son" is Larry. Even when others have taken over the thread of the story, Mr. Wilson has kept Larry and the shadowy battle he is fighting with himself moving through the reader's mind. He is close to a perfect example of one of the most difficult characters to bring to life in fiction—a sensitive boy in college.

The pumps came to gather pearls; Tool dressers married off their girls. The oil man hates him with a will— God pity the poor Scissorsbill!

Publication and circulation of the poem made the Illinois natives very, very unhappy. And although they were, in the main, quiet and peaceable folk, they refused to take the insults-in-verse lying down. So they wangled around led by some of their more aggressive brethren, and got them up a poetic answer to the chortling oil people and called it "The Scissorsbill's Reply." We'll publish that poem in this very same space tomorrow.

It's really more insulting, more heckling than "The Scissorsbills."

GRASS GREENS TO BE INSTALLED AT PAMPA COUNTRY CLUB

Walter Sikes To Supervise Construction

Stockholders of the Pampa Country Club at a meeting Friday night voted to install grass greens on the first nine holes of the Pampa Country club course. Walter Sikes, veteran Panhandle golf pro, has been named to supervise construction of the course.

Officials of the club have long been considering the plan and all preliminary work has been completed in time for presentation to stockholders Friday night. So complete was the advance work that construction work will begin today with grading for the greens.

Upon advice of Mr. Sikes and recommendation of other grass green course stockholders, it was decided to place grass greens on the first nine holes only. Later, if play is sufficient to warrant it, the back nine will also be placed in grass, the stockholders decided. Pampa is the only large city in this section without a grass green course. Amarillo has three, Borger and Phillips have two. Clovis has one.

Weather conditions will be the dominating factor in setting a completion date. Should the weather continue favorable and work progresses satisfactorily, it might be possible to place the grass on the greens this week.

Only change in the present set-up of holes will be shortening of some distances and changing of the number nine green to a point nearer the clubhouse. That will be accomplished by shortening number 11 hole and dog-legging number nine.

Pipe for the water lines to the greens was ordered today and it will be here within two weeks or in time to begin laying soon after the water line has been dug.

News From Football Camps Of Southwest Conference

AUSTIN, Sept. 6 (AP)—University of Texas gridders burned up tons of energy today, probably enough if stretched into a series of games to win a championship, but it was all for the photographers.

The 50-odd-man squad coveted before the lenses as a preliminary to stiff drills which begin next week and culminate in a game conducted scrimmage Sept. 13.

DALLAS, Sept. 6 (AP)—Southern Methodist university's Mustangs are losing their pass-catching aerial artist, E. L. Keeton, to the U. S. army air corps.

Keeton received word today to report for training Oct. 4. The Mustangs previously had lost Roger Hicks, huge Missouri tackle, to the air corps.

Coach Matty Bell sent the Methodists through two thorough practice sessions today and reported he was pleased by the showing made by Dandy Dick Miller, former high school sensation at Longview.

WACO, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Baylor university Bears speeded their football training today as linemen donned pads and went through long blocking and body contact workouts.

Backs and ends continued to work on the overhead game but Coach Frank Kimbrough spent considerable time in both of today's sessions reviewing assignments on running plays.

Dwight Parks, letterman back, pulled a leg muscle and stayed out of last drill work which was expected to go again next week.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 6 (AP)—The first injury in the Arkansas Razorbacks' football camp occurred today when senior end O'Neal Adams suffered a sprained ankle.

The injury will keep the big wingman out of action several days. Arkansas lost a player by a new military twist when it was announced that sophomore tackle Leon Whitaker of Fort Smith had fallen to pass a make-up basic reserve officers training corps examination and would be ineligible.

"Hit-Happy" WT-NM League Closes With Pitchers In The Limelight

The usually "hit-happy" West-Texas-New Mexico league has ended its 1941 season with pitchers instead of hitters in the limelight. There isn't a 400 hitter in the league this year and only 15 got above the coveted 300 mark.

This year the league came up with as sweet a bunch of pitching prospects as ever stepped on a mound. Three of the chunkeys can be classed as outstanding—Lefty John McPartland of the Pampa Oilers, Charlie Wheelock of the Big Spring Bombers, and Udell Moore of the Borger Gassers.

McPartland came up with the best earned run average of the season, a 2.03, which is great pitching in any league. The big fellow won 20 games.

Wheelock, elongated righthander, tagged for the Brooklyn Dodgers, won 21 games, including an 11-inning no-hit, no-run against the Pampa Oilers. It was a perfect game for the big fellow for nine innings, not a single batter reaching first base.

Moore, another righthander and son of the famous veteran of major league campaigns, Wilcy Moore, won 10 straight games for the Borger Gassers before being tapped.

Other outstanding pitchers include Robert Am Ramsdell of Big Spring, Courtney Lemons iron man, Monty Montgomery and Frank Glab of Pampa, and others.

The prize hitter and infielder of the league, Stu Williams, Borger Gasser third baseman, has been tagged by the Detroit Tigers for spring training, while Keny Jordan, Lamesa's sensational outfielder, has already been sent to San Diego.

But the crop of hitters and fielders has been by no means exhausted. Pampa has Homer Matney, outfielder, and Bill Phillips, third baseman, Amarillo has Leon Cato, outfielder, and Bill DeCarlo, catcher; Clovis has a couple of sweet prospects in Lee Harriman, shortstop, and Tony Range, left third baseman; Lamesa can hold up Brown and Haney, a couple of outfielders.

Big Spring and Lubbock prospects are subject to call of the Dodgers and White Sox, respectively. Outstanding manager in the league is Grover Steitz, last year head of the Pampa Oilers, who retired from baseball in the spring but about mid-season answered the call of the Clovis Pioneers, then mired in the cellar. When the league season closed the Pioneers were sitting in third place and in the league playoff.

Four Southwest Teams On Tech's 1942 Schedule

Special To The NEWS: LUBBOCK, Sept. 6—Four Southwest Conference football teams will definitely appear on the Texas Tech Red Raiders 1942 schedule.

Athletic Director Morley Jennings announced today the 1942 schedule for the Red Raiders had been completed. It is the biggest and most difficult schedule the fiery and colorful Techsians have ever faced.

The schedule calls for 10 games including combats with Texas A. and M. at College Station, Rice Institute at Houston, Texas Christian at Lubbock and Baylor university at Lubbock.

Coaches Del Morgan and Bert Huffman are called over the very fine 1942 Red Raider schedule which follows: September 26, West Texas State at Lubbock.

October 3, Texas A. and M. at College Station.

October 10, Oklahoma A. and M. at Lubbock.

October 17, Baylor University at Lubbock.

October 24, New Mexico U. at Albuquerque.

October 31, Rice Institute at Houston.

November 7, Texas Christian at Lubbock.

November 14, Creighton at Omaha.

November 21, Hardin-Simmons at Lubbock.

November 28, Arizona University at Tucson.

Two are regulars of the Buffs: Sam Narrow, catcher, and Joff Cross, great defensive shortstop.

The others were brought to Houston recently: George Dockins, right-handed hurler obtained from Mobile, and Stan Ferens, southpaw pitcher recalled from Columbus, Ga.

The men will be delivered after this season.

President Fred Ankenman also announced the Houston team received title to southern Alpha Beta, who was here on option from Rochester.

Reapers Will Play Eight League Games

The Pampa Junior High Reaper football team, coached by C. P. Wright, will play eight letterman games in the Panhandle Junior High league this season.

The first game will be played Friday afternoon with the Borger Bull Pups coming to Pampa. Game time will be 4 o'clock.

The league schedule was adopted at a meeting of coaches and school principals Saturday afternoon in Amarillo. Member schools are Pampa, Central, San Houston and Borger Mann, all of Amarillo, and Borger, back in the conference after an absence of two years.

Borger returned under the new coaching setup which brought "Windy" Nicklaus to Borger as head coach of the Bulldogs.

The early start in the league race is necessary to finish play before Thanksgiving.

Horace Mann and Central are considered the strongest teams in the league. The Reapers are an unknown quantity because of inexperience.

Reaper schedule follows: Sept. 12—Borger, here.

Sept. 19—bye.

Sept. 26—San Houston, there.

Oct. 3—Horace Mann, here.

NYA Plan For Recreation Center Blows Up--Do You Have Any Ideas?

The reason why nothing has been heard about the Junior Chamber of Commerce recreation center in recent months is that youths eligible to work on a National Youth Administration project, under which the Jaycees planned to build the center, are not available.

The information was released by L. H. Johnson, Jaycee president, on Friday.

Johnson revealed that a meeting was held some time ago at which the NYA area director, Harold V. Hamilton, said that Pampa didn't have enough youths eligible for such a project.

The Jaycees asked that a survey be made and the report received from Mr. Hamilton stated that only five youths here are eligible to work under the NYA program.

Mr. Hamilton further stated that 50 per cent of the NYA funds is being diverted to defense work and that the rest is needed to carry on projects now under way.

He also said that there is a scarcity of trucks.

The Jaycees planned to build a large gymnasium and recreation center in Pampa, he is asked to negotiate the use of a large number of trucks. Other plans included a sheet-iron building or a stucco building.

So, the gymnasium-recreation center idea is dormant until someone comes up with an idea as to how the necessary money can be raised to give Pampa a much needed recreation center.

The Moore Lodge in Borger has raised between $15,000 and $20,000 for a beautiful recreation center, construction of which will begin soon. Most of the money was raised through dances, shows and other money-raising events by the live-wire organization which also raised enough money to build a beautiful hall.

If there is anyone in Pampa who has a brain wave as to how money can be secured to build a recreation center in Pampa, he is asked to contact L. H. Johnson.

It shouldn't be hard to raise the money, several persons have been heard to remark, but none of them has come out and said that he would get out and help raise it. So that's how the recreation situation stands at present.

Tennis Finals To Be Played Here Sunday

Finals in the Gray County Tennis tournament will be played Sunday at Central park. Probably the highlight of the tournament will be the men's singles match between the veteran Joe Key, defending champion, and young Wayne Roby, giant-killer of the tournament.

Roby went into the finals by defeating Duward Mitchell, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4 Saturday afternoon. Earlier in the tournament he defeated Cletus Mitchell and Hugh Stearns, both former high school district and regional champions. Key had little trouble reaching the finals. He beat Lefty Hamilton 6-0, 6-2 in the semifinal round.

In the men's doubles, Key and Cletus Mitchell will team against Jim Brown and Joe Turner in what should be a great match.

In the women's division Lill Hall and Beatrice Hicks will tangle in the singles and Hall and Hicks will then team to meet Dean Weiss and Freda Barrett in the doubles.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Pampa Tennis club and from Pampa business houses are giving trophies to the winners.

Just Between Us Girls And Women

By MRS. FRED ROBERTS

Like Mr. DeWeese, I am amending the usual heading of this column. I too am afraid that, left as it was, someone "might try to make something of it in a joking sort of way."

"Columns" have been a favorite type of reading for me ever since the days of Bert Leston Taylor (B. L. T.), founder of "A Line O' Type or Two," a column on the editorial page of The Chicago Tribune.

Is school the main topic of conversation in your home these days as it is in ours? Are you serving a football diet to the young son who aspires to make the Pee-Wee team?

We are always amused when our Chicago relatives come to visit us. From the very beginnings of Chicago, their families have lived there and been educated there and but for their visits to us, they would never know how people live in smaller towns.

Not merely in matters material, but in things of the spirit. Not merely in the calm assertion of rights, but in the glad assumption of duties.

The interest in a recreation center will surely revive again this fall. Most of us feel that it is so important that we have one. It need not be elaborate. It should be open to everyone.

The poor boy with the fine character and the pride that we like to see does not take advantage of Maverick clubs and recreation centers that are open only to the underprivileged.

This month marks the beginning of fall activities for clubs, P-T. A.'s, church groups and many other organizations. One is sure one will become involved in as many things this fall as last—but one always does.

Our young people are hearing much these days about the development of personality, about making friends and getting along with people, about making the right impression—which is all very well and good and very important, surely, in this day and age.

When Johnnie asked me to write this, I thought I would occasionally jot down something and the column would really just write itself. But nothing ever seemed worth jotting down, and the time to sit down and write something never came along.

I never did aspire to write columns—or, in fact, anything, anyway, and now I know why. It's simply that I never would think of anything to write about. I do enjoy reading Johnnie's column because it is "newsy" and interesting and always in good taste. I know everyone is glad she will be back next Sunday.

Miss Betty Cozatt And Jack Davis To Marry Next Spring

Announced today was the engagement of Miss Betty Lee Cozatt to Jack Davis. Both are teachers in the Pampa schools. Miss Cozatt will resume their work for this season, and plan to marry in the spring at the close of school.

Miss Cozatt's home is in Enid, Okla. She is a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. college, Stillwater, where she received her B.S. degree in 1940. She is teacher of physical education in Pampa Junior High school.

Mr. Davis is business manager of the Harvesters. He received his B.S. degree in 1936, and master's degree this summer, both from West Texas State college. His home is in Lakeview.

Sam Houston P-TA Executive Council Starts New Year

First meeting of the executive committee of Sam Houston Parent-Teacher association for the current school year was held Friday afternoon with Mrs. V. L. Hobbs presiding.

Committee chairmen discussed plans for the year's work. For September, the organization decided to change the meeting date from the second Thursday to the third Thursday afternoon, due to school starting later this year.

"In Defense of Childhood and Youth" will be the Sam Houston P-TA program for the year. Appointment of the following committee chairmen was approved by the board:

Mrs. Jim Collins, program; Mrs. Garnet Reeves, membership; Mrs. W. R. Campbell, hospitality; Mrs. E. E. Etheridge, publications; Mrs. Lee Harrah, parent education; Mrs. Paul Hawthorne, Girl Scouts; Mrs. Bob Alford, procedure and by-laws; Mrs. Jess Galy, finance; Mrs. John Mobley, summer round-up; Miss Wilma Jarrell, student aid; Mrs. V. P. Sheldon, and Mrs. M. E. Lamb, health.

Holy Souls P-TA To Hold First Meeting Wednesday Afternoon

With the opening of school tomorrow the Parent-Teacher association of the Holy Souls Parochial school will resume its monthly meetings.

The second Wednesday of each month has been chosen as the regular meeting day for this organization.

Under the leadership of Mrs. J. Kiser, president, an interesting program has been outlined for the year.

All members are asked to attend this first meeting which will be held at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday in the school auditorium. A special invitation is extended to those parents whose children are entering Holy Souls school for the first time.

After a short business meeting there will be a social hour with refreshments served by the hospitality committee.

Officers for the year are: Mrs. R. J. Kiser, president; Mrs. A. D. McNamara, vice-president; Mrs. Henry Clay Nash, secretary-treasurer.

Standing committee chairmen: Mrs. Russell Chisholm, historian; Mrs. O. A. Husted, budget-finance; Mrs. Tom O'Rourke Jr., hospitality; Mrs. S. C. Jensen, membership; Mrs. A. D. McNamara, program; Mrs. Henry Clay Nash, publicity; Mrs. M. F. Roche, summer round-up.

City council representatives: Mrs. D. C. Kennedy, Mrs. O'Rourke, and Mrs. Kiser.

Next meeting of the troop will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Elizabeth Roberts.

MILITARY AS ALL GET-OUT is the outfit Carole Landis fixed up for visiting army camps. The simply tailored suit is of a soft beige gabardine, with a gold and red belt. The skirt-length cape of matching gabardine has a bright red lining.

Military Theme Utilized In First Baptist WMU Installation

A military theme was used in the installation of officers of the First Baptist W. M. U. held Wednesday at the church.

Mrs. F. E. Leech, installing officer, presented Mrs. E. L. Anderson with a flag to carry as first commanding officer, and another flag to Mrs. A. L. Prigmore as her assistant.

The other officers formed ranks as they received their commissions. New Officers: Following the installation service, punch and cookies were served in the dining room.

Other chairmen, Mrs. M. P. Deans, missions; Mrs. Paul Briggs, mission study; Mrs. T. L. Anderson, periodicals; Mrs. W. F. Yeager, social; Mrs. Ella Brake, stewardship; Mrs. C. L. Event Will Mark Formal Opening Of Fall Season

With clubs starting their work for the year, Parent-Teacher associations busy with plans for the 1941-42 session, and increasing activity among women's organizations in the churches, the autumn social season opens in full swing in Pampa this week.

Highlighting the week will be the annual reception for the incoming presidents of Pampa clubs, to be given by the Pampa Council of clubs at 8 o'clock Thursday night in connection with the program, a style show will be presented, in which eight local stores will participate.

Arrangements for the annual reception are divided among the various clubs, which are organized in groups as committees. The Business & Professional Women's club is the "chairman club" for the invitations, directed by Mrs. George Walstad Jr.

Decorations are by the group headed by the 20th Century Culture club, and Mrs. Hobbs; program, 20th Century Forum, Mrs. Walter E. Rogers; refreshments, Garden club, Mrs. Bob McCoy; general, 20th Century, Mrs. E. J. Hagan.

During the past week, the "back-to-school" theme has dominated many of the dances of the younger set, as young Pampans prepare to leave for school and college.

Among forthcoming events will be the district 1 convention of the Business & Professional Women's club to be held here October 11-12, which is expected to attract a large number of delegates to this city.

Tuesday will mark the end of the counting of votes in the "Little Miss Pampa" contest, an event that has attracted widespread interest, as 30 little girls between the ages of 2 and 6 compete for the title and the loving cup to be given the winner.

The contest is sponsored by the Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in cooperation with local merchants. The finale will be the coronation ceremony on the LaNora stage on Friday night.

Pampa's weather has not yet been in the autumn motif, with temperatures ranging during the day nearly up to the maximum 99 for the summer recorded on July 18—but for clubs and other organizations in Pampa—autumn and all the activity the season connotes—is here.

A golf ball has been driven by Gene Sarazen at a speed of more than 120 miles an hour.

RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

By Mrs. HOL WAGNER
In about two weeks the entire 100 layettes in our quota will be ready to be issued to volunteers. Mrs. Bruce Walters is trying to get church groups, study clubs, and other women's organizations to assume responsibility for a certain number of the quota, instead of issuing single garments to numerous individuals. Women of the First Christian Church have asked for 25. Other groups that will agree to make layettes should get in touch with Mrs. Walters as soon as possible.

Included among the 29 garments in each layette is a pair of thumbless mittens, which may be either crocheted or knitted. Yarn for these mittens is not included among materials furnished by the government, and so the Red Cross is asking for donations of pink or blue or white yarn to make baby mittens. Yarn can be taken to the production room or to Mrs. Walters or those women who wish can just go ahead and make the mittens. The only requirements are that they be thumbless and in an infant's size.

Girl Scout Troop 5, which is composed of girls in senior high school, had an all day meeting at the home of their leader, Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, Thursday, and spent most of their time working on three baby comforters made from scraps of pink, blue, and white outing flannel. Groups of two girls each worked out individual designs for the comforters.

It seems to me ample evidence that the attitude of our young people is all right when teen-aged girls are willing to devote one of their few remaining days of vacation to sewing for the Red Cross.

The same day Mrs. Estelle Purvis brought the girls in Troop 8 down to the production room to see the Red Cross work and find what they could do. Women volunteers were busy cutting flannel dresses for the layettes, and the girls ended up by taking a box of the scraps to make into a baby comforter.

Of course our biggest job is actually making the garments to fill out quota, and the women who are accomplishing that task deserve first credit. But if by adding trimming or any kind of personal touch to the plain garments we can send a bit of cheer to Britain's war sufferers, I know we want to do that too.

Venado Blanco Club Starts Year's Work

Special To The NEWS:
WHITE DEER, Sept. 6.—Beginning its fifth year's work, the Venado Blanco club met Thursday evening in Venado park for a picnic supper followed by a business meeting.

Miss Gladys Holley, president, was in charge. Mrs. Ray Vineyard was elected corresponding secretary; Miss Odessie Howell, parliamentary; and Mrs. Bill Watson, federation counselor.

Other officers previously elected are Miss Vivian Hammack, vice-president; Mrs. C. B. Chunn, secretary and treasurer; Miss Virginia Martin, critic; and Mrs. Claudia Evelyn, reporter.

Standing committees appointed by the president are: program—Miss Hammack, Mrs. B. R. Weeks, and Miss Evelyn; social—Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Elton Beene, and Mrs. Claude Everett; membership—Miss Hammack, Miss Howell, and Miss Evelyn Mayfield.

Miss Hammack reported that the topic for the year would be "Our American Heritage and Its Defense." It was voted to mimeograph the yearbooks and Miss Virginia Martin was appointed to have charge of the topic.

Mrs. Weeks reported that the county commissioners court had contributed $200 to the upkeep of Venado park this summer and that a like amount would be set aside for the park each summer hereafter.

New projects adopted are sponsoring an Armistice Day dinner to which the entire community and surrounding communities would be invited; sponsoring a "play party" early in October; and joining with the other study clubs in the purchase of an air-conditioner for the public library.

Miss Dorothy Wittliff, Mrs. Weeks and Miss Martin were appointed to have charge of the dinner, and Mrs. Beene, Mrs. Vineyard, and Mrs. Watson to arrange for the "play party."

New members elected were Misses Vera Taylor, Mildred Hogland, Edythe Strickland, and Mary Lee Davis, and Mrs. Bob McNeely.

Two From Hemphill Attend State HD Meet In Beaumont

Special To The NEWS:
CANADIAN, Sept. 6.—Mrs. J. J. Hoobler and Mrs. Joe Dodd are in Beaumont this week representing Hemphill County Home Demonstration clubs at the annual meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration association.

They traveled in a car with Mrs. Curtis Roach of Perryton, district vice-president of the association.

This is election year for state officers. Two years ago the convention was held in Lubbock. Each alternate year, it is held at Texas A. & M. college.

Social features of the meeting include a reception for delegates on Wednesday night and a fish fry on the Gulf, the latter courtesy of the Beaumont Chamber of Commerce.

Hemphill county was entitled to three voting delegates. Mrs. W. W. Beane recently killed in an automobile accident, had been selected as one of the delegates. No one was sent in her place.

SETTING OF WEEK'S PICTURES RANGE FROM SOUTH SEA TO AIR TO RESORT

By BROWNWOOD EMBLSON

A new Sonja Henie picture, set against the background of the famous American resort, Sun Valley, a sophisticated Melvyn Douglas comedy, South Sea Island romance, and a film that combines the appeal of roaring planes plus the "leathernecks" topline the film bookings in Pampa this week.

To the Crown screen comes Movita and Warren Hull to play the leading roles in "Paradise Isle," opening a three-day run today. John Payne and Glenn Miller and ork are co-featured with the Norse ice queen in "Sun Valley Serenade," at the LaNora today through Wednesday.

"Devil Dogs of the Air" brings together the typical wisecracking and adventure combination of James Cagney and Pat O'Brien, with Margaret Lindsay furnishing the heart interest. It's on the Rex screen today, tomorrow, and Tuesday.

Leslie Webb Leases 7 Sections Of King Ranch In Hemphill

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS: CANADIAN, Sept. 6—Leslie Webb, Hemphill county rancher, has leased seven sections in Lipscomb county belonging to Mrs. A. R. King, lease to run until June 1, 1943.

Mrs. Webb has sub-leased his six sections west of Canadian to his brother, Bud Webb, and will move with his family to the King ranch about the first of November.

He has option to purchase or re-lease the ranch at the expiration of the present lease.

This ranch is well watered and has a two-story modern house on it. A. R. King was one of the pioneer cattlemen of Lipscomb county. He came to Canadian with his family in March, 1921, and died at his home here in December, 1928.

Mrs. King retains her home in Canadian, but has spent the past

Massachusetts Pair Visit Here

Guests here of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Jackson during the past week have been Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Fitzgerald of Dorchester, Mass. The visitors left this morning to return to their home in Massachusetts.

Mr. Fitzgerald was the sergeant in command of Mr. Jackson's platoon in World War I. Both are veterans of the 1st division.

The visitors from Massachusetts were delegates to the V.F.W. convention in Philadelphia before coming to Pampa.

Mrs. Fitzgerald has been recently elected president of the Lotta Ochilree auxiliary 3718 at Dorchester.

The Jacksons and Fitzgeralds made a trip to Carlsbad Caverns National park during the visitors stay in this region.

Three winters in Fort Worth with a sister. Her daughter Louise is a student at Texas University.

AGAINST THE BREATH-TAKING background of the snows at Sun Valley, Sonja Henie and John Payne romance on skis to the irresistible rhythms of Glenn Miller and his orchestra. It all happens in the latest 20th Century-Fox entertainment triumph.

"Sun Valley Serenade," on the LaNora screen today through Wednesday. A sky-high romance, the film features new smash songs from the pens of Gordon and Warren. Milton Berle, Lynn Bari, Joan Davis and the Nicholas Brothers complete the featured cast.

World Conditions Must Be Corrected After War, Says Gilks

Lieutenant-Colonel William George Gilks of the Salvation Army, Dallas, was the principal speaker at the Pampa Kiwanis club's regular weekly luncheon at noon Friday. Attendance totaled 64.

The necessity to correct world conditions after the present war, especially economic conditions of the world, and the need of a world "police force" to maintain peace was the theme of the Salvation Army official's address.

Members of the local advisory board of the Salvation Army, met with the lieutenant-colonel and Major Reginald Crevett, also of the Salvation Army, Dallas, following the club luncheon.

The advisory board members were guests at the luncheon. Besides the Kiwanis on the board, these were Arthur M. Teed, Dick Hughes, Charlie Burton, Jack Johnson, M. C. Johnson, Sherman White, L. L. Sone, and Aaron Meek.

Other guests were—Leon L. Hoyt, Amarillo; John G. Church, Lubbock; Adjutant William T. Johnson, of the Salvation Army, Amarillo; Dr. Robert W. Goodloe, Southern Methodist university, Dallas; the Rev. W. M. Pearce, W. C. deCorova, John Mitchell, all of Pampa, and Bud Martin of Wheeler.

KPDN Radio Chat

Last week we intimated that for a while others would write this column, instead of the undersigned, but Claudia Bengé was slated for the first issue under new management. And Claudia said she didn't want to write it, because she wanted the column this week to be about her, and she was too modest to write it herself.

So the column by Claudia must give way to the column about Claudia.

You see, Pampa's champion gossip, whose regular stint of gossip from 9:15 to 9:30 each morning has made her well known all over the Top O' Texas, will start a new program tomorrow morning. It'll come on at 10 o'clock and last for 30 minutes, and it'll be called "The Woman's Page of the Air." It'll include everything of interest to women, except gossip, which will be taken care of in Claudia's other program.

In "The Woman's Page of the Air" there will be fashion hints, Hollywood news, beauty hints, charm and personality ideas, ideas for parties, home decorations, what to do with hubby's old razor blades, recipes and food news, book reviews, a little poetry and a little music, and a department called "Women in the News," which will give you the inside stories of some of the world's prominent women.

It sounds like an interesting program. Ray Monday will stand around during the program, trying to get in a word here and there.

Claudia's program will start immediately after the newscast at 9:45, which will be handled from now on by that radio sensation, the undersigned. Reason for this: To give Ray Monday time to go get a cup of coffee before he comes on to assist Claudia with the "Woman's Page."

Lum and Abner fans, of whom there are an increasing number, have noted with pleasure that KPDN now presents these stars of Pine Ridge, Ark., twice each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. They are heard on these days at 12:15 and then at 9:45 p. m., just before Announcer Lester Aldrich bids you good night.

There is actually a town in Arkansas by the name of Pine Ridge. It is near Mena, which was the home town of Chet Lusk and Norris Goff, the two men who take the parts of Lum and Abner. Pine Ridge wasn't called Pine Ridge, however, until Lum and Abner had won national acclaim. Until that time it was Waters, Ark., but the folks down there got so proud of their boys, Chet and Norris, that they changed the name of Waters to Pine Ridge.—B.B.

Pruitt-Holmes Wedding Held At Shamrock Residence

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS: SHAMROCK, Sept. 6—In a ceremony at the Pruitt home, Lela Pruitt became the bride of A. H. Holmes on Wednesday morning, with the Rev. Vernie Pipes, pastor of the First Baptist church, reading the vows.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes left immediately after the ceremony for a short wedding trip and upon their return will be at home at 121 W. Third street.

Attending the ceremony were Mrs. S. D. Rure, mother of Mrs. Holmes, Pat Pruitt, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Tindall, Miss Loree Tindall, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Holmes, Mrs. Estelle Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holmes, and Miss Nell Adams.

America First To Be Organized By Longview Attorney

DALLAS, Sept. 6 (AP)—Death, casualty lists and depression can be expected by the people of the United States if this country enters the war, is the opinion of A. V. Grant, Longview attorney who will organize America First committees in East Texas.

Grant, a former American Legion post commander, said he would visit 50 cities and use sound truck and radio to develop a regional rally at Longview preceding the state-wide gathering for Sen. Burton K. Wheeler's speech in Dallas late in September.

Grant said he volunteered for the last war and fought in France.

Two Swift And Deadly Cruisers Slide Down Ways

(By The Associated Press)

Two swift and deadly cruisers slid down the ways yesterday (Saturday), bringing the navy a long step closer to its goal of a two-ocean fleet.

Speaking at one of the launching ceremonies—at a time when new tension was developing over a skirmish between the United States destroyer Greer and a German submarine—Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal asserted:

"The events in the North Atlantic make this a significant day for the American navy."

The launching of the light cruisers Atlanta at Kearny, N. J., and San Juan at Quincy, Mass., brought to 251 the total of all types of new fighting ships to go into the water thus far this year.

The rapid expansion brought the fleet up to a strength of 338 combatant vessels on August 1. The fleet at that time was made up of 15 battleships, six aircraft carriers, 37 cruisers, 168 destroyers, 112 submarines. That figure did not include several ships afloat but not actually in service, such as the new battleships North Carolina and Washington and other smaller craft.

Between the first of the year and yesterday the navy launched 249 ships, put down 436 keels and put into service or made ready for service 213 more craft.

In addition to the building, launching and commissioning of the fighting ships, the navy has pushed a construction program for auxiliary vessels. Among such vessels was a 97-foot mine sweeper, launched at Millville, N. Y., yesterday.

Details of the two cruisers launched yesterday were naval secrets, but some information was made public. The Atlanta is so speedy, navy officers said, that only the darling mosquito boats can outrun her. She is partly streamlined, with the deck partly enclosing the forward funnel.

The San Juan has similar characteristics and speed. Her builders said she was armed with torpedo tubes and driven by twin-screw geared turbine machinery.

King Peter Favors Invasion Of Italy

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP)—Refugee King Peter II of Yugoslavia, a tall, slim, shy youth, celebrated his 18th birthday anniversary today convinced the time is ripe for a British invasion of Italy.

"The king has definite ideas about the prosecution of the war and the part he can play in it.

"I believe the British should invade Italy," he confided to an interviewer. "I think the time is ripe."

"I have no regret about the decision I took to fight it out with Hitler," he added while strolling through the quiet garden surrounding his mother's country home 70 miles from London.

He has been residing with Queen Marie since June, when he arrived in Britain by plane with only an extra suit, shoes and a pair of pajamas. About England, he said:

"If I can't be with my people in my own land, I would rather be here."

Peter is preparing to enter Cambridge this fall, but he appears to be interested most in becoming an RAF pilot. He indicated his hands have been itching to get at the controls of a plane ever since his arrival here.

He told recently of his flight from Yugoslavia to Athens when he piloted the plane most of the way because the pilot was exhausted from three straight nights of aerial combat.

As the head of an exiled government, Peter has marched through munition plants, has shot off anti-aircraft guns, crawled through planes and walked over ships, always managing an interested expression.

Greenfield Rites Held At Shamrock

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS: SHAMROCK, Sept. 6—Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon for J. M. Greenfield, 71, a resident of Shamrock for the past 37 years.

The rites were conducted from the Greenfield home with the Rev. J. W. Lummus in charge. Interment was made in a local cemetery.

Mr. Greenfield, who was one of the pioneer business men of Shamrock, was active until about three years ago when poor health forced him to retire.

Surviving are his wife; five daughters, Mrs. Ernie Hodges, Mrs. Gerlie McPherson, and Mrs. Roy Berten, all of Shamrock; Mrs. Edna Sanders of Denver City, and Miss Florence Greenfield of Washington, D. C.; three sons, C. N. and James of Fort Worth, and G. B. of San Antonio.

Often the damage done to the eyes begins in the home with poor lighting. See that you have enough light bulbs strong enough for reading but not too strong for their young eyes. Have the proper lamps that are close enough to the work. There are floor lamps, table models, and even wall models for very small rooms. These lighting facilities give soft, glareless light that spreads evenly over the work to be done. They are not expensive and they do make it easier to work faster and abolish eye strain." WANT-AD ROMANCE

BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER XII

WANTED—A cottage in the country. Must be rose-covered. Address Mr. and Mrs. Ted Andrews.

MIKE FLYNN was waiting when they reached the hotel.

"Not a trace of—," he began. He saw Ted. "So she found you!" Mike pounded Ted's back. "It's good to have you back, son. And everything's patched up now, Katie?"

"I've been pretty much of a fool," Ted admitted.

Flynn laughed. "No more than anyone in love, boy. Now that you've met and kicked out that green-eyed devil, perhaps you'll be safe from him."

"We're going home to be married," Kay announced. "With Joe and Mary. In the factory."

"But that's a government plant now," the attorney protested. "A munitions factory. D'you think they'll stop production for a wedding?"

The Donovan chin went up. Flynn had encountered that chin before. "Well, maybe they might," he admitted.

THEY did.

It was a double wedding, in the warehouse of Tim Donovan's factory, with cases of Wondrosop piled high around them. There was no music, other than the whirr of machine belts, the clanking of gears. The voices of workmen filled in for a choir.

Otherwise it was a formal affair, with Kay and Mary in white gowns and long bridal veils, and Ted and Joe handsome in cut-aways. Mike Flynn gave the girls away, pulling at a too tight collar.

MacLeod and Goldberg were there, too. And old Hans Stadt, alternately beaming and wiping his eyes with a huge bandana. There were Army officers and plant officials in the background.

After the ceremony, and after Kay and Mary had kissed everyone, including Hans, an officer stepped up to Kay.

"We've arranged a special demonstration for you today, Mrs. Andrews. You would probably like to see how our explosive works in an actual test. Because you all are stockholders in the original company, we've obtained permission—"

An Army car took them to an isolated hilltop overlooking the river. The officer pointed to a sandbar.

"In a few minutes a time bomb will be dropped on that bar. . . . There is no danger. We're using a very light charge. Only a fraction of what will actually be used later. . . ."

They made an unusual picture. Two brides in wedding finery; grooms in formal attire, all staring at the sky.

A speeding bomber roared toward them, swooped low over the river. They saw the slender black bomb plunge downward, hit the sandbar squarely in the middle.

"In 15 seconds . . ." the officer said. "The timing can be governed easily."

Kay counted softly, "10—11—12—13—14—"

"BOOM!"

A high column of water and sand belched into the air, spraying them with mud. When it settled the sandbar had disappeared.

"There's your Wondrosop, Kay," Ted whispered, his arm tight around her.

"Not mine—Dad's. . . . It works, Dad. Just like you said it would."

THEY had no trouble finding the cottage Kay had dreamed of owning. The want ad took care of that. It was ideal, complete even to a rose trellis over the front door and honeysuckle vines climbing up the back porch.

"Find anything you want if you just advertise for it," Ted laughed as he carried Kay across the threshold. "I even found a wife."

But honeymoon house was not filled completely with happiness. Ted had refused, finally and definitely, to live on Kay's money. That was going into bonds. They would live on what he earned or go hungry. And the market seemed to be flooded with super-salesmen.

Ted worried, too, because he couldn't get in the Army. "You certainly can't be classed as a dependent," he told Kay. "And this ticker—just a little murmur I picked up playing football. I'll probably live to be 90."

Kay tried to convince him that buying Defense Bonds was as important as training to be a soldier—he had tried to enlist—and finally succeeded. But finding Ted a job was not so easy.

"He has to have something he really believes in," she confided to Mike Flynn. "If we could find him a business, lend him money to invest in it . . ."

"I've given him a dozen leads on fbs, but he won't take them."

"Ted's not sold on those jobs, himself. He can't go calling on the same prospects year in and year out, getting the same orders. He has to do it with big advertising campaigns, sell the people on wanting the product. And he has to be sold on it himself, first."

"We'll keep trying."

"He has to find something soon. He won't take a cent of mine. We bought the house with his share of Wondrosop, and we're living on the rest. Mike, I can't lose him again."

It was Ted who found the answer. Daily he searched the classified sections of the papers. One night—

"Kay! Kay! I've found it!" She hurried in from the kitchen, wiping flour from her hands. "What is it?"

"Ted didn't answer her. He was talking to himself.

"I can do it. I'll get Flynn to check in on this guy, then I'll get Joe up here and let him run the tests. We'll investigate fully before we go off the deep end—"

"Ted, darling, what are you mumbling about?"

"We'll organize a company," Ted went on, "and launch a big advertising campaign. It's a cinch. We'll put it on every cupboard shelf in the country. We'll make millions—"

"Ted, please," Kay pleaded. "Oh, yes." He kissed her and swung her up from the floor. "It's marvelous, honey. Sure fire. Can't miss. Here! It's right here in the paper. Look. Read it."

Ted complied, thrust the paper into her hands, indicating a circled ad. She read it slowly.

Spindletop To Have Birthday This Year

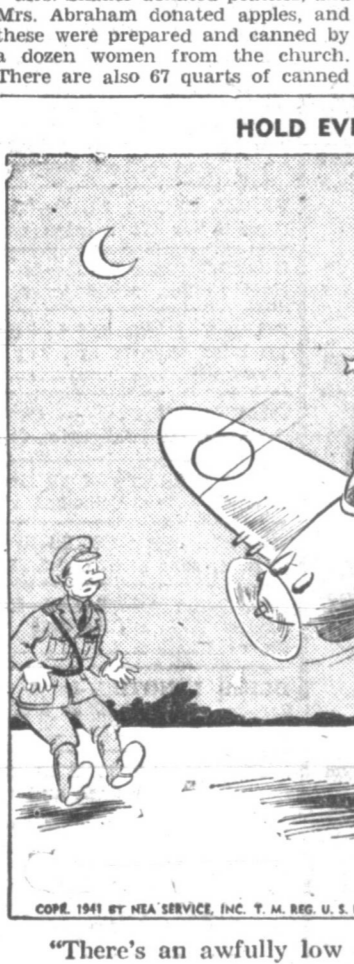

BEAUMONT, Sept. 6 (AP)—Spindletop, one of the most famous oil fields in history, will have a birthday party this year.

Discovered forty years ago when the Lucas gusher blew in with a roar heard around the world, Spindletop will furnish the theme for a national oil anniversary celebration to be held here Oct. 9, 10, and 11 by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Highlighting the birthday observance will be the dedication of a huge monument to be erected to the Lucas gusher and the pioneers of Spindletop. Made of Texas granite, the shaft is the result of the efforts of the Lucas Gusher Monument Association headed by J. Cooke Wilson, of Beaumont, and of scores of oilmen who have contributed to its completion. It will be the second tallest monument in Texas, yielding only the stratospheric San Jacinto Memorial.

Spindletop, first gusher oil field in the United States, was the beginning of the modern petroleum industry. Oil was found here in 1901 in such tremendous quantities that it could be used not only for lubricants but also for fuel and power. As the inscription now being carved on the monument points out, "Petroleum has revolutionized industry and transportation; it has created untold wealth, built cities, furnished employment for hundreds of thousands, and contributed billions of dollars in taxes to support institutions of government. In a brief span of years, it has altered man's way of life throughout the world."

Studer Returns From Rodeo At Galveston

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS: CANADIAN, Sept. 6.—C. A. Studer arrived home from Galveston Wednesday, where he spent the month of August promoting the first rodeo put on by the Galveston Rodeo association.

According to Mr. Studer there hadn't been a drop of moisture there during his stay until Sept. 1, the third day of the rodeo, when a heavy rain cut down attendance on what had been expected to be top attendance.

Mr. Studer says it was a good show and that the Galveston association has planned to have another rodeo next year.
