KING GEORGE VI - A sickly young prince grew up in the shadow of his high-spirited brother, Edward, Prince of Wales. The world knew little about younger brother, Albert, Duke of York, until he became King after Edward's abdication. The portrait was the official coronation photograph of King George VI, a King destined to face the most critical years in Empire history.

QUEEN ELIZABETH - Elizabeth, elder daughter of King George VI, becomes head of the British Empire at her father's death. She received news of the royal death while she and her husband. Philip, were on a world tour which was originally planned to end in July. Upon Elizabeth's ascension of the throne her young son, Prince Charles, becomes heir apparent to the British throne.

Elizabeth On Tour When News Arrives

LONDON - (AP) - Tired and spent, King George VI died today after 15 years on the throne. His daughter Elizabeth, 25, became queen.

The word reached her in an African colony, one of the remnants of the empire. She sobbed as she received the news, and then made arrangements to fly home tomorrow.

OLD SHEETS ???

You may never catch a cold from a cold sheet, but you'll admit that warm sheets on a cold wintry night are far more inviting. And that's the way it is with modern electric sleeping. You merely set the control on your electric blanket (or electric sheet) a few minutes before retiring. You snuggle into a pleasantly warm bed and in no time at all you're in a sound, restful, pleasantly warm sleep. What's more you've no "weather worries" from then on. Your electric blanket maintains the temperature TO YOUR LIKING. It's a modern day . . . it's time for modern sleeping, at YOUR home.

The Longhorns' win yesterday at Austin put them a bare halfgame in front of the Froggies. I'CU lost a 56-54 game to Arkansas last week to fall from the undefeated ranks in league play and drop into a tie with Texas, with a 4-1 record.

Husky Jim Dowies paced the Longhorn win over Baylor as the Bears dropped into the cellar with Rice Institute. Baylor and Rice now have identical 1-5 records in league play.

Dowles hit nine field goals and four free tosses for 22 points to take over second place in the conference scoring race, replacing Gene Schwinger of Rice. Schwinger dropped to fourth place as Baylor's Raiph Johnson made nine points in the Texas game to go ahead of the Owl ace.

George McLeod, giant TCU cen ter, holds the scoring lead with 100 points: Dowies is second with Johnson third with 87, and Schwinger fourth with 82. Tonight's TCU-Aggie fray will be the last until Saturday night

FUNNY HOW THINGS CHANGE. Last year at this time the Borger basketball fans were moaning low because they couldn't get any tickets to get in and see the Bulldogs and Harvesters battle for the district championship in the old Junior High school gymnasium here. Now the situation is reversed. Borger sent 110 reserved seat tickets to Pampa for the game next Saturday night and they were gone in four hours without even having to advertise the fact they were here.

THE ATTEMPT OF ORGANIZED LABOR TO MAKE ÖTHER CITIZENS BEAR ALL WAR COSTS

By WILLFORD I. KINC

The leaders of our big labor monopolies are very shrewd. They

1. Wage rates must be pushed up at least enough to offset the recent advance in the income taxes of persons receiving incomes below $5,000.

2. All employers must be compelled to insert in every contract with their employees an escalator the official Consumer's Price Index, wage rates must automatically advance in the same proportion. 3. The Consumers' Price Index must be so adjusted as to include therein all excise or sales taxes levied on goods marketed. The labor leaders do not foresee any serious difficulty in securing practical compliance with this third requirement. Past experience seems to indicate that higher taxes on corporation profits soon become embodied in the prices of goods which the corporations turn out. As a rule, excise taxes paid by producers automatically become part of the prices of the articles taxed, and, in computing the Consumers' Price Index, the United States Bureau of Labon Statistics includes in the listed price of each good any sales tax levied thereon. Furthermore, an investigating subcommittee of the lower house of Congress recommends that this labor leaders presumably believe that, if their program is carried out, it matters little to their members whether the Government decides to levy taxes and balance its budget, or whether, instead, it resorts to inflation to pay its bills. In either case, the workingman's real income and scale of living will not be reduced-in other words, war preparations will bring no fifamily. What a comfortable ing! But will everything actually work out that way? In reality, a number of things may intervene to prevent this felicitous outcome. First, and most obvious, is the fact that some obstinate employers may refuse either to give wage increases or to incorporate escalator clauses in their wage agreements, and, if the achieve these ends, the workers may suffer heavy wage losses before the strikes are settled. If have escaped the bearing of some of the war burden. But this is not the only possible case in which their immunity from bother about war expense may be violated. Let us assume for the moment that the Government actually balances its budget and thus avoids inflation. It is essential to note that under such circumstances, whatever the Government pays out for war purposes it must get by taxation, and that this amount is inevitably deducted from the amount which civilians can spend for their own consumption. Thus, if the total spending power of the nation is $250 billions and the Government takes from the public $70 billions to cover the cost of war goods, its citizens will

In that case, demand will run up without any corresponding increase in the supply of goods, and prices will climb all along the line. Escalator clauses will make wage rates advance at the same rate as the price level. And now money incomes, and hence the consumer spending dolsomewhat the same rate, so no unemployment will be generated. Under such circumstances, will not the unionized workers really succeed in sliding out from under the financial burdens of war? Again, the union member will

Although the escalator clauses will, in his case, nominally offset the effects of inflation, its creeping miasma will strike him in ways which he has probably overlooked. practice be continued. Hence, the For example, as inflation causes the purchasing power of the dol-lar to diminish, the real worth of those Government savings bonds that he bought as a patriotic duty will gradually shrivel away. The same fate will befall those dollars in the savings-bank account that he has tucked away for emergency use. And the protection afforded by that Company pension arrangeent will grow less and less. Simnancial hardship to him or his lilarly, those sound security beneease his declining years will begin to vanish as in a mirage. And, worst of all, the real value of that $10,000 insurance policy which he has carried since his army days, and which is so important to his family if anything happens to him, will shrink and shrink and shrink.

And so, when everything is considered, it appears that the belief that any class can, by any kind of unions are compelled to strike to chicanery, get out from under the cost of preparing for war is a vain illusion. Willy nilly, everyone must pay! The disastrous effects this happens, the workers will not of unemployment (and resulting low production) and the slinking inflation serpent will bring trouble and sorrow into the lives of the wage workers at the same time that they are wreaking havoc among all other segments of the population. ## simple. You apply one vial of 'Le Secret' every day for 5 days, Then one vial every other day for a week. Then twice a week for next two weeks. 'Le Secret's' action begins at once.

Notice the delightfully bracing, firming, lifting feeling. After the first treatments you'll find a remarkable improvement. Notice how 'Le Secret' helps smooth out horrid aging surface lines and wrinkles. After the seventh vial your skin is literally transformed—it looks so youthful, petal fresh and firm. Leave 'Le Secret' on overnight. It's invisible on your face and neck all while it gets in its wondrous work.

At the end of the course of treatments, just see if you aren't honestly astonished — like the other women who completed the course. A box of 7 vials costs $12. A box of 26 (3 months' supply, because after last two weeks of a month's treatment you use only two a week) costs $36. This might seem expensive but certainly NOT when you experience the spectacular re-sults in the improvement of the appearance of your skin. If ever money was well spent
