Commies Shout 'Lie' In Heated POW Debate

Claim Allied Planes Flew Over Cities

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — Communist negotiators shouted "lie" in a heated debate over prisoner exchange today and charged that Allied planes flew over several cities in northeast China Sunday.

Allied negotiators on the truce supervision subcommittee switched tactics Monday after failing for three straight days to get an oral statement of the Communist stand on airfield reconstruction. Instead the UN asked the Reds to agree to restrictions. The requests got a chilly reception.

The Reds charged that Allied planes flew over Mukden, Wushien and other Chinese communities but did not say any were attacked.

A UN spokesman at Panmunjom said "we assume the charge is similar to a lot of other allegations they have made and completely irrelevant to the meeting."

A Fifth Air Force spokesman at Seoul denied that any Allied planes flew over northeast China Sunday.

The outburst of Communist temper came after Rear Adm. R. E. Libby explained that the Allied voluntary prisoner repatriation plan would be advantageous to the Reds as well as the UN. "If your statement has been prepared in order to deceive a part of the people of the world who are ignorant, it would be all right," said North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho. "But it would not suit us."

"You had better not say more than you would do us any favors."

"Should you continue to say so, it would mean that you tell a big lie."

Admiral Libby retorted: "I do not know whether I have personally been called a liar, but for a strong inference, I still stand by the record and make sure."

Both subcommittees agreed to meet again at 11 a. m. Tuesday (8 p. m. CST Monday).

"There is one action that your side could take which would clearly overcome the evidence of cease-fire air power," Maj. Gen. Claude Ferenbaugh told the Reds. "You could agree with the United Nations command that there be no developments of military airfields on either side during the armistice. When you take that step the world will breathe easier, for your positive indication of sincerity toward a stable armistice and therefore toward peace."

Afterward Ferenbaugh told newsmen speeches of the Communist delegates were "interlarded with more propaganda than a heretofore."

"It was difficult to stay on the subject of airfields," he said.

Sweaters Of Brush Nylon Cause Arrests

ODESSA — (AP) — Two door-to-door salesmen are held here, accused of selling sweaters that burst into flames if touched by a lighted match.

They were booked on violation of a city ordinance prohibiting house-to-house canvassing without a permit.

Each of the men gave a home address in Providence, R. I.

The two were arrested while trying to sell a sweater believed to be made of "brush nylon," a highly inflammable material.

In Lubbock yesterday, eight "brush nylon" sweaters were turned over to police after the buyers heard warnings of the fire danger. The buyers said they paid from $4 to $10 a set for the sweaters from itinerant salesmen.

Detective Roy Lehn Bagley of the Lubbock force held a match to one of the sweaters. In less than a minute all that was left was a tissue-like ash and a small of linseed oil.

BENNY'S CELEBRATE
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — (AP) — The Jack Benny celebrated their 28th wedding anniversary yesterday. The comedian and the former Sadye Marks, known as Mary Live- ingstone on the radio, were married in Waukegan, Ill., in 1924.

CAN YOU SPARE A DIME?—In preparation for the mile-of-dimes drive Saturday, Clinton Evans, Gray county chairman of the March of Dimes drive, pays for News employees' coffee through an iron lung bank. During Saturday's drive, local restaurants will be asked to serve coffee for 10 cents, to be paid through donations to the March of Dimes. Motorists also will be asked to deposit dimes instead of nickels in parking meters. All civic organizations will be represented throughout Pampa to collect street donations. (News Photo)

Drainage For McConnell Being Pushed

Drainage of McConnell lake today loomed as more of a possibility than raising the road grade of flooded State Hwy. 152, west of Pampa.

Difficulty in getting rights-of-way at a price the county is willing to pay, brought the draining proposition sharply into focus again.

Representatives from four oil companies — Phillips, The Texas Co., Magnolia and J. W. Gayden Oil Co. — requested the Gray county commissioners court to assist in obtaining rights-of-way through Gray county for the estimated 3800-foot drainage pipeline that would carry the lake waters into White Deer Creek. The pipeline would cut through the northwest corner of Gray county; run through the extreme northeast corner of Carson county; and the extreme southeast corner of Hutchinson county.

Whether condemnation proceedings would be needed to obtain right-of-way through Carson and Hutchinson counties is still to be determined, but was discussed.

The program, as the oil companies have suggested, is for them to install the pipeline at their expense and then turn maintenance of it over to the State Highway Dept., if the department will accept the responsibility. The counties will be asked to secure the right-of-way.

Because the Gray county commissioners believed county commissioners of the other two counties would balk at instituting such proceedings it was suggested that the state be asked to use its power of eminent domain to obtain the rights-of-way by condemnation if land owners refused to come to any acceptable agreement.

If the drainage program can be worked out, plans for raising the road grade across McConnell lake are expected to be dropped, saving the State Highway Dept. the $95,000 now appropriated for the project.

Some of the landowners around the lake sector are asking $500 per acre for the rights-of-way. Approximately six acres of land are needed as borrow pits and for widening the submerged section in order to raise the road bed.

Traffic Accidents Take Nine Lives In Texas Week End

By the Associated Press
Traffic accidents accounted for nine of the 15 violent deaths reported in Texas this weekend.

Three persons die in shootings, one was burned to death, one died in a fall and there was one suicide by hanging.

The latest reported deaths include: Three Negroes were killed Sunday in a head-on collision of their car and a bus about three miles east of Ballinger. Dead were Judge Shelly, S. T. Wilkinson and Sam Holloway, all of Coleman. Three passengers on the bus received minor injuries.

A five-month-old boy, Eugene Clarence Whitehead, burned to death Sunday when fire destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Whitehead, Austin.

Vernon Dale Rogers, 27, Dallas stone worker, and Miss Martin, 19, were killed Sunday when the car in which they were riding failed to make a curving approach to a bridge and crashed into the Trinity river bed.

Everett Hall, 28, was shot to death in a Dallas tavern Sunday. Police arrested the 51-year-old proprietor of the place.

Harris B. Browne, Odesa locksmith, was shot to death Saturday 10 miles west of San Angelo. Charges of murder without malice were filed against Rex Rodgers, 51, Odesa sporting goods dealer and former city councilman.

Texans Expect No Big Action From Congress

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The current session of Congress, in the opinion of many Texas men, won't produce much in the way of new laws.

With elections coming up, they feel action will be limited largely to passage of money bills and committee investigations.

"This should be a short session," Sen. Lyndon Johnson told a reporter.

"In addition to the appropriation measures, we will have to extend economic controls and consider universal military training (UMT) legislation."

Plane Crashes In East River; All Aboard Saved

NEW YORK — (AP) — A North-east airliner, probing through dense fog for a landing at La Guardia field, crashed today in the East river in the middle of New York City. At least 33 were saved.

The airline said 36 persons — 33 passengers and a crew of three — were aboard.

However, the airline said it had been advised by the pilot that he was the last one off the plane, leaving none of the 36 aboard.

Police headquarters said it was advised by the stewards that all passengers and crew had been rescued. Two survivors were reported seriously injured. The others required only first aid.

INSTRUMENT LANDING
The two-engine Convair airplane was trying to make an instrument landing in murky weather, plunged into the river as it headed for La Guardia field. Police harbor launches, Coast Guard vessels and two helicopters raced to the scene and began rescuing passengers as the heavy plane sank swiftly.

The crash was at a point near where the river joins the boroughs of Manhattan, the Bronx and Queens. The current, swift and deep at this spot, showed up in the wreckage.

The department of hospitals set up a temporary hospital at a Queens pier, which thronged with doctors and nurses as survivors were brought ashore from tugs.

Most of them were suffering from shock and submersion.

Chamber Of Commerce Heads Discuss Publicizing Area

Action on a proposition to tell the story of Pampa in the magazine "Texas Parade" was referred to committee action during a monthly meeting today of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and board of city development directors.

At the noon meeting in the Schneider hotel, Wood Hall, representative of the "Texas Parade," which is sponsored by the Texas Good Roads Assn., Austin, explained that the idea behind the publication is to advertise Texas to other states.

"By presenting stories about Texas cities, industrialists may be persuaded to move into the area," he stated. "There are no official state publications advertising Texas, and this would be a good opportunity not only to picture your community but also to help it expand by bringing in industry."

Also referred to committee action was a proposal by G. E. Perry, manager of the traffic department, Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, inviting Pampa to join or support a traffic department for the Panhandle area which primarily would be concerned with freight-rate problems.

Charles Cook, president of the chamber, said that according to records, 1952 marks the golden anniversary of Gray county. The group decided to appoint one person to discuss plans for a celebration with other interested groups or individuals.

A letter from Burt C. Blanton, business economist from Dallas, requested the board allow him to draw up an industrial and economic survey for Pampa and Gray county based on new census figures. The present survey written by Blanton dates to 1945.

In other action, board members approved work committees for 1952, accepted the resignation of O. E. McDowell who is moving from Pampa, and voted to send a letter of appreciation to the local junior chamber of commerce for work members rendered in decorating the city during Christmas.

Fire Destroys Interior Of Damna House

Fire believed to have been caused by faulty wiring last night destroyed the interior of the R. C. Owens home at 634 E. Craven.

Amount of damage was still unestimated today but the owner of the property, Joe Slater, said the fire is covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered about 9:45 p. m. Sunday by two women passing by. After reporting the incident to nearby residents, Owens, who had been sleeping unaware of the danger, was aroused and barely managed to escape through a rear door.

Mrs. Owens was visiting friends nearby at the time of the fire. Both were able only to save night clothes and robes. Owens did not have time to put on shoes when he rushed to safety.

Officials believe the fire started in a clothes closet. Although evidence is inconclusive, Fire chief Ernest Winborne said he made-shift wiring.

A fire this morning destroyed a hen house and barn behind the New Town cabins 1/2 mile south of Pampa on the Letors Highway. Cause was undetermined.

Winborne said today strict attention should be given grass and trash fires started during the strong wind. They can get out of control easily and cause serious damage, he said.

17 Local Men Headed For Service

Seventeen area men will leave here Wednesday for induction into the armed forces, according to the local draft board. The board also is sending out two groups of men for physical examinations during the month. One group made up of 20 men took examinations Jan. 10. A 30-man party is scheduled to be examined Jan. 22. These include men in the 20 and 21-year-old age bracket. Statewide quota for January was 147 men.

The February induction quota in the four-county area served by the local board has been cut sharply, compared to the January figures.

Only four men from the area made up of Gray, Wheeler and Donley counties and Miami in Roberts county will be inducted. (See SEVEN Page 2)

Miss Sammie Dalton Named To Pampa Girl Scout Position

Miss Sammie Lee Dalton of Pampa today was named council assistant for the Pampa Girl Scout Assn. Miss Dalton will fill a post left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Virginia McDonald Jan. 4.

The association unanimously elected Miss Dalton to the position during a called meeting this morning. She will assume her duties immediately following the Girl Scout banquet here Monday.

She came to Pampa from Borger in November, 1950 and since that time as done advertising and publicity work here. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shipley, longtime Borger residents, Miss Dalton has done work and study in connection with counseling and guidance.

According to Dr. D. E. Nelson, office and staff chairman for the Girl Scout Assn., Miss Dalton's duties will include supervising the organization of Girl Scout troops, providing training for local and area leaders and she will act also in a general advisory capacity for the various chairmen and volunteer workers in the association which includes troops in Pampa, Letors, White Deer, Wheeler and Shamrock.

Following graduation from Phillips High school in 1946, Miss Dalton attended Arkansas Polytechnic college in Russellville, Ark. She studied speech and journalism and worked with college authorities in counseling and guidance. Her studies in school also included personnel guidance and psychology.

Mrs. McDonald resigned the position with the Girl Scouts after two years in the organization. Her resignation was brought before a regularly scheduled meeting of the association.

Father Soklich Moves To LaPorte

Father Anthony Soklich, parish priest at Holy Souls Catholic church, left this morning for LaPorte, Texas, where he will teach theology at St. Mary's seminary. LaPorte is near Houston.

Father Soklich was honored Sunday night with a dinner at Parish hall by approximately 200 members of the parish. He came to Pampa as parish priest in September, 1950.

TRAIN LEAVES RAILS

DALLAS — (AP) — Eight cars of a Frisco railroad freight train left the rails and overturned near here yesterday. No one was injured.

AFTERMATH — Fire Chief Ernest Winborne surveys damage caused by a fire Sunday at 634 E. Craven in which the interior of a house was destroyed. R. C. Owens, who was sleeping at the time of the fire, barely managed to escape without injury. Cause of the fire is believed to be from make-shift wiring. (News Photo)

Quail Hunters Have Two More Days; Season Ends Wednesday

Panhandle hunters have only two full days remaining now before the 1951-52 quail season comes to an end. Officially, shooting will be over one-half hour before sunset Jan. 16. That is Wednesday.

As expected, turnout of hunters over the week end was heavy, and according to one local sportsman, there were still plenty of birds.

Hunters consider this the best season in many years for the Panhandle. This was borne out in one respect by the larger bag limit permitted Panhandle hunters. The Texas Fish and Game commission extended the limit from 10 birds to 12. Greatest number of birds was found in Wheeler and Collingsworth counties, but hunters found an unusual number in Gray county.

Survivors include his parents; three sisters, Ruth, Sue and Peggy; two brothers, Billy and Ronnie; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Snow, Lovane, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cast, Marlow, Okla.

Burial was in Fairview cemetery.

THE JUDGE GETS FIVE

THE JUDGE GETS FIVE — Justice of the Peace Yates Hamm of Antioch, Calif., found these five youngsters, complete with clothing and toys, in his chambers shortly after he had fined their parents $20 for refusing to send one of their daughters to school. Mr. and Mrs. Amos Barton told the judge they were giving him five of their nine children "to raise, feed and educate." The youngsters are: Doreen 14, John 8; Tommy 7; Cheryl 6 and Timothy 3. The Bartons' quarrel with the law began when school authorities sent an aide daughter home for wearing pin curls.

Samia Gamal Is Sued By Agent

CAIRO, Egypt — Samia Gamal, the Egyptian night club dancer who received widespread attention by marrying a Texas oil heir, faces a $28,700 lawsuit here.
Theatrical agent Jacques Pascal filed the suit yesterday, he said. He claimed Samia broke a verbal contract for him to manage night club engagements lined up for her in New York and Miami.
The dancer recently arrived in the United States with her husband, Sheppard King III. He became a Moslem and took the name "Abdullah" when he married her in Cairo.

Pampan Wins Combat Badge

WITH THE 25th INFANTRY DIVISION IN KOREA, Pvt. Andrew G. Earl of Star Route 3, Pampa, has been awarded the Combat Infantryman badge, a symbol of close-quarter fighting with the enemy while serving with the 25th Infantry division in Korea.
The badge, consisting of a miniature replica of a Revolutionary War flintlock mounted on a blue background and superimposed on a silver wreath, distinguishes the actual fighting men from rear area and service troops.
Private Earl earned the award while serving with the 14th regiment, a part of the 25th division.

Son Of Texas Tech Vice President Dies

SAN ANTONIO — Robert Jones, 26, son of Vice President E. N. Jones of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, died here yesterday after a brief illness.
He was manager of a local food store and had lived here about 18 months.
Funeral services were scheduled here today.
Survivors include the widow, a week-old son, Clyde Newlan Jones; his father, a brother, Allen, and a sister, Miss Elaine Jones, the latter three of Lubbock.

Canadian Has Essay Contest

CANADIAN — (Special) — A special assembly was held Friday morning in the Canadian High school auditorium featuring Miss Mozelle Parr, of Perryton. She is electrification advisor for the North Plains Electric Co-Op. She announced the opening of a contest sponsored by the North Plains Electric Co-Op.
The contest involves essays written on the subject, "What the North Plains Electric Co-Op Means to My Family and My Community". All high school students are eligible to enter the contest, which covers a five county area.
Judges for the school contest will be three teachers of the school.
Directors of the contest in this county are Jack Lawrence and Oscar Forney.
The student body also voted, by secret ballot, on the wittiest boy and girl, most dependable boy and girl, most understanding person, and the friendliest boy and girl in high school. The results will be kept secret until their pictures come out in the Beargrass next spring.

Britain To Mass Produce New Jet

LONDON — Britain will mass produce her new four-engine bomber Valiant even though the first one to be completed exploded.
The first of the new super-planes, which are designed to deliver the atom bomb, crashed in flames near Bournemouth on a test flight two days ago. Five crewmen bailed out, but one of them died later.
"Fortunately the aircraft had already completed sufficient test flying to show that it fully met air staff requirements and the accident will not, therefore, entail any changes in plans for its production," the air ministry announced.
The ministry blamed the crash on an accidental fire in one of the engine bays.

Allied Troops Want To Fight Or Go Home

SEOUL, Korea — The national commander of Jewish war veterans said today Allied troops are "itching to go to battle or go home."

Removal of War Remnant

JACKSON, Miss. — (AP) — Felks along the 700 block of South Con-dirty, wrinkled $50 bills. Before the Valentines could explain how all that lovely green stuff got caught in the shrubbery, an investigating police officer picked up $180.
The gold rush news also turned up a cab driver who said he could explain how all that lovely green stuff got caught in the shrubbery. The cab driver, Junior Clark, first said everybody should keep looking, that another $3000 was kicking around.
Then he told police that all that wealth got spread around when one of his riders tossed $4000 out of the cab window Wednesday night. Clark said the rider "thought he was being taken for a ride" and heaved his money where the imaginary "robbers" couldn't get it.
Clark didn't know about that and, on orders from the rider, he drove all the way to Hot Springs, Ark.
When he returned and heard about the loose cash he looked up the cops.
To play safe in case Clark's riders showed up and proves he threw his money away, most of the $930 has been itemized and turned over to Rev. Valentine for safe keeping until things gets squared away.

Neighborhood Turns Out In Search For 'Soggy, Old Money'

JACKSON, Miss. — (AP) — Felks along the 700 block of South Con-dirty, wrinkled $50 bills. Before the Valentines could explain how all that lovely green stuff got caught in the shrubbery, an investigating police officer picked up $180.
The gold rush news also turned up a cab driver who said he could explain how all that lovely green stuff got caught in the shrubbery. The cab driver, Junior Clark, first said everybody should keep looking, that another $3000 was kicking around.
Then he told police that all that wealth got spread around when one of his riders tossed $4000 out of the cab window Wednesday night. Clark said the rider "thought he was being taken for a ride" and heaved his money where the imaginary "robbers" couldn't get it.
Clark didn't know about that and, on orders from the rider, he drove all the way to Hot Springs, Ark.
When he returned and heard about the loose cash he looked up the cops.
To play safe in case Clark's riders showed up and proves he threw his money away, most of the $930 has been itemized and turned over to Rev. Valentine for safe keeping until things gets squared away.

Rush Body To Be Sent To Missouri

However, the statewide total has been increased to 2144 men in February. The local board will send out only 20 men for physical exams next month as compared to 50 in January.
Reason for the drop in inductions for February was blamed on rate of enlistments for which the Pampa board is given credit. Low enlistment rate in December forced the high induction order for January in the area.

We are Looking for This Lad

HE'S an alert teen-ager who is eager to make the most of his spare time—use it to earn extra money, learn modern business methods, gain valuable experience, add to his savings fund, and step ahead of less ambitious lads!
He can do all this simply by devoting an hour or so each day to the pleasant and profitable activity of running a newspaper route, in his own locality. He will go into business for himself, but be aided by a friendly advisor who will show him how to make his newspaper route pay and grow.
He May Be Your Own Son!
If this unique opportunity for a boy to earn, learn, and save . . . in his spare time . . . appeals to your own son, suggest that he apply to our Circulation Department for the next suitable route opening. You will be glad you did, and HE will enjoy being a successful newspaper boy.

WHAT'S COOKIN' IN GRAY COUNTY HD CLUB WORK

By HELEN DUNLAP
County Home Demonstration Agent

The dormant season, or when the sap in plants is down, is the time to plant trees and shrubs. You should prepare the soil well in advance for the most success. Plowing or spading the ground and working a fertilizer into it is most helpful. Barnyard fertilizer is one of the best types to use for growing plants. If the soil is dry before planting time, it is most helpful to give it a thorough watering after the cultivation and before the planting is done.

After your soil is prepared, select your trees and shrubs to fit into the plan you made. Be sure to keep the plant roots damp, for those that are allowed to dry out are the first ones to die. Why not dig a hole in the ground and heel your plants in until you are ready to start setting them. This will help keep the roots damp.

Some people like to save time by digging all the holes before they start setting out plants. It works well in orchard planting. In shrub planting it may not be quite so good, since some holes may not be the right depth for the individual plant. At any rate, be sure you dig the holes large enough to take care of the root systems. When the holes are too small, the roots will not be able to spread out naturally and must be bent, broken or crowded to fit the space. A root-bound plant can not grow off naturally, and it may even die. A healthy plant has plenty of room for its feet.

Be certain you pack the top soil firmly about the root. This pushes the air pockets out and helps to insure the plants will live. A good thorough watering on top of this firm soil helps it to firm about the roots similar to a rain. After the water has soaked into the ground, pull the soil up loosely about the plant. Be certain not to pack it. Your completed plantings should be from 1-4 to 1-2 inch deeper than they grew in the nursery. Some people like to spread a good well decayed barnyard fertilizer on top of the soil to add plant food.

Remember that summer care of these plantings is most important. They should be cultivated regularly to help conserve moisture, and to aid them in growing. In case of the lack of moisture, you will water the plants. Encourage the development of good root systems by watering deep. It is better to water heavily but not often. Too frequent watering encourages weak root systems and when the weather is warm and dry, these plants are not able to withstand it.

Impressive Program Held At Luncheon For First Baptist Church Women

Mrs. H. M. Stokes was in charge of a program presented at the recent Royal Service luncheon in the First Baptist church. Tables were decorated to represent various missionaries for whom church circles were named. A representative from each circle dressed in costume representing the country in which the missionary served, gave a report on the missionary and her country.

The following women reported on the following missionaries: Mrs. W. R. Bell spoke on Liife Hundley who served in China; Mrs. J. W. Graham, Jr., reported on Yada Waldron who served in Argentina; Mrs. Roy Chisum reported on Lela Lair who served in two Nigeria; Mrs. Jarvis Johnson spoke on Blanche Grove who is serving in China; Mrs. F. D. Boddy reported on Maybell Taylor who was in Brazil; Mrs. Gus Green reviewed Ellouise Cauthen who was in China; Mrs. Paul Barrett reported on Roberta Cox who served as a doctor in Nigeria.

Special reports were also made on the four circles named for Pampa women. Mrs. C. E. McMin spoke on the Ruth Simmons circle and Mrs. J. B. O'Bannon reported on the Eunice Leech circle; Mrs. F. E. Leech on the Ruth Meek circle; and Mrs. Finley Vanberg spoke on the Lois Barrett circle. The latter three women were the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Barrett, 822 E. Frances.

Mrs. T. V. Lane, of the Geneva Wilson circle, described the work being done by Geneva Wilson, in Albuquerque, N. M.

Mrs. R. L. Edmondson, W.M.U. president, gave the devotional. Some 125 members attended.

Lefors Junior Art and Civic Club Has Silver Tea; Pampa Woman Speaks

Mrs. Otis Nace presented a book review at the Junior Art and Civic club tea held last week in the Lefors High school home economics department.

Guests included Meses. Estelle Lake, R. H. Barron, Jim Trout, G. N. Mounger, J. E. Carter, Robert Calhoun, Mrs. N. W. Koschek, Marion Brown, Bill Mullins, Earl Atkinson, Bob Brown, N. C. Jordan, L. R. Spence, Eddie La Porte, and Misses Ardelle Briggs, Miss Mary Alice Thompson, Eva Mae Rutledge, Carolyn Maples, Gloria Bewley and Nancy Atchley.

Mrs. Richard McDonald was hostess to the Lefors Junior Art and Civic club when it met for a Federation Day program.

During the business meeting, Mrs. James Gatlin was elected vice-president for the remainder of the year. Resignations were read from two club members and one new member, Mrs. Billy Joe Johnson, was introduced to the club.

Attending were Meses. Leonard Cain, Jerry Pillman, Louell Hughes, Homer Johnson, Ray Jordan, Vaughn Pittman, Jack Seal, Norman Sublett and Miss Barbara Byrd and Meses Billy Johnson, MacDonald and Gohlin.

Mrs. Gatlin will be hostess to the club when it meets January twenty-second.

Tips For Tasks

(Readers are invited to send in household tips which may be a saving in either time, money or energy). Stick two or three pieces of macaroni in the center of the top of a double-crust pie. The juice bubbles up these sticks and prevents the pie from running over. (Mrs. W. E. McCracken, Merten club.)

"When we talk about a woman's 'letting herself go,' we usually refer to her looks. We mean she isn't as interested in looking her best as she was once upon a time.

But there are many ways in which a woman may let herself go, that are just as much of a mistake.

She may let herself go when it comes to friendships. For example: the woman who becomes so wrapped up in her family that she has no time for friends.

She may let herself go when it comes to outside interests. That is exactly what she does if she fails to replace worn-out interests with new ones, or becomes a half-hearted member of a number of organizations, instead of a working member of a few.

She may let herself go when it comes to personal charm. The woman who nags, the one who whines, the one who looks for the worst in others, the one who is easily upset—all these women are letting their charm go.

She may let herself go when it comes to using her mind. If she takes her husband's opinions for her own, if she merely reflects the opinions of the women she knows. If she is quick to confess that she doesn't like to do anything that requires much thought, she is letting her mind go.

To prevent short hairs from going astray, this modern miss has borrowed her grandmother's curling iron for setting and touching up her pretty bangs and elusive stray ends.

She may let herself go in terms of self-confidence and self-reliance. The woman who can't make a decision without talking it over with someone else, or who is forever apologizing, is surely letting her self-confidence go.

She may let herself go in many ways that make her less of a person. Neglecting her looks is just one of the ways.

Miss Pattie Geary Studying Nursing In Kansas City General Hospital

Miss Pattie Geary, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Woody, 546 Maple, is mapping out a successful career in nursing for herself after pushing aside a childhood desire to be a movie star. Miss Geary, a 1950 graduate of Carver High school, wanted to study dramatics and go into the movies, but a short-time before graduation, she decided the field of nursing offered more to her, and she realized it offered her a way to do something for others. After graduation here, she went into training at the Kansas City, Mo., General hospital where she is now a junior. She is studying to be a surgical nurse and would like to study at Wayne University in Detroit after she finishes at the Kansas City hospital.

She is in a class with nine other girls from all over the country and lives in a dormitory. Miss Geary was the only student in her class when she graduated here. Oddly enough, her brother, Wealey, a senior at Carver this year, is going to graduate alone, too. He plans to enter the Theological Seminary in Tyler following graduation.

She has been visiting over the Christmas and New Year holidays with her parents, and will return studying to be a surgical nurse to Kansas City January 19.

Golden Gloves Action Begins Tonight At Junior High Gym

Cooper-Sawyer Exhibition Bout On Opening Program

Tonight's the night for all boxing fans. The Pampa District Golden Gloves annual boxing tournament opens at 8 tonight at the Junior High school gymnasium. A card of 15 bouts is planned for tonight's starting activity.

One of the highlights of the first card will be an exhibition bout between two Pampa fighters who have advanced to high positions in the state and national Golden Glove picture. Eugene Cooper and Buddy Sawyer, both now stationed at Amarillo Air Force base, will put on a three-round exhibition. Cooper is a two-time state Golden Glove champion who has an unbeaten record thus far this year. Sawyer is also unbeaten, and just recently captured his weight championship of the Red River tournament at Wichita Falls. He has appeared on several boxing cards at Amarillo in the past two months.

Border Conference Due Unravelling

By MURRAY SINCLAIR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Answers to important questions about Border conference basketball should be provided this week when Texas Tech and Harbin-Simmons descend on the three Arizona members. The H-S Cowboys start the six-game series against the University of Arizona tonight.

Was Tech's home-court loss to Texas Western a fluke or are the Red Raiders weaker than expected? Did Arizona gain enough experience during its disastrous trip in the Midwest and East to make a strong bid for its eighth straight title? Are Arizona State College and Temple's good freshmen prospects ready for top-flight conference play? Were the Cowboys wise to play an easy pre-conference schedule?

As yet little is known about the comparative strength of seven of the eight teams. Only Arizona State at Flagstaff can be counted out of the race because of five consecutive losses.

West Texas State, conquered by New Mexico A&M and Temple in non-conference tilts, is perched on top after wins over New Mexico A&M, Texas Western and Flagstaff. It has yet to play a road game.

Arizona and Temple also are undefeated. They have single victories over the inexperienced Flagstaff Timberjacks.

Tech's victory over North Carolina State was the most impressive of any Border conference team this season. The Red Raiders looked like the logical successors to Arizona as champs until their loss to England college was interested in a high school footballer from New York City and sent one of its players down at Christmas to talk to the boy. He returned with a report that his boy was a guest of Stanford at the Rose Bowl and was stopping at Illinois on the way home.

Texas Aggies Fight For First Place Tie As Frogs Take Rest

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Texas A&M fights for a first place tie in the Southwest conference basketball race this week as leaving Texas Christian takes time out.

The Aggies will lose the services of their play-maker, all-conference guard Jewell McDowell, after they battle Southern Methodist at Dallas tonight and Baylor at College Station Friday night.

McDowell graduates at mid-term and ends a brilliant string at Aggie. The general observation is that A&M will be much less effective without the great little floor man.

College Athletic Programs Hit By Broom Instead Of Axe

By WILL GRIMSLEY
CINCINNATI — (AP) — The nation's colleges moved into the clean-up phase of their controversial athletic programs today, wielding a whisk-broom instead of a pick-axe.

The presidents were rebuffed on two main issues in the ten-point de-emphasis program they have recommended to the American Council on Education. They were bowl games and spring practice.

The convention voted to make an exhaustive study of bowls and other post-season tournaments. A special committee will report next year.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (AP) — Talk around the college meetings at Cincinnati last week was that the Big Seven may quickly abandon its new rule which prohibits a coach, alumnus or friend of the school from contacting high school athletes.

Feeling is that it leaves the conference universities "dead in competition with non-conference schools for the prize prospects."

But every coach we talked to, including several from the Big Seven, argued that recruiting was the only real "evil" in college athletics and ought to be stopped.

PERBLE BEACH, Calif. — (AP) — A professional class with a 72-75 — 147. He won $1,250, plus $850 for the pro-amateur first place.

Colorful Jimmy Demaret, the transplanted Texan now operating out of Ojai, Calif. won the abbreviated event yesterday with a 34-hole total of 145. It was a one over par.

The 1952 version of the yearly tournament, the profits of which revert to charity, was beset by stormy weather from the start.

An estimated 5,000 spectators trudged through intermittent showers in the finals.

Reduced to a 36-hole affair, the final round was played over the par 36-36-72 championship Pebble Beach course.

The victory was worth $2,000. He pocketed an additional $500 by finishing third in the pro-amateur competition with comedian Bob Hope. They scored a best-ball of 70-64-134.

Two teams tied for low in the pro-amateur best ball with 133. They were Bob Tosti, Northampton, Mass., and Dr. B. Knutson, San Francisco, with 70-63 and Art Bell and William Hoelle, both San Francisco, with 68-65.

20-Second Career Top Sports Oddity

NEW YORK — (AP) — There were many strange happenings in sports during the year 1951 but none to compare with the 20-second big league career of Eddie Gaedel.

Not even the turnaround of Leo Durocher who turned "nice" and won a pennant, nor the football coach's refusal of his team's winning touchdown, could come close to matching the story of little Eddie.

Eddie, in case you've forgotten, is the 3 foot, seven inch, 50-pound midget. Bill Veck pulled out of a cake and made into a big leaguer.

The mite's short and hilarious career in the major leagues was the overwhelming choice of sports writers and sportscasters as the sports oddity of the year in the Associated Press' annual year-end poll.

Veck, owner of the St. Louis Browns, has pulled many a stunt in his career but he topped them all when he had a cake wheeled into Sportsman's park in St. Louis during the intermission of a Detroit-St. Louis doubleheader, on Aug. 19.

When the cake was cut, out hopped Gaedel, togged in a Browns' uniform with the number, 1-8 (one-eighth) on his back. The crowd of 18,369 laughed. But they hadn't seen anything yet. The surprise came when the Browns came to bat in the first inning.

The public address system announced that Gaedel was batting for outfielder Frank Saucier. The midget waddled out of the dugout swinging three bats. He tossed two away, retaining a CANADIAN — (Special) — Canadian won three games Friday night from the visiting Durham, Okla. teams. In the opener the "E" team defeated the Durham B, 35-14, after leading at halftime 24-5. Bill White was high point scorer for the Canadian B team with 8 points. Roy Flowers of Canadian scored 6 points, all in the first quarter.

The Canadian girls won in the second game 31-21, leading all the way, and were leading at the end of the first half 19-10. Ann Kathleen Riley 11 points for the Canadian Kittens. For Durham, Rose Estes scored 7 points, Nan Collins 8, and Bauchmann 6.

In the final game the Canadian Wildcats were never pushed as they romped to an easy 44-16 victory. McCarthy Bids For Pro Gridders Again

HOUSTON — (AP) — Ollman Glenn McCarthy plans another try at getting a professional football team for Houston.

"I will either attend or have a representative at the National Pro Football League meeting, starting Thursday, in New York," McCarthy said, "and I'm interested in a pro football team in Houston for the 1952 season."

McCarthy declined to discuss his plans further, but he pointed out that two years ago he successfully proposed clubs in both Houston and Dallas.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell said that no one had applied for a franchise. However, he added that he had "heard something about interest in the New York Yanks, but my office hasn't received any official word of any deal."

George Halas of the Chicago Bears, in commenting on the report, said: "It might be feasible to put a club in Houston as a geographical running mate for Dallas."

Bobby's Pennant-Winning Homer Top Thrill Of Year

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Bobby Thomson sat in the semi-darkness of the smoke-filled room and watched the figure on the movie screen.

The room was quiet as the batter swung and lashed a sinking million dollar homer right inside. All I got of it was a glimpse. At first I thought it wasn't going to go in. It started to sink and I said to myself 'go in, go in'. Then it went in. All I remember was taking a big jump at the home plate.

To top the homer was voted the sports thrill of the year in the Associated Press annual year-end poll. Thomson just repeated "I'm a lucky guy."

BOBBY THOMSON
"... actually happened."

"I'm going to try real hard to keep going," he said "I came on strong and finished with a good mark. But I can better that."

The 29-year old Scottish-horn player, shifted from the outfield to third base by Manager Leo Durocher, had his best year since '49 when he hit .309. In 1950, he slumped to .252 and was a big flop for the first half of the '51 campaign.

But he started to come on with a rush in the last stages as did the other Giants and hit close to .330 in the pennant drive.

Gulf Coast Picks 144-Game Sked

BROWNSVILLE — (AP) — Gulf Coast Baseball League teams will play 72 games at home and 72 on the road this year.

The 144-game schedule was adopted Sunday. Five double-headers are scheduled at home and five abroad.

On the opening day, April 16, Harlingen plays in Brownsville, Texas City at Galveston, Lake Charles at Laredo and Port Arthur at Corpus Christi.

The all-star game was set for July 22 with the following day as the alternate date.

At yesterday's session Phil Alexander, general manager of the Brownsville Charros, was presented a plaque as the man who did the most for baseball in the Class B League in 1951.

"The club would never have finished the season unless he had devoted hours and hours of his time to promoting the club," league President Howard Green said in making the award.

The Charros finished the 1951 season by winning the league playoffs.

Our Mexican friends are not happy, mostly because of unthinking American sportsmen. One official of the Department of Hunting and Forestry of Mexico said to Shep Shepherd, American outdoor correspondent:

"Americans who come south of the border to hunt seem to think that all land is public domain. They hunt where they please, asking no one's permission. They trespass on private land, they walk and often drive across cultivated fields where crops are growing. They smash fences. If they get stuck they dig holes in the farmer's roads and go away without repairing them."

"They shoot off guns regardless of the near presence of citizens and livestock. Few of them can speak our language nor do they bother to learn it. They expect all Mexicans near the border, however, to understand and speak English and often resent it if we do not. Do you wonder that we are growing a little tired of these things?"

If we would give a little time to understanding the average Mexican, his rights and privileges in his own country, we would find him to be just and friendly. They want us to hunt and fish in Mexico. It is big business and will become bigger.

Undoubtedly the best method of hunting in Mexico is through the facilities of a good club. But be sure that it is a good club. It should be able to obtain your license from Mexico City in not more than one week, get the proper insurance, be familiar with seasons, limits and regulations, and above all, it should have access to good hunting land, preferably by lease.

The Mexican Association of Hunting and Fishing welcomes inquiries from American sportsmen. It is not a club. It has nothing to sell. Its only interest is that you enjoy your stay in Mexico, that you have a successful hunt and that the hunt is conducted in the legal manner. It does not care to which hunting club you may belong or even whether you are a member of a club.

This Association is now represented in the United States by the North American Hunting and Fishing Club, 208 Yucca Pine Building, Hollywood 28, California.

We're neighbors

Wherever you live in Texas, the oil industry is your neighbor.

For the Texas oil industry is the bread-and-butter, the opportunity, the daily work of some 190,000 Texas men and women.

The girl who sits next to you in the bus; the hearty-looking man who waves as you pass on the highway; the family behind you at the PTA; in Texas, they all could be, some certainly are oil workers. Bookkeepers, stenographers, executives, drillers, roughnecks, stillmen, geologists, salesmen, pipe liners, petroleum engineers—the oil industry supplies the livelihood of all, and many more.

Neighbors of yours, these people are, folks who pay taxes like yours, spend their money in the stores you patronize, drive the same kind of automobile, send their children to the same schools.

... The oil industry is more than a balance sheet, a set of statistics, an investment in derricks and pipe-stills. In Texas, it's the family next door.

Truman Sounds His Annual Warning

Braced, like a man ready to plunge into an icy pool of water...

That is to say that from the standpoint of jumping into an unpleasant task there was nothing in the President's speech that came as any great surprise.

For instance: "Last year, 1951, was a year in which we threw back aggression, added greatly to our military strength and increased the rate of our peace and freedom in many parts of the world."

Just like that. Of course, many of us who have been following our effort to throw back aggression in Korea have been of the opinion that we are just about where we were when we started—less more than 100,000 casualties...

We also have heard following with more than usual interest in the "peace talks" in Korea and are still wondering if the peace may have a different viewpoint than the President and his military and diplomatic followers.

That, coming from one of the neatest in-fighters in the political ring, ought to provide a good laugh even for his staunchest supporters. What Harry meant, however, is that he knows that he is one of the most vulnerable men ever to have his head up over the political horizon and that just the spillage of his own political messes will be enough to offend the hardest of nostrils.

Although he put off for a while the real meat of the annual message to Congress—what he expects in the way of dollars to continue his socialization of America, Truman did warn that there would be more Fair Deal "deals" for the taxpayers to sweat over.

Some of us remember that in the last election Truman had much to say about the Congress at that time and in good measure elected himself by "pouring it on" the Congress. An effort to sidestep the biggest problem of his administration—graft and corruption by his boys—try to put the blame on the Congress could be read into one phase of his speech when he said:

SPOTLIGHT FOR THE NATION

THE ATTEMPT OF ORGANIZED LABOR TO MAKE OTHERS BENEATH BEAR ALL WAR COSTS

BY WILLFORD I. KING

The leaders of our big labor monopolies are very shrewd. They have worked out for years the plan to hire experts in public finance...

1. Wage rates must be pushed up at least enough to offset the recent advance in the income taxes of persons receiving incomes below $3,000.

2. All employers must be compelled to insert in every contract with their employees an escalator clause providing that, whenever there is an upward movement in the official Consumer Price Index, wage rates must automatically advance in the same proportion.

3. The Consumer's Price Index must be so adjusted as to include therein excise or rates taxes levied on goods marketed.

The labor leaders do not foresee any serious difficulty in securing practical compliance with this third requirement. Past experience seems to indicate that higher taxes on corporation profits, soon become embodied in the prices of the goods which the corporations turn out.

As a rule, excise taxes paid by producers automatically become part of the price of the articles produced, and in computing the Consumer's Price Index, the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics includes in the sales tax levied thereon. Furthermore, an investment in a stock of the lower house of Congress recommends that this practice be continued.

But this is not the only possible case in which the amount of money both as wage expense may be violated. Let us assume for the moment that the Government actually inflates its budget and thus avoids inflation. It is essential to note that under such circumstances, whatever the Government pays out for war purposes it must get by taxation, and that this amount inevitably deducted from the amount which civilians are not to contribute to the war effort.

And it is well to keep in mind the fact that, in the absence of inflation, money currently spent comes almost entirely from past income—not from future income.

However, official Government statistics show that neither collective bargaining nor strikes have succeeded in increasing materially the wage workers' percentage of the nation's income.

Similarly, in every other unorganized industry serving civilians, the effect of boosting wage rates and prices will be to lower the physical volume of sales. And reduction in the number of units sold will lessen the return to producers. This reduction may cause millions of workers to be laid off—and those out of work will be minus incomes.

Next, let us suppose that, instead of operating on a pay-as-you-go basis, the Government borrows from the banks such funds as are necessary to cover any deficit resulting from excessive increase in the supply of goods, and prices will climb all along the line.

he intends to do anything he can to push our Fair Deal schemes down our throats and make us pay for them. At least he has given us a warning that all voters and taxpayers ought to heed.

"Freedom To Move"

Since very few people realize the importance of the freedom to move, I want to reproduce serially an article on the subject written by Oscar W. Cooley and Paul Poirot under the title of "The Freedom To Move."

THE FREEDOM TO MOVE "Don't fence me in! You can't do this to me! Perhaps that's not a literal translation of the thought of protest from Junior's play pen, but it's the general idea. He wants to move and act as he pleases. So do his parents. And there in miniature is the whole problem of our relationship with the society of individuals. Each of us wants freedom of movement and action. Yet in a small family of only two or three persons, there always is the question of how the society of individuals, each with freedom of movement and action, can be achieved.

"For his own temporary protection, and for the peace of mind of those who love him, Junior may be pleased to have the freedom of a prison to him depends in great measure upon his perspective, upon his comprehension of such terms as life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

"Of these may be the distressing family problem where one of the members is violently insane, endangering the lives of others. At the institution of those nearest and dearest to him he must be confined to a strait jacket or a padded cell."

Any society, even though it be a close family group, constantly faces the problem of defining and discouraging the movements and acts of individual members which might threaten unjustly the life, liberty, or happiness of others.

Resort To Government

"The founding fathers of the United States of America believed that to secure the rights of each individual to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

Bill's current job in "I Am a Camera." What makes it an unusual job is that he is playing a living and reasonably distinguished man of letters: Christopher Isherwood, the British writer. I thought it might be interesting to find out how it feels to play a living man, so I went around to see Mr. Prince.

He explained that the play's title describes Isherwood's position as a spy on the Berlin riffians as "through the lens of a camera," and that some day all of us will be "developed, printed and shown."

"A hypo solution makes a strange bath," said Prince. "Once before I played the role of a living person in a film, 'Lust For Gold,' a story about Arizona. Barry Storm, I played Storm, the author. But that was blood, thunder and chase. In this play I have to play a definitely more creative artist and have to capture these qualities. Long time friends of Isherwood, like W. H. Auden, with whom he collaborated on several plays, wanted to see Chris as they know him. An actor can't just factually copy a man. He may pick up hints from the man himself, but he also has a play-script to which he must be loyal. For example, Chris is a scrupulously neat person. In the play, he drops cigarette ash, dishes, clothes, papers, pencils, dishes and a few bone motifs all over the stage. But this discipline has to be punctuated out to diminish the real worth of those Government savings bonds that he bought as a patriotic duty will gradually shrivel away. The same fate will befall the same savings-bank account that he has tucked away for emergency use. And the protection afforded by that Company pension arrangement will grow less and less. Similarly, those sound security benefits which he has counted upon to ease his declining years will begin to vanish as in a mirage. And, worst of all, the real value of that $10,000 insurance policy which he has carried since his army days, and which is so important to his family if anything happens to him, will shrink and shrink and shrink.

And so, when everything is considered, it appears that the belief that any class can, by any kind of cheating, get out from under the cost of preparing for war is a vain illusion. Willy nilly, everyone must pay! The distressing effects of unemployment, and the stunning inflation serpent will bring trouble and sorrow into the lives of the wage workers at the same time that they are wreaking havoc among all other segments of the population. It still remains true that "though the mills of the gods grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small."

Feathers For His Cap

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Prime Minister Churchill has replied to Truman-Acheson criticism of Britain's European and Far East policies in friendly but frank language during their conference here.

But even the bluntest Churchill had to use more polite and parliamentary speech than some other members of his diplomatic, military and journalistic delegation did in their talks with the press at Washington.

So in the hope that it may improve, or at least throw light on the crucial question of Anglo-American relations, here is an attempt to list the British complaints against us as itemized for a small group of Washington correspondents by certain members of Mr. Churchill's party.

INDICTMENT — It must be explained that this free-for-all discussion was staged under most congenial circumstances. The Americans in the group set forth our grievances against England in terms that nobody could misunderstand. The indications mentioned London's continued recognition of Communist China while Chinese armies in Korea were killing Americans and Britishers, England's refusal to enter any system for economic aid and aid strengthening of Europe, her harsh stand against Mosaddegh in Iran, her rough policy in Egypt and the Middle East generally, and her insistence that the outworn, colonial, commercial foreign policy of the nineteenth century be perpetuated.

In short, under the agreement made before we began these talks, we took the British Empire for a rough ride. In fairness, we asked the visitors to take the United States for a ride in their own terms. They did. (Here is their indictment of us, and, of course it reflects the Churchillian viewpoint.)

"DISOLUTION" — The British accuse us of having weakened and dissolved their empire, which is partially responsible for their virtual bankruptcy (The Churchill spokesmen reminded us of his famous speech in which he declared that he "had not become the King's First Minister in order to preside over the dissolution of the British Empire.")

When we recalled that Roosevelt and Churchill had framed the Atlantic charter, which promised freedom and independence to all peoples battling the dictators, and that our policy of liberating dependencies was based on that document they had a ready answer.

FREEDOM — Yes, they said, England, France and the United States were willing to abide by that Roosevelt-Churchill pledge. They, too, believed in world-wide freedom. But, our British debaters argue, with characteristic American impatience, we insisted on the independence of India, Burma, Malaya, Indonesia, Ceylon, etc. before these peoples were ready or intelligent enough for self-government.

We broke up the British system of control and guidance before there was anything to take its place. In short, with almost a thousand years' start on us in the field of politics and government, the Britishers naturally adhere to a slower and a longer-range view of political progress.

INVESTMENT — Why, we asked, do you continue to recognize Be China in view of the Korean hostilities, and at the same time refuse to support the Schuman plan for industrial integration of Western Europe and the Truman-Eisenhower system for creation of a West European army? They replied that the British have several billion-dollar investments in China, Burma and Malaya, which is far larger than their commercial interest in Western Europe. They dare not jeopardize their Far Eastern holdings. Therefore, they must try to reach a friendly agreement with whatever regime eventually controls China.

STANDPOINT — With respect to Europe and a possible Russian invasion, they assured us that, even though Britain did not become an integral part of the Truman-Eisenhower defense system, "our Tommies will fight alongside you Yanks when the time comes."

Indeed, and we had no serviceable answer, they pointed out that it was the British who "held the line" for several years in World Wars I and II before the United States entered the struggle.

From a political standpoint, the Britishers' most important contribution was their hope that General Eisenhower would be the next President of the United States. They know him and like him because of his long stay in England during World War II. They think he understands England's domestic and world-wide problems better than any other possible candidate, including President Truman.

Q — What is the meaning of the phrase "German Treason"? A — According to Yale tradition, classes first were taught at Killingworth, now Clinton, with the Reverend Abraham Pierson in charge. When he died in 1707, the college was moved to Saybrook. It was transferred to its present historic site in 1716.

The function of the gall bladder is to store bile and to empty it gradually down a small tube into the intestines. The bile is manufactured in the liver; when it reaches the intestines it greatly helps in the digestion of fats.

Inflammation of the gall bladder may or may not be associated with gallstones. In about two-thirds of the cholecystitis cases, the bile itself is sterile, that is, germs cannot be found in it.

Chemical agents—apparently even the bile itself, as well as bacteria, can produce either acute or chronic gall bladder inflammation.

When germs are at fault they may have come from infection in the mouth or throat, or have passed up the tube or duct from the intestines.

Prosperity—Sound, Artificial?

By THURMAN SENSING

Southern States Industrial Council

As we get started off into the New Year, 1952, many people are wondering what sort of economy we shall have in the days ahead and are wondering about the factors that affect our economy—whether we shall have war or peace, whether we shall have full employment or large unemployment, whether we shall have inflation or deflation, whether we shall have high production or low production, whether we shall have profits or losses. In other words, people are wondering whether we shall have prosperity or depression in the days ahead.

It is normal, of course, for people to consider these factors as they balance the books for the old year and make fresh entries for the new year. But the fact that they are being given such serious consideration this year makes us realize that many factors which are related to our economic future. And when we look at the facts realistically, we must admit that these doubts are justified, because nearly every prophesy of good business ahead that we hear in the days ahead.

Now, of course, the speaker was not advocating war prosperity; he was simply taking the effects of war and defense preparations at face value. But the comment from the audience very clearly put the finger on the great defect in our present economic and business men will tell us that continued good business depends upon continued government expenditures for such purposes. The financial writer for one of the local newspapers recently interviewed four bank presidents in my home city as to their opinions of the business outlook for 1952. One of them said, "Business should be good in 1952, due to a great extent to the Government's stepped-up expenditures for armaments in line with the defense program. Another one said: 'Whether or not we like it, the extent to which such spending (government spending), including the defense program, is continuing will go far in determining the future of business in 1952.'"

Strangely enough, all these bankers declared heavy government expenditures and called for economy in government, yet they all based their expectations for good business during 1952 on these very expenditures. Yet this is the attitude taken by most all business commentators and analysts. One of these well-known commentators stated recently that he looked for generally good business during 1952, but that a business recession is in the cards whenever defense tapers off.

One would think, from viewing the situation, that we are caught in a whirlpool and bent on our own destruction. What we need in this country is some downright, old-fashioned grit and courage that will enable us to break out of the whirlpool. What we need to do is to devote the same energy to preparations for peace as we devote to preparations for war. We must always be ready to defend ourselves, but certainly our prosperity must not depend on it. There are multitudes of things that people want; there are thousands of ways to raise our standard of living. This is the only road to REAL prosperity.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

A question which keeps cropping up has been raised by Mrs. E. E. who asks whether medical treatment is all that is necessary for inflamed gall bladder, or whether it is advisable to have the gall bladder removed.

This problem has been debated by doctors for years and even now there is no easy answer. In each case of inflammation of the gall bladder, or cholecystitis, many different factors have to be weighed before a decision is reached as to whether surgery or medical treatment is best.

For example, one has to consider whether the gall bladder is acutely inflamed or has reached a chronic stage.

The physician has to judge whether he thinks the condition will improve (as many do) without operation; the presence or absence of stones in the gall bladder; and the physical condition of the patient.

Perhaps a brief discussion of this condition will at least be interesting.

The function of the gall bladder is to store bile and to empty it gradually down a small tube into the intestines. The bile is manufactured in the liver; when it reaches the intestines it greatly helps in the digestion of fats.

Inflammation of the gall bladder may or may not be associated with gallstones. In about two-thirds of the cholecystitis cases, the bile itself is sterile, that is, germs cannot be found in it.

Chemical agents—apparently even the bile itself, as well as bacteria, can produce either acute or chronic gall bladder inflammation.

National Whiffig... Americans, British Explain Positions On World Affairs

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Prime Minister Churchill has replied to Truman-Acheson criticism of Britain's European and Far East policies in friendly but frank language during their conference here.

But even the bluntest Churchill had to use more polite and parliamentary speech than some other members of his diplomatic, military and journalistic delegation did in their talks with the press at Washington.

So in the hope that it may improve, or at least throw light on the crucial question of Anglo-American relations, here is an attempt to list the British complaints against us as itemized for a small group of Washington correspondents by certain members of Mr. Churchill's party.

INDICTMENT — It must be explained that this free-for-all discussion was staged under most congenial circumstances. The Americans in the group set forth our grievances against England in terms that nobody could misunderstand. The indications mentioned London's continued recognition of Communist China while Chinese armies in Korea were killing Americans and Britishers, England's refusal to enter any system for economic aid and aid strengthening of Europe, her harsh stand against Mosaddegh in Iran, her rough policy in Egypt and the Middle East generally, and her insistence that the outworn, colonial, commercial foreign policy of the nineteenth century be perpetuated.

In short, under the agreement made before we began these talks, we took the British Empire for a rough ride. In fairness, we asked the visitors to take the United States for a ride in their own terms. They did. (Here is their indictment of us, and, of course it reflects the Churchillian viewpoint.)

"DISOLUTION" — The British accuse us of having weakened and dissolved their empire, which is partially responsible for their virtual bankruptcy (The Churchill spokesmen reminded us of his famous speech in which he declared that he "had not become the King's First Minister in order to preside over the dissolution of the British Empire.")

When we recalled that Roosevelt and Churchill had framed the Atlantic charter, which promised freedom and independence to all peoples battling the dictators, and that our policy of liberating dependencies was based on that document they had a ready answer.

FREEDOM — Yes, they said, England, France and the United States were willing to abide by that Roosevelt-Churchill pledge. They, too, believed in world-wide freedom. But, our British debaters argue, with characteristic American impatience, we insisted on the independence of India, Burma, Malaya, Indonesia, Ceylon, etc. before these peoples were ready or intelligent enough for self-government.

We broke up the British system of control and guidance before there was anything to take its place. In short, with almost a thousand years' start on us in the field of politics and government, the Britishers naturally adhere to a slower and a longer-range view of political progress.

INVESTMENT — Why, we asked, do you continue to recognize Be China in view of the Korean hostilities, and at the same time refuse to support the Schuman plan for industrial integration of Western Europe and the Truman-Eisenhower system for creation of a West European army? They replied that the British have several billion-dollar investments in China, Burma and Malaya, which is far larger than their commercial interest in Western Europe. They dare not jeopardize their Far Eastern holdings. Therefore, they must try to reach a friendly agreement with whatever regime eventually controls China.

STANDPOINT — With respect to Europe and a possible Russian invasion, they assured us that, even though Britain did not become an integral part of the Truman-Eisenhower defense system, "our Tommies will fight alongside you Yanks when the time comes."

Indeed, and we had no serviceable answer, they pointed out that it was the British who "held the line" for several years in World Wars I and II before the United States entered the struggle.

From a political standpoint, the Britishers' most important contribution was their hope that General Eisenhower would be the next President of the United States. They know him and like him because of his long stay in England during World War II. They think he understands England's domestic and world-wide problems better than any other possible candidate, including President Truman.

Q — What is the meaning of the phrase "German Treason"? A — According to Yale tradition, classes first were taught at Killingworth, now Clinton, with the Reverend Abraham Pierson in charge. When he died in 1707, the college was moved to Saybrook. It was transferred to its present historic site in 1716.

Bid For A Smile

A country couple visited the Chicago Art Institute and in the Egyptian room gazed at a mummy over which hung a card on which was printed:

Mary Ann—What does that mean, Marm? I don't rightly know, but like as not it's the number of the cat that killed him.

It's Table Top Magic!

When a card table is too small for extra dinner or card guests, use a table extender, which will seat up to six persons comfortably. Made of a tough, dense hardboard such as Masonite 3/16" Tempered Presdwood, it is simply placed over the card table in two sections and then hooked together. The framework of 1 by 2 inch lumber keeps it in position. The hardboard surface takes a beautiful finish of stain, paint or enamel. When the guests have left, the table extender may be quickly taken apart and stored in a closet. The hardboard is durable and moisture-resistant.

WARM SPOT IN A BLIZZARD—Hollywood actress Jan Sterling brightens the day for snow-covered leathernecks of the First Marine Division in Korea as she entertains on an outdoor stage during a heavy snowstorm. Jan and her actor-husband, Paul Douglas, were touring the war zone with a USO show.

Slacks suitable for tennis, golfing or just plain brisk hiking are cut with adjustable rear tabs and extended waist bands for extra stretch, plus ample knee room for proper swing. They are also cut short, ending just above the shoe upper for unhampered foot work.

3-Way Child's Chair Is Boon To Mothers

DIRECTIONS—By following these plans, you shouldn't have any trouble making this triple-purpose training chair for youngsters.

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service
Whether you have children of your own, are expecting or have occasional visitors who have youngsters, this "occasional" chair will be a welcome addition to your home.
Not only is it a training chair, but it doubles as a high chair and car seat. As a training chair, the solid seat is hinged at the back edge and when raised forms a back.
When used as a high chair, the tray is secured to the arms with a hinge pin on each side, and the cord, fastened to the back corner, is tied behind the back of the straight chair on which it rests.
As a car seat, it rests directly on the cushion of the front seat and the cords are run down between the seat and the back and tied underneath. The seat can also be taken into a restaurant when traveling and used as a high chair.
The construction of this chair is simple. The frame is made of 1x2 and the sides, front, back and hinged seat are made of quarter-inch plywood. The training seat should be made of 3/4-inch white pine since it will have to be shaped and finished smooth. This makes a chair light enough to be handled by a woman.
Build the frame first as shown in the sketch, then the training seat. If you have some shelving on hand of the correct width, it will be well to make this item from the solid piece of wood. If not, build it up of several widths of soft stock with modern casein glue and hold it together over the top with clamps. The sketch shows a practical way of obtaining the necessary pressure.
After the hole had been cut out of the board, it should be shaped with a round rasp and sanded smooth. All joints should be glued on both sides with casein glue and screwed together. The completed chair may be finished to match the nursery or any way you see fit. The training seat itself should be done in enamel of a light color. The rest of the decor is up to you.

Various Hues Improve Study For Students

By LYNN WOOD
NEW YORK—The increasing use of cheerful, bright colors on the walls of classrooms is making John's and Mary's education much more enjoyable than it was in the days of the little red school house or the old time city school. These attractive, pastel-painted interiors are not based on somebody's whim. Educators, eye-specialists, color experts and illuminating engineers have all helped to develop this new idea which results in better marks for the pupils.
Carefully selected wall colors, combined with adequate lighting, minimize restlessness and provides a good environment for successful attacks on reading, writing and rhythmic, school authorities maintain.
Even the exteriors of many recently constructed school buildings reveal this interest in color. Gay hues are making their appearance in the trim colors used on entrance doors and windows as well as in the glazed brick, terra cotta, cement or painted surfaces.

Leatherwood Top Gives Card Table Places For 6

There's nothing like a table extender to "save the day" when there are extra guests for dinner or cards.
Card tables are too small for comfortable serving of a meal, but the hostess can seat up to six around a standard sized card table when it has been enlarged with a made-at-home top that is easily stored after the emergency. It's the same for the card game involving more than four players.
Any amateur craftsman can make the extender, as its construction involves only the use of a keyhole and screwdriver. The painting or enameling is easy, too, and the decorative effect will be satisfying to the most particular hostess.
The circular top is made in two sections sawed from Masonite 3/16 inch tempered presdwood, a tough, dense and moisture-resistant hardboard. The home craftsman may outline the four-foot circle with chalk and cut the hardboard from the smooth side. Edges should be lightly beveled with a file or sandblock.
To center the top on the card table, the craftsman should make a square framework of 1 x 2 inch lumber, set on edge. The table extender top should be fastened with screws to the framework through drilled holes. Of course, since the table is divided for easy storing, half the framework will be under each half of the top. To brace the edges of the top extending beyond the square center framework, the hand crafter should add 1 x 2 inch lumber braces—two extended perpendicularly from each side of the central square and about 10 inches apart.
When in position on the card table, the two half-circles may be fastened together with small hooks and screw-eyes.
The table extender top may be left in its natural shade, dark brown, protected simply with a coat of penetrating sealer, or may be given a prime coat and then a finish of enamel.

Writer Finds Kangaroo Is A Perfect Guest At Party

By ED CREGG
WASHINGTON—(AP)—"I'm sorry" may wife said. "We must have a bad connection. I thought for a minute you said you were going to a party with a kangaroo."
"Not with a kangaroo. For a kangaroo," I said. "I'm sorry" may wife said. "We must have a bad connection. I thought for a minute you said you were going to a party with a kangaroo."
"Oh," she said. "A party for a kangaroo. That makes everything perfectly clear."
"Look, are you feeling all right? You're not feverish or anything? You haven't had a blow on the head?"
So I explained that some movie people, who have just finished shooting a picture called "Kangaroo" had flown a couple of the beasts in from Australia. One kangaroo took to her bed after a few hours of Washington, but the Australian ambassador was giving a party for the other one.
"All this," my wife said, "should be harmonious. As the wall opposite the window receives a greater amount of sunlight than the window wall, it may be painted a slightly darker shade than the window wall."
This is the type of color usage for school interiors allows considerable latitude of choice. To begin with, a group of ten or more colors are often selected. From these, the hues for classrooms, corridors, stairways and other areas can be chosen. In determining what particular colors should be used in a room, the school authorities frequently consult parents and even consider the ideas of the pupils themselves.
The floor color is also important. Here, the light natural hue of the wood is recommended. This blond finish is also given to the tops of desks. Enlivening John's and Mary's tests at the "blackboard" are boards in light green, buff or white. With these colored chalkboards, crayons in brown, dark blue or medium green are used. Pin-up boards for displays are frequently finished in pale colors.

All Types Of Electric Equipment Featured At Pampa Electric Supply Including New Coolerator Refrigerater

Featured now at the Pampa Electric Supply, 319 W. Foster, are all types of electrical wiring and fixtures. Whether you need small service in your home or a complete wiring job — or whether a large job in the oil fields is required, Pampa Electric Supply, Pampa's electrical headquarters, is at your service.

The finest brands of electrical equipment are available. Included are automatic toasters, coffee makers, irons, lamps and all types of light fixtures, mixers, stoves, deep freezers and refrigerators.

And speaking of refrigerators, if you are planning to buy one or are just wishing for one see the differently designed refrigerators at Pampa Electric Supply.

The Coolerator refrigerator holds more food, takes less space, is cold from top to bottom and front to back. This may sound impossible, but it isn't. The Coolerator is a revolutionary new kind of refrigerator. When you open the full-length door of the brilliant new Coolerator you see the world's most usable refrigerator. It's bigger on the inside and smaller on the outside. And every inch a refrigerator.

The space thrifty Coolerator holds more food, takes less space because every bit of the gleaming interior is safely refrigerated. Coolerator, and only Coolerator, with the amazing Zero-Lator cold making mechanism on the back utilizes the entire cabinet to serve you better, to give you more for your dollar.

These more food, takes less space, Coolerators are three to seven inches narrower and three inches lower than your present refrigerator, yet holds 25 to 50 percent more food. That's because Coolerator's modern design takes the mechanism out of the cabinet to give you room galore to freeze and store. The amazing Zero-Lator is hermetically sealed — never requires oiling or other attention. It cuts current cost to the minimum — operates for the price of a postage stamp per day — and runs so quietly you'll scarcely know it's there.

The Queen model is the top of the line in the Royal Family. It has three magic lift trays with built-in release levers that pop out two ice cubes or a trayful with individual plastic cups. Magic Select-O-Shelves provide space-saving storage and step-saving convenience that give you the ultimate in engineered roominess. You've never seen a refrigerator so easy to use — an interior that stretches shelf capacity so far. The gleaming Dupont Duxis interior is resistant to chipping, stains and abrasion. The absence of corners caused by set-backs and other obstructions make the big interior easy to clean and keep clean.

A full-width sliding snack basket saves time and valuable space by keeping small articles snugly packed — always visible — right at your finger tips.

The king size crisp-olator glides out with a touch of the finger. Glass covered it affords instant visibility of content. It keeps over 20 quarts of fruit and vegetables garden-fresh. Below freezing temperature in the adjustable Chill-R-Ator quickly chills beverages, salads or other desserts. And it stores over half a hundred extra ice cubes in the hottest weather.

Right or left hand doors, at no extra cost, are another Coolerator exclusive to save you steps and permit the most efficient arrangement of your kitchen.

Whether it is a Coolerator you need or a small or large electrical wiring job — or just electrical headquarters, Pampa Electric

Kill Roaches, Water Bugs Modern Way

Think of all the ways you've used to fight cockroaches and ants. Smearing goo on potato slices, baiting traps, filling cumbersome sprays. And you never really got rid of them, did you? Since it is now believed that the roach is a possible polio carrier, all the more reason not to tolerate them.

Now, it's time for you to try a really simple and effective product. Johnson's NO-ROACH is a sensational new roach and ant killer that requires no poisons, trays or sprays at all.

Science has just produced this new discovery that kills roaches, ants, waterbugs and that stays effective for months.

Johnson's NO-ROACH is very simple and easy to use. Just brush this colorless, odorless, stainless coating on the kitchen cabinets, baseboards, near the stove, icebox, sink, etc. Brushed across window sills and door sills, NO-ROACH kills the ants and insects that crawl into the home from the outside.

Insects that walk across the invisible coating slowly become paralyzed and die. Then this application stays effective for months to kill the strays that wander in.

Johnson's NO-ROACH contains no DDT, no sodium and you apply it just where you want it without having to move all your dishes and pots and pans. No more messy powder or all-over spraying, when you start controlling roaches, ants and waterbugs this modern NO-ROACH way.

NO-ROACH is on sale at Cretney Drug Co. Prices are eight ounces for 89 cents, pint for $1.49 and quart for $2.98.

Colors, predicted to be seen most often are ruddy, spirited and full of vitality. For along with black, which maintains its usual basic popularity, there are new ruddy browns, sherry and cherry tones as well as American burgundy, a Cordovan color.

Service Cleaners Perfect Place For Taking Laundry

Showing one day — warm and sunshiny the next. That has been the schedule for Pampa the last few weeks, and it looks as if it might continue that way for awhile.

With this type of weather it's hard to know just when to do your washing. But you can always be on the safe side if you take your laundry or dry cleaning to Service Cleaners, 312 S. Cuyler. There your clothes will be handled with the minimum of time and the maximum of safety. Your clothes will be handled by cleaners who are specialists in the cleaning business.

The modern cleaner, like so many other service organizations, is given little noticeable appreciation for his work. He works unheralded at keeping his city clean. His prices are more than reasonable, especially when compared with the three and four dollars per garment the earlier cleaner charged for his efforts.

Next time you need some cleaning done — whether laundry or dry cleaning — go to Service Cleaners, 312 S. Cuyler, for the best and most reliable job in cleaning — and for fast service.

Next time you upprepare shrimp curry try adding a little grated apple and grated carrot to the sauce.
