Hope Of Oil Raised In Anadarko Basin After Drillstem Test

Drillstem and tests Gull Oil Corp.'s No. 1 John Haggard wildcat in Roberts county, renewed hopes in the Anadarko basin this week end.

Good shows of oil and gas were recovered on tests Friday and Saturday from the test located in section 5, block 2, IAGN survey, 11 miles northeast of Pampa and nine miles west and two miles north of Miami.

Operators tested, from 1975 to 4125 feet Friday and Saturday and recovered 2300 feet of heavily oil and gas saturated sand and shale of salt water on Saturday.

A large amount of 18 to 20 gravity free oil was in the hole. Tool was open 2 1/2 hours. Operators are coming ahead.

On Friday's test, recovery was 2725' of fluid with the hole unloading 1500'. Bottom hole pressure was 1020 pounds, flowing pressure 700 pounds, single hydrostatic pressure was 2650 pounds.

Operators reported 492 feet of oil in the hole along with oil and gas-cut mud.

The test, started last November, is slated for 9000 feet to test the Ordovician. Geologists estimate the formation will be topped at about this depth.

The company holds about eight sections in its Haggard and Bell leases which offset a 24-section lease owned by C. H. Clark.

Truce Teams Meet Today

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP) — Top Allied and Communist truce teams meet again today — starting the eighth month of the armistice talks — to discuss proposals for a Korean post-war political conference.

The plenary session was slated for 10 a. m. (7 p. m. CST, Saturday) at Panmunjom.

Vice Adm. C. Turner JOY, chief of the United Nations truce team, presented the Allied political conference counter-proposal Saturday during a 19-minute session. North Korean Gen. Nam Il agreed to study the proposal overnight.

The Allied plan differed from Wednesday's three-point Communist proposal in one major respect — a limitation of the political conference to problems directly concerning Korea. The Reds proposed settlement of other far Eastern problems "related to the Korean question," presumably meaning Formosa and Indochina.

The Allies agreed generally with the Communist suggestion for a discussion of withdrawing foreign troops from Korea and a peaceful settlement of the Korean question.

Home Building Cut In Half During January

Residential building was cut almost in half during January as compared with figures during a similar period in 1951.

During the first month of last year 45 permits totaling $361,800 were issued while 24 were issued last month for $213,570.

Eight permits for remodeling residential buildings, 4 each for new and remodeling business buildings, two for new garages, four for moving structures and 1 miscellaneous also were issued last month at the engineer's office for a total of 47.

Figures for January of 1951 show 63 permits issued for similar purposes. Total amount of permits last month showed $273,150 while $374,475 was recorded during the same period in 1951.

Total permits issued during January including building were 231 hitting $381.65. Last year, during January 196 permits for $346.05 were recorded.

Artificial Respiration Given By Boy Scout

Two little boys are alive this morning because a Pampa Boy Scout knew how to give and direct the giving of artificial respiration.

Larry Cox, 13, son of Mrs. Dorothy Cox, 309 Davis, who is assistant senior patrol leader of Troop 80, First Methodist Church, was credited Saturday with saving the lives of Max Griggs, 12, and Calvin Griggs, 9, after they came in contact with escaping gas fumes in their home at 510 N. Davis.

The two boys, doctors at Worley hospital said Saturday afternoon, should be released from the hospital sometime today.

The first alarm that something was wrong was when Mrs. Griggs came to the Cox home and asked to call for a doctor and an ambulance, saying that her two small sons had been gassed.

Larry, bashful and trying to avoid recognition for what he had done, was finally prodded by fellow Scouts and his scoutmaster, Ross Buzzard, into telling a Pampa Daily News reporter how he had given the one Griggs boy artificial respiration while at the same time directing Mrs. Griggs how to give it to the other boy.

According to Larry's account, he went to the Griggs' home and found both boys lying on the floor, unconscious.

As Larry went to work on the younger boy, he told Mrs. Griggs how to apply the artificial breathing to the older boy.

The two worked over the boys while Mrs. Cox called for the ambulance. All doors and windows of the Griggs home were opened to bring more air into the house.

For about 20 minutes Mrs. Griggs and Larry worked over the unconscious boys. Finally, they noticed that they began to breathe a bit more regularly.

In the meantime, G. E. Griggs, father of the two boys, drove up to the house and began working around in the yard without knowing anything was wrong inside. He noticed the windows and doors open but paid little attention because the family was completing moving work. A few minutes later he was told of the accident and went inside to help with the artificial respiration.

When an ambulance arrived the boys were partially revived and taken to Worley hospital and placed under an oxygen tent.

By 2:30 p. m. Larry was back with his troop on the rear lawn of city hall working on the troop project of displaying types and uses of knots.

Buzzard told newsmen Larry would be recommended for official recognition of his acts at a later date.

Dimes Drive Hits $600 Over Goal

With only the money from a few lung banks to be collected, total figures in the local March of Dimes fund drive have reached $15,600, Clinton Evans, Gray county drive chairman, has announced.

Evans expressed appreciation to everyone associated with the recently concluded drive at a meeting of the Gray county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

"It takes a lot of little things to make a drive successful," he stated. "After expenses have been paid, $15,000 should remain in the fund." Goal for Gray county was $15,000.

Donations from county towns showed McLean, $1611.95; Lefors, $529.61; Hopkins, $109.5; and Albrecht, $79.20.

Urgent Action On European Army Is Asked

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Allied leaders in Europe The United States has warned they should agree quickly on plans for a European defense force, including German troops, if adequate new foreign aid funds are to be expected from Congress.

Critics said the need for urgent action had been stressed especially to French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. They are leading figures in a bitter wrangle which threatens to delay seriously if not wreck the whole defense project.

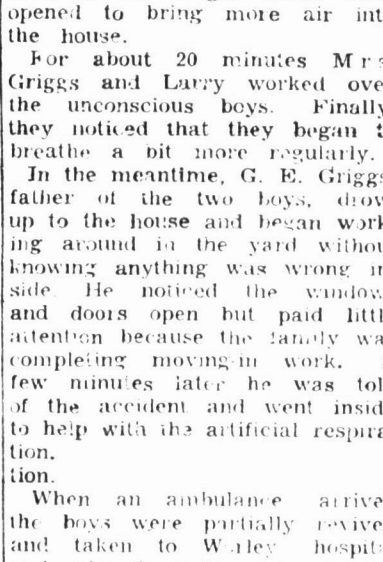

Secretary of state Acheson is due to sound the warning anew when he goes to Europe next week for big three talks in London and the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) council at Lisbon, Portugal.

Acheson and other administration authorities are worried over the critical attitude they expect to encounter when they go to the U. S. capitol next month to ask new billions to help the European Allies rearm.

They are reported to be convinced that unless they can show real achievements in greater western European unity and in solving the problem of getting German troops added to general Dwight D. Eisenhower's NATO command they will face strong demands for cutting appropriations.

Evidence supporting their belief that came Friday from chairman Richards (D-SC) of the House Foreign Affairs committee after Acheson had testified in a closed session.

Richards said the kind of foreign aid program enacted this year would depend upon the degree of unity accomplished in western Europe.

City, County Health Inspector Resigns

C. S. Cobb, city and county health inspector Saturday morning handed his resignation to City Manager Dick Peppin and County Judge Bruce Parker, effective immediately.

The resignation came unexpectedly and will be acted on Monday by county commissioners. The city has already accepted Cobb's resignation.

Cobb gave his reason for resigning as being offered a position he "couldn't afford to refuse."

The former health inspector for the city and county was appointed distributor for Kelly Dairies and will assume his new duties Tuesday morning.

He went to work as health inspector and milk inspector for the city and county on May 20, 1951.

Judge Parker said yesterday, "We have no idea who will succeed him," when asked if a successor had been appointed or considered.

Before taking over the health office, Cobb was an appliance salesman.

Jack Brooks Has Leg Amputated

Word was received in White Deer Wednesday that a leg of Jack Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Brooks of McLean and White Deer, had been amputated last week at the Mayo clinic.

Brooks was flown to the clinic at Rochester, N. Y., last week for treatment of his left foot. He is the husband of the former LeWanda Shaddit and has been a student at the Panhandle A. and M. College, Goodwell, Okla.

Taft Promises Ike Full Support Of European Army

RUSHING THE SEASON — Bare trees in the background say that spring hasn't arrived, but yesterday's warm weather prompted 8-year-old Cleo Meaker (left) and Gordon Golden, 9, to get into a real spring-like game of marbles. Weathermen say spring is a good way off yet. However, weathermen have often been wrong, and baseball playing, marble-shooting youngsters seldom are. So who knows, maybe spring was here yesterday. (News Photo)

Gives Written Pledge; Does Not Elaborate

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Taft of Ohio has furnished written assurances to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that he will support the completion of the European Army project.

As an active candidate for the Republican presidential nomination for which Eisenhower also has made himself available, Taft took the unusual course of setting out his views in a letter to a third person who then presented it to Eisenhower.

Other than to confirm to this reporter the dispatch of the message several weeks ago and to say that his views remain unchanged, Taft would not elaborate.

It was learned authoritatively, however, that the Ohio senator indicated in the letter he will go along with efforts to rebuild Western Europe's defenses so long as Eisenhower and other military men believe satisfactory progress is being made.

At the same time, the Ohio senator indicated he was relying strongly on the predictions made last year by Eisenhower in appearances before congressional committees that Western Europe eventually can take over her own defenses and most American troops can be withdrawn.

U. S. Gen. Alfred Guenther, Eisenhower's chief deputy, testified last year American troops withdrawn might begin in 1953 or 1954 if all went well.

Taft's move to transmit his assurances to Eisenhower was regarded as having double-barreled political significance as:

1. An attempt to convince Eisenhower that there is no over-weighing necessity for him to battle for the GOP nomination because of any fear that Taft will campaign as an "isolationist" committed to scuttling the European program.
2. An effort to meet charges by his Republican opponents — certain to be elaborated by the Democrats if he wins the nomination — that Taft plans to wreck the foreign military and economic assistance program.

Taft's associates said that while they had had no word from Eisenhower, they believed they detected in some recent utterances indications of an understanding — if not full acceptance — by the general of the Ohioan's position.

National Conventions Spring From Precincts

By ATT. AARON STURGEON and HENRY S. GORDON

The majority of voters pay little attention to their precinct conventions — probably because they consider them small and unimportant affairs.

Yet, if it were not for the precinct conventions the spectacles that are national presidential elections could not be held.

For it is from these precinct conventions that delegates to the national conventions are finally selected. And, it is these delegates, through a chain of events, who finally adopt a party platform and nominate a candidate for president of the United States.

Party organization differs in the 48 states and so does the chain of events but the basic resolutions concerning party policies of party functions are the ics or platforms.

The precinct convention may be held on any day of the year. On April 23 the county chair for that party's candidate for man of a political party—Democratic or Republican—must post a notice in the court house naming the time and place of the precinct conventions that are to be held on May 3.

At the appointed hour on May 3 the precinct chairman is elected in party primary election. A record must be kept of voters present at the precinct convention. Those attending the convention who cannot show that they are qualified voters must leave the meeting because they and the press.

Any person who is a qualified voter may participate in the precinct convention such as voting, introducing resolutions etc. This is actually the grass roots of politics.

After the temporary business of certifying the qualified voters is completed, the convention elects a permanent chairman who holds the same powers as an election judge. Principal business of the convention is to name delegates to

Tibbets Will Run For Constable Post

Robin Tibbets, 27, a life-time resident of Gray county last night announced his intention to run for constable of Precinct 2 in the July 26 Democratic primary election.

Tibbets said Saturday it is his belief that there is a need for "new blood" in the law enforcement offices of Pampa.

A graduate of Lefors High school, class of 1942, Tibbets attended McMurry college, Abilene, and graduated in 1950 with a BS degree in journalism. He went to work for the Pampa Daily News in February, 1950, and was police reporter and photographer until March, 1951. He went from the News to the Amarillo Daily News as farm editor until November, 1951.

Tibbets is a veteran of World War II, having served for 30 months in the infantry, 18 months in the European Theatre of Operations. He holds the combat infantry medal and five battle stars.

1-Day Scout Drive Brings In $6500

To date $6500 has been contributed to the one-day Boy Scout drive last Thursday. Paul Beiswenger, local Scout executive said yesterday.

Over half the cards given out Thursday in an attempt to get contributions for the fund have been returned, and many are being received daily, he said.

The drive was held in conjunction with Boy Scout week which ends Tuesday.

SCOUTS SHOW LIVE DISPLAYS — In connection with and emphasizing Boy Scout week, which ends Tuesday, Scouts from various local units Saturday presented exhibits and live displays to emphasize the importance of their training and its usefulness to the community. At left, three Scouts prepare an outdoor fire on which to cook food. They are, left to right, Larry Hendricks, Tommy Allison and Ted Swindle, all of Troop 4. Second from left, Scouts of Troop 14, Hopkins, demonstrating first aid methods — are Harry Ward, Hunter Chisum and Gerald Johnson. At center, members of Troop 80 tie a knot for a table they built. They are Edgar Ethridge, John and Dan Teed. Four Scouts of Troop 14 prepare a noon-time meal over a grill in picture-second from right. Leap Year's Here—Wouldst Be My Valentine?

V-Day Survey Reveals Sweethearts Now Share Holiday With Families

Time was when Leap Year was a more exciting event in midlife than the votes-for-women movement.

Alas! The times have changed, and our Valentine customs as well.

Leap Year, it seems, still belongs to eager young ladies. But St. Valentine's Day itself has become a family holiday—celebrated by toddling tykes, teenage school chums, and devoted parents alike.

This year, as a result, whimsical and sentimental Valentines with special titles for Mom and Dad, brothers and sisters, and "just good friends" are as popular as Valentines that dwell on the love of a maid for a man.

Typical of the Leap Year designs that bring out the best (or the beast) in both feminine and masculine points of view is the Valentine at upper-right. It pictures a starchy-eyed cub bear, walking around in circles as sweethearts often do, who impatiently asks: "Say! D'you know it's Leap Year?"

Back in 1948, the last time Leap Year was observed, even the traditional Sweetheart Valentines were sent by almost as many men as women. This paradoxical trend, from all appearances, will be repeated again on Thursday, February 14.

Novelty attachments and surprise endings are a popular feature in many of the 1952 Valentines. The daguerrotype Valentine shown at bottom-center, for example, pictures a would-be Casanova of the Gay 90's, complete with handlebar mustache and top hat. Inside, however, a beautiful pin-up girl is revealed as the subject of his pleading, "Wouldst thou be my Valentine?"

Ghosts And Indians Or How To Be A Big Shot In Washington

By HAL BOYLE
WASHINGTON (AP) — What is the real secret of how to be a success in Washington?

Wilbur Peeble, the average American citizen, gives the answer in a letter to his wife about his one-man investigation of the government:

Dear Trellis Mae:

Well, Honey, I found out how to get to be a big shot here. Getting elected or appointed to an important job is just the first step. The real art is to hold the job. And to do that you got to have ghosts and Indians.

As you get it, a ghost is a fellow you get to write all the speeches and public papers who would write yourself if you only had the time. But naturally you are too busy shaking hands and making friends.

An Indian is an information expert. He is the fellow who knows all the things about your job you would learn yourself if you just have time.

Let's say, for example, you are appointed secretary of the exterior. Three days later Rep. Headstrong decides to investigate you because:

1. Your wife snubbed his wife, or
2. You forgot to invite him to a cocktail party, or
3. Nobody else is investigating your department that week, or
4. He's up for re-election, and he has to get his name in the papers some way.

Well, the House votes him $75,000 for the investigation, and Rep. Headstrong hires some ghosts to write speeches denouncing you and rents, and some Indians to dig up dirt about the job you're doing.

When you go into the committee hearing, he says:

"Let's get down to the real issue. Just why is the department of the exterior doing nothing in the matter of exports and imports of brooms to and from Czechoslovakia? Answer — yes or no?"

Well, if you don't have your own battery of ghosts and Indians ready — you are a gone secretary of the exterior.

But if you've got your Indian handy, he whispers the right answer to you, and you say:

"So long as I am secretary no Red-tainted foreign brooms will be admitted to these shores, and none of our own fine clean American-made brooms will be sent to politically polluted areas. Besides we need 'em all to sweep out our own defense plants."

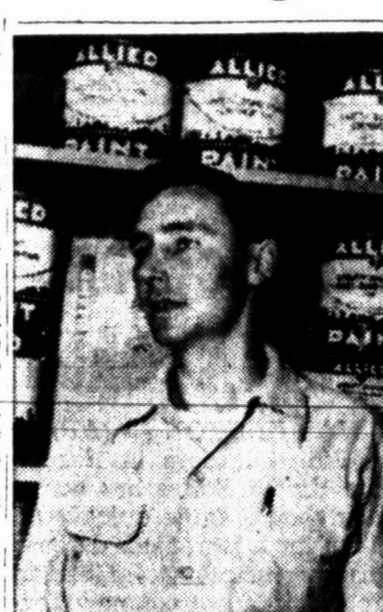

At this the spectators break into applause.

After a month or two — during which you have collected $10,000 from speeches and magazine articles written by your ghosts — the investigation collapses.

But it has been a big success all around. You have made a name as a patriotic public servant, and Rep. Headstrong has decided to run for the Senate on his record as a fighter for clean government. The ghosts and Indians? They've been paid.

The only thing lost, Trellis Mae, is the taxpayers' $75,000.

Your loving husband,
Wilbur.

MANAGES ALLIED — New manager for Pampa's Allied Paint store, 219 N. Ballard, is Bob Plummer, who took over duties last Tuesday. Before coming to Pampa, he served 16 months in the Air Force after being recalled to active service. During World War II he was given the Purple Heart along with several other citations. After being discharged from the Army the first time, Plummer was engaged as a salesman for the Allied Paint Manufacturing Co., covering the Tulsa-northwest area. The manager, who lives at 710 N. candidate for governor in the 1950 general election.

Other business, such as resolutions, deciding on whether the county delegation to the state convention shall be instructed, un-instructed, etc., is transacted.

To have a voice in the county convention a voter must have been named a delegate to the convention by his respective precinct. The same rule applies for state and national conventions.

The method of holding the precinct and county conventions is different than in previous years. It removes the elected precinct and county chairman from the convention procedures after the temporary or opening business is finished and provides for a convention chairman — or president — who is the person responsible for certifying the delegates to the county or state conventions.

This will pose somewhat of a problem in the cases of rump sessions or delegations, but the group electing the convention chairman is very likely to be named by him as the official delegates to the county or state conventions.

However, the new law does not say what the county clerk or secretary of state is to do in case two reports on the same precinct, or county convention are handed to them.

Some party leaders over the state, Republican as well as Democrats, expect several court tests to arise out of the reorganization of party convention procedures.

Leaders of both parties are expecting — and hoping — precinct conventions will have record breaking attendances this year, especially since White House interest is so high among the voters.

Kiner Seeking Raise In Pay

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Ralph Kiner, the Pittsburgh Pirate left-fielder whose booming home run bat makes the turnstiles click at Forbes Field, wants more money.

Kiner talked to the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette last night from his swanky new home in Palm Springs, Calif., and declared:

"I am going to ask for more money, and I don't expect to have any trouble getting it. I talked with John Galbreath (Pirate president) at the World Series. We were pretty well agreed on what I'll receive in 1952."

Kiner, who reportedly has drawn down $85,000 a year on a two-year pact which expired after last season, wouldn't indicate just how much of a raise he wants.

However, the home run slugger who belted 42 round trippers last year, added, "I might see John Galbreath in New York to get straightened out. Otherwise I'll probably see him early in March."

Kefauver's Thoroughness As Campaigner Takes Him On A Long Mid-Winter Hike

By PETER EDSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — One cold January night in 1948, Estes Kefauver walked half a mile up a country lane in Tennessee to see a man whose support he particularly wanted.

After he introduced himself as a congressman who was out to become a United States Senator, the man Kefauver came to see shook his hand and declared: "Anybody who's damn fool enough to come and see me on a night like this, I'm for."

For Kefauver, however, the January walk was not the act of a fool but a measure of thoroughness.

When he decided to run for the Senate after nine years in the House of Representatives, he knew he was going to have a tough time. Memphis political boss Ed Crump was backing another candidate. Many believed Kefauver didn't have a chance.

Kefauver announced his candidacy well in advance to give himself plenty of time. He wanted to campaign in western Tennessee for one thing, where he was little known. And before he got through stumping, he had visited every one of the state's 95 counties, avoiding wherever possible the professional political bosses.

It took some time to convince Memphis business men that Kefauver was the man for the Senate despite the fact that as a representative he had voted against the Taft-Hartley Act. But they finally came around, just as Kefauver now hopes the Democrats will come around at the Presidential convention in July.

Kefauver won his race for the Senate. He gives a lot of the credit to political amateurs — the League of Women Voters, labor unions, young people. Kefauver himself was not exactly an amateur, however.

He began his Congressional career in 1939 when he was elected to the House of Representatives from Tennessee's third district.

His principal achievements during the following nine years in the House were in government reorganization and in sponsorship of the Atlantic Union idea for a federation of European States.

He co-authored a book "20th Century Congress," which set forth most of his views on increasing governmental efficiency.

Comprehension Of Reading Discussed

How to improve reader comprehension through the school reading programs was discussed by the quarterly session of the Panhandle School Administrators Assn. held yesterday morning in the Pampa Senior high school.

More than 175 school leaders and guests attended the meeting presided over by Carson County Superintendent Euelyn Laycock, president of PSAA.

"We are doing as well or better than in the past with our teaching of reader comprehension but we're not doing well enough," said Dr. Ruth Lowes, West Texas State college, Canyon, leader of the panel discussion.

Other members of the panel were: Mrs. Walter Travis, Dumas; Mrs. McHenry Lane, Pampa; Miss Stacia Irene Crawford, Amarillo; Mrs. Melva Fortenberry, Hereford; Mrs. Roy L. Guthrie, Memphis; and Neville Bremer, Amarillo.

A business meeting was held before the discussion began. The Pampa High school A Cappella choir presented a varied program of special music.

Kefauver has defended Secretary of State Acheson and supported the Democratic administration foreign policy. But he has criticized the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as being too weak and unsuited for swift and united action to back up General Eisenhower.

Kefauver wants a transatlantic federal union of democracies. That is perhaps his number one goal.

Young Pilot's Body Is Found

ABILENE — (AP) — The body of a youthful pilot whose plane crashed last week in a violent West Texas sand storm was found Thursday.

The victim was Perry Marvin Singleton, 22, University of Colorado student, who was flying from Boulder, Colo., to visit two brothers in Dallas. He disappeared last Saturday night after contacting the Abilene airport by radio. He told the airport he was lost and his plane was low on fuel.

For almost half an hour the airport tried to direct him to a safe landing. Then Singleton's radio went silent.

Late yesterday J. C. Rutledge, an oil company employe, found the plane wreckage in a wooded area about 12 miles northeast of here.

The area had been thoroughly searched by air before but the plane had crashed at an angle beneath some trees, preventing it from being seen.

Men Will Have To Propose In 1952 Despite Ladies' Leap Year Privilege

Unless something unusual happens during 1952 fewer men will be proposed to—and married—than in any normal year.

Strange as it may seem, you don't seem to take advantage of the occasion as is commonly believed. In fact, figures show they shy away from their intentions to "hook" an unsuspecting male during every fourth year.

During the last 15 years in Gray county, fewer marriages have been recorded during leap years than in other years. For instance, records show 218 marriages here in 1938, showing 39 less than the following year. In 1940 — another leap year—225 marriages were performed, 32 less than during 1937.

And in 1948, the figure had jumped to 443. But again, this was only 12 more marriages than were recorded in 1943.

It also seems that comparing marriages within 10 years, figures seem to drop. Through January of this year 19 certificates were issued in the local county clerk's office. During the same period in 1948, however, 37 were issued.

In the early days of Pampa few marriages were performed because of the sparse population. Looking back through the years, 26 certificates were issued in 1909, two less in 1916 — a leap year — and 28 in 1932. In 1936, however, when the population here took an upswing, 218 marriages were reported.

Thus, it seems that few women take advantage of their situation and continue allowing the man to propose, who in reality is waiting for the girl to pop the question. However, two major factors are involved which might explain the situation. Locally, marriages have decreased because of a law recently put into effect requiring a blood test before any marriage.

From over 400 marriage certificates issued in 1950 the number dropped to 161 the following year. Since the blood test law, effective June 25, 1951, only 108 certificates have been granted. Instead of getting the test here, prospective couples go to surrounding states for a quick marriage.

This, however, does not discourage two people from becoming married as do several other factors. According to census figures based on the nation's population in 1950, there are just about half again as many young bachelors in America as there are young spinsters.

But the supply of bachelors and unmarried women and girls of all ages is not large, for two-thirds of everybody in the United States over the age of 14 now is already married.

Statistics show the preponderance of young bachelors over unmarried young women has happened because girls in this country customarily marry men older than themselves. The result is that half the girls and women between 18 and 25 are married but only a third of all men.

Chances are men over 25 have a better chance of getting proposed to this year than do younger men because in the age group from 25 to 45, men and women who are single, widowed or divorced are about even. Over 45, there are about twice as many eligible women as men.

Marriage records checked back over the last 50 years, both locally and nationally, show that whatever may account for the nation's growing number of families, leap year and its special prerogatives to the female sex have had little to do with it.

So, in spite of alleged tradition, men still have the responsibility of proposing. Nothing happens to the nation's marriage rate in leap year. If anything, it will decrease. It did, in any case, in five of the last eight leap years.

'Dimes' Drive In Hemphill Brings $1202

CANADIAN — (Special) — The March of Dimes drive in Hemphill County brought in a total $1202.14 according to Logan Owens, chairman of the drive. The March of Dimes cards, mailed to all residents of the county brought in $772.09; a ten-cent coffee sale staged on two days by half a dozen cafes and four tents netted $178.10, two benefit basketball games brought in $48.50; the miniature "iron lungs" posted in local business places got $63.70; and the children of the Baker and Isaacs schools contributed.

The drive, unlike most others carried out in this area, was carried out without personal solicitation. Miami March of Dimes drive was also conducted in this way.

The sale and re-sale of a fat lamb at the Junior livestock show last week netted $71.30. The lamb was purchased first by Carl Freeman and donated to the March of Dimes, and repurchased by Earl Blackmore.

Michigan State awarded 41 major letters — the largest number in its history — at the conclusion of the football season. Included were 15 seniors, 17 juniors, eight sophomores and one freshman.

HIKES FOR IKE — Posted in a spot where it's bound to be noticed is the campaign slogan of Kathleen O'Hara of Syracuse, N. Y. Shapely Miss O'Hara was named "Miss Youth for Eisenhower of New York" at a meeting of young Republicans in Albany.

Marines To Open Training School For Women Officers

DENVER, Colo. — An opportunity to become a commissioned officer in the United States Marine Corps is now being offered young, college women of this area, according to an announcement by First Lieutenant Bernard S. Mac Cabe, officer in charge of the Marines' area of officer procurement.

Enrollment in the fourth Women's Officer Training class established by the Marine Corps is open to physically qualified, unmarried women undergraduates and graduates of accredited colleges and universities. Applicants must be at least 18 years of age at time of enrollment.

Undergraduates accepted for the classes will attend two summer training periods of six weeks each at Quantico, Va. After successfully completing the two courses, and upon graduation from college, the women candidates will be appointed second lieutenants in the Marine Corps reserve. Women who are already college graduates may complete both courses in one summer and receive commissions immediately. All newly-appointed Marine officers will attend a special four-week women officers indoctrination course at Quantico before assignment to duty with a Marine corps organization.

Women Marine officers are assigned most duties now performed by male officers except tactical control of troops. These include such fields as administration, aerology, communications, disbursing, instruction, post ex-

Canadian Senior Play Cast Named

CANADIAN — (Special) — Rehearsals are underway for the production of "And Came The Spring", annual play chosen by seniors of Canadian High school.

The play, by Marjane and Joseph Hayes, is a comedy of modern youth, and will be presented in the high school auditorium March 6.

Mrs. Maudalene Hutton, senior class sponsor, is directing the cast which includes Kenneth Smith, Donald Hodges, Utah Adkins, Ben Mathers, L. H. Webb, Bob Norvill, Richard Waters, Bill Fiewelling, Woody Williams, Louise Zybach, Leslym Webb, Nancy Alexander, Joyce Curmatt, Janet Conley, Dorothy Bernson, Barbara Hall, and Mary Ellen Tepe.

Many birds fly non-stop over thousands of miles of open ocean, knows how they navigate.

Local Pastor To Take Part In H-SU Focus Week Program

ABILENE — Rev. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist church, Pampa, will participate in Religious Focus week at Hardin-Simmons university, March 3-7.

He will be one of approximately 12 spiritual leaders over the nation who will visit the Hardin-Simmons campus for the fifth annual observance of Religious Focus week.

The five-day program will include seminars, classroom visitation, personal conferences, evangelistic meetings, and fireside chats in the dormitories.

"The week is designed to unite and focus in a common spiritual effort the religious forces of the campus," stated Truett Sherif, director of campus religious activities.

Problems to be studied will include mating, a practical Christian philosophy, vocations, personality adjustment, racism, communism, and other current issues.

Carver, who has served as pastor of the Pampa church for ten years, is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons. He received his bachelor of divinity degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, Fort Worth.

He is a member of the executive board and trustee of Wayland college, Plainview, and Mary Hardin-Baylor college, Belton. He is past president of the Pampa Rotary club.

Fort Worth has won more points than any other team in Texas Golden Gloves tournaments with 172.

The Amarillo team placed second in the 1950 Texas Golden Gloves tournament at Fort Worth, scoring 15 points.

Old Soldiers Still Active

FRANKLIN, Tex. — (AP) — The Confederacy lives on in Texas, hale and hearty at 105 and 109, respectively.

This is reflected in the last two remaining old soldiers in Texas. One of them, William W. Williams of Franklin, publisher L. E. Scott of the Franklin Texan reports:

"Mr. Williams is well and hearty and very active for a man 109 years old."

Williams celebrated his 100th birthday last Nov. 1. He was born in Adawoma county, Miss., in 1842.

Back in the United States following a tour of duty in the Korean area aboard the attack cargo vessel USS Washburn is Derl D. Sponebore, electrician's mate fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sponebore of 817 North Gray, Sponebore, who attended Pampa High School, entered the Naval service in Jan. 1951, and received his recruit training at the U. S. Naval Training center, San Diego, Calif.

His principal duties aboard ship consist of maintenance of electrical equipment.

Cpl. Gail Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Smith, 928 Fisher, has arrived in England and now is stationed at the Third Air Force base.

Smith entered the Air force in October 1950 and received basic training at Lackland Air Force base. From there he received further training at Keesler base in Mississippi before being sent overseas. He left the United States Jan. 25.

Recently awarded the Bronze Star medal for heroic conduct while fighting in Korea is Cpl. Billie E. Birchfield, husband of Evelyn Birchfield, 210 N. Wynn.

While fighting as a member of the Second Infantry division in Korea last July, Birchfield alone drew fire from the enemy while the squad he commanded attacked the enemy from a different direction, driving them to retreat.

He lived in Pampa 1 1/2 years before entering service in October 1950. Birchfield has two children, a girl two and a boy 10 months.

Light heavyweight Delmar Koch and heavyweight Bob Owens, representing the Amarillo region, both won Texas Golden Gloves championships in 1939.

Amarillo regional boxers have won Texas Golden Gloves championships in every division but lightweight and middleweight.

TO WEST POINT — Sgt. Curtis McNeal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Henry, 835 S. Gray, recently left for West Point, N. Y., where he will receive training. McNeal, a member of the 6th Heavy Tank battalion for 15 months overseas, entered service in September 1948. After basic training he was sent to Fort Knox, Ky., to typing school.

Not A Leaper; Just A Leaner

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Officer Dick Wader was checking in on a police call box when he saw a man fall from the fourth floor hotel window.

"Send the ambulance, we got a leaper," he cried.

But Kenneth Udell, 56, was no leaper. He had just leaned out too far.

He dropped through an awning, hit the sidewalk, and was back in the hotel when Wader caught up.

"I felt all right . . . just the same as before," he told the cop.

In 1938 a strange 5-foot-long fish was caught off the tip of South Africa which was believed by ichthyologists to have become extinct 60 million years ago.

Meat Animals Said To Be Healthy Lot

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The nation's meat animals are a healthy lot.

The Agriculture Dept.'s division of meat inspection reports that it inspected 88,667,000 animals during the past year and only 297,000 were rejected because of disease or other unwholesome conditions — one out of 300.

More than 80 percent of all cattle, calves, sheep, lambs and hogs slaughtered commercially were killed and processed under the supervision of the department's 2800 inspectors.

This does not include farm-slaughtered animals, which are estimated to make up about 10 percent of the total slaughter in this country.

During the past year inspections were conducted at 1004 establishments in 387 cities and towns.

All animals moving through inspected plants are examined prior to their slaughter. After they are killed, a second thorough examination is made of each carcass to detect and eliminate any diseased animals.

Inspectors destroy for food purposes all diseased, unsound or otherwise unwholesome meat and meat products.

They also supervise the preparation of meat and meat food products and guard against the use of harmful preservatives and other undesirable ingredients.

The inspectors supervise the marking of meat and meat food products to show that they are U. S. - inspected and passed. It supervises labeling to prevent false and deceptive claims.

The inspection service also must pass on meat imported into this country.

Prince Zogi will perform in Pampa March 17 in the junior high school auditorium under the auspices of the Pampa Moose lodge.

Adventures Into The Unknown Slated Here

Adventures into the unknown will be provided for lovers of magic and grand-scale illusions on Mar. 17 by the Pampa Moose Lodge when the organization presents Prince Zogi in the junior high school auditorium.

The prince of mystic told Moose Lodge officers he would bring with him one ton of equipment and present a "clean, wholesome program," lasting two hours.

Some of the illusionist's tricks include production of apparitions from his ghost cabinet and turning them loose on the audience. In one instance the prince will bring back to life a mummy and let it wander among the spectators.

Zogi got his early training under the all-time mystic master, Harry Houdini, and has headed his own company for 25 years.

The magician said he would also inject appropriate humor between illusions to keep the show on a fast moving basis.

The Houdini trunk escape trick; snapping birds into a net out of thin air; and producing a flower garden on the stage from apparently nothing are only a few of the stunts the magician has "up his sleeve."

Moose officers said tickets for adults and students will be put on sale as soon as they have

Lloyd M. Hicks Bull Is Designated As 'Tested Sire'

A registered Jersey bull, Star Gambo Design, owned by Lloyd M. Hicks of Pampa is announced by The American Jersey Cattle club as having qualified as a Tested Sire.

Ten tested daughters of Star Gambo Design produced an average of 9950 lbs. milk containing 506 lbs. butterfat on a twice daily milking, 305 day mature equivalent basis, which is more than two times the butterfat production of the "average" dairy cow in the United States. All records were made under official supervision of The American Jersey Cattle club, which has its national headquarters in Columbus, Ohio.

Eight of his daughters have been classified for type by an official classifier of the club. They attained an average score of 84.38 percent as compared to the breed average of 82.82 percent.

Star Gambo Design has been officially classified for type by the club and given a top rating of excellent, equivalent to a score of over 90 percent when compared to the breed's type score card allotting 100 points to a perfect animal.

This sire was bred by Falls lands Farm, Schellburg, Pa., and was purchased as a calf in 1943 by Hicks.

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

Here is an inexpensive home recipe to take off unwanted weight and help bring back glowing curves and graceful slenderness. Just get from any druggist, four ounces of liquid Barcontrate. Pour into pint bottle and add grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonful twice a day. Wonderful results may be obtained quickly. Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without back-breaking exercise or starvation diet. It's easy to make and easy to take. Contains nothing harmful. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky weight and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle for your money back.

32 POUNDS LOST

"After taking seven bottles of Barcontrate, I have lost 32 pounds." — Mrs. E. C. Wald, 2702 S. Flores Street, San Antonio.

ATE ANYTHING

"I want to tell you how wonderful I think your Barcontrate is. I weighed 215 pounds before I used it. At the end of two weeks I was under 200. It's the most amazing thing I ever knew to take off surplus fat and I can eat anything I want." — Mrs. Genett Windom, 1525 Mentor Ave., Dallas, Texas.

LOST 20 POUNDS

"I weighed 198 before taking Barcontrate. I now weigh 181—a loss of 17 pounds." — Mrs. Ruby L. Melton, 7902 Greenville Ave., Houston.

Borger Bulldogs Clip Harvesters For Second Time, 59-51

Victory Gives Bulldogs Lead In District I-AAAA

By WARREN HASSE
Pampa News Sports Editor

BORGER — Tex Hanna's Borger Bulldogs, led by the brilliant Mack "Snake" Carter, powered into the District I-AAAA basketball lead here Saturday night, defeating the Fighting Pampa Harvesters for the second time this season, 59-51. It was only the second loss of the year for Coach Clifton McNeely's hustlers, but it was almost one of the most expensive.

The story of the game is wrapped up in the final statistics, which show that Carter, one of the greatest ballplayers to ever come out of the Panhandle, scored 29 points, but the amazing side is shown in the shot percentages. According to the Pampa News chart, the Bulldogs fired the basket 42 times, and hit 27 of their shots for an amazing 64 1-2 percent in comparison to the Harvesters' 34 percent on 51 shots attempted.

The game was probably the one that decided the district championship, although both teams have two games left on their schedule. The Bulldogs moved the Pampa News chart, the Harvesters' full name ahead of the Harvesters, with both teams having to play Pampa and Lubbock on the road next week end.

"I hate to think of going down that chopping block next week end," Coach Hanna said about last week's games. And that is the Harvesters can hope for, he Pampans need to sweep their remaining games, and the Bulldogs lose at least one to gain a tie and another shot at the Pack and Co.

The Pampans hustled their legs if and were never really out of the game until the final minute when it became apparent that the error still wasn't going to be rectified. Bishard put the Pack ahead with a free throw in the first five seconds, but not before Jimmy Bond, laying a stellar game, put Pampa head second, later with a short jump. Dee Miller and Carter ran the score to 5-2, but again, the sophomore came back and put Pampa ahead 8-5 on two free throws, a tip-in and a layup.

Then James Morgan, an eagle-eyed forward, got fired up. He hit six long push shots from 20 feet and the Pack led at the end of the first quarter, 17-13. Jimmy Bond went back to work and trimmed the lead to 18-19 before Morgan and Carter collaborated to move the Pack ahead again. 24-18. Smith and Jimmy Bond cut the score to 24-22 and Carter moved it to 28-24 with a hook shot and a pair of free throws.

Jimmy Bond hit a push shot, with added a free throw and Jimmy Bond hit again with layup and Pampa led again 29-28 with 1:15 left in the half. Then Morgan hit another push, Carter added a free throw and Oth Miller drove in for a layup at the end of the half and larger led, 33-29.

The Bulldogs, always a terrific and quarter court roaring attack. After halftime, and led by the Snake, ran up 46-33 lead midway through the period. Then everybody on the Harvester team took to the nets and cut the score to 48-40 as the fourth quarter started.

Marvin Bond opened the final period with a push from the side. Dee Miller added a free throw and Marvin Bond nullified it with a gift shot. Carter hit another hook and Jimmy Bond added a free shot to make it 51-44. Smith anned down a long push shot and Morgan hit another long push from the side.

Jimmy Bond flipped in another throw and Newland added a drive in push shot to make the score 56-47. Bishard added a free throw and Smith looped a charity shot for the Pampans. Dee Miller hit another free throw and Smith countered with a jump shot under the basket and then the Bulldogs started a stall that finished out the ball game. Morgan scored a layup just as the game ended to make the final score read 59-51. A ruckus developed late in the game when Jimmy Bond drove under the basket, made his shot, and was fouled at the same time. Referee Bill Ferem called "no basket" and gave Bond two free throws. The play at the time could have been very important as it would have cut the Bulldog lead and put the Harvesters right in the middle of the game. Despite the objections of the Pampa players and bench, Ferem ruled the basket good.

It was a fast and furious game, played before a capacity, standing crowd.

Dressing Rooms Scenes Of Joy And Dejection

The Bulldogs' dressing room was a scene of joy with people rushing around and congratulating the coach and his players on a job well done.

Perhaps the most jubilant of all was the Bulldogs' brilliant center, Snake Carter, who was all smiles. When asked what he thought about the game, he said that "Pampa's got the best sportsmanship of any team we have played. They are by far the best team that we have played this year."

Over at the other side of the dressing room James Morgan, who's sharpshooting played an important part in the win, had a crowd of people around him congratulating him on a great game played. Morgan said "The Harvesters are the best bunch of boys we have played this year."

Dee Miller, half of the Bulldogs' brother act, didn't have much to say except that Pampa "sure had a great team" and his twin brother backed him up and also said that they never played a greater bunch of sports.

Coach Hanna, all smiles, said "It was one of the best high school games that I have ever seen. The Harvester sportsmanship is by far the best and would be a credit to any high school."

In the Pampa dressing room things were quiet. The disheartened players silently took their showers and slowly dressed. The silence was interrupted by several Borger fans coming in to congratulate Coach McNeely and his boys for a fine game.

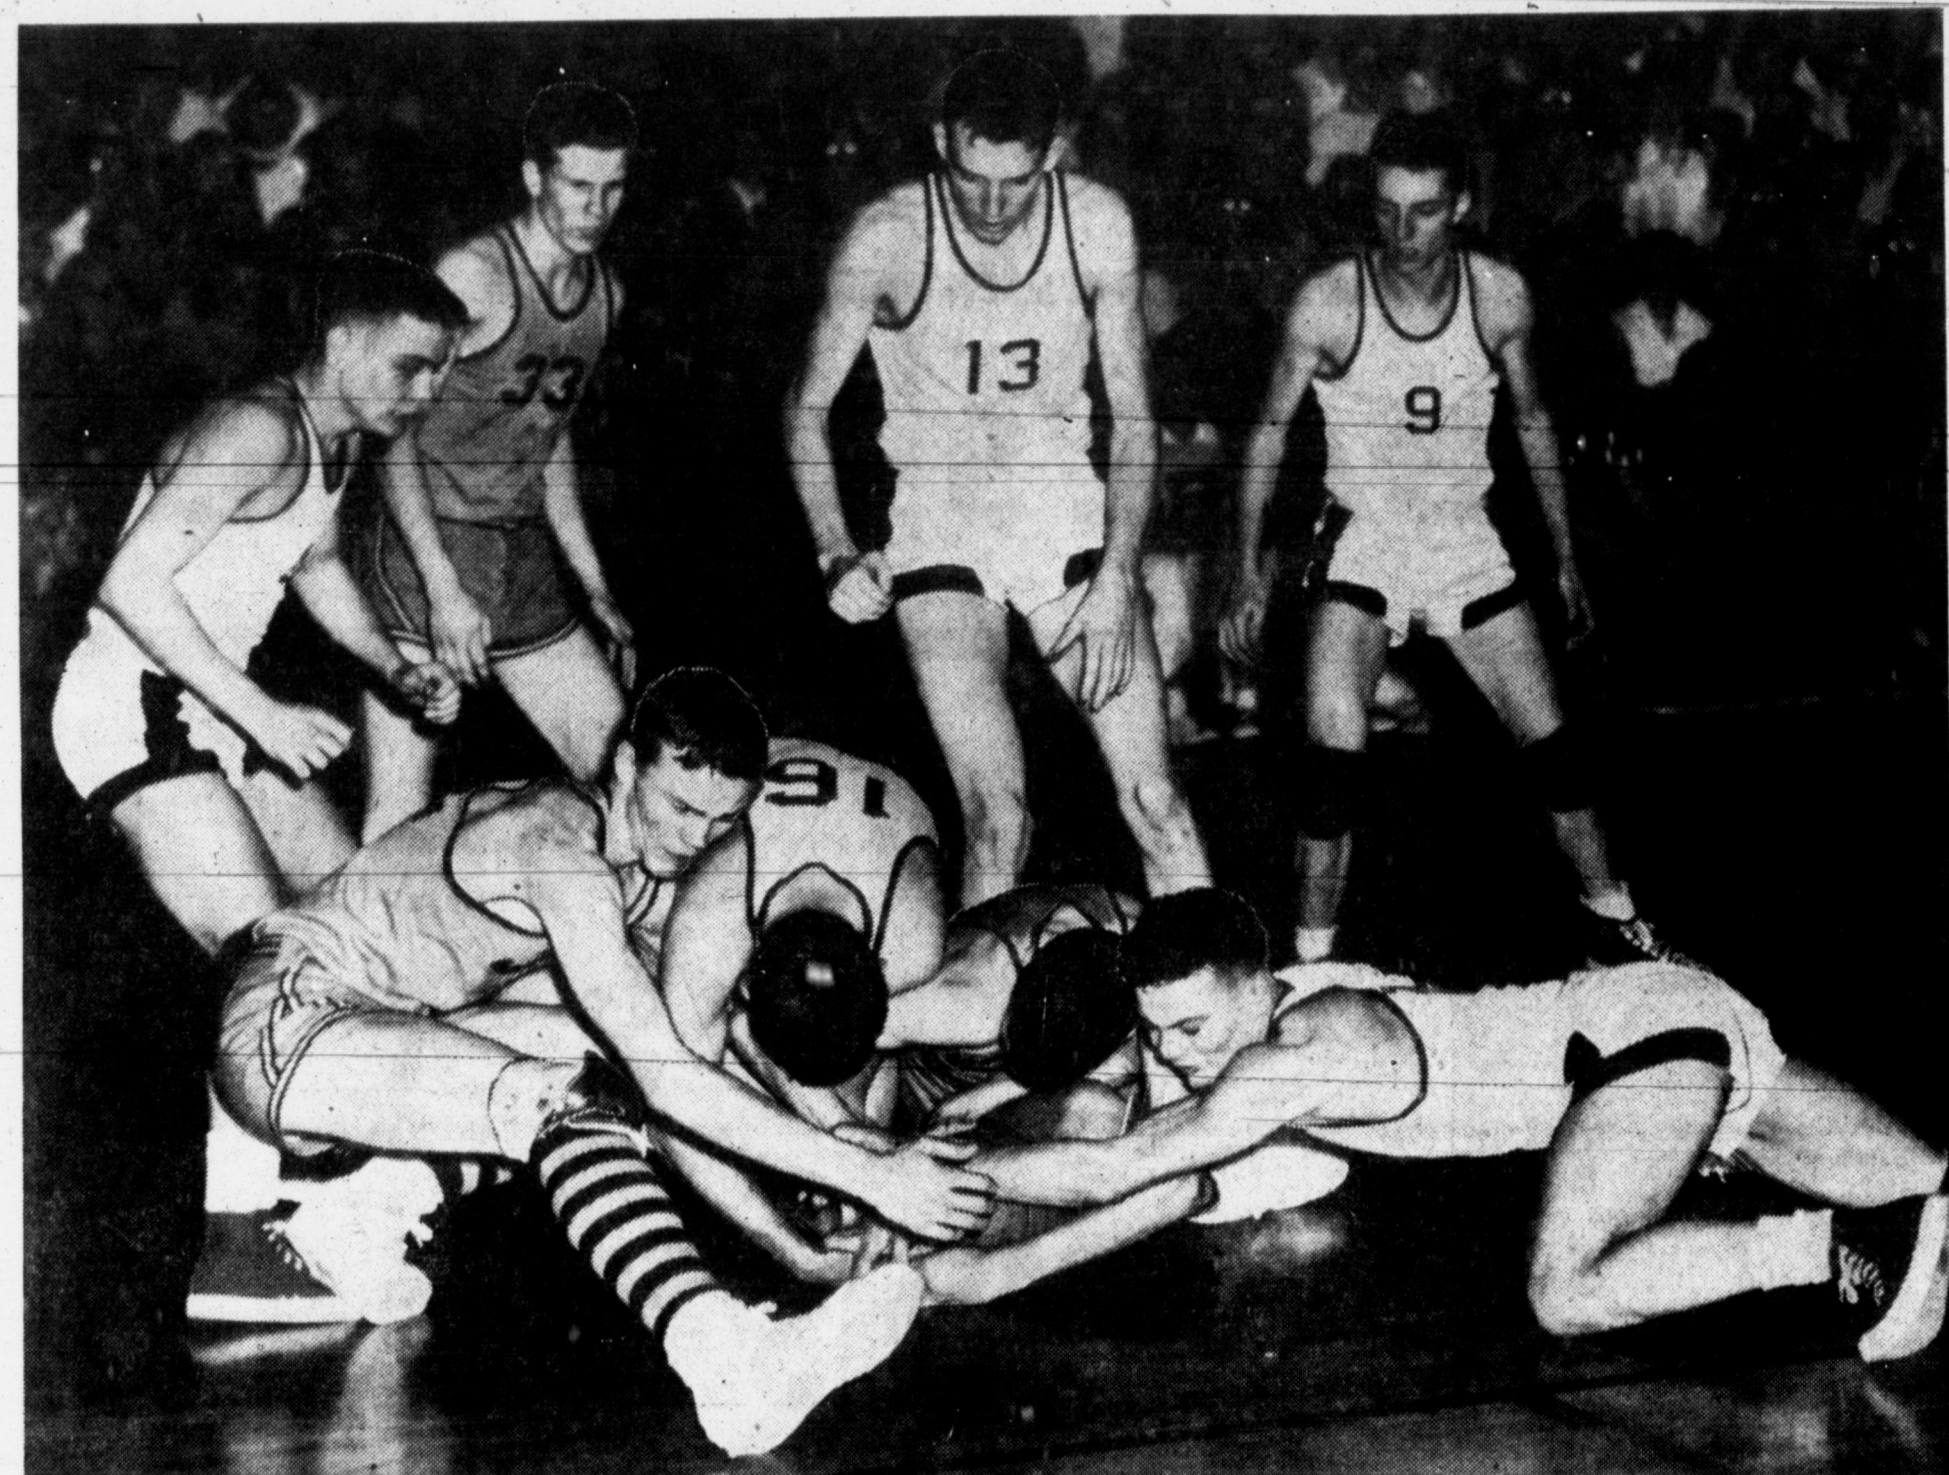

"You have one of the finest teams that I've ever seen," said Sheriff Hugh Anderson of Hutchinson County as he shook McNeely's hand. "And they are the cleanest bunch of boys that have played here this year."

Coach McNeely, my name's Jackson," said Sam Jackson, a member of the Borger school system. "I have heard much about you and want to meet you and congratulate you on a fine bunch of boys."

McNeely courteously thanked all the well-wishers, and then after all his tired athletes had returned from the shower room, McNeely thanked all the boys for their fine play.

"You played a good game," the tired coach said, "and you have nothing to be ashamed of. What do you say about next week?"

"We'll get two," the squad echoed, as they turned their attention toward the final two contests on the schedule against Lubbock and Odessa next week end on the road.

WE LOVE THAT BALL — Two Harvesters and two Bulldogs fight desperately for that all-important basketball in a mad scramble during last night's game at Borger. It wound up in a five-man free-for-all with nobody gaining the decision. On the left is Jimmy Bond while the third from the left is center Duane Jeter. The two Bulldogs on the floor are Phillips Wright (16) and Oth Miller. Standing and getting ready to pile into the action are Dee Miller (4), Marvin Bond (33), Snake Carter (33) and James Morgan (9). The picture shows the hard-fought action with which both clubs played the entire game. (News photo by Don Duncan)

Phelan Made Texans' Coach

DALLAS — (AP) — Jimmy Phelan, the man who introduced the spread formation to professional football, was named coach of the Dallas Texans of the National Professional Football League Saturday.

President Giles Miller of the Texans announced the appointment of Phelan after a two-day meeting of the directors of the club. They also confirmed Frank Fitzgerald as general manager.

"It's the smartest move we could have made," Fitzgerald said, "Jimmy knows the team and we can start off the first day of training by running plays."

Phelan, a graduate of Notre Dame, was coach of the New York Yanks last season before the club was moved to Dallas and renamed the Texans.

He brought the spread formation to the league last year and it quickly was embraced by several other teams. The formation should appeal to thousands of Southwest fans who have been enthralled by spreads used by Leo (Dutch) Meyer at Texas Christian and H. N. (Rusty) Russell at Southern Methodist.

Miller declined to say how much Phelan would be paid. Phelan's contract will run at least a year.

"We think Jimmy is the man best suited for the job," Miller said after he and the club's directors had considered "at least a dozen coaches."

"With our boys coming out of service and Art Weiner returning to the club this year we'll be in very good shape," Fitzgerald said, "and I'm sure Dallas won't be disappointed in the team."

Fitzgerald referred to men like Sharkey, a guard, and Andy Hillhouse, a defensive end, returning from the armed forces and said he also was thinking about "the best quarterback in the league, George Ratterman," playing a full season for the Texans.

Ratterman jumped to the Canadian League last year from the Yanks, but later returned toward the tail end of the season.

Open Against NY Giants On Sept. 28

DALLAS — (AP) — Dallas' first National Football League game will pit the Dallas Texans against the New York Giants Sept. 8.

Announcement of the game was made yesterday by G. E. Mgr. Frank Fitzgerald of the Texans soon after he and Owner Giles Miller arrived from New York.

Former Southern Methodist backfield star Kyle Rote is a member of the New York Giants squad.

Fitzgerald also said the Texans will meet the Daak Walker powered Detroit Lions here in the annual exhibition game sponsored by the Salesmanship Club.

WT-NW Raises Veteran Limit; Nearly Move To Class B

LUBBOCK — (Special) — The West Texas - New Mexico League missed by an eye-lash of going to Class B here Saturday night as the two-day spring league meeting opened.

That, and the raising of the veteran player limit to eight, featured the first day's action.

The meeting was due to resume at 10 a. m. this morning with remaining business concerning the revision of the league constitution, working over the by-laws, a discussion of admission prices and a lengthy debate on what to do about radio broadcasts.

Paul Dean owner of the Lubbock Hubbers, also made known his new playing manager for 1952, I. B. Palmer, veteran catcher.

The league adopted the same playing schedule as used in 1949, based on home stands of 2-3-3-2 games. The season will open on April 23 and close Sept. 9. The all-star game will be played at Odessa on July 5. The Oilers will open at home against Borger on April 23-24, follow with Clovis on the 25-26 and Amarillo on the 27-28. These dates were tentative, but expected to hold. Pampa will play a July 4th doubleheader with Borger.

Bobcats Edge Past Bronchos, 41-40

SAN ANGELO — (Special) — The San Angelo Bobcats finally overcame the slow offense of the Odessa Bronchos in the fourth quarter here Saturday night and eked out a thrilling 41-40 victory.

The Bobcats had to come from behind a nine point deficit at the start of the final eight minutes to gain the edge.

Odessa led at the end of the first quarter, 10-8, and moved into a 28-18 halftime lead. As the final quarter started the Bronchos held a 38-29 advantage.

But the Bobcats came to life in the final period, holding the stalling Bronchos to two points while scoring 12 themselves to gain the edge.

Bill Warrick led the winners with 12 points while Walt Spiller connected with a similar total for the Bronchos.

It was the third conference win for the Bobcats against seven losses and the sixth defeat for Odessa against four wins.

Track Stars Burning Out?

NEW YORK — (AP) — Are candidates for the United States track team burning themselves out with top flight performances six months before the international games at Helsinki?

Foreign track authorities believe they are to the extent they refused to grant their runners permission to compete indoors here this winter.

Dan Ferris, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, believes racing once a week this early in the year is too much.

But Fred Witt, FBI agent who has spent the winter chasing Don Gehrmann home in the mile, says he should reach the Olympic trials in peak condition for the 5,000 and 10,000-meter runs.

"We invited stars from seven or eight countries to run in our indoor meets but all refused," said Ferris today. "They said they didn't want to run indoors during Olympic year. But they asked to be invited again next season."

Ferris said the AAU answered by pointing out that Sweden's Gunder Haegg ran on the boards here one winter and then set a world record next summer in the mile.

"But Haegg was a super-man," was the reply. The Swedish flyer holds the world record of 4:04 for the mile.

Raiders To Play No. Carolina St.

LUBBOCK — (Special) — The Texas Tech Red Raiders will play a home-and-home series with the North Carolina State Wolfpack, it was announced last night.

The series will start next season with the Wolfpack playing the Raiders at Lubbock, and playing North Carolina in 1953.

It was also rumored, and expected to be confirmed soon, that the Raiders had signed a home-and-home pact with the College of Pacific, their opponents in the Sun Bowl last New Year's day.

Grady Of The Silo Episode Loses No Time

YUKON, Okla. — (AP) — Grady the cow hasn't lost any time since her historic plunge into a silo on owner Bill Mach's farm three years ago.

She's had three calves — one a year — and seems destined to have quite a large family before the end of her days. And the family is pretty well balanced — two sons and a daughter.

Grady is seven years old now and has taken on a few pounds but she hasn't lost her glamour. Mach says the cows continue to visit the ranch to see Grady.

Tuesday, Feb. 22, 1949 — Washington's birthday — was an eventful day in Grady's life. Her first calf was born dead. Her sadness turned into frenzied flight. She bolted the barn and stomped headlong toward the silo.

How she dived through the 15 feet of 25 1-2 inch opening is still a mystery.

The news of her entrapment flashed across the news wires of the nation on Friday. Soon the whole world was wondering how Grady was going to get out of her predicament.

WARREN'S ARMUP

By Warren Hesse—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Against whom did Allie Reynolds hurl his two no-hitters last baseball season?

HOW OLD CAN YOU GET IN A HURRY. We knew that we weren't too young anymore after trying to play 32 minutes of basketball last Monday night. But when we walked into the fieldhouse last Friday afternoon to watch the Harvesters work out, and bumped into Jimmy "Stud" Parker, we knew Father Time was moving in long strides.

Most football fans will remember Jimmy as the rugged end and punter on the great Harvester football team of 1949. He had more of the tough luck that season that had hounded him through life. And he's still catching it.

Ilyrlra

Jimmy was stricken with polio during his first year in high school, and had to lay out of school for a long while. He recovered sufficiently to once again participate in sports, which has always been his first love. But his absence from school cost him a year of eligibility, leaving him one year on the Harvester. And he started off making it a great year.

Then, in a non-conference game at Vernon, Jimmy was blocked from the blind side by a Lion blocker and had a knee badly torn up. This kept him out of action for several important games. But he got back in time to play against the Sandies, and help turn in a victory.

Since leaving school Jimmy now Sgt. James Parker of the United States Marine Corps, has been around. He just got back from an 11-month tour of duty in Korea that saw him right in the thick of the action. Fortunately enough, he served with a couple of former high school classmates over there, Jimmy Cline and Bill Runyon.

Jimmy fought with the now-famous Hamilton brothers of Amarillo, who were killed just a few days apart in the midst of the heavy fighting. The Hamilton brothers were great Glovers, and Bobby Wilhelm, 15-year-old Pampa pitcher, recently won a trophy for the outstanding pitcher in the high school division of Golden Gloves regional tournament, dedicated in memory of the Hamiltons. Parker went to Amarillo to visit with the parents of the two Marine brothers.

Parker is now stationed at Corpus Christi or will be when his current leave is over. He has a year and a half to go in the service yet, after which he is considering taking advantage of a scholarship to Southern Methodist University.

Seeing kids like that come back from fighting a war that we always thought we were young enough to help fight, sort of makes us realize that the "Incidentally, Jimmy's folks now years have slipped past.

live in Dallas, and his nine-year-old brother was all-city football last fall in the junior league.

All this news the past week brought back memories of our own, too. How many days we stood outside of Buckingham Palace and watched the changing of the guard during the last war and hoped that somehow or other we would be there at the driving out, driving in, or just come out on the balcony. We know that a lot of our readers did the same.

And probably a lot of them did like we did, and went to see a soccer match. We still aren't too sure what we saw, but we do know that we stopped after about every wicket(?) and drank tea.

I hope that you readers will forgive us for this column of memoirs, which isn't exactly a sports column so far, but we are writing this Saturday afternoon and we're just a little upset over the Pampa-Borger tilt which will start in four hours.

Howard Vineyard is getting all set for the opening of wrestling at the Southern Club, which is expected to be called the Sports Arena, or some other sports-minded title every Thursday night after Feb. 21, the night of the first matches.

Howard is awaiting the first card, which will be sent him by Dory Detton, popular promoter and operator of the wrestling stable here in the Panhandle. Vineyard will run a wonderful show, we know. He is a great sportsman, likes all forms of competition, and is a good, alert promoter with plenty of original ideas. Sports fans in the area can expect nothing but the highest type of entertainment from his programs.

He is already being swamped by questions about his setup. Fans from Shamrock have even called long distance to find out when he is starting. And we're just as anxious as he is to see it start.

While many folks think it is faked — and we can't prove that it is or isn't — it is really entertaining. You never know who is going to win, and you get plenty of excitement for your money.

When you go to the movies you always know that our hero is to survive the villain's bullets, but you don't know whether or not the hero of the mat is going to outlast the hair pulling, rabbit punching, eye gouging and chair-busting of the villain in the ring with him.

(this being the end of Boy Scout Week) is an Eagle Scout. The Borger Bulldogs held their football banquet Friday night. They adopted the "fighting heart" idea from the Pampa banquet, with the first winner being Thomas Caldwell. The Borger Jaycees also make three special awards, giving a suit of clothes to Allen Bryant, a watch to Gayle Murphy and a $200 college scholarship to passer-deluxe Cleburne Bybee. Coach Clifton McNeely's grade school basketball program really got rolling yesterday with his youngsters starting to play each other. In yesterday's game the Horace Mann team defeated Sam Houston, 26-22, and Woodrow Wilson swamped the Baker school five to one.

Over 200 kids take part in the program every Saturday morning for three hours. Coach Mac's brother is with him. Came up to see the game last night. That's the excuse he gave, but the truth is he wanted to see the twins, Phil and Mike. Boys are still coming in and getting their Soap Box Derby rule books. Now's the time to start building them.

ANSWER: He beat the Indians 1-0, and the Red Sox, 8-0.

Mishaps Mark Preparations For Olympics

OSLO — (AP) — A rash of accidents plagued final preparations for the Sixth Winter Olympic Games, opening here next Thursday, but every indication pointed to the biggest and most powerful event of its kind ever.

Three skiers were injured at Norefjell, 70 miles northwest of here, and the dangerous slopes, whipped almost bare of snow by a gale, were ordered closed.

A German two-man bobsled almost cracked up, and Birger Rued, famed Norwegian skier now an adviser to the Olympic staff, broke his leg in a practice jump.

Despite these ominous happenings, work went forward in an atmosphere comparatively free of bickering. The only unsettled Olympic problems are the matting of German participation in the summer games and the more immediate question of the safety of the bobsled run.

The skiers injured at Norefjell, Minneapolis. His time was 9:00.4.

Kees Broeckman of Holland won the 1500 meters in the dazzling time of 8 minutes, 11 seconds, beating Ken Henry, the chief U. S. hope from Chicago.

Henry tied with Finn Helgesen of Norway for second in 43.3.

The officials appeared well-pleased with the plan used last year of playing from scratch rather than employing a handicapped system. About 20 men attended the meeting.

Each club appointed directors to the association. Those selected were Bob Glesic of Amarillo, Ross Rogers, Bob Rogers and E. W. Spearman of Huber, L. V. McCarthy and Hodges Haren of Phillips, and C. F. McGinnis and Groves Austin, Jr., of the Pampa Country club.

That was the main business undertaken at the meeting, although considerable business was left over for another meeting to be held tomorrow morning at the Huber course, starting at 10 a. m. At that time the association officials will resume discussion of a plan to hold a tournament at the end of the season. A large floating trophy will go to the winner of the tournament, at which each club will be represented by about 20 golfers. It is expected that the tournament idea will be adopted to run along with the regular program of round-robin competition at each club for possession of the permanent trophy, now in the possession of the Pampa golfers.

McGinnis and Johnny Foreman, background, try to keep Joe Houck (left), Huber Country club professional and Guthrie O'Neal, Phillips amateur, away from the Panhandle Men's Golf Association championship trophy. Underneath is a picture of R. M. Samples of Pampa who was elected president of the association for the 1952 season. (News photos by Don Duncan)

Samples Named President Of Panhandle Men's Golf Assn.

R. M. Samples, popular Pampa golfer, was elected president of the Panhandle Men's Golf Association for the 1952 season at a meeting held at the Pampa Country Club Friday morning. Samples replaces Guthrie O'Neal of Phillips, who served as president last season and was elected to the vice-presidency at Friday's meeting.

Re-elected to the post of tournament chairman was Joe Houck, professional at the Huber course at Borger, while Johnny Austin, Pampa Country club professional, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

That was the main business undertaken at the meeting, although considerable business was left over for another meeting to be held tomorrow morning at the Huber course, starting at 10 a. m. At that time the association officials will resume discussion of a plan to hold a tournament at the end of the season. A large floating trophy will go to the winner of the tournament, at which each club will be represented by about 20 golfers. It is expected that the tournament idea will be adopted to run along with the regular program of round-robin competition at each club for possession of the permanent trophy, now in the possession of the Pampa golfers.

The officials appeared well-pleased with the plan used last year of playing from scratch rather than employing a handicapped system. About 20 men attended the meeting.

Each club appointed directors to the association. Those selected were Bob Glesic of Amarillo, Ross Rogers, Bob Rogers and E. W. Spearman of Huber, L. V. McCarthy and Hodges Haren of Phillips, and C. F. McGinnis and Groves Austin, Jr., of the Pampa Country club.

Cary Middlecoff Shoots Under Par To Lead In El Paso Open

EL PASO, Tex. — (AP) — Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., claimed his round the greatest of his career and he has been on a roll since he won the tournament trail more than five years ago. He had 12 birdies and went over par on only one hole — and that was the only green he missed.

Nary's round broke the competitive course record by four strokes. That record was 64 set by Earl Stewart of Dallas in 1947 when Stewart was an amateur. Stewart is playing in the tournament here now as a pro. Nary also topped the course record of 61 set by Jack Harden, El Paso pro, this year. Harden made that in a practice round.

The 29 for the second nine also was a record. Harden got one in practice but nobody ever did before. Nary said approaching was the feature of his game—he had few long putts to make. But when he did, he sank them. His best was a 20 footer on No. 11 and he closed out in a blaze with an 18 footer on No. 18. He chipped in on No. 18 from 18 yards out.

Nary was six inches off the green on number 17 and chipped in from 18 feet away. Thus he had only seven putts on the back nine. He has only 20 putts for the inter round in which he was 11 under par.

Middlecoff thought he had a poor round because he went over par on three holes. He had five birdies but was missing putts for birds all day. On No. 18, where he could have had the three-stroke lead he finished with Friday, he was short on an eight-foot putt. He tapped the ball in then threw it at his golf bag. He cut across to the clubhouse, dressed and departed in a hurry.

Middlecoff started out well with birds on 3, 4, and 6. He did a beautiful recovery shot on 15 out of deep rough and got a bird but three-putted 17 for another over-par hole.

Doering had 33-32, starting off with an eagle on No. 1. He went over on No. 4 and No. 18 but otherwise his putter was pushing them in with monotonous regularity.

Talented Field To Appear In Fistic Tourney

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Three current titlists, three former champions and the 1951 champs will head a talented field of approximately 125 amateur fighters here Wednesday night as the 16th annual Texas Golden Gloves tournament opens a five night stand in the 10,000-seat Will Rogers Memorial coliseum.

Titlists from 18 Texas regional centers will compete Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday nights for state crowns and berths in the tournament of champions at Chicago, Feb. 25-28. A record five night attendance of more than 39,000 is expected.

Feather Raymond Riojas of Fort Worth, welter Johnny O'Glee of North Texas state college and Dallas, and middleweight Eugene Cooper of Amarillo Air Force base are the 1951 state titlists who'll be back. O'Glee won three straight state lightweight crowns — the legal limit — and had to move up one weight bracket this year.

EX-TITLISTS
Ex-state titlists who'll compete are Pat McCarthy, Amarillo flyweight; Felix Baker of Houston who has grown from a bantam to a feather, and James Hoff of Dallas, ex-Houston heavyweight.

Having lost in last year's finals, Paul Jorgenson of Beaumont, Pete Perez of Amarillo and Frank Dunnagan of Fort Worth will make determined title bids this week. Jorgenson was down from a flyweight to a bantam, Perez has advanced from feather to lightweight, and Dunnagan is still a welter.

Fort Worth and Beaumont, which tied for the team trophy last year, rank alongside Dallas, Houston, Amarillo, San Antonio and Corpus Christi as the strongest teams entered this season.

R. M. Samples, popular Pampa golfer, was elected president of the Panhandle Men's Golf Association for the 1952 season at a meeting held at the Pampa Country Club Friday morning.

Howard Vineyard is getting all set for the opening of wrestling at the Southern Club, which is expected to be called the Sports Arena, or some other sports-minded title every Thursday night after Feb. 21, the night of the first matches.

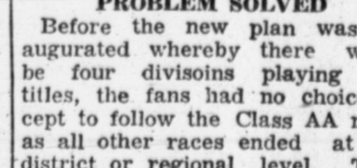

Howard is awaiting the first card, which will be sent him by Dory Detton, popular promoter and operator of the wrestling stable here in the Panhandle.

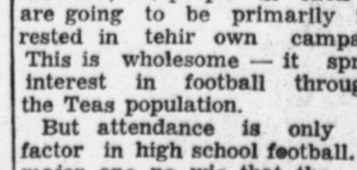

Vineyard will run a wonderful show, we know. He is a great sportsman, likes all forms of competition, and is a good, alert promoter with plenty of original ideas.

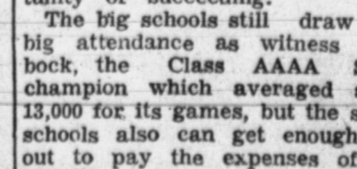

He is already being swamped by questions about his setup. Fans from Shamrock have even called long distance to find out when he is starting.

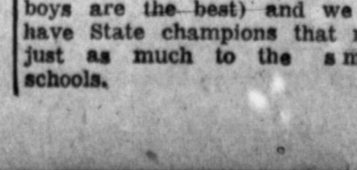

While many folks think it is faked — and we can't prove that it is or isn't — it is really entertaining. You never know who is going to win, and you get plenty of excitement for your money.

When you go to the movies you always know that our hero is to survive the villain's bullets, but you don't know whether or not the hero of the mat is going to outlast the hair pulling, rabbit punching, eye gouging and chair-busting of the villain in the ring with him.

Whiskered Wizards Here To Battle Chiefs Monday Night

Westerners Finally Get Cage Victory

SAN ANGELO — (Special) — Lubbock's Westerners won their first District 1-AAAA game of the season here Friday night, brushing the San Angelo Bobcats, 66-53.

It broke an eight-game losing skid in conference play for the Westerners and left San Angelo with a 2-7 record.

Delnor Poss of San Angelo was the game's individual standout with 19 points. Bob Fullerton of Lubbock had 16 points.

Bronchos Roar By Abilene, 74-59

ABILENE — (Special) — The Odessa Bronchos played catchup ball for four minutes, then roared past the Abilene Eagles, 74-59, in a District 1-AAAA basketball game here Friday night.

The Bronchos vaulted into a 19-11 lead at the end of the first period and moved into a 42-32 advantage at halftime. By the end of the third, it was 57-45.

The triumph was Odessa's fourth in nine starts and left Abilene with a 5-4 record. Frank Gee of Odessa was the game's high-point man with 25 points, while teammate Walter Spiller dunked 20. For Abilene, Jerry Turner meshed 15.

Callan Lists Monday Boxers

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach H. W. Callan will take four or five of his top boxers to Lefors Monday night for a tri-city fight between Lefors, Pampa Boys Club and Shamrock.

These three teams will sharpen up for the Irish Invitational tourney here next Thursday-Friday and Saturday night.

Callan said he would take the fighters who fit in best with the card set up for his brother, Coach Bob Callan of Lefors. Probable Irish entries include Ronald Settle at 140 pounds, Bobby Campbell, K. O. King, at 147, Paul Cooper at 155 pounds, Golden Gloves regional champion Kenneth Woods at 118 pounds, and possibly others.

Guerillas Lose To Bullpups In Amarillo AAU Contest

The Pampa Guerillas set up a bad pattern for their senior Harvesters Friday night, when they dropped a 64-50 decision to the Borger Bullpups at the fieldhouse.

The Guerillas were right in the thick of the contest until late in the final period, when the Bullpups rolled ahead to a secure lead.

The game was a regular Amarillo AAU league contest, being moved ahead one day because of the Pampa-Borger game scheduled last night.

Gale Trollinger was the leading scorer for the Guerillas, hitting 10 points. He was closely followed by Ray Cooper, Charles McGray

Panthers Win Two At Panhandle

SKELLYTOWN — The Skellytown Panthers, coached by Bert Isbell, turned in a pair of victories last Thursday night, winning both A and B games from Panhandle's JH quintets.

The Skellytown A team won, 32-16, with Arthur Hernandez whipping in 10 points. In the B team game Frank Jones scored eight to lead the juniors to a 30-5 victory. The B team is unbeaten this year, while the A squad owns a 5-3 record.

Last week the Panthers won the consolation championship of the McLean JH tournament. They lost the opening game to McLean, 43-14, but then came back to knock off Groom, 35-24, with Hernandez hitting 12 points, and then taking the championship with a 30-24 win over Lefors JH.

Harice Preston, who scored 27 points in the tournament for the Panthers, was named to the all-tournament team.

Next Thursday at 6 p. m., the Panthers will play the East Ward school of Borger in the Spring Creek tournament.

HARICE PRESTON

The Whiskered Wizards are in town and priming for their Monday night engagement with the Noblitt-Coffey Chiefs at the fieldhouse. The brilliant, fuzzy-faced magicians of the maples arrived in town yesterday, but left shortly after arriving to play a contest at Garden City, Kan., last night. But they are back today and waiting to try and hand the Chiefs their second whipping in as many meetings with the travelling showmen.

The Wizards clipped the car crew last year by seven points, but know full well that they have a tougher battle on their hands tomorrow. The Wizards have been hard hit by Uncle Sam's military draft, losing several players the last few weeks to the services. But they still field a potent lineup sparked by Jack Garrett and Jim Keller. Garrett hails from Corbin, Ky., and formerly held the Mountaineer state scoring record. He is playing his fifth season with the Wizards. He is a clown deft.

CHIEFS UNBEATEN

Keller is a 6-5 center from California. This is Keller's sixth season with the Wizards. He has averaged 22 points per game, and is considered one of the best pivot men in the country. He is always remembered for his outstanding showmanship and clowning. Keller is a veteran of World War II, serving in the Marines for four years.

Other performers include 6-4 Willard Daley and his brother Jack, 6-2. Willard played at Mississippi State for four years while Jack spent his college days with the University of Tennessee.

The Chiefs will send their usual star studded lineup of J. W. Malone, Cliff McNesly, Garland Head, Don Lloyd and Johnny Clark up against the Wizards. Others expected to be in uniform against the clowns include Cub Richens, D-wain Lyon, Wimpy Hill and Billy Frazier. The Chiefs are undefeated this far this season.

Tickets for the game, which is being sponsored by the Pampa Kiwanis Club, are now on sale at Noblitt-Coffey, Richard Drug, Leders Jewelry, Malone and Keel and Clyde's Pharmacy. Student tickets may be obtained at the Kiwanis Club office, J. H. W. Francis. All proceeds for the game go to the Kiwanis-Church sponsored summer softball program.

The Beavers needed a win to clinch the crown. With 10 seconds left in a hectic struggle as I've ever seen, Oregon enjoyed a 60-55 advantage. I was already thinking of ways of beating the Webfoots in the final game at Corvallis the following night.

But I hadn't reckoned—nor had Oregon—with Tommy Holman, our little substitute minor guard.

At this point, Tommy stole the ball in his own end of the court, dribbled towards the Oregon basket. Just over the center line he set himself and cast off with a two-hander. I swished through the twine to cut the lead to 60-57.

Oregon took the ball out of bounds with only nine seconds remaining. Six-foot eight-inch Roger Wiley attempted to throw in to teammate Bob Lavey, but Holman intercepted the pass popped in a lay-in.

The house went mad. Out of the din came Referee Hal Lee's whistle as Holman lay flat on the floor. Oregon's Johnny Nealey was charged with a foul.

Two seconds showed on the clock when Holman stepped to the foul line, calmly dropped the ball in to tie the game up sending it into overtime.

After two overtimes, we walked off the floor with a 79-72 win and with the Northern Division championship.

This without a doubt was the greatest clutch-shooting I've seen in my 26 years of coaching.

Vejar Aims For DeMarco

NEW YORK — (AP) — Chico Vejar, the fighting freshman from NYU, had his college education all paid for today. Now he's looking forward to earning post-graduate fees against rough Faddy De Marco Feb. 29.

The wiry, fast punching 20-year-old from Stamford, Conn., gave Johnny (Red) De Fazio, Bayonne, N.J., a course in stretch fighting Friday night and then stopped the 21-year-old redhead in 41 seconds of the ninth round of a Madison Square Garden ten-rounder.

Chico's neat exhibition earned him about $7,500 and put him in line for the Garden shot with De Marco, a ranking lightweight contender.

Although the swarthy Connecticut youngster won like 1 to 5 favorite he was, he had some anxious moments in the early rounds. A notoriously slow starter, Chico was dumped for eight in the second round by a right uppercut to the chin.

That shot apparently woke him up for he caught up to Red by the fifth round and breezed from there on. The first five frames had the 6,511 fans ($22,655 gross gate) yelling as the boys swapped punches at closer range. Chico, who weighed 147 to De Fazio's 147 3-4, grew stronger each round while De Fazio tired.

In the eighth, Chico connected with three rights to De Fazio's jaw. The last one dropped De Fazio for nine. He was groggy when he arose and Chico battered him in a corner with a furious barrage. Referee Ray Miller broke them once and it seemed he was going to stop the bout. But he permitted it to continue and De Fazio absorbed some more punishment. The fans shouted for the referee to stop it.

Miller asked Dr. Vincent Nardello to look over De Fazio between rounds. The doctor told the referee to let it go on, but to watch the next round carefully. As soon as Vejar banged a right to De Fazio's head at the start of the ninth, Miller halted it.

Pros Turning To Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Golf's traveling men "come home" this week to San Antonio where 30 years ago the first winter tour began with the Texas Open.

Dropped three times because of financial troubles and the war, this will be the 25th edition of the oldest winter tournament.

The Texas Open originated in the mind of Jack O'Brien, former sports editor of the San Antonio Evening News.

Horton Smith, president of the PGA, will present a scroll to O'Brien in recognition of his work.

The Texas Open that begins Thursday over the 6400-yard Brackenridge Park Municipal course with its par of 36-35-71 and continues through Sunday.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison is the defending champion. He defeated Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., in an 18-hole playoff last year.

The field includes most of the top-notchers except Lloyd Mangrum and Cary Middlecoff.

The pro-amateur tournaments are on the week's schedule. The first will be played Monday. The other, a $333,000 invitational event, will be played Tuesday.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK — Selected by the Little Harvester, Pampa High school publication, as players of the week were the Bond brothers, "Harvesters of the week," and Ray Cooper, right, "Guerilla of the week." The popular Bond boys are caught in their regular noon job of washing dishes at the high school cafeteria. Jimmie (left) is the leading scorer on the team while brother Marvin is runner-up. Cooper is a regular forward on the B squad Guerrillas.

By BOB DIXON
Pampa News Sports Writer
LEFORS — With precision-like movement, the White Deer Bucks rolled to a 66-56 victory over the Lefors Pirates here Friday night in a District 1-A basketball game.
Paced by Jackie Freeman, the Bucks were able to run up a 20-11 count at the end of the first quarter. Freeman accounted for eight of the points. Not far behind was his teammate, Ronald Mills, who hit for six.
The Pirates were able to tally 13 points in the second quarter, but were not able to hold the Bucks, who racked up 19 to take a 39-24 halftime advantage.
Early in the third quarter Freeman fouled out, leaving the scoring duties to Guy Thornburg. With Freeman gone, the Bucks were only able to outscore the Pirates by one point during the third period, leading 55-39 as the final quarter started.
In the last quarter the Pirates came back to score 17 points but they couldn't hold the Bucks, who scored 11 and grabbed the victory.
High point man for the game was Russell Herring of Lefors, who tallied 18. Thornburg of White Deer was just a step behind with 17.
In the preliminary game the Does of White Deer won a thrilling battle from the Piratettes, 26-24.
With one and a half minutes left, Bittle was fouled. With the crowd screaming she sank the winning points from the free throw line.
High point honors for the Piratettes were shared by three, Fern McCathern, Wanda Williams and Shirley McAninch, all with seven. These games ended the home season for the Pirates.
said he was another victim of "a coach's insecurity."
The scandal of last fall left the college "too indecisive" about future football policy, Bass said, and he quit rather than risk his coaching chores last August 18, career.

Irish B Cagers Crush Rockets

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach Clarence Morris' Irish B team racked up its eleventh victory in a crushing 56-27 victory over the hapless Wellington B team here Wednesday night.
Shamrock leaped into an early lead and swept to a victory. The Wellingtons were never ahead and continually dropped further behind. The Irish clicked handily to a 16-0 margin at the quarter and easily stayed ahead to lead 25-15 at the half.
They extended their margin in the third quarter to 35-22 and then whipped in 22 points in a mad rush in the final frame to upend the Wellingtons with surprising ease.
Lee Roy Passons paced the B with 19 points and barely behind him was Jimmy Smith with 16. Wellington's Harvey cracked the nets for 14, but other Rockets seemed to have difficulty in finding the nets.
Shamrock B, winners of the Alanreed B tourney in January, now have 11 wins against two upsets for a percentage of .846. They have racked up Panhandle, Lella Lake, Wellington, McLean, Canadian and Childress most of them twice, and won one of two against Canadian and Childress.

The days of the Wild West may be gone, but the days of the handgun aren't. The pistol and revolver are more popular now than ever before. There are a lot of uses for them, but by far the greatest use is by people like you and me — for just having fun.
For these cold days it's not too difficult to make a fairly safe range in your basement. Before you get too involved though, it's smart to check with the police to see that you don't run afoul of their ground rules on the subject.
While you may sneer at the thought of an air gun, a good one will give you much amusement and a considerable amount of training, alone with little noise, and it won't cost much. By using a degree of caution, you can get away with the air gun in the living room. The amount of caution you must use depends upon the attitude of the rest of the family toward stray pellets buried in the wall or the furniture.
Arms Expert Jim Crossman thinks a hunting trip and the handgun go together like ham and eggs. The handgun will help pass away those times when conditions aren't right or when you're too lazy to go out.
If there is small game around, and you're a good enough stalker, the handgun will help fill the pot. Once again, before you get too ambitious you'd better read your game laws. Away from camp, whether you're fishing, hiking or hunting, the handgun is convenient to have along. It's good medicine on snakes and will knock off many small predators.
For my money, the handgun to take with you to camp or as a companion while you're hunting or fishing is one chambered for the .22 rim-fire cartridge. It's the most pleasant to shoot because of its lack of noise and recoil, and ammunition is cheap and readily available.
You don't need fancy target sights on a gun for field use, but it should be possible to move the sights for both elevation and windage so that you can properly sight the gun in for your eyes.
You won't need many accessories with your .22 handgun. If you plan to carry the gun on you, then you should have a holster of some sort. The only other things you should have are some cleaning materials — a cleaning rod and a good grease or oil.

McLean Girls Win But Boys Lose Pair

McLEAN — (Special) — The great McLean girls basketball team kept McLean High school from being completely shut out here Friday night when they defeated the Gruber girls, 52-33.
In the other two games, the Phillips Blackhawks whipped the McLean Tigers, 63-32, and the Phillips B team downed the McLean B squad, 46-32.
Bonita Bailey led the scoring for the Irish plastered on Childrens Sept. 1, and then dropped a regional championship to the tough Bobcats here, 25-7.
Borger and Quanah are newcomers on the Irish list, which also includes a newcomer in Paducah, a District 3-AA battle here Oct. 31. Shamrock, in District 1-AA in 1951, where they won the title, has gone into 3-AA with the opening of school next fall.

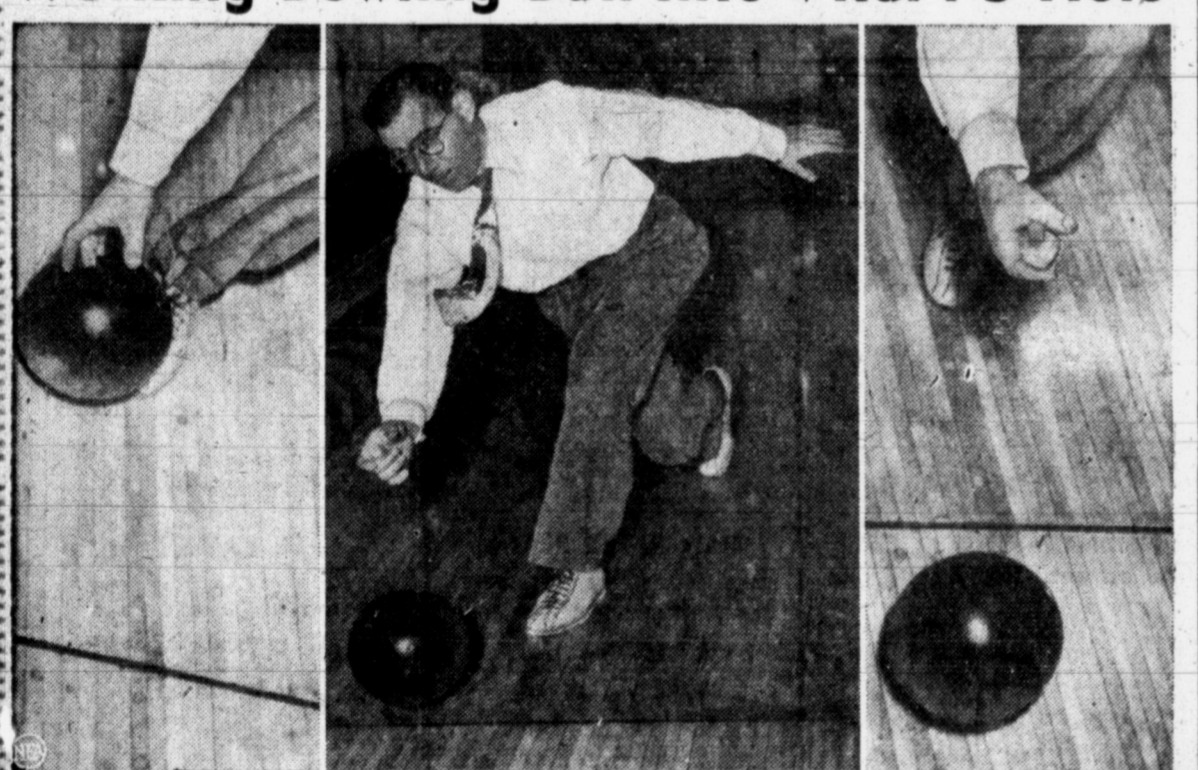

the Tigerettes with 31 points. Philis Klugg paced the losers with 18.
B. W. Duncan was high-point man in the Tiger-Hawk clash, getting 11, while Bob McDonald led the Hawks with 14. Rodney Gunn scored 15 to lead the McLean B team while Miller hit 9 for Phillips.
Tuesday night the Tigers-play the Wheeler Mustangs at Wireler.

W&M Coach Quits After Half-Year

RICHMOND, Va. — (AP) — William and Mary College, still feeling the after-effects of its 1951 athletic department scandal, has put in the market for a new football coach today for the second time in less than six months.
After only one season as head coach — a season during which his team compiled a fine 7-3 record — youthful Marvin Bass has handed in his resignation.
Bass, 32, who took over the coaching chores last August 18, career.

Get Thumb Out Before Fingers To Hook Working Bowling Ball Into Vital 1-3 Hole

IMPORTANT SPLIT SECOND — Murray Levin shows in the first photograph that the thumb should come out of the ball before the fingers. In the second photo, the ball is caught in midair as Levin slides to the foul line. In the third picture, the ball is making contact with the alley as the New York bowler continues his slide. The clenched fist is the tipoff that he was applying strong pressure to the ball at the release. (NEA)

By PAT McDONOUGH
NEA Special Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Would you like to deliver a working ball that hooks neatly into the vital 1-3 pocket and imparts its spin to the pins with frequent strikes?
Then you should make a point of withdrawing your thumb from the bowling ball before your fingers come out.
Two bowlers seem to have identical styles, approaching the alley and releasing the ball. But one averages 120, the other 180. The difference is that split second before the ball leaves the hand.
All the better bowlers give the ball a lift with the fingers just as the thumb leaves the ball.
The extraction of the thumb before the fingers is impossible to see with the man eye and is even a severe test for an expert cameraman.
But New York World-Telegram and Sun photographer William Greene clicked his shutter at the split-second which showed Murray Levin, one of the city's better bowlers, with his thumb out of the ball and his fingers still inserted.
The closed fist shows that the fingers were applying pressure as they were being withdrawn.
That pressure imparts a spin to the ball which keeps it to a true course.
The amount of pressure governs the extent and sharpness of the resulting hook.
A ball delivered off the thumb will have only a forward rolling motion and will tend to wobble, the unsteady course increased by the likely possibility of the ball rolling over the finger holes.
How can a bowler make a ball roll in a straight line for 40 feet, then hook into the 1-3 pocket?
The answer is simple. The spin on the ball does not affect its course until its speed decreases. For the first 40 feet the ball could be said to be skidding in a controlled manner.
When the speed is less the pin controls the ball's course.

...BE NECESSARY TO LENGTHEN THE TRAP CHAIN TO 5 OR 6 FT. A SHORTER CHAIN WOULD PERMIT A MUSKRAT TO SWIM OUT IN THE STREAM AS FAR AS HE COULD AND RETURN TO SHALLOW WATER WITHOUT TIRING ENOUGH TO DROWN BUT A LONG CHAIN CAUSES HIS FAILURE.
PICK A FLAT STONE ABOUT 12 IN. LONG, 4 IN. WIDE AND 1 OR 2 IN. THICK. CUT NOTCHES AROUND ITS MIDDLE TO KEEP THE WIRE FROM SLIPPING OFF. AFTER THE TRAP IS SET NEAR SHORE, TOSS THE STONE OUT IN THE STREAM BUT BE SURE THE CHAIN LIES ON THE STREAM'S BOTTOM SO THAT FLOATING DEBRIS CAN'T ENTANGLE IT AND MOVE TRAP.

Junior Boys Play Wellington

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach B. L. Hill will take his Irish junior boys into combat against the Wellington juniors Wednesday with odds favoring the Wellingtons.
Hill's juniors will enter the battle at 6 p. m., when his main crew — James Derborne, James Tarbet, James Collingsworth — attempt a victory in their tenth start.
Although they have come within three points of winning, as the 15-12 loss to Allison in the junior tourney here shows, they are still trying to break into the win column.
Shamrock junior girls have won eight and lost two for one of their best seasons.

The University of Florida's 10 football opponents registered 56 first downs rushing and the same number on passes.

Social Security Cards Needed By Farm, Home Help

Regularly employed farm workers and household employees who came under Social Security last year need social security account number cards, according to John R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office. "If the worker does not have an account number, or has lost his original card," Sanderson says, "he should get one from our office."

"Sanderson points out that farm and household workers who became covered under Social Security now earn Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits along with other workers in business and industry. "Benefits are based on wages and the worker needs to get credit for every dollar he earns up to $3600 in a calendar year. So that he may obtain proper credit for his wages, the worker should show his social security account number card to his employer the first day he goes to work," Sanderson concluded.

A representative from the Amarillo Social Security office is in Pampa at the Texas Employment Commission office every Monday morning at 9:30.

Miss Irish Rose Of 1952 To Be Crowned At Shamrock

SHAMROCK — (Special) — at the time of the March 17 Shamrockers will crown their "Miss Irish Rose of 1952" here St. Patrick's day, following a parade of the lovelies of the light of the giant Irish festival. They will ride a suitable float in the parade, under supervision of Roy Carlton, float chairman. In the last Irish St. Pat's Day celebration, Irene Purkey of Samnorwood high school was "Miss Irish Rose of 1950."

Instructors Sought For Air Force Base

The Board of Civil Service Examiners at Amarillo Air Force base announces approximately 125 vacancies for Aircraft Mechanic Instructors in both GS-5 and GS-7 levels.

Paying an annual salary of $4,205 the GS-7 level of instructor requires a college degree in engineering, physical science, math, industrial education or industrial arts. In addition, two years of teaching experience either in high school or college is required. Educational requirements will be by-passed if the applicant has teaching experience or skilled-technical experience in aircraft mechanics.

The GS-5 level of instructor begins with base salary of $3410 per annum and requirements are the same as in GS-7 levels except that teaching experience is not required.

Applicants should submit Standard Form 57, "Application for Federal Employment," to the Executive Secretary, Board of Civil Service Examiners, Amarillo Air Force base, Texas. Forms may be obtained from any first or second class post office.

IOOF Officers Are Honored At Banquet

The Esther club honored all new IOOF officers in all branches of the order at a banquet Thursday night. About 135 guests were present.

Tables carried out the Valentine theme.

Vernon Hall, master of ceremonies, introduced members and presented the following gifts: Ethel Bryan, junior past noble, received a table lamp; Ethel May Day received a 25 year membership pin; Bobbie Brummett, district deputy, received a certificate promoting him to the rank of a colonel.

Junior IOOF members presented a short play following the introduction of officers.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by ballet and tap dance students of Mrs. Helen Madeira. Miss Joan Lunstorf accompanied the dancers and Miss Sandra Kaye Shew, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shew, and Bobby Kent Madeira, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Madeira, (Smith Photo)

PERFORM AT BANQUET — Carolyn Sue Cockrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cockrell, and Sharon Osborne, daughter of Mrs. Marian Osborne, participated on the program at the Theta Rho banquet Thursday night. Brass Band To Pep Things Up At Self-Planned Rites

BURLINGTON, Colo. — (P) — Jim Gernhart, 75, retired Burlington farmer, said today a 68-piece brass band from Cleveland, Ohio, will be on hand for his second "funeral."

"I reckon it's gonna be quite a show," he said.

Jim, who spent an estimated $15,000 on last year's "funeral" services, said he has received word from the drum major of a Cleveland band that he and his organization will fly here for the second in the series of services. He did not disclose the identity of the drum major nor the band.

"I aim to see I ain't buried like a dog," he told reporters in announcing last year's event. He also said he wanted to spend as much of his $75,000 fortune before he dies as is possible "to make sure them dern relatives of mine don't git my money."

A few weeks ago Jim announced plans for the second "funeral." He said at first it would not be "near as big a blowout as it was last time." But the probable appearance of the band has changed his mind about the scope of this year's event.

"It'll probably be the golgongest funeral on June 8 you ever saw."

He told reporters he enjoyed his $15,000 service so much last year he decided to do it all over again.

Miami Speech Class To Present Comedy

MIAMI — (Special) — The speech class production of "Little Women" a three-act comedy based on Louisa Mae Alcott's novel, will be given in the High School auditorium, Friday, February 15. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

The play is the first three-act production undertaken by the speech class and its success will determine whether or not a three act play will be made an annual project. "Little Women" is of interest to children as well as adults.

Proceeds will go toward the purchase of a new cyclorama for the stage.

WHAT'S COOKIN' IN GRAY COUNTY HD CLUB WORK

By HELEN DUNLAP
Home Demonstration Agent

Did you know that using the right size of needle helps you to do a better sewing job? In other words, the right needle helps your work look more professional. It pays to rarely use size and type of needle suited for home jobs. Otherwise the sewing basket may have plenty of idlers, but may be short on the useful sizes. Emergency mending jobs are frequent in most homes and there is more than a nuisance to be out of the right needle.

It is best to buy needles by size, rather than set. Packages of assorted sizes may be easily obtained, but often they prove inconvenient because they include so many sizes rarely used in home sewing and in mending. Number seven, generally, is the largest one the home seamstress uses, yet sizes in packed assortments often run as large as number three which is suited only to sewing heavy canvas or duck. Size nine or ten are best for most dress materials and for hand sewing that calls for small stitches. An ample supply of these sizes should be kept on hand at all times. Size seven and eight are good to use in sewing heavy fabrics or in basting.

There are three types of needles on the market. "Sharps" are medium length, round eye needles used most in home sewing. Between needles are shorter and are preferred by some women for very fine sewing, but often they are too short to hold comfortably. Crewel, or long-eye needles, are designed for embroidery and darning thread. Women who have difficulty in seeing to thread needles may prefer crewels in small sizes for regular sewing. The long eye makes them easier to thread. The long has its disadvantages, however. The eye is more fragile and is easily broken at the eye end.

Many of you will be doing spring sewing if you have not already started. Why not make it easier and better by selecting the right tools. The right size of needle is one of the most important tools in effective dress-making.

What's RIGHT?

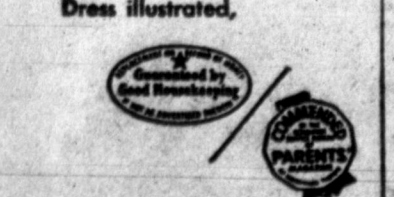

Your child returns from school when you have a guest, and starts to tell you something. WRONG: Interrupt him to him to run outside and play. RIGHT: Treat him as courteous as you would a guest, letting him take a minute before you and your guest resume your conversation.

First Methodist Circles Study Mission To America

"The Church and the Community" was the topic of the first lesson of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church in their study of "Mission to America." Circle One met in the home of Mrs. P. G. Gates. Mrs. E. L. Davis, circle chairman, presided over the business meeting. She announced the Day of Prayer to be held at the Presbyterian Church February 29th. Roll call of home missionaries and deaconesses. Mrs. F. W. Shotwell presented the lesson. Refreshments were served to 15 members. The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. H. Butler.

Mrs. W. T. Cass, Jr. was hostess to Circle Two. Mrs. A. B. L. Reynolds, Mrs. LaDon Bradford and Mrs. Calvin Jones. The program, using as her topics "The Church Helps Me" by Jameson Jones and "The Need Next Door" by Helen Baker. The life of Martin Luther was told. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Thompson as co-hostess. There were 21 members present and one guest, Mrs. Otis Nace. The meeting was opened by the Lord's Prayer. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Myrtle Robinson's, 414 E. Browning.

Mrs. Charles Wooley was hostess to Circle Three with 17 members present. Mrs. Bob McCoy, Mrs. Price Doster, Jr. and Mrs. J. L. Chase who gave the study. Mrs. R. K. Elkins "Displaced No Longer" and Mrs. Weldon Carter who gave "Time and Luke 24:46-48. Mrs. Sher-Adams who read an article by Mrs. Ed Williams read scriptures: Math. 25:15 and 21:9-23; Romans 12:1, for which will be in the home of Mrs. Luther Pierson at 2:30 p.m.

Fourteen members of Circle Four met with Mrs. R. W. Lane to continue their study. The chairman presided over a short business meeting. The group was conducted by Mrs. George Cook. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Joe Shelton, 523 N. Russell.

Thirteen members and one guest, Mrs. H. H. Boynton, were present at the meeting of Circle Five in the home of Mrs. George Eyer. Mrs. A. L. Weathered and Mrs. Vernon Stuckey were introduced as new members. After a brief business session conducted by Mrs. Coy Palmer, the devotion was given by Mrs. Osborn, based on the scripture I John 4:20. Mrs. Louis Bonny 12 members and one guest.

VALENTINE'S DAY is with us again!!! Going to whip up Mr. Peg's favorite dishes and have a cozy dinner for two — by candle light; sans kiddies. Ah, romance — it is NOT just for the youngsters, you know.

THIS WEEK WAS NATIONAL BOY SCOUT WEEK, in honor of their 42nd anniversary. Bob Hope paid the Scouts as great a tribute as he could. "I've heard of every man in America had been a Boy Scout, Senator Kefauver wouldn't have had much of a television show." Keep up the good work, boys, we're proud of you. Mr. Peg and I are happy to have our own part in this fine group.

HAVE YOU EVER SEEN such beautiful designs in automobiles before... they are lovelier than ever. Of course my better half is right when he says I'm a typical woman when it comes to cars. What is under the hood doesn't mean a thing — it is the exterior that is important. Afraid that where autos are concerned, Peg is like so many others — a T-bone taste with hamburger budget. Oh well, we can dream, anyway!

SPEAKING OF DREAMING — just looked through the latest issues of Vogue and Harper's Bazaar — dream books I call them. Oh, such "purlies." Noticed something I've always liked, wearing white in the spring, instead of waiting 'til summer. Also polka-dots are shown in styles from play clothes to elegant evening frocks. The next season's fashions are always more fascinating than the season we're in, aren't they?

QUITE A LARGE CROWD turned out for the basketball game between the sports announcers and sports writers of Pampa and Amarillo. What started out as a game of comedy, ended in a serious tussle, with Amarillo winning by one hard point, taking the proceeds of the game to the Amarillo March of Dimes. There were many children in the stands cheering for "Uncle Coy," who, incidentally, was the star of the game, methinks.

PEG WOULD LOVE TO SEE a showing of Claudine Vail's paintings. Saw the portraits of the Bob Triplehorn children which just whetted the artistic appetite for more. Why not, Claudine?

WISH THERE WAS SOMETHING we could do to clean up Pampa's downtown streets. With our wind, the papers blow around something awful! Would refuse cans help — if we'd all use them!

WHAT IS THERE ABOUT SOMEONE getting hit in the face with a pie that is so hilarious? Saw an old slapstick comedy the other night, and the audience was in stitches, with a constant pie-in-the-face routine.

LITTLE JOHN TRIPLEHORN was an unhappy boy because his name was not mentioned with his sister's last week — we can't help that! Will say this about him, he is a typical lad — full of devilment and sweetness. Happier now, John?

JUST HAPPENED TO BE PASSING the First Methodist church Friday as the Kiwanians were leaving after their weekly luncheon. My, what a bunch of handsome men! Saw Frank Fata, Dr. Laycock, Claire Freeman and Ralph Gardner, to name a few. Must "happen by" more often.

PANORAMA de PEG: Was thrilled by the Spanish and Latin-American dancing of Rey and Gomez... Friends will be happy to hear that Earl and Alice Scheig will be returning from their trip to Hot Springs... Read that the trend in recordings is changing from what is generally known as "pop" to the sweet and sentimental ballads. Now perhaps my small fry will listen to their "old mother" and not think her such a "square"... Delicia Padgett makes an evening at the Country club even more pleasant because of her constant smile and pleasant chatter.

THIS WEEK SAW the death of King George VI. As a nation we offer our sympathy to the people of England on the loss of their beloved king, and especially to those English here in Pampa.

A TEA WAS GIVEN Wednesday afternoon to honor the five women, who 25 years ago organized the Altar Society of the Holy Souls parish. Orchids to these women and others like them who have done so much for the betterment of Pampa.

WILL LEAVE you this week with a personal valentine from PEG O' PAMPA.

A large candle stick, treasure chest, valentine mail box, bale of cotton, heart shaped boxes and many other peculiar and unusual works appeared at the annual H. H. slupper Friday. Leslie Hart was auctioneer.

Prizes were awarded in three classes.

Aimee Babcock, Grandview, received the prize for the most unusual, in the younger class, Olivia Ann Swain, Blue Bell club, the most beautiful in this city.

The teenage prizes were received by Shirley Keel, Pampa High club, and Billie Mae Oley circle with Mrs. Nolan Shirey's Cole, west of city; Mary Martha circle with Mrs. George Long, 616 Lefors.

For originality Billie made a large white candle on a silver holder.

Mrs. Joe Keel received the prize for the most beautiful in the adult class. Ruby Potts, assistant agent, won the award for the most original, which appeared to be a bale of cotton.

Judges for the event were Mrs. L. H. Hart and Miss Lilith Martin.

The Ugliest Man contest started the party with a bang. Nominations were Foster Whaley, county agent, Bill Goldston, D. W. Swain and Joe M. (Bud) Keel. It was a close race, but Joe M. Keel received the honor.

Carolyn Anderwald presented a piano solo, "The Caballero." An acrobatic number was presented by the Grandview club. The small tots wearing gold and purple costumes did many intricate movements. Those participating were Carolyn Wallin, Joey Babcock, Aimee Babcock, Myrna Cheryl Weinheimer, Agatha Wallin, Janice Babcock, Elaine Redwig, Mary Fields, Mary O'Gorman, Anita Stamps, Geraldine Wagoner, Arlene Willis.

Square dancing called by Paul Eakin, Pampa High club, climaxed the evening.

Scout troops will meet: Troop 4, Sam Houston cafeteria and Troop 39, Rotary house.

Marine Mothers To Organize Here

A Marine Mothers Auxiliary will be established in Pampa this week, making Pampa the fourth city in the state to have such an organization.

Wichita Falls, Houston and Dallas are the only other cities in which the Marine mothers have formed an organization.

The group here will meet in the home of Mrs. A. B. Whitten, 926 E. Browning, at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Whitten urges all Marine mothers in this area — Lefors, Skellytown, Wheeler, McLean and Albrecht — to attend the meeting. The national charter will be signed at that time.

The Mature Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
 "Last Spring," writes a reader, "you wrote a column telling parents that chores should not be allowed to interfere with sharing a child's joy or wonder. Recently you wrote another column in which you said that parents should not neglect growing-up duties to play games with children. Doesn't your second article contradict the first one?"

No, I don't think so. Sharing a child's joy or wonder is not necessarily playing games with him. When we play games with him, we may be entertaining him, rather than sharing joy and wonder.

This is an important distinction. The first column to which my reader refers concerned a small girl who had just found her first caterpillar in the garden. Her mother set a chore aside less important than sharing in Susan's wonder.

The second column concerned a small boy who wanted to be amused. His mother stopped playing trains with him because preparing his fruit for supper seemed more important than his entertainment. This decision was made easy for her by the frankness of her son who was having a fine time collecting imaginary tickets from imaginary passengers and was annoyed by his mother's preoccupation with realities.

Though each of these parents performed differently, each performed properly. Each decided for a child's more important need. The boy's mother decided that he needed a fruit dessert more than entertainment; the girl's mother felt that the thoughts and emotions inspired in her little girl by her first fuzzy caterpillar were more important to her than a dessert.

Under ordinary circumstances, a child's desire to be amused often has to be subordinated to the more essential matters of baking his potatoes, ironing his shirts and performing other tasks necessary to the proper care of our families.

If we let him badger us into playing train when we think we should be doing something else, we make poor playmates, impatient and preoccupied. As he doesn't relish being patronized by us, unless we really enjoy amusing him, we will make him basically happier by just going comfortably about our business than by continuing to play train, looking like a martyr.

We will only be happy postponing a chore if we have a good important reason to do so. Amusing Susan or Squidge is

Child Study Club To Sponsor Annual Hobby Show In Miami

MIAMI (Special) — Mrs. John Porter Pennington gave a program on "Table Manners" recently when the Child Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Theo Jenkins. In her discussion of the subject, she gave a number of helpful hints for mothers of young children.

Mrs. Willis Clark was in charge of the special feature. She played several musical selections and awarded prizes to Mrs. Ray Manning and Mrs. Pennington for being able to guess the largest number of the songs.

In the business session, presided over by Mrs. Clyde Loper, the club voted to again sponsor the hobby show at an early date in April. Details and arrangements for the show will be announced later.

The hostess served refreshments to Mrs. Pennington, Willis Clark, Loper, K. J. Bean, Eldon Sauti, James Flowers, Jim McCormick, Bill Talbert, Randall Gill, R. E. Haynes, J. D. Paris, Ralph Byrum, and one visitor, Mrs. C. H. Clark of Wichita Falls.

not necessarily that good important reason — but sharing in their wonder is, because it is awe, fascination, terror and humility — a compound of pretty tremendous feelings for small people to manage alone.

A child can feel his first wonder for anything from a broken Christmas tree ornament to a kitten in a pet store window. It can strike him suddenly, so that a mildly colorful sunset blazes across his imagination, setting the pigment for sunsets forever more.

I have heard an eight-year-old whisper, "Was that music daddy?" about a violin recording she had heard many times before. Whatever inspires it, sunset or caterpillar, it is an emotion which should command our tenderness and time, for wonder is the feeling that makes contact between us and the strangeness, majesty, beauty and terror of the world.

So when we neglect dessert making to tell Susan about her caterpillar, we are not neglecting an adult responsibility. It is always an adult responsibility to help a child see himself in relation to the great and small things around him, so that he begins to get the measurements on his own identity. It is much more important than amusing him or making him a fruit desert.

The power to love truly and devotedly is the noblest gift with which a human being can be endowed; but it is a sacred fire that must not be burned to idols.

—Maria Jane Jewsbury

Love is the hardest lesson in Christianity; but, for that reason, it should be most our care to learn it.

The desire to be beloved is ever restless and unsatisfied; but the love that flows out upon others is a perpetual well-spring from on high.

Miss Emma Sing Elected College Of Emporia's March Of Dimes Queen

Miss Emma Sing, daughter of Mr. Lee Sing, Pampa, was elected College of Emporia's candidate for queen of the March of Dimes Ball in Emporia, Kan. Seven candidates sponsored by Emporia schools, civic organizations, and professional groups are helping to swell the Emporia contribution to the March of Dimes campaign by participating in the contest. Proceeds from votes, at ten cents each, go to the fund. It is expected that Emporia's goal of $10,000 will be more than met. The winner is to be announced at the President's Ball. Miss Sing, who is sponsored by the Student commission at the College of Emporia, where she is a sophomore student, is majoring in literature. Interested also in art, Miss Sing plans to minor in that subject. She has been active on her college campus in art work of various kinds, and was commended for her excellent work in designing and erecting the sets for "The Old Maid and the Thief," Menotti's burlesque opera presented at the College of Emporia recently. Miss Sing's work was highly praised by the reviewer of the Emporia Gazette, who called her sets "fresh and attractive."

Entre Nous Has Valentine Social

Mrs. J. C. Farrington was hostess to the Entre Nous club Friday in the home of Mrs. Joe Lewis. Mrs. Norman Walberg, new president, had charge of the business session.

Mrs. Mattie Shackleton, recreation chairman, directed games and contests for the Valentine party. Prizes went to Mrs. Ben Talley and Mrs. Fannie Skaggs.

Mrs. J. R. Spearman read a poem on the meaning of Valentine's day.

Mrs. D. Tarr, was introduced to the club as a new member. Valentine colors were carried out in the refreshments of individual heart-shaped cakes and red fruit salad topped with whipped cream.

Attending were Mrs. W. S. Tolbert, A. B. McAfee, W. D. Stockstill, C. C. Stockstill, Clyde Carruth, Guy Farrington, C. A. Tignor, Boyd Brown, C. W. Bowers, Tarr, Lewis, Shackleton, and Mrs. Talley and Skaggs, two visitors.

Elk Ladies To Sponsor Benefit Bridge Monday

Wives of Elks club members will sponsor a benefit bridge and canasta party Monday at 1:30 p. m. in the Elk Lodge, located above the Culberson Chevrolet building.

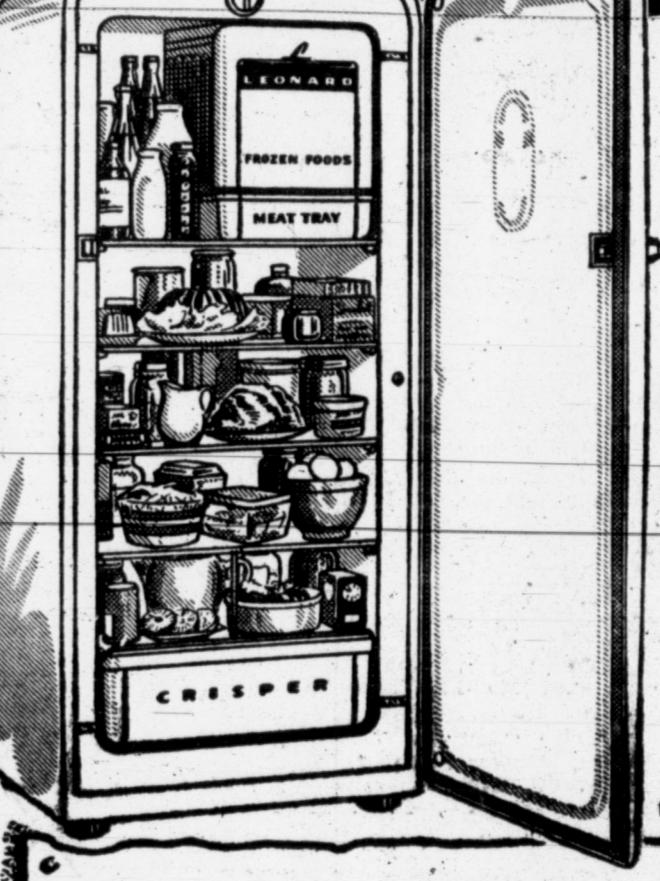

Hostesses will be Mrs. Earl Denmore, Davis A. Brown, Coy Palmer, Doyle Clanton and Paul Camp.

Theme of the party is "Be a Valentine to a crippled child." All proceeds will go to the crippled children's hospital in Houston. The hospital is owned and supported by Texas Elks for children in Texas. The children admitted there need various types of medical care and they receive braces, physical and hydrotherapy, speech therapy, surgery and custodial care, according to a report to the local Elks from the hospital.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Gas Completions Set Pace In Panhandle Field

Shamrock Stakes Test In Sherman

Gas completions continued to set the pace in Panhandle oil field operations last week as operators staked 13 new locations and filed 18 completions.

Seven gas wells were completed for a total increased potential of 101,074 MCF while five oil completions brought in a total of 396 barrels.

Of the completions, one was a 6500-foot test in Sherman county by Shamrock O&G Co. and four were plugged wildcats in Armstrong, Childress, Donley and Roberts counties.

Principal addresses of the meeting's general session March 20 will be delivered by J. C. Donnell II, president of the Ohio Oil Co., Findlay, Ohio, and vice-president of production of the American Petroleum Institute, and Sen. Andrew F. Schoepel, of Kansas.

Chairman of the API's Mid-Continent district is Harold E. Berg, of the Tide Water Associated Oil Co., Tulsa.

Production men will devote the first day of their Wichita conference to the meetings of 11 district committees studying various aspects of petroleum production problems ranging from artificial lifting of deep wells to core analysis and well logging.

Supply and service companies serving Mid-Continent area producers will be hosts at a reception and buffet dinner for registrants on the opening night of the conference.

Wichita's Mayor Floyd T. Amsden will welcome visiting oil men to open the meeting's general morning session in the ballroom of the Broadview March 20. Presiding will be general chairman Miller and G. C. MacDonald, Gulf Oil Corp., Tulsa, chairman of the program committee.

Election of district officers and the presentation of some 10 technical papers relating to oil production will highlight the remainder of the three-day conference. Three papers on the latest developments in water flooding are among those scheduled for presentation.

Other technical session papers will deal with production subjects ranging from a multiple fracturing process for increasing the productivity of wells to "definition of a crooked hole," according to a tentative program for the Mid-Continent meeting just released.

The production group's annual banquet the evening of March 21 will conclude the district conference.

T. W. Helsler, of the Derby Oil Co., Wichita, is in charge of housing for the oil group. Chairman of the entertainment committee is Jake Easton, of the National Tube Co. here, and registration chairman is V. J. (Mike) Mercer, Faulders, Inc., also of Wichita.

Jack L. Worley, of the Independent Oil and Gas Service, Wichita, is chairman of the publicity committee, which includes many of the outstanding oil editors and writers of the Mid-Continent area.

Huff Is Named IPAA Officer

TULSA — I. C. (Cleve) Huff, Jr., has been named assistant to the executive manager of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America which he joins as a field representative in 1951. His appointment to the newly created post was announced by C. E. Buchner, executive manager, who said Huff would assist with IPAA administrative duties and direct activities of its field staff which represents the association in the various oil producing states and areas. Buchner said the post of assistant to the executive manager was created by the IPAA executive committee in recognition of the expanding administrative requirements which have resulted from the constantly increasing growth of IPAA.

Phillips Employees Lauded At Banquet For Safety Record

Phillips Petroleum Co. acted as host to 150 employees and guests of the Plains Division of the Production Department at a dinner held last week at the Phillips American Legion hall. The purpose of the dinner was to congratulate the division employees for having completed the year 1951 without a lost-time injury. Special guest for the occasion was Mr. C. A. Daniels, Northern region superintendent, Oklahoma City, Daniels, in congratulating the group, stated that 1951 was the first time in the history of the Plains Division that a lost-time free year had been achieved. Safety honor awards were presented to the individual work groups by Mr. J. W. Perkins, Plains division superintendent. The program for the evening consisted of a precision shooting exhibition performed by Capt. Don Lawrence, director of small arms training for the Texas Highway Patrol. Captain Lawrence was introduced by W. J. Elliot, chief of the Texas Highway Patrol. As of Feb. 1, 1952, the Plains division had worked 549 days or approximately 500,000 man-hours without a lost-time injury. R. W. O'Neill, Panhandle district superintendent, was master of ceremonies.

Spirited Bidding For Sooner Land Remembered by Author

TULSA, Okla. — (AP) — "Up to one and a half million the bidding went with only the two of them in it, and both nodding their assents to the raises . . ." So runs part of the account of a fabulous Oklahoma oil lease sale, one Gulf Oil Corp.'s historian describes as furnishing the vast concern one of its most exciting days. It is related by Craig Thompson, former New York Times reporter who compiled for the company a book titled "Since Spindletop." The company calls it "a human story of Gulf's first half century," ended in 1951. "Spindletop" was the historic South Texas gusher in 1901. It was financed by the Mellon banking house of Pittsburgh, Pa., and started what was to develop into the Gulf Oil Corp. Gulf's 50-year growth provides "human" stories of the executives and decisions which helped to build it to an organization with 1950 assets of $1,324,358,000. But none stirs more deeply the nostalgia of oil men in these parts than that about the auction of petroleum-proven Osage Indian lands at Pawhuska, Okla., June 28, 1922. Millions of dollars were offered for the oil bearing tracts that steamingly hot day, with a nod of the head or a raised forefinger upping a bid by thousands. "In all of Gulf's history," the book recalls, "there has never been another day like that. And there probably never will be." Central figures in the dramatic story were Henry M. McGraw, later to head Gulf's Tulsa division; Rush Greenslade, a lawyer who later rose to the same job; and Frank Phillips, founder of the Phillips Petroleum Co. McGraw at the time was in the law department of the Gypsy Oil Co., Gulf's Oklahoma producing subsidiary. He was described as a "man of great daring and shrewd judgement whose capacities as a production man overshadowed his talent as a lawyer." Wanting information on a Phillips well drilling in the Osage country, McGraw sent scout Jack Rushmore after it, Phillips, however, was running a "tight boat" (refusing information) and, according to the Gulf version, Rushmore and his associates ran into difficulty, argument and near-violence. Nevertheless, on the day of the Indian lands auction, McGraw knew the Phillips well was a valuable producer. And his determination to have adjacent leases set the stage for the battle of bids. "Greenslade, a young man in a poncee suit with a passion for holding himself icily calm and delivering his bids in the most barely discernible whisper, was to do the talking for Gypsy . . ." the historian quotes a Kansas City Star reporter's account of the sale. The first auctioned tract went to Gypsy for $1,050,000 "with Greenslade and Frank Phillips having the going all their way after the half million mark had been reached . . ." The next lot's figure worked up to $915,000 — a price just for the privilege of drilling 160 acres. At that point "the nonchalant Mr. Greenslade started whispering sums the mention of which from

Rig Activity On Increase

DALLAS — A total of 2924 rotary rigs were active in oil fields of the United States and Canada for the week of Feb. 4, according to a report to American Assn. of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Co. This total compares with 2879 reported a week ago, 2973 a month ago, and with 3119 in the corresponding week of 1951. A comparison by principal areas for the past two weeks shows: Pacific Coast, 170, up 1; Oklahoma, 363, up 23; Kansas, 166, up 13; Rocky Mountain, 159, down 1; Canada, 184, up 11; Ark-La-Tex, 168, down 12; West Texas & New Mexico, 712, down 11; Gulf Coast, 588, down 6; Illinois, 92, up 7; North 324, up 20.

BRADY, Tex. — (AP) — The West Texas Press association will hold its 22nd annual meeting at Alpine Aug. 8-9. Editor of the Brady Standard and WTPA president, announced the date and site after a meeting of WTPA officers and directors. The invitation to meet at Alpine was extended by M. A. Webb, publisher of the Alpine Avalanche, and the Alpine Chamber of Commerce. The two-day program will be concluded by a visit to McDonald Observatory and a tour of the Big Bend National Park. Keith Thomas, newly acquired outfielder for the Philadelphia A's, spends the off-season as a student at Kansas State College.

THANKS FOR THE VALENTINE—Marie Wilson, who portrays bird-brained Irma Peterson in "My Friend Irma" on TV, has a Valentine for her fans. She intends to shuck the dull costumes she now wears and appear in something a little more exciting. Says Marie: "The dialogue won't get any deeper but the cut of my gowns will. There'll be some sweaters, too."

TIPRO Plans Meet Feb. 25

AUSTIN — Final plans for the sixth annual meeting of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Assn. will be completed when the TIPRO executive committee meets in Austin Feb. 25. The association convention will be held in Fort Worth March 27 and 28. The committee will hear reports from special subcommittees on the subjects of oil imports, crude oil prices, steel tubular goods allocation, and natural gas. A theme of the meeting will be "oil and education." John R. Penn, Jr., and Gaylord H. Chisum, both of Fort Worth, were named co-chairmen of the meeting. Local committees arranging the meeting include general arrangements, reservations, entertainment, finance, ladies, and publicity. Committees which will meet throughout Thursday, March 27, to prepare reports for membership consideration include resolutions, nominations, imports, price steel, gas, and by-laws.

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Destruction From Within

Dr. Leo Wolman, professor of Economics at Columbia University, recently pointed to England and France as examples of the fact that "it is as easy for a country to weaken or destroy itself from within as from without."

He then said, "Our course since the war is calculated to create a nation of rich and poor evils against which we are supposed to be protecting ourselves. The first of these is large scale financial instability. Our policies are leading straight toward progressive decline in the value of our money, investments and contractual obligations. How ever much we tax we shall not arrest these trends."

By this time, the American people should be certainly awakened to the menace of spendthrift government. It is estimated that one-fourth of the income of a family receiving the modest sum of $3500 a year goes for taxes—open and hidden, direct and indirect. As income brackets go up, the tax burden skyrockets.

EXTENT OF DAMAGE: It is a tedious task to estimate the extent of damage that has been done to our economy through monetary inflation. But it is not too tedious to make an approximation year by year for each corporation, and such an approximation should be made to become an appendix to all earnings statements.

No Cure: The annual meeting of the Grocery Manufacturers Assn. of America was recently held in New York. The speakers included nationally known economists, and representatives of grocery producers and retailers.

It should not be forgotten that the retailer did not create inflation, and he has not benefited from inflation. He is as much a victim of inflation as any consumer. The fact is that retailers of all kinds and sizes have voluntarily and consistently fought inflation with all the weapons at their command.

Dr. Jones' statistical abstract covered 16 pages in The Journal of Accountancy, January 1949 issue, and to date I have not heard it challenged by accountant, auditor, or economist.

stringing any business or the economy as a whole with more and more inflexible edicts is the way to cure monetary inflation.

CHIP: MY FATHER STEPPED IN FRONT OF A TRUCK! WAS HE HURT?

NOPE, IT WAS BACKIN' UP!

It's Your Money

... John Beck

BUSINESS MIS-STATEMENTS: BEAUTIFUL ART: This is the time of year when business puts its statement of affairs on record. Balance sheets are beginning to pour in purporting to tell how each corporation has fared.

Numerically speaking, the figures are awe inspiring, and both accountants and auditors can be highly complimented on their arithmetic proficiency, but compliments to these accountants and auditors must end at this point.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Baxter's Views

BY DAVID BAXTER

There is a very good chance that General Eisenhower will be the next Republican presidential nominee. If he is, by the same token there is a very good chance that the Republican Party will go down to another well-deserved defeat.

By way of "softening" the public up to Eisenhower's candidacy, his backers are already circulating news stories to the effect that Truman is getting ready to cut the General to pieces and regards Eisenhower as his most formidable rival.

I don't think Truman thinks any such thing. I think Eisenhower is a deliberate "plant" in the Republican Party, just as Wendell Willkie was in the GOP (after being a Democrat all his life) and was stamped into the nomination.

Next the Republicans had Dewey steam-rollered into getting the nomination and, like Willkie, the GOP (after being a Democrat all his life) and was stamped into the nomination.

It seems to me that the man who does not believe in the use of force is a dreamer. He is not a practical individual. It seems to me that it is the duty of any individual to use force to try to save a man's life that someone is trying to take, and even to protect the rights in his property that he has honestly earned.

But because a man believes in voluntary agreements and in the defense of principles as was the case with the American Revolution, doesn't make him an anarchist or make him against the use of force.

Undoubtedly those who say that because we believe the government should be supported on a voluntary basis that we are anarchists do not believe that support could be obtained on a voluntary basis. But practically all of the food, clothing, transportation and amusements that people have are produced on a voluntary basis.

It is not attempting to "smear" Eisenhower when I say that such people as Claude Pepper, Drew Pearson, CIO Phil Murray, the notorious A.D.A. and others of like stripe have been plumping for Eisenhower for a long time, while the Communist Party's New York Convention in 1944, while not openly endorsing "Ike" for President, did give him a great ovation and extended its greeting to "three great men—Stalin, Tito and Eisenhower. I notice they didn't say anything great about Americans noted for opposing Communism."

I have stacks of similar evidence which seems to be a dead tip-off to which way Ike leans. Even Tom Dewey had been among his leading foes. If all of Ike's record—including his stint at Columbia University—an election comes out (as it will in an election campaign) he's a dead duck.

Am I An Anarchist? I ask this question because people do not seem to realize that because I am opposed to initiating force that I am not opposed to the use of force.

WASHINGTON — Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark's friendship and toleration of the discredited Theron L. Lamar Caudle have now been topped by his judicial associates.

Although a federal court in New York held that her guilt was "plain" in slipping official secrets to a Stalin agent, former Attorney General Clark's illegal tactics in obtaining evidence and prosecuting her may let her go free of indictments against her here and in New York City.

ELUNDERS — Although Miss Coplon may be retried, most legal authorities believe that it would be futile because of the lack of evidence against her.

SEGREGATION — The case involves the complaint of Negroes in Clarendon County, S. C., against segregation in the school system. They contend it violates the federal Constitution.

INEPT — Department of Justice prosecutors fought stubbornly but unsuccessfully to prevent a disclosure of the fact that the law against wiretapping had been broken by the FBI agents.

Bid For A Smile: A mob of women was attempting to board an already crowded bus in Manhattan. Bus Driver—Hey! Take it easy, take it easy! This is a bus, not a two-way stretch!

Captain—What did that seasick teacher say when you asked him if you could bet him anything? Stewart—He said, "Bring me an island."

Richmond—That fellow can speak three languages? Kingston—Yes, Manhattan, Brooklyn, and Bronx!

Before he starts and the Republicans will deserve defeat for nominating such a "mystery man."

But Ike doesn't intend to take any punishment. He says he won't campaign. His friends can get the nomination for him. He isn't going to be impeached, as did his father.

'Democratic Culture' Forced Down Gullets Of The Germans

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

BAD GODESBERG, Germany — The official title of Shepard Stone, who is forcing "democratic culture" down the gullet of the population of West Germany, is "director of public affairs."

He is the big wheel of the Roosevelt-Truman bureaucracy in Germany. He is officially subordinate to John J. McCloy, the American high commissioner, but he has a strong, aggressive personality and some dogmatic ideas on right and wrong thinking and it has occurred to me that he might be the real high commissioner here.

That sometimes happens in the strange, mysterious operations of a bureaucracy grown to monstrous size. The same thought has occurred to other Americans here and in Frankfurt who have been seeing Stone's smoke for a long time.

Incidentally, I should explain that Bad Godesberg is a Rhine resort city just a step from Bonn where the high commissioner has put up a sort of Pentagon for his staff.

He has a hotel down in the same architectural whim, called the Godesberger Hof, which is run by the State Department as an accommodation for VIPs—or very important people.

I rifled the register for several weeks and found a few names of guests described themselves in the register as colonels, captains, consuls and "civilians" and it seems that most of them are transients.

There is a conventional small bar and just a few steps from the bar is an auditorium which is used for dances, movies and vaudeville services other than Catholic, all of which struck me as a more authentic expression of American "culture" than Stone's calculated and self-conscious propaganda.

Of course there are plenty of local religious facilities for Catholics in this part of the world.

I have met few bureaucrats as self-satisfied as Stone seemed to me. The late Harold Ickes comes to mind. Henry Wallace is another of the same type, although Old Bullhead dissembled his smugness with a drooping affectation of selflessness and modesty.

Stone is a well-built, physically alert man, about 45, who feels that his experience as a student in a German college before Hitler and his command of the German language qualify him as an ambassador, even a commissioner, of culture.

These qualifications are by no means rare and Stone's political belief probably is the most important asset he has beside his effrontery. He controls the biggest bureaucracy in the HICOG administration with 400 employees in various categories, out of a total of 1538 on the entire payroll, and a bureau of "public affairs" is a powerful, irresponsible propaganda machine under the firm control of one aggressive, highly opinionated, arbitrary man. Stone runs 38 libraries in Germany, a daily paper, a monthly magazine and the big radio station called Rias, in Berlin.

I have mentioned this before but I do so again in order to emphasize for your consideration the fact that this man is on leave from the Sunday department of the New York Times whose editorial flavor, choice of writers and treatment of topics has not been recognizably anti-Communist in the judgment of many of us who remember the veteran Red-baiter, Stone says he is thoroughly anti-Communist and when he remarked that the Sunday section of the Times was anti-Communist, too, I said I would have to disagree. Stone then said I wouldn't dare say that to Mr. Sulzberger. I don't know which one he meant, father or son, but I replied that I had already commented in print on the interesting political complexion of this Sunday section.

I am sorry I did not think to mention a memorable story by one of the Sulzbergers filed from Germany a few years ago, reporting with some editorial color, that an American colonel had issued a manifest bawling out his troops, who obviously had more sense than he had, for showing an aversion to their gallant Russian allies. Sulzberger's piece seemed to me to approve the colonel's attempt to suppress the superior judgment of his men and substitute his own stupidity.

This is the attitude which led us into the ordeal of the Berlin air lift, the Korean hot war and the European cold war.

Stone was chilly and he did not describe as fawning. It soon came out that someone had cabled him a report that I had written a something unpleasant about him. I said I would not write anything unless he gave me the text of the offensive matter, but remarked that I had already mentioned the fact that during his residence in Frankfurt he was entitled to the service, free, of eight German civilians as his household servants. I asked him if this was true and he did not answer directly. He said he had actually had only six, not eight, leaving untouched the question whether he had been entitled to eight.

He did not consider his six free servants to have been an unjustified luxury, however, explaining that his earnings here were much less than he would have been getting as assistant to Lester Markel, the Sunday editor of the Times. I tried to get a copy of the official list of the State Department which gives all the salaries but while this is not "classified" or "secret" or "top secret" in the jargon of the cult, there are just enough to go around and I couldn't have one. I have reason to believe, however, that Stone's pay is $14,000 a year and to his pay you must add the free rent of a furnished apartment of the first category in the brand new State Department housing "project," tax-exemptions on his liquor and cigars if any, and a car and chauffeur on request.

As a member of McCloy's cabinet he gets a three bedroom apartment. He justified his use of the six Germans as flunkies without a newspaper reporter on the ground that he took advantage of this relationship to indoctrinate them with American culture. If he is spreading American culture at a financial sacrifice it would seem that he must have drawn more than $25,000 a year which is well as Nazis as far back as 1935 when the term "Red-baiter" was much more offensive than the term "Red," that I have never known the Sunday section of the Times as an ally in the fight and that in many years of work as a newspaper reporter on New York I never heard of Shepard Stone.

There are hundreds of vociferous anti-Communists now who had a lot of us fooled back in those days. I am thinking of Eleanor Roosevelt, Drew Pearson and our own secretary of state, Dean Acheson, who was described by A. A. Berle, one of his colleagues in the department, as one of the pro-Russian group which rejected the solemn, truthful warnings of Whitaker Chambers against Alger Hiss.

Shift In Population Building Omaha's Livestock Supremacy

OMAHA — (AP) — The way Omaha livestock men figure it, 1952 could well be the year that Omaha becomes the world's largest livestock market.

There are a couple of ifs that loom up, but the trend is clearly marked. And, says Harry B. Coffey, head of Omaha's union stockyard, "trends don't change overnight."

Omaha already has assumed world leadership in the marketing of cattle, reaching first place in cattle marketing last year.

To take first position in overall livestock receipts, Omaha now must either top Chicago in hog marketing or handle enough more cattle to offset Chicago's margin in hogs.

Statistically Omaha just about "has it made." In 1920 Omaha's total livestock receipts amounted to 46.8 percent of Chicago receipts. The percentage jumped to 55.8 percent in 1930, back to 51.3, in 1940 and then up to 58.5 in 1950. By the end of 1951 Omaha marketings were 64.15 percent of the Chicago total.

A comparison of the total receipts for the two markets for 1951 looks like this:

	OMAHA	CHICAGO
Cattle	1,966,537	1,822,729
Calves	115,249	105,961
Hogs	3,163,934	3,907,218
Grand total	5,798,648	6,138,614

That means that 259,967 head of livestock would have put Omaha ahead. Chicago's advantage in hogs was 743,282 head. One big factor in Omaha's

McLEAN — (Special) — McLean Junior Chamber of Commerce discussed Jaycee activities for the year at the first meeting for 1952 held in Legion hall last week.

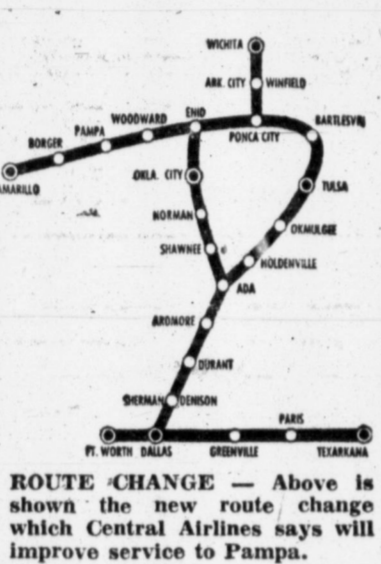

Activities include the annual rodeo, sponsored by American Legion, in which the Jaycees participate; and entrance of a float in Shamrock's annual St. Patrick's day celebration. Also, tentative plans for a free barbecue were laid. Definite plans are to be announced later.

A committee to work on the St. Pat float was named and included Ted Simmons, Howard Horne, Johnny Haynes, Sammy Hanes, J. C. Claborn and Jim

Central Says Route Change To Give Better Service Here

ROUTE CHANGE — Above is shown the new route change which Central Airlines says will improve service to Pampa.

FT. WORTH — (Special) — The Civil Aeronautics board in Washington has granted Central Airlines special authorization by an exemption order to consolidate parts of two segments into one, as a means of better serving the public, Keith Kahle, president, announced Saturday.

It is more feasible to serve the intermediate points, Durant and Ardmore, on a single route segment, and such authorization from the CAB will provide Central Airlines with certain operational advantages and reduction of costs as well, he said.

This consolidation of route segments allows Central to operate its 24-passenger DC-3's on an improved basis so that Pampa has four daily flights, or two round trips per day six days per week. The present schedule offers one morning and one evening flight east and south bound, and one morning and one evening flight north and west bound. These new schedules are designed to give flight service to allow a departure and arrival back in Pampa in the same day, or to make convenient connections with nine schedule carriers to a new destination in the world, Kahle said.

Although this consolidation reduces Central's route mileage over 120 miles, he said, it will establish a service pattern which is in the public interest. Thus providing over Central's entire system, except the segment from Dallas to Texarkana, two round trips a day, or four flights daily six days per week.

It is the best schedule that Central has had to date, Kahle said, and provides more services to and from every city on Central's system. The schedule was designed to allow passengers to go and return in the same day to conduct their business and also designed with the opportunity to make a vast number of connections at all of Central's nine connecting terminals.

Miami 4-H Boys Explain Projects

MIAMI — (Special) — Members of the Miami Men's Service club had as their special guests, Tuesday evening at the monthly meeting, the Roberts county 4-H club boys who fed out calves this winter.

They were Tommy O'Loughlin, Charles, Bob and Bill Clark, Eldon Flowers, and John and Doyle Smith, all introduced by County Agent Vic Joyner.

Each boy gave a brief resume of his project, giving the name of his calf, from whom purchased, weight at time of sale and the buyer. All but one of the calves were sold at the Top 'o Texas sale in Pampa, Tuesday. Doyle Smith will show his calf, Oscar A., at both the Amarillo and Kansas City shows, later this year.

Tommy O'Loughlin, the only boy who raised his own calf, made a more detailed explanation of his project. He told why he selected this particular calf, and how such a project will benefit a boy later in life.

Speaking to the boys on behalf of the Service Club, Ellis Locke, explained why local men gave them their financial support, and assured them that such support would again be given in future shows and sales.

Also included on the program was a melodrama, written and presented by members of the senior class, and directed by Mrs. Virginia Myers.

The meal was prepared and served by members of the Wesleyan Guild.

The evening's program was arranged by M. M. Craig, Ellis Locke and Sheriff "Cy" Carr. President Theo Jenkins appointed Willis Clark, John Porter Pennington and Judge Ed Haynes to be responsible for the March program.

Food Output Still Behind Population

ROME — (AP) — The sixth world conference of the Food and Agriculture Organization found that world food output "is steadily falling behind the increase in population, and the world has less food per person than before the war when more than half of the world suffered from malnutrition."

The report said it was "convinced that the progress that can be achieved in the years immediately ahead will be insufficient to change this situation radically."

And it concluded that "there is little hope of achieving by 1950 the levels of production... considered necessary for a minimum program of sound nutrition throughout the world."

Kiltie Band To Be Official Musicians For St. Pat's Day

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock will have a host of bands here for the famous March 17 St. Pat's day celebration, but the official band will be the Kiltie band of Oklahoma City. Kilties have accepted an invitation to be official band that day.

Because they opened the first Irish celebration in 1939 and came back as official band in 1939, it was felt that they should pace the 1952 fiesta.

They are sponsored by an Oklahoma City American Legion post, are all between 15 and 18 years old and students with an "A" average at the Oklahoma capital city.

Brannan Expresses Fears Of Price Hike

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Brannan believes that if the cotton support price is increased above 90 percent of parity, the same demand will be made for other farm commodities.

Brannan told the House Agriculture committee that he'd rather

NO, YOU PHONE THEM! IT WILL BE MORE OFFICIAL! BUT DON'T MENTION MY COMING! LET ME COME! LET ME COME! LET ME COME!

FIVE MINUTES LATER

PHONE CALL FOR THE JACKSON TWINS!

HE'S COMING! TONY'S COMING! GET THE SIGNS BACK UP!

LET'S HAVE A BIG CHEER FOR THE TWINS! AND ROSE! SHE WROTE THE LETTER!

HEY! WHERE ARE THEY?

RIGHT AFTER THE CALL ALL THREE OF 'EM WENT RUNNING OUT LOOKING LIKE SCARED RABBITS!

Blondie

TROUBLE ALL OVER THE WORLD! FLOODS, FIRES, FAMINES, WARS, DISASTERS OF EVERY KIND--I'M A LUCKY MAN!

BELIEVE ME, I'M NEVER GOING TO COMPLAIN AGAIN ABOUT TRIFLING LITTLE THINGS!

DAWGONNIT-- THAT'S THE LAST STRAW! A MAN CAN STAND JUST SO MUCH!

THE LAUNDRY PUT STARCH IN MY SHIRTS AGAIN!

Alley Oop

I CAN SEE YOU'RE NO INDIAN. NO ENGLISHMAN EITHER. THOUGH YOU'RE FAIR OF SKIN--HOW'D YOU KNOW I WAS A CAPTAIN?

I DIDN'T, BUT IT'S OBVIOUS YOU'RE A SOLDIER.

YES, SMITH IS THE NAME. CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH!

GLAD I KNOW YOU, SIR--MY NAME IS CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH!

MY ANKLE--I'M ALL THAT'S LEFT OF AN EXPEDITION OUT OF JAMESTOWN. WE'D HOPED TO DEAL FOR FOOD FROM THE INDIANS.

POW-HAT-AN!

OH, DO YOU KNOW THE CHIEF?

WELL, NO, BUT I'VE MET HIS DAUGHTER!

Bo

LOOK AT BO BRINGING IN THE PAPER. SAVES ME GOING OUT IN THE SNOW.

HOW ANYBODY COULD HATE A HARMLESS DOG WHO SERVES HIS MASTER LIKE THAT IS...IS...

Our mailman was so mauled by a huge dog that he spent weeks in a hospital, had thirty stitches in his thigh and still limps badly. Phooey on smug dog-owners who advocate "no leash" for mutts. Forget all that drivel and support a sane solution to this "wild dog" menace. Put 'em all in...

NOTHING FELL DOWN, MOM. POP JUST LEFT TO GO DOWN AND CALL ON THE NEWSPAPER.

Ozark Ike

BOYS, YOU CAN BLAME IT ALL ON ME...

...I THOUGHT OUR ZONE DEFENSE WOULD FORCE THOSE BIRDS TO RISK A LOT OF LONG SHOTS AND CAUSE 'EM TO THROW 'N' BALL AWAY...

...BUT I WAS ONLY HALF RIGHT! THE ONLY PLACE THEY'VE BEEN SLINGIN' THAT BALL IS THROUGH 'N' HOOP!

...BUT WE'LL BEAT 'EM YET BY CHANGIN' TACTICS IN 'N' SECOND HALF!

...SO GET OUT THERE AND GUARD 'EM FROM ONE END OF 'N' COURT TO 'N' OTHER WITH A MAN-TO-MAN DEFENSE THAT'LL WRECK THEIR SHOOTING GAME!

WHAGG AGAIN, COACH... FOR ONE BIG REASON!!

Buzz Sawyer

THIS IS JIMMY, MR. DAVIS. I HEAR YOU'VE BEEN TRYING TO GET IN TOUCH WITH ME.

OH, YES, JIMMY. WANT YOU TO FLY A FELLOW NAMED SAWYER DOWN TO HAWKS NUMBER ONE.

HEY, JIMMY, WHEN DID FRONTIER OIL DECIDE TO SELL YOUR PLANE?

THEY DIDN'T.

BUT I JUST CAUGHT A GUY SNOOPIN' AROUND IT, AND I SAYS, "WHAT THE HECK YOU DOIN'?" AND HE SAYS, "I'M AIMIN' TO BUY IT."

HE'S LOCO. IT'S NOT FOR SALE.

FOR $1,000 YOU OUGHT TO GET THE COAT AND PANTS, TOO!

Vic Flint

DRIVE AROUND TO THE SIDE ENTRANCE.

OKAY, RAIL.

ALL RIGHT, GET BUSY ON THAT DOOR. I'LL GET THE SACKS OUT OF THE TRUNK.

JASON, DID YOU HEAR ANYTHING? I THOUGHT I HEARD A NOISE AT THE SIDE ENTRANCE.

DON'T BE SILLY, ALICE. YOU'RE IMAGINING THINGS!

Little Doc

HERE, LITTLE JOHNNY YELLOW HORSE, YOU'RE OLD ENOUGH TO PUT ON YOUR OWN SHOES!

THAT'S AWFUL!

YOU'VE GOT YOUR SHOES ON THE WRONG FEET!

BUT, LIL DOC, I HAVEN'T GOT ANY OTHER FEET!

Wash Tubbs

OBVIOUSLY COQUINA HAD NO CHANCE WHATSOEVER TO STASH HIS DOPE IN THIS CAR. I'M SORRY YOU HAD THAT LONG SEARCH FOR NOTHING!

BUT I FOUND THIS PEARL-HANDLED GUN, CHIEF!

OH, DEAR! I FORGOT ABOUT THAT!

YOU GOT A PERMIT FOR IT, LADY?

YES, INDEED! HERE...

BUT THAT'S A MEXICAN LICENSE! IT'S NO GOOD HERE! BESIDES, ITS EXPIRED!

TULLIS... THAT NAME SOUNDS FAMILIAR-- ANTI YOU 'N' FEMALE AUTHOR WHO SHOT A FELLER DOWN IN MEXICO?

WELL, A MR. ALRED DID HOP RIGHT IN FRONT OF A BULLET. THAT'S WHY HE KEPT THE PISTOL AS-- WELL, AS SORT OF A SOUVENIR!

I SEE. WE BETTER HOLD 'EM TONIGHT. JOE, MAYBE I'LL FEEL MORE LIKE ENJOININ' AS-- WELL, AS SORT OF WITH THEIR CASE TOMORROW!

OH, MY SOUL!

OH, NOW, SIR-- COME, COME--

SURELY YOU HAVEN'T FORGOTTEN YOUR OLD, DEAR AND TRUE FRIEND GOLLADY BUNCEWEED!

YEAH, SURE! SURE! WELL, UM-- COME INSIDE!

AH, BLESS YOU! WHEREVER THE SHORN CARRIES ME, I GO, A WAILING GUEST!

Mickey Finn

A LITTLE THING LIKE THIS WILL DO WHAT YOU SAY IT WILL DO!

OH, YES! IT'S LIKE A BRAIN, PHIL! IT CONTROLS EVERYTHING-- AS SOON AS THE MISSILE STARTS ITS FLIGHT!

AND YOU WANT ME TO INVEST $2,000 IN IT?

THAT'S ALL, PHIL-- I NEED THAT MUCH TO PAY SOME BILLS! AND, AS I SAID, I'LL GIVE YOU A HALF INTEREST IN IT!

HAVE YOU ACTUALLY TRIED IT ON A GUIDED MISSILE?

NOT YET! BUT I CAN PROVE THAT IT WILL WORK, PHIL-- ON MY TESTING DEVICE!

WELL, THAT WON'T BE NECESSARY, NODDIE! I'M SORRY TO DISAPPOINT YOU, BUT MY ANSWER MUST BE-- NO!

Flora

OOO, FATHER, I UTTERLY AND COMPLETELY FORGOT THEM!

DID YOU PICK UP SHOE LACES FOR ME, PRINCESS?

I'M SORRY, FATHER, BUT I CAN'T HELP IT IF I JUST WAST BLESSED WITH A GOOD MEMORY, HONEST-- I TRY, REALLY I DO!

FATHER, WOULD YOU MIND TEARING OUT THE MAIL ORDER BLANK FROM GRAMBLE'S DEPARTMENT STORE ADVERTISEMENT FOR ME...

Freckles

THAT GOAT JUST ATE A BASKET OF MY FANCIES! I'LL SUE THE SCHOOL BOARD!

AND THEY'LL SUE US!

BOY, VANDYKE SURE GOES IN FOR A RICH DIET!

DON'T SEE HIM ANYWHERE! WE'VE LOST HIS TRAIL!

WELL, HE JUST HAD HIS SALAD! THAT MEANS IT'S CHOW TIME, AND I BET--

I TOLD YA WE'D FIND HIM HERE!

WHAT MADE YOU THINK OF THIS PLACE?

JUNK YARD

WELL, WHEN VANDYKE EATS HE WANTS EVERYTHING FROM SOUP TO NUTS!

Reminders Of Pitfalls In Making Income Tax Return

(Editor's note: this is another of a series of stories explaining how to make out your 1951 income tax return.)

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Here are some reminders on what to do and what to watch out for if you're making your 1951 income tax return on form 1040-A or the 1040 short-form.

1. If husband and wife make a joint return, both must sign it.
2. Be sure when you hand in your return that you attach to it all the receipts — Form W-2 — given you by a boss as proof of what he paid you and how much tax he withheld from you last year.

3. Be careful, under item No. 1 on both forms, to claim all the exemptions to which you're entitled. For each you knock $600 off your income before what's left is taxable.

Everyone filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself, another $600 if he's blind and still another $600 if he's 65. That would give a 65-year old blind man a total of $1800 in exemptions.

If your wife had no income and you alone file a return — if she did or didn't have income but files jointly with you — you get a $600 exemption for her unless she files jointly with you. If she files separately she claims her exemption on her return.

Note: if your wife had any income at all, no matter how small, you get no exemption for her unless she files jointly with you.

4. Remember that Form 1040-A and the 1040 short-form can be used only for reporting income under $5000. If you're reporting more income than that, you can't use either of those forms. You must use the 1040 long-form where you figure your own tax.

Any under-$5000 person can use the 1040 short-form where you find your tax in the table on the back. But if you're under $5000 you can use Form 1040-A only if —

1. Full tax was withheld from your 1951 income except for no more than $100 in untaxed wages, interest or dividends. If you don't fit that rule — most wage-earners do — but are under $5000, you can use the 1040 short-form.
2. Everyone using 1040-A or the short-form automatically gets a deduction for personal expenses of about 10 percent. He gets it automatically. He doesn't have to claim it or itemize it. It's allowed for in the table used to figure the tax on people using those forms.
3. If your income was under $5000 but your deductible expenses were more than 10 percent, then use the 1040 long-form where you'll have to itemize but can claim your deductions.
4. Some points on Form 1040-A: You do no figuring. Answer the questions. You pay no money when you turn it in, even though you think you owe tax. The collector will figure the tax for you.
5. If too much tax was withheld from you during the year, he'll give you a refund. If he finds you still owe tax, he'll notify you. You get 30 days after that notification to pay the tax.
6. If you file jointly on Form 1040-A with your wife, the collector will figure your tax both ways to see whether it's cheaper for you to file jointly or separately. He'll give you the benefit of what he finds.

Now take the 1040 short-form. When you use the table on page 4 to find your tax pay close attention to those columns which show the tax based on (1) your income and (2) the number of exemptions claimed on your return.

Say the Joneses, with two children, had a total income of $4,835, of which his wife had earned $35 sewing. If the Joneses file jointly, they claim four exemptions: their own two and one each for their children.

On the line showing income from $4,800 to $4,850 Jones looks across the column showing the tax on people with four exemptions. It shows — since his $4,835 is between $4,800 and $4,850 — that the tax on him and his wife is $306.

But, since Mrs. Jones' income was less than $600, she doesn't have to file a return at all, separately or jointly with Jones. But, since she had some income, even though only $35, he can't claim an exemption for her unless she files jointly with him.

Say she doesn't file jointly. That leaves him only three exemptions for himself and the two children. And his income, minus her $35, is $4,800. He looks across that same line as before, the one showing the tax — $4,800 — $4,850 income.

But this time he looks under the column for a married man with three exemptions — filing separately — and finds his tax is $550, or $134 more than when he and his wife filed jointly, claiming four exemptions.

If you're a self-employed person using the 1040 short-form, note line No. 5 (B) on page 1 where it says to list your social security tax, if you're self-employed.

Freshman Alan Ameche of the Wisconsin Badgers set two new rushing records for the Western Conference (Big Ten) this football season.

If you're in this group, list the amount of your social security tax on line 5 (B) and pay it, when you file the income tax return, together with any

Wilbur Further Enlightens His Wife About Washington

By HAL BOYLE
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Wilbur Peable, the average American citizen, is making his own open-spot investigation of the goings-on in the national capital.

Here is his latest report to his wife, Trellis-Mae:

Dear Honey,

Well, your old man is beginning to find his way around the great marble swamp.

Today I learned how to spot one of J. Edgar Hoover's boys. I managed to snap up a left-over Republican box lunch at a bargain, and I was eating it on a park bench when a young man carrying a briefcase walked by with an innocent air.

"Looks pretty suspicious," I said to a fellow on the bench. "Bet he's on the way to pay off a bribe."

The fellow just laughed. "You must be a stranger," he said. "That's an FBI man. You can always tell 'em. They're the only ones in town who still have the self-confidence to carry a briefcase."

After that I moseyed over to call on our congressman. Did I tell you how to tell a congressman from a senator? The congressman looks like the one with the hungry look; he's hungry for the senator's job.

There is another difference. A congressman always asks, "what can I do for you?" But a senator just listens to you and says, "that certainly is heart-warming. Yes, sir, that is real heart-warming." And then he wanders away, feeling he has helped better your world.

As I was waiting in the ante-room I heard our congressman say to his secretary:

"What a constituent? What's this one want — small-pox? Get me my other jacket out of the closet — the one with the patched elbows. I don't want him to see me in this sport coat. You know how constituents always get the wrong idea."

But when I was ushered in he wrung my hand as eagerly as if I had had an oil well in it, and said:

"I just want you to know that it is only the sight of a friendly face from home that makes this whole job worth while."

He sat and brooded over that. "You said hello," he remarked worriedly, "now, just what did you mean by that?"

Well, Trellis-Mae, that's Washington for you. No matter what you say to a fellow here, he always suspects you didn't mean all you say or else didn't say all you meant. This is the capital city of the hidden meaning.

Our congressman was fretting over a mass of papers on his desk.

"Been working on my income tax return?" he said — "Tax and taxes, taxes! I don't know how much longer I can afford to live in this country on the pittance the government pays me."

When I asked why he didn't have an expert from the Bureau of Internal Revenue go over it with him, he said:

"I did have one of those fellows helping me. But right now he's busy explaining his own 1949 return."

Well, so long, Trellis Mae. Tomorrow I'll write you about how nobody is anybody in Washington unless he owns a ghost and an Indian.

Your loving husband,
Wilbur.

LET'S GO SHOPPING

One of these days I must go shopping. I am completely out of self-respect. I want to exchange the self-righteousness I picked up the other day for some humility which they say is less expensive and wears longer. I want to look at some tolerance which is being used for wraps in a season. Someone showed me some pretty samples of peace. We are a little low on that and can never have too much of it. And by the way, I must try to match some patience that my neighbor wears. It is very becoming to her and I think it might look well on me. I might try that little garment of long-suffering they are displaying. I never thought I wanted to wear it, but I feel myself coming to it. Also I must not forget to have my sense of appreciation mended and look around for some inexpensive everyday goodness. It is surprising how quickly one's stock of goodness is depleted.

Clothing Industry Bemoans Sloppiness In Men's Dress

NEW YORK — (AP) — The men's clothing industry appears to have hit upon a couple of discoveries today: 1. A new scapegoat to blame for part of the woeful indifference of customers; and 2. A bright hope that a new hero may lead the male world back to clothes-consciousness.

The scapegoat is the younger generation, which tends to make sloppiness a fashion. The hope lies in the young and presentable new prince consort of England, who might inspire young men to the belief good clothes aren't passe.

Down in the garment district both ideas are being discussed today. But those who think Prince SINGER'S MANAGER — Replacing R. F. Mason, former manager of the local Singer Sewing Machine Co., is Elmer Harris, who took over duties here last Monday. The new manager, who has been with Singer Sewing Machine Co. 13 months as assistant manager at the organization's store in Lubbock prior to coming here. Harris was born in Arizona and came to Texas in 1929. During World War II he served in the Navy 2½ years.

Philip may help them admit that American men haven't paid much attention to British fashion for many years now.

And the gulf between American and English apparel standards is being widened by the trend here to bright sport plumage — most noticeable in our Far West, and now and then in Key West during Presidential visits.

But the younger generation is another matter. More and more makers and sellers of men's suits and accessories are complaining: "How can we sell the mature man a presentable wardrobe if he has spent his younger years nourishing the notion that blue jeans are okay anywhere but at a formal dance? Most young men seem to go sloppy with the full connivance of their parents and apparently to the applause of their girl friend."

The hat industry is also moaning because the young — and some not so young anymore — regard a crew cut as all the head covering needed. Some men never buy a hat until the hairline recedes to that tattle-tale point.

The tie industry says that the trend toward sport shirts — without ties — is hurting business. Glove makers say the bare knuckled fad is making it tough for them. The tendency of many young males to dispense with part or all of night attire has the pajama industry worried. Shoe makers complain some youths wear nothing but sneakers or loafers.

Few expect dandyism to become popular in the United States. But some are starting an advertising campaign to counteract sloppiness by wooing the male with new styles, new fabrics using man-made fibers, and by plugging the idea that a somewhat dressier look would do things for most men.

Except in the mountainous west and southwest, oil-rich Saudi Arabia's annual rainfall amounts to only about 3 inches.

Santa Fe Agent

J. M. Patterson, 36, has been named traveling passenger agent for the Santa Fe railway at Amarillo, effective Feb. 1. H. C. Vincent, traffic manager, has announced that Patterson will be attached to the passenger traffic office at Amarillo, and travel all points in Texas and New Mexico under jurisdiction of the Amarillo office.

Detective Killed In Fort Worth Gun Battle

FORT WORTH — (AP) — H. E. Cleveland, 49, veteran Fort Worth detective, was killed and two other officers wounded Thursday in a gunfight with an ex-convict wanted for questioning in a $15,000 Dallas robbery.

Detective A. L. Armstrong, 40,

Fort Worth, was in a critical condition from a gunshot wound in the chest.

Dallas detective H. C. Holloway, 39, suffered a wound in the leg.

Robert Hugh Barber, 27, who has twice served prison terms, was wounded four times.

A fourth detective, T. O. Pope,

43, Dallas, was not injured.

The four officers went to Barber's four-room home here to question

him in the robbery of Burt's cafe in Dallas Jan. 2. Four armed men held up customers and carried off the safe. Two men have been arrested and charged.

Pope said Cleveland led the officers to the house. He and Holloway went to the front and the other two went to the back. Cleveland went in the house to investigate.

"Barber pulled a pistol from a drawer and just started cracking down," Holloway said.

Pope heard a flurry of shots and ran back to the front of the house.

He said he saw Barber with two pistols in his hands. Pope said he shot twice and Barber threw both pistols up in the air and slumped to the ground.
