

Texans Predict Defense Cost To Be 100 Billion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Texas' two members of the house appropriations committee, discussing in a radio forum to be broadcast Sunday the cost of the national defense program, agreed that such expenditures would soar to at least $100,000,000,000 before the war ended.

Representatives George Mahon of Colorado City and Albert Thomas of Houston, answering questions by their colleagues and director of the forum, Wright Patman of Texas, explained the function of the highly important committee on which they serve. They dwelt then at length on the "amazing sums" being spent for defense.

To convey an idea of the comparative amount of the money being spent now, Mahon declared that the preparedness program at present is costing more than the total cost of running the government from the beginning of George Washington's administration to 1920, including the cost of five wars.

Thomas asserted that national defense expenditures to date totaled $88,000,000,000, not including several billions spent through the reconstruction finance corporation. Add to this expenditures already authorized and the total would exceed the $66,000,000,000 spent by the government up to 1920.

Food for Uncle Sam's army costs $700,000 a day, Mahon said, mentioning that this daily ration included 1,500,000 eggs, 10 ounces of beef and 4 ounces of pork.

Thomas pointed out that while the lend-lease funds included $1,000,000,000 for food for the British and one-third of this sum for meat, it did not allow for the purchase of beef products. Because Texas is a great beef producing state, he and Mahon have "suggested, or I might say, more than suggested" to the agriculture department that beef be considered equitable with pork, Thomas added.

The Houston congressman told of the two-ocean navy program and estimated that it should become a reality by the end of 1943.

At one point in his discussion, Thomas called attention to the proposal that an iron ore processing plant be established in east Texas. He credited Patman with exerting much effort toward obtaining that project.

VFW Holds Most Successful Sale Of Buddy Poppies

One of the most successful Buddy Poppy sales in recent years was conducted here Saturday by Pampa Post 1687, Veterans of Foreign Wars. According to Jim Sturgeon, commander of the local post, the 3,000 poppies on hand were sold by noon and volunteer workers said they could have sold many more had they been available.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars last night expressed thanks to the people of the community for their whole-hearted support of this worthy cause for the benefit of disabled and needy ex-service men who are confined in hospitals, and the widows and orphans of departed comrades.

The veterans suggested that all wear their Buddy Poppy on Armistice

Day in remembrance of those veterans who rest in Flanders Field and those others from the ranks who have answered the final roll call.

The sale of poppies was directed by the post auxiliary with high school girls assisting. Alva Chesler sold the most poppies with Joyce Taylor second and Dora Taylor third.

KPDN Radio Chat

The coming week is National Education Week, and KPDN is cooperating with the local schools in the observance of it. School programs have been arranged for 5:15 Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Baker and Woodrow Wilson ward schools are to have the Monday evening program. Pampa High school will give the Wednesday program. Sam Houston and Horace Mann ward schools will put on the program Thursday evening. And the Junior High school will present Friday's program.

Of course, Tuesday is left out of that schedule, because Tuesday is Armistice Day. The Veterans of Foreign Wars local chapter will conduct its regular monthly program, "Speak Up for Democracy" on Tuesday. It will be a special Armistice Day program with Paul Hill in charge. Time: 8:30 a. m.

And Tuesday afternoon when the Pampa Harvester football team invades Bulldog Stadium in Plainview, KPDN will bring you a play-by-play broadcast of the football game. The kick-off is scheduled for 2:30.

Good news is the return of ASCAP music to the airwaves of KPDN.

You can again request anything you want to hear regardless of the identity of the copyright holder. Music Director Ray Monday is going around with a constant grin these days. The BMI-ASCAP quarrel made Ray very unhappy, because Ray loved that music he used to schedule for you back in 1940. And now he is dusting away the cobwebs from the ASCAP music files and is fondly caressing those old records he used to play for you. So here's our request: "Any good ASCAP number for Ray Monday."

KPDN will present a new feature tomorrow evening at 8:30. It's a group of local boys who style themselves "The Sunshine Serenaders." They are to entertain you with music, featuring a steel guitar every evening, Monday through Saturday, at 8:30.

By this time many of you must have recognized the voice of the new Adam in Adam and Eva, KPDN's "dramatic" 8:55 a. m. show. It's the former Pampa High school dramatic star, Jimmy Mosley. Jimmy Mosley is living in Amarillo, but comes to Pampa enough to transcribe episodes of Adam and Eva. Eva, of course, is still portrayed by Gerry Smith.

Adam's Uncle Jake, the old man who grows younger every day, is portrayed by another former Pampa

High school dramatic student, Meredith Wilson.

This week Eva is going to get a new idea. It may change the whole way of life for Adam and Eva, and it is going to require them to hire Magnolia, the maid who made her debut on the show last week.

Recruiting Officer For Navy Will Be In Pampa Monday

A representative of the United States Navy recruiting service will be in Pampa all day Monday to contact youths of this area interested in enlisting in the navy, according to word received yesterday from C. M. Norman of Amarillo.

The navy has some fine opportunities both in the naval reserve and the regular navy, according to Mr. Norman. The navy is in need of men to operate the new ships that are being added to the ever expanding fleet.

The navy officer will be located in the civil service room in the basement of the postoffice.

HENRY FONDA AND BARBARA STANWYCK

FEATURED IN SMART, MODERN COMEDY

"You Belong To Me" Opens Week At LaNora; Judy Canova Featured At Rex in "Puddin'head"; "Gambling Daughters" With Cecilia Parker, Roger Pryor, Showing On Crown Screen

BY BROWNWOOD EMERSON

A good comedy, solid story, and excellent direction characterize Columbia's 94-minute picture, "You Belong To Me," with Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda, opening a four-day run today at the LaNora.

Fonda plays the unhappy, suspicious husband of Barbara, who is a successful doctor and keeps up her practice after marriage.

Here's how AP Writer Robbin Coons describes Henry Fonda at the time he was working on "You Belong To Me":

Henry Fonda had a haircut. He was happy. He was sitting down to breakfast with a genteel butler at his elbow. He was talking English, without a rustic twang. He was wearing regular trousers and a silk dressing gown. He was back in the city—at long last.

He wasn't eating, and he looked disturbed and angry, but that was in the script, not in Fonda.

This was what Henry Fonda hoped would happen after "The Lady Eve." When he went home—to 29th Century-Fox—after proving in "Eve" that he could wear a tuxedo as easily as homespun, and a top hat as jauntily as a coonskin cap, what did they do but stick him in "Wild Geese Calling"—as an honest, homespun lumberjack?

So he was happy about his haircut and his comedy.

And what do you think Hank Fonda talked about, after the scene? He talked about the picture back on the home lot that he really wanted to do. About the wonderful script Dudley Nichols had written. About "Swamp Water," the story of rusties way down South, which Fonda wouldn't get to do because he was committed to "You Belong To Me" and "The Male Animal," another comedy.

Errol Farce At Crown Booked at the Crown today, tomorrow, and Tuesday is PRC's 67-minute film about girls at a finishing school who get in a jam over gambling when they take family jewels to cover their losses. Title is "Gambling Daughters," with Cecilia Parker, Roger Pryor, and Robert Baldwin.

Leon Errol, Mildred Coles, and Kenneth Howell have the leading roles in RKO's 86-minute farce "Hurry, Charlie, Hurry." Social wars in a small town, a trio of Indians, the vice-president of the United States and a number of other people get scrambled up before the situation is in hand. It's on the Crown screen Wednesday and Thursday.

At the same theater Friday and Saturday is showing George Houston, Al St. John, and Maxine Leslie in PRC's 87-minute western, "The Lone Rider Ambushed."

Houston impersonates a bandit in order to locate a hidden money cache. His deception is clumsy, but satisfies a convict's girl friend, Houston's buddy, Al St. John comes to his aid when the time comes to round up the gang.

at least one movie (16 mm.) of the own.

Behind the Day interest in amateur theatricals (though she won't admit it) is the memory of the hard time she herself had in crashing pictures.

Born in Roosevelt, Utah, Laraine Johnson came to live in Long Beach, Calif., when she was 10. There Elias Day, a dramatic coach whose name she now uses, drilled her for a career.

Little theater and school work prepared her further and at 15 she had a screen test—the first of many. Samuel Goldwyn finally signed her but gave her no work.

Term contracts at Paramount and RKO followed in order—at the latter she played in three George O'Brien westerns before being released.

Her first role at M-G-M (which now holds her contract) was in a film that was shelved for a year. She clicked as a "discovery" in "My Son, My Son!" and since then has had ray days, including a starring role in "The Trial of Mary Dugan."

Dodger Manager in Films Leo Durocher, manager of the world's best-loved "Bums," the Brooklyn Dodgers, is the latest recruit to the film version of the life of Lou Gehrig.

The colorful "brains of the Bums," has been in conference for two days with Samuel Goldwyn and Paul Gallico on the screen play of Gehrig's life.

In Hollywood as the house guest of General Raft, "Leo the Lip," as his Brooklyn admirers love to call him, looms as not only an advisor and contributor of material to the screen play but as a character in the picture.

Unknown to many baseball fans is the fact that he played with the New York Yankees as a team mate of Gehrig in 1927-28-29, and has a fund of training camp stories and incidents in the life of the great Gehrig which producer Goldwyn plans to make use of.

In addition, Durocher, who plans to remain in Hollywood for three weeks, will make extensive tests during that time to play himself in the picture.

Production on the film is scheduled to start January 15, giving Durocher time to return to Hollywood and complete his work before the cameras before spring training for the Dodgers begins.

"Messiah" Chorus Will Have First Meeting Today

With Christmas time drawing nearer, regular rehearsals will soon begin for the annual presentation of Handel's "The Messiah" which will be given as a vesper program this year under the direction of Mrs. May Foreman Carr.

Singers who have taken part in "The Messiah" previously and those who wish to read it are asked to meet in the First Christian church this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

As only five rehearsals will be held this year, it will be necessary for those taking part to know their parts immediately.

Mrs. E. A. Yoder will play the piano accompaniment and Miss Evelyn Thomas, the violin.

Oklahoma Group Invites Pampans To Road Meeting

An invitation to Pampa good road boosters to attend a meeting of the Oklahoma Highway 51 association in Tahlequah, Okla., on November 21 was extended Friday when a delegation of five association members visited here and were guests of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon in the Schneider hotel.

The association is trying to secure recognition of the road as a state highway which would reduce the distance between Selling, Okla., and Tulsa, Okla., by at least 40 miles. That would mean that the distance between Pampa and Tulsa would be reduced the same distance.

The road would follow U. S. 60 from Pampa as far as Selling, Okla., where it would then go east through Okeene, Hennessey and Stillwater to Tulsa and then on east through Tahlequah. The caravan from the west end of the road will leave Okeene early on the morning of November 21. Dinner will be at Tulsa with the banquet that night at Tahlequah. Some of the trippers plan to spend the week-end fishing in the vicinity of Tahlequah.

An effort will be made to send a delegation from Pampa to the meeting. Those from Pampa at the luncheon Friday felt that the road would be of great benefit to Pampa by reducing the distance to Tulsa.

Visitors from Oklahoma were Joe Naylor, Henry Boeckman, Owen Wimberly, and C. C. Wisdom, all of Okeene, and L. H. Goerke of Canton.

"GAMBLING DAUGHTERS," a PRC production dealing with girls at a finishing school who get in trouble over gambling, opens the week at the Crown. It's showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday. Cecilia Parker and Roger Pryor have the leading roles. A Leon Errol comedy "Hurry, Charlie, Hurry" is showing Wednesday and Thursday, and a George Houston western, "The Lone Rider Ambushed," at the Crown Friday and Saturday.

$100 Raised At Amateur Night

Gross proceeds of the amateur night program at Pampa Junior High school Friday totaled $100. The annual fun-festival was staged at the school auditorium Friday night, sponsored by the junior council. Proceeds will be used to send council representatives to a state meeting in Corpus Christi next spring. Prize winners were Don Lane, whistling; B. M. Wilson, vocal solo, "Sweet Violets;" Tracy Cary, imitations of Bonnie Baker and Mortimer Snerd, with Cary singing a parody on "Oh, Johnny Oh."

One of the hits of the evening was the "shadow" act of Billy Thompson, in conjunction with Robert Lane, master of ceremonies. The act included songs, tap-dancing, and jokes. Attendance at the program was 1,000.

Methodist Meeting To Be In Big Spring

Last sermons of the conference year will be preached today in the three Pampa Methodist churches, preceding the Northwest Texas conference to be held in Big Spring starting Wednesday and ending the following Sunday.

It had been planned to have the conference at Abilene, but due to the crowded conditions in that city because of the army camp there and the Baptist General convention of Texas in session at the time, it was decided to change the conference location to Big Spring.

The Rev. W. M. Pearce will conclude his fourth year as pastor of the First Methodist church today, with the Rev. Newton Starnes at Harrah and the Rev. Aubrey Ashley at McCullough churches will each conclude one year's service in the local pulpits.

Each of the three pastors and a lay delegate from each church will attend the conference. Lay delegates are W. D. Waters, First Methodist; Mrs. J. E. Beard, Harrah; and Mrs. J. A. Orton, McCullough.

Last year the conference was held at Pampa. Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of Dallas, who presided here, will also preside at the Big Spring meeting.

And thereby hangs another enactment of football's favorite saga—the story of the team that always was beaten, rising to glory behind a shocking upset of the team that couldn't be beaten.

In this case it was a band of badly mauled Pitt Panthers—they hadn't won once in five previous starts—who smashed down a potential football powerhouse, the all-victorious Fordham Rams.

the Rams—they balked the touted powerhouse at every turn and clearly led in every department of play.

Edgar "Special Delivery" Jones, Pitt's great back from Scranton, Pa., accounted for this score, rambling 30 yards to the promised land after intercepting a Ram aerial.

Why are checks called "automatic receipts?"

You needn't bother about receipts when you pay by check, because your check is its own automatic receipt. It works like this. The person receiving your check will either deposit it or cash it. In any event he will have to endorse his name or the name of his company on the reverse side. Eventually the check will be paid, cancelled and returned to you. It is then legal evidence that the amount has been paid. Huge sums have been saved because of this feature of checking accounts, which is one of many reasons why you should pay by check.

V Notes RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

Things have really been humming at the production room this past week! Pampa's generous and faithful women are determined to finish this quota on time and are ready the first of the year to start making comfort articles for the boys in our own army, navy, and marines.

Mrs. Fred Roberts, production chairman, received a letter from Red Cross headquarters saying that an urgent request had come from Great Britain for children's night gowns and asking if the Pampa chapter would supply 100. Although we already had a large quota for British war relief, Mrs. Roberts knew that Pampa women would not want this call for warm nighties for Britain's children to go unheeded and replied that we would accept the new assignment.

Claudia Bengt announced it on her radio program Tuesday morning, and that afternoon the production room was filled with workers. As a result, many of the little pink, blue, and white outing flannel gowns have already been cut and checked out, and others are now ready for volunteers to make—along with countless other garments.

Here are a few samples of the big way in which Pampa women are responding to the call for a speeding-up in production work in order to complete our present quota of nearly 5,000 garments by our deadline, Dec. 31:

Mrs. R. A. Smith, who lives several miles from town, brought in two very attractive woolen dresses with contrasting yarn stitching for trimming. She checked out two more women's dresses and a whole dozen of the children's night gowns to make. It is interesting to note how much is being accomplished by women who live in oil camps, on farms, and in outlying communities.

Mrs. W. E. Melton, who has completed 11 garments during the past two months, turned in three shirts and checked out three dresses and two more skirts Wednesday.

Ten-year-old Vaucelle Moore finished knitting her first Red Cross sweater this past week, as also did Miss Leora Kinard.

Mrs. Ethel McEwin, who has already made 19 1/2 dozen diapers and a dozen other garments on this quota, checked out 16 operating gowns to make. You know we recently received an urgent request to finish all the hospital garments as quickly as possible.

Mrs. Ray Nielson turned in a child's knitted suit. She knitted five sweaters before beginning the suit. She checked out another man's sweater.

Mrs. C. H. Darling checked out 10 gowns for the D. M. F. auxiliary to make.

Mrs. C. C. Bogan took yarn for six pairs of mittens for the Rip and Stitch club to crochet.

Yarn for crocheting the little thumbless mittens for the layettes can now be secured at the production room. Incidentally, we still do not have enough yarn to make the necessary 100 pairs. If you have scraps of white, pink, or blue yarn that you will donate, they will be appreciated. Even very small bits can be utilized in adding contrasting edgings.

Having already knitted several sweaters, Mrs. Frank Culbertson turned in a pair of socks, two snow suits, and a toddler set of sweater, beanie, and mittens.

Mrs. Emmett Forrester checked out two dozen baby garments for the Vettes club to trim and two snow suits to make.

Mrs. W. H. Board took a dozen of the children's gowns to sew and Miss Lucille Johnson took six. Mrs. W. A. Vandenberg checked out six gowns and finished them before the week was over!

Mrs. J. M. Nichols checked out eight gowns for the Harrah Methodist church. These women are among our most faithful workers.

Mrs. Otto Patton took eight skirts to make. Woolen skirts and dresses for both girls and women are among the chief articles still remaining to be made.

Mrs. J. J. Boyd of Noelette returned a child's knitted suit—she has knitted several garments—and took out two girls' skirts and a woman's dress to make.

Mrs. Glenn Radcliffe turned in one layette and checked out two more layettes and some odd pieces for the Clara Hill class of First Methodist church, which has already completed several layettes. She also took yarn to knit a child's suit.

Girls of the Junior Theta club, sponsored by Mrs. Carlton Nance, turned in a number of cute yarn dolls to be used as ornaments on children's sweaters.

And the list could go on indefinitely. Many of the women mentioned above are new workers. New cards were also added during the past week for the following women: Mmes. Herschel Belew, Ivy Duncan, Joe Gordon, J. G. Gantz, A. B. Kitchens, F. E. Leech, M. C. McEwin, C. H. Mundy, N. A. Purdy, C. L. Thomas, Jess Turner, Don Glaxner, H. H. Hicks, Keeling, Emmett LeFors, P. C. Ledrick, M. C. Overton, Wayne Phelps, Clarence Qualls, A. O. Rainwater, LeFors, J. R. Spearman, and Miss Dorothy Rook.

Assisting in the production room on Monday afternoon were Mmes. A. Cole, C. L. Thomas, and Roy Moore. Mrs. DeLea Vicars, knitting instructor in charge on that day, got several new volunteers started on their first Red Cross knitting.

Tuesday, Mrs. L. L. Davis was in charge of cutting, with the following women helping: Mmes. W. G. Kinzer, Tom Bunting, Robert Lou-vier, E. L. Vaughn, A. B. Kitchens, Andy Melke, C. Herbert Walker, Claud A. Childress, Bill Donnell, H. E. Fowler, and Doyle Osborne. Mrs. Fred Roberts, production chairman, Bruce Waters, in charge of layettes, and Mrs. S. G. Surratt, in charge of crocheting, were busy checking garments, and Mrs. Wayne Phelps, one of the B. G. K. volunteers, came in to make a delivery.

So Finis Stillwell really found the production room full when he brought a photographer in to make some pictures for use in connection with the annual roll call publicity! You'll be seeing some of them soon.

Again on Wednesday, Mrs. V. L. Hobbs in the morning and Mrs. W. R. Wanner in the afternoon were kept busy helping knitters and checking garments in and out.

Thursday Mrs. Doyle Osborne was in charge, with the following women assisting in cutting out children's night gowns: Mmes. W. A. Hutchinson, W. G. Kinzer, Robert Louvier, L. L. Davis, and Andy Melke.

Friday, being the last day of the week that the production room is open, always sees a large number of garments checked in and out. Mrs. Charlie Thue keeps the production room on Fridays. She was thrilled over the work done on some of the toddler park garments turned in during the week.

Completed garments were turned in during the past week as follows: Mrs. Fuller Barnett—one complete layette, with the handwork done by Mrs. Joe Foster; First Baptist W. M. U.—six layettes; Mrs. Annie Culbertson—one woman's sweater; Mrs. Frank Culbertson—two snow suits, one pair of socks, and one toddler set of sweater, beanie, and mittens; Mrs. Bill Donnell—one pair of mittens; Mrs. H. J. Davis for the Friendship class of First Methodist church—one layette; Mrs. P. J. Boyd of Noelette—one child's knitted suit.

Mrs. Paul Bunch—six pairs of rompers; Episcopal Woman's auxiliary—five pairs of mittens; Mrs. H. E. Fowler—one child's sweater; Mrs. H. B. Grist—four hospital bed shirts; Mrs. Cyril Hamilton—three women's dresses and four children's dresses; Miss Evvina Hamburger—one toddler set of sweater, beanie, and mittens—Mrs. D. C. Kennedy—one pair of rompers; Miss Leora Kinard—one child's sweater; Vaucelle Moore—one child's sweater; Mrs. Bob Morris—three pairs of mittens; Mrs. Roger McConnell—one pair of pajamas; Mrs. A. B. McAfee—two pairs of pajamas; Mrs. W. E. Melton—three skirts.

Mrs. Elmer Mundy—three pairs of pajamas; Mrs. Ethel McEwin—six pairs of pajamas; Mrs. Ray Nielson—one child's knitted suit; Mrs. E. Peterson of LeFors—one girl's skirt; Mrs. H. M. Richardson—one woman's sweater; Mrs. Glenn Radcliffe for the Clara Hill class of First Methodist church—one layette; Mrs. Robert A. Smith—two women's dresses; Mrs. S. G. Surratt—one shirt; Mrs. W. H. Vandenberg—six children's gowns; Mrs. DeLea Vicars—one pair of socks and one woman's dress; Mrs. W. E. Wanner—one child's knitted suit; Mrs. V. O. Wyatt—two women's skirts; and Mrs. J. S. Wynne—one pair socks.

Nutrition Campaign Begins With Food Standard As Basis

Mrs. James B. Massa, Mrs. S. C. Evans, and Mrs. W. J. Foster, members of the newspaper publicity committee of the nutrition program being sponsored by local women's clubs, have announced the Texas Food Standard as follows:

Meat—Beef, pork, mutton, goat, poultry or fish once a day or dried beans, red, white, or soy; dried peas, cream, blackeye, or cow; or nuts, peanuts, pecans, or any other.

Eggs—at least one every day. Potatoes—Irish or sweet, one or the other will do the trick. Cereal—Bread or breakfast food. Corn pone or egg bread made with whole meal, light bread made with whole wheat, biscuits made with whole grain; breakfast foods, yellow meal mush or wholegrain, crushed or polished rice. One of these is a twice a day must.

Sweets—Don't overdo it, but get some after meals only. Fat—Butter your bread or use margarine with vitamins added. Count salt pork, fatback, and bacon as fat; not as meat. Drink water.

Milk—Drink it or eat it. A pint to a quart is the right amount for a day. Sweeten with whole, skimmed, fresh, canned or dried; buttermilk, churned or cultured; clabber, cheese, yellow, cottage, or curd.

Green vegetables or yellow—Plenty to choose from but be sure and make a choice at least once a day. Mustard greens, turnip greens, pike greens, spinach, collards, green cabbage, green lettuce, Swiss chard, water cress or creek greens, carrots, squash, yams, pumpkins, custards, and yellow turnips.

Another vegetable that makes two a day. Use your taste and take your choice. Beans or peas, fresh or dried; tomatoes, turnips, beets, onions, roasting ears.

Fruit—Oranges, grapefruit, melons, strawberries or tomatoes or raw cabbage will do the same for you. More fruit—Don't forget your apples, peaches, pears, bananas, plums, grapes, berries—young black or dew—or any other fruit that is handy for that second helping. The

National Education Week Being Observed In Pampa

National Leader Will Be Speaker At Local Meeting

Dr. A. C. Ellis, outstanding psychologist and national leader in the field of adult education, will speak at a public community meeting on the subject, "Building a Strong America," next Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock in the Pampa Junior High school auditorium.

Dr. Ellis comes to Pampa under the auspices of the Hogg Foundation of the University of Texas and West Texas State college to assist in the local commemoration of American Education Week.

Dr. Ellis was formerly professor of psychology at the University of Texas and at Western Reserve university, and for the last 15 years has been director of Cleveland college at Cleveland, Ohio. He is a man of broad experience and extraordinary ability as a speaker. It is the hope of the school administration that every school patron will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing Dr. Ellis next Wednesday evening.

Dr. Ellis will be accompanied to Pampa by Dean R. P. Jarrett of West Texas State College, Canyon. He will speak before the high school assembly, and the Rotary club at noon.

Future Leaders Learn Through Citizenship Clubs

"The house will please come to order. The secretary will read the minutes of the last meeting." With these words the president of the Woodrow Wilson Group of Citizens to order. This club or a like one may be found in elementary grades throughout the nation. Rules of parliamentary order are strictly followed and programs are planned and presented by pupils.

In a club of this type weekly meetings may be held during the language period, perhaps according to a plan presented in the language text. Pupils elect a president, a vice-president, and a secretary for either a month, six weeks or a term. Committee chairman are appointed by the president and all club members serve on a committee. A "best citizen" for each week is elected. The club and this is no popularity contest! The vice-president schedules the club programs, assigning the program dates to the committee chairman.

Reports are given by these chairman at each meeting. "Mr. President, Ralph has been wanting paper this week, and Sue's coat is always on the floor." The chairman of the thrift committee will not have to repeat the names of those two persons again.

The safety first committee chairman may report careless persons and make worthwhile suggestions regarding playground safety. Maybe his program will have a skit carrying out some safety idea.

Children want to behave in a correct way socially. If the chairman of the good manners committee reports discourteous, a pupil reminds them to be polite. His committee may also teach simple rules of etiquette.

While the words "character study" may not mean so much, boys and girls may become more thoughtful through the activities of the committee of that name. Acts of unselfishness and kindness are recognized and valued.

The teacher acts as a guide and has the same status as any other club member. He may be a reference for information concerning parliamentary procedure or program material but often has no advance knowledge of the nature of a program. Of course the secretary makes help in writing his first minutes, but once is usually enough.

Programs are often pointless and uninteresting, but what club has some that are not? Initiative, resourcefulness, dependability, and leadership are developed. Children reveal hidden talents and abilities. Through such activities boys and girls are learning to have respect for the rights of others, to be democratic, and to be good citizens.

The Citizenship club of the Woodrow Wilson school is sponsored by Miss Catherine Pearce, fourth grade teacher.

One group of third grade children in the B. M. Baker school are striving to carry out a program of "Education for National Defense." The children decided they could not be good citizens and students and help their country unless they had strong, healthy bodies.

Sam Houston Fifth Grade Students Visit Plains Museum

Seventy-five fifth grade students from Sam Houston school visited the Panhandle Plains Museum at Canyon Saturday.

The group was particularly interested in Indian artifacts and relics of pioneer life in the West. However, the greatest excitement came when the fifth graders saw restoration of prehistoric animal life and modern extinct animals of the Southwest. Other favorites of the group were the huge gray mammoth, "Old Charlie," the buffalo, the statue of Fred Scott, and the statue of Chief Sky Eagle.

The trip to the museum was the culmination of a study on the Spanish conquistadors of the New World and the Indian civilizations which they conquered. During this study the children chose to make group subjects. They made complete miniature Spanish, Pueblo Indian, and Plains Indian villages. The students made a detailed study of Spanish and Indian customs in order to make the villages authentic. A large map of the Southwest.

723 Men Enrolled In Adult Program Sponsored By Schools

Last year 723 men were enrolled in the Adult Education program sponsored by the Pampa public schools. Courses taught were oil field mathematics, oil field science, internal combustion engines, blue print reading and sketching, maintenance and repair of oil field equipment, oil field welding, production practices, pipe fitters, blue print reading, custodian service, office practices, carbon black science, carbon black maintenance and repair, and carbon black mathematics.

This year an attempt is being made to continue along the same lines. Several new courses are being offered such as a class in carpentry and classes for natural gas industry. A textbook for the course, field handling of natural gas, is being written by Reno Stinson. Mr. Stinson has also worked on a course in carbon black packaging and handling along with maintenance and repair of equipment used in handling and packaging of carbon black.

Con Paulsen, William Lovering, and H. H. Hahn are working on a course on carbon black science and manufacture. When these courses are completed, it is hoped that they may be introduced into the adult education program. A course is also being initiated in general refinery practices, for which a book is in the process of being written. One class in this subject, composed mostly of employees of Danziger Refinery, is already in operation.

The adult education program is under the direction of Malcolm Cavies, area coordinator. An advisory committee is composed of V. L. Boyles, chairman, Charles Alfred, George Berlin, Walter Blery, Price Dozier, Dan Gribbon, H. V. Matthews, W. F. Mensing, J. R. Posey, and Reno Stinson.

This committee has assisted in working up instructional material, suggesting methods of contacting employees in connection with the vocational training program and in suggesting methods by which facilities could be obtained to expand the adult education program.

Ursula M'Carthy Directs Health Education Series

Under the direction of Miss Ursula M'Carthy, school nurse, the Pampa school system is building a complete, rounded, integrated health education program composed of health protection, health guidance, and health instruction.

Health protection includes attention to school sanitation and safety measures and the protection against communicable diseases. Sanitary inspecting of each building, including restrooms, drinking fountains, and cafeterias are made weekly by the school nurse and the respective principal. Suggestions for the improvements are made from the standpoint of sanitation, cleanliness, appearance, and balanced meals.

Special attention is being given to early symptoms of communicable diseases by teachers, principals, and school nurse. Children who have suspicious symptoms are excluded from school and may return only with a certificate from their family physician. Children excluded from school and their disease diagnosed by a physician as one of the following: measles, mumps, chicken-pox, German measles, or whooping cough, shall be excluded from school for a minimum period of two weeks from date of onset; then must have a doctor's certificate to return to school.

The school health department is cooperating with the city and county health departments in reporting any suspicious cases contacted in order that they may enforce the state health laws of Texas. A T. B. testing program is in progress. All the first grade and ninth grade students have been given the T. B. test. This test is not a means of diagnosing tuberculosis but a means of determining who should be further examined by a physician in an attempt to trace down any active cases in our community. This procedure is an attempt to protect our community against tuberculosis and help those people who need help.

"This program, we feel, also has an educational value in that children and parents will think of this disease and maybe learn something of its causes and prevention. Prevention is what we wish to emphasize," says Miss M'Carthy.

was drawn and the routes of Cabeza de Vaca and Coronado were traced. The projects and the trip increased and enriched the students' understanding of the Spanish conquest of the new world.

L. F. Sheffy, head of the history department of West Texas State, and Boone McClure, curator of the museum, acted as guides for the group and explained the different exhibits and displays to the students.

Ulane Zeeck, fifth grade teacher, and Mrs. C. C. Cockerill were the group's sponsors.

Baker School Wins Ward School Grid Championship

B. M. Baker school won their second consecutive ward school championship Tuesday after playing a 0-0 tie with Horace Mann school. The game was a thriller all the way, ending with the ball in possession of Horace Mann on the Baker five-yard line. Baker threatened in the second when Britton ran to the Horace Mann six. The threat died when Stevens fumbled on the three.

The Dan McGrew trophy, won by Baker last year, must be won three years in succession for permanent possession. The second leg on this trophy was completed with yesterday's scoreless tie.

Wilburn Stevens and Billy Key Britton were scoring aces for Baker during the current season. Stevens scored five touchdowns while Britton scored twice and added seven extra points. The defensive play of Benny Tice was largely responsible for the excellent showing of the Baker team on the defense. Opponents were held to two touchdowns in the six games played.

Baker school line-up: Baker, Buzzard; LT, Smith; LG, Matheny; C, Allen; RG, Tucker, RT, Nash; RE, Tice; LH, Stevens; RH, Giles; FB, Britton; and Q, English (captain).

Horace Mann 1 2 1 .500
Sam Houston 1 2 1 .500

This is the fourth consecutive season that an elementary school football tournament has been sponsored by the Pampa school system. In 1938, the first championship was won by Sam Houston. In 1939, Horace Mann won the trophy. The last two championships have been won by B. M. Baker school. The two Baker championship games have been coached by Homer Craig.

ernoon to see that assembly program," he promised himself, "for those are real Americans, those boys and girls. They are learning more than the story of the red man, for they are gaining lessons in cooperation, tolerance, and good sportsmanship; they are learning to be true Americanism!"

Won't you visit Horace Mann school on Friday, Nov. 14, during American Education Week, and see the Indian ceremonial which will be put on by the fourth grades?

DR. A. M. MEYER, West Texas State college professor of education, will be guest speaker at the Sam Houston Parent-Teacher association meeting, Nov. 13, at 8 o'clock. The occasion is Father's night. Dr. Meyer's subject will be "Education at the Crossroads." He is a recognized authority in the fields of education and guidance and is a popular speaker in this section.

The high school a cappella choir, directed by Miss Helen Martin, will furnish music for the program.

Workers May Check Up On Their Wages

A reminder to workers that they should check on the Social Security board's record of their wages for 1937 before the end of this year was issued today by Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office. He explained that the law limits the time during which any errors or omissions in reports of employer's wages can be corrected to the board's records on the basis of evidence furnished the board by the employee. The time allowed, he stated, is four years after the end of the year in which the wages were received.

That means that if an employee checks with the board on his wage number and finds that the amount for him for the year 1937 was incorrect or incomplete, he can, up until the end of 1941, get any necessary adjustment made by submitting proof of the correct amount to the Social Security board. For 1938 wages, he has until the end of 1942, and so on.

The Social Security board invites a check-up every year, Reed said, and any worker with a social security account can get a statement of the amount of wages credited to his account by asking for it. This he can do by letter or by sending in a wage inquiry card which he can get at the nearest social security office. On this card, or in his letter, the worker must give his name, address, social security account number, and date of birth. The card already addressed to the Social Security board, Baltimore, Md., the central office where wage records are kept.

In reply to the worker's request, he will receive, in a sealed envelope, a statement of his wages as shown on the Social Security board's records. If he feels certain that the amount of wages shown on this statement is incorrect, for the year 1937, or for any other period, the Social Security board office at Amarillo stands ready to help him clear up the matter.

As insurance benefits for the worker and his family depend on his wage credits, the Social Security board urges the worker to check up from year to year on the amount of his wage credits, because if there is an error the sooner it is caught the easier it is to make the correction.

Pupils Of Woodrow Wilson Study Mexico

In Woodrow Wilson school, the third grades are making an intensive study of Mexico. The children are taking keen interest in this foreign nation and close neighbor which has little more than twice the population of Texas, yet has influenced the history and culture of Texas for more than 200 years.

The children are comparing Mexico with Texas in many ways. After several weeks study they have acquired a knowledge of the tropical low lands and high plateaus as found in Mexico—the crops raised, the classes of people—their industry, and common amusements—the different types of homes and the national characteristics of the pure and mixed races which constitute the Mexican people.

They have constructed Mexican scenes such as a typical hacienda, complete with homes, chapel, and many fields.

One outcome of this study has been the acquiring of a Spanish vocabulary of many words.

High School Occupation Students Learn And Earn At Same Time

The Diversified Occupations program of the Pampa High school is coming of age. Of the 23 students regularly enrolled in Diversified Occupations last year, 1940-41, 10 are in Pampa High School again this year and 7 of this 10 are continuing Diversified Occupations Eight, all but one of whom graduated in May or August, are in regular employment. Four more are in Uncle Sam's service. The twenty-third one married and is keep house.

So far this year 26 students have been regularly enrolled. One has withdrawn to move to another town, another has finished his course and is taking shop instead of Diversified Occupations, while a third is temporarily unemployed. The other 23 students with their occupation and training stations are as follows:

J. W. Adams, auto accessory and service man at Whites Auto Store; Roland Bailey, printer, at the Pampa Ward's Cabinet Shop; Joe Blum, wood, body mechanic, at Culbertson's Chevrolet company; Charles Darling, furniture repair man, at Spear's Furniture shop; Melvin Dawson, department store, at Murfee's department store; Zonelle Elkins, doctor's assistant, at Drs. Kelley and Kelley; Floyd Hatcher, carpenter, Wilson Hatcher; Harry Hoyer, driller, Harry Hoyer, Jr.; Fred James, printer, Wagner's Print shop; Dewey Johns, Petroleum products distributor, at Texaco Station; Don Johnson, sheet metal worker, at Des Moore's Tin shop; Arnold Johnston, mechanical refrigerator service man, at Bert Curry Refrigerator company; Hershel King, painter, at Robert's Hat shop; Bill Klock, photographer, at Bright's studio; Elvis Ragan, produce dealer, at End's produce house; Olon Riley, supply house salesman, at General Supply company; Jimmy Silcott, top and body mechanic, at Tom Rose Motor company; Lorene Smith, department store saleslady, at Montgomery Ward; Naomi Snyder, laboratory technician, at Worley hospital; Richard Stephens, auto mechanic, at Culbertson Chevrolet; Ed Taylor, machinist, Dwyer & Boynton; and Betty Jean Myers, office worker, at Radcliffe Electric company.

These young people are going to school half the day and working on present a program.

'Education For Strong America' To Be Theme As Clubs, Schools, Churches Join In Observance

For the twenty-first consecutive year the American people are joining in the observance of National Education Week. Throughout the entire week, November 9 to 15, the schools, churches, and civic organizations of Pampa are joining hands in celebrating the ideal of universal education in the United States.

High School Machine Shop Serves And Trains Local Boys

Just north of the high school building, housed in a sheet metal structure is the new machine shop. It is the realization of an old dream and is an example of the manner in which the Pampa school system is gearing its program to realities of vocational education and national defense.

Almost any day one may tune their radio in and hear an urgent request made by the government for skilled machinists and other metal workers.

The boys who are taking the machine shop course in Pampa High school are beginning at the very bottom and at the end of the school year will have had 160 hours study in mechanical drawing, blue prints, shop mathematics, and machine tool construction, plus 380 hours of actual work on lathes, shapers, drill presses, milling machines, and bench work. This is a two-year course and when a boy completes the second year, he is further advanced than the average helper or machine tool operator who has been working full time for 18 months.

The high school shop does not take in any work that can be done in any local machine shop, but will do work from local shops on a piece work basis, thereby giving the local boys training on exactly the same work as is done in local machine shops.

"The high school shop was set up with the ultimate aim of serving the local boys and training them in the type of work they will find in Pampa," according to Fred H. Brownlee, machine shop instructor.

Several weeks study they have acquired a knowledge of the tropical low lands and high plateaus as found in Mexico—the crops raised, the classes of people—their industry, and common amusements—the different types of homes and the national characteristics of the pure and mixed races which constitute the Mexican people.

Patrons Invited To Visit Schools

"Every patron a visitor in the schools during American Education Week" is the goal of Pampa public schools during the week of Nov. 9 to 15.

Posters are being displayed and leaflets are being distributed throughout Pampa encouraging Pampa citizens to become better acquainted with the school system, its purposes and accomplishments.

The Kerley-Crossman Post No. 334 of the American Legion is giving a large American flag to the school having the largest percentage of parents visiting during the week.

Message From Superintendent
To parents and patrons:
The week of Nov. 9-15 has been set aside throughout the nation as a period for special recognition of the ideals and accomplishments of the American public school system. We feel that the citizens of Pampa have a school system of which they can be justly proud, and you are urged to take advantage of this special opportunity afforded by American Education Week to become better acquainted with your school system. It is our hope that every parent and patron visits in at least one of the Pampa schools during this week.

Education Week Has Grown Since 1921

The founders of American Education Week who paved the way for the observance in 1921 little dreamed of the tremendous growth in significance and results that it has come to have. Estimates indicate that eight million parents and other citizens visit their schools each November during this observance.

Millions of other citizens are reached thru newspapers and magazines, radio, public meetings, and messages sent into homes. Scores of national and state organizations with local units are enlisted in the cause of education. Better schools, better understood, are the result of these activities. American Education Week has come to be recognized as the outstanding period of the entire school year for educational interpretation.

average of 2 1/2 hours per week, averaging about $6.50 per school week in earnings. In addition they are learning how to do productive work and meet the public in a business way. They will have a job waiting for them when they get out of high school.

Each year the Pampa High school a cappella choir sings for many of the churches, men's clubs, and school assemblies. For three consecutive years the choir has won a second rank at the national regional held in Waco. In the fall of 1939 the choir was the guest of the local Kiwanis club at their regional meeting at Wichita Falls and appeared on several of their programs.

Woodrow Wilson Stresses Book Week Every Week In Year

For the last 23 years Book Week has been observed throughout the nation. Woodrow Wilson school always stresses it to some extent, but rather likes to point out that every week is book week. The school focuses on the library as a daily and vital part of the curriculum. The library serves several purposes, but its main function is to encourage in boys and girls the love of books and reading.

A survey of Woodrow Wilson would show that each primary room has an average of from 80 to 100 or more books; that each teacher has a daily library schedule; that each teacher keeps a library record of each child; and that an average child reads from three to six books per month and in some cases it would be many more.

Fall Drilling Campaign In Panhandle Field Continues Unabated

Humble Will Plug Motley Wildcat Test

The Panhandle fall drilling campaign continued unabated last week with 28 new locations filed at the local office of the Texas Railroad Commission, making the total for the year to date 885. Fifteen of the new locations were in Hutchinson county and two each in Carson and Wheeler counties.

Sixteen new oil wells are being drilled, giving the field 1,094 barrels of new oil. New wells drilled in the field so far this year total 570. Eight of the new wells were in Gray county, four in Hutchinson and two each in Carson and Wheeler counties.

The Pampa office of the commission has issued permits to the Humble Oil & Refining company to plug and abandon its No. 1-D Matador wildcat test in Motley county. The hole was bottomed at 6,269 feet which made it one of the deepest wildcats yet drilled in that section of the Panhandle. This is the fourth of a number of deep tests included in the lease contract when Humble took on the big Matador Land and Cattle company ranch. All four have been disappointments.

Four other Panhandle wildcats are drilling ahead without further pay formations. The Phillips Petroleum company Briscoe test is going ahead at 5,000 feet; the Wiener and Gourley, Devore and Slade in Swisher county is drilling at 2,900 feet; Broderick, Calvert and Carter in Bailey county drilling at 4,000 feet; and Bruce Sullivan in Cottle county set pipe at 400 feet. Completions by counties follow:

Congress Asked To Pension Rangers Who Fought In Garza Revolution

By RAY NEUMANN Associated Press Staff

Members of congress, now concerned over America's gigantic defense effort, recently were petitioned to pension a handful of old-time Texas Rangers who fought in the Garza Revolution, a near-legendary incident on the Texas-Mexican border half a century ago.

Not more than three dozen of these early-day fighters, probably called upon to endure hardships and privations as severe as those suffered by soldiers in the European war today, are now alive, according to estimates of E. E. Townsend of Alpine and others who were there. The storied Lower Rio Grande country nearly three-quarters of a century ago gave birth to a revolution which deposited in the presidency of Mexico no less an historical personage than Porfirio Diaz, generation-long strong man and political power.

But the same Texas soil, spawning ground of countless politico-military plots, also cradled innumerable ill-recorded adventures which, despite high-flown objectives, culminated only in failure and bloodshed.

Such an escapade was the Garza Revolution, promulgated by a fire-eating visionary, whose activities are scatteredly chronicled in the brittle pages of the early 1890's.

Townsend says Garza's efforts still live in the memories of the following Rangers, if they are still alive: Luke Dove of Del Rio, J. P. Perkins of Aransas, J. F. Shaw of Somervell, and J. S. McNeil, R. Terrell, Tom Ross and Cliff Hess of San Antonio.

The minor revolutionary Catarino Garza, records say, could be classified as one who "couldn't keep his head out of the stars nor his feet on the ground."

His exploits, however, brought correspondents of eastern newspapers to the brush-tangled country of South Texas where they attempted to weave sparse information and doubtful rumors into exciting reading matter. Actually, Garza's forgotten revolution failed before it got properly started.

Born probably in 1856 in Mexico, Garza spent part of his childhood in Brownsville, Tex., attended the University of Mexico and later was discharged from the Mexican army, after which he fled across the protective banks of the Rio Grande.

The youth, who has been described as smooth-tongued, medium-sized, daring and imbued with desperate courage, then published several small periodicals in San Antonio, Alice and possibly Corpus Christi. His young manhood was marked by several gun-battles and journalistic fervor.

In the late 1880's, he exchanged shots with Victor Seabee, a Kentuckian not otherwise identified, at Rio Grande City. Then someone obtained a warrant for his arrest on criminal libel charges and Garza took to the cactus. Captain John R. Hughes, oldest living Texas Ranger, and resident of Austin, found Garza at Realitos. On Aug. 19, 1888, Hughes disarmed and delivered him to the sheriff. Asked about the incident recently, Captain Hughes grumbled: "He didn't give me any trouble."

Garza may have been tried or not, but, when next heard of, he issued a proclamation denouncing President Diaz of Mexico as an autocrat and calling for overthrow of his government. Vagabonds and peons not in sympathy with Diaz's dictatorship flocked to the cause. Garza, with secret headquarters at Laredo, assembled a motley array of troops.

Since his activities constituted a breach of international law, the U. S. cavalry appeared on the scene to aid the Texas Rangers. They hunted the revolutionist whose name, while he was eluding them, made headlines in newspapers. Chases, ambushes and guerrilla warfare between the forces in the manhunt resulted in a number of deaths on both sides. A typical incident is described by ex-Ranger Townsend:

"On Dec. 29, 1891, four of McNeil's company of Rangers and I had a running fight with Garza and three of his men on the prairie near La Granjita ranch in Starr county (now Brooks). We chased them about nine miles in the brush.

"When the shooting started, I fired 10 or 12 rifle shots at Garza, who was riding a big paint horse, at a distance of about 300 yards. He was running at right angles to me. "I could see every bullet hit the sand, but I simply couldn't connect one of them with him or the horse. Probably they (the Garza-ites) fire was painfully regular and had something to do with my nervousness."

It was possibly in the fall of 1891 when Garza crossed the Rio Grande. His army of more than 300, a full-fledged Field Force of that day, may have been divided into groups.

Garza himself was reported to have invaded Mexico at a point near San Ignacio in Zapata county. The story goes that his force attacked a Mexican customs house post usually guarded by a small garrison.

force of federal troops, probably planted by the wily General Diaz, poured out of the post.

Garza's band fled in confusion and their leader somehow found his way back to the comparative security of Texas chapparral thickets.

As an outlaw, the revolutionary was relentlessly hunted. But, undiscouraged, he tried twice more to get an army across the big river. On Jan. 6, 1892, Rangers and cavalry broke up another attempt before it really started at the La Havana ranch, 20-odd miles south of Fort Ringgold. The attack occurred at daylight and the Garza-ites were dispersed. Still later, in March,

It was assumed the Texans scared the Garza-ites out of trying again to launch the revolution.

Garza for a third and last time, assembled his men at the same spot but the Rangers got wind of it, hunted up and down the Rio Grande banks and found smoldering campfires but no men.
