'Ike' a Possibility In Spite of Denials

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower once again has become a presidential possibility for 1952 and the big threat to all other would-be candidates, Republican or Democratic.

Guill Lashes Striped Pants

"The boys in khaki, blue or olive green have been traded out of their victory by the boys in the striped pants of the state department," Rep. Ben Guill, Republican congressional nominee declared last night in recorded radio talks beamed at veterans of the Panhandle.

Guill went on the air at 6:45 p.m. over KGNC, Amarillo, and again at 7 p.m. over KPON, Pampa, in the fourth of his radio series in the general election campaign.

He minced no words in laying the blame of the present crisis at the doorstep of the administration from the Asiatic problem down to the shortage of hospital space for veterans.

He told his radio audience that the veterans would be expected to bear the main brunt of a defensive war. "Reservists with experience have been called back by the thousands."

Quoting postwar slogans of the Democratic administrations, he added:

"After World War I the Democratic administration told us we made the world safe for democracy. After the second world war the Democratic administration told us we had preserved liberty forever in the world. Now we are looking bleakly toward World War III."

Then he declared, "we thought we had made the world safe for freedom, but the administration has sold, traded or lost everything we won on the battlefronts."

Guill added the U.S. had lost one third of the world, allowing the Communists to control China and American prestige.

"The plain truth of the matter is that the boys in khaki, blue or olive green have been traded out of their victory by the boys in the striped pants of the state department."

The congressman declared the U.S. had gained a state department, headed by a man (Dean Acheson) of "doubtful affiliations," with a far eastern division controlled by men of "very doubtful Americanism," the highest taxes in national history, with prospects of them going higher, the weakest national defense in history when it is compared to the arms of "our posterity."

Marine Corps Cuts Estimates on Men To Face Duty Call

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Marine Corps has cut down on its estimate of the number of volunteer reserve officers to be called to active duty.

And the Army, Navy and Marines have decided that enlisted reservists with four or more dependents who have been called may apply for discharge immediately. Both announcements were made Monday.

The Marine Corps decision to lower its sights for volunteer reserve officers was the result of an unexpected response by officers of the organized reserve, the corps said. Future calls among the volunteer officers for the most part will be to fill a few specialty assignments.

The decision to allow discharge of reservists with four or more dependents was taken because existing law provides a family allowance for only three dependents.

The new policy does not apply to Army men on duty overseas or enlisted men who were inducted with units of the organized reserve corps or the National Guard.

Girl Scout Fund Drive Underway

The general Girl Scout fund drive under the direction of Dr. Julian Key, began today with a breakfast in the Palm Room of the city hall. It was reported during the meeting that approximately $1,500 was raised during the advance drive, with some money still not in.

Mrs. Glenn Radcliff gave an account of what the money is to be used for. Mrs. Carl Wright, treasurer, pointed out that unless the quota of $6,800 is met, the Scout house improvement fund may have to be used in operational activities. It is hoped, she said, that the fund can be left where it is and used for its original purpose.

That is true despite the general's statement that he has not changed his mind about staying out of politics.

To Washington political experts it is apparent that the plug Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York put in Sunday for Eisenhower as a 1952 Republican presidential candidate has three important results:

1. Whether he likes it or not, General Ike definitely has been shoved into the 1952 political picture and will stay there unless and until he takes himself out just as definitely.

2. Dewey's pledge to work for the popular soldier-educator makes it tough on any other Republicans who may be hopelessly eyeing the White House.

Dewey lost as the GOP presidential candidate in 1944 and 1948, but he still is head of the Republican party and still has a lot of influence in it.

3. President Truman now would find it more difficult to pick Eisenhower to command a proposed international army to defend Western Europe against communism. There has been much speculation that the Columbia University president might be called back into uniform for this assignment. But if Mr. Truman sent Eisenhower to Europe now he might lay himself open to charges he was trying to get out of the country the man who might be his most dangerous political rival in 1952.

As a five-star general, Eisenhower still is on the Army's list of active officers. Now 60, the former supreme commander of allied forces in Europe could be put on duty at any time.

Eisenhower has said over and over for more than two years that he is not a candidate for public office, that he is a man (See DENIALS, Page 2)

Texans Press Tideland Fight

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Texans pledged anew today to press for congressional action next year to nullify a Supreme Court decision giving the federal government control over the marginal seas along the coast of their state.

Their renewed resentment was precipitated by the high court's refusal Monday to rehear claims by Texas and Louisiana to own the oil-rich belt, often called the tidelands. The court reaffirmed its June decision giving the federal government control.

As a five-star general, Eisenhower still is on the Army's list of active officers. Now 60, the former supreme commander of allied forces in Europe could be put on duty at any time.

Parcel Post Raise Asked

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Postmaster General Donaldson has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to exercise one of its little-used powers to bring about an average of 25 percent increase in parcel post rates.

Donaldson asked the ICC to approve a prompt hike in the postage charges for fourth class matter. That covers ordinary parcel post packages, catalogues, books and printed advertising matter in bound form.

Donaldson estimated the increase would bring in an additional $100 million a year for the post office.

Local men who will be at the meeting are Hugh Burdett and Reno Stinson of the Cabot Co. and Gene Fatheree, recently elected president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Fatheree will receive an award from the association for industrial progress, which Pampa won in a recent state-wide contest.

The group plans to return late Friday or Saturday.

Individual Boards To Determine 3-A

Married men still have a chance of staying out of the Army, according to Charlyne Court, secretary of the Selective Service Board.

Under the new ruling of reclassification, married men may or may not be classified 3-A. These changes of married men and their dependents are being left up to the individual draft board.

"We have had a large number of calls about this," says Mrs. Court. "It would help our work a great deal if the potential draftees would remember that reclassification is left up to the individual draft board and there is no set rule to follow."

Dripping Schoolboy Proves to Be Hero

PHILADELPHIA —(AP) When George Hewlett showed up for his sixth grade classes with dripping clothing, his teacher asked "how come?"

George, who is 11 years old, explained that he had paused on his way to school to rescue eight-year-old Evelyn Earl when the little girl fell from a bridge into Pennypack Creek.

His teacher sent the school boy home for some dry clothes.

Symington Sees More Hours, Taxes

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The man in charge of mobilizing the nation for the huge rearmament program says it will mean that Americans must work longer hours, pay still higher taxes and endure "cuts and sacrifices" in their living standards.

And while it may be possible to avoid general wage and price controls, Stuart Symington said last night, "we are now getting organized... for such price and wage action as may be needed."

An assurance came today from a top agriculture department official that there is no need at present for price controls on farm commodities.

Ralph S. Trigg, the department's production and marketing administrator, said in an address in Atlantic City, N.J., that "we most certainly do not want to put on any controls which are not absolutely necessary."

Trigg added that while stocks of nearly all farm products are now ample to take care of the nation's needs, "if the world situation got much worse and all (See SYMINGTON, Page 2)

Fatheree will receive an award from the association for industrial progress, which Pampa won in a recent state-wide contest.

Roesche Stresses Health Legislation

C. J. M. Roesche, executive secretary of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association, in a speech Monday night to the Top of Texas Retail Druggist Association, emphasized that one of the primary aims of the state organization as a management tool is in drafting a legislative resolution for "the resistance to state control of compulsory health insurance."

Roesche spoke to about 80 members of the local organization at a dinner-dance held at the Schneider Hotel. Herman Foster, president, gave a welcoming address, introducing Thurman Gohlston, second vice-president of the state association.

Gohlston introduced the speaker. Roesche is now serving as manager of a hospital in Austin. The basis of his speech was to show the purposes of the pharmaceutical association and how it can aid the retail druggists.

Slashing U.N. Armies Racing for Knockout

Big Guns Expected to Come Within Range in 24 Hours

TOKYO —(AP)— American and South Korean columns slashed tonight through shattered Communist remnants within 18 miles of the Red Korean capital, Pyongyang.

Just over a month after the allied tide turned on the landing at Inchon, the war was running swiftly toward victory for the United Nations.

The U.S. First Cavalry and the Republic of Korea (Rok) First Divisions were racing each other for the Red capital. Each wanted to be first to level the knockout blow.

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead, with the Americans, reported the capital is certain to come within range of allied big guns in 24 hours or less.

Military circles in Tokyo say the fall of Pyongyang almost certainly will end the Korean war except for mop-up operations against guerrilla forces.

AP Correspondent Hal Boyle reported the Americans were driving on Pyongyang in a 30-mile long column.

The foot troopers were forging ahead Tuesday night through disrupted Red defenses. Boyle said they might reach Pyongyang by Wednesday.

Rok officers had trouble restraining the weary but eager South Korean troops from surging along the road to Pyongyang.

Many of them had not stopped to rest for two days. They had fought back after a shattering military defeat—when the Reds invaded their southern half of Korea June 25—and the taste of victory was on their lips.

The South Koreans Tuesday drove from Suwon to Sangwon, only 20 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

They smashed through the town another two miles, after linking up with another South Korean column.

There was no attempt to stop the drive at darkness.

In airline distance the gain was 20 miles. But it was much farther actually along the winding mountain road.

The U.S. First Cavalry division smashed nearly 20 miles from its kickoff point at Sohung. It bypassed Sariwon, 35 air miles south of Pyongyang, and drove over a secondary road into Hwangju, only 23 miles south of the Red capital on the main highway.

Then it swung northward so swiftly that the foot troopers seized a bridge before the surprised Red forces could blow it up. The foot troopers were within 20 miles or less of Pyongyang.

Both the Americans and Rok troops were swinging along in open country along the flatland approaches to Pyongyang.

Behind the Americans' British and Australian Commonwealth brigade troops spend 31 miles to Sariwon and captured that highway city.

On the east coast Rok first corps elements rolled within sight of Korea's great industrial city of Hamhung and its port, Hungnam.

The Red radio at Pyongyang admitted U.N. forces reinforced and "spearheaded by aircraft and tanks." (See U.N. ARMIES, Page 2)

Truman Talk Forces Peace

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP) President Truman took extraordinary precautions today to provide a completely non-partisan background for his major foreign policy speech tonight.

Closely following his momentous mid-Pacific conference with General MacArthur, the speech is expected to reopen a concentrated campaign to force Soviet Russia to talk peace in realistic terms.

Every effort was made by the president's aides to keep Democratic candidates away from his quarters in the Fairmont Hotel, after his arrival aboard the presidential plane "The Independence" from Honolulu Monday.

Mr. Truman apparently was operating on the theory that no politics is the best politics for the administration during this critical period in world affairs.

His major foreign policy pronouncement is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. (11:30 p.m. EST) in San Francisco's opera house—where (See TRUMAN TALK, Page 2)

'Boss' for Korea Proposed by U.S.

LAKE SUCCESS —(AP)— The United States proposed today that the United Nations appoint a supreme civilian boss to direct Korea's multi-million dollar economic rebuilding.

He would be known as the U.N. "agent general." His functions would be equivalent in the rehabilitation of Korea to those Gen. MacArthur has exercised in the military sphere.

The proposal is embodied in a U.S. resolution submitted to the U.N. economic and social council today by U.S. representative Isador Lubin.

An American spokesman said the U.S. has had one in mind for the job, but there was considerable speculation here that the job might be offered to MacArthur himself. The spokesman said he could not say whether the plan had been discussed with the general.

The agent general would deal only with rehabilitation and would not have any authority over Korea's political future. It already has been entrusted to another U.N. commission.

He would head a new organization known as the "Korean Rehabilitation Agency," which would be completely independent of all other United Nations commissions, and would have complete control of Korea economic rebuilding.

The only restriction on his authority would be the necessity to make periodic reports to the U.N. general assembly. Since that body will adjourn in December and not meet again until the fall of 1951, the agent general would have at least a year of supreme command.

The preliminary part of the U.S. resolution calls on the general assembly to name an advisory commission to consult with Secretary General Trygve Lie and the present U.N. commission for Korea to select an agent general.

After this consultation, Lie would make the appointment independently. It would not be subject to ratification by any other U.N. body.

The economic and social council appointed a seven-nation commission. (See KOREAN 'BOSS', Page 3)

Local Businessmen Planning Protest On Credit Curbs

A protest meeting on the stringent credit controls invoked by the federal government, effective today, will be held Thursday night in the Palm Room, city hall, by local businessmen.

Local businessmen were being contacted and asked to attend the meeting. The group will include appliance dealers, furniture dealers, real estate men, auto dealers, and loan company representatives.

Indications also pointed to the group's inviting Pampa's two congressional candidates, Walter Rogers, Democratic nominee and Rep. Ben Guill, Republican nominee.

Businessmen from Amarillo and Borger will also be invited to attend the discussion, a spokesman for the group said.

BIG TANKS—These five former fuel tanks and two others like them are destined to become grain bins as soon as the milo harvest gets into full swing. Skellytown Mover Tackles 'Long Haul' As Seven Tanks Shifted from Danciger Plant

Probably one of the biggest hauling jobs ever undertaken by any trucking firm is the one now underway by Les Kreis, Skellytown trucking contractor.

On Saturday, Kreis and his employees loaded seven tanks from the dismantled Danciger refinery out near the Pampa Country Club east of the city, and began the long trek that caused farmers north of town to blink their eyes twice, scratch their heads and then jump in the pickup to go take a look.

The tanks, which are scheduled to reach their destinations today, are of three sizes, totaling 51,000 barrels, liquid.

There are two 8,000-barrel tanks; three that will hold 5,000 barrels and two of 10,000 barrels. The 10,000-barrel tanks are 50 feet in diameter and weigh 100,000 pounds each.

The tanks will be used as supplementary storage bins for the milo harvest this year, which is expected to give bumper yield.

One of the 5,000-barrel tanks will go to the Barnett elevator at Lark, west of Groom; a second will go to Tubb Elevator, Kingsmill and the remainder will go to the Kingsmill Barnett elevator.

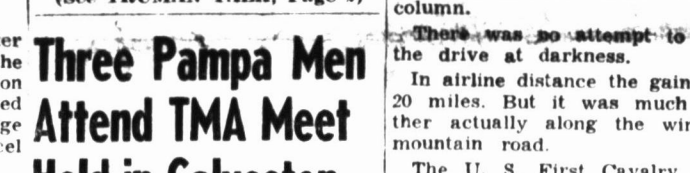

The 10,000-barrel tanks will hold from 45 to 50 bushels of milo, with the 8,000-barrel tanks holding an estimated 28,000 bushels. The smaller 5,000-barrel tanks are expected to hold about 28,000 bushels. The grain will be loaded into the tanks by means of screw conveyers. They will boost the present facilities to 200,000 bushels.

The tanks were loaded up Saturday and were routed north of town to take the "line of least resistance." Highlines located on the way had to be cut to allow passage of the big tanks which towered high into the Texas sky.

Although the smaller tanks were able to pass easily through narrow country lanes, fences had to be removed in places to allow the passage of the 10,000-barrel tanks.

If it comes from a hardware store, we have it. Lewis Hdw.

TRUMAN TALK

(Continued from Page 1) The charter of the United Nations was drafted during the final campaigns of World War II. The president spent a good part of last night in conference with top officials on the wording of the address, which will be amplified in a talk before the U.N. general assembly in New York Oct. 24.

He went over rough drafts with W. Averell Harriman, special counsel and principal speechwriter; Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross; Administrative Assistant George Eisey, and others.

President Truman's weekend conference with General MacArthur on tiny, scrubby Wake Island furnishes the background for the address which will be broadcast by the Voice of America throughout the world and carried by the major radio networks in this country.

These points are expected to be emphasized: 1) The United States is primarily interested in bringing to the Korean people something of the living standards of the American people — by reconstruction and rehabilitation.

U. N. ARMIES

A capacity crowd of 450 is expected to attend the annual affair.

Law Officials Are Kept Busy

Crime ran rampant in Pampa over the weekend and Monday with an attempted murder, two swindling cases and on old fashioned horse theft.

Wallace Daniels, 714 S. Gray, was seriously wounded late Saturday night when he was stabbed in the left lung. Charges of assault with intent to kill were filed against Gayola Johnson, a friend of Daniels late Monday.

Daniels was interned at Worley Hospital, and is reported to be in a serious condition, but improving. Johnson is in the custody of Pampa Police Dept., and the case is pending transfer to county officials.

Several Texas members of Congress bitterly criticized the court's action and pledged they will work for legislation to wipe it out.

Three years ago Congress passed legislation giving the states title to the submerged coastal lands, but the bill was vetoed by President Truman.

Senator Connally (D-Texas) expressed "serious disappointment" at the latest supreme court ruling and added:

"Texas without denial or question for over 100 years owned in fee the tidelands adjacent to its coast. No federal court nor any other federal authority challenged our ownership or our rights.

Guill added that a VA report of five months ago disclosed 27,369 veterans seeking hospitalization and were unable to get it.

Both Guill and Rogers are on the campaign trails hitting the various parts of the Panhandle in their race for the November votes that will send one to Congress for a two-year term.

To a news conference, President Rhee said he hopes the U.N. will "observe and advise" elections for North Korea rather than conduct them when the Communists in the north are defeated.

He warned that the Communists would renew charges that his government is a puppet if it is restricted in its powers. "Should this go down in history, it would be very embarrassing," he said. "We may win the war but we lose in peace. That's what every nation must watch out for from communism."

Travelers to Jamaica Are Offered Romance and Comfort

At Tower Isle, Jamaica, visitors relax on a terrace by the Caribbean. About 65 per cent of the island's visitors come from the States.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer

KINGSTON, Jamaica, B.W.I. — (NEA) — The traveler whose plane sets him down on this green and handsome island learns quickly that he has a choice of tropical diversions. He can swim, he can sight-see, he can poke among well-preserved ruins, he can rumba or he can simply stretch out under a palm tree and observe the truly blue sky. Jamaica, an island seen only by visitors from an occasional cruise ship before the war, now has the welcome mat out.

Most visitors begin a tour of Jamaica by putting up at the Myrtle Bank Hotel here. The Myrtle Bank is a kind of oasis set in the midst of bitter slums. But Kingston is not composed of slums and the fact that the hotel, with its lovely gardens and its salt-water pool, is an oasis makes it worth seeing. It has become, by now, an attractive Kingston tradition.

For the traveler, the true story of Jamaica is that it's a mountainous green island, thickly dotted with beautiful views. It has miles of alluring seacoast, gigantic tropical blooms, slender, towering palms, white beaches and the turquoise water.

The plantation life of which Richard Hughes wrote with such ingenuity in "A High Wind in Jamaica" is, perhaps fortunately, gone. But even so, Jamaica is not yet bustling commercial. There is still a great deal of lovely countryside unmarred by billboards.

For the traveler who likes to dig about in history, Jamaica offers an excitingly bloody past. On the seacoast road from Tower Isle to Montego Bay there lies, for instance, the ruins of a once-great sugar plantation called Rosehall. Six murders reduced Rosehall to a ruin. Under the mysterious, luminous West Indian night sky, the six graves, each marked by a royal palm tree, are an eerie

Double-Ring Ceremony in Clovis Unites Marie Grogan, Max Pryor

McLEAN — (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Grogan of the Ramsdell community, in Collingsworth County, have announced the recent marriage of their daughter, Marie, to Max Pryor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Pryor of Childress.

The double-ring ceremony was performed in Clovis, N. M. The bride wore a light blue dress with navy accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Pryor is a member of a pioneer family, having been born and reared on the same ranch which her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Grogan, settled on in 1909. She was a graduate this spring from Sannorwood High School, and a student in San Jacinto School of Beauty Culture in Amarillo at the time of her marriage.

Mr. Pryor was graduated from Childress High School and West Texas State College, Canyon. He is also from a pioneer family of Childress County. He was a sergeant in the Army, with nine months duty in the Philippines. He is an active member of the Masonic Lodge.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, they are settled on a farm near Childress where the plantation house is, of course, haunted and lovers of good murder stories can discover its secret in deLesse's novel, "The White Witch of Rosehall."

There is a small but stubborn group of travelers who adhere to the theory that tropical (or any) travel should not include comfort. These adventurers feel that a country can be discovered only through eating a real find (like shark's tail a la king) in some small, unsanitary restaurant, or by sleeping in a lumpy bed in some remote, cobwebbed inn, or by swimming from a rocky beach, full of seaweed and quicksand.

The average tourist, weary of his usual routine and anxious for relaxation and rest, will be happy to know that he can be comfortable in Jamaica. He will find luxury hotels at reasonable prices, food that will not wrrench his stomach upside down, and beaches which can't be surpassed anywhere.

The Jamaicans are an English-speaking, polite people who will give him the correct answer to a question and who will service him without subservience. Further, there is now an easy nine-hour flight on Avianca Airlines, non-stop from New York to Kingston.

POPULARITY TEST
Want to know whether or not you are genuinely liked by those you live, work and share your leisure time with?

There's a very simple test, if you care to answer one question honestly. Do you really want other people to be happy? A lot of people don't, you know. They are the people who are always telling you something for your own good. Who like to put doubt into other's minds. Who love to relate sad news. Who like to talk about their SPECIALTY OF THE HOUSE is Spaghetti Gabriele (seasoned spaghetti meat sauce) at one of Cincinnati's famous restaurants.

Caproni's restaurant in Cincinnati lures gourmets from all parts of the United States. Gabriele DiMatteo, who has been chief at the restaurant for the past 24 years, is a magician with macaroni products. This is the way Caproni's chef makes two of their popular spaghetti dishes.

SPAGHETTI GABRIELE

(8-10 servings)
One half cup olive oil, 1-4 cup butter or fortified margarine, 3 cloves garlic, minced, 1 cup sliced onions, 1-2 cup chopped celery, 1 cup chopped parsley, 12 ounces mushrooms, 1-2 pound coarsely ground beef, 1-2 pound coarsely ground pork, 1-2 pound coarsely ground veal, 1 No. 2 1-2 can tomatoes, 1 6-ounce can tomato paste, 1-2 teaspoon ground whole spices, 1-2 teaspoon black pepper, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon thyme, 3 tablespoons salt, 6 quarts boiling water, 2 pounds thin spaghetti, 1-4 cup butter or fortified margarine, 2 tablespoons grated Italian cheese, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley.

In a large heavy skillet, heat olive oil and melt butter or margarine. Add garlic, onions, celery, parsley, mushrooms and meat. Saute until golden brown. Add tomatoes, tomato paste; simmer for 1 hour. Add spices, pepper, 1 tablespoon salt and thyme.

Add salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti as water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Place dry cooked spaghetti in saucepan; add 1-4 cup butter or margarine, cheese and parsley. Cover and let stand for 2-3 minutes. Add small amount of sauce to spaghetti mixture; blend well. Serve spaghetti with remaining sauce.

SPAGHETTI TORTOZZINI

One-quarter cup butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons flour, 3 drops yellow coloring, 1 pint light cream, 1 tablespoon Italian troubles. Who can always find flaws in everything or point out the disadvantages in any situation.

Such people are never genuinely liked. How could they be? They always leave you feeling worse, instead of better; less pleased with yourself, instead of more so; less satisfied with what you have.

A FEW TESTS
If you habitually spring bad news on your husband the minute he walks through the door at night, you aren't the kind of person who really likes to make other people happy.

If you say "No" to your children when there is a good reason for not saying "Yes," if their high spirits annoy and irritate you, if you are constantly nagging at them, then you don't really want to see them happy.

If the letters you write are full of gloom and bad news and complaints, then you aren't writing a letter to make another person happy.

The persons who are generally and genuinely liked are those who like to see others happy and contribute what they can to that happiness.

Examine your own friends in the light of whether or not they seem to want to see you happy and pleased with life. You'll soon discover that the reason you always get a lift from seeing Sarah is that she never does anything or says anything to pull you down into the dumps. And that the reason you always leave Sue feeling a bit disgruntled is because Sue doesn't really want to see anyone too pleased with his lot in life.

cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 1-2 pound chicken, boiled or roasted, 2 tablespoons salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 1 pound thin spaghetti, 1-4 cup butter or fortified margarine, 2 tablespoons grated Italian cheese, paprika.

In a saucepan, melt butter or margarine over low heat. Add flour and blend. Add coloring and cream; simmer until thick, stirring constantly. Stir in cheese and salt. Chop dark chicken meat. Add to half of cream sauce.

Add salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Add 1-4 cup butter or margarine and 2 tablespoons cheese. Combine with chicken-cream sauce.

Slice breast of chicken paper-thin. Place spaghetti mixture into individual casseroles; top with slice of chicken breast. Spread with cream sauce. Sprinkle with additional grated Italian cheese and dash of paprika. Place under broiler until golden brown. Serve immediately.

SMU Drops to Third Place In AP Poll, Texas Seventh

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK—(AP)—Army's all-conquering cadets clung to their position as the nation's No. 1 college football team today. At the same time, once-invincible Notre Dame dropped out of the top ten for the first time in nearly a decade.

Chopping down a strong Michigan eleven last Saturday, 27-6, for their third straight triumph, the unbeaten West Pointers strengthened their first place grip gained a week ago in the Associated Press poll.

Yanks, Dodgers Pull Last Hour Baseball Deals

NEW YORK—(AP)—The flow of talent from the minors to the major leagues is over—at least until early December. The annual draft of minor league players by the majors will take place on Dec. 4-5.

The New York Yankees, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Cleveland Indians pulled last hour deals with minor league affiliations.

New York recalled pitchers Much Radcliff, Dick Carr and first baseman Fenton Mole. The Yankees also purchased catchers Clint Courtney, Lou Berberet, shortstop Jim Heideweser and Jerry Snyder and outfielder Art Schult.

Courtney last year played for Beaumont's pennant winning Texas League team.

The Dodgers obtained the contracts of outfielders Bill Sherman, Don Thompson and Dick Williams and pitcher Ray Moore. Williams and Moore played at Fort Worth in the Texas League.

The Indians purchased O. T. S. Minoso, speedy third baseman, from San Diego.

I found out one thing over the week-end. I now have three readers following this column. However, this doesn't include the proof reader—she has to read it—my parents, five brothers, two sisters, four sisters-in-law, and one brother-in-law. Blood being thicker than carbon black, I receive no static from the clan, but it was a different story from my precious three. They informed me I was way, way off in naming the Harvesters as a two touchdown underdog in their game with the Lubbock Westerners. Take my word for it.

I was within four points of being correct. The Harvesters were trailing 14-6 in the second quarter but that was as close as I got.

The Harvesters proved they could come back after the chips were down. Trailing 14-6 in the second period, the Fighting Harvesters didn't roll over and quit. Instead, they punched over two touchdowns before the half and were never needed.

The Harvester line play made the difference. With fourth down and one on the Pampa 16-yard line, James Sides, who averaged 11 yards per carry, was stopped by the budding naval officers.

Wilbur Robertson also helped Paul McMurry, 30-year-old USC guard who instilled as the oldest and tiredest college in America. He joined the Navy fresh out of Rio Hondo High School in Texas and made the all-fleet team from the USS Nevada in 1938 and 1939.

Two other USC players are "regulars" in movie bit parts, ends Hal Hatfield and Al Baldock. Center Mercer Barnes and Quarterback Wilbur Robertson also helped make a film called "The Hero" last summer. If they fail to act like heroes on the field, maybe the coaches can claim they're afraid of spoiling their profiles.

The pro football war definitely is over. The New York Giants and Yanks, finally decided to get together for a combined press lunch today.

Nick Kerbawy, the Detroit Lions' drumbeater, got around to reading copy of one of his own mimeographed releases just after 7:30 copies had been put in the mail. He let out a scream for Pat Pollock, his secretary, when his eyes lighted on this sentence: "The Lions will maintain their position among the top runners in the league." Pat didn't see anything wrong, so Nick merely sighed, "Look, beautiful, that should read front runners" and took the gal out to see Leon (232 pounds) Hart.

When Middlemere 1960 came home to Mobile, Ala., 25,000 people jammed into Ladd Stadium for a public reception. That night 32,000 turned out for the Alabama-Vanderbilt football game. That oughta prove something.

Soon as the baseball season ended, George Munger and Rocky Nelson of the Cards went bass fishing at Lake Norfolk in the Arkansas Ozarks. They caught 15 fish, a score that makes most of the season. Bob Unger, Princeton's flashy soph halfback, played high school ball at Pottsville, Pa., under Nick Kotly, now Yale ice coach.

Hardin-Simmons U. John (Model T) Ford completed 221 passes good for 2.13 miles in the past two seasons and the first four games this year. How many miles to the gallon does that make?

SW Conference Gridsters In Top Shape This Week

By The Associated Press
Southwest Conference football teams will hit their first Saturday of full conference play with the teams generally in better physical shape than any other time this season.

Two perfect seasonal records are at stake, and only one will survive.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs, high in national prestige, open their conference schedule against Rice Institute, also undefeated and untied.

Rice first stringers took it easy yesterday. Fullback George Glauser, who injured a leg in the Louisiana State game Oct. 7, will be ready for action and the rest of the squad is in good shape.

The Mustangs ramblod through a light drill yesterday minus the services of defensive tackle Charles Chambers, who injured an ankle in the Oklahoma A&M game last Saturday. Coach Rusty Russell said Chambers is a doubtful starter against Rice. H. N. Russell, Jr., the starting quarterback, also is favoring a rib injury and may not play.

In the other two games there will be battles for first division ranking.

Texas, still smarting from the Oklahoma defeat, faces Arkansas, downed twice this season. Texas A&M, with one loss, also traveled to Oklahoma, faces Texas Christian, a one-loser.

Five Texas Aggies not in the game against Virginia Military Institute last week will be ready for TCU. They are tackles Russ Hudock and Sam Moses, End Clinton Gwin and halfbacks Charley Royalty and Billy Tidwell. Long scrimmages are scheduled today and tomorrow.

TCU's lineup this week may include three sophomores who made good in the Texas Tech game last week. In offensive scrimmage yesterday Center Carlton McCormack, End Bob Blair and Left Halfback John Harville lined up with the No. 1 squad.

Fullback Bobby Jack Floyd, bruised last weekend, operated under full steam.

Coach Blair Cherry says the morale of the Texas Longhorns is good despite the narrow victory gained by Oklahoma. He said none of the Steers had injuries that would keep them out of the Arkansas game.

Light exercise in sweat suits was all of yesterday's practice session.

Arkansas is working on offensive maneuvers which they hope will give them their first win over Texas since 1938. Coach Otis Douglas said the Razorbacks' defense against Baylor was great but the offense was far from satisfactory.

Halfback Sammy Furo, out for two weeks with a knee injury, worked out yesterday. All other players are in top physical condition, Douglas says.

Coach George Sauer at Baylor is doling out his injury list, gradually clearing up after reaching lengthy proportions last week. He said sophomore Guard Bill Athey may be used on offense as well as defense in the Texas Tech game Saturday. Another player heard of this year may see action—Quarterback Claude Kinnancorn who starred at Waco High School year before last.

Ponies' Passing Ace Almost Picked Rice

HOUSTON—(AP)—Fred Beners, the Southern Methodist pass specialist who is the big worry of Rice Coach Jess Neely this week, once came pretty close to being a Rice Owl himself.

In fact, it was Herman Morgan, now the S. M. U. freshman coach, who recommended that Rice coach talk to Beners about the Houston school.

Morgan then was Beners' coach at Highland Park High School, near the S. M. U. campus in Dallas.

But for one reason or another, the lanky kid went to S. M. U. Now he is the number one headcase Neely's staff faces while preparing to send their undefeated Owls against the unbeaten and fast scoring Mustangs Saturday night.

Morgan drew the S. M. U. assignment to scout Rice for the all important Southwest Conference tilt.

After watching Rice defeat Pittsburg Saturday, Morgan told the Beners-Rice story this way: "When I was at Highland Park in 1946 I wrote to Joe Davis (Rice line coach) and told him about Beners. Joe was interested, and we corresponded several times. He invited Fred to visit Rice."

"But somehow or other Fred decided to go to Sewanee. I believe there was a close family tie there.

"He went to Sewanee a year and didn't like it. So he came home for a visit and I noticed he had grown several inches and had put on about 20 pounds.

"He lives only three doors from the S. M. U. campus. He started dropping around. The coaches liked what they saw and offered him a scholarship."

But after his year at Sewanee Beners still was interested in Rice.

He and his father visited the Rice campus, talked with Neely, then went back to Dallas and made a decision—Southern Methodist.

Beners leads the Mustang aerial show. He has completed

55 of 67 passes for 554 yards and five touchdowns. That's an average of 16 yards per completion. There has been only one interception.

Houston fans figure Rice's chances of defeating S. M. U. rest upon its stopping Beners. They figure that if the Owl line can exert sufficient pressure on Beners by rushing him hard and the good defense secondary of Rex Proctor, Gene Silver and Teddy Riggs comes through, Rice has a chance.

The trouble is, however, when you concentrate on his passing, the many-pronged S. M. U. offense may send Kyle Rote, Benton Musselwhite or Val Joe Walker darting through your line.

Bo McMillin and George Wilson are the top-flight golfers on the Detroit Lions football coaching staff.

Pampa's Running Out of Ends for Friday's Game

The Pampa Harvesters didn't let up in Monday's practice as they prepare for their engagement with the undefeated Lamesa Lobos in the number one Class AA game this week at Lamesa.

The injury bug continues to bite away at the Harvesters. End Tommy Martin will miss Friday's game because of a broken hand suffered in the Lubbock game, and quarterback De Wey Cudney was confined to his bed Monday with the flu.

Pampa is also running out of ends Jimmy Cook is the only one who is not crippled. Alvin Ward is still out with an injury suffered in the Wichita Falls game. Dale Gantz and Jerry Walker are still limping from grid injuries, and Buzzy Tarpley won't be ready to go for several weeks.

Wilkinson Fails In Prophet Role

NORMAN—(AP)—As a football coach, the University of Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson ranks as one of the best. As a pigskin prophet, handsome Bud can go to the foot of the class.

"We'll be lucky to win one of our first three games," Wilkinson told newsmen just before the season started. "If a miracle happens, we might win two of them. But we couldn't possibly win all three."

Perhaps a miracle happened. Or two of them. At any rate, the Sooners have turned back Boston College, Texas A. & M. and Texas, the last two by coming from behind in the closing minutes.

By so doing, the Sugar Bowl champions stretched college football's longest current winning streak to 24 games and stamped themselves as one of the top three teams in the nation. They also made a colossal fibber out of their boss.

NEW YORK — Averell Harriman is as much to blame as any other individual except Roosevelt and Hopkins for the post-war ascendancy of the enemy over the United States, recently made a speech before the annual convention of racketeers and their panicked accomplices at the Convention of the American Federation of Labor.

At the Cleveland convention in 1938, Green said: "There is no organization in the federation that occupies a relatively higher position in my regard and esteem than your splendid international."

At the Cleveland convention in 1938, Green said: "I come here as merely symbolic of this great American Federation of Labor, conveying to you in this simple manner the fraternal greetings of that great movement and I am bringing you the assurance of the undivided support and assistance of that great, strong, invincible American labor movement."

Former Pennsylvania Congressman Writes To Pegler

I received an interesting letter from T. W. Phillips, Jr. of Butler, Pennsylvania, former congressman from his district. He is not a defeated congressman, he did not run. In his letter to me he enclosed a copy of a letter he had written to Mr. Pegler. The following is Mr. Phillips' letter to Mr. Pegler:

"I am very glad to see in your column published in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Wednesday, September 12, entitled 'Duty of Editor to Expose All Tainted News,' your article on Mr. Pegler. It is a much deserved tribute.

In case you care to follow up Mr. Phillips' activities, you will find many things he has championed which are of vital importance to discuss.

"During the past fifteen years I have had several occasions to correspond with Mr. Holles, and on one occasion I quoted from him extensively. I am enclosing a pamphlet which I printed in 1938 entitled 'THIS IS A TAX DEPRESSION,' and on pages 16, 17 and 18, you will find an extensive quotation from a pamphlet which he had written in the late 30's, which is largely an answer to the popular - ability - to - pay tax theory.

"On one or two previous occasions I have sent you my pamphlet, but in the light of recent events, I think you will be interested to read again what I have quoted from Mr. Holles.

"I re-read from the pamphlet 'This is a Tax Depression' by Mr. Phillips had quoted from my former pamphlets.

"Since I think what I wrote at that time under the heading of 'Most Dangerous Opiate' pretty clearly explains what the people will have come to understand before we can have more and better jobs at an even increasing wage, I am reproducing it here.

"Seldom, if ever, do individuals or groups suddenly adopt harmful principles and practices. Social relations invariably come slowly as the result of a stimulating opiate, which for the time being is agreeable and pleasant to the people as a whole.

"When the graduated income tax was introduced first in the United States in the sixties, every Democratic legislator voted against it excepting one Senator.

"When it was again passed in 1894, the older leaders of the Democratic party opposed it. Democratic Congressman William Bourke Cochrane said: 'It's enactment will be entering a wedge in the system of oppressive class legislation.' He pointed out that the leaders of the Democratic party, from Jefferson to Allen G. Thurman and Grover Cleveland would quote tomorrow from 'The Strange Alliance' by Maj. Gen. John R. Deane, who served under Harriman in Moscow and at all the important meetings with Stalin and his crowd, to show what a hope we had for an ambassador in those fateful days.

It would do no good to defend our liberties against Communism, aggression and lose them to our own greed, ignorance or shiftless reliance on bureaucracy.

"Andrew Carnegie said: 'This nation will never regret anything so much as attempting to collect a tax from men engaged in business - being making money for the national life.'

"The great French statesman and historian, L. Adolphe Thiers, first President of the present French Republic, in his 'Rights of Property,' said: 'Proportionality is a principle, but progression is a hateful despotism to exact a tenth from one, a fifth from another and a third from another is pure despotism - it is robbery.'

"The government, attempting to reconcile the principle with reason and future progress, has written eighteen different tax laws. The present theory was drastically put into effect, we had the longest and worst depression in our history. It is the essence of inconsistency to be against the Unlimited Profits tax and still advocate that taxes should be paid on the Ability-To-Pay Tax Theory.

"The paramount problem of a free people is how to limit a government; and the best solution that has ever been found to that problem is to limit the government's right to discriminate in taxation. When the people once yield to the unrestricted principle of taxing production on this Ability-To-Pay Theory, thence the instrumentality has been established for the government to become unlimited and absolute and destroy the inalienable rights of its citizens and the results are inevitable.

"A great student of comparative, constitutional government and liberty, John W. Burgess, foresaw and predicted the position we are now in and approaching, when, two years after the principal was established, in his book 'Reconciliation of Liberty With Government,' he wrote: 'If referring to the government with the Ability-To-Pay Theory established would become a temporary despotism which would destroy property, use up accumulated wealth, make enterprise impossible, discourage intelligence and thrift, encourage idleness and sloth and pauperize and barbarize the whole people.'

"It is the opiate that has destroyed liberal governments in the past. It is the most dangerous opiate in which we have ever indulged."

news behind the news

By ROGER WARREN

(Ray Tucker is on a vacation.) WASHINGTON — Jess Larson may be a man to keep a political eye on. Without ever having made an overt grab for power, the former boy mayor of Chickasha, Okla., has become the boss of 20,000 government employees and the master of a billion dollars a year in government spending.

He's 46, young for a high post in government, and if his political roots were in a state with more electoral votes than Oklahoma, he would probably be a lot of talk in the Willard cocktail lounge about him as future presidential material.

In any way prevent him from so doing by a tax. When we take from a man, by taxes, because he rapidly adds to the wealth of society, we are taking from him the management of this new wealth.

When the WAA had dwindled in importance, plans were made to lump it with number of other small agencies, including the Federal Works Administration, into a central administration. Mr. Larson, instead of being merged out of the government, was merged in. President Truman named him to be chief of the omnibus bureau - the General Services Administration.

HOUSEKEEPING — In addition to the WAA and FWA, General Services included the Public Building Administration, the Bureau of Federal Supply, the Bureau of Contract Settlement, National Archives and several subsidiary bureaus.

General Services is referred to as the "housekeeping department" of the federal government. It's that and a lot more. It runs all the public buildings, moves other bureaus from office to office, will, buys warehouses and paper clips, rents space for expanding agencies, and is in charge of the program to scatter key agencies as a precaution against atomic attacks.

It has $1,000,000,000 a year to spend. Of this, $750,000,000 is for stockpiling of critical materials. Other agencies determine what's needed. Larson's men buy it. He controls the spending of $100,000,000 a year through General Services contracts; it spends $50,000,000 a year on 3,000 items, from swivel chairs to electronic machines used by other agencies. For example, it buys all the anti-aircraft guns for the national defense.

Mr. Larson also gave his "housekeeper" authority to dispose of surplus property no longer needed for defense so it looks as if some day Jess Larson will be back where he was five years ago - in the government junk business. Curiously, he is now buying up some of the same things he sold a few years ago - aluminum for instance.

RESPECT — There are several reasons for the Oklahoma's rise to power. One is that he never appears to be grabbing for it. His attitude is that of a private citizen in the ranks, never volunteering a duty, any new responsibility thrust upon him. It works, perhaps because it is refreshingly different from the attitude of most Washington bureaucrats.

Another reason is that he gets along with Congress. He is a big man, over six feet, broad-shouldered and bearing a shock of jet black hair. He doesn't look like the kind of bureaucrat that can be rattled easily, and he isn't.

The records of countless hearings at which he has been questioned show that he thinks fast on his feet. He deftly avoids the little traps so many congressmen love to set; he is never baited into saying something antagonistic. He appears to prepare himself by learning his subject fully and he treats each congressman with respect and without servility. As a consequence, he is treated with respect and usually gets what he wants.

The Doctor Says

WRITTEN FOR MEA BY EDWIN J. JORDAN, M.D.

If sugar is found in the urine it usually, but not always, means that diabetes is present. Now diabetes is a common disease and is probably increasing. It has been estimated that there are about two million people with diabetes in the United States and about half of them do not know it.

Diabetes results from an insufficient supply of a substance, which we call insulin, manufactured by the pancreas, a gland lying near the stomach. This insulin is necessary for the proper use of sugar by the body. What causes diabetes is still somewhat uncertain, though a great many physicians feel that heredity has a lot to do with it. Certainly, diabetes is much more common in certain families than in others and can sometimes be traced through several generations. Those who live in the cities and lead sedentary lives are particularly prone to it.

Heredity cannot be the only element involved, however, as often diabetes becomes obvious for the first time after a mental shock or physical injury. A high proportion of people who come down with diabetes are overweight. This, too, is important. For most people the onset of diabetes is gradual and there may be very few symptoms. Frequently increased urination and unexplained loss of weight are the first signs.

The treatment is complicated because all patients with diabetes must watch their diets and many of them also need to receive the glandular extract, insulin. Diabetes is still a serious disease in spite of the tremendous help which insulin has given to its treatment. MUST BE CONTROLLED

Many people simply do not follow directions and their conditions grow from bad to worse. If the diabetes is not controlled they are liable to complications and infections which are very serious. Sometimes gangrene (death of tissue) develops and requires amputation or some other radical treatment.

Not all persons who have sugar in their urine have diabetes. Sometimes the sugar in the blood is normal but it merely spills over through the kidneys into the urine. This comes when there is a normal amount of insulin produced by the pancreas, but the kidney doesn't hold it back well enough.

The questions of correct diagnosis and treatment can only be decided by a careful study of the sugar in the blood and in the urine and of the results of certain tests.

law privately and was later admitted to the bar. In 1929, then 25, he was elected mayor of Chickasha. As a member of the National Guard, he was inducted into the federal army shortly before Pearl Harbor, rose to lieutenant colonel, and commanded the 106th Field Artillery Battalion at Salerno. He was wounded at the crossing of the Volturno and was returned to the United States for recovery and assignment to the Artillery School at Fort Sill, where he was made a colonel. The Army loaned him to the WAA as an attorney, and he was assistant general administrator when he was given the seemingly dead-end job of Administrator in 1947.

Dear Editor: I have been reading about National Health Service in England and I read every word about it in the Wednesday (Oct. 11) Daily News, all the ads as well as editorials.

Now, as just a citizen, may I have my say. National Health Service? Doctors of this nation of free society are dedicated to serve their fellow man at home or overseas across the sea. They are ever ready to take a firm stand wherever service to our nation takes them. The thing they stand ready to fight for - to sacrifice for - to die for, is this freedom of choice of a free people, self-reliant, not slaves to a political master.

Foreign inspired compulsory health is but disaster. The great wars have been our deepest regret. But if we don't have freedom at home just what do we get?

Just a citizen, Mrs. O. Cog

Bid For A Smile

Policeman (to tramp)-Say, where are you going with that rug? Tramp-Well, a lady gave it to me and told me to beat it, so I did.

Groucho Marx-Who takes the best pictures, you or your husband? Woman-I do. My husband's pictures never look like his.

Dad-You mean you finked that course again? Son-What do you expect? They gave me the same exam.

Father-You first met my daughter at the seaside. I believe, the tide was how she had attracted you. Suitor-Did she really, sir? Why, she told me you'd be furious if you found out she'd winked.

Passenger-Doesn't this flying game get on your nerves? Aviator-Yes, it makes me sneeze every time I hop off.

So They Say

Most of the fussy economic thinking in this country today, can be traced to an adult generation which includes millions who have not had the advantage of a complete public school education.

T. G. O'Keefe, research director of the Ohio Education Association.

I showed my appreciation of my native land in the usual Irish way - by getting out of it. -George Bernard Shaw.

A great many people throw bricks at the people who have to carry on the government's operations. It has gotten so bad here lately that it is a difficult matter to find a man who is willing to take the rough treatment he has to receive in key positions. -President Truman.

Thoughts

Nothing is more ancient than God, for He was never created; nothing more beautiful than the world, it is the work of that same God; nothing more active than thought, for it flies over the whole universe; nothing stronger than necessity, for all must submit to it. -Thales.

"That's It, Brother!"

Many thoughtful observers, of both major political parties, view with deep concern the scurrilous campaign of untruths and insinuating half-truths being waged by the CIO Political Action Committee in Ohio against Sen. Robert A. Taft. The CIO-PAC is backing Joseph Ferguson, state auditor, in the fight for Taft's Senate seat.

The attack arising from the CIO-PAC's tactics has a distinctly reminiscent odor. It reminds a fair-minded person of the technique used so successfully (for a while) by the Nazis and currently being employed by the Russians and their Communist followers. Now comes an incident to throw a spotlight on the perhaps unconscious - but nevertheless apparent - totalitarian motivation behind some of the PAC's planning.

The incident occurred at a recent meeting of the Cleveland Industrial Union Council. During what reporters described as a vitriolic attack on the newspaper's coverage of campaign developments, James C. Quinn, secretary of the council, declared: "Some day we will be able to tell the papers what to print and what not to print."

There you have it. It is apparently the goal of at least one prominent PAC spokesman to eliminate from the American way of life the freedom of the press that has been the bulwark and the protector of our personal liberties since the nation's birth. Forcible suppression of the press is always one of the first actions taken by totalitarian dictatorships after winning power over a nation.

Whether he be Republican or Democrat, for Taft or against him, it behooves every patriotic American citizen to ponder the implications of Quinn's perhaps unwitting disclosure of current CIO-PAC thinking.

We want no political groups in this country that would even think of suppressing the people's freedom in order to impose their own program upon them. But unless voters remain alert to this vicious trend in politics we will have it. We will have it with a one-party slate of candidates shoved at us with the administration "That's It, Brother!"

Today's National Whirligig column on this page contains a very interesting article concerning one of the biggest businessmen in the government's structure, Mr. Jess Larson.

Washington.....by Peter Edson

By DOUG LARSEN WASHINGTON (NEA) — The complete telephone system for the Pentagon and all defense agencies in the Washington area has been revamped and expanded to handle the increased business caused by the Korean fighting.

Naturally, there was great consternation recently when the new system apparently collapsed. For four days the dial system was completely jammed. It took up to a half hour of steady dialing sometimes to get a number. The problem was solved, however, and the system is again working smoothly, except for some jams on Friday afternoons.

Cause of the temp was the World Series. An investigation discovered that the Pentagon employees were phoning in bets in the morning and checking results in the afternoon. Friday afternoon trouble is believed to be caused by betting on football games.

JET PASSENGER PLANES There is a reliable report from aviation circles that the first jet passenger planes in the U. S. will fly the Miami to New York route. National Airlines officials have been having secret negotiations with the Avo company in Canada, which makes the Jetliner, and the British firm which manufactures the Comet. If the plan goes through, however, it probably won't be much before the winter of 1952 that such jet passenger flights can be started.

Needlepoint Waistcoat to Colors to Horse for Henry

By HENRY McLEMORE
 There are compensations for being a fashion plate, to be sure, such as hearing the intake of breath when you stroll into the Automat, or having all the matrons drop their paper plates when you come late to a fish fry wearing the latest two-tone tennis shoes.
 And, of course, it's flattering to have younger men eagerly ask you for the name of the store and the location of the rack from which you chose your wardrobe.
 But there are drawbacks to being known as a "best-dressed" man, too. It's always costing a man more money than he can afford if he wants to keep right up there in the swim.
 Consider the predicament I'm in right now.
 I've got to buy a horse. I didn't know I was going to have to buy a horse until today when the current issue of Harper's Bazaar arrived at our house. I just happened to open it to Page 264 and there I found a picture of a needlepoint waistcoat, which apparently is all the rage with fashion-plate males.
 Naturally, to keep my head up, I am going to have to have one. But here is the drawback. Harper's Bazaar comes right out and says that the needlepoint waistcoat should be made in a man's racing colors.

 Now, I ain't got no horse, let alone racing colors.
 So as soon as I go upstairs and shave with one of those widely advertised razor blades I am going out shopping for a horse.
 With a very limited amount to spend on a racing string of one horse, I am going to have to be very careful in my selection.
 My choice will be guided primarily by two things, one of which is that the horse be a small eater and will be satisfied with table scraps. Oh, I'll buy him a bone from the butcher every now and then, but I just don't have the money to go in for bales of hay, barrels of oats, and bushels of bran.
 Another thing, my racing stable must not neigh or like to roll around on his back, kicking up his legs and switching his tail.
 This is because I have no barn and am going to have to keep him in the house a good deal of the time. He'll get daily walks on his leash, but aside from that he'll be indoors, and he'll have to be quiet about it, too.

 When the dogs bark at night I can go to the window and yell to them to shut up with out even really waking myself up, but I know that to come down to the living room and tell a horse to shut up neighing, would get me so waked up I wouldn't go back to sleep the rest of the night.
 I already have my colors selected, so as soon as I get my horse I'll wire the Jockey Club to register them, and then I'll be able to wear a vest with the best of them.
 My colors are going to be turnip greens green jacket and cornbread brown cap. I trust these colors have never been registered before. If they have been, I'll switch to hog's jowl pink jacket and moonshine white cap.

 Watch for me in the Members' Stand at Hialeah and Santa Anita this winter, with my coat over my arms so that everyone can get a load of that needlepoint vest.

CALM AND COOL
 Pure water, if absolutely calm, will not freeze as quickly as agitated water. It can be reduced to several degrees below the freezing point without congealing, but a slight shaking will cause it to solidify quickly.
Two Scout Groups To Be Initiated Into Adobe Walls
 Two new Scout organizations will become a part of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council after initial meetings Wednesday night.
 An Explorer post will be organized in Panhandle, when Ross Buzzard, explorer chairman, meets with approximately 75 boys, who have indicated that they wish to join. The group will meet at the Panhandle High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m.
 Movies of the Canadian canoe trip, which was made by Adobe Walls Scouts this summer, will be shown to the group and individuals will be registered. This organization is for boys 14 or older. They will be sponsored by the Panhandle Lions.
 Paul Beisenherz, Scout executive, will go to Lefors Wednesday night to meet with about 35 boys, eight through ten, who have expressed their wish to organize a Cub Pack. The group will meet at the Lefors High School auditorium at 7:30. They will be sponsored by the Lefors Parent-Teachers Association.

Two-Year-Old Boy Just a Night Owl

TULSA — (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Simmons really have a young night owl on their hands. They awoke the other day to find their two-year-old son, Kenny, missing from his bed. They searched the house — but no Kenny. Frantically, they called police headquarters.

"Yes, we've got a little boy here in his night clothes," the desk sergeant answered. Officers Lozier Brown and Dick McCully said they picked up the young wanderer about 1 a.m. The parents said the boy apparently unlocked the front door and walked out. They are going to hide the key after this.
