WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) charged today that the State Department gave a high post to a former Spanish republican army officer, Gustavo Duran, although U.S. Army reports labeled him a Russian agent.

ACCUSED — Haldore Hanson, above, State Department official accused by Sen. McCarthy of being a Communist follower, told reporters he will stand on the findings of government agencies which checked his loyalty.

'Night-Riders' Roam Again

By TOM SELLERS
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (AP) — Night-riding gangs, apparently prowling for months, have resumed the wave of mob terror which last year led to an anti-masking law in this state.

This year the gangs operate without robes or masks. But state officials blame the new outrages on the Ku Klux Klan, just as they did the acts of masked hoodlums in 1949. Four men are charged with murder at Pell City, 40 miles east of Birmingham, in the Feb. 22 night-riding slaying of Charlie Hurst, country storekeeper. Just before his death, Hurst burst into his home and cried: "Looks like the Ku Kluxers are after me."

The men charged in this case are Claude Laker, Talladega furniture dealer; Charlie Carlisle, Jr., 24-year-old textile mill worker; Albert Wilson, 33, Talladega County farmer; and C. M. Hunter, Pell City mattress manufacturer and former county jail warden.

Three others arrested in the killing were freed last Saturday. They include the Rev. Alvin Horn, Baptist minister and organizer for the Association of Georgia Klans; Jesse Wilson, 55, father of Albert Wilson; and E. L. Hudson, Talladega carpenter.

Here in Birmingham, 18 men are under indictment for masked flaming and related charges brought by a grand jury last summer.

In this group, Coleman A. Rusk, admitted spinner gunner, has been acquitted at two separate trials. He still faces several other charges.

Another case, that of Klansman A. B. (Byrd) Carradine, ended in a judicial last December. The Lottor, in Carradine trials followed raids by hooded, robed bands last spring and early summer in hilly, coal-mining areas west of here.

The invisible empire of the Klan, split by dissension and splinter groups, denied any part of these threats, floggings and cross burnings. But lash victims described official Klan regalia in telling how their assailants were dressed.

State Hospital Administration Changes Urged

AUSTIN — (AP) — Sweeping re-organization of the business end of the state hospital system was urged today to correct unsound practices that have failed to do the job.

That was the essence of a report to the state hospital board from the firm of Ernst and Ernst, accountants and auditors, who had been hired to survey business operations of the state hospitals and special schools.

The plan recommended by this firm and a committee headed by H. B. Zachry of San Antonio, board member, calls for hiring of a manager to head up the business operations of the huge hospital structure.

This manager would be recommended to the board by the firm of auditors and management consultants, who would continue to supervise this phase of the emergency operation until it is established on a sounder business basis.

The business manager would work directly under the board's executive secretary.

The auditor's survey found "no uniform plan of organization," "inadequate reports, overspending and improper allocations of funds."

Zachry noted that Ernst and Ernst had been hired to make their survey "because $20 million dollars a year is a big business." He emphasized the survey was not strictly an audit but a study of business procedures and controls.

The hospital board — which took over operation of the institutions from the board of control last summer — authorized the study of this phase of its work along with surveys to show what was needed from the angle of caring for and curing patients.

Czech Foreign Minister Quits

PRAGUE — (AP) — Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis has resigned. Deputy Premier Vilam Siroky has been named as his successor.

The official announcement today gave no reason for the resignation of Clementis, a Communist journalist and lawyer who succeeded the late Jan Masaryk as foreign minister in March 1948.

(The resignation came on the heels of reports that a wholesale purge is imminent in the ranks of the Czech Communist party on charges of Titoism.)

The official Czech news agency said that Clementis' resignation had been accepted by President Klement Gottwald on the recommendation of Premier Antonin Zapotocky.

The agency said Premier Zapotocky announced the resignation at the weekly meeting of the cabinet.

Clementis was one of the last links between the present Communist government and the old Czech government which Eduard Benes headed in London during the war.

Clementis, a stocky Slovakian, has been frequently reported in the foreign press as on the outs with the other Communist leaders here because of his "moderate" approach to domestic and foreign affairs.

Congress Hopefuls Assail 'Fair Deal'

By HENRY S. GORDON
Pampa News Staff
Two Amarillo congressional candidates, E. T. Burk and H. J. Bice, have made public their campaign platforms via public statements and paid advertising.

Burk will insert his first campaign advertisement — outside of Amarillo — in tomorrow's edition of The News.

Both candidates are aiming at the same target — elimination of Fair Deal policies. The only difference is the employment of words to get their ideas across to the voting public.

Bice came up with a 16-point starting with "a Democrat always" and concluding with "a vote for Bice is a vote for the Constitution."

Included in the insecticide manufacturer's platform are elimination of Communists from government jobs and positions of influence, restoration of government to "the people loyal to the principles of the country's founders," "to defend everyone's right to work or not to work," to use his voice and vote toward "unbridled competition," to clean out Washington and area federal offices of "overworked loafers," in need of "less jobs," block socialized medicine, to support the worthy and needy, to stop inflation, support an adequate national defense, and "to support veterans."

Burk emphasized his 23 years of church affiliation, and bore heavily on the point that he is "paying the freight of his own campaign."

Burk also advocates a strong national defense for insurance against international conflict, "sound" farm legislation with "common sense" with government retained at the local level. He, however, opposes "spite legislation" against business or labor, but did not indicate by any examples what he meant.

C-C Directors Hosts at Meet

Ten McLean and Lefors residents attended yesterday's Board of Directors meeting of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development, held in the Dining Room at Highland General Hospital.

Reno Stinson, chairman of the hospital board, and committee members Art Teed, Jake Garman, Colonel Stokley of McLean, J. R. Sparkman of Lefors, and Edward Nelson, also attended.

The luncheon meeting, held at the expense of the directors, was at the hospital so the men could see the hospital in operation.

Chet Lander, superintendent of the hospital, took the men on a tour of the hospital facilities following the meal.

Frank M. Carter, member of the Board of Directors of the Top of Texas Hereford Breeders Association and member of the Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee, requested the directors go on record asking the school board and school administration to consider the advisability of reinstating a vocational agriculture department at the High School.

He said the department was dropped during the war years when vocational agriculture instructors were scarce. Since Pampa is primarily an agricultural and ranching area, Carter said, the Chamber Agriculture Committee and Hereford Breeders Association believe there are enough boys here interested in vocational agriculture that the course should be made available.

After a brief discussion, the board voted to favor the reinstatement of a vocational agriculture department.

Grim Posse Seeks Slayer In Big Bend

MARFA — (AP) — The hunt for the killer of a Texas sheriff today had all the elements of a Wild West thriller — a handcuffed fugitive afoot in a rugged mountain chain, pursued by an armed posse on horseback.

Grim-faced sheriffs of the Big Bend country of Southwest Texas, Texas Rangers and border riders rode out at dawn — gun belts buckled tight — seeking again the trail of the unidentified slayer.

The shooting early Sunday of Sheriff O. W. (Blackie) Morrow, 43, on a lonely mountain road flipped back the pages of time to the days of the Old West.

It brought back the posse on horseback — hooded men peering six-shooters; the sign cutlars men who can read a story in a smashed cactus, a scuffed patch of grass.

Texas Ranger Gully Cowart rode into Marfa late last night and said a mounted posse had tracked the killer of Morrow, 10 miles through rugged mountains, but lost his trail near the Mexican border.

Cowart led the posse out again this morning. River riders patrolled the Rio Grande through the night to prevent the killer from slipping into Mexico — if he hasn't done so.

Morrow, a popular Navy veteran serving his second term, was shot and left dying early Sunday on a lonely road between here and Presidio, 10 miles against the Rio Grande. The sheriff, blood pouring from a hole through the left side of his body, managed to get into his car and drive a mile toward Presidio before he died.

The shooting occurred about 11 miles north of Presidio, midway between there and Shafter, a ghost silver and lead mining town.

Cowart said his posse — made up of officers who are experienced horsemen and trackers — picked up the trail about half a mile from the spot where Morrow's car ran into a ditch when he died.

When the posse found the trail they had this theory: The husky, six-foot sheriff apparently had stopped to make an (See KILLER, Page 2)

Seven to Lead McLean Plan For Chamber

McLEAN — A seven-man committee was named at the American Legion Hut here last night to further plans for a chamber of commerce.

The men will determine the number of directors and the terms of office and then ballots will be sent out to prospective chamber members. On the ballots the voters will name a certain number of citizens they would like to see in office.

The committee is composed of John Broadhurst, chairman; Jesse Coleman, Ed Landers, Ruel Smith, Clyde Andrews, Tex Ritter and Bob Sheddick. Boyd Meador, who requested the group who met a week ago on the same subject, was temporary chairman last night. Cleo Meharg was temporary secretary.

Two Pampans attended the meeting last night with some 75 persons, including many Legionnaires. Joe Key, former Pampa Chamber of Commerce president, discussed organization, and Gene Fathere, who was among a group of Pampans who attended a meeting here a week ago last night, also spoke.

Ballots Test Labor Party

LONDON — (AP) — Britain's Labor government, victorious in two crucial policy tests, mobilized its slim majority in the House of Commons today to beat down a third Conservative attack on Laborite spending policies.

By rounding up every available Laborite member, including some from sick-beds, Prime Minister Attlee's government last night won a 25-vote majority against a Tory motion criticizing its housing record. The vote was 314 to 289.

The first test came last week, only a few days after the newly elected Labor government, with its majority in the House of Commons whittled to only six seats, began its second term. That vote showed a Labor victory of only 14 votes against Conservative Leader Winston Churchill's attacks on the government's program to nationalize the iron and steel industry.

Under the British parliamentary system, the government must resign if it loses a vote on any important issue.

Churchill's demands for three votes of confidence within a week were interpreted by observers as harassing tactics to keep the Labor government under pressure and to build up issues for the next election campaign.

Child Movie Actress Flees Again, Claiming Starvation

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Lora Lee Michel, nine-year-old child veteran of 17 movie roles, ran away from her foster parents last night and deputies said she was being starved so that she could play little girl roles. The sheriff's office reported that the little girl fled in her pajamas last night shortly after Mrs. Lorraine Michel, 55, her foster mother, had left her saying her bedtime prayers.

She was found by the Rev. Eldord Sundstrom, pastor of the United Brethren Church, Burbank, who phoned deputies. The minister said officers that Lora Lee arrived at his house in a cab at about 10 o'clock (PST) last night. He said she hailed him thus: "I had to get away. I couldn't stand any longer."

The minister then told the deputies that the child said she was hungry and had lost ten pounds in the last month. He said he took her to a drive-in and bought her a cheese sandwich, a piece of pie and milk.

Mrs. Michel had noted the child's disappearance about 9:30 p.m. and, after a frantic search of the neighborhood, notified the sheriff's office.

Mr. Sundstrom said the child was weeping hysterically when she came to him. She previously had stayed at his house while a ward of the court during a custody battle.

Brownwood Man Fatally Burned

BROWNWOOD — (AP) — Burns suffered when he built a fire so that his wife could make candy proved fatal last night for Fred Tucker, 35.

Lions' Show Ready to Go

"Talk of the Town," Lions Club's 19th annual show, is ready. Director Vernon McCracken said two more rehearsals will be held to smooth over a few rough places, but the show as a whole is ready for the public.

The entire High School Auditorium tonight for a rehearsal will be held tomorrow night.

Curtain time will be 8 p. m. Thursday and Friday at the Junior High Auditorium. The show will be composed of dances and songs, using the talent of Pampa High School girls, and several skits, featuring Lions Club members.

A novel dancing number, "Tiler Routine," will open the show, featuring Venita Cowan, Gail Finkelstein, Peggy Hukill, Ina Hawthorn, Janice Marrow and Betty Kiff.

The second number will be "1920 Blues" with Pat E. Hill, Sally Cobb, Eulaine Ellis, Betty Wilson, Karla Wyatt, Dorothy Dixon, Jewel Moseley and Cherie McDaniel.

A skit will then be presented with "Mayor" Paul N. Brown; "Feetlebe" Dr. J. Donaldson and "Traveling Salesman" Ed McLennan.

Chinese fantasy will feature singers and dancing girls. Included will be "Limehouse Blues," "Janice Branson," "Dragon Girls," "Joan Stroup," "Neil Berry, Anita Kiff, Rochell Smith, Yoby Holly and Janice Marrow; "Sailors," Delores McAdams, Donna Wilkinson, Harriet Schwartz and Venita Cowan; "Ming Toy, the Dancer," Helene Madeira; and "Chinese God," Bob Addington.

"Sam Shovel Hires a Detective. A skit depicting a popular radio show, will portray the acting talent of Paul Brown, Dale Fungus, Pat Fitzmaurice, Curt B. Beck and three "surprise" characters.

Other skits, dances and songs will complete the first act.

After a 10-minute intermission the Minstrel Moderne will feature B. R. "Bummy" Shultz as Me, Interlocutor. End men who have been gathering jokes for the past month will include Phil Harvey, Red Payne, Bob Addington, Rusty Ward, Porky Parkinson and Rudy Burquist.

Runways and hangars of the airport are at the top of the picture. The plane neared the airport, then suddenly roared into a climb, made a right turn and crashed into the earth.

Texas Death Case Pressed

HOUSTON — (AP) — District Attorney A. C. Winborn said he will present the case of a Negro handy-man slain by a white special deputy constable to the grand jury tomorrow.

Winborn made this announcement yesterday when he told the white friends of Carter Boyd he would personally handle the case.

Boyd, 34-year-old disabled veteran, was shot to death Saturday night after a car occupied by two white couples ran into his parked automobile. Wash J. Howard, Jr., 26, special deputy constable and University of Houston student, was charged with murder and held without bond.

Thirty-five residents of the swanky district where Boyd tended yards and did odd jobs met Sunday "to see that justice is done."

Three of them — Dr. D. H. Hotchkiss, Jr., J. Ben Potot and George S. Bennetts — called on Winborn yesterday. They gave him a letter signed by 65 residents who had known or employed Boyd.

The letter explained the group wants to see justice done and to have something done about special deputies who carry guns when they are not actually peace officers.

arrest. His pistol and handcuffs were missing, he might have been shot with his own gun.

Cowsett and his posse pushed into the jumble of barren mountains — covered only by desert growth. As he related his story, the trail signs told that:

Their quarry was handcuffed and must have had terrifically hard going. There was evidence he had fallen into cactus bushes — cactus plants with needle-like spines that seem to spring free of the bush and into the skin.

"Jeeping cactus," they are sometimes called.

He was headed for the Rio Grande, snake-like river boundary between the United States and Mexico.

The trackers could tell the hunted was handcuffed from the way his hands dug into the ground when he fell among the Big Bend's rocks and cactus.

They found an empty cartridge case and an unspent shell, both 38-44 caliber, the same as Morrow's six-shooter. This strengthened the belief the sheriff was killed with his own gun.

The posse — Rangers Goutle Hardin of Sanderson and Arthur Hill of Alpine, Sheriff Jim Nance of Sanderson, Sheriff Charles E. Baskin of Fort Stockton, Deputy Sheriff Earnest Barnett of Marfa and Cowsett — rode wearily into town last night.

They ate their first meal since saddling up before dawn.

The 15 miles they had covered was in Texas' last frontier, the wild wastes of the Big Bend, where many mountain ranges — the Chinita, Shafter, Cuesta del Burro, Sierra Vieja — cut the country's face into a gnarled, gaunt, scarred patchwork.

The posse trailed their quarry in near-freezing weather.

The posse lost the trail at a goat camp seven miles from the Rio Grande. Cowsett said the man's tracks had been trampled out by goats.

With a 30-hour start on the hunters, the hunted may have reached the Rio Grande.

School Finance Estimate Close, Committee Says

In response to a request by the Taxpayer's League to redneck the figures and probable costs of the projects included in the school bond issue, the Citizens' Committee stated today that the estimate originally rendered is very close. The committee said that little if any savings could be effected.

The Taxpayer's League had made the request to ascertain whether or not sufficient amounts could be cut from the projects to make up a sum sufficient to construct a small school building on the southwestern part of Pampa.

The bond election will be held Saturday, March 18, in the Junior High School Building. The election calls for a $1,250,000 bond issue to practically double the existing floor space in Pampa's schools. It includes $30,000 worth of improvements on the Negro schools.

Water Plans Approved by West Texans

KNOX CITY, Texas — (AP) — Let's do it — build a multi-city dam and water reservoir — said representatives of 19 West Texas cities and towns.

They gave unanimous approval yesterday to the project proposed by the bureau of reclamation.

Bureau Engineer Harry Burleigh of Austin told some 100 persons representing various areas that the dam project would cost consumers about $11,500,000. He said it would be paid back to the federal government at two percent interest over a 40-year period.

Plans approved today call for a 48,000 acre foot reservoir 18 miles southeast of Haskell on California Creek above its confluence with Paint Creek. It would provide municipal and industrial water supplies to cities of the Bob Baskin Dam Association, outside of Abilene.

An irrigation feature of the project consists of a dam and reservoir at the old Bob Baskin site on the Double Mountain Fork of Brazos River. The reservoir would have a storage capacity of 455,000 acre feet of water and a distribution system of a 35-mile main canal with laterals.

Officials speaking in favor of the project represented Albany, Anson, Benjamin, Haskell, Jayton, Knox City, Munday, O'Brien, Roby, Rhineland, Rochester, Roman, Rule, Seymour, Spur, Stamford, Weiner and Lueders.

Refinery Blaze Extinguished by Sooner Firemen

CUSHING, Okla. — (AP) — Firemen fought for more than two hours last night before dousing a blaze in the $5,000,000 Midland Cooperative Wholesale Oil Refinery here.

Refinery Superintendent Theron Randall said a broken suction line in the catalytic unit caused the fire. When the pipe broke and released a stream of hot oil, it burst into flames immediately.

Flames roared 100 feet into the air out of the 75-foot steel catalytic tower.

Refinery Manager Rex Winget could not estimate damage immediately, but credited fast work by firemen and quick thinking of a refinery employe with preventing a disaster. Winget said C. E. Hinkle turned off a valve cutting off the flow of oil into the catalytic unit.

Tax Evading Made Harder

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Attempting to evade federal income tax will be riskier than ever this year.

The deadline for 1949 income tax returns and payments comes Wednesday midnight and the Internal Revenue Bureau is set to give the $4,000,000 expected returns closer scrutiny than in the past.

Officials said some 3,500 investigators have been added to the bureau's check-up forces in the last year. Congress has been asked to provide funds to add about 3,000 more.

Meanwhile, the bureau has been shifting more of its personnel to investigative work as machines are installed to take over more and more of the routine clerical duties.

Officials stressed that most of the "errors" in tax returns apparently are innocent and not the result of efforts to evade taxes.

They point out that nearly a million errors were caught in one recent year, yet fewer than 800 persons were prosecuted for deliberate tax fraud.

The congressional race will have two acts — the first a special election to fulfill the term of Rep. had complained that her foster parents made her diet so that she could play $100-a-day movie roles. The charges said then that the child weighed only 45 pounds and complained she was hungry all the time. Mrs. Bailey also quoted the child as saying she was whipped because she once gained a pound.

The charges were denied by Mrs. Michel, who is free on bail pending a hearing March 21 on the sheriff's complaint.

Then her real mother, Mrs. Lena Brunson, 35, of Nederland, Texas, sought to regain custody of Lora Lee. At a Feb. 8 superior court session, Lora Lee was in the midst of a hair-pulling tug-of-war between Mrs. Brunson and Mrs. Michel who had adopted the child in 1945.

There was a flurry of kicking and punching among the principals and friends of both sides.

Later, Judge A. A. Scott ruled that Mrs. Brunson had no right to the child and that the Michels' adoption process was legal. The jurist advised that the Michels take the child out of the movies and back to their home in Schulenburg, Texas.

The First Methodist Church was filled to capacity by an enthusiastic audience last night when Harley Bull, dramatic tenor, was presented in voice recital, assisted by Mrs. May Foreman Carr at the piano.

Mr. Bull's diction in the three languages, French, German and Italian, was especially clear. His interpretation of "Shadrack" was well received, and he responded to encore with "Pirate Dreams" by Hueter.

Mrs. Carr was at her best last night in both roles, accompanist and soloist. She played "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 8," by Liszt, and in response to encore, "Black Key Etude" by Chopin.

It is especially noteworthy that both artists prepared their programs while on full schedule in their respective lines of work.

Aged Texan Hates Fires, So He Fights 'Em for 70 Years

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD Associated Press Staff

"I'm a firebug against fires," says Uncle Buck Hallmark. "Been fighting 'em 70 long years."

For 53 of those years, William Parker Hallmark has been chief of the Dublin, Texas, fire department. So many years that Dublin firemen have voted to make him chief as long as he lives.

Uncle Buck has fought more than 3,000 blazes at Dublin, a community of 4,000 persons in Erath County. His only pay: satisfaction and a few medals for heroism he won't discuss. Never has Dublin's fire department had more than one or two paid workers. A siren atop the fire station screams to rouse volunteers.

But the department has five pieces of motorized equipment and a swell record. "And Dublin has the lowest fire insurance rate in the state for a town its size," Uncle Buck says.

"Helped fight my first fire when I was a kid of six in northeastern Alabama," the stocky, grey-haired, 76-year-old Hallmark told us. "I held my daddy's horse while he put out a forest fire."

"In a year or two I was dragging a green cowhide to put out forest fires. I remember how thirsty I got. I lapped many a drink of water from cowtrucks."

Uncle Buck married young and moved to Dublin in 1881 from Alabama because he read in a book that it had "plenty of frontier spirit." It did, too, he chuckles now. "About 1,000 people and every other building a saloon."

In 1892 he joined the Dublin volunteer firemen and began washing hose and greasing hand pump carts the men pulled to fires. He was elected chief five years later.

"Got our first horses, Bud and Barney, in 1917," Hallmark says. "We sure were proud. They were beautiful red horses with black manes and tails and they loved a fire."

"I remember 1917, too, because that year Dublin had its costliest fire — $60,000 blaze. A warehouse 350 feet long and 50 feet wide, piled with peanuts 50 feet high, caught fire. Those blamed peanuts burned six weeks. I fought that blaze the whole time. Slept on the ground."

A great-grandfather, now Uncle Buck had been a farmer and for

Santa Fe Railroad 1949 Income in 20 Percent Drop

GALVESTON — (AP) — The Santa Fe Railway has reported it made 20 percent less money in 1949 than in 1948.

The annual report to stockholders placed 1949 net income at $50,042,147 compared with $62,842,771 in 1948.

The report said:

"A general readjustment and leveling off of business activity in 1949, together with the influence of coal and steel strikes and a slightly lower agricultural production with smaller exports, produced the decreases in revenue."

"The lower volume of traffic and a further narrowing of the earnings margin and higher costs, and inability to give effect to fully corresponding increases in rates, caused the drop of 20 percent in the company's net income."

Women's Activities

CLUB INFORMATION NEEDED

The Pampa News will publish the second annual Women's Club edition the latter part of March. All club presidents or reporters in Pampa and outlying towns are requested to prepare a club history, a list of officers and any other information which they feel will be of general public interest, and submit it to the women's page editor of The News as soon as possible. Also needed will be pictures of the president, which can be reproduced in actual size, and good clear group pictures of the organizations.

Information suggested for use is as follows: accomplishment of your club or organization during the past year, your project, and how well it has succeeded, and your plans for the coming year.

Information is requested from all federated women's clubs, church groups, high school girls' clubs and sororities, Girl Scouts, Home Demonstration Clubs, and other organized women's or girls' groups.

If possible, type material—double spaced. If it is impossible to type it, then please spell names carefully, as names, properly spelled, are most important.

All material should be received as soon as possible, and must be in by March 21.

HD Week Slated April 30 - May 6

Home Demonstration Week will be April 30 to May 6. Mrs. Grayce Morris announced at a meeting of the Gray County HD Council. Miss Doris Leggett, district home demonstration agent, was a visitor at the monthly session.

Mrs. H. B. Taylor, Jr., Council president, was in charge of the business meeting and Mrs. R. E. Montgomery conducted the recreation. Mrs. Walter Noel, library chairman, listed library plans, and club presidents gave reports on club work.

Mrs. C. A. Jones, Mrs. J. L. Chase and Mrs. Curtis Schaffer were elected delegates to attend the district meeting in Borger April 27.

Only people who have lived in Monaco for four generations can become citizens.

Grace Friend

Readers of The Pampa News are invited to send their problems to Grace Friend. Letters not published in the columns will be answered personally provided a self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed with the question. Writers must sign their names although they will not be printed without the writer's permission.

CONSIDER DIVORCE AS A LAST RESORT

Dear Mrs. Friend:

I have reason to believe that my husband no longer loves me. He is thoughtful towards me and our two children but he is away from home more and more.

Once or twice I have found theater stubs in his pockets after he told me that he had had to work late. Once there was a package of matches from a night club.

I have never said anything to him about these things but then I hardly need to. I know without our discussing it at all that he is with another woman on many occasions.

I am proud enough not to want to hold him against his will but I hardly know how to approach him on the subject of a divorce although that seems the only thing left for me to do.

Would you ask him if he wants a divorce or would you ignore the whole thing and hope that whatever it is, it might pass and he will be himself again.

Mrs. W.

Think long and carefully before you approach your husband about a divorce.

Consider what your separation will do to your children. Children are very sensitive to divorce and broken homes frequently leave a lasting mark upon children of the family.

Consider your own position. There will be the question of money and of whether, with small children, you will be in a position to work to add to your income and still have time to be with your youngsters. Also there is none so lonely as a divorcee who for long years has had the companionship of marriage.

It may be that you have misinterpreted his preoccupation and late hours. Be very sure that you know where you speak before you accuse him of wrongdoing.

It might be better for you to remain silent a while longer and do everything you can to make him happy at home. Be as good a companion to him as you can and see if you can't keep your home intact as it will be worth it to you in your children's happiness and well being, as well as in your own.

And remember that your husband would have come to you with a request for a divorce if he really wanted one.

NO CHANCE FOR A TIP

Dear Grace: Isn't it embarrassing to be at a restaurant ready to pay the waiter the bill, or even the cashier, and to find that no matter how you work it you don't have the right change to leave a suitable tip?

The other night I took a friend out to dinner and the bill was $4.95. I looked in my billfold and all I had was a dollar. Now Grace, I am pretty generous as a tipper but I didn't see the sense in leaving a dollar for that waiter. And I didn't see an reason for walking out and leaving him the five cents.

I solved my problem by borrowing fifty cents from my friend until I could get change. But I could see an occasion when nothing but embarrassment would be around me.

Silly, isn't it? But still worth an answer.

Diner Outer

Dear Diner Outer: Why not just put your extra dollar on the check and ask your waiter to bring you some change. Then you can give him whatever you wish. You can ask the cashier for change and return to your table and leave a tip for the waiter.

Party Honors Mrs. E. B. Smith

Mrs. E. B. Smith was the honoree at a surprise birthday party given in her honor Saturday evening in the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. R. L. Parsley, 509 Doucette.

The lace covered dining table held the birthday cake with candles. The cake was served with ice cream.

Mrs. Smith opened her many gifts and the group played several games during the evening.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Smith and daughters, Phyllis Ann and Cynthia, and Miss Barbara Smith, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Smith, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Smith and son, Joe Edward; Mrs. Corinne Bell; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Parsley and son, Kerry Lee, all of Pampa.

To climax the evening, Mrs. Smith received a telephone call from her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith of Corpus Christi, and also received birthday wishes from her son, Robert Smith, and his wife, of San Antonio.

Dr. Charles Goodman, New York dentist, also is a book collector. Some of his customers are authors, including Christopher Morley. When they come to him for a filling they must also be prepared to autograph their books for him.

Mrs. J. P. Brumley Heads Committee For Benefit Dance at Country Club

Mrs. Parks Brumley has been appointed chairman of the forthcoming dance to be given by Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority on April 14. The formal benefit dance will be at the Country Club, and the entire proceeds will go into the audimeter fund, which is a major project of the organization. Music will be by the Mello-Altes. Mrs. Brumley was appointed at a business meeting of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority in City Club Room.

Further plans were formulated for the district council meeting which will be held in Pampa on Sunday, March 26. The meeting will open in the form of a coffee at the Country Club. Seventeen chapters of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will be represented at the convention. Bonnie Phillips, district president, of Plainview, will conduct the business meeting which will be in the City Club Rooms. Mrs. Bert Arney is vice president of the district council.

Mrs. O. J. Payne, general chairman of the convention, appointed the following committees: Coffee, Mmes. Herman Foster, Harvey Longren, Guy LeMond, Joe Mitchell and Tom Lindsey. Registration, Mrs. Bill Ragdale and Miss Va Rue Dyson. Programs and Badges, Mmes. Irv Akst, Florene Duke, Margaret Dial, Jean Haw, Bob Burks, Charles Robison and Brice Parker, Luncheon, Mmes. Parks Brumley, Berton Doucette and Al Doucette. Entertainment, Mmes. Lillian Kelley and Bert Arney.

Miss Va Rue Dyson read a letter of invitation from Barbara Stefano, state secretary, inviting the local chapter to the state convention which is to be in San Antonio on May 5, 6 and 7. Mrs. John Nutting, president, urged the group to go to the polls on March 18 to vote on the school bond election.

Gubitchev Will Sail March 20

NEW YORK — (AP) — Convicted spy Valentin A. Gubitchev says he will return to Russia March 20 aboard the Gydria - America liner Batary.

The Soviet engineer was given a choice between leaving the country or going to prison for 15 years when Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan sentenced him last Thursday.

Judith Coplon, former Justice Department analyst convicted with Gubitchev of plotting to spy for the Russians, drew a straight 15-year sentence.

Lenora Parr and Don Barton Marry In Sunday Rites

In an informal ceremony held in the First Baptist Church parlor, Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Lenora Parr and Don Barton were united in marriage.

A few close friends were present. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Barnett and Mrs. Nancy Earle of Borger and Miss Beatrice Moore of Amarillo.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Williams, 712 North Frost. Assisting Mrs. Williams were Mrs. Al Schneider and Mrs. Paul Appleton.

Mrs. Barton is secretary in the local Soil Conservation Service office, and Mr. Barton is in charge of the meat department in a local food store.

Oil Shipment Rates Cut in Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. — (AP) — Rail and truck carriers in Mississippi are reducing freight rates on petroleum and petroleum products by 18 percent.

The State Public Service Commission authorized the reduction. Oil companies had said they might be forced to operate their own fleets of trucks unless rates were lowered.

First Round of NAIB Meet to Be Completed Tonight at KC

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — Sixteen more basketball teams spill onto Municipal Auditorium floor today and tonight to wind up first round games in the annual NAIB Tournament.

The six-day tournament, sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball, looks like it will be a wide-open scramble.

In eight first round games yesterday only one team won by more than 10 points. David and Elkins (W. Va.) breezed by St. Thomas College of St. Paul, Minn., 79-55.

Hamline rallied in the second half last night to win from Regis College of Denver, Colo., 74-66.

Westminster (Pa.) College, seeded No. 2, edged by Connecticut Teachers 79-62 and George Peppercorn of Los Angeles, another seeded aggregation, won from American University of Washington D.C., 54-50.

One seeded entry, Murray (Ky.) State, lost to Central Washington College of Education, 61-55.

In other games yesterday University of Portland, Ore., defeated Montana University 48-47, Tampa (Fla.) won from New Mexico A&M 85-75, and Central (Mo.) College won from Nebraska State Teachers of Peru 68-59.

Southeastern Louisiana College was paired against Puget Sound to open the firing today and River Falls State Teachers College (Wis.) and Eastern Illinois, another seeded team, drew the last pairing tonight.

In between, today's schedule called for: (times CST)
12:30 p.m. — Brooklyn (N.Y.) vs. Appalachian State Teachers College (N.C.)
2 p.m. — East Texas State Teachers vs. University of South Dakota.
3:30 p.m. — Baldwin-Wallace

(Ohio) vs. Kalamazoo (Mich.) State College vs. Indiana State Teachers.
6 p.m. — Morningside (Iowa) vs. Arkansas Polytechnic College.
7:30 p.m. — Mississippi Delta

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

LAREDO — (AP) — The Border Olympics are an example of civic enterprise. Laredo folks are content to go on losing money each year for the publicity and good will that come from promoting one of the nation's largest track and field meets.

They have been taking a financial beating of from $2,000 to $2,500 each year. This time it ran ever more. The cost of the big meet is from $6,000 to $7,000 with any loss underwritten by a group of local citizens. Expenses for the university teams are paid, with the colleges getting flat guarantees. The junior colleges and high schools pay their own expenses.

But Laredo thinks about all those headlines over the country with the Laredo dateline and considers it money well spent.

The Olympics reached their zenith this year. Not only were there more entries than ever before but the quality of the field was better. The fact that 30 records were set in the four divisions indicated the latter. The greatest shots in the arm were those blazing sprints turned in by Charley Parker, while a forgotten man of University of Texas took.

Parker was in a peculiar position. One of the finest runners of Southwestern history, unbeaten in the 220-yard dash in his college career in this section, he still was considered something of a flop.

"Flyin' Charley, a conscientious young man who always has given everything to his favorite sport, was a national sensation four years ago when he came out of Thomas Jefferson High School with an unbeaten string of sprint triumphs and was named as the new 'world's fastest man.'

Here in the Border Olympics of 1947, however, he lost his first race — to Bill Martinson, the Baylor bullet. It was a deep blow to Parker. He worried and fretted. He felt he was a failure and he tried so hard to make it up that he lost more races.

Saturday night Parker made up for everything — he roared along the comeback trail with the fastest 220-yard dash ever recorded anywhere — 20.9 seconds — and he paced the 100 in 9.4 — just a tenth of a second over the world's record.

I watched the rhythmic Parker in that 100 and knew before the race ever finished that flyin' Charley at last had attained the race ever was finished that flyin' Charley at last had attained the heights expected of him and which he had expected to hit long before. He ran easily and seemed to be getting great enjoyment out of it. There was no strain on his face, no halt in his stride. There was none of that "changing gears" which had marred many of his races of the past.

"Well, Charley," I said as he finished, "this was it."

Parker grinned. "I never felt so good before," he replied. "That was the easiest I ever ran."

There was a great light of triumph in his eyes. Charley had made the grade. He had made the grade.

And then they announced the time — 9.4 seconds. One timer actually got him in 9.3. I felt as good as Parker did about it. He always has been one of my favorite athletes.

Next came that great 220 — three-tenths of a second under Jesse Owens' world record. Parker was just an orange streak down the stretch. Nobody could come close to touching him.

I didn't talk to him this time — I was busy getting out a story on the man who came back on the same track where he suffered his greatest disappointment. It was fitting that Parker do this in the Border Olympics where he made his last bid for glory and got it.

Among the changes contemplated for the Olympics next year is putting in a second straight-of-way and erection of a new and bigger press box.

It's the only thing the Border Olympics needs to make it a big-time meet in every way.

Bradley Wins, Western Kentucky Loses in NIT; Wildcats Bid Tonight

NEW YORK — (AP) — What Coach Adolph Rupp calls the best potential quintet in Kentucky history — he's already had some of the nation's greatest — expects plenty of trouble tonight from darkhorse CCNY in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

If they're as good as the bluegrass baron believes, the Kentucky five, made up mostly of sophomores, has a chance to crack a mark set by Wildcat wonder teams of recent vintage. Rupp's boys won the NIT in 1946 and the NCAA in 1948 and 1949.

But classy Ed Warner will have plenty to say about Kentucky title hopes tonight. The flexible 6-foot 2 1/2-inch Negro turned in the tournament's best performance Saturday in leading CCNY's rout of defending champion San Francisco.

The Wildcats, seeded second behind Bradley, are four-point in the second half, the metropolitan five, Kentucky had advanced to the quarterfinals on a bye.

Duquesne plays LaSalle in the 7 p.m. (CST) curtain-raiser. The Pittsburgh Dukies, although third seeded, rate three points under LaSalle's 72-66 victory over Arizona-Saturday. LaSalle in unseeded.

In last night's games, Bradley and St. John's overpowered two fast-rolling opponents in the middle of the second half, then went on to win comfortably.

The Peoria, Ill., Braves, rated the nation's No. 1 team in the final Associated Press poll, defeated Syracuse, 78-66. St. John's tamed Western Kentucky, 69-49.

Tonight's winners meet in the other semifinal match Thursday. The final is Saturday.

Men's City Bowling Meet At Midway Resting Point

The first half of the men's annual City Bowling Tournament, a handicap affair, provided something for the other half to shoot at this coming weekend. Following are the current leaders in three divisions, the all-events leader not having been figured as yet.

In the team division, Hughes Insurance leads with a 2676; Cabot is in second with 2665; Pampa Dry Cleaners in third with 2644 and Texas Elk fourth with 2470.

The doubles leaders are Parsley and Frost with 1204. Behrman and Baxter have an 1170 mark.

for second place; M. Gray and Colgrove are third with 1150; Engle and Howell in fourth with 1159; Rogers and Riddle in fifth with 1157; and Thompson and Koontz in sixth with 1125.

The singles leader is Fred Frost with a 637. Stan Brake is second with 612. Parsley is third with 611, Hutchens fourth with 606; Thompson fifth with 601; Colgrove sixth with 598 and Donnell seventh with 593.

The remainder of the tournament will be rolled this coming weekend. The teams will again bowl on Saturday night and the doubles and singles competitors will roll Sunday afternoon and evening.

Lajoie Failed to Close Gate Five Times on Bad Day

By LARRY LAJOIE
Hall-of-Fame Second Baseman

I was playing with the Athletics in 1916, when I nonchalantly produced my biggest baseball boner.

I should say biggest boner, because it happened no less than five times in one game.

We were playing in Boston when the fireworks broke loose. The Red Sox jammed the bags. The Red Sox slammed directly at a ball was slammed directly at me, ordinarily an easy play. The apple went right through my legs.

Two runners scored. Boner No. 1.

In the bottom half of the third inning, the Sox had a man on third with two out. Another easy one-bouncer was lined my way. Again it skidded through my legs.

Now the home club had three runs, all due to me. Boner No. 2.

But I was just getting warmed up.

I managed to chalk up two more boners in the seventh inning—the same way. Two more easy grounders passed under my bridge, letting still another runner in. Now they led 4-0.

I glanced over to our dugout. Connie Mack was fuming, cursing me under his breath. We were having a bad season that year — last place, to be correct — and this sudden case of butterfingers didn't ease his feelings any.

But I wasn't through for the day. I still had one more to go. With a runner in scoring position in the last of the eighth, a slow roller was hit my way. As I was about to pick up the ball, it hit a small pebble, skidded through my long stems and out into the outfield.

Ironically we lost the game, 5-0. And all because of my five boners. That was the "worst day I ever had in the field."

I trudged into the dressing room after the game, berating myself something awful. Manager Mack just let me sit for a few moments, not saying anything. "Then he came over to me, grinning.

"Stick with it long enough and you'll get one," he said.

I had only been in organized baseball only 21 years, all but one of them in the major leagues.

Yanks' Brown Late, Bums-Reds Talk Swap, Tribe Working on Pickoffs at Spring Camp

(By The Associated Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Jack Harshman, seeking to fill the departed John Mize's shoes as a slugging first baseman for the New York Giants, is off to a fine start in the grapefruit campaign.

All young Harshman has done in the first three exhibition games is hit 750, getting six hits in eight at-bats to lead the team.

The promising rookie yesterday blasted a home run to help the Giants whip Cleveland, 3-2, at Tucson.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The New York Yankees will have to get along without their holdout third baseman, Bobby Brown, until at least April 1.

The club has been informed by Brown that his medical studies at Tulane will keep him in New Orleans the remainder of this month.

Bobby, with permission of the Yankees, is getting fit with the New Orleans Pelicans.

VERO BEACH, Fla. — Speculation has been revived concerning a possible player deal between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds.

President Warren Giles of the Reds visited Branch Rickey yesterday. Once more gossip was that Giles would like to get Brooklyn catcher Bruce Edwards, while Rickey could use a pitcher in exchange.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — Bob Kuzava, Chicago White Sox pitcher, may be sidelined for several days after spiked.

Kuzava was spiked on the right ankle in the second inning of the Sox exhibition yesterday which the St. Louis Browns won 2-0.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Ellis Deal, John Yubas and Tom Poholsky were slated to pitch for the St. Louis Cardinals today in their exhibition game against the Boston Braves.

Boston listed its pitchers as Ralph Albers, Vern Bickford and John Antonelli.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — The Pittsburgh Pirates are back after a training base here today after a game with the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast League — and that's all right with the Angels' Elbie Fletcher.

Fletcher, former major leaguer, thinks the Pirates' Bill Werle has a pitching jinx on him. The last time Fletcher faced Werle at Boston, he fanned three times.

Yesterday, Fletcher fanned once and walked once while Werle was on the mound for the Pirates.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — The Philadelphia Athletics aim for a 10-man mound staff was placed today on the shoulders of rookie Robert Nelson Hooper.

The 27-year-old righthander from Verona, N. J., donned a Mack uniform last Saturday and has not yet had opportunity to show the stuff which made him the International League's best won-loss percentage pitcher had year.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Philadelphia Phillies said today he would like to have "nine problems" like Russ Meyer.

Meyer came to the Phils in the fading days of the 1948 season from the Chicago Cubs as a "problem pitcher." Last year he led the Phils pitchers with a 17-8 record.

TUCSON, Ariz. — Pitchers for the Cleveland Indians will be doing more drilling on pick-off plays, if the last three exhibition games are any indication.

Pickoffs were stressed for several days in the first week of training, but Gene Bearden tossed two wild throws Saturday and Bob Lemon uncorked one yesterday.

Lemon, however, still looked impressive in the four frames he pitched against the New York Yankees.

The National Leaguers won the contest, 3-2.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The Detroit Tigers' strengthened lineup gets a stiff test today as the Bengals invade New York Yankee land for an exhibition game.

Detroit Manager Red Rolfe, whose team has been rated a real American League pennant threat, said he would send his best against the 1949 champions. He named Hal Newhouser and Freddie Hutchinson, two regular Tiger starters, to share mound duties with newcomer Ray Herbert.

SARASOTA, Fla. — Third baseman Johnny Pesky who didn't play for the Boston Red Sox yesterday in an exhibition against the world champion Yankees may have his ailing side X-rayed today. Johnny was held out of action because of a reported muscle pull. The Sox are not scheduled today.

BRADENTON, Fla. — Boston's Braves will play their first "home" exhibition of the spring training season today against the St. Louis Cardinals who beat them 8-5 yesterday. Vern Bickford, Tribal righthander, will make his first appearance in citrus circuit competition. He is listed as Boston's second pitcher, after Ralph Albers, and before Johnnie Antonelli.

ORLANDO, Fla. — The Washington Nationals felt better today after shaking off their two-game losing streak and taking over the Phillies, 7-5, yesterday in their finest session so far of this Grapefruit League.

The record for most innings pitched in a World Series game, 14, was set by Babe Ruth in 1916.

Pro-Amateur In Second Round Today

PALM BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — Touring golf professionals team up with amateurs today for the second round of the 54-hole $10,000 Seminole Golf Club's Amateur-Pro Tournament.

Henry Ranson of St. Andrews, Ill., led the 42 pros in opening rounds, yesterday, with a 33-36 — race ever was finished that flyin' Charley at last had attained the heights expected of him and which he had expected to hit long before. He ran easily and seemed to be getting great enjoyment out of it. There was no strain on his face, no halt in his stride. There was none of that "changing gears" which had marred many of his races of the past.

"Well, Charley," I said as he finished, "this was it."

Parker grinned. "I never felt so good before," he replied. "That was the easiest I ever ran."

There was a great light of triumph in his eyes. Charley had made the grade. He had made the grade.

And then they announced the time — 9.4 seconds. One timer actually got him in 9.3. I felt as good as Parker did about it. He always has been one of my favorite athletes.

Next came that great 220 — three-tenths of a second under Jesse Owens' world record. Parker was just an orange streak down the stretch. Nobody could come close to touching him.

I didn't talk to him this time — I was busy getting out a story on the man who came back on the same track where he suffered his greatest disappointment. It was fitting that Parker do this in the Border Olympics where he made his last bid for glory and got it.

Among the changes contemplated for the Olympics next year is putting in a second straight-of-way and erection of a new and bigger press box.

It's the only thing the Border Olympics needs to make it a big-time meet in every way.

Texans Go Pro

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Four Texans have signed contracts with the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League.

The signers include veteran end Val Jansante, end Charles Williams formerly of Sam Houston State; Harold Attaway, ex-Baylor center, and tackle Jack Schulze of Trinity.

Dimmitt Faces Iowa Girls Champions

WACO — (AP) — The Girls Basketball League champion of Texas — Dimmitt — and the Iowa Girls champion clash here Saturday night.

The game will mark the third meeting of the two state champions. Mesquite in 1948 lost a two game series to the Iowa titlist and last year Seagoville won one and lost one to Waterloo, Ia.

Michigan State Sends Five to Majors

EAST LANSING, Mich. — (NEA) — Five members of the 1949 Michigan State varsity will play professionally this summer.

Outfielder Ed Sobczak signed with the Boston Red Sox; outfielder George Butenbar, inked a White Sox contract; Pitchers Buzz Powers and George Johengen signed with the Phillies and Yankees, respectively. Shortstop Frank Bagdon will play his baseball in the Detroit chain.

A rookie — Don Doll of Detroit — led the National Football League in 1949 with an average of 27.4 yards on 11 pass interceptions.

ALWAYS IN STYLE—It's a new season but Ted Williams' same old batting style is still the spring rage. Boston's four-time American League batting champion follows through in familiar fashion in Sarasota, Fla., training base of Red Sox.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hesse—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What two players were the only two National Leaguers to make more than 200 hits in 1949?

AN OLD FAMILIAR figure will be back on the pitching mounds in the West Texas-New Mexico League this summer. He is Chris Haskins, strong-armed righthander who pitched for Lubbock in 1948 and '49. He quit the club in the latter part of both seasons to join the Texas Highway Patrol. But when spring rolls around he gets the fever and digs out his glove and shoes.

Haskins came to terms with the new owner of the Hubbers, M. L. Wilkinson, shortly after the rest of the squad had left for Donna to open spring practice. Last season he won 11 and lost 8 before leaving the club on Aug. 2. He claimed that the front office refused to put him on the disabled list for 10 days when he had a sore shoulder and arm.

Another boy due back to the Hubbers this season is Cotton Russell, who was set down for the last part of the '49 season by field manager Jackie Sullivan for a multitude of reasons.

Borger has been trying to get Verdun Gilchrist to ink the line again for next season. He was made a free agent at the end of last season by his brother Larry, then business manager of the team. Mickey Burnett, a new manager of the Borger team, has offered Verdun any infield position that he wants to play.

But Burnett prefers not to have any player on the squad who can only play home games as it would affect the smoothness of the team. Therefore, Verdun, if he does sign with the Gassers, and he probably will, won't sign until after school closes as he is teaching in the Borger School system and unable to join the club permanently until school adjourns.

Burner also has it that Verdun is bound for Roswell, where his brother Larry is business manager.

And speaking of Borger, the Gassers will open their spring trouting camp for youngsters Wednesday morning and conclude the camp with a game on Sunday. There is still time for local boys to enter the trouting camp. The quickest way now would be to contact Eddie Carrell, business manager of the Gassers, for complete last-minute information.

Hank Iba, master of the Oklahoma A&M basketball fortunes, doesn't like to kind of season he just went through. It wasn't the victoriously happy kind that the coach is used to and, because of that fact, the A&M quintet will have an intensive spring basketball practice for the first time in several years. Sessions will begin in about two weeks.

Where're they going? Thomas "Red-Hot" Hooper, Borger junior basketball star, is laying plans for attending TCU when he graduates from Borger High. Teammate Gassers, Mickey Burnett, a new manager of the Borger team, has offered Verdun any infield position that he wants to play.

Joe Louis, who fights an exhibition in Amarillo Friday night, winds up his current exhibition tour in Odessa on March 20. After that he has said that he will make up his mind about returning for another heavyweight title shot.

Reports from the cities that he has visited on his tour are all that the champ looks good. Pampa-area fans will get a chance to look at one of the top heavyweights of all-time at the Municipal Auditorium in Amarillo Friday night. He meets Sterling Ingram, Colorado state heavy champ, in a four-rounder. In addition there will be four other bouts, a four-rounder, two six-rounders and a ten-round windup.

The Santa Fe Ski Basin, at Santa Fe, N. M., the Southwest's newest and finest winter sports area, will feature the first winter sports carnival March 26 and 27. A "Salute to Texas" will be the motif of the extensive weekend activities planned for Texas and New Mexico skiers. With snow conditions unexcelled in the mountains above Santa Fe, skiers are assured superb skiing conditions. The skiing events are slanted especially for Texas participation, with the first Texas Ski Championships to be held on March 26. In addition, snow bunny races, novelty races and skiing exhibitions will precede the championship competition.

Already many Pampa snow enthusiasts have become regular weekend citizens of Santa Fe. They will surely want to catch this big winter carnival.

ANSWER: Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers and Stan Musial of the Cardinals were the only two National Leaguers to club out over 200 hits last season.

One-Second Pitching Stop Rule Gives Runner Chance, Stresses His Importance

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
COCOA, Fla. — (NEA) — The most important change in the baseball rules forces the pitcher to come to a complete stop at least one second, holding the ball in both hands in front of his body.

A second isn't very long, you say. It's just the length of time it takes a person to say one one-thousand.

But a good base-runner can take a considerably longer lead in that time with less fear of being picked off. There was vastly more danger of the latter when the "stop" practically was part of the motion.

"We are going to enforce the new stop rule," says Bill McGowan, dean of major league umpires, closing out the second half of his school for umpires at Cocoa. "It gives the base-runner a chance."

"It's a step in the right direction," cuts in Max Carey, long the National League base-stealing champion with the Pirates. "Maybe we'll see some old-fashioned baseball again. I'd like to see seven guys who could run on one club, just to see what would happen to the pitchers."

"Show me a running club and I'll show you a winning one, even with the lively ball."

"Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers shows you the importance of base-running every time he gets on base. Infielders have to cover when a club is stealing bases and hitting and running. Thus holes are made in the infield, through which balls can be poked. Ty Cobb shows you more balls aren't hit through the wide hole left when the shortstop or second baseman is covering the bag."

"Pitchers don't get as much stuff on the ball when a team is running. An accomplished base runner — one taking the extra base at the slightest opportunity — rattles the other side. Cobb destroyed defenses with his base-running."

"Well illustrating what running will do for a club was the Pittsburgh club of 1925 that beat Walter Johnson and Washington in the World Series. In July we had a club batting average of .325, which is still the major league record."

"I averaged 30 stolen bases for 14 years, had 83 one season. The winning Pirates of '25 and '27 had seven base-runners in the batting order. Pie Traynor, Eddie Moore, Kiki Cuyler, George Grantham and Carson Bigbee took off. Glenn Wright had average speed with his tremendous bat and shortstopping. Clyde Barnhart could hit and was fairly fast."

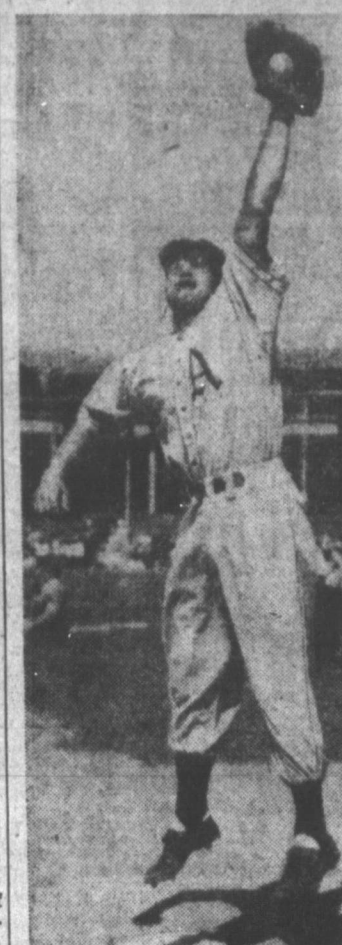

"A bloke hitting 40 home runs is a big help, no question about that, but what happens to him the other 800 times he goes to bat?"

"Give me the running club every time."

"Ballplayers like that usually

JAYHAWKER SHERIFF
LAWRENCE, Kans. — Slender six-foot junior guard Jerry Waugh is called The Sheriff because of his close guarding of high-scoring Kansas basketball opponents.

With the average horse doing away with 30 pounds of hay a day, thoroughbred owners spent $7,686,900 for the hay consumed by the 21,616 horses in training during 1949.

Old Faces Gone From Red Camp

TAMPA, Fla. — (AP) — This is a different Cincinnati training camp. The old guard is gone. No Bucky Walters. No Johnny VanderMeer. The last remnants of the 1940 champions have vanished.

Luke Sewell is the manager in this Cincinnati new deal. It's the same Luke who won a measure of fame by leading the St. Louis Browns out of the wilderness to their first and only pennant in 1944.

For the second straight spring, Sewell Blackwell is the big question mark. Virtually useless last summer after a serious kidney operation, "Blacky" piled on some 30 pounds during the winter. The gangling righthander with the baffling sidemarm motion now weighs more than 200. Last spring he was a "ghost" at 165.

"We're going to have a better bench this year. We'll have more reserves to throw in when we need them. Then follows like Grady Hatton, Red Stalupp, Ted Kluszewski and Lloyd Merriman have another year under their belts," Luke said.

Sewell counts only two Reds sure of their jobs — Hatton at third and Stalupp at short. He has a four-way fight at second. First is a battle between Kluszewski and injured Joe Adcock, up from Tulsa.

"Picking my outfield is the big problem," said Sewell. "We have nine in camp. Merriman is going to be tough to beat and Johnny Wyrostek hit three homers against Detroit Sunday."

Merriman, a bonus player, must remain with the club. Among the other candidates, Sewell has such proved major leaguers as Ron Northey, Danny Litwhiler, Marv Rackley, Peanuts Lowery and Wyrostek. Also a rookie named Russ Burns, from Tulsa.

Jersey Joe Wins By KO in First

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott, who wants a fourth crack at the heavyweight boxing title, added weight to his argument last night at the expense of Baltimore's Johnny Sisker. The Camden, N.J., veteran belted Sisker with an overhead right after 1:34 of the first round of their scheduled 10-rounder at the Arena.

Sisker toppled backwards like a felled redwood tree. He was unable to continue.

Olympics Help House Finns

HELSINKI — (AP) — The Olympic Games of 1952 will help to ease Finland's acute postwar housing shortage.

One month after the games are over, the Olympic Village at Helsinki will be taken over by Finnish families.

Financed by loans from the Finnish Republic and Helsinki, a private company will build 600 apartments in the village. By buying a small shareholding in the company now, Finns already have insured tenancy later.

A similar Olympic Village built for the 1940 Games, never held because of war, has been occupied by 900 Finnish families since 1939. The new village is located close to the old. Both are within 25 minutes' walk of the main stadium.

There will be room for 70,000 spectators at the Great Stadium, where track and field events and important football matches will be played.

The swimming pool, located close to the Great Stadium, includes accommodations for 8,000 spectators. Machinery for purifying and heating the water is expected soon from England. Similar type machinery, ordered from England for the 1940 Games, was lost when the ship carrying it was sunk by a German submarine.

The Games will run from July 19 through August 3, 1952. Organizers are planning arrangements to cope with the 40,000 foreign visitors and 200,000 Finns likely to converge on the capital for the greatest sports festival in the history of this sports-conscious nation, whose total population of about 4,000,000 is less than half that of London where the last Games were held.

Half of all tickets for the sports events will be sold abroad, beginning in the fall of 1951. The other half will be snapped up by Finns when they go on sale.

Longest inter-league series scheduled for baseball spring training is between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Giants, who will meet 18 times.

club president for the well you-time. He's run so many farm clubs that he's an expert on irrigation.

A Dodger scout reported on a hot prospect to water-conscious Rickey.

"He's not as good as we thought, Branch," said the scout. "Can he hit?"

"Boy, he can hit like Ted Williams!"

"Can he field?"

"The kid's another Pee Wee Reese in the field!"

"Well, then, what's the matter with him?"

"He likes to take three showers a day."

Pat Harder of the Chicago Cardinals and Gene Roberts of the New York Giants tied for the National Football League 1949 scoring title with 102 points apiece.

Most extra points kicked by any National Football League in 1949 were 45 by Pat Harder of the Chicago Cardinals.

Lewis Is Harming His Coal Miners

The kind of thinking that figured in the recent John L. Lewis scrap with the coal miners' operation is typical of the labor-management squabbling that is sending the industrial system of our country to the junkyard.

Lewis' subjects came out of the latest rumpus with a theoretical $15 per day. Part of this is holdback for retirement pension. The rest of it is holdback for income taxes.

But here's a point in this constant mess of Lewis' cooking: He is willing to let the coal miners work a five-day week, although he's made it clear that he really wants a six-day week.

Back of this purpose is Lewis' complaint that gas and other fuels are interfering with the work prospects of coal miners, reducing the number of mining jobs open to them. And, incidentally, threatening the "take" of the miners' union from the miners, although Lewis says nothing about this other angle.

Harmful to coal miners is the uncertainty of coal production. With Lewis calling one strike after another, industrial and home users of fuel feel they cannot count on having fuel when they need it. And they certainly can't.

Thus Lewis himself is the worst threat to the future of the coal miners.

Every time he chucks up what he calls a "victory" he makes the position of the coal miners worse. He is causing the cost of coal to go higher and higher by increasing production costs.

He tells his subjects that he is making them better off by getting more inflated dollars for them. This is what unionists are doing up and down the land. Yet every time more dollars are added to the pay envelope in this way the costs of the things the pay dollars will buy go up, and the more dollars the government withholds. That's the sort of thing that is helping to ruin our national economy.

In the case of the coal miners, Lewis is causing the coal industry to be forced out of existence by production costs. What good then will the miners get out of their pension provisions? No coal mining jobs, no coal miners' pensions.

The solution of the problem in regard to coal mining lies in more, not less, production. It calls for lower, not higher, coal prices.

Instead of helping the miners to compete in their field of work, John L. Lewis is making it impossible for them to compete.

Experience has taught us that paying money for things by way of Washington is not the way to save money. A dollar seldom travels to Washington and comes back whole.—Farm Bureau President Allan B. Kline.

Fair Enough - Pegler

(Copyright, 1950) Dispatches from New Haven, Conn., recently reported that Paul Draper and Larry Adler, the dainty elf who fits like a wisp and the merry piper with melodious reeds have withdrawn their attachments to the Communist Party and the small bank account of Mr. and Mrs. John T. McCullough. He is a non-Communist editorial employee of the Time-Life of Fu-Pu axis. It is appropriate to specify that a non-Communist employe of China-Pan-Luce is a non-Communist.

Draper and Adler sued Mrs. McCullough, alleging that she did them dirt by opposing the payment of any of her money to them by a neighborhood cultural outfit in Greenwich which was planning to hire them for a show one night last year. They alleged that her opinion of their politics was incorrect and such as to depress their drawing powers and earnings. The attachment of the house and small bank account of the McCulloughs was sudden, stunning legal coup which was possible under a widely unsuspected iniquity of Connecticut law. It tied up all the assets of an attractive and patriotic young suburban couple.

The harshness of this punishment inflicted on parties who were and still are legally blameless, was such that public reaction was quick and strong. Checks began to come in for Mrs. McCullough to pay the cost of defending their joint property and joint future earnings of defending their joint future. And political cohorts of Draper and Adler began to whine that they were victims of a cruel popular boycott which deterred managers of cafes, theatres and concert seasons from presenting their precious manifestations.

As long as it seemed that the patriotic McCulloughs would be the only ones to suffer financial damage, even before judgment, the political clique behind the plaintiffs was indifferent to underserved distress. But the plaintiffs had misjudged public psychology even in Connecticut where there are many new, invidious political clubs, theatres and concert halls aristocratic town of moldering white mansions on a wide main street, has quietly become infested with wealthy, self-colonialist Danbury, nearby, always pronounced Irish, a hotbed of Democratic, is uncomfortably conscious of strange faces and names. Most of them have come in the guise of "liberals" partial to that insidious, non-partisan advance symptom of the British vestment of Marx, called Americans for Democratic Action. Chester Bowles, the carpathian governor, is a big shot in Americans for Democratic Action.

Draper and Adler would seem to have anticipated this by filing their suit accusing Mrs. McCullough of certain remarks they invited the lady to put on record sworn statements and citations from the records of congressional committees. That is the cup that has precipitated the support of her original cracks, seem to have been the cause of the cruel, unjust and costly boycott complained of by, for example, Marshall Field.

Collections for Mrs. McCullough's defense have poured in nicely. Except in the highly improbable event that she should lose a judgment in an improbable trial, she should be able to raise enough to take care of all expenses with one more rattle of the cup. The patriotic response has been reassuring except, strangely, that the high-suburban four-flushers of hither Connecticut have been too busy patting their palms and cheering Hester McCullough's courage to dig down for a rumbled buck or

An Open Letter to Rev. Samuel McCrea Covert, General Secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. I note that at a recent meeting held in Detroit under the sponsorship of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America to study social and economic problems a resolution was passed advocating "extensive use of taxation to reduce existent inequalities of income."

I am afraid that the church leaders do not understand what great harm that policy would bring upon the American people. I am so sure that it would bring untold harm that I am willing to give you, Rev. Samuel McCrea Covert, $1,000 if you will attempt to answer questions as to how this can be permanently beneficial to the very people it is intended to help. The only requirement for the interview is that I am to be permitted to interrupt to ask another question any time I do not understand the answer to my question. I think the answer is evasive. I will make a complete stenographic report and make it available to anyone who wants to publish it in whole or in part. I will go any place in the United States where there is a public stenographer available. The interview is not to last over two hours. I will pay all expenses. I will attempt, if so desired to answer questions on the same terms for nothing.

"Good People" Are Our Greatest Danger. Most of our trouble comes from people who regard themselves, and who others regard, as good people—from people who are regarded as Christian people, and as good Americans. The reason they do so much harm is that people thoughtlessly accept their suggestions. These people have not themselves thought through the end results of what they are advocating.

When they advocate taxation to level off incomes they do not seem to realize that all government is force. They do not seem to understand that the Washington meant when he said: "Government is not reason, it is not eloquence; it is force. Like fire it is a dangerous servant and a fearful master."

Internal Revenue has not asked a court decision on this question. The trial is being heard before its own Law Department. But any will be reviewable by the courts, if the educational institutions which it receives a handsome revenue on the theory that profits are tax-exempt because they go to the educational institution.

SPAGHETTI — The case now involved in the legal machinery concerns New York University, which is the chief operator in the buying industries from which it receives a handsome revenue on the theory that profits are tax-exempt because they go to the educational institution.

CONDEMNED — Internal Revenue has strong support and sympathy from many churchmen and educators in this move to block this tax-escape scheme. Catholic and Protestant individuals and organizations, as well as various educational groups, have condemned it as a violation of the ideals they are supposed to teach.

TEST — There are at the moment 22,000 tax-exempt institutions in the United States, according to Internal Revenue's files. Some are legitimate, but many stand in a legal shadow. Congress may enact an amendment clearing up this situation, but then again it may not. There are votes to be lost in antagonizing church and school groups.

Washington. . . . by Peter Edson. WASHINGTON — (NEA) — While majorities in both houses of Congress seem eager to take off federal rent controls, the states and local communities in the past year have been more and more reluctant to remove ceilings. New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's recent move to make rent control a state matter, instead of leaving it to local communities, is typical.

PROJECTS BOOSTED. Similarly, there seems to be great local popularity for slum clearance and low-rent housing projects, though they have been bitterly opposed in the last session of Congress. To date 533 cities have applied for approval of projects to contain a total of 405,000 family units. This is about half of the 810,000 units authorized for approval in first two years. Governing bodies of 389 cities have approved projects, and only 107 have been turned down. There have been two local referendums on approval of low-rent projects. St. Petersburg, Fla., defeated the project 3300 to 3000, Waco, Texas, approved, 3400 to 2000.

CRIME WAVE. Attorney General J. Howard McGrath's conference on law enforcement will make a second stab at getting something done about the U. S. crime wave at a meeting of newly-appointed legislative committees in Washington, March 15 and 17. Mayor Quigg Newton DeWitt has been made chairman of an executive continuing committee. Four subcommittees have been named to do the work. Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh heads a committee on federal legislation. A committee on Alan H. Bible of Nevada heads a committee on State Laws. Corporation counsel John P. McGrath of New York City heads a committee on municipal legislation. Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles heads a committee on cooperation. In addition, Treasury and Federal Communications Commission lawyers are drafting legislation to check gambling income and race wire news. Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, head of the general legislative committee, hopes to have a report ready by April 15, and present it to Congress for action this session.

THE TIP-OFF. Any doubts about New York Rep. Vito Marcantonio's left-wing leanings should now be completely removed. For the sole American Labor Party representative in the U. S. Congress recently introduced a bill to repeal the so-called "Smith Act." This is the law under which the 11 U. S. Communist Party leaders were convicted in New York last year.

"When a novel sweeps the country and it's read by everyone, it's amazing how so many chores at home are left undone. It's a book the little woman says she's simply got to read, and a man can only hope she'll do her reading job with speed. For it's sure a fact she doesn't want to take the time to cook, once she opens up the pages of that new absorbing book.

Then there's never rhyme nor reason to the way she runs the house, which is very soon apparent to her ever-loving spouse. When he leaves the breakfast table, she's engrossed in Chapter Two, and she scarcely looks his way when he is hiding her adieu. And at night she fixes dinner with her novel close at hand, reading Chapter Eight while dishing up a menu that was canned.

Day by day her reading marathon goes on and on and on, and at times she calls her husband George instead of plain old John. But it's George who is the hero in her lengthy novel's plot, and she sure is absent-minded while poor George is on the spot. Come at last the happy ending and again she learns to cook, and her husband will be happy till she reads another book.

enough to make it unwise to keep them as pets? H.P.V. A-Cats can carry a few diseases which can be acquired by human beings. Rabies or hydrophobia is one of them, but cats do not get this disease often. Providing ordinary precautions are used such as washing the hands after petting a cat and before eating, I see no reason why anyone who wants to keep cats as pets should not do so without worrying much about disease.

Q-Can you give me any advice about hair that is falling out? I had an operation several months ago and every time I comb my hair I get a big handful of loose ones. G.B. A-It is very common for an illness or an operation to be followed by the loss of considerable amounts of hair. Apparently something happens to the hair follicles which makes much of the hair loosen and fall out. Usually if the illness has been an acute one and recovery is complete, the hair grows in again normally. The same thing occurs after operations. However, a generally weakened condition, from whatever cause, is likely to affect the hair permanently and it may become straggly or fall out in patches. Loss of hair sometimes runs in families and there seems to be a strong hereditary influence. Local conditions of the scalp, such as dandruff, also may lead to excessive falling out of the hair.

Q-Some time ago I had a paralysis on the right side of my face. What could be the cause? R.L. A-This sounds like a condition known as Bell's palsy. It frequently follows a chill but the exact cause is not known. Loss of hair clear up after a time although in older people it may give trouble for many months.

Q-Please write on Stetson, how to retard their growth and how to long to wait before surgery. G.D. A-Fistulas are passageways running abnormally from one place in the body to another. A common location is near the rectum. There is probably no way to retard their growth. The only satisfactory treatment is to cut them out completely by an operation. Why wait?

Q-I wish to build my resistance against chest colds and infections of the respiratory tract. For the last two winters I have done very well. I have had X-ray of the chest and there is no tuberculosis. I avoid overeating and rich foods. What more can you advise? A.W. A-It sounds as though you had already done very well. Keeping in good condition probably helps to ward off some colds. Avoiding overcrowded places when there are many colds around is perhaps the most important preventive measure of all.

Q-My mother has a bad heart and an enlarged liver. What can be done for this large liver? D.L. A-The chances are that the enlarged liver comes from the heart. The treatment has to be directed at trying to improve the heart condition as nothing can be done for the liver itself.

Q-Do hard breasts constitute part of going through the menopause? H. A-No.

Q-Do cats carry disease to human beings? If so, is the hazard

SHIRLEY TRAINS FOR SECOND CHANCE—Shirley May France, the 17-year-old Massachusetts schoolgirl who failed in a gallant attempt to swim the English Channel last summer, is training hard for another try next summer. Her training is seen working out in Detroit, where she appeared in a sports show. At left she climbs from a pool after a swim, and at right she does bending exercises which help keep her in shape.

Peasant Ponders Plight of World's Powerless Kings

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — Come, fellow peasants, let us sit upon the ground and tell sad tales of the plight of kings.
The common man used to believe he bore most of the world's woes, but it turns out kings have their troubles, too.
Unemployment is the plague of monarchs. In olden times kings were bounced off their thrones because (1) they went mad, (2) they cut off too many heads, (3) a stronger relative wanted the job, (4) they lost a war, or (5) folks just got tired of paying them too much in taxes.
Now, however, kings seem to lose their ermine and scepter over love — love, that wonderful four-letter word.
King Carol, for instance, said, "to heck with Romania — I'll take Madame Lupescu." Before he had even sat on the throne of England long enough to get it warm, Edward VIII gave it up for Mrs. Simpson, "the woman I love." And widower King Leopold felt he couldn't help it if Belgium was overrun by invaders, and went right ahead and married a commoner.
The latest jobless monarch is young Chief Seretse Khama of Bechuanaland.
The Oxford-educated chief, an involuntary exile in London, is pining for his absent bride, pretty Ruth Williams, a former typist, who is holding the fort for him back home in darkest Africa.
Seretse rules 100,000 Bamangwatos, the largest tribe in Bechuanaland, a 275,000-square mile chunk of "The Unknown Continent."
His tribal council has forgiven the young chief for marrying a white foreigner with no blue blood in her veins. They want him back.
But Britain's labor government says, "No, Seretse, you stay in England and be a nice ex-chief. There are dark whispers as to why. These are hints that South Africa wants to take over Bechuanaland, and that a chief with an Oxford accent might stand in the way.
The best offer the Labor government has made to Seretse is a guarantee of about $3,750 a year.
It looks like Seretse could do better on Broadway and in Hollywood. I'll bet Rodgers and Hammerstein could assure him of at least $100,000 for a comic opera based on his life story — young love versus the empire. And there are also movie, television and radio rights, a lecture tour, and the Book-of-the-Month Club to consider.
Not ten all up and Seretse would be sure to be solvent before the British government is. He could then probably even buy back Bechuanaland — his own country — with a down payment in dollars, and the rest contingent on how well the London foreign office behaved itself.

Food Chain Accused of False Claims

CINCINNATI — (AP) — J. Howard McGrath, U.S. attorney general, accused the A. & P. chain store organization yesterday of misrepresentation in advertisements in 2,000 newspapers.
The advertisements were about a civil suit brought against it by the Department of Justice.
In an address before the annual convention of the United States Wholesale Grocers Association, McGrath said:
"Shortly after the civil case was filed against A. & P., a full-page advertisement appeared in 2,000 newspapers throughout the country. This advertisement, and those that have followed, announced, in effect, that the Department of Justice had placed an entirely new and different interpretation upon the Sherman Act."
These advertisements alighted the fact that in 1942 the department instituted the criminal case which I have mentioned (in which the A. & P. was found guilty of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act) and which involved the same conduct and legal theories that are now again presented in the civil suit.
"The subject matter and legal theories of the pending civil suit against A. & P. have been studied and approved by two federal courts. The civil suit simply asks the court to take the necessary steps to prevent the continuance of those activities already found to violate the anti-trust laws."

Jurist Charges Supremacists in Cross Burning

NEW YORK — (AP) — Federal Judge J. Waties Waring says the burning of a cross outside his Charleston, S.C., home was not the work of pranksters but an example of the "savagery of southern white supremacists."
Waring and his wife have been under attack in some sections of the South because of their outspoken racial views.
The Waring are in New York, where the judge presently is presiding in this district's term of court.
A small cross, crudely constructed with KKK scratched on the base, was burned Saturday night in front of the Waring home.
Charleston police termed the cross burning the work of pranksters.
Waring said, "this is no work of pranksters. There still are plenty of Klansmen in Charleston. My latest information is that the Klan has an organization of 400 or 500 there."
The cross burning, he said, was an "exhibition typical of the savagery of southern white supremacists."

Boy in a Hurry Finds Quick Way

LONGVIEW, Wash. — (AP) — Police picked up their youngest suspect yesterday. He was a seven-year-old boy who had driven two blocks in a car he found parked on his way to school.
"I was late and had to hurry," he explained.
The police lectured him and then hustled him off — to school.

BOYS' CLUB WEEK

AUSTIN — (AP) — Gov. Allan Shivers today designated March 20-28 as Boys' Club Week in Texas.

Early American Colonists in New England not only forbade the celebration of Christmas as a holiday, but the singing of carols.

About 120 million bee visits to flowers are needed to pollinate 10 acres of clover.

Conservation of Texas Resources Urged by Putman

DALLAS — (AP) — The president of the National Association of Manufacturers urged Texans yesterday to conserve their natural resources.
Addressing Dallas business, civic and educational leaders, Claude A. Putnam of Keene, N. H., said:
"If the characteristically high standard of living in this country is to be maintained, it is clear that the conservation of soil and other renewable resources is a matter of immediate concern. It is not a problem which can be dealt with at some indefinite time in the future."
The NAM chief criticized industries which he said are not aware of the need for conservation.
"They are failing to take the long view — the few that their ultimate prosperity depends upon the survival of productive soil, abundant water and plentiful timber lands."
Guam, the British naval base in the Pacific, was weaker in 1941 than in 1920 because the United States observed the terms laid down in the Washington Naval Conference.

Weed Control Merit Slated

AMARILLO — The third annual Weed Control Conference, sponsored by the Texas Weed Control Association, has been scheduled for April 20 at the Municipal Auditorium in Amarillo. Art Bralley, Potter County agent and association chairman, announced.
The one-day meeting will consist of an educational program and exhibits by various firms of equipment and supplies for the eradication and control of noxious weeds, Bralley pointed out.
Knox Parr, district agent and chairman of the program committee, is completing arrangements for the program on April 20.
"We will have a worthwhile and informative meeting which should be of interest to a large number of land owners and farmers in the entire area," he declared.
Scheduled to appear on the program are C. E. Fisher of the Spur Experiment Station; Dave Savage, Woodward, Oklahoma Experiment Station; Dale Carter, Field Supervisor PMA, and Roger Hamilton, Amarillo Experiment Station. There will be a round table discussion by eight county agents on brush and weed control as carried out in the various counties. Parr added that the complete program will be announced within about two weeks.

Hemphill Exceeds Red Cross Quota

CANADIAN (Special) — Malouf Abraham and Mrs. G. L. Mitchell, co-chairmen of Hemphill County's Annual Red Cross Membership Drive, have reported that a total of $1,347 has been contributed to the drive.
The county was assigned a quota of $967. Several of the 15 rural community leaders have yet to make final reports.

No Decrease Reported in Thefts of Cattle

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — There has been no decrease in recent years in cattle thefts in Texas and Oklahoma.
This was reported here by Judge Joe G. Montague of Fort Worth, chief counsel to the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.
Montague said he prosecuted 45 cases during 1949. They resulted in 31 penitentiary terms, nine probated sentences, two suspended sentences, one hung jury and two acquittals.

'HAMS' HAMMING—L. E. "Noisy" Jordan, left, and Herman Whatley, local amateur radio operators, carry on a conversation on their respective sets. Both Whatley and Jordan are licensed by the Federal Communications Commission and, along with other "hams" in America, are pledged to serve their community, state and country in times of emergency. Whatley is a local funeral director and Jordan a pumper for the Texas Co. (News Photo and Engraving)

Ham Radio Operators Combine Fun With Service to Community

By ROBIN TIBBETS
Pampa News Staff

"W51WQ calling CQ, CQ, CQ. CQ, W51WQ calling CQ, CQ, CQ. Pampa, Texas; P-a-m-p-a, Texas, calling CQ, Hello CQ."

"W51WQ, this is W51JQ, Herman, answering you call. I'm reading you fine, Noisy, and I'm going to turn it over to you and see what you have to say this morning."

pany, who lives about seven miles west of Pampa with his wife and family. "Noisy" is just an ordinary type of guy with an extraordinary kind of hobby. He acquired his nickname several years ago when he dropped a hammer on his foot. The resulting outburst was so loud and long that the name "Noisy" just naturally took hold and is still hanging on.

W51JQ is Herman Whatley, local funeral director. Whatley and Jordan are more than friends—they are members of a rather exclusive fraternity having some 100,000 members in the United States, the amateur radio operators.

No, that wasn't the invaders from Mars talking back and forth from the flying saucers, and it wasn't a secret code message from one Red spy to another. Those were two local "Hams"—amateur radio operators—making contact for a little chat over their radios.

Whenever an amateur operator, or "Ham" goes to a strange town, his first act is to look up his fellow operators. In most cases, they will have talked to each other at one time or another over their radios. Thus, when they meet, it's just like old home week, and they'll probably spend several minutes or hours comparing their respective sets.

All sets are different. Some are army surplus material. Others are expensive sets complete with all the latest improvements, gadgets, and apparatus. Still others are, as Jordan describes his, "just a bunch of junk thrown together."

emergency, if his equipment is needed.

Not only in war, but in peace as well, are the Hams valuable. Recently, during the terrific ice storm around Denton, Jordan, Whatley, and other Panhandle operators kept their sets on 24 hours a day to relay messages from the stricken area.

The amateur radio operators of Northwest Texas have organized an emergency net work to help out with communications in any disaster that might disrupt the regular systems of communications. Twenty-four towns are included in this network. The network is, in turn, able to contact other similar emergency networks covering the whole of Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas.

When an amateur operator, or "Ham" goes to a strange town, his first act is to look up his fellow operators. In most cases, they will have talked to each other at one time or another over their radios. Thus, when they meet, it's just like old home week, and they'll probably spend several minutes or hours comparing their respective sets.

Included in the operators from the Pampa area are O. E. Payne, Bill Hawkins, D. C. Paulsen, J. R. King, Jordan, and Whatley. Like everyone else, these radio men have a creed all their own. A quotation from the Amateur's Handbook says "The radio amateur best justifies his existence by the service he renders his community in times of disaster and distress when all other media of summoning assistance have failed."

back in 1928, when you had to learn to take 10 words a minute in Morse code. He had just about mastered his code when the depression hit and he had to let it drop.

Jobs were scarce around Electrica for several years, so Noisy came to the Panhandle. He worked up here on an isolated pumping job and got interested again, and within a short time had his license. For a while, he used battery power. "I'd talk on voice until my batteries got weak, then change to CW (code)." His license was granted by the Federal Communications Commission in 1940.

The pleasure he derives from the pursuit of his hobby during normal times establishes a debt that he can offset only by his steadfast determination to be prepared and willing to be of service when disaster strikes.

"In the event of a communications emergency, all amateurs are dedicated to serve in the public interest, within the limitations of their ability, to provide temporary communications for a stricken area until normal facilities are restored."

These "Hams" as amateur radio operators are often called, have a vocabulary of their own. Brevity is important, since many of the operators have so little time to talk and want to get in as much talking as possible before they go off the air.

Some of the more common terms used are:

XYL — wife; Harmonics — Children; Junior Operator — Boy; YL — Girls; QRT — Shutting down; TB — Best Regards; 88 — Love and Kisses; QSO — Verbal confirmation that contact has been made between two operators; QSL — Confirmation by mail of contact; QRR — Distress signal of the amateurs; CQ — Call of inquiry, signifying that the operator is ready to talk to anyone; CQDX — Operator wants to talk to a foreign station; DX — Distance; QSY — Change frequency; QRM — Interference on incoming signal from other stations; QTH — Home address.

Amateur radio operators are invaluable to the nation in times of emergency. During the war, they worked for the government as radio operators and relayed all kinds of messages for the armed services. Jordan explains that when an operator gets his license to operate, he automatically agrees to turn over any or all of his equipment to the government in case of a national

4-H Pioneer Succumbs in Oklahoma

HOLLIS, Okla. — (AP) — Funeral services were held here this morning for Thomas H. Marks, 84, one of the founders of the 4-H Club movement in the U. S. Marks had been ill for three weeks with pneumonia.

Marks was editor of the weekly Jackboro (Texas) News in 1906 when a Jack County corn show was held and only two entries appeared.

As a result he decided to interest farm boys in raising better crops and formed a "corn club." Next year he organized a "tomato club" for girls, and these two clubs became the forerunners of the present day 4-H clubs for farm youngsters.

Marks was named assistant to W. D. Bentley, one of the first farm agents in the U. S., to help fight boll weevils in Texas cotton. He left Jack County in 1917, going to Coryell County, Texas, as farm agent.

He was county agent in Ellis and Harmon Counties in Oklahoma from 1920 to 1935 when he was named farm-agent-at-large for Oklahoma. He retired in 1940 to operate a greenhouse and floral business here with his son, T. Harvey Marks.

Other survivors include a brother, F. A. Marks and a sister, Mrs. Ella Thomas, both of Perrin, Texas.

Alexander's Switch Gives Sooner GOPs Shot in Arm

DAYTON BLAIR
OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — Whatever the final result may be, the Rev. William H. (Bill) Alexander has given Oklahoma Republicans a shot in the arm. When the colorful Oklahoma City minister — a candidate for the United States Senate — switched from the Democratic to Republican party Saturday, he furnished a "name" for this year's election.

Until Saturday the Republicans were without a major candidate for either Senate or governor, they were fast becoming desperate.

According to Alexander, the Republican party did not know of his plans until shortly before he called a news conference. His announcement — unexpected and unorthodox — changed the entire picture of the July 4 primary election.

He said he was "relieved" Alexander had left the Democratic fold. Alexander's biggest need now is to get a strong Republican ticket for other offices, including governor. The prominence of his name will draw votes and a strong local ticket will naturally assist.

If he should win the Senate election in November, despite Oklahoma's usual Democratic majority, it will probably be directly attributable to two statements by Arrington at the Democratic central committee meeting here last month.

At that time Arrington said he favored "annihilation" of the Republican party. He also called upon all Democratic candidates to pledge they would consult with party leaders before appointing patronage.

Explorer Scout Camping Slated

Between 35 and 40 Explorer Scouts of the Adobe Walls Area Council are expected to participate in a new type camp called "Operation Jackass" March 25.

Paul Beisenherz, executive, said the camp will be held at Ki-O-Wah so several Scout projects can be completed. The Scouts will erect a fence by the main road, plant seedling trees around the dining hall, landscape and plant grass. A power post hole digger and tractor will be there to help speed the work.

The noon meal will be furnished by the council, and will be served in the recently-completed dining hall.

Post advisors who are interested in sending Scouts to the camp have been urged to call the Scout office.

Electrical heating cable, wrapped around outdoor water pipes, has simplified the winter care of livestock and poultry.

Lefors Honor Roll For Period Listed

LEFORS — (Special) — The honor roll for the fourth six weeks has been announced by Lawson Shaw, principal of high school.

The list includes LaFern Mc-Cathern, Mary Nell Guthrie, Rebecca Briening, Shirley Perkins, Betty Lu Pulliam, Wanda Roberts, Marlene Swafford.

Joy Browning, Geraldine Dunn, Duane Hankins, Russell Herring, Melba Joyce Hill, Don Howard, Dickie Maples, Elaine Poirch, Frankie Quarles, Betty Roberts, Charles Shockley, Shirley Teeters, and James Trusky.

Dallas Merchants Considering New Hot Check Plans

DALLAS — (AP) — Hot check artists may find that instead of getting their fingers burned, their fingers may burn them.

That is, if Dallas retail merchants approve a new plan. The merchants are considering a check to place their fingerprints on the paper. A special ink would be used which normally is invisible. But if the bank of chemicals the check, application of chemicals will bring out the print.

A city-wide meeting of retailers to pass on the plan is scheduled.

Republicans Planning Patriots Day Rally

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Republicans polished up their "liberty-vs-socialism" campaign slogan today with plans for a nationwide Patriots Day rally April 18, the 17th anniversary of Paul Revere's famous ride.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture says insects are the greatest single cause of forest destruction.
