MR. and MRS. DARYL DRAIN

Wedding Vows Repeated

Cindy Beaver and Daryl Drain were united in marriage on Dec. 30 at the East Side Church of Christ in Snyder, Texas officiated by Rev. Sam Kitchen in an impressive candlelight ceremony.

The Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Beaver of Fluvanna. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Van Drain of Farmersville, Texas.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was presented at the altar in an old fashioned victorian style gown of candlelight organza veiled over bridal taffeta, with accents of antique type brussels lace, venise, and tatting. The Princess silhouette featured a deep shield shape yoke of antique lace framed in Irish cluney lace ruffling. The full circular skirt fell in panels with pearl beaded venise lace medallions. A deep ruffled flounce of heirloom lace encircled entire hemline and brush to form a full chapel train. Cindy wore a heirloom lace covered capulet from which drifted her bouffant mantilla of imported silk, English illusion, edged in a deep border of matching heirloom lace and swept beyond the chapel train of her wedding gown.

The Bridal Bouquet was colonial cascade of Burgundy Sweetheart roses and baby's breath accented with candlelight ribbon tied in love knots. For something old, the bride wore a locket belonging to her aunt. She wore a blue garter and something borrowed was a pair of pearl earrings. The groom presented her with a diamond drop necklace for something new.

The couple repeated their solemn vows beneath a brass columned arch entwined with greenery and baskets of flowers in variegated pinks and burgundy. The arch was flanked with pyramid brass candlelabras. The couple chose to further solemnize their vows by lighting the unity candle while Indian prayer was being read. The candlelighters were Becky and Tammy Miller. The flower girl was Candy Belew. They were dressed in gowns of Mulberry Velour with old fashioned heavy lace yokes and headbands of matching fabric covered with delicate pink flowers and baby's breath. The ring bearer was Wacy Parks, cousin of the bride, and wore a suit of deep mauve. The brides attendants complemented the victorian wedding theme, dressed in old fashioned jacket dresses of candy pink jersey. The semi-halter gowns were designed with high victorian neckline and softly draped bodices. The matching waist length jackets, were accented with burgundy velvet collars and cuffs, outlined in the candy pink jersey ruffling. They wore

Senator Hance Introduces Bill

AUSTIN — State Senator Kent Hance has introduced legislation to speed up justice in Texas Juvenile Courts.

Senator Hance's Bill would amend the Texas Family Code to allow a non-lawyer Judge to hear and adjudicate Juvenile cases. Presently, a non-lawyer Judge cannot preside over Juvenile cases -- thus, delaying the Judicial process in many circumstances until a district Judge can hear the case (since the District Judge must be a lawyer.)

The purpose of the Bill is to alleviate the work load of State District Courts designated as Juvenile Courts whose dockets have become overburdened. The court of a non-lawyer Judge could be named a Juvenile Court, but appeals could be made to alternate courts presided over by lawyer Judges, Senator Hance explained.

"I hope that this mechanism will provide a speedier trial for Juveniles who otherwise might have to wait weeks or even months before their trials come up on the docket of Juvenile courts," said Senator Hance.

"There are many Judicial Districts where the District Judge serves many counties -- as a result, the District Judge cannot adequately hear Juvenile cases. County Judges know more about the Juvenile's family situation and the local circumstances. The county Judge can make a speedier and better determination as to what should happen to the Juvenile," stated Hance.

The Bill provides that a Juvenile defendant may appeal the order of a non-lawyer juvenile Judge by filing a motion for rehearing in the alternate court. The alternate court must rule on the motion within ten days.

If the motion is granted, the judge of the alternate court would grant a new trial.

Finance Development In Ag

College Station --- A special session on the latest developments in the agricultural industry will be one of the highlights of the 25th Texas Farm and Ranch Credit School for Commercial Bankers at Texas A&M University, Feb. 7-9.

The session is designed to help keep Texas bankers up to date on our constantly changing agriculture, says Dr. Richard Trimble, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and publicity chairman for the school.

Gene Finley, vice president, Capital National Bank, Austin, will preside at the session which will feature discussions on energy and agriculture, the new meat grading system, grain sorghum research activities, beef tenderness, improved weather services, animal reproduction, and the new estate tax law.

The bankers school will also feature sessions on loan documentation, commodity outlook information, banker-customer relations, correspondent banking, farmers and outside equity capital, and dealer methods of financing farm equipment, points out Trimble.

In conjunction with the school, an Agricultural Credit Analysis workshop and a Commodity Hedging Workshop will begin the afternoon of Feb. 9 and will continue through the morning of Feb. 11. The credit workshop will deal with preparing financial statements, analyzing and reconciling farm records, and preparing cash flow projections and will involve case studies.

The workshop on commodity hedging will deal with the mechanics of hedging, hedging decision guides, hedging as a forward pricing tool, and what a banker should know about living with a hedged loan.

To register for the school, write Trimble at Room 108A, Agriculture Building, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas, 778437.

News From Austin

Austin--State Senator Kent Hance (Lubbock) will be asking the 65th Legislature to approve a Constitutional Amendment to deny bail in certain felony cases.

Senator Hance is co-sponsoring with senator Jack Ogg (Houston) a senate joint resolution which calls for denial of bail for persons already out on bail for one felony offense who are charged with committing a later one. The proposal also denies bail when a person with prior felony convictions uses a deadly weapon in commission of another.

Currently, the Texas Constitution provides denial of bail only when the accused has had two or more previous felony convictions at different points in time.

"This is the first step in stopping the repeat criminal offenders. This legislation aims at individuals who commit a felony and get out on bond and commit another criminal offense," said Senator Kent Hance.

If the Legislature passes this resolution, the Constitutional Amendment would be submitted to the voters of Texas in the general election in November, 1978.

Serve 2nd Term

Washington, D.C. -- The Democratic Caucus of the U.S. House of Representatives voted Congressman Omar Burleson (D) of Texas to a second term on the Budget Committee. Burleson was elected to serve on the Budget Committee as a representative of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Terms to the House Budget Committee are normally limited to one session of Congress. Although Burleson has already served for one Congress (the 94th Congress, 1975-76) he was one of seven Members of Congress designated for consideration to serve on the Committee for four years to maintain continuity.

Under the system of assigning Members of Congress to the Budget Committee, Ways and Means and Appropriations have three designated Members by reason of the importance of these committees. Even though the Committees may recommend the election of their Members to represent them in the budget process, they must be elected by the Caucus.

Q: I'm considering buying a home with money I acquired before I got married. Because the property would not be purchased with money owned jointly by me and my wife, would I have a right to retain ownership of the house if my wife and I later are divorced?

A: A married person's separate estate generally is included among property which is subject to being divided between the husband and wife in a divorce decree. However, in the event the title to the couple's home is in the husband's name, and the home was purchased with funds from his separate estate, the judge could not divest the husband of title to the house.

Q: A small creek flows behind our home, but a neighbor several hundred yards upstream has built a small dam which traps most of the water. Do I and the other downstream neighbors have any right to complain about this dam, and the fact that the neighbor who built the dam is pumping water from the creek to water his yard?

A: State law allows a property owner to build a dam on his property to impound up to 200 acre-feet of water for domestic and livestock purposes. Such a reservoir must be entirely on the landowner's property and the landowner may pump from the creek for purposes such as watering a lawn. A state permit must be obtained for any reservoir larger than 200 acre-feet or for uses other than domestic and livestock.

Q: I'm 77 years old and would like to claim the homestead exemption from property taxes for persons over 65. However, the deed to my home is in the name of my five daughters, who helped me buy it 21 years ago. Is it possible for me to obtain the tax exemption even though my name isn't on the deed?

A: In deciding whether to grant a homestead exemption from property taxes for a person over 65, the county tax assessor can award the exemption to a person only if the property deed is in that person's name.

Q: Is it possible to amend a birth certificate after it is filed with the Birth and Death Records Section of the State Department of Health?

A: Yes, it is possible to amend a birth certificate in most instances by filing an affidavit swearing to the truth of those sections which require changing. This procedure applies to statistical information as well as other sections on the certificate. The Birth and Death Records Section makes an independent determination, and will either allow or deny the amendment.

Jere's Jottings

Here's to James Earl Carter, Jr., 39th President of US. Out of respect for the office of the presidency, this piece writer will hereafter drop the colloquial "Jimmy". Southern as I pride myself to be, it is now James Earl. President Carter is the 1st president in our 3rd century as a sovereign nation. And a parallel can be drawn between our 1st President and our 39th. Washington was a Virginia farmer, a military man and from a state of the original 13. Carter, too, is a farmer, has a military background, and is from one of the original 13 states.

A week ago I gussied myself up in what must now be considered a Republican fur and hid myself to my friend's home. There we watched every minute of the Carters' day. At noon we enjoyed peanut butter sandwiches and raised a glass of champagne to our new President. It was a history book inauguration. There were four generations of Carters in the reviewing stand. James Earl and Rosalyn broke precedent by walking from Capital Hill to the White House. She looked very smart in her designer coat and boots-which I hope were old and well broken in. That's quite a hike-up Pennsylvania avenue. President Carter was gracious in his tribute to Gerald R. Ford and Senator Humphrey was the 1st to stand in tribute to the ex-President. History noteworthy by this generation's standard was the lack of demonstrations during the day. The parade was as uneventful as if it were being held in Gail. Hopefully that is a bellweather of times to come.

And a glass was raised to

Gerald R. Ford, 38th President of US. Even Southern Democrats surely must admit that he brought decency to the office of President. He stepped into a situation that was untenable. He healed US at a time when the ideals upon which we were founded were being sorely tested. Part of the healing was his pardon of Richard Nixon. Even tho President Ford did not generate much enthusiasm from his own party, he was a deterrent to the Socialist minded Congress. It saddened me to watch Gerald and Betty board a plane and leave Washington, D.C.-ad finem to 27 1/2 years of public service.

And here's to Nelson Rockefeller. History can now record that Nelson slept in the White House. But maybe the tribute should be paid to the Fords for having the insight to have the Rockefellers for a slumber party. We all know how long Rocky dreamed of, aspired to and wrangled for the opportunity to be President. It is out of reach now but he Has spent a night in residence.

A toast to Congress for making it crystal clear to Ted Sorenson that his niche was not head of the CIA. Maybe the only reason Jimmy Earl (then) appointed Ted in the first place was a sop to the Kennedy faction. Whatever-it was a bad appointment. It is to a Democrat controlled Congress' credit that they made it known that they would not rubber stamp an appointment of an undesirable just because their newly elected President asked it. Furthermore, it is to Sorenson's credit that he had the conscience to withdraw his name, knowing that he was not to be confirmed.

And another Hear, Hear to the Judiciary Committee for approving the appointment of Griffin Bell for Attorney General. Despite the pressure from the NAACP and other civil rights factions the Committee accepted Bell on his qualifications to be Lawyer of the Land. Sorenson's qualifications fell far short. It is comforting to think that Congress is looking at qualifications and not votes down the road.

This past week or two could be indicative of rationality-do you suppose?

Editor:

It has been noted that in the "Letter To Editor" article appearing in the January 19, issue of The Borden County Star, a serious error has been made by the typesetter. The letter appears on page #1 and #5. The error is in paragraph seven (7) on page five (5). My original letter reads as follows:

"Now let's go back to the 2nd paragraph above: The States that did have good Safety Laws and Standards, their laws, particularly Wisconsin, clearly stated that if the equipment was not guarded in accordance with the State Standards, and an employee was injured or killed, the employer would be penalized 15% and it be paid direct to the injured employee in addition to the Workmen's Compensation that would be paid him by the Insurance Company. And, if the employee deliberately and defiantly deactivated a guard and/or device, he would be penalized 15% of any compensation that might otherwise be paid him by the Insurance Company, and that 15% going into what was known as "The Second Injury Fund" maintained by the Industrial Board in Madison, Wisconsin. This was a fair and equitable Law. It promoted Safety."

It can be clearly seen that the omission of the underscored lines above left the article unclear, confusing and, really untrue. A correction of the error will be appreciated, and if it is NOT, you will be receiving objections from the readers of THE STAR as well as a reflection on the author as his not knowing what he was talking about.

However, quite some years later the 15% penalty on the employee was repealed as a result of the Big Labor Unions in Wisconsin, shifting all the burden on employers to prove "defiance and negligence of the employee".

Very truly yours,

Educational Benefits

Arlington, Tex. --More than $8,000 in educational benefits awaits young people enlisting in the Air Force and taking advantage of the new Veterans Educational Assistance Program (VEAP), according to Recruiting Service officials here.

The program became effective January 1, and is a new approach to veterans education assistance for all branches of the service. Each member can voluntarily contribute to his future education fund by allocating between $50 and $75 per month, with the government matching the amount two for one. For example, each individual's $50 will be matched with the government's $100 for a total of $150 in educational funds.

Airmen participating in the program must agree to contribute in 12-month increments to a maximum of 36 months, stated Recruiting Service officials. Members who decide not to use the benefits will receive their share of the money back at the end of the enlistment, or if they have already been released within 60 days after notifying the Veterans Administration.

Those putting in $1200 during their initial enlistment will be credited with an additional $5,40 for a total of $8,100.

The new law, signed by the President in October 1976, will be funded for the first five years by the Veterans Administration. After that, VEAP will be reviewed by the President for his recommendation to make it permanent.

Community College of the Air Force credit for Air Force training, credit attained through in-service tuition assistance and college level examination programs combined with the VEAP could help any Air Force veteran attain higher education goals, stated Recruiting Service officials.

Local Air Force recruiters have more information about in-service and veterans educational programs.

Ag Division Organized

SNYDER --Western Texas College has announced the organization of a Division of Agricultural effective with the spring semester.

Joe Carter, associate professor of science, will serve as division chairman.

Included in the new division will be the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Farm and Ranch Management, and the Department of Golf and Grounds Operations. Courses in all these departments have been offered at WTC in the past, but they were included in other divisions. By grouping them under a single division, it is felt that the agricultural programs can be strengthened and improved.

Van Rigby, assistant professor of agriculture, will direct the Department of Agriculture. Courses in this department are aimed at preparing students who plan to transfer to four-year colleges or universities.

Kent Mills will direct the Farm and Ranch Management program, designed primarily to train students to become farm and ranch managers or to pursue employment in agriculture-related industries. Students who complete this two-year program may earn the Associate in Applied Science degree.

The Golf and Grounds Operations program is directed by Tom Jones. WTC is one of the few colleges in the United States which offers this program. Students combine classroom instruction with practical experience in such courses as turf grass management, irrigation, landscape and design, pest control, soils and fertilizers, and the operation of grounds equipment. Students may earn the Associate in Applied Science degree in this program.

Carter, a native of Garden City was graduated from New Mexico State University with the master of science degree in 1968. He taught at Angelo State University and did additional study at Texas A&M University before joining the faculty at WTC in 1973.

4-Hers To Study Heritage

College Station-- Four H youth across the state will have the opportunity to rediscover their national heritage this summer through three special short courses, says Lanny Bullard, 4-H and youth specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Each short course is held at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C. and deals with citizenship plus allows youth to tour various historical sites.

The event is called the National 4-H Citizenship Short Course and Heritage Tour and will be held at three different times--June 14-28, July 6-19 and July 26-Aug. 9.

The short course and tour is conducted by the National 4-H Foundation and all 4-H youth who are presently sophomores or juniors in high school are eligible. The Texas quota is 210 and selections are based on applications which must be submitted by Feb. 15 to local county Extension offices, notes the 4-H specialist.

"Along with the 210 4-Hers, 10 adult leaders will also have an opportunity to participate this year," points out Bullard.

The Texas groups will begin their tours at Dallas and will spend four days enroute as well as four days on the return trip visiting historical sites. In Washington, they will visit such historical sites as the Kennedy Center, Arlington National Cemetery, the Capitol and Library of Congress, Mount Vernon, Williamsburg, Monticello and the Museum of Atomic Energy.

"The short course and heritage tour is designed to supplement the citizenship education and leadership development training young people receive through the home, school, church and other organizations," adds Bullard.

"The two-week learning experience is the highlight of many 4-H members' careers," he emphasizes.

Weather Hard

On Cows

College Station--Cattle losses in Texas have been mounting in recent weeks due to a combination of cold, wet weather and lack of quality forage.

"Losses have been up sharply in some counties in the Gulf Coast region because of a combination of these factors," points out Dr. Larry Boleman, area beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Also adding to the losses is the fact that the cattle in this region of the state are mostly Brahman and Brahman crosses that cannot withstand a lot of the cold, wet weather that has been around since last fall.

"Most cattle can tolerate either wet or cold weather to some extent, but this fall and winter we've had the two together and that's been a big part of the problem. The fact that the type of cattle in this area have short hair and a greater surface area per unit of weight to tolerate hot summer weather also works to their disadvantage during wet, cold conditions."

Boleman also emphasizes that poor nutrition coupled with the adverse weather has led to many cattle deaths. "Cattle need quality roughages during these critical periods. However, many producers either do not have good quality hay available or have not been able to get to their herds with the feed due to boggy pastures."

The Extension specialist explains that when a mature cow is in good winter condition, she generally is not too seriously affected when the temperature drops from the comfort zone of 60 degrees to around 0 degrees F. as long as she is full of forage, has a dry hair coat, and is exposed to dry, still air.

Boleman uses the term "critical temperature" in talking about cow maintenance during certain weather conditions. "This is the temperature at which a cow can keep up its body heat without additional feed intake. It is slightly above the temperature at which cattle begin to shiver.

"A cow not getting any feed will reach a critical temperature at about 55 degrees F.," notes Boleman. "Supplying her with about 15 pounds of hay per day will lower the critical temperature to about 23 degrees F. If feed consumption is increased to the point that the cow can consume all the hay she desires along with three to five pounds of protein supplement, her critical temperature will drop below 0 degrees F."

The specialist adds that wet hair coats and increased wind speeds increase the critical temperature of cattle. A change in wind speed from one-half to 10 miles per hour will cause cows to increase their heat production by 20 to 35 per cent to maintain body temperature.

Good enough to keep, but it can be and should be made better.

That's essentially the verdict handed down on the government cotton program January 18 by the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Board of Directors. It came in the form of legislative policy developed by the PCG Legislative Committee and the Board, calling for an extension of the program's basic concepts but asking for significant improvements.

The Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, of which the program is a part, expires with the 1977 crop. PCG, representing about 20,000 producers in 25 counties surrounding Lubbock, is one of many commodity organizations and other groups across the nation seeking to influence Capitol Hill as a farm law for future years takes shape.

Under the present law the Commodity Credit Corporation loan price on cotton is set at 90 percent of the three-year average price of U.S. cotton in world markets, and the PCG policy says the loan rate should continue to be based on average market prices.

However PCG will be working to "improve the data and procedures under which the loan is calculated..." Officials of the producer organization maintain that USDA has had too much leeway when it figures the average of foreign markets, then applies its own "location and quality" adjustments.

PCG also is asking that the loan be made a more workable marketing tool for producers through lower CCC interest rates, an option to renew loans for at least eight months beyond the present statutory minimum, plus a requirement that the final loan rate for each crop year be announced by November 1 of the preceding year.

Other program improvements called for in the PCG policy include elimination of the inequitable $20,000 payment limitation, a disaster program administered "in accordance with the intent of Congress," and an end to provisions which perpetuate cotton allotments in areas where cotton is no longer produced.

Points in favor of the current program are included in the opening statement of the PCG policy, which recognizes that under the 1973 Act "... growers have experienced (a) freedom to plant what they can grow and produce most efficiently, (b) new opportunities to avail themselves of market-oriented price opportunities, and (c) an improved image with the Congress and the public which resulted from greatly reduced taxpayer costs."

The sense of the PCG Board's feelings, said Executive Vice President Donald Johnson after the January 18 meeting, "is that the market-oriented philosophy of the 1973 Act should not be abandoned, but that every effort must be made to improve administration of the Act in such a way as to give producers greater protection against weather and market hazards."

Matching

Grant

Arlington--The American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Texas has announced that the U.S. Bicentennial Administration will release a final matching grant of up to $15,000 to each state.

The money is to be granted to an endorsed Bicentennial entity in the state -- a community, county, university or state association.

Other stipulations for receiving the money are that it must be matched on a dollar for dollar basis with non-federal funds by the entity applying for the funds, that it be used for only one project, and that the project be completed by June 30, 1977.

In addition, the money must be used for a specific project and not for planning or development.

Applications should be mailed to the ARBC of Texas, Suite 210 University of Texas at Arlington, Arlington, Texas 76019, and must be received by February 1, 1977.

Information may be obtained by calling (817) 461-1776. This is the final Bicentennial grant to be released by the federal government, which utilizes funds received from the sale of official U.S. Bicentennial medallions.

Possible Increase

Lubbock--Calcium sulfate holds a possible promise of increasing cotton yields on the High Plains of Texas.

Sprayed on cotton plants when the bolls began to set, calcium sulfate increased mature boll production during a greenhouse experiment.

The study was conducted by plant scientists at Texas Tech University

"It is possible, however, that under field conditions we might not be able to reproduce the greenhouse results. But our current estimate is that there will be a significant increase in boll production," said Dr. Richard E. Zartman of the plant and soil sciences faculty at Texas Tech.

Quality of the cotton is likely to remain unaffected.

Zartman studied the effect of technical grade calcium sulfate under different water-soil tensions. He also experimented with early and late spraying.

The plant scientist said that although there is enough calcium sulfate in the soil, "It is not present in the abscission zone when the boll mature."

The abscission zone is the connection between the cotton boll and the stem.

"Calcium sulfate," Zartman said, "is a cheap source of calcium. Right now we do not know the economics of spraying the chemical under field conditions. But current prices of calcium sulfate and our boll retention estimates would indicate that it is economically feasible."

In the High Plains cotton generates an income of $900 million every year. An estimated 70 per cent of the yield potential of a cotton crop is possibly forfeited due to loss of squares and bolls, Zartman said.

TDA Steps Up Inspection

AUSTIN--With grain elevators filled to the brim this year in Texas, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has asked for a stepped-up program to protect those in the business.

"Grain handling is probably one of the most complex market systems in agriculture-- and the one where the potential is greatest for farmers and elevator operators to sustain losses," White said.

The Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) Grain Warehouse Division has a two-pronged program to decrease the dollars lost each year.

One is the monitoring of accounts and the actual measurement of grain in warehouses licensed by TDA. The other is continuous investigation into criminal activity in relation to grain handling.

TDA inspectors record all of the grain that has been brought into elevators by the individual grain-weight tickets and receipts to determine how much grain is in storage for farmers and how much is company-owned.

After determining how much grain should be stored in a particular warehouse, inspectors physically measure the grain. To do this in an upright elevator, the inspector drops a line from the top of the structure (sometimes 60 feet high) to determine the depth of the grain and by further calculations, check to see that the company's books are correct.

News From Austin

Speaker Of The House

Bill Clayton, having been unanimously re-elected to the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives, named the top officials who will be working with him on the 28 standing committees of the House.

Representative Mike Ezzell, who served on the Health and Welfare Committee last session, was named Vice Chairman of this powerful committee's appropriate matters. He will also serve as a member of the Judiciary Committee and on the House Administrative Committee.

Ezzell was very pleased at having been named to these important committees. The 13 member Health and Welfare Committee has jurisdiction over the State Department of Public Welfare, Department of Health Resources, Mental Health and Mental Retardation, and, with the adoption of the new rules, this committee also carries the responsibility of programs affecting senior citizens, nursing homes, and the Health Facilities Commission.

Ezzell said, "I feel that my experience has been invaluable to me in working with the Health and Welfare Committee, and I am particularly eager to serve as Vice Chairman of appropriate matters since this committee handles such a large portion of expended state fund. Workings of the Judiciary Committee, which has previously been composed primarily of members who are attorneys, I hope to produce some input into this committee from the business community, and will focus primarily in the areas of workmen's compensation, the Uniform Commercial Code, and the Industrial Accident Board." Ezzell's other assignment, the House Administration Committee, is one of the most active of the procedural committees because it has jurisdiction over the expenditures and policies governing members of the House of Representatives.

Secretary Of State Elected

Secretary of State Mark White has been appointed to the Federal Elections Commission's Advisory Panel on Voter Registration.

The appointment follows a meeting of state and federal elections officials in Washington in December. White was in the nation's capital to discuss Texas voter registration efforts which added some 1.4 million citizens to the voter rolls during a nine-month period.

The State's Chief Elections Officer said the appointment to the 8 member panel will allow Texas--already a recognized leader in voter registration programs--to have more input at the federal level.

White said he will push for one-way mailer applications which can be picked up at grocery and convenience stores, completed and returned, postage free, to registrars.

"The one-way mailer program, administered by the states, will be more realistic than the federal proposal which called for the mailing of applications to every household in the nation, regardless of whether a person is registered or not. The federal bill would cover federal elections only and applications were to be available in post offices," White said.

White does not agree with these approaches as they would be wasteful of taxpayers' monies.

In Texas, an estimated 8.5 million citizens were eligible to register on November 2. The Texas registration effort signed up a record number 1.4 million Texans, increasing the number of registered voters from 4.9 million in January to 6.3 million in November, 1976.

"Almost 75% of our citizens are already registered and they don't need applications," White contends.

"In Texas alone, mailing a 13-cent post card application to 5.3 million registered voters would cost $819,000. At nine cents a post card, it would waste $567,000.00," White said.

White said the federal approach would create a dual registration system, one for federal elections and one for state and local elections. This would lead to voter confusion and disfranchise many citizens who would be unaware of the dual system.

Under White's approach, each state would attempt to locate its unregistered citizens through personal contact by various organizations and with the cooperation of the media.

"Under federal efforts, the ultimate victim would be the voter, whom the federal legislation is trying to accommodate," White said.

Hance Appointed

Austin--State Senator Kent Hance (Lubbock) received very prestigious appointments to the 65th session of the Texas Legislature by Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby. Hance was reappointed to the Senate Finance Committee which drafts the budget for the state of Texas. Also; Hance was appointed to the important State Affairs Committee which hears all major pieces of legislation. Of importance to West Texas, Senator Hance was reappointed to the Natural Resources Committee which will hear legislation relating to oil, gas and water. Senator Hance will serve as Chairman to the Subcommittee on water within the Natural Resources Committee.

Hance said, "He feels that his committee assignments will provide him with the means to be an effective voice for West Texas in the State Senate."

Texans Assume Positions

Several Texans will be assuming new positions of broad national responsibility in Washington. Dr. Ray Marshall of the University of Texas at Austin has been chosen by Governor Carter as Labor Secretary; Congressman Jim Wright of Fort Worth has been elected House Majority Leader. Charles Duncan of Houston has been nominated as Deputy Secretary of Defense, and still other Texans are being spoken of as likely candidates for high positions in the new Administration.

-Hi- Well it has been kind of a long holiday. Like all good things it had to come to an end. Back to work.

I've heard that the biggest problem facing us today is that everybody's fixing the blame, but nobody's fixing the trouble.

It asks here ---Why all the rush to change to the metric system when it's our judicial system that doesn't measure up.

Nobody knows the exact age of the human race, but everybody agrees that it is old enough to know better.

Remember that praise does wonders for the sense of hearing.

Blame the Congress where a man gets up to speak and says nothing; nobody listens; then everybody disagrees. Strong for economy, our congressmen spend billions to achieve it.

They have changed our lifestyle; used to be when you realized you were losing all your freedoms-it was because you were married. Now it is because Congress is in session. (Lou Erickson)

Washington, D.C.--With this first release of the year and the beginning of the 95th Congress, perhaps it is well to explain again that this is not meant to be a professional effort. The purpose is an attempt to maintain as close as possible a relation between a large Constituency and their Representative in Washington.

NOT LONG AGO, the 17th District was composed of 12 counties and 290,000 people. The Congress was not continuously in session as it has been in the last several years and continues to be almost constantly. Today there are 33 counties with approximately 467,000 people which makes it impossible to keep the sort of personal relationship which should exist under our system of representative Government.

The purpose in the past has been an attempt to discuss those things not usually a matter of daily mention in the news media. It is intended to be a background of events, either past or present, and opinions of what may occur in the immediate future.

THE CONGRESS has just opened with its usual ceremonies and, until now, all time has been consumed by caucuses of both political parties and general organization.

PROBABLY AT NO TIME does the flower of "reform" bloom more fully in the Washington garden than at the present. The snows seem only to nourish it. Some of the buds which appeared two years ago have faded but others take their place. It seems that the term "reform" is assumed to be for the better, but some might be more correctly defined as just change. At the beginning of the last Congress seventy-five new Democrats were conditioned to the idea that there should be many changes and that experience is an excuse for control and authority. In this Congress just beginning, another 47 new Democratic Members have arrived. More changes are demanded--some good--some probably not so good. There are not many things which cannot be improved upon and the best system has some faults about it. Times demand change but not necessarily alone for the sake of change.

The Congress is very much like a corporation. In fact, it is the biggest corporation in the world and represents over 200-150,000 people who are affected by what it does. It should have the most experienced and dedicated individuals to be found anywhere to conduct the affairs of the Nation. It is called "representative" because Members come from every corner of the Nation but with wide varying interests. To arrive at legislation those interests many times must be legislatively compromised in order to achieve anything. None can have his own way entirely.

PROBABLY AT NO TIME IN

OUR HISTORY has the Congress faced more challenges than at the present time. The incompatibility of inflation and recession at the same time creates unprecedented problems--coping with one can easily further complicate the other.

No matter how long one may have served in Congress, or how imbued with zeal the newly elected may feel, all face a most consequential year. People deserve and expect the most dedicated efforts at coping with the challenges ahead. Scrutiny and observation should and will be intense. Stakes in our performance during the months and years immediately ahead will be enormous.

Resolution

To Washington

The following is a Concurrent Resolution of interest entered by Congressman Fred Head.

WHEREAS, with each passing year this nation becomes more deeply in debt as its expenditures grossly and repeatedly exceed available revenue so that the public debt now exceeds hundreds of billions of dollars; and

WHEREAS, the annual federal budget continually demonstrates an unwillingness or inability of both the legislative and executive branches of the federal government to curtail spending to conform to available revenue; and

cause of the exclusion of special outlays which are not included in the budget nor subject to the legal public debt limit; and WHEREAS, knowledgeable planning, fiscal prudence, and plain good sense require that the budget reflect all federal spending and be in balance; and WHEREAS, believing that fiscal irresponsibility at the federal level, with the inflation which results from this policy, is the greatest threat which faces our nation, we firmly believe that constitutional restraint is necessary to bring the fiscal discipline needed to restore financial responsibility; and

WHEREAS, under Article V of the Constitution of the United States, amendments to the federal Constitution may be proposed by the Congress whenever two thirds of both houses deem it necessary, or on the application of the legislature of two thirds of the several states, the Congress shall call a Constitutional Convention.

We believe such action is vital. NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the members of the 65th Legislature, Regular Session:

1. that this body proposes to the Congress of the United States that procedures be instituted in the Congress to add a new article to the Constitution of the United States; and that the State of Texas requests the Congress to prepare and submit to the several states an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, requiring in the absence of a national emergency that the total of all federal appropriations made by the Congress for any fiscal year may not exceed the total of all estimated federal revenue for that fiscal year;

2. that, alternatively, this legislature makes application and requests that the Congress of the United States call a Constitutional Convention for the specific and exclusive purpose of proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States requiring in the absence of a national emergency that the total of all federal appropriations made by the Congress for any fiscal year may not exceed the total of all estimated federal revenue for that fiscal year; 3. that this legislature also proposes that the legislatures of each of the several states comprising the United States apply to the Congress requesting the enactment to the federal Constitution; or requiring the Congress to call a Constitutional Convention for proposing such an amendment to the federal Constitution.

AND, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives transmit a copy of this Resolution to the President of the United States, the President of the Senate of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, each member of the Texas Congressional delegation, the Secretaries of State and the Legislatures of each of the several states, and the Secretary of State of Texas.
