Associated Press correspondents at Panamajon arranged with a Communist correspondent to take a camera to Frank "Pappy" Noel, AP photographer imprisoned in a Red POW camp. Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR AP Newsfeatures
IT'S NOT TOO EARLY to plan this year's vacation photo holiday in three dimensional movies, bonded in a light-proof, plastic film holder. Sounds scrambled, doesn't it? For good reason—it will make more sense if we take the three items separately, although you can combine them yourself, actually, to good advantage later this year.

In an early bid for vacation bound camera fans, the Photographic Society of America (PSA) has scheduled this year's convention, for the first time in its history, during the summer vacation season. Its headquarters will be mid-Manhattan but all of New York City will be the target for the assembled photographers, thanks to photo tours being planned.

Stressing the vacation angle, the local committee of PSA is preparing to take care of fans who come earlier and stay after the formal convention five-day period from Aug. 12 through the 16th. "Special field trips led by photo experts will be available to convention visitors," says Paul Gibbs, New York chairman. "They know where to find any type subject matter you may be interested in and also know when and how to photograph it best."

This year, specialized phases of photography—in biology, medicine, science and industry—will be introduced to the regular convention lecture program. For the first time, too, the International Photographic Exhibit will be visible under the same roof as all other activities. This is possible because of the vast facilities of the Hotel New Yorker, convention headquarters.

Preliminary plans also feature a boat tour of New York harbor, visits to the studios and laboratories of nationally famous photographers and also to the picture magazines, picture services and newspapers located in the metropolis.

An interesting development in three-dimensional home movies is now being made available to owners of 35mm cameras and projectors. A converting outfit, with special attachments for the camera and projector, does the job.

PRESSURE WILL BE UP—It won't be long until water pressure along Rham will be increased and with smooth riding paving to boot. Shown above is the city ditching machine going on the new bed for an eight-inch water main that will replace the old two-inch main running through that sector. The main will come off of a 10-inch main along Hobart. The new line will extend along three blocks of Rham, but only two blocks will be paved. (NewsPhoto)

Texans Favor Stepped-Up Civilian Pilot Training

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Two Texans are strong for a sharply stepped-up civilian pilot training program. Their idea is that such a program would be a big contribution to the nation's defense at minimum cost.

They may be able to do something about it. One of them is Col. D. Harold Byrd of Dallas, executive board of the Civil Air patrol and southwest regional commander of the patrol. The other is Rep. Lindley Beekworth of Gladewater, vice chairman of the House Commerce committee. This committee handles legislation affecting civilian aviation.

Both declare that the government is overlooking a great opportunity in not training a large force of civilian pilots. Such a force, they agree, would serve two important purposes. 1. It could take over many emergency missions and defense patrol assignments now performed by the Air Force and Na-program which was operated early in World War Two, under their wings.

He has introduced legislation designed to accomplish this. The program would be operated under the Civil Aeronautics administration. His bill is now in committee.

The bill does not specify details. Beekworth says he intentionally omitted these, thinking it would be better for the committee to write them after it has heard testimony.

Presumably the program would function like the World War Two program and the government would pay only the actual cost of training fliers at private schools operated under contract with the CAA.

Beekworth emphasized his belief in the economy of this kind of training program. "Everybody knows that the costliest way to get a job done is to get the military to do it," he declared.

"Training a boy at West Point, for instance, costs many times what the average student spends going through a regular, four-year college course. Even in the

Joan Fontaine To Stay Single While In Movies

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Joanne gets. It's hard for him to see his wife off to work at 6 in the morning and have her marry again — until she gives even to talk to him.

Her divorce from film producer William Dozier became final last week. She was formerly divorced from actor Brian Aherne. Now that she again has no marital ties, she intends to say that way.

"I've tried it twice, and it just doesn't work," she remarked in her hilltop home overlooking Los Angeles. "It's too tough trying to lead the double life as a film actress and wife. You can't do a good job of both."

"Goodness knows, I tried. But I think it's virtually impossible for the right kind of man to be married to a movie star. Even though he has steered himself against it, something happens to a man when he steps off a train and someone says, 'step right this way, Mr. Fontaine.'"

"That hurts. Any man with self-respect can't take it, and I wouldn't want to marry the other kind. It's also tough for a man to watch all the flowers arrive for his wife, and the phone calls and the attention relatively short time required to train a buck private they spend about $3,500 on him.

"Imagine, then, how much can be saved if the government has to pay only the actual flight training in the making of a pilot. The boys would pay for their own food and clothing."

He said a civilian pilot program would assure new crops of fliers regularly to keep pace with advances in aviation. And he added that it should be an easy matter to correlate such a program with military training so that there would be no waste or duplication of effort.

Governor To Make Personal Inspection Of Girls' School

AUSTIN, Tex. — (AP) — Gov. Allan Shivers said he will make a personal inspection of conditions at Gainesville state school for girls — but only after the Youth Development council has studied the school's disciplinary problems and policy.

Whether the correctional school should whip its juvenile inmates and hold them in solitary confinement as punishment are matters for the council to handle, Shivers said at a press conference.

The school's disciplinary policy came under fire last week when a 16-year-old Houston girl testified in court she had been whipped and held in solitary confinement 136 of 210 days in the institution.

Shivers asked the press and the public to consider both sides of the picture.

"I hope the people and the press will keep in mind there will always be in (such) institutions a small percentage of people who are difficult to handle," he commented.

How to handle these difficult cases, he continued, is something for the school's administrative staff and the Youth Development council to work out "within the limits of the law."

The governor said the Gainesville state school for girls are "doing something constructive for 90 percent of the inmates."

Asked his attitude toward the use of corporal punishment, Shivers replied: "I'm not an authority on that."

He suggested it "might be well" for the council and legislature to consider a law allowing such boys and girls to be placed in the home of any person who thinks they are not being treated properly. He said any person taking such a child would have to be willing to take responsibility for the child's conduct.

Shivers said the Houston girl's case served a wholesome purpose because it "causes a reexamination of policy and gets the people acquainted with it."

"I think it would be well for the people to do it — to see for themselves what the conditions are," the governor said, adding that he would be glad to receive recommendations from any such visitors.

McLemore's Baking Attempt Gets Whole Town In Uproar

By HENRY McLEMORE — You wouldn't believe that two such simple things as myself and a box of cake flour could throw a whole town into an uproar.

But, we did. For the better part of two hours Sorrento was in a high state of confusion and commotion. A stranger dropping in would have sworn it was high time to declare martial law.

It all started when my Sorrento friend of mine, Miss Bigia Januzzi, who, with her mother, runs shop in Sorrento, received a box of cake flour from a friend in America.

When I dropped in to see Bigia, Mama and Papa Januzzi, who are the dearest friends I have in the world, the store was packed with Sorrentians who had come to see what was in the big gift box from America. Bigia wanted to cook a devil's food-cake like the one pictured on the flour box. Although Mama and Bigia speak surprisingly good English, certain words in the recipe they couldn't understand, so they asked me to explain.

I began with the word "batter." I must have given a magnificent performance because before I finished with "batter" and went on to "blend" and "sift" people were pouring in from the square and there was Standing Room Only in the shop. Knowing no Italian, I had to batter, blend and sift in sign language.

A cop came to control the crowd. This drew more people. By the time I got those ingredients mixed I was thrashing around in priceless tablecloths, and was ankle deep in luncheon sets, embroidered shirtwaists and flimsy nightgowns. If Bigia had wanted to roast a turkey, I'd have ruined that shop.

Up until this point the confusion had been confined to indoors, but it was soon to spread to the streets, the highways and the byways. This came about when my abysmal ignorance regarding the difference between Fahrenheit and centigrade jumped to the front like a show-off monkey.

The recipe said to bake in a 350 F. oven. Bigia wanted to know how hot that was in centigrade. I tried to roll my memory back to grammar school days, but it wouldn't roll. I figured a pharmacist would know, so I store. The cop chased me, assuming, I suppose, that I had robbed the store. The crowd followed.

The pharmacist didn't know any more than I did, but sent me to his brother, who runs a pastry shop and has the newest electric oven in town. The pastry shop owner didn't quite understand what I and the crowd were after, so he proudly showed us his spanking new stove, and gave us a batch of hot cookies.

Matters now were completely out of hand. A posse of some 50 or 60 citizens lit out for the high school to seek centrifuges and Fahrenheit advice from the teachers. An even larger group went out in search of a big dictionary, someone in the group having remembered that big dictionaries usually have centigrade and Fahrenheit tables in the backs of them.

Sorrento couldn't have been more active if nearby Vesuvius had erupted. I'm sure, just before the mayor was preparing to call Rome for instructions as to how best to restore peace to this usually tranquil little city, I remembered that 350 F. was a tell me that to start with?" medium oven I told Bigia this. That was one devil's food cake and she said, "Why didn't you that really raised the devil."

U. S. Rubber Mission

SINGAPORE — (AP) — The rubber industry in Malaya welcomes a proposal in Washington that the National Rubber Bureau that a U. S. Rubber mission, similar to the tin study group now in Malaya, visit here.

Statements here said such a mission would find a free market and a complete rebuttal of charges of "gouging the U. S. taxpayer through the manipulation of prices by producers."

Troops Get Literature

TOKYO — (AP) — The Far East Command headquarters says five million magazines, two million paper-bound books and 18,000 cloth-bound books have been distributed to Allied soldiers in Korea since July, 1950.

To Get Land Title

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya — (AP) — The Federation government has announced that hundreds of thousands of Chinese living in resettlement areas throughout Malaya are soon to be given permanent title to the land they now occupy.

The Chinese involved are squatters who were moved into resettlement areas to protect them from Communist terrorists and to give them the opportunity of securing employment and education.

If all the coal mined in the United States in a year were loaded into one train, it would reach around the world three times. In some sections of the Hawaiian Islands, wild raspberries grow as large as golf balls.

English Star Can Double As Stand-In HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — This week the stand-in for Michael Rennie, the English actor, fell ill and the studio scurried around for a substitute.

"No hurry," assured Rennie. "I'm an old hand at standing in." He wasn't kidding. Without poring through the records, I would hazard a guess that he is the only stand-in to achieve starring status.

Rennie, who has done a number of leading roles for 20th-Fox, is currently playing Jean Valjean in the remake of "Les Miserables." Playing opposite him is Sylvia Sydney. When she reported to work, Rennie said to her, "You don't remember me, do you?" She allowed that she didn't.

"I was the stand-in for John Loder in a picture called 'Sabotage' that you and he made in England back in the '30s," he said.

Miss Sydney still didn't remember, but the memory is a vivid one for Rennie. That was his first movie job.

"I wanted to be a film actor," he recalled. "I figured the only way to be one would be to watch how it was done. I thought of being an extra, but that would have meant that I would only work a day or so in every picture. If I were a stand-in, I could watch the whole picture being made."

So Rennie took the stand-in job, which consists of standing under the lights until everything is ready and the star steps into the set. "It was physically exhausting to be standing for so long," he remembered. "But it wasn't mentally exhausting, because I had much to watch and learn."

His pay: the tidy equivalent of $10 a week.

"But that was more than I would have made as a stand-in," he said. "I could have made more per day as an extra, but the work was sporadic. If I could hitch myself to a busy star or two, I could be working 52 weeks a year."

Even The Modern Valentines Are Filled With Sentiment

As far as eye, or any window-shopper, can plainly see, St. Valentine's Day is still our most popular time of the entire year for romantic chit-chat.

Leap Year style Valentines, however, reveal that Dan Cupid is fed up with home-cooking as love's last resort.

Starchy foods and southern fried chicken, it now appears, have quietly given way to satin-smooth flattery as the surest road to a man's heart.

Exhibit "A" in this survey of current romantic trends is a Valentine designed for the guy who's been stalling around because he wants to be an artist. It pictures a modern art museum where a starchy-eyed little moppel is wandering about, as she sweetly says— "I guess there ain't NOBODY what loves ART more than me— Ain't you got no ETCHIN'S You'd like for me to see?

The traditional "Will You Be My Valentine?" approach has also fallen by the wayside. Feminine instinct has finally admitted that better results may be expected from a Valentine verse like this— "I don't need a mansion Or lots of Money! With you I could live On a shoestring, Honey!

Dropping the handkerchief, of course, and provocative glances— slyly cast from behind milady's fan— were reluctantly abandoned about the same time that hoop skirts and multi-layer petticoats passed out of style.

Love at first sight can't be depended upon either. Booby-traps for modern bachelors must be more cunningly contrived than

Fireman's Home Lost

DAYTON, Moit. —(P)— Glenn Nelson, who had just returned home and gone to bed after a meeting where he was chosen assistant chief of the Dayton Volunteer Fire Department, was awakened by a crackling sound. While Nelson struggled into his trousers, neighbors saved the house by pumping water from a nearby stream. But the new assistant chief is minus his garage, a new car, a tractor, a motor boat and a year's supply of gasoline.

The first meeting of the American Bowling Congress was held at Beethoven Hall in New York City, Sept. 8, 1895.

Grenades Interrupt Merchants' Rest
SAIGON, Indochina — (P)— The French, and many foreigners, too, like to indulge in the habit of sitting at sidewalk cafes and having an aperitif or so before dinner, but business sometimes shows a sharp drop.

The answer is simple. Every once in awhile, Communist-led Vietnam or other terrorists speed by cafes in automobiles and toss out hand grenades into the relaxing throngs. In the latest incident of this kind, three persons were wounded by a grenade while sitting at a table at a popular cafe in the heart of Rue Catinau — the "Broadway" of Saigon.

Horned Frogs Move Back Into Lead Tie

COLLEGE STATION — (AP) — Texas Christian defeated the Texas A&M Aggies on their home court last night, 52-41, to regain a share in the Southwest Conference leadership with Texas.

The Frogs bounced back into the win column after losing successive games to Oklahoma City University and the University of Arkansas. And they did it mostly without the services of their conference scoring leader, giant center George McLeod.

McLeod went out on personal fouls with two minutes left in the first quarter and the frogs leading 12-6. He had made eight of those points himself with a field goal and six charities.

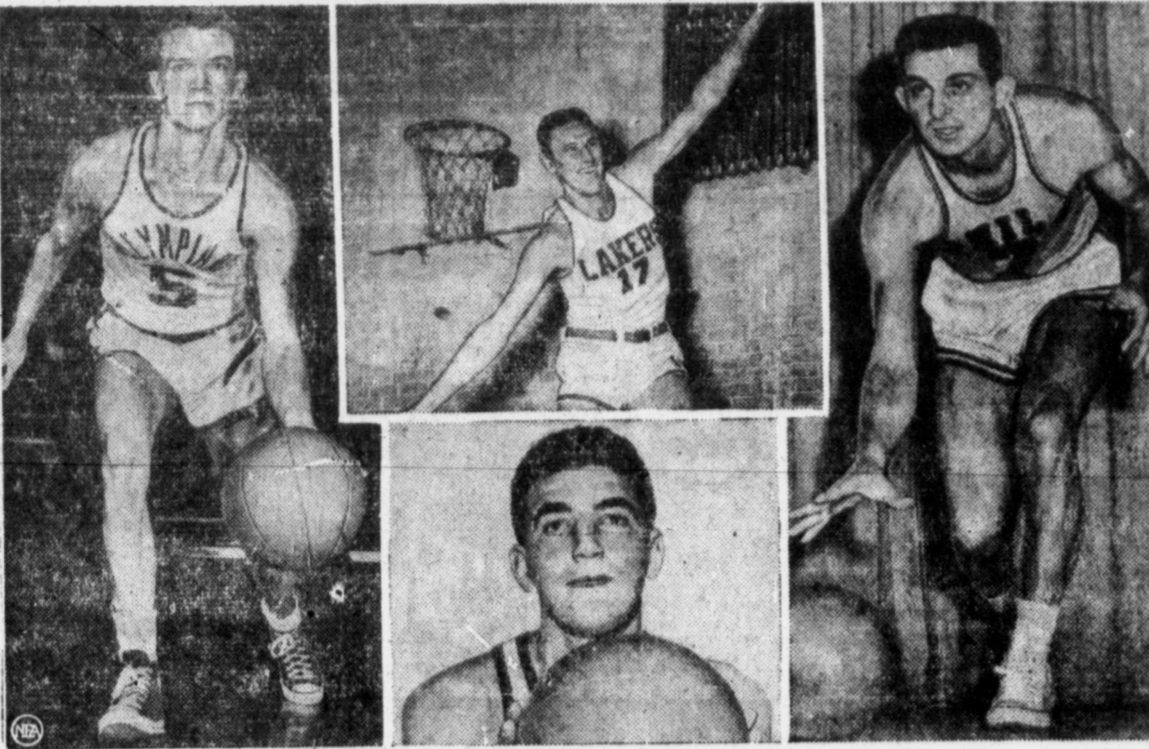

But the Aggies almost completely lost their eye for the basket in the second quarter and the Frogs, hitting their early season stride again, led, 25-15 at the half as the Aggies scored only three points in the second ten minutes.

The Christians led by as much as 19 points in the second half, but a late scoring burst by the Aggies against TCU sub-cut the winning margin.

The Aggies went ahead briefly twice in the action-jammed first period, but were never able to get in striking distance after that disastrous second quarter.

McLeod's terrific scoring pace for the season was considerably slowed with his eight points in the contest, but he still leads the conference with 108 tallies in league play.

Center Walt Davis of the Aggies took high scoring honors for the night with 13 points made on four field goals and five free shots.

HOOP-PRO-ROUND—More than a million dollars worth of basketball talent will be on display when East meets West in the National Basketball Association's second annual All-Star game at Boston, Feb. 11. Keeping an eye cocked on the showdown clash is, left, Paul Walther, fireball Indianapolis star, who will play for Syracuse's Adolph Schayes, lower center, and Andy Phillips of the Warriors figure heavily in the East attack. Will Negroes Play Tech In Lubbock?

LUBBOCK — (AP) — Texas Tech has made no indication it will change its policy of not allowing Negroes and whites to oppose one another in athletic contests at Lubbock.

Tech officials said they had no official word from the University of Arizona. The Arizona school said yesterday it would make no future commitments to send athletic teams to Lubbock "so long as Texas Tech refuses the right to participate."

Athletic Director DeWitt Weaver of Tech and Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the college athletic council, said they would have no comment until they saw the official notice from Arizona.

STATEMENT
But President D. M. Wiggins in a statement said:

"Neither the board of directors, nor the administrative officials of Texas Technological College has received any official notice from the University of Arizona officials concerning any change in previous contractual policies.

"Texas Technological College has not attempted in the past, nor does it attempt now, to set policies for the University of Arizona. The board of directors of Texas Technological College continues to be the sole policy-making body of the institution."

Both Texas Tech and Arizona are members of the Border Conference. In the past 15 years, Texas Tech teams have taken part in games in which Negroes have played on opposing teams, but not in Lubbock.

Arizona will carry out its present commitments with Tech, including a basketball game at Lubbock Feb. 15. The schools have signed for a football game at Tucson this year and have agreed on an open date game at Lubbock in 1953.

Baseball's Spring Flowers May Bloom In Outfield Later

High Scorers Mark Collegiate Action

NEW YORK — (AP) — Scoring 20 points in a college basketball game used to be considered a feat.

Nowadays standout players generally are expected to score more than that. Otherwise it is said they "were held" in check.

Ernie Beck, Pennsylvania; Mark Workman, West Virginia; Chuck Grigsby, Dayton; Jack Molinas, Columbia; Lou Murgo, Brown; Frank Ramsey, Kentucky; Jim Tucker, Duguesne, and Jim Baechtold, Eastern Kentucky all were in the outstanding category last night.

Beck set a new Eastern Intercollegiate individual game mark of 45 points as the Quakers whipped Harvard, 82-48. Workman got 35 points as West Virginia drubbed North Carolina, 80-45.

Ramsey helped Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 ranked team, crush Mississippi, 81-61, with 28 points. Duguesne remained in the unbeaten class, beating Niagara, 64-49, as Tucker came through with 24 points.

Grigsby helped Dayton make it ten in a row. He tallied 29 points as the Flyers nipped Louisville, 72-71. Molinas got 27 as Columbia licked Brown, 95-75.

Baechtold sank 27 points as Eastern Kentucky downed Tennessee Tech, 63-52.

Texas Christian tied Texas for the lead in the Southwest Conference by beating Texas A&M, 52-41, and California opened a Hawaiian tour by whipping Hawaii Univ., 72-46.

Wisconsin, of the Big Ten, had the game going against Butler, but came through, 62-60.

Navy beat Pitt, 54-44, as sophomore John Clune scored 12 points to set an all-time Naval Academy scoring record for one season of 389.

Elli Hannon's 21 points helped Army defeat Swarthmore, 66-46.

CHICAGO — (AP) — A few of baseball's flowers that bloom in the spring may also blossom in American League outfields this summer.

The big league pace is fast for rookie outfielders, but the junior circuit has a flock whose minor league records indicate they'll make a good try to stick.

Take the St. Louis Browns. New Manager Rogers Hornsby will have an outfield battle among newcomers that should resemble an Easter egg hunt.

Pride and joy of Hornsby is Jim Rivera, the Pacific Coast League batting champion from Seattle, who last season batted .352. He also led the league in runs, 135, hits, 231, and doubles, 40.

The Browns also have highly-touted Frank Saucier, Bob Nieman, Earl Rapp and Tom Wright. In 1950, Saucier hit .343 for San Antonio and was supposed to strike terror into the hearts of American League pitching last season but was a holdout.

YANKEES, AS USUAL

Nieman hit two successive homers in his first two times at bat for the Browns late last season and knocked a .324 average for Tulsa in Oklahoma City. Rapp is a .322 hitter from Oakland. Wright had Boston Red Sox seasoning and comes from Louisville with a .282 mark.

The Red Sox have an outfield prospect in Jim Piersall with so much talent. Manager Lou Boudreau may even try to get him in the lineup at shortstop.

Last year, Piersall played 17 games for Louisville, batting .310, and then transferred to Birmingham where he fashioned a .346 mark in 121 games. Veteran big leaguers say they've seldom seen a rookie do so many things well.

The championship Yankees may be concerned mainly with the scrap between Jack Jensen and Mickey Mantle for Joe DiMaggio's centerfield job. But they're bound to try some head, too, to Bob Cerv and Archie Wilson. Cerv was runner-up in American Association hitting with .344 for Kansas City.

Wilson, the International League's most valuable player, hit .310 in 151 games for Buffalo. He had the most rbi's, 112; most total bases, 328; most hits, 191; and 28 homers to share honors in that department.

Full Schedule In District 1-A

Another full card of games is on tap for the District 1-A basketball teams tomorrow night. The contest, McLellan, will play a non-conference game with Phillips pentecent Blackhawks at McLellan.

In other games, Wheeler goes to Canadian, White Deer is at Lefors, and the Panhandle Panthers travel to meet the Clarendon Bronchos.

set forth in a letter from Childress Mayor L. W. McClendon, School Superintendent Joe A. Gibson, and City Attorney John T. Forbis.

The officials advised the Executive Committee that the Childress school board has no control over use of the city stadium, and the school receives none of the rental for use of the field.

Tigerettes Clinch Share Of Crown

McLEAN — (Special) — The McLean Tigerettes, one of the top girls high school basketball teams in the state, captured their half of the district basketball championship Tuesday night, defeating the Canadian girls, 48-24.

The Tigerettes, led by high scoring Bonita Bailey, have one more game to play, meeting Wheeler at Wheeler Tuesday night. But the game will have no bearing on the outcome of the race.

The Canadian boys defeated the Tigers, 34-30, with Eddie Reeves hitting 10 points for the losers. Friday night the Tigers host Phillips.

Greenbelt Tilt OK For Children

AUSTIN — (AP) — The University Interscholastic League's ban on use of high school equipment in the way of the Children's Greenbelt Bowl, the league Executive Committee ruled yesterday.

The committee said the all-star rule doesn't apply to the game sponsored by the Children's Quarterback Club because in the city, not the school, owns the football stadium.

League Director Rodney Kidd quickly warned that any rush by schools to take advantage of the loophole by deeding their stadiums to cities probably would force the League to tighten the rule.

He said the committee could not rule differently in the Childress case in view of the facts.

$600 Is Knocked Off Income For Each Legally Claimed

(Editor's note: This is another in a series explaining how to make out your income tax return for 1951.)
By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — For each exemption you can legally claim you knock $600 off your income before the rest is taxable. There are various exemptions and rules covering them: husbands, wives, dependents, blind people, people 65 or over, and people who were born or died in 1951.

Husbands and wives — Everyone with $600 or more income last year must file a return. And everyone who does so gets a $600 exemption for himself.

A wife is not considered a dependent. If she had no income, and you file a return but she doesn't, you claim an exemption for her.

If she had any income, no matter how small, you get no exemption for her unless she files jointly with you.

Where a husband and wife each had income but file separate returns, each claims his own exemption.

Can a wife be claimed as a dependent by someone like her father — it must be a close relative — who supported her? Yes.

But then her husband can't claim any exemption for her because, when she's claimed as the dependent of another, she can neither file jointly with her husband nor claim any exemption for herself.

If a wife does file jointly with her husband, she can't be claimed as a dependent by anyone else even though the latter supported her. In short, a wife can't be claimed as an exemption on two returns.

Couples divorced or legally separated any time in 1951 — even as late as Dec. 31 — must file separate returns for the year. Each then gets only his own exemption.

Even though a husband paid all the support of a divorced or legally separated wife he can't claim an exemption for her.

Husbands and wives living apart by Dec. 31, 1951, but not divorced or legally separated during that year, may file a joint return.

A man and wife are considered married for all of 1951 if they were married as late as Dec. 31, 1951.

Dependents — One has to file a return unless a $600 or more income, a quirk in the old law said you couldn't claim as dependent anyone who had $500 or more income. That's been changed.

Now you can claim as a dependent — no matter how young or old — anyone who had less than $600 income in 1951, who received more than half his support from you, and who is closely related by blood, marriage or adoption as follows:

Your child or grandchild; a stepchild but not his children;

A legally adopted child; a brother, sister, step-brother, step-sister, your parents, grandparents, or other ancestors; your step-father, step-mother, aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews; your father-in-law, sister-in-law, son-in-law, or daughter-in-law.

As an illustration of what close relation by blood means, you can't claim a cousin as a dependent.

Some government payments to veterans are tax-free. You can claim as a dependent a veteran who, although receiving tax-free government money, had less than $600 taxable income of his own and fitted the other requirements listed above for a dependent.

You can claim as a dependent for all of 1951 anyone born as late as Dec. 31, 1951 who truly fits the rules covering dependents, even though the child died a moment after birth. You can't claim as a dependent an unborn child or one born dead.

Can husband and wife, when filing separate returns, divide the exemptions for dependents between them? No. Only the person who has provided more than half the support of a dependent can claim him.

When husband and wife file separate returns, divide the exemptions for dependents between them? No. Only the person who has provided more than half the support of a dependent can claim him.

If you husband and wife, when filing separate returns, divide the exemptions for dependents between them? No. Only the person who has provided more than half the support of a dependent can claim him.

When husband and wife file separate returns, divide the exemptions for dependents between them? No. Only the person who has provided more than half the support of a dependent can claim him.

People who died — If your husband or wife died during the year — even as early as Jan. 1, 1951 — you are considered married for the year. So you can file a joint return, getting the benefit of his other exemption.

If a dependent died in 1951 — even as early as Jan. 1, 1951 — you can claim the full $600 exemption for him, provided he was truly a dependent during that part of the year in which he lived.

Blind — Besides his regular $600 exemption a person filing a return gets an extra $600 exemption if he was blind on Dec. 31, 1951 and $600 extra for his wife if she was blind, in addition to the regular exemption for her, provided she was blind on the last day of 1951 and files jointly with him or, if she had no income, he alone files a return.

Where husband and wife file separately, the one who is blind claims his or her own regular $600 exemption, plus $600 for blindness.

Where husband or wife died blind any time in 1951, the surviving spouse, by filing a joint return, can claim that extra $600 exemption for the blind one who died.

You can't claim an extra $600 exemption for a blind dependent. People 65 or older — A taxpayer who was 65 in 1951 can claim in addition to his regular $600 exemption an extra $600 because he was 65. He gets an extra $600 exemption for his wife if she was 65 in 1951, provided she files jointly with him or, having no income, she doesn't file at all.

If she had any income he gets no exemption for her unless she does file jointly with him. Where husband and wife are 65 but file separate returns, each claims his own exemption on his own return.

Who was 65 in 1951? The courts consider people 65 on the day before their 65th birthday. So if you didn't have your 65th birthday until Jan. 1, 1952, you can consider yourself 65 in 1951 for income tax purposes.

Blood Will Tell So Stick To Rule

LAUSANNE, Switzerland — (AP) — The Swiss Supreme Court has ruled that a taxi driver must not drink any alcohol while at work — even outside the country. A Zurich taxi driver recently took some customers on an all-day trip to Bregan in Austria, where he had a good lunch and a good bottle of wine. He knew that in Switzerland taxi drivers were not allowed to drink while working. But this was Austria, he argued, so Swiss laws don't apply.

On his way back to Zurich, he scratched the fender of another car and a blood-test, routine procedure in Switzerland, showed that his blood contained 0.1 percent of alcohol. The Supreme Court turned down his appeal against a five-day jail sentence on the grounds that he broke the law, not by drinking wine in Austria, but by bringing it back to Switzerland in his blood.

New Help Offered Cancer Sufferers

SYDNEY, Australia — (AP) — Use of antibiotics and the hormone, ACTH, to make cancer patients more comfortable is reported in the Medical Journal of Australia.

The antibiotics are aureomycin or chloromycetin. Added to these drugs the patients received diets low in salt and with added vitamins.

The result, says the Journal, was that patients who had been weak, bedridden, in pain, and in several cases expecting to live only a few days or weeks, recovered their appetites. Some returned to work, and pain was less.

The report is by Doctors F.A. Maguire and Mabel McElhonn. No cures are expected.

Average Citizen, Peeble, Takes Look At Washington

By HAL BOYLE
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Wilbur Peeble, the average American citizen, took a few days off to see for himself what really is going on in this home base of democracy.
 He tells his first impression of the nation's capital in the following letter to his wife:
 Dear Trellis Mae,
 Well, Honey, here I am in the arsenal of politics.
 You can quit worrying right now about us being caught unprepared by another big war. The first thing I noticed was that the Pentagon has an annex. That proves we must be ready for any emergency.
 There is a heartening air of virtue about Washington right now. Billy Graham, the handsome young evangelist, is sternly attacking sin at one end of the city and Congress is giving it hell at the other end.
 No will doing can stand up under this kind of cross-fire, and if there is any corruption left here it must have gone underground. They say that even the five percenters are so ashamed of themselves they have reduced their rates to four-and-one-half percent.
 I promised to give you the lowdown — the inside straight on what is going on here. But the hardest thing to pin down here is a fact. Facts whisper in Washington, rumors shout. All anybody seems to know for sure is what he overhears. My idea of Washington right now is a bunch of people standing in a circle with their hands to their ears, each trying to hear what the next fellow is whispering. The trouble is nobody seems to really know anything.
 The biggest whisper factories are the cocktail parties, just like ing we are living off the fat of the land."

 I told him to go and have another calorie — us taxpayers aren't that sensitive.
 Well, I must close now as I have just been invited to two more cocktail parties. Somebody must have an ugly rumor that I'm going to be appointed to the supreme court.
 Your loving husband, Wilbur.

Mink Is Still A Girl's Best Loved Friend

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK — (AP) — Mink is still a girl's best-loved friend. The man in her life may try getting her mind off mink by snickering about political scandals. But the low-down, gentlemen, is that the average woman — no matter how sweet she may be now about saying, "of course we can't afford it, yet" — still wants a mink coat the minute you can find the money and she can shake you loose from it. Sales records of fur shops bear this out.
 And now the mink has found a friend among the legislators. The New York state assembly yesterday decreed that hunters can't shoot mink. Seems to feel it isn't the mink's fault it got mixed up with Washington. And a mink's pelt with a bullet hole in it doesn't bring a good price, either.
 Furriers say mink is still the most coveted coat they sell in the hoity-toithest of the Fifth Avenue shops, they say the mink coat in the $10,000 to $15,000 price range arouses the least price-resistance talk from customers. There aren't as many of these customers this year as last (higher income bracket taxes being what they are now), but still it's in the other fur lines clerks have to do the biggest sales talking.
 Also, mink pelts sell most freely at the fur auctions here and in Canada, and their price is reported to be the best maintained. In this connection, the mere male may take some satisfaction from learning that a male mink pelt is considered twice as valuable as a female pelt, being darker and richer looking.
 Some might say it's unfair that males should be skinned twice — first to make the coat, and later to pay for it. But any discussion of mink is likely to wind up in the matter of ethics these days.
 Furriers would like to quiet the

Estes Kefauver Is Political Youngster

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Down in Tennessee they like to tell about the first law case Estes Kefauver ever had.
 Only 24 and just out of Yale law school, Kefauver was representing a store trying to collect an overdue bill. But when he learned that the defendant was a poor widow who needed every penny she could get her hands on, he asked the court to dismiss the suit.
 The court did, and lawyer Kefauver lost his first case.
 Eight years later, he lost out on another first try — by 60 votes — when he ran for the Tennessee legislature. But he made it on the second try, and if he doesn't win the nomination for President the first time his hat is in the ring, it seems more than likely he'll try again.
 Politically speaking, Kefauver is still a youngster. If he does receive the Democratic nomination for President at the July 21 convention in Chicago, it would come as a nice present for his 49th birthday which falls on the following Saturday, July 26.
 Much of the flavor and atmosphere of Kefauver's upbringing in east Tennessee clings with him still.
 For instance, many political reporters in Washington find Kefauver a difficult man to interview. He seems shy. He is inclined to be inarticulate on subjects in which he is vitally interested and on which he should be voluble.
 Another view of his character is that his simplicity hides his political shrewdness.

 One thing that may make Kefauver seem "dumb" but honest, as some of his critics say, is that he is so quiet. There's none of the flamboyant politico about him. He is no arm-waver, though he is quite a hand shaker. People like him, as they like any nice guy. Women are crazy about him.
 He was born in Madisonville, capital of Monroe County. His father ran the local hardware store and hotel. On the edge of town he has a 1,500-acre farm which he still operates. Estes' grandfather was a Baptist preacher and circuit rider out of Chattanooga.
 The Kefauvers are of French Huguenot stock. They came to this country from Alsace — Lorraine in eastern France, in the 17th Century. They settled first in Maryland, then moved on to Tennessee.
 Young Estes knew right from the start he wanted to be a lawyer. When court was held in Madisonville, all the county lawyers came to town and stayed at the Kefauver hotel. Estes heard them tell stories and so got his first legal lore.
 He went to the University of Tennessee and was graduated in 1924. He played tackle on the football team. The way he tells it, he was a second stringer and benchwarmer for the Vols. But when he ran for Congress he was "promoted" to all — Southern. And when he beat the Crump machine to win election to the Senate, somebody discovered that he had been an all-America tackle.
 In summer vacations he worked in the lumber camps around Madisonville and in the coal fields of the Harlan, Kentucky region, just across the Tennessee state line. Stories that he worked his way through University of Tennessee are a bit exaggerated. But he did contribute to his own support by waiting on tables when he went to Yale law school, after teaching a year at Hot Springs, Ark.
 He had hard sledding getting his start in business, until he happened to get a case in which opposing counsel was the leading law firm in Chattanooga.
 He got a call to come to their offices one day. He thought it was to discuss the case. Instead they offered him a job. The firm

OPEN-AIR JOB—Chester C. Hyland, taking his dog, Ginger, for a spin, says his 1933-model jalopy is just right for the weather and roads in St. Louis Park, Minn. Even in 15-below cold, there's no starting problem—because the car has just one cylinder to warm up. What's more, the ample road clearance takes it through snow drifts that would stall today's low-slung autos. Hyland would make only one improvement—addition of a windshield.

National U'irligig.... Laws On Dependency Status Bring A Flood Of Protests

By RAY TUCKER. WASHINGTON - The hardships worked by official rulings on dependency status of youngsters in high school, preparatory institutions and colleges have inspired a flood of protests from parents and school men to the Internal Revenue Bureau and members of Congress, especially men on the House Ways and Means committee.

As recently explained here, and apparently to the surprise of many parents with children in school, they cannot list their youngsters as dependents entitled to a $600 exemption, if the students earn a "gross" of $600 in any one year.

PECULIAR - In fact, Internal Revenue applies an even more peculiar interpretation in the matter of money obtained from scholarships. If a student obtains this kind of assistance because of athletic or intellectual attainments, the scholarship is regarded as a "gift."

LOSS - A typical letter on this problem comes from Robert L. Ballantyne, manager of the Student Placement Bureau of the University of Iowa at Iowa City. Together with many other student helpers who have written to Washington, he is in a position to know the problem from the student-parent viewpoint.

FEAR - "I have spoken to many high school graduating classes, urging them to continue their schooling. I have tried in every way possible to organize a work program whereby students here can do it. But every year I have several hundred who cannot work for fear of jeopardizing their dependency status."

It is doubtful if this special bill can be enacted at this session. The Democratic leadership would not want Martin, a Republican, to get credit for such a necessary and beneficial reform. The Doughnut-Rayburn group also fear the Senate might use any special bill as a vehicle for attaching tax changes not wanted by the White House. PRESSURE - In fact, it will require considerable parental and educational pressure to obtain enactment of H. R. 5565 or similar measure. They should start to write letters now to members of the House Ways and Means committee, and to their own Representatives and Senators.

Success Secrets: By ELMER WHEELER. If you're too impatient to wait for promotions, you and David McKinley are in the same class. McKinley's impatience, a blunt defiance of the time-honored rule that "haste makes waste" has proved that hurry can catch the success which often eludes those who wait for it to come to them.

FEDERICO REY, who appeared in the second of the Community Concerts here Tuesday night, is pictured above with Jeane Willingham, local dance instructor, as he shows Mrs. Willingham how he uses castanets in his authentic Spanish dances. Rey appeared here with his partner, Pilar Gomez, with Silvio Masciarelli accompanying. The dancers were brought here under the sponsorship of the Pampa Community Concert Assn., headed by John Skelly, Jr., new president. Other new officers include Mrs. A. A. Schuneman, secretary; Mrs. Harvey Nestlie, treasurer; Miss Joyce Wanner, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Raymond Harrah, publicity chairman. Robert S. Ewing is now serving as chairman of the membership drive, assisted by Mrs. Harrah and Mrs. Harold Wright, who is also serving on the board of directors. (News Photo)

Rey And Gomez Appear In Year's Second Concert

(Editor's Note: This is the second in the series of Community Concerts reviewed by local artists, who are recognized as authorities in their field.)

By JEANNE WILLINGHAM.

Rey and Gomez, Spanish and Latin-American dancers, filled the Pampa Junior High school auditorium with the sound of castanets and clicking heels in the second of the Pampa Community Concerts Wednesday night. Equally impressive was their pianist, Silvio Masciarelli, who is in rehearsal the husband of Miss Gomez.

The routines are best described by outlining the program as follows:

CORDOBA — Rey and Gomez: One of the most beautiful dances on the program. Beautiful black and white typical Spanish costumes.

BOLERO — Rey: Bolero (the one who flies) is certainly what Rey did in this number doing numerous "Entrechats" (beating of the legs while in the air) and keeping a steady rhythm with his castanets all the while.

ANDALUZA, solo, done by Miss Gomez in a black and rose colored costume. Her heel work was exciting and the dance ended very dramatically.

TAMBORETO PANAMENO (Popular dance during carnival time in Panama), a pantomime ballet was done by both Rey and Gomez. The audience enjoyed the excellent pantomime in this number.

SUITE BASQUE: Rey — Mr. Rey showed off his ballet in this number with numerous entrechats, hitchhicks and tours en l'air.

SAGAR DANTZA: Rey and Gomez: A cute little folk dance using apples.

MASQUERADE DE SOULE — Rey and Gomez: A spirited little folk dance — both dancers danced wildly around, over and on a small glass of water without spilling a drop, while the audience held their breath.

XAN PETRIQUE DANTZA (Comic Dance) by Rey and Gomez: As this type of dance is usually done only by male dancers because of the strenuous athletic character, both Rey and Gomez wore men's costumes. The children in the audience got a thrill

Five business and professional men were discussing their secretaries and all but one of them was bragging about what a jewel he had. That one was moaning about the lame-brain he had just hired, but kept up his part of the boasting by saying what a whizz his last secretary had been and how everything had been in a mess since she left.

The praise was lavish. The appreciation earnest. And the discussion ended by one man's saying: "Well, I tell you it's mighty hard to find a really good secretary, and once you've found one you're a sucker if you don't hold on to her. I always give mine a raise before she gets around to asking for it. I don't want anyone hiring her away from me."

It's a pity men don't take that attitude toward their wives. A man will marvel at the way an inexperienced secretary can, after a few years of holding down a job, get so competent that she could almost run his business for him.

But not many men ever stop to marvel at how after a few years of marriage his wife has managed to acquire all the skills required to run a home and keep a family healthy and happy.

And while a man with a competent secretary will brag to know that it behooves him to keep her happy, the same man may never have thought in such terms about his wife.

Also men show no hesitation about bragging to the world about the superiority of their secretaries. They bask in the glory of having really bright young women running their offices.

But do they brag to the world about the bright young women who are running their homes? No. Chance as they get a keener delight out of trying to make the little woman look dumb.

have grown authentic with long usage. Terminology is the result of the teacher — or leader — indicating easily and quickly the step on combination wanted.

Many steps draw their names from the dance in which they appear — Sevillanas, Malagueñas and Seguidillas.

20th Century Allegro Has Study Of Siam And India

Mrs. G. M. Walls and Mrs. Howard Vineyard participated on the program "Mystical Lands," at the Twentieth Century Allegro meeting this week in the home of Mrs. J. W. Graham, Jr. Mrs. M. H. Wyatt was co-hostess.

Mrs. Walls opened the program with an introduction of the program study, "Mystical," she explained, "is having some secret meaning beyond human understanding, mysterious, or having to do with secret rites, open only to the initiated."

In explaining India, Mrs. Walls said, "India is weakened by famine, suspicious of the United States and therefore Nehru's India dreams of cooperation with Communist China. India is a land of Maharajahs incrustated with pearls and emeralds riding on dog decked elephants, naked hermits, millions of sacred monkeys and a million of millions of half-starved human beings.

"All of these things are present in the country today, but there is nothing mysterious about modern India. Three major things hold India together — civil service, order and the numerous religious of the Congress party. Their primary problem is famine," Mrs. Walls said.

The speaker told of the size, population and political feelings of the country and gave a description of the farmers and their conditions of the numerous religions of the people. She explained that the religious differences of the people causes much division among them.

Charter Members Of Holy Souls Altar Society Entertain Wednesday At Tea

Five charter members of the Altar Society of the Holy Souls Parish entertained the society's membership at a tea Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Lynn Boyd to observe the 25th anniversary of the organization. Other charter members who assisted at the tea were Mmes. A. R. Sawyer, C. L. Sullins, R. J. Kiser, F. A. Hollenbeck, and A. B. Zahn.

The Altar Society was organized in January, 1927, for the purpose of caring for altars of the church. However, at that time the masses were said in the "silver" coffee service.

During the program Mrs. Boyd read the minutes of the first meeting of the society held in 1927. Other members who attend that first meeting included a Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Dean, Mrs. Spellman and a Miss Reith.

After the minutes were read, all the charter members present told what impressed them in the history and early activity of the organization. It was explained that Pampa at one time was a mission, and priest came once each month from St. Francis to say Mass.

Before the church was built here, the people met in the Sawyer home, then the American Legion hall, then a theater building south of the city, and then they met in the chamber of commerce room, until the present building was built in early 1928.

Traffic Safety Is Important To Drivers With No Accidents

CRYSTAL LAKE, Ill. — (AP) — Traffic safety is mighty important to Justice of the Peace Alfred G. Grondahl, who says he has driven cars a million miles without an accident.

The 73-year-old veteran of the steering wheel says he has been driving automobiles for 60 years. He started driving when the "horseless carriage" was still a curiosity. In fact, he says, he helped build and drive one of the country's first "fool-killers" when barely in his early teens.

Grondahl, a mechanically minded man with a keen memory, said he drove an experimental automobile in 1892. It was designed and sponsored by Ignaz Schwinn, a Chicago bicycle manufacturer.

"We were monkeying with that thing somewhere around 1891," Grondahl recalls. "We got the rubber-wheeled Studenaker surrery from 'Punchy,' a horse trader.

"Pete Anderson, a mechanic who worked for Schwinn, took off the back seat. The one-cylinder motor was dropped through the buggy floor beneath the motor extended on the left side and served as a clutch for the drive to the chain sprockets. Pete used at least 30 door bell batteries for the ignition."

The early automobile was difficult, Grondahl said. The motor had to be warmed with a blow torch before it was cranked. Kerosene from a grocery and benzine from a paint store were mixed for fuel. Brakes and steering levers were operated by hand. Speed was four to six miles an hour.

"Pete stood in back of the front seat," Grondahl said, "and I handled the lever. I was much put out when they took the toy away. I never thought it would come to anything like an automobile."

Grondahl said the folks at Schwinn's bicycle factory laughed when they saw the powered surrery. A bystander dubbed it a "fool-killer" that was 1892.

Charles E. Duryea, with his brother J. Franklin, successfully ran the first American automobile about that time. Edward Haynes got his car running in 1894. Henry Ford's first automobile ran on Detroit streets in 1895. Ignaz Schwinn's commercial model was ready in 1896.

Grondahl says he cast his first vote for William McKinley in 1900. He remained a Republican until 1948 when he ran and was elected as a Democrat for the justice of the peace.

He rove cars for business men until 1904; then he got his own first auto license plates for a Winton car. Before 1914, he owned a Flanders and an Erikstein. He put many miles on his cars driving for business and pleasure. He now owns a 1938 model he has driven 200,000 miles.

"I have never had an accident. Of course, I've had some close calls and have been hit a little bit. I've bent a fender and little things like that, but nothing serious," he said.

Driving safely is easy, he says. One must observe all road signs. Grondahl stops at all railroad crossings, regardless of the hurry. He says every driver should know how and be able to stop his car.

"Fifty percent of the automobile accidents today are caused by drunken drivers or by people not having their minds on what they are doing."

French Accent In Indochina

SAIGON, Indochina — (AP) — A group of bright young men and women of the American legation in Indochina are going to school every day so they can learn to say much more than "yes," "no," and "thanks" in French.

Vice-Consul William B. Dunn, cultural affairs officer, hit upon the idea to make it easier for American personnel to catch on to the French language, which is No. 1 in usage in this country.

He lined up expert French teachers and fixed classes for 7 o'clock in the morning. They meet for one hour. The early "school" hour hasn't hurt enrollment. The class is off to flying

Back in uniform, 1950, he began second "crusade." His job: to defend Europe; no politics.

Burma Poses Neat Problem For The UN

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
Burma, demanding help in getting rid of refugee Chinese nationalist soldiers who fled into her territory during the Communist conquest of Yunnan province, poses a neat problem for the United Nations.

The irregulars, owing allegiance to no authority, have continued their opposition to the Communists from Burma's soil, and on occasion have made forays in considerable force.

Burma is afraid that if this keeps up it will bring the Chinese Communists down her neck in force. The Burmese government is at a loss as to what to do in constant warfare with several rebel factions which are themselves addicted to various forms of Communism. The authorities are in no position for a contest with the Chinese Communists in driving the irregulars out, and forth across the mountainous border.

Burma says she is going to depend on the UN in all of her international relations, in that fashion she can hope for international aid against any possible Communist aggression, which is constantly feared. She wants to be in the same position South Korea was in.

But what can anybody do about the irregulars, whose chief support undoubtedly is banditry? They are as elusive as the Hulus in the Philippines and the Communists in Malaya. They would be extremely difficult to round up, and if they're there'd be no place to put them.

Intervention is the recognized treatment for soldiers driven into neutral territory by war. But there is no machinery for such handling in such countries as Tonkin, Burma, Siam or Eastern India.

The Chinese Nationalist government of Formosa disclaims control or ability to do anything. As a matter of fact, there are conflicting political aims involved. The Western powers are interested in everything that interferes with the Chinese Communists. The United States has denied Soviet charges that she is helping support the irregulars. Burmese officials say they are getting help from somewhere, but that no country can be named. Any such help is bound to be mighty small. But in a general sense the irregulars are on our side.

More important, however, is to avoid giving Red China any provocation or an invasion of Burma. It might be that an international force could close the China-Burma border to Nationalist forces — and vice versa — as the United States fleet is now interposed between Formosa and the Chinese mainland.

But Far Eastern UN members are already unhappy about western intervention, and the chances are that nothing will be done.

New Bed Companion

LONDON — (AP) — You smokers can take your pipe to bed if you want — and without any danger of setting the place on fire.

This is the claim of a London pipe manufacturer whose new "Hurricane" pipe is equipped with a plastic cap. The cap pivots for tobacco lighting and prevents ashes being blown away by the wind or clothing being burned by lighted tobacco. The cap has six holes which allow air to penetrate into the pipe bowl.
