LONG BEACH — (AP)—Golf under the stars made its debut last night at Lakewood Park Country Club and Jack Burke, Jr., Houston, won the novel $1,000 nine-hole event with a one-below-par 34.

General Gets Ringside View

ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Korea—(AP)—The latest attacks on the western front were staged directly under the eyes of Gen. J. Lawton Collins, U.S. Army Chief of Staff.

This was revealed Wednesday after a security delay to conceal the general's movements in Korea. Collins said Monday when he arrived in Korea that he would try to get to corps headquarters in the general fighting areas, but still many miles behind the front lines.

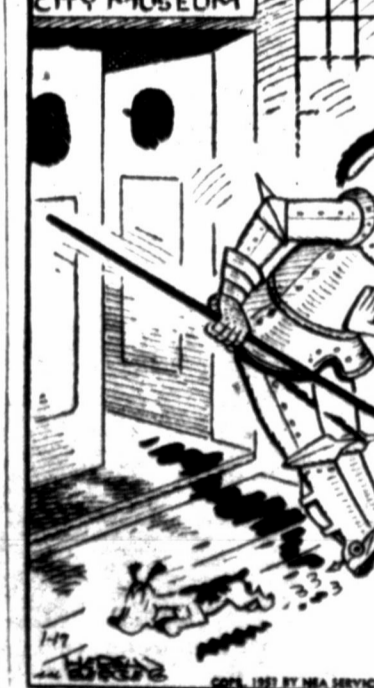

But he gave no hint that he intended to watch an actual battle. Many a frontline soldier, ignorant of the fact that the American Army's top commander was even in Korea, looked up in astonishment to see the four stars of the chief of staff so close to the front.

TEXAS PLANS LAUDED

AUSTIN — (AP)—Texas plans for protecting the public from the rays of atomic explosions were credited yesterday with "an absolute lead" over other states.

Dr. H. E. Babbitt, professor of sanitary engineering at the University of Indiana, said he found Texas "doing leading work." He is on a national survey of sanitary engineering problems.

yangjang, 25 air miles southeast of the old Korean capital, withdrew by plan at dusk Tuesday to positions just south of the two towns.

A blanket censorship imposed since noon Tuesday (10 p. m., EST, Monday) prevented the location by name of corps, division or lesser units. A security clamp down usually means a shifting in troop positions.

Air Force and Navy planes pounded the enemy. B29 Superforts of the Far East Air Force blasted Kaesong and Chongju Wednesday with 176 tons of explosives. Kaesong, a few miles south of Farallel 38, is a rail and highway junction. Chongju is in northwest Korea on the main Red supply line from Manchuria.

Wave after wave of B-29s hit the rail yards at Kaesong and Chongju in clear weather. Pilots said the raids were successful.

East of Seoul toward Yehon and abandoned Wouju on the central Korean front Red Korean and Chinese troops dug in. They were not rushing to attack the new allied positions.

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUNDS, N. M. — (AP)—A balloon loosed at this guided missile center is believed floating across Texas today.

It looks like a flying saucer. As it floated east, flying saucer reports sprung up from southwest Texas and southeast New Mexico.

An ordnance conference of 25 leading military men and federal officials turned the balloon loose early yesterday.

Mansion a Home To Shivers Family

By MARTHA COLE
AUSTIN — (AP) — The Shivers family has made a home out of the big, old barny governor's mansion on a hill across from the state capitol.
It's a home of dolls and doll buggies, toy elephants, toy horses and all the cowboy trappings that young cowboys collect.
Gov. Allan Shivers, his wife, the former Marjorie Shary of McAllen, and their three children, John, 10, Allan Jr., who will be five on Jan. 21, and Marjorie Sue, three, live upstairs in the big white mansion.
The mansion is open to the public from three to five every weekday afternoon, and various organizations also may make arrangements to hold teas and receptions there.
It's a little like living in a goldfish bowl, Mrs. Shivers will admit.
"But it's a full, busy life, and interesting."
The Shivers moved into the mansion after the death of Gov. Beauford Jester in July, 1949. Shivers was lieutenant governor then, was elected governor in the 1950 elections and thus will succeed himself.
He will be inaugurated Tuesday.
It's tradition for the outgoing governor to leave a hot meal on the table in the mansion for the incoming governor on inauguration day.
"I don't know what tradition is in this case," Mrs. Shivers said, "but we're having a buffet luncheon with the lieutenant governor and speaker of the House as special guests on inauguration day."
Downstairs at the mansion are the three formal reception rooms — the two Gold Rooms on the north and the Green Room on the south — the state dining room, the family dining room, the kitchen and the office for the Texas Ranger who guards the mantel, on top of the desk on top of the bookcase and on the bedside table.

"John sure has a lot of stuff," Allan Jr., better known as "Bud" explained to the reporter.
"And so do you," Mrs. Shivers told him.
And so did Bud in his room — mostly circus and cowboy toys.
Mrs. Shivers said the children miss being able to roam and play around the grounds at will. There's too much traffic around the mansion for them to stay outside unattended.
They're big friends of the rangers that guard the mansion. "They're John's heroes," Mrs. Shivers said. "He loves the tales they tell."
Mrs. Shivers says she isn't much of a clubwoman. She spends most of her time taking care of her family. And running the governor's mansion.
"I never know when he's bringing in some unexpected guest for lunch or dinner — we just have to be ready."

Henry Ready to Make a Trip Out to See Prof at Wabash

By HENRY MCLEMORE
Professor Robert S. Ort and the likes of Professor Robert S. Ort make me want to take a swing at Professor Robert S. Ort, and the likes of Professor Robert S. Ort.
In case you didn't get the name the first four times, it is Professor Robert S. Ort, who is young Wabash College social psychologist.
This young high-dome, according to an Associated Press dispatch, has gathered himself a bunch of statistics which prove that the American husband is a "pretty sad character."
"Proves it to whom?"
Not to American women, that's for sure. They marry American men as fast as they can get them before a preacher, and probably would marry 'em faster if all the states didn't have laws establishing an age limit for brides. And even those who become widows, either grass or in most cases can scarcely wait to grab themselves another American husband.
Professor Ort can gather figures all his life but he'll never convince the American husband that he is a poor husband.
Perhaps the most self-satisfied creature in the world is the American husband, and that goes for the cat who just ate twice his season's bag of canaries.
The American husband looks upon himself as just about the luckiest thing that ever happened to a wife. He considers himself tolerant, liberal, a hard worker, a good provider, a fine cook, an extraordinarily capable housekeeper in an emergency, a man who can tell a story with the best of them, harmonize in any quartet, choose his wife's clothes better than she can, and knock the block off any fool foreigner with hand kissing, sharp-pointed shoes, and an accent.

He looks upon himself as the one husband in the world who gives his wife all rights within half reasonable bounds, doesn't like her to bother her pretty head with household worries or her pretty hands with work that wives of most other countries accept as natural, and who pays a bushel of taxes so that husbands of other countries may keep such luxuries as wives.
And, Professor Ort, the American husband may have something there.
Before the professor goes popping off any more about American husbands I would suggest that he make a study of husbands in other parts of the world. He might change his mind — or juggle his figures a bit — if he studied at first hand the husbands of Argentina, China, Turkey, Egypt, and half a hundred other countries. I know husbands in most of the countries of the world and if they treat their wives as well as the day-in-and-day-out American man does his, then I'm Mickey Rooney's valet.
In America a wife complains if she has to stand over a hot stove.
In most of the other countries of the world she is lucky to have one to stand over.
I think I'll go out to Wabash and let the Prof have one on the kisser. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

N. Y. Expert Stars For the Declarer

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
After my teammates won the world's championship in Bermuda last November, all of the international bridge stars took a busman's holiday by competing in a tournament for pairs. One of the American pairs gave a good account of itself in the hand shown today.
The bidding was aggressive on both sides, probably too aggressive. Part of the reason was that three of the players had just finished the long grind of the team match and were therefore inclined to be a bit on the giddy side. It was the fourth player, however, who had all the work to do.
That player was Alfred Sheinwold, well-known New York expert, who proceeded to play the South hand as though he could caution of leading trumps. He next ruffed another club, thus reducing East to his four trumps. At this point declarer led the queen of diamonds. West covered with the ace of diamonds, and the king of hearts was played from dummy. East had to overruff with the ace of hearts since otherwise declarer would have eight tricks, and would make his ninth by ruffing a club with the jack of hearts.

East then cashed the queen of hearts, capturing dummy's ten of partner's eight. At this point East had left the nine and six of hearts, but also dropping his hearts, while South had the jack and seven. When East led the six of hearts, Sheinwold confidently finessed the seven, thus making his contract.

World War I Vet Praises Hadacol

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B1, B2, Nicotin and Iron Which His System Lacked
This little space is to be read by those folks who are always wishing they'd feel better. Now, this business of wishing for "this" and wishing for "that" is all right. It sort of makes a person look to the future. But it is a mighty sorry state of affairs when a fellow keeps wishing and wishing that they would feel better. That just doesn't get the job done. Take Leo D. Fisher, 801 Charles Street, St. Joseph, Missouri, for example. He just didn't wish he would feel better — he did something about it. He took HADACOL, and says he feels just fine for Mr. Fisher found that taking HADACOL helped his system overcome deficiencies of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Nicotin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.
Here is Mr. Fisher's own statement: "I am a veteran of World War I. I have had stomach distress and was nervous and could not sleep. I had no appetite and could not eat any fried foods. I started taking HADACOL. I have taken 8 small bottles and now I am on my second large bottle. I eat anything. I feel fine and sleep good, thanks to HADACOL. I have recommended HADACOL to many people and they are taking it. I am a booster, for I cannot do without it."

A Tribute... To Our Merchants!

Storekeepers, we think, are entirely too modest. They serve you and your family faithfully every day. Yet how often do you remember their importance in your life? The merchant is a businessman. He must carry a heavy investment. He must own his building or pay rent for it. There are clerks and salespeople to pay. And a constantly changing display of food or merchandise of some kind. The merchant must always make you think that "the customer is always right." Which isn't always true. So remember the trials and tribulations of your grocer, cleaner, department-store merchant, etc. etc. And give them the Fairness THEY deserve.

Football Rules Committee To Decide Today On Changes

CALVESTON — (AP) — The National Football Rules Committee decides today what — if any — changes will be made in the playing code.

The group has discussed rules and possible changes for two days. Yesterday there was considerable discussion on returning the fair catch rule to the books.

Other matters discussed at the meeting yesterday included what to do about the "flop" rule, which the American Football Coaches Association requested that it be put back.

Many coaches felt that receivers didn't have a chance when four or five men could get down under a high kick.

The main point in the complicated wording of the old rule was that by using one arm in the safety man could catch the ball without being tackled. He, however, could move forward no more than one step.

Other matters discussed yesterday included the matter of an eligible pass receiver who goes out of bounds then returns; a pair of conflicting rules on questions of ineligible men and a question of simplifying the definition of penalties for fouls on incomplete forward passes.

Coach Harris fired at Plainview High Plainview High School is in the market for a new football coach. The school board yesterday did not renew the contract of W. C. G. Harris, but instead named him a history teacher. Harris said he was undecided whether to accept the teaching post.

Mustangs Crack Aggies, 51-44

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AP Sports Editor

The Texas Longhorns sped along at the head of the Southwestern Conference basketball parade today and will remain there for several weeks.

The Longhorns, rated far down in pre-season speculation, are the only undefeated team left in the title drive.

Southern Methodist fighting to stay in the race, whipped Texas A&M 51-44 last night at Dallas and that handed Texas the undisputed leadership.

A&M fell into a tie with Texas Christian for second place, each showing a 2-1 record.

Baylor finally got out of the cellar regions by licking Rice 69-55. It was the Bears' first victory of the title drive and sent Rice into the dark regions with a 0-4 record. Arkansas is next to last with 0-3.

Baylor hit 53 percent of its chances for field goals and led all the way. The Bears got more chances at the basket than any other team in the conference.

A crowd of 2,500 saw the game — making $3,500 for the two contests played last night. There were 3,000 at Dallas.

Texas doesn't play another game until Jan. 31 when the Longhorns meet Texas A&M.

Two games are scheduled Saturday night with Southern Methodist playing Rice at Houston and Baylor journeying to Fayetteville to engage Arkansas.

Two Undefeated Junior League Teams To Clash

The undefeated Reapers meet Horace Mann of Amarillo there Thursday afternoon in a basketball battle for first place in the Panhandle Junior High School Basketball League. Each team has two conference victories.

Coach Scroggins' hardwork lads have chopped down two conference foes. Pampa defeated Phillips Junior High School for its first conference win and shot past Canyon, 37-13, in its last outing.

Center Jimmy Bond is leading scorer for the Reapers. Bond has canned 34 points in the two loop games for a 17-point per game average.

Borger, Sam Houston, Phillips and Canyon are tied for second place in the conference with one win and one loss. Elizabeth Nixon and Price have each dropped two games.

Borger is the league defending champion.

Pirate Boxing Crew Captures Six Bouts Out Of Eight In High School Division

Coach Robert Callan's swatters from Lefors moved ahead of Pampa's Boys Club Inc. boxing team in the battle for the team trophy in the District Golden Gloves Tournament in the Junior High School gym Tuesday night.

Lefors' scrappers took 10 out of 17 fights last night before a capacity crowd of 700 mitt fans. Finals will start at 8 o'clock tonight and a sell out crowd is expected. Tickets are on sale at Frank Leder's Jewelry Store and Jack Vaughn's Service Station.

KPDN will broadcast the finals starting at 8 o'clock with Warren Hasse and Coy Palmer at the mike.

Lefors has scored 35 points in the fight for the team trophy. Pampa has notched 28 points and Panhandle has scored five.

Winners the first night were given one point, the second night three points and five points will go to the winners in tonight's bouts. Trophies will be awarded to winners and runners up in each weight.

Five TKOs were registered in Tuesday night's fights, three in the Pee Wee Division and two in the High School Division.

Edward Dudley, 160-pound Boys Club Inc. clouter, entered the boxing ring for the first time last night. The Reaper quarter-back last year showed fight fans he could handle his dukes as well as a football. Dudley got a TKO over Blackie McIntire of Lefors in one minute and 12 seconds in the first round.

Dudley sent McIntire down for the count of nine with a right to the jaw, and Coach Callan stopped the fight when Dudley cornered the Lefors boxer against the ropes, throwing rights and lefts to the head.

James Warner of Lefors won on a forfeit from Weyton Holtman of Pampa in a scheduled 70-pound bout. Warner meets Gary Watt of Pampa in the finals. Watt decided Johnny Cannon of Lefors in the curtain raiser.

Don Maples of Lefors won a close decision from Gary Wilhelm, 118 pounds, in a 75-pound fight. The two little swatsmiths provided the fans with one of the fastest bouts of the night. Both clouters were throwing leather at the end of the third round.

In another 75-pound bout, Frank Smith of Pampa, decided Charles Lane, Lefors, in a wild, leather swinging fight. The two swatters mixed it up all three rounds.

J. D. Redus of Lefors and Ronnie James will swap gloves in the 80-pound class tonight. James took a decision from P. e. e. e. Crutcher of Lefors and Redus outlasted Billy McClure of Panhandle. Referee Doug Graham stopped the fight after one minute and five seconds in the first round. Redus and James have met twice this season. Redus took the first fight and James came back to take the second engagement.

Jerry Herring of Lefors stopped Richard Hooper of Panhandle in 45 seconds in the first round. Herring will meet Bobby Hudson of Pampa in the 85-pound class finals. Hudson took a close decision from Cecil Sanders of Lefors.

Hudson and Sanders put on one of the best bouts of the evening. They stood toe-to-toe and slugged it out in the first round. Hudson started Sanders' nose bleeding in the second and both boxers were shooting rights and lefts at the bell at the end of the third.

Darwin Teeters of Lefors had too much power for Morris Moss of Panhandle in a 90-pound engagement. Referee Dean Webb stopped the fight after 37 seconds in the first round.

Bobby Malone of Pampa got a slow start against Wilbert Clauson of Panhandle in a 100-pound bout. Clauson caught Malone with a right to the jaw in DALLAS — (AP) — The Texas League is ready for the 1951 season and President J. Alvin Gardner sees no reason why it can't have a big year.

Pampa's Harvester cagers had to stage a last quarter drive to stop the Blackhawks at Phillips Tuesday night. The game was knotted at 36-36 going into the final eight minutes but the Harvesters canned 14 points to pull the game out of the fire, 50-46.

Enlistments Not Accepted After Draft Notice Served

The Texas Local Draft Board No. 52, located on the third floor of the Gray County Courthouse, has received a number of pleas from many young men of draft age requesting permission to join the service of their choice after the induction process has begun.

"We are forbidden by law and regulation to permit enlistments in such cases," commented Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state selective service director. "We have no authority to act favorably on such requests."

The state director said that section 15 of the selective service law states that no person shall be accepted for enlistment after the induction process is once started.

"This prohibition against enlistment has been interpreted by the Department of Defense to mean that no person shall be accepted for enlistment after he has been notified to report for armed forces physical examination by a Selective Service local board," General Wakefield said.

Local draft boards were advised of this interpretation by official publication under date of Nov. 15, 1948, and the official advice has been in force and effect since that time.

Before order to report for pre-induction physical examination is issued there is no prohibition of any kind against the enlistment of any man registered with a draft board.

"If the individual is acceptable to the service concerned, he can be enlisted before he gets his order for physical," General Wakefield said. "Under such circumstances, there is no need to consult the local board, as the permission of the board is not required."

"If the man waits until the physical notice is mailed, then it is too late. The draft board cannot, because of the prohibition against it, release the man to join a service of his preference," the state director concluded.

Recruiting stations of the different armed services ask men of draft age to sign certificates that they have not received orders for pre-induction examination. Those who sign false certificates can be discharged for fraud and then inducted.

In one such case in federal court at Houston the induction of a registrant was upheld after the registrant was discharged for fraud in connection with signing a false certificate.

Drive Starts At Canadian

CANADIAN (Special) — The March of Dimes got underway Monday in Canadian and Hemphill County with the mailing of 550 coin cards, and the placement of placards and donation boxes, according to H. L. (Red) Owens, 1951 campaign chairman.

Owens stated that no arbitrary quota has been set here, but that he hopes to exceed last year's drive which amounted to $1400.

In addition to the regular collection of contributions, the campaign committee plans to stage a benefit basketball game, and to conclude the drive with a March of Dimes Ball.

Russel Carver is Hemphill County March of Dimes Director, and H. S. Wilbur is secretary-treasurer.

Frank Potter, Jr. Campaign Chairman

MIAMI (Special) — Frank B. Potter, Jr., has been appointed county campaign director for the Roberts County March of Dimes. The quota has been set exactly the same amount as last year — $760. In 1950, however, the quota in the county was exceeded by more than $100.

The Miami American Legion Post at their last meeting agreed to lend their wholehearted cooperation to the Dimes Drive, and will sponsor some kind of event during the two week period.

THE STORY: The entire nation is aroused over the "kidnaping" of Judy Twing by her uncle Paul. The story is one of desertion by the mother, who resisted the father's attempt to obtain the child. The father committed suicide, and Paul tried to get legal custody of Judy, then kidnapped her — a crime punishable by death. But the fact that Judy had been mistreated by her mother had aroused sympathy for Paul. Then Paul, in disguise, visits a tavern in a coal mining town and becomes acquainted with May Jenkins, a waitress. He tells May who he is after May says that with Judy disguised as a boy and with a woman accompanying him, Paul Twing could escape the officers who pursue him. After May learns the identity of the stranger, she knows what he will ask and that Paul would offer her adventure, excitement, and may be death.

THE swirling panorama of fancy and emotion drained off. May Jenkins focused her eyes on Paul Twing's upturned face. It was a good face. "You want me to be the woman?" It was a husky declaration. Paul Twing's face flushed. "It was a crazy idea." His cap lay on the seat next to him. He picked it up. "I've got to get back to the car." "Wait." The words sprang from her lips. "I'm going with you." Her mind had played no part in her decision, but now, having said it, she became warm, elated, excited. There was moisture in his eyes. He seized her hand. His was hot. "No, May. God bless you, but no. I'm exhausted. I'm knocked out. I'm not thinking straight. What you said about having a woman along. That started it. Then I got thinking about having someone along I could really talk with. The way you reacted

East Texas to Have Pipe Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lone Star Steel Co. is all set to start building a $73,000,000 plus East Texas plant to turn iron ore into such steel goods as oil field pipe.

Two federal agencies announced last night they had granted the company loans totaling $73,425,000.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation will lend $50,000,000. This has to be paid back within 10 years at a 5 percent interest rate which includes a 1-2 percent service charge. The defense production authority will lend the rest, to be repaid in 20 years at 4 1-2 percent. In 14 to 18 months the plant is expected to be producing. Vacuum Cleaner Fixes Pipe Organ

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — August Schroer liked to play his pipe organ for relaxation, but sometimes in the evening his feet hurt and he didn't like to be bothered pumping the bellows with the treadle.

Why not hook up the vacuum cleaner to do his work for him, he thought. He tried it; the air went in but no music came out. He tried again, reversing the cleaner so the air was sucked out. The organ played beautifully.

As the cleaner is a little noisy, Schroer's next project is to locate it in the basement and connect it up with a long pipe.

Fair Enough-Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — In praising the beautiful version of chili con carne that was revealed to me in my gallivanting youth in the mid-Southwest, I had no intention to invite and set a controversy. Yet I should have remembered that components are made only on pain of angry dissent.

During his Christmas trip home, President Truman stopped at Vergne Dixon's chili parlor at 1604-Oe Olive Street, Kansas City, and put himself outside a bowl of chili along with a scuttle of beer fetched from yonder. Mr. Dixon having no beer license, it seems to me that some law got busted here, but I am not for multiplying our President's troubles so I will only enter in a low voice that the U. which hollered murder on our troops got beer in Korea, certainly booted one.

I am afraid I carried on when I got about chili con carne, for this delicatessen is downright spiritual with its long, long stirce sat on the high stools. Mr. Truman did in Dixon's, and on $25 a week got by from pay-day to pay-day, well-fed and well-content. I wrote that chili con carne should be made with ground beef, beans, chili powder, tomatoes, onions and green chilies on an occasion to extol by name the put-up chili and the chili beans and powder sold by Gebhardt's of El Paso. I had no inkling of the feeling among the devotees of the house of Gebhardt who for me in numbers, is not Gebhardt's an ancient and honorable institution of San Antonio, but Gebhardt's meat is not ground but cooked so well that it comes undone, releasing its juices among the beans. Then, too, I ran afoul of the devotees of Wollie's chili con carne products, which actually are made in El Paso. Mrs. Louis Mes-solomonts, of New York, the former Bernice Brown, of Wichita Falls, Tex., sometimes cooks her own but, for boughten goods out of cans, throws in with Wollie's. I got a letter from a man laid up with a broken leg, Thomas Hall, of Kansas City. Those who are blind are usually more quickly convinced that this same Stalin was a good Joe; that communism was a "red herring" conjured up by his political enemies.

How about Great Britain? He paid publicity, as we pointed out the other day, are taking the world that England is "on a sound and solid economic foundation." How about that? Last week Britons were reduced to one ounce of meat a week. Her industry is facing a panic because of the shortage of the nationalized coal industry. She is willing to make almost any concession to communism to avoid war.

Washington... by Peter Edson

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON — (NEA)—General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower's arrival in Europe as supreme commander for the North Atlantic Treaty organization ties in unusually with reports that Russian Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov is now masterminding the Communist attack on Korea. The end of World War II, these top commanders of the Eastern and Western fronts formed what they called "The International Peace Organization of Two." It was the most exclusive organization in the world. They were the only members.

At the time the LPO was formed — in the summer of 1945 — Eisenhower and Zhukov were commanders in Berlin. They took a great liking to each other. They tackled their then fresh problem of trying to govern Berlin jointly. The shared experiences as soldiers, and they decided to do whatever they could to promote friendship between their two countries.

Better Jobs

"Of all the contrivances for cheating the laboring classes of mankind none has been more effective than that which deludes them with paper money." Daniel Webster.

The Ideal is Practical

I want to continue to quote from an article written by Leonard Read under the heading of "The Ideal is Practical." In the last issue he used two illustrations of a man stealing a horse. One thief was caught and thrown in jail. The other one was not caught, but both of them received their punishment. I continue to quote:

"Consider the possible forms retribution could take. For example, if the thief who was not caught had any measure of intelligence he knew his act was thievery. He was aware he had done wrong and thus, in ways he might not perceive, had contributed to his own destruction. The press carries numerous stories of conscience-stricken thieves many years later returning what they stole. It is important to one's upgrading not to be conscience-stricken. If, on the other hand, the thief were so ignorant that he did not know his act to be wrong, the retribution, conceivably, could take another form of destruction: the absence of development that comes with the habit of getting something for nothing. Ignorance is an evil. It might modify the form of the penalty but it will not erase its severity. During World War II some Chinese coolies jokingly threw themselves out of an airplane. They hit the ground no less hard by reason of their ignorance of the laws of gravitation. There is no abolition in not knowing. Retribution is immutable in its visitations and our unawareness of its limitations is our compulsion. We can only guess to the infinite variety of forms it might take — incomprehensible forms.

"Comprehensibility depends on our individual ability at definition. Definition, in turn, depends on contrasts, on comparisons. The man tossed into jail can compare himself with others who are not in jail. The man ostracized by others can contrast himself with people who are accepted by others. We can, as individuals, compare ourselves with others in numerous physical ways. We are more or less healthy, can eat more or less food, can work more or less hours, and so on.

Up to a point we can compare ourselves intellectually and spiritually with others. That point is the extent of our comprehension. But where comprehension, contrast, and definition leave off, our comprehension also leaves off. We cannot compare our own intellectual and spiritual status with intellectual and spiritual concepts of others not understood by us. Nor can we compare our own present ideas and concepts with ideas and concepts we ourselves do not yet possess. There is no Roosevelt Trust in the future, no basis for comprehension.

"To realize that penalty for wrongdoing can take the form of impairment to intellectual and spiritual development, where more often than not the penalty is beyond comprehension, is of the utmost importance in determining what kind of conduct is really practical. Man does not live by bread alone. Indeed man cannot live by bread alone. There exists an animal form of man's life. The purpose of our creation is evolution during our own lifetime. Evolution lies, primarily, in intellectual and spiritual development, generated by the pursuit of truth, the search for higher concepts, attempts at unraveling the miraculous. The physical body is only the chassis for man-life and has but a minor part to play in the truly practical life.

"Now, consider the subtle forms that retribution for inequities may take. Suppose it takes the form of stifling our inroads to the unknown, of short-circuiting cognition. Retribution thus visited would have no manner of recognition, because no one can possibly know his might-have-been self.

"The point is simply this: Retribution which might make us unfit to receive one cognitive flash could easily be more destructive of our life-potential than would the physical death of our selves as we presently are.

Retribution is inevitable and immediate, and is invoked in ways often mysterious and rarely understood. If this is correct, it follows that a wrong act is never practical, never practical even when measured in any given moment.

Reasonable Request

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A full dress investigation of poisonous Communist activities in every field of American life from politics to the world of literature, has been scheduled by a Senate group of anti-Communist members.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON — The Amerasia case in which State Department secrets were turned over to the editors of a magazine advocating a pro-Communist policy toward China, will also be reviewed. Committee members feel that the D of J made no real attempt to verify certain Amerasia figures, and that the Tydings committee wrongfully exonerated the administration in this instance.

Although considerable secrecy surrounds this aspect of the proposed investigation, certain peculiar conditions in the book publishing and book reviewing field will be placed under study. From American Legion sources, several committee members have reported that the trade has at times shown a distinct pro-Communist bias with respect to China.

MEMBERSHIP — The membership of the McCarran subcommittee gives an idea of its purpose and the vigor to be expected of its reexamination of this whole question. Chairman McCarran has personal and political reasons for doing a real job. So has Senator Eastland. Senator Herbert R. O'Connor of Maryland has been feuding with Commerce Secretary Sawyer over the department's alleged licensing of war materials for shipment to China. Incidentally, Remington's erstwhile superior has suddenly found it convenient to resign his high government post, where he had charge of passing on export licenses.

CRITIC — The fourth Democratic member is expected to be Senator Willis Smith of North Carolina. A former president of the American Bar Association, he defeated the administration's favorite, ex-Senator Frank P. Graham, in the primary. He ran as a Truman critic. The three Republicans will probably be Senators Homer Ferguson of Michigan, William E. Jenner of Indiana and Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin. Mr. Ferguson made a reputation as a one-man jury in exposing Detroit racketeers. Mr. Jenner is "Joe" McCarley pal.

Mr. Wiley has frequently sided with the administration on foreign policy — but later — however, he has been drifting over to the Pentagon generals' secret efforts to discredit and force the recall in disgrace of General Douglas A. MacArthur.

Bid For A Smile

A little girl was playing on the sidewalk in front of an exclusive apartment hotel and a woman taking an afternoon stroll stopped to talk to her in the course of the conversation, the lady asked where she lived and the little girl pointed to the hotel.

"Woman—But, little sister, how does it come about that you live there? It is a very nice place for a young girl. Would you like to live in my home with my mother and father?" "Yes, I would."

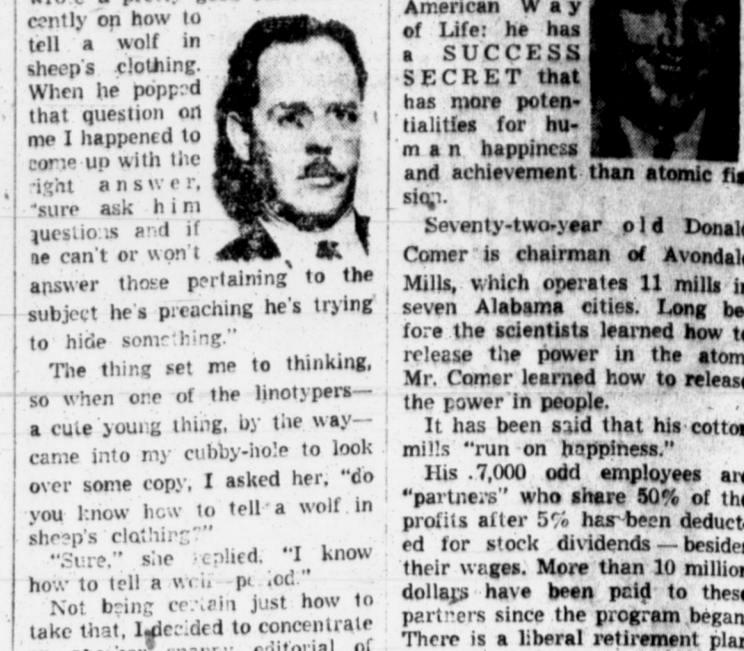

"Well, if you want my home, you must give me something in return." "What?" "I want your professional advice."

And he reasons that a justice which invokes penalties for the violation of right principles also, and just as inexorably, confers rewards for conduct consistent with those principles. Retribution works both ways.

What Is A Reactionary?

By DAVID BAXTER

R. C. Hoiles, publisher of some of the papers running this column, wrote a pretty good editorial recently on how to tell a wolf in sheep's clothing.

Seventy-two-year old Donald Comer is chairman of Avondale Mills, which operates 11 mills in seven Alabama cities. Long before the scientists learned how to release the power in the atom, Mr. Comer learned how to release the power in people.

His 7,000 odd employees are "partners" who share 50% of the profits after 5% has been deducted for stock dividends—besides their wages. More than 10 million dollars have been paid to these partners since the program began. There is a liberal retirement plan for all workers. The company sponsors recreational programs including cruises, mountain retreats, athletic teams, swimming pools. Most important of all, the "company" takes a personal interest in each worker and his problems.

Mr. Comer needs no soapbox orator to convince his workers that private enterprise is better than socialism. He needs no propaganda machine to make them believe that they help themselves by doing a good job. He has arranged things so that it works out that way.

As against some force. It doesn't mean to BACKWARD, say to the days of Lincoln or Garfield, at all. The reactionary is simply a man on his way FORWARD to morality in practice who resents other people cluttering up the highway with debris.

Most Popular Sport Is 'Man Hunting' Writer Believes

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Staff Writer — "Man hunting" is just afad, but there's a veritable spate of information and advice forthcoming on the general subject of How To Get Your Man.

It all seems to be aimed at the maidens and widows over 25, all of whom apparently are very anxious to acquire a man of their own and don't care whether he has two heads or none at all.

Personally, I think setting down the rules will further becloud an already murky situation. After all, we've gotten along on the old-fashioned theory that marriages are made in Heaven for a long time, and if men suspected anything else and women knew anything else, they didn't tell.

First thing you know men will get suspicious about every woman's motives and be harder to land than they already are.

Apparently one of the best ways to do this is to spot a likely victim on a train or in a drug store and then sidle up to him, start a casual conversation, and go on from there. I have reports from friends who have tried this, and they say every guy they have sidled up to so far has turned out to be happily married.

Get him to tell you his life story, worry about his health, laugh at his jokes and indicate you think he is strong, smart and fascinating. This is good advice, but at no point do the advisers indicate they think the huntress can have the genuine, rather than assumed, interest in the quarry.

HOME BUILDING BOOM PASSES PEAK—Despite a sharp cutback in building beginning in September, the year 1950 was the biggest construction year on record. Actually, more new homes were started in the first ten months of the year than in any other full year on record. The News-chart, above, based on National Industrial Conference Board data, gives the home building picture from 1920 to 1950, with an inset chart showing the trend toward government financing of new homes. Currently the building industry faces a period of uncertainty caused by tightening of mortgage credit, materials shortages and uncertainties growing out of the Korean war and the rearmament program.

New Ideas Run Rampant as Radiologists Get Together

BY JACK HARR
NEA Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO — (AP) — Dr. Richard Chamberlain of Philadelphia took a long look around the exhibition hall and said: "When you come to one of these meetings you begin to feel like a one-eyed boy at a three-ring circus."
That is how a radiologist with 12 years of college and advanced training feels when his colleagues from all over the country gather to describe to each other the latest in their field.
Any one of the 2100 radiologists assembled at the convention in Chicago would concur with Dr. Chamberlain. Their science, vitally important not only in combating disease, but also in controlling radiation effects in the potential atom bomb attack, has grown tremendously since the days of Madame Curie and Konrad Roentgen.
And yet, as Dr. Warren Furey, outgoing president of the Radiological Society of North America, puts it: "We're only in the kindergarten stage. We're just on the threshold of a whole new world in medicine."

AUTOMATIC GADGET FOR THE ATOM: Dr. Richard Chamberlain of Philadelphia studies a new automatic Geiger counter at convention in Chicago where nation's radiologists swapped ideas.

According to 36-year-old Dr. Chamberlain, the convention was like going back to school — "a week-long, concentrated, intense school with dozens of new developments tossed at you."
"A radiologist," he explained, "is a combination doctor, radiology specialist, physicist, chemist, photographer and mechanic. So new trends can come from almost any quarter. If you've absorbed a fraction of it when you go home, it's been a week well spent."
A few of the developments brought up at the recent meeting will illustrate his point:
Cobalt 60: A man-made radioactive substance for internal use, it is cheaper than radium, less irritating to the patient, and easier to control.
The Westinghouse tube: It amplifies and enlarges X-ray images, making for better diagnoses.
New high-speed X-ray machine: It enables the technician to photograph a portion of the body from two angles at the same time. This was developed by Dr. Wendell Scott of St. Louis, who got the idea from observing the Fairchild aerial camera during World War II.
Treating heart disease with radioactive iodine: This was Dr. Chamberlain's paper, which showed how treating the thyroid gland with radioactive iodine relieved patients suffering from angina pectoris, a heart ailment characterized by crippling pains.
Chrysalis dosimetry: Still in the experimental stage, this is a new type of radioactivity detector being developed by the Navy. Under the terms of the customary deluge of new ideas, the big discussion among the doctors was about their prospective role in an atom war.

This will probably be the key item in the medical units which will treat the thousands of refugees from any atom-blasted area. Under the expanding civil defenses set-up, the estimated 4000 radiologists in the United States will be ready to fight the devastating effects of their science — same science which they are now employing in a controlled, peaceful, beneficial manner.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Eye Score When Melding
By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"How much should I meld when I pick up a fair-sized discard pile?" asks a Milwaukee correspondent. "Should I meld only what is necessary to take the pile, or should I meld as much as possible of the pile itself?"
It's a good question, but a complete answer could easily fill a book. Perhaps we can dig out a few general principles.
To begin with, never put down on the table more than you need to pick up the pile. You can always meld additional cards when you get the pile in your hand, but you can't take cards back. Now suppose that you've picked the pile up and that it's still your turn to play. How many more cards—if any—should you meld?
At the very beginning of the hand, there is no need to meld anything else. Your melds will be just as good a few minutes later. Nobody will give you a medal for putting down before anybody else can.
Later in a hand, when both sides have melded, you must be guided by the state of the score, by the likelihood that you can keep control of the discard pile from then on, and by the likelihood that one of the opponents will meld out soon.
In general, you tend to meld liberally if an opponent is likely to meld out very quickly. You tend to keep melds in your hand instead of putting them down if it seems likely that you can keep control.
What should you do if you think that you can keep control but that one of the opponents may meld out quickly? Use your judgement. Balance one probability against the other and act according to what seems more likely to happen. You should probably compromise by putting down some but not all of your meldable cards.
The score may affect your decision in various ways: If you have nearly reached 5,000 points, you should tend to meld rather than hold up. It would be foolish to get caught and then have to start the next hand with 4,990 points or thereabouts.
If you have somewhat less than 3,000 points, you should tend to hold up. If the hand develops well, you will make a bigger score by holding up than by melding quickly. If the hand develops poorly, you don't mind staying under 3,000 points and you'd hate to go barely over that mark.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

Questions and Answers about Newspaper Advertising

- Q. Do you know of any measure for the value of newspaper circulation to an advertiser such as the standards that a business man uses in buying merchandise?
A. Yes. In the well-known standards that have been approved and adopted by advertisers—namely A.B.C. standards.
- Q. What is A. B. C.?
A. A.B.C. stands for Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative association of 3300 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers in the United States and Canada.
- Q. What is the Bureau's work?
A. To audit the circulation of newspapers and periodicals so that advertisers can buy space on the basis of definite standards and verified facts and figures.
- Q. How does A. B. C. accomplish this?
A. The Bureau has a large staff of experienced auditors. They visit the publisher members periodically and make audits of their circulation records. This information is then published in A.B.C. reports for the use and protection of advertisers.
- Q. What do these reports show?
A. A.B.C. reports tell how much circulation a newspaper has, where this circulation is, how it was obtained, how much people paid for it, and many other verified facts that advertisers should know when they buy advertising.
- Q. Are all publications eligible for A. B. C. membership?
A. No. Only those with paid circulation. This is important to advertisers because it is the best proof of interest and purchasing power on the part of the readers.
- Q. Is this newspaper a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations?
A. Yes. We are proud of our circulation and we want our advertisers to know just what they get for their money when they advertise in our columns. The audited information in our A.B.C. report gives them the complete facts.
