Light Rain Teases Dry Fields in Area

Rainfall Monday and today only teased rain-starved wheatfields and pastures in the Panhandle and over the remainder of the state.

Accumulated totals of moisture here measured only one-tenth of an inch up until midnight Monday. A trace has fallen since that time.

And hopes for additional moisture rose and fell as skies clouded then cleared. By noon today, heavily overcast skies began clearing as chances for the much needed rain slimmed.

Temperatures remained in the high 40s today and were expected to reach the 50s before the day was over. By 11 a. m. the mercury had reached 45 degrees and was still climbing.

Local farmers say wheat so far looks better than it has in the past two years and chances for a good crop in 1952 aren't too far off from reason.

Foster Whaley, Gray County agriculture agent, said rain or snow would produce a better than average wheat crop this year.

Over the rest of the state, drought conditions were unaltered by scattered showers.

Many Texas cattlemen and farmers were falling back on their pioneer courage and faith in the crippling dry spell.

At Abilene, H. C. Stanley Jr., Taylor county farm agent, said: "Drought and water shortages are part and parcel of the cattlemen's heritage."

"They are born to the problems, know how to cope with them."

Wind and hail hit suburban points north of Dallas to cause enough damage to offset a good crop received from widespread rain showers over Texas.

Damage as high as $50,000 was estimated for the Carrollton area when high winds, rain and hail struck. Temporary buildings were toppled, roofs were damaged, and auto tops, window panes and street lights suffered.

Lewisville, in Denton county, had damage from wind and hail that also ripped car tops, tree limbs, and television antennas at Richardson and near Garland in Dallas county, Muenster in Cooke county, and in nearby rural communities.

A lumber shed was blown down at Muenster, not enough to make a dent in the state's continuing drought, fell in almost every section. They included Amarillo, 916 inch, El Paso, 66, Houston, 13, Waco, 21, Wichita Falls, 11, Childress, 20, Dalhart, 20. Traces fell at other points.

At Waco, Dr. Forrest Freezer hoped for a different aftermath for a special prayer for rain service set Tuesday night. After a similar meeting at Dr. Freezer's First Baptist church last night, heavy rain fell, but a small tornado struck Waco, too.

Manager Glenn White of the Lower Rio Grande authority charged the Pharr-San Juan water district with "overpumping" irrigation pumps in the Rio Grande valley.

Watering grain in Parker and Hood counties was in fair shape. But most Texas stockmen had animals on expensive feed that was costing up to and around $100 per ton. Herds were cut down to just breeding animals in some instances, and farmers wouldn't guess what the ensuing shortage, if it results, would do to retail meat prices.

School Board Vote April 5

Interest in the presidential election and its preceding Democratic primaries, has almost obliterated another election that comes up before any of the others.

It is school board election, and the time of it is slipping up quietly.

For voters in the Pampa Independent School District, two trustees will have to be named on April 5, the first Saturday of that month just a little more than seven weeks from now.

The three-year terms of two trustees, J. C. McWilliams and Frank Smith, expire then.

School authorities said this morning that potential candidates for the offices have to file their intentions in the school business office located in city hall, filing for a place on the ballot may be done at any time from today on; the deadline for filing set at a later date.

Contest Slated To End February 16

The Pampa Daily News Good Neighbor contest will close on Feb. 16 at midnight. That leaves just four more days for residents of the Top of Texas area to submit letters nominating their good neighbor.

The contest is being held in conjunction with the forthcoming "Get Acquainted Week." It gives contestants a chance, not only to win one of four cash prizes, but they can also make public the kind deeds of a good neighbor who deserves public recognition.

The winner of the winning letter will receive $50. Second prize is $25, third $15, and fourth $10. Letters should be confined to 300 words or less and are to be addressed to "Good Neighbor Contest Editor, Pampa Daily News."

A committee of impartial judges will be selected to judge the letters and pick the man or woman to receive the title of "Good Neighbor." Cash prizes will go to the writers of winning letters and NOT to winner of the Good Neighbor title.

EVERY LITTLE BIT HELPS — Clint Caylor, farmer living north of town, hopefully checked his rain gauge this morning, but found only .21 of an inch of rain in his immediate area. The county average, according to weather gauges at the KFDN transmitter, was one-tenth of an inch up until midnight Monday. Skies began clearing here about noon. (News Photo)

C-C Committees Recommend Story Of Pampa In Magazine

Two local chamber of commerce committees yesterday passed a resolution recommending to its members that they support a project to publish a story of Pampa in a magazine.

The project, designed to tell the story of Pampa in words and pictures, would be published in the Texas Parade, an official organ of the Texas Good Roads Assn.

The purpose in telling the Pampa story is to encourage out-of-town visitors to this location.

E. Roy Smith, chairman of the advertising and publicity committee, explained that one city in Texas is featured each month in the magazine along with other cities of general interest to Texans.

The plan will be discussed further at the next meeting of the committee.

Taft Still Holds Slight Edge In Oklahoma Primary

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — The two-man race for the Republican Presidential nomination shifted back to the big population centers today after a foray in Oklahoma gave Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio a small edge over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Apparently, Taft's lead was not enough to carry him to the top of the seven or eight delegates to the Republican convention in Chicago as a result of action in the nation's first GOP state convention here yesterday.

Stassen had the promise of second support from two other delegates nominally backing Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has said he isn't a candidate. Against this, Eisenhower was credited with the votes of seven delegates.

LITTLE LIGHT — All this added up to a result which shed little real light upon a race which former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota an active candidate for the nomination, conceded now is a two-man affair.

Stassen, speaker at a Lincoln day dinner here last night, told a news conference he is after a "second choice" vote because he does not believe either Taft or Eisenhower will come anywhere near getting a majority on the first ballot at Chicago in July.

Contending that the leading runners tend to cancel each other out, Stassen made it clear in an interview he is planning most of his hopes of becoming a compromise candidate on his efforts to win the March 18 Minnesota and April 1 Wisconsin primaries.

The former governor is entered in the March 11 preferential primary in New Hampshire, where Taft and Eisenhower slates of delegates will be backing each other.

COMPROMISE — Oklahoma Republicans, noting the contest between the rival cities, would push the winner down a main street in a wheelbarrow.

Krupp, however, announced that Amarillo would never have raised the additional $5000 if the contest with Pampa had not encouraged more people to contribute to the fund.

Voting Booths Pose Problem For County

By HENRY GORDON — Buying election booths for use in all future elections held in Gray county is more of a problem to the county commissioners than it appears on the surface.

In making the purchase, commissioners not only have to contend with three different laws, but must find a way to raise the money since the booths may cost more than was budgeted for the purpose.

But, it's in the engineering of purchasing and distributing them according to law in the most economical way that has county Judge Bruce Baker and the four commissioners puzzled.

The booths must be purchased for use only in precinct boxes inside the city limits. That is because Pampa has more than 10,000 residents.

The law does not affect Letors and McLean, nor the rural districts.

One booth must be provided for at least every 70 citizens who held a poll tax receipt or exemption certificate in the last general election.

That would be easy, if county commissioners knew whether they have to realign the voting precincts in the county to conform with the four city wards or whether they must make that conformation only when another voting precinct is added to the county, if a general change is found necessary for some reason or other.

Workmen Complete Newark Port Spreading Base For State Highway 70

Workmen on State Hwy. 70 yesterday afternoon completed base spreading operations on the 12-mile stretch, north of Pampa, that will be paved this summer.

Resident Engineer G. K. Reading said this morning that pre-surfacing with an oil coating will be applied a few days before asphalt surfacing starts. This is because the pre-surfacing does not last long. The stretch will have to be reshaped before the oil coating can be applied.

In the meantime, workmen were rapidly completing big-size widening on U. S. Hwy. 60 east of Pampa.

The widening project includes an addition of three feet of asphalt concrete on each side of the road.

A similar project will be underway west of Pampa within a few months. Bids on the project will be let by the state highway commission about the middle of March, highway engineers said today.

WARY RESIDENTS — Many local residents, frightened by the noise of the spreading machine, were seen today.

Most Action In Weeks Is Allied Claim

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — United Nations soldiers today killed 96 Reds and wounded 130 in a fight near the Munding Valley on the eastern Korean war front — the heaviest single action in weeks.

Elements of a group of 420 Communists struck Allied positions near the valley in two places three minutes apart. In less than an hour the Allies had driven back both attacks.

A group of 150 Reds made the first attack. A band of 60 made the second. Part of the total 226 enemy casualties was from the balance of the Reds' original 420 men, observed earlier, a p-p-roaching down the Munding Valley from the north.

The Valley is just west of Heartbreak Ridge, a craggy range of mountains captured by American troops in a month-long fight last fall. West of the valley are other tall, snow-covered mountains.

Enemy troops east of the valley are North Koreans. Chinese Reds hold the area to the west.

An Eighth Army communique gave no indication whether the attacks were by North Koreans or Chinese.

Abe Unique; Knew How To Keep Quiet

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — (AP) — Abraham Lincoln proved once again a century ago how to win the presidency without making campaign speeches.

An Illinois historian says the man who was to become the great emancipator refused to speak on the day of his election because he was afraid his words would be twisted. Those who pressed him were referred to his previous speeches and letters.

Dr. Harry E. Pratt, Illinois state historian, said in a speech in Springfield which was preceded by a procession past his home. He attended, but kept his silence.

Lincoln's campaign was conducted by a corps of speakers while the candidate sat in Gov. John Wood's state house office, which he took over for campaign headquarters, and received hundreds of politicians.

Pratt said Lincoln even refused to address a political rally in Springfield which was preceded by a procession past his home. He attended, but kept his silence.

FAREWELL TO A KING — A large but silent crowd watches in sorrow as the gun caisson bearing the body of King George VI, surrounded by an honor guard and followed by the Duke of Gloucester and the Duke of Edinburgh in civilian clothes, leaves Sandringham for London where the body will lie in state until February 15. Silent Mourners Pass Royal Bier LONDON — (AP) — Through subjects of the old type — not if it had been necessary," she said.

By the time the doors opened, more than 2,000 were waiting in patient line to pay respect to the King who walked among them in wartime and encouraged them to stand fast against the troubles of uneasy peace.

The thing that stood for hours was a mixture of the common folk of England. There were early workmen wrapped in trench coats against London's ever-present damp. There were professional men in bowler hats, carrying umbrellas and brief cases. Here and there stood a woman in mink. Most others, including charwomen who stayed their home-going in brightly cleaning work in threadbare coats that mark British austere life.

Mrs. Charlotte Threlfall, a telephone operator, joined the patient line at 6 a. m., as she did 16 years ago when George VI lay in state in the same coffin.

OLD TYPE — This 47-year-old citizen said he was "one of his majesty's loyal subjects of the old type — not if it had been necessary," she said.

One of the quiet London hobbies, on duty at the door, said the mourning subjects were heeded admitted at the rate of 1200 every 15 minutes. His prediction would lengthen through the day as the steady streams of Londoners came off the big red buses and the thundering subway that runs past the hall.

He recalled, though, that when George VI lay in state, the women of mourning waiting on the first morning stretched "all the way to Battersea" — two miles away. The confined body they came to bow to lay on a purple-covered catafalque reached by four scarlet-capped steps. At each corner a tall candle in a golden holder flickered at the movements of passing mourners.

The oak coffin was draped in the red and gold royal standard, 16 years ago when George VI lay in state in the same coffin.

He had waited on the steps for 15 hours to lead the mourning procession.

Carter Raises To 24.2 Ave.

With but one full weekend of play left on the District I-AAAA basketball schedule, eleven players have surpassed the 100-point mark in district scoring while one of these has topped the 200-point total and might conceivably hit 300 by the end of play. Only one team has no player with one hundred points.

The big scorer is, of course, Mack Carter of Borger. Carter raised his scoring average during the week to 24.2 points per game, and a season total of 242 in district action.

His closest pursuer is Jimmy Bond of the Pampa Harvesters, who has scored 154 points and could possibly reach the 200-point mark in the final two games. He appears to be the only other likely man to reach that high.

By JOE BRADEN
PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Duquesne University reigns as the only unbeaten major college basketball team in the nation today but Eddie Melvin of St. Bonaventure still thinks he's got the best quintet.

The Dukes topped St. Bonaventure from the ranks of the undefeated last night 69-63. It was a crushing setback for the Bonnies.

Before the game the Dukes ranked fifth and the Bonnies fourth in the Associated Press poll. This week's new rankings puts Duquesne third and the Bonnies a notch behind. The votes of sports editors and radio newscasters were tabulated before the game.

BITTER PILL
Tasting defeat for the first time was a bitter pill for Eddie Melvin to swallow. His top scorer, Bob Sassone, fouled out midway in the fourth quarter and the Bonnies couldn't catch up.

Said Melvin: "Well, we lost, so what. Sure Duquesne has a good team but I still think we have the best ball club and could have won if Bill Edwards had been in top shape. He had a bad ankle. If he was in good shape and we had three days rest we could whip Duquesne and that isn't sour grapes."

Edwards, 6-5 junior from Fredonia, N.Y., was injured against Murray State of Kentucky Thursday and saw only limited action.

Four others of the nation's top 10 came through with victories last night but Iowa and Illinois got no closer to settling the Big Ten race.

Iowa, which climbed to the No. 5 spot in the Associated Press poll, used its height advantage to whip Michigan, 82-59, while Illinois trounced Michigan State, 84-62, as Clive Follmer, Irv Bemogus and Bob Peterson combined for 49 points.

The victories left the Hawkeyes and the Illini with identical records. Wisconsin kept its hopes alive with an 89-75 decision over Washington and Lee.

Other scores included: Alabama 88, Tennessee 75; Vanderbilt 84, Tulane 69; Oklahoma A&M 61, Bradley 69; Purdue 78, Wisconsin 79; Ohio State 79, Northwestern 61; Notre Dame 52, Butler 48; Missouri 56, Oklahoma 50; Minnesota 74, Indiana 61; Arkansas 49, Texas A&M 40; Colorado 67, Nebraska 65; and Oregon State, Idaho 49.

Chiefs Stay Unbeaten With 89-80 Victory Over Wizards

By BOB DIXON
Pampa News Sports Writer
The Noblitt-Coffey Chiefs stole a page from the Whiskered Wizards' magic book last night and went on to win, 89-80, in the Pampa News Sports Writer have done many times before.

By using slick ball-handling the Chiefs were able to take over the lead in the third quarter and continued to hold it the rest of the way.

Facing the Chiefs was Cliff McNeely, Harvesters coach, who rang the bell for the Chiefs' high point honors for the game. Following close was the wizard's Jimmy Stroud, who carried a total of 21 points.

And looking at the 13 classmen, we find that five are pitchers, two holdovers from last season. These two are Mack Hyde and George Payne. The other three are the boys purchased from Augusta, Molberg, Montero and Bohne.

SEEKING GAME
Fifty seconds elapsed in the first quarter before Stroud made one to put the Wizards ahead, 2-0. McNeely came back and hit a free throw to make the count 2-1. Keller then hit one from 20 feet out and put the Wizards into a 4-1 lead.

Three other juniors are the property of the club. One, Clyde Baldwin, is a limited serviceman, while the other two are rookies. Two veterans are catchers, Don Moore and Frank Calo. Moore is an outfielder, also, as he is most capable in the outer gardens.

For the remainder of the quarter it was close with the Wizards never gaining more than a two-point margin until the last minute, when they made it four. The score at the end of the first quarter, 23-19.

Moore and Frank Calo. Moore is an outfielder, also, as he is most capable in the outer gardens. Around the infield the veterans are Deek Woldt, Luis Suarez, Nelson Davis, George Fimbach and Jose Blanco. Another infielder, Manuel Temes, is a limited serviceman, while there is one rookie infielder, Norman Auerbach.

Then the Whiskered ones got fired up and scored 14 points while holding the Pampa crew to five, and at halftime the Chiefs trailed, 43-39.

SEEKS FIRST BASEMAN
Manager Jake Phillips is the lone veteran outfielder while the other outfielder owned by the club, Stout, is a limited serviceman. From this crop the Oilers must draw their 1952 club.

After their halftime rest, the Chiefs came back fired up themselves, and after 3:30 of the third period, held a 48-45 lead. It was short lived, however, for the Wizards came out and hit a long shot that put the Chiefs ahead, 50-49, and they never were headed again.

Griffin also reported that none of the contracts sent out last week had come back autographed as yet. In fact, none of them had even come back with complaints about the salary.

They gradually began to pull away from the visitors who were missing a lot of long shots and at the end of the third quarter, trailed 61-58.

Plans for the sale of box seats haven't been completed as yet, but it shouldn't be too long now, Owner Doug Mills said at the

STUNTS
In the fourth quarter, J. W. Malone and Head came back into the game for the Chiefs and started playing the game tight by keeping possession of the ball until they had a good shot. This strategy worked well as they hit twelve field goals and four from the charity stripe. McNeely led them with ten. Everett Kaine of the Wizards nearly put his bearded buddies back in the game with five long shots and a free throw that accounted for eleven points.

Owner Doug Mills said at the they did several. Keller at one time sat in the middle of the floor and made several shots at the basket. None entered, but they were all very close. He then practiced bouncing the ball into the basket and other ball-handling stunts.

With the game apparently lost, the Wizards pulled a few stunts that had the large crowd entertained. At one time, Keller was given the ball to throw in. He took it and threw it into the balcony saying, "I don't want to throw it. You do it."

In the preliminary contest the Miami Independents swapped the tickets. Drug quieted, 55-24. The Drugists were never in the game as the Miami crew ran wild, hitting bucket after bucket. High point man for the game was Bob Watson of Miami with a total of 18. High point man for the losers was Buster West with 12.

The night's activity was sponsored by the Pampa Kiwanis club to benefit the summer Kiwanis church softball program.

LEFORS — Pampa's Boys Club boxing team sharpened up for the annual Shamrock Invitation boxing tournament here Monday night, pounding out a well-earned 8-6 team victory over the combined Lefors - Shamrock boxing team.

The Pampa team lost the lead in the smaller weights, but after moving into the bigger boys the Pampa team won five straight fights to gain the team victory. Only one knockout sparked the night's action. In the final bout of the evening, Paul Cooper of Shamrock, fighting at 160 pounds, stopped Pampa's Ed Dudley in the first round. Dudley's rushes were met with solid rights and lefts right on the jaw that dropped the Pampa fighter for the count.

Associated Press Sports Editor
EL PASO — (AP) — Here in El Paso is Texas Western College and Kidd Field, the only football stadium in the world where you can watch the game from the mountain without paying admission. That is, if you can evade the cops long enough.

This picturesque field, named for Dr. John Kidd, one of the school's first football coaches, is a foothill. Mount Franklin, which rears some 6000 feet, overlooks it. A hill on the east side of the field and one on the west furnish the spots for the nonpaying fans, mostly kids, to watch the football games. Sometimes there are as many as 60 perched around on the hills. Policemen attempt to keep them away but never have been too successful.

There is another custom that makes Kidd Field distinctive. C. D. Belding, local real estate man who is a long-time backer of the college, furnishes fireworks for those who want to shoot them when Texas Western scores a touchdown. One time some prankish individual set them off prematurely. Around the city they must have thought touchdowns coming in bunches.

Mike Brumblow, the old Texas Christian athlete, great touch of Texas Western. Mike didn't have a very good season last fall, his team winning only three out of ten games and making some one-sided lickings from Hardin Simmons, Arizona State of Tempe, Cincinnati and North Texas State. But the fans didn't grumble; they like Mike, fine coach and one of the most colorful men in the business.

There is no overemphasis of football at Texas Western; the people think it's quite all right for the team to lose a few games when the material doesn't warrant a winning eleven. Mike's first season as coach was quite good as the Miners won seven and lost three, but last year he had mostly freshmen and sophomores.

Western is due to be considerably stronger next campaign. Only once has pressure got a football coach out. That was a Mack Saxon, who had a bad year and departed in 1941. But he had been at the school, then called Texas Mines, 13 years.

It is to be expected that Brumblow will feel some pressure if he has a very bad season in 1952, but they really like the old TCU star OK here and a fighting football team that does as much as it's considered capable of will keep him in solid.

Bob Ingram, sports editor of the Herald-Post, says: "Mike is a good coach; he won't keep on losing. He'll get everything possible out of his material."

They tell a good story on Brumblow the past football season. At Amarillo, West Texas State was giving Texas Western all sorts of trouble the first half and in the dressing room, Mike was speaking pretty sharply to his players. A fan came into the dressing room and got rather critical of Brumblow for his remarks. He told the boys they could win the game and to get out there and show him.

The players laughed at Mike, went out and beat West Texas State and then heard the fan say to Brumblow: "I told you so."

It is quite likely that the release of tension brought about by the fan's statement in the dressing room had considerable to do with the team winning the game.

Anyway, Mike probably could use outsider dressing room talks like that every once in a while.

Pro-Am Open Starts Today
SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — An invitation pro-amateur tournament at Oak Hills Country Club, with a $3,000 prize pot, was on today's schedule for participants of the Texas Open golf tournament, set here beginning Thursday.

At least four contenders for the open championship will not be able to compete, tournament Manager M. P. (Monk) Wilson said yesterday, because of ailments.

Included in the hospital list are Dutch Harrison, the 1939 and 1951 winner; Cary Middlecoff, top money winner so far in 1952; Fred Haas, New Orleans stylist, and Lloyd Mangrum, last year's top money winner.

Harrison has a back injury. Mangrum says he is "over-golfing" and needs at least a week's rest. Haas has influenza.

Three teams tied with 6 under par 65's in pro-am tournament yesterday.

Winners were Tommy Bolt, Durham, N. C., and his partner, Amateur Ken Lawson, San Antonio; Bob Kay, West Hartford, Conn., and Amateur Dudley Krueger, Austin; and the foursome of Jim Brown, Des Moines, Ia., pro, amateurs Bill Green, Roger Compton and Moran McLemore, all of San Antonio.

Carver Cagers Leading League
The Carver High school Wildcats are firmly atop the Red River Valley league standings today, following their weekend 41-25 victory over the Booker T. Washington Dragons of Borger. The Wildcats record is nine wins and four losses for the season.

Roger Roland and E. Russey each scored 10 points in the Saturday night victory.

Winter Olympics To Open On Thursday; Maybe No Snow

By BEN PHELAGR
OLSO, Norway — (AP) — With or without the cooperation of nature, the winter Olympics will open Thursday as scheduled.

That was the final word today from the Olympic organizing committee and ski officials, who have been plagued with worries about the lack of snow.

The officials at Norefjell, where the skiing events get underway Thursday, are thoroughly convinced their efforts to haul snow and put it in place with the help of some 300 soldiers, will give the competitors a perfect run.

Water is being sprayed over the snow. Sub-freezing temperatures assure a quick coating of ice.

However, the skiing technical committee decided to postpone the women's downhill race from Saturday until Sunday. This will enable the soldiers to concentrate on getting the courses ready for the Thursday and Friday events which follow the original schedule.

NO SNOW
Hopes for snow to cover bare spots on the ski courses all but vanished this morning when the day dawned cold and clear.

The official Norwegian weather bureau said a snow storm that paralyzed traffic in northern Denmark had been swept away from the Oslo region.

The bobsled run, scene of the only other opening day event, will be all right without more snow. It's made of almost solid ice and sub-freezing temperatures have kept it well preserved.

The two-man sleds ended their practice runs today with the Germans, Swiss and Americans still battling for superiority. The German combination of Anderl Oestler and Lorenz Nieberl holds the world's title and will be favored to keep it.

Two of the four heats in the two-man competition will be run Thursday with Italy's No. 2 bob the first down the run. The United States No. 2 sled, piloted by Jim Bickford of Saranac Lake, N.Y., will be the ninth of the 18 sleds from nine countries to speed down the hill. The No. 1 sled of the Americans, guided by Stan Benham of Lake Placid, N. Y., will be the last to take-off.

The third and fourth heats will be run Friday — when the official opening ceremonies will be held.

Tom Holmes, Rookie Manager, Anxious For Season To Open
(This is the second of a series of stories of major league teams written by the manager for the Associated Press.)

BOSTON BRAVES
By TOMMY HOLMES
BROOKLYN — (AP) — This is my first full year as a big league manager and I'm as eager as the rawest rookie to get started. The reason? I believe the Braves have one of the finest rookie crops ever to come up to the majors in one season.

From this fine batch of newcomers we hope to bolster what was our main weakness last year — our infield. We have such hopefuls as Ed Matthews, a hard hitting third baseman, and Billy Klaus, rated one of the outstanding third basemen in the minors and generally claimed to be the equal of Billy Cox in the field. These two probably will battle veteran Bob Elliott for the hot corner job.

At shortstop to fight it out with Johnny Logan is Jack O'Leary, obtained from Chicago last fall. Jack is a smooth fielder, very aggressive and willing to learn. It is our aim to improve his hitting. Harry Hannebrink, whom I had at Hartford last year, also is very much in the running.

BATTLE FOR SECOND
At second base Jack Dittmer and Billy Reed aim to make it hot for Sibby Sisti and Roy Hartsfield. Dittmer is a murderous hitter, one of those line drive type of batters, while Reed is a great glove man and a good hitter.

George Crowe, who was voted the top rookie in the American Association, will present strong competition at first base for Earl Torgeson. The kid hit .339 at Milwaukee last year.

As far as catching is concerned, Walker Cooper did all we asked of him last year. Show me a better hitting catcher. He is a smart receiver and field general. Ebbas St. Claire should show improvement.

Our outfield, Sid Gordon, Willard Marshall and Sam Jethroe, did a good job last year. Jack Daniels, from Hartford; Bob Thorpe from Milwaukee and Pete Whisenant from Denver, will try to crack that trio. They possess speed, power and defense.

Our strongest department is pitching. Warren Spahn, Chet Nichols, Vern Bickford, Matti Surkont, Jim Wilson, Bob Chipman and Dave Cole give us a pretty good staff. Then we have added such fine rookies as Gene Conley, the No. 1 player in the minor leagues; Ernie Johnson, the top hurler in the American Association; Dick Donovan, Bob Hall, Dick Hoover, Virgil Jester, Don Liddle, Normie Roy, Bert Thiel and Murray Wall. All are anxious to show their talents. Nichols had the lowest era in the league last year. He can be another Spahn.

Greens Gossip

By HOGAN O' SNEAD
The weather was so good last weekend that I spent all the time on the course and didn't even get around to writing this column for Sunday. But here I go now.

First, Beth Heiskell, the defending women's medalist and runner-up in the city tournament, fired a wonderful 37-42-79 last Friday. Remind me to steer clear of her. She did it with a pair of three-putt greens on the front and three of them on the back nine. DeLoe Vicars it no 'cause we like it because found the greens rolling just right for his putter, too. He smacked down nine one-putt greens in 12 holes the other day. The And another fellow who located the cup easily was Dangerous Dan Gribbon. Dan holed out on two of the first three holes from off the green last week.

We surely can tell that the going season is slowly approaching. Dale Aize Whittle and Fern Parker out surveying the layout the other day. When those two ladies arrive at the golf course, can spring be far behind?

The Harvester golfers are doing fine. Tommy Cox is still the top man, followed by Dib Stowell, Charley Austin and Ronnie Mullins in that order. The boys are playing a ladder tournament.

We had a big time this week with the meeting of the Pampa Men's Golf Association directors. Congratulations to colorful R. M. Samples upon being selected president of the organization for 1952. His dress will knock their eye out.

Saw Johnny with some of the new 1952 rule books. Lots of the boys are going to enjoy the new penalty on out of bounds. Johnny says he plans to fix up the greens about the 20th of March, putting a little iron and potato — medically called nitrate of ammonia by green physicians.

Here's a cute yarn you may have heard, but we want to pass it on cause we like it because it reminds us of ourselves. A twosome was putting out on a par 3 hole. The green was hidden from view of oncoming golfers. A ball rolled over the hill and into the rough. The two golfers decided to have a little fun. They picked up the ball, dropped it in the cup and stood nearby to catch the expression of the upcoming golfer who would believe he had a hole in one.

Shortly, a roly-poly little fellow came wheezing over the hill, puffing with every step. He looked in the traps, in the rough and all around. Finally, very dubiously, he walked over to take a look in the cup. He then picked up the ball, cupped his hands to his mouth and yelled to his unseen companion:

"Hey, Joe! Whatta' ya know! I got a six."

Golf oddities as taken from the January edition of the "Professional Golfer" magazine:
At Brooch, former A. B. Lane Country Club Invitational champion here, had the fewest putts for 18 holes in a PGA sponsored tournament in 1951, using only 21 strokes on the greens in the third round of the Texas Open — Brooch also had the lowest 18 hole round with 60 in the same round at the Texas Open — his 60 was an all-time low in any professional tournament — Brooch had a pair of 30's in the Eastern Open — the longest drive for 1951 was Andy Anderson's 373-yard poke that gave him the fourth consecutive PGA driving champion — Cary Middlecoff won the most tournaments in 1951 (6).

SWC Leaders Battle Bottom Clubs In Tonight's Action

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff
The Southwest Conference leaders play the league tail-enders tonight in games at Waco and Fort Worth.

Last night, Texas A&M lost its fifth straight decision in a game at College Station that saw the Arkansas Razorbacks win, 49-40. The Hogs moved out of the cellar into a fourth-place tie with A&M in the conference standings.

Most important feature of tonight's games — matching Baylor against Texas and Rice against Texas Christian — is their bearing on a Saturday night battle brewing for Austin. . . . between the Frogs and Longhorns.

Rice and Baylor, cellar dwellers with identical 2-5 records in conference play, are not expected to make much headway against front running Texas of second-place TCU. But a win by either the Bears or Owls would throw a damper on the enthusiasm being built up for the TCU-Texas thriller Saturday night in Austin.

STEEERS LEAD
Texas leads the conference by a half game with six wins and one loss against five wins and one loss for the Christians. Rice and Baylor have nothing to lose in their Tuesday night games. But could ruin some fine replace with his 108 points as ords for their opponents. The two teams meet in a game in Houston Friday night that may decide the conference tail-enders, if A&M can win another game or two.

The Aggies led most of the way last night in College Station, but fell behind after sharp shooting Walter Kearns of the Hogs started a 15-point scoring spree in the second half. Kearns broke a 28-29 tie in the third period, contributed five more field goals in the fourth quarter and kept the Hogs out in front.

The Razorbacks, unpredictable most of the season, froze the ball with five minutes to play and a 44-38 lead.

Hog forward Tryon Lewis broke under the Aggie basket for three late field goals to bring the margin to nine points as the game ended.

Kearns and Walt Davis of the Aggies tied for high point honors for the night with 19 tallies each.

Davis' night's work, five field goals and nine charities, shot him to the top of the league in individual scoring for conference play with a total of 118 points.

George McLeod, the big TCU center who led the scoring race most of the season fell into third place with his 108 points as Kearns 19 points boosted him into second place with a total of 111 points.

Reapers Defeat Whirlwinds, 49-31

The Pampa Junior High school Reapers moved to within a full game of first place in the Panhandle Junior High School Basketball League yesterday, defeating the Horace Mann Whirlwinds, 49-31 at Amarillo.

The win permitted the Reapers to pick up half a game on the idle Phillips five, leading the league with an 8-1 record in comparison to the 7-2 mark of the Pampans.

Harold Lewis led the way for Pampa, hitting 18 points for the scorin honors. Allen Cope led the host club with nine.

In other games Elizabeth Nixon stopped Price College, 31-22 at Price, and Borger barely edged Sam Houston, 23-19, at Sam Houston. Lewis' 18 points made him the top scorer of the day in the three games played.

The Reapers return to play Thursday afternoon when they travel to Price college to play the last place Cardinal team.

Midwest Trains Foreign Stars
CHICAGO — (AP) — The Midwest is a busy training ground for foreign athletes hopeful of representing their own countries in the 1952 Olympic games at Helsinki.

An Associated Press survey today disclosed at least 17 athletes from seven different countries are performing at colleges in this area.

Their native countries are kept in close eye on this potential Olympic material, hopeful it will be spruced up by American coaching.

American salesmanship abroad and limited Big-time track competition outside the states; apparently caused the influx.

Canada with 10 natives, seven of them at the University of Michigan, tops the list which also includes two South African athletes, and one each from Sweden, Norway, New Zealand, Finland and Panama.

Olympic rules require competitors to be nationals or naturalized citizens of the country they represent.

Sweden already has notified Fritz Roland Nilsson, 6-foot, 6-inch weight man at Michigan,

Dodgers Sign 34th Player
BROOKLYN — (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers announced today outfielder George Saba and Pitchers Jack Banta and Phil Haugstad had signed their 1952 contracts. The Dodgers now have 34 players in the fold.

Shuba, 27, was up with the Dodgers in 1948, 1949 and 1950 but never lived up to his minor league ratings. He spent 1951 with Montreal, batting .310 in 92 games.

Banta, after a fine season in 1949 came up with arm trouble and spent most of 1950 with Montreal and all of 1951 with Fort Worth.

Haugstad, a big winner at St. Paul in 1949 and 1950, saw action that he is a member of the Swedish Olympic team. Nilsson performed for Sweden in the 1948 Olympics.

British Teacher Contrasts English And U. S. Schools

An explanation of the English school system and a comparison between it and the American system was given by Miss Marjorie Curtis, British exchange teacher, at a meeting Saturday of the Panhandle School Administrators Assn.

Miss Curtis, who is instructing in an Amarillo school, is one of 102 exchange teachers from England now in the United States. She spoke to the group after a luncheon in the Pampa High school cafeteria.

"Although both systems are alike in some respects," she said, "on the whole they are quite different." She explained that schooling in England was not made compulsory until 1899, when the entire system was known as the "Board of Education."

Then, in 1944, the Butler act was passed whereby the name was changed to Ministry of Education with a minister of education at the head.

In comparing the English and American systems, Miss Curtis stated she believes the U. S. system breeds lazy teachers. "Here, instructors are told what to teach and what books to use over a certain period. Their thinking is done for them and they are given little opportunity in making their own policies. In England the head master or mistress of each school is free in running their institution as they see fit because there is no official recommendation as to how it shall be conducted."

Miss Curtis also said there is much waste in schools here. "Under the English system, school supplies and books are furnished and carefully used. In America such things as pencils which can be used many more times, are thrown away," she asserted.

Miss Curtis stressed there is no uniform system of teaching in England and that as much individuality as possible is included in schools. "The head and staff work together and each know what the other is doing, which creates better working conditions."

"The first thing that struck me on entering an American school was the dress of the students. Here the children are pleasantly informal and are able to express themselves better orally. In England students do not talk too much but are able to express themselves on paper better."

New Fight Against Greenbug To Be Conducted At Pantech

PLAINVIEW — An Oklahoma A&M entomologist, Dr. Donald Ashdown, has been employed to take charge of a research project on an old enemy of the wheat growers, the greenbug.

Harold Hinn, general manager of the Harvest Queen Mill and Elevator Co. of Plainview and coordinator of a greenbug-control research fund, announced Saturday that Dr. Ashdown would take over the project at Pantech Farms near Amarillo about March 1.

DR. DONALD ASHDOWN

The project, to attack the problem of greenbugs as a menace to Texas wheat, is a cooperative project between Texas Tech, the Texas A&M college experiment station, and the Division of Cereal and Forage Insects Investigation of the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

All original research at Pantech is being carried out by cooperation between Texas Tech and Texas A&M college.

"During the past two years, wheat production in the Plains area has been reduced 75 to 80 percent due to the greenbug and other pests. Something must be found that will stop the damage," Hinn said.

Santa Fe Railway Co. originated the greenbug control project and is a major contributor to the research fund. Santa Fe was joined by Rock Island Railway Co., Harvest Queen Mill and Elevator Co., Producers Grain Corp. of Amarillo, Uhlmann Elevators Co. of Fort Worth, Burrus Mills of Dallas, and county and terminal grain elevators of 35 West Texas towns.

Funds are being provided to support the investigation over an initial period of three years.

The 34-year-old Ashdown is a native of Utah. He received his B. S. degree from Utah State Agriculture college in 1942 and his Ph. D. from Cornell university in 1948.

During the past four years, in which he was in charge of research in the fruits and vegetables branch of the Oklahoma Experiment station, he worked closely with Dr. R. G. Dahms, noted Oklahoma entomologist, who is in charge of greenbug investigation for the Federal Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

At Pantech, Dr. Ashdown will be dealing with a treacherous little insect that can wipe out entire fields of young wheat in a few days. Due to the limited climatic conditions in which the greenbug is destructive, widespread damage due to the insect may be noticed only twice in a decade.

Some research has been carried out on the control of the greenbug, but thus far it has proven either too expensive or limited in its effect. Dr. Ashdown's definite path of investigation is unknown at present, but in addition to insecticides, he has expressed special interest in systemic insecticides, a seed treatment which might immunize the plant against the bug.

In carrying out the study of infestation and its control, considerable thought and study will be given to the influence of fertilizers on both production and resist-

Pampa Art Club Stages Exhibit Monday For Work Of Local Artists

The work of 14 Pampa artists was exhibited Monday in the home of Mrs. John Hessey. Mrs. Roy Chisum was in charge of the program and gave biographies of the artists and explained their work briefly.

In introducing the program, Mrs. Chisum said:

"We can proudly say these artists are our own. It has been said that the secret of art lies in its freedom. The emotion and some elements of the experience are lived again, divorced from their necessity. The strain is over, but the joy of intense feeling remains. Here are paintings by local artists that may give you a sense of feeling through sight."

"An artist looks at the same world others have looked at, but he sees it with a sharpness and simplicity that results in a new statement from old facts."

"Shapes, lines, and colors are used to make statements that cannot be said in words, for no words have yet been written that are the equivalents of what is wonderful in a good painting. Paintings are first for the eye, and the deeper apprehension which may lie beyond. The word is only for the mind, and never quite seems to catch up with the essential truthness of the silent eye."

"Not everything in art is improving every moment, but if every where there is local interest and a warmth of understanding between the artists of the past and present will have a significant place in our time and our lives."

Work of the following artists was exhibited:

Kyle Bunch, Jr., is now exhibiting his work in the Schneider hotel. The art club exhibited a portrait of his father, Kyle Bunch, Sr., which has never been exhibited before. The portrait was painted just before Bunch went to Dallas where he manages and arranges exhibits at the international galleries. He began painting when he was 14 and recently received a Masters degree in art from Pennsylvania University. His other works exhibited Monday included a charcoal of an old barn at Chester Springs, Pa., location of the summer academy of Pennsylvania University, and a recently painted oil of Palo Duro canyon.

Mrs. John Andrews exhibited a naturalistic painting she did about two years ago. The painting depicts the scene as she saw it about four o'clock on a very clear and bright day. Other paintings included a Columbine picture she painted following a trip to the Rocky mountains, and "The Old Cyprus Tree" which is in pastel and is a California scene.

Mrs. A. D. Hills, an art club member, displayed "Moon Flowers At the Moonlight," a scene from her own yard. The picture was framed in a solid walnut frame, designed and finished by Mrs. Hills. She started painting about 10 years ago, when she studied under Mrs. John Andrews. Recently she studied with Mr. Louis Neugebauer of Amarillo.

Miss Verdie Denton studied art at West Texas State college, Columbia university and SMU's extension art school in Estes Park. She works in wood carving for her own pleasure, and has never had instruction in the craft, but she had several wood carvings to show.

C. H. Tooker, known for his "chalk talks," exhibited sketches and work done for brochures. He attended John Brown university and studied with "Pop" Leuders at Compton Junior college in California.

Mrs. George Norris, also a club member, showed a portrait in oils of Mrs. Lenora Sloan. She has studied at the Corcoran Gallery in Washington, D. C., the University of Oklahoma and studied with Margaret LeFranc. Miss Roy Riley, another club member, exhibited a water color done while she was studying under Amelio Caballero. She has studied at the University of Southern California and West Texas State college. Her work has been exhibited with the Texas artists at the Elizabeth Ney studio in Austin.

Marble pieces carved by L. P. Fort were shown to the club. Mr. Fort uses Italian, French, Mexican and Vermont marble for making decorative and useful objects. He had a monument business in Dallas, and while there he was instrumental in the marble work in the Hillcrest mausoleum, once a home, now a museum. Among the objects exhibited were ash trays, paper weights, book ends and decorative pieces.

Mrs. Bob Vail has a BA in Art from University of New Mexico in Albuquerque, and before her marriage was Coordinator of Art in Lubbock elementary schools. She did the illustrations and script for five books which are used as "readers" for young Spanish students. Her most recent work is "Stories Like," a collection of best loved fairy tales.

A Batik on Silk, an original design, was exhibited, showing practical use of her talents. Mrs. Vail designed and made a noveau block print on a voile dress which was also displayed. In 1917 Mrs. C. P. Pursley received her first lessons in the fundamentals of painting from Miss Jessie Bob Serverson, now Jo Ann Thompson. Other work of San Antonio. Her next instruction was under Mrs. Mary Locke now of Big Spring.

Mrs. Pursley is now taking professional lessons from Mr. Louis R. Neugebauer in Amarillo. Before coming to this country, the capital of the Republic of India is New Delhi.

director of Art in Austria. Mrs. Pursley exhibited a water scene done during her study with this Austrian artist.

A study shown by Mrs. Erwin Pursley demonstrated a different and interesting technique. She had studied only with her mother-in-law, Mrs. C. P. Pursley, until recently she has been studying with Mr. Neugebauer.

Mr. Emory Morris studied art briefly while attending Abilene Christian College in Abilene. He paints for pleasure and relaxation. His more recent work displays an interesting approach in knife painting technique.

During the war, Mr. Morris was serving on an island in the Pacific. To fill the time when he wasn't busy in the medical dispensary, he began to carve mother-of-pearl. He limited these pieces with the only colors he had at hand, yellow from Atabrine, blue from disinfectant, and red from methiolate. Having no varnish to protect his finished pieces from the tropical dampness he covered it over with "New-Sk'n," a substance used in the war to cover burns. With this technique, under great difficulties and with only the crudest of materials he fashioned unusual pieces of jewelry which were displayed Monday.

He also exhibited a painting, "Head of a Collie Dog." Among the other outstanding work done by local artists, was a collection of enameled brass trays, which were designed by Miss Jessie Bob Serverson, now Jo Ann Thompson. Other work of San Antonio. Her next instruction was under Mrs. Mary Locke now of Big Spring.

Mrs. Pursley is now taking professional lessons from Mr. Louis R. Neugebauer in Amarillo. Before coming to this country, the capital of the Republic of India is New Delhi.

Delta Kappa Gamma Has Program On Negro's Cultural Contributions

Cultural contributions of the American Negro was the program theme for the regular meeting of the Beta Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma in the City Club rooms Saturday afternoon.

The program opened with the high school girls' sextet singing "Sin," "Till Ge By," "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," and "Steal Away." The sextet, composed of Betty Isaacs, Anna Sue Ence, Virginia Walls, Carolyn Carver, Betty Jones, and Charlotte Allston, was introduced by Mrs. Olean B. Legitt. Miss Ouida Williams was the accompanist.

A panel, led by Mrs. Roy Gettel and made up of Miss Minnie Allen, Miss Ardelle Briggs, Miss Pearl Spough, and Mrs. Lois Chambers, discussed the cultural contributions of Booker T. Washington, George W. Carver, Marian Anderson, Paul Dunbar, and Dr. Ralph Bunch. Miss Allen discussed the Negro in education, using Booker T. Washington, an educator, public speaker, and author, as her subject.

George W. Carver was the subject of Miss Briggs' discussion. In spite of Mr. Carver's being orphaned at infancy, he became one of the great naturalists and botanists and a teacher in Tuskegee Institute. He was singularly honored by Theodore Roosevelt.

Marian Anderson, the subject of Miss Spough's discussion, began singing at the age of three. The church choir in which she sang raised the funds for her early musical training. Miss Anderson studied in Europe ten years. She won a $10,000 musical award in 1941. She is acclaimed the world's greatest contralto.

Mrs. Chambers discussed the contributions of the foremost Negro poet, Paul Dunbar. He began writing at the age of six and his poems were first published in Harper's when he was sixteen. Mr. Dunbar is also a novelist and short story writer.

Dr. Ralph Bunch, the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize winner and the first Negro to win this prize, was discussed by Mrs. Gettel. Dr. Bunch graduated from Harvard and through scholarships, has traveled over the world and studied the problems of its different peoples.

Miss Claudia Everly conducted the initiation into the club of three new members including Miss Gertrude Holladay of White Deer, Miss Nova Mayo of Pampa, and Miss Ruby Trusty, now of Pampa but a former member of the Beta Rho chapter of Wichita Falls.

Miss Mary Ewing, the president, conducted a short business meeting.

Miss Florence Jones, Miss Josephine Thomas, and Miss Exa Faye Hutton were hostesses to Mmes. Essi Mae Walters, Ruth Bennick, Marion Karr, Daisy Childers, W. E. Ewing, Chambers, J. B. White, Quentin Williams, Perry Gault, Ray Salmon, Raymond Harrish, Sam Irwin, J. B. Austin, John I. Bradley, W. B. Evans, L. K. Stout, Alton Moore, Gettel, Rachel Jones, Lula B. Owen, R. T. Foster, Leggett, and Mrs. Roy Sullivan; Misses Bernice Larsh, William Mullmax, Golladay, Ewing, Ila Pool, Spough, Trusty, Mayo, Mary Dean Dozier Allen, Briggs, Lelia Clifford and Olive Carter.

The board voted to send a Founder's day gift to state headquarters. Plans for the joint PTA meeting later this month were discussed and the group reminded of father's night March 13.

In China the peach tree is thought of variously as the tree of life and the tree of death. It is also associated with love and with longevity.

Cook's Nook

That leftover part of a Virginia ham, the remains of Sunday's roast chicken often have a way of staying in a refrigerator for days — and of finally being thrown away.

Here's a recipe to end THAT particular annoyance for all time. It is equally helpful to the bachelor girl whose culinary efforts are confined to the kitchen unit of a city apartment. A slice of ham, a small can or a few pieces of roast chicken, picked up at her neighborhood grocery, will provide the basis for a delectable Sunday night supper or an emergency meal for last-minute guests.

Chicken Trafalgar
6 slices stewed or roast chicken
2 thin slices cooked ham
18 mushroom caps
1-4 c butter
1 1/2 teaspoon flour
1 1-2 cups cream or evaporated milk
1 teaspoon Angostura Aromatic Bitters

The ham should be sliced rather thin. Use leftover cooked ham or buy the sliced boiled ham sold in grocery stores. Cut each slice into three pieces and patie with chicken and mushroom caps in the butter. Arrange buttered toast on serving dish. Place pieces of ham on toast then a slice of chicken (preferably white meat). Remove mushrooms from pan. To butter remaining add one tablespoon flour, blend well, then add evaporated milk or cream. Bring slowly to a boil stirring constantly. Cook to thicken slightly then add Angostura and pour over the chicken. Top with the mushrooms. This recipe will make six individual servings.

Ruth Millett

A man who adds: "A guy who married his secretary," after the signature at the close of his letter, is bitter because as soon as he married his secretary she quit treating him like "the boss."

That shouldn't have surprised him. Nor should he resent it. The best marriages are partnerships, not employer - employee relationships.

Some wives do treat their husbands as bosses, who must be pleased at all costs, who must be yessed continually, and whose authority must never be questioned.

But that doesn't make for a good marriage. It just makes a stuffed shirt out of the husband, and his wife a mere shadow, instead of an individual in her own right.

So, Mr. "Important," be glad your wife doesn't still treat you as "the boss." That she has her own ideas — and opinions — and enough healthy self-respect to stand up for them.

Be glad if she is interested in improving you. You can probably stand some improvement. Most men and women can.

Even be glad that you aren't the "big boss" at home. Two heads are better than one, and it isn't good for a man's personality to be the "lord and master."

It's much too likely to make him overbearing away from home. Marriage shouldn't be run like an office, with one person giving orders and the other person taking them. You're not to be pitted because your wife understands that fact.

If she had wanted you for a boss she would have gone on being your secretary. What she wanted was to be your partner, so she married you.

The modern Olympic games were first held in Athens, Greece, in 1896. They are generally thought to have stemmed from Greek athletic games held during annual festivals around 700 years before Christ.

Calvary Baptist Group Has Fellowship Hour

The young married couples of the Calvary Baptist training union met for a fellowship hour in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Elwess Sunday following church services.

Refreshments of coffee, hot chocolate and cookies were served to the following: Messrs. and Mmes. Eva A. Smith, Jack Ironmonger, Charles McGhon, Roy Bennet, Billy Boyd, Sidney Crawford, Bob Graham, West Lanham, J. M. Hill, Bud Patton, Rev. and Mrs. Truitt Stovall and Eddie Gates, Ish Wampler, Mrs. Leo Blair and Mrs. Alice Fay Williford.

Children attending were Pamela, Patricia and Beverly Smith, Ronald and Lavita Bennett, John and Jacquilyn Ironmonger, Cheryl Graham, James Williford, Jackie and Linda Stovall and Skipper Crawford.

McLemore Recommends Trip By Rowboat To Blue Grotto

By HENRY McLEMORE
 CAPRI — A man who would ask for a better morning would also ask that a thrush or a nightingale sing a little bit sweeter.

The sun was brighter than any ever dreamed up by Rodgers and Hammerstein, and the Bay of Naples was bluer than a Tiffany sapphire.

It was on this morning that I decided to see the Blue Grotto again.

I went down to the silly little dock where the bearded, old fishermen shoo you away lest you scare the tiny mullet away from their bait.

Operators of speedboats besieged me with offers to take me to the Blue Grotto. I took things, with mahogany hulls, and motors that talked out loud about their horsepower.

I was about to get in a speedboat when Louie came up and spoke to me.

"Let me and my cousin row you to the Grotto," he said. "We have a fine rowboat. We could row to America if we had to. And we will sing to you as we go. We have the finest voices ever heard in Italy."

I asked Louie if he and his cousin sang better than Caruso ever sang.

"Much better," he answered. "Better than Gigli!"

"If we sing better than Caruso we must sing better than Gigli," Louie said.

I said, okay, I'd let them row me to the Grotto.

Twenty minutes later, long after the speedboats were out of sight, Louie and his cousin, stripped to the waist, drew up in their rowboat. It looked like an ashray with oarlocks, and there was a good three inches of water in the bottom.

I jumped in and we were off.

There was no music. I asked Louie about this. I wanted "O Sole Mio," "Isle of Capri," and every other corny Italian song ever written.

Louie said the wind was against him and his cousin; that if they sang they would have to stop rowing.

Louie suggested I sing. So I did. I suppose I am one of the few men who ever sang "Melancholy Baby," "Is a Riddle," "Georgia On My Mind," and "Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend," in a rowboat on the way to the Blue Grotto.

If you don't mind my giving you a little advice, always go from Capri to the Blue Grotto in a rowboat. You'll see about six times as much. The cold, forbidding rock that is Capri is alive with little grottoes that you miss in a speedboat. There is the Champagne Grotto where the sea drives in and boils like bubbles from a Paul Roget bottle. There is the Donkey Ear Grotto where the surf pounds in an opening in the rock that is shaped exactly like the ears of a gigantic burro.

There's the Death's Head Grotto where the waters of the bay have worn out a stone skull.

I've written before about how one gets into the Blue Grotto, but I think it's the sort of thing that can stand repeating. To make it as simple as possible, a rowboat must enter an opening in a cliff not much larger than the opening in a doghouse. The rowboat must enter in the trough of a swell. The occupants of the boat must lie flat on their backs or stomachs.

Three times I have tried to describe the Blue Grotto and I won't try it again. I shall rest content with saying that it's a lovely bit of heaven enclosed in a cavern. The blue is a blue you will never see except in the Grotto. The water is a silvery shade.

Once Louie and his cousin got me inside the Grotto, they laid down their oars and started singing. For the better part of an hour we drifted in this tiny bit of dreamland, with the two Italian youngsters singing from their hearts and not for hire. As they sang they dipped their hands in the water and threw silver into the air. I told them they were staying too long.

They laughed and sang louder. Louie and his cousin left me with a memory that will stay with me as long as I live.

Rowing home I sang to them. This time I changed my repertoire. I gave them "Dardanelle," "Battie Hymn of the Republic," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," and "How Come You Do Me Like You Do, Do, Do."

DEAR MR. JONES: If you're thinking of buying a new car, I can dispose of your old one for cash on the barrel head. You see as long as I live, I can pick your buyer too. You see as long as I live, I can pick your buyer too. You see as long as I live, I can pick your buyer too.

Dr. Logan's Wife

By Diana Gaines

Copyright 1951 by Diana Gaines. Used by arrangement with the publishers, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA SERVICE, Inc.

THE house, empty of human sound and motion, filled with the rich activity of the outdoors.

Jennet Logan lay on the love seat as if it were a hammock and gave herself up to the melancholy excitement of the trees. Chinese elm, pine, pepper, olive, glowed preternatural green against the low blue sunless sky, dipped roundly to the wind like full-flipped women to slow music.

Now and then, the wind gained and without changing the tempo, lashed the dance to deeper writhings. A loose trumpet vine knocked the pane. The moving air forced through the window sashes so that the fresh damp smell of it was sharp as a bird's cry in the room; a freshness without chill, for there is rarely less than body temperature in the southern California spring no matter how threatening the show.

Jennet knew she should be getting dressed—it was past 5:30—but the thought of the Pelletier party was hardly a spur. A doctor's party—it had taken her several years to accept the functions as for a party, but there the similarity ended. A doctor's party, she had come to learn, was a gathering of home-tired men and their resigned women who rose briefly to the artificial camaraderie induced by good whisky and good food, but whose urge to communicate sickened with each interruptive phone call.

The handful of men who survived dinner sat in a circle of professional exchange: "Had a case just the other day..." On the other side of the room, as in early American churches, sat the women. The elaborate meal, unheavened by male attention, unthemed not a little sluggish, and in common beyond the calling of their husbands, the conversation moved by eruptive revelations from a peak of likes and dislikes to a low of the same.

At 11:30 one of the doctors would stretch and nod to his wife and apologize to the hostess for an early operation in the morning. Lately it was Jennet and Gus who were the first to leave. By 12 all the guests would have departed. Within the week another doctors' party would have been scheduled, and the performance varying only in menu, would be repeated—so docilely did these public servants accept the treadmill of their social intercourse.

Jennet, herself, was unused to the uniform of docility. She wore it out of long habit to hide and to punish the welter of rebellions and strong feeling that would have broken here of love. Somehow the garment was becoming more and more restrictive, the habit of pleasing others more and more unpleasant. Perhaps because no one, not even Gus, any longer pleased her.

Now, when Gus needed the patience and consideration of a loving wife, she was dismayed to find that her love of him had deserted her. She had to force it, or at least, the semblance of it, and

C-C Discusses Banquet Plans

Final plans for the annual Gray-Roberts county teachers' banquet Thursday were discussed during a meeting of the goodwill and reception committee, Pampa Chamber of Commerce, in the chamber office yesterday.

The banquet, to be held at 7:30 p. m. in the Pampa High school cafeteria, will follow a valentine theme. Frank Fata, chairman of the committee, announced that 103 teacher reservations have not been made. As in the past, local merchants purchase tickets given teachers. The additional reservations may be obtained from the chamber of commerce. Dinner music during the banquet will be furnished by Weldon Bright, Amarillo. The program will consist of a short play with special music by Beverly Fancher and Bill Hutchinson.

Women Voters Drop 'Provisional' Now A Local League

Mrs. J. D. Periman of Dallas, chairman of the organization committee of the Texas League of Women Voters, informed the Pampa "provisional" league Saturday that it has been accepted as a local league. Mrs. F. M. Culbert, league president, explained that the Pampa group would no longer be known as a provisional league. The Pampa organization has met all requirements for a local league, Mrs. Culbert said, and it is believed that Pampa has had one of the shortest periods of preparation of any league in the organization's history. The group held its first organizational meeting May 26, 1951. The minimum requirement for a local league is a membership of 15; Pampa has 98 members. The local league has also completed a survey of local government and made tentative plans to print a pamphlet called "Know Your Town," which will incorporate information on local and county government and the Pampa Independent school district. The league here has also completed the study of inflation, a national problem.

men resented dealing with a woman. They rather seem to like it. When she insisted again that women are capable of filling any role in the hotel field, I asked: "Well, how about the job of house detective?"

A doctor's party, she had come to learn, was a gathering of home-tired men and their resigned women. There were times when the effort made—her almost have both Gus and herself, instead of pitying his illness she felt betrayed by it. She had thought she had married strength, a rock of a man who would serve as a shield between her and an indifferent world, as her parents had not; who would guarantee her the privileges of unassailed sober citizenry, as her father had not.

She had sought through marriage to wangle what she felt was owed to her, even though the date for her payment had passed. At 24, she had still wanted to be babied, protected, indulged—and that was the kind of love Gus Logan offered.

Gus had more than fulfilled the protective love and marital limit of his strength, but those prizes which have enduring market value and snob appeal: a fur, a jewel, a diamond, a pocket watch, a pocket. "No, I don't think so," he blew his nose. "Must be allergy or something."

Jennet followed him into the den, the folds of her luffeta petticoat. "Did you have a hard day?" "The usual rat-race. I try to make it easy, but the habits of a lifetime are too strong to break, I guess. I don't know how to turn years away—spent too many years trying to lure them in. I've told the receptionist not to schedule the patients so closely—between. But if the patients don't pile up, the phone calls do. Can't win."

Jennet took a cigarette from the box which she kept filled for her convenience. She lit it and inhaled the first uninhaled puff. Gus had once told her that the first drag was so casual about overwork. What was now her own. Gus slept in the downstairs den to eliminate the desk, the valet stand, the bookcase of medical journals, the television set.

Ingrid, the maid, who never permitted herself to open Jennet's bureau drawers, had set out on the chaise longue her freshly laundered underthings, piled them in neat pastel stacks.

lived on that while her husband was launching into business on his own. They were living at a $10,000 a year clip in 1929, owned nine retail clothing stores. But the crash wiped them out. Together they built up a new fortune.

Mrs. Tisch is a sturdy advocate of women's adaptability in industry. "Women are less impatient in handling details," she said, "and details are vastly important in business. I never had found that."

Woman Who Runs Hotel Says It's Easy If You Have Stamina

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Housewives who do much entertaining often sigh, "I might as well be running a hotel."
Mrs. Al Tisch agrees. She believes any wife who can entertain well in her own home can run a hotel successfully — if she has the stamina.
"I feel it is far easier to cater to 800 hotel guests than to care for 12 in my own home," said Mrs. Tisch, one of the nation's few women hotel presidents.
"I often wonder why more women don't embark in the hotel business. We'd have better hotels. They need the woman's touch."
The Tisch family is a unique four-member partnership. Sayde Tisch, her husband, Al, a former clothing manufacturer, and their two sons — Larry, 28, and Bob, 25 — operate a chain of ten hotels, including the McAlpin in New York and the Traymore and Ambassador in Atlantic City.
Mrs. Tisch, a friendly, warm-voiced woman of 51, helps supervise the entire chain.
"Financial success or failure has never altered her enjoyment of living."
"When Al and I came out of the Brooklyn marriage bureau in 1920," she said, "he has only 30 cents in his pocket. And we gave a dime of that to a blind beggar."
For her honeymoon she accompanied Al on a sales trip. She got a $50 a week job, and they
