Local Postal Receipts Boom

Record postal receipts last month brought the yearly total for local post office sales to an all time high of $156,118.10, annual records showed yesterday. At the end of November receipts showed slightly over normal figures. The large volume of mail received during December, however, boosted figures over the record mark. Sub total for the final quarter of 1951 was $49,777.87. In this period October showed a second high month for the year with $13,829.56. Third highest figures, $12,836.06, were for April. Former peak year was 1946 when receipts hit $144,826. From then figures showed a downward trend until 1948 when they began to rise. Comparing totals over a five year period, 1951 showed an increase in receipts of $33,678 from those of 1947. The following yearly figures were up $10,000 and in 1949 had gained $12,000. Total for 1950 was $146,971.48. O. K. Caylor, assistant postmaster, said that yearly totals for 1951 reached $6,276.23 while those of 1950 were $50,901. Ten years later the gain showed $38,000.

Clay of Shamrock; one daughter, Mrs. P. K. Semerenco, Sunny Vale, Calif.; one brother, Tom Clay, Shamrock; and four sisters: Mrs. P. R. Wrightman and Mrs. O. M. Carlson, Sunny Vale, Calif.; Mrs. O. PROPAGANDIST DIES

MOSCOW — (AP) The Soviet press today announced the death of Dmitri Popov, deputy chief of the Department of Propaganda and Agitation of the Central Communist party. The announcement said Popov died Jan. 7 after a lengthy illness. Small shipment of Browning guns at Lewis Hardware Co.

Ben Guill Is Named Area "Ike" Leader

Former Congressman Ben Guill today was appointed director of the Eisenhower for President campaign in the 18th Congressional District of Texas by Jack Porter, head of the general's forces in Texas. Guill, who is now in Washington, told friends in Pampa by phone today "Washington is wild" about the announcement and the news had pushed Churchill and Truman off the front pages of Washington newspapers. "I am pleased General Eisenhower has made known his affiliations and his intentions," Guill said, adding, "I believe he is the leader the American people have been looking for,

Russell Cartwright Is Named City Street Superintendent

Russell Cartwright, 212 N. Faulkner, was today named street superintendent by the city commission, replacing R. B. Jiggs. Cook who was transferred to the city engineering department. The move came after City Manager Dick Pepin reported he was unable to find anyone to fill the gap in the engineering department caused by Cook's transfer to the street department. Pepin said the extensive improvements coming up this summer necessitated putting Cook back on that job "because of his familiarity with the water and sewer system." Earlier the commission accepted the bid of Tom Carpenter Equipment Co. of Amarillo of $10,000 for an Elgin street sweeper. The Carpenter bid was the highest of three, but the sweeper came closer to city specifications than the other two bidders. Following more than an hour of technical discussion, the commission selected the Carpenter bid.

Brother Of Pampan Dies In Hotel Fire

Word was received here today of the death of Noble W. Bridge, 32 brother of Mrs. Ira Wiggins, 505 Henry, who was burned in a hotel fire in Lebanon, Pa., on Dec. 26, 1951. Bridge, a native of Cleveland, Okla., was burned to death while asleep in his room in the Avon Inn. He was employed by the Bethlehem Steel Co. Funeral services were held last week in Cleveland for him.

Eisenhower Popular In Pampa, Survey Shows

A spot check conducted last night by members of The Pampa Daily News staff indicated General Dwight D. Eisenhower is a popular figure even among local Democrats. Predominant among the opinions of the 30 people contacted was the fact that many intend to vote for Eisenhower even though they are registered Democrats. So far as Republican leaders here were concerned it was "no comment at this time." L. R. "Buck" Miller, Republican State executive committee man said, "I will only say that I sincerely hope that we have an uninstrusted delegation to the Republican convention this summer." Don Conley, Gray county Republican chairman, said he was unable to make any comment at present on Ike's entry into the presidential nomination race. Since the general, until yesterday, refused to say aye or nay to queries concerning his political ambitions — or lack of them — it was almost impossible to get a public reaction on his popularity as a presidential candidate. Seeking a "grass roots" reaction to the general's announcement, Pampa Daily newsmen last night asked this question: "What is your reaction to General Eisenhower's announcement that he would accept the Republican presidential nomination and will you vote for him?" Here are the answers: MRS. ROY CARNEY — We sure don't want General Eisenhower because he's too much of a "yes" man for Truman. ERIC C. EDWARDS — Personally I would rather see the Republicans nominate Senator Taft; then Truman would stand a better chance of reelection. I am strictly a Truman man. E. L. Green, Jr. I am glad to hear he will accept the nomination as a Republican. He is certainly one of the outstanding men of our country and I think he would make an outstanding president. MICKEY LEDRICK — I am tickled to death that Ike is in the race. Irrespective of which party he would have aligned himself with I would lead him my personal support. ATTY. WILLIAM JARRELL SMITH — I think he would make a good president although I never was much for a military man as president. I do admire most of the things he has said and I admire the stand he has taken in remaining in his present position rather than resign to campaign for political office. GEORGE B. CREE, SR. — I don't know whether he'd make a good president or not; I have never heard him make any statement as whether he is a New Deal or Fair Deal Republican. There's a lot of things I don't like about him because he's gone along with administration ideas on too many occasions. MacArthur would never have stopped at the Rhine and left Russia to go into Berlin. J. E. LEVERICH — I'm for him. I especially admire the stand he has taken in placing his present European responsibilities over political ambitions. I think he would make a good president. MRS. NADINE ARNEY — I hope General Eisenhower is given the Republican nomination; if he is I will certainly support him. I believe we are in need of a change of administrations and I also believe he is the man best fitted for the job of president,

Waters Named Tax Advisor

Harvey W. Waters, insurance and real estate dealer, this morning was appointed to the tax collector's advisory board by city commissioners. Waters will take the place of Aubrey Steele who recently informed the commission he would be unable to serve on the board. Three sealed bids on a street sweeper were presented commissioners. Bidding amounts bid were: Browning-Perris Machinery Co., $9437; Butler-Sparks Equipment Co., Oklahoma City, $8850; Tom Carpenter Equipment Co., Amarillo, $10,200. The Butler-Sparks bid was based on a two-year capacity sweeper. Other two bids were on a three-year sweeper which was stipulated in the call for bids. In other business the commission tabled a sewer stoppage claim for $17.25. See us for your gutter and down spout work. All kinds of sheet metal work. Bert A. Howell Co., 119 N. Ward, Phone 152.

KPDN To Broadcast Truman's Message

Radio Station KPDM will broadcast President Truman's message of the union message Wednesday at 4:15 p. m., it was announced today. The message will be heard direct from the chamber of the House of Representatives as the President speaks to a joint session of Congress.

SQUEEZE ON SOMEBODY

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — (AP) — Burglars, apparently planning to put the squeeze on somebody, stole eight girdles from a clothing store last night. The men were heard direct from the chamber of the House of Representatives as the President speaks to a joint session of Congress.

Heavy Schedule Faces Returning Congress

May Hold Up To November Election

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Politics, defense spending, universal military training and foreign aid stood out as the dominant issues today as the 82nd Congress returned for its election-year session. The session started at 11 a. m. (CST) and leaders would not be surprised if it lasts right up to the November elections in which a president, a vice-president, 435 House members and at least 32 senators will be chosen. It's always that way in a general election year, the halls of Congress being a favorite forum for political speeches. Legislatively, it probably won't produce much. Only a few "must" major bills are due for consideration. Topping them are UMT, economic controls, foreign-aid and billions in new appropriations. Politically, it may be one of the hottest in decades. Supporters of Senator Taft of Ohio, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and other Republican presidential possibilities already were jockeying for position, and Democrats were countering at every opportunity. From President Truman's state-of-the-union message tomorrow, Democrats hope to obtain some clue as to whether Mr. Truman will seek reelection and if not, the issue on which the Democrats will be expected to base their campaign. They expect the President to ask for many things Congress has refused to give him in the past. "They remember that just four years ago President Truman snatched election victory from seeming defeat by pounding away at Congress' failure to enact his program. Tomorrow's message will be the first of three from the President. The others, on domestic economy and the budget, will follow within two weeks. The budget message is expected to call for an estimated $3 billion dollars during the fiscal year starting July 1. The first few weeks of the session probably will be spent getting squared away for action and digesting the President's recommendations. This interlude will give senate Republicans and new senator a chance to get themselves oriented. The new senator, Fred A. Seaton (R-Neb) replaces the late Kenneth Wherry (R-Neb), whose death during the recess left vacant the spot of Senate minority leader. Senate Republicans meet today to pick a new leader, with Senator Bridges of New Hampshire the pre-session favorite. That the session may last until October, with time out in July for the national nominating conventions, was predicted by House Speaker Charles McNary (R-Ind.). The tedious job of handling appropriations, plus plans for continuing investigations to ferret out "corruption in government," (See HEAVY Page 2)

Taft Says Pledges Will Give Him Nomination Over Ike

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) claimed today that if all the pledges he now holds are translated into voting strength he will win the Republican presidential nomination. That was the Ohioan's answer to the statement of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that he is a Republican and would respond to a "clearcut call to political duty," but would not personally campaign for the GOP nomination. Taft told a reporter he believes this makes Eisenhower only a "draft" possibility, adding: "If all of the pledges we have obtained from all over the country can be translated into delegates when they are chosen, I believe we have more than half of the convention votes." The GOP nominating meeting, to be held in Chicago early in July, will have slightly more than 1900 delegates, with more than 600 votes needed for the nomination. None of the delegates has been formally chosen yet. Taft said he always assumed that other candidates would be seeking the nomination and that

400 Persons Hurt In Israeli Rioting

JERUSALEM — (AP) — Police said nearly 400 persons were injured yesterday in anti-government riots sparked by bitter anger over a proposal for Israel's Jewish government to negotiate directly with Germany. Almost 400 rioters were arrested, most of them as they tried to leave Jerusalem last night, police said. Police set up barbed wire barricades, fired in the air and used tear gas and clubs in a two-hour battle yesterday to keep 2000 Israeli youths from storming the Knesset (Parliament) building during the Knesset session. The police announced 140 of the defending officers and 250 civilians were injured. Many were hospitalized. The rioters were protesting a proposal to open direct talks with Germany over claims of about 1 1/2 billion dollars in money and goods for reparations to dispossessed Jews. The claims so far have been pressed only through the Big Four occupying powers in Germany. Police said the rioters were followers of Menachem Begin, leader of the Herut party. Herut succeeded the anti-British underground organization, Irgun Zvai Leumi, which carried on a bomb and wing against British administrators before Israel became independent. Begin's party had organized a

British Okay Of Red China Is Due Debate

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Britain's recognition of Communist China was expected to come up early today in the globe-girdling talks between President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill. The President was expected to tell the Prime Minister that the country's non-recognition of the Chinese Reds is a firm policy hardened by their intervention in Korea. He may suggest that an irritant could be removed from British-American relations if London's recognition of the Peiping government were revoked. Thorny questions of Iranian oil Egyptian demands for withdrawal of British troops from the Seas and the problem of security against Communist aggression in Southeast Asia, notably Indo-China and Malaya, as well as progress on the organization of a Middle East command also were believed to be on the slate for today's White House sessions. Two final meetings were scheduled, beginning at 11 a. m. and 2 p. m. (EST) and lasting about 45 minutes each. A joint statement reporting on accomplishments was due to be issued tonight. Yesterday afternoon's session covered European defense problems. An official statement said crisply that "several military matters were presented and received consideration." The President and Prime Minister and their diplomatic and military advisers, meeting around a

Suspended Sentence In Burglary

A five-year suspended sentence was handed Coy W. Nolan, 21, yesterday afternoon by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in 31st District Court for the Sept. 10, 1951, burglary of the Neal Sparks Cleaning establishment. Nolan pleaded guilty to the incident and told the court that he and Bobby McGinnis (who has never been apprehended) entered the cleaning shop from the rear while Leo McFarland (now in the penitentiary) waited outside in a car. Nolan said the three took the safe out to a field near the 9th Danciger plant and knocked it open with sledge hammers. His share of the loot, he said, was about $20. TO RETURN $20 He agreed to return the approximate $20 to the cleaning shop owner and reimburse Sparks for his share of the damage to the safe. A few minutes before Nolan was sentenced the grand jury returned five indictments. Only the names of those indicted now in custody were released. They are: Marvin E. Chestwood, strong armed robbery in the Dec. 19, 1951, assault and robbery on C. F. Loper when a wallet and a suitcase were taken from Loper; John Schany and Sherman Rainey in the Nov. 1, 1951, burglary of the Pampa Bus Co. when $45 was taken.

Mac Bouncing With Happiness For The Giants' Mr. Brannick

By HENRY McLEMORE

If I had a hat I'd take it off. If I could I would out-curtsey people named George Curtis. If I had two rings I would enter into the double ring racket, just out of bouncing happiness.

If I had a raccoon coat I'd give it to a raccoon, just so he'd have two.

Let's get my happiness straight: Early in February the Baseball Writers Assn. of America is giving a plaque to Edward J. Brannick of the New York Giants.

I'm going to write this column in slight reverse. I have read twelve columns about Mr. Brannick's background with the Giants since the time of McGraw. I know the loved Christy. I know he started from a bathhouse and wound up rich. But, strangely enough, no one has written about the man.

Eddie wears a polo coat with pearl buttons. Probably the biggest pearl buttons you ever saw. With nothing but admiration I'll name three or four people who are supposed to represent the Giants. The man who owns them is named Stoneham. The man who sells tickets is named Hoffman. The very best pitcher they ever had is named Hubbell. What I'm trying to tell you is that the Polo Grounds is a sweet and lovely place, and above all of them I've got to go for Brannick.

Eddie never could pitch. His batting average is well below .300. But in the hearts of these who associate with him, he's a Cooperstown boy.

Eddie Brannick is a no time.

no clock man. Not being a drinking fellow himself it's amazing how he answers telephone calls at five o'clock in the morning from those who do drink. In his heart he's an utter rascal. No horizon is too far for him to dream of jumping over, but he would rather catch those of us who jump than jump himself.

I think Brannick is Irish. I'm not sure. He looks like an Irishman to me. Sadly enough, our country has come to a point where we cannot mention a race without some sort of a tag-a-long excuse, but defying this sort of thing, I will tell you that Mr. Brannick is a Mick.

When the Giant's big hitter is up in a ball game that calls for a hit, he sort of sings and prays at the same time. I have never been sure whether his eyes were completely focused on center field or Killarney.

Yep, Eddie is quite a man. Those who know him gain something, and those millions who don't know him lose something. I have the perfect excuse for writing this column about Brannick, and that goes for women and men. Edward J. Brannick is a delightful, stand-up man. He doesn't know how it would be to be anything else but a happy square, and a guy you can call up when you need a little help.

I'm quite sure that that sort of fellow is the sort of fellow that men and women like.

Eddie, by you being you, you have helped me be a better fellow.

Texas GOP Faction Leader Promises Hard Fight For Ike

HOUSTON — (AP) — The leader support Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) for of one faction of Texas Republicans has promised a highly vocal campaign in an effort to name Gen. Dwight Eisenhower as the GOP nominee for president.

Jack Porter, sparkplug of the Eisenhower boom, said he considers Eisenhower a definite candidate and the campaign to get him the nomination was going to be an old-fashioned — "floor knocking," and "bell ringing" one.

"We're going after that (Texas) delegation," Porter says.

He said "Ike" for President clubs would be established in every county in Texas and a site for a state headquarters would be determined soon. He will be state chairman.

Porter was elated at the announcement that Eisenhower is a Republican.

The Houston oilman also said he expected a fight at the state Republican convention in May if Mike Nolte and Henry Zweifel were unwilling to bow to the wishes of the majority of the Republican party in the state.

Zweifel, Fort Worth, is national GOP committeeman from Texas. He said Zweifel's "leadership of the GOP in Texas has reached a new low.

"I believe this to be true," he said, "because in two recent meetings held in Amarillo and Corpus Christi the attendance was 83 and 19 persons, respectively. I don't see how he could know what's going on in the party with such unrepresentative turnouts."

Porter said Taft's scheduled visit here March 11 would have no effect on sentiment for Eisenhower.

He also predicted Texas would be shoved a long way toward being a two-party state if Eisenhower were nominated, saying: "I think that with Eisenhower as the nominee he will carry the state by a substantial majority and eliminate the feeling of defeatism in local Republicans, with the result the Republican party will start local elections in this state and we will be on the road to the status of a two-party state."

The national committeeman does not have the power he once had to control the delegation," Porter said. "Under the new Texas election laws, the control of the party is in the rank and file of the party in the counties. Neither Mr. Zweifel nor I can control any presidential delegates. The rank it is my belief that the sentiment for General Eisenhower is Mike Nolte and Henry Zweifel overwhelming except among pariahs who are trying to protect their entrenched positions and they are going to be swept aside by the people who are not going to be told what to do in this election."

He said Zweifel's "leadership of

Polio In December Drops To 23 Cases

AUSTIN — (AP) — Polio in Texas dropped to 23 new cases during the last week in December, the State Health department reported today.

It was just a little more than half the 41 new cases reported for the week preceding.

The year's total climbed to 2027, with the last two days of the year unreported. Last year's total was 2770.

Princeton's All-America Dick Kazmaier set a new Ivy League total offense mark this season, surpassing the 1610 yards racked up by Columbia's Paul Gorenblin in 1942.

Bob Zuppke coached seven Big Ten Conference football championship teams at Illinois.

Garrison Says No Extension On Inspection Of Automobiles

If the family car hasn't been safety-inspected by March 31 it will have to stay in the garage until it does get the official once-over.

"It's a law you can't do anything about," Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety, says.

He said there would be no extension of time for motorists to get the safety inspections which are required before 1952 vehicle licenses can be paid.

"Motorists have to have the test to get a license for 1952," Garrison said. "That's the law and there can't be any deviation."

Garrison would not predict if the 3,500,000 Texas cars, buses and trucks could be safely inspected by the deadline.

Reports from different sections of the state indicated only a few auto inspection stations were in operation. Those few were clogged with motorists who came early and stayed late.

Some inspection points found as high as 60 percent of the vehicles tested did not pass. These must be run through the inspections again after the defects are corrected.

However, Garrison and his assistants were optimistic over chances of breaking the bottleneck soon.

Thirty-five hundred firms have applied for certificates as inspection stations but only 400 are in operation, said Capt. George Busby, chief of the Motor Vehicle Inspection division.

Another 600 or 700 stations have been approved, Busby said, and will be in operation soon.

Better Jobs

Here is further comment on "Ex America" by Gary Garrett and published by the Eastern Printers, Ltd., Caldwell, Idaho.

Mr. Garrett quotes Lenin's oft quoted statement that the best way to destroy the capitalist system was to debauch its currency.

"So long as a government has the power over the money supply, and provided by an irredeemable currency, all efforts to stop a government disposed to lead a people into socialism tend to be, and probably will be, futile.

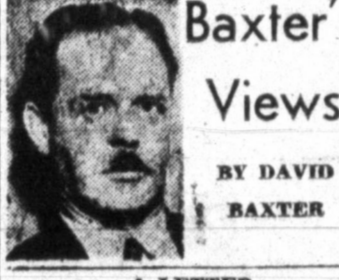

Then Mr. Garrett goes on to say: "Here you have the devil, his convert and his antagonist, all three, bearing witness alike; and to this you add the testimony of experience which is complete.

"This irredeemable paper dollar was planned money—planned for inflation. Not only was it declared to be lawful money for all purposes; it was made to be the only lawful money.

NEGRO MIGRATION WILL SOLVE PROBLEMS (The Dallas Morning News)

A large migration of Negroes from Southern States to other parts of the nation is shown by the 1950 census returns.

A LETTER BY DAVID BAXTER

Among many letters this column has received on recent statements about books recommended in public schools, there was one which struck me as quite poignant.

"Dear Mr. Baxter: The time has come that I can no longer keep my opinion to myself. I missed your first attack but have certainly followed what came after.

"I know nothing of two books you referred to but I have felt that something should be done about the boys who are parents at high school, come home at the beginning of the year with the recommended reading list, containing not only 'The Grapes of Wrath' but also 'An American Tragedy' by Theodore Dreiser.

"To my way of thinking we pay taxes for schools so that our children may learn something educational—not to learn about the high standards of decent living. And thinking we've tried to maintain. Now, when our young people are almost grown, they have books recommended by the teachers that should inspire and respect, undervaluing all that some of us parents have tried to guard against.

"Why should our boys start to read this type of trash now when all of his life he's been encouraged to read books that show pictures of good, clean-minded boys like him who he will be proud to know all his life? Also all the years my husband has devoted to schooling, not only to help out but other people's boys to grow up decent and clean-minded. Then, when we find out the type of books that are recommended reading in our schools, naturally it burns us up. Of all the educational, wonderful books in the world, why are fifteen selected to be on this list, two of them 'The Grapes of Wrath' and 'An American Tragedy'?"

Double Take

WASHINGTON -- The invasion of Theron Lamar Caudle's old stamping ground of FRIENDLINESS -- Howard A. Friddle, Treasury agent at Charlotte, told the King subcommittee about Caudle's deep interest in the tax affairs of Troy Whitehead, a textile manufacturer at Charlotte. He also testified that Whitehead had flown, Caudle, former Attorney General Tom Clark and Charles Oliphant, former counsel for Internal Revenue, on trips to Miami, Myrtle beach and other places. Sometimes, the officials took their wives and children with them.

Caudle has long shown friendliness to Whitehead. Several years ago, the Treasury issued seizure orders against his plant for $40,000 in overdue taxes. But when agents Childill, McMan and Burton served the papers on Whitehead at his factory, he phoned Caudle at Washington in their presence. The seizure orders were never posted. Joseph Nunan was then commissioner of Internal Revenue.

A $1,000,000 tax lien was recently issued against Whitehead, but not until after the disclosure of the Caudle-Whitehead tieup before the King examiners.

CONVINCIAL -- It is significant that the personal creation of Tom Clark, now Supreme Court Justice. Despite the peculiar circumstances surrounding Caudle's appointment by Clark, and their intimate friendship, the jurist has declined to appear before the King subcommittee.

Clark got to know Caudle during frequent judicial conferences at Asheville, N. C., which were held at the luxurious Grove Park Inn. Like all such affairs and conventions, the Asheville get-togethers were hilarious occasions. As convivial, back-slapping and easy-going fellows, Caudle and Clark never missed a chance to relax together.

Politicians and lawyers were amazed when Caudle was named as U. S. district attorney for the Western district, since he was a resident of the Middle district. It is customary to select a man from the area where he is to officiate. But nobody dared to question A. G.'s choice.

"MAVERICK" -- Caudle's political sponsor was former Senator "Bob" Reynolds. This in itself was strange. Reynolds had just defied the regular state organization, having defeated Sen. Cameron Morrison. Nor did he belong to the "rebel" faction sparked by present Gov. Kerr Scott, ex-Sen. Frank P. Graham and Jonathan Daniels, Raleigh publisher. Like Reynolds, Caudle was a "maverick," belonging to neither faction.

Caudle himself said he was stunned. He explained it by saying that "the wheel just stopped and bit me." He was so excited that in the swearing-in he placed his right hand on the Bible and lifted his left. It was an ominous beginning. For some strange reason, Caudle did not take the oath before former Judge E. W. Webb at Charlotte, a veteran political figure. He took it before Judge John J. Parker, who lives at Charlotte but presides over the Fourth Judicial circuit at Richmond. Finally, protests against Caudle have been forwarded periodically to President Truman, former Attorney General Clark and Chief Justice Vinson. Although they warned that his selection might lead to a "national scandal," the warnings were disregarded.

Fair Enough... Experience In Europe Inspires No Respect For U. S. Lottery

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER PARIS — New York City council referendum on a proposal to establish a state lottery to raise about $300,000,000 an additional yearly income of which there is said to be a desperate need for hospitals and other municipal armament flagrantly sells licenses to bookmakers whose activities are criminal in all states except Nevada. It is a petty question whether this makes the United States government a partner in crime, because that partnership was frankly admitted many years ago in debates on income taxes and solidly avowed in provisions taxing at regular rates incomes of bootleggers, all manner of thieves, dealers in narcotics, and even, as it turned out in specific cases, prostitutes.

The British attitude toward the football pools is one of those vagaries of theirs which on close examination make a mockery of our hypocritical embarrassments. Millions of Britons desire to risk from one shilling to a pound or two weekly on guessing the games. A small group of solid business firms run vast offices wherein all such bets are recorded by staffs of thousands of employees and calculations of odds and selections of winners are done under formal contract by firms of accountants. The client is always one week behind in payments because the law forbids cash betting, thus inviting credit status.

Cash betting is forbidden simply to prevent streetcorner nuisances and make the process so deliberate that an imprudently bettor couldn't get accommodated, but the result was a wily legal evasion which gave rise to football pools whose maximum prize of 75,000 pounds was arbitrarily reduced to 60,000 because the higher rate tended to deflect workers' thoughts with generous bets to give the decency whom it might be truly said, "It's a shame to take their money." His commerce is as open and respectable as the grocery business and much more profitable and less restricted. It can't shake the federal bookmaking home, is strangely stirring. This five-story advertisement, blazing with the serene virtue of an ad for cigarettes, cosmetics or gin, proclaims that Hill's is Britain's bookmaker's and any cop who tried to pinch by Scotland Yard would be punished by Scotland Yard.

Hovering darkly over all seductive speculations, however, is the sugged uncompromising fact that after all state, political and legislative problems had been adjusted, we would still have to conquer the federal bookmaking adopted to outlaw the Louisiana lottery. It firmly but effectively forbids the interstate mailing of any evidence of a wager including a policy slip or lottery ticket and beyond that supplementary and verbatim including one on interstate shipment by express. But there is no law against dreaming.

Do right and you'll fear no man; Don't write and you'll fear no woman;

Fashion Editors Assemble in New York For Preview of Easter Parade Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
NEW YORK — What you'll wear in the Easter parade is being inspected this week by a rushed and harried mob of fashion editors representing newspapers all over the United States and many foreign points.

Twice a year these hard-working ladies descend on New York's congested garment district for a schedule of fashion showings that begin every morning with a 9 o'clock breakfast and continue far into the night, leaving little time for either food or sleep.

The showings cover every phase of feminine apparel, from the dresses, coats and suits that make up the main shows to the hats, shoes and accessories that are wedged in between at luncheon, cocktail and dinner shows.

To attend every style preview to which they are invited during this hectic period known as press week in the garment industry, each editor would have to be divided into the last three parts, all equipped with iron constitutions. All are ready for a rest cure when it is over.

New York's fashion press week, started some ten years ago by the New York Dress Institute, has become a field day for the thousands of apparel and accessory manufacturers in the world's biggest garment center. What started as a fairly calm schedule of fashion previews by a score or less of the top designers has grown to a frankenstein of incredible proportions.

Masters of everything from scarfs to costume jewelry and from handbags to bouffants are determined to show their wares to the visiting press before the exhausted editors can escape to the comparative peace and quiet of their own home towns.

Because they are in the main conscientious reporters, editors give a complete account of complete shows to the folks back home, most of the visiting editors try to make the whole schedule of showings, proceeding as a full gallop from dawn to midnight, filling reams of notebook paper, collecting hundreds of fashion photographs and emerging from the fray at the end of the week much like a punchdrunk fighter.

During the opening day of the current series of shows, were welcomed at a breakfast and forum, proceeded to showings by designers Pauline Trigere and Philip Mangone during the morning, wedged in a showing of Delman shoes at noon, had lunch at one to the accompaniment of a show by the International Silk association, proceeded through a couple more dress shows during the afternoon and wound up with an evening preview of custom clothes by Elizabeth Arden at her plush Fifth Avenue Salon.

Most of the fashion news of the day was garnered at the two morning showings of Pauline Trigere and Philip Mangone, with the fabulous touch supplied by Miss Arden.

Miss Trigere, fore-handed a usual, dramatized for the editors the importance of the process silhouette for spring, showing a collection both comprehensive and cohesive, carrying out the corseted midriff and fitted torso look in every number. The princess line as executed by Trigere hugs the body from bust to hips, revealing every line of the torso and necessitating the elimination of all bulges, either through expert corsetry or strong-minded diet.

Mangone, the old master tailor, also accents the importance of a slim waistline in his collection of precise, nip-waisted suits, but offers a variety of silhouettes, ranging from the suit with bell skirt and ruffled jacket to his perennial favorite, the classic, pencil-slim tailleur.

Fabrics are of high importance in all the main collections, as designers make the most of new triumphs of the weavers in feather-light wools with varied texture interest, and rich silks that drape and tailor like suitings.

Such are the facts garnered by the 150-odd visiting editors during the first day of press week, spring 1952.

Sports And Beauty Are On Same Team

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

If you're like the bear who hibernates at the first sign of winter weather, you don't know what you are missing. In the outside world people are skiing and ice skating; keeping their figures trim and their associations active.

Instead of running for cover, take advantage of the season's out-and-about sports. They will not only make you feel wonderful, but actually change your appearance.

Aside from the invigorating aspects, there are important beauty benefits to be derived. Ice skating, for instance, slims the hips and thighs. You'll be cutting a pretty figure in no time.

Should you be your problem, skiing is one of the best corrective exercises. It isn't half as hard as it looks. Once you learn muscular coordination, you will be well on your way.

To develop flexible muscles at your abdomen, arms, waistline, chest and shoulders, try your hand at bowling. It will keep you out of icy winds, if that's your chief winter sports complaint, and still help to build a beautiful body.

There are other indoor sports which may appeal to you such as tennis, squash and badminton. Participation is the important thing, not whether you prove to be an expert.

When you are considering winter activities, don't overlook the new trends you will meet, and the possibility of enlarging your whole social outlook. There's much to be said on the subject of sports, but you'll find taking part is a lot more fun.

Beauty After Forty

"I am 41, tall and slender. I need a cocktail suit that I can wear for several seasons. Please suggest something. I tint my hair, so I can wear any color." — Mrs. E.W.

At a recent fashion showing I made note of a delightful suit which is a classic in design. The original was of slate gray flannel, low notched lapels, with the hip-line softly molded. The trimming of jet braid gave a dramatic touch. This type of suit has the elegance necessary for that sophisticated After-Forty look. This suit is a Paris model named "Chez Maxim."

"I have a black wool suit-dress, perfectly plain, jacket without any trimming. How could I dress it up for club meetings and luncheons? I am good at sewing. Age 49, gray hair, 5 feet 7 1/2 in., weigh 140 — Josephine L."

Your suit can be made to look quite new by the addition of black velvet. Fashion a curved, high collar of velvet, hold it high in the back by the use of whalebone. Shorten the sleeves to 4 inches from the wrist, add 3-inch cuffs of velvet. Wear a black velvet pillbox with a rhinestone ornament. And be sure to get black velvet gloves.

"Should I use a hot oil treatment on my hair, which has a new permanent? And should I brush my hair? It's graying and so dry it flies." — "Fifty"

You need hot oil treatments, that is evident. You also need to brush your hair to increase scalp circulation. The oil treatments and the brushing will aid in deepening your wave because the health of your hair will be improved through increased circulation.

You can't expect $1 an hour for your working time if you spend your leisure hours like they were worth a dime a dozen.

These are the versatile petticoats that are worn on the outside this year. Black velvet pants (left) are topped by a Chinese silk flower-printed gold cloth circle skirt. Matador pants in red wool jersey (above) come to the knee, are worn with plaid petticoat that opens down the front. Sweater slip in green wool jersey (right) is full length, is worn with striped petticoat.

Grizzled Old Bachelors Offer Tips On How To Stay Single

NEW YORK — (AP) — There is an old leap year saying that "he who hesitates is bossed."

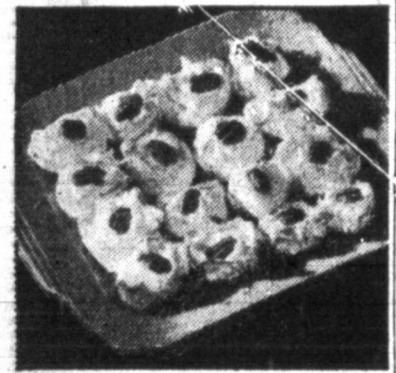

With some 3 million spinsters over 25 looking for husbands, this proverb is practically true of bachelors in 1952.

But how can any one man escape as this ring of 3 million ironwilled ladies closes in? Any direction he leaps it looks like he will land in some girl's lap.

Yet there are ways... there are ways. I have consulted several grizzled old bachelors, and here are their tips on how to stay free:

1. Don't try to be repulsive. The more repulsive you act to some women, the more determined they are to land you. Yes, even if you goose-grease your hair and use a toothpick in public.
2. Never borrow money from a single woman. A woman loves money second only to men. If she has a financial as well as an emotional investment in you, you will track you down though you den with polar bears.
3. When she asks you to her apartment to look at her etchings, bring along a couple of crocheting needles and start knitting yourself some socks. Women are leery of men who crochet for a hobby. But if she still tries to force her attentions on you,

American Public Knows Little Of Ike's Domestic Stands

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The American public knows exactly where General Eisenhower stands on foreign affairs but very little about what he thinks on domestic problems.

In the foreign field he's made it plain he's an internationalist; that he's for cooperation with, and help for, this country's allies in building a wall against Russia.

But on domestic issues he's been very unspecific. He's spoken almost always in generalities. Most of the talking was done during the brief time he was president of Columbia University.

He's said he's for free enterprise and a minimum of government interference. Since most people would say they feel the same, these views are completely safe for any man who might be thinking of getting into politics.

But now he's in politics, whether he likes it or not, which is something he'll have to say for himself. Senator Lodge, Massachusetts Republican, put him in the race for the Republican presidential nomination.

The senator said he'll place the general's name in the New Hampshire primary. Until Monday the general had never dipped his toe into the political pool far enough to say publicly whether he's a Republican or Democrat.

After Lodge's statement, the general couldn't very well play it quiet much longer.

Meanwhile, the public is far better informed about the views foreign and domestic, or some of the other men who have been mentioned as possible candidates, or who have announced themselves as candidates, for the presidency.

To take two extreme opposites: 40 transfusions as doctors strove to keep him alive. The Red Cross flew a special drug from St. Louis to aid coagulation.

Wayne left the hospital in April and was a normal youngster for months. Then on Thanksgiving day a hemorrhage started in his left hip joint and later there was bleeding of his kidney. His ankle began swelling.

But these symptoms now have left him. Today he didn't have to ask his mother to carry him to his toys. Nor did he have to get in the wheelchair. For he could walk just fine.

Wayne Walks Again For The First Time Since Thanksgiving

HOUSTON — (AP) — Wayne Gideon was able to walk Sunday — the first time since Thanksgiving day.

The 7-year-old boy, whose gallant fight against hemophilia has captured the heart of a nation, took his first steps in seven weeks.

Unaided, he walked around the house, limping a little but making the rounds of the rooms with increasing confidence.

"Look, mama, no wheelchair," he grinned at his mother, Mrs. Elmer Gideo.

Last week the boy was given a wheelchair by the public schools. This was quite a help to his folks who have had to carry him in their arms.

"The bleeding in Wayne's hip has stopped and the swelling has left his ankle," Mrs. Gideo said happily. "But we're going to make him take it easy for a long time."

Last March Wayne fell carrying a stick in his mouth. His throat was punctured. The boy kept his spirit high despite some

Ava Gardner Insists That She Is Shy And Domestic

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Bet you didn't know that Ava Gardner is shy. And domestic, too.

These fascinating facts were uncovered in a chat with the glamor queen. I discovered that beneath that shapely and well-composed exterior lurks a shrinking violet.

Ava was talking about her recent trip to England, where she met members of the royal family. She remarked that Princess Elizabeth was very shy, "just like me."

Ava shy

"Absolutely," she replied. "People frighten me. You should see me in a crowd; I get terrified. Why, if I had to do all the things that Princess Elizabeth does, it would kill me."

If she is so shy, how did she get in the acting business?

"That's a good question," she replied. "I've never been able to figure it out myself. I'm completely miscast. I'm much better equipped for having babies."

Was this a hint? Columnists have already been rumoring that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sinatra will be welcoming the star.

"No, it's not true yet," she replied, adding "unfortunately." She remarked that she would parel to spur buyers to fill out spring stocks. With a longer spring sales season this year — Easter comes April 13 — stores are likely to get an extra assist from the weather in luring customers into their shops.

Springs manse. She also does a lot of the cooking for her new husband and glowed with a report of her first try at Italian spaghetti.

"Frank told me how to do it," she said. "It has to be made very carefully and it cooks two hours. I must admit that mine tasted wonderful."

Then there's the one about the Ga returning from overseas, who remarked as he passed the Statue of Liberty: "Put your torch down, honey, I'm home."

Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati Reds' ace hurler, was the only pitcher in the majors to twirl two one-hitters in 1950.

ARE STAMPS WORTH THE COST?

We ask you Mrs. Grocery Buyer, if it is worth a few inexpensive premiums to shop at stores who give stamps. We do not think it is. We have thoroughly investigated all stamp plans and find that it is a very expensive proposition to the merchant who gives stamps. This expense can be absorbed at only one place, through you, Mrs. Consumer, you're the one who pays the bill.

True, grocery ads promise you "Lower Prices," "Big Savings" "Etc." But do you notice that stamp giving stores just offer one, two or maybe three low priced items to give you the impression that stamps are free.

HERE'S ONE PANHANDLE SUPER MARKET OPERATOR'S EXPERIENCE WITH STAMPS.

We submit for your consideration a reprint from an ad which appeared in the Guymon Daily Herald of Guymon, Okla. on Dec. 26, 1951.

Price's I. G. A. Super Market Policy

"Give the savings to our customers"

In line with the policy of Pierce's I. G. A. Super Market to give Guymon and this trade area the lowest possible grocery prices, we announce that on January 1st, 1952, the award of S and H Green Stamps with purchases will be discontinued.

The substantial savings which will result from discontinuance of stamp awards will be passed along to our customers in the form of lower prices. THIS IS OUR PLEDGE.

The resultant savings will be kept at home, rather than be sent outside the Guymon and Texas county trade area where there is a small benefit to the purchasing customer.

"THE BATTLE OF THE STAMPS" has been expensive to the community and we have definitely found the benefits to the consumer are out of proportion to the costs entailed.

As your "lowest price" grocery merchant, I desire to effect this saving to the individual customer and to the community.
