THE PAMPA NEWS

42-D, which this week completes its 10 week basic training period, and in so doing, moves one step closer to coveted "wings" and commissions as second lieutenants in the United States Army Air corps. These cadets will soon be working with multi-motored or more powerful single-engine planes in their advanced training, their final 10-week step before being assigned to units of the United States Army Air Force.

U. S. Troops Land In Java

Three Local Youths Prisoners Of Japs

One youth from Pampa and two Skellytown youths are "deemed likely to be war prisoners of the Japanese," according to a navy bulletin released today. The Pampa youth is Roy T. Brown, whose address is given as 317-A South Cuyler street. The Skellytown youths are Albert Coleman Curlee and Kenneth Linon Melton.

Brown was serving with the U. S. Marines at Guam while Curlee and Melton were with the marines at Wake when they were captured by the Japanese. Mothers of the youths received letters from President Roosevelt and Major General T. Holcomb of the Marine corps regarding the heroic work of the marines at the two bases.

Young Brown, who has been in the Marine corps more than two years, is the son of Mrs. Goldie Smith of Phoenix, Ariz., formerly of Pampa. Melton is the son of Mrs. Maude Melton and Curlee the son of Mrs. L. C. Ruth, both residing at Skellytown.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith came to Pampa early in 1939 and lived at the Owl hotel until March 15, 1940, according to Mrs. A. B. Thomas, owner. Roy T. Brown, Mrs. Smith's son, came to Pampa late in 1939 and started here early in 1940 when he enlisted in the Marine corps and sent to San Diego. Mrs. Thomas had a Christmas card from him in 1940, the last word she has received.

Private First Class Kenneth L. Melton was born June 6, 1922, in Cement, Oklahoma, and later moved to Skellytown with his parents, where they have resided for the past 15 years. He attended grade school in Skellytown and high school in White Deer. Before enlisting in the army June 23, 1940, at Amarillo, he was employed on a ranch near here. He and a brother, Private Sidney S. Melton, who is now stationed at San Diego, were the sole supports of their mother, Sidney, born also on June 6, 1923, was employed at a grocery store in Skellytown until enlisting in the army at Tucson, Arizona, a year ago in February.

Albert Coleman Curlee, born March 1, 1922 at Wilcox, Oklahoma, and with his family later moved to Skellytown where he attended high school in White Deer. He worked at the New Deal service station in Skellytown where, after working two days, he was ordered to sell the most tires. In July, 1939, he enlisted in the marines at Amarillo and later he was sent to San Diego where he was in the 54th regiment. He received medals for expert bandaging, first aid, and marksmanship. After being in the marines 6½ months, eight boys including Albert, were selected for foreign service.

He was stationed on Wake Island where the less than 400 marines with a small quantity of weapons put up a heroic fight. Names of 94 Texans believed prisoners of the Japanese were released. The Texans—among the officers and enlisted personnel of the navy and marine corps, and civilian

Reds Closing Gigantic Trap Around Nazis

Russia's armies, knitting into the Republic of White Russia on a triumphant counter-march from Moscow, appeared today to be slowly closing a gigantic trap around a force of perhaps 600,000 to 800,000 German troops in the "Napoleonic corridor" from Moshalsk to Smolensk.

This seemed clearly indicated by Red army dispatches reporting that Soviet troops had by-passed Smolensk on the north, while other Russian columns were said to have crossed the Sozh river south of Smolensk.

The northern salient, driving from the Velich sector, was apparently pressing sharply toward German-held Vitelsk, 20 miles inside White Russia, while the southern claw of the Russian pincer cut in between Smolensk and Rostavl.

On this basis, the mouth of the German escape corridor presumably had been narrowed to less than 100 miles. Inside the huge rectangle, extending more than 150 miles eastward from Smolensk, was the last-mentioned of the German army which Adolf Hitler threw into his ill-fated drive against Moscow late in 1941.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters declared that the German army had beaten off numerous Russian attacks and asserted vaguely that "more strong enemy detachments" were surrounded and "are approaching annihilation" on the Moscow front.

Soviet Russia's military, lacking official details of German-Russian movements for almost a month now, expect Monday, Feb. 23, to be a day of good news.

It marks both the 24th anniversary of the creation of the Red army, a workers' legion that succeeded the troops of the czars, and the start of the ninth month of the battle against Adolf Hitler's invaders.

Russian citizens expressed belief today that Moscow authorities were holding up announcement gains to make them all public on the anniversary.

The Soviet information bureau generalized again on the progress of the fighting, saying continued offensive operations of Red army troops yesterday had cost the Germans heavily in manpower and material.

Japs Within 75 Miles Of Rangoon

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

American and other foreign troops have arrived in Java, it was disclosed today, ready to aid in defending the heart of the rich Dutch East Indies against the encroachment of Japan's invasion hordes driving into nearby Lower Sumatra.

Aneta, official Dutch news agency, said American ground troops, relatively small in number, as well as United States bombers and fighter pilots were now seen frequently in the island.

It was the first disclosure that American soldiers had arrived to bolster the United Nations defenses in the far Pacific conflict.

Aneta stressed, however, that while the Americans and other reinforcements were jubilantly welcomed by the Dutch, "their numbers are by no means large enough yet."

Meanwhile, Japanese warplanes for the first time attacked the Australian mainland, bombing the Allied naval base at Darwin; and in the battle of Burma, Tokyo dispatches asserted that Japanese troops had advanced within 75 air-line miles of Rangoon.

Rangoon, the Burmese capital, is the chief port of entry for war supplies to China.

In the Dutch Indies, a bulletin from N. E. I. headquarters said, Dutch troops were still battling fiercely against Japanese invasion forces around the great oil center of Palembang, in lower Sumatra.

The Dutch command said Rising Sun planes raided an air field in Western Java today, causing "some damage," following up yesterday's 24-plane attack on the big Allied naval base at Soerabaja in Eastern Java.

The aerial assault on Darwin, perhaps signaling a new invasion attempt by Japan's far-flung army, lasted an hour.

In the Philippines, a bulletin from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported increasing Japanese pressure against American-Filipino defense lines on the Bataan peninsula and said that troop movements indicated a resumption of the enemy offensive.

The communiqué said that Japanese plane-throwers were captured, along with artillery and other equipment.

Gen. MacArthur reported heavy attacks on the defenders' right flank and violent artillery fire as the campaign apparently neared its last tragic phase.

British exchange telegraph news agency dispatches said Japanese planes returned for a second attack on Darwin this afternoon, inflicting considerable property damage.

The agency quoted Australia's Foreign Minister John Curtin as announcing that 72 Rising Sun bombers, escorted by fighters, took part in the first attack and 21 bombers in the second.

Explosives were dropped both on the town itself and shipping in the harbor, an Australian source said, and "there were some casualties and damage to service installations."

A heartening report for the Allies came from the battle of Burma in a declaration that Chinese troops had defeated the Japanese in a fierce fighting along the Burma-Thailand frontier and seized a considerable quantity of war supplies.

Expect Attacks On Coast, Says Stimson

More Recruits Necessary For Flight Corps

Keeping the personnel of Flight D, Texas Defense Guard air corps up to requirements, is one of the problems of Captain W. F. Fletcher. Just when he secures a "starter" on his flight, there are vacancies occurring.

Four men have secured their discharge from the flight recently. One went to the Lockheed factories, one took employment at a shipyard, the third moved to Illinois, and the fourth to Washington.

Men of military age who wish to enlist in this organization are asked to contact Captain Fletcher.

At last night's drill of the flight, only one member was absent, and three recruits were added to the roster.

The new men are Daniel R. Weaver, Horace Cobb, Hillard E. White. Non-commissioned officers school of Company D, the rifle company, will be held at 7 o'clock tomorrow.

Stamp Parade Held Each Friday In Magic City

Friday of each week a defense stamp parade is held in Magic City. That's the day when the Magic City students, led by their band, march to the post office and buy stamps. Ninety-seven per cent of the students have started stamp books.

Magic City has an active Parent-Teacher association of which Mrs. J. V. Younger, wife of the Magic City school principal, is program chairman.

"Citizenship—Your Challenge," was the theme of the program held by the association Monday night. Speakers were E. J. Agent, "My Part in National Defense"; Cole Austin, "Learning to be a Discriminating Citizen"; Mrs. E. C. Smith, "Living Our Democratic Ideals."

Founders day was noted in a review of the national congress of the association by Mrs. W. C. Davis.

That baseball in Pampa in 1942 will either live or die at a secret meeting of fans tonight or tomorrow. Owners of the Pampa franchise have promised Albuquerque fans that they'll tell them "yes or no" regarding moving of the local franchise to the New Mexico city by this week-end.

1010 Sailors And Marines Jap Prisoners

The navy department released today a list of 1,010 navy and marine corps officers and enlisted men presumed to have been taken prisoner by the Japanese on the islands of Wake and Guam and at Peiping, Tientsin, and Shanghai, China.

Lieut. Comdr. John T. Tuthill, Jr., public relations officer of the third naval district, also made public a roster of 1,200 civilians who were employed in defense construction work on the two Pacific islands and who also are presumed to be prisoners of war.

Among the navy officers serving at Guam when the island was captured by the Japanese on Dec. 12 were the governor, Captain George Johnson McMillin of Youngstown, Ohio; Capt. William Taylor Lineberry, Colerain, N. C.; and Commander Donald Theodore Giles, Annapolis, Md.

Heading the 11 officers and 63 men serving at Wake were commander Winfield Scott Cunningham, Lewis Beach, Calif., and Commander Campbell Keene, Naval Air Station, San Diego, Calif.

Commander Leo Cromwell Thyson, Washington, D. C., was one of four officers and 11 men stationed at Peiping. Lieut. (J.G.) William Thomas Foley, Fishing, N. Y., and five enlisted men were serving at Tientsin, and three lieutenants, junior grade, were serving at Shanghai. They were George Theodore Ferguson, Wausau, Wis.; Robert W. McElrath, Murray, Ky.; and James Stephen O'Rourke, Washington, D. C.

The marine garrison of 413 at Wake Island was commanded by Major James Patrick S. Devereux, New York.

Lieut.-Col. William Kirk MacNulty of San Francisco was in command of the seven marine officers and 147 men serving at Guam. Major Donald Spicer, Coronado, Calif., also was stationed at Guam.

The navy department statement pointed out that "because of the interruption of communications and the eliminating of contact entirely when the various outposts were overwhelmed, the navy department

Buyers Sought For Baby Bees

Members of the agriculture and livestock committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce met this morning, divided up a list of prospective livestock buyers, and began work soliciting prospects for the fourth annual Junior Livestock show which will be held at the Recreation park March 4.

Otis R. Pumphrey, chairman of the committee, presided with the following members of the committee present: Floyd Imel, Irvin Cole, Ralph Thomas, Hood G. Wills, Tom Cox, Clyde Carruth, Mel Davis, Boss Lottman and W. A. Rankin.

The committee passed a rule which will require that the grand champion calf of the show, must go into the sale. The committee agreed that an effort will be made this year to secure a maximum price for the grand champion calf in order to offer a greater inducement to the exhibitor of the grand champion at future shows.

Billy Stockstill exhibited the first grand champion at the 1939 show, which sold to the Thomas Grocery and Market for $152.00, at 20 cents per pound.

The Barnes and Hasting Grocery store paid 20½ cents, a total of $172.00, for the 1940 grand champion calf, which was also exhibited by Billy Stockstill.

visions, to conform with other such units of the armed forces.

The three new reserve divisions ordered into service are the first of 27 reserve divisions to be called out in expanding the army this year to 3,000,000 men.

The Filipinos will form the first Filipino infantry battalion, and will be stationed at Camp San Juan Obispo, Calif. The new unit, Stimson said, was "formed in recognition of the intense loyalty and patriotism of those Filipinos who are now residing in the United States," and will give them "the eventual opportunity of fighting on the soil of their homeland."

A similar battalion, he said, may be formed from citizens of the other United Nations in this country. He said it was conceivable that if the volunteers came forward in sufficiently large numbers that an Allied legion might be formed.

In connection with his warning of possible raids on American coasts, Stimson recalled demands in both 1898 and 1911 to scatter defensive forces to meet threatened hostile attacks.

In 1898, he said there was a "terrific howl" for defensive measures against Spanish Admiral Cervera's force of four cruisers which was reported at large in the Atlantic, although American naval forces were far stronger.

In 1911, when Mexico was in turmoil, Stimson introduced a resolution to distribute available United States forces along the border, although figures showed these would allow for only two soldiers per mile.

"We are on the front lines ourselves now," Stimson said. "We can't buy our way out, we can't produce our way out. We can only fight our way out by hard, intelligent fighting."

The war secretary said that he expected many pleas would be forthcoming as in the past for scattered defensive measures and explained that the principal of keeping forces intact for the offense did not mean that protective efforts would be made.

Stimson said he had not seen a plea for anti-aircraft protection for Detroit and the Soo locks in Michigan, made by Governor Murray Van Wageningen to President Roosevelt, and referred to the white house to the war department.

At the last regular drill, Captain E. J. Dunigan, Jr., said the first and second platoons were showing great improvement in the execution of fundamental commands.

Medical Unit Promotions
Despite the cold weather, there was a good turnout. The regular guard details were assigned, with Corporal P. J. Boyd in charge of the first detail.

Members of the headquarters company battalion medical detachment are all "shined up" in new collar insignia, and brand new warrants, issued to the detachment.

Warrants as sergeants were received by Clayton A. Husted, Tom T. Eckerd, technical sergeant; Fred L. Fender, technical sergeant; Lloyd L. Garrison, corporal. The warrants were signed by Major Lou J. Roberts of Borger, commanding officer of the 14th battalion.

Guardettes Formed
First organization of its kind and the newest defense organization in Texas, is the Texas Defense Guardettes, formed under the sponsorship of Company D, 19th battalion, Dallas. They already have 21 members.

Captain Mrs. Billy Burke said: "We are going to be instructed in the use of rifles, pistols, chemicals, riot duty and everything else the defense guard studies."

Americans see pictures of such boys as Liles feel certain of the outcome of the war, even though it looks dark now. Earl joined the navy in March, and entered the service April 10, 1941. He is in the hospital corps and is now stationed at the dental clinic, San Diego, where he took his initial training. His ambition has always been to be a doctor and since his mother was unable to send him to school he decided to take the naval hospital training. "He likes it and seems as happy as a boy could be other than he gets homesick at times," his mother writes. He was born in Canadian, March 8, 1924, but spent most of his grade school years in Oklahoma, and attend-

Holy Way Of The Cross To Be Held

Holy Way of the Cross, the first to be held during the Lenten season, which opened yesterday, will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and again at 7:45 that night at Holy Souls Catholic church.

Large crowds attended Ash Wednesday services at the church yesterday morning, and again last night.

Three sermons each week will be delivered at the church, on Sunday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

St. Matthew's Episcopal church is also observing the holy season, and the Rev. Edgar W. Henshaw has announced the following services for Sunday, February 22, and Wednesday, February 25:

Sunday, holy communion at 8 a. m., morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m., subject, "The Soul's Welfare."

Wednesday, holy communion at 7 a. m., Lenten service, 10 a. m.; Women's auxiliary, 10:40 a. m.

Holy communion was held at St. Matthew's at 7:30 a. m. yesterday, marking the start of the Lenten season. This was followed by the meeting of the Women's auxiliary.

Official Prayer

HILLSBORO, Feb. 19. (AP)—Hillsboro will pray officially each Monday.

The city council has designated 8 a. m. on this day, beginning March 2, for a moment of silent prayer.

The fire siren will inform the citizenship of the time.

Four Mayors Lose Their OCD Jobs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. (AP)—The process of stripping down the much-criticized office of civilian defense for "emergency action" was under way in earnest today as the jobs of four former mayors followed that of blonde Mavris Chaney, dancer friend of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, into the discard.

Having already accepted Miss Chaney's resignation as director of children's activities, Director James M. Landis followed up last night by jettisoning two whole divisions which, he said were of "no further value."

It is "urgently necessary" that OCD be streamlined for maximum efficiency, Landis said, disclosing that he had taken these steps:

Abolished effective March 1 the office of inspectors general, headed by former Mayor T. Semmes Walmisley of New Orleans at $22,22 per diem.

Abolished effective March 1 the "know your government office," formed for education and morale activities and headed by S. Howard Evans, formerly of the budget bureau, at $8,000 a year.

Abolished the associate directorship of the division of state and local cooperation, held by Daniel W. Hoan, former Socialist mayor of Milwaukee.

Earlier in the day Landis had accepted without comment Miss Chaney's resignation from her $4,600 a year job. "In her letter of resignation she said she wanted 'no further altercation which might cause dissunity and delay.'"

Out of their jobs as regional inspectors general under Walmisley go Bernard F. Dickmann, former mayor of St. Louis, Joseph D. Scholtz, former mayor of Louisville, and Murray Stand, New York, who received $5,500 a year apiece, and James Metzbaum, Ohio state senator from Cleveland, who served without compensation.

Mrs. King's Funeral Set For Tomorrow

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Evelyn King, 59, have been postponed until 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the First Christian church, with the Rev. B. A. Norris, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery under direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home.

Services were scheduled to have been held at 4 o'clock this afternoon but were postponed because of inability of relatives to arrive by that time.

Mrs. King, resident of Pampa for 16 years, died at the family home Wednesday morning of a long illness.

Survivors are the husband, J. A. King, four daughters, one son, three sisters and three brothers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—The stock market today shook off a little of its war gloom and selected rails, steels, motors and specialties took on a modest recovery appearance.

The list was narrowly irregular at the start. Bidders came in around midday and favorites registered advances as fractions.

Declines on the whole, were about as sluggish as in the Wednesday session, transfers approximating 250,000 shares.

Treasury Now Able To Accept Gifts To Be Used For Particular Purpose

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Texans who have been dropping a penny in a bottle each time an American boy knocked down an Axis plane soon should be able to make the contribution knowing that they are helping send one more American plane up and at 'em.

One provision in the second war powers bill (82200) expected to become law shortly specifies that the treasury may accept gifts of money, property, or services made on condition that they be used for a particular purpose.

Under existing law the treasury has been able to accept gifts of money only when the donors agreed to let the sums be put in with the miscellaneous receipts, or if the gift was something else let it be sold and the revenue put in the miscellaneous fund.

them in every state, came to congress and asked for legislation which would permit them to accept gifts for a specific purpose.

The amendment was incorporated into the war powers bill, in Title XII, adopted by the senate only after heated discussion in the Senate Judiciary committee.

As a practical matter, it is impossible to take the money from a particular gift and use it for the purchase of a definite piece of material. The provisions of this title, however, would permit the treasury to accept gifts made for specific purposes and to put them into the existing congressional appropriations which would most nearly effectuate the intent of the donors in each case, thus supplementing that appropriation to the extent of the gifts.

over 15,000 persons have made donations of money and other property to the government to be used in the war effort. These donations, which are presently at the rate of about $3,000,000 a year, came from individuals, schools, fraternal organizations, labor organizations, groups of citizens, and employees of various companies.

"This title will enable patriotic citizens who wish to bear more than their share of the war costs to make voluntary contributions to the war effort.

"While the secretary of the treasury has urged that persons desiring to participate in the war effort of the country invest their funds in Defense Bonds or stamps, or in treasury tax savings notes, the treasury has and will continue to receive voluntary donations from those persons who desire to make them, since it is felt that any coercive or high-pressure solicitation by any private person or agency of gifts to the United States should be definitely discouraged."

Shaughnessey Causes Furor At Stanford

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19 (AP)—All is confusion at Stanford University, stirred by reports that football coach Clark Shaughnessey is negotiating for a job at Yale.

One university official said if Shaughnessey wished to make a change he'd be okay with Stanford. Another said flatly it wouldn't. "What good's a contract if the conditions aren't fulfilled?" Shaughnessey doesn't even have a contract, pointed out a third, but has three years left on a five-year tenure agreement.

Harvesters Unveil New Strategy In 57-27 Win

Here's How It's Done, Says Drake

NORMAN, Okla., Feb. 19.—The old man reaches in his pants pocket and carefully lays his cigarettes and his key ring on the bleacher seats, then steps out on the shiny basketball floor.

He is bare-waisted but wears basketball shoes, long trousers and a confident expression. "All right!" he chirps, cockily, "I'll play with the Skins. Let's go!"

It is Bruce Drake, the Oklahoma basketball coach and 13 years ago captain of a Big Six Championship team that was all-victories in conference play. Short one player, the 36-year-old Sooner decided to personally fill in as the tenth man at the bag end of the daily drill.

The Sooner varsity that has won six straight Big Six games has gone in, showered, and returns to see the coach do his "comeback." With shouts of glee they linger along the bleachers in cities to see the fun and rib Drake.

"Look out there. Dad, you'll get raked!" shouts A. D. "Ug" Roberts, the varsity's crack forward and cleverest jockey.

"Everybody pass to the coach!" huzzes big Gerald Tucker in his space-piercing tenor.

"The losers buys the winners an orange squeeze!" calls Dick Reich. Drake grins but pays no attention.

The scrimmage starts. The coach makes it with his boys but seems to have lost his touch. They intercept his passes, block his shots and take the ball away from him. Nobody shows him any mercy.

After two or three sprints up and down the big floor, the Old Man begins to puff. He tries to drive in for a set-up but some yamigan gives him the hip and he hurries into the bleachers, barking his shin.

He is awarded a free throw at the far end of the court but elects to save the long walk by pegging the ball in from out of bounds where he is standing. Soon he is playing a stationary forward under his own goal.

Everybody on his side respectfully throws him the ball if he is at all open. "Yah, Yah!" the varsity shrieks at every pass to the coach. "Tryin' to make the club!"

Finally tired of the good-natured abuse, the Old Man turns loose and for one thrilling play takes the assignment of spotting back to the Bruce Drake of a dozen years ago.

Dribbling low and moving fast, the Old Man suddenly seems to pour himself catlike through the entire foe defense. Like a rivulet of spilled water hurrying down a sidewalk, he dribbles the ball, dodging zig-zags past man after man and rises in the air to thread the goal.

The brilliant effort has completely exhausted him but the Old Man is smart. "If it in, boys that's all!" he orders, gruffly, and commanding the ball and snatching up his cigarettes and key ring, he trots to his office paying no attention to the protesting chorus behind him of "one more goal. Just one more."

Athletics Train Will Stop Here

Connie Mack and his Philadelphia Athletics will pass through Pampa tomorrow en route to Anaheim, Cal., where they will conduct spring training as usual. The Athletics, 20 players, coaches and sports writers from Philadelphia papers, will be on the Santa Fe Grand Canyon Limited passenger scheduled to arrive here at 12:40 p. m.

The train will make its regular stop here, according to L. J. Cazzell of Amarillo, who with Cal Farley, Bob McDonald and John Lynch of Amarillo will drive to Pampa where they will board the train and ride back to Amarillo with the team. Harry E. Hoare, sports editor of the Pampa News, will also board the train here and go as far as Amarillo with the team.

On board the train will be Mr. and Mrs. Connie Mack, Mrs. Ida Shibe, wife of the former co-owner of the Athletics after whom Shibe park in Philadelphia was named, Mrs. Eddie Collins Jr., wife of one of the players, and Sports Writers Smith, Baumgartner, Youtter and Horowitz of the Philadelphia papers.

How Pampa Beat McLean Kept Secret

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

THE HARVESTERS LAST NIGHT showed how they are going to beat Amarillo Friday night, but it's a secret and they are not telling anybody about the successful new strategy they have cooked up and which they used with spectacular success last night against McLean.

There's little danger that Amarillo will hear about it because nobody attended the game here last night except parents and relatives of the players, a few teachers, Charlie Ward, Mrs. H. H. Heiskell and this writer. The McLean team and the few fans from McLean who were present promised not to tell. True the game was open

Everyone Picking New Football Coach For Yale

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. (Wide World Sports Columnist) NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (Wide World)—You've heard all about those big purses fighters sometimes collect, but do you know the smallest ever earned for a main event in Madison Square Garden? It was $3.09, collected by Walter Neusel, the German heavyweight, for fighting Ray Impellitteri here in 1933. Paul Damski, Neusel's manager, agreed to take half the receipts and guaranteed Impellitteri $5,000. The net gate that night was just $10,006.18. Howie Morens, Jr., will play center between his dad's old teammates, Aurel Joliat and Billy Boucher, when the old Canadians meet the old Maroons in that big hockey war benefit program at Montreal next Tuesday. Howie, Jr., 17 years old, already is on the Canadians' negotiation list and folks who know say he will be a great hockey player some day. The Chicago stadium may stage a big invitation college basketball tournament in March and steal some of New York's thunder.

By SID FEDER NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—Everyone is picking a new Yale football coach these days—except Yale. It's the season's favorite indoor sport. If you want to get into it, just write your selection down and mail it with two box tops from your favorite breakfast food. After all, what can you lose? Up to now absolutely nothing official has been done. The inside word, however, is that the matter has narrowed down to a question of policy—whether the Elis will go for a "name" coach, like Clark Shaughnessy, Stanford's master of the model "T," or will ride with one of the fellows already on hand, say Ivan Williamson, assistant pilot of the Blues for eight years. One report is that Shaughnessy was interviewed here a couple of nights ago by the recommending committee, a group of old Blues who will make a report eventually to the Yale board of athletic control. This report said "Snag" was agreeable to a five-year contract at $10,000 per. The rumor also explained that Shaughnessy was getting only about $8,000 for building the model "T" at Palo Alto, and that since there is no guarantee that there will be football in that neighborhood, come fall, he is willing to move east. The recommending committee, however, just ha-ha's this whisper. It has been interviewing coaches and prospects from the rock bound coasts to the sunny shores for weeks. "We won't report to the board of control for at least two or three weeks, maybe longer," George Adee, a member of the committee, told the Associated Press today. "The board will, in turn, report to the Yale corporation, which has the final say." Right now, the less publicity we have, the better we'll like it." Up to now, Adee has been more closely associated with Yale crew than football, and has done considerable work developing rowing. Ted Blair is chairman of the recommending committee, which also includes such old Eli grid greats as Clint Frank and George Baumelsler. Blair insisted today that the group has "absolutely not yet selected any man."

Lakeview, Hereford To Play Bi-District

District champions have been determined in one division of Texas schoolboy basketball and will be named in the other two classes on the end of the week. The 24 teams to play in the three division state tournament at Austin are to be certified by Feb. 28. Class A champions in 32 districts were all decided last week and have moved into the bi-district round scheduled to be finished by Saturday night. Here's how they pair in the class A bi-district round, the winners to meet for regional titles: Region 1—Hereford vs. Lakeview, Floydada vs. Muleshoe. Region 2—Anson vs. Crane, Dublin vs. Cross Plains. Region 3—Crowell vs. Nocona, Granbury vs. Gatesville. Region 4—Garland vs. Plano, Van vs. Mount Vernon. Region 5—Arap vs. Union Grove, Elkhart vs. Huntington. Region 6—La Grange vs. Wharton, Pasadena vs. Nederland. Region 7—Lampasas vs. Rosebud, San Marcos vs. Sidney Lanier (San Antonio). Region 8—Eagle Pass vs. Refugio, Aransas Pass vs. Donna.

Postman's Paragraph

After hearing just so many wisecracks about that $15,000 coaching salary Burt Shotton will get from Cleveland, Bob Hoopy of the Ohio State Journal rises to state that the figure is correct but that the retiring Shotton wasn't the one who said about it. The news came from Branch Rickey when he was called upon to explain why he let Shotton get away from Columbus. Bill Shirley of the Arkansas Democrat reports that the Arkansas U. basketball situation is so critical that scribers are checking the Porkers' supply of adhesive tape and gauze before they'll pick them for another conference title. And Scoop Laflimer of the Greenville (S. C.) News claims some Southern football players are loafing so much in spring practice that they must think elbow grease is a sort of cold cream banned by OPM.

Jacobs Beachcombing

Recent visitors to cauliflower corner include Private Al (Bummy) Davis, home for treatment of an infection on his hands, and John Reed Kilpatrick, the Garden boss, who came back from military duty in Texas sporting a brigadier general's insignia. When Tony Galento was barred as referee at a Detroit wrestling match, he made a deal to sell popcorn and peanuts in the arena and to make a speech to the customers. "I also will sell autograph pictures for nothing," Tony offered. Maxie Berger, who fights Ray Robinson tomorrow, appeared in 16 main events in one year at the Coliseum and drew 187,000 customers—most of whom came to see him licked. Carlos Malacara, the lightweight cloutier from Mexico, was recommended to Manager Robbie Cohen by Kid Chocolate of Cuba.

Stars Converge On New Orleans For $5,000 Golf Open

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 19 (AP)—The nation's golf stars converged here today for the $5,000 News Orleans open, next station on the winter journey that is digging dollars for Uncle Sam out of the country's greens and fairways. A pro-amateur event was scheduled for today, and tomorrow will begin the three-day tour over City park's level but lengthy course. Around the club house today much of the talk was about the way the Professional Golfers' association has set an example of how organized sports can help in wartime by furnishing not only entertainment, but raising funds for war relief. "Increased attendance at our tournaments shows the people want sports for diversion," said Fred Corcoran, P.G.A. tournament manager. "But we think sports can and should do more than entertain in these times." The P.G.A.'s program has featured the appearance of Hollywood stars Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, and Johnny Weissmuller. They play with outstanding golfers, entertaining the crowd meanwhile, and put on shows for the boys at nearby army camps. Their services are donated.

Today's Guest Star

John Mooney, Salt Lake Telegram: "Students of evolution shouldn't be surprised that basketball officials have taken to working games from a 'crow's nest' above the playing floor. Our maligned referees have been given the bird, hooded and cawed at so much it is only natural that they should adopt the nesting habitat to call fouls."

Pooh, Pooh, Purdue

Favorite yarn among Big Ten basketball coaches concerns one of their number who went to scout Purdue. "After the game he was seen tearing up his notes as he left the press box. 'How can you tell what they're going to do,' he demanded, 'when they don't know themselves?'"

Hard As Ice

Barbara Shaw, the ski star, didn't let a broken leg keep her from watching the eastern championship races last week. She strapped a ski on her uninjured foot and made her way to the sidelines with two ski poles to help keep her balance. At that, Barbara had nothing on Blackie Perbonich, the San Diego hockey player. When he was bounced from a game in Bakersfield, Calif., Blackie was so peeved that he didn't even hesitate when he found the dressing room door locked. He went right in, wearing the door jamb like a collar.

'Huddle Girl' Has Date With Bliss Cavalry

FORT BLISS, Feb. 19 (P)—Oh, hello, Myrtle, glad you joined us. We were just talking about morale. Now, confidentially, girls, when you've dated up with a soldier it sorta gives the old morale a boost, but then...

When you've got the entire first cavalry division on the string, well... now here's what I was going to say...

Mary Ann Mercer, the radio songstress... Huh? Yeah, about five feet tall and say 102 pounds—does her hair nicely... Well, the first...

cavalry division chose her as its "huddle girl"—and when I say "huddle," just listen to how she's going into a huddle with them...

This coming Saturday—and I got this straight from the public relation office at headquarters—this coming Saturday she'll arrive on a plane with an army observation plane for an escort.

The army plane, from the 120th observation squadron, will carry Lt. Col. Earl Thompson of the eighth cavalry to Albuquerque to meet Mary Ann. Who said the cavalry is old-fashioned?

Well, when she arrives here an entire regiment is to line up to greet her. She'll walk under an arch of drawn sabers, just like queens do at big weddings and stuff. One trooper will be shined up for her personal escort. Major General Innis P. Swift is to designate him—the "outstanding cavalry soldier."

The escorting regiment will be the one buying the most Defense Stamps in a contest ending today. But Mary Ann will have to sing for her supper. There'll be a banquet in her honor—and to honor the post football champions, the first cavalry division lancers. You see, they started all this last fall by electing Mary Ann their "huddle girl." The idea grew like a rolling snow ball and...

Tobacco Industry Pays Huge Amount To U. S. Treasury

How important America's great tobacco industry is as a source of national revenue is emphasized in the new advertising for Chesterfield cigarettes. The campaign points out that this revenue is more important than ever now, when we are making the greatest war effort of all time, because of what it could buy to help arm America.

More than $2,000,000, a week—over $104,000,000, a year is paid to the U. S. treasury for the tax stamps for Chesterfields. The campaign shows on a yearly basis, just what $104,000,000 means in terms of ships, planes, tanks, guns and all the things it takes to equip our fighting forces for the gigantic task ahead.

For example in the first advertisement in the new series, Chesterfield shows that the revenue tax paid by them on a year's output could buy 1,300 two-motored bombers, or 1,485 medium heavy tanks, or 346,886 military parachutes.

To fully appreciate the significance of these figures it should be noted that the cost of a parachute is calculated at $300, a medium heavy tank at $70,000, and a two-motored bomber at $80,000.

Subsequent ads will give an interesting cross-section of the all-out effort. They will pay tribute to the men in the service, to men and women in defense and to workers in shipyard and factory. They will give interesting side-lights on America at war, showing for instance, what a wonderful job our stars of stage and screen are doing to sell defense bonds and stamps.

to entertain the men in uniform and in keeping them well supplied with cigarettes.

This Chesterfield campaign gives an added significance to the blue revenue stamp you find on every pack of 20 cigarettes you buy. Each one of these stamps means that 8 1/2 cents has been paid to the U. S. treasury by the manufacturer. The tax is collected at the source before the cigarettes leave the factory. Chesterfield pays the U. S. government with a certified check every day. As Chesterfield says in its advertising, "There's satisfaction in knowing that the 8 1/2 cent tax you pay on every pack of twenty cigarettes is doing its bit for Uncle Sam."

Lecture To Replace February Meeting Of High School P-TA

Replacing the February meeting of the High School Parent-Teacher association, members of the unit will attend the lectures to be given here Friday by Garry Cleveland Myers, child psychologist.

Attendance at these lectures will be counted the same as if a regular monthly P-T-A meeting were being held.

Every High School P-T-A member is asked to attend.

Ringling Of Chimes To Remind Women Of Day Of Prayer

Reminding all women of Pampa that it is time to observe the World Day of Prayer, the chimes will ring Friday morning at the First Presbyterian church, where the program will begin at 10 o'clock.

Immediately preceding the opening of the program to be given by Mrs. B. A. Norris, Mrs. H. A. Yoder will present a program of organ music using one number, Bach's "Passion Chorale," which she played at the organ dedication service of the Presbyterian church.

The subject for the further worship will be "I Am the Way" throughout the entire world with study and meditation on the followings of Christ's footsteps, such as mentioned in the memorable phrase of Pilgrim's Progress, in which Mr. Standfast states: "I have loved to hear the Lord spoken of; and whenever I have seen the print of His shoe in the earth, there have I coveted to set my foot also."

As in previous years, those attending the World Day of Prayer observance will have an opportunity to give an offering for the four world-wide objects sponsored by the National Council of Church Women. These are migrants, Indians in government schools, Christian literature, and the Union college. An increased offering last year gave the Council an enlarged program.

All women of Pampa and the surrounding territory are invited to attend the program. A paper sack lunch will be served at the noon hour.

High School Students Present Program At Miami PTA Meeting

Miami, Feb. 19—The regular February meeting of parents and teachers which was held in the high school study hall departed from the usual in the way of program by hearing an evening of entertainment rendered by high school students, with some musical numbers from grade school pupils.

After a brief business session presided over by Mrs. Dan Graham, president, at which reports from committees and officers took precedence, the program was presented as follows:

"Miss Dorothy Entertains the Minister," Bonnie Howard; tap dancing numbers by Bobby Jo Nelson, Mickey Joy Hoffer, and Donna Sue Wilkenson; "Aunt Tillie, Testes," Florence Keeth; music by Tonet band; "Mr. Hay's Memory System," Anne Morgan; folk dancing exhibition; "The Linda's Recitation," Adelia Jane Craig; and "Not Nervous," Mae Nelson.

Room Mothers Of Sixth Grade Have Party For Group

SKELLYTOWN, Feb. 19—Mrs. Ray Hawkins and Mrs. John Rush, room mothers of the sixth grade, entertained their room with a valentine party.

The room was cleverly decorated for the occasion. Acting as postmaster and mistress of the valentine box were Cohn Brister and Ida Mae Dunn, respectively.

Refreshments of home-made cookies and ice cream were served. Plate favors were miniature red hearts with each pupil's name; they were made by Bob Hawkins assisted by boys of the class.

JACKET HIT

The crowning glory of every junior girl's sports wardrobe is the mannish jacket—and today's pattern presents one which is just right. Just right in its new hip length, four-button closing, dart-fitting through the torso, high-cut lapels, and patch pockets. Just the jacket to turn out in rugged tweeds, loud plaids, or a neat check. With it is a flared skirt, simply made and to be finished with tailored belt kept in place with belt loops around the top.

Pattern No. 8124 is designed for sizes 11 to 19. Size 13 jacket requires 2 1/2 yards 35-inch material, 1 1/2 yards 54-inch, and 3/4 yards 35- or 39-inch lining. Skirt, 2 1/2 yards 35-inch material, 1 1/2 yards 54-inch.

For this attractive pattern, send 15 cents in coin, your name, address, pattern number, and size, to The Pampa News Today's Pattern Service, 211 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

Parent Education Club Will Sponsor Lectures By Child Expert On Friday

Final plans were made for the lectures of Dr. Garry C. Myers when Parent Education club members met in the home of Mrs. Fred Radcliff Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. Myers is to speak over Radio Station KPDM at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. Questions pertaining to child guidance or family relationships may be sent to the radio station by anyone who so desires and he will answer them on his broadcast.

Dr. Myers will speak in the Junior High auditorium Friday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock on the subject, "Our Children in These Times," and again in the evening on the topic, "Home Education for Character and Citizenship." These meetings are open to the public and no admission charge will be made.

The meeting was opened Tuesday afternoon with a prayer by Mrs. Garlton Nance, followed by the pledge to the flag by the club members.

Mrs. W. A. Rankin, presided over the business session. The group voted to send Mrs. Frank Smith, "Our Children in These Times," to Fort Worth, April 27 to May 2, to attend the convention of Texas Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. Fred Thompson, vice-president for next year, was elected alternate.

The club voted to send a group of five women to appear on the White's School of the Air over KPDM on Friday. The resignation of Mrs. Wiley Day, who is moving from Pampa, was accepted, and Mrs. Carlton Nance was appointed representative to the Council of Clubs to replace Mrs. Day.

Mrs. Smith asked members to take yarn or knit six-inch squares for the Red Cross afghan, which the club is making.

Mrs. Joe Gordon invited the group to attend the regular meeting of the Twenty-first Century club next Tuesday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Frank Gulberson.

Roll call was answered by each member telling a way to entertain a convalescent child.

Mrs. E. H. Neustiel introduced the guest speaker, Miss Ursula McCarty, school nurse who spoke on the "Communicable Diseases which Children Have." She discussed the symptoms, serums, and care of many of the children's diseases such as mumps, chicken pox, scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough, small pox, and diphtheria. She said that the common cold is the early symptom of many of the diseases such as measles, chicken pox, and others.

"A child, who has a cold, should be kept away from other children until the parents are sure he does not have some contagious disease, because during the first two or three days most diseases are more con-

Nyners Bridge Club Entertained By Miss Lucile Saxon Recently

Special To The NEWS
MIAMI, Feb. 19—Miss Lucile Saxon was hostess to Nyners Bridge club recently with one of the most charming parties of the month when she employed the "V for Victory" motif as her theme of the evening.

The central decorative attraction was the centerpiece on the dining table composed of small candy canes and patriotic banners arranged on a reflector. These were later used on the plates as favors.

Defense Stamps were awarded the holders of high scores: Miss Mittie Beck for guests, and Miss Junita Wade for members.

Refreshments carried out the party's theme, with small "V" mints on the ice cream, cookies, and mints.

Present were Meses, Bill Gill, G. M. Walls, Buford Low, J. D. Prichard, W. H. Carr, Paul Bowers, and Misses Junita Wade, Mittie Beck, and the hostess.

Church Women Of Miami To Observe World Day Of Prayer

Special To The NEWS
MIAMI, Feb. 19—Church women of Miami will observe the World Day of Prayer in a joint meeting Friday at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church.

A committee met last week and assigned parts on the program which will be presented as suggested by the National Committee of Church Women.

The theme, "I Am the Way," will be portrayed in responsive readings, prayer, hymns, and music. Women from the Baptist, Methodist, and Christian missionary organizations will take part on the program.

All women of the community are urged to attend.

Fifth Birthday Of Sarah O'Loughlin Observed At Party

Special To The NEWS
MIAMI, Feb. 19—Sarah O'Loughlin was entertained on her fifth birthday, when her mother honored her with a small-folk's dinner.

The dinner was served on small tables with the valentine theme being carried out in decorations and favors. Colored balloons and valentines were given each of the small guests. After the dinner, they played games.

Those at the party were Miss Mathers, Myra Montgomery, Anne O'Loughlin, John Horace Smith, D. I. Barnett, Ernest Wilkenson, Barry Stone of Portales, N. M., and Tommy and Sarah O'Loughlin.

Officers Elected For Ensuing Year By Presbyterians

Meeting officers for the new year, members of Woman's Auxiliary of First Presbyterian church met in the west room of the church Wednesday afternoon.

Those named were Mrs. Fred Roberts, president; Mrs. Bruce Pratt, first vice-president; Mrs. W. S. Dixon, second vice-president; Mrs. Harry Hoare, secretary; and Mrs. E. L. Biggerstaff, treasurer.

Secretaries elected were as follows: Mrs. B. E. Finley, literature; Mrs. J. C. Richey, missionary education; Mrs. M. A. Graham, membership; Mrs. Carl Jones, stewardship and spiritual life; Mrs. E. C. Casey, social education and action; Mrs. E. W. Voss, over-seas sewing; and Mrs. Clyde Fatheree, publicity.

The auxiliary will be divided into three circles for the new year with Mrs. R. H. Nestiel, Mrs. George Prieuf, and Mrs. E. C. Sidwell as chairmen.

All members who will sew next Monday afternoon between 2:30 and 4:30 o'clock in the Red Cross room are asked to call Mrs. E. W. Voss at 153. The auxiliary voted to donate $20 to the school cafeteria fund.

After Mrs. Prieuf led the devotional on "Grace of God," the spiritual life study, a continuation of "How to Use the Bible Every Day" was given by Mrs. Carl Jones. Continuing of the national mission study on "Presbyterian Rural Mission," Mrs. M. A. Graham presented the program.

Mrs. Casey and Mrs. George Briggs, hostesses for the afternoon, served refreshments to 29 members.

COMPLETE FEMININE HYGIENE DEMANDS:

MUCH has been written about feminine hygiene. But too often women overlook hygiene in the sense of the word—uncleanliness and sweetness. You cannot be attractive with underarms moist, stained and smelly. Use Arrid, the new cream deodorant.

1. Arrid does not rot dresses, does not irritate skin.
2. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.
3. Instantly checks perspiration 1 to 3 days. Removes odor from perspiration, keeps armpits dry.
4. Arrid is a pure, white, greaseless, stain-free washing cream.
5. Awarded Approval Seal of American Institute of Laundering as harmless to fabric.

Women use more Arrid than any other deodorant. Try a 10¢, 30¢ or 50¢ jar today at any store which sells toilet goods.

THE EVENTUAL GARDEN CROP will certainly be no better than the preplanting that was made for the war garden. Above is a good example of a well-planned, well-laid out garden being cultivated by a community group in Tooele County, Utah.

The vegetables listed may be different in some cases from those preferred in a particular region, but if substitutions are made, it is suggested they be made among vegetables of a similar kind—i. e., one leafy green vegetable for another or one root crop for another. Beets, turnips and chard are virtually two vegetables in one, while their leaves are young and tender, because both leaves and roots may be eaten.

Careless planting of a war garden results in waste and waste of any sort cannot be tolerated by a nation at war. The following article tells you how you can plan efficiently, saving seed, insecticides, fertilizer, time and energy. The article is the ninth of twelve, prepared by NEA Service and The Pampa News in cooperation with the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

By NEA Service

A definite planting plan, developed weeks before the ground is plowed, is the basis for a successful community garden.

The best kind of plan will include the kinds of vegetables to be planted, varieties and amounts of each kind, amount of seed required, cost of seed, kind and amount of fertilizer, cost of fertilizer, and kind, amount, and cost of insecticides that will probably be needed. In addition, experienced gardeners refer to their time-of-planting chart to decide which varieties to plant first and how early each may be safely planted.

The two most important points to consider when deciding which crops to plant are:

- (1) Is the crop an easy one to grow under local conditions of soil and climate?
- (2) Is the vegetable rich in minerals and vitamins?

are high in vitamins, minerals, and other food values, or those that add variety or color to the menu. Some vegetables can be planted at intervals over the entire growing period. Others grow to maturity in a short season and can be followed by different crops.

The tabulation accompanying this article is a planting scheme for a garden site about 100 by 150 feet in size, is suitable for a school or community garden. It was worked out by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to include vegetables, important for good nutrition, that are easy to cultivate under average conditions.

All rows are 3 feet apart except tomatoes and squash, which are spaced 4 1/2 feet. Rows run the long way of the plot for convenience in working and tall-growing crops like pole beans are placed on the north or west side of the garden, if possible, so they do not shade low crops.

This plan includes about 32 rows of vegetables, and the varieties listed are those that do well under most growing conditions.

CONSIDER THE MATURING DATE

There are other things to consider, too. For example, school gardeners may wish to grow crops that can be started easily so as to supply some nutritious vegetables throughout the winter for school lunches. Perhaps they will want to discontinue the garden when school closes for summer vacation toward the end of June.

If so, only crops that will be ready for harvest before that time should be planted. On the other hand, if the students decide to "see it through" and take turns working the garden through the summer, later-maturing vegetables can be planted.

If the garden is to contribute to better-fed families in the community, it will contain many leafy green vegetables and certain others that

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Words Won't Win War.

This war will not be won with words. It will not be won with talk about sacrifice and privation. Those things the American people will take as a matter of course. This war will be won with work. It will be won by utilizing the potentially limitless American production machine to the absolute limit.

We must pursue a different path in the future. The appointment of a one-man defense head and the abolition of the bungling, indecisive OPM are important steps in the right direction. Now there is only one job for all of us, from the President down to the lowliest worker in the smallest defense plant. That job is to produce—to produce as no nation ever produced before, to work as no people ever worked before.

Look at the American industrial machine. What nation in history has ever been so rich in resources and machines? The motor plants, the coal and metal mines, the oil fields, the power and light systems, the plane makers, the steel mills, the transportation agencies—these and a thousand other enterprises constitute an industrial empire which has long been the envy of an imitating world.

To fall in this war, on either the home front or the military front, would be death for free enterprise, death for free government, death for all the other freedoms. We are learning, at long last, the terrible, costly mistakes of yesterday. Let them be used to show us the way to unparalleled achievement today and tomorrow.

Strong For America

The United States during the past week saluted a million and a half Boy Scouts who are celebrating the 32nd anniversary of their organization. The boys in this spontaneous "youth movement" are already justifying their war slogan "Strong for America." They collected 10,000,000 pounds of aluminum. They distributed defense bond posters in 11,500 communities. They listed 400,000 homes available for defense housing. They are serving their country every day, an important element in victory.

Further, more than eight million "alumni" of the Boy Scout movement are serving their country in more mature capacities. Some of them, no doubt, are with MacArthur in the Philippines; all are serving the better for having been Scouts. America honors her Boy Scouts; thanks them for past services; congratulates them on greater service to come.

Much In Little

George Ade is an old man, having passed his 76th birthday. His reputation as the "Hoosier humorist" depends on writings, chiefly the "Fables in Slang," which already sound "dated" to a generation which has passed them by.

Evidence that this is true comes from a sentence in his birthday interview in which he came about as close to telling what the war is all about in one sentence as some others have done in encyclopedic books. Said Ade:

The Nation's Press

President Roosevelt has vetoed a bill which would have required the registration of members of the communist party as agents of a foreign government. Actually, an impartial enforcement of the 1938 act for registration of foreign agents would include the communists, but that act has never been enforced against the party.

In his veto message the President asserted that "active collaboration of a military or economic nature with friendly countries requires the fullest and most constant exchange of representations between us." Enforcement of the vetoed act, he implied, would interfere with our relations with Russia. The argument is hard to follow. The bill would have placed no greater restrictions upon communists, either Russian citizens or citizens of the United States, than are already in force in Russia against Americans and Russians alike. Certainly Russia could not complain if the United States adopted her own measures. An American in Russia has to carry a passport and is subjected to constant surveillance by the secret police. What measures the Russian government would take against one of its own citizens who undertook to bring about the substitution of an American republican form of government for

COMMON GROUND

By R. C. HOLLES

"I speak the past-world primer, I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms."

PRODUCTION AND EXPLOITATION

There are only two means of securing the comforts of life. One of these is by working and producing; the other is by exploiting others, sometimes called spoliation.

Here are the four methods, according to Bastiat: "First of all War. Among savages the conqueror puts to death the vanquished, in order to acquire a right, which, if not incontestable, is, at least, uncontested, to his enemy's hunting grounds.

"Then comes Slavery. When man comes to find that the land may be made fertile by means of labour, he says to his brother man, 'Thine be the labour, and mine the product.'"

"Next we have Priestcraft. 'According as you give or refuse me a portion of your substance, I will open to you the gate of Heaven or of Hell.' 'Lastly comes Monopoly. Its distinguishing character is to leave in existence the great social law of service for service, but to bring force to bear upon the bargain, so as to impair the just proportion between the service received and the service rendered. . . ."

We have several laws now that make monopoly very oppressive to those excluded. The union labor monopoly is crushing the economic life out of those the unions refuse to permit to freely exchange their services.

The exploiting of priestcraft by making religion magic and supernatural has been greatly reduced. But still we have many preachers who know so little about Christianity, or care so little about it, that they will not preach a religion which they dare discuss or permit questions to be asked about. This kind of a religion is a method of exploiting their fellowman.

PIECE WORK AND GOVERNMENT LAWS

Few people realize that under the present federal and state laws, it is impossible for some people to sell the product of their labor on a piece-work basis. They must sell their time on an hourly basis. Our lawmakers do not seem to know, or if they do, they do not care, that people never buy the time of other people. They only buy the production of other people. And when we make laws that make it so the small producer cannot sell his services on a unit basis at the same price the fast producer can sell his, we are doing not only the slow man but the fast man a great injustice.

We do the slow man an injustice because he cannot get a job and will have to work for himself. This he is not qualified to do. So he will have to be supported by the labor of the more efficient. Thus, the efficient have the rewards of their labor reduced by the very amount that the slow people could produce, if they were not prevented from getting jobs because of laws that prevent them from having the right to sell their production on the same unit basis as the efficient man can sell his.

This stupidity is a serious indictment on the educational institutions of our land. It is evidence that schooling is not synonymous with education. If the people really understood this heinous crime they were performing against the least fit, whom they pose as helping, they would never consent to a minimum wage law being on our statutes.

When a thing cannot be theoretically reasoned out, it seems foolish to try to put it into practice by law.

The question is how much misery and how much poverty we will have to have before people realize what we are doing to ourselves, or until some Caesar seizes control of our country.

NOT BOUND TO WIN

We have been suffering a long time from both political parties taking the attitude that the test of a candidate was whether or not he could win. We are reaping the fruits of this kind of leadership. What we need now, as we did in Lincoln's time, is men who take the position he took when he said, "I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true. I am not bound to succeed but I am bound to live up to what light I have."

We need men who believe there is light; that there are laws, principles, rules that were not made by man or that man cannot unmake.

AMERICANS ALSO THINK WITH THEIR BLOOD

Few American whites realize with what bitterness the Negro tenth of the nation thinks about its relation to the war. It has become rare indeed to find a Negro who does not regard the democratic purposes proclaimed in the national war aims as a compound of hypocrisy and deception. Nothing that has happened so far, however, has deepened this Negro bitterness so much as the dispute with the Red Cross over Negro gifts of blood for the blood-bank which is being built up for the armed forces. The refusal of the navy to accept Negro recruits except as kitchen menials, the segregation policy of the army, the discriminations practiced against Negro workers in defense industries—all these have been bed enough. But the rejection of Negro offers of blood proved the final straw. For weeks after this rejection became known the Negro community seethed with indignation. Under this pressure the Red Cross is now trying to undo the harm already done. It has announced that from now on it will accept blood gifts from Negro donors. But these are to be segregated and used only for Negro troops. It is admitted that there is no scientific excuse for such a policy; it is simply a concession to American racial prejudice, and both whites and Negroes know it. "Think with your blood!" the Nazi slogan exhorts. Well, German Nazis aren't the only ones who do.

The new post of Hitler as head of the Nazi armed forces apparently means he is prepared to assume full responsibility for everything that happens hereafter. (Kansas City Star)

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 19.—Behind the scenes. The keynote of Hollywood just now is definitely discontent. Divorce rumors are thicker than press agents. A married screen queen has promised, practically in public, to yank the hennaed hair off a predatory cutie as soon as they meet. For reasons which are not quite clear, perhaps even to themselves, two actors are threatening to take each other apart.

All the major studios are mad at one another because of feuds between their rival theater chains. Four of the companies are being sued by stockholders over money matters, but independent exhibitors are screaming their heads off because the producing outfits are hogging all the profits.

Some of the stars are refusing to appear in more than two or three films a year for any price, on account of taxes, and players chosen for the additional pictures are demanding star salaries. The house of representatives refused to pay Jean Gabin, who played the part of Walt Disney for a picture he made on order from the secretary of the treasury. All the top independent producers, such as Welles, Selznick, and Chaplin, have formed their own association outside the Hays group.

Welles, incidentally, has gone to Brazil for some months, and Dolores Del Rio is remaining here. Cary Grant and Barbara Hutton now are just acquaintances. Ginger Rogers has beaten Marlene Dietrich's time with Jean Gabin, and Miss Dietrich isn't speaking to John Wayne, though they have to make love in "The Spoilers." Metro has told Ape-Man Weismuller to go climb a tree. The executive staffs of two studios are being shaken up—and out.

Critical quotes: "She has an impromptu complexion—makes it up as she goes along." "He's crazy about his wife or any reasonably accurate female." "She looks like something you win at a carnival when the man guesses your weight wrong."

DELAYS JUMPED UP

For the third time in as many years, an attempt will be made to film "The Yearling." This time, though, it'll be done here, with many of the professional actors, and a zoo-bred deer. . . . Another delayed picture, "The Outlaw," will be released soon. It's the screen debut of Jane Russell, who for months has been decorating movie magazines with any established glamorist.

SOME SUSPENSE

Talking about his new picture, Humphrey Bogart said, "It certainly has a lot of suspense. We're wondering how the story will turn out. Even the writers are wondering; they've only finished 50 pages of the script."

Anything Betty (Beanvine) Mounts likes a lot of other people like, and that's why her favorite song is being published in this space today. Betty and her twin, Billy (Peavine), were school favorites last year. Now Billy is at Texas U. and Betty is in Pampa with her mother, who runs a small cafe which the kids peek so tightly you couldn't get another one in with a shoe horn. Well a fixture of the cafe is a juke box and a record on the juke box is this song which Mrs. Mounts estimates has been played 1,728 times since Betty got it a week ago. Betty copied the song off for us, just as the fellow sings it with appropriate inflections, on the record. Here is the song and thanks, Betty, for sending it in:

And he'll think a cyclone struck him when we're through it. We'll take that double-crosser to the ole woodshed. We'll start right on his bottom and we'll work to his head. When we get done with him he'll wish that he were dead. We gotta slap the dirty little Jap.

Uncle Sam's a man who's given a helpin' hand. To many a foreign land—don't forget it. But when somebody goes to conk him on his toes they'll regret it. We're gonna hafta slap the dirty little Jap. And Uncle Sam's the guy who can do it.

The Japs and all their hokey will be changed into chop suey And the rising sun will set. When we get through it. Their alibi for fighting is to save their face. For ancestors waiting in celestial space. We'll kick their precious face down to the other place. We gotta slap the dirty little Jap.

We're gonna hafta slap the dirty little Jap. And Uncle Sam's the guy who can do it. I wouldn't fool you mister he can raise an awful blister. And somebody's pants will burn before we're through it. We'll reach across the ocean and grab that yellow Jap. And turn him upside down right on Democracy's lap. We'll blister his Axis and do it with a snap. We gotta slap the dirty little Jap. Uncle Sam is mild, as peaceful as a child. But never get him riled or you will rue it. So now they wanta fight—Well they're bit off quite a bite. And Uncle Sam is gonna make 'em chew it.

We're gonna hafta slap the dirty little Jap. And Uncle Sam's the guy who can do it. For if really is a feature when he starts to be a teacher. There are several pupple who've been through it. Your Federal Income Tax Losses incurred in the operation of farms as business enterprises are deductible from gross income. If farm products are held for favorable markets, no deduction on account of shrinkage in weight or physical value, or by reason of deterioration in storage is allowed, except as such shrinkage may be reflected in an inventory if used in determining profits.

The destruction by frost, storm, flood, or fire of a prospective crop is not a deductible loss in computing net income since it represents a loss of anticipated profits which have never been reported as income. Likewise, a farmer engaged in raising and selling livestock, such as cattle, sheep, and hogs, is not entitled to claim as a loss the value of animals that perish from among those animals that were raised on the farm, except as such loss is reflected in an inventory, if used. If livestock has been purchased for any purpose, and afterward dies from disease, exposure, or injury, or is killed by order of the authority of a state or the United States, the actual purchase price of such livestock, less any depreciation allowable as a deduction in respect of such livestock, may be deducted as a loss if the loss is not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. The actual cost of stock killed or other property destroyed in respect of which a loss was claimed in a prior year, if the amount received is required to be reported as income for the year in which reimbursement is made. The cost of any feed, pasture, or care which has been deducted as an expense of operation must not be included as part of the cost of the stock for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of a deductible loss.

If gross income is ascertained by use of inventories, no deduction can be taken separately for livestock or products lost during the year, whether purchased for resale or produced on the farm, as such losses will be reflected in the inventory by reducing the amount of livestock or products on hand at the close of the year, which has the effect of reducing gross income from business by the amount of the loss.

If an individual owns and operates a farm in addition to being engaged in another trade or business, the farming operations, which loss may be deducted from gross income received from all sources in determining the taxpayer's net income, provided such farm is not operated for recreation or pleasure.

If a farm is operated for recreation or pleasure and not on a commercial basis, and if the expenses incurred in connection therewith are in excess of the receipts therefrom, the entire receipts from the sale of products may be ignored in rendering a return of income, and the expenses incurred, being regarded as personal expenses, will not constitute allowable deductions for Federal income-tax purposes.

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—This age you lived in before the war fell on you has at various times been referred to as the electrical age, the age of plastics, the gasoline age, the alloy age and so on. But it has taken the war with its economic shortages and scares to show just what commodities you are dependent upon for daily existence. And right up near the top of the list, if not at the actual head, is the stuff called rubber. The whole problem of automobile transport for the next few years is dependent upon this rubber situation.

Of the 27,500,000 cars on the road today, says the American Automobile Association, 7,500,000 were new cars placed in operation in 1940-41 and therefore with tires good for another year. In this same period, there were replacement sales of 80,000,000 tires, enough for the other 20,000,000 cars. This sale of 80,000,000 replacement tires was, however, exceedingly heavy—more than twice the normal sale of 39,000,000 replacement tires per year. This can mean only that a lot of car owners have rubber in reserve. No one knows who or how many or where.

The only known factor is that at the time rationing went into effect, there were between seven and eight million tires in the hands of dealers and it is these visible though frozen supply which must keep the armed services and the essential services going while the shortage lasts. Adding up these factors, consider what can happen.

DETERIORATION A FACTOR

If all these replacement tires held by private owners are hoarded for their own use, the country may ride longer than most of the statisticians figured. That is, if the tires aren't held in reserve so long the rubber deteriorates, which improperly stored rubber will do.

If the hoarded rubber finds its way into the hands of bootleg tire dealers, watch out for all the evils of prohibition days including hijacking, tire speakies, bribery, gangsterism—anything and everything to beat legitimate tire rationing. Some tire bootlegging is already going on. In a few metropolitan centers the competition between bootleg dealers is so keen the price has actually been driven down. Casings that normally sold for $18 are going for $15.

The potentialities for a petty crime wave in this situation are fairly obvious. Police reports indicate an increase in tire thievery and the hot tire market is booming. Then the fact that legitimate tire rationing is to function through 9000 local tire rationing boards gives an indication of how much pressure the rationing boards will try to exert in order to get a permit to buy new rubber for their particular car and never mind about the car owner's next door, or the army, or leasehold or Latin America.

RETREADS CONTROLLED

Solution to many of the problems of keeping the cars rolling will of course come through retreading, which is now under price control and which must be rationed just as stringently as new tires. A new tire takes 14 pounds of raw rubber, a "retread" or "retraced" takes 3, making a good saving when you consider that a retreaded tire gives 80 per cent additional mileage at half new tire cost.

Before the war, tire makers naturally discouraged retreading though truck and bus owners retreaded extensively, and in 1941 an estimated seven million tires were retreaded. Ten million tires might be retreaded this year in the 4000 shops equipped with retreading molds, and a maximum of 30,000,000 retreads a year might be achieved in time. There is an industry scrap on, however, between manufacturers and independent retreading shops as to how camelback shall be equitably rationed. Eventually it will have to be rationed and so will the molds and the customers privileged to have a retread. Policing all this rationing is still another problem.

From the brief outline, any car owner can see what he is up against in keeping his old bus in service during the war. To say that this rubber situation is confused puts it mildly, without going into the whirligig of where raw rubber supplies are to come from if the Dutch East Indies are cut off and how much can be had from Latin America, synthetic plants and guayule.

To clear up the confusion and let the motorists know where they ride, AAA has asked Senator Truman's Defense Investigating Committee to explore the whole subject in open hearings.

WASHINGTON COMBINGS

Washington taxicabs are being organized into emergency ambulance units. . . . Municipal anti-smoke ordinances may be upset by difficulties in getting low-smoke coals. . . . Tin cans has been reduced from one-half to one and one-fourth per cent. . . . The fire pump industry is stepping up production from 30 to 100 units a day. . . . The typewriter industry, which made a million machines last year, will cut production 25 per cent and convert to ordnance production. . . . Brush makers must use only 45 per cent imported Chinese pig bristle, substituting horsehair, nylon, sisal, badger or hixle. . . . Canadian and United States price administration are co-operating to set maximums on newspaper. . . . Consumers who find retail sugar prices more than one cent higher on a five-pound bag than they were in the first week of December should protest to the storekeeper.

BUY DEFENSE BONDS

Major naval air stations and bases usually cover at least 2,000 acres of land which must border on water suitable for seaplanes.

The old propaganda story, used during the World War, used again to divide the French from the British during this war, about how the British will "fight to the last Frenchman" "to the last colonial" is going the rounds again. In some cases there is reason to believe that it is being deliberately planted to divide the Allies once again, the old, old tactic of sowing dissension and distrust. . . . The British have an answer, and generally have felt called upon to make it public. . . . It is simply that 71.3 per cent of the total casualties of the British Commonwealth of Nations in the war thus far, have been among soldiers and sailors of the United Kingdom, that is, from England, Scotland, Wales, and Northern Ireland. . . . Unless and until those official figures are disproved, they are surely more worthy of belief than idle chatter and biased suppositions. . . . And, you don't have to leave Pampa to hear that kind of propaganda, either!

It isn't funny any more, but merely a little sickening, to read of Berlin radio broadcasts beamed for East Asia telling how Wotan, the German pagan god, is one with the Japanese god of the sun and the winds as fellow-symbols of pure Aryanism, linking Germany and Japan in a supernatural bond. . . . The appalling thing about all this twaddle is not merely that it is irrational, silly, and impudently faked. . . . It is that millions of people have been induced to act on the orders of the kind of warped mind that produced it. . . . That, too, is what we are fighting.

The guards were heroes, every man, the dispatches said, telling of their desperate rear-guard action all the way from Ipo to that last stand before Singapore. . . . MacArthur's magnificents are heroes, every one, scratching and clawing every inch of the way back to the horizon of the men who fought toward the end of the Bataan peninsula. . . . Herosim is not enough. . . . The thing predicted from the moment of the unexpected attack on Pearl Harbor has come to pass. . . . The bad news which we were warned to expect is here. . . . We have lost the opening rounds of the war. We are, up to this point, a defeated nation. . . . To speak in such terms is not defeatism. . . . It is realism. . . . That Victory can come only after defeat has been looked squarely in the face. . . . Today all America is slowly realizing that we could LOSE this war.

Americans are not the kind of people to be discouraged by that. . . . It is the first preliminary toward bucking down to the kind of an effort that will win it. . . . Win it we must, for our own sake, for the sake of our future and our children's future, for the sake of all humanity and civilization. Win it we will. . . . But events in the South Pacific make it clear that the task will be even greater than most of us had feared. It is too late now to bemoan the loss of Malaya despite the individual heroism of the men who fought in vain. . . . That has had its counterpart there. . . . It is, or must be made, a thing of the past.

WE shall have to fight our way inch by inch to the destruction of Japanese military power; anything less implies our own destruction. While we do this we must at the same time extend utmost help to every theater of war where it is possible to strike, directly or indirectly, our enemies that may be combined against us. . . . It is a sobering thought, and one which means very simply that no person's private affairs count for much until this menace has been removed. . . . Like our forefathers of the Revolution we are in for a battle for survival. Let us serve notice on the world, by actions, not words, that we propose to survive—and how!

SERIAL STORY

KINGS ROW

BY HENRY BELLAMANN

THE STORY: Schoolmates in smalltown Kings Row are orphaned Parris Mitchell, desperate Parris Mitchell, desperate childhood sweetheart Renee...

us. Years ago." He added the last two words a bit sadly. "I'll see you later, Sonny; you must come down often and play for Lucy!"

"Yep. Take a fancy to you right off. Tell you what you do. Go down and see her. Let her talk to you for a little while. She gets pretty lonesome."

STRANGE FRIENDSHIP

CHAPTER VIII

PARRIS told his grandmother the story that evening after supper. She was indignant. So was Colonel Skeffington...

"Are they going to do anything about the Singer boy, Colonel?" "Not now, but somebody will aggravate that boy until he does something desperate."

"I've got more help of that kind than I can use, but if you can't find anything else, let me know. I'm sure he doesn't belong in the asylum, as people are saying."

Colonel Skeffington flared above his shining red beard. "There you are now! Did you ever notice, Marie, how in this town everybody's always ready to send somebody to the asylum?"

TOM CARR moved into the overseer's cottage the following week. Parris went down to watch the men unload the household stuff.

Mr. Carr was so lively and said so many funny things that Parris laughed. He realized he hadn't laughed much in a long time.

Lucy Carr wore a dress trimmed with many colors. Innumerable strings of beads lay about her neck, and many cheap rings shone on her tiny hands—deformed-looking, helpless little hands—so tiny that they seemed like doll hands attached to her enormous arms.

The cart rolled into the backyard. Tom Carr hopped out gaily, detached a little ladder, and set it close to the wheel. "Now, then, sweetheart, here we are. Give me your hands. Upstairs!"

"Lucy wheezed noisily." "Ha!" once or twice, and then "Ho! Ho! Ho!"

"Lucy, my love, this is Mrs. von Ein's grandson. Name's Sonny." Parris sat down on the edge of a chair and waited.

Mr. Carr talked once or twice of Lucy to Madame von Ein. She was a pretty girl, Mrs. von Ein, and a happy girl. A proud girl, too.

A STRANGE friendship sprang up between Lucy Carr and Parris. It had begun a few days after the Carrs arrived. Old Tom saw Parris and hailed him.

"Excitement," said Dr. Gordon, giving Lucy a sleeping powder.

Later Parris went down to the little house and tiptoed into the front room. Lucy Carr lay on the bed and Tom was rocking her gently, crooning in his deep bass voice.

Lucy saw him. "Look, honey, it's Sonny. Glad, Sonny."

Parris sat down on the edge of a chair and waited. She closed her eyes and slept for a while. Her breathing was louder than he had ever heard it, though she always struggled to get air.

Lucy opened her eyes after a while. They seemed to roll loosely in her head. "Sonny, play," she gasped.

Parris sat down and began to play. The weird sounds jingled and crackled under his fingers.

He played on and on. He heard her breath come more and more slowly, but he thought the awful cranking sound was more frequent.

The afternoon light faded, and the still spring twilight came on gradually. Still Parris played on and on. He thought Lucy must be falling asleep. He could scarcely hear her.

"The insane witches' music that came from the piano was beginning to make his head ache. The creak of the rockers on the floor slowed and stopped."

Tom Carr laid a hand on his shoulder. "That will do now. The insane witches' music that came from the piano was beginning to make his head ache."

"You and I, everyone of us here at home, must realize now, today, that we can give those boys the weapons they need only by going the limit in producing them. We can not let any consideration whatsoever interfere with the job of production."

Soldiers in South Just Won't Wear Long Underwear

ATLANTA, Feb. 19 (AP)—Soldiers stationed in the South just won't wear long underwear, the fourth corps area quartermaster staff has discovered.

Lieut.-Col. William F. Ritter said the quartermaster staff found that winter underwear, issued to soldiers last fall, had never been worn.

But the army intends to keep on issuing long underwear, Ritter said. "The soldiers will hit a climate where they'll find the thick garments mighty welcome."

Monday, Says Nelson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—War Production Director Donald M. Nelson told the nation today it could not afford a Washington's birthday shutdown "anywhere on the production line."

He asked every plant to cancel his holiday on Monday, February 23. If it had scheduled one and settle the labor terms later.

Nelson's full statement: "The United States is fighting for its life. I mean that. We're on the spot. We're paying heavily for our complacency, for our selfishness, for our failure to peel off our shirts and do a job."

"A lot of good American boys right now are face to face with a grim, determined, well-equipped enemy. They're taking punishment—taking it with courage and in the spirit that has always animated American troops. But those boys can't stop planes and tanks with their bare hands. They can't get where they have got to go without what it takes to get there. Only we can give it to them."

"You and I, everyone of us here at home, must realize now, today, that we can give those boys the weapons they need only by going the limit in producing them. We can not let any consideration whatsoever interfere with the job of production."

Today's War Analysis

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The Japanese, racing against time to beat Allied reinforcements, are rapidly intensifying their offensive against the East Indies and Burma, and the position of the defense in both these strategically vital positions is serious.

As previously remarked in this column, we likely are in for more very bad news in the immediate future. That sort of thing isn't pleasant to discuss, but we shall save a lot of wear and tear on the nerves if we face the facts about these unfortunate situations squarely.

While we are on the subject of bad news, the Mikado's forces appear to have begun their supreme effort to crush General MacArthur on the Bataan Peninsula. Indications are that the Japs finally have got set for their all-out offensive.

Now the cold fact about the Philippines seems to be that MacArthur has little hope of holding out without strong reinforcements. He there were any way of getting them to him. But there hasn't been, for the Japanese have an overwhelming force of troops ashore and they control both the air and the sea about the islands. In other words, it looks as though the general would have to work the thing out for himself.

In Indonesia the Nipponese are, of course, seeking a double prize—the vast resources of the Indies and their strategic strength. Java is the key position and here is centered most of the Dutch defense, which is considerable. This rich island, together with neighboring Sumatra, represents the last bulwark between the Japanese and the Indian ocean, and if they force that bulwark they will have opened up a water-way to India and Burma.

The question of whether Java can be held depends on whether heavy reinforcements can reach there in time, and the Dutch are looking to Uncle Sam for this help. What is needed is a large fleet of warplanes of all categories, especially fighter planes to stand off the Jap bombers which have been causing such havoc. As has been emphasized before, a great part of the grief which has come to the Allies in the southwest Pacific has been due to their lack of air power.

If America is in position to get planes to Java in time, the island may be saved. Without planes there is small hope. Only the Allied war chiefs know whether (1) we have the planes to spare and whether (2) if we do have the planes we have the facilities to get them to the scene of the conflict in time.

So far as Sumatra is concerned, there seems small hope of that being held, although the defenders are doing yeoman work. Possession of this island, which lies almost up against Java, would be a tremendous asset to the aggressors in making their final assault.

The Japanese bombing of the northern Australian port of Darwin today, represents an effort to prevent that base being used to aid Java.

The Japanese drive against Burma has continued to make progress, and they are getting dangerously close to the Rangoon-Lashio railway which feeds the Burma road to China. The loss of Burma would have far-reaching consequences, not only because it might result in China being strangled but because it would leave the Japs sitting on the doorstep of mighty India.

We are told that there are alternative supply routes into China, but it's my understanding that, while several are being developed, none of them is yet ready. In other words, the Burma road would seem to be China's only feasible line to the outside world. The cutting of her war supplies would be a disaster.

The British are evacuating civilians from Rangoon, and that doesn't look like a hopeful sign from this distance. Of course, it doesn't necessarily mean that they don't expect to hold this vital port, but at best it would seem to indicate a lack of air power with which to defend the city from Japanese bombers.

'Great Outfit,' Says Winant Of Ireland Troops

By RICE YAHNER
WITH THE UNITED STATES ARMY IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Feb. 19 (AP)—United States Ambassador John G. Winant made a flying trip from London today to visit United States troops at bases in Northern Ireland and called them "a great outfit."

Accompanying him on the tour were Major General James E. Chaney, commander of United States forces in the British Isles, and Major General Russell P. Hartle, commander of the North Ireland force.

The ambassador, who was a captain in the United States Army Air Corps during World War I, ate his doorstep of mighty India. We are told that there are alternative supply routes into China, but it's my understanding that, while several are being developed, none of them is yet ready. In other words, the Burma road would seem to be China's only feasible line to the outside world. The cutting of her war supplies would be a disaster.

Of course, it doesn't necessarily mean that they don't expect to hold this vital port, but at best it would seem to indicate a lack of air power with which to defend the city from Japanese bombers.

False Teeth And Glasses Won't Keep You Out Of Army

AUSTIN, Feb. 19 (AP)—Local draft boards today were directed to re-classify certain types of selective service registrants previously deferred because of teeth and eyesight deficiencies.

Adjutant General J. Watt Page, state selective service director, said liberalized dental and visual requirements for acceptance of registrants for general military service provide:

That registrants who have no disqualifying physical defects except a lack of the required number of teeth, when in the opinion of the examining physician they are well nourished, of good musculature, are free of gross dental deflections and have sufficient teeth (whether natural or artificial) to subsist on the army ration, will be accepted for general military service in all branches.

That registrants whose visual acuity is below 20/100 but not below 20/200 in each eye without glasses if correctable to 20/40 in each eye, will be accepted for general military service in all noncombatant branches. Actual possession of suitable glasses by an individual is not required for his acceptance under these standards.

General Page stated that all class I-B and class IV-F registrants who are found to be ineligible for military service under liberalized requirements of the armed forces, unless upon reconsideration of their classification they are deferred for other reasons, will be placed in class I-A and sent to army examining boards for final determination as to their acceptability.

meals with the soldiers and chatted freely with them. He said he found the men, mostly from the middle western states, cheerful, healthy, and eager.

"We inspected the camps and ate the food," Winant said of his inspection trip. "Except for a few colds all the men are well. I noticed that each man had four blankets, and ate steak for lunch. Sanitation in the camp was good and everywhere there was the highest morale."

At one camp, talking with soldiers in their metal Messen huts, Winant had a look-up conversation with six-foot-six Sergeant Spencer Hardin, of Tatum, Texas, tallest man in the force.

The ambassador saw outdoor cooking pots shaped like the maple sugar kettles of his native New England and sniffed the aromas of cooking steak, potatoes, and turnips. With tea and cake, that was the soldiers' lunch.

Before leaving, Winant commented that he was "glad to see the men from Minnesota, Iowa, and Texas"—districts he knew in his flying days.

"We appreciate what the British services have done to help our troops," he said, "and the friendly welcome they received from the people of Northern Ireland."
