

Thousands Expected To Crowd Pampa For Santa Day Tomorrow

Every little boy and girl in Pampa and in each surrounding town was wide-eyed with eagerness today as they looked forward to seeing Santa Claus here Saturday.

Store owners have been working overtime decorating their windows for Santa Day, and the city is brightly decorated with 3,000 yards of juniper roping strung on wires, along with red and green Christmas lights, suspended across the streets between electric light posts.

The jolly little man in the fur-trimmed red suit will come to Pampa tomorrow to see all the boys and girls and to give each one of them up to the age of 12 a sack of candy and free admission to a motion picture show.

Besides all this Santa will be in a gorgeous parade tomorrow afternoon, along with eight beautiful floats, and nine bands, seven of them from Pampa schools.

Candy issued in forenoon Charlie Lamka, Santa Day chairman, repeated today his instructions that children must remember that the candy will be distributed in the morning, not in the afternoon, as has been the practice in past Santa Days.

Heretofore, the candy has been given out after the parade. This year, the candy will be given in the morning, before the parade that afternoon.

The Jaycees have 7,000 sacks of candy ready to give to the children up to the age of 12.

Chairman Lamka has called on the Jaycees to volunteer for Santa Day service by meeting at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Pampa fire station.

The Weather

35 Cities In Texas Join In OPM Set-Up

blue defense special rolls across Texas today. Galveston, Abilene, Corpus Christi, Midland, Lubbock, Waco and Tyler among 35 Texas cities surveyed have coordinated local programs underway to bring small manufacturing concerns in to the defense production setup.

A survey of chambers of commerce of Texas cities conducted by the Associated Press found cities employing such methods as regional pools, special representatives to contact defense authorities and to advise small manufacturers, and surveys of facilities and equipment of local plants to help little businessmen convert their plants to essential production-and-avert-priority unemployment.

Last may the Galveston chamber of commerce established a full-time representative in Washington to make direct contacts with proper government agencies. A survey giving complete information about facilities and equipment of all Galveston plants was furnished to the office of contract distribution. A special industrial committee of the Galveston civic organization assists manufacturers in obtaining prime or sub-contracts.

"The surveys made by our local committee were of immeasurable value to our Washington representative in fully acquainting the proper government officials with the facilities available here," said E. S. Holliday, general manager of the Galveston chamber of commerce.

Several months ago Abilene, fulfilling an OPM request, selected S. M. J. as adviser for the surrounding area of 13 counties, and through this adviser passed on to communities and interested firms in the area data and information furnished by the office of production management.

Sixty-five manufacturers and machine shop operators from the Abilene area held a special meeting in July and organized a pool composed of machine shop operators to bid on prime and sub-contracts.

Corpus Christi's chamber of commerce employed a full-time representative to set up a priorities division. After spending a week in the OPM office at San Antonio, this representative now is engaged in assisting Corpus Christi manufacturers, contractors and others in need of defense contracts. Army and navy procurement divisions and the regional OPM office were provided with a survey of all plants in the vicinity of Corpus Christi.

"It is conservative to say that we have given definite assistance to 45 small industries," said J. E. Bell, manager of the chamber of commerce.

In cooperation with the West Texas chamber of commerce and officials of the OPM, the Midland chamber of commerce organized a sub-area office of the division of contract distribution for that immediate section. Counties comprising the district are Ector, Winkler, Andrews, Ward, Crane and Midland.

Recently machine shop owners of Midland, Odessa, McCombs, Pecos and other West Texas towns met in Midland to discuss the organization of a defense contract pool for the area.

"The matter still is being considered and we hope to have such a pool organized within the near future," said Bill Collins, manager of the Midland chamber of commerce.

Following a meeting in July between A. J. Langford of the OPM and manufacturers, fabricators and machine operators of the Lubbock and South Plains area, the Lubbock chamber of commerce formed a South Plains pool to act as a medium between the OPM and the prime contractors and potential sub-contractors.

A brief describing the equipment and facilities available in the pool was prepared and submitted to the proper divisions and procurement authorities of the office of production management.

At the request of the OPM, Waco in April selected a local manufacturer, A. L. Clifton, and the industrial secretary of the chamber of commerce, F. H. Carney, to act as adviser and co-adviser for the defense contract service (reorganized a few weeks ago as the division of contract distribution.)

The adviser plan was successful and has been retained under the new setup, reported L. A. Wilson, general manager of the Waco chamber of commerce.

Meetings held in Tyler and other East Texas cities resulted two weeks ago in the formation of an East Texas pool composed of small businesses in machine shop and wood-working plants. The pool will handle any sub-contracts that may be obtained as a group or as individuals.

Following meetings in Amarillo and Wichita Falls to discuss plans for obtaining defense contracts for small manufacturers of that area, complete and detailed inventories were compiled on all equipment and placed at the disposal of OPM officials in Texas and in Washington.

The Fort Arthur chamber of commerce made a survey of all industrial plants in its area, ranging from those employing 5,000 persons to small machine shops with one employe, and listed their facilities, output and possible manufacturing equipment for the defense program.

This information was furnished to the OPM and to the purchasing departments of the army, navy and nearby army camps.

Austin's chamber of commerce recently sponsored a discussion led by an OPM representative and attended by 87 small plant owners. The Austin civic organization transmits first-hand information from the OPM to small businessmen in that area.

Antonio Wants To Be American

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Eighty-six-year-old Antonio Jimenez wanted to become a United States citizen for Christmas.

Someone at the Gonzales county courthouse, where he first asked a- bout procedure, told him if he would come to San Antonio, he would be given a citizenship papers as a Christmas present.

At least, that's the way Antonio, who speaks only a little English, understood it.

Bundling his alien registration card and other necessary documents into a tattered handbag, aged Antonio started the 67-mile walk from Gonzales to San Antonio.

Someone on the highway gave him a ride. That was Antonio's first and only break of the entire trip. Without it, he might still be facing

District One Proves To Be Waterloo For Grid Experts

Intramural Sports

Nineteen-forty-one was the year that the football "experts" were sent scurrying to the hall closet to dig up past District One grid records to check up on who beat who, when Jerry Malin was a cub reporter. Upsets were as thick as stories about the Sandies in the Associated Press dispatches.

Despite the fact that the football season was supposed to be over when the Sandies played the West-erners, it seems that the Pampa Harvesters and Plainview Bulldogs had something to say about that. The Sandstorm did beat Lubbock but the Sandstorm did not win the District One title—Lubbock did.

On November 20, the fun really began. The defending state champion Sandstorm from Amarillo visited Pampa for the mere purpose of lengthening their string of 22 consecutive victories. The Harvesters had not won over the Sandies for ten long years. In 1940 the Sandstorm had taken the opening kickoff for a touchdown and went on to win the game 27-0. The rest of it is no news to anyone. Pampa won 16-12. On the same day Lubbock was trouncing Plainview 33-0.

On November 27 it happened again. Final score Amarillo 0, Plainview 13. And thus Plainview won over the Sandies for the first time since 1921, and Amarillo lost two in a row for the first time in 18 years.

Anyone can see that it's time to "wake up America and stump the experts" according to "Information Please".

Survey Of Pampa Area Compiled By Ernest Cabe, Jr.

An occupational survey of the Pampa area has been completed and compiled by E. W. Cabe Jr., director of instruction in Pampa schools. This book will be used in guidance of high school students.

As this part of the Panhandle is the heart of the oil empire, naturally a large amount of the book deals with the petroleum industry. The average age of petroleum industry workers is 30 years.

Other industries that have been surveyed are grocery stores, dry goods stores, auto supply and department stores, hardware stores, jewelry stores, lumber companies, service stations, furniture stores, drug stores, newspapers, job painting, telegraph, insurance, theaters, utilities, building trades, barbers, automobiles, machine shop industry, nursing, beauty shops, stenographers, secretaries. Each one of these gets its source of information from person or persons who are authorities in that particular type of work.

The survey includes: the lowest age of employability, method of training present employees, percentages of annual labor turnover, supply source of employees, educational requirements for satisfactory beginners, value of high school subjects, subjects ranked as important and necessary, subjects ranked as having value, criticisms of present day beginners, future opportunities in this field and occupational hazards.

The average age, number of employees and average salary is also given. These facts may help students to decide what vocation they would like to follow.

The survey committees included T. G. Lively, G. O. Berlin, S. Smith, R. G. Allen, E. C. Sidwell, O. T. Hendrix, R. J. Snelly and H. V. Matthews of the community and P. E. Norman, Mrs. G. H. Alexander, P. Lowry, Mrs. J. R. Holloway, Tom F. Crutcher, B. R. Nickols, W. H. Galloway and E. W. Cabe, Jr. of the Faculty Committee. This book has taken a year to compile but should prove helpful to the students.

The Most Beautiful Of Christmas Tales

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying,

Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will toward men.

Students Asked Not To Use Phone

Students are asked not to use the telephone in the office, Miss Lou Roberts, registrar, said today.

The telephone is a business phone and has a time limit, she explained. It is necessary for the line to be open at all times for calls into the High School.

Eight Delegates Sent By Hi-Y To Convention

Club Holds First Social Of Year

Eight Pampa Hi-Y delegates journeyed to Amarillo at 1 o'clock this afternoon to attend the District Hi-Y meet now in session.

The purpose of this meeting is to decide where the spring convention will be held. The president, John Tom McCoy will speak in favor of the spring convention being held in Pampa. Approximately 300 boys will attend the spring convention.

The Hi-Y had its first social of the school year Tuesday night at the high school cafeteria. After playing games the students were given refreshments of pop, cake, ice cream and candy. Frank Prief, sophomore, was in charge of the games.

Those attending were Nelle Roche, Ray Thompson, Evelyn Barnes, Jack White, Neva Lou Woodhouse, Harold Cobb, Betty Lee Thomason, John Tom McCoy, Margaret Burton, Neal Holden, Dora Jane Phillips, Joe Cox, Grace Hines, John Humphrys, Helen Marie Alexander, Robert Rook, Jymme Hayes, Otis Davis, Evelyn Kidwell, Delbert Meek and Frank Prief.

Art Students Sketch Men While They Work

If you should have happened to have glanced out of a window on the south side of the high school building last week you would have viewed a most interesting and spectacular scene, for Miss Roy Riley, art teacher, had taken her art classes to the campus for the purpose of sketching from real life.

Whether comfortably or uncomfortably seated on a board the students sketched away, portraying various positions of the men, who are striving to complete the high school building.

"It was exciting and amusing watching the students trying to sketch one pose before the person whom they were sketching changed his position," Miss Riley said.

John Bull: We have some very large birds in England. Why, once while I was standing in a zoological garden, I saw a man come in on an eagle.

Yankee Tourist: Brother, that's nothing. Once while standing in a ball park, I saw a player go out on a fly.

Even if a hurricane does comparatively little damage, it's still a big blow.

Ether Mullinax, junior, made a comical one by sketching a workman on his knees smothering cement.

Lucille Stockton, junior, drew one of the workmen so well that Mrs. Robert Sander, food teacher, recognized him as a worker who had laid the walk near the windows by her room.

Margaret Sullins, senior, began sketching one of the men and before she had finished he had moved to another position. It left Margaret to finish her sketching by memory and the man in the picture appeared as though he was taking his daily exercise.

Roy Cone, sophomore, absent during the period of the real life sketching, Lucille Stockton, sophomore, a member of the class, as his subject.

Well Balanced Diet Served In Cafeteria

Students are well fed in the cafeteria this year.

A meal, three vegetables, a raw salad, deserts, and milk is served on a 60 foot steam table. Two Coca Cola boxes, a Dr. Pepper box, and an RC Cola box serve other drinks to the students.

Fifty tables that will seat 300 persons are available and there are more tables if needed.

The public is invited to visit the cafeteria to have lunch and watch the system that serves the students. Mrs. June Anderson, head of the cafeteria, said.

Junior-Senior Annual Pictures Completed

Mistletoe, Holly, Yule Log Symbolize Christmastide

At Christmas tide the open hand scatters its bounty o'er sea and land.

And none are left to grieve alone. For love is heaven's claim on its own. —Mary E. Sangster.

Have you ever wondered why Christmas festivities originated or why the mistletoe, holly, yule log, evergreen tree and giving of presents symbolize this holiday season? In all Christian countries, Christmas is celebrated as the anniversary of the birth of Christ, although in various forms.

The time when the Christmas festival was first observed is not definitely known, however in the third century Clement of Alexandria speaks of it as of long standing. The holly, Yule log, mistletoe, and giving of presents descended from the days of paganism.

Use of the fir tree in connection with our Christmas celebration is of Germanic-Scandinavian origin. When the pagans of Northern Europe became Christians, they made their sacred ever green tree part of the Christian festival and decorated the trees with nuts and apples in imitation of the stars.

One legend relates how on a Christmas Eve twelve centuries ago, the first Christmas tree was miraculously revealed. Winifred an Englishman who had gone to Germany to spread the teachings of Jesus found

Students To Fill White Christmas Boxes For Needy

Council Absentees To Be Dropped

Baskets for White Christmas, one for each home room in High School, will be procured by the Student Council. The home rooms will fill the baskets with food, toys, and clothes and turn them over to the Salvation Army for distribution among the needy families of the town.

A committee of council girls will decorate the baskets but if the home room wishes it may decorate its own basket. The council also voted to place a Christmas tree in the hall.

A new by-law passed by the Student Council Tuesday will automatically drop any representative who is absent three times in succession without an acceptable excuse. The home room vice-president will succeed the president.

This law was passed because of the absence of many representatives at each meeting, hence many students are not represented in council.

Students To Bring Gifts For Indigent

Students will begin to collect White Christmas gifts next week for the indigent people of Pampa. D. P. Osborn principal, announced this week.

The gifts are to be wrapped in white tissue paper and tied with colorful ribbon. The gift is something that is not perishable, like canned goods or boxes of dried fruits.

The boxes will be put under a huge Christmas tree on the stage and will then be presented to the Salvation Army, which will put them into baskets, and distribute them to needy people.

Chinese Student Worries About Family In Canton

Questioned as to whether he preferred China or America, Ray replied, "I love both countries. Naturally I am inclined to have a love for China, but America is so great I love her, too." Ray thinks the Chinese language is comparatively easy with relation to the English language.

History is his favorite subject, because a knowledge of the past affords him a better understanding of present and future world conditions, he explained.

Ray's pastimes are reading and the study of the Chinese language. Asked if he could now speak his native tongue, he quickly replied, "I'm improving."

Double Membership Sought By Red Cross Chapter Of Pampa

The Red Cross annual roll call seeks double its usual membership in order to meet the doubled responsibilities that have been put upon the organization. Few of us know, for instance, that the work done by the Red Cross for the armed forces alone has cost nearly as much in the last year as the usual total expenditure.

In the year ahead, the Red Cross plans to expand the work of such units as disaster relief, classes in first aid, home nursing, nutrition and so on—all of them vital if war should come nearer these shores.

Included among its war relief services are the making of garments and surgical supplies for war-torn lands, meeting boats and caring for children.

Physical Ed Department Releases Skating Rules

Students may skate in the gymnasium on Mondays during the hour for five cents instead of the usual ten cents, Mr. Oscar Hinger, head of the physical education department for boys, has announced.

Skating parties may be held on Thursday or Friday if four or more home rooms go together. The admission will be 15 cents.

Mr. Hinger released some new rules concerning skating. They are as follows:

No one will be allowed to play tag or any similar game without the permission of the supervisor.

No one will be allowed to skate wearing cowboy boots. The boots will break the straps.

Do not run into the sidewalks or skid the toe of the skate on the floor.

Any repeated violation of the rules will disqualify the student from the privilege of skating.

Harvesters Play Scrimmage Game

Twenty-five boys, Harvester basketball hopefuls, left Thursday for LeFors where they engaged the Pirates in a practice game. Coach Hinger said that after this game the squad would be cut to about 20.

The Harvesters have accepted an invitation to play in a tournament at Spearman next Friday and Saturday. This may be a pretty stiff way to start the season off but your writer believes that the Harvesters will do alright.

Back from last year's regional championship squad are Halter, Ott, Cox, Burge, Flanigan, and Allen. Jack Davis is helping tutor some of the boys up on the Gorillas and Reapers.

First regular game for the local cagers will be here: the opponent being Childress on December 16. The Harvesters will then journey to Childress for a return game.

One of the highlights of the season this year will be a five day jaunt through New Mexico. On this trip the Harvesters will open with a game at Clovis December 28, go to Roswell the 29th, Santa Fe the 30th, Las Vegas the 31st, and Raton on January 1.

Under the new basketball set-up of the Texas Interscholastic League, the state is divided into districts the same as in football. That means that there will be no district, regional, or state tournament. According to the "experts" Pampa and Amarillo are expected to fight it out for the district title.

Representatives Of District I To Meet In Plainview Tuesday

The next year's football schedule for Class AA of District I will be decided at a meeting of the District Athletic Committee, which will be held in the Hilton Hotel in Plainview, Tuesday, December 9. Principal D. F. Osborn, has announced.

Whether or not the application of Brownfield to the Class AA will be accepted is to be discussed at the conference.

Superintendent L. L. Sone, Principal D. F. Osborn, and Coach J. C. Freyjan will represent Pampa High school at the conference.

Representatives from Pampa, Borger, Amarillo, Lubbock and Plainview will attend the meeting.

Queen, Bertha Mae Willis, also has had her photograph made for the 1941-1942 Pampa Harvester annual. Two pages of snapshots made by various students, were put together at their meeting Monday afternoon.

He: "Please, please!"
She: "No."
He: "Just this once."
She: "No."
He: "Aw, Ma! All the rest of the kids are going barefoot!"

I wish I were a moment in my professor's class. However idle moments are. They never fail to pass.

Bertha Mae Willis Crowned Harvester Queen For 1941-42

Ray and his father sailed for America six years ago, but he remains whole heartedly zealous for the land of his nativity, and he refuses to give up hope for China.

Ray admits he becomes extremely worried sometimes, especially during the past two months when the fighting is only 50 miles away and is on the verge of creeping into Canton, the home of his mother and sister, who remained in China when he and his father boarded a steam headed to come to America, so he could have the advantage of an American education. Wing and Ted Quan, brothers of Ray, are also in America.

He lived in a small suburban village near the large city of Canton in Southern China for twelve years, where he began his schooling. Chinese schools are very similar to the ones in America, however their books are printed to be read from right to left instead of from left to right as American books are read, he said.

The raising of silk worms, rice growing, and fishing are the principal industries of Canton, however, potatoes and wheat are also grown. Rice is the principle food and is eaten with chop sticks. Ray agrees, that it is difficult to eat with chop sticks after years of neglecting the practice of this art.

"Our homes are similar to those in America, with the exception that coal is used for heating instead of gas," Ray said.

BERTHA MAE WILLIS, attractive junior, was crowned Harvester Football Queen for 1941, in an impressive ceremony held between halves of the Pampa-Borger football game.

The Harvester band split into two groups and formed on the 45 yard line. Marcia Kay, Monahan little flower girl, led the procession with the Queen's attendants, Colleen Bergin and Jean Chisholm, following. Co-captains Ralph Burnett and Rowland Phillips escorted the Queen on the field.

While the band was playing "Dear Old Pampa High School" Roland placed the crown on Bertha's head and Ralph presented her with a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Members of the committee who arranged the ceremony were Helen Marie Alexander, chairman, Fern Simmons, Freddie Nell Bekhan, and Lois Castka with Mrs. Russell Holloway acting as sponsor.

Senior Play "Ever Since Eve" To Be Given December 11-12

Students To Fill White Christmas Boxes For Needy

Council Absentees To Be Dropped

Next Thursday and Friday night, December 11 and 12, the senior play, "Ever Since Eve," a lively comedy by Ryerson and Clements, one of Hollywood's most successful writing teams, will be presented in the junior high auditorium. Romance, pathos, and intenseness characterize the play, but through it all runs the sure-fire comedy technique of horse play and genuine fun.

For the first time, tomorrow night the senior play cast will use stage properties and scenery at rehearsal. Costumes will be used Sunday, make-up will be applied Monday and complete dress rehearsals will be held each following night. R. S. Ratcliffe, dramatics instructor, said.

An innovation this year is a student assistant director in the person of Joan Wells. She sees that the cast learns their lines and actions. The property manager is her responsibility and she prompts the actors during the play. She calls curtains, places, and oversees the properties during the performance.

The chairman of the properties committee, Virginia Lee West, also has an office of responsibility. She keeps a record of the work of the girls on her committee and their collection of "screw" props. Betty Jean Fletcher and Georgia Revey are members of this committee.

Due to the spirit of cooperation of the play cast during their two-day rehearsals and to the improvement shown, a holiday was given Monday night, said Mr. Ratcliffe.

Thirty-five seniors are selling tickets for the play. They will receive one-half the amount they sell to apply on their Carlsbad trip in the early part of May.

Mrs. Russell Holloway, senior sponsor, urges that more of the 111 graduating seniors sell tickets because this is the only activity given to aid seniors in paying their expenses. The expense of the trip will be $4, for students going on the bus and $6 for those going in cars. Tickets will be 35 cents for adults and 25 cents for students, plus tax.

Student Council Photographer Snaps Teachers At Work

Pampa High school teachers were surprised Tuesday and Wednesday mornings when the Yearbook photographer snapped them before the Student Council Tuesday. He is also president of his home room and is a reporter for the Little Harvester.

Bell will attend the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club in order to bring business in closer contact with the student of Pampa High school.

Mickey Raftery was Junior Rotarian last month.

Bill Bell, vice-president of the Senior class, was elected Junior Rotarian for December by the Student Council Tuesday. He is also president of his home room and is a reporter for the Little Harvester.

Bell will attend the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club in order to bring business in closer contact with the student of Pampa High school.

Mickey Raftery was Junior Rotarian last month.

Physical Ed Department Releases Skating Rules

Students may skate in the gymnasium on Mondays during the hour for five cents instead of the usual ten cents, Mr. Oscar Hinger, head of the physical education department for boys, has announced.

Skating parties may be held on Thursday or Friday if four or more home rooms go together. The admission will be 15 cents.

Mr. Hinger released some new rules concerning skating. They are as follows:

No one will be allowed to play tag or any similar game without the permission of the supervisor.

No one will be allowed to skate wearing cowboy boots. The boots will break the straps.

Do not run into the sidewalks or skid the toe of the skate on the floor.

Any repeated violation of the rules will disqualify the student from the privilege of skating.

Four Journalists Attend Denton Press Meeting

Lyndon Johnson Will Be Speaker

Four students of the Journalism staff left Thursday morning for the annual Texas High School Press Association at Denton, Texas. The students who went were: Dorace Jean Caldwell, assistant editor, Eugenia Phelps, reporter, Mickey Raftery, editor and Scott Raftery, sports editor. They were accompanied by the sponsor of the Little Harvester, Miss Margaret Tomberline.

One prominent speaker will be Lyndon Johnson, representative in Congress from Texas, who will speak on "A Statesman Looks at the Press".

Main events of the Texas High School Press Association are a banquet and dance, sectional meetings and speeches, election of officers and awards.

Howard Schmidt of Lubbock, president of the Texas High School Press Association was chairman.

Mickey Raftery, editor of the Little Harvester, will make a talk on sports. Mickey won ITF press last year at State for writing the best sports story.

Each year journalism students attend press conferences in Lubbock, Denton and Canyon.

The Panhandle Press Conference at Canyon will be attended by the entire journalism class February 7.

Milady Will Trip In Cotton Instead Of Silk Stockings

Cotton or silk? That is the question. While we do not really feel the shortage of silk, authorities on the situation there will be one. In these times of uncertainty the preparedness of our nation is calling for more than the majority of silk to be used for parachutes.

Foreigners have always said, we Americans make the best of a situation, and we have done just that. American designers and costume artists have started a fad of wearing full length, colored, cotton hose. The fad started in the eastern states and in Hollywood and has finally reached the shores of Texas and the Panhandle.

Recently these loud and popular hose were introduced in a Life Magazine. This acquainted thousands of women and young girls with the idea. The hose have come in red, white, blue, green, navy, yellow, and most any color to match or harmonize with your newest sport coat. It is very striking to interchange and wear a red stocking and a blue or green one. Girls living in the north find these hose both helpful and healthful; hence the cut down on the hosier's bill.

At the same time we are conserving silk, we are using up the surplus cotton on hand, so if they are, rather faddy girls they are helping our country in its aim to preserve our democracy.

D. O. Class Meets With Business Men

An advisory committee of Pampa business men met with the students enrolled in the diversified occupations course Monday night in the diversified occupation room.

These men are in various fields. They are F. M. Culbertson, automobile Dept.; Hol Wagner, printing; Harry Hergesheimer, foreman of a local machine shop; and W. D. Kelly, oil operator. Members of the school board, The Informal discussion was held to help students and familiarize them with other types of occupations. Mr. W. H. Galloway stated.

The D. O. class is a hundred per cent in the Defense Stamp sale. Mr. W. H. Galloway said the students in D. O. were averaging twenty-five cents an hour per student. There are 24 students in the D. O. class.

Many firms are sending literature to this department, which is very helpful to the students. They have received literature from ITF Cuffman Manufacturing company, General Motors, and Well Machinery and Supply company.

Screwiest War Is Teacher's Riddle

The War of 1812 was the "screwiest" war that was ever fought—at least that's the opinion of A. L. Steele, head of the history department.

"In the first place," he said, "the thing the war was fought over was settled before the war was started and had there been a faster means of communication the war would never have been fought. In the second place, the treaty made no mention of what we were fighting for. Lastly, the only important battle of the war which the United States won was fought after the treaty was signed. This too was a fault of slow communication. Can you figure it out?"

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Yes, It IS A Smaller World

The trouble with bromides is that so many of them have an unpleasant habit of turning up true. To say that the world is getting smaller by the clock is merely to perpetrate another bromide. But it is all too true. It is, perhaps, the central fact of our times. It is a tendency which has been marked for more than 100 years, but which happens now to be going forward with terrifying speed. The world is shrinking so fast that many of us do not yet realize it.

As it grows smaller, as every community on earth becomes closer to every other community in point of time, so it grows more interdependent. We learned part of the lesson during the depression. We know that in the United States the north cannot be solidly prosperous alongside a depressed south; the east cannot prosper in the face of a dust-scarred west; no man can be secure in riches while many are poor.

The world is getting in the same case. The fall of the Austrian Creditanstalt in 1931 was a domino that pushed over the whole World War debt structure, and was reflected in business all over the world. Deflected back again from the American shore, the great depression washed over Europe.

We have found, to our sorrow, that they were right who said "Peace is indivisible." We are learning that trade and prosperity are equally so. The channels of normal world trade must be reopened. Barriers must be thrown down. The idealism of yesterday has become the urgent, pressing necessity of tomorrow.

It will not do to break those barriers down with tanks and guns. Barriers must be leveled intelligently and peacefully by people who have decided it is best, not by a conqueror.

The New World still offers hope. Argentina and Brazil have just taken the first steps toward a customs union. Free entry into either country is provided for products of new industries of the other. The road has been opened toward a vast free-trade area comprising both these vast South American republics.

The barrier has been thrown down by reason and peaceable agreement, not by force. Similar future arrangements between the United States and Canada are being actively discussed. Trade between all the countries of the Americas is being facilitated by a series of reciprocal trade treaties.

Even while the world reels under the shock of war which vitally affects every corner of it, concrete measures are being taken to solve the problem of economic interdependence, and solve it in a way in which Hitler can never solve it, no, not in his boasted thousand years.

Paul And Eugene

Governor Talmadge of Georgia, hearing a clemency appeal on behalf of Ku Klux Klansmen who brutally flogged union mill workers, has not only boasted that he himself had flogged a man, but put himself in rather exalted company. The Apostle Paul once flogged men, he said.

Well, it is true. One reads in Acts 22:19 Paul's own confession: "And I said, Lord, they know that I imprisoned and beat in every synagogue them that believed on Thee."

But Governor Talmadge is on dangerous ground citing Scripture for his purpose in Georgia, for there are a lot of people there who read their Bibles. And they know that Paul spoke the words in contrition and repentance, and that even so, when the people had heard them, they "lifted their voices and said, Away with such a fellow from the earth."

For Paul's persecutions were done in the days before his conversion, when he was Saul of Tarsus, not Paul the Apostle, the days before he had seen that dazzling light on the road to Damascus that changed him and made men call him Saint.

A few rays from that light might dispel the gloom that shrouds the office of the governor at Atlanta!

WALT WHITMAN.

AN UNUSUAL BOOK I have been reading an unusual book. It does not seem to be available in the United States. It is, "The Betrayal of Christ by the Churches" by J. Middleton Murry. I tried to get it from the library and tried to buy from the book store; the book store even advertised for it but did not get an answer. I secured it from a London book store. It was published originally in October, 1940, reprinted twice in December, 1940, and reprinted again in March, 1941.

The author's conclusion is that the church has not had the influence it should have in directing the political activities in Europe. He accuses the churches of being completely silent at the time the Versailles Treaty was made. He says there was a widespread desire that the Treaty should be publicly repudiated by England and a fairly general presentiment that unless there were such a repudiation there would be a grim retribution. But the church took no stand against the tyrannies of the Treaty. The author contends that the rise of Nazism is a result of the Treaty. He particularly specifies Lord Halifax as being un-Christian in his actions. He says:

"They (referring to Germans) had learned that 'the doctrine of force', which the vanquished were invited to repudiate, was the only one which the victors respected. They had seen that England and France, once they had defeated Germany in war, abandoned all their previous professions of principle and imposed a stupidly and viciously vindictive peace upon their prostrate enemy."

He continues, "No doubt German militarism would have behaved like German militarism if it had won. But it was defeated. And the British and French militarism took its place. The moral degeneration of Britain's purposes in the course of the war was catastrophic."

The author's contention is that the church had power when people believed in resurrection after death. But the great majority of people now in England do not believe in such resurrection; the church has not shown Christian leadership in social and political problems, and so the church has lost its influence. Mr. Murry says further that the church is not teaching forgiveness, love and goodwill to all mankind, as was taught by Jesus, but is simply a part of the state endorsing what the state advocates; that it does not have courage or leadership.

Will Lose the War He says: "The idea that Germany can again be treated as a vile inferior in the society of nations will be quite fatal to what remains of European civilization. . . . I have no doubt whatever that, if this idea prevails, the expectation that we shall lose the war will never be realized. We shall lose the war instead, and we shall deserve to lose it. Our one chance of winning this war is to win it as a Christian nation. If we are capable of becoming a Christian nation, in the very limited but crucial sense of becoming a nation guided by a Christian vision of the horror of the human situation and a Christian consciousness of our own direct share of the responsibility for it, then we become capable of winning this war in the only way it can conceivably be won."

This is an unusual book, especially when one realizes that it was published by an Englishman after the war had started.

MISTAKES IN CAPITALISM It is little wonder that we have had a severe and long depression, when men high in our economic system are so confused. I was just reading an article in the American Magazine by the president of the General Electric company on the subject of whether free enterprise can survive.

The author of the article contends that the mistakes of capitalism must be corrected. There are no mistakes in capitalism, or free enterprise any more than there are mistakes in Christianity. Capitalism means that men have a right to freely exchange their services and get the fruits of their labor. There can be no mistakes in this system. The mistakes are not in capitalism or free enterprise, but in the laws that interfere with free exchanges. To say that there are mistakes in capitalism or freedom, is to say that there is no norm, no standard of rightness, excepting man's changeable will.

It is little wonder we have such confusion when men holding such high positions as the head of the General Electric company, are so confused as to the cause of unemployment and the source of purchasing power.

DANGER OF PEACE If there is any man in the country who like to be praised and receive approbation, it is Franklin D. Roosevelt. He cares not the character of those who praise him. The number who praise is what he seeks. It gives him power and makes him important.

Pope describes him, when he says: "To what base ends, and by what abject ways, Are mortals urged through sacred lust of praise?"

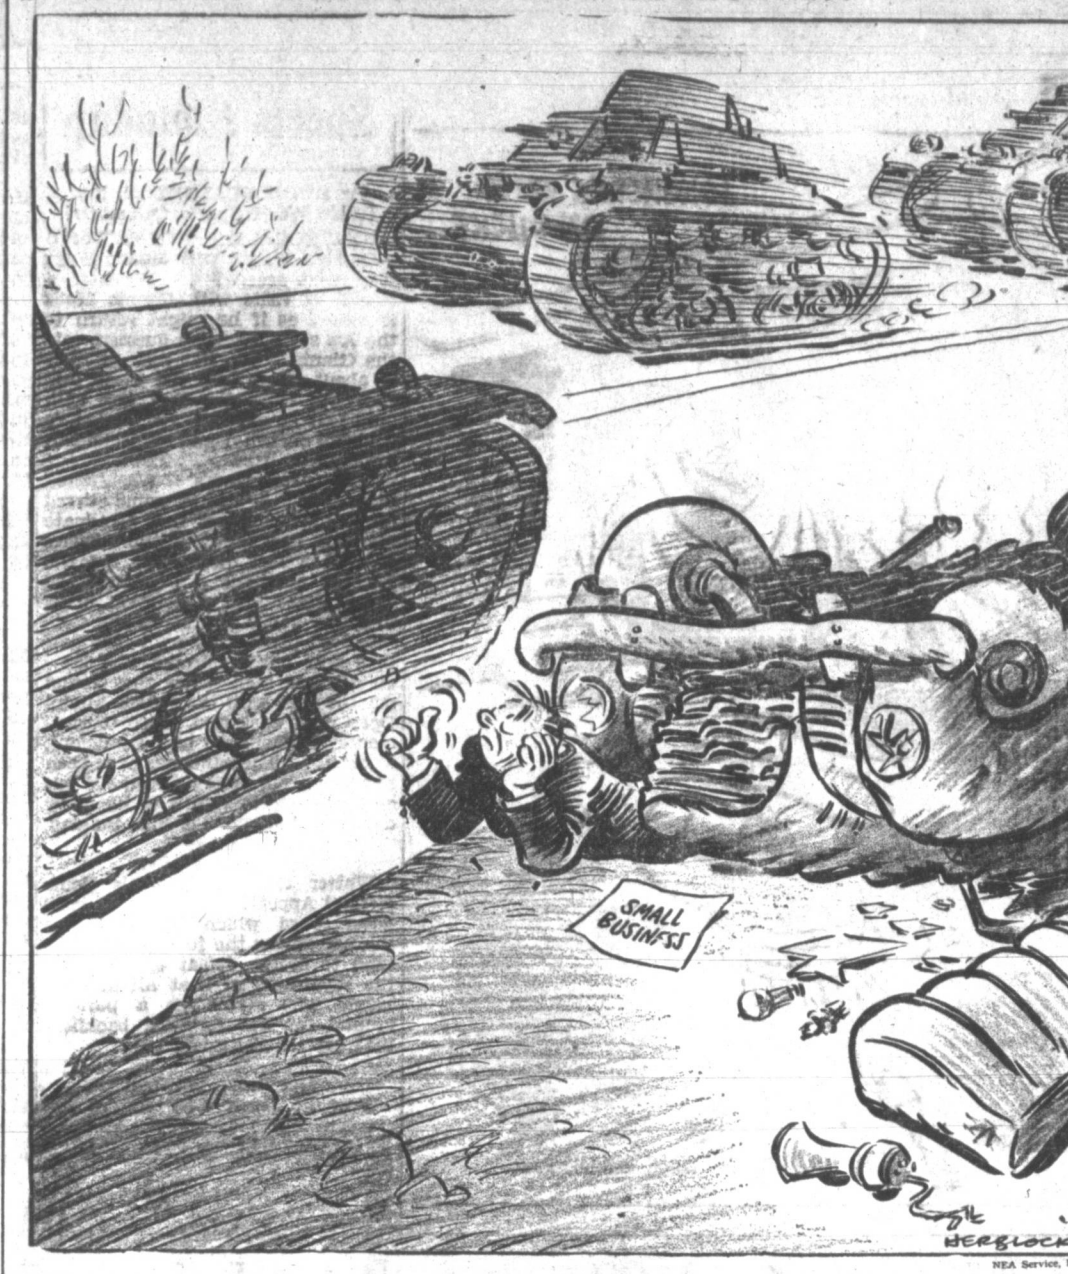

a condition of chaos in America—such, for example, as is already threatened by the varieties of interstate trade barriers that have been set up. Possibly the decision of the United States Supreme court yesterday will have a bearing upon the trade restrictions. Certainly it knocks out the California statute prohibiting assistance to any indigent person moving into that state. Justice Brynes bases the majority opinion upon the commerce clause, saying the restriction "imposes an unconstitutional burden upon interstate commerce."

A separate concurring opinion by Justice Jackson—with the assent of two other justices—finds support for rejection of the California statute in the Fourteenth amendment which declares that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

So, whatever the effect of the opinion on the trade barriers, paupers or dependent persons may move into California or other states, with or without assistance in the move. As California's complaint that its high relief benefits and other forms of aid, even lower than any law which shall abridge the privileges of other states, we can only remark that the great Pacific coast commonwealth should look to the quality of its affirmations, possibly extracting some of their drawing power in self-defense.

Other states have seen this necessity and have placed restrictions about the granting of pensions and other forms of aid, even lower than any law which shall abridge the privileges of other states. We feel sure that if this were done in California the state would have something left to attract the people it prefers—customers with cash.

People You Know

Can you ever remember when McLean didn't have a good football team? I can't. Year in and year out, irrespective of who is coach, or what kind of material they have, McLean always seems to have a football team that goes places, and one that you hear about sooner or later. Their boys may not weigh much over 100 pounds, but they hold their own against players nearly twice their size. For instance, today, opposing a 135-pound McLean tackle will be a 260-pound Floyd-dada tackle, and I'll bet that big guy doesn't run over the little one. According to its size, McLean is possibly the best football town in the country, and has been ever since I came in this country. Typical of the McLean spirit, which is well-nigh unbeatable, was the last meeting between the Tigers and the Har-vesters. That game resulted in a tie. So as McLean plays it, there is not much difference between Class AA and Class A football. The kids down there do not play for sweaters, or jackets, or letters, nor for the grandstands, but they play to win. The passion to win burns in their blood from their first day in school. There's a tradition pervading the air in McLean that the small kids imitate when they are small, and that is to hit 'em low and hit 'em hard, and if you hit 'em low and hit 'em hard, it was built definitely and directly upon Him and His teachings and upon the new experience of life through the Gospel that He had brought to man.

Although Jesus in one sense did not found the church, it was built definitely and directly upon Him and His teachings and upon the new experience of life through the Gospel that He had brought to man. We sing today "The Church's One Foundation" is Jesus Christ. Her Lord," and this is a sentiment thoroughly true to the New Testament in its account of the origin of the Christian church.

The church, as I have said, had its origin in the experiences of the new life. More definitely, it began in these experiences found expression in the remarkable events on the Day of Pentecost. Here, as the disciples were gathered together in one place, there came a strange outpouring of spiritual power. Peter, who formerly had denied his Lord, preached with great boldness and courage about the reality of the Christian way, and brought home to the hearts and consciences of his hearers the realization of their sin. The result was that many were brought into the Christian way, and as our simple record is, "The Lord added daily to the church those that were saved."

For the description of this early church and some detailed events of its workings, we are dependent largely upon the light from Paul's Epistles. The passage in our lesson from his Epistle to the Ephesians is one of the most striking of Paul's references to the church. Here he gives us some insight into its organization, and what is more important, a clear statement of the nature and work of the church. It is of the church as a body incorporating the spirit of Christ.

The church is still waiting for the fulfillment of that ideal, and the world itself will never find peace until the unity in love of which Paul speaks becomes the dominant mark of human society.

CHURCH STILL WAITS FOR FULFILLMENT OF NOBLE IDEALS OF ITS FOUNDERS

Text: Acts 2:41-7; Ephesians 4:11-16.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

When we consider the extent and nature of the Christian church in all its various branches today and in its worldwide organization, we are impressed with the simplicity of its early beginnings. The Christian church did not arise out of the plans of some promotional organizer. There was no advance prospectus or blueprint of a proposed organization. The church definitely grew out of an experience. It was not a matter of organization awaiting or developing life; it was life leading to organization.

Jesus in one sense was the founder of the church, but in another sense its foundation came after He had left the earthly scene. Although Jesus did not formally organize the church, there was more organization associated with His ministry than is commonly supposed. He gathered about Him the apostles, to whom were committed special privileges and responsibilities, and with whom He communed concerning the deep things of the kingdom, so that He developed an inner band of disciples—a sort of Christian cabinet—to carry on His work. Also, He organized the "seventy" who went through the villages teaching and preaching, two by two.

Although Jesus in one sense did not found the church, it was built definitely and directly upon Him and His teachings and upon the new experience of life through the Gospel that He had brought to man. We sing today "The Church's One Foundation" is Jesus Christ. Her Lord," and this is a sentiment thoroughly true to the New Testament in its account of the origin of the Christian church.

Behind The News In Washington

By MILTON BRONNER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Leading the life of Reilly, except for lack of liquor and the little matter of going where they please, such is the sad fate of nearly 2,000 Italians and Germans in detention camps under control of the Immigration and Naturalization service of the Department of Justice.

These camps are sometimes erroneously referred to as concentration camps, bringing up visions of the horror places established by the Nazis and Fascists. Ours are nothing of the sort. The men detained in them are not criminals, but are persons who cannot be sent out of the country because of the war.

One of these camps is Fort Missoula, three miles from Missoula, Mont. The second is at Fort Lincoln, N. D. The service also operates a third one at Fort Stanton, N. M.

The Fort Lincoln Camp holds at present about 775 German sailors, chiefly of German boats sabotaged by order from Berlin. The actual saboteurs are criminals and treated as such. The seamen who had nothing to do with the sabotage are the ones who are sent to Fort Lincoln. In addition there are some seamen who formerly worked on Standard Oil tankers.

The biggest camp is at Fort Missoula, where there are nearly 1,000 Italian seamen. In addition, there are 100 Italians who came to the World's Fair in New York on limited visas and who violated the law by overstaying their time.

FASCIST FAKE EXPLOD The biggest single batch came from ships that was not sabotaged. It was the Italian luxury liner Conte Biancamano, which lingered too long in the Panama Canal. It was concerning this camp that the Fascist press of Italy printed the statement that the Italians detained there were saboteurs.

The Italian language newspaper, Il Progresso of New York City, investigated and printed a complete refutation. This camp, on the old Fort Missoula army reservation, occupies about one-third of the area. It has a space 300 by 1,500 feet, being increased to 900 by 1,500 feet, enclosed by a 10-foot steel mesh fence, topped with four strands of barbed wire. There is only one entrance gate and it is brilliantly lighted at night. Enclosed are four two-story barracks. When the area is enlarged, it will enclose a mess hall, laundry, and bakery, and work has been started on 16 additional barracks, each with 46 beds.

There is no censorship of mail. The men work and play under their own discipline. When the first group came, they were told to set up their own system of internal discipline and punishment. They held an election and chose as their commander Eugene Luca, of the Biancamano. The inmates divide the necessary jobs, do their own cooking, dish washing, furnace stoking, and clothes washing. They make up their own menus.

Breaches of camp discipline are meted by a board of six, of whom one is a member of the Immigration service, but who does not vote. This council makes recommendations for punishment which may or may not be carried out by the Immigration service. Punishments for things that are not criminal are withdrawal of various privileges, or from one to 30 days in the guardhouse, or one to 30 days in the county jail for more serious offenses that do not require state jury trial.

The inmates get the same rations as are given to the boys in C.C.C. camps and to the army.

STEVE Matthews, the city manager, tells this one on himself. . . . Recently he and L. M. Davis, city manager of Berger, went to Hollywood on a business trip. . . . Steve Matthews sent a wire to his parents, whom they were to visit, that "Davis and I will arrive tomorrow." . . . When the two men arrived at the Matthews home everything was in tip-top shape for a reception for son Steve and his "new bride." . . . The telegraph company had garbled the message and the wire had read: "Doris and I will arrive tomorrow."

NEVER was there a better time to brighten the lamp of Liberty than in these dark days when the very fires are threatened by encroaching darkness. . . . They are going to install new lamps in the torch of the statue that stands at the entrance of New York harbor bearing the name "Liberty Enlightening the World." Twenty miles out at sea the new light will be visible to ships. . . . It is a symbolism. In every field, from the most exalted general concepts of our civilization down to the most common details of our daily life, we need to make brighter the lamp of liberty, full of faith that the light will not merely outlast the night, but eventually flood the world not merely with light, but with enlightenment. In the first dim daylight of the world it was the voice of God Himself which said: "Let there be light!" And there was light.

SOUNDS COUNTRY CLUBBY In September, 1940, the seamen of the Florida Marine Line were sentenced to the ship to Atlantic coast of Florida. As it was not in American waters, the 400 rescued seamen were not guilty of infraction of American laws. They, therefore, had under international law, the status of "detress-seamans" and were given haven. For a while they were near San Francisco, but the army objected to their proximity.

The captain of the Columbus, accompanied by a government officer, then chose an abandoned C.C.C. camp at Fort Stanton in New Mexico. There is no detention fence around this place. The men, with the money they got from the German government, painted the housing, built a tennis court and swimming pool and made themselves generally comfortable.

When Uncle Sam froze German monetary assets, the Nazi government could no longer finance them. Now the cost of their keep is being paid by the Department of Justice. Like the Germans and Italians in the other two camps, they have the status of men who should be deported but can't be because of wartime conditions.

WASHINGTON WINNINGS Price Administrator Leon Henderson asks manufacturers to keep down prices of toasters, waffle irons, fans, and other small electrical appliances. . . . Though a total of 67,000 men—mostly auto workers—are expected to be laid off by March 1, more than 125,000 additional workers will probably be taken on in other industries, aircraft, and shipbuilding. . . . To assure military of a steady supply of furs for winter coat needs, handy interior department wildlife agents cover an average of 14,500 miles apiece each year, tracking down poachers and illegal trappers. . . . One of the Bureau of the Budget's most popular agencies is the General Land Office of the interior department. Last year it took in three times more than it spent—mostly by the sale of timber on government land.

During the siege of Boston, the American army used the Harvard buildings as barracks and the college moved to Concord, returning to Cambridge June 21, 1776.

FAMPA's Legion band was praised for its work at the 18th district convention in Berger. Directed by Pete Bradford, the band led two parades, played four concerts, and provided dinner music.

Five Years Ago Today After a week of inactivity, work was resumed on the Pampa Fairgrounds park, a WPA project. There were 30 men employed. Mrs. Willie Baines, county case worker, and Mrs. Frances Choate, of the Texas Relief commission, could not get WPA district officials at Abilene to say when work would be resumed on the Bowers City and Lake Road jobs, sewing room, and tax survey.

MANY people who are worried about the prospects of inflation and so rush out to load up on consumers' goods before the prices go sky-high are doing their bit to bring on inflation. . . . "The real essence of inflation," explains a teacher of economics, "is inventory accumulation which involves production in excess of immediate needs. Whether the excess stock be held by the producer or the distributor, or by the consumer, makes little difference. In the course of an ordinary inflation all are likely to have stocks beyond their probable early requirements. . . . If this country were clearly at war it would be recognized as both wise and patriotic to go without a few things instead of hoarding more than were needed. The kind of defense the nation has undertaken and must push forward vigorously calls for similar self-denial. It would be a better form of hedging against inflation and a better brake on inflation to set some of today's cash aside for next year's higher taxes, and to buy defense bonds and stamps to help pay immediate defense bills.

SOUNDS COUNTRY CLUBBY In September, 1940, the seamen of the Florida Marine Line were sentenced to the ship to Atlantic coast of Florida. As it was not in American waters, the 400 rescued seamen were not guilty of infraction of American laws. They, therefore, had under international law, the status of "detress-seamans" and were given haven. For a while they were near San Francisco, but the army objected to their proximity.

The captain of the Columbus, accompanied by a government officer, then chose an abandoned C.C.C. camp at Fort Stanton in New Mexico. There is no detention fence around this place. The men, with the money they got from the German government, painted the housing, built a tennis court and swimming pool and made themselves generally comfortable.

When Uncle Sam froze German monetary assets, the Nazi government could no longer finance them. Now the cost of their keep is being paid by the Department of Justice. Like the Germans and Italians in the other two camps, they have the status of men who should be deported but can't be because of wartime conditions.

LADY BY REQUEST

BY HELEN R. WOODWARD

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Lovely Diana Tucker and handsome writer and commentator, arrange a marriage of convenience when she is strongly attracted to him. Diana is to receive $10,000 in six months, this saving for Stephen a $200,000 inheritance he would have lost had he not married before he was 35. Evelyn Thorpe, beautiful blind girl of Richard and the woman Stephen's best friend who is strongly attracted to Diana, know nothing of the arrangement. Adela, Stephen's spiteful, spoiled, jealous sister, and Richard Thorpe, who is having an affair with her, do know of it, and go out of their way to be rude to Diana. Also aware of the contract are Bill Jackson, Diana's childhood sweetheart, Mr. Tucker, her father, and Miss Adela, her stepmother, although the latter two hope the couple will come to terms with other Diana terms from Bill that he and Stephen had agreed in childhood that one of the other of them would marry the beautiful, lovely Evelyn. Diana is surprised when she chose Thorpe.

As happy then as they were now with their ambitions and their ambitions and their love. "They will be if they keep love," she thought. "It's a sort of insurance against loss of happiness."

BILL returned to work after a cordial invitation for them to come again and the promise to bring his family to see Diana soon. Diana and Elsa washed the dishes and then the three women spent a pleasant, idle afternoon gossiping comfortably as women do, while Bill, Junior, took his afternoon nap in a pink-lined bannister.

"I went down to the hospital yesterday days I ever spent," Evelyn assured Diana. "And every night since I've known you, darling, I've given thanks for you!"

Diana, too touched for words, could only press the slender fingers in fervent gratitude.

"I'm glad you're here, Diana," she said. "I'm glad you're here, Diana," she said. "I'm glad you're here, Diana," she said.

ing down, caught a glimpse of Adela getting into a car which backed swiftly out into the street and disappeared around the corner.

She was conscious of a savage gladness that Adela was gone for the evening, until a few moments later Essie, the middle-aged maid who had served the Curts since childhood, knocked timidly on the door. Diana could see that she was greatly troubled, was finding it difficult to speak.

"Well, Essie?"

"It's Miss Adela! Miss Adela's out with Mr. Richard!"

Was it possible that Adela hadn't before suspected the sordid affair? "She's been out with him before, you know, Essie," she said gently. "I know, ma'am—but but this time it's different! Miss Adela means to stay the night. She took down her things. Oh, Miss Diana, if Mr. Stephen finds out about this!"

Yes, he would be hurt and humiliated beyond thought—to find his sister with the husband of the woman he loved.

"Thank you for telling me, Essie. Do you know where they went?"

"Yes, ma'am—I heard her talking over the phone. The hunting lodge, she said. I tried to reason with her, but she only laughed and said I was old-fashioned. If I could only go up there, Miss Diana, and fetch her back!"

"Where is Mr. Thorpe's hunting lodge, Essie?"

"Fifteen miles out the River road. You can't miss it, ma'am. The name's on the gate. I drove out several times with the family—for picnics and such."

"Don't worry about it any more, Essie," Diana said. "Perhaps I'll think of some way—"

A look of relief passed over the woman's face. "Thank you, Miss Diana."

At dinner Stephen said, "Adela has gone to spend the night at the home of a friend. Looks like we'll have a quiet evening alone!"

He said it as if he were looking forward to being alone with her. Diana's heart skipped a beat before she remembered she'd have to do something about Adela.

"I have an errand to attend to," she said regretfully. "But perhaps I'll be back early."

She saw the look of disappointment on his face, but he had never questioned her comings and goings. "I'll work until you return, then," he said.

She smiled brightly, managing to hide her real concern. "Thanks," she said. "I shan't be long."

ADELA STARTS TROUBLE

CHAPTER XVI

NEXT morning, feeling the need of contact with someone of her own, Diana took the shining coupe and drove 20 miles to spend the day with Elsa. As an afterthought she stopped for Evelyn and persuaded the blind girl to come with her.

Before they reached Elsa's, Diana stopped and bought a thick steak, lettuce, tomatoes, and a loaf of twisted French bread. She did not want unexpected guests to work a hardship on Elsa's budget.

They reached the little white cottage an hour before noon. It was spicily clean and Elsa beamed with happiness at sight of her sister. She seemed a little awed of Evelyn at first, but soon Evelyn was delightedly holding the fat, fragrantly tumbled baby—young Bill, Junior—a cooing bundle of beauty.

"I wish I could see him!" Evelyn said, and buried her face in his soft white neck, thus winning the undying affection of young Bill's mother.

They left Evelyn holding the baby while Diana helped Elsa prepare lunch. Elsa added a perfect mustard pie to what Diana had bought and when Bill, Junior, came they all did adequate justice to the meal.

Diana watched Elsa and Bill a little wistfully. Bill was tall and good-looking and confident, and adored his wife, his baby, and his home. He worked hard and gloried in doing it. He would some day own the garage where he worked—perhaps have the agency for one of the better cars. Diana wondered if they would be in the Harvester backfield for two seasons. He was seriously injured, but following an operation, returned to play more football.

Farm Youth Found Guilty In Slaying

SALLISAW, Okla., Dec. 5 (AP)—A district court jury last night found Dexter Rider, 20-year-old Adair county farm youth, guilty of first degree manslaughter in the slaying of Deputy Sheriff George Flute last July 6.

Punishment was left to the court. Flute was shot to death at a picnic when he attempted to arrest Rider for carrying a gun. The state contended that Rider fired the first shot. Rider testified that he killed the deputy in self defense after he had been fired upon.

The youth was A.W.O.L. from Fort Sam Houston, Texas, when the shooting occurred.

Bobby Karr Given Banquet On Eve Of His Induction

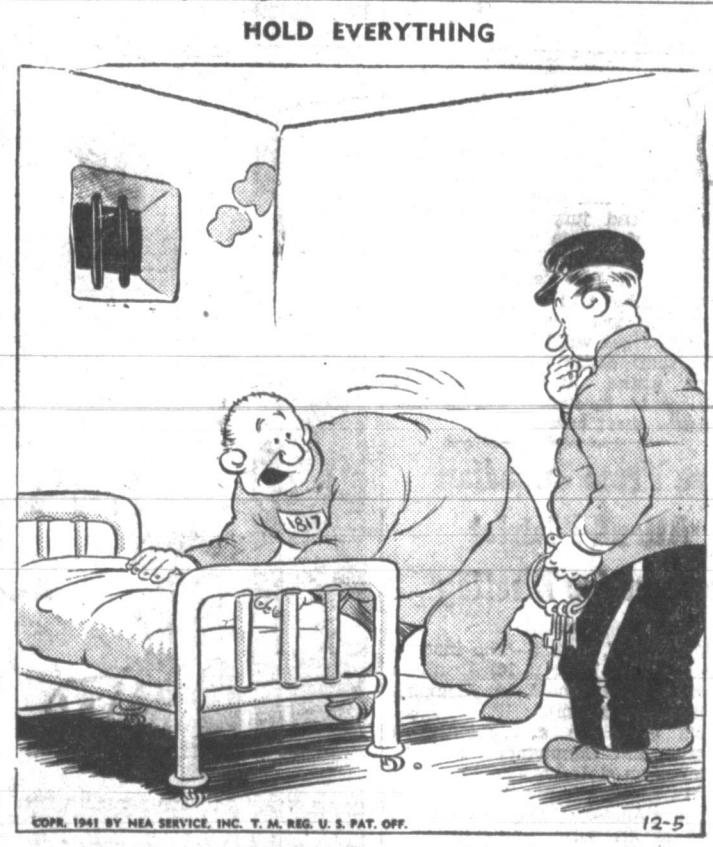

Employees of the Portland Gasoline company honored Bobby Karr with a banquet at the Schneider hotel last night before he left for the army induction center at Fort Bliss. His fellow employees presented him with several gifts including a bill-fold "well filled."

Ray Hagan was toastmaster with John Sturgeon the only speaker. Gifts were presented by C. E. "Dan" McGrew.

Mr. Sturgeon, in a brief talk, paid tribute to the youth of the country who are leaving good jobs to serve their country at $21 a month. He said that the boys were going into the best clothed, best armed, best trained, and best cared-for army in the world, and deplored the fact that men too old to serve their country are thinking in terms of the dollar than of the safety of their country.

Arkansas To Start With Only Three Lettermen

(By The Associated Press)
The tall Razorbacks of Arkansas, defending Southwest conference basketball champions, open the season after all other teams have had a fling and it's a good thing. Because Coach Glen Rose may have to go out after some more men if the present loss rate keeps up.

To begin with Noble Robbins, letterman forward, got married, accepted a job on a defense project and quit school.

That left only four lettermen. Now Gordon Carpenter, 5-foot, 6-inch forward, will be out of the line-up for at least half the season. He underwent an appendectomy last week.

So the Arkansas team will start with only three lettermen—forward O'Neal Adams and Guards R. C. Pitts and Clayton Wynne.

The Razorbacks play their first game next Thursday night, meeting Southeastern Oklahoma Teachers at Fayetteville.

All the other six conference members will have played games by then. Southern Methodist, ranked as a prominent contender for the title, opened the grind last night at Denton against North Texas State.

Tomorrow night, Texas Christian plays North Texas.

Monday night Baylor starts the campaign with Southwest Texas State at Waco and the same night, Texas A. and M. meets Sam Houston State at College Station in the lid-blaster for the Aggies.

Rice swings into action Tuesday

Sharp Upturn In Inductions Due Shortly

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—A sharp upturn in the rate of selective service inductions was predicted today, because of the army's announced plans to expand land and air strength to some two million officers and men.

Beginning shortly after the holidays, officials expect the draft boards to be called on to provide recruits in larger numbers than at any time in months.

At the same time, efforts will be intensified to accelerate three-year enlistments for the air forces and related branches, which are manned by specifically qualified volunteers.

Generally, the prospects are that at least half a million additional recruits must don uniforms by spring, if the army is to carry out the latest expansion proposed to congress and simultaneously get replacements for the soldiers who just now are being returned to civil life in large numbers.

The $8,109,945,898 defense appropriation measure, which is expected to reach a house vote today, calls for a net increase of about 300,000 officers, to be about evenly divided between the air and ground forces.

Two more armored divisions, the army's seventh and eighth, are to be created, along with a number of new "tank destroyer" and other special units whose military worth was tested in the recent war games.

At the moment, however, the army is barely holding its own in strength, with fewer than 1,000,000 in service. By Dec. 10, some 200,000 men over the new top age limit of 28 or with dependents will have been discharged since the draft ages were contracted in late summer. Recent draft inductions and voluntary enlistments, which have amounted to 26,000 or so a month, have barely sufficed for replacements.

By next March, "provided there is no change in the existing situation," as the war department has stipulated, possibly 300,000 others will have been returned to civil life.

The situation as a whole points to a sharp stepping-up of inductions next month.

Immediately available manpower is ample to meet prospective demands without a hitch, selective service officials indicated.

Of some 17,000,000 men registered, all but 10 per cent have been classified for immediate service, but national headquarters officials asserted no such cases had been officially reported. In the event some such quotas are exhausted, it was explained the result would be merely to increase the levies on other boards with longer lists.

Norton Gloomy Over Chances At Tacoma

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 5 (AP)—Coach Homer Norton, fearing his boys are thinking Cotton Bowl rather than more pressing problems, brings his Texas A. and M. football team to Tacoma today for their late-season encounter with Washington State college.

"The boys are looking right by Saturday's game to the Cotton Bowl clash," said the Aggie mentor at Sacramento en route. "I don't think the players are ready mentally for the kind of battle they will get."

Washington State's Cougars, the down-and-out boys of September and the giant killers of November, rose to unexpected heights to defeat both Oregon State, this season's Rose Bowl team, and Stanford, the Rose Bowl winner last New Year's Day.

Enlarging Of Cotton Meets With Favor

DALLAS, Dec. 5 (AP)—Out-of-town support for the proposal to construct a 100,000-seat Cotton Bowl at Fair Park came from civic leaders throughout the state today as Mayor Woodall Rodgers prepared to crystallize plans for the stadium.

J. R. Parten, Houston oil man and former regent of the University of Texas, endorsed the proposal in a letter sent to Rodgers, and pledged his assistance to the program. Parten declared the construction of a 100,000-seat stadium was "the one thing necessary to develop the Cotton Bowl classic annually to a parity with the Rose Bowl spectacle at Pasadena."

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The Chicago Tribune caused much discussion with its copyrighted report that a joint army-navy board has prepared a confidential recommendation which includes provision for an American expeditionary force of 5,000,000 to fight the Axis by July 1, 1945.

That report will stir divers emotions among the American public—but surprise shouldn't be one of them.

Surely there can be few people who don't recognize by this time that the United States is at war with the Axis. Differences of opinion exist regarding the merits of our position as a de facto belligerent (and with that controversy this column has no part), but there can be no argument regarding our status as a participant. True, thus far we haven't taken part to any great extent on the "shooting war," but this doesn't alter the fact that we are in the conflict up to our necks.

Since this is true, the logical corollary is that the government must be prepared to implement the commitment by action.

As White House Secretary Stephen Early pointed out yesterday, it is the duty of the navy and the army, even in peace times, "to study and devise plans for all possible emergencies. Even the most improbable situations are studied and planned."

Every major power in the world has fled away in its secret archives plans calculated to meet all sorts of hypothetical positions. It would be astonishing and most disconcerting to learn for instance that our fighting branches didn't have detailed plans for our conduct in event of war with Japan. And the Japanese, shrewd people that they are, naturally are equally prepared.

It is even wiser, despite the traditional talk about the "impossibility of war between America and England," that our war and navy departments know what they would do if the impossible happened. Our cousins across the big pond certainly have given thought to the same subject, although without any more anxiety than Uncle Sam has.

However, we aren't dealing with any such far-fetched hypothesis as that in the case at hand. We already are at war with the Axis. And as I have said in this column before, to my mind it is only a matter of time—likely a short time—before the Allies will call on us for aid in combat.

The great call for man-power will come from the Middle East and the Russian theater, as I view it. More and more it seems that this front will develop the decisive land engagements of the war. As remarked before, ultimately the Allies will undertake an invasion of Western Europe, but this can only come after the German resistance has been broken from other directions.
