British Gain Further Hold On Ruwerstat

By EDWARD KENNEDY
CAIRO, Egypt, July 18 (AP)—Disclosure of new, hard-hitting raids on the Axis supply ports of Tobruk and Benghazi by United States army air force units, marked the rising power of air warfare over the western desert today.

On the ground, British Imperial and Axis land forces battled back and forth in bitter but inconclusive conflict for possession of the barren ridges west of El Alamein and about 75 miles west of Alexandria.

General Brenton, whose assumption of command over the American air forces in the Middle East was made known only today, said that in 26 days of operations the American Liberator and Flying Fortress bombers—both large support—charged four engine types—had conducted 21 missions and lost only three planes in combat.

In the newest of these assignments they set fire to an Axis tanker and scored direct hits on a large motorship at Tobruk last night, added to the fires which the RAF already had set raging around the harbor, and reached on farther west into Libya to pound small ships in the Gulf of Bomba, where the Italians once had a seaplane base.

"They put up a damned good show," said the British in praise of the American airman, who are concentrating primarily on the shipping. Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel must have to maintain his threat against the valley of the Nile.

The British noted that Rommel himself was using air power on an

A CAPTURED AUSTRIAN HOWITZER

Old Trophy Goes Back To War Via Cabot Gun Plant's Melting Pot

For many years there has reposed at the north entrance to the City hall an Austrian 405 millimeter howitzer captured during World War I and owned by the Pampa post of the American Legion. When it was announced that the Cabot company was constructing a plant for the manufacture of electric steel and gun tube forgings, it occurred to Lee Franks, Legion commander, and his staff that it would be appropriate to recast the captured cannon for use against the Axis and he notified the Cabot Shops ordnance division that the gun was available when they were ready for it.

So last Tuesday afternoon Commander-elect Ed Tracey accepted a donation to the American Legion's Service Men's entertainment fund and title to the howitzer formally passed and a filing station at Cabot Shop's manager, who it was to be broken up for charging stock for the electric furnace soon to be placed in operation. The presentation was scheduled for 2 o'clock and for 15 to 20 minutes the Cabot representatives stood around anxiously awaiting the arrival of Commander Lee Franks who, it was later learned, had been delayed by the greatest of tragedies, a flat tire. In the meanwhile, Ed Tracey happened by and was pressed into service.

In discussion with R. A. Baker, Cabot Shop's manager, we learned that this was just another evidence of the great patriotism of the American Legion's Service Men's fund.

No One Injured In Santa Fe Derailment

No one was injured when an east-bound freight train had part of its 80-car string derailed and overturned 17 miles east of Pampa at 2:45 p. m. Friday.

At 2:30 o'clock Saturday morning the line was cleared and trains had no trouble in passing over the main line, according to O. T. Hendrix, Pampa agent of the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway company.

Agent Hendrix said that all of the cars except the last 10 or 11 were derailed and overturned, and only the last 10 or 11 cars overturned.

Six or seven of the cars, he said, were damaged on side, bottom, and top.

The train was traveling between 40 and 50 miles an hour at the time of the accident. Cause of the derailment was not given.

'Wild' Airplane Slings Hood Of Car With Prop

A U. S. army bi-motored plane proved a wild mustang—and not one to hitch your troubles to, either, at the Pampa airport at 8:15 yesterday morning.

While the motors were being warmed-up preparatory to the plane taking off from the field, the craft suddenly moved forward, grazed a corner of the U. S. Weather bureau station, slashed a blade of one of its propellers through the hood of a parked automobile and came to a stop at the cable fence surrounding the field.

The plane is still at the same place at the local airport, awaiting the arrival of an army inspector who will check up on the accident, which though minor, must be investigated according to the regulations of an observer at the local station said Saturday.

Since the ship was an army craft, details of the accident were not on weather bureau reports here. The observer questioned about the accident said it occurred at a time when he was not on duty.

Damage to the plane from the crash was limited to the propellers.

Half Million Men Needed For Invasion

By DREW MIDDLETON
LONDON, July 18 (AP)—The seriousness of the German advance in the Don basin may prompt the U. S. and Britain to drive across the English channel soon to open a second front, but the tremendous shipping and training problems confronting the Allies made it unlikely that such a drive would be an all-out invasion.

The Germans claimed their troops had reached the lower Don on a broad front, but there was no confirmation of that here.

Bus Line To Air Base Authorized

A fleet of buses will soon be transporting workers to and from the Pampa air base, 12 miles east of here, and downtown Pampa, according to an announcement made today.

Application for a railroad commission permit for a bus line between Pampa and the air base has been granted to S. C. (Tex) Evans, according to Hugh P. Johnson.

There may be as many as 10 buses used which will meet all shifts and 30-minute service will be maintained.

Starting of the line is conditioned on when the equipment is received.

Name of the line, location of headquarters, and exact schedule of buses is yet to be arranged. For the present the business will be handled from 204 N. Ballard Road from that point to the air base will be south on Cuyler, then out Highway 152, directly to the plant, a 12-mile trip.

Bus used will be all-steel, of 30-passenger capacity.

Grain Bins Being Erected At Hoover

Storage for 49,500 bushels of Gray county wheat will be available within the next 10 days or two weeks, County Farm Agent G. T. Hackney said today.

Being erected at Hoover are 20 small government grain bins for the storage of 1941 commodity credit corporation loan wheat.

These bins will hold 33,000 bushels of wheat. At Kingsmill, there will be 10 of these bins erected, with a capacity of 16,500 bushels.

Old wheat that is under loan from the commodity credit corporation, now stored in elevators at Hoover and Kingsmill, will be taken out and placed in these bins.

This will leave space for a like amount of bushels with the local elevators that will, in turn, ration the allotted space to their customers to store some of the wheat in Gray that is now on the ground or in poor storage.

U. S. Bombers Being Used By Russians

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Sunday, July 19 (AP)—Russian troops counter-attacking in the Voronezh area under the protection of American-made Douglas bombers were reported today to have driven a wedge into German positions and to have occupied a number of populated points.

The midnight communique otherwise indicated little change in the desperate defense of the Don river basin. The Soviets at the other end of the front still were locked with the Nazis. "Birth of Milevovo," but the exact area was not named.

"A Berlin radio summary acknowledged repeated Soviet attacks on German bridgeheads across the Don south of Voronezh, but claimed all these attacks were repulsed."

"In the area of Voronezh our troops, overcoming the enemy's stubborn resistance on various sectors, have advanced and occupied a number of populated places," the Soviet war bulletin said.

The sinking of an 8,000-ton enemy transport in the Baltic also was announced.

Russian airmen, presumably flying the Douglas planes as well as Russian craft, were reported to have destroyed or damaged 80 German tanks, four armored cars, 23 guns, and 310 troops and supply trucks during the fighting.

Three battalions of German infantry also were "dispersed and partially annihilated" by the air force, the communique said.

News dispatches told of the entry into action of the twin engine light attack bombers on the Russian front. Presumably these ships entered Russia either through the Persian gulf or the Murmansk Arctic supply line, but they could have been flown in from the Middle East.

The Russians apparently were having their gravest problems in the south where a crushing German advance was slowly rolling through ripening grain fields above the river Don to menace Rostov at the mouth of the meandering river, and industrially vital Stalingrad on the Volga to the southeast.

The Germans claimed their troops had reached the lower Don on a broad front, but there was no confirmation of that here.

County Bond Sale Nears Half-Way Mark

Even if $100,000 wasn't raised overnight in the Victory bond rally and dance held here Saturday night in observance of American Heroes day, the interest aroused in the event will go a long way toward a speedy attainment of Gray county's July Victory bond quota of $144,300.

Gray county's quota was originally reported to be $184,300 but a letter received at the office of the Gray County War Bond committee revealed that an error had been made and that Gray county's quota should be $144,300. Nearly half of the amount has been raised but it's going to take an all out effort to get the rest.

Directly attributable to the American Heroes day observance here was the sale of $20,000 worth of bonds and stamps, which put the total amount raised to date up to $62,100 or $82,200 short of the monthly quota.

There were 150 names added to the honor roll as Pampans purchased Victory bonds Friday and dedicated them to someone in the service.

Interest aroused by the Retailers For Victory campaign among store clerks is really bearing fruit now and the sale of bonds is showing a steady increase.

New contestants are Mrs. Effie Ellis, Mrs. George Casey, Mrs. Agnes Morris, and Bob Crosby, all of C. R. Authony company; Dorothy Peacock of J. C. Penney company; and J. T. Hobdy, of Murfee's, Inc.

Two $1,000 Sales
There were two $1,000 bonds sold in the rally here Friday night, held in the 400 block on N. Cuyler. Purchasers were Roy Bourland and Goe Waahyeer, the latter of the Empire cafe. Bonds sold, at the rally, in all, totaled 60, amounting to $7,000.

Winner of the $25 bond awarded as a feature of the rally was Mrs. R. E. Donovan, 221 N. Somerville.

Hoyt West, in charge of stunts at the rally, couldn't find anyone who would consent to play the role of Hitler, so he became Adolf himself, with B. B. Altman as Mussolini and John Monroe Hirohito.

Stunt Chairman West, "helled" frequently and exhorted the crowd not to buy bonds, but he and his cohorts were put to flight by shots from a revolver in the hands of Dr. H. H. Hicks, master of ceremonies.

Dr. W. Calvin Jones was auctioneer at the rally.

A 25-piece band, led by Ray Robbins, high school band director, played "America" and a selection of marches, in a half-hour concert, to open the program.

Attendance at the rally was 1,000. Booths were set up for the sale of bonds and stamps. Work in connection with the sale was done by C. H. Walker, Pampa postmaster, C. A. Huff, O. K. Gaylor, J. G. Sturppon, Arthur Rhode, Virginia Miller, Mrs. George Woodhouse, Mrs. Cassie Balthrope, Miss Freddie Nell Beckham.

Hollis Keys, chairman of American Heroes day, called the rally to order.

Dance Floor Packed
The rally began at 8 o'clock and ended at 9:30, just at the time the Victory bond and stamp dance started at the junior high school gymnasium, two blocks north of the rally.

Dancers flocked to the gym, keeping W. C. deCordova, chairman of the dance committee and his workers in a dizzy whirl as they sold stamps and checked the gate. Necessary for a careful accounting of the stamps added to their work.

Chairman deCordova was highly pleased with the success of the dance, which netted $137.00 in Victory stamps.

"The plan was jammed most of the time," he said. "However, I wish we could have held the dance on Saturday night, as I believe we could have sold twice as many stamps."

Workers at the dance were Chairman deCordova and his committee, composed of Joe V. Roche, L. R. Franks, J. R. Martin, W. L. Heskew, Mrs. Roy Showers, and Mrs. Belle Wells.

Music was furnished at no cost by an orchestra composed of Jeff Guthrie, Mrs. Jeff Guthrie, Bill Jesse, Hal Blymiller, Jim Buzbee, Don Childress, Joe Neal, Doyle Stokes, and Bob DePre.

"Give Me Help"
Down at McClean's the McClean Rodeo association plans a Victory rodeo to give the proceeds to the American Legion and American Red Cross and then to use the 1941 balance to buy $1,921.70 worth of Victory bonds.

Dedication To Be Attended By Officials

Final Plans To Be Announced By
C. C. Committee

The last slab of concrete was poured in the roadway of the Cuyler street underpass Friday and preliminary plans were made by city, county and chamber of commerce officials yesterday for a dedication service at the underpass next Friday night when it is estimated highway traffic can first be turned through the structure.

Upon the recommendation of V. R. Schmidt, resident engineer of the Texas Highway department, Guy Lott, of Amarillo, district engineer, gave consent to the dedication.

Special invitations to the dedication have been sent to ranking officials of the Texas highway department, the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company, and the U. S. Public Roads administration.

Contract for the building of the underpass was let to the Bell & Braden company of Amarillo in April, 1941, after several years of negotiations between the city, the Santa Fe, the Texas highway department, and the U. S. Public Roads administration. Construction was begun immediately after the contract was awarded and all materials were immediately ordered by the contractor.

Work developments which shifted available materials, particularly steel, to war purposes, delayed the underpass construction for several months, forcing the changing of the specifications in mid-way.

City and chamber of commerce officials are appreciative of splendid cooperation on the part of all agencies and the contractors and their representatives in getting the structure completed with the many handicaps they have faced.

Citizens of Pampa who have looked forward to the convenience of an underpass for years will have an opportunity to join with city and chamber of commerce officials Friday evening in expressing their appreciation to the contractor, the highway department, railroad, and public roads administration.

Because of the heavy traffic that will use the underpass when it is open, the highway department and contractor have agreed to open the underpass at the earliest possible time, although the construction job will not be completed for several weeks yet.

These officials have requested that motorists keep in mind that a special concession is being made in the early opening and that speed through the underpass be held to a low figure and that extra precautions be taken for the sake of the safety of the men the contractor will have finishing the job.

The same appeal will be made by city and chamber of commerce officials to the citizens attending the dedication. The crowd will be asked to stay within the roadway, in order to prevent damage to the work on the sidewalks, curbs, rails and other jobs not finally completed.

Reno Stinson, chairman of the highway committee of the chamber of commerce, and a past president of the organization will head a committee of officials who will make final plans for the dedication.

BRITISH GAIN

Increased scale and was using more Italian planes than ever before. For the first time in several weeks Axis planes operated yesterday over British landing grounds in the Burg El Arab region some 40 miles west of Alexandria, behind the land battle lines.

(Informed British sources in London said this use of Italian planes indicated that Rommel was having to bring them in from Sicily and the western Mediterranean to aid his outnumbered Nazi air force.)

The British, in turn, made ever greater use of Royal Navy planes against Axis land forces. These navy flyers fiercely attacked Axis concentrations Thursday night between the coastal road and the shore west of the British positions. Other naval aircraft destroyed thousands of gallons of gasoline at Axis-held Matruh.

The RAF itself concentrated chiefly in the southern sector of the front, and a British communique said violent explosions and fires were touched off among Axis transport vehicles and tanks yesterday. Five Axis planes were listed as shot down. The British lost seven but saved two of the pilots.

On the ground, Australians and some South Africans moved from their Tel El Eisa position southward to gain a second parallel ridge yesterday, but an Axis counter-attack forced them to withdraw from some of their gains later in the day. The British positions on the main ridge of Tel El Eisa remained intact.

In the central sector of the 40-mile line the Germans mounted an attack of their own with truck-borne infantry, but British Indians astride the ridge of Ruweisat repulsed them with losses.

As far as was known here, there was little armored fighting Friday. It was disclosed, however, that in the course of a hot tank battle in the central sector Thursday 25 Axis tanks, mainly German, were knocked out. The British subsequently blew up 21 of these.

This attrition of the Axis armor makes all the more significant the blows of the American bombers against Mediterranean shipping.

INVASION

along the French coast by American and British forces. Without these, the invading Allies' air support would be extremely limited.

Shipping of course is an enormous hurdle since German submarines have greatly reduced the Allied pool and every ship is needed to supply and reinforce fronts throughout the world. Northern France offers the shortest avenue for invasion on which small Allied ships could be used repeatedly as at Dunkerque, under constant Allied air protection.

Two French peninsulas are advantageous for amphibian offensive operations. If either the Cherbourg or Brest peninsula were occupied—as suggested by one newspaper—the sea would be secure on both flanks.

The German spearhead which burst into France in May, 1940, comprised eight armored divisions. It is difficult to believe that the Allies could break the coastal defenses with less, together with about 22 supporting infantry divisions each with artillery. Thus the initial Allied invasion force would comprise 450,000 men at least.

A reserve force of 15 divisions, including two armored divisions, would have to stand ready to make good initial losses which military men say would be heavy.

Transporting and maintaining such an army would require a minimum of 200 medium merchantmen, 1,500 barges, 1,500 tank lighters.

Landing heavy equipment would be extremely difficult, particularly if small ports were chosen as bridgeheads. The alternative would be to capture a strongly protected base such as Lorient or St. Nazaire, which would be a major operation in itself.

Another difficulty is the need of reserve ships, barges and lighters. Large merchantmen suitable for transatlantic convoy service would be useless in small ports. They present a large target anywhere.

Small tugs, freighters and coastwise vessels, which brought one British army away from France, would have to be employed to land another.

All these problems are dwarfed by the task of supply. Much of the equipment for U. S. forces must be brought across the Atlantic.

For instance, an armored division includes from 3,000 to 5,000 vehicles. Gasoline, tires and spare parts must follow closely behind each division. Moreover, huge tank repair shops must be opened as soon as a division is in action.

of the interest that local people are taking in the problem of supplying the gun tube plant with the greatest possible quantity of suitable material. One of the prime requisites is an adequate supply of scrap of such quality that a minimum amount of critical alloy materials will be needed in producing gun steel of the required specification.

Mr. Baker stated that he had received numerous unsolicited offers of suitable scrap from representatives of the oil companies, tool companies and supply companies operating in the Pampa area. While it has been a source of some embarrassment to him in being unable to take immediate delivery on all of the material that has been offered, the time has now come when this is possible and he hopes that anyone who has even truckload quantities of oil field scrap for sale will let him know.

Cabot expects to use approximately 5,000 tons during the next 12 months and, while they expect that it will be difficult to secure this quantity of material, they are for obvious reasons extremely anxious to secure a large proportion of their requirements in the form of scrap which will contain even in a small percentage those alloys in such great need at the present time.

He is national vice chairman of the United Service Organizations and gives liberally of time and money to other causes. He was president of the Motion Picture Producers association seven years.

He was one of Hollywood's pioneers in the horse racing game and a few years ago imported the French Beau Pere for stud. Some of his better known racers were Main Man, Beautiful J. King Torch, Painted Veil and Mask and Wig. His stable is racing now at Arlington Park, Chicago.

Mayer, 57, was born in St. Johns, N. B., and rose like a movie hero from diving boy in the ship salvaging business through theater management and ownership to head M-G-M.

Buffaloes To Play Eight-Game Schedule

CANYON, July 18 (AP)—Revision of West Texas State's football schedule to include a game with Sheppard Field at Wichita Falls on October 9 has been announced by W. A. (Gus) Miller, acting athletic director and head coach.

This contest replaces a game canceled by Texas College of Arts and Industries.

Only three home games will be played by the Buffaloes this season in the eight-game schedule. The complete schedule, revised, follows:

September 26—Texas Tech at Lubbock.

October 3—Arizona State of Tempe at Canyon.

October 9—Sheppard Field at Wichita Falls, Texas.

October 17—Texas Mines at Canyon.

October 24—Arizona State of Flagstaff.

October 31—New Mexico Aggies at Las Cruces.

November 7—Hardin—Simmons (homecoming) at Canyon.

November 14—University of New Mexico at Albuquerque.

The home games on October 3 and October 17 will be played at 8:30 p. m. Every game listed is a conference contest excepting that with Sheppard Field. Last year West Texas State finished third in the Border conference.

At least half of West Texas State's eleven will be composed of army air corps, navy, and marine corps reserves. The team is being hard hit, however, by drafting of men who have poor eyesight or ailments which make them ineligible for reserve status. Coach Miller is expected to rely heavily upon freshmen for his backfield and for line reserves.

BOND SALE

has coined a new phrase in connection with a Canadian's observance of American Heroes day. In his proclamation's last "be it resolved," he stated:

"We will buy bonds . . . until it HELPS!"

Pampa Kiwanians at their regular weekly luncheon at noon Friday bought two $25 Victory bonds, dedicated one to Lt. Thomas Braly, Fort Lewis, Wash., the other to Lt. Bearden, U. S. N., Great Lakes Training station, both former members of the local club.

A compilation of the relationship of bond buyers here to the men in whose honor the bonds are purchased reveals the interesting fact that more were bought in honor of brothers and sons than in any other classification, except friends, 33 for brothers, and 32 for sons.

Biggest list was friends, 55. There were even eight sons-in-laws remembered, an equal number of uncles, 19 nephews, six cousins, five brothers-in-law, three husbands, two grandsons and one each classified as former student and former employee.

DALLAS, July 18 (AP)—A youngster and an old-timer are leading the way into the stretch a more than a dozen pitchers shoot for the 20-game mark in the Texas league race.

Old Earl Caldwell, who has been elbowing his way in many parks, tops the winners with 14 while Doyle Lade, the 21-year-old Shreveport star of no-hit, no-run fame, has rolled up 13 decisions, according to averages through last Wednesday's games.

Caldwell, apparently on the way to a record as good as he made last season at Fort Worth, has dropped seven games while Lade has been defeated five times.

Old heads dot the standings with John Whitehead, the ex-big leaguer, holding the top percentage with six victories and one defeat while Hank Oana of Fort Worth is next with seven wins and two losses.

Paul Dean, ex-big leaguer, has won eleven while losing four at

Radio Rally To Support Worley

A 45-minute radio rally program for Eugene Worley will be heard over Radio Station KPDM, Pampa, beginning at 9 o'clock Thursday night.

Worley, representative of the 18th district in congress, has called friends that he will return to Washington as soon as possible in compliance with a directive issued by the president.

The cablegram was sent from an Australian port, where the congressman was on duty as a lieutenant commander on an aircraft carrier.

Worley enlisted in the navy shortly after the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, in keeping with a campaign promise to volunteer his services if he voted for a declaration of war.

Friends of the congressman, who are in charge of his campaign for re-election, do not expect Worley to reach the United States until after the July 25 primaries.

Immediately on reaching the United States, Congressman Worley plans to head for this district to discuss the war with his constituents before resuming his duties in Washington.

Before going to Australia, Congressman Worley was stationed at Pearl Harbor for a few months. He took his naval training at Washington and received his basic military training at Texas A. & M. college several years ago.

Gene was elected to congress to represent the 28 counties of the Panhandle in 1940. He had previously represented the counties of Gray, Wheeler, Collingsworth, and Donley in the Texas legislature for six years, and was so popular that he had no opposition for a third term.

In congress, the Shamrock man was a member of the following committees:

- Irrigation and reclamation; coinage, weights, and measures; election of president, vice - president, and representatives in congress; and war claims.

22 Candidates File Expenditure Reports

Only half as many candidates as filed their first campaign expense records filed second reports as the period ended Friday.

There were 22 candidates who filed second reports in the period beginning Monday, ending Friday. First reports, filed in the period June 25-June 30, with a few as late as July 10, totaled 40.

Charlie Thut, county clerk, Charles I. Hughes, justice of the peace for precinct 2, place 2, tied for low, with both reports marked "none."

High was F. S. Brown, candidate for sheriff, with expenditures totaling $186.00, followed by Joe Gordon, county attorney, $179.50; Jeff Guthrie, sheriff, $163.01.

Thut, Hughes, and Gordon are campaigning for re-election to their respective offices. Thut is unopposed.

In contrast with first reports, only one district office was represented this time. District offices ordinarily file with the secretary of state. W. R. Ewing, candidate for re-election as district judge, said he filed his report with the state official, as did Aaron Sturgeon, candidate for election as district attorney.

R. E. Gatlin, candidate for district clerk, filed a report showing expenditures at $33.50.

Second campaign expense reports of candidates, filed in the office of County Clerk Charlie Thut, besides the ones previously mentioned, were:

- Judge, Sherman White, $35; Arlie Carpenter, commissioner 1, $6.50; John Oldham, commissioner 1, $7.50; John Haggard, commissioner 2, $40.35; Thomas O. Kirby, commissioner 3, $9.95; Claude Schaefer, commissioner 3, $2; J. R. Glass, commissioner 4, $45.

The Love For Liberty

The story of occupied Europe's gallant resistance to Nazi oppression, pieced together by the Office of Facts and Figures in "The Unconquered People," emphasizes anew how deeply the love of liberty has engraved itself in the human heart.

Truly, there are things they can't do to us who have known what it was to be free.

Under the iron heel of the most sadistic military power of modern times, with death for self and loved ones the price of any misstep, the people of France and Holland, Norway and Greece, Serbia and Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Poland achieve telling sabotage against their Nazi conquerors.

Even the few highlights which trickle through rigid censorship demonstrate that the Liberty Front is acquiring more than a token nuisance value.

The ever more drastic measures which Hitler and Himmler are taking against subterranean activities proves that these experts in fifth columning recognize the importance of the Liberty Front.

When Lieut.-Col. Holtz was killed last October by patriots in Nantes, the Gestapo shot 50 Frenchmen in reprisal.

When an S. S. (police) official was killed at Waeren in December, every fifth Polish male in the village was shot—a total of 167.

When Reinhard Heydrich, the butcher, was killed in Prague last month, more than 800 Czechs were slain in vengeance.

These were not punitive execution of murderers, actual or alleged. They were frankly preventive orgies, designed to estop patriotic resistance by making the price unbearably high—by assuring brave Frenchmen, Poles, Czechs, who might place no value upon their own lives, that any act against the Nazis would bring death to hundreds of innocents.

Such horrible repressive measures have proven futile. Resistance continues and increases. Having conquered most of the European continent, Herr Hitler has a deadly bear by the tail, and it has become equally disastrous for him to hang on or to let go.

The Nazis know how fatal an active fifth column can be. They used such to win almost bloodlessly over most of their neighbors. Now the shoe is on the other foot. They are becoming victims of their own methods.

When Nazism falls, the Liberty Front will deserve a big share of credit.

A Matter Of Relativity

Which is more important, summer sports or shipping with which to win the war? Do we have to follow the horses around the far turn, watch the yachts round the buoys, while American seamen die because they didn't see an Axis submarine in time?

In World War I our people contributed more than 50,000 binoculars for the benefit of our seamen. In World War II, up to July 2, only 1654 which met with navy requirements had been turned in.

It is nice to be able to see things from afar, but Hitler won't wait until the summer sports season is over. How about sending along those binoculars now? Only Zeiss or Bausch & Lomb, sizes 6x30 or 7x50, will do.

Better By Bomber

Those were stirring messages which United Nations leaders sent to China on the fifth anniversary of her long resistance against Japan, and well deserved recognitions of the bulldog tenacity the Chinese people has shown.

If every congratulatory message had been sent by flying fortress, which could have remained there to help save China as a base for the attack we must make some day on the Nipponese archipelago, we suspect the Chinese would have been much more impressed.

Words are graceful, but planes are essential if China is to be saved.

The Nation's Press

MONEY FOR INDUSTRY (Chicago Tribune)

Corporations raised 162 million dollars by the sale of new securities during June. Of this total $6 was employed to refund outstanding issues. Thus corporations obtained only about 50 million dollars during the month. During the first half of the year the monthly additions to the new capital of corporations averaged about 80 million dollars. This compares with 270 million dollars per month on the average for the years 1919 to 1927; 719 million dollars a month in 1929; 412 millions per month in 1930, and 146 millions per month in 1931.

While capital issues were in such small amounts, the expenditure for new industrial equipment and new industrial buildings has undoubtedly been greater than for any comparable period. Thus new industrial buildings and machine tools alone totaled more than 1 1/2 billion dollars in the six month period. Huge sums have been paid out for land, for machinery, for rolling stock. More working capital has been needed, because of higher prices, record amounts of work in progress, and increased inventories.

Nor have the banks taken over the function of the capital market. The weekly reports of federal reserve member banks in 161 cities show that loans have dropped nearly 600 million dollars since the first of the year. Last week's bank call in Chicago showed loans down 61 million dollars from Dec. 31 to June 30.

Where has the money come from, then? To some extent corporations have financed their wartime expansion out of profits retained in the business, or from the expenditure of previously accumulated depreciation funds. The United States Steel corporation has just called attention to its expenditure of 600 million dollars for new equipment during the depression years. Only a small

CAN BELIEVE ANYTHING

It will be noticed that those people who have come to believe that they need not answer questions which some rational person asks them, are the people who can believe anything. They can do this because they will not permit contradictions and irreconcilable courses of action to be pointed out by those with whom they come in contact. For this reason, they invariably get positions where they can do the talking, as in some Sunday School class, some radio program, some newspaper article, some lecture platform, where their ego and vanity can go the full limits.

Of course, they invariably promise a Utopia that men can live without work; that taking from one and giving to another will improve the lot of man.

And the reason they are so successful in fooling the honest people is that for a short duration, man's lot can be improved by the simple method of arbitrarily taking from a few and giving to another. But what the public does not see is that this is only temporary; that later on those who have been helped are in a much worse condition than they were before. This is true because they have been helped by eating the seed corn, as it were.

But this long time view is what the dreamers and self-professed men with big hearts will not permit to be pointed out. Yes, they can believe anything. They can be in utter darkness, so long as they are able to keep questions from being asked.

RULES REGULATING RULES

Inasmuch as I have been constantly preaching the necessity of returning more nearly to some universal, eternal, rule of conduct, both on the part of individuals and as a nation, it might be well to explain what is necessary in order to save a rule.

It is strange how confused people are as to what rules really mean. Quite often they think it is referring a course of action to some other person's statements or opinions.

Every rule must include two or more fixed numbers, before it can be a rule. It must include "all," which is a fixed number; or "none," which is a fixed number—zero; and "equal," which is a fixed number, in order to be a rule. I can think of no possible way of writing a rule without including "all," "none" or "equal."

We cannot measure distance without having a unit of distance by which to compare. The unit of distance is a fixed, mathematical, percentage of the distance around the earth at the Equator at a certain temperature.

Yes, every rule, in order to be an impersonal rule and be a guide of human relations must have two or more fixed, mathematical terms.

THE FRENCH AND THE BRITISH

I heard a rather vivid description of the attitude of the French toward the British the other evening at a meeting at Los Angeles under the heading of "Win the War—Win the Peace, Pacific Coast Conference."

The former president of the Free French was telling how loyal the French people were to the Allies. He explained how many soldiers had been lost in the last war and that they still could be depended upon. As confirmation of this, he said that he communicated with dependable sources in France and this source had advised him that fifty per cent of the French wanted the British to win and the other fifty per cent wanted the damn British to win.

But far and away the largest source of the funds for the wartime expansion of business has been the government itself. It has paid for the building of vast armament works throughout the country to be operated by private concerns, and it has made loans to corporations to provide their own plants.

Thus to a very large extent the capital market has become socialized. Radicals will hope that the substitution of the government for the investor as the source of the capital for corporations will be permanent. They will seek to attain this objective by means of corporation taxes so high that profits cannot be earned, and individual taxes at such a level as to leave nothing with which to buy securities. The consequence of that is a dictatorship of the Fascist variety if private management remains, or of the communist variety if the politicians take over.

GLADERS (New York Times)

At last there is substantial evidence that the glider training program for the Air Corps is under way. The project has followed an all too familiar pattern. Even after the Nazis demonstrated at Crete how effectively gliders can be used in an attack, an extraordinary amount of inertia apparently had to be overcome before we began preparations for a suitable supply of this military weapon. However, as in other instances, in which we have been slow, there is an encouraging side to the glider question. Now that we are going to have motorized carriers, we are going to have them in quantity, produce them with American speed and apply the lessons both of the civilian pilot training program and the more advanced military training methods to assure an adequate corps of pilots for their use.

Already, at centers at Elmira, N. Y., in Arizona and California, where glider training heretofore has been limited to airmen with some experience in powered flight, training of additional young men has begun.

It is obvious that if a transport airplane can also have in tow a "spike team" of big cargo gliders, its value as a supplier on the far-flung routes of this global conflict will be much enhanced. Troops, together with their arms, including even anti-tank and anti-aircraft guns, ammunition and equipment, can be submitted for goods. In this field the troop-carrying gliders of today will become the flying freight trains of tomorrow.

BURNED MONEY ON CORREGIDOR Currency Was Destroyed in Great Stacks to Keep It From Japanese

(Lieut. Col. Warren J. Clear in Reader's Digest)

There was money to burn on Corregidor. I mean that literally. Millions of dollars had been brought from Manila and, to save it from the enemy, it had to be destroyed. Great stacks and armfuls of $5, $10 and $20 bills were burned in bonfires, to the intense interest and wonderment of the soldiers standing by.

"Boy, oh boy," said one of them, "I never saw so much dough in my life. I could have used that many a time."

"Yeah," chimed in another, "but I'd trade every dollar of it right now to be back home in Tennessee!"

One of the officers got a kick out of lighting his cigar with a $100 bill. Yes, money was cheap in a place where human life was dear.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE AXIS

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, July 18.—Radio personalities—comedians, singers, bandsmen—are all over the movie lots these days as the studios whip up a few frothy items for the early autumn trade. Movie people are a little inclined to look down their noses at the air performers, but directors like 'em. For example, on the set of "Here We Go Again," I watched Fibber McGee go through a difficult scene perfectly time after time while screen actors with less responsibility in the shot stumbled all over themselves.

RKO is getting worried about its animation of Charlie McCarthy in this picture—having him impersonated by a midget and thus enabled to do such things as run from a bear, dance with chorus girls. Fans like McCarthy as a dummy, and won't believe this creature is worked with wires.

MIGHTY MITE

It won't be the fault of the make-up expert or Jerry Maren, the midget, however. Maren not only has been fixed up to look like McCarthy, but he has practiced the stiff, quick motions and the unblinking immobility of the wooden upstart. Recently Bergen's secretary came on the set and unsuspectingly sat next to him for several minutes. When Maren slid from the chair and walked off, the secretary fainted.

One of New York's busiest radio actors is Arnold Stang. Maybe you don't know his name, but he played regular roles on 11 different programs each week before coming here to appear in "Sweet or Hot." A little guy with a big nose, thick glasses and not much chin, he looks as funny as he sounds. Victor Mature complained Stang was stealing the picture.

Meanwhile, writers on the 11 radio shows are going crazy trying to explain the absence of the various characters Stang used to play. In one he has been kidnapped, Stang said, and in several he has joined the army or navy.

FAT AND FUNNY

In this picture is a rotund Cuban who's one of the best dancers in town. Four years ago Sirgio Orta, who is five feet, five inches tall, weighed 145 pounds and could just get a job. Today he weighs 265 pounds and is in great demand for comedy rhumba routines.

He first was brought here by Metro to direct some hoofing in "Ziegfeld Girl." People snickered when he showed up on a rehearsal stage, but he was still going strong when the Hollywood lads and cuties were exhausted.

Orta says Hollywood is a breeze for anyone who has worked in Latin-American studios. When RKO wanted to film "Moppy" Cortez, South American musical star, executives looked at a picture called "League of Songs" and were astonished that the beautiful Mopy (pronounced "Moppy") had no close-ups during her best song number.

Today's War Analysis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Wide World War Analyst

The first month of the critical war summer of 1942 closes with Hitler's master offensive continuously close to vital Allied resources and communication lines in Russia and Egypt, and still no sign that an Anglo-American second-front offensive is close at hand.

Comparison of the battle maps as they stood in Russia and Egypt at the summer solstice, June 21-22, and as they are now, a short month later, would be gloomy if it told all the story. They do not.

They do not even reflect all the unhappy events of those weeks. They do not record, either, any of the factors that tend to brighten the war prospect for the anti-Axis league despite the grave and growing perils in Russia and the Axis dagger-thrust in Egypt still dangerously close to Alexandria, heart of British power in the Middle East.

The war maps plot the rout of the British Eighth army in Libya. They define a vast new German-occupied area in southwestern Russia.

But they do not show the blood cost to Germany and her satellite allies of these still inconclusive victories. They do not show the terrible toll of United Nations shipping taken by Axis submarines in the western hemisphere waters; but neither do they show the tremendous and continuing flow of American fighting forces and war machines to the British Isles or the swelling tide of Anglo-American materiel which has won through to Russia.

The cumulative effect of British and American bombing of Nazi industrial targets and German-held continental ports and war centers cannot be mapped. Its ultimate influence either on the Nazi campaign in Russia or on the sea-tradition battle Hitler is waging in the Atlantic can only be conjectured.

That air second-front has not reached its peak. Nothing approaching the thousand-planes-a-night scale of sustained hours has yet been attained. Just why is not revealed. London offers bad flying weather as an explanation of long lapses between mass bombing raids over Germany. The promised American scale of sustained hours is yet to develop in more than token fashion.

Only the Allied high command knows what problems of strategy, tactics or loss replacements and supply are still to be solved before the weight of ever-increasing Anglo-American air power makes itself felt. And it may be that it is the solution of those problems that bars the way to intermediate second-front operations in the West to relieve pressure on Russia. A counter-invasion of the continent to catch Hitler between two fires seems possible only when there is available a vast and unmatchable Anglo-American air umbrella to cover it and to blast a way for it.

That does not necessarily forbid early commando raid operations on a far greater scale than have been attempted. It would not seem to prevent, for instance, efforts to secure air and submarine bases somewhere on the far northern coast of Norway as a further protection for the Atlantic-Arctic supply route to Russia.

And with Nazi forces on or close to the Don river from the Voronezh anchor of the Russians below Moscow to Miguilinsk, for Caucasus approach, there seems urgent need for quick action in the West by air and otherwise to help prevent a Russian disaster. The vital importance of the Arctic supply route

Rural Mail Carriers To Meet This Week

NEW BRAUNFELS, July 18. (P)—The men who carry the mail over county roads in all sorts of weather are taking time off next week to attend their annual convention starting here next Monday for three days.

They'll be backed by their families, too, for 500 delegates are expected for the joint meeting of the Texas rural letter carriers' association and the ladies auxiliary and the junior auxiliary of the association, whose opening session Monday morning features talks by Robert Lee Bobbit, state highway commission member, and W. Bruce Luna, of Dallas.

Tug S. Pfeuffer, New Braunfels postmaster, will welcome the visitors.

Monday afternoon's session will be a joint memorial service held with the ladies auxiliary, with James V. Allred of Houston, and Miss Marian Johnson, San Antonio, of the office of civilian defense, speaking.

Subsequent meetings on Tuesday and Wednesday will include the election of officers, election of delegates to the national convention and selection of the 1943 convention city.

Entertainment for the delegates includes a watermelon party Monday night, an officers' breakfast Tuesday morning, the convention banquet followed by a dance Tuesday evening, and the ex-service men's breakfast Wednesday.

George H. Harries, San Antonio, is president of the Texas rural letter carriers' association, and Mrs. M. L. Heiman, Garwood, heads the association's ladies auxiliary.

WAR QUIZ

The one regret many of us have is that Will Rogers didn't live long enough to express himself regarding the Office of Civilian Defense.

Boss—Why are you late this morning, Bill?
Bill—I fell down a stairway.
Boss—That ought not to have taken you that long.

When a woman's toe sticks out of her shoe, she's fashionable. When a man's toe sticks out, he's a bum.

Teacher (To new pupil)—Willie, do you know your alphabet?
Willie—Yes, Miss.
Teacher—Well, then, what letter comes after A?
Willie—All of 'em.

Friend—Is your husband a bookworm?
Woman—No, just an ordinary one.

to Russia is increasing as rapidly as is the peril to her armies in the South, Ways and means of securing that route as well as of distracting German attention from the East must be foremost in Allied war councils in London and Washington at this grave moment in the war.

In sharp contrast to the dark war scene across the Atlantic and beyond the Mediterranean the Pacific front offers much cheer to American eyes. The now disclosed victory fruits of the Coral sea and Midway battles are great. The Hittite march southward, or eastward, if not westward in China, appears definitely checked. The diversion of American sea power could go far to prevent Japan's breaking her truce with Russia in order to aid Hitler.

BEHIND THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON

Today the lesson will be on the subject of "How to Build a Bonfire in Washington." The phrase "building a bonfire" of course refers to the business of waking up a lot of these supposedly dumb and slow-moving bureaucrats they have running this war down in the capital now. Before you make up your mind on that point, however, wait till you get to the end of the story.

The laboratory demonstration for this sample bonfire-making experiment will be the recent case of which, out of a clear sky just a few days ago, apparently spontaneous combustion exploded in magnificent full-page ads captioned:

Today the lesson will be on the subject of "How to Build a Bonfire in Washington." The phrase "building a bonfire" of course refers to the business of waking up a lot of these supposedly dumb and slow-moving bureaucrats they have running this war down in the capital now. Before you make up your mind on that point, however, wait till you get to the end of the story.

The laboratory demonstration for this sample bonfire-making experiment will be the recent case of which, out of a clear sky just a few days ago, apparently spontaneous combustion exploded in magnificent full-page ads captioned:

"The American public has a Right to Know THE TRUTH ABOUT SYNTHETIC RUBBER."

In excellent industrial advertising taste, the ad stated that the Houdry Process corporation had a system for producing butadiene in plants that could be built in less time, at less cost and using less critical materials than any process now being considered by the government in synthetic rubber.

The ad held hope of tires or recaps even for civilians.

On the same day the ad appeared, Eugene J. Houdry, president of the corporation and inventor of the catalytic process that bears Robert Lee Bobbit's name, was in Washington. It was well attended, and as the wire services, the specials and the radio all went to town on Mr. Houdry's statements, it created quite a bonfire. Even the labor press endorsed it with big stories on the general theme of "why doesn't somebody do something about this?"

Now Mr. Houdry is no phony. He is a French-born American citizen, president of the DeGaulle-backed France Forever society, he has been written up in Fortune and his catalytic process is used by half a dozen or more big oil companies in the manufacture of 100 octane aviation gasoline.

But at Mr. Houdry's press conference, he made charges that although some of these leading oil companies—namely Sun, Socony-Vacuum and Standard of California—had thoroughly investigated and approved his process, the government, under the leadership of Marcus Hook, Pa. pilot plant, the government's Rubber Reserve company, in charge of the synthetic rubber program, had merely sent one engineer up for a couple of hours.

When Mr. Houdry was asked for a copy of the letter from Rubber Reserve, he consulted with his public relations counsel and decided that the letter, if given out, should come from REE, Incidentally, in building a bonfire in Washington, rule No. 1 seems to be to hire a press agent to fan the flames and throw on paper in the form of handouts. The Houdry public relations man was Frank Waltham, formerly chief publicity man for the Republican party.)

When Mr. Houdry was asked for a copy of the letter from Rubber Reserve, he consulted with his public relations counsel and decided that the letter, if given out, should come from REE, Incidentally, in building a bonfire in Washington, rule No. 1 seems to be to hire a press agent to fan the flames and throw on paper in the form of handouts.

It is the natural and not in the least dishonorable that the gentlemen of Sun, Socony-Vacuum and Houdry might have figured that if this synthetic rubber industry is going to amount to something, they would be wanting a piece of it. The motives could be entirely patriotic, as Mr. Houdry said they were, but they could

ONE-SIDED BLAZE

Washington bonfires, like all other bonfires, have one weakness in that they shed light on only one side—the side in which the fire is lit. The bonfire-lighter wants illuminated. On the other side, in the Rubber Reserve letter which this bonfire revealed only in part, it was stated that the government had asked the Phillips Petroleum company to consider the Houdry process for a plant to be built in the southwest, and that the Phillips people did consider it. Later it came out that the War Production board was also considering it.

Houdry in other words hadn't been given the complete brushoff which he indicated. He had not presented his revised process to the government until May, when the synthetic rubber program was already five months under way. So even if one of his plants could be built in nine months, it still would not be producing butadiene before plants already started.

The Houdry bonfire may have been kindled just to help make up for lost time. The question is whether it helped or just further confused the already terribly involved rubber situation.

Nine Locations Staked In Panhandle Oil Field

Nine new locations were reported in the Panhandle last week, hiving the total for the year to 168 of which less than 100 have actually been drilled because of the 40-acre spacing rule. Four of the new locations were in Gray county, three in Hutchinson county and one each in Carson and Moore counties.

The two Panhandle oil field wildcats being watched with most interest are drilling ahead with no report of pay formations. The Humble Oil and Refining company's No. 1 A. S. Moss in Hall county was drilling ahead at 2,960 feet while the Pure Oil company's No. 1 Federal Land Bank in Dallam county was making hole at 4,300 feet. Both of the Hagy, Harrington and Marsh wildcats for gas in Sherman county are shut down.

Only four wells were gauged and given open flow potentials, totaling 585 barrels. The new wells were in Gray and Hutchinson counties. A total of 180 new wells have been gauged 80 feet this year against more than 400 up to the same time a year ago.

Locations by counties follow:

Matruh Jetties And Tankers Hit In RAF Attack

WITH THE BRITISH NAVAL AIR SERVICE IN EGYPT, July 18 (AP)—British naval dive-bombers attacking the Axis' foremost desert sea base at Matruh last night and early today turned the jetties into sheets of flames that could be seen for 20 miles and planted heavy explosives in the heart of a concentration of 1,500 Axis tanks and vehicles.

"These oil drums on the docks exploded like firecrackers," one returning pilot said.

"We got several direct hits right in the heart of the massed transport where tanks burst into flames," said another who dive-bombed the inland concentration.

Axis laborers had unloaded thousands of gasoline and oil drums on the Matruh docks to feed Marshal Rommel's tanks and motorized infantry.

These drums erupted like a volcano after the first British bomb hit. Succeeding waves of British airmen dived toward this roaring inferno to feed their bombs into the cauldron which immediately illuminated the small supply ships in the harbor.

Other units then concentrated on the ships, and their bombs sent great geysers of water over the stricken vessels, one of which immediately went down by the stern.

The attack on Matruh was the second big one in a week and followed the combined air-naval action which shot up the port recently.

It began at dusk yesterday and continued into the early hours today, and the returning airmen did not believe the Nazi shore defenses. Every plane diving into the port was fringed with exploding anti-aircraft shells—and yet every pilot returned to his base here safely.

As the airmen climbed out of their cockpits with that satisfied feeling of a job well done, they saw another reassuring sight—truckloads of Italian prisoners being taken to the rear after their capture in the ground fighting west of El Alamein.

Rare Operation May Save Youth's Life

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—A rare operation was performed on a 19-year-old war worker today by doctors who sopped up the youth's own blood for a transfusion which was administered while they took seven stitches in a stab wound in the right ventricle of his heart.

As a result physicians gave Stanley Kolbusz of Holyoke, Mass., a chance to recover from knife wounds inflicted by three unidentified negroes who attacked him in Harlem early today.

Dr. Edward Finestone who performed the operation narrowly escaped injury himself when he was skidded and overturned while en route to Sydenham hospital. Unscathed he hitchhiked a ride to the hospital and, assisted by Dr. Herbert Weisbach and Dr. Emre Braun, went to work on the youth.

Dr. Finestone said he cut an opening about three inches long through the ribs to reach the heart.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—The dollards were doubled and in some of the stock markets as leaders merely went thru the motions of seeking irregularly lower levels.

The two-hour session was the slowest since Aug. 24, 1940. Transfers totaled 99,810 shares compared with 153,650 week ago. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 1/4 of a point at 36 1/2 and on the week showed a net decline of 4.

Acceptance by the unions of the wage increase wanted by "Little Steel" workers failed to stir the steels. Bethlehem was up 1/2 on a single trade of 100 shares. U. S. Steel and Republic aligned a shade.

Fractions were trimmed from General Motors, Chrysler, N. Y. Central, Standard Oil (NJ), Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Westinghouse, American Can and Loew's. Ending a trifling higher were Goodrich, Santa Fe, Texas Co., Eastman Kodak and Philip Morris.

Bonds were narrow and major commodities leaned downward. At Chicago wheat was off 1/4 to 3/4 of a cent a bushel, corn 1/4 to 3/4 in arrears and hops steady. Cotton lost 10 to 30 cents a bale.

Indifference was the rule of the curb. Minor advances were posted for United Light and E. W. Bliss. Unchanged to off small amounts were American Cyanamid, Brewster Aero and Humble Oil. Volume here aggregated 14,455 shares versus 26,815 last Saturday.

Somewhat more bearish war bullets dented trends on the big board Monday. Wishful thinking on inflation received the main credit for a comeback Tuesday. Profit taking served to halt the move Wednesday. The market kept its equilibrium but suffered its worst recession of the week Friday.

CHICAGO WHEAT
CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—Trading in the wheat pit today exhibited a nervous undertone and closing prices were off fractionally from yesterday's session. Other grains followed the bread cereal lower.

Shortly after the opening, wheat dropped 1 1/2 cents from yesterday's close. Other seasonal lows recorded for September, December and May contracts. July came within 1/2 cent of the seasonal low, established at $1.09 1/2 on October 17, 1941.

The market rallied quickly from this level, however, on reports of a possible placement of holdings by local traders. Weakness developed again just before the close.

Wheat finished 1/4 cent lower, July $1.16 1/2, September $1.17 1/2, and corn was off 1/4 cent, July 87 1/2, September 89 1/2. Oats declined 1/4 cent, July 34 1/2 and soybeans were 1/4 cent higher.

Four Miami Residents Injured In Collision

Why a truck overturned and why the driver left it in the ditch four miles east of Pampa on U. S. Highway 60, was still a mystery to officers today, one week after the occurrence.

Name of the driver has been learned, but no new developments have been forthcoming that would explain the accident, Police Chief Ray Dudley said Saturday.

One postlude to the accident was another that occurred a short time after the truck overturned. Four Miami young people were in a car when it was in collision with a Pampa ambulance, returning from a trip to Kansas.

The ambulance was headed west and had stopped at the place where the truck overturned but had flares out.

Occupants of the Miami car were Leo (Cotton) Graham, the driver, Miss Lola Tolbert, Miss Ruth Ferguson, and Bob Haynes. Miss Tolbert was the most severely injured. Cuts and bruises were suffered by all four. They were taken immediately to a Pampa hospital for treatment and were able to return to their homes in a short time.

Thompson To Run On State Record

AMARILLO, July 18—Voters Saturday, July 25, should remember that our Texas Railroad commission regulates both the oil and the transportation industries; and that these industries, so vital to the winning of the war, are exceedingly important in Texas today!

Thus does Ernest O. Thompson, railroad commissioner of Texas for a number of years, and candidate for re-election to the same office, characterize the importance of this work.

Railroad Commissioner Thompson bases his candidacy strictly on his national and state record. He submits that no man in Texas has had wider experience or possesses greater knowledge in the handling of oil and transportation matters.

He calls attention, also, to the fact that he is familiar particularly with Panhandle oil and transportation problems due to his long years of residence in northwest Texas.

OPEN LETTER TO EVERY VOTER IN THE 31st JUDICIAL DISTRICT

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Voter:

On next Saturday, July 25, the people of Texas go to the polls to cast their ballots for the persons whom they wish to have serve in the public offices of this State for the next two years. Your Official Ballot will not carry the name of any person for the office of District Attorney, and in order for you to vote for a District Attorney, you must write in the name of the party for whom you wish to vote, for that office. The election officials will furnish you with pencils with which to vote and with which to write in the name of your choice for District Attorney.

I respectfully request that you write in the name of WALTER ROGERS for the office of DISTRICT ATTORNEY

My record as a man and as a lawyer stands as it has been written and I invite the closest inspection of that record both as a man and as a lawyer. I obtained my legal education by four years of study in the University of Texas Law School, an accredited and recognized Law School. Since completing that course, I have practiced law for eight years, and have owned and successfully operated my own office for the past five years. My actual experience in the briefing and trial of law suits has been extensive in the State and Federal Courts, in both Criminal and Civil matters. I have been awarded the highest available rating in Martindale-Hubbell (Official Lawyers Rating Book), an achievement of which I am duly proud.

I know how to and promise to represent you ably and efficiently beginning the very first day as your DISTRICT ATTORNEY and to do so without influence or dictates of outside affiliations or associations.

You are not required to speculate as to my qualifications. I do not base them on what I say. I refer you to the written records of the University of Texas, the written records of those who rate lawyers as to their qualifications. I invite you to ask any Judge or Lawyer in the Panhandle or elsewhere who knows me, as to my qualifications.

You will not take a chance when you "WRITE IN" "WALTER ROGERS" for DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Respectfully submitted,
Walter Rogers

Dr. Finestone said he cut an opening about three inches long through the ribs to reach the heart.

"As I worked on stitching the heart," he said, "I caught spurts of his blood in sponges which were wrung out and used in an intravenous transfusion."

Dr. Finestone explained that ordinary blood plasma is insufficient for transfusions in such a case and that it was necessary to use the youth's own blood to replace the red corpuscles.

"Very rarely, if ever, is this method resorted to," the physician said. "I can't recall another case of a transfusion of this nature right now."

During the operation and immediately afterward, the youth's blood was pumped back into his veins to restore the loss he had suffered, the doctor said.

Later this morning, Dr. Finestone interviewed Kolbusz, who had regained consciousness, but was bewildered by his experience.

"He had $118 in his pocket when stripped for the operation at the hospital," Finestone said.

"He told me he was 'just bouncing around Harlem on a lark' when the attack occurred. He doesn't quite understand yet how close he came to death."

"It appears highly probable that he will withstand the shock and live. He's a very healthy lad."

JUST BETWEEN US GIRLS

[ By JOHNNIE DAVIS ]

Darkness makes us aware of the stars,
And so when dark hours arise
They may hold a bright and lovely thing,
We might never have known otherwise.
Feter A. Lea.

Congratulations to Mrs. F. A. Howard, new city champion of women golfers. Never have we talked with anyone who was more thrilled than Mrs. Howard was when she shot a 42, only four strokes over par for women. . . Mrs. Howard, who defeated Mrs. Pete Nossen, runner-up, was handicapped champion last summer. . . Her young son thinks his father should "like" his mother just a little more since she made such a remarkable golf score.

When Mr. and Mrs. Nolan McKean left Saturday, Pampa lost one of its most personable couples. . . Mr. McKean, who lived in Pampa more than 10 years, returned here a year ago. . . Mrs. McKean and Mrs. Clifford Braly, II, were an attractive pair who seemed to have a lot of fun.

There were tense moments on the second field day of the first term at Camp Waldemar, near Kerrville, a region renowned for its field of sports, when Tejas and Comanches, the Waldemar tribes, met in competitive sports, the winner receiving points toward the tribal plaque to be awarded at the end of the term. . . Fun began in the early morning for onlookers and participants, and supreme distinction came for those who had worked diligently to attain perfection in the land and water activities. . . With onlookers jumping up and down and cameras clicking, campers were very vocal in their acclaim of the splendid work done for their tribe by Elizabeth Ann Sturgeon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Sturgeon. . . She exhibited excellent training and form in archery and took the spotlight in her fine volley ball playing.

Unusual anniversary news was received by the Jack Stroups. . . On the day that Yvonne and Jack were observing their second wedding anniversary, he received his orders to report to Norfolk, Virginia, for naval construction work.

Ranked scholastically among the highest of her class at Texas State College for Women in Denton is Miss Geraldine Weatherall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weatherall of Pampa. Her grades for the second semester of the school year ending in June were all A's and B's. She is majoring in costume design. . . Miss Weatherall's name has been placed on the dean's special honor roll, according to E. V. White, dean of the college, and she received the following letter from him: "The records of the office of the registrar show that you made at least 23 times as many grade-points as hours of credit during the second semester of the present year, that you completed at least nine hours of credit, and that you have no failing grades. Your name is therefore placed upon the special honor roll for the semester. I congratulate you upon this attainment of excellent scholarship."

According to evolutionists, it took millions of years to make man out of a monkey, but almost any woman can reverse the process in a couple of hours!

The following story served as a lesson to The Plainsman of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, who has three small boys. . . It also could similarly serve other fathers who specialize in raising sons, like Arthur Teed, Farris Oden, and Dr. J. B. Johnson, with three each.

When little Willie's papa came home to dinner the other night, he noticed that Willie was absent—something very unusual at mealtime. "Where's Willie," he asked his wife. "There was a moment of pained silence. Then the wife replied: "Willie's upstairs, bed. He's not sick. He has been swearing-on the street. And I heard him!" "Swearing, huh!" ejaculated the mild parent, as he pushed back his chair. "I'll have a word with that young man. I'll teach him to swear, all right!" So the pop started up the stairs at top speed, only to turn an ankle and come tumbling down. When the atmosphere cleared a little, his wife said sweetly from the hall-way: "That will do, dear," she said. "That's quite enough for one lesson!"

Someone who will be exceedingly missed by the Red Cross, Garden club, American Association of University Women, Twentieth Century club, Delta Kappa Gamma teacher's fraternity, St. Matthew's Episcopal church and numerous other groups and individuals is Mrs. Hol Wagner, who left last week to visit with relatives before joining Mr. Wagner in Pueblo, Colorado. . . Mrs. Wagner, who has made her home in Pampa for the past 14 years, was head of the high school English department until a few years ago. . . While in high school, this writer studied English and journalism in Mrs. Wagner's classes. . . Succeeding her as Red Cross production chairman is Mrs. M. F. The war must be doing things to our national sense of humor. Things at which we once could laugh easily just aren't funny any more. . . Movie directors in Hollywood have discovered that the sight and sound of a nice shiny automobile being smashed into the shape of an accordion no longer brings peals of laughter from audiences. . . Instead the people who are nursing their own aging cars along without any immediate hope of being able to trade them in on new ones wince when they see a car smashed in a movie. . . Somehow or other we don't even find Hitler's moustache as hilarious as we once did. . . We've even stopped laughing quite so hard at the efforts of women to do something toward the war effort. The more the Axis progresses, the less funny it seems for women to be taking courses in first aid and ambulance driving. . . Women in trousers don't call forth the amusement they did for a while. For all too often the women wearing them are holding down factory jobs. A slightly fat woman wearing slacks on a golf course may cause some chuckles. But a woman wearing trousers to her job in a war plant is a grin, not a funny sight. . . Something has happened to our sense of humor, all right. Maybe it has grown up.

Two artistic persons who are adapted at arranging flowers beautifully are Mrs. Robert Curry and Miss Sue Brown Anderson. . . An interesting person to talk with is Miss Eunice Brown who left Tuesday for Chautauqua, New York, where she will stop before returning to her home in New York City. . . She has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. W. N. Anderson.

If you are doing any real good you cannot escape the reward of your service. . . A wise man makes more opportunities than he finds. . . Do not envy the appearance of happiness in any man, for you do not know his secret griefs. . . A few Sundays ago when we mentioned Maxine Teel, who has applied for an appointment in the WAAC, and her five brothers of Denton, Mrs. W. G. Gaskins recognized the name immediately. . . She and Mrs. Gaskins lived in the same block at Denton when they were youngsters and were playmates.

If anyone feels that he or she would like the job of writing this column for next Sunday, please let it be known, as this writer will be out of the office this week.

Give Your Face Real Action And Help Ward Off Wrinkles

Women whose hands and limbs are busier, now are discovering something that is all-important to keeping their faces young. They're learning that action—use—is what keeps muscles youthful and vigorous. This is just as true of your face. It is inaction of the facial muscles and consequent shrinking and shriveling that makes the face, including the skin, sag. The skin is not so fragile, delicate, tender as has been supposed generally. It is sturdy, elastic, almost impervious to liquids. Even drawn or wrinkled, old-looking faces have fairly good skin. So why not put those facial muscles into action with home facials and massage? The woman who does this, stimulating and exercising the muscles below the skin surface, isn't likely to have a sagging face before she's 50. Very often a shift away from chewing gum in the privacy of your room is good facial exercise. It is a good idea to make faces at yourself in the mirror now and then. When you use lotions and creams, slap them on smartly. The cream or lotion won't do the build-up of the muscles underneath the skin for you, but your patting and massage does. For a general workout of cheeks, mouth, and throat, you might like the suggestion of an important salon: walk around "blowing peach blossoms"—in your imagination, that is— or blowing dust off your highest-hung picture.

Annual Primrose Party Will Honor Old-Timer Group

For the third successive summer, Pampa Council of Church Women are formulating plans for the annual primrose party to be given Friday, July 31, at 5 o'clock on the lawn at the First Methodist parsonage. All men and women of the community who are 65 years of age or older are invited to attend whether they are church members or non-church members. Names of these persons should be given to Mrs. Clyde Carruth whose telephone number is 1858. Mrs. Frank Hall is general chairman of arrangements for the event. Mrs. F. R. Gilchrist and her committee are planning the program. A social hour will follow the entertainment.

The house was attractively decorated with summer flowers. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served to Meses. M. V. Watkins, J. R. Moore, Charles Clark, J. Hollar, Emory Noblitt, DeLea Vicars, R. A. Mack, Cecil Lansford and Joan, Bob Childers, C. R. Followell; Meses Eulena Ottis, Ruth Kilcrease; Doris and Vaunelle Moore. Sending gifts were Meses. George M. Lowe, L. C. Childers, B. N. ### Food Preservation Topic At Coltexo HD Club Meeting Meeting recently in the home of Mrs. H. O. Mann, each member of Coltexo Home Demonstration club answered roll call by discussing "How I Am Saving" and naming one method of preservation. Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county home demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on canning and drying fruits and vegetables, in which apricots and snap beans were used. Mrs. Kelley urged that the food be gathered at the right stage and that the proper method be used to can or dry so that all food value may be conserved.

Busy Dozen Club Compliments Mrs. Lester At Shower

Surprising Mrs. Barcie Lester at a layette shower, Busy Dozen Sewing club members met in the home of Mrs. Morris Goldfine Friday afternoon. After the gifts were opened, refreshments were served by the hostess. Attending were Meses. Charles Wagner, Ralph DePee, Barcie Lester, Ennis Favors, Grant Anderson, and the hostess.

Teach Daughter Simple Grooming Techniques Early

Simple good grooming techniques should be as natural and matter-of-course for a girl of 12 as for her mother. The 12-year-old who has been guided properly does not have to be reminded to wash her hands before coming to the table, or to scrub her neck and elbows before going to sleep. She does not use makeup until later on in her teens. When she and her mother have agreed that the time has come for nose powdering, she gets face powder designed especially for very young skins, and she learns to use it smoothly.

Here's A Coaxer For Heat-Jaded Appetites

Eggs, beef liver, and vegetables are essential foods, we all know. But we like them to taste good. Here are a few simple recipes to coax the summer appetite into eating the proper foods. Spanish Eggs (Serves 4 to 6) One garlic clove, 1 large tomato, 1 tablespoon butter, 6 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Rub garlic clove over inside frying pan. Pare tomato and cut into small pieces. Melt butter in frying pan, add tomato, and cook 5 minutes. Beat eggs well and add to tomato. Add seasoning. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until eggs are done. Serve on rounds of thin buttered toast. Liver Loaf (Serves 4 to 6) One pound beef liver, ½ cup stock, 2 small white onions, ½ pound pork sausage, 1 cup cracker crumbs, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon celery salt, 2 eggs, 2 slices bacon. Place liver in saucepan and add enough hot water to cover. Simmer gently for 5 minutes. Drain liver and save ½ cup of liver water. Put liver and onions through food chopper. Add stock, sausage, cracker crumbs, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, salt, pepper, celery salt, and eggs, and mix well. Place in greased loaf pan and top with bacon. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 45 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

V Notes RED CROSS VOLUNTEERS

By MRS. FRED ROBERTS
 Women of Pampa's Red Cross war production department are happy over the board's selection of Mrs. Roche to be their chairman. Mrs. Roche has been a faithful and interested worker in the department from its beginning. Recently she accepted the responsibility of seeing that the kits our overseas forces were made and filled and the board was delighted with the success of that undertaking. Mrs. Roche is familiar with all phases of the work of the production department and recognized its importance. The job ahead of her is a big one. We pledge her our loyalty and cooperation.

We are particularly interested right now in the Surgical Dressing Institute to be held here this coming Tuesday and Wednesday when the Pampa chapter will be host to chapters from McLean, and from Collinsworth, Hall, Hutchinson and Potter counties. The institute is open to only 20 women, who after the completion of the course, will be instructors in the new surgical dressings units to be opened in these chapters soon. Mrs. C. P. Buckler will be Pampa's chairman. The area supervisors, Mrs. P. L. Reppert and Mrs. J. Frank Triolett, who will conduct the institute, are from Amarillo.

Cutting days from now on will be Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. Notice that we will not cut on Mondays. The time and place remain the same - 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock in the production room in the basement of the Post Office.

This week the scissors will be used by the Surgical Dressing Institute on Tuesday and Wednesday. If you plan to come one of those days, will you bring your own scissors?

Mrs. J. B. Massa, in charge of cutting and sewing during the summer months, asks that you do not stop sewing because of the heat. Our mornings are not too hot for this kind of work—and we just must get these blouses done before our new quota arrives. There are 57 on hand now. We surely should sew 50 every week. We who have the opportunity of serving here at home surely would not let a little heat stand in our way. The blouses are simple to make and the one who does the sewing does not need to bother with buttons and buttonholes!

Mrs. Massa asked the production room assistants this week to select the best among all the blouses turned in through Saturday, July 11. The blouses were numbered and the women voted secretly. The vote for the garment made by Mrs. Charlie Thut was practically unanimous. This week the women will vote on all blouses turned in through this past Thursday. And from now on these blouses will be judged every week, the week running from one Friday through the next Thursday. The winning blouse will be used as the model for the week following its selection.

Mrs. F. E. Leech started to teach beginners in the art of knitting last Tuesday morning and will teach again each Tuesday from 9 to 11 a. m. through August 12. This is a fine opportunity for beginners. There is nothing that is a more satisfying leisure time occupation than knitting. You will not be knitting much for yourself this coming winter, of course, because yarn for civilian use will be scarce; but the Pampa Red Cross has enough to keep you busy all the time. In fact it is begging for your help.

The Coltex Home Demonstration club turned in six bed jackets this week which just about completes those garments.

Acceptance by the Japanese government of R. Zindel, a Swiss citizen, as the International Red Cross committee delegate in Hong Kong, was reported to American Red Cross headquarters in Washington.

The new delegate's first task will be to observe the distribution of American Red Cross food and medical supplies to Allied war prisoners and interned civilians in Hong Kong. Large quantities of Red Cross food packages and other relief supplies for American prisoners of war held by Japan were in the cargo of the S. S. Gripsholm which sailed from New York on June 18 with Japanese diplomats being returned to their homeland.

This week, nearly two months after the Pryor, Okla., tornado, 30 persons are still hospitalized and several more will require vocational rehabilitation. Raymond Barrows, acting director of disaster relief operations, has reported to the American Red Cross midwestern area office.

IT'S SMART TO RENOVATE

It's no trick to make over old dresses into smart new ones. If you use ingenuity in re-styling garments with decorative yokes, inset sleeves, draped pleurms, and flaring tunics. The correct fit of a re-made garment, of course, is quite as important as that of a brand-new one. A dress form, if you are working on clothes for yourself, will do much to facilitate this important part of the job. If you do not have a satisfactory dress form, investigate the new moulded forms at your local sewing center. Be sure when you start your make-over plans to rip old clothes carefully so that you do not lose valuable material by cutting it away. Before you start to recut the fabric have it cleaned and pressed flat, so that you have an unwrinkled surface on which to lay the pattern. You'll find it easier to make all pattern alterations on the dress form before it is placed on the material.

THEY SCORE FASHION HITS

The big increase these days in the number of women bowlers has precipitated a wide variety of smart new outfits to help make the sport even more enjoyable for the girls. ### War Is Giving Parents A New Opportunity To Lend Grown Children A Helping Hand

A lot of middle-aged parents have an opportunity today to be of real help to their grown children. With the war breaking up more and more homes of young married couples, and creating more problems for them, their parents can often step in and give much-needed help. Some parents are making use of the opportunity. They are inviting their daughters and daughters-in-law home to live, offering loans when they are needed, taking care of the children so that a wife, who thinks her husband may be sailing soon, can visit him at a distant camp for a few weeks. Whatever their children's needs, they are ready to help out—and in many cases they are helping to ease the hardships caused by broken homes.

having a child when her husband isn't around to look after her. "Alice" is living with her family, but she isn't happy about it, and she isn't happy about the baby either, though she didn't think it was a "tragedy" until her parents gave her the idea. THEY WONDER WHY CHILDREN GROW OLD "Martha's" step-mother and father haven't offered to take her in, though there's room for her and the baby, because they don't like her and never did. Their son, of course, will never forgive them for not looking after his wife while he was away. The war has given older parents a rare opportunity for getting closer to their grown children through understanding of their many problems and help in solving them. Some are making the most of the chance. Others are passing it up. And the ones who are passing it up will be the very ones to complain in later years that their grown children haven't any time for them.

E. C. Nelson

E. C. Nelson is a candidate for Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals. This is one of the highest judicial offices in our country that demands the most high training and the widest legal experience. Judge Nelson attended and graduated from leading universities and law schools in our country, giving him a lucid background of the law. He has been a licensed lawyer for more than 22 years, as practiced law in all of our states and has been judge of all appeals up to the Court of Appeals. As an appellate lawyer, he will be able, from his experience, to review a case on the standpoint of both the trial lawyer and the trial judge. He is now District Judge in a district composed of Potter, all, and Armstrong Counties. His record as a trial judge is one of the best in the State. Judge Nelson is 51 years old, just the age to undertake the work of an appellate judge. He is old enough for maturity, experience, judgment, and young enough to have years of hard work before him. He solicits the vote and support of all our citizens. (Political Ad.)

KPDN Radio Chat

Daily afternoon major league scores and stories about stars of the American and National leagues are heard over KPDN every evening in the week except Sunday from 6:30 to 6:35. For up-to-the-minute sports news and major league scores, listen to the sports review. Sports-caster for this period is Professor Harry Wahlberg. Listen every evening at 7:15 for a KPDN feature entitled "Our Town Forum." Many prominent Pampa citizens appear from time to time on the Forum panel, discussing events of civic interest in Pampa and the Top O' Texas territory. A recent checkup shows that over 80 citizens have appeared on the Forum since the program was started last March. This list includes virtually all civic and business leaders of Pampa, who put in a good word for various projects of interest to everyone in the city and territory.

Associate Professor of Jump and Jive—Ray Monday—swings out every day in the week from two until four with the "Save-A-Nickel" club, which is proving to be one of the most popular of the afternoon features. Listeners in the KPDN range are responding with a virtual deluge of cards and letters, requesting their favorite swing numbers. All the big name bands—especially those with a swing contour—are featured on the "Save-A-Nickel" two-hour jam-boree. Also plugged heavily on this program is the ten per cent national patriotic effort, which is designed to get everyone to pledge at least ten per cent of their income for war bonds and stamps.

Just as you'll know that KPDN announcers are not talking thru their hats when they ask you to invest at least ten per cent of your income in war bonds and stamps, every member of the staff is a full-fledged member of Uncle Sam's Ten Per Cent Club.

RED SKELTON AND ELEANOR POWELL

Two of the screen's outstanding stars, who took time out from work to pose for this artist portrait, play opposite each other for the first time in M-G-M's new comedy musical, "Ship Ahoy," which opens today on the LaNora screen.

Leathernecks Learn How To Meet Enemy At His Own Game

Trained to be experts in the foul blows of old-fashioned barroom brawling, men from Gray county now in the marines probably have the Marquis of Queensbury spilling in his grave like a whirling dervish. Hand-to-hand fighting, with sudden homicide the watchword, is not a new thing. It is a game of "post office." There is only one rule in war—kill the enemy before he kills you.

When a marine comes face to face with a Nazi or Jap on a battlefield, anything goes and only one of them walks away. And four will get you five it's the leatherneck. He's an eye-gouger, neck-breaker, ear-drum-burster, fighter's fool and he means strictly business. It's dirty fighting—the kind the Japs and Nazis understand—and it gets results.

This is the kind of fighting being used with such terrible effectiveness by the phantom Chetnik guerrilla bands of Yugoslavia and by the black-faced commandos. The blue chips are down and the man holding the most ace is going to win.

The leathernecks use jiu-jitsu and judo. They are unerring, growling bayonet experts. They can lob grenades like a big-league pitcher and can tear the black out of a bull's-eye as far away as they can sight it with their rifles.

But in addition to the use of the usual military weapons, marines are taught other ways of merchandising murder.

There is a cute little movement called "eyes out." This is an exceptionally speedy and effective way of gouging out an enemy's eyes. Another is called "break the wind-pipe." To accomplish this the fingers are stiffened and jabbed into the throat into the enemy's windpipe. It works.

Don't use Fists. Marines are told never to use their fists. Might hurt their hand. Instead, they are taught to use the outside of their hand in a chopping motion that, with practice, will enable them to break bones at will.

A leatherneck is never defenseless as long as he has both hands and feet. A kick correctly delivered can break a man's knee. A kick in the groin can take the fight out of an enemy for a long, long time. Marines learn the foulest blows in boxing. The "rabbit punch." An uppercut—the old Bob Fitzsimmons "death blow"—that will drive the upper jaw into the base of a man's brain.

A marine can sneak up on and strangle a sentry without a sound, using the silk thread method perfected by the Thuggee sect in India. He knows where and how to kick a man when he's down and how to best use his weight when running and jumping on a fallen enemy.

These things could be hush-hushed—kept away from the public—but there they are. This is a war for keeps. And the marines are ready, willing, and able to show about our "decadent democracy" similar to their feats at Wake Island, Bataan, Corregidor, and Midway.

Seaman Gives Orders To Admiral Nimitz

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 18 (AP)—Frank Hall, 40-year-old Oklahoma City pharmacist mate, told Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, hero of the battle of Midway, where to head in and get away with it. In the confusion attending a West Coast plane crash in which the admiral escaped injury, Hall, a member of a rescue crew, did not notice the naval officer's rank as occupants were being moved to a field hospital.

The admiral stood up. "Hey, you, sit down and be quiet," Hall shouted. Then he became aware of the admiral's rank and apologized. "Stick by your guns, sailor," replied Nimitz. "I shouldn't have stood up." Hall, who has been recommended for a medal for his part in the rescue, described the incident in a letter to his mother, Mrs. M. J. McWhorter.

"Tortilla Flat" Comes To Town

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Tortilla Flat sits there, on about an acre of sound stage overlooking a Monterey Bay which has been painted cleverly on canvas.

The real dirt of its streets, hauled in by the truckload, is soft under the feet as you walk past the shabby yet somehow smiling cottages which are the homes of John Steinbeck's paisanos.

The flowers of the paisanos are there, too. Roses 'round the door, and all that. And the weeds of the paisanos, which they have put off clearing out because these paisanos are happy, child-like people and tomorrow is another day.

They are people, as Steinbeck described them. . . of laughter and kindness, of honest lusts and direct eyes, of courtesy beyond politeness. Or as John Lee Mahin, who did the screenplay, says in his script foreword: ". . . native-born Americans, yet not American in the way they live, the way they look at life, not even in the way they talk. Nothing exactly like them has ever been seen on the screen before."

A few years ago it might have seemed incredible that "Tortilla Flat" would come to our town at all. That was before Lewis Milestone made a fine movie of Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" and before John Ford made "The Grapes of Wrath." Now Victor Fleming is doing "Tortilla Flat" and Milestone is working on another Steinbeck story, "The Red Pony."

"Tortilla Flat" would have seemed incredible as a movie a few years ago because so many people looked between its covers for sensation and overlooked the human characters involved. Scripter Mahin's foreword indicates how the movie is to be approached. He would suggest that the literal be avoided. . . A discreet stylization of what is there would better serve the mood of the story. It is essentially a comic story, yet it may not be played in the hard bright light of comedy. Beauty of composition and mood in lighting will accent it more suitably.

Above all, the primitiveness of

SLEUTH—Robert Preston is a detective on the trail of a killer in the new Paramount romantic thriller, "This Gun for Hire," showing today, tomorrow and Tuesday at the Rex theater, co-starring Veronica Lake and featuring Laird Cregar and Alan Ladd.

Its people? Spencer Tracy is Pilon, the amiable fellow who would go to extremes to avoid work and yet work endlessly to help a neighbor in distress. John Garfield is Danny—the lad who inherited two houses and didn't care when one burned down, because he still had one. Hedy Lamarr is Dolores, the Portuguese gal who believed in work and thrift, and "corrupted" Danny with such notions. And Alvin Tamiroff is Pablo, the wholesouled admirer of Pilon. Frank Morgan is the Pirate. There's a heap of "discrepancies" in this crew, and you never heard such enthusiasm for a story or script as you do from them.

Himber And Powell Orchestras Off Air

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—The American Federation of Musicians, headed by James C. Petrillo, announced today it had ordered Local 802 to take the dance bands of Richard Himber and Teddy Powell off the NBC Red network beginning yesterday.

Powell's orchestra broadcasts three times a week at 12:30 a. m. and on Sunday from Armonk, N. Y., and Himber's orchestra broadcasts three nights a week at 2:05 a. m. from Essex House in New York City.

"We've ordered the Himber and Powell bands off the air," a spokesman for the union said today, "because they're feeding music to KSTP, the St. Paul-Minneapolis radio station with whom we're having a labor dispute."

INTERLOCHEN, Mich., July 18 (AP)—Young fiddlers of the National Music camp, up in arms over the prospect of having to stay off the radio, came out with a challenge of their own today against union boss James C. Petrillo.

The students at the music school in the woods, where Bach and Beethoven rival the sounds of the forest, arranged a personal plea to President Roosevelt asking him to step into the controversy on their side.

As the head of the American Federation of Musicians, Petrillo had forced the music camp's symphony orchestra off the National Broadcasting company's network. He claimed a union contract with NBC forbids performances by amateurs. Students at the camp, in a mass

MURDER IN FERRY COMMAND

BY A. W. O'BRIEN

BOMBER TO MONTREAL

CHAPTER X

CLYDE DAWSON was repairing the ravages of his stormy session with the spy ring in the Turkish bath of his Chicago hotel when, at about 8 o'clock that night, a telephone call was plugged into the steam room. It was the chief agent of the F. B. I.

"Something of special interest for you, Dawson," he said. "Your sports-looking girl friend boarded a Canadian Colonial Airways plane at LaGuardia Field in New York 20 minutes ago. Our Manhattan office wants to know if they'll have the plane radioed back...

"No, let her go... I've a sudden hunch and want her to have a little more rope. My compliments to your Manhattan office—damn smart co-operation. One more favor, Dawson. The War Supplies Office must have a Traffic Routing Department. Would you use your authority to find out if the man in charge last night was, by chance, asked for any travel information by Carole Fiske?"

"Where to?" Dawson murmured. "It fits," Dawson murmured. "From the Turkish bath, he phoned directly to the Ferry Command headquarters in Montreal and had them locate the Air Marshal. Half an hour later Dawson was on his way to an airport just outside the Chicago limits. There was an Army Air Force officer waiting for him at the gate.

"I'm instructed to take you directly to the field, Mr. Dawson," he said crisply. "There's a twin-engine bomber being held for you on Ferry Command instructions..."

"AT Detroit the plane had to land for customs and immigration clearance and Dawson took advantage of the few minutes to phone the Montreal bureau of the Canadian Intelligence. He gave instructions for the 145 TCA plane to be held in case he was late and if a reservation was made for one Carole Fiske—she would have to use her right name unless she had a proper passport to reserve the seat beside her for him. If the seat was already reserved he ordered that Intelligence priority be used to secure it. It was a rough trip, with the plane flying into a strong headwind. But at 1:35 a. m. the pilot beckoned to Dawson and the latter sauntered his way past the large inside gasoline tank installed for the transatlantic flight.

"We're over Dorval now," the pilot yelled. "Sorry it took so long—that wind was plenty stiff." Dawson hurried to the TCA airport office.

"Outside the doorway, a man stepped out of the shadows. It was a Montreal bureau officer. "I've got your ticket here—thought you might not want to go to the office. The pilot is waiting with the other passengers..."

"Nice going," Dawson cut in, "go inside and tell the dispatcher all's set for the take-off anytime, and I've gone directly to the plane. You hand in my ticket—they usually pick them up at the desk."

Dawson heard the flight announcement on the loudspeaker and saw the passengers filing through the door. Carole Fiske came out alone. Dawson swung into stride beside her.

"Hello," he said simply. Carole Fiske halted in consternation as she recognized Dawson. But she quickly recovered her poise. One hand slipped out of her muff and she held it close to her body. In it was a snub-nosed automatic.

"Don't try to stop me from taking this plane, mister, or you're a dead pigeon—I swear it!" Dawson laughed. "The surest way of missing your plane would be to shoot me here, sweetheart. Instead of trying to stop you I'm actually making the jaunt in the next seat—chummy, eh?"

The girl was obviously suspicious. Keeping the gun trained on him she hid it with her muff. "Very well, let's go!" she commanded in lowered tone.

WHEN they reached the side of the waiting TCA plane, Carole Fiske slowed her pace and gave an almost imperceptible gesture with her head for Dawson to mount the movable stairway first. "Emily Post wouldn't approve," grinned Dawson.

room and... Dawson heard the hostess coming through the plane door, evidently attracted by the commotion. This was no time for delicacy.

Jumping lightly from the second step, he punched hard and true over the girl's shoulder straight into the agent's face. The latter reeled back, stumbled and piled into the snowdrift. Dawson made a flying leap and landed squarely on the stunned man.

"Never mind the poke," Dawson hissed, "act as if you are drunk and we're going in for a little horseplay..."

Both men began grunting and laughing as they rolled, Dawson finally yelling in a tone of mock surrender.

"Enough... enough... you got me, Joe." They rose to their feet brushing the snow off their clothes. Carole Fiske was obviously amazed but she took a quick glance at the frowning hostess and played her part.

"Come on, darling," she spoke impatiently, "the plane is waiting—send your frisky friend on his way."

With apparent unsteadiness, Dawson followed up the steps, checked in with the hostess and sat down heavily in his seat. The girl and he had the two end spaces.

"Nice way to treat a Boy Scout pal doing his good deed," she commented crisply, "but why did you wreck it?"

Dawson took from his pocket an object which he tossed into her lap. It was the snub-nosed automatic.

Break Between U. S. and Finland Near

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Finland and the United States were one move short of an open break in diplomatic relations Friday with the Helsinki government preparing to close all its consular offices in this country in compliance with a Washington request.

The state department, in disclosing last night that it had asked the Finnish government to discontinue its consular activities in the United States not later than Aug. 1, announced that it already had cancelled the consular commission of American consular officials in Finland and was closing immediately the consular section of the American legation in Helsinki.

The status of the American legation itself and that of the Finnish legation in Washington remain unchanged, but the ousting of the consulates was reminiscent of a similar development in German-American relations. The closing of German consular offices in this country and of American consular offices in Germany was one of the preliminaries leading up to the final rupture and declaration of war.

Secretary of State Hull warned last November that "if Finland desires to maintain our friendship now and later, satisfactory evidence must be forthcoming that it is the intention of the government of Finland to discontinue promptly offensive military operations against Soviet territory."

Civilian Pilots May Take Instructor's Course At Airport

FIVE thousand civilian Pilot Training sponsored air corps instructors are needed immediately and Pampa and this section has been asked to furnish as many as can possibly be trained. A full-time-CPT training course will begin at the airport next week available to pilots who have had at least 110 hours and have passed their 18th birthday but have not reached their 37th birthday and who can pass a physical examination.

Men interested in taking the course must file application at the airport this week. Only cost to the pilot will be $6 for physical examination and $3 for text books. The course will include 50 hours of flying and 72 hours of ground work. Men between 19 and 27 must have failed to pass the air corps admission test to be eligible to take this course.

The course will last eight weeks and at the close those successfully passing the test will be assigned to some training center. The course will be full time. No pilot will be able to hold his job and also take the course. The pilot must also pay his own living expenses while taking the course. Those passing the course will be classed as civilian pilot instructors for the duration but will not be inducted into the army.

Freight Rates To Be Investigated Fully

ABILENE, July 18 (AP)—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce was advised today by the Interstate Commerce commission that its investigation of interterritorial freight rate structures and levels will go on to the conclusion.

Postponement of the national inquiry for the war duration has been sought by Class 1 railroads of the United States, the American trucking associations, and by shippers' organizations in northern and eastern states comprising the official freight zone. Petitions of these groups have been denied, the last this week.

The ICC launched the inquiry in July, 1939. Another hearing has been called for Sept. 22 at Indianapolis, Ind., on railroad and motor freight dockets covering class rates and consolidated classifications. The Railroad Commission of Texas is expected to present this state's case for freight rates parity at Indianapolis. By order dated June 19 the commission served notice of intention to enter the national case in behalf of Texas, granting a petition of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and a freight rate equality federation asking it to do so.

Russian "Breadbasket" Now Scene Of Bitter Struggle

By RICHARD McMURRAY
Associated Press War Editor

A million German troops pressed powerfully on Saturday night through the rich Don basin wheat fields and Donbas coal basin toward Rostov and Stalin-grad, guardian cities of the Caucasus oil fields, against a stubborn Russian defense which yielded the land only at a huge price of enemy lives and machines.

The Germans claimed they had reached the lower Don on a broad front east of the Donets, indicating their tanks and men were threatening to outflank Rostov, 65 miles to the west at the mouth of the Don.

At the northern extremity of the 220-mile front where the first fury of battle broke in all its intensity, the Russians were counter-attacking strongly before Voronezh, driving the Germans before them into and back across the Don.

The rising tempo of the Russian counter-attack in the north and its mounting success suggested that a counter-attack against the extended German flanks to relieve the intense pressure in the south.

Blistering the swaying Russian lines were American-made Boston bombers which flew into the battle in south Russia for the first time.

On the other world front of crisis—the Egyptian desert 75 to 80 miles west of Alexandria—the British not only were meeting and repulsing the full Axis might, but scoring successes of their own. All the front held firm, and a growing toll of Marshal Rommel's armor was taken.

The U. S. air commander for India, Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, took charge of American fliers fighting wing-to-wing with the British in Egypt in a shift that suggested that America's military strength had been reinforced greatly. The RAF and U. S. Army Air forces continued to strike at the German concentrations, supply lines, and ports—coordinating with the polygot land forces on the rocky brown sands in sapping Rommel's might.

The Chinese, too, claimed success against the Oriental Axis partner, mounting the recapture of the important port of Wenchow and costly setbacks to the Japanese on three other active fronts.

The magnitude of the death struggle in south Russia, however, dwarfed all the fighting elsewhere in the world.

The Russians were delivering blow after blow upon the oncoming Germans heading south from Mill-erovo on the Moscow-Rostov rail- way, but there was no tendency to minimize the fact that Marshal von Bock was throwing enormous forces into the battle to seize swiftly the last Red communications in the south and split the Caucasus from the rest of vast Russia. The Russians placed the front 100 miles from Rostov and 175 miles from Stalin-grad.

The Red army was making stubborn stands in the high-land wheatfields but dropping back before superior numbers of men and machines. The Germans were prodigal in their expenditures of reserves and materiel, gambling heavily on subduing the great breadbas- ket and coal region and severing the vital Persian gulf supply line before the winter comes again.

Only 90 good fighting days remain. If the Russian army continues to retreat slowly and thus remain in being, Hitler might yet find as Napoleon did that he had won a battle but lost a war.

The British minister of production, Oliver Lyttelton, pointed out this week that the Russian army, he said, the German army was "committed to a second paralyzing winter which may well prove to be its last."

The Russians, battling for their lives, were more interested in action than words, however. The Associated Press correspondent in Moscow, Eddy Gilmore, wrote that the question on every Russian tongue was this:

"Kogda zhe budet vitorya?"

"That means, 'When will there be a second front?'"

London military experts thought at least a small-scale invasion across the English channel might come soon should the Russians begin to crumble. An all-out, war-winning thrust might come later if the Russians were still in their slugging by the time the tremendous problems of shipping, supply and air support on a western front were solved.

The Russian army organ Red Star said editorially that the Germans were throwing their main forces and calling up reserves for the Don offensive, but despite the terrific pressure their offensive was moving slower than before.

A Russian stand was expected along a line from Stalingrad to the Don and along the south bank of the Don across the northern entrance to the Caucasus. The elbows of the Volga and Don are only 45 miles apart near Stalingrad and the Don then flows almost due west.

Contrasted to last year when the German offensive erupted violently along the whole 2,000-mile front, Marshal von Bock this time was having to shift forces from other sectors and from deep in the rear into the main effort on a sector one-tenth as wide. That fact alone attested to the staggering casualties the Russians had inflicted in 13 months of bloody war.

Marshal Timoshenko, on the other hand, seemed to be using only his original forces and not to have tapped his reserves or other sectors. That suggested a mighty counter-attack when the German offensive falters—if it does. At the lower Don, it might falter because there the river is much wider and swifter and the banks are harder to negotiate. The narrow upped Don has proved a formidable obstacle as the battered attackers of Voronezh could testify.

The U. S. Army Air force in Egypt was disclosed by General Brereton to have lost but three planes in 21 raids. Its latest assaults were on the Axis supply ports of Tobruk and Bomba where shops and port facilities were hit. The Axis was throwing more Italian planes into the fight, suggesting the drain on the Germans in Russia. All seemed well for the moment at least in Egypt.

For the third day running, the RAF raided Hitler's arsenal in the Rhur by daylight but the main night bomber force still was held to the ground by bad weather.
