

Mine Union 'Not Guilty'

Federal Judge Frees Group Of Civil, Criminal Counts

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United Mine Workers today were found innocent of contempt of court in the 25-day soft coal strike.

Federal Judge Richmond B. Keach, who heard the case without a jury, announced a verdict of "not guilty" on both the civil and criminal contempt charges.

The judge said that he had considered the government's petition and "found on the record" that the charges of contempt of his Feb. 11 back-to-work order were not supported.

The union had contended that it was in no way responsible for the refusal of the miners to work. Its defense was that the 372,000 coal diggers had each quit work by individual decision, not by direction of the union, and that officers of the union had done all they could to end the strike.

It took Keach just two minutes to announce his decision.

After offering counsel for both sides an opportunity to be heard and saying that he had "heard none" the judge signaled to the marshal to escort him from the courtroom.

He made his announcement soberly and white-faced.

Keach had prepared a long written opinion, but announced his ruling and did not bother to read the prepared document.

The decision was a stunning surprise to the crowded courtroom because the union in two previous strike cases has been held guilty and compelled to pay fines aggregating $2,130,000.

Government officials increasingly concerned over the spreading economic effects of the coal production stoppage had placed high hopes on the contempt case as a means of getting the miners back to work.

There are indications the government may now turn to seizure of the mines unless there is a quick contract agreement that gets coal production going again.

By one report, in response to questions, confirmed at a news conference today that seizure plans have been drawn up. Deprecating their significance, he said plans are always drafted, covering all the president's options.

By one report, however, that the plans were completed only yesterday and were designed specifically to deal with the present situation. The Evening Star said the administration plan is to ask Congress for a law permitting seizure of all coal mines if coal production have failed by early next week.

Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morrison told reporters in response to questions that he had no comment on the verdict.

Asked if the government could appeal the decision, he replied: "We think it can be appealed on the civil side." But he would not say whether the government planned such an appeal.

Wally K. Hopkins, union chief counsel, commended the decision. "A fair and equitable decision," he said.

Shivers commended the 51st Legislature yesterday in personal messages relayed by the House and Senate committees which notified him the session's work was completed.

Having raised taxes to provide for the welfare of the state's mentally ill and other unfortunate, senators and representatives headed homeward. Most of them will be campaigning for reelection or election to new offices in a short time.

Interviewed during the special session's closing hours, House members generally agreed that the state will need new revenue next year to stay out of debt. Even those who oppose new taxes were doubtful that state spending would be reduced to avoid additional levies.

"If the present financial trend continues, the situation is going to be to the detriment of the state either curtailment of state services or an increase in taxes," observed Rep. Otis Lee of Port Arthur.

Lee believed there would be a "conceded effort to pass a tax bill" at the regular legislative session next year.

"But I know one thing it definitely won't be on a general sales tax. I think a majority of the Legislature is unalterably opposed to such a tax," he declared.

Others anticipated a sharp fight between members favoring a general sales tax and those supporting a greater levy on natural gas.

Snow Begins Falling Over Pampa Area

Snow began falling in Pampa this morning, the first to be reported this year since a trace fell on Jan. 1.

When the snowfall began about 10:45 o'clock, the temperature in Pampa stood at 31 degrees.

Light snow was also falling this morning at Clarendon and a similar light snowfall was reported at Amarillo during the night, according to Associated Press.

As the higher temperatures moved in from the Gulf, light rains began falling. Occasional rain was predicted for West Texas beginning today and continuing through tomorrow, and for East Texas tomorrow.

The cold wave dropped temperatures to the 40's as far south as Houston and San Antonio early this morning. Low readings included Dalhart 27, Amarillo 29, Clarendon 31, Guadalupe Pass 31, Abilene 42, Dallas 40, El Paso 42, Houston 49, San Antonio 45, Lufkin 42, Tarkenton 39, San Angelo 40, Waco 44, and Lubbock 35.

Precipitation for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. included Brownsville .56 of an inch, San Antonio .01, Corpus Christi .08, Galveston .01, Laredo .12, San Angelo .02, Victoria .36.

El Paso in extreme West Texas had an unusual weather condition at 5:30 a. m. today. Although it was 43 degrees on the ground, tiny snow balls were falling from the sky, melting as they hit the ground. The unusual snow pellet formation was caused by cold air above a warm air mass.

Legislators Predict 1951 Tax Battle

AUSTIN—(AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers worked today on a report to the people on the special sessions as legislators left the Capitol predicting a decisive tax fight next year.

Shivers commended the 51st Legislature yesterday in personal messages relayed by the House and Senate committees which notified him the session's work was completed.

Having raised taxes to provide for the welfare of the state's mentally ill and other unfortunate, senators and representatives headed homeward. Most of them will be campaigning for reelection or election to new offices in a short time.

Passenger Service Hearing Scheduled

AUSTIN—(AP)—The railroad commission will hold a hearing April 13 on discontinuance of two passenger trains between Waco and Stamford.

The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad has applied for permission to discontinue operation of passenger trains Nos. 35 and 36 between the two towns.

The hearing will be held in the DeLoon city hall at 10 a. m.

Two Assessed Fins In Court Session

B. R. VanStickle pleaded guilty to a charge of swindling with a check in County Court yesterday, and was fined $1 and costs, amounting to a total $23.45.

Francis McColloch pleaded guilty to a charge of simple assault and was fined $1 and costs.

Air Killed Patient, Star Witness Says

MANCHESTER, N.H.—(AP)—The state's star medical witness said today that he believed Mrs. Abbie Borroto was killed by an air injection in her veins administered by Dr. Hermann N. Sander.

Dr. Milton Helpern, deputy medical examiner of New York City, gave this testimony as the state neared the close of its first degree murder case against the 41-year-old country doctor.

At the end of a long hypothetical question, Dr. Helpern said: "In my opinion death was caused by an air embolism resulting from the injection of 40 ccs of air."

That is the amount of air the state charges Dr. Sander injected into Mrs. Borroto's arm last Dec. 4 in a gesture of mercy to end the agony of her cancer.

Dr. Helpern said: "The basis for my opinion is that 40 cubic centimeters of air represents a substantial quantity if injected rapidly and would be fatal."

Shamrock Fete Delegation Being Formed

Pampa will be well represented on Donegal Day, March 17, in Shamrock's annual Saint Patrick Day festivities.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Goodwill and Reception Committee yesterday, plans were made to send Monee Cox, Pampa High School student, who recently was elected "Pin-Up Girl of Pampa High," to compete in the Colleen (Irish Queen) Contest.

Buck Hines, president of Pampa Rotary Club, said his group already has made plans to ride in the parade.

James A. McCune, Goodwill and Reception Committee chairman, said a local delegation of boosters also will be there.

Tentative plans were made for the annual teacher-appreciation banquet. Frank Wilson, Rusty Ward and Floyd Watson were appointed to work out the details.

Miss June C. Gibbs, Hansford County home demonstration agent, wrote the committee to ask if she could bring a group of 50 4-H Club girls and their parents here March 11 to make a tour of local industries. The committee will sponsor the tour through the newspaper plant, a creamery, packing company, bottling plant, bakery and radio station.

Mrs. Mary Anne Duke, Gray County home demonstration agent, and Foster Whaley, assistant county agent, will assist in the tour.

The committee voted to extend invitations of a similar nature to all schools and 4-H Club groups at the top of Texas.

Members attending the meeting included Aubrey Jones, Ed Cleaveland, Monee Cox, Watson and Ward. The next meeting will be held April 5 at the chamber office.

Police this morning were no longer then they were yesterday morning after an almost day-long interview with Alvin J. "Knob" Ash and his younger brother, Carl "Donny," in jail here charged with burglary in connection with the Tom Rose burglary and the Dec. 14, 1949, burglary of a Memphis drug store.

Neither of the brothers broke under questioning by Texas Ranger Kelly Rogers, Sheriff G. H. "Skinner" Kyle and Hugh Anderson, Chief of Police John Wilkinson and Chief Deputy Sheriff Rufe Jordan. Anderson is Hutchinson County sheriff.

Both brothers spent many hours with officers yesterday afternoon and last night, but steadfastly denied that they had been implicated in any offense.

Monsieur, Maine—(AP)—Fire raged through a small house here early today, killing eight members of a family and critically injuring a ninth.

The dead were Elwood Smith, 36, his mother, Mrs. Harriet Smith, 68, and his six children. The youngsters ranged from a baby to an 11-year-old girl.

Smith's wife, Norma, 32, found her husband struggling through deep snow toward a road, was reported in "very poor" condition at a Dover-Foxcroft hospital. She suffered second and third degree burns on most of her body.

The father, a teamster and a trucker, perished when he returned to the lower main street house in an attempt to rescue other members of the family.

A neighbor, Eugene Bickford, said he heard Mrs. Smith's screams. He ran to the Smith home and carried Mrs. Smith to his house where she collapsed. Her night clothing had been burned off. She had struggled about 25 feet through deep snow toward a road.

Bickford summoned firemen and sped back to the burning building.

Parachute Death Held Unavoidable

DALLAS—(AP)—W. R. Cheatham, 25, whose parachute failed to open when he bailed out of a spinning airplane, died in an unavoidable accident, a district court jury decided yesterday.

Cheatham's widow, now Mrs. Mary I. Kennedy, and her five-year-old daughter had sued the Marshalls' Air Field and Flying School for $50,000 damages. The jury absolved James W. Marshall, Sr., and Jimmie Marshall, operators of the field, of any negligence in Cheatham's death Dec. 14, 1947.

Legion Officials To Hold Meetings

AUSTIN—(AP)—Three national area American Legion conferences to be held in Fort Worth and Dallas this weekend are expected to attract representatives from 12 southern states and Panama.

Two of the conferences dealing with national security, will be in Fort Worth Friday and the other will be a counter-subversive meeting in Dallas Saturday and Sunday. State Commander Joe Spurlock said yesterday.

Braly Won't Enter Congressional Race Investigation Of Burglaries At Standstill

By HENRY GORDON Pampa News Staff

District Attorney Tom Braly is "going to tend to his knittin' and be district attorney" and not run for Congress.

That was the affable D. A.'s answer to a direct question this morning when asked if he was going to run for the 18th U. S. Congressional District seat soon to be vacated by the expected resignation of Eugene Worley who was nominated as an associate justice on the U. S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals.

Now serving his second term as district attorney, Braly was announced by some persons as a probable starter before the week was out.

Braly, on the other hand, strongly indicated he would seek his third term as district attorney rather than jump on the stage that is rapidly being filled by "everybody and his brother" wanting to go to Washington.

Within the past few days a myriad of names has been thrown around as being prospective candidates for what promises to be one of the hottest races since the Johnson-Stevenson senatorial battle in 1948.

Only this morning two more "possibilities" were tossed at voters, the source being coffee counter gossip naming W. L. "Bill" McConnell, Perryton, former district attorney of the 87th Judicial District and a young Berger attorney, Jack Alexander, as probable starters.

Other recent developments in the race popped up in Amarillo when organized labor, through an unofficial spokesman, endorsed J. Blake Timmons, Amarillo's representative in the Texas Legislature.

While most of the other candidates appear to have waited until "the coast was clear" insofar as Rep. Eugene Worley's seeking reelection is concerned, Atty. Walter E. Rogers, who filed and announced first today this report privately last Sept. 3, he was going to seek the nomination for Congress in the 1950 Democratic primaries. Rogers told this confidentially at the time in answer to a question asking him if it was true he would run for district attorney.

Immediately after Worley's appointment was made public, candidates began announcing in rapid succession.

U. S. ECONOMY POLICY UNIFICATION SOUGHT

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON—(AP)—A plan designed to provide greater unity for the government's foreign and domestic economic policies was reported today by the United States treasury, commerce, and agriculture, which would function under White House direction. Provision is also made for a White House coordinator to direct the work of the committee.

Acheson and some other high government officials have argued a realignment of American domestic economic policies in some degree is necessary to make this nation's foreign economic policies fully effective.

For example, he favors tariff reductions and other measures which would open up American markets to greater sales of foreign goods. The idea is to promote prosperity and economic stability in other areas, especially Western Europe.

Some State Department officials also say that the United States could consider the effect of its domestic agricultural programs on the world generally. They particularly want a study of whether a foreign use may be found for this nation's agricultural surpluses that would help the anti-Communist world.

Perhaps the greatest problem involved lies in the field of European recovery. Acheson, FCA Administrator Paul Hoffman and other top officials have already begun to work on the problem of what to do after the European recovery program ends in 1952.

Veterans Get Reminder of GI Bill Close

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Veterans Administration (VA) has warned veterans that the GI Bill education and training under the GI Bill will be locked July 25, 1951. All inside the program by that date can stay there until their settlement runs out or until their "course" ends on July 25, 1951, whichever comes first. Most others will stay outside.

The VA is taking no chances on the possibility of any veteran's misinterpreting the significance of the July 25, 1951, deadline. In a long report sent to Congress Jan. 25 the VA took six closely-typed pages to present its interpretation of the cut-off date. It recognizes that the GI Bill could be interpreted several ways with regard to that date.

The language in the law goes this way: "... That such course shall be initiated not later than four years after either the date of a veteran's discharge or after the termination of the present war, whichever is later. The termination of the war" for this purpose is July 25, 1947, so there is no problem there. Four years later is July 25, 1951. (Almost all veterans were discharged before July 25, 1947.)

But what, the VA wondered, did Congress mean by "initiate a course"? It decided it meant that a veteran would have to be in or working on an education or training course by that date (unless he is in a "normal" vacation period, or is sick, etc.). Getting a certificate of eligibility with the intention of entering a course would not do. The course would have to be underway. Nor would this do:

Suppose a veteran is taking a college course today. He gets his degree next June and goes to work. He works for a little more than a year and then decides he needs a course in accounting. So in August, 1951, he goes to the VA and asks for a supplemental certificate of eligibility to enter an accounting course.

He thinks that since he "initiated" a course of study (his college course) long before the July 25, 1951, deadline he certainly has complied with the law and can re-enter training after that date. But he can't. The new regulation forbids it.

That's not all. Once a "course" of study or other training ends after the July 25, 1951, deadline, a veteran will have a very hard time getting into another, even though he can show he was studying or training as the deadline passed by. The regulation says clearly:

A veteran may change his course (after the deadline) only while in training and only for these "satisfactory reasons":

1. He is not making satisfactory progress and it's not his own fault.
2. The course to which he wants to change fits his aptitudes and previous education.
3. The new course would be a "normal progression" and would allow him to achieve his educational or training objective.

AIKIN DRAWS PRAISE FOR TAX BILL EFFORTS

By MAC ROY RASON, AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate's thanks went home today with Senator A. M. Aikin, Jr., of Texas. Just before the Senate gavel banged adjournment yesterday, Senate President Grady Hazlewood told the slim, serious-minded Northern Texas lawmaker: "I think I express the sentiment of the Senate when I say we thank you for the job you've done."

Aikin had carried the administration's plan for financing the elementary program, a crucial every Senate hurdle to final enactment.

He had been chairman of the state affairs committee that moved the tax plans quickly to the Senate floor after they arrived from the House. He nursed them through careful study-sessions that brought exacting changes. He served as Senate floor leader, spokesman and defender of every word in the bills in their finally revised versions.

During the closing days of the session he had been target of considerable kidding because of his firm guiding hand for the measures.

Somebody asked Senator Gus Strauss of Hallettsville if he planned to run for re-election. "I don't know. I haven't cleared it with Senator Aikin yet," he joked.

Senator Fred Harris of Dallas was holding the Senate floor when he was asked to yield for a courtesy resolution. "Just a minute," Harris parried. He strode up the center aisle to Senator Aikin's front row seat, whispered something, returned to his seat, then gave the request. "Okeh."

Modestly, Aikin thinks the credit should be distributed. "I was just the mouthpiece of the tax bills," he said. "It took a lot of people to get the job done."

Senators Wardlow Lane of Center, Howard Carney of Atlanta, Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, Walter Tynan of San Antonio and R. A. Weisert of Seguin are those Aikin credits with doing "the big job" in the Senate.

Aikin admits, however, that his part was one of the hardest jobs he had had in his long legislative career.

Tightest squeeze the bills had, he said, was when the Senate refused to table an amendment calling for a change in the tax meter provision of the cigarette tax bill. Aikin rose to plead that any change in the bill would seriously jeopardize the bill's race against the closing days of the session.

Votes quickly switched to kill the proposed amendment outright. Aikin thinks those switched votes are also entitled to some of the credit for the session's accomplishment of its mission.

Bendix Line Acquired by Pampa Firm

Modern Appliance Co., 111 W. Francis, is the new Bendix home laundry equipment dealer for Pampa, Bill Braly, manager and part owner, has announced.

In announcing acquisition of the popular line, Braly said the firm will stock the complete Bendix line, which includes four home models—a farm model, two models of the Bendix dryer and the Bendix ironers.

Braly said the automatic washer line includes:

Model G (Grammatic) — The line includes two types, the Model G with all popular Bendix features and the G-1, with automatic soap injector. The operation of the two models is entirely automatic, controlled by electric timer and thermostatic water valve.

Model B (DeLuxe) — A fully automatic washer-features the new water ratorner.

Model H (Economat) — The lower priced Bendix with the electric timer and thermostatic water valve.

Model N (Farm Model) — Similar to Model H except designed for farm use. Car be filled by hand. Designed for farms where water is not piped in.

Bendix Dryer (Electric Model E) — Fully automatic, drying by electric process.

Bendix Dryer (Gas Model F) — Also fully automatic, using gas. Automatic cutoff when pilot light goes out.

He estimated another $10,000 in athletic equipment was destroyed.

Zoo's Water Buffalo Tough in New Way

DALLAS — (AP) — The Dallas Zoo's water buffalo is still plenty tough — but he's not causing trouble any more, except maybe to the molars of some lions, tigers and leopards.

The zoo killed the buffalo yesterday and turned him into steaks for the big cats. Park Director L. B. Houston said the animal was getting too ornery and there was danger he might attack zoo visitors.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead to many forms of kidney trouble, such as backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up sick or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used occasionally by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may seem otherwise, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Four Texans in Florida Tourney

ORMAND BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — Only eight players remained in the championship flight of the South Atlantic Women's Golf Tournament today and half of them were Texans.

Leading the quarterfinalists in play over the Ormond Beach Country Club course was Betsy Rawls, 21-year-old University of Texas coed who was medalist in Tuesday's qualifying round.

The Austin, Texas, lass beat Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., one up in her first round engagement and then eliminated Betty Kirk of Findlay, Ohio, 6 and 5.

The Butler sisters from Midland, Texas, were still in the running, too, and so was Polly Riley, seasoned campaigner from Fort Worth.

Mariene beat Bee McWane of Birmingham, Ala., 3 and 2 in her second round match and sister Alice knocked Ann Sparrow of Stetson University at Deland out of the running, 4 and 3.

In today's matches, Miss Rawls faced Alice Bauer; Miss Riley met Miss Betty Bush of Hammond, Ind.; Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., clashed with Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga.; and Mrs. J. D. Platt of Miami faced Mariene Bauer.

Couple Indicted In Slaying of 'Tex' Thornton

AMARILLO — (AP) — Ewald Johnson and his blonde wife, Diana Jean, are charged with murder with malice in the killing of W. A. (Tex) Thornton in an indictment returned yesterday by the Potter County grand jury.

Thornton, famed oil field explosives expert, was beaten to death in an Amarillo tourist court the night of June 22, 1949.

Mrs. Johnson, 19, was arrested in Washington Feb. 8 after she told police that her husband killed Thornton.

Several days later, officers arrested Johnson in Munising, Mich., his home town. FBI men said Johnson admitted slugging Thornton when he found the mink in bed with Diana Jean. The officers said Johnson told the mink fled with his wife in Thornton's car.

Johnson was returned to Amarillo Feb. 18. Mrs. Johnson was returned four days later. They have not been allowed to see each other.

Texas Man Files Suit to Regain Car in Spokane

SPOKANE, Wash. — (AP) — A Texan has filed suit here to regain his car, seized by police after a 100-mile an hour chase.

Thomas Garner of Dallas, wanted in this area on a burglary charge, states in his suit that Sheriff Ralph Smith seized illegally an expensive auto last November and has refused to return it. The car contained about $1,000 in personal property, the suit said.

Attorney Fred Lewis filed the complaint for Garner yesterday. Sheriff Smith was ordered by Judge Ralph Edgerton to appear in court Friday to show why he should not return the car and property.

The sheriff took possession of the car when it was wrecked and abandoned after leading officers on a wild chase from Staterline Village, Idaho, to Spokane, Nov. 21. Three armed men escaped from the car and money taken during

Nation's Only 'Split State' Seeking Four-Mile Bridge

MACKINAW CITY, Mich. (REAP)—America's only split state — Michigan — is trying hard to weld together its two peninsulas with a span of steel.

The proposed bridge over the historic Straits of Mackinac would be an engineer's delight, since it calls for the longest single suspension span in the world, 4600 feet. It would exceed the Golden Gate span, now the biggest, by 400 feet.

Michigan residents have long been nettled by the four-mile-wide straits that bisect their state. As early as 1920 agitation for a bridge began, but in 1923 a ferry system was inaugurated.

The automobile age, however, has out-distanced the chugging ferry boats. Traffic across the straits has doubled every decade, reaching an all-time high of 902,404 cars last year.

At one time during the deer-hunting season this winter, a line of cars stretched eight miles out of Mackinaw City, waiting for the ferry boats to catch up with the demand.

The most eloquent group backing the plan is the Mackinaw Bridge Citizens' Committee, composed of prominent men from Michigan's leading cities. They claim that the bridge could be built for $50,000,000, half to be obtained from the federal government and the rest to come through issuance of state bonds.

Tolls would be used to retire the bonds.

Experts are divided over the feasibility of the structure. Next to the length, the main problem is anchoring the gigantic piers. Some geologists claim that the rock 150 feet below the surface of the straits is solid enough and of the straits is solid enough and others say it is not. Engineers may have the answer in their new techniques of distributing the weight of the supporting piers, reducing it from 20 tons per square foot to eight.

Other critics say that the elements — snow, ice and high winds, snow might be eliminated by installing an iron grill roadbed that would allow the flakes to fall harmlessly through. It is expected that ice pressure and winds can be met with new and better engineering methods.

The Straits of Mackinac link Lakes Michigan and Huron and are only 40 miles from the entrance to Lake Superior. A final engineering problem is that of preserving the waterway for the vital commerce that flows through it. That necessitates the 4600-foot span, and also calls for the bridge to be 150 feet high.

DALLAS — (AP) — Dr. Pepper Co., soft drink manufacturer, has reported its net sales for 1949 were eight percent under those of 1948.

Net earnings for last year was $612,600 compared to $668,400 the year before. This amounted to 87 cents per share for 1949 and 98 cents for 1948.

Alien Burial Space Asked

EDINBURG — (AP) — So many bodies are being found in the Rio Grande that Hidalgo County is worried about what to do with them.

Most of the bodies are those of aliens who tried to slip across the river from Mexico.

"We are running out of places to bury bodies," Sheriff Bill Doan told commissioners court yesterday. He said the county should buy a centrally located burial plot near the river. Doan said the cities of McAllen, Hidalgo and Grafeno, among others, have protested that county burials are taking too much space in their regular cemeteries.

The McAllen Monitor reported recently that 10 to 15 unidentified bodies a month have been taken from the Rio Grande in that area. Some months the recovered bodies averaged "one a day."

Government statistics estimate that the rat population of the U. S. is at least 140,000,000, about equally divided between farm and city.

Melancholy Newspaperman Wrote Historic Document

By WILLIAM BARNARD
Associated Press Staff

A melancholy newspaperman wrote the Texas Declaration of Independence 114 years ago.

Presumably, it was written the night of March 1, 1836. The place was a Washington-on-the-Brazos. Even as his quill pen scratched into that first, monumental sentence of more than 300 words, the doomed defenders of the Alamo were making their stand.

The Goliad massacre was 36 days away. In less than two months, the decisive Battle of San Jacinto would be fought and independence would be assured.

As George Campbell Childress wrote, a northern blow in and dropped the temperature 20 degrees. He was 32 then and he had five more years of life.

Dr. Herbert Gambrell, chairman of Southern Methodist University's history department and author of "Austin Jones, Last President of Texas," told us the story of Childress. Much of his information came from L. W. Kemp of Houston, well-known Texas historian.

An earnest young man of rather violent disposition, Childress was born in Tennessee and admitted to the bar in Davidson County, Tenn., in 1828. In 1834 he became editor of the Nashville Banner and Nashville Advertiser, a big grant of land in over the editorship of the Nashville Daily News.

Childress had an uncle in Texas—Sterling C. Robertson—one of the immigrants who had obtained a big grant of land in the Milam County area. In Nashville, Childress began espousing the cause of the Texas revolution. He made at least two eloquent speeches to raise funds and enlist volunteers.

And in December, 1835, he came to Texas, arriving at the Red River border on the 13th of that month. He went to his uncle's colony. On Feb. 1, 1836, the people of the colony elected him a delegate to the convention of the people of Texas at Washington-on-the-Brazos.

On March 1, at the convention, he moved that a committee be named to draft a declaration of independence. He was named on the committee and did the writing. It was ready for adoption the next day. "An excellent statement of the cause of Texas," said Gambrell. "A wonderful document."

After that, Childress practiced law while in Houston and went back to Tennessee. But he returned to Galveston in 1841. There, at a boarding house on Oct. 6, 1841, he stabbed himself to death with a Bowie knife. He left a letter which said: "I cannot bear to live longer."

Childress County was named for him and in 1934 the State of Texas erected a monument in his honor — at Galveston.

Language Barrier Slows Dam Work

EL PASO — (AP) — Language difficulties are slowing work on specifications for the Falcon Dam on the Lower Rio Grande, L. M. Lawson has announced.

Specifications for the $47,000,000 project won't be ready for at least two months, the United States representative on the International Boundary and Water Commission said yesterday.

He said the commission's work is being slowed by the necessity of drawing up the numerous work schedules in both English and Spanish.

The dam will be built 75 miles downstream from Laredo, under terms of the 1944 water treaty between the U. S. and Mexico.

Wronged Spouse Has Hot Temper

ROME — (AP) — An angry husband in Parma took vengeance on his unfaithful wife by seating her naked on a red hot stove. Rome newspapers reported today.

The husband, 25 years older than his bride, found her with a youthful lover when he returned unexpectedly from a trip, the dispatches said.

The woman was reported seriously burned. The dispatches omitted names.

Texan Who Claimed To Be 117 Succumbs

HOUSTON — (AP) — Funeral services were held today for Pedro Medrano, who claimed he was 117 years old. He died in his sleep yesterday.

Luis Medrano, a son, said the old fruit and vegetable peddler had worked until about six months ago.

Medrano was a native of Nuevo Laredo, Mex.

Unusual Market Deals in Humans Seeking Work

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — (AP) — There is an unusual "curb market" here — for humans. No one seems to know how it got started but each morning, at one street corner, a large number of workmen assemble, carrying their lunch boxes. They seem all ready for a day's work, but they just stand waiting.

Then a truck will pull up, the driver will shout a couple words and a number, and some of the waiting men will scramble aboard the vehicle. This is repeated by other trucks until perhaps a major portion of the men is gone. The corner is the market for a fair amount of Jacksonville's unskilled labor.

If construction business is not so good, there may be few trucks of a morning. The men usually hang around the corner until about midmorning. If no job shows up, they go home.

Aluminum Production Goal Set in India

NEW DELHI, India — (AP) — The target committee for the aluminum industry has set 3,500 tons as the production goal for this year.

Committee members observed, however, that the industry is hampered by inadequate supplies of electric power, petroleum coke and gasoline for trucks transporting bauxite.

Rotarians Honor Farm-Ranch Men At Luncheon

Farmers and ranchers of the area were guests of the Rotary Club yesterday at noon when they met in the Palm Room of the City Hall. Visiting farmers and ranchers were welcomed and introduced by Charlie Robison.

Irvin Cole directed the program which consisted of three violin selections by Roy W. Tinsley; some "hoe-down" piano music by Humph Matheny; and three religious songs sung by C. A. Booher, field representative of the Music Department of Southern Baptist University in Dallas. Mrs Irvin Cole was accompanist.

The collecting of contemporary and antique Wheeling glassware, made since 1819 in the Upper Ohio River Valley area surrounding Wheeling, W. Va., has brought fame to this handmade American glassware.

Cold Freezes Coal, Water Doesn't Help

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (AP) — Workers in a coal yard built a fire under a gonzo to thaw a frozen shipment so they could unload it.

The fire ignited the coal! Water put out the fire — and retroso the coal.

Early Bird Attracts Police to Theater

LONDON — (AP) — Police cars roared up to a suburban north-west London movie theater in the early morning darkness. Officers cautiously surrounded the building. Cleaning workers had reported hearing suspicious noises inside the theater.

When the police finally opened the door they found a workman busy on a remodeling job. He explained he wanted to get in over so he could take in a football game in the afternoon.

Greenbelt and City Tourney Golfing Dates Established

The Greenbelt Invitational Golf Tournament, making its first appearance in Pampa in the 22 years of the event and the 16 years that Pampa has been a member of the association, will be held at the Pampa Country Club on the weekend of June 8, 9, 10 and 11.

This was decided last night at a meeting of the Tournament Committee of the Country Club, headed by Gene Fathere. Other members of the committee are Cletus Mitchell, Leslie Hart, Melvin Watkins, Jack Merchant, Sam Sloan, W. L. Smith and Jeff Bearden. Also present at the meeting were Marvin Harris, Johnny Austin and Warren Hass. June 8 is the date set for the Calcutta party and also the day on which the golfers who wish to enter the championship flight must qualify. Sunday, June 11, the finals of the tournament will be played.

Member cities of the Greenbelt Association include Memphis, Chickasha, Gannah, Phillips, Pampa, Shamrock, Paducah, Electra, Vernon, and Altus, Frederic, Mangum, Sayre, Duncan, Crowell and Seymour, Oklahoma.

The Tournament Committee decided to go all out in its efforts to host the tournament as this is one of the major tourneys of the Southwest each summer, and it is making its first appearance at Pampa.

The annual City Tournament, usually played in late May, has been moved back into July due to the Greenbelt. Dates set for that were from July 2 to July 16. Qualifying for that tournament will start on June 24 and end on July 1. The first round of match play will be shot on July 2 and proceed with the finals coming on Sunday, July 16. This will provide a month's rest between the two big tournaments.

The other major meet, the Top of Texas Invitational, will be held again this year over the Labor Day weekend, Sept. 2, 3 and 4.

Three permanent committees were set up last night by Fathere, to handle their job through all of the tournaments of the season where they are needed.

The Rules Committee, whose word will be law on the rules at all tournaments, is composed of Melvin Watkins, Frank Smith and W. L. Smith.

The Prize Committee is composed of Cletus Mitchell, Leslie Hart and Jeff Bearden.

The Calcutta Committee is made up of Charles Duenkel, Sam Sloan and Jack Merchant.

Austin said that barring any unforeseen developments the golf course should be in top condition for each of the tournaments.

Other tourneys on which dates will be selected within the next 10 days include the City Junior, West Texas Junior, Women's City and dates for the Panhandle Associations, both men's and women's.

NEW YORK — (AP) — When speaking of big, dumb football linemen, you can exclude Paul Mitchell, 240-pound tackle who has played for Minnesota, the Los Angeles Dons and the New York Yankees and will be with the New York Bulldogs next fall.

While working for his master's degree in mechanical engineering at UCLA, he's employed as a development engineer with a Los Angeles research company. He says if he had it all to do over again, he'd become a fullback.

MY BIGGEST BONER

Culler Worked Busher Trick, Wilks Balked in Winning Run for St. Paul

By TED WILKS
St. Louis Cardinals' Relief Pitcher My biggest boner happened with Columbus in the American Association, and it gave Eddie Dyer a big knot on the head.

It was in St. Paul, June 14, 1942. We weren't going so well, and Manager Dyer wasn't happy. We had the game tied up going into the last inning of the second game of a double-header. Dick Culler opened the inning with a triple.

Naturally, with Culler on third, I was taking a full but quick windup. He started off third base taking a normal lead, as I started my windup.

I was already into my windup when he suddenly yelled: "Time, I want to tie my shoe."

I stopped my windup.

Culler and the rest of the St. Paul players hollered "balk," and the umpire sent Culler home with the winning run.

Dyer jumped up out of our dugout, started after me. When he jumped up his head hit the top of the dugout. I started for the clubhouse.

The blow on the head didn't knock Dyer out, but they tell me it dazed him to where he was just running around in circles in front of the dugout.

I was running for the clubhouse. We had lost the first game — that cost us the second — so I knew what was coming.

I thought the Skip was going to pop when he finally got to the clubhouse. He raved and he ranted, he walked up and down.

"You so-and-so Polack," he

VERO BEACH, Fla. — Two things heartened flu-wakened Manager Burt Shotton today as his Brooklyn Dodgers swung into second day of spring training.

One was the spy department of key shortstop, Pee Wee Reese, who underwent a hernia operation in the winter. "I feel great," said the Dodger captain.

The other was the streamlining of pitcher Don Newcombe, who reported he lost seven pounds in yesterday's workout, and catcher Roy Campanella, who dropped five.

ORLANDO, Fla. — The Washington Senators, who moved their spring training this year from bumpy Tinker Field to the smoother turf of the Tangerine Bowl football stadium, are moving back to Tinker today. The reason: high winds.

"At least at Tinker Field there are fences to keep out most of the blow," said Manager Bucky Harris. "This way, we must just as well stay in the hotel."

BRADENTON, Fla. — Pennant stock of the Boston Braves jumped considerably today after it became known first baseman Earl Torgeson would be able to throw properly. Torgy suffered a shoulder separation last May in an ineffective effort to "take out" Brooklyn second baseman Jackie Robinson. "He threw well enough to satisfy me," said Manager Billy Southworth of Torgy. "Sure, he threw sidearm but he always did."

raged, "I ought to fine you every penny you've got falling for a busher trick like that. If I had a gun I'd shoot you." He was mad! And all the time he was rubbing his head.

"That's mine, brother, and I'll never forget it."

He listed them as outfielder Joe DiMaggio, outfielder-first baseman Tommy Henrich, catcher Yogi Berra and shortstop Phil Rizzuto.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — A 30-year-old rookie may be the answer to Connie Mack's search for a far-hitting outfielder for his Philadelphia Athletics.

Ben Guinini, who socked 32 home runs for Dallas of the Texas League last year, cannonaded about 350-foot drives over the leftfield fence and caromed another high off the centerfield wall, nearly 400 feet from home plate, in the opening drill yesterday.

Major Leaguers Launch Campaign to Kill Off Bonus to Unproven Rookies

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (AP) — Major league baseball players are quietly but efficiently launching a campaign to kill off all payments of bonuses to unproven players.

Marty Marion, National League representative to the Players' Committee, revealed he planned to present to the Executive Council at its next meeting a proposal to eliminate the payment of any kind of bonus to such players.

"I have been discussing this problem with representatives of other clubs," the star shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals said, "and we all agree that something must be done. We feel that not only do payments of large bonuses to untried players deprive the proven players of money to which they are entitled but tends to cause dissension and disharmony on a ball club."

"I personally think that the continuation of such practices will some day ruin baseball."

Marion disclosed that four National League clubs, including the Cardinals, have voted to eliminate the payment of bonuses of any kind to youngsters.

He said he didn't know how the American League felt about the matter but added he planned to discuss it soon with Fred Hutchinson of the Detroit Tigers. Hutchinson is the American League representative.

"Since the bonus rule has been in effect major league clubs have been paying out large sums of money to unproven players," Marion said. "Where is it coming from? From the profits, of course. Each club works on a budget. So much money goes out for salaries. When it pays $100,000 to an untried kid, the veterans are bound to suffer."

"I venture to say that when Pittsburgh paid $100,000 to Paul Pettit, the California high school kid, each of the 25 members of the Pirates lost about $4,000."

"Do you think that's good for a club? How would you feel if you were a veteran player on a team making about $10,000 and along comes a kid without previous experience getting $100,000? I know how I'd feel. X X X"

McCarthy, O'Glee Move to Semifinal Round in Chicago

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (AP) — Billy Sheridan, Lehigh's veteran wrestling coach, lists his pet peeves as spring football and television wrestling — in that order.

"I've heard football coaches tell kids they'd have to come out for spring practice or they wouldn't get a suit in the fall," says Billy. "Some of those boys want to go out for baseball, lacrosse, rowing or track, but they can't because their scholarships come from football. The NCAA ought to forget about this sanity business and pass a rule about spring football."

Harvesters to Face Sandies On Golf Links

The Pampa Harvester golf team will play its first home match of the season tomorrow afternoon when the Amarillo Sandies golfers invade the local County Club layout. It will be the second encounter of the two teams. Amarillo took the first meeting, 18 1-2 to 5 1-2, a month ago at Amarillo.

The firing will get underway at 1:30 tomorrow.

The Harvester club has been strengthened materially since the first meeting with the addition of several members of the basketball team.

The boys who will play tomorrow will be selected from the following list of golfers who have been working out each afternoon:

Bernard McNamara, Deb Stowell, Derral Godfrey, Jimmy Howard, Ronnie Sample, Charley Austin, John Bell, Carter Burdette, Jackie Cox, Tommy Cox, Darrell Danner, Wayne Doss.

Jim Baldwin, John Friauf, John High, Glenn Harrell, Pete Kilpatrick, Richard Miller, Marvin Overton, John Pitta, Richard Primmore, Jerry Smith, Jon Oden and Leroy Ellis.

The Pampa team is coached by club professional Johnny Austin. The Amarillo coach is professional George Aulbauch.

Jamestown, winner of the 1939 Belmont Futurity, now stands at stud at George D. Widener's Old Kinney Farm in Kentucky.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Two tough little Texans go into the semifinals March 10 in the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions. Pat McCarthy, 11, of Amarillo punched out a decision over Rich Cassidy of Detroit in quarterfinals last night. Johnny O'Glee, Dallas 135-pounder, pounded Leon Hudson, Terre Haute, Ind., Negro, for a one-sided victory.

But Adolfo Martinez, El Paso 147-pounder, dropped a close decision to Robert Edens of Evansville, Ind.

McCarthy's bout the regulation three rounds, with the little Texan outscoring his opponent with short right hand blasts to the chin. Cassidy frequently made McCarthy back up, but the Amarillo boy kept on dishing it out. O'Glee was tearing in with both hands as the third round ended, and the Bell appeared to be all that saved Hudson from a knockout.

The ukulele was taken to the Hawaiian Islands by Portuguese immigrants.

Old Pitcher on New Comeback

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — A former Texas League pitching ace is going to return to his old haunts this season.

Eddie Marleau, now 39, said yesterday he had signed a contract with the Beaumont Roughnecks as a coach and relief pitcher.

The venerable pitcher broke into baseball in 1930 and has been just about everywhere. One of his best seasons was in 1935 when he helped Bert Niehoff win a pennant for Oklahoma City.

Another of his feats came in 1942 when he appeared in 67 games for Dallas — without pitching a complete game.

"My arm feels only 15 years old," Marleau said yesterday as he hurried to wind up his affairs before leaving for Beaumont's training camp at Cuero, Texas.

Marleau will renew a long-time friendship with Rogers Hornsby, the new Beaumont manager.

LONG WAY AROUND—Bill Phinazee feels the breeze of Dick Sullivan's roundhouse before it gets to him going his way in the second round of a 112-pound open amateur bout at Brooklyn's Ridgewood Grove Arena. The windup of the Catholic Youth Organization entrant was a bit too long, and the Harlem YMCA lad won a decision.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (AP) — Major league baseball players are quietly but efficiently launching a campaign to kill off all payments of bonuses to unproven players.

Marty Marion, National League representative to the Players' Committee, revealed he planned to present to the Executive Council at its next meeting a proposal to eliminate the payment of any kind of bonus to such players.

Boys Club Mitt Team Fights at Kress Tomorrow

The Pampa Boys Club boxing team will go to Kress tomorrow night to face the Kress High School boxers. The match will be the fifth team meeting of the year for the Pampa club. They have won one, lost two and had one draw.

The first match tomorrow night will start at 7:30.

The rest of the schedule for the local fighters sees them busy every week for the next month. Next Tuesday they have a return bout with the Lefora Pirates; March 17 they go to Shamrock to again meet the Irish on St. Patrick's Day; the following Tuesday, March 21, they meet Clarendon and the next Friday they travel to Pampa to meet the final fight of the season for the locals.

The Pampa club is in top condition and should give the Kress team, about which little is known, a good fight.

Eight Personal

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. — (AP) — Big Don Otten of the Tri-City Blackhawks of the National Basketball Association recently established a unique record here when he committed eight personal fouls in a game. Under pro rules, a player is permitted six fouls before he is put out, but Otten committed his sixth, all but four other Blackhawks had fouled out, so he was allowed to remain in the contest, under league rules.

Women's Pin Meet Opens Saturday

The annual Women's City Bowling Tournament, sponsored and run by the Women's City Bowling Association, will get underway Saturday night at the Pampa Bowl. Championships being contested for are the city singles, doubles, team, and all-events titles.

So far 12 teams have entered, 14 doubles combinations and 28 singles competitors. The first action starts Saturday night at 6:30 when the first shift of teams starts bowling.

The defending champions in the tournament will be the Reeves Oldsmobile, team champions; doubles team of E. A. Riddle and Vera Carson; singles champion, Helen Mohon; and all-events title, Delores Hawthorne.

All championships, with the exception of the all-events crown, are handicap affairs. Delores Hawthorne, winner of that crown last year, will not bowl this season.

Singles and doubles matches in the tournament will be rolled on Sunday afternoon and evening. A huge list of prizes has been donated by Pampa businessmen for the winners.

ALLEZ OOP—French featherweight Ray Famechon is just a babe in arms to six-foot eight-and-a-half-inch Master of Arms, Alec Moore, on deck of Queen Elizabeth in New York. Famechon hopes for a title bout with 126-pound champ Willie Pep.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Messer—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: This season marks how many years that Connie Mack has been manager of the Philadelphia Athletics?

THIS WAS ONE ARGUMENT THAT I DIDN'T intend to get into, but since Johnny Ussery, sports columnist of the Borger News-Herald, has jumped in feet first and asked "Who do you think is right?" Why I'm going to answer him. The controversy stems around mention made by Harry Gilstrap, Amarillo sports writer, concerning Glenn Davis getting his Army discharge and getting ready to play pro football.

Gilstrap said that the veterans wouldn't be pleased with the Davis discharge. I agree one hundred percent, speaking as a veteran. Ussery, coming to the rescue of Davis, says that he believes "that what Glenn Davis does is solely his business." Perhaps. But who foots the bill to keep West Point going? We do. Who complains about the way a baseball team is run? The fans, because they foot the bill, though in the same line of thinking, what happens to the team is none of their business.

Says Ussery: "Davis has served a three year hitch in the Army... and that should be satisfactory to Uncle Sam." Ordinarily, anybody who goes through West Point or Annapolis is expected to make a career out of the Service, not a sanctuary during war time.

Says Ussery: "Mr. Davis would not have gone to the Academy at all more than likely, if there had been no football team there. A man who is as brilliant an athlete as Davis could have gone to any school in the country." But where else could he have been safe from the draft, and the war, and still had his fun? Other students were dragged out of school to shoulder a gun. Davis entered school so he wouldn't have to.

There could be little question of what Davis' intentions were while at the Academy. Upon graduation he tried to get out of the uniform to play football, but the favor it created forced him to remain in and serve the short tour of duty. As far as a future is concerned, the Army offers him far more, as an officer, than he will ever get out of playing pro football.

He has no assurances that he will be the star he was at West Point during the way years, when all the other schools were weak because the men were serving their country and West Point was getting the cream of the crop. They had a top team in those years, well balanced against a weakened field. Professional football will find him playing against evenly balanced clubs, and things may be different. For one, he hopes that they are different, and that he finds he is going fourth.

You, perhaps, can't understand that, Johnny, because at the time of the war you were too young to be called. But had you been seeing a meal, wondering if it was your last, going to sleep and wondering if it was the last time, or had you sailed past the status of Liberty or the Golden Gate wondering if you were ever going to see it again, you would perhaps understand how the veterans feel about a fellow that hides behind the walls of West Point as a means of dodging the war.

A couple of weeks ago four thousand fishermen spent 90 minutes in 36-degree-below-zero weather competing for a motorboat in a St. Paul, Minn., ice-fishing contest. The winner, Charles Holesky of St. Paul, captured the boat with a prize of $1,000.

They bear now roam wild in 34 of the 48 U.S. states.

Bonus Rule Penalizing All Hands to Stay, Says Baseball

NEW YORK (NEA)—Baseball's bonus rule penalizes everybody.

It deprives the brighter prospects of proper seasoning in the minors.

It handicaps clubs. The Phillies, for example, last season were playing 19 or 20 men against other outfits' 25.

It leaves managers without a "bench."

The public is shortchanged. The paying guests do not see team at maximum strength.

Yet baseball men say the bonus regulation will stand.

Even National League owners voted for it. Five to three.

The American League is for throwing it out the window.

A majority of the owners who gathered in Baltimore for the minor league meeting opposed the bonus stand, but could not muster the two-thirds majority required to cancel it.

Commissioner Happy Chandler doesn't like it, so he asked President George M. Trautman of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, which is the minors, to take a mail vote.

Baseball people are at wide odds concerning the bonus law, but the result is to be announced in six weeks, and those who know the organized game best tell you it will be in favor of its retention.

Independent minor league owners, from D to Triple A, will see to it that, they contend, because the bonus stipulation is in their favor.

Tossing out the bonus legislation would be to the advantage of the more affluent organizations, they point out.

The bonus precept demands that an athlete paid $600 or more for signing by a major league club must be on that team's roster at the end of the year in which he is signed. In order for him to be farmed out, waivers must be obtained, wherein an investment of from $20,000 to $65,000 might go for the $10,000 waiver price. And should the youngster be cleared for the minors, he is subject to unrestricted draft.

The same holds for combatants paid $4500 or more by Triple A, Double A and A circuits, $3000 or more below A.

One of the more constructive National League magnates says the precept should stand because in the long run it's a good thing for baseball. Outside of two or three Triple A clubs, no independent minor league owner is in a position to outbid a major league club for prospects. The Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League giving outfielder Jackie Jensen $35,000 is the exception that proves the rule.

But if major league clubs become overloaded with bonus players, they'll hesitate to sign more," the National League owner stresses. "That would give the minor league independent a chance to grab a home town boy and sell him, as he did in the good old days. There will be 48 minor leagues next spring, and each is to have six or eight clubs. Half of the owners are independents. Figure it out for yourself."

For some strange reason, the major league people, outside of young Bob Carpenter of the Philadelphia Nationals, who now opposes the rule, dislike to discuss it for publication.

You can't blame them. It has become a bit of a headache.

A survey of the eating habits of race horses discloses that many of the bangtails have peculiar preferences in food. Oil Capitol, for example goes for a lady meal of boiled dandelion greens, and old Alab used to like doughnuts.

Horseplayers don't care what they eat, as long as they eat up the track.

Some plungers firmly believe there's a connection between a horse's form and his food.

The following table shows how certain delicacies can forecast a nag's behavior.

Radishes — Horse bound to repeat.

Spaghetti — Horse good on sloppy track.

Limburger Cheese — Horse good at long distances.

Beans — You'll hear from this horse.

Blueberry Pie — Bet this horse to show.

Toast — Horse likes dry track.

Sirloin — Watch this horse in stakes.

Pickles and ice cream — Horse no good in overnight events.

Cheese souffles — Horse needs careful handling.

Whipped cream — Jockey must beat this horse.

Eggs — Horse needs a fast break.

Grain — Horse is feeling his oats.

Dizzy Dean, Who Defied Them to Hit It Would Deaden Ball for Current Pitchers

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

LAKELAND, Fla.—(NEA)—Dizzy Dean, the last major league pitcher to win 30 games, would deaden the ball for the current crop.

"The one-time incredible hick of the old St. Louis Cardinal Gas-House Gang believes that is the only way to check the steady parade of pitchers to and from the box."

The conversation grew out of Major League Red Rolfe of the Tigers saying he could use two relief pitchers this year.

"The ball of today is even livelier than the one I pitched," says the star of the 1934 World Series, "and everybody knows that one could be belted far enough."

"The many pitching changes and firemen like Joe Page of the Yankees getting the more important money prove that."

"The poor pitcher hasn't a chance, so they average three and four a game."

"The only possible way to even the score is to go back to a deader ball."

"That would put a stop to the easy shuttling of pitchers, put defense and offense back on even terms."

"It would also give the fans play. Too often 4 E more chance to see clever infield play. Too frequently nowadays it's either 'you do or you don't' with an infielder."

"The ball more than any other thing brought on the definite death of 20-game winners, although there are not enough raw-boned kids coming up."

"I dislike to be repetitious, but youngsters have it much, too easy today."

"It's showing up in the caliber of play all the way around—in field, in outfield and catching."

Dean never was certain about his age as an active combatant, and now pretty Mrs. Patricia Dean is authority for the statement that he is only 39. If that is true, O'! Diz certainly was a driven to the sidelines by his arm injury at an early age.

Anyway, he's the picture of health and at six feet three and 225 pounds, 50 pounds heavier than during his pitching days, done it five times in a row."

Getting Monotonous
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State ice hockey coach Harold Pausen is getting a bit wary of pitting his freshman against the varsity in practice. "Varsity tempers get awfully frayed when the freshmen beat them," he explains, "and they've than during his pitching days, done it five times in a row."

What a Fighter! Theagenes Killed 1,800 Opponents

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis made to return the statue better witness. Thereupon he became famous for his strength. When he became of age he took out corners and had 1,400 olive wreaths placed on his head.

Theagenes became so famous that the Greeks erected a bronze statue in his honor. When he died one of his enemies flung his statue, and as if in retaliation, the statue fell and killed him. Legend has it that the family of the dead man prosecuted and the statue was convicted of murder. Following traditional Greek punishment for such crimes, the Thracians dropped the statue to the bottom of the sea. Later the statue was recovered by fishermen with nets and set back to its original spot.

For centuries any Theagenes statue was considered a cure-all for injured athletes.

If Joe Louis could only find one now he might try to regain his youthful figure. But don't let anyone tell you Louis was tops in defending his crown. Theagenes got so many olive wreaths that he could have opened a stuffed olive factory.

Hamilton to Ink Phil's Contract
AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' big Tom Hamilton, star baseball and basketball player, says he's going to sign up with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Hamilton was named the most valuable player in the tournament as the Longhorns won the national NCAA baseball title last year. He had another season of eligibility left, but his signature on the contract will rule that out.

Venezuela's Iron Mountains to Insure U.S. Adequate Ore Supply Until 2,000

PITTSBURGH — (NEA) — Christmas in 1946 was a little unusual for J. G. Munson, vice president of U. S. Steel. He spent part of the day listening to two young geologists tell him why he should play Santa Claus with $18,000 of his company's money. Though hundreds of thousands had already been paid out fruitlessly on the same gamble, Munson told the two to go ahead. With a third geologist borrowed from a rival firm, they were the remnants of a small band of men who had been methodically scanning the globe for a year. Their goal: A great new source of iron. The search was almost desperate. The high-grade ores of the great Mesabi Range in Minnesota, for decades the nation's chief source, were expected to play out in 10 to 20 years. A big new strike on the Quebec-Labrador border would help some producers, but not Big Steel. Staring it in the face was the prospect of spending billions to turn out usable ores from the vast fields of low-grade, iron-bearing taconite rock in Minnesota.

The world had been combed repeatedly for rich deposits. U. S. Steel's files were fat with geologists' pessimistic reports. But early in 1946 it decided to have "just one more look around" before plunging deeply into taconite. That last look was something.

Hundreds of properties were examined in such scattered spots as Alaska, British Columbia, Newfoundland, Mediterranean and West Coast Africa, Puerto Rico, Cuba, Mexico, Central America, Brazil and Venezuela.

Geologists took to the air to spot likely-looking areas. Some plodded overland to study prospects at close hand. Roads were built and machinery hauled by crude transport to key places. A great deal of iron was found, but none in huge masses.

By Christmas of 1946 Munson's two visitors and their borrowed associate were among the few still eager for the hunt. Packing Munson's hopeful Christmas gift, the trio headed back to Venezuela for a last bold try. Carefully they photographed 10,500 square miles of unexplored land in eastern Venezuela.

They became interested in two small mountains and moved in for a good look. One April morning at six they started to climb to the 2000-foot summit of one of the pair, now called Cerro Bolivar. From 8:30 until 4:30 in the afternoon they walked the mountain top. They were astounded. Cerro Bolivar was almost pure iron, in apparently unbelievable amounts. Quickly and quietly, all available diamond drills were rushed from other test areas and bases. Nearly 100 holes were drilled, and tunnels were blasted to cross check the findings.

Scientists blinked as magnetometers, measuring iron content, gave the highest readings ever recorded—an average of 65 percent. As tests went forward, it became plain that U. S. Steel had found the richest and perhaps the greatest iron ore deposit in history. Only the Mesabi itself is in its class. Cerro Bolivar, a mile wide and four and a half miles long, is a wholesome chunk of some 1,000,000,000 tons of ore. Other deposits within a 30-mile radius boost the reserves by 300,000,000 tons. The price tag on the find: $10 billion.

FROM INDONESIA
—Dr. Ali Sastroamidjojo (above), first Ambassador to the U. S. from the United States of Indonesia, has presented his credentials to President Truman.

Little Cerro Bolivar, 2500 miles from America's Middle Atlantic ports, is lucky insurance until around 200 A. D. for the U. S. economy founded on steel. It immeasurably brightens our national security outlook, because drawing on its reserves may allow military stockpiling of possibly 600,000,000 tons of the dwindling Mesabi ore.

"No more rinsing is wonderful news for every woman who washes clothes! It's such a timesaver to take the wash right from the Tide suds, put it through the wringer, and onto the line! And everything looks so bright and clean!"

- Here Are The Facts About Washing Without Rinsing
1. Will this method get clothes really clean? Yes, Tide keeps the dirt suspended in the sudsy water. When you wring out the clothes, the dirt runs out with the washwater—and clothes come from the wringer CLEAN... and as bacteria-free as rinsed clothes.
  2. Will clothes come white? Yes, dazzling white! It is almost impossible to tell the difference between a rinsed, and an unrinsed Tide-washed white shirt.
  3. How about ironing unrinsed clothes? When you wash with Tide—without rinsing—clothes dry soft and fluffy... iron easily.
  4. Is this method safe for fabrics? Yes, it is safe... skipping the rinsing and extra wringings actually saves wear and tear on clothes.

I received today's hand from Dr. L. W. Zeimlak, who is associated with the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research of the University of Pittsburgh. He told me the hand came up in their regular duplicate session. They had seven tables playing, six of which arrived at four or five spade contract, while, one table reached three no trump. All made seven-odd.

The North players who used the Blackwood four no trump convention, asking for aces, signed the hand off at five spades when their partners responded with five clubs, showing no aces. I have given you the bidding as I think it should have gone.

Dr. Zeimlak asked me several questions about the hand. First—Did I think North and South should arrive at a slam contract? Second—Should South open the bidding, and if so, should South bid one spade or three spades? Third—When North bids four no trump, should South bid five diamonds, without an ace, showing the void in hearts?

My comments were as follows: The South hand is too good to preempt, and as he does not have an opening bid, he should pass. The North hand is the type that does not lend itself to the use of the Blackwood four no trump convention.

When North jumps to three spades over South's overall of one spade, South should realize that his partner has a very good hand. He should show the distributional strength of his hand with a bid of four diamonds.

The bid of five diamonds by North shows an ideal fit; therefore South should know the hand is good for at least a small slam. Now South's bid of six diamonds practically marks him with a 6-6-1 distribution.

Some tournament players would take the hand back to six spades, while at rubber bridge, if this hand came up, the average North player would let the contract stand at six diamonds. A few venturesome players might try for seven, but I doubt if many players in the country would reach a grand slam.

Wetback Population Reported Declining

McALLEN — (AP) — Border patrolmen are still rounding up Mexicans illegally in the United States, and Rio Grande Valley residents say the "wetback" population is noticeably smaller.

The patrol said 1,100 wetbacks were picked up late Saturday in the Donna area. Another 1,000 were arrested Monday between McAllen and Weslaco.

FOOD PRICES AFFECTED BY INCOME CHANGES

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK — (AP) — America's changing eating habits—and perhaps even more its shifting income levels—affect the food business and food prices today almost as much as the vagaries of supply.
 Food dealers are always at the mercy of supply—weather, government subsidies, export demand, import threats, all play their part. But demand isn't as constant a factor as you might think. When you move into a higher income bracket, you're apt to change not only the quality of the food you buy, but also the very kinds of foods you buy.
 For example, if you get richer, you're apt to buy more frozen fruits and vegetables than your poorer neighbors. They stick closer to flour, fats and oils than the more affluent.

 The food habits of the various income classes have been reduced to statistics by the National Industrial Conference Board.
 The part that income plays in eating habits is strikingly shown in the case of frozen fruits and vegetables, a comparative new-comer. Those making $7,500 or more a year consume three times more per capita than the average, while those in the lowest income brackets consume less than half the average.
 Bakery products find the greatest per capita consumption among those in the $3,000 to $4,000 a year class. That same is true for such prepared dishes as soups, and for potatoes and sugars and sweets.
 Greatest per capita consumption of fats and oils, dried fruits and vegetables, flour and other cereal foods is by families with incomes under $2,000 a year. Least per capita consumption of all of these is by those in the $7,500-plus group.
 The upper brackets consume the most fresh fruits, milk, eggs, meat, poultry, fish, and fresh vegetables, and the lowest income brackets consume the least.
 Canned fruits, vegetables and juices appeal most to those making between $4,000 and $5,000. Those making less than $1,000 buy little more than half of the average for all classes of these canned items.
 The board bases its data on home consumption only. It says higher income classes eat more meals away from home, which might change the picture.

PSYCHO QUIZ

by ALANO DASS

Only today and tomorrow remain to see Alano Dass, master mentalist who is appearing in person on the stage of the LaNora Theatre and who has all Pampa raving. Mr. Dass is receiving much praise for his high class mental act and his ability to give definite proof that he has psychic talent. Tomorrow afternoon Mr. Dass will present his special matinee for ladies only. Every lady attending this special show will have the opportunity of submitting a question, and questions of a personal and delicate nature will not be read aloud. Names will not be called if the ladies so desire. The women having personal questions will also have the opportunity of having a private interview with Mr. Dass. This special matinee will be Mr. Dass' final show in Pampa.
 Below are more questions that have been asked by local people at the LaNora Theatre and the answers as given by Alano Dass:

A. B.—Will my brother buy half of the business?
 A.—Since the condition of your health requires you to take a long rest, I feel quite sure that he will buy your interest and soon.
 G. C.—How long will it be before I go back to work?
 A.—It appears to me that you will start back to work between the 20th and 25th of this month. Your injury was quite serious so don't become too anxious and start too soon.
 S. P.—When will I hear from H.?
 A.—As I see it, you will receive long distance tomorrow night, but it will be disappointing as he will tell you he can't come to see you this week or next.
 M. R.—Will we sell our property and make the change we have in mind?
 A.—This property will be sold before the end of sixty days, and you will make the change during the month of May. I think this change will be beneficial to your wife's asthmatic condition.
 L. C.—Mr. Dass, is what I have been hearing about my husband E. true?
 A.—This question is too personal to be answered at this time. If you will attend the LaNora Theatre tomorrow afternoon when I have my special matinee for women only, I shall be happy to talk with you privately, and I believe that I can relieve you of some unnecessary worry.
 T. J.—Can you see any improvement in my marital affairs or what will be the outcome?
 A.—I suggest that you do not do what you have in mind. If you will wait another 30 days, you will change your mind. The one who has been causing so much trouble will leave town soon and will not return.
 V. W.—Will Mr. F. make the business contact that he has promised?
 A.—Mr. F. is sincere, as I see it, and he will do everything possible to help you get the desired position in Dallas.
 E. G.—What will be the outcome of this present affair and what shall I do?
 A.—This is a decision that you must make for yourself, but, if I were you, I should end this affair at once and make a complete change. The continuation can mean only unhappiness for the three persons concerned.
 B. C.—When will I be married and to whom?
 A.—A marriage is indicated for you during the last two months of this year, and it will be to D., the boy from Lubbock. It is my intuitive impression this second marriage will be successful and you will get to keep your daughter, Susan, with you.
 Remember, you have just tonight and tomorrow to see Alano Dass, the outstanding mentalist of the age, at the LaNora Theatre, and, ladies, don't forget your special matinee tomorrow afternoon. This matinee will positively be Mr. Dass' final appearance in Pampa. If there is a solution to your problem, Alano Dass can help you. Mr. Dass gives definite proof that his work is honest and above skepticism and that he can solve human problems. Whether you have a problem or not, his astounding performances are worth seeing, so make the LaNora Theatre a must on your entertainment list.

GOP Liberals Start Work on Own Platform

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Headed by Senator Ives (R-N.Y.), Republicans who like to be classed as liberals began trying this week to put together their own platform for this year's congressional races.

Ives told a reporter he had circulated the suggested draft of a platform to several GOP colleagues. Ives didn't name them, but those who received copies evidently included Senators Lodge, Mass., Aiken of Vermont, Hendrickson of New Jersey, Smith of Maine and Tobey of New Hampshire.

The group may meet next week to see if they can agree on a statement rivaling that issued recently by the Republican National Committee and a majority of Senate and House Republicans.

Ives and others called the party declaration weak-kneed on such issues as civil rights. The New York senator criticized its labor plank and said he doesn't agree with its social program.

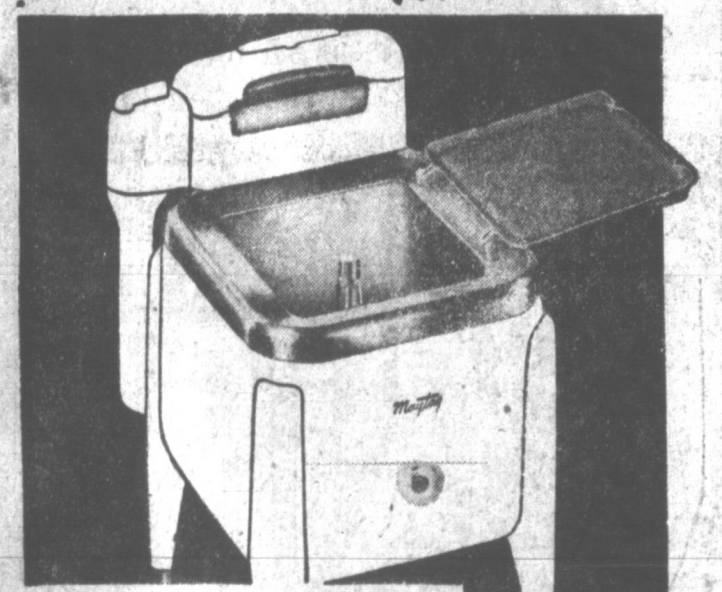

Democrats meanwhile scheduled a new harmony move at a party rally in Chicago, probably in the third week of May. President Truman and Vice President Barkley will be the stars of a meeting to which all Democratic members of Congress and the members of the party's national committee will be invited.

Kansas City Policeman Wields Brush

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — (NEA) — Police Patrolman Pat Murray is knocking 'em cold with a paint brush.

As a result, the rogues' gallery isn't the only department in the Kansas City, Mo., police headquarters benefiting by his skill with pictures.

headquarters and an artist in his spare time, Murray has painted a mural showing the work of Kansas City police. It will be hung in the lobby of police headquarters building after a public showing.

Murray's fellow policemen modeled for the mural. One appeared as a drunk being dragged from the street.

The right half of the painting represents nighttime; the left half, daytime. In the shadowy light of night, there is a section depicting a technician at work in the crime laboratory. On close inspection, a detective is spotted shooting from the ground at a fugitive leaning from a window of a darkened building. Injecting even more realism, the patrolman-artist placed a clearly legible 25-mile-per-hour speed limit sign on a boulevard and a traffic officer issuing a ticket to a motorist.

For seven years a police officer, Murray also studied five years under Thomas Hart Benton, famous Midwestern artist, and spent two years in Arizona where he "painted the West." He has started work on a series of paintings on various phases of law enforcement.

Need for Rain Termed Urgent in High Plains

AUSTIN — (AP) — Rain was urgently needed in the high plains wheat country to check further deterioration at the end of February.

In its weekly crop report, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said small grains were making good development in the low rolling plains and North Texas.

Preparation of land for spring planting made fair progress as soils dried over much of the state, the report said. In the Lower Rio Grande Valley about half the cotton acreage had been planted and in south central counties corn planting was starting.

Prospects for hardy type vegetables and onions in the coastal bend were improved by rain, but moisture still was needed in the Lower Valley.

The highest land in Eniwetok, U. S. A.-bomb test ground in the Marshall Islands, is 16 feet above the sea level.

Houston Man Killed in Ship Accident

HOUSTON — (AP) — A 43-year-old pest control company employe fell to his death yesterday on a ship at Port Houston.

He was E. F. Hulse, Houston, who fell 40 feet into a hold on the SS Sea Splendor. Hulse and two other men had been fumigating the vessel.

Christmas Island in the Pacific was so named because the explorer, James Cook, discovered it on Christmas day, 1777.

Mrs. Fred Haiduk Is Hostess at Grandview HD Club Meeting

Mrs. Fred Haiduk of Grandview Community was hostess recently to the Grandview Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Curtis Schaffer presided, and as Mrs. Harry Britten called the roll, the response was "What I do when I do what I please."

Local leader, Mrs. Haiduk, gave a short demonstration on preparation of a biscuit mix. This is prepared in large amounts and stored in air-tight containers, either in the refrigerator or some freezer, to be used when desired, and in the amounts required. This mixture can be kept indefinitely in the freezer. Recipes for the mixture were distributed to the group.

Mrs. Charles Warminski, Bell Club, gave a demonstration and discussion on "A Color Scheme Like in My Home." In addition to the color harmony discussion, Mrs. Warminski gave a few pointers on what we should or should not use in one room, to make it appropriate and correct. The use of the naturalistic, abstract and conventional patterns together, use of two many pictures on the wall, chair and divan sets and doilies on tables were discussed.

Points on arrangement of furniture, grouping chairs and tables and focal points in the living room were also discussed. In connection with the color harmony theme, Mrs. Andrew Dunn gave a descriptive talk concerning a pleasing living room she had visited recently.

Mrs. J. R. Carney, recreation chairman, led the group in a number of songs.

Due to illness, Mrs. Mary Anne Duke, home demonstration agent, was not present. Also, a number of members were confined to their homes with illness, among them Mrs. William Wagoner, Mrs. J. M. McCracken, and Mrs. Glen Ritter.

Following the business session refreshments were served to Mmes. Curtis Schaffer, R. G. Lemick, L. L. Stamps, Harry Britten, J. R. Carney, Jim Hermesmeier, and guests, Mmes. Andrew Dunn, Charles Warminski, E. E. Wallin and Mrs. Leo O'Gorman, and the hostess.

Next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. William Wagoner on March 8.

Here are a few facts about women that every man should know: That a woman will work her head off for a little praise from a man, but that the feminine reaction to frequent criticism from a man is "What's the use trying to please him?"

That it is hard for a woman to maintain her femininity if she is married to a man who assumes that she is perfectly capable of looking out for herself.

That a woman likes to be able to give some concrete evidence to her women friends that she is loved. A wink coat will accomplish this — but treating her like a queen in public is a lot cheaper and gets the same results.

That a woman, like an elephant, never forgets. She may be the first to make up a quarrel—but she'll live always with the words hurled at her in anger.

That it shatters a woman's self-confidence to have her husband show any doubt of her ability to handle any social situation.

That the way to turn a brat into a good housekeeper is to notice when she has spent the day getting the house in shining order.

That it's not jealousy that so often makes a woman low-rate other women, even her best friends, but a sure sign that she isn't getting enough recognition and appreciation from the man who should be giving it to her.

Her critical comments on other women are a childish attempt to build up her own ego.

That the wife who knows she is well-loved is easy to live with. So long as she feels certain that her love is returned in full measure there is little chance of a wife's being a nagger, a shrew, or a long-faced martyr.

"ALL THE OTHER BOYS DO IT"
Dear Mrs. Friend:
I am the mother of an 11 year old son who is constantly wanting to do things which I consider unsuitable for a boy his age. He always says "But Mother, all of the other boys get to do it, why can't I?"

When I tell him I disapprove of such things as running about the streets late at nights with school the next day he says that I am keeping him a baby. What do you think?
M. M.

Dear M. M.:
Don't ever let your children persuade you that something is right because the other boys on the street are doing it.

Of course 11 year olds should not be out on school nights. If they have no studying to do, then they at least need a full quota of rest. Most of them are growing fast at that period and sufficient sleep is important.

If you think something is right for your child, pay no attention to his stories of what other boys are doing. Stick by your guns. Often youngsters use that method to get their way, with Jimmy telling his mother that John's mother approves while John is home telling his mother the same thing about Jimmy's mother.

Sometimes it avoids conflicts to discuss such matters with the parents of your child's friends so that you can present a united front and thus forestall the above method. Then too, no child will feel that his parents are being unfair if he knows that the other kids are getting the same treatment.

'China Painting' Makes Program For Hobby Club

"How to Apply a Design on China for Painting" was the program for the Hobby Club at the last meeting. Mrs. David Hollis was hostess and was also in charge of the business meeting.

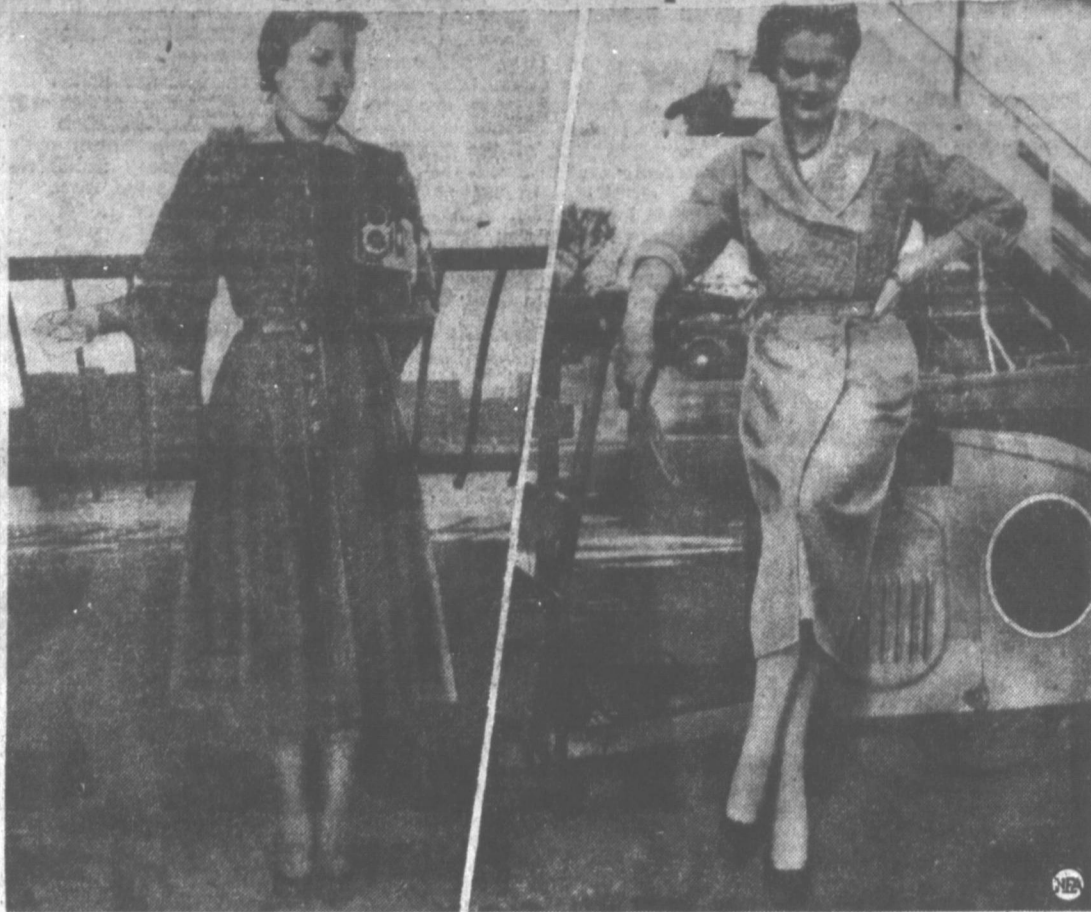

Mrs. W. E. Melton, who was in charge of the first part of the program, told the group that the design can be transferred to the article by use of transfer and carbon paper, or may be done by using a china pencil for an especially made for the purpose.

Mrs. T. D. Anderwald then demonstrated the latter part of the program, which was shading in the background on the already painted and completed design on the china. She also demonstrated a complete place setting of china which she has designed.

Chocolate cake was served. Others present were Mrs. Vern Savage, Mrs. George Howe, Mrs. B. V. Brummett, and a visitor, Mrs. H. Haiduk.

The next meeting of the club will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday, March 7, in the home of Mrs. George Howe.

Globe-Trotting Costume Is Pretty and Versatile

Good foundation for a spring wardrobe is the costume that can double as coat or dress. Thin gray worsted makes the full-skirted coat-dress (left) which is styled with "lampshade" sleeves and is fastened with silver buttons. Checked wool coat-dress (right) has a double-breasted closing, slim skirt line and a convertible collar. Cuffed sleeves are set into a dropped shoulderline.

By EPSIE KINARD
NEA Fashion Editor
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Destined to be as popular with the spring traveler as a cruise ticket is the coat-dress. Even if "traveling" is no more than a trip downtown, this versatile costume combines the easy-dressing comfort, good fashion design and adaptability to changing wardrobe needs which a would-be globe-trotter prizes.

This accommodating garment can serve as a lightweight coat over slim dresses, or buttoned up the front it makes a trim, tailored dress. Variations on this design theme are seen in most of the collections. Fabrics used are usually wool ranging from tissue sheer worsteds to heavier checked weaves.

Monte-sano, for example, uses a silk-tinged French worsted in dark gray checks for a handsome coat-dress in his collection. An unusual sleeve treatment of double "lampshade" flounces ending above the wrist sets off the simple styling of fitted bodice and full skirt. Belted in gunmetal leather, this coat-dress is fastened by its white linen collar half way down the skirt front with bright silver buttons.

A coat-dress styled by Margi for a narrow silhouette is of a heavier checked wool. A dropped shoulder line-sloping from a deep collar accentuates the slim lines of the skirt. The convertible collar buttons at the back for a high-climbing effect or, unbuttoned, it lies flat around the neck. A double row of buttons covered in matching fabric fasten the front closing.

Others present were Mrs. Vern Savage, Mrs. George Howe, Mrs. B. V. Brummett, and a visitor, Mrs. H. Haiduk.

The next meeting of the club will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday, March 7, in the home of Mrs. George Howe.

Mrs. L. J. Zachry Hosts Study Group

"Learning to Like the Best" was the topic discussed by Mrs. C. W. Coffin at a meeting of the Horace Mann Parent-Teacher Association Study Group. Mrs. L. J. Zachry was hostess to the group for a covered dish luncheon and study period.

The matter studied was from articles taken from the National Parent-Teacher magazine and from the national study course theme, "Freedom to Grow."

Mrs. Huelyn Laycock discussed "Citizenship — a Double Duty." Mrs. Zachry spoke on "Sex Education," and Miss Josephine Thomas on the "Kinsey Report."

Others attending were Mrs. Henry Jordan and Mrs. Don Humphrey.

British Leaders Don't Want Another Election Too Quickly

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Despite the instability of Britain's Labor government because of the tiny parliamentary majority it received in the general election, there is no reason to assume that her home affairs or foreign relations are going to pot. Actually the very uncertainty of tenure may prove to be a blessing in disguise. This is due to the fact that England's critical economic situation and her vast responsibilities as one of the Big Three western powers call for a minimum of political confusion. There is nothing Britain needs more at this juncture than government on a non-contentious basis.

There is a fair chance that this is what the country will get for a time. The current disposition of the ambitious Conservatives seems not to force the issue right now unless the socialists raise a highly controversial issue. This the socialists aren't expected to do.

There are two reasons why the parties aren't anxious for another election now. One is that a quick election would be terribly disquieting for the country, and the other is that elections are a great drain on party resources.

The burden of avoiding highly controversial measures naturally falls mainly on the shoulders of Prime Minister Attlee and his cabinet. On innocuous business and in matters of high importance for the good of the country, he may expect cooperation from the Conservative.

At this juncture one can see four issues which might precipitate a dog fight and another general election. The first one is the king's speech from the throne, which will be delivered March 6. This is a forecast of the government's program. Should this be too socialistic it would be sure to draw heavy fire from the Conservatives.

Then there is the question of frozen wages and dividends. The trade unions are very restive and so are the folks who are waiting for their dividends.

A third matter is completion of the nationalization of the country's great steel industry. And finally in April the national budget will be introduced. At the best this is bound to be full of fireworks.

CINCINNATI — (P) — Cincinnati infielder Bobby Adams rapped out six consecutive hits in one game while playing for Columbus, S. C., in the Saily League in 1941, and by an amazing coincidence, his brother Dick performed the same feat the same night with Fresno of the California State League, 3,000 miles away.

Trout are now being planted in remote lakes by helicopter.

Earth's Destruction Pictured by Writer, Followed by Retribution at Heavenly Gate

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (P) — There came a time when the earth was divided into two hemispheres, the East and the West. Great was the contention between them, and each charged the other with seeking to rule the world. And the hemispheres became armed camps. There were then 4,000,000,000 people in the world. It chanced that on a night in April the island of Bermuda disappeared, with a titanic crash, beneath the surface of the sea. Two passing airliners radioed an alarm. Three hours later a 50-square mile area of forestland in Siberia erupted in broken greenery from the impact of a gigantic force. The chancelleries of the world held hurried conference and agreed: "Counterattack!"

And the engines of war were unleashed. Each side sent up huge guided missiles, carrying hydrogen bombs in their warheads. Where they landed, cities or landscapes disappeared — and so did radio stations, and cows, and violins, and old books, and the paintings of Rembrandt, and the lives of millions of people.

"Victory or death!" cried the Eastern leader. "Win or perish!" cried the Western leader. And the bombs mushroomed by the hundreds, then by the thousands. And great winds arose and carried the dust of death over every land. In six weeks every man, woman and child, every bird, every beast, was gone. The trees gave up their leaves, the moss turned white, and no ant crawled.

Then the spirits of earth's 4,000,000,000 people flew in a vast host to the gold bar of Heaven. And the gates opened, and the souls of all the slain children skipped in.

And the parents surged after them, but a mighty voice called: "Wait," and they waited. "Why did ye thus unto me?" said the Voice. "They started it!" cried the leader of the East.

"No, you started it!" cried the leader of the West. So the celestial bookkeeper was called, and he said: "On a night in April a small island in the Atlantic was struck by a large meteor. Three hours later — hrm, very unusual — another meteor landed in a Siberian forest. Then everyone on earth just seemed to lose his mind."

"Why?" said the mighty Voice. "Because we were afraid," said the leader of the West. "Yes, because we were afraid," said the leader of the East. "Ye were afraid to live — therefore ye died?" said the Voice. "look at the Eden I gave ye!"

The great host turned and looked across the fields of space. They saw the dear familiar Earth, the hills of home, spinning in gray ruin under a silent sky. And as they watched the gates of Heaven closed noiselessly behind them.

Q—Have the world ski championships of the FIS ever been held in this country?

Q—Is the Walter engine an American development?
A—The so-called Walter engine is a German development which uses hydrogen peroxide. It is said to be extremely efficient for use in submarines, particularly for emergency speeds of 25 knots, but it is extremely uneconomical because it requires peroxide of 90 percent purity.

Q—Is a couple the same as a pair?
A—No. Pair is properly applied to two things which correspond or complete each other. Couple can mean any two.

Death Penalty Given In Fort Worth Case

FORT WORTH — (P) — A district court jury last night found 21-year-old Billie George McCune guilty of criminally assaulting a Fort Worth housewife and set death as his punishment.

"It's okay. You did what you could," McCune told his counsel. But court-appointed defense attorneys George Trenary and Charles J. Murray announced, "we'll appeal, we'll appeal. We'll fight this from now on out."

The jury had been out one hour and 15 minutes, after three days of testimony, only 26 days after the 39-year-old victim was beaten and attacked in a dark parking lot.

Not many Americans trouble themselves with the news any more, and you can't blame them. Platforms make dizzy reading. They say almost nothing — in a great many words; and they add up to a little more than zero.

The GOP platform for 1950 is a variation of the eight-year-old "me too" policy. The 1950 windjamming calls for "me too" but his hidden under a new coat of paint.

Harry Truman has called the GOP platform a silly instrument which tries to blow life into the "skeleton" of socialism and blame it on the Democrats.

Well, it doesn't take much blowing to breathe life into the Democrats' program to bring state socialism to the United States. Harry ought not be so smart sleeky on that score.

But hopeless Harry could point out, with a great measure of truth, that the GOP offers only to ease us down the same path more efficiently, quickly and completely than the team now at bat.

The GOP platform in case you have a taste for dull and dreary literature, starts off with foreign policy this year. (In 1946 in came last in the platform.) The GOP is in favor of everything the Democrats have done (although they don't state the case that simply) but they want to make the international WPA more complicated — possibly in order to create more bureaus to employ more Republican faithfuls.

The GOP wants to give away American European Socialists only if (1) it is essential to U. S. security and (2) if American economy "can afford it," and (3) if it will be "effective," and (4) if the aid nation can't help itself and (5) if there is a program for progressive reduction of the WPA to Europe.

On domestic issues, the GOP (remember, they are fighting socialism, they proclaim) the GOP wants more federal conservation reservation programs, more federal electrification programs, more "family-sized" farms, more price supports for farm products and subsidized dumping of American farm products to support paper-money prices.

Their favor grants of money to states for "social welfare work." They favor special federal goodies for veterans by liberalizing certain benefit payments. They favor spending $20 million so the FBI could investigate the "loyalty" of our government employees.

Now, ain't that a gorgeous platform? The GOP, incidentally, has reverted to its old and "traditional" policy of "high, protective tariffs" which protect the American consumer from foreign-made bargains. So that you will have to buy an American watch for $50 instead of a fine Swiss watch

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(Copyright, 1950)

This will be a discussion concerning three expensive New York lawyers who butted into a legal marital dispute between a New York city policeman and his wife, and other persons and matters.

The trooper was Earl Miller, a bodyguard of F. D. Roosevelt when he was governor, a naval officer under the patronage of the Empress Eleanor and a court favorite of the great and gracious lady throughout her reign. His wife, Simone, a native of Belgium, married him at Pensacola, Fla., where Miller had been given an assignment as physical instructor by the chief of police.

Next of the briefless counsel who appeared as if by some political magic we greet Charles Poletti, a former henchman of the Hillman-La Guardia machine which worked in congenial partnership with the Communists, the underworld and a corps d'elite of uptown Latinos called the Ghibbonnes, meaning gorillas.

Poletti was lieutenant governor under Herbert H. Lehman and the Federal Commission stepped down toward the end of his term, letting Poletti serve as governor for 29 days. Poletti improved his shining hour to release secretly from prison 15 criminals, most of them union goons, including two notorious Communists of the Hillman adherence.

One of them, Alexander Hoffman, had served less than eight months of a minimum term of four years for trying to burn out premises and jeopardize the lives of 100 persons. He is a record and his release without the knowledge of the judge or prosecutor was a job consistent with Poletti's well-known character. Hoffman was manager of a local union of Sidney Hillman's empire.

Largely because he spoke Italian and French, Poletti was a commissioned lieutenant colonel by John J. McCloy, now high commissioner in Berlin, and sent to Italy by the government. McCloy was assistant secretary of war.

Poletti had a wonderful time amid the beauty and the chivalry of Rome and if he should drop dead tomorrow he will have had a full life against 100 millionaires in Switzerland cleaning up on law business arising out of the great crusade against the foul aggressors. If you stay away more than a certain time your income earned in foreign climes is tax-exempt here.

Franklin D. Jr. is a junior member of this law firm. This firm handled legal business for Anna Roosevelt Boettiger's adventure with $400,000 of other people's money in a newspaper in Phoenix, Ariz. The chief angel, or sucker, was Walter Kirschner, chairman of the board of the Grayson-Robinson chain of retail stores in which Johnny Roosevelt held an executive position. Kirschner went for $135,000.

The "settlement" rate of one cent on the dollar was just half of brother Elliott's standard of the $300,000 rustle that he got away with in the busy marts of New York. One Irving Geist missions and actually dropped bombs during the war in the Pacific has just been told for the first time by his old friend, Lauren D. Lyman, who was assigned to the Marines as a technical representative to observe the performance of Chance Vought Corsairs in the field. Lindbergh was then "an old man of over 40" — 15 years senior to most fighter pilots.

But one day in the Pacific he showed the youngsters what a curving takeoff with a 3000-bomb load and a full load of ammunition for a 30-cal. machine gun, against a 14-knot cross wind and in a gusty rain squall.

He climbed steadily and waited his turn at the target, a radio station on Woltje. Then, in Lindbergh's own words, he "maneuvered into position, rolled over at 8000 feet and dove on the radio station at an angle of about 60 degrees."

He released his bombs at 1600 feet. He was still "grayed out" when the bombs exploded, but a moment later took a look through the damage. It was almost a direct hit.

Next day Lindbergh took off with a 4000-bomb load — probably the heaviest load ever carried up to that time by a single engine fighter. His objective was a small concrete blockhouse. At 8000 feet, he pointed downward at 65 degrees, the steepest angle he had ever used with a heavy bomb load.

So great were the forces set up that Lindbergh didn't have strength in his right hand to hold the sight on the target. "With a lighter load," Lindbergh recalled later, "I could have pulled out and made another dive, but it seemed inadvisable with 4000 pounds of bombs."

When the period of grayout was over, he looked down. He had apparently missed the blockhouse, but he had wiped out a portion of the main naval gun installation in that area.

Common Ground

Will Methodist Leaders Learn From the Coal Strike?

Possibly the coal strike that is taking place when this is being written can be traced back to the spring of 1903 when the leaders of the Methodist church went on record as endorsing collective bargaining. In the fall of the same year the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America adopted policies by the socialistic or Fascist creed as was adopted by the Methodists.

When a religious organization endorses a course of action in the Methodist church went on record as endorsing collective bargaining. In the fall of the same year the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America adopted policies by the socialistic or Fascist creed as was adopted by the Methodists.

The influence of the Methodists and the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America was so great that after they had endorsed collective bargaining which is really the caste system, then both the Democratic and the Republican parties endorsed it. They are both interested in getting voters by uniting apprentices or by anything that would get them elected.

Now one wonders how these leaders of Methodism and the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and the leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties propose to solve the mess we are in in the coal strike. Experiments in collective bargaining which the Methodists were advocating collective bargaining that meant a form of slavery. They knew that it would mean that certain groups would get the money and the rest of the people to their knees in order to obtain these necessities. They well knew that no individual, if one believes in the best interests of the people, would get more for doing a job than other citizens were willing to do the same job for. They well knew that to permit groups by seniority to get the money and the rest of the people to their knees in order to obtain these necessities. They well knew that no individual, if one believes in the best interests of the people, would get more for doing a job than other citizens were willing to do the same job for.

Now that we see how the labor union in the coal strike, other industries out of business, we should take stock of the whole idea of collective bargaining and see whether it is moral or immoral, ethical or unethical, just or unjust, American or un-American, Christian or un-Christian, if we judge things by their fruits as the Good Book says, we should begin to see that collective bargaining is not even good for the people as a whole. And if it is wicked on a big scale, it is wicked and immoral and un-Christian if done on a small scale. It makes no difference whether 300,000 or 400,000 companies are involved. It is a bad below down or whether in a local community a half dozen people combine to keep the unskilled worker from learning to do more than a few simple jobs. The principle is the same.

There is a natural way of dividing labor and that natural way is to let all people help establish the principle of collective bargaining. It is to eliminate some persons, some human beings, from having the right to help establish values. When the cost of production is given constantly to get more for their product than others can get for the same skill and production.

The very people that labor unions and collective bargaining were intended to help will be in the long run the ones that will suffer most. Everyone who suffers, but the one talent man will have a harder time to get along when production is curtailed by labor unions than the 30 talent man. That is what the 30 talent man did not see when 42 years ago they gave their endorsement to collective bargaining.

was taken for the relatively modest clip of $10,000. Nevertheless, the expression Iles-Emer recently got an "award" Eleanor recently got an "award" from an institution organized by Mr. Geist, who thereby got a pretty good bit of publicity as a philanthropist, scholar, statesman and adviser of presidents, no doubt.

Diamond owns 1,575 shares of Grayson-Robinson and is a member of the board. Why did Hooker, Poletti and Diamond, big and busy men of great affairs, intervene without a client in a dime-a-donut marital scrap between a retired state cop and his wife? I have wracked my brain to the bone, but the answer is, I got with a News Watch. I think it is almost within my grasp.

Trumpeting the Issue

The Nation's Press

IS THIS THE CLIMAX? (The Daily Oklahoman) J. Segar, New Orleans food economist at Harvard or Columbia, so he is completely bewildered at something that has come up in his own business.

He had been educated like Jerome Ezekiel, Alvin Hansen, Mordecai Frank, Stuart Chase and other exponents of the academic aspects of mashed potatoes and gravy, doubtless the situation would be quite clear to him. But, since he is only an ordinary business man who is quite sure that two plus two equals four, and therefore adheres to all such outmoded relics of nineteenth century thinking, he can only use arithmetic, not logic, to solve the problem.

The thing that puzzles him is that he sees by the papers that the government has bought 50,000,000 bushels of surplus potatoes and isn't sure what to do with them, so it paints them with a purple dye and sells them back to the farmers for 1 cent a bushel. Ridiculously simple, isn't it? Yes?

In his own business, he finds that he can buy choice potatoes from Canada, which take a longer sea voyage than from New York to London, and yet they are much cheaper than the United States price as upheld by our government.

So he buys the Canadian potatoes and sells them to retailers, who turn around and sell them to housewives at the going price. In other words, we have a tremendous surplus of potatoes and we have to sell them for 1 cent a bushel after being painted purple, while Mr. Segar buys the Canadian spuds, 2 c. a bushel, for $4.40 a hundredweight, or 4.4 cents a pound. And yet he makes money. The surplus of potatoes grown in the United States is met by another flood of surplus potatoes coming from Canada, and now being unloaded at New Orleans, Tampa, Jacksonville and other seaports.

Here's one solution to the problem: First, appoint a keeper for the surplus potatoes in the city. Let him see what can be done about a more rapid application of purple paint. Perhaps after the fashion of the multi-million-check-writing machine operated under the Henry Wallace regime.

UNHEALTHY COMPETITION (San Diego Union) One of the almost inevitable consequences when government gets into the order of business is the development of political competition in generosity. The party in power may start out with modest outlays to one group or another. The party out of power, instead of opposing grants on principle, undertakes to win the favor of the beneficiary groups by "raising the ante." Then, if the outs become the ins, and the ins become the outs, and outs increase their help.

The result of all this is to encourage dependency on the government, with the beneficiary elements playing one party against the other in order constantly to get more. Another result, naturally, is an incitation to other groups to undertake mounting the gravy train. If the egg producers, milk producers, potato growers, grain producers, etc., are to be any more, they not others engaged in production of foods and other essentials? If coal miners get a "welfare" bonus of 20 cents a ton, why not automobile workers? If steel workers get pensions, why not automobile workers?

It is no secret that political considerations motivate a great deal of the legislation providing benefits for war veterans. If Republican members of Congress and party leaders already are said to be trying to figure out a program to offset Mr. Truman's campaign "I'll be a G. I. insurance" plans. It may be noted, also, that when it comes to appropriations for public projects in various areas, legislators figure on the voting results to follow, the competition extending to the "gimmie" aid to states and municipalities.

This sort of rivalry in generosity in spending the taxpayers' money is costing more and more billions in time, it logically may bankrupt the nation. Human nature being what it is, however, neither party is likely to hazard political unpopularity by opposing or trying to limit these increasing drafts on the public treasury. The "gimmie" appetite, having once been whetted and gratified, is hard to overcome.

Your Tree

You can think of lots of ways to help improve the country scene, which will soon be busting open with many plants and bushes green. But to keep the outdoors beautiful, you have to work and plan, and there's sure a contribution to be made by every man. You can start a thing of beauty you'll be always glad to see, it before it's grown; season, you will plant a little tree.

You can pick a spot where room abounds in God's own lovely sky, and there dig the earth and plant a sprig that isn't very high. But from year to year you watch it grow and tend its wants with care, and you often think a man could have no monument so fair. It's a reach-in to heaven, throwing wide its open arms, and for homin' birds and playin' kids, it's got a million charms.

You can go from spring to autumn long your path of life on earth, and you love that growin' tree you have a home soon after birth. For you know, long after you are gone, the labor of your hand has bequeathed the world a tree-a-bringin' beauty to the land. And you say, please God, if you would grant a humble wish for me, give the blessin' of a long and healthy life to guard my tree.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — Secretary Charles F. Brannan is conducting such a lively, personal lobby for his two-price, farm substitute for the present parity system that he has great hopes of a trial enactment either at this session or in the next Congress. Sentiment is slowly shifting on the Senate side at least.

A frequent party-goer, the bald and old persuasive Denver advocate becomes the center of animated congressional groups at every cocktail party, reception or dinner he attends.

Friends call him "Old Potato," but he never resents this slur over waste and expense involved in that operation. In fact, he concedes the charges in his neat scheme to discredit the existing program.

But a certain prominent senator from New England, although he represents a densely populated consuming area, now wishes he had not delivered a severe criticism of the scheme as "fantastic" in an off-the-record talk to an audience of business men. He fears he may have to eat his words.

SPOT — Two sharply contrasting senators from farm areas recently agreed in a private confab that they might find it necessary to support the "Brannan experiment" if 1950 surpluses aggravate the government's holdings and force a lowering of the price.

"It sounds crazy to me," said Senate Minority Leader Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska as he rubbed his chin, "but it looks as if he has put us on a spot with it. Brannan promises something to everybody — a high income for the farmers and low prices for the people in the cities. How can you beat that as a vote-getter?"

"I am afraid of it," admits Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa, who is ranked as relatively conservative in economic matters. "But I admit that it seems to be catching on with the farmers in my state."

SURPLUSES — Mr. Brannan is frankness personified in admitting that he cannot tell how his proposal would operate. He admits that he cannot estimate the annual cost or the eventual effect it will have in liquidating tremendous surpluses. He does recall that the great stocks of food on hand at the outbreak of World War II proved to be a blessing.

"I am sure, however," he says, "that my plan will defer the evil day of still larger surpluses, government purchasing and falling prices. A low retail price will tend to get rid of a great deal of the stuff we have on hand now, even with the gradual loss of foreign markets. Quotas based on our needs and prospects will regulate the supply more effectively than we can do now."

"Anyway," he winds up with an argument that impresses hit-or-miss indifferent members from industrial areas, "I know that you fellows can't pay $1.50 or $2 an hour in your factories back home on fifty cent wheat, and starvation in New Guinea."

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Hiroshi Takada, one of the Japanese members of the American delegation to learn how democracy works, belongs to a political party known as "The Green Breeze."

When U. S. Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey was in Japan last summer, he asked Takada the origin of the name of this party. He was told that after the war a number of Japanese felt there should be a fresh wind, "a green breeze," blowing over Japan's troubled political affairs. Senator Smith's comment was that that was the United States could use something like that, too.

Another of the Japanese delegation, Takizo Matsumoto of Hiroshima, is a Harvard graduate who taught English at Japan's Meiji University. One of his students, he relates, got a job in a Tokyo department store. One day two GIs came into his store. They were lost and they couldn't find anyone who spoke English to direct them back to the American consulate. With a big smile, the Matsumoto, an English student told the two GIs: "Wait here. Will go find out." He disappeared toward the store's office, and they waited what seemed an awfully long time. Then the student returned full of apologies. "So sorry," he said, "American consulate just out of stock."

IN TIME FOR DINNER Many city and state delegates to the Law Enforcement Conference were extremely ticked off that Department of Justice officials ordered the sessions closed to the press. Several of the local officials got around this by distributing copies of what they had said behind closed doors to reporters waiting outside. The local officials were also disappointed because the conference

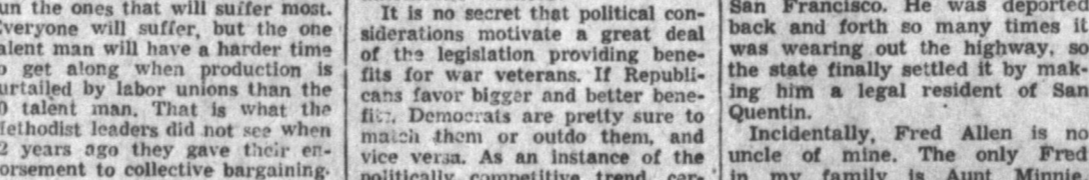

Gracie Says

By GRACIE ALLEN Radio comedian Fred Allen has been trying to prove to the Massachusetts tax commissioner that he is a New Yorker and not a Bostonian. And here I always thought he was a Portland man!

My Uncle Gene had two cities fighting about him, too — San Francisco claimed he was a resident of Los Angeles and Los Angeles insisted he belonged to San Francisco. He was reported back and forth so many times it was wearing out the highway, so the state finally settled it by making him a legal resident of San Quentin.

Incidentally, Fred Allen is no uncle of mine. The only Fred in my family is Aunt Minnie, who took her husband's name.

Six Communists Who Quit Party Tell Inside Stories

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — In "The God That Failed," a recently published book, six well-known writers tell why they became Communists or sympathizers and then backed away.

It tries to answer at least one question: why communism appealed to a number of intellectuals, here and abroad, particularly in the 1930's and before.

Some of them were amazingly foggy about communism when they joined the parade.

But, disillusioned and often sickened by the kind of democracy they saw practiced in the western world, they thought they had found in communism the great chance for brotherhood, justice and a good life for all.

It took some of them years to find out — or to admit to themselves — that they were involved in a fraud.

Of the six, only two are Americans: Richard Wright, Negro novelist who grew up in Alabama and never went beyond grammar school; and Louis Fischer, a newspaperman. Wright joined the party. Fischer was a sympathizer.

The other four are Arthur Koestler, an Austrian who joined the party in Germany before Hitler; Ignazio Silone, who joined and headed the Italian Communist underground in Mussolini's time; Stephen Spender, British poet who joined briefly and Andre Gide, French Nobel Prize winner who was a sympathizer.

Wright, least educated of the six, had the sharpest insight into the true nature of international communism.

He didn't kid himself, as the others did, by trying to explain away the things that gagged him. As they piled up, but didn't add up, he got out. In fact, he was the only one of the six physically thrown out. He was dumped on his head on a sidewalk.

Some of the others had to go through intellectual convulsions before they withdrew. They spend a lot of time in

New Chamber Heads Preside At Darrouzett

DARROUZETT — (Special) — The newly elected officers of the Darrouzett Chamber of Commerce, M. S. Gross, president; G. T. Phillips, vice president; and Harold Tennant, secretary, presided over the first meeting and dinner of the current year in the high school gymnasium.

The group discussed plans for extended telephone service in and around Darrouzett. T. M. Rogers of Guyton, Okla., an official of the Southwestern Associated Telephone Co., gave a thorough explanation of conditions. He stated that no dial telephones could be expected for Darrouzett until 1951, and very little expansion could be expected before that time.

The Chamber voted to raise $100 for the expenses of the Lipscomb Livestock Show, scheduled for March 3.

John Regan and George Miller were appointed to promote a clean-up campaign, a date for which will be set in the near future.

this book complaining that communism robs an intellectual, or a writer, of freedom to express himself as he pleases. I should think what would have discouraged them most keenly was the fact that communism, at least the Soviet variety of it, robs all people, workers as well as writers, of freedom and that tyranny is necessary any place any time if a dictatorship is to survive. There's an insolence in Koestler: "we ex-Communists are the only people on your side who know what it's all about." That makes no allowance for the people who saw it clearly for what it was and rejected it, without taking part.

Only 3 Major Farm Products Exceed Parity

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An Agriculture Department survey shows that only three farm products — beef cattle, veal calves and lambs — are bringing producers prices above the goal of federal farm programs.

All other products covered by the survey are bringing less than the goal — which is referred to as parity prices.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices, declared by law to be equally fair to producers and those who buy his products.

Tossed together to form a statistical index, the level of all farm product prices in mid-February was said to be 96 percent of parity. This compares with a record of 122 percent of parity reached in October, 1946.

Oddly enough, the three products bringing prices above their respective parity prices do not have government price support aid. Their price strength reflects the fact that they are not available in surplus quantities.

Veal calves were bringing producers an average of 130 percent of parity, lambs 123 percent and beef cattle 121 percent. Hogs, which are much more plentiful, averaged only 89 percent of parity.

Corn — the biggest of the grain crops — was bringing an average of only 75 percent of parity in mid-February. This is 15 percent below the price support level. Wheat on the other hand, was averaging 91 percent and cotton 82. Both are supported at 90 percent.

Eggs were one of the cheapest products from the standpoint of their parity price. They were averaging only 68 percent of parity. Chickens averaged 77 percent.

Milk and butterfat were faring better than eggs with prices averaging 90 percent of parity. The percentages of parity reported for other products included: rice 80 percent; peanuts 91; barley 77; dry beans 81; oats 77; grain sorghum 68; soybeans 85; sweet potatoes 97; grapefruit 81; lemons 83; oranges 74 and apples 69.

MAYBE YOU'RE NOT SUPPOSED TO SEND THEM COLLECT.

Bank Shortage Is Blamed on Dead Cashier

ALPINE — (AP) — The First National Bank of Alpine reported today a "shortage" of $100,000 to $200,000 in its funds.

Both Sheriff Jim Skinner and Bank President George Bains blamed the shortage on a cashier who committed suicide early last month.

Auditors from El Paso discovered the "defalcations," Bains said.

John Clayton, cashier at the bank, was found dead of gunshot wounds on Feb. 3. His death was ruled a suicide. Clayton came to Alpine from El Paso 17 years ago.

Bains said the shortage was immediately restored. The bonding company which had put up Clayton's bond covered 100,000 of the missing funds and bank

Draft Boards Add 2,382 To Reserves

AUSTIN — Texas draft boards added 2,382 men during January to the state's pool of manpower available for military service in case of war or emergency.

This brings the acceptable group for manpower in Texas to 81,427, Colonel Paul L. Wakefield, state director of Selective Service, reports.

The draft boards classified 11,260 men in January for the first time and reclassified others because of change of status under the draft law. Of the 11,260 new classifications in January, 8,878 were classified in a deferred status.

The local boards registered directors put up the rest, the bank president said.

"There's no doubt that Clayton was solely responsible, and that he had no confederates," Bains said. "No legal action of any sort is possible now."

The shortage reportedly included some funds belonging to Sul Ross State College of Alpine.

Trailer Expert Denies Arrest

AUSTIN — (AP) — J. Lee Brown of Chicago says he wasn't arrested for driving a car and trailer which Texas state troopers argued was longer than the state law allows.

His arrest was reported Tuesday in a story from San Antonio, where the Trailer Coach Manufacturers Association is in convention.

Later, Brown, who said he is parks director for the association, said state patrolmen warned him not to operate an over-length trailer without a permit — but didn't arrest him.

He said an Army sergeant who had been "stopped" and fined at Weimar, Texas, for operating an over-length trailer, saw Brown

6,038 youths who reached their 18th birthdays during January. Colonel Wakefield said registration each month usually goes above 5,000.

January registrations brought totals on draft board rolls to 530,538. Of this number, local boards had classified 371,168 by the end of January.

Chaplain Training Conference Slated

AUSTIN — A series of two training conferences for active Texas Organized Reserve Corps chaplains has been scheduled for Austin and Dallas during the first part of May. Col. Oscar B. Abbott, chief of the Texas Military District, announced here.

More than 111 Texas Organized Reserve Corps chaplains will have an opportunity to receive this special training during the period.

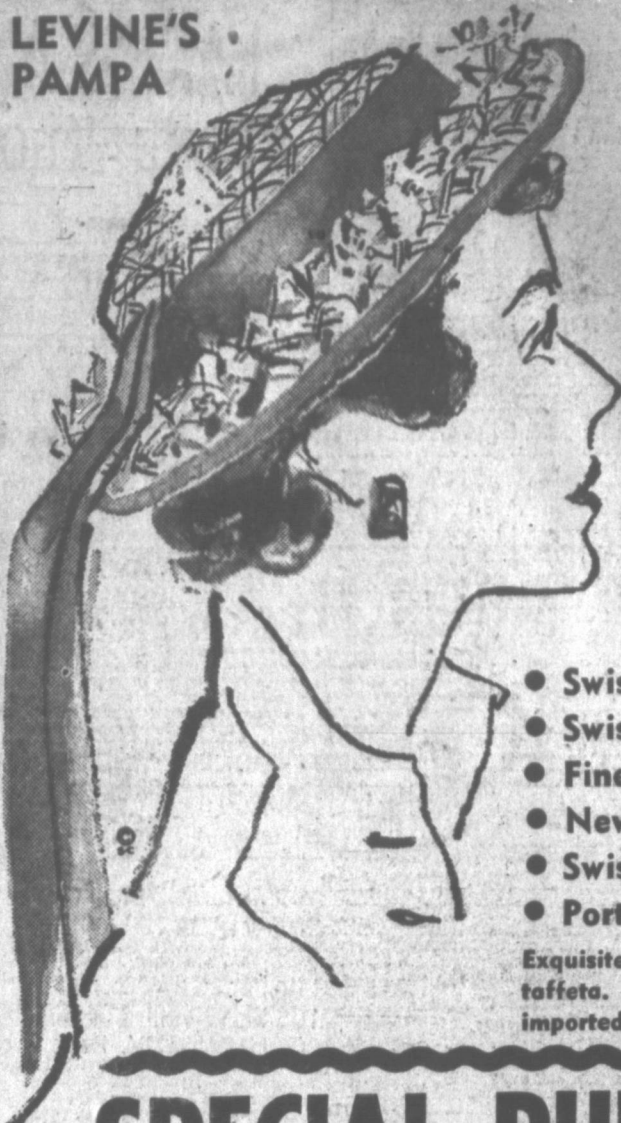

Chaplains will attend the conference nearest their respective homes. A quota of 55 has been authorized for Austin and a quota of 56 for Dallas.

in a trailer camp and warned Brown he might be arrested for the same thing. Brown then talked to highway patrolmen, and went to a division of the state highway department at Wharton, where he secured a permit to allow him to operate the trailer long enough to get out of Texas.

The report from San Antonio had said Brown had been stopped by state troopers at Columbus, Texas, as he was en route to San Antonio for the convention.

The Conestoga wagon, famous in U. S. pioneer days was first made in Pennsylvania about 1750.
