

Davis To Quit If Domestic OWI Is Eliminated

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—With some indications of at least partial success, the administration took hasty steps in the senate today toward salvaging the food subsidy program, left hanging on the brink of oblivion by a house revolt against the price rollback.

Acting democratic leader Hill of Alabama said strenuous efforts will be made to restore $35,000,000 in office of price administration funds cut off by the house and to lift a restriction against use of OPA money to finance the administration of subsidy payments.

There was less hope in administration quarters of restoring $5,500,000 to the office of war information budget for OWI's domestic operations, and OWI director Elmer Davis said he'll quit if the senate concurs with the house in abolishing these homefront activities.

Both Hill and chairman McKellar of the senate appropriations committee declined to comment on house action to abolish OWI's domestic branch.

Davis told a press conference that if the senate concurs "there will be no OWI, and that is that."

"It will be the job of somebody else to take care of whatever they choose to do in foreign information," he said. (The house left $28,972,000 in the bill for foreign propaganda activities by the agency.)

Some senate Republicans indicated immediately it will be perfectly all right with them if the OWI is abolished. Among them senator Nye of North Dakota, a member of the appropriations committee, said he supported the house action in trimming OWI and OPA funds.

"I don't think there is any such need to sell the American people this war as long as the plans of the OWI would seem to indicate," Nye said.

As for OPA, Hill told reporters: "We will try to give the OPA what it must have to operate. I think the senate realizes that congress cannot destroy something in times like these without having something better to offer."

That this move would face stiff bi-partisan opposition seemed indicated when McKellar (D-Tenn.) announced that he is opposed to subsidy payments to roll back the price of food to consumers.

Ohio's senator Taft argued that the house action is not necessarily conclusive on subsidies, even if it is sustained by the senate, since it merely forbids use of OPA funds for administration. He said it appeared subsidies could be paid directly by the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC) if the administration chose.

There was ample evidence, meanwhile, of Democratic dissatisfaction with the house subsidy action. Chairman Truman (Mo.) of the senate war investigating committee commented:

"If we are going to remove the controls, we might as well let the river of inflation run its course. We all hate controls, but we'll have to take them and like them if we are to curb inflation at all."

Secretary of commerce Jones today directed RFC to underwrite any financing meat packers need pending payment of subsidies. His office said some small packers are unable to carry over until RFC makes the first subsidy payment to them in mid-July, under the meat subsidy program already underway.

Raccoon Roasts, 'Possum Pot Pies Favored By Ickes

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Raccoon roasts, possum pot pies and fried prairie rabbit (nee muskrat) will all be victory victuals if Secretary Ickes' five-year plan for America's stomach catches on.

Greater use of wild game was only one of the means which the secretary of the interior suggested could be used between now and 1947 to add enough food to the nation's pantry to feed 10,000,000 persons a whole year. He said meat, fish, milk, beans and potatoes are the basis for "a maximum contribution to the world food pool."

Ickes envisioned a nation with "hoping vest buttons in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, a copy of which by available to the senate appropriations committee during its study of the $127,000,000 interior department supply bill.

Ickes said his division wanted to help out on the food situation all it could, dependent, of course on "very real problems of manpower, materials and money." (P. S.—A subcommittee approved additional reclamation funds expected to step up food production.)

Senator Allen J. Ellender, the Louisiana GOP'er, commented that Ickes certainly was on the right track when he commended a prospective annual supply of 1,100,000 pounds of muskrat, 440,000 pounds of raccoon and 220,000 pounds of opossum to the attention of American diners.

Ellender, a veritable fugeleman among muskrat eaters, particularly applauded the thought of a raccoon in every pot.

"A coon stew is good," he said contemplatively. "But a coon roasted with sweet potatoes, and with lots of rich gravy—my, my!"

Their hideaway cottage was discovered yesterday by reporters in the suburb of Montecito, a neighborhood of fashionable homes.

Russian Workers Criticize Allies

MOSCOW, June 18—(Delayed AP)—The new magazine "War and Workers Class," published by the labor unions of Russia, said today that "unhealthy tendencies of com-Isolationists are actively trying to prevent allied armies from invading Europe," it added.

In the most outspoken article on Japan to appear in the Russian press since Pearl Harbor, the magazine said that "as soon as the Japanese meet the serious resistance of Allied forces they are unable to retain the strategic initiative."

WHO SAID JEWELERS ARE NON-ESSENTIAL?

Every once in a while some person remarks that the jewelry business is just a luxury that has no justification for its existence in war time

Anyone who harbors that kind of half-baked ideas would find some interesting food for thought in the picture on the front cover of the Saturday Evening Post for January 9. It depicts a double column of American tanks lined up in the desert with their guns at the ready, and waiting zero hour to advance against the enemy. An officer stands in the open turret of each—every one with his eyes glued to the watch on his left wrist and with his right arm upraised to signal the instant for swinging into action—a vivid presentation of the indispensability of precision timing in modern warfare.

These will contribute to the United Nations' "Watch on the Rhine." All in good running order, they were sent to The Jewelers' Circular-Keystone Magazine by a Chicago jeweler. They are part of 10,000 watches which it is hoped U. S. Jewelers will give to aid the Russian Army in beating the Nazis. Send your old watch to your local jeweler, who will send it to the Jewelers' Circular-Keystone Magazine, marked "Watches for Russian Army."

PAMPA JEWELERS ARE COLLECTING WATCHES FOR THE RUSSIAN ARMY!

If the Russian Army is to drive the Nazis back where they came from, its officers must have watches, as well as bread and bullets. Russia can make the last two items. It can't make all the watches the army needs, because its two watch factories are in enemy-occupied territory. Therefore, Local Jewelers, in co-operation with the Jewelers' Circular-Keystone Magazine's National Campaign, are inaugurating a nation-wide drive to rush 10,000 watches to the Russian Army now!

WATCHES Are Needed NOW

Any watches—men's or women's models, open-face, hunting case, chateaufaine, wrist models—are desired, so long as they run with reasonable accuracy, and can help an officer time a military maneuver, or can help a nurse count the pulse of a battle victim. Wanted watches may be:

- (1) New ones from stock. Such a gift to the United Nations' cause would be in the heroic spirit, in view of the admitted scarcity of new models.
 - (2) Old models, inspected to see that they run with a fair degree of accuracy.
 - (3) Trade-ins, overhauled with the store management contributing parts and the repair department contributing services, so that these used timepieces can be restored to usefulness.
- Those who donate Watches now will not only be contributing a great service to the fighting Russian Army, but will be hastening that United Nations' Victory.

Bring Your Watches to One Of The Jewelers Listed on This Page

The watches in that picture—the watches that are timing the operations of tanks and planes and guns and ships all over the world—didn't just happen. They had to be designed and produced, and there also had to be established means for distributing and selling them, or the facilities for producing them in quantity could not have existed. Those means of distribution are provided by the jewelry industry.

If Anyone Doubts the Value of the Jeweler, Let Him Look At Russia! . . .

The Soviets decided that jewelry was a luxury that didn't belong in their "realistic" economy. So today thousands of Russian officers are without watches to time their operations. And a Russian committee is begging and pleading for Americans to send them anything and everything, old or new, that will keep time and that their soldiers can carry. They're as vital a need on the fighting fronts, say the Reds, as food or munitions. Now they're wishing desperately they had let the watch and jewelry industry continue.

A LUXURY BUSINESS? Tell That To The Russians! Tell It To The Marines!

Citizens Urged To Join In Big Clean-Up Drive

You'll be helping create a safer Pampa as well as a cleaner one when you get to work in cleaning up your place for the city wide clean-up campaign opening tomorrow.

The campaign is to last all week. Tomorrow is the day for Pampanians to cut their weeds, clean out attics, garages, cellars, to paint up and fix up generally. Get your weeds and other trash gathered up so it will be convenient for the city trucks to pick it up Tuesday.

Pick-ups will continue all the rest of the week beginning Tuesday, according to the schedule previously announced in The News.

Fire Chief Ben R. White gave this advice today to Pampanians on the need for eliminating fire hazards in conjunction with the drive:

"Fire is a terrible destroyer. It claims the lives of thousands of victims every year just naturally wants to clean up and beautify his premises. Getting rid of fire hazards is the job. The first thing is an inspection to see if any fire hazards are present. Then take steps to eliminate these dangers.

"Here is a suggestion that applies to most of us. When we shut off our furnaces in the spring, we're so glad to see the flames that we don't give them another thought until the first cool weather in the fall.

"Then we may have to start them before there's a chance to make sure the equipment is in A-1 condition.

"We can save ourselves a lot of grief by taking care of the heating plant right after we let the fire go out in the spring. Look and see if any part of the furnace that gets extra hot is too near to burnable material. Such numerous fires that all worn out rubber hose connections are replaced with new.

"I must warn people who paint their premises about spontaneous ignition fires. If paint-saturated rags or clothing are left in a pile, they may heat up through chemical action and burst into flames, setting the building on fire. A similar danger is present in oily waste and cleaning mops. Unless they can be disposed of at once, they should be kept in metal cans with airtight covers.

"Spontaneous defects may crop out. I suggest that you check over the electrical system to make sure the wiring is in good order. Replace frayed wires on lamps or appliances. Look at fuses to see if they are of the correct size and that none of them have been bridged with a foreign object.

"While we're making this clean-up job, this year there is a real incentive to clean out all papers and rubbish found in the attic. And while we're at it, let's do the same job in the cellar and garage, remember that the storage of quantities of paper represents a serious fire hazard to life and property.

"You will thus avoid the danger of fire from a thoughtlessly discarded match or cigarette butt and from spontaneous ignition.

"When a householder clears his attic, cellar and yard of papers and rubbish, applies paint where needed and makes a garden, he takes a lot of pride in the results of his labors. Also, there is no truer statement than this: a clean house seldom burns.

"Let's accept the job of saving lives, materials and property as part of our patriotic war duty."

OPA Frowns On Sale Of Oil For Streets, So City Says 'No'

The rationing board said "no" and the city likewise has to say "no" to Pampanians who want to buy oil to oil down dirt streets in front of their houses, City Manager W. C. deCordova said Saturday.

Oiling streets cuts down maintenance costs and the city is just as eager to do this as property owners are to have it done, but the rationing board is putting the clamps down on tires and gasoline, so it can't be done this year.

The city did manage to oil 30 blocks of dirt streets before the "no can do" sign was posted. These 30 blocks, however, had been contracted for the preceding year, with property owners putting up the cash to buy the oil and the city had either to oil the streets or go back on its word, so six locations, covering 30 blocks, were oiled before the rationing board wrote "think" to a long-time practice of the street department.

Canadian Sailor In Action From Pole To Pacific

(Special to The News)

CANADIAN, June 20.—James A. (Jimmy) Ousley, son of Earl Ousley, Canadian, is home from the Pacific war zone on the first furlough he's had since entering the U. S. navy in April, 1940. He is visiting with his father and his grandparents here.

Jimmy had three years in the Canadian high school at the time he signed up for a six-year period with the United States navy. He was a light-hearted youngster when he left Canada. Today he is a bronzed, young man who has seen service in the seven seas, has suffered the cold of Iceland and the extreme heat of the tropics.

Young Ousley had training at San Diego and San Pedro and was sent to Hawaii as a radio operator in the aviation unit in 1940. He was in Iceland when war was declared against Japan, but was soon back in the Pacific in the thick of the war.

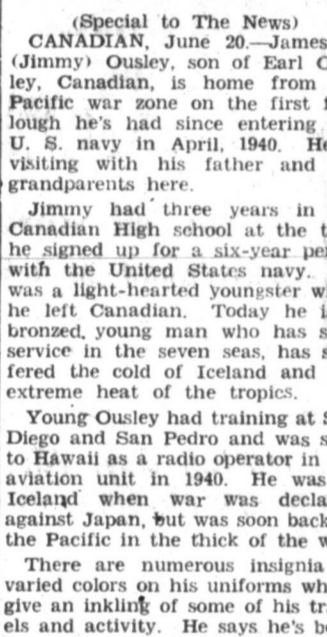

There are numerous insignia in varied colors on his uniforms which give an inkling of some of his travels and activity. He says he's been busy every minute these more than three years in service. Interpreted, he has seen:

- European theatre of war; Asiatic-Pacific theatre of war — the two little stars on that stripe mean participation in two battles which were Midway and Battle of the Coral Sea; American theatre of war; national defense, the one star there meaning that, at the time of the declaration of war against Japan, was serving in the U. S. navy outside the continental United States; good conduct; Veteran of Foreign Wars; naval expeditionary force; aerial gunner; aviation radioman first class; and the gold wings mean aerial combat crew.

He has met a number of Hemphill county men at different times and places. He mentioned R. T. Smith, son of Lee Smith; Vernon Weaver; Kenneth Davis; Cert Callaway; Frankie Bills who entered navy service with Jimmy, was assigned a U. S. steamship and is still serving there.

Jimmy says when occasion demands they fly 18,000 to 20,000 feet above the earth, but usually not more than two or three thousand feet.

Ousley is rated a petty officer first class and his work is aviation radioman. He suffered a leg injury in one of a number of plane crashes and is grounded for the present. He will report some time next week to Corpus Christi and will, presumably, be placed in the radio unit there.

Water Use In Pampa Climbs

Rationing has not yet hit Pampa's water supply but the inroads made by consumption of the city's four wells during the 15-day period beginning June 1 and ending June 15 has set the city to wondering what would happen if one of the wells should fail.

Friday marked the runner-up record for the all-time high in water consumption in Pampa, when 2,485,000 gallons was pumped. This record is exceeded only by July 31, 1940, when the mark was 2,513,000 gallons.

Total capacity of the city's four wells is 3,600,000 gallons a day. For the 15-day period ending June 15 a total of 25,296,500 gallons was pumped.

More than 2,000,000 gallons a day have been pumped since June 8, except on June 13 and 14.

Why the increased consumption? James H. Massa, city water department superintendent, puts it down to just one thing, an increase in population. The 1940 U. S. census gave Pampa a population of 12,895; a present estimated population of the city is 14,500.

Wildcat Territory Will Get Oil Test

Notice of intention to drill in Farmer county, wildcat territory, featured the weekly report of activity last week in the Panhandle oil field.

Stanford Oil & Gas company has filed notice of intention to drill its A. J. Jarrell 1, 1,965 feet from the west and 660 feet from the south of the northwest corner of Section 19, Block B, Capitol land survey, in Farmer.

Complaints On Prices Can Be Made To Panel

Want to make a complaint about price ceiling violation? The price ceiling panel of the county is ready to listen. However, the panel prefaces this statement with "the board is of the opinion that the merchants and sellers of Gray county are making an effort to comply with the OPA price schedule." The panel is in session weekly. New prices on beef, veal, lamb and button are to take effect tomorrow, the panel announced.

ITALY

quoting a Zurich dispatch saying the main cities of Sicily and Naples would be evacuated of nearly all civilians by July 10. The jittery state of Italian officialdom, as well as of the fascist public, was reflected in two swiftly succeeding orders. The first fixed hard penalties for Italians failing to report landings of Allied paratroopers or other agents; the second offered cash rewards to soldiers discovering paratroopers or Allied secret works in Italian cities.

The ministry of information recorded a broadcast which said the menace of landings of single Allied "chutists" had become "acute of late." This was followed by another Rome broadcast boasting that "so far, not a single Allied soldier has set foot on European soil." Radio Algiers reported that "tension between German and Italian troops occupying Greece is rising steadily."

coal production to the war effort was emphasized during the day by an announcement that the production board plans a concentrated campaign to increase steel output. Steel making is so closely tied up with coal that any shortage of the fuel is immediately reflected. The mine walkouts began first in Alabama almost immediately after word of the W.L.B. decision was received yesterday, and quickly spread to some Pennsylvania mines.

Miss Florence Ferguson is visiting in San Antonio with her sister, Mrs. Glenn Ferguson. Mrs. Pauline Gaskins returned Wednesday from her vacation in St. Louis. Lieutenant Crane has been decorated 12 times for "extraordinary aerial achievement in combat," according to an article in a Wichita paper. He downed three Messerschmitts in the air, three on the ground and got three probables.

500 Ford Foremen Out On Strike

DETROIT, June 19 (AP)—More than 500 Ford Rouge plant foremen, members of the Ford Chapter of the Foreman's Association of America, walked out today and the question immediately arose whether their action would disrupt war production in the huge plant. The dispute started, a company spokesman said, early this afternoon when several foremen posted an ad which appeared in a Detroit morning newspaper. The company asked them to remove the ad, and 28 foremen walked out in protest, others joining later. The advertisement placed in the paper was captioned, "We do not want to strike," but asked the question as to how long the group would be able to keep the members from striking unless the company agreed to accept the union's interpretation of wage clauses in an agreement.

Other visitors who are expected who have not yet been assigned by the army hospital committee, or who have reservations in Pampa hotels and tourist courts include: Miss Lillian Merle Anderson, Albany, N. Calling all knitters! Mrs. J. B. Massa, production chairman, urges that any experienced knitter who can serve as officer of the day in the knitting department call Mrs. Kinzer at 1337. The officer of the day checks out yarn, gives instruction in knitting, explains Red Cross knitting directions, and checks garments at various stages. Women who regularly serve in this capacity occasionally find it impossible to be in the production room, and substitutes are urgently needed. The room is open from 9:30 to 4:00 p. m.

Mrs. Eori O'Brien, sewing chairman, says that many hospital pajamas and convalescent robes remain to be sewed. These are in bright colors and stripes of chambray and are really fun to work with. Those who have made them have been pleased to see how pretty the garment is when made up.

Mrs. W. R. Campbell, assistant production chairman, has gone to visit her mother in Channing, and what do you suppose she is going to do during her vacation? She took with her some demolition mitts and afghan squares which she and her mother will make before she returns.

Mrs. C. P. Buckler is delighted with the response to the invitation for surgical dressings workers; she states that the women are turning out beautiful work, and that the dressings look just like a picture. Mrs. Lynn Boyd's group had the greatest number of workers present this week—18. More workers are needed, however, for soon in Europe thousands of these dressings will be needed. This work is vital—a life may be lost through lack of surgical dressings.

Seven cartons, or 36,000 surgical dressings were shipped this week.

Think of how many hours of work this represents! Leona McClendon has done the labeling of these cartons, and it has been a very neat, careful piece of work.

Mrs. Max Brown of LeFors came into the local Red Cross office this week and left a $20 bill to pay for twenty comfort kits. This is the gift of the Junior Art and Civic Club of LeFors; this club had already filed fifteen kits, making a total of thirty-five comfort kits donated in cooperation with the armed services. From many sources, information was sought as to the kind of situations likely to be faced in the water by our fighting men; then the aquatic skills best adapted to meeting them were tested and incorporated in the course. Instructors for practically every aquatic skill necessary for military use are included in this course. No charge will be made for this instruction, the only requirement being necessary swimming ability which will be demonstrated by each pupil before he is eligible to enroll.

Mrs. Catherine Lyons of the area office in St. Louis visited the various departments of the local chapter last week; she gave a very favorable report, adding that we have many fine workers and that the good results are proof of their splendid cooperation with the instructors and supervisors.

Occasionally someone asks, "What is Home Service? What is its function?" The complete answer to these queries cannot be made briefly, but the primary responsibility of Home Service is to assist service and ex-service men and their families in meeting those needs which arise from the man's service in the armed forces. A typical case was brought to the attention of the local chapter this week: A young woman, mother of a six-week old baby, whose soldier husband had been shipped abroad, left California to return to the home of her mother in Oklahoma. She spent three days and nights on the train, and when she arrived in Pampa, the train on which she was to continue her trip had already left. This she was presented with the problem of finding lodging for the night; this problem complicated by the fact that her funds were almost exhausted, as she had started the trip with only enough money to pay her way straight through to Oklahoma. A young woman who came into Pampa on the same train noticed her distress and directed her to the Red Cross Office. A Home Service worker heard her story, and immediately things began to happen. A wire was sent to the mother advising her that the daughter would not arrive until the next day; then two Home Service workers conducted the young woman to a hotel where a room was obtained. One of the workers bathed the baby while the mother took her bath. Money was provided for two meals and the hotel bill. The workers enjoyed the experience of being of help to one who was in need and whose appreciation was almost beyond her power to express.

You never can tell what production will produce, say the volunteers of Jacksonville, Fla., who have made 10,000 garments in the past year.

Take the case of the corpulent M. P. corporal. Into Red Cross headquarters he dashed, carrying eight pairs of G. I. pants, size 38.

"Ladies," he shouted, "this is a national emergency! There aren't bigger pants, and can't get into any of these. I've got the duty for the next three days. Where can I find the Gusset department?"

Needless to say, the ladies rose to the occasion magnificently.

Porthole navigation by landlubbers soldiers on shipboard has been given an assist by a pocket edition of "Science from Shipboard" recently distributed by the American Red Cross as a part of its recreation services to the expeditionary forces.

Miss Clara Brown, nutrition chairman announced that women who are interested in preserving food are invited to attend a meeting in Room 111 at the new high school Tuesday, June 22, at 2:00 p. m. at which time methods of food preservation will be discussed and demonstrated by Mrs. L. H. Hart and Mrs. Robert Sanford.

Mrs. Julia Kelly will demonstrate the storage of root vegetables, kraut and the drying of fruits and vegetables on Friday, June 25, at 8:00 p. m. at Baker school. The same demonstration will be given again on Monday, June 28, at 8:00 p. m. at Sam Houston School. Mrs. Kelly is especially anxious to reach those who do not have a pressure cooker.

Girl Scouts
Mrs. K. E. Thornton

By MRS. K. E. THORNTON

The Pampa Girl Scout Day Camp is over and for some 170 Girl Scouts it was a wonderful two weeks. Even the parents and friends who went to Harvest Park Friday night to see the stunts will attest to its successful conclusion.

Miss Ouisa G. Moien, director, did a fine job in seeing to it that each girl did what she most wanted to do in a group. That, after all, is what day camp is, camping by day. Learning to give and take and other wise enjoying the outdoors to the fullest. However, even day camp is not without serious and useful times. For example, the Brownies and Scouts cleverly decorated paper plates for the USO to be used at the grand opening when they move into their new building.

The high point of the entire two weeks was the trip to Camp Sullivan for the "overnight." All the Intermediate and Senior Scouts made this trip. The first group went the first week and the younger crowd went Thursday night of the last week. Many stories came back with them, of the grand time they had.

Swimming was offered two days last week and the staff wishes to thank Dr. Wilder for offering his time. He examined the girls so that each one would have a health certificate. This being a Girl Scout requisite before they can go swimming in a group.

Our thanks to several Girl Scout daddies who gave their time and talents. Mr. E. E. Holden built a stile over the fence at Camp Sullivan.

Army Survey Team Visits Air Base

The air forces' policy of "a job for every man, and every man on the right job" was further emphasized last week at Pampa Army Air Field when a survey team of officers and enlisted men visited the field.

This survey team, consisting of three officers and 18 enlisted men from various stations in the Gulf Coast Training Center, interviewed the enlisted men stationed at Pampa Field in order to bring the air forces' records up to date and see that each man is doing the job he knows best—the job for which he is best suited.

Army's Health Never Better

Story Of Lou Gehrig Saga Of Americanism

By BROWNWOOD EMERSON

A wholesome typical American story based on the national game and the life of one of its immortals, a melodrama of the Czech underground, an action-adventure yarn tingling with thrills, combine to offer film fare of a variety to suit nearly every taste this week on Pampa screens.

"Pride of the Yankees," starring Gary Cooper in the role of Lou Gehrig, opens this week at the LaNora where it is on the screen today through Wednesdays.

Teresa Wright has the role of Eleanor Gehrig. Babe Ruth and Walter Brennan are others in the cast of the RKO Radio release.

Opening in 1914 with Gehrig as an eager youngster who dreamed on excelling on the diamond, the picture carries him through his college years and early struggles to the day in 1925 when he began his 14-year career with the Yankee club

All the baseball world knew that Bill Dickey, catcher for the New York Yankees and Lou Gehrig, its resident first baseman were not only teammates but pals for years. In "The Pride of the Yankees," Samuel Goldwyn's great film based on the life of Gehrig, these two are reunited, as here shown, Dickey, playing himself (right) and Gary Cooper in his starring role as Lou Gehrig, at the LaNora today through Wednesday.

In this film, "Jacare" showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the Rex, movie fans who like the real thing in adventure will get their fill of thrills as a zoologist group invading the Amazon jungle runs into life and death struggles. The Frank Buck presentation, a United Artists release, shows the expedition leader wrapped in the coils of the deadly anaconda, and an expedition canoe capsized by the black-skinned jacare and a fierce underwater combat between man and the beast.

"Life of the men who fight the U-boats is shown in RKO Radio's 'The Navy Comes Through,' showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the State. Plot deals with the exploits of a 11-man navy gun crew aboard a munitions-loaded freighter from Brooklyn. Pat O'Brien is the salty C. P. O. in charge of the group. George Murphy has the other chief male role and Jane Wyatt has the romantic lead.

A rollicking romantic comedy is 2242nd 2C/2N/2X/22222222 HDL HDL man," showing today, tomorrow, and Tuesday at the Crown. Story centers around a secretary in love with her boss who is oblivious to her charms. Virginia Gillmore and James Ellison are featured.

BACKFIRE— Dean Murphy, the mimic, who impersonates people like F. D. R., Mrs. R. and Churchill so effectively, is a great practical joker—and more often than not his elaborate ribs backfire.

Dean, who is headed for the Coast to make faces for M-G-M, had that happen just a few days ago.

Murphy encountered the mayor of a small town in Maine, who was telling him about his uncle, the only Democrat in the village.

"Ah!" said Dean, "I shall now play one of my renowned jokes upon your uncle. I shall call him up and impersonate various and sundry big shot Democrats and suggest that he become a Republican just to keep the village unanimous."

Which he did, talking at great length to the uncle, chiding him severely in the voices of the biggest people in the administration. At length he hung up and turned dejectedly to the mayor who hadn't said a word as the elaborate horse play was going on.

"Your uncle didn't seem to pay much attention to what I was saying," Dean said.

"Probably because he couldn't hear a word you said," drawled the laconic New Englander. "You were in such a god-darned hurry to play your joke you didn't give me a chance to tell you he's stone deaf."

Murphy sheepishly paid the not inconsequential phone bill and slunk away.

livan, so that it would be easier for the girls to get over the fence with their bed rolls. Another daddy fixed the little Scout house.

This past week was just like the first. Something different every day, with Friday night climaxed events when the Brownies and Scouts met at Harvester Park at 7 o'clock for "stunt night."

The crowd sat in the bleachers at the end of the field and all events were staged directly in front of the bleachers.

The Scouts marched on the field first and sang "Hello," then came the Brownies, who advised everyone to the "Smile" out of their pockets and put it where it belongs (with gestures) all this to a lilting melody. Then while they took their places on the lower seats of the bleachers they sang Scout and Brownie songs.

The first stunt on the program announced by Mary Wyatt was Mrs. Glenn Radcliffe's unit, "The Air Force." This was a human car race.

"The Four Leaf Clover Girls," the oldest Brownie unit, with Mrs. W. B. Westberry and Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, leaders, followed. "These girls sang of what a beautiful princess Thorn Rosa was. Thorn Rosa stood in the background with a crown upon her head. Five little girls with leaves comprised the hedge while two other girls sheltered Thorn Rosa with their arms to represent the castle. Soon a horrid old witch with a long nose came riding a stick horse and put a spell on Thorn Rosa so that she slept one hundred years, while the hedge grew to gigantic proportions. Finally the glamorous prince came, awakened the princess and everyone was happy ever after.

Mrs. R. N. Nentziel's unit, "The Commandos," came next. "These girls sang, a negro spiritual with gestures: 'Can't Sit Down, Lord.' "The Happy Helpers," with Mrs. J. L. McCarty and Mrs. B. A. Sumner, from the Brownie camp, rode out on their trusty steeds of the stick variety and sang "Yankee Doodle Dandy," accompanying themselves with combs, pans and spoons. Their hats were made out of newspaper with red, white and blue streamers.

Next came "The Flying Tigers," headed by Nita Rose McCarty and Joyce Pratt. They showed the audience that "lying is fatal." The horrible villain "sizzled and fried" very realistically while the righteous hero and heroine stood by with their entourage and gloated.

The Brownies were next represented by "The Flying Eagles," Mrs. Bruce Walters and Mrs. Don Perrin, counsellors. These girls came out dragging long black tails and when they turned all one could see were beautiful cat faces with long whiskers and even eyelashes. They described themselves as "Pussy Willows," and grew and grew in a cute song.

"The Trail Blazers," guided by Mrs. L. J. McCarty and Mrs. Edith Roth, staged a washstand. "The first was lashing a washstand. A team comprised of two girls started with three sharpened sticks of the same length and a length of rope. The idea was to see who could lash the sticks in a tripod and place the basin on it first. The winners were Judy Smith and Peggy Hukil, with Merdella Roberts and Mary Joyce Mobley second. Next, the girls divided into patrols and had a square knot relay race. Each girl tied a square knot in a length of rope and handed it to the girl behind her who untied the knot and tied one of her own.

Mrs. G. H. Anderson and Mrs. Butterfield headed the "Flying Fortress" from the Brownie camp. These girls did indeed look like lovely flowers in their vari-colored costumes—they sang of the flowers they represented.

The last was the "Scout Clover Unit" headed by Mrs. N. L. Nicholl and Mary Myatt. They were extremely sad and come to find out they didn't have a stunt.

The entire program was entertaining and showed much preparation on the part of the girls and their leaders. In fact the whole two weeks was an educational and enjoyable time. All in all, it was time well spent—so until next year.

Smith Criticizes Flag Decision

CINCINNATI, June 19 (AP)—A decision of the United States supreme court nullifying statutes requiring a salute to the flag "will take its pace in history with the Dred Scott decision," Lieut. Gov. John Lee Smith of Texas asserts.

"It was certainly an incongruity not to say an impropriety, for the supreme court to issue a decision on flag day that those statutes requiring a salute to the flag be invalid," Smith told a Knights of Pythi as meeting last night.

"This decision protects disloyalty and penalizes patriotism and gives aid and comfort to every disloyal group in this country," he declared.
