Foley On Beef Prices

Rep. Tom Foley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee said he is "strongly opposed to any drastic efforts to increase beef imports as a way to hold down rising beef prices in this country. He was speaking to the directors of the TSCRA March 11 in Houston.

"There is a worldwide beef shortage", he said, "and there is not much out there beyond what is already in the quotas." He and some other members of Congress are stressing this to those in the Carter administration who are talking about boosting imports, he told the cattlemen.

Meat is not priced too high, Foley said. The recent sharp increases are really a very late adjustment to the rest of the economy, he said.

Last spring the administration hiked import quotas when prices started to go up, triggering a mid-June drop in fed cattle prices of 10 cents a lb. Imports subject to the law totaled 1,486 billion pounds last year, up 18 percent from 1977, according to USDA statistics.

The TSCRA members, meeting last week in the Albert Thomas Convention Center were lobbying for a counter-cyclical meat import law similar to the one vetoed by President Carter last year. It would allow more meat to enter during periods of short supply and less during periods of surplus, opposite of the present law. The bill has been written by Sen. Bentsen.

There is a "good chance" that Congress will pass such a bill again, Foley predicted. Whether it will contain the restrictions on presidential authority that Carter objected to remains to be seen.

Foley said it will be difficult to pass any laws that require additional federal funds and any that appear to raise the price of food.

"We will put in a good year for the industry if we don't do too much for you," Foley said, drawing applause from the TSCRA directors.

Foley discounted fears that price controls might be clamped on meat. "There are no plans that I know of in the administration, and no sentiment in Congress for mandatory wage and price controls," he said.

In response to a question from the floor, Foley predicted Congress will not step into the 2,4,5,T controversy before scientific debate is ended.

The recent emergency suspension by the EPA will hurt the agency if it acted unnecessarily, Foley said, but added that Congress will not take away its power to suspend a product if the EPA administrator feels there is an imminent hazard.

Borden Relays

The Borden County girls track team was 2nd in the Borden Relays last Friday, losing by 1 point to Smyer. The boys placed 5th in 17 teams, losing only to Lazbuddie, Meadow, Buena Vista and Klondike. Final scores for the girls meet were: Smyer 71, Borden 70, Greenwood 66, Meadow 63, Klondike 59, Ira 41, New Home 31, Buena Vista 26, Lazbuddie 23, Water Valley 20, Roby 18, Wilson, Highland and Dawson 10, Sands 8. Final scores in the boys meet were: Lazbuddie 124, Meadow 72 1/2, Buena Vista 59, Klondike 45, Borden 28, Guthrie 26, New Home 23, Smyer 22, Greenwood 21 1/2, Roby 17, Water Valley 15, Wilson 12, Sands 10, Dawson 8, Hermleigh 4, Hobbs 4, Westbrook 4.

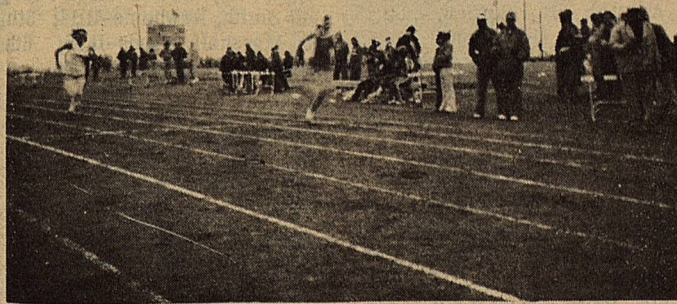

Medals were presented to 1st, 2nd and third place winners and ribbons were presented to 3rd, 4th, 5th & 6th place winners. If a team won 1st, 2nd, or 3rd, each team member received a medal.

Linda Taylor of Smyer received the high point girl trophy for making 20 points for Smyer. Charleson Steinbock of Lazbuddie won the high point boy trophy after chalking up 38 points for his team. Winning relay trophies were Klondike girls-440 team, Smyer girls 880 team, and Smyer girls mile team. Winning relay trophies for the boys were Buena Vista's 440 relay team and Lazbuddie's mile team. Smyer won one of

Porter Withdraws

PAT PORTER

It was announced today that Pat Porter has withdrawn from the five sided race for a position as a trustee on the Borden County school Board.

"I have withdrawn from this race due to unexpected business pressures," said Pat, a well known figure in Borden County.

The Trustee election comes up April 7. Those still in contention are: Bill Phinizy, Bob Dyess, and incumbents T.L. Griffen and Kenneth Williams.

Cattle Raisers Convention

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association 102nd convention was well attended from Borden and surrounding counties.

Approximately 1500 cattle raisers met in Houston last week. Attending the convention from this area were Mr and Mrs. E.L. Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Son Ewing, Bill Phinizy, Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Sterling, Theresa Clayton, Jeff Anderson

Mr. and Mrs. Rich Anderson and John Anderson.

The three day meeting included committee meetings on Monday and Tuesday.

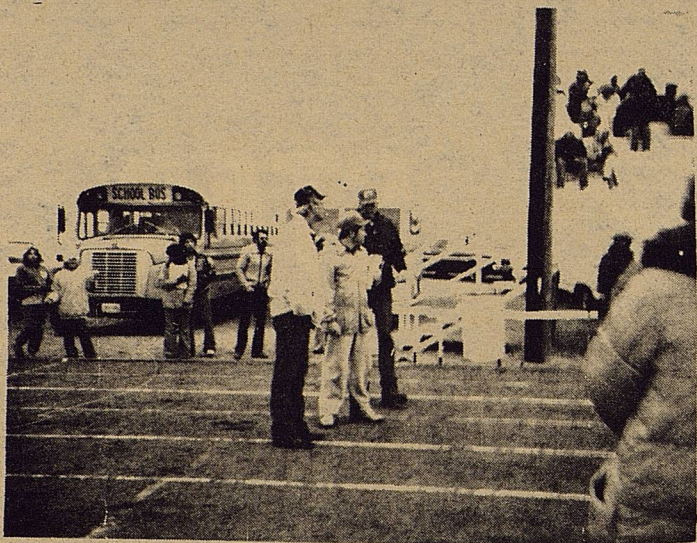

Attending the Animal Health meeting were Bill Phinizy and E.L. Farmer. They reported Brucellosis was again the main concern of the committee and that the attitude was "wait and see what the state plan will be", Phinizy said. "One hope is to divide the state into an East and West half, the latter being practically free of the disease," added Bill.

The average cattlemen in Texas are facing some tough decisions on a state program to control brucellosis, said TSCRA President John Armstrong. Proposed new federal regulations to control this disease includes much tighter

School Board Meeting

The Board of Trustees of the Borden County Independent School District met in a regular session on Tuesday, March 13, 1979. After routine business of minutes and bills, the board ratified the textbook selections that the textbook committee had adopted previously.

Superintendent McLeroy recommended all teachers and teacher aids be rehired for the 1979-1980 school year. The recommendation was accepted by the board. The following teachers and teacher aids were officially contracted for the 1979-80 school year:

- Bob Bagley
- Billie Briggs
- Dave Briggs
- Frances Burkett
- Beverly Copeland
- Joe Copeland
- Dorothy Gray
- Sharon Huddleston
- Netta Jarrett

Huddleston Phi Kappa Phi

Ed Huddleston, third-year student at Texas Tech School of Law, has been chosen for membership in Phi Kappa Phi National Honor Society. Phi Kappa Phi is an interdisciplinary society made up of top ranking students from all departments of the University. Membership in Phi Kappa Phi is the highest honor that the University confers on students.

Huddleston is also a member of Texas Tech Law Review and has had three articles published in the Texas Tech Law Review Journal. One of the articles recently received recognition by the Texas Supreme Court in the Texas Supreme Court Journal. He has maintained an academic standing in the top ten percent of his class throughout his three years at the law school while receiving two American Jurisprudence Awards for excellence in property and family law.

Last summer Huddleston accepted an offer to join the law firm of Law, Snakard, Brown, and Gambill in Fort-Worth. The firm consists of about 30 active attorneys. Following graduation this spring, he will begin his practice in Fort Worth. The firm's practice is concentrated in corporations, real estate, probate, and estate planning, banking, tax, and oil and gas.

Ambulance News

The EMS meeting which was held Wednesday night, March 14, was a very interesting and informative one.

Mr. Dean Williams, Director of Permian Basin EMS and Paramedic, also Jerry Powers, Paramedic with Houston Fire Department was here to demonstrate the New Thumper Machine which we have just purchased.

We had 16 present, Buddy & Pat Telchik & Lance, Buster Taylor, Mr. McLeroy, Jim & Frances Burkett, Dorothy Brown, Lisa Ludecke, Herman & Christine Ledbetter, Larry Smith, Bob Dyess, Pat Porter, Jerald Boyd, Mary Gill, and Frances Bennett. Each one was taught how to use the machine; however it will take more than one time to learn all of the buttons to push and when to push them.

The EMS plan another meeting the 2nd Wednesday in April to practice and learn more about it. We would like for all that can, to come, for this is something everyone should be able to use, and also see how it works.

ASCS News

By JERRY STONE

WHEAT AND BARLEY ACREAGE

March 20th has been established by the County Committee as the appropriate date to remove cattle from wheat and barley acreage planted for harvest as grain. This is the final date the acreage can be grazed with the expectation of producing a normal crop for harvest.

Any wheat or barley acreage grazed past this date will require the County Committee to adjust the crop yield on the farm should the acreage become involved in a low yield disaster payment. The yield reduction would allow for the loss of production caused by the late grazing.

GRAZING AND HAYING OF 1979 - CROP WHEAT AUTHORIZED

Farmers who planted wheat for 1979 harvest now have another option to consider: They may graze or cut hay on their wheat acreage. Wheat grazed or cut for hay under the special acreage grazing and hay program will qualify for the same deficiency payment rate as wheat harvested for grain.

Wheat program participants will be allowed to graze cattle or cut hay on wheat acreage equal to the higher of (1) 50 acres or (2) 40 percent of their total intended plantings of wheat, feed grains (corn, sorghum and barley) and upland cotton.

Producers participation in the special wheat acreage grazing and hay program must also comply with normal crop acreage (NCA) requirements and with set-aside requirements for wheat harvested for grain and feed grain crops planted on their farm(s). There will be no advance payment or minimum payment guarantee this year as was provided to 1978 special wheat acreage grazing and hay program participants. The deficiency payment rate for 1978-crop wheat was 52 cents per bushel.

The 1979 wheat deficiency payment rate will be determined in December and will be the difference between the established target price ($3.40 per bushel) and the higher of either the national average market price during the first five months (June through October) of the marketing year, or the national loan rates ($2.35).

Producers wishing to use this option may indicate their intentions at their local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) County Office during the 1979 wheat and feed grain program sign-up period currently underway. The sign-up period ends April 30.

TEENAGERS NEED NUTRITIOUS FOOD

Teenagers need plenty of nutritious food to meet the needs caused by their body's large growth spurt.

The teenage boy needs more calories than a girl, so he can eat considerably more food than she at this age.

Because a girl needs fewer calories, she must choose food more carefully to meet nutrient needs.

Many teenagers have other problems meeting nutritional needs.

Some parents are unaware of the food habits of their teenagers.

The development of healthy attitudes toward food is an important responsibility of parents. Don't underestimate the influence of fathers', as well as mothers', examples.

Poorly chosen snacks and those that interfere with meal time appetites present a problem.

This is a particular problem for the teenage girl since she needs to choose nutrients wisely to avoid too many calories.

Parents can help teenagers recognize the difference between nutritious and "empty calorie" snacks and help them develop sound snack-consuming habits to improve their diets.

The kinds, time of day and amounts of food they consume as snacks can be critical to teenagers.

Skipping breakfast can create problems in meeting the teenager's need for food. Families who eat breakfast together are more likely to maintain breakfast habits.

Exercise is important for teenagers in maintaining healthy appetites and using excess calories.

Time is a problem for many teenagers who are active in school affairs or who may have jobs.

These demands make it hard to eat with the family and can lead to informal snacking rather than eating a nutritious meal.

Low income of many families is also a problem for many teenagers.

Peer pressure influences teenagers' eating habits and their physical growth.

The concern for personal appearance often provides the teenage boy the motivation needed for eating the large amounts of food adequate for growth and filling out his form.

However, teenage girls want to fit the expected figure pattern of slenderness to be beautiful.

Many feel they must severely limit caloric intake, which can also keep them from eating adequate amounts of food.

SWINE SPECIALISTS TO SPEAK IN PLAINVIEW

Two noted Extension swine specialists from Minnesota and Indiana will join scientists and producers from Texas, Arizona and Iowa to conduct the annual Texas A & M University Swine Shortcourse here Wednesday, April 4.

The course is designed to bring pork producers in West Texas and neighboring states up to date on the latest research and ideas in management and production, said Dr. Robert S. Cohen, Extension area swine specialist at Lubbock.

The program at the Hale County Agricultural Center south of the city begins at 8 a.m. and adjourns at 4:15 p.m. It is organized and sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Cooperating are the department of animal science at A & M, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Pork Producers Assn., and Texas Pork Producers Board. There is a $7 registration fee for the course.

Among the featured speakers will be Dr. Allen Leman, Extension swine health specialist at the University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn.

Also featured will be Dr. Wayne Singleton, reproductive physiologist and Extension specialist at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind.

In the morning session of the course, Leman will discuss opportunities for improving reproductive efficiency. In the afternoon, he will discuss reproductive diseases and problems.

A specialist in swine reproduction, he joined the Minnesota staff in 1975. Prior to that he had served six years as an Extension veterinarian at the University of Illinois.

He is past president of the American Association of Swine Practitioners and has written two books on swine disease.

A native of Peoria, Ill., he earned both the D.V.M. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Illinois.

Singleton will focus on management strategies for the breeding herd during the morning session of the short-course. After lunch, he will outline management strategies for the young boar.

In addition to his duties as an Extension swine specialist, Singleton is an associate professor of animal sciences at Purdue. His outstanding educational programs for swine producers and extension agents have earned him awards from the Purdue University Cooper-

Sigma Delta, Alpha Zeta and Phi Theta Kappa.

A native of Vincennes, Ind., he holds a B.S. degree from Purdue and the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from South Dakota State University.

He served as instructor of animal science at South Dakota State for a year before joining the Purdue staff in 1970.

Anyone interested in attending the Swine Shortcourse can contact the Borden County Extension Office for further information.

West Texas County Judges And Commissioners Meeting

The annual conference of the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association was held at the South Park Inn in Lubbock on March 14-16. Several state officials spoke about matters concerning county government, including John O'Brien, State Comptroller's Office; A. L. Mc-ment; John Poener, Chairman of the Railroad Commission and Mark White, Texas Attorney General, State Senator E. L. Short discussed proposed legislation that could affect counties in the future.

Attending from Borden County were Herman Ledbetter and Jim Burkett.

surveillance, he warned.

This "big new wave of testing" proposed in the first draft of the regulations is worrisome because "many of us feel like we are sitting on a time bomb anytime our cattle are tested," said Armstrong.

Leon White, president of the Texas Feeders Assoc. was bullish on the prices of feedlot cattle, according to John and Jeff Anderson who attended the Marketing meeting. "Mr. White warned the committee to stay out of the hedging business while cattle are high", said Jeff. White expected the cycle to last another three years.

Dr. Uvacek, economist from A&M, presented a less optimistic picture however. "It sounds like it's still aguessing game," the boys said.

Attending the Soil and water Resources meeting, Rich Anderson was happy to report that the recent ban on 245T did not include ranch land at this time. "The use of 245T on other vegetation came about, it was reported," when EPA chairman Barbara Blum arbitrarily banned it because five women living in a commune in Oregon aborted. The EPA immediately and with no research, laid the cause at the feet of the chemical. Tordon was not restricted but "it is much more expensive" relates Anderson. He suggests that if you want to voice your concern address your letters to:

Federal Register Service
Technical Ser. Divi. (WH-569)
Office of Pesticide Pro., EPA
Room 401, East Tower
401 M Street SW
Washington, D.C. 20460

Anderson also reported that 90% of all 245T is used in Oklahoma and Texas and "there has not been one incident of damage caused to any animal life including humans."

Dr. Raymond Reiser gave a good summary of "Human Nutrition for Beef" according to Anderson. Dr. Reiser, Prof. Emeritus of Lipid Biochemistry, Tex. A&M, showed the Ag Research Committee the results of a test run recently proving that beef consumption did not change the level of cholesterol.

Another committee meeting attended by Anderson was Land Use and Environment. Guest speaker was Ben Wallace. Wallace is a young lawyer from San Antonio who has dedicated his full time and talent to the National Association of Property Owners. He told the committee of a great number of bills being introduced in Washington concerning how we use our land and even the abolition of private property. He ended his address with the somber statistics of how many "on the hill" believe there should be no private property that all land should belong to the government.

Jerri's Gottings

By BRUCE PEARSON

The latest lightening flash of brilliance, insight and wisdom from our leadership in Washington is that the success of the volunteer Army is doubtful, and that our preparedness is less than adequate if we actually had to go to war. This wonderful revelation confirms what every unprejudiced private citizen capable of independent reason (meaning not directly in danger of being drafted) has known intuitively all along. The volunteer Army works in exceptional circumstances, when there is a combination of permanent peace, with only a remote chance of war and little hazardous duty, and an economic depression when the Army pay and food looks good in comparison to starvation. Right now the armed services are being filled with a disproportionate number of blacks and Latins because of their high teenage unemployment, due partly to an unrealistically high minimum wage and partly to special government dispensations and allowances for those of minority races with less than ordinary minimum qualifications. What would happen if we got into another conflict and half the casualties were to come from a ten-percent minority race? Propagandists would have a good time with that, and without much justifiable argument.

Duty in the armed forces is very likely to be arduous, uncomfortable, wet, cold, dangerous, and a long way from home. Suffering, hardship, fear, pain and fever may be part of the deal, and with no compensatory financial rewards. This kind of burden, as a matter of justice, should be born neither by a small select elite group of patriots, nor by a rough, mean, stupid group of mercenaries. According to the terms of our Constitution, the benefits of American citizenship should be enjoyed equally by all, and it could be implied, should be paid for equally by all. No one looks forward to a sudden, unhappy interlude of low pay and hard labor, like digging holes in frozen ground or sleeping in the swamp, especially in interruption of the luxurious or comfortable pursuit of career opportunity, college degree, some darling but forgetful girl, or the good life in general. Who, though, is to do the dirty work--the poor, the peasants, whose life outside the Army is worse than life in it? Is that how the world's greatest democracy works?

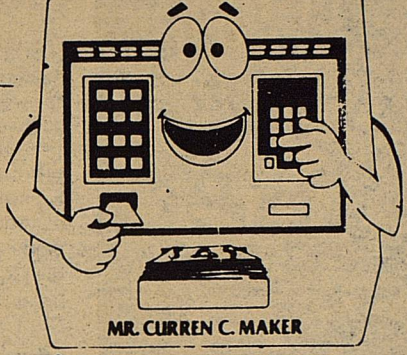

The Swiss believe in and practice the theory that every man should belong to a kind of National Guard, with a rank, outfit and assignment, a uniform in the closet and rifle under the bed. They believe their country and their way of life to be worth preserving and protecting and are willing to pay the price in the time and effort spent in staying trained and ready. No one accuses them of war-mongering or imperialistic aggression. They are regarded rather as being prudent, realistic, patriotic and prepared.

The United States has abandoned or been abandoned by nearly every effective or dependable friend we could claim to have in the world. At the end of World War II American leaders gave over all of eastern Europe from Nazi domination to Russian enslavement. Since then we have given away or abandoned to Communism the freedoms of Cubans, Taiwanese, Vietnamese, and Africans by the millions. While the North Vietnamese were killing our soldiers our so-called friends sold them supplies. Who is going to be the buffer next time--who is going to buy us a little time or stand by us in the next conflict? Name somebody we can depend on or that can depend on us.

There are a lot of people in the world who don't understand military strategy or the effectiveness of nuclear warfare, but nearly all of them can count. Twenty million men in the reserves, trained and well-equipped, is an impressive number, perhaps even to Russians and Chinese. With an effective program of compulsory military service, there might be more than numbers--there might be a restoration of personal and national pride in place of shameful willingness to let the other guy do the dirty work while you get yours, while you are making it. There might even be a revival of old slogans about eternal vigilance and the price of freedom, duty, patriotism, love of country and gratitude. We might possibly pick up a little respect in the world instead of having our president running around begging for favors and asking people to be nice and not shoot up our embassies and murder our ambassadors.
