U.S. Troops Form Korea Battle Lines

Experiment in Freedom Said Cause of Fight

WASHINGTON — (AP) — John Foster Dulles said last night South Korea was attacked because "the Communists seem to have felt they could not tolerate this hopeful, attractive Asiatic experiment in democracy."

The Republican policy adviser to the State Department said he believes a second reason for the North Korean aggression was a desire to play Japan between the upper and lower jaws of the Russian bear.

In a radio broadcast, Dulles said that the Communists control territory to the north of Japan and that conquest of all Korea would give them a similar foothold to the south.

"That obviously would make it more difficult to provide the Japanese people with security as self-governing, unarmed members of the free world," he said.

Dulles, who returned last week from a trip to Japan and Korea, indicated that he disagrees with Republican lawmakers who have criticized the administration's Far Eastern policy as it existed before the outbreak of war in Korea.

"Broadly speaking," he said, "the United States was developing positive and constructive policies to check the rising tide of communism in Asia and the Pacific. The Communist leaders doubtless expected their activities in Korea to dislocate our plans."

"They will, I think, be disappointed," he said.

He said the western world had up to now hoped that the Communists would limit their "foam actions" to internal disturbances, and added:

"The Korean attack marks a new phase in Communist recklessness."

Dallas County Demo Battle Royal Count 612,318

(By The Associated Press) Dallas County's 1950 population was announced Saturday as 612,318. This is an increase of 243,754 over 1940's 368,564.

Estimates of Dallas County's preliminary census figure were announced recently as 599,157. Thus the two adjacent North Texas counties have a combined population of 971,475 — the greatest population concentration in the South.

Release of Dallas County's population census indicated apparent Texas 1950 population could comprehend to eight million than to seven million.

With only Harris (Houston), Bexar (San Antonio) and Kerr (Wichita Falls) counties not reported, the cumulative total for 261 counties is 6,373,235.

But the spectacular growth of Houston and San Antonio, and their metropolitan areas, could easily push the state's total past 7,000,000.

In 1940 the Texas population was 6,411,824. The Census Bureau several months ago estimated the Texas population as of July 1, 1948, at 7,230,000.

Figures for San Antonio and Bexar County are expected in about a week. Houston and Harris County will come a few days later. Kerr County, an unincorporated area, is expected next week.

Most of the district census supervisor offices have been closed. The figures they collected not only on people but on livestock, radios, stoves, etc., are being worked on in Washington. Much work still remains to be done.

Yanks in Full Battle Dress Push Toward Occupied Areas

TOKYO, Sunday, July 2 — (AP) — The first U. S. troops to arrive in Korea today moved up toward battle positions north of Taejon against North Korean invaders who appeared stalled on the plains south of Seoul.

Taejon is 73 miles south of the fighting front, which General MacArthur headquarters indicates is about 90 miles south of Seoul.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert in a dispatch from Taejon said the Americans were not expected to go into action for a day or two.

(In Washington, the Navy announced that heavily-protected sea convoys were rushing more U. S. infantry to Korea.)

The American troops, the first headed for combat since the end of World War II, landed yesterday at the southeast port of Pusan, 162 miles southeast of Taejon. In full battle dress, the Americans piled into trucks when they reached Taejon and drove out north to the applause of watching Koreans.

The Communists were reported by MacArthur's headquarters to be massing 100,000 troops south of Seoul, the strategic city 20 miles south of Seoul which the Americans abandoned as an advance base Friday.

By this account, the southern flank of the Communist drive toward Seoul was still in control of Suwon and its air strip, Lambert said. Two American intelligence officers had returned to Suwon.

Informal sources said they had reported the Communists had moved south to within about five miles of Suwon before dawn Saturday morning. This report appeared to be behind the headquarters information, however.

Lambert said it was possible the Communist column which crossed the Han River just south of Seoul had been held up by U. S. aerial attack or had run out of supplies.

U. S. superforts bombed the bridge which the Communists had thrown across the Han. This may have prevented reinforcements from reaching the advance Red columns.

It still was not clear whether the Communists ever had reached Suwon. Field reports yesterday had said that Suwon and its air field had fallen.

Possibly a Communist reconnaissance force of armored cars might have reached Suwon and withdrawn to service without assistance. Finding itself without support there are no fixed defenses along the highways between Seoul and Suwon.

The American withdrawal from Suwon and abandonment of the air field interrupted an important supply line for the South Koreans.

American B-29 superforts, used earlier to bomb bridges the invaders have thrown across the broad Han. The Air Force intent was to cut the main supply line.

Also indicating that the situation was far from stable, South Korean President Syngman Rhee and his top aides moved to an undisclosed location.

Four Texans Named As Southern Leaders

ATLANTA — (AP) — Editors of Dixie Business magazine have named four Texans among the South's 50 foremost leaders for 1950.

The Texans are Col. C. E. Palm, publisher of the Texasian; W. P. Hobby, publisher of the Houston Post; E. M. Todd, publisher of the Dallas Morning News; and Roy Cullen, president of Petroleum Co., Houston.

Dixie Business will choose its Man of the South for 1950 from the 50 leaders.

'No War' Is Impression In Moscow

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet press steadily built up a picture for the Russian reader yesterday of a deliberately prepared plot of aggression by the United States against North Korea.

But an observer gets that impression from the talk and behavior of Moscovites that there will be no world war.

Moscow has claimed from the first that North Korea, not South Korea, was invaded and that the Communists only struck back when the southern forces crossed the 38th parallel dividing line.

From the conversations overheard in restaurants, hotel lobbies, public conveyances and on the streets, an observer gets the impression that the Russian people will be no world war.

Home President Truman and American militarists for the Korean lighting.

Feel that there will be no war and that proponents of peace will get the upper hand and little wrongdoers.

The general claim that it has been evident since the first news of American aid to South Korea continues to prevail.

The press yesterday continued to fill in the outlines of the story American military circles were publishing to the State Department was sent there to give the signal for attack and told a reporter that the Republic was preparing its move in the U. N. Security Council.

The Moscow Literary Gazette said President Truman's order to the U. S. fleet and Air Force to support South Korea "obviously was prepared well ahead of time."

It also quoted foreign sources as saying the United States told United Nations Security Council delegates early last week that there would be a council meeting last Sunday.

(An American delegation source at Lake Success said there was no truth in the Moscow reports.)

Tax Cut Fate Rests on War, Solon Reports

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) said yesterday that Korean war developments in the next two weeks probably will decide the fate of the House-approved tax bill.

Lucas, the Democratic leader, said he won't know whether he wants to bring up the measure until he sees how Korean affairs develop.

The bill would top off $1,030,000,000 in wartime excise levied on such items as furs and jewelry, offsetting this with a $433,000,000 loss in corporation taxes and closing some loopholes so that sponsors contend the government would lose no revenue.

"I just don't know what we'll do about the tax bill until we see how the Korean situation develops," Lucas said. "If we find that we have to boost military appropriations and take other measures, we will not do anything about the bill."

The Senate finance committee will take its first official look at the bill Monday, with indications that it will order immediate hearings, beginning July 4.

Lucas said it is his plan to get the bill ready for Senate action, in any event. He said, however, that the final decision will be up to Chairman George (D-Ill.) of the finance group.

Although passing on the House, Lucas said he has been in Georgia, is expected to return to the Senate next week.

If Lucas decides to drop action on the tax measure, Senator Southern (D-Miss.) said Republicans thought they were ready for the attack. John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, said he would be in the House.

Without passing on the House, Lucas said he has been in Georgia, is expected to return to the Senate next week.

Demand for Autos Not Met After Five Post-War Years

By DAVID J. WILKIE
DEFICIT—It is five years ago yesterday the auto industry built its first postwar automobile. Since then it has turned out about 17,000,000 new passenger cars and more than 5,000,000 trucks.

Despite that heavy volume of output, the industry still is behind its market. Cars and trucks are being brought at a rate in excess of half a million a month. There are more than a few indications that fully as many new vehicles will be bought in the first half of the year.

Winning the world war ended government economic aid in demand for more than 17,000,000 new automobiles had been built up during the three and a half years postwar production was suspended. Right now the industry figure there are on the highway highways about 12,500,000 passenger cars that were built prior to 1940.

To the industry that represents a substantial replacement market. To their owners many of the pre-war cars represent more of a liability than an asset. Some of course are giving service after complete overhauling of their engines, transmissions and brakes. However, for the most part they have outlasted their use-

Sullivan Quits As Constable Of Precinct 5

The commissioner's court Saturday accepted the resignation of Constable Jim Sullivan of Precinct 5, effective June 30. He gave no reason for his move but thanked the body for its cooperation while he was in office.

His term would have expired December 31. It is contemplated, said County Judge Bruce Parker, that the office will not be filled until after the second primary, in late August.

Further action by the court included a reduction of $412 from the annual rental fee of about $2,368 on the county airport property. The reduction on the five-year lease, held by the Daugherty brothers of Groom, was made in exchange for their agreement to rid the area of bind weeds by spraying.

County Agent Asks Spraying Of Bag Worms on Trees

Bag worms, if not sprayed immediately, will soon strip the foliage from trees and kill them, according to Ralph Thomas, county agent.

Thomas stated that bag worms are hard to see this time of the year because they spin cocoons around themselves and cover it with leaves soon after they hatch out. These leaves stay green for some time.

Five pounds of arsenate of lead to 100 gallons of water will give good control if sprayed within the next day or so, the sooner the better, he said. Later in the season, he explained, eight pounds of arsenate of lead to the 100 gallons of water will be necessary for control.

For small amounts of spray, use three level tablespoons of arsenate of lead to a gallon of water. If the bag worms are on evergreens, it is advisable to add six tablespoons of wettable sulphur for the red spiders and kill two birds with one stone. Thomas stated.

Thomas urged tree-owners to spray their trees immediately, for to wait longer will make the use of more poison necessary, and the control will be poorer.

Overhead Traffic Signal In Use at Faulkner-Alcock

The last of three outlying, overhead traffic lights in the city's new traffic signal system, was put into operation shortly before noon Saturday by the Brooks Electric Co., contractors for the job.

The light at Faulkner and Alcock, last of the three overhead lights, is part of the overall system but is not tied in with the progression system used in the four-poster lights downtown.

The other two outlying intersections controlled by new overhead lights are Frederic and Barnes, and Hobart and Wilks. The only old light still in operation, also an overhead, is at S. Cuyler and Brown.

Gassers Still Lead League, In Everything but Standings

The Berger Gassers are evidently in the wrong place in the WTAM League standings of 30 teams and individual averages would have one think. The Carbon City crew is currently leading the league in team batting, team fielding, and has the second highest individual batter in the circuit.
The power-packed Gassers posted their overall batting average of .328 through games of June 26, which is 16 percentage points higher than the league leading Pampa Oilers. The Oilers are only one point higher than the Amarillo Gold Sox who are holding at a .321 clip.
Fielding the Gassers have batted only 410 times, fewer than any other team in the league. The Gassers have committed 124 errors, but have compiled the same average as the Gassers, by handling more chances. The Oilers are still holding their fifth place spot with a .314 average.
In individual batting, George Earl, Clovis Pioneer catcher, continued his founding pace with a .417 average to retain his leadership. Fred (Pappy) Williams, Berger's home run king, followed with an individual batting average of .374, showing a .416 showing. Manager, Herschel Martin placed third place with .342 and John Joe Kottin of Pampa ranked fourth with a .337 average.
In team fielding, the Gassers are still leading the league with a .957 average. The Oilers are second with a .954 average. The Gassers are still leading the league in team batting, team fielding, and has the second highest individual batter in the circuit.

Finale of Two-Game Series Set for 9 p. m. in Abilene

ABILENE—It was just another case of too much Pampa Oiler hitting power last night as the league leaders plastered the cellar dwelling Abilene Blue Sox, 20-7, with a 22-hit barrage that included three home runs.
The tilt was the first of a two-game series, with the second scheduled for tonight at 9 o'clock. Roy Parker is expected to hurl for the Oilers in quest of his seventeenth victory against an unannounced Blue Sox twirler.
The Oiler hitting supplied Ramon Salgado with more than enough runs for his sixth victory, although the Cuban chunker gave way to the eighth inning to George Payne. Sam Hunter, who was the unfortunate Abilene starter, was charged with the loss, although he, too, was sent to the showers in the third. George Hart assumed the mound duties when the starter left, but Art Bowland abandoned his catching duties in the third and took to the mound after the Oilers had blasted Hart with an awesome twelve hit spurge that produced 13 runs in three innings.
On Engle led the Pampa sluggers with two home runs and a single. Salgado pitched a gem, allowing only one run and striking out five. Roy Parker also blasted a four master for the Pampans. Salgado aided his own cause with three singles in four trips.
The Oilers will return home Monday night against the red-hot Abilene Blues, and will clash with the New Mexicans in a doubleheader on July 4 in two games designated as Homer Matney night. The action will be dedicated to the ex-Oiler outfielder who was forced to retire on doctor's orders.
Friday night lefthander Roy Parker, bested Ed Arthur in a hurling duel before 1,158 fans in Lamesa as the Oilers dominated the Lobos 5 to 3 in win the rubber contest of a three-game series.
The diminutive southpaw registered his 16th victory of the year, striking nine and walking six. He gave up only one earned run and clouted a bases-empty homer in the fifth to give Pampa a 4-2 lead.
Arthur suffered his eighth setback of the year, but deserved a better fate. He allowed nine hits, the same number given up by Parker, but several of them were scratchy. He fanned eight, walked none and allowed only three earned tallies.
Parker was tough in the clutch, however, leaving 12 Lobos stranded, while the Oilers left only four men on base.
Lamesa grabbed an early lead with two runs in the first on Jay Haney's triple, a wild pitch by Parker, manager Jodie Beeler's single, a passed ball and Bo Dempsey's one-baser.
Pampa went ahead in the third to stay when they scored three runs. Four safeties after a Lobo error provided the Oilers with their runs.

Locke Is Chosen As Favorite to Win Golf Crown

TRON, Scotland (AP)—Bobby Locke, the heavy jouled putting master from South Africa, was picked last night by bookmakers, fans and competing golfers as the favorite to win the British Open Golf Championship for the second year in a row.
Locke won last year in a play-off with Irishman Harry Bradshaw.
The tournament begins Monday morning with the first of two days of qualifying play.
Seven Americans—three with good chances—are after Locke's ownership of the cup.
Frank Stranahan, muscular amateur from Toledo, Ohio, is rated by Britain's bookmakers as the No. 1 contender from the United States.
The highest temperature recorded on earth was 136 degrees at Azizia, Libya, North Africa, on Sept. 13, 1922, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Gold Sox Obtain Two New Players

AMARILLO (AP)—The Amarillo Gold Sox Friday night obtained pitcher Jerry Barta, a righthander, on option from Salern of the Class B Western International League.
Barta had a 7-11 record last year with Tijuana of the Class C Far West League. Frank Murray, veteran infielder-outfielder purchased from Stockton of the Class C California League, was due here in time for last night's game with the Clovis Pioneers.
Also consigned to Amarillo from Stockton is Bob Carter, limited service righthanded pitcher who had a 7-7 record for Vallejo and Tijuana in 1949, owning an earned run average of 4.42.

Americans Pounce on Aussies In Wimbledon Tennis Matches

By BEN PHLEGAR
WIMBLEDON, Eng.—(AP)—The Americans cut the heart of the Australian challenge at Wimbledon Saturday, landing five players in the final eight of the men's singles in the all-England Lawn Tennis Championships.
Young Vic Seixas of Philadelphia led the star-spangled parade into the quarterfinals in perfect tennis weather as he ousted Jack Brannan, two-handed Aussie veteran, with astonishing decisiveness, 6-1, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.
With Seixas came Billy Talbert of New York, who beat Australia's Adrian Quist, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2; Gardner-Mulung of Miami, who eliminated Billy Sidwell of Australia, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5; Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., and Ludge Patty of Los Angeles.
Larsen and Patty took care of the last two European contenders, Jean-Claude Molinari of France, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1, and Hans Van Swol of The Netherlands, 8-6, 6-4, 8-6.
Only Fred Kovaleski of Detroit dropped out. He lost to top-seeded Frank Sedgman of Australia in straight sets, but he wasn't disgraced. Both men played well. However, Sedgman now recovered from an ailing wrist that hampered him earlier in the week, held command with an almost perfect net game. The scores were 6-3, 6-5, 6-4.
Because of Sunday bus laws the players will rest today. Australia, which sent a half-dozen stalwarts into battle yesterday, lost all but Sedgman. In addition to the damage inflicted by the Americans, Jaroslav Drobny, the self-exiled Czech, eliminated young Ken McGregor, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5, and Eric Sturgess of South Africa whipped Geoff Brown, a finalist here four years ago, 6-2, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

Hubber Explosion Downs Abilene, 15-5

ABILENE (AP)—Lubbock's Hubbers exploded for ten runs in the tenth here Friday night to submerge the Abilene Blue Sox 15-5 and salvage the final game of the series.
A home run by Mike Dooley in the sixth featured a four-run attack by the Hubbers which tied the score. Royce Mills went in to pitch and blanked the Blue Sox from the fifth on. Bob Chesney stayed on the mound for Abilene until after two were out in the tenth, after which the Hubbers bombarded Freddie Rodriguez for six hits and a walk to make a mess of a previously tight contest.

Senior Snubbed, Marshall Is Named Star of the Week

Some fellows just don't seem to have any respect for seniority, priority or right of occupancy, or something. Here comes now a sort of revolution on our ranks and makes such a stir as to disturb the peace. The experts simply have to dub him star of the week for the period ending June 21. He is Rufe James Marshall, out of Compton Junior College and sent to the Oilers as a pinch hitter. Marshall stepped in to hit of the Oiler's best effort, on June 21 he was the star of the show with four brilliant stops and some fancy pickups, plus a triple and two singles offensively. His fifth game of the year, he led a league record 12 to 10 in a game against Abilene by pitching out two home runs in an inning and controlling a triple to round out quite a night. He knocked in five runs, scored four himself and turned in a good defensive game. Bouncing back the following night against the same opposition Marshall stepped out another homer, blasted a double and continued to supply the prove himself the star of the game on that occasion.

Clovis Nips Borger In Series Finale to Gain Twin Bill Split

CLOVIS (AP)—The Clovis Pioneers salvaged the final game of the three game series here Friday night as lefty Tom Gallagher blanked the Gassers until the bottom of the sixth inning while his hitting pounded out a 9-2 decision in the aftermath of a twin bill. The Gassers had won the first game of the doubleheader with a lopsided, 15-4, count.
Eddie Carnett, another southpaw, allowed all the way for the Gassers in the opener, scattering nine hits effectively while the Borger pounced on Bill (Tom) for 18. Carnett personally took care of four Gassers' runs when he sent a quartet of mates across home plate with a home run and a double.
In the closing, Gallagher had a shut-out going with a 9-0 lead until the bottom of the sixth where the hosts chalked their three runs. Gallagher allowed but two hits in the top of the seventh.

Meet The Oilers Catcher

JERRY SQUIRES, one of the more promising rookies seen in this league in many years, comes from Wichita Falls. This is Jerry's first year in professional baseball; he has been used in several cases by the Oilers as a pinch hitter and relief catcher. He started his baseball career in semi-pro ball while a sophomore in a Wichita high school. Upon graduation he worked for Boeing in Wichita, continuing his baseball career as a semi-pro. In 1946-47 he played with the Ban Johnson amateur league. Jerry is single, 21 years old, 6' 3" tall, and weighs 195 pounds, and from all indications is one rookie who has quite a career in baseball.

Seniority Snubbed, Marshall Is Named Star of the Week

Some fellows just don't seem to have any respect for seniority, priority or right of occupancy, or something. Here comes now a sort of revolution on our ranks and makes such a stir as to disturb the peace. The experts simply have to dub him star of the week for the period ending June 21. He is Rufe James Marshall, out of Compton Junior College and sent to the Oilers as a pinch hitter. Marshall stepped in to hit of the Oiler's best effort, on June 21 he was the star of the show with four brilliant stops and some fancy pickups, plus a triple and two singles offensively. His fifth game of the year, he led a league record 12 to 10 in a game against Abilene by pitching out two home runs in an inning and controlling a triple to round out quite a night. He knocked in five runs, scored four himself and turned in a good defensive game. Bouncing back the following night against the same opposition Marshall stepped out another homer, blasted a double and continued to supply the prove himself the star of the game on that occasion.

Let's Talk Things Over
With Gabby Garrison

The Oiler season will be half over next Tuesday. During this initial half, the Pampans have completed one of the most sensational climbs in the annals of the circuit's history and chances are, their phenomenal surge won't let up now that they've shown what kind of team they really have. During the infant stages of the campaign, when Manager Grover Seitz and his outfit were unobtrusively buried in, or near, the cellar, word-continued to circulate that Grover and his gang wouldn't finish in the second division. One fellow went even so far as to wager that the Oilers would be in first place on July 1. That one sure paid off, although he could have probably gotten odds, had he asked them.

A look at the current statistics would indicate, however, that the Oilers would probably be nestled in third or fourth place, if not lower. The Pampans are second in club hitting and fifth in fielding. They've played only six games this first-half without an error, Jolin, Joe Fortin is the only Oiler regular who is included in the top 30 hitters in the league, and he ranks fourth, according to official statistics.

What, then, can the Oiler success be attributed to. For one thing, the management of Grover Seitz. Grover has long been famous as one of the better pilots in minor leagues, and one that might show the big boys a trick or two. His general tactics have carried clubs to more than one pennant and from the looks of things, he will probably add another to his string this year.

Then there's the ownership of Doug Mills and the business management of Jim Arndt. Mills and Arndt have spared no expense and have spent a great deal of time in bringing one of the greatest years of baseball entertainment to Oiler Park. The shrewd pair is constantly on the lookout for new talent, and have inaugurated several new ideas that have increased the interest of fans in this area a great deal. They deserve a winning team and a large following. They've got the team, and now the crowd is picking up.

But, possibly the most important thing of all is the attitude of the players. I doubt if there is a finer spirited bunch of athletes in the world. Each and everyone of them is happy, and have shown it with a head-up brand of ball. Their hitting in the pinches is what has really paid off. Although their fielding is not the highest, they've buckled down in the clinches on numerous occasions and sparkled with 81 twin killings this season.

The pitching staff has earned the reputation as the best and most substantial in the league. Five pitchers have won more games than they've lost, and the other twirler has been used chiefly as a relief hurler. And even the pitchers are hitting.

One of the finest additions to the club has been centerfielder Dick Dawson. Dick came to the Oilers from Albuquerque on June 17, and he has skyrocketed 120 percentage-points to a healthy 323, including nine home runs, five triples, and 13 doubles. He has driven in 19 runs for the Oilers and personally scored 31 tallies.

But Dawson has not been the only one who has improved. The entire line-up has raised their averages from five to 100 points. Gassers couldn't maintain the pace and have now dropped to fourth. Our Oilers can keep the pace with the type ball they're playing, and with Seitz, Mills, and Arndt at the helm, it'll probably be a mighty cold drop out of the title picture.

Our unofficial Oiler hitting and pitching records through last night are:

Wampler Wins Golfing Title In NCAA Play

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — Fred Wampler of Purdue, a year-round golfer, outdistanced football player Bob McCall of Colgate Saturday to win the NCAA links crown, 2 and 1.

Taking full command in the last half of their 36-hole title match, the 26-year-old Wampler displayed the polish and seasoning of a champion.

McCall, who plays the game only from May through August, by contrast started missing putts and other opportunities during the final 18 holes to stay even or pull out front.

After a dazzling display of sub-par golf in the forenoon by both, McCall was up in the first round with a six-under-par 66, while Wampler shot a 67 — each started showing the strain of week-long tournament competition.

For the 17 holes of the second 18, Wampler settled down to even par shooting. McCall slipped two over standard figures for the 6,813 yard University of New Mexico course.

Record-Breaking Field Ready For First Round Link Action

The biggest All-City Golf Tournament in the history of the Pampa Country Club is scheduled to get underway today with 108 linksters, led by Medalist Malcolm Douglass, set for first round action.

Exceeding all expectations, the local swatters swarmed the Pampa lay-out last-week in firing qualifying rounds, necessitating seven flights in the annual affair. Johnny Austin, amiable pro at the Pampa club, had earlier announced that he expected around 90 golfers in the meet, but the fine golfing weather and well-laid plans for the tournament attracted the record-breaking crowd.

In a statement last night, Austin remarked, "This year's tournament promises to be one of the finest of its kind in the whole state."

Another surprise was popped on local link fans when Malcolm Douglass, young Texas A&M swinger, cracked the course with an even par, 71, after going four over on the first four holes. Douglass, who has been shooting fine golf all summer, then buckled down to cruise in with his medalist winning score, and now matched with Harry Wilbur in the first match of the Championship Flight.

First round matches will be fired on the 6400-yard course until July 9. Then the contestants will begin semi-final matches, and continue until July 16. All preliminary shooting must be completed by July 16, and finals will be played on that day. Trophies will be awarded winners and consolation titles in all seven flights.

The first round pairings and qualifying scores are:

Green's Gossip

By Hogan O'Snead

By HOGAN O'SNEAD tell him he has a letter at the golf shop from U-RO-WHO. Instead of saying the usual hello and talking about the weather in this first paragraph, I want to thank the Ladies Golf Association of Pampa for the five water fountains they installed at various places on the local links.

This may be somewhat out of tune, nevertheless, here goes. All of us owe Gene Garrison a vote of thanks for his work in trying to obtain a Boys' Club for this vicinity. He has put in many hours of hard work on the project—one of which should have been taken care of years ago by you and me. Have you ever really watched a group of youngsters who didn't have anything to do? Watch them sometime and see for yourself. They need a little help, readers, and I think we can supply that help with all of us working together. I sincerely hope your dreams come true. Gene, a Boys' Club would be something that Pampa could point to with pride.

Incidentally, Gene, why don't you learn to play golf? Hope all you people enjoy reading this as much as I enjoy writing it. See you next week.

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Behind the Screen: Ex-champ Mickey Walker's life story will be filmed as "The Toy Bulldog."

For two years Walker, the only man ever to hold four titles, has been telling that fabulous yarn how he was born with a black eye, learned to fight because his mother kept him in curls until he was 9, earned $3,500,000 in the ring, spent $5,000,000 in the wife he divorced after 18 years and was inspired into becoming an artist by the movie "The Moon and Sixpence."

Elsa Lanchester is still wading through all the mail she and Charles Laughton received when they won their American citizenship. "I'm always 'just right' for these mother roles until I get to the studio. Then I'm padded and wigged because I don't look young enough. But I never look young enough for anything."

It's Mother's Day again for Ann Revere, who wails: "I'm always 'just right' for these mother roles until I get to the studio. Then I'm padded and wigged because I don't look young enough. But I never look young enough for anything."

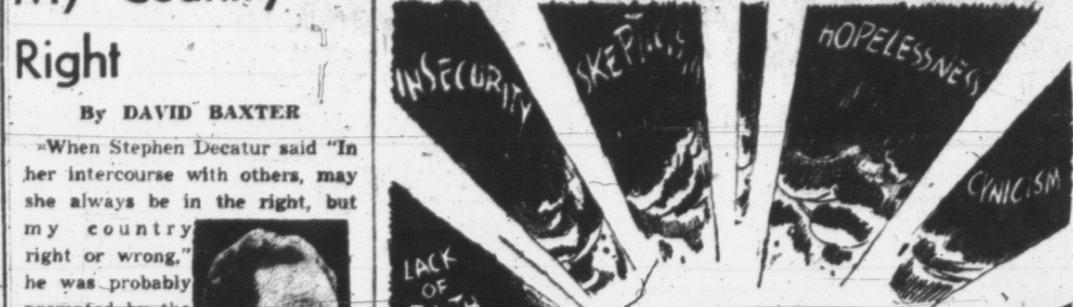

The shock comes when Ann shows up for work, young, witty, trim and fashionably gowned. There's an immediate dive for the make-up kit. But the mother rules keep coming and Hollywood, like director Henry King does a double take at the off-screen Ann Revere. Kink spotted Ann, in shorts, on a racing bicycle in Beverly Hills.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

How to Play in a Tournament

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"We have had many friendly arguments," writes a San Francisco reader, "about the best way to play in a Canasta tournament. Some say that you must play defensively to prevent your opponents from running up a big score. Some say that you play your regular game, just as though it wasn't a tournament. Others say that you must play aggressively, in the hope of piling up a big score. Who is right?"

Perhaps I'd better start by explaining how tournaments are usually conducted. Then my answer will be clearer. In a tournament, you play against a different pair of opponents every half hour. When you finish at each table, both pairs must agree on the score. The lower score is subtracted from the higher score. The difference is carried forward as a plus score by the winning pair and as a minus score by the losing pair.

For example, suppose the Smiths score 3200 points while the Browns score 4800 points. The difference is 1600 points. The Browns are given credit for plus 1600. The Smiths have a score of minus 1600.

It's important to notice that the Smiths don't get any credit at all for their 3200 points. A high score doesn't mean a thing if your opponents have even a higher score.

At the end of the tournament (usually about five half-hour rounds), you add up all the scores that you made against the various opponents. For example, you might have minus 1200 on one round; plus 1000 on the second round; plus 2500 on the third round; plus 800 on the fourth round; and minus 200 on the fifth round. The sum of all this would be plus 3000.

A final score of plus 3000 probably wouldn't win a large tournament. Some other pair would probably have four or five good scores and come in with a score of more than 5000 points. You can sometimes lose one round and still get the highest score for the tournament, but you can't afford to lose more than one round. There's no rule about this, of course, but those are the probabilities.

This helps us decide on a winning line of play. In general, you must play aggressively in the hope of piling up a big score. At the same time, you must try to keep the opponents from scoring too much. It will do you no good to let them score as much as you do.

During the first rounds, you should take any reasonable risk in the attempt to get more points than the opponents. You can well afford to take somewhat bigger risks than you would in an ordinary game. In a tournament, it's a case of all or nothing.

During the last two rounds, you must let your score dictate your tactics. You act to protect a big score. Nurse it along against a big loss. Play somewhat conservatively.

If you have only a mediocre score, you go all out during the last two rounds. It will do you no good to add a measly hundred points or so. You must get a couple of thousand to have any chance.

If you have a really poor score, just relax during the last two rounds. You aren't going to win, so you might as well have a good time. However, don't play so foolishly that you let your opponents run up big scores. That may let those opponents walk away with the tournament just because you weren't playing seriously.

Q — After the deck is dealt, a red trey is the turn-up card. It freezes the pile, and another card is turned up. When somebody eventually takes the pile, what becomes of the red trey? Is it counted as 100 points, or is it dead, and used always as a discard?

A — A red trey never becomes dead or discardable. In the situation described, the player who takes the pile must put the red trey down on the table. It counts 100 points in his side's favor. In this case, the player doesn't draw to replace the red trey.

Colorado Census Shows Big Gain

DENVER — (P) — A complete unofficial census tabulation showed that Colorado's population has increased by 191,092 since 1940. The unofficial count is 1,314,388 compared with the official census figure of 1,123,296 in 1940. Denver, the state capital, showed a jump to 112,823 from 92,412 in 1940.

By actual count, one plant of the common pigweed yields 17,000 seeds.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Penalty Cards Are Meldable

By OSWALD JACOBY
 Written for NEA Service

"My partner, writes a St. Louis correspondent, 'needs a count of 90 and melds three deuces and four fours. This is insufficient, since it adds up to only 80 points.'
 'He is obliged to discard the cards he has put down, and discards one of the fours at his first turn. At his next two turns, he discards two more fours. This leaves him with one four and three deuces still on the table. In the meantime he has picked up two jacks and two nines and has them in his hand.

"Now he puts down the jacks and the nines with the tree penalty deuces on the table, putting two deuces with the jacks and one deuce with the nines. He wants to call this an initial meld and expects to discard his last four to end the penalty.
 "The opponents say he can not alter the way those wild cards were melded. They say that the 'deuces were melded with fours and that they have to stay with fours' or be discarded as a penalty. Who is right?"

 The meld was correct, and the opponents were wrong. The point is that the deuces were not melded at all. If a meld is illegal, it isn't a meld. The deuces and the fours happen to be down on the table together, as penalty cards on the table, you may use them to make correct melds — exactly as though they were in your hand. For example, you may combine some or all of those penalty cards with cards that are still in your hand. Or you may use penalty cards (with or without the addition of cards from your hand) to take the discard pile. The only difference between penalty cards and cards that are still in your hand is that you must discard a penalty card at each turn.

The penalty ends when you have melded or discarded all of those penalty cards. As soon as you can use a penalty card in a proper meld it ceases to be a penalty card.
 Q—I played in a Canasta tournament the other night, and somebody said that I couldn't pick up the previous discard if it happened to match my closed canasta. For example, I had a canasta of jacks. The player at my right discarded a jack. He said I couldn't pick it up. Is this a new rule?
 A—No. It isn't a new rule, and it isn't an old rule. It isn't a rule at all. A few little groups follow this as a sort of local understanding. There's even one book out that gives it as the proper way to play. However, the official rule is that you can take a discard that matches your

Canadian Solons End Quiet Session

OTTAWA — (P) — Canada's Parliament recessed today after one of the quietest sessions since the war.

The House of Commons wound up its business last night by passing the last of some $2,400,000,000 of appropriation to finance government expenditures in the current fiscal year.

While fighting raged in Korea, members voted $425,000,000 for defense purposes.

The current session was quiet because the legislative program of the government was mostly non-controversial.

Illinois Chamber Is Looking for Leapers

DECATUR, Ill. — (P) — If you want to make a fast $250 — and you meet qualifications — be in Decatur Sunday.

The chamber of commerce is offering the sum for jumping out of an airplane at least 50 feet above the ground — without a parachute.

closed canasta. If you have a canasta of jacks and the player at your right throws a jack, you can take the jack and add it to your canasta. You also can take the rest of the discard pile.

Q—Are you allowed to discard a card that you can add to a meld? For example, you have a meld of three kings on the table. Are you then allowed to discard a king from your hand?
 A—Yes. You are allowed to discard a king in this situation. You can never discard a card that you have already melded. If a card is merely meldable but not yet melded, you are allowed to discard it. This is often a very good play.

Chamber Project Ends in Backfire

BRISTOL, Pa. — (P) — Not long ago the chamber of commerce decided to do something about a report of mosquitoes in stagnant water holes around historic Delaware Canal. One member donated DDT. Another donated spraying equipment. A third, a teacher, rounded up some youngsters to do they spraying.

Somehow the DDT was washed into the canal. The chamber now has a new community project — removing dead fish so no health menaces will develop. In character, in manner, in style, in all things, the supreme excellence is simplicity.

THE Declaration of Independence

Bold in design was the action taken by our Founding Fathers on that unforgettable Fourth of July, when the Declaration of Independence proclaimed the birth of our nation. That was 174 years ago. Tuesday we celebrate July Fourth as Independence Day, not only to honor those who so courageously fought that we might be free, but also to proudly proclaim our determination to keep our banner of freedom flying forever.

We will be closed on Tuesday, July Fourth. Do your banking Monday, July Third.

C. P. Roops, Married 50 Years Ago, Entertain Relatives and Friends

Celebrating 50 years of life together, C. P. Roop and the bride he claimed long ago, stood side by side to receive guests—friends and family—in their home at 814 East Scott, last Sunday.

Mrs. Roop's hair was silver above her navy blue dress, and his, just as silvery, was set off by a dark brown suit. They chose red and yellow gladioli for their golden wedding flowers.

Married in Denton, June 26, 1900, the young Roops lived in Denton County nine years. They then moved to Childress where they lived for seven years, and in 1916 they moved to Amarillo. In 1937 the Roop family moved to Pampa and have made their home here since that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Roop have four children, all of whom were present at the celebration. They are Theodora M. Roop and Phoebe Madison of Amarillo, Elmer Roop of Kettleman City, Calif., and Mrs. R. B. Brummett of Pampa. They also have 20 grandchildren

ELIZABETH BELLE BARR PALMER

99th Birthday Is Celebrated By Mrs. Palmer

By CLAUDA EVERLY

WHITE DEER—(Special)—

Almost a century of living in this rapidly changing world has not crushed the spirit of Mrs. Elizabeth Belle Barr Palmer, who last Friday celebrated her ninety-ninth birthday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. B. Moss, here in White Deer. Although handicapped by the failure, only about a year ago, of her eyesight and hearing, she still maintains an active interest in world affairs and manages to glean enough from the radio newscasts to keep surprisingly well-informed.

Except for her eyesight and hearing, she is in excellent health and was able to enjoy to the fullest the gathering of more than 20 of her relatives for her birthday dinner, at which, according to long custom, she herself offered the prayer of thanks. In the afternoon, a huge birthday cake was served with ice cream. The cake, said by several of the guests to be the most beautiful one they had ever seen, was brought from Amarillo by Mrs. Palmer's granddaughter, Mrs. Cecil Jones, and Mr. Jones. The sides of cake were iced in festoons of ribbons and rosettes and on top was an intricately iced basket of pink roses.

Mrs. Palmer was born on June 23, 1851, near Grenada, Miss. Although this was not a battleground of the Civil War, she recalls hearing the roar of the cannons in the distance. When some of the storekeepers went to war, she said, they left their goods and people took what they wanted for themselves and to send to the soldiers. With these supplies gone, it was necessary for the women to spin, weave, and dye the cloth for all their clothing. They knew what herbs to use for the different colors, and usually succeeded in setting the dyes, but Mrs. Palmer laughingly recalls one time when they failed to set the dye in the material for their bonnets, and unfortunately were caught in a rainstorm!

Dresses were usually made of calico, chevvy, or muslin, and from 10 to 12 yards of material were required for one dress. These, of course, were sewed by hand, for it was after her marriage that Mrs. Palmer first saw a sewing machine, a model that made loop stitch on the underside, which, if the thread were broken, would unravel.

Cooking stoves, too, were a novelty in Mrs. Palmer's childhood. For the most part, cooking was done in black iron utensils in the fireplace. She recalled a small child Elizabeth was taken to the home of one of her neighbors to see a cookstove which a Mr. Mitchell had brought down from the north. It was called a "stepstove" because of its "stepped" construction, and she was scared when he built a fire in it. Mrs. Palmer says, but still she thought it was the nicest thing she had ever seen.

Another of her memories is of seeing a group of Negroes, the first sold in Mississippi, being driven along in front of her home. Recently arrived from Africa and unable to speak or understand English, these slaves were being herded like cattle, while their owners rode behind in a fine carriage.

One of Mrs. Palmer's brothers was killed at Spottsylvania Court house, another died after the war from wounds received in battle, and a third, although he lived to be 80 years old, went through life a cripple because of the war. Small wonder that the Civil War was one of the most vivid experiences of Mrs. Palmer's life, and that she was greatly interested in both the book and the movie "Gone With the Wind."

The brother killed at Spottsylvania was a schoolteacher, educated, as he said, in a one-man college. Teaching their neighborhood school was a brilliant man who had received a splendid college education and offered his pupils the subjects he himself had studied. Mr. Barr eagerly absorbed this instruction and thus secured the equivalent of a college education.

Elizabeth started to school at the age of four and finished the grade school, which probably would correspond to the present junior high school. After she married and came to Mills County, Texas, she taught a subscription school for one term, but was forced to give it up because of the demands of her household. She was an excellent speller and gleefully recalls "spelling down" a doctor at a spelling bee in Oklahoma some years later.

"Square" dancing was as much in vogue in the post-war days as it is now, and no doubt the beautiful, black curly-haired, blue-eyed Miss Barr was often "the belle of the ball." Candy pullings and Sunday evening singings, to the accompaniment of a reed organ, were other forms of entertainment which they enjoyed. Log rollings, too, were occasions of festivity. In clearing the land, the Negroes would put aside the logs needed for fuel on the buildings, then pile the other logs together and set fire to them. After the log rolling, a feast for the Negroes would be spread on long tables in the backyard. When they had eaten, they would lift the owner to a pack saddle formed by their hands, carry him around the table, and sing. The first time she saw them carry her father this way, Elizabeth cried, because she thought they were going to kill him.

At the age of 18, Elizabeth Belle Barr was married to J. Q. Palmer and went to live at the home of his parents, well-to-do farmers, on whose land was a Panhandle Methodist Church Is Setting for Ceremony Uniting Miss Armstrong, Fredrick Hood, Jr.

By MARY ANNE DUKE

PANHANDLE—(Special)—In a candlelight ceremony read to soft music Tuesday evening, Miss Gardys Elizabeth Armstrong, daughter of Lynn Armstrong, became the bride of Charles Fredrick Hood, Jr., of Amarillo. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hood of Panhandle.

The Rev. James Todd, pastor of the First Christian Church of Stinnett, officiated at the double-ring service at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist Church of Panhandle.

Altar baskets of white gladioli and huckleberry, flanked by cathedral tapers, formed a background for the exchange of vows.

As a nuptial prelude, Miss Susan Schimelpfenig, Plano, played "Because" by D'Hardelot; "Traumeri" by Schuman; "With This Ring" and "Indian Love Call" by Friuli. To introduce the ceremony, Miss Percy Van Oble, Fort Worth, accompanied by Miss Schimelpfenig, sang, "Youman's Through the Years," and "Love Thee" by Grieg.

During the exchange of vows the love theme from "Roméo and Juliet" was played. As a processional the "Bridal March" from "Lohengrin" was used, and the "Wedding March from Midsummer Night's Dream" was played as a recessional.

Weldon York, uncle of the bridegroom, and Robert N. Heath, Potsdam, N.Y., lighted the candles and also served as ushers, together with Glynda D. Harrell, Groom, and Winford York, also uncle of the bridegroom.

Attending her cousin as maid of honor, Miss Marilyn Forsyth of Plainview wore a yellow organdy dress over satin, made ballerina length with a hoop skirt. She wore a Juliet cap to match and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white carnations. Verle Walker of Oberlin, Kans., served as best man.

Escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of white nylon organdy over satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice and short gathered sleeves, trimmed with nylon embroidery. Her hooped skirt was trimmed with the same embroidery. Her full scalloped shoulder length veil of nylon net fell from a wreath of lilies of the valley and she wore mits of the same material as her veil. She carried a white R. A. M. Bible, the gift of the bridegroom, topped with gardenias and snow-ered with white satin ribbons.

For something old and borrowed the bride wore a reception in the home of the bride's grandparents, with whom she made her home. The bride's table, laid with a Belgian linen cutwork cloth, featured a green and white color scheme with a centerpiece of green and white carnations flanked by white tapers.

The three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature "bridal pair" was served by Mrs. R. C. Forsyth of Plainview, aunt of the bride, and Miss Estelle Cusenbary of Graham. Miss Jerry Chibm of Norman, Okla., cousin of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Gilbert Meaker, presided at the punch bowl. Miss Carroll Williams greeted the guests, and Miss Clara Meaker, presided at the register. Others in the household were Mrs. Maurice Armstrong, Leora, aunt of the bride; Pauline O'Keefe, Mrs. R. L. Curtis, and Miss Gardys Forsyth, Plainview.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride traveled in a pink shakshuk suit accented with navy accessories. The couple will be at home in Amarillo.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hood were born and reared in Panhandle and are graduates of Panhandle High School. Mrs. Hood received a Bachelor of Music Degree from North Texas State College at Denton in May. She is a member

What's Cookin' In Gray County HD Club Work

By MARY ANNE DUKE

Living room demonstrators in seven communities in Gray County are busy making all sorts of improvements. The following comments are quite incomplete, but will give some idea of the work underway.

The John Brandons of the Merten lease are certainly redoing their living room and making other improvements including the addition of another room to their home. Living room improvements include a lovely front door, a picture window, and removing a partition which will make the living-dining room combination. New carpeting, a divan and matching chair, a drop-leaf table, new draperies, and a new paper job are among the other improvements being made by the Brandons.

The Harry Brittens, living room demonstrators for the Grandview Club, added a big new living room to their home when they remodeled.

Mrs. Irene Osborne, living room demonstrator for the Wayside Club, has repapered her living room and has refinished a number of pieces of furniture. Other improvements are planned.

The Marvin Halls of Almarred remodeled their entire house last year into a most livable home. New sectional furniture has been placed in the living room and other improvements are planned for the future.

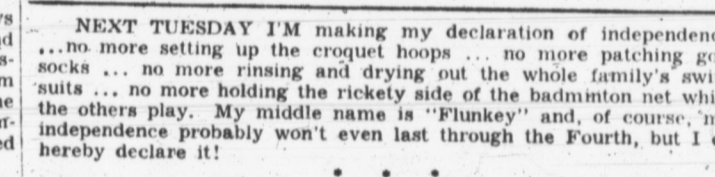

The Roland Dauers of the Bell Community have built a new home, living room improvements are in the planning stage.

The C. H. Brickeys of Hopkins continue to improve their living room. In addition to the many improvements made last year, they have added a divan, two chairs, and a coffee table.

The W. F. Meltons of Hopkins have repapered the living room, changed the units of furniture, and added a lovely china closet which displays Mrs. Melton's hand painted china.

The Vern Savage family of Hopkins have lengthened their living room and rearranged units of furniture. New draperies have been made for their living room.

The R. E. Engle family of the Worthville Club are in the process of planning their living room improvements.

NEXT TUESDAY I'M making my declaration of independence... no more setting up the croquet hoops... no more patching golf socks... no more rinsing and drying out the whole family's swim trunks... no more holding the rickety side of the badminton net while the others play. My middle name is "Flunkney" and, of course, my independence probably won't even last through the Fourth, but I do hereby declare it!

THIS LONG WEEKEND is heaven-sent for those who have either already taken a vacation or haven't yet gone. It gives time a plenty for a fishing trip, a drive to the mountains or a few days of relaxation about the house. I convinced the head of our household that we needed relaxation, so I'm going to relax while he repairs the screen doors, hoses my flower garden, washes windows and paints the back porch. I thought by staying home he'd be nice and rested when he gets back on the job next Wednesday morning... fishing tires one out so.

EVERYONE WILL CELEBRATE the holiday in his own way, but VaRue Dyson is one who'll be packing her trousseau... On the fifth she leaves for New York where she'll meet her fiancé, and it's there they'll be wed. Happy day!

THERE'S AN INTERESTING antique den on the Burger Highway—not too far out. Few years ago Mrs. J. L. Wheatley had some choice antiques for sale, but now I understand her love of antiques is restricted to her home decoration. Mrs. Bob McCoy has many fine things, but a mirror she sold to a friend of ours in the fall has really caught my fancy.

PAMPA PANORAMA: Saw a big crowd square dancing Tuesday night... more fun... The C. W. Lawrence family is "in"... surely like their new home... especially the way their garages are approached from the side of the house instead of from the front... Mrs. Hal Suttle looked "scrumptious" in a navy dress the other day... it had two big white buttons on for trim... she stands out in a group... Lillian Jordan looked pert in that little white off-the-face hat... it had a red feather in it... The Wiley Reynolds' home is going to get an extra room or two, looks like extra room... Mrs. L. N. Atchison keeps score for her offspring on the golf course... miniature golf, that is... Canara Carruth likes the game, too... Isn't the high school looking nice since they started painting the window edges?... always have been proud of it, but am even more so now that they've added the blinds and now this coat of paint... Ham Luna's party young Richard Hughes threw for Max Hukill before his marriage... all the guests wrote poems accompanying their gifts... Peg always has room for a line or two more in the column... we all appreciate home-grown talent so much more, and I promise not to let Robin-Tibbets read anything you local poets send in!

NOT MANY YEARS ago the E. E. Wilsons' son, Jim, and Don Taylor (whose folks are the W. B. Taylors) made plans for a radio-or-bus trip. I recall hearing all about it—they were to travel in a pre-1930 Pontiac—but I never heard whether they made it. Didn't think much about it until I heard another trip had been started, and it's Yellowstone-or-bus this time. The vagabonds are Ken Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Williams, and Robert Dixon, son of E. A. Dixon. Ah, youth!

SO-O GLAD they've covered up that hole they were digging at the First National Bank site. Every time I came home from town, I double counted noses to be certain that none of the offspring had got off in that deep place. Course all precaution was taken to keep the inquisitive out, but I still worried, especially after my better-half tried walking through that grey fence to do his banking.

HEAR THAT Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Curtis are pleased about the prospect of becoming grandparents. They'll have the nicest fenced-in yard for the little one when he comes for visits. We've decided that parental pride doesn't hold a candle to the pride of grandparents for grandchildren are not only the sweetest and most handsome, but also the most intelligent among beings. Ask any granddama. Don't be offended now. I think it's a sweet relationship and, after all, Peg may be a granddama herself for all you know!

THE ONLY THING to throw a damper on the various Scout excursions is that one young fellow of Boy Scout age has spent the summer thus far in the hospital. He's Richard Hinkley who was burned when he fell into a transformer station several weeks ago. It would be real nice if some Scouts on the Canadian trip would send post cards along the way (until they get in those canoes) and let Richard know they're thinking of him. He's had a pretty bad time and I bet he would appreciate a note of cheer from anyone around town. Maybe John Darby, Bill McPherson, Lonnie Carlton or Robert Flemington will drop by and tell him first-hand about the Valley Forge Jam-boree. Those boys will be wrapping up bed rolls and starting the trip home in a day or two, and I feel like real soon now that Richard Hinkley will be packing a grip and starting a trip—a trip home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hinkley. Even if you don't make any (See PEG O' PAMPA, Page 12)

Double-Ring Morning Ceremony Weds Bunnie Shelton, Max Hukill

A double-ring ceremony read at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, June 18, united in marriage Miss Bunnie Shelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Shelton, and Max Hukill, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hukill.

The Rev. Karl Ernst, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Dumas, officiated at the exchange of vows in the First Presbyterian Church of Pampa.

An arch of greenery and yellow and white daisies formed a background for the nuptial rites. Tall baskets of white gladioli tied with yellow ribbon, and potted palms were placed on either side of the archway, and white satin ribbons marked the pews.

At the organ, Mrs. H. A. Yoder played the traditional wedding marches, and Miss Helen Blocker, dressed in white and wearing a yellow carnation corsage, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Candles were lighted by Miss Fern Patterson. She wore an ecru lace dress and a small halo hat fashioned of stiffened braid ruffles and salmon gladioli blossoms.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Peggy Hukill, as maid of honor, wore a white lace gown and carried a white malpe fan trimmed with blue daisies. She wore a man and Bob Boyles, Richard Scheig, Richard Hughes and Gene blue daisies. At the register, Miss Sidwell were ushers. Mrs. Shelton was dressed in ecru linen with which she wore her hat was made of the same navy accessories and a corsage of material as those of the candle-blue carnations and a gardenia. Mrs. Huill, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gray lace dress, pink hat and shoes and carried a pink bag. Her corsage was of pink roses.

The bride's gown was of white lace and was ballgown length. It was fastened with a wide boat neckline and long close-fitting sleeves. She wore ankle strap sandals of white buckskin, and her elbow-length veil fell from a small skull cap of white straw. She carried her bridal bouquet of stephanotis and white orchid atop a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried off the old wedding tradition of "something old, new, borrowed and blue."

For the wedding trip to Colorado Springs Mrs. Hukill changed to a black fail suit with which she wore a white waffle-pique hat and blouse and green shoes. She carried a green bag and wore a white orchid corsage. On the return trip the young Hukills came through the Royal Gorge and Canon City. They are now at home at 414 North West, Pampa.

RECEPTION

A reception was given at the home of the bridegroom's parents, 623 North Somerville. Mrs. Estelle Wheeler poured coffee at the white linen laid table, and Mrs. B. J. Taylor, an aunt of the bridegroom, served the cake. A novel touch was given the wedding cake, since the top layer was a conical fruit cake to be opened on the first wedding anniversary of the bridal couple.

The four-tier wedding cake was used in blue with a lattice-work trimming of white. A garland of blue daisies and white bows ran around the base of the cake, and table appointments included blue candles in silver holders. Guests were presented "groom's cake," individual cakes laid with blue and silver ribbon. Out-of-town guests included Forrest Chapman, Plainview; Roy Branson, Ruth Fay, Norma Jimmie and Johnnie, Clyde; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Carlton and Ricky Carlton of San Antonio.

Whatley-Hancock Ceremony Read By Candlelight in Groom Church

The First Baptist Church of Groom was the setting for the marriage of Miss Wylafae Whatley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Whatley of Groom, and Lawrence G. Hancock, Denver, Colo., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hancock, Springfield, Colo.

The Rev. Carl Stringer, pastor, read the double-ring service Saturday evening, June 24.

Mrs. Gabe Herndon of Panhandle, organist, played "Because," "Always," and "Will You Remember" as a nuptial prelude, while candles were lighted by Misses Shirley and Sharon Harwell, twin cousins of the bride.

Mrs. Sam Allen of Plainview sang Schubert's "Serenade" and "Thine Alone" (Victor Herbert). "The Lord's Prayer" was played during the exchange of vows. Traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

Cathedral tapers in wrought iron candelabra against a background of greenery decorated the altar, which was formed of panels of pale blue trimmed with white gladioli and aials.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Curtis E. Whatley, who gave her in marriage, the bride was dressed in a gown of misty blue satin. It was fashioned with a sheer nylon yoke which ran into bands of shirred satin. The bodice topped a full skirt and train. Both skirt and train were trimmed with horizontal bands of satiny shirring. On the bodice and long pointed sleeves were tiny satin covered buttons. Her finger tip veil of ice blue imported silk illusion was held in place by a tiara of beaded illusion. She carried white roses and a shower of stephanotis in love knots on a prayer book. Assisting the bride with her train was her cousin, Master Hal Ed Helton of Farwell.

The bride's attendants wore identical dresses of taffeta styled with horizontal bands of taffeta shirring, copying the style of the bridal gown. They carried fan bouquets of white maline and silver decorated with blue delphinium and Dutch iris. The bridesmaids, Miss Gladys Pierce of Sudan and Miss Callie Gunter of Groom, wore bright blue taffeta, and Miss Lorene Gunter of Plainview, maid-of-honor, wore sky-blue taffeta.

Paul Hancock of Boise City, Okla., was his brother's best man. Ushers were Bill Cagle of Denver, Colo., Lynn Haywell of Vega, cousin of the bride, and Uil Gunter of Olton, cousin of the bridegroom.

Strewing flower petals preceding the bride was Paula Hancock of Boise City, Okla., niece of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore navy blue crepe with wheat accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Following the ceremony, the bridal party attended a reception in the church parlor. Laid with white linen, the serving table was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and blue delphinium and blue and white tapers. Mrs. Bill Cagle of Denver, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Mildred Patterson of Hart, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Joe Helton of Farwell, cousin of the bride, served the wedding-cake. Miss Jamie Hancock of Springfield, Colo., sister of the bridegroom, presided at the guest register.

For the wedding trip to Colorado the bride wore a tailored beige sharkskin suit to match the bridegroom's. Her accessories were brown and she wore a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Hancock was graduated from Groom High School and attended Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, where she played with the Harvest Queens basketball team.

Mr. Hancock was graduated from Springfield, Colo., High School and attended Colorado State Teachers College in Greeley. He served three years in the Navy. He is employed by Homes of Tomorrow Ltd. in Denver. The couple will live in Denver.

BIRTHDAY

family cemetery plot and a Methodist campground.

After the birth of their first child, the young Palmers came to Bell County, Texas, where they first lived in a log house owned by a German shepman. Mrs. Palmer still can quote some of the German phrases learned from that family.

Since this area was made up largely of big ranches, there was little company, no amusements, and only occasional attendance at church in Salado, and a rare trip by wagon to Belton broke the monotony of ranch life.

Later the family moved to Mills County, where they again lived in a log house chinked with mud. Some of the chinking had fallen out, and on one occasion, while at the dinner table, members of the family were startled to see a large snake between the logs with his head in the water-bucket. Mr. Palmer killed the snake, but Mrs. Palmer said that she scalded and sunned that bucket for weeks. When asked why she didn't throw it away and buy a new one, she calmly remarked that in those days one didn't just buy a waterbucket whenever he pleased. On another occasion, when she and some of the girls were piecing quilts, a snake dropped from the ceiling into their scraps. Work on that quilt was postponed indefinitely!

In 1900 the family moved to a cotton farm at Elmer, near Altus, Okla., where they were living at the time of Mr. Palmer's death. Mrs. Palmer returned to Texas in 1915 and lived at Memphis until 1941, when she came to Pampa to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Blanche Brewer. Since 1947 she has been with her daughter, Mrs. Moss, in White Deer.

While in Memphis, Mrs. Palmer developed her one hobby, making candlewick pillows and bedspreads. Her main "hobby," she says, was rearing 10 children to adulthood. One of her children died in infancy; six are still living. She has 11 grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren.

Present for her birthday celebration were: three daughters, Mrs. Moss, Mrs. Vicki Wineberger, Dallas, and Mrs. Ora Walsh, Dallas; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Sammie Palmer, Lampasas; three granddaughters, Mrs. Neal Edwards, White Deer, Mrs. Cecil Jones, Amarillo, and Mrs. Irwin Van Duros, Austin; four nieces, Miss Hattie Barr, Tucumcari, N. Another daughter, Mrs. Blanche Brewer, with her daughter, Mrs. Emil Carmichael, and granddaughter, Diane, all of Elida, N. M., visited Mrs. Palmer on Thursday, but were unable to attend the celebration.

Boy Scouts, Camped at Historic Valley Forge, Set a Pattern for Freedom's Survival Policy

By HAL BOYLE
VALLEY FORGE, Pa. —(AP)—The American manhood of tomorrow is proudly here today, camped in a vale of the past that may also point to bivouacs in the future.

You can look as far as your eyes can grasp across these reaching hills and break your heart with terror and hope for what you see.

What lies in sight? Tents and tepees holding some 47,000 American Boy Scouts and comrades from 20 foreign countries. They are mostly kids between the ages of 12 and 16 who came here for fun and frolic and pageantry and to show off their lore of wood and field and stream.

And the youngsters have lived completely up to the 40-year-old Scout motto: "Be Prepared." In a few days they have built up a camp base so neat and well-policed it would win praise from even the most brass-happy Army commander. West Point cadets could hardly do better—and even they wouldn't have the same quick enthusiasm that goes beyond discipline.

But it is an odd and sudden irony of history that has overtaken the Boy Scouts gathered for their second great national jamboree at this spot where George Washington and his army were hunted through a wintry agony of doubt before the ragged Continental Army took up the march toward eventual victory.

For now, 172 years later to the month from the time Washington's soldiers trooped from here into battle, the nation has taken action after another long Valley Forge of the spirit. This time it is toward a summer decision in far off Korea. What was just a cold war before has suddenly become a military heat wave now.

America has had to adopt that Scout motto: "Be Prepared." It has also forcibly started to carry out international pledges consistent with its own national safety which are in keeping with the Scout oath: "To help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

And that is the substance of the message Scout leaders expect President Truman will deliver at the opening of the week-long Jamboree tonight.

The Scouts have been too busy exploring the Valley Forge area to pay much heed to the battle developments in the Far East. A jamboree is an exciting thing, and after all they are boys, not men. It is the first trip away from home for many.

But the Korean war has many a scoutmaster worried. They ask newsmen repeatedly: "What's happened? What's behind it all?"

And to a visitor who has seen war there is a kind of shadow over this encampment of youth, though so innocent it should never be bruised but should go on having fun this way forever.

Commodity 'Freeze' Out, Official Says

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The government has no power to seize, freeze, or ration any commodities, and has not even discussed the possibility of asking voluntary curbs, a top official said today.

H. B. McCoy, chief of the police-of-industry and commerce, in the Commerce Department, made the statement when questioned about scattered rumors of impending "freeze" orders on rubber, zinc and other materials.

ALANREED — (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Davis were hosts to seventy persons recently when a family reunion was held in their home. The reunion is an annual affair.

Air Reservists' Records Shifted To Georgia Base

Records of Air Force reservists living in this area, both officers and airmen, that are now being maintained by Headquarters Twelfth Air Force in San Antonio, have been transferred to Headquarters, Fourteenth Air Force, at Robins Air Force Base in Georgia.

This change is due to a reorganization of the Continental Air Command, resulting in the inactivation of the Twelfth Air Force and the assumption of its responsibilities by the Fourteenth.

It in no way affects the present status of air reservists. They will continue their reserve activities with the air base nearest to them, Air Force Training Center or local volunteer liaison officer. If such contacts are not available, or if unsatisfactory, reservists should write to Headquarters, Fourteenth Air Force, at Robins AFB, Georgia, in the same manner they have been contacting Headquarters, Twelfth Air Force, in San Antonio.

U.S. Treasurer's Check 'Bounces'

OMAHA — (AP)—An Omaha newspaper woman gleefully reports a check she got from Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark has "bounced."

Mrs. Clark, whose signature appears on every piece of U.S. currency run off these days, was in Omaha last month. She gave Evelyn Simpson, Omaha World-Herald women's news editor, a $4.98 personal check on the Richmond, Kas., State Bank to pay for a skirt she asked Mrs. Simpson to buy for her.

Yesterday Miss Simpson reported that the check had been returned by the Federal Reserve Bank in Kansas City.

Mrs. Clark had forgotten to sign it.

Canada Russians Trying to Enlist

OTTAWA — (AP)—Democracy-minded Russians living in Canada have been trying to enlist in the Canadian army.

An Army headquarters official said letters from Russian displaced persons here, some of them written in their native language, have been coming in recently.

The spokesman said the flow of applications may be increased by fighting in Korea.

QUITO, Ecuador — (AP)—President Galo Plaza Lasso said today that reports of a revolutionary plot against the government are being investigated.

Interior Minister Guillermo Ramos said last night that authorities had stamped out an abortive plot which centered at Ambato.

The governor of Tungurahua province said the ringleader of the plot was Dr. Carlos Guevara Moreno, interior minister in the regime of President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra, which was toppled in a revolution three years ago.

Loud Noise Is Not Izzy, This Time; Seems She's About to Fall in Drink

By ROBERT DIXON and KENNETH WILLIAMS

DRIVING TOWARD GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. — Last night we drove to the outskirts of Buena Vista, Colo., and bedded down for the night.

We kept hearing a loud noise and we thought the wind was blowing kind of hard. We stood it for a while until we discovered there wasn't any wind so we got up and investigated. To our surprise we found the Arkansas River roaring along side of us not 15 feet from Izzy. We decided not to go swimming.

We had our first really bad luck this morning. When we got up with our starving appetites we found our eggs were rotten and our bacon had spoiled. To top off the misery we had to drive all the way into Leadville, a distance of 34 miles, before we could taste a morsel of food.

Leadville is the highest incorporated town in the world. It had its heyday during the gold mining days and now is quietly dozing in the sun. It is getting ready to have a big celebration on the 30th of July when there will be a pack burro race up a mountain. Ken decided not to enter.

Fifteen miles from Leadville we saw a little mountain stream and decided to go in the gold panning business. We got out a couple of pans and went down to the stream. We got some sand in the pans and washed it around and guess what we saw? Not a thing. We served notice of our leaving the panning business. After we were bankrupted Dick decided to go wading and took his shoes off and went in. After we broke the icicles off his feet, we got started again.

From Colorado Springs to Glenwood Springs, Colo., is one of the most beautiful drives we have ever had the privilege to go over. The mountains are out of this world with their ruggedness and beautiful trees. With the streams rushing down from the tops of these mountains it looks as if they are spreading a layer of silver in the valleys below.

The prettiest part of this drive is the 17 miles before you get into Glenwood Springs. All of this way is along the Colorado River. And climbing nearly straight up from the river and road are rugged cliffs and rocks.

Glenwood Springs is noted mostly for its health-giving springs (at least that's what people pay out money for). It seems to be a nice quiet place to take mineral baths.

We have just gone by Palisade, which is in the middle of a million peach trees. Sure do wish we would have waited until peaches were ripe to take this trip.

Maybe you have wondered why we have never given the mileage we have travelled, well, it's because Izzy doesn't have a speedometer so we don't even know how fast we are going. Besides that, her gas gauge doesn't work until it gets good and ready. And that doesn't happen very often.

The roads we have hit so far have been pretty good. The best have been all of the highways in Texas and Highways 85 and 87 from Raton, N. M., to Colorado Springs. The one that takes the onions is the highway from Texline, Texas, to Raton. It is not much better than a couple of ruts and those ruts might be smoother at times. Highway 24 from Colorado Springs to Grand Junction is a good highway except for occasional places where construction is going on.

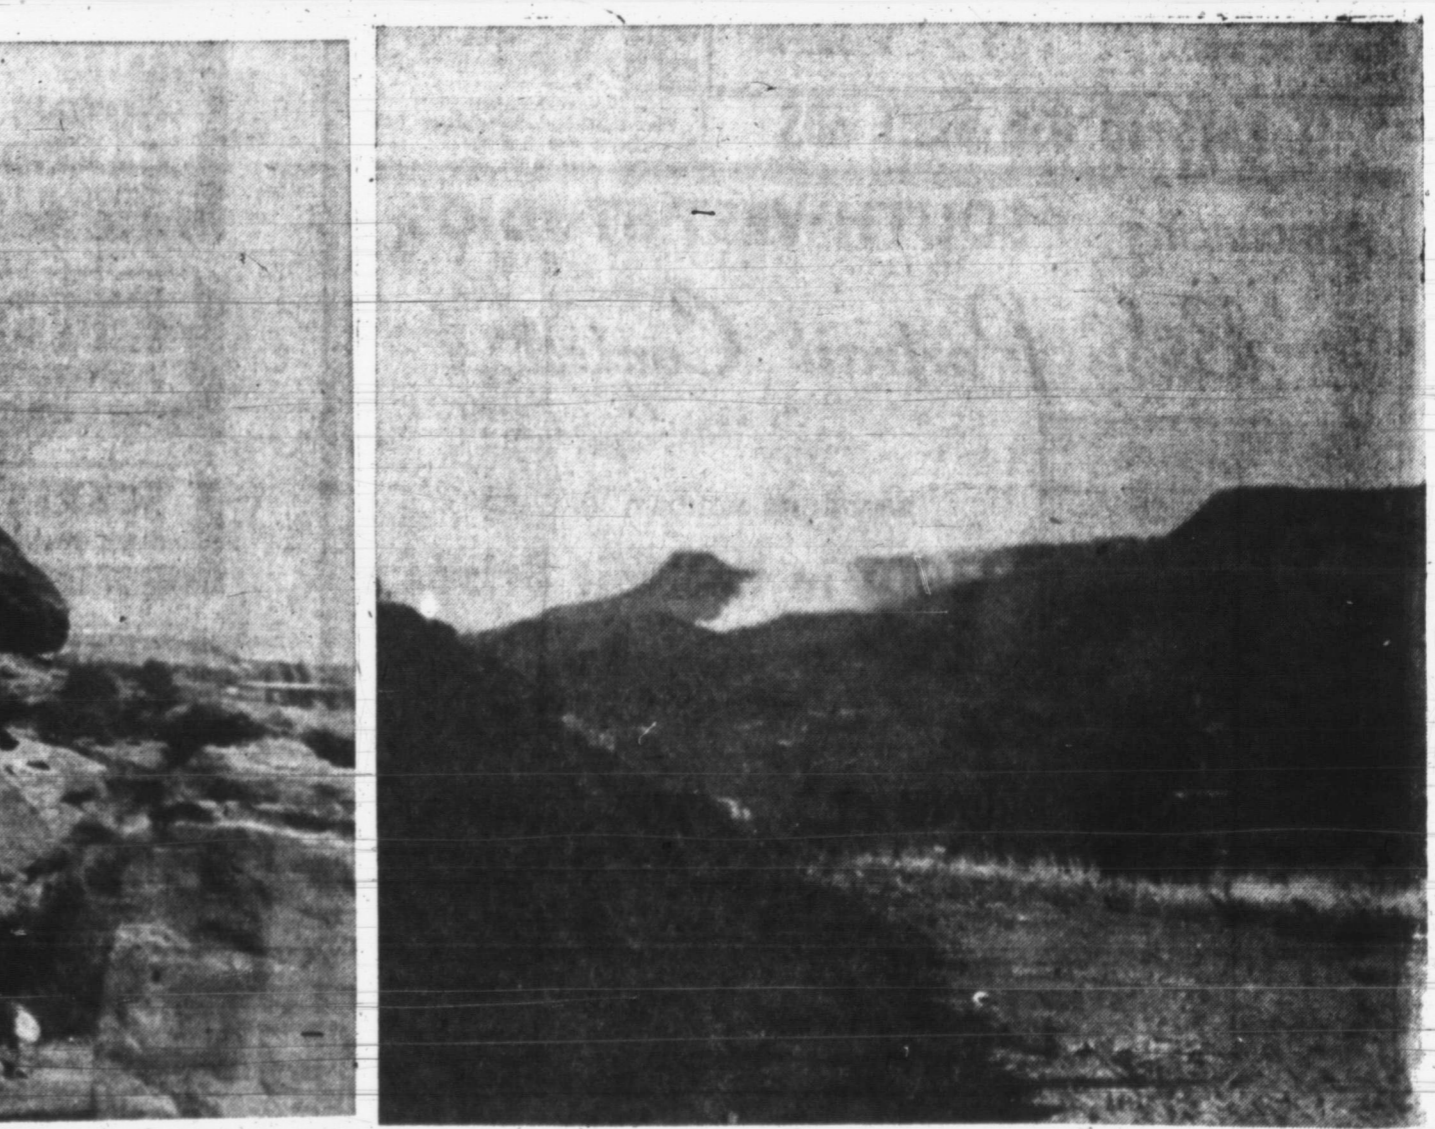

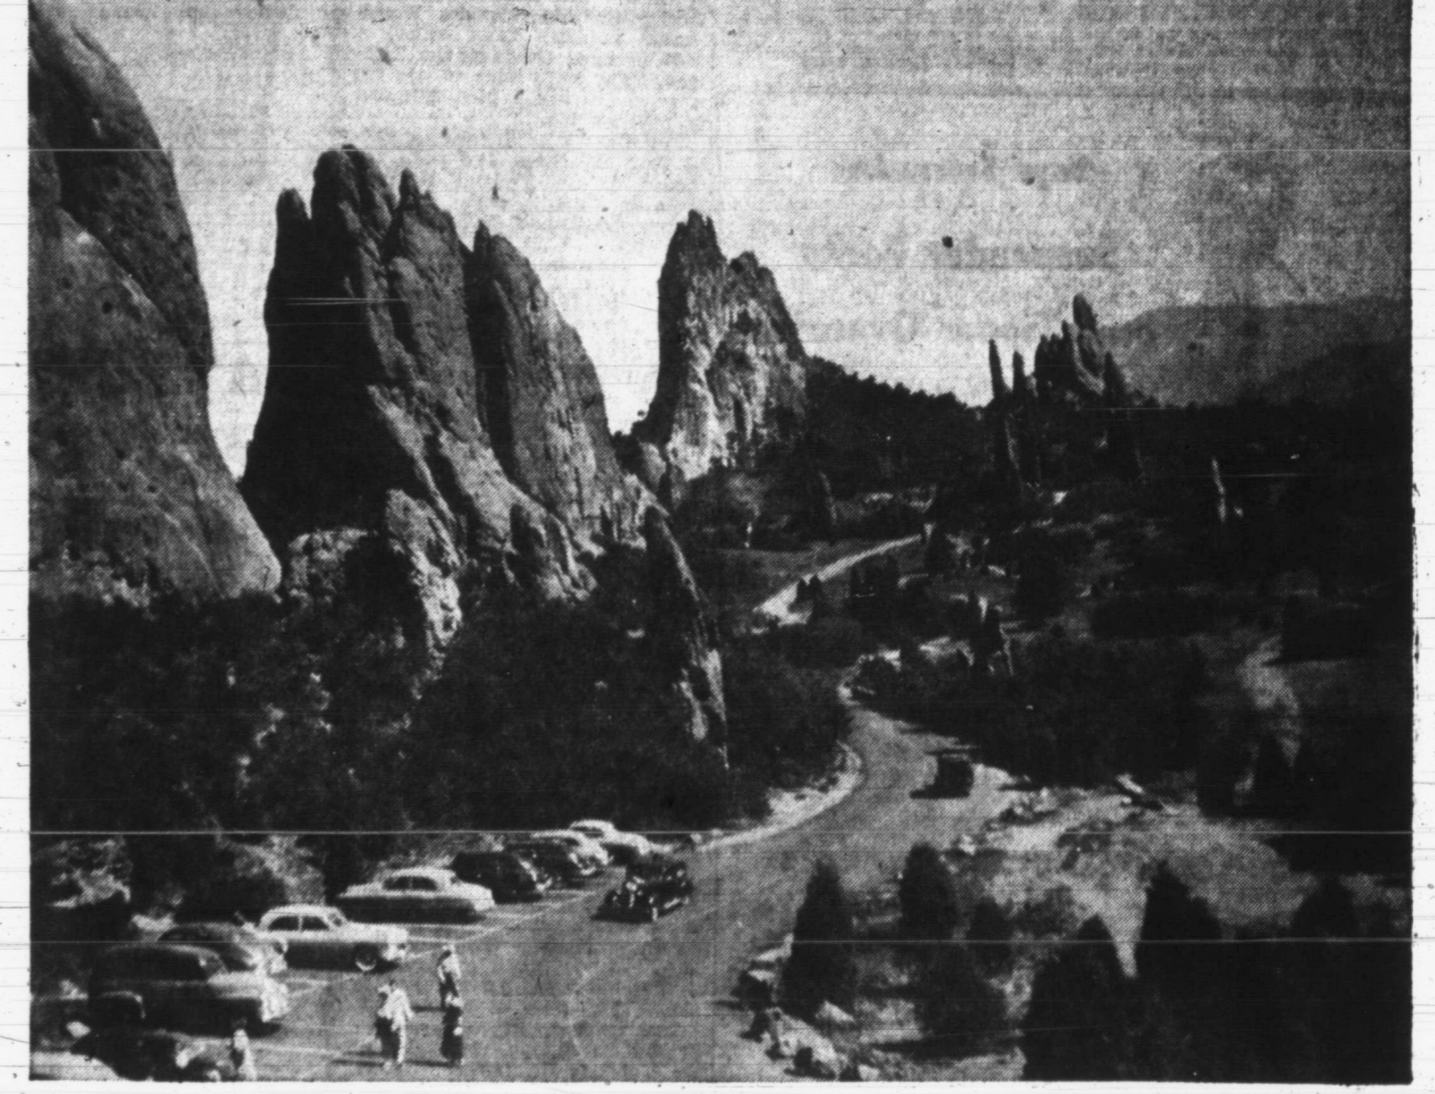

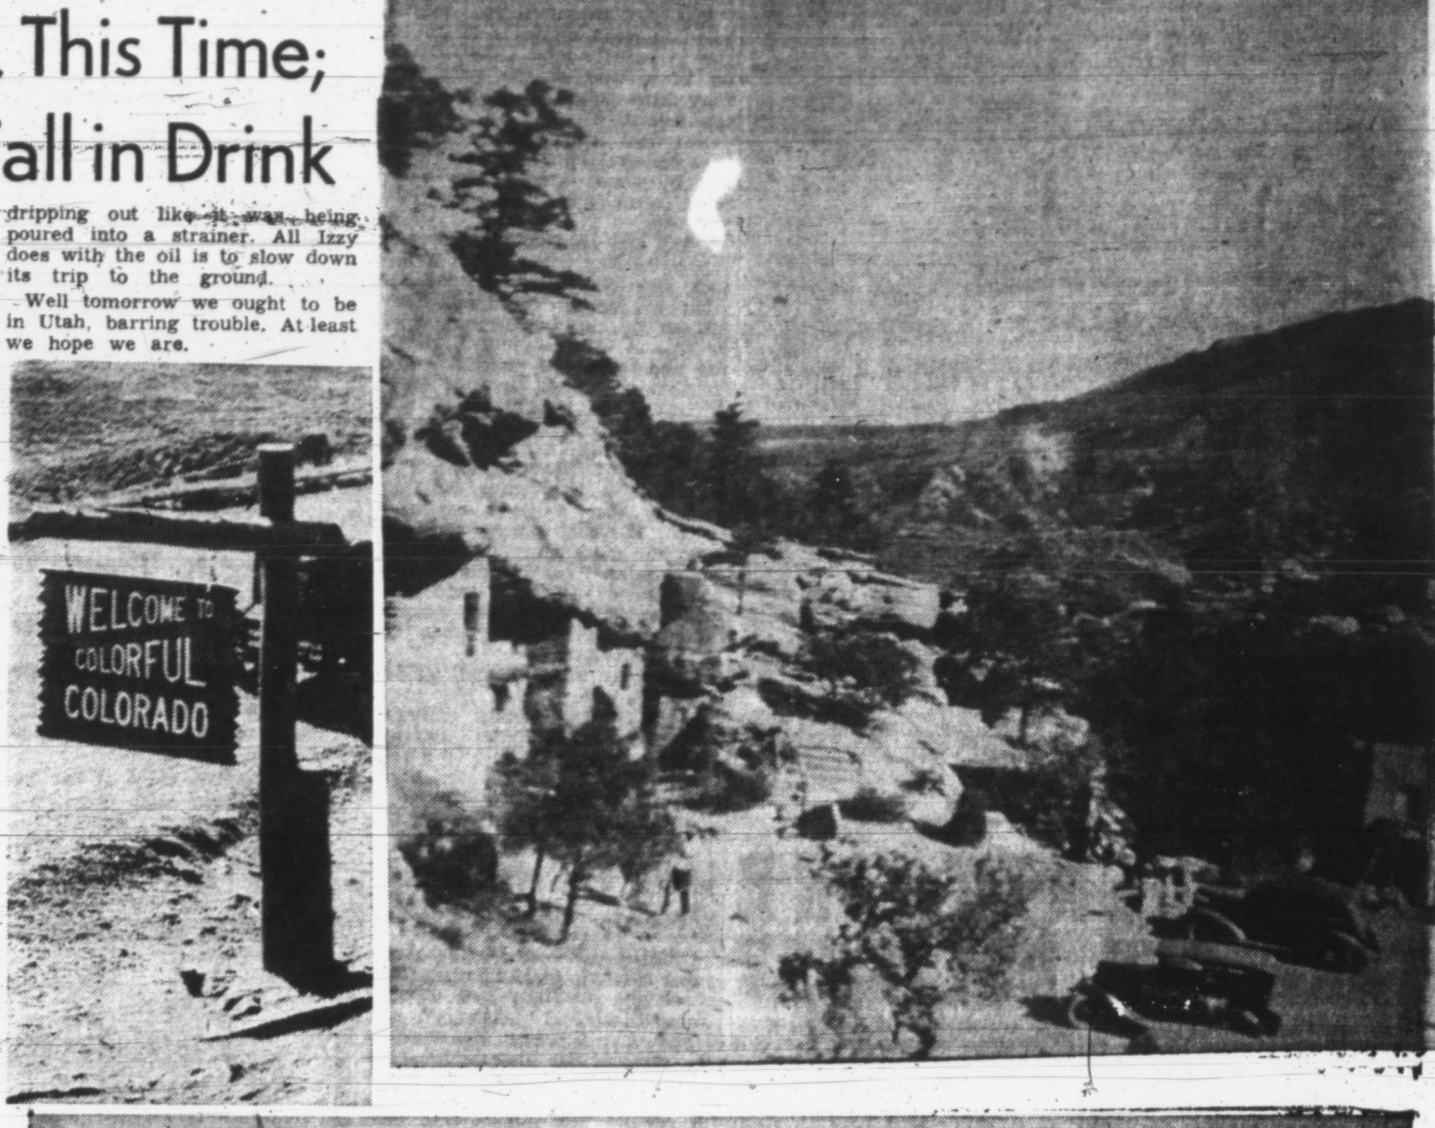

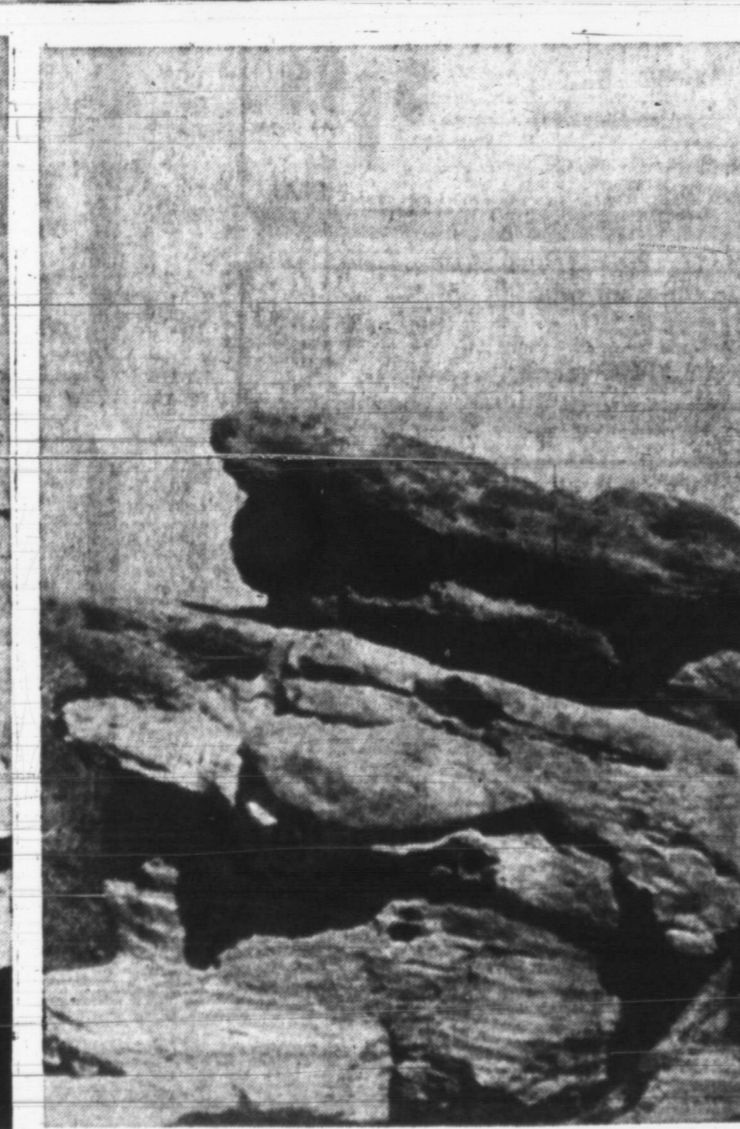

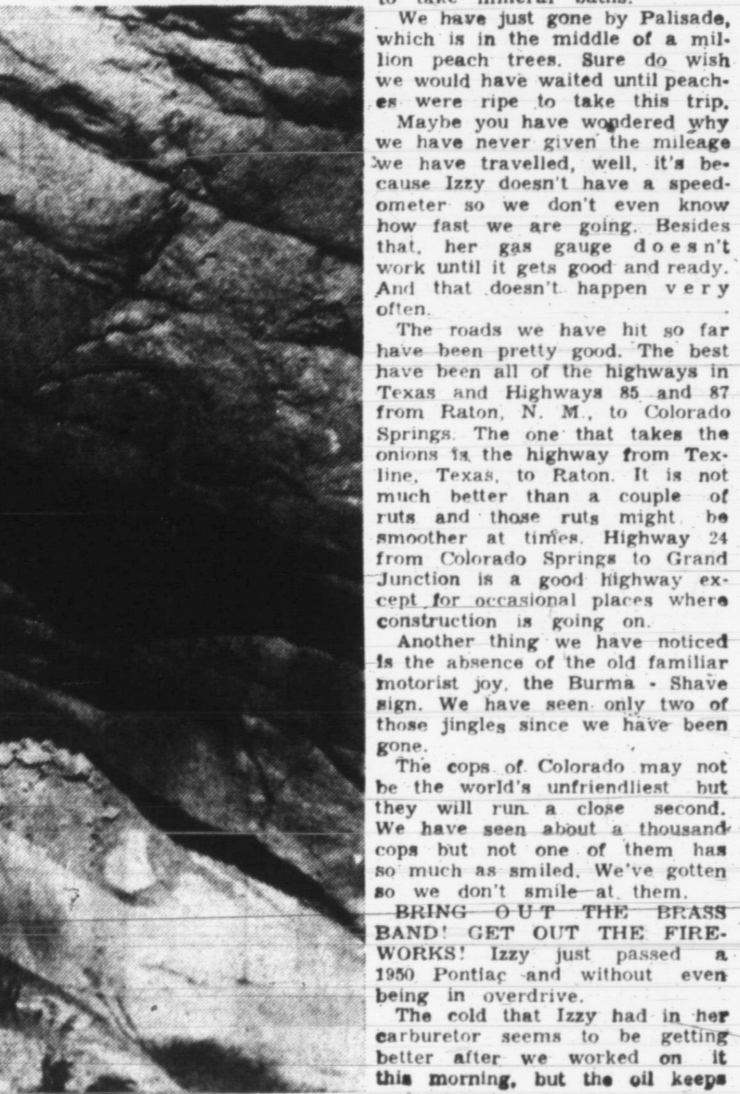

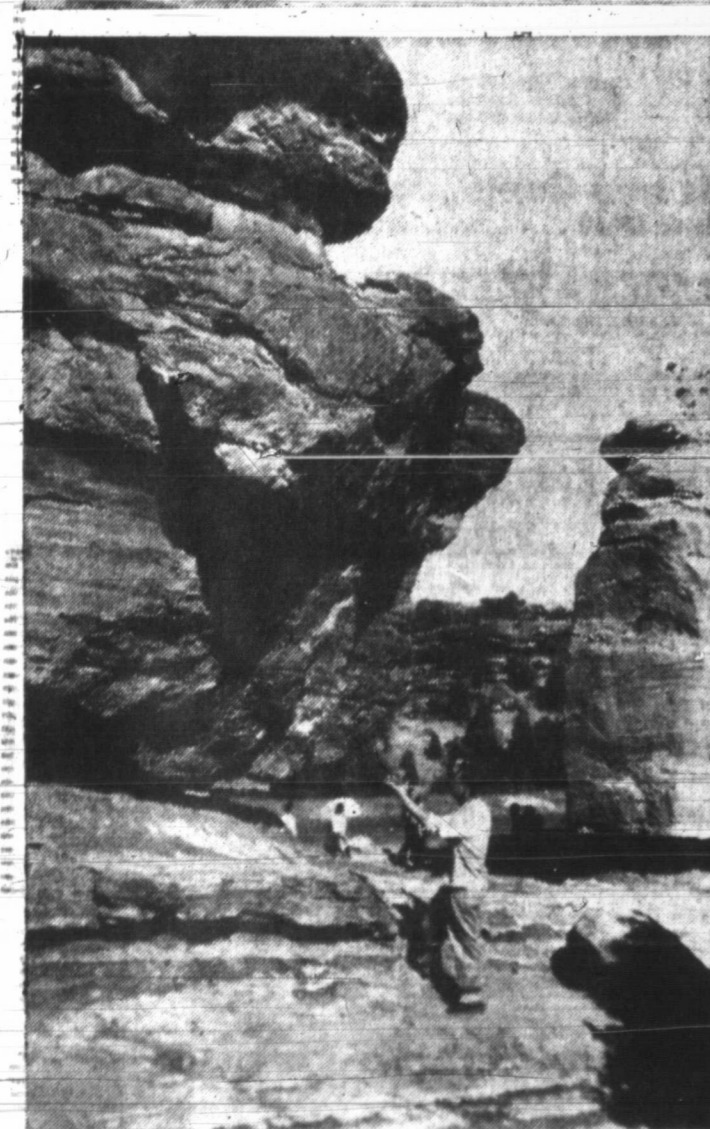

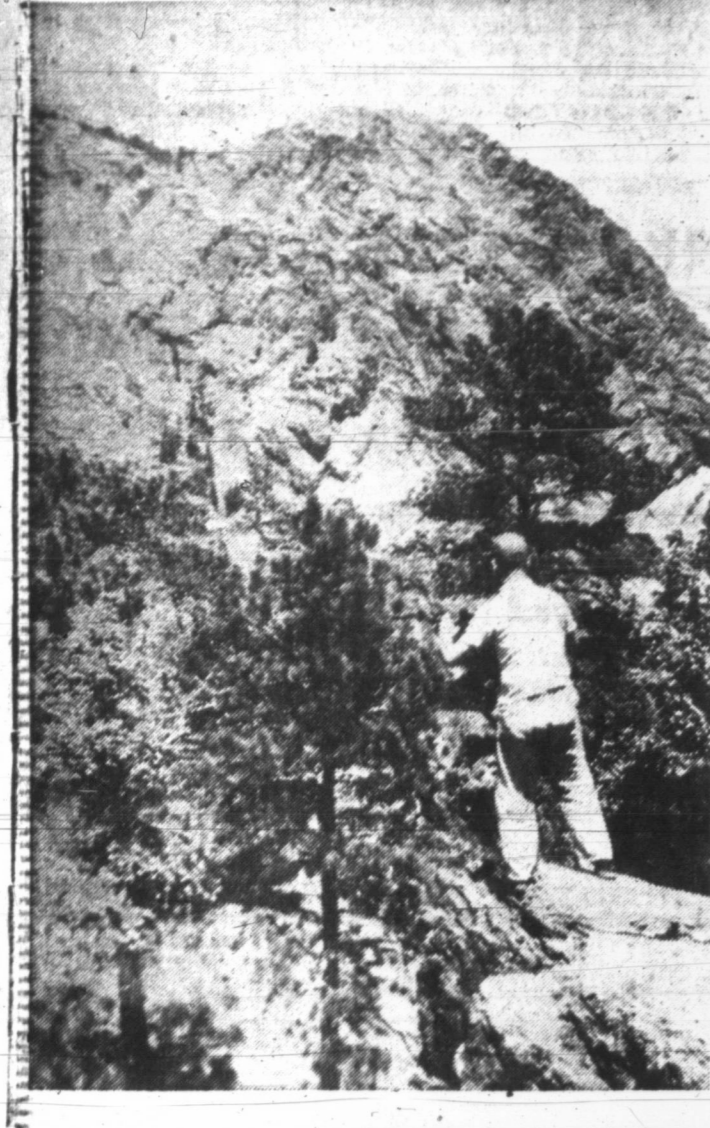

Another thing we have noticed is the absence of the old familiar motorist joy, the Burma-Shave sign. We have seen only two of those jingles since we have been gone.

The cops of Colorado may not be the world's unfriendliest but they will run a close second. We have seen about a thousand cops but not one of them has so much as smiled. We've gotten so we don't smile at them.

BRING OUT THE BRASS BAND! GET OUT THE FIREWORKS! Izzy just passed a 1936 Pontiac and without even being in overdrive.

The cold that Izzy had in her carburetor seems to be getting better after we worked on it this morning, but the oil keeps dripping out like it was being poured into a strainer. All Izzy does with the oil is to slow down its trip to the ground. Well tomorrow we ought to be in Utah, barring trouble. At least we hope we are.

Top Left— Don't jump, Dick. After a week of fighting Izzy's controls, Dick's ready to end it all by jumping off New Mexico's Inspiration Point. Read the next story to see if he really did.

Center Left— Rugged country, this Colorado. A man could fall in any of these rugged "gullies" and never have to worry about another thing.

Bottom Left— Charles Atlas (Ken to you) is holding up the famous Balanced Rock in the Garden of the Gods. He's probably as tired as Izzy.

Garden of the Gods. Izzy was commonly mistaken for the "steamboat."

Top Right— Manitou Springs, Colo., nestles in a valley below the area's famous cliff dwellings. Izzy scared all the Indian ghosts away, feel mighty small. The numerous cars in the picture prove the area's scenic attraction.

Korean Action Similar To Pershing's Venture

By ROBIN TIBBETS
When President Truman, acting on the authority given him as commander-in-chief of the armed forces, gave direct aid to Korea last week, he placed the United States in much the same position that Woodrow Wilson put it in 34 years ago when Pancho Villa started making trouble.

It was on March 10, 1916, that President Wilson ordered a force of American troops into Mexico to capture Francisco "Pancho" Villa, who, on the day before, had crossed the border with 1500 Mexicans and raided Columbus, N.M., killing 16 citizens and wounding several others, including some American soldiers.

Villa's raid was brought about by a split between him and General Venustiano Carranza, who had taken over the Mexican government from Huerta. Carranza refused to treat with Villa, regarding him a lowly bandit, and not trusting his intentions.

Villa became angry and chased Carranza out of Mexico City. Later, he himself, was run out of the capital city by Oregon, Carranza's chief lieutenant.

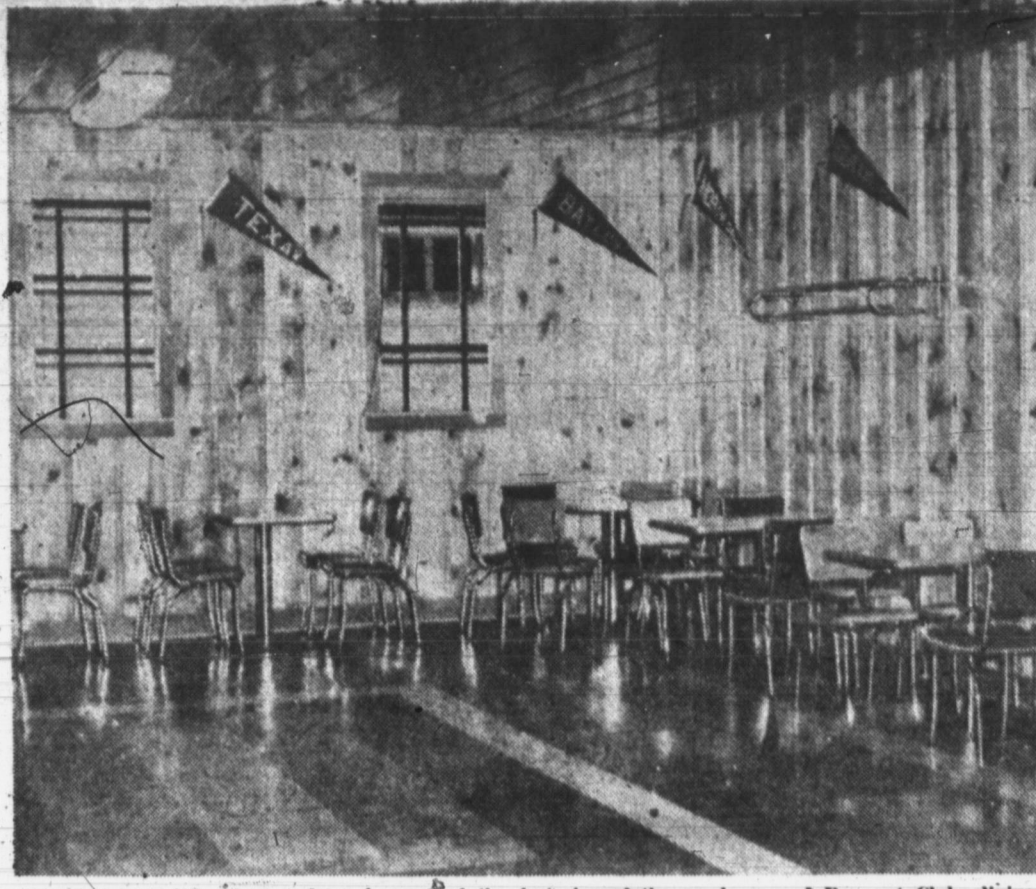

The U.S. recognized Carranza's government and Pancho, feeling he had been cheated by his own government and stashed in the back by the government of the United States, retaliated by raiding in New Mexico.

By a mutual agreement, Carranza was given the right to pursue bandits into American territory and the U.S. was given the privilege to pursue Villa into Mexico.

In accordance with this agreement, General Pershing entered Mexican territory March 15 in pursuit of the elusive bandit.

On April 15, however, Carranza sent a note to Washington asking how far the American expedition would pursue Villa and how long it would last. On May 22, he demanded a withdrawal of American troops, and when his demand was ignored, repeated it May 31.

On June 16, the general in command of the Mexican army warned the United States that if the battle was carried farther, it would be considered an act of war. The following week, the two forces actually fought near Carrizal.

After a few days of fighting, President Wilson suggested peaceful negotiations be made and satisfactory agreements were effected shortly afterward. The strife continued, however, until Wilson organized the border patrol on the Rio Grande in Texas as a strong police force.

Needless to say, the United States never did capture Villa. He was killed in 1923 by enemies who riddled his car with bullets.

His Mistake

Aristotle once counted the teeth of his housekeeper and those of a male servant. He found fourteen teeth in the mouth of the woman and, for hundreds of years, it was taken for granted that men had four more teeth than women.

Roundup Club In Initial Meet

The chamber of commerce Roundup Club met for the first time Friday morning in the Courthouse Cafe. The club was organized about two weeks ago to acquire new members for the chamber of commerce.

Paul Carmichael, president, said that the purpose of Friday's meeting was to make plans to contact several prospective members who were not contacted in the recent membership drive, and to contact new businessmen in Pampa.

The club holds a regular monthly meeting. Attending the meeting Friday were Irvin Cole, Ed Cleveland, George Newberry, Gene Fatherson and Carmichael.

Swimming Party Held By Girl Scout Troop

A swimming party was held recently at the municipal pool by Girl Scout Troop 19.

W. T. Braley, father of one of the girls, served as instructor and guard.

Those attending the party were: Ella Gayle Braley, Fattie Rae Claunch, Carolyn Sue Doty, Lynn Followell, Janice Frazer, Donna Lee Hegwer, Geraldine Hill, Janice Kretzmeier, Nickie Lewter, Mary K. Lunsford, Ruth C. Roberts, Nona Lynn Sawyer, Margaret Scott, Carroll Frances Laub. Leader for the troop swimming party was Mrs. Buri Lewter.

Also attending the party were Mrs. W. L. Kretzmeier and daughter, Ann.

HIS MISTAKE

Aristotle once counted the teeth of his housekeeper and those of a male servant. He found four less teeth in the mouth of the woman, and, for hundreds of years, it was taken for granted that men had four more teeth than women.

THE DRILLER'S LOG

By BUD ANDERSON

Promotion of Otis B. Hocker to assistant manager of the geophysical division, producing department, The Texas Co., effective yesterday, was announced by E. R. Filley, general manager, producing department, and R. L. Lay, manager of the geophysical division.

A native of Clarksville, Texas, Hocker attended Texas A&M College, receiving his B. S. degree in electrical engineering in 1922. He was employed by The Texas Co. in 1925 as computer on a seismic crew at Houston.

After serving in various capacities on seismic and gravity meter parties, he was physicist and later party chief on one of the company's seismic crews in Egypt from March 1928 to September, 1940, when he stopped the work.

The natural gas business is getting better all the time if one could judge by the number of applications being filed with the Federal Power Commission for new pipelines.

This includes extensions to existing lines. Any number have been approved this month and several other applications were sent in but rejected.

Each new line means more gas being sold by Texas. A sharp step-up in the Rocky Mountain region oil and gas drilling campaign was assured as plans were announced for new wildcat programs in six states, according to the Associated Press.

Operators seeking to uncover new petroleum resources in the mountain area are looking for important test wells in Wyoming, Colorado, Montana, Utah, South Dakota and Nebraska.

Most of the new ventures in Wyoming, where wildcat drillers have had remarkable success in recent years, will be in the Powder River Basin.

Ralph Lowe of Midland, announced a location for a Dakota Sand well in the north Big Muddy area of Converse County, five miles north of producing wells in the Big Muddy field.

Pace-Making Half Recorded for 1950

Drilling activity in the Panhandle during the first six months of the current year easily outpaced almost all totals since January, 1948.

Should the present trend continue, area operators could log this one of the most productive periods in recent years. This comes in spite of a slow start at the beginning of the year and a wholesale decline registered last month.

Industry-wide, 1948 has been considered the peak year. But, indications are 1950 will be tops for the Panhandle. This should be the case considering raw figures. However drilling programs might be completed before the year's end leaving the latter six-month period somewhat slower than the first.

New oil completions have shown the sharpest increases in the three six-month periods. Operators have completed, so far, 222 new oil wells, an increase of 84 over 1949's 238 and 131 over the 191 completed in 1948.

New oil potentials also have shown a gain but gas potentials fell far below the area's high recorded for 1949. To date, 20,908 barrels of oil have been brought in this year compared to 18,099 reported in 1949 and 1,531 for 1948. Gas potentials total 819,244 MCF for 1950; 2,314,324 MCF for 1949 and 645,677 MCF for 1948.

New locations rose to 510 from 316 for 1949 and 438 staked in the first half of 1948. Gas Completions fell to 74 from 1949's 102 but rose above 1948's 50. Dry holes remained at last year's total of 40, 1948 reported 37.

The Railroad Commission reports that 11 new wildcats have been staked this year in the area; one completed as an oiler; one as a gasser and seven plugged.

Deep oil production was proved in Sherman County by the completion being 8,000 feet of Phillips Petroleum Co.'s No. 1 Well. The company has completed two offsets to this producer.

Texaco Production Department given President's Award. The Distinguished Service to Safety award is the latest in a series of safety honors which Stanolind has received this year.

Sixteen Joseph A. Holmes awards for outstanding safety records during 1949 were recently presented to areas in the company's field operating divisions. The Joseph A. Holmes Safety Association is sponsored by the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

Stanolind also won four awards in the Petroleum section of the National Safety Council's safety contest and five American Petroleum Institute certificates for safety achievements in 1949. These awards were made to various areas in Stanolind's four operating divisions.

No Change in GOR For Panhandle Wells

The proposed change in gas-oil ratios from 2,000-1 to 1,000-1 will not apply to operators in the Panhandle field according to engineers in the District Ten Railroad Commission.

Six Straight Rises Set in Rig Activity

DALLAS — With Oklahoma, the Gulf Coast and Illinois areas showing important increases in the number of active rotary rigs, drilling operations in oilfields of the United States and Canada during the week of June 28 established a new 1950 peak for the sixth consecutive week.

As reported to American Assn. of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Co., the total of 2,312 units operating in the week compares with 2,284 a week ago, 2,225 a month ago, and with 2,077 in the comparable week of 1949. For the same week in 1948, 2,314 units were reported operating.

A comparison by principal areas for the past two weeks follows: Pacific Coast, 129, down 3; Oklahoma, 313, up 16; Kansas, 134, down 5; Rocky Mountain, 86, down 3; Canada, 82, down 3; Ark-La-Tex, 150, up 1; West Texas & New Mexico, 744, up 2; Gulf Coast, 511, up 12; Illinois, 151, up 11.

Shamrock Oil Seeks Change in Allocation

Testimony concerning the Railroad Commission's method of allocating allowable gas in the West Panhandle field will be presented by Shamrock Oil and Gas Corp. at a hearing to be held July 26 in Amarillo.

The hearing, to be held in the Herring Hotel, was granted by the Railroad Commission on the basis of a request by the corporation that the commission reconsider the method of gas allocation adopted May 1.

The Shamrock appeal charges discrimination in allocation of allowable gas to certain wells scattered throughout the field.

A portion of the Shamrock testimony cites 657 wells — 19 exempt wells, 439 restricted to 100 percent of their potential and 199 restricted by their inability to produce their allowable — as having a difference of more than five billion cubic feet between their allowable and the volumes assigned by the commission.

The reduction of his 1.5 billion cubic feet, according to the Shamrock petition, should increase the allowable on each of the 1,251 remaining wells in the field.

But, through use of the new method of allocating the allowable, some 179 wells are penalized and given allowables lower than those they would have received before redistribution of the excess billion cubic feet.

Shamrock owns 49 of the penalized wells.

Commission Sets Factors For July Gas

Potential factor to be used by the Railroad Commission in computing July gas allowables for the Panhandle field is 58,249, according to commission engineers.

Average times rock pressure factor is 214,595.

Net allocation for the 1910 wells in the Panhandle has been set at 60,920,249 MCF which is an increase over June's 59,248,133 MCF. Underproduction accrued in June was 1,779,552 MCF. Total potential for the field has been established as 29,645,800 MCF while total acres times rock pressure is 24,611,115 MCF. These figures include both restricted and unrestricted wells.

Total nominations were 62,699,809 MCF for natural gas and nominations for helium totaled 868,000 MCF which is to be taken from 951,000 MCF allowed these wells.

More activity during the past week was indicated by reports from the Panhandle field. Operators brought in potentials totalling 851 barrels of oil from 13 new oil wells. New locations were staked for 19 wells and three dry holes were reported. This makes total completions for the week 19. Current production is 20,908 barrels.

June Totals For District Skid Sharply

Totals in the Panhandle field for June skidded when compared to totals for May.

All divisions registered a sharp drop with the exception of total gas completions. Operators completed 15 new gas wells in June and 12 in May, an increase in the past month of three.

Total number of new locations in the field showed the sharpest decline with a loss of 34 wells. During May there were 167 new locations but only 73 for June.

Heavy rainfall has been cited as one deterrent factor to June drilling activity. Roads and fields, kept wet during the greater part of the month, hampered operation of trucks and equipment.

Increased oil potentials for the month dropped to 2,828 barrels from May's 3,630 barrels. This was a decline of 802 barrels. Gas potentials also fell. June gas completions supplied only 24,873 MCF while those for May pushed Panhandle production up some 309,311 MCF.

There were 43 new oil completions compared to May's 50 and seven dry holes compared to eight for the previous period.

Houston Company Proposes Nation's Longest Gas Line

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. of Houston, has asked the Corp. commission for authority to build a 2,175-mile natural gas pipeline from South Texas to the Pacific Northwest.

The $174,198,602 system would supply natural gas to the Northwest for the first time. It would be the nation's longest pipeline.

The longest pipeline so far authorized is the 1,940-mile system being built by Trans-Continental Pipe Line Co. of Longview, from Texas to New York City.

Pacific Northwest said its line would link Texas gas reserve areas with gas fields in Alberta, Canada, to meet requirements of the Puget Sound area, as far north as Vancouver, B. C.

The main 26-inch Texas-to-Washington line would have an initial delivery capacity of 250,000,000 cubic feet a day.

The company also plans to buy about 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily at or near the United States-Canadian boundary. It would send it through a lateral line from the proposed main line northeastward to Eastport, Idaho.

The company plans to build 400 miles of 22-inch and smaller lateral lines, in addition to the 2,175-mile main line.

The main line would start in Wharton County, Texas.

TIPRO President Attacks U.S. Subsidization of Mexican Oil

AUSTIN — There is as much justification for giving Mexico a $100,000,000 to subsidize more potato imports as to overexpand her subsidized oil industry. Both products are in oversupply here and loans of this type at our taxpayers' expense only serve to increase our taxes and destroy our jobs.

That was the statement of TIPRO President R. L. Force of Dallas in a telegram congratulating Congressman J. M. Combs upon his opposition to reported plans of the Federal government to reward Mexico for acquiescing in a Dec. 31 cancellation of the reciprocal trade agreement.

TIPRO's opposition to the loan had been made public last year when President Truman sought to push it through over widespread public and State Department objection.

"Mexico already is a net exporter of petroleum, and the only possible result of such increased expansion, paid for by already overtaxed Americans, is the dumping of more subsidized oil on the domestic market. What many of our Federal officials can't seem to understand is that about three-fourths of American oil-producing well are marginal ones.

Continued excessive imports, without regard to the principle of supplementing and not supplanting, can only force premature abandonment of more and more of these marginal wells, causing the permanent loss of oil, and making America depend-

SMEAR CAMPAIGN By Edwin Rutt Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

X BEV seemed normal at lunch, easy and talkative, but Bill knew she was putting on an act for the elder Coulters. After the meal, Bill got Bev aside.

"How's for golf this afternoon?" he asked. "We've got to talk some more."

The laughter was gone from her face now. "No golf, Bill," she said decisively. "And no more talk. It would tell me nothing I don't already know. If you're trying to say something like 'we can't leave it this way—I think we can.' Her hand touched him, and she gave it a warm little squeeze. "I've some things to do. No hard feelings, Bill. I haven't any."

She left him then, abruptly, as if she could not trust herself to say more. Bill shook his head, rather sadly, and wandered out to the veranda. Lloyd Wilkinson rolled in a glider, half asleep.

"Not flying today?" Bill asked. Lloyd yawned. "Later, maybe. They had to do a repair job on the plane this morning." Bill moved on.

Mrs. Fasker was sitting under a tree knitting steadily, like a benign Madame Defarge. She gave Bill her shrewd appraising look. "Well, young Jarvis, how you doing?"

"For at least once today, Bill thought, he might be honest.

"Not too darn well," he said, forcing a grin.

She nodded. "I'm not surprised. This set-up had all the necessary ingredients. You aren't the first man to think he was crazy about one girl, and then find himself overboard for another."

He practically jumped. Of course, though, she'd guessed. Or figured odds out of what he presumed, was a vast experience of people.

"So you think that's me?" he memorized.

Mrs. Fasker morted. "Think?"

"I don't understand," he said blankly.

"You don't need to. Just take my word for it. This'll all come out in the wash. Overworked expression that it is."

"Well, Bill," Mrs. Fasker reached up, patted his arm, "you haven't asked my advice. But you'll get it, anyhow. Don't do it. Bill! Beat yourself up. I mean, it's a minor undercurrent crept into her tone—it isn't you who should."

"I don't understand," he said blankly.

idling by the green, smoking a pipe.

"Just lucky," Bill emerged from the trap.

"Nope. Nice shot. But the last person I saw in there today made a better one."

"So?"

"Yeah. Near hole out. A woman, too. That Sands girl."

"Oh! Bill clipped it conclusively. But, as conclusively, he felt a sudden thrill, at the mere mention of the name.

"Yeah," Mike knocked dottle from his pipe. "And I'm sorry she's gone, all right. Best golfer we've had here all summer."

"So?"

It took an effort, but Bill controlled himself. "Did you say . . . going?"

"Yeah. Leaving tomorrow, she tells me."

"So?"

Bill waited for no more. He threw his bag in the clubhouse and started for the Inn. So that was what Hildy had meant? She had been jacked up, showing a lined, aged face. "Oh! Bill, I've been hunting you all over. See here! Did Bev say anything to you?"

"To me?" Bill blinked. "About what?"

"Coulter's shoulders sagged. "I can see she didn't, but to us either. But Bev went off 45 cents that Wilkinson fellow. Hours ago. And here it is night and they're not back yet. I've phoned the airport a dozen times. But there's no word of them. And Mrs. Coulter's half crazy."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Percentage Play Isn't Always Needed in Bridge

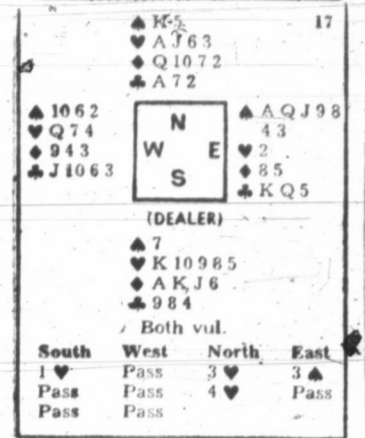

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"We have a problem as to the correct percentage play," writes a Dallas reader. The argument developed as a result of this hand.

West opened the ten of spades, dummy played the king, and East won with the ace. East led the queen of spades at the second trick, and South ruffed.

South next laid down the king of hearts, and continued with the ten of hearts. West played a low trump both times, and South had to decide whether or not to finesse.

"As you can see, a finesse would have enabled him to make his contract. Actually South put up dummy's ace of hearts, thus losing his contract. He eventually had to give up a trump trick and two clubs.

"South claims he followed the rule that you finesse with eight trumps but not with nine trumps. North feels sure that the odds are in favor of a finesse through West, but cannot prove it. Who is correct?"

North is correct. When you have no information about the unseen cards you follow the old rule that South quoted. The rule actually says "With eight ever; with nine, never." It must be emphasized, however, that this old rule applies only when you have no information about the hands of the opponents.

In this case, however, South had heard East bid three spades in the face of strong bidding by North-South. Would East do so with two losing cards in the suit that had been bid against him? As any experienced bridge player knows, East would be much more likely to bid three spades if his hand contained only one heart than if his hand contained two hearts.

The bidding and West's choice of the opening lead indicated that East held at least seven spades. This alone would cause the odds to favor a finesse through West for the queen of hearts. With seven spades in his hand, East had only six cards in which to hold an assortment of hearts, diamonds and clubs. West, with only

Bread Strike Is Ended in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Los Angeles has bread with its butter today.

Nineteen hundred striking AFL bakers returned to work today after being off the job since June 17. They voted yesterday to accept an employers' offer for a wage increase.

The strikers, employed in 21 wholesale bakeries in the Los Angeles area, had asked for a five-day, 35-hour week at no loss of pay under their six-day, 40-hour week.

The settlement provides a wage increase of five cents an hour, guarantee of an eight-hour day with a 40-hour week, with journeymen receiving $1.73 an hour. They will get $37.50 each in lieu of retroactive pay to May 1. Union officials did not disclose

U.S.-Korean Evacuees Seek Baby Bribes

TOKYO — (AP) — Diapers were in big demand today among American mothers evacuated from war-torn Korea.

Their hurried departure prevented them from bringing enough with them and the Red Cross does not carry diapers in its usual overseas stocks.

The vote but said the majority for ending the strike was "only several hundred."

Bill Would Restrict Solon's Extra Work

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. O'Sullivan (D-Neb.) wants a law to fine and jail members of Congress who accept money for making speeches or writing articles.

O'Sullivan put his idea into a bill which he introduced in the House yesterday. He wants a penalty of $10,000 and ten years in prison for violators.

The Nebraska said in a statement that his bill "followed disclosures that Senator Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) has been paid

Los Angeles Chief Asks Resignation

Worton, a major general in the Marine Corps before his retirement, did not disclose his future plans.

Singer's Widow Files Suit Against Pilots

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Singer Buddy Clark's widow, Nedra, has sued the owners of the plane in which he crashed to his death last fall for $2,001,307 damages.

She alleges the plane, returning from a Stanford football game, crashed in a Los Angeles street because it was operated "carelessly and negligently."

Named as defendants are D. W. Mercer, James D. Melvin and James L. Hayter.
