Wickard Says Curb Due On Farm Prices

(Editor's Note: The story below was written by Frank Ewing, nephew of District Judge and Mrs. W. R. Ewing. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ewing of Higgins.)

By FRANK EWING
WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The senate farm bloc heard from Secretary of Agriculture Wickard today that the administration could and would apply powerful curbs to farm prices should wartime forces start them soaring.

Senators attending the senate agriculture committee's four-hour questioning of the cabinet member said they learned that the administration proposed to use its power to buy and sell commodities to hold farm prices down.

They admitted that this power, conferred in the price control bill, was such that farm prices probably could be held to parity and their victory in the legislative fight over the price control act nullified.

The farm bloc succeeded in writing into the price control bill a prohibition against price ceilings on farm commodities lower than 110 per cent of parity. Parity is the price at which a farm product has the same purchasing power in terms of non-farm products that it had in a base period, usually 1909-14.

President Roosevelt, in signing the price control bill, said that "most farmers realize that when prices go much above parity danger is ahead."

Some senators obviously were angered by what they learned from Wickard.

Senator Smith (D-S.C.) asserted that the "new deal" is taking it out on the farmer while permitting other prices to soar to the moon.

Senator Thomas (D-Okl.) said it was clear from Wickard's report that the administration intended to place government-owned surplus commodities on the market or dispose of them in such other manner that the prices could never rise to the ceiling position.

"They are circumventing the price control law," said the Oklahomaan. "They are not proposing to let farm products even reach parity."

Smith said the committee unanimously agreed that the department of agriculture was restricted by terms of the price control bill from turning over millions of bales of cotton to the army for processing into military equipment.

Thomas contended that surplus commodities such as cotton should be turned over to the army would depress cotton prices.

"Just talking about disposing of surplus commodities already has depressed cotton prices $3.25 a bale,"

James P. Fitch

Regional Scout Executive To Be Banquet Speaker

Scouters of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout council, comprising 10 northeast Panhandle counties and three counties in the Oklahoma Panhandle, will hear James P. Fitch, above, regional Scout executive with supervision over Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, speak at the council's annual banquet Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Schneider hotel.

Every Scout in the council is urged to attend the banquet and hear Mr. Fitch who has been engaged in Boy Scout work for more than 30 years. He first became interested in scouting in Vinita, Okla. He served as executive in Columbus, Ohio, and came to Texas in 1918 when the ninth region was organized.

Tickets, at $1 each, are on sale by a committee headed by Vaughn Darnell, and at Scout headquarters in the city hall.

Members of the council board will gather in the city hall at 5:30 o'clock for a short business session. Mr. Fitch will be present at that session.

C. R. Stahl of Borger will be toastmaster at the banquet. The program will include singing of God Bless America, led by Troy Israel, field executive, brief talk by W. B. Weathered on "Think twice before you start cursing," demonstration by Troop 6 of Borger, installation of new officers by the Rev. Robert Boshen of Pampa, and address by Mr. Fitch.

Shoemaker Rites To Be Held Today

Funeral services for V. W. Shoemaker, 62, prominent Shamrock oil man, who died at his home in that city Friday night, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist church of Shamrock. Burial will occur in the Shamrock cemetery.

Mr. Shoemaker was a drilling contractor and was well-known among oil men of the Panhandle. He had resided in Shamrock and vicinity for 18 years, and was a 32d degree Mason.

Survivors are the widow, one daughter, Mrs. T. A. Evans; son, Robert; sister, Mrs. C. Keeler; all of Shamrock, and four grandchildren.

Hats! Hats! Just Hats! Roberts, the Hat Man, Ph. 430.

$276 Raised For Infantile Paralysis Fund

An estimated $276.50 was raised for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis through the four dances held in the county Friday night in celebration of President Roosevelt's 60th birthday.

Ray Kuhm, chairman of the celebration in Gray county, said tonight that a complete report and accounting had not been made yesterday, but that he expected this to be accomplished Monday.

Best attended of the four dances was the one at the Southern club, where proceeds were estimated at $140. Runner-up was the dance at the Junior High school gymnasium, which netted $87.50.

The Junior High school old-time dance was sponsored by the Lions club committee, headed by R. R. Watson, while the Kiwanis club committee, headed by L. N. Atchison, was in charge of the dance at the Southern club. Other dances were at Lake McClellan and at the Pampa Country club.

In other areas, proceeds from the celebrations have been between $300 and $400. Reason for the estimated smaller amount this year was attributed by committee chairmen to the effect of the war, the sale of Defense Bonds and Stamps, and the rationing, which makes persons eliminate many automobile trips.

March of Dimes Dances $60

Money raised from the nets will be divided on a 50-50 basis by the national foundation and the Gray county chapter of the foundation.

From the "March of Dimes," directed by Carl Benefield for the Pampa area, a total of $617 was secured through distribution of pastebare-covered coins into which Pampans and others dropped coins. The money raised in Pampa by this means will also be sent to the national foundation and the county chapter will receive half of this amount.

Mr. Benefield did not have a report on the money collected through the cans distributed at LeFors, Shelytown, McLean, Wheeler, and Fertyon, as the money will be sent directly from those points to the foundation. There were 60 of the coin containers issued here.

Vexation was expressed by Mr. Benefield because the amount obtained was small, most of the coins being pennies, and because some persons dropped Oklahoma tax tokens, coupons, and a even spoons into the collection.

Civil Air Patrol Given New Duties

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Civil Air Patrol will take over local patrol duties, courier flights, and plane ferry service for the armed forces, releasing army and navy flyers for active war service, under plans announced tonight by Earle L. Johnson, CAP executive officer.

As part of the CAP's recruiting drive for 90,000 civilian pilots and student fliers, both men and women, Johnson invited aviation enthusiasts in colleges to enroll.

H. B. Hill In Race For District Judge

H. B. Hill who has been a practicing attorney in the courts of the Panhandle for almost 30 years, today announced he would be a candidate for judge of the Thirty-first judicial district comprising Wheeler, Gray, Roberts and Lipscomb counties. He plans to conduct an intensive campaign over the four counties.

H. B. HILL

Moving to Shamrock in 1912, following his graduation from the law school of the University of Missouri, he was elected to the city council of Shamrock in 1914 and served five years. He was elected to the state legislature in 1918 and served two terms, winning wide recognition as the author of the senatorial redistricting bill which caused the only shake-up in Texas senatorial districts from 1873 to the present time, giving the Panhandle of Texas fair representation in the senate for the first time in 40 years.

In announcing his candidacy for district judge, Mr. Hill made it plain he will make the race solely on his qualifications.

Mr. Hill was 21 years of age when he quit a job as bookkeeper and enrolled in high school. He completed a high school course in two years and then enrolled in college, earning degrees as bachelor of arts and bachelor of law. He paid his way through both high school and college.

Mr. Hill had a varied career before entering high school, working as a farm laborer, grocery clerk, life insurance salesman, laborer in brick and the factory, steam shoveler in a grain elevator, clerk in a grain elevator office, laborer in a rolling mill, laborer in a stove factory, bookkeeper, solicitor for colleges and as a carpenter's helper.

During his 30 years residence in Wheeler county, Mr. Hill has found time to take an active part in church, fraternal and civic work in addition to his duties as an attorney.

He has had general law practice for 30 years, in court, land titles and oil and gas matters. He has had nothing but the friendliest feelings for any other candidate for that office and if you can support me I shall always be grateful," said Mr. Hill.

Pampans Asked To Aid In Price Control

Patriotic Pampans were called to aid the Price Control administration today in guarding unreasonably price increases in all lines.

Max L. McCullough, regional director of the OPA for Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana, warned that the price inflation might be as serious an enemy on the home front as tanks on the battlefield or submarines in the ocean.

Mr. McCullough's office is now set up to receive complaints from citizens of the three states in this region under the new price control law enacted a few days ago by congress.

The office is in the Tower Petroleum building, Dallas.

Price ceilings already have been established on many manufactured articles, commodities and raw materials.

The road authority granted by the new price control law permits Leon Henderson, the national administrator, to expand the list of price ceilings to many other commodities.

Mr. McCullough made it clear that "every patriotic citizen and merchant is invited to keep in close touch with this office, and to see that prices are held within the bounds to be set by the office of price administration."

"Direct price control," he explained, "is an essential part of the war program. The problem must be handled promptly and boldly, if our victory is to be assured."

"The majority of the American people recognize the danger that faces this country and most of them, we know, will cooperate in the price control program. But there are always a few 'chislers' and it is our business in this office to see that those 'chislers' are compelled to abide by the new law."

And he added: "All of us know that if prices on commodities, and rents began skyrocketing as they did 25 years ago, during the first World war and in the post-war period, a severe hardship would result to the public. And more than that—the huge sums appropriated by the government for our war effort would lose in value and would purchase much less. Thus, our democratic plans for prosecuting the war would be nullified. We must not allow that to happen. We must win this battle on the home front—against inflation."

William H. Brooks, the regional executive officer for the office of price administration, is a native Texan, formerly of Beaumont, who was appointed in Washington last December. He came to Dallas to assist personnel and set up the office.

Texas' Board Of Control Headed By Lawyer-Rancher

By RAY NEUMANN

A big-framed, blue-eyed country lawyer and rancher, who might have been a professional baseball star if it hadn't been for joining up to fight overseas in the last World War, has grasped the helm of the state government's business agency—the Board of Control.

Elected chairman at the first board meeting of the new year, Weaver Hudson Baker, 47 years old, six feet one inch tall and weighing 320 pounds, recently was appointed to the three-man state purchasing agency by Governor Coke Stevenson.

The appointment once more returned the board to a three-governor status in that its other members, Harry Knox, Jr., of Brownwood, and Tom Deberry of Bogalusa were named by former Governors W. Lee O'Daniel and James V. Alfred, respectively.

Baker succeeded Frank Davis of Itasca, also an appointee of O'Daniel who, for more than a year, had a majority on the board. One of the first acts of the O'Daniel appointees was to discharge a number of veteran staff men and other employees and differences between the Knox-Davis majority and Deberry continued.

Baker, who terms himself "just an average country lawyer," has lived in Kimble county 40 years. A native Texan, he was born in Jacksboro, is married and the father of two girls, Beverly, 18, and Marilyn, 14. As a youth of 18, he taught school at the Beasley community, 10 miles south of Junction, to earn enough money to attend the University of Texas where he pitched the Longhorn to a Southwest Conference championship in 1916.

"Uncle Billy Ditch, our coach and one of the grandest friends I have ever had, steered us to the flag," Baker recounted, disclaiming any credit for the team's success. "Coach Ditch is one of the finest figures in sport throughout the nation, bar none."

The former college hurler admitted he was offered a contract by a Texas league club and probably would have accepted had it not been for the declaration of war against Germany.

He was the first volunteer from Kimble county's training camp at Leon Springs and went overseas as an officer with the 64th Field Artillery, 36th division. After 26 months' service, he returned to Junction, obtained his law license and started practicing.

Today he owns two ranches, one 15 miles southwest of Junction on Joe Bailey creek and the other nine miles north of that city on Bear creek. He has been president of the Junction Chamber of Commerce, Master of the Masonic lodge and participated in many civic functions in the central Texas hill country.

He was county attorney of Kimble county in 1919 and 1920, then served as county judge two terms and finally as district attorney in that area for 11 years. After his first election, he was never opposed for the office.

Baker has been counsel for the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association and the Texas Sheriffs Association. He asserts, a little hesitantly because of the large figure, that he has tried more than 700 cases in court.

One of the episodes of his life he likes best to recall was when he was editor of a country newspaper, The Junction Eagle. He bought the weekly, established before he was born, and operated it for two and a half years in the late 20's.

"I thoroughly enjoyed that experience," he declares, smiling. "I'd liked to have stayed with it if it hadn't been for my law practice and ranching."

In 1925, he joined one of his oldest and best friends, Coke Stevenson, in forming a law partnership, an alliance which was severed only when Stevenson became governor last August.

The association between the men, both of whom were reared in the central Texas hill country, owned their own way, became lawyers and ranchers and finally, at the insistence of friends, turned to careers of public service, is deeper than merely money hunting partners.

They have been hunting partners for years, one never planning a trip without the other. Although Stevenson did not serve as district attorney, he was county attorney and judge. In that capacity, like Baker, Stevenson made war on cattle, sheep and goat rustlers.

As it is with the governor, Baker prefers hunting and horseback riding to other sports, although Baker follows baseball with keen interest.

"There's hardly anything I like better than to get on my horse and ride fence on my pastures—just to see what's going on," he says. "Of course, I like football, too, but I didn't play. Getting an education and playing baseball was all I had time for at the university."

Seated at a beautiful old solid cherry desk said to be used by one of Texas' first governors, Baker, from his office, surveyed board employees working at various desks in the big headquarters of the agency. "You know," he said, "The board in reality is the commissioners court of the state."

His association with commissioners courts in five counties of the district he served as district attorney prompted the observation.

"My purpose will be to cooperate with the other two members of the board to the end that the best interests of the state will be served in the administration of its business, affairs and policy initiated by the same."

Transfer Of U. S. Warships Blocked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—A record $26,495,265,474 naval supply bill won approval of the senate appropriations committee today, but not before members had acted to prevent the transfer of any of the navy's big fighting ships to other nations.

Because, members said, of reports that the administration planned to lease some war vessels to Latin-American countries, the committee voted to limit presidential authority over the transfer of ships to similar types built under a $1,000,000,000 allocation for emergency construction. The 1,789 vessels in this category might include destroyers, mosquito boats, convoy vessels and others of this type. Senator Overton (D-La.), floor manager for the measure, said senators felt that an original request of the budget bureau to permit the President to lease any naval ship to another country was too broad. There was evident opinion, he said, that it was "better to have our own men manning our ships."

The mammoth appropriations bill, including $23,738,865,474 in proposed cash outlays and $2,756,400,000 in contract authority, is scheduled for senate consideration Monday.

Nazi U-Boatmen 'Bum Shooters' But Sure Polite

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 31 (AP)—Survivors of the tanker Rochester, sunk off the Virginia coast yesterday, disagreed after their landing here today about the size of the attacking submarine but agreed that the German U-boatmen were "bum shooters."

The tanker, owned by the Socony-Vacuum company was struck by two torpedoes in broad daylight, killing three of the crew. The submarine then came to the surface and fired 13 shells, several of which missed their target.

Chief Officer L. J. Davidson, of Little Falls, N. J., said the "Germans were bum shooters, but even though they couldn't shoot they sure were polite."

"When the sub started shelling the ship we were between the two vessels (in a lifeboat) and in the line of fire," he added. "The submarine waved its away, and someone on her shouted in English 'Get out of the way. We are going to fire.'"

Charles McDonald, of Wichita, Kans., radio operator, said he saw the submarine clearly and believed it was much smaller than the usual run of undersea craft. Several crew members, however, disagreed with him, asserting they saw about 180 feet of the underwater craft and that all of the submarine was not showing then.

Captain A. L. Clark said he did not believe the submarine was large enough to cross the ocean, operate off the Atlantic coast and return to its home port. He declined comment, however, on the possibility that a mother ship was being maintained for U-boats.

The survivors reported that a blue porpoise was painted on the conning tower of the submarine.

34 Survivors Of British Steamer Land At Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda, (Passed By British Censor)—Jan. 31 (AP)—Thirty-four survivors of a British merchantman torpedoed early today were landed here this afternoon by a United States destroyer.

The crewmen said that after sending three torpedoes into their vessel the submarine tried unsuccessfully to smash the three lifeboats in which the ship's hands escaped.

Those arriving here were from two of the lifeboats. The third was understood to have been picked up by another rescue ship.

The survivors said their two lifeboats, lashed together, were sighted by an Atlantic patrol plane which guided the American destroyer to the rescue.

As they drifted through the bitterly cold night a portable radio brought along by one of the men was turned on and ironically, the first thing they heard was a New York station broadcasting a Furer's announcement: "Now is the time to buy your winter coats."

Purchase Of 32 New Tires Authorized

Certificates authorizing purchase of 32 new tires and 24 new tubes were reported yesterday by the Gray County Tire Rationing board. The certificates came under the county's January quota. For this month the quota for Gray is 35 tires and 29 tubes for passenger cars, motorcycles, and light trucks; 67 tires and 114 tubes for trucks and buses.

Jame B. Massa, chairman of the tire rationing board, cautioned motorists to be careful that tires weren't stolen from passenger cars. He gave this advice in connection with a plea from a motorist who had two tires stolen from his car and who was desperately trying to secure authorization to purchase new tires. As his vehicle was not in the eligible class, the board had no other course than to reject his application.

In connection with giving the February quota for the county, Chairman Massa pointed out that certificates issued for the purchase of tires for farm implements and for obsolete-size tires were not charged against the quota.

The City of Pampa yesterday received permission to buy seven new tires and seven new tubes for four street department trucks.

An Associated Press story Friday told of an easing up on some of the tire issuing regulations. One part of the story quoted Mark McGee, state tire rationing administrator, as stating that tires would be issued to automobiles used to haul trailers of farmers.

Chairman Massa said Saturday he had received no official instruction on this point. He said the rule applied to trucks used to pull trailers but not to automobiles.

A letter from the state office contained all of the five classes of trucks listed as eligible, as stated in the AP story, but there was no mention of any issuance of tires for automobiles used to pull trailers.

Other certificates issued: W. A. Gaster, Pampa, vehicle used in road work, one tire, one tube; Earl Griffin, Pampa, one obsolete size tire; L. M. Johnson, LeFors, two obsolete size tires, two obsolete size tubes; C. L. Pettit, McLean, farm implement, one tire, one tube; M. M. Mathis, Pampa, one obsolete size tire.

J. M. Clay, Pampa, gasoline truck, two tires, one tube; C. P. Pagan, McLean, cattle truck, four tires, four tubes; George Castleberry, McLean, vehicle used in road work, one tire, one tube; A. B. McPherson, McLean, farm truck, one tire, one tube; Shamrock Products company, Pampa, gasoline truck, one tire; W. T. Fraser, Pampa, bottled beverage truck, four tires, three tubes; A. A. Vandover, Pampa, three tires, three tubes, obsolete size tires.

Insurance Firm Changes Location

A change in location and the addition of one more representative lets size; Emer Pritchard, Pampa, two obsolete size tires.

was announced today by the local agency of the Southwestern Life Insurance company.

The agency's office was transferred today from the Combs-Worley building to 112 N. Cuyler, the LaNora theater building.

Shelby Gants is now associated with John Platt in representing the company. The two men, while each acting as an independent agent, will have their office together.

For the past year, Mr. Gants has been representative of the Southland Life Insurance company.

20 New Wells Completed In Panhandle Oil Field

Completions continued unabated in the Panhandle field last week, 18 new oil wells and two new gas wells being gauged and given open flow potentials. The 18 new oil wells were given total open flow potentials of 2,887 barrels while the two gas wells tested 7,400,000 cubic feet.

A total of 66 new wells were gauged and given potentials in January. The famous "6666" ranch in King county is going to get a wildcat test for oil. Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation has announced a location to be drilled in the southeast corner of section 16, block F, H&TC survey, in King county. Contract depth according to application to drill filed at the Pampa office of the Texas Railroad commission is 7,000 feet.

The wildcat will be in real wildcat territory, the company having to get a special permit to drill on irregular footing from the corner because of hills and rock formations. The location will be in the southeast corner of the county 14 miles west of Knox county. It will be 50 miles southeast of nearest production. Seven new locations were staked in the Panhandle last week, all on 40-acre plots according to the new federal drilling regulations. The Skelly Oil company announced four new locations, all in the newly discovered Taylor pool in central Gray county. A total of 32 locations have been announced during the first month of the year.

There were persistent rumors in the Panhandle last week that a hike of 10 or 15 cents a barrel in oil can be expected soon. Operators are living in hope because the allowable for February has been cut by order of the railroad commission. Completions by counties follow:

In Carson County
Gulf Oil Corp., No. 14 Block, section 111, block 4, I&GN survey, gauged 178 barrels.

Ickes Asks That Each State Meet Oil Production Rates Quickly

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Secretary of Interior Ickes addressed to the oil-producing states and petroleum industry yesterday "it is extremely essential, from the standpoint of promoting the war effort," that the oil production rates certified for each producing state "be met by every state without delay."

A source close to the secretary, who is petroleum coordinator, said the statement resulted from "grumbling" and questions raised in some states on the production quota system which Ickes made effective January 1, as a war measure.

The coordinator's system of certifying production rates was set up in the form of "recommendations" to the producing states and the industry. There now is no law of enforcement back of the recommendations, Ickes' associates said. It is essential that the states and the industry certify what steps might be taken if any state failed to comply with its recommended quota. The coordinator's statement follows:

"The imperative need of assuring the nation of an adequate, continuous supply of petroleum products for all military and essential civilian requirements on a sustained basis no longer permits the haphazard participation by states in supplying the national demand."

"Any state that might persist in exhausting its petroleum resources at an abnormally rapid rate would seriously jeopardize the war program. Premature exhaustion of any one state's resources would only throw an undue burden on the other states at a time when the need for petroleum will be even more critical than now."

"The urgency of the present situation prohibits all considerations save full cooperation in the present national program to attain maximum utilization of the nation's natural resources—not for the first year of the war alone, nor for the second, but for as long a period as the present conflict may last."

Prior to adoption of the practice of certifying production rates, the various states based their output solely on a forecast of demand issued by the Bureau of Mines.

Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum coordinator, explained that the objective of the certification procedure was to provide a sound program whereby each producing state would participate properly in supplying the total national demand for petroleum.

API Meeting To Be February 13

Next regular meeting of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute will not be held until February 13, in the Junior High school auditorium, Chairman R. T. McNally has announced. Change in the date has been made so that technical pictures of Alaska, taken by Jack Lamb and "Old Tack" can be shown.

Besides the entertaining picture, a discussion on "Well Re-conditioning in the Panhandle" will be presented by Tom Hogan of The Texas company. Several engineers will collaborate in preparing the paper. The picture on Alaska, which will show the life of the salmon, wild life scenes, breath-taking scenery, etc., will last more than an hour. Because of the length of the picture, the meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock or 30 minutes earlier than usual.

The public is invited to attend the meeting which will be free.

Teachers To Meet Here Monday Night

Gray-Roberts County Teachers association will meet Monday evening at 6 o'clock for a quarterly banquet at the First Methodist church. The Rev. Robert L. Gilpin, minister of the church, will be guest speaker. In the business session, delegates will be elected to the district meeting in Amarillo March 20 and 21; also a report will be given by the nominating committee.

Travel Undiminished Oil Men Assert

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Informed oil men said today Americans apparently still were riding the nation's highways in their close to pre-war numbers when there was no government ban on purchase of new automobile tires.

These sources, explaining actual figures might not be available before mid-February, said early estimates for January indicated no decrease in use of gasoline by motorists. The ban on new tire purchases became effective shortly after America's entry into the war less than two months ago.

The supply of petroleum products on hand—gasoline and fuel oil—in the eastern states, however, dropped slightly for the week ending Jan. 24 below that of the previous week, an unseasonal decline.

The Petroleum Institute of America's figures showed 18,122,000 barrels of all petroleum products in the eastern area for Jan. 24 as compared with 20,360,000 for the week ending Jan. 17.

Editor's Note: The News regrets that the above picture of Cert Calloway was published Thursday as Joseph Calloway's. Both are from Canadian and both in the armed forces. Joseph's picture will be published in the near future.

CANADIAN, Jan. 31—Cleo Arthur (Cert) Calloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Calloway, Canadian, has been stationed the past year in the Hawaiian Islands.

Cert, as he is known at home, graduated from Canadian High school in 1936. He played football two years and basketball four years; had one year in declamation class; belonged to the Science club; was vice-president of the Young Speakers' club; secretary of the Public Speaking club; was an actor in his class play in both his junior and senior years.

He enlisted in the United States Navy at Houston on July 1, 1940.

Cert's work is aviation radio, where he is third class petty officer. He has been in the Pacific for more than a year.

He was home on furlough last October, expecting to have a full two weeks here with his parents, but the second day here he received a wire calling him back to the coast to go back to his work in the Pacific.

Today's War Analysis

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

The United Nations-Axis struggle is at a crisis on the Pacific front almost as grave for the Allies as it was for England in that black June of 1940 when France fell.

Even so, the essential fact is that England weathered that storm. The light little isle stands today, stronger and better prepared to fight for freedom than ever before. It is the symbol of Hitler's greatest defeat. Not even his retreat in Russia yet has like significance.

Can besieged Singapore or the menaced Dutch colonial empire in the far Pacific similarly survive against all the Japanese have done or can do? That is the dominant question.

Prime Minister Churchill, Britain's sturdy and courageous war captain when seeking parliamentary approval of both his own leadership and of the strategy that exposed empire Pacific outposts. He would make no promise except that of ultimate victory.

Churchill sought no refuge behind the several circumstances in the far Pacific he could have noted to lighten the gloom. Nor did he set out the measures taken or concerted with Washington to stem the Japanese attack beyond repeating that reinforcements had arrived in the southwest Pacific war zone.

There is an added deterrent factor. The admiralty's acknowledgment of loss of an empire destroyer, in a running fight off the Malay coast is one such item.

Japan also lost a destroyer in that action. It increased the toll American-British-Dutch forces are taking of sea craft which the enemy can ill spare in a battle that has just begun in those seas.

Tokyo knows that. The very scope of the expanded Japanese drive to master the rich Netherlands Indies even before the Singapore and Luzon resistance centers have been cracked has an element of desperation in it. It emphasizes the vital time element for Japan. It is now or never for the Nazi minded Tokyo war pundits. It is all or nothing for them, and every moment of delay in the Philippines or in the passages to the Java Sea is to the advantage of the Allies.

The effect of the American-Philippine stand on Batan Peninsula, of the fighting retreat to Singapore of the British in Malaya, of the Chinese offensive on many fronts against Japanese invaders is cumulative. Each makes its own demand upon Japanese army, naval, air and shipping resources.

There is an added deterrent factor for Japan in Russia's aloofness from the Pacific conflict. Russia's Asiatic frontiers are heavily manned. That pins heavy Japanese defensive forces in the north.

Japan gambled that under German hammering in the west, the Russians would not dare enter a two front war before Japanese major objectives in the South Pacific had been attained.

But Nazi hammering in Russia has ceased. Whenever and wherever the front stabilizes there, it will stabilize for months. That will be the moment when Tokyo must look northward with apprehension redoubled.

CHURCH BELLS HUSHED
WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—For the duration, church bells here will not sound a call to prayer nor toll a mournful requiem. At the request of the County Civilian Defense Council, the bells will ring out only as air-raid alarm signals.

DONALD M. HUGHES, son of Mrs. Cal Rose, enlisted in the U. S. Navy in 1939, at El Paso. He trained at San Diego and was graduated from the ordnance school. He is now in a petty officer's rating, and is in the anti-aircraft gun division. He attended school in Pampa. He has a sister, June Marie Amick, who lives with her mother here. In his last letter to his mother, Don wrote, "Tell everyone that I am fit as a fiddle and looking for a fight, so not to worry about me. I will write to you every chance I get, but I guess that chances will be few and far between, so please don't worry if you don't hear from me for 3 or 4 weeks at a time. . . . Keep your chin up." He was stationed at Pearl Harbor during the attack and is now in the Pacific war zone.

MANY PAMPANS WILL REMEMBER MELVIN MOON, above, who used to work at a drug store in South Pampa. Melvin was an industrious student in high school, and he worked at the store to pay his way through school. Melvin may look like a little boy here, but persevere that chin. He joined the U. S. Marines March 3, 1941, and you can bet that Melvin is living up to the new traditions the Marines set at Wake Island. He is the son of Mrs. Minnie Moon, 615 S. Barnes. She last heard from him Jan. 1, 1942. He was then stationed on the Pacific coast. He received his training at San Diego.

News Carriers Rank High In Stamp Sales

The Pampa News carrier boys rank close up to the top in sale of Defense Stamps by carrier boys of Texas newspapers, according to a publication of the U. S. Treasury Department for the period ending Jan. 3.

This is the latest official report, received here this week.

There are 22 Texas newspapers ranging from 11 at Mexia to 800 at Houston. Carrier boys of The Pampa News ranked in 13th place. This is a far better record than appears on the face, for naturally 28 boys cannot sell as many stamps as the hundreds employed as carriers on the metropolitan newspapers.

For the week ending Jan. 3, the report shows the carrier boys of this newspaper sold 11,500 Defense Stamps.

Over the nation, carrier boy sales of Defense Stamps are now a million dollars worth a week.

The 4,163 city carriers on 22 Texas newspapers sold $1,038,471 stamps for the period ending Jan. 3. To date, sales of Defense Stamps by carriers of this newspaper total $3,360.

Dale Butler retained the No. 1 position in Defense Stamp sales, with a total of $415,900 to date. Runner-up was Burl Graham, $372,500, while third place was occupied by Darrel Hogsett with $358,000.

WESTERNERS DOWN HARVESTERS ON SLICK FLOOR 18 TO 15

Dance Powder Causes Boys To Be Wary

On a court so slick with left-over dance floor powder that it almost made the game a burlesque, the Lubbock Westerners came from behind in the fourth quarter to shakedown the Harvester basketball team 18 to 15 last night.

Even the referee, Francis Smith, couldn't stand up. At the dance Friday night powder was sprinkled on the floor to make it slick. Yesterday, it was washed off but that helped only a little. It was still as slick as ice last night. Of course, what was fair for one team was fair for the other, but the game was played slow motion, and the boys hopped around gingerly as if they were walking among eggs.

It was the third straight conference loss of the Harvesters who are now one notch above the cellar with undefeated Amarillo at the top with six wins. Lubbock is second with three, Borger third with one, and Pampa fourth with one.

Long shots loomed from near center, mostly by Nabors, beat the Harvesters. Nabors, center, led the scoring with 10 points. Lubbock shot 37 times at the basket and made 4, and Pampa 36 times with 5 field goals. Most of Lubbock's shots were long ones, and most of Pampa's were crisp shots, or in the scoring zone. Halter took the only really long shot and made it.

Pampa's defense was air-tight and allowed no set-ups, but Lubbock grabbed the rebounds in the latter part of the third and during the fourth quarter.

Coach Oscar Hinger put Halter back at the guard position and started Bridges at forward and this combination worked satisfactorily. Bridges played all the game at forward. The loss almost eliminated the Harvesters from district competition. They will have to win all the other games to win the title, and Amarillo will have to lose to Lubbock.

The box score and the score by quarters tells the story more vividly than words would, so here are the summaries:

Johnny Dawson Shoots 66 To Lead Bing Crosby Open

By ROBERT MYERS

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif., Jan. 31 (AP)—Shattering par by six strokes with a sensational 66, Amateur Johnny Dawson, of Hollywood, won the powerful professional ranks in the shade today to lead the field at the halfway stage of the sixth annual $5,000 Bing Crosby 36-hole golf tournament.

Dapper Johnny, the so-called uncrowned king of the nation's amateurs, shot nine hole scores of 22-34 for the par 36-36 Rancho Santa Fe course, leaving the star foursome of Defending Champion Sam Snead, Crosby, Ben Hogan and Bob Hope to entertain the huge gallery with hilarious performances—and not such good golf.

Three-time winner Snead shot a 34 on the first side, and racked up five birdies on six holes, but his putter went haywire from the twelfth green on and he staggered in with a 43 for 77.

Hogan failed to land in the top bracket, too, being two over going out but rallying with a 33 on the trip in for a 71.

One stroke back of Dawson was Professional Leland Gibson of Kansas City, whose 67 was the lowest he's made in the four years he has travelled the winter tournament trail.

The field goes into tomorrow's final 18-hole with Dawson in front, Gibson next and three other pro's in the 68 bracket—Herman Kester of Akron, Ohio, and Ralph Guidali of Rancho Santa Fe, former National Open champion, and Joe Brown of Des Moines, who played their initial round with the first half of the field yesterday.

Tied at 69 were Charley Lacey of Los Angeles, Lawson Little, former open and amateur title holder; Ray Mangrum of Pittsburgh; Emory Zimmerman of Portland, Ore., and Sam Byrd of Ardmore, Pa.

Trailing this group were such leading contenders as Horton Smith, who fired a hole in one—his seventh—on the 205-yard 14 hole just as dusk closed in, Byron Nelson and several others in the 70 division.

Olin Dutra, Johnny Revolta and Hogan were tied at 71, while even par brigade included Jimmy Demaret, Ed Dudley, Harry Cooper, Paul Runyan, Jimmy Hines and Dutch Harrison, a former winner of the tournament.

Three Minor Leagues Will Not Operate Next Season

By JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 31. (AP)—Heading the vanguard of baseball notables coming here this weekend for the annual dinner of the New York baseball writers and various meetings, President William G. Braham of the National Association arrived today with a hopeful outlook for the country's minor leagues.

"Thus far we have been advised officially of only three leagues that do not intend to open the 1942 season but, of course, we all know there will be others that will have to fold their tents," he said.

"However, even if six or eight leagues are unable to continue it will not destroy the structure of organized baseball and we will be able to come back after the war as strong, or stronger, than ever."

He named the Florida State, Coastal Plain and Arizona-Texas circuits as the three which definitely are lost for this year.

"Judge" Braham said that from October 1940 to date, the minor leagues have given 405 players to the nation's military services and 147 others have been granted voluntary retirement, many of them presumably finding more profitable employment in defense industries.

He pointed out that some clubs in leagues that fold will be able to enter other circuits.

Some major league club officials also arrived today but most of the leaders of the diamond sport, including Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, were due tomorrow.

Landis will preside over a joint meeting of the major leagues Tuesday. The National and American leagues have separate meetings scheduled for Monday.

In addition he will be one of the speakers at the dinner tomorrow night when the baseball writers will award plaques to the outstanding player of the year to Mel Ott, manager of the Giants, for meritorious service to baseball over a long period of years; and to Sgt. Hank Greenberg, former star of the Detroit Tigers, for "extraordinary service to baseball" through his exemplary service in the army.

Hogan Challenges Wood

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif., Jan. 31. (AP)—Golf's mighty mite, Ben Hogan, challenged National Open Champion Craig Wood to play a series of matches today for the "world championship" with defense bonds as the stake—winner take all.

Pampa Beats Plainview's Team 52-19

The Harvesters found the Plainview Bulldogs as easy to beat as Amarillo did, and easily won a 52 to 19 victory Friday night here.

The Harvester height advantage was a deciding factor in the game, with Pat Flanigan, Harvester center, pouring in points in numerous crisp shots. The Harvesters attempted 63 field goals and made 23, the Bulldogs attempting 37 and making 6.

Texas League Managers Adopt New Lively Ball

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Texas league is going after those bulky balking averages that impress the ivory hunters of the majors and bring joy to fandom that likes to see more home runs and fewer lightning pitching battles.

Club owners and officials of the league, holding their annual schedule meeting here today, voted to adopt a livelier ball—one that adds 13 feet on a drive when given the 360-foot test.

This ball, especially manufactured by the concern that holds the league contract, compares with that in use in the Southern Association, officials said.

It was argued that the higher averages of the Southern Association, made possible by the livelier ball, brought better prices for players in the big leagues.

The livelier ball was adopted at the second session of the first day of the annual meeting after the initial conference had produced one brief flurry over the Shaughnessy play-off system.

This, however, ended with the advocates of the plan still in command although they had to be content with a tie vote on the question of naming the straightaway winner merely to decide a team to represent the league in the Dixie series.

Dallas was named as the 1941 pennant winner. The Rebels finished fourth but won out in the Shaughnessy play-off. This was one of the points stressed by Fred Ankenman, president of the Houston club and leading opponent of the Shaughnessy plan, when he made the motion concerning the straightaway winner being awarded the pennant.

ROLAND PHILLIPS, above, star tackle on the 1941 Pampa Harvester football team, has been selected to play in the Texas High School Coaches association all star game in Abilene the night of August 8. Phillips will play for the North against a team selected from the South. The association will meet in Abilene August 3 to 8. Phillips was co-captain and the sparkplug of the Harvester line and was given honorable mention for All State honors. He weighs 212 pounds and is exceptionally fast for his size.

Horton Smith Bags Ace In Crosby Open

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif., Jan. 31. (AP)—Straight hitting Horton Smith provided the late afternoon thrill of the Bing Crosby tournament today.

He scored a hole in one on the 205-yard fourteen hole, using a three iron.

The ace was the first registered in the six year old history of this tournament, and the seventh in the career of the youngish looking veteran from Pinehurst, N. C.

He shot a 70, two under par, on the round.

The club owners and officials all agreed that twilight ball should be tried because of daylight savings, and most of them plan to start their games at 8:15 p. m. (Daylight savings time) so they can play part of them in twilight and finish under the lights.

DAILY

WAR BOND $55 BILLION

In the first place America needs sums of money to fight the war. Most of this will come from the sale of Defense Bonds to the public. Taxes are more and require thrift to be met in an orderly, sensible manner. Personal thrift is important to ward off inflation. Thrift is desirable because it is the opposite of spending, which would compete with our defense effort. It is a means of providing for emergencies that may arise during the war, and for the period of adjustment after peace comes. We welcome the accounts of earnest savers.

How To Make Old Salary Stretch Studied By Texas Salaried Men

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

Government experts laboring to ward a cheap method of making synthetic rubber are no busier than Texas salaried men trying to make the old pay check sufficiently elastic to stretch over pay bonds, taxes, increased living costs, and still not bounce.

They are finding ways to do it. Typical was R. F. Hyde of Waco, who put it into few words:

"Walk more and eat less."

In Dallas three mothers in one block had each been in the habit of taking her child to school 10 blocks distant—and then bringing the youngster home in the afternoon.

Their first step toward economy came with the ban on new tires. Now they pool the kids and make one automobile do what three were doing. Each mother takes over the transportation for a week at a time, in rotation.

They are seriously considering making the youngsters walk it. Grandmother did it that way, and not on sidewalks. She probably trudged through the snow in weather that anyone but the man from Amarillo would call a blizzard.

One is a typical West Texas town and what the folks out there are doing is likewise typical of the state.

In one week a dealer sold bicycles to the wives of a merchant, a banker, and a stenographer. The women are going to Red Cross meetings and bridge parties as usual, but you won't see many big cars parked out in front. Nothing but a row of bikes.

A young matron there kept right on taking her baby to the store to take advantage of grocery specials, but she bought a bike and basket big enough to hold babe and bargains.

Grocerymen are forewarning housewives of changes to come.

A Dallas merchant said he doubted if he would be able to buy any more beans of the "pork and" variety after jobbers present stocks are exhausted.

He explained that shortage of tin would probably mean a ban on canning of foods such as beans and peas, which keep just as well dried.

Most small town and country folks know how to raise gardens. They're the ones the government is concentrating on with good effect, and there is no law or rule of common sense that would prohibit the country-bred city man from planting a few rows of Kentucky Wonder beans, if he has the space, the time, and brains enough not to run up the water bill to keep them wet.

If you don't think folks are leaving their cars in the garage, heed the testimony of one man who has been having that early morning bus—the 6 a. m. kind—practically to himself for years.

The day after the rationing went into effect, he stood up all the way to town.

On the other hand, everyone seems eager to find some way he can help. A lot of it may be wasted effort, but as a matter of principle it is a good thing for everyone to have some part in the war. That well-known Texas politician who helped finance a campaign by passing the little barrels among his listeners had the idea that obviously produced results, although for a lesser cause.

Many married salaried men with children are paying income taxes this year for the first time. This writer knows many citizens in that class and has yet to hear one complain. Most of them in addition to their taxes are plugging away at buying Defense Stamps and realizing that next year will probably require a much greater financial participation.

Texasans are going about the business of economizing seriously as well as good naturedly.

Men who hadn't packed their lunch since the sixth grade are eating home-made sandwiches at their desks. A North Texas notions drug store reported that since Dec. 7 it had completely sold out of these little lunch boxes that include a half-pint vacuum jug to keep soup or coffee hot or milk cold.

It's cheaper—and with all due respect to cafe cooks—probably better eating. Just like home-baked beans.

Mrs. John Lang of Jacksonville read in the Daily Progress about a shortage of wrapping paper.

No government agency told her to, but she dug out an old mesh shopping bag she hadn't used for years, and the next time she went to the store, asked the clerk to save his sack and put the groceries in the carrier she had provided.

H. B. Fox, the city editor of the Madisonville Meteor, urged his readers to heed the government's request to kill non-working hens from their flocks. Then he advised: "Laying hens are not worth much in winning the war. Swap yours for the Meteor, get better layers, and watch the difference."

That way, there will be more eggs for soldiers, and more stewed chickens for Editor Fox.

The six-year-old daughter of a householder was watching him build a fire in the fireplace. To ignite the kindling, he started to use a double sheet of newspaper, but daughter—who sees all and hears all—wouldn't let him get away with such gross extravagance.

"Daddy," she asked, "The Boy Scouts can't use that paper you're burning up, can they?"

His answer was to rebuild the fire, change the kindling, and not use any paper at all.

A very little thing, but typical of the new attitude.

Farm experts are not urging city dwellers to plow up their lawns and plant vegetables by the Victory Garden campaign in the country, it is getting results.

The city man who doesn't know rutabaga from rhubarb, they say, should not waste seed, time, and effort by trying clumsily to raise his own food. If you don't think it takes an expert to raise truck, try it sometime. It also takes work.

But most small town and country folks know how to raise gardens. They're the ones the government is concentrating on with good effect, and there is no law or rule of common sense that would prohibit the country-bred city man from planting a few rows of Kentucky Wonder beans, if he has the space, the time, and brains enough not to run up the water bill to keep them wet.

If you don't think folks are leaving their cars in the garage, heed the testimony of one man who has been having that early morning bus—the 6 a. m. kind—practically to himself for years.

The day after the rationing went into effect, he stood up all the way to town.

VALUABLE WATER

Each cubic mile of ocean water, according to estimates, contains $5,000,000,000 worth of aluminum, calcium, chlorine, bromine, copper, gold, iodine, iron, magnesium, potassium, radium, silver, strontium, and sulphur.

MacArthur's Forces Take Jap Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—General MacArthur reported today that in addition to holding off the Japanese, his forces have been taking some prisoners.

After a 48-hour lull, during which the enemy made ready for another large-scale assault, there has been "sporadic fighting," he advised the war department.

Determined efforts to infiltrate the Batan peninsula defense line were rebuffed, and in the course of these actions the prisoners were taken. As for a number of days past, there was virtually no enemy activity in the air, he said.

It was MacArthur's first report of prisoners captured, and some thought the effect might be to restrain the Japanese from such brutal treatment of American prisoners as the general complained of a week ago.

MacArthur said that on Jan. 12, the body of a Filipino scout, Fernando Tan, had been found face down in a stream. His hands had been bound behind his back and he had been bayoneted several times, and he had obviously been "thrown into the stream to die."

In reporting the mistreatment of Private Tan, the department said: "However foully the enemy may act, the general states that he will abide by decent concepts of humanity and civilization."

Pyles and Kinard Win Clay Contest

Jimmie Pyles and Jean Kinard were winners of the clay modeling contest held this month at the Craft Shop. Awards were presented by the Pampa Recreation Council.

Jimmie, age 17, modeled the head of a yellow hound that possessed a great deal of expression, for which he was awarded a pocket knife. Jean, a little girl 7 years old, who goes to Horace Mann school, fashioned a Mexican sombrero which won her a sewing kit.

For February, wood carving is the main feature at the Craft Shop where one may have access to the use of wood carving tools.

Proposed Tax Would Tap You 15 Per Cent

If you wonder what the orators mean when they talk about the war sacrifices the people at home must make, here is a sample of what Washington was discussing Friday.

A 15 per cent federal pay roll tax on all salaries above $1,000 annually was under consideration in administration circles wrestling with the problem of how to meet the war bill.

Under the proposed plan, the tax would be deducted weekly from the employee's pay envelope even before he got it. Thus, a man now receiving $50 weekly would get only $42.50, not counting other deductions.

The $7.50 weekly tax represents a lot of groceries—well, maybe not so much any more—or a fine pair of shoes, or the weekly payment on an infinite number of installment-purchased commodities.

Or, considered on an annual basis, that's a tax of $390 on a $2,500 salary. And no exemptions. A man could make the down payment on a house with that. But, consider:

Months ago you read with joy the government would build 500 four-motored bombers a month to beat the Axis. A four-motored bomber costs $250,000. It would take 640 men making $50 a week and giving 15 per cent to the government one year to pay for a single bomber. Cheer now, patriot.

Some fight and some pay. The man who yields $7.50 out of his $50 every week to help pay for a bomber probably won't have to ride in it through a cloudburst of ack-ack. Meantime, he can behold the following sample amounts which would disappear from his pay envelope every week under the proposed tax:

Weekly Salary	Deduction	Weekly Net
$20	$3.00	$17.00
25	3.75	21.25
30	4.50	25.50
35	5.25	29.75
40	6.00	34.00
45	6.75	38.25
50	7.50	42.50
55	8.25	46.75
60	9.00	51.00

Remember however, this tax has not been levied. It is but in the conversational stage for the second time in the present emergency. One of its frequently discussed alternatives is a retail sales tax, which also would hit the citizen on the financial button.

"But It Was All Routine"

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 31 (AP)—"But it was all routine," concluded the pilot of a four-motored British Liberator bomber in reporting the riddling of two Nazi bombers in a dogfight and the strafing of a German submarine and warship during a 15-hour coastal patrol flight.

The crew's report to British intelligence officers was released today by Consolidated Aircraft Corp., manufacturer of the Liberator.

High over the Bay of Biscay, the bomber's gunner spotted a German Heinkel seaplane streaking for shore near the surface of the sea. The pilot threw the Liberator into a steep dive.

"We brought all our guns to blazing in turn and shot him up thoroughly," the pilot reported. "One gunner blasted pieces off the Heinkel's fuselage and his next burst set fire to one of its engines.

"The Heinkel never fired a shot and disappeared into a rain cloud. "Then the rear gunner hollered again, 'big ship below!'"

"I banked to have a look and there was a pretty sight—not only a German warship, but beside her was a Nazi submarine fully surfaced."

Plunging down, the bomber raked the submarine with its machine-guns and cannon and dropped a stick of bombs close beside it. The sub dived, leaving a patch of brown oil on the surface.

"Then I decided to attack the warship," said the pilot. "We blasted her with everything we had and got so low we could see our shells and bullets chipping fragments from her decks."

"Then the second Heinkel came at us and disappeared into a rain cloud. "Then the rear gunner hollered again, 'big ship below!'"

Students May Finish School In U. S. Navy

High school and college students between the ages of 17 and 20, may now enlist in the naval service and finish the current term of school unless military situation necessitates the navy department calling them to active duty, recruiting officers at Amarillo announced today.

Navy recruiting is expected to continue on a strictly volunteer basis and many students may volunteer immediately under this order without fear of losing scholastic credits for the current year by enlisting in Class V-1 of the navy reserve, navy recruiting officials said.

Enlistment for immediate active service are also being accepted in the regular navy and other classes of the naval reserve. Age limits are from 17 to 35 for unskilled men, and to 50 for skilled men. The navy is now operating 12 trade schools in which thousands of recruits are being trained to become highly skilled mechanics.

Thut And Darnell File Annual Reports

Reports of J. A. Darnell, Alameda, constable of precinct 4, and of Charlie Thut, Pampa, county clerk, are the latest annual reports of county officers for 1941 filed in the office of the district clerk.

The constable's report shows no fees earned and collected and lists total expense as $130.25 of which $120 was credited to officer's salary, $10 as premium on surety bond, and 25 cents for stationery.

Fees earned and collected by the county clerk during the past year totaled $3,215.36, of which $4,213.85 was from recording, $1,471.25 from chattel mortgages, and $536.86 from certified and uncertified copies of instruments and recording.

Total expense of the office was $9,053.76, of which $3,922 was for deputies salaries, $3,750 officer's salary, and $1,021.43 for stationery and office supplies.

Just Between Us Girls

BY JOHNNIE DAVIS

FEBRUARY

Gray of a dark and troubled sky, White of a path where snowdrifts lie, Calm in the winter's cauldron brewed, Peace of a leafless solitude...

February, with its many patriotic dates, is one of the busiest months of the year. With the arrival of a new month nothing gives you the feeling that spring must be on its way as much as the purchase of a pair of gleaming patent leather pumps...

Mary Margaret Gribbon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Gribbon, 1206 Mary Ellen street, together with five other students of Saint Mary college, Leavenworth, Kansas, adopted "Funnery in a Nunnery" for stage presentation under that title...

Every member of American Association of University Women should be proud of their attractive president, Mrs. W. E. Sheldon. At the annual Founders' Day banquet of the A. U. W. last week, Mrs. Sheldon wore a dusty pink moire evening gown with several strands of pearls, off-setting her pretty grey hair...

We see by the papers where the Duchess of Windsor has written a cook-book and Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt will write a foreword for it. Seeing a picture of Whistler's Mother wearing slacks and smoking a cigar wouldn't surprise us any more, a male columnist remarked.

So happy over the return of her husband is Mrs. N. Dudley Steele that she feels as if she were having a second honeymoon. Mr. Steele returns more than a week ago from Massachusetts, where he has spent the past three months in the Boston office of a local carbon company...

Those interested in helping local Girl Scouts in their Junior Red Cross program should collect all of their extra coat hangers and call Mrs. Jack Goldston at telephone number 9034-F-11 or Mrs. Jim Nation at 2371. Money, which the Scouts receive from the sale of the hangers, will be used to buy defense stamps and yarn for knitting Red Cross afghans...

The most confused woman in town is Mrs. William S. Dixon. While attending an executive board meeting of Junior High School Parent-Teacher association, one board member, thinking that Mrs. Dixon was Mrs. Tom Perkins, asked about Mrs. Perkins' sister, Mrs. S. A. Hurst, who has a broken leg...

A group to be commended is the Twentieth Century club. To date, members of this club have purchased $9,603.50 in bonds and defense stamps. Also this club has pledged to buy $189.25 worth of bonds and stamps per month.

There's always something to be thankful for. If you're along in years, you probably won't be around when today's history begins repeating itself. An unknown Englishman once wrote: "Life for a man is getting and forgetting; for a woman, giving and forgiving."

In between Red Cross nutrition classes last week, members of Upsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority and their guests celebrated the sixth birthday of the local organization with its first covered dish dinner, which proved to be so successful that others are being discussed.

Ten Years from 1942: Every parent with a child in kindergarten or primary grade should consider Defense Savings selfishly—as well as patriotically. For every Series E Defense Savings Bond bought this year will mature in ten years—with interest—just when Junior or Sally is ready to go to college...

Even youngsters are aware that the time has arrived for everyone to be conservative. Four-year-old Carl Blonkvis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brent Blonkvis, Jr., who live eight miles out of town, asked, "But what about the tires, Mother?" when she was planning to make a drive in her car.

Revolution: The war will bring about a change in women's dress as did the last one which saw the short skirt and bobbed hair. Go back in history, suggests Schiaparelli, French designer now in the U. S., and you'll find the battle dress of Greeks and Roman Amazons—short tunics and sandals with one half of the bosom free to lift a bow and shoot an arrow...

Coffee-Book Review Among Social Events

Episcopal Women To Have Benefit Social Affair

To help our army and navy chaplains better to serve the men of any, or no, religious belief, who are stationed at Pearl Harbor, in the Philippines, and at points all around the world, the women of St. Matthew's Episcopal church have been called upon to assist in the raising of a supplement fund. To accomplish this purpose they are presenting the Rev. and Mrs. Edgar W. Henshaw in "A Morning in Hawaii," at the Country club, at 9:30 o'clock on the morning of Feb. 6. Mid-morning coffee will be served.

Guest Day Will Be Observed By Honorary Society

Delta Kappa Gamma National Honorary society is sponsoring a review of Marguerite Steen's "The Sun Is My Undoing," by Miss Mildred Matteson of LeFors, next Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the city club rooms when guest day will be observed. "The Sun Is My Undoing," a best seller, is the story on a heroic scale, a chronicle that lifts the reader out of his own world and sweeps him on breathlessly for nearly 1,200 pages crowded with adventure. It has all the action of "Anthony Adverse" and all the thrills of "Gone With the Wind" as it relates the story of one undying love and a dozen interwoven tales of ambition and intrigue, of daring and of adventure. Critics have showered it with adjectives like "magnificent" (New York Times), "tremendous" (New York Sun), "The Buffalo Evening News says, "A hero to rival Anthony Adverse and Rhett Butler."

Episcopal Women To Have Benefit Social Affair

The Rev. and Mrs. Henshaw have been in great demand throughout all of this section of Texas to tell of the islands and their people. Amarillo, Dalhart, Borger, Memphis, Shamrock, Wellington, Miami, and other points as well as many organizations in Pampa have called upon them. During their life in the islands, Mr. and Mrs. Henshaw were in close touch with both the army and navy, assisting chaplains in both secular and religious work. At Pearl Harbor, Schofield Barracks, and every other fort, they have spoken and sung for the men of the army and navy. During the visit of the United States fleet to Hawaiian waters, Mrs. Henshaw sang for the men on many of the battleships including the Arizona, the Idaho, the Maryland, and the hospital ships. For her services, she was made a member of the Order of the White Lily, an honorary naval organization.

Guest Day Will Be Observed By Honorary Society

It's time is the great day of sailing ships, and it begins in Bristol where young Matthew Flood, driven from the arms of his bride-to-be to the afterdeck of an African slaver, embarks on a journey that is to cover half the globe and tangle the destinies of generations unborn. The ports this story touches are the reeking coast of Africa, fair Barbados, gay and scheming Cuba, the Barbary haunts of pirates, the palaces of Seville and Madrid, returning at last to the stately homes of England.

Next Friday morning Mr. Henshaw will speak on many phases of life in Hawaii which he has not mentioned in any of his previous addresses. Mrs. Henshaw will sing of the islands in both English and Hawaiian. Erupting volcanoes, giant ferns, barking sands, tunnels formed by no human hands, sugar, pineapple and coffee plantations, cities of refuge, which correspond to those in the Bible, will be described. Native customs of the early days of Hawaii will be described, and the changes wrought by the many peoples of all races who have gone to Hawaii will form part of the morning's entertainment. At the close of his address Mr. Henshaw will think you're a marvel and it saves the trouble of keeping glasses separated.

Mexia Bank Robbery Suspect Released

MEXIA, Jan. 31 (AP)—Employees of the Prendergrast-Smith National Bank, which was robbed of $20,000 Wednesday, today failed to identify a suspect as one of the robbers and he was released from custody.

The man, against whom a charge of robbery with firearms was filed before employees confronted him for identification, was arrested last night by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in San Antonio.

WALTER PIDGEON has his most exciting role as the village pastor in the Darryl F. Zanuck production, "How Green Was My Valley," the 20th Century-Fox film adaptation of the Richard Llewellyn novel, which opens today at the LaNora theater.

FRENCH CANAL The Canal du Midi of France dates from 1681. It runs a 200-mile route between the Atlantic and the Mediterranean, from Bordeaux to the Narbonne region.

GREAT LLEWELLYN NOVEL BROUGHT TO LOCAL SCREEN

Walter Pidgeon, Maureen O'Hara, Donald Crisp, and Roddy McDowall Principals In 20th-Fox's Adaptation Of Powerful And Inspiring "How Green Was My Valley"

A magnificent production which will be included in the album of the outstanding films of all time is 20th-Fox's adaptation of Richard Llewellyn's novel of the same name, "How Green Was My Valley," opening a four-day run today at the LaNora.

The story, related by the youngest of the six Morgan sons, is a tale of how the fortunes of the mine directly affected the lives of the people in the town.

Walter Pidgeon, Maureen O'Hara, Donald Crisp, and Roddy McDowall are the principals. Emphasis On Spiritual The Film Daily declares that John Ford's directorial genius was never more strikingly exemplified than in this picture, and that the production by Darryl F. Zanuck is a brilliant achievement.

Welsh Natural Musicians Robbin Coons, Associated Press writer, wrote the following when the picture was being made: HOLLYWOOD—The rolling hills around Calabasas echo sweet music these summer days, the sweet songs of Wales that will be most of the musical score of "How Green Was My Valley."

Director John Ford, who speaks Gaelic but not Welsh, is all for letting the singers carry the musical background. "I suppose they'll ring in a symphony orchestra or two on me when I'm not looking," he admitted, "but if I have my way I'll keep the instruments to a minimum."

Richard Day, the art director, has re-created the village life-size—the eight scrubbed-stone houses beside the steep road climbing to the colliery with its noise and smoke and grime; the village's heart, with its directional signs bearing strange names in Welsh, and the tavern of the Three Bells; the stores and shops, and the church under the oak on the knoll, with its mossy gravestones bearing good Welsh names and ancient dates.

Hickok and Custer Showing today and tomorrow at the Rex is "Universal's western, "Badlands of Dakota." Background is Deadwood City in 1876 with Robert Stack as the marshal with the task of bringing to justice his brother (Rod Crawford) who goes berserk after Stack marries the girl (Ann Rutherford) who has been promised to Brod Crawford.

Miss Smith, a striking, slim and tall young blonde, was telling me about it on the set of "Bridges Are Built at Night," her first movie since "Dive Bomber" got her studio excited about this newcomer.

It's rather surprising, after the picture, to see that Alexis in real life is too happy and excited to think of being sophisticated. She's poised, but exuberantly glad about her good fortune. She was 20 last June, has been under contract to Warner's less than a year.

She's the daughter of the Alexander Smiths, who came to Los Angeles from Vancouver when Alexis was five. Mr. Smith is a sales manager. According to reports from inside the family, Mr. Smith is constantly telling Alexis to keep her feet on the ground—while Mr. Smith himself gets dithery with parental pride over Alexis's progress.

Mrs. Smith, however, holds a whip hand over Alexis—again according to inside reports, via Alexis. "Mother," said Alexis, "usually gives me the choice of practicing the piano or doing the dishes. I hate dishes, so I practice. I've taken lessons for eight years, and scientifically I get ambitious musically, but when I hear myself play I'm discouraged."

Louis Jean Heydt was dying again. It was a scene in "Dive Bomber," and Louis Jean, the movie symbol of down-trodden unfortunate man facing disaster, was to go on the operating table, there to expire under Dr. Errol Flynn's ministrations.

Louis Jean Heydt didn't mind. He had a reasonable explanation for his typing: "This business is so vast, there are so many people in it, they just don't have time to look around for new types to do a particular job. For every job, they know a dozen actors who can do it, it would take time to uncover somebody new."

Old Time Serials Pampan's of the older generation who recall the clutching hand, the bloodhounds, and the heroine left to a fate worse than death, will read with considerable amusement that these theatrical highlights of three decades ago have been incorporated into the latest series of programs of the Museum of Modern Art at New York.

The series, started last week, was "The Serial Film," and Pearl White, famous heroine of "The Exploits of Elaine," great movie serial of 1915, shared the film program with Buster Crabbe as Buck Rogers, and "The Adventures of Buck Ryder," based on the comic strip which appears daily in The Pampa News.

Navy Plans To Turn Out 30,000 Pilots WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The navy department announced plans tonight to turn out 30,000 pilots a year in what it called "the greatest aviation training program in naval history."

Facilities of four large universities will be leased, each university to become an "Annapolis of the Air." The names of the four universities were not announced. One is located in the east, one in the west, another in the south and the fourth in the midwest.

The announcement said that the new expanded naval aviation training program will be in operation "by May 1 or sooner, and applications for training already are being accepted."

HE'S IN THE 'PANZER' division—Jimmy Durante, right, thinks he looks pretty slick in his new army uniform but Joe Sawyer, his sergeant, isn't convinced.

Durante is always the scrape-goat with a hard-boiled sergeant making life miserable for him. Most of the laughs come when Durante and Silvers, in effort to aid romance of Jane Wyman and Regis Toomey, attempt in their own imitable manner to convince Colonel Dobson, Donald McBride, that the tank is a necessary adjunct of the cavalry.

Chinese Pursuing Fleeing Japanese

CHUNGKING, Jan. 31 (AP)—Japanese troops are in full retreat toward Canton tonight after being defeated in a five-day battle with Chinese forces east of the city, an official Chinese communique said.

The Chinese army is in close pursuit of the retreating Japanese, the official announcement added.

The Japanese were declared to have been put to disordered flight after suffering a smashing defeat in the Waichow area, east of Canton.

Canton, south China's greatest metropolis, is some 60 miles north of the Japanese-occupied British Crown colony of Hongkong and has been in Japanese hands since 1941.

Waichow itself is an important port on the East river and could be of vast advantage to the Chinese in their drive to liberate Canton and possibly Hongkong itself.

I PLEDGE myself to do a little thinking every day about the need of discipline and how, in a time of national danger more than ever, my own rights as a citizen are tangled and interwoven with the rights of others and these rights always deserve a decent respect.

Strange Medicine

One sometimes wonders what medicine is used to get rural communities that already have electric service, to vote to put themselves in debt to establish a rural electrification cooperative line.

A typical example has just occurred in Oregon. There are only 439 meters involved, scattered over a sparsely settled area covering widely separated towns. In addition to the taxes under which such an area already staggers, it would now burden itself with a $182,500 obligation to buy the private lines over which it is already receiving service. On top of this, it would destroy a private tax-paying power unit.

Now it develops that the rates to be charged by this Rural Electrification Administration power district are higher than those charged by the private utility service which would be destroyed. This has caused the public service commissioner of Oregon to delay transfer of the properties to the public power district, as after a study of customers' meters, he finds that approximately 51 per cent of the present customers would be subject to possible increases in charges. He therefore requires that existing customers not be adversely affected by the change.

Wholly aside from the unsound policy of destroying private enterprise in this country, what possible compensating benefit can a community hope for when it votes out taxable assets, loads itself with public debt, increases its tax burdens, gets no measurable reduction in rates, and actually faces rate increases? What hypnotic power is there in the socialistic song that is sung to citizens, that causes them to vote to destroy their bright light of a free enterprise system?

This should be the last country on earth to promote such a program.

Public Waste Must Stop

The most telling criticism of the newly proposed federal budget deals with projected expenditures for non-war activities. The budget calls for a cut of about $1,000,000,000 a year in this direction. Many economists and high government officials are convinced that a reduction of at least double this amount can be made.

The taxpayers are being called upon to accept a financial burden unparalleled in our history. Last year's record-breaking income tax bill is supposed to produce an increase in tax revenue of some $3,500,000,000 a year. This year, plans call for another bill to produce around $9,000,000,000 additional. Every possible source of revenue will be tapped to the limit. With such a staggering sum to be raised for the nation's protection and survival, every conscientious citizen should protest the spending of a solitary tax nickel for any non-defense purpose which can be eliminated or deferred.

We are still spending hundreds of millions each year for "relief" at a time when the national income, because of the war boom, is at record levels, and an acute labor shortage is imminent. We are spending more millions for a long list of "social" projects which divert money and energies from the grim job of winning the greatest war history has known. Throughout the country waste of public funds continues.

Congress must learn that the era of "spending as usual" must come to an end.

JOE TESTIFIES A Patriotic Example—

(Dispatch, Columbus, O.) News pictures showing Joe Louis in full military attire signalize the changed status of the world's heavyweight champion from pugilist to private in Uncle Sam's army. Joe is no candidate for the intelligentsia but it strikes us that three or four of his recent statements add up to as clear a testimony for the American way of life and the proper patriotic attitude toward its preservation as any voiced by persons who have had greater educational opportunities.

Some months ago when he was asked what he wanted to do in the army he said: "I ain't choosin'." When, prior to his recent fight with Buddy Baer—in which he gave 100 per cent of his profits to the naval relief fund—he was asked if he regretted fighting for nothing he replied succinctly that he wasn't fighting for nothing but for the American navy. Later, queried again as to what he intended to do in the army he said, "I just want to fight honest so the next colored boy can get the same kind of a break I got" and finally, urged to "celebrate" his last evening as a civilian, he opined that "the time to celebrate is after the war." SNEAK TECHNIQUE Red's Use of Word "Democracy" (Los Angeles Examiner) The word "democracy" is now being used by

COMMON GROUND By R. C. BOILES

"I speak the past—would primaverl. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which I cannot have their counterpart on the same terms."—WALL WHITMAN.

UNCONSCIONABLE PROFITS

We hear much nowadays from people without experience in lowering the cost of living or raising real wages about "unconscionable profits". If they were asked to define what they meant by unconscionable profits, they could not explain. They just know that the profits are more than they are making and so they must be unconscionable. No one can tell what an unfair or unconscionable profit is unless he can first tell what a fair or unconscionable loss is. And no one can do that.

Big profits come with big risks successfully carried out. And when people are not permitted to make big profits, they will not take big risks. They will not be venturesome. The result will be less production and a lower standard of living. Profits do not come out of a lowered standard of living, as most people believe. They come out of increased production; that is, provided they are made on a competitive basis.

Our shortages in metal, sugar, tires and most things, are largely due to the belief by most people that big profits are harmful to the workers; that the profits reduce wages. Had we permitted profits, prices would have risen on metals and on the things that people would need. This would have encouraged production in these lines.

But, instead of that, the administration fixed prices so that there could not be any extra profits. The result is that we do not have the goods we so badly need. The result further will be that more and more things will have to be regimented; more and more people will have to do without and be told what they have to work at and what they dare buy and consume. More and more, we will approach a country exactly like Germany.

All Service Equally Rewarded It is hard to conceive why the man who protects our lives and our liberties should not be rewarded in proportion to the service he renders, just the same as the man who furnishes us luxuries and entertainment should be rewarded in proportion to the reward that people are freely willing to pay for his service.

This belief that there is such a thing as unconscionable profits will lengthen the war and cause an untold number of unnecessary deaths.

Nelson's Impossible Job It will be impossible for Donald Nelson in charge of war production to get results when the government, by its laws and rulings, tells those who take risks that their losses belong to the government. If a man is obliged to run a 50 per cent risk of losing his property, he must have a net 50 per cent chance of gain after all taxes are paid or he will not undertake the enterprise. If he has a 90 per cent chance of losing, he must have a chance for 90 per cent profit, in order to mathematically make it possible for him to stay in business. That is if he loses nine times out of ten he must win nine fold the time he wins to even stay in business. Most people do not realize the very great risks in business. They forget that better than 90 per cent of business men fail. They fail for lack of profits.

If Nelson is to succeed, he will be working miracles, unless the government changes its attitude on profits and decides to let the man who takes a nine to one chance of losing have a chance of a profit of 900 per cent.

subversive minorities in the United States to motivate movements that have for their purpose the complete destruction of democracy as we Americans conceive it. This democratic conception of ours means personal, political and industrial freedom.

Our American conception of democracy—for which we are now fighting—is incarnated in the Bill of Rights, which guarantees property rights, personal rights, religious rights and, therefore, private enterprise, which is the practical application of our personal and civil rights.

It is these rights which certain Marxian-propaganda minorities in this country, masking their designs under the word "democracy," now seek to destroy.

The latest instance of the operation of this sneak technique, while we are at war with the sworn enemies of our way of life and form of government, is the formation of the "School of Democracy" in New York City.

Prominent in the "faculty" of this "school for democracy" are all the teachers at the New York City College who were dismissed, dropped or suspended as a result of the Rapp-Coudert committee investigating Communist activities in the city.

Here is the "democratic" background of some of these "faculty" members who will "school" Americans in "democracy":

Seymour A. Copstein, tutor in English at City College and former teacher of "Principles of Communism" at the Communist Workers' School, who was dismissed from the City College on charges that included the indoctrination of students.

Morris U. Schappes, another tutor in English, who after having been suspended for Communist proselytizing was sentenced to 18 months to two years in jail for perjury. A conviction he is appealing.

Louis Lerman, dismissed clerk. Other dismissed teachers on the "faculty" are Saul Bernstein, Philip S. Foner and Walter Scott Neff. Teachers who failed to be reappointed who are on the new "faculty" include Lewis Belamuth, David Goldway and Max Yergan. Suspended teachers who will give courses include Morris U. Cohen, Sidney Eisenberger, Jack Foner, Maxwell Weisman and Max L. Hutt.

This is certainly NOT a "School for Democracy." This misuse of the word "democracy" today is founded on an aphorism of the patron saint of "American" Communism, Earl Browder, who is now in jail for falsification of a passport. This aphorism is:

"Communism is the democracy of the twentieth century."

Nothing is more stupid or erroneous. Communism is simply Communism in any century and real democracy of the American brand is democracy in any century.

There is only one "School of Democracy" in these United States. That is the study of American history for 160 years and the continued application of the doctrines of the founding fathers.

The use of the word "democracy" as a mask for Communist teachings is sanctioned by both Lenin and the Moscow Comintern, who have told their followers in the United States, in effect, that any means justifies the end.

That end is the destruction of our free democracy.

Today, as never before, the American people must be on their guard against the use of what Theodore Roosevelt called "weasel words."

One of these "weasel" words is "democracy" when used by those who are Reds.

To them "democracy" is window-dressing for Communism Stalin style.

WHERE THE JAPS MOVE IN

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31.—It's autumn of 1917 on the set of "Yankee Doodle Dandy"; the scene is Camp Merritt, Long Island; the occasion is the introduction of George M. Cohan's great war song, "Over There."

On the night it really happened, while Nora Bayes was singing, a power plant failure produced a blackout which was broken dramatically by the use of spotlights from a circle of army trucks. That detail is being enacted now, except Frances Langford is the uniformed singer and Jimmy Cagney is the song-and-dance man who goes on the platform and helps lead the soldier audience in a couple of choruses.

Nobody's obliged to do any real singing during this action because voices, band and bugles are roaring from a pre-recorded sound track. But everyone does sing, and the climax of it is stirring enough to make the hair rise on the back of your neck.

FRANCES RELAXES

As she leaves the set after the shot, Miss Langford pauses to give autographs to a few doughty extras. She's a radio personality and she's often seen at the movie studios. "This is a relief," she says, sitting down and stretching out her feet in their high-laced, pointed shoes. "It's a relief, I mean, to be singing something besides ballads for a change."

"It's exciting, isn't it? No, I never sang 'Over There' before, but I remember it. I remember it from the theater in Lakeland, Fla. My mother played the piano there, and every time a war scene came on the screen she'd go into this tune."

Most exciting to Miss Langford is her entertainment work at army camps. There's no audience so appreciative as a bunch of soldiers, she says, unless it's a bunch of sailors. The latter applaud her with shouts of letters and she answers every one.

The fan mail problem is getting awfully expensive, the singer admitted nervously, especially with all the requests for photographs. She pays for everything, including an office and secretaries to keep the mail moving. Most of her letters go to the fleet, and as she sings she likes to remember that her voice is going out to darkened ships in the velvet blackness of the Atlantic, and to ships boiling through sunny Oriental seas.

FREAKS DEMANDED

Hollywood may be freakish in some ways, but when Alfred Hitchcock tried to round up a side-show company for a sequence in "Saboteur" he had to do a Barnum-like job of faked. Midget Billy Curtis, a full-fledged actor from dozens of movies, was available, and Petro de Cordoba doubles as a satisfactory thin man. For a bearded lady, though, whiskers had to be spirit-gummed on the face of a character actress. And for Siamese twins, Hitchcock hired twin dancers, Jeanne and Lynn Romer, who achieve unity by wriggling into costumes that have been sewed together.

It's significant that in all this region of feminine emancipation, there wasn't a suitable fat woman. Hitchcock, who's the fattest man in Hollywood, had to import Marie Le Deaux from a carnival in Arizona. Marie weighs only 350 pounds, but she's also a mere five feet in height. She weighed 85 pounds at the age of two. But Marie admits that she never will be as fat as was her mother—500-pound Baby Alice. Miss Le Deaux' father was a lanky boss canvasser.

She likes movies, all right, but isn't envious of the screen queens. Wouldn't trade places with any of 'em if it meant going on a diet.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

A comedian the other night was explaining over the radio how to play "Corregidor poké." It takes two Japs or better to open," he said.

The man of the hour at McLean now is Ray Humphreys, sailor aboard an American warship when the Japs struck Pearl Harbor. Young Humphreys made an interesting talk before the Lions club on the subject.

Here's a good one on Dudley Steele, who was in Boston with the Cabot company for about three months before he returned to Pampa recently. At Christmas he decided to buy his six-month-old daughter, Marilyn, a defense bond, and so he sent a check to Marilyn's mother, Kathryn Vincent Steele, and signed it "Daddy." Not only that but he made the check payable for $25. A $25 defense bond cost $18.75, but Dudley explained that the difference was just an extra gift.

Kent McDonald has just returned from Gardiner Field, Taft, Calif., and he reported seeing the Strokes Green, former Harvard athlete star, and graduate of Rice Institute, out there. Stokes recently finished his primary pilot's training at Ryan Field, Hemet, Calif., and is now taking his basic training at Taft. Kent said that Stokes, who is six feet and three inches tall, looked as if he could whip the entire Jap air force, and that he was making top progress.

Also at the Taft Field is a young instructor, Herbert (Bill) Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis.

Your Federal Income Tax

WHAT IS A "FAMILY"?

"In one household" is a phrase which confronts many taxpayers when they make out their income tax returns. What do the regulations mean when they classify as the head of a family one who actually supports and maintains "in one household" a certain number of dependents for which he is allowed a personal exemption of $1,500 as the head of a family?

It is not always necessary that a taxpayer and his dependents live under one roof the entire year in order that he be allowed the exemption given the head of a family. If the common home is maintained, and the parent is away much of the time on business, or a child is away at school or on a visit, that is still "one household," and the exemption is allowed. If it is unavoidable for a parent to keep his dependent children with relatives, or in a boarding house, while he lives elsewhere—that constitutes "one household." But a person who gives the dependent of another a home is not, under the income tax regulations, the head of a family.

Another term that may be, in some cases, confusing or perplexing to many taxpayers is "living together," in the case of a husband and wife. Again the income tax regulations are liberal in interpreting a phrase which, precisely defined, might do an injustice to a taxpayer. When a common home is maintained, and it becomes necessary for the husband to be away on business, occasionally and temporarily, or the wife is absent on a visit, the $1,500 exemption still applies. The relation is not changed, neither is the exemption forfeited, if either husband or wife is unavoidably confined in a sanatorium.

CHINA

(Los Angeles Examiner)

Sao Tang Pao, the Chinese army organ says:

"Signs of Anglo-American reinforcements are absent, while British and American authorities continue to indulge in side-tracking remarks. Both Knox (United States Secretary of the Navy) and A. V. Alexander (Britain's First Lord of the Admiralty) urged the Allies to strike Hitler first. Japan is allowed to take Singapore and the Netherlands East Indies, it will be easier said than done for America and Britain to start the counter offensive."

In fact the Associated Press declares that this Chinese military journal takes "the gloomy view that if Japan gained control of Malaya and the Dutch Indies she would attain self sufficiency and (quoting verbatim from that authoritative military publication) 'be free to use AGAINST AMERICA AND BRITAIN THE ECONOMIC WEAPON THEY ONCE EMPLOYED AGAINST HER.'"

Ta Kung Pao, the chief government newspaper of China, declares sensationally but truthfully:

"If Japan takes Vladivostok she may easily threaten Alaska and make the entire Pacific a veritable Japanese lake."

The same lack of foresight and strategic competence which resulted in American failure adequately to man and fortify the Philippines and which caused the sleep-indifference of American officials to the impending disaster at Hawaii are criticized by the Chinese army organ.

Sao Tang Pao states that "the term 'Pacific war' appeared in publications twenty years ago and was the subject of constant discussion in Japan."

"Yet Americans were caught off guard at Pearl Harbor, and the Philippines were left to look after themselves with a small force."

The Chinese army organ very properly includes the British in its criticism on blindness and unpreparedness, and says:

"British authorities in Malaya have shown themselves wanting in both vision and determination."

Finally the official Chinese Central Daily News declares:

"Unless something really strong is done to annihilate Japan now, there will be danger of the Japanese using the resources and the strategic bases of the southern Pacific for a long war. With the Germans being chased back by the Russians in Europe, it is high time for the democracies to give a similar blow to the Japanese in the Pacific."

These striking comments of important Chinese official publications are stark truth, and must be recognized as such by both Eng-

HANG onto your hats, girls—and here we go, boys, for a quick brush-off of male modes of the moment, a look at what men will and won't wear if they have enough left over after March 15 to get themselves a bright new spring outfit. . . . Well, fellows, you won't wear a vest, at least not one that matches your coat and pants, according to the clothing industry leaders. . . . And you want to be sure to watch your center of gravity because the tailor is going to lower it for you when your back is turned. . . . The boys have come up with "snoozy" new number they call the "low slung lounge" which, they claim, will "create a much longer torso line" without benefit of diet or corseting.

The gents who parade in aluminum shirkins, coral socks, black shoes and "the lipstick touch" in their brilliant foulard ties promise to brighten the masculine future, come spring!

THIS vest business is really serious. There also has been much talk of taking the cuffs off men's pants. That may come with the fall line. . . . The spring styles, however, come fully equipped with cuffs although there may be fewer pleated backs to save valuable wool wherever possible. There will be only two-piece suits because, which is more important, the weight of the suit will go without vests or fighting men go without uniforms. . . . Taking the vest out of the suit will save a lot of important wool.

It also raises the problem of finding room in just a coat and a pair of pants for all the odds and ends a man normally carries in his four vest pockets. . . . The merchant business answer to this is to sell you out of their present supply of odd vests, knitted pullovers and cotton vests, a chest protector just as loud and "exciting" as you can stand. . . . History and tradition vests are about to repeat themselves.

YOU want that cool, easy look? . . . The boys guarantee it with "garretless" anklets with a waffle pattern. . . . Heavyweight brogue that "look like a lot of shoe" but aren't. . . . You want to look like a college boy? Try the three-button single-breasted India Whipcord in India tint, with a lightweight cream oxford shirt, an eye-opening India madras tie in spectrum hues, high color argyle socks and a heavy Norwegian calf brogue. . . . The model previously representing a smart young businessman achieve the college boy effect simply by adding to all this horn rimmed spectacles and a pipe.

You want "off-duty" attire for leisure moments? . . . That rain-bow (described as two-tone) sport jacket with dark trousers and fancy socks and shoes won't give you a quiet moment.

YOU want the telephone number or mail address of the pretty gal who sent us all this information? . . . Sorry, you can't have that.

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Complete overhauling of the government housing program may come any day now. The kind of overhauling hoped for is the kind which the president ordered when he named Donald M. Nelson head of the new War Production Board, and Nelson eliminated OPM and SPAB and other fifth wheel organizations. Federal housing organization must be given the same drastic overhauling right through a dozen or more agencies.

There is nothing scandalous about this housing situation except the confusion. No graft has been uncovered. The mess existing is simply the conflict as to what each of these dozen agencies is to do. The housing problem has not been well presented to congress or to the country and all efforts to bring into agreement the various points of view of the several housing agency chiefs have been unavailing. Housing, in other words, has been built on foundations of shifting sand and right at the edge of the sea where every tide of opinion can do the most damage.

The general interpretation of the congressional point of view is that none of the defense housing should be used as slum clearance. The sentiment of congress is get the government out of the housing business and restore it to private real estate operators. Such houses as the government does build, congress wants sold. To whom isn't specified, but the preference is that the houses should be sold ultimately to the people who live in them.

CREAM FOR PRIVATE BUSINESS

Charles F. Palmer, defense housing co-ordinator, whose office should be shaping the policy on this whole program, represents the point of view of the established real estate dealer. This view is that the government should build all the temporary shelter for defense workers, the transients, the poor risks. The cream of the housing business, however—the permanent houses—the good risks—should under this theory be left to private capital. Real estate people are sincerely worried about what the effect of all this government housing will have on the realty market in the post-war period. Realtors want government competition eliminated.

Tied in with this is the point of view of the Federal Housing Administration under Abner H. Ferguson, and all the related mortgage activities like Home Loan Bank Board and Defense Homes Corporation under Jesse Jones' Federal Loan Agency. These agencies hold mortgages and mortgage insurance all over the United States. If other government housing agencies go into a community where FHA has big investments and if these other agencies build new housing, the value of the FHA holdings is threatened. The interest of FHA's shareholders, including seeing that there is not too much new government housing built which would compete with or impair the value of FHA loans.

United States Housing Authority, headed by Nathan Strawn until his recent resignation, was set up originally for the avowed purpose of building slum clearance projects. Having established an efficient organization, USHA was originally given part of the defense housing job to administer. There is no progress stone-cold on slum clearance, there has been definite pressure to keep USHA from getting further assignments. Part of the trouble may have come from Administrator Strawn's talking too much about USHA defense housing projects would be useful after the war as slum clearance projects.

CLEAR RURAL SLUMS

Farm Security Administration's housing activities are similar to those of USHA. FSA is interested in clearing rural slums, but while USHA projects are for renter's and middle class housing, FSA's are for the poor. USHA defense housing projects would be useful after the war as slum clearance projects.

Final interest in all this confusion is the Public Buildings Administration, oldest organization of the postwar and for years built all the postoffices and other government buildings. Its experience in housing projects is recent, but with its excellent organization and experience, it is able to build anything assigned to it. FSA has handled most of the army housing projects, other than the cantonments built by the quartermasters and the engineers.

WASHINGTON PROFIT AND LOSS

Grocers who compel you to buy a designated amount of other groceries in order to obtain a limited amount of sugar are violating the law. . . . Atlanta penitentiary inmates have increased production of army tents and other canvas war supplies by 100 per cent in the past year. . . . The $54 million power project and tunnel under the Continental Divide in Colorado is 17 per cent completed and will be producing power in 1942. . . . There is shortage of potash for fertilizers this war, though potash was woefully lacking in World War I. . . . Sodium nitrate, coming largely from South America, is short and is to be rationed among fertilizer, explosives, chemicals, glass, and meat curing industries. . . . Cotton duck supply run short, carpet weavers may be assigned to make it. . . . Newest unpatriotic dodge to beat wartime restrictions is carrying home scrap materials. . . . Carrying home scrap materials, tires, and paper wrappers.

OFF TO THE CITY

EASTON, Md. (AP)—War work is creating the new market villages. Only three men live now in a quiet Talbot county town that once numbered 200 persons. The other men left to take defense jobs.

The United States will not see a total eclipse of the sun until July 9, 1945.

Brrr-rrr-rr-! IT SURE WAS COLD LAST MONTH!

SERIAL STORY

TAMBAY GOLD

BY SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

ARRIVAL OF KENT
CHAPTER XXIV
KENT didn't say a word. She had been looking from one to the other of the two lads with an expression that didn't seem to me to quite fit the occasion. If I had been Angel I wouldn't have liked it. He didn't even notice.

"Am I right, Mom?"

"I ducked. 'Life is real, life is earnest,' I said. 'If you don't believe me and Henry W., try running a camp on a shooting.'

"Give that old gravedigger another drink," Kent said. "Then let's all have dinner on the right here and now."

Juddy sent Angel home early. She sat around for a while, sort of lifeless and dispirited, until I told her she'd better go to bed.

Maurie Sears got out the injunction. Doc packed his suitcases.

"My theory is that Tambay's through with that bird, Mom," she said.

My theory was that maybe she'd have to theorize again.

Who should hit the Federer for lunch but our old friend, Sherrie Mowry!

"Let's level, Sheriff," I said. "What's about this bridge?"

"It'll take influence to stop it, Ma'am," he said.

"Suppose it does go through. What does that get you?"

"I'm in the contracting business. We'll handle the dirt."

"I guess the other way is easier for all parties," I said. "Twenty-five per cent?"

"Twenty-five per cent," he said, "and right reasonable."

Seeing he had us by the slack, I thought so, myself. But Juddy was something else again. She was feeling pretty cocky over booting Doc out. Let 'em all come, she'd take 'em on, one down, another up. Three-four evenings we spent in footless arguments, and then, passing the stockade one morning, she heard something that took some of the starch out of her jumper. It was the old familiar clatter of the shovel.

"What's that?" she said, goggling.

"That," I said "is Prof. Loren Oliver of the Department of Amerind Ethnology, Welliver University, digging a couple of Wandos for dinner."

"He can't," she said. "I can have him arrested. We've got a court order."

"He's got a newer and better one. So what do you do about that? Don't you growl at me, Fannie Ann Judson."

She was making noises in her throat, like a kitten does when it's mad.

know that?"

"Intuition. Me can come, too. I'm here to buy Todd. C. O. D., F. O. B., on the hoof."

"Still buying 'em, Hendy?"

"You can't make me mad," he said. All of a sudden I realized why Juddy had shaken him. Nothing would ever make him mad. Nothing would ever stir him up.

"Come along and I'll get you settled," I told him.

ANGEL spotted the millionaire rolling stock as he turned in at the mansion gate.

"Trade must be looking up, honeybunch. Who owns the silk-lined freight car?"

"Trace yourself, Angel," she said. "My late husband." It was no news to Angel that she had a husband; she owned up to him after he passed the Am. Eth. exam.

"What is he after, then?"

"You."

"Say that again and say it slow."

"It's you he's hunting. He's building up a pro football organization. He's come to buy you for cash."

"How he fixed?"

"All the money in the world. Hold out for your price. He'll pay anything for what he thinks he can't get. I ought to know."

Hendy Kent fetched out some prime liquor from his car, and we all had to drink. Then the boys had several more rounds by themselves. After that they were a couple of brothers. Money meant practically nothing. They fixed it up that Angel was to quit college in the spring to help organize the team at a salary of three hundred per month, with a bonus of two hundred for every game won.

"I guess that about fixes it for us, honeybunch," he said.

The drinks were beginning to tell on our swell visitor. "I'm telling you," he said. "There's just one thing wrong with Juddy."

"Skip it," I said. "You're talking out of turn."

"She's too damn serious," Kent said, and for a minute he was serious, himself. "You never know how she's going to take things. You might think she's a tuff, because she's so pretty. Don't fool yourself. Aren't you serious, Juddy?"

"Sometimes."

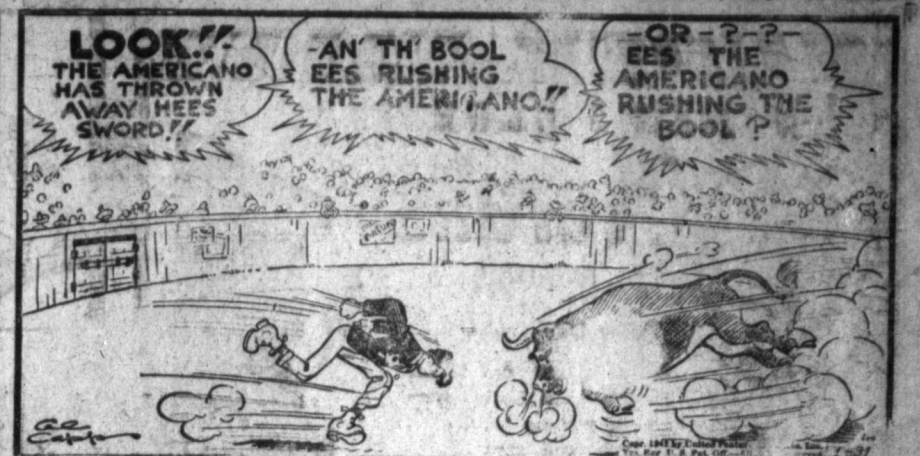

"There you are!"

"You can't scare me," Angel said. "After we're married, we're going to move so fast she won't have time to be serious."
