Love Has Two Faces

By Irene Lonnen Ernhart
Copyright, 1947, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Mike Cargill has been mustered out of the Army and is due home, according to the newspaper, but he hasn't let Cassie in deeply in love with Mike although there never was anything definite said between them. She looks forward excitedly to seeing him again. Leni, her younger sister, has a date with wealthy Lou Cavendish. Cassie thinks Leni runs around too much for a girl her age.

When she stepped out of the elevator there he stood. Cassie wished her heart wouldn't pound so. "Cass, baby!" His voice was husky. "Did you miss me?"

CASSIE waited all afternoon for Mike's call. Every time the phone rang she braced herself for his voice, and when the day had finally dragged by, her heart was heavy with disappointment. She'd probably fooled herself about Mike for a long time. He hadn't written purposely. He'd wanted it to end like that. Just a gradual breaking off. Or, maybe there was somebody else now. She put on the crazy little white flower hat, and powdered her nose and painted her mouth into a tight curve. The swift descent of the elevator didn't bother her tonight because she already had a gone feeling in her midriff. And then when she stepped out of the elevator there he stood. She saw him at once, and her heart leaped like a live thing. He leaned, one broad shoulder against the wall, his short, thin figure at ease, and smoked a cigarette. His hair was at that crazy angle he always used to wear it. A blonde brushed by, turned to look back at him. Mike was handsome. There was a certain bewitching look about him that attracted women.

"Hello Mike!" Cassie wished her heart wouldn't pound so. Mike stood up, tossed his cigarette into the sand urn and swept off his hat. His blue eyes lit up, just the way they used to. He was very tanned, and a trifle thinner. They stood looking at each other for a moment and Cassie wondered if he were going to kiss her. He didn't, but the way his eyes roved over her hungrily was enough. "Cass, baby," his voice grew a trifle husky over the nickname, "did you miss me?"

THE street was a crazy blur, and there was just herself and Mike, walking along on a heavenly cloud, no other people, no traffic, no world—nothing. He pressed her arm affectionately. "Here's the old jalopy, parked by the same old fireplug, and the same old cop waiting for me with a ticket!" Mike let go of her arm and held out his hand to the officer.

"Mike! You old son of a gun!" the cop cried. He shook hands with Mike, tipped his cap to Cass, "Up to your old tricks, too! Get that bus out of there boy, before I write you up one! It's grand to see you home again."

They got in and Mike swerved the red roadster away from the curb. He drove up Main street to Carson, the street that ran along the tracks, and turned North, taking the long way home, past the old deserted Hamilton Machine works and across the creek bridge. Just past the bridge over the creek he stopped the car, switched the ignition off and turned to look at Cassie. Unsmiling, intent, his blue eyes roved her face as if searching for something.

"Cassie!" His voice trembled ever so slightly. She was in his arms in a second, her face laid against the sandpaper roughness of his chin. He found her mouth eagerly, and kissed her until her senses swam, and her whole body was as loose as water.

"Oh Lord, Cassie, how I missed you! In that rotten prison camp, I thought about you all the time, day and night, cursing myself because I hadn't said something definite before I left, wishing I could touch you, wishing I could tell you how I really felt!" Letters were no good, Cassie. Even now words are no good, not really, for the way I feel about you. Will you marry me, Cassie? Wait a minute now—before you answer." He put his hands on her shoulders and pushed her away so that he could get a good look at her face. "I've got a good thing all lined up, out on the coast. Another guy and I are going into business together. Just a small thing to start with, Cass, but a start toward something really big. We're going to pool our loans and set up a small shop first to make a gadget I've worked out."

"That's swell, Mike. I—" He interrupted her, his voice bubbling up with enthusiasm. "Cassie, you and I'll get married tomorrow and start for San Francisco maybe by Sunday." He tipped his head, his eyes shooting off those queer electric gleams, his mouth curved in that funny boyish grin.

CASS was very still. She wanted to cry, suddenly. Her throat felt thick with dread. "But Mike—" "Cass, I thought—" he broke off and for once he didn't look confident, as he saw her expression of reluctance.

"Oh Mike—it isn't that I don't love you. I've never even thought seriously about anyone else! But—" "But what?" "Well I—you know I couldn't just pick up and get married and go away and leave Mama and the kids, with Papa not able to work half the time. Not that far—not just up and go. They—" she tried to swallow the lump in her throat. "They depend on me."

"Why Cass, that's silly. You can't throw your life away looking after them. Don't be so noble. They'll get along. You just imagine they have to have you around. Nobody's indispensable."

"Yes, but—what would they do?" "They'd get along somehow if they didn't have you. Maybe if you weren't around your father could keep a job, instead of—" "Papa's old, and Sid is only a kid, and Leni—Leni's still in school."

They stared at each other helplessly. Mike's face had lost all its glow, and a certain queer hardness had come into it, a set look about his mouth.

There was a long silence, as if he were waiting for her to say she'd changed her mind, that she'd go. It stretched endlessly. Cassie's thoughts ran in crazy circles. Maybe Mike was right? (To Be Continued)

SIGN PAINTER FORSAKES BILLBOARD FOR CANVAS

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Staff
Artist Werner Demuth of New Braunfels took the first step of his career as a successful Texas artist by painting signs.

After several months of studying sign painting in San Antonio, Demuth decided his talent lay in serious art. So he applied his brushes to a canvas instead of a billboard.

Critics who have seen his 21 oil paintings now on display in Austin are of the opinion that Texas lost a good sign painter but gained a promising artist.

The 36-year-old Texan is a native of San Antonio but for the past 16 years had made his home in New Braunfels.

During the day time he owns and operates a gas and oil business. At night he paints.

Soon after his first successful works appeared he built a studio on the lot adjoining his home. Now that he has gained the artistic attention of the Southwest he is constructing a second studio, larger and more elaborate.

If Demuth's present plans work out he will open an art school in his old studio building.

And the school will offer instruction in serious art—not sign painting.

Atress June Lockhart, in Texas for the inauguration, smiles about a taxi ride she took in San Antonio the other day.

"I walked out of the St. Anthony Hotel got in a cab, and told him to go to a certain dress shop," Miss Lockhart said.

Twenty minutes later Miss Lockhart arrived at the dress shop—after paying a $5.40 cab fare.

She looked up the street and there was the St. Anthony Hotel about a block away.

"I thought it was funny we had to pass the Sunken Gardens twice," she said.

Fania Kruger, wife of a Wichita Falls business man, entered her poem "Again Passover" in the annual contest of the Poetry Society of Texas. It won second prize.

A few weeks after the Poetry Society of America in New York mailed her $100 as first prize for a companion poem, "Passover Eve."

Touches of Texas: C. L. Parker of the San Antonio Evening News and Express art department is exhibiting several of his well known action studies of Texas horses in the Elizabeth Ney Studio in Austin. "Duel in the Sun" is having trouble with the same censorship boards that made "The Outlaw" so well known. The original script of "The Playboy of the Western World" classic Irish play, is being exhibited during the current presentation of the drama by the Houston Little Theater.

Warner Brothers is sending a camera crew to Texas to make location shots for "Two Guys From Texas." Dorothy Malone, Dallas actress has the leading role.

Man Picked Up Here On Bad Check Charge

Purchase of two loads of shelled corn at Texline with a $200 check landed one man in jail here last night.

Sheriff G. H. Kyle reported this morning he had picked up Lloyd McCune, Springer, N. Mex., at the corner of Cuyler and Tyns Sts., and held him for Dalhart peace officers on charges of passing worthless checks.

Kyle said that McCune had purchased two loads of shelled corn in Texline and paid for them with a check in that amount. The check "bounced" and Kyle "bounced" McCune into the county jail. Later last night peace officers from Dalhart came to Pampa and took McCune there to face charges of passing worthless checks.

Los Angeles Police Find No New Clues

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Homicide detectives admitted today "we're right back where we started" in their investigation of the mutilation murder last week of attractive, blonde Elizabeth Short, 22 year old girl-about-town.

"We've got nothing," said Lieut. Harry Hansen.

Policemen in mufti were liberally sprinkled about the inquest chamber yesterday when a coroner's jury decided Miss Short came to her death "at the hands of person or persons unknown."

They thought the sadistic slayer impelled by some warped reasoning, might attend the inquest, but the tactic availed nothing.

Housing Units to Return to Owners

Six Pampa housing units, leased by the government to provide homes for war workers, are to be returned to their owners by the government within the next few months.

The units, which house 39 families, come under the Federal Public Housing Authority's new directive to return the properties before the expiration of the leases, under terms that protect the government's financial interests.

Henry L. Jordan, local attorney with offices in the Duncan Building, has been appointed as contract manager for Pampa and will handle the leases.

The units to be returned are:

- Second floor, Wilson Drug Building, South Cuyler at Tyns, 11 units;
- Clay Building, 201 E. Francis, 14 units;
- White Deer Land Building, second floor, six units;
- Clayton Apartments, #2 E. Foster, four units, and two duplexes located at 315 E. Francis and 332 N. Wells.

Self Proclaimed
Sun Goddess Is Held by Police

KANAZAWA, Japan.—(AP)—Japanese police today arrested for questioning by psychiatrists the self-proclaimed Sun Goddess Jiko, who leaves General MacArthur's directives and orders her cultists: "Direct me, then the Emperor."

No. 3 in her 10 commandments: "Practice the divine peoples that Japanese are the world's superior people."

Psychiatrists who sat in on a police questioning of Jiko and her followers—two of whom went into a trance when the interrogation became raged—said "they definitely are mentally unbalanced."

For Jiko the doctors' verdict was: Religious paranoia.

Futabayama, 45, former grand champion wrestler of the Jumbo World, and a Jiko follower, became so overwrought at her arrest that he battered police with chairs and clubs. He finally was subdued by a ludo expert after seriously injuring several policemen.

Police said Jiko, 44, is the eldest daughter of Marquis Ikeda of Okazawa prefecture but changed her name to Yoshiko Nagano when she was in September, 1934, and thereafter declared herself transformed into a living sun goddess who never grows old or ill and who never dies.

Police said she has a hypnotic influence over her followers, who give her an amazing 250,000 yen ($19,000) monthly for rice and goods. They said her followers utterly disregard all advice except hers.

Jiko says she and Emperor Hirohito are one, although of different bodies, but insists she be worshipped above him.

Police charged her with violation of a MacArthur directive forbidding Emperor worship and forbidding teaching that the Japanese are superior among peoples of the world.

Officers Report
Three Break-Ins

Thieves early this week broke into three county business establishments, got one lone dollar, and then added insult to injury by using one company's own tools in a futile attempt to open its safe.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Jeff Guthrie said this morning thieves broke into the W. J. Balls Drug store in Alameda and then went around the corner and broke into a grocery store.

The thieves broke the windows of the rear doors, reached through and lifted the locking bars of both places to gain entrance. The dollar was taken from the grocery store.

Guthrie said the same gang later went to McCune the same night and forced their way into the Hibber Implement Co., where they used tools from the company's work shop in a futile attempt to break open the safe. He added that he believed the thieves were scared away before they could complete their job.

So far no arrests have been made.

Reserved Seats for Play to Go on Sale

Reserved seat tickets for the West Theatre production, "The Shining Hour," will go on sale tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the Combs-Worley Building lobby.

W. L. Waggoner, chairman of a Junior Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of reserved seats, said the ticket sales at the Booth would be conducted by members of the BOK Sorority.

The Jaycee share of the proceeds of the play, scheduled here Monday and Tuesday nights, will go toward the Junior Chamber's Community Center fund.

General admission tickets are on sale at Creney Drug Store, The Sportsman Shop, Pampa Office Supply, Boyles Nash Company, the Citizens Bank and Trust Co. and at the ticket booth in the Worley building.

State Bureau Hit By Building Costs

AUSTIN—(AP)—The Game, Fish and Oyster Commission relieves the cost of building is too high just now.

Yesterday it rejected all bids for two houses; one for a lake warden in Lake Texoma and one for an assistant hatchery superintendent at the Lake Worth-Eagle Mountain hatchery.

The lowest bid offered was $13,300 for a simple five-room house.

Peace Needs a New Patriotism

By HAL BOYIE
 NEW YORK—Peace needs a new patriotism. Somebody must learn how to blow a bugle and beat a drum in a way to keep people stirred up for a better cause than blood letting.

Everyday I meet young-old soldiers with listless hopes and a moody nostalgia for their war days. They choke me up, these ones. I don't mean, just now, the battle-runt boys without twilit minds that interest the psychiatrists, or the in the hospitals with legs, arms and eyes gone and the metal of German shells still aching inside. These you can understand. But I mean the others, the whole ones that carry the pain and bewilderment where it doesn't show. I mean the veterans who are working steadily at their jobs and raising families, but who aren't sure just what it all amounts to.

You know there really are a lot of these men—hundreds of thousands. But they don't open up much except when they're with each other, when they're talking with "ex-Joes" who "belong" because they, too, shared the same experiences.

What is frightening is that these men live emotionally in a backward glance rather than a look forward. They feel that in war—bitter, murderous, miserable as it was—they reached a prime in manhood they will never gain again or excel. Peace is less rigorous, less demanding, but its goals are more uncertain.

I asked one just why he kept going back to his war memories, what life held then it doesn't hold now. He gave it a long thoughtful pause. "I guess it is really nothing more than a sense of movement," he said. "Lord knows it was a lousy and uncomfortable way to live, and I know how dull and boring it was most of the time."

I think my friend nailed down the source of discontentment among most "adjusted veterans" with his remark about a sense of movement. To ride in a tank column through enemy country gives a feeling of power, pride, danger and confidence that is hard to forget when you're back riding trailer to work. Then, it ever, is life at noon tide. The blood pulses in victory, the motor, make music, all men weld their brain and muscle to the one clear purpose—and the column wheels through all barriers to the known objective and the evening rest.

But some soldier of peace must arise to keep this "oneness" of war-time alive, some Patton in muff to provide new roadmaps, compasses and group objectives for the veterans on the long journey they now are going without benefit of bands.

Otherwise, more and more, they will bivouac in the past where no more victories can be won.

Firm Asks Court To Review Suit

DALLAS—(AP)—The Lone Star Cement Corporation, in answer to a portal-to-portal pay suit in which it was named defendant, has asked the Federal District Court here to take one of the following actions:
 1. Dismiss the suit in its entirety.
 2. Strike out certain parts of the petition.
 3. Require plaintiffs to file an adequate bill of particulars.
 The suit was brought against the Lone Star Cement Corp., by 67 plaintiffs who asked $300,000 in back portal-to-portal pay.
 The corporation called the suit "a fishing expedition" and said the claim was an "absurdity."
 The company denied that changing clothes, bathing, obtaining equipment and walking to and from jobs is productive employment for the company.
 The company further claimed that Texas' two-year statute of limitations barred recovery on all matters referred to between Oct. 24, 1946 and Jan. 1, 1945.

Head of Hillsboro College Quits Job

HILLSBORO, Texas—(AP)—L. W. Hartsfield has resigned as president of the Hillsboro Junior College and Vocational Institution, with which he has been connected since 1930.
 In announcing his resignation Tuesday night, he did not disclose his plans, although he has been offered a position as public relations representative of the Texas Public Junior College Association.
 Hartsfield came here as acting president of the college and superintendent of schools when the late W. E. Doughty took a leave of absence because of ill health. The assignment was made permanent upon Doughty's death. The public schools were separated from the college at the start of the present school year.

Swindlers Work On Japs in Tokyo

TOKYO—(AP)—Japan, too, has bunco artists. A middle-aged woman seated herself beside a man on a railway car, furiously clutching a bundle that gave off the invigorating odor of sake — dear to the Japanese taste, and just as dear to the pocketbook. The man bought the bundle for a high price. The woman left the train. The bottles contained lukewarm tea. The cloth in which they were wrapped had been dipped in sake.

In downtown Tokyo a peddler hawked bags of rice at remarkably low prices. He dipped into one bag and brought out a fine quality of rice. Purchasers found their sacks contained sand. Nine men, proclaiming themselves Communists, demanded that a householder share his goods. They appropriated a generous share, plus several thousand yen; departed grumbling against capitalists.

The wolf used to have scarcely any fear of man.

Students Offer Rotary Program

A program of religious, semi-classical and modern selections was given yesterday by the Senior High School A Cappella Choir at the regular meeting of the Pampa Rotary Club.

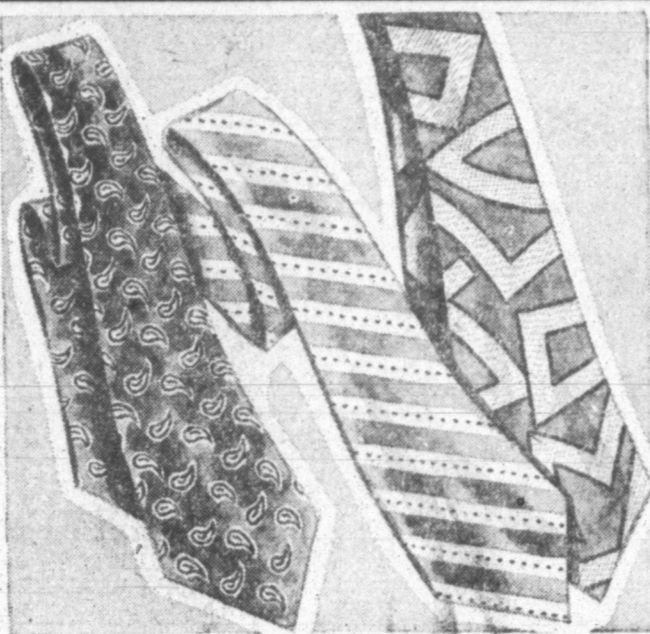

The choir, under the direction of Miss LaNelle Scheibgen, started its program with two religious numbers and then went into the semi-classical and modern. During the program the boy's quartet composed of Donald Thut, Dick Oden, Jack McPeak and Jack Williams sang several old time numbers. Other group selections were given by the mixed quartet, Margie Lawrence, Harold Anderson, Frank Green and Max Hukill; the girl's sextet, Margaret Price, Barbara Carlson, Hilda Burden, Carol Cullerson, Betty Barrett, and Barbara Walters. Frank Green was also soloist for the number "Holy, Holy, Holy."

Hugo Olson, named chairman of the Street Corner Committee, announced the club's station for the March of Dimes Campaign and asked volunteers to give him their names after the meeting. The chairman of Rotary Club committees will hold a meeting Friday night at the home of DeLes Vicars.

Olsen also announced the beginning of the "Rota-Spokes" of which he was made editor, and asked for the general support of members in giving the new club paper news. Irvin Cole, president of Rotary had charge of the meeting.

WE, THE WOMEN

Who Says Women Are Lost?

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

What the matter with women? I have just finished reading a book—fresh from the publishers—the title of which gives a broad hint of the seriousness of its charges. It is called "Modern Woman: The Lost Sex."

Recently there have been a number of magazine articles along the same line all attempting to show that modern woman is a flop and a failure, with no satisfactory place in the scheme of things.

What are such writers trying to do to us, anyhow? Make us worry about neurotics, forever worrying about our place in the world and stewing about the futility of our days?

It seems that way. If there is anything wrong with modern woman, I doubt that it is the fault of the times in which she is living, as such viewers-of-alarm would have us believe.

What is actually so frustrating about being a woman in these times?

Maybe we don't have to work as hard as Grandmas did. Is that necessarily bad?

Perhaps we do yearn to express ourselves in some work outside the home. Well, what is stopping us? Certainly there is enough which needs to be done that we can find some niche in which to express ourselves.

What if our homes aren't the centers of family living they once were? Shouldn't that be a challenge to us to try to make the kind of homes that will draw our husbands and children? And haven't we more opportunity than average women have ever had to make a house a place for pleasant living?

WHY THE HULLABALOO?

If we are a lost sex—it is nobody's fault but our own. And if we aren't, why keep handing us so much defeatist propaganda?

It's getting so that if a woman is satisfied with her lot, happy in her home life, and reasonably content with her status, she may be not quite bright. This "lost sex" idea has been played up so much that a woman is almost afraid to admit she has ever had to make a house a place for pleasant living.

What's the matter with modern women? Well, one thing is the way they are told at every turn just what is the matter with them.

Pre-Nuptial Shower Honors Miss Crowson, Bride Elect of Feb. 2

Miss Billie Don Crowson, whose marriage to Vernon Leslie Watkins, Lefors, will take place at the First Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, Feb. 2, at 5 o'clock, was complimented with a pre-nuptial shower in the home of Mrs. Lottie Turcott, 1020 Mary Ellen, last Friday evening. Misses Eleanor Carruth and Marjorie Sloan were hostesses.

When all the guests had arrived and signed the bride's book the honoree was presented with a pink and white corsage of carnations by Miss Carruth. Mrs. Crowson, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. A. L. Watkins, the groom-elect's mother, received similar corsages after which the guests were invited into the dining room where they were served punch and assorted cookies from a lace-covered table. The crystal punch bowl was adorned at the base with cut flowers. Later the guests retired to the living room where the honoree was presented with a shower of gifts.

Those attending were: Mmes. Wat-

Breakfast Announces Betrothal of Miss Patterson and Mr. McCleary

The approaching marriage of Miss Maxine Marie Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley B. Patterson, 1424 N. Russell, to Harold McCleary, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McCleary, Canadian, was announced at a breakfast given Sunday morning, Jan. 19, at 8:30 by Mrs. Patterson at her home. The ceremony will take place on Sunday, Feb. 16.

Receiving guests were the honoree, the hostess, and Miss Evelyn Patterson, sister of the bride-elect, while Mrs. Carl Sexton presided over the bride's book.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out at the breakfast table which was covered with a white linen cloth. The centerpiece was in the shape of a large hat made of pink carnations and pink net, resting on a mirror. The husband was of white satin and was inscribed with "Maxine-Harold, February 16." Miniature hats, similar to the centerpiece, fashioned of white paper, lace brims and pink net, topped with tiny blue flowers, were used as place-table favors.

During the breakfast, which consisted of iced tomato juice, breakfast rolls, bacon and coffee, Mrs. W. B. Weathered gave a reading, "Advice to the Bride."

The honoree wore a short-sleeved, fuchsia dress trimmed with black velvet, and the hostess chose for the occasion a dress of green floral crepe. They were identical shoulder corsages of white sweetpeas tied with pink satin. Miss Evelyn Patterson was dressed in white net, and guests included: Mmes. R. Q. Harvey, W. B. Weathered and Carl Sexton; Misses Allene Weathered, Mary Frances Jones, Doris Taylor, Juanita Prescott, Gladys Haynes, Tessie Killian and Norma Killian.

Baptist Circles Hold Meetings in Lefors

LEFORS—The Blanch Grove Circle met in the home of Mrs. Ben Cheek on Tuesday afternoon for a mission study. The meeting was opened with a hymn, Mrs. D. E. Stokes led in prayer, and Mrs. Cheek gave the devotional, the 46th Psalm. The book "God Calling" reviewed by Mr. Ed Rallsback and Mrs. J. B. Horn gave the closing prayer.

Following the meeting the hostess served cake and coffee to: Mmes. L. L. Mitchell and Clara Stokes, Rallsback, Monroe Boucher, Cleo Coffey, Horn, Redus, J. M. Condit, C. H. Butrum, W. A. Robertson, Knox Nichols, J. F. Black, C. W. Teeters, R. L. Vaughn, Henry Maple, and Grella Pulliam, and Jerry and Janie Nichols.

The Lottie Moon Circle met with Mrs. Brewer and the Nina Hankins Circle met with Mrs. R. A. Harring.

Birthday Party for Janece Franklin

A party was given Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock for Janece Franklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Franklin, by her mother at their home, 513 N. Magnolia, the occasion being her fourth birthday.

After all the guests had arrived various games were played after which the honoree opened her gifts. Ice cream and cake were served from a lace-covered table. Pictures were taken of the children and the cake, which was decorated in blue and white, topped with four blue candles in rose bud holders.

Those present were: Eileen Butler, Carol McLennan, Dwayne Leigh and Rochelle Smith, Sue and Darrel Franklin, Janelle and Charles Warren, McDonald, Zelma and Delma Franklin, and the honoree's sister, Jean Franklin.

Sending gifts were: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, White Deer, Mrs. Ovie Tipton, Miss Melba Tipton, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Smith, and Henry Kolb.

Las Cresas Club Met on Tuesday

A business meeting was held by the Las Cresas Club when it met at the home of June Anderson Tuesday night.

Plans for a dance to be held soon at the Terrace Grill were discussed and Mary Lou Mazy, Bunnie Shelton, June Anderson, Jo Alice Franks, Bertie McDowell, and Joyce Harrah were named on the decoration committee.

The club "careerists" was nominated and will be elected in the near future. The barn dance will be given in his honor and at that time he will be presented with the traditional identification bracelet. The name will be kept a secret until he is presented at the dance.

New sponsors were chosen for the new year. They are: Mrs. Charles C. Dunkel, Mrs. Ben Lockhart, Mrs. R. W. Reeder, and Mrs. Jess Clay. Dues were discussed and put on a new paying basis, an amendment to the constitution was added, and it was announced that club pins will be ordered this week for several new members.

Cup cakes and cookies were served.

Junior 4-H Club Met Yesterday

Members of the Junior 4-H Club held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at 2:30 in the Science Room of the Junior High School.

Miss Ann Hastings, County agent, met with the girls and gave a demonstration on how to cut out and construct mittens and diceys. Ina Jo Hawkins was elected as their candidate for Gold Star Girl and the 4-H Club year books were issued.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 26.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful leanness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH HOST TO ASSOCIATION MEETING

Grandmother Miller is Complimented on Her 85th Birthday

The First Baptist Church was host to 400 workers from the 27 churches of the Palo Duro Association Tuesday evening. The program, which started at 7:30, was under the direction of Mr. E. E. Gatlin, former Pampa citizen who is now director of Religious Education of the Pierce Street Baptist Church in Amarillo. The general theme of the meeting was "Advancing With Christ."

Mr. Earl Rogers of Borger, Texas, opened the program with a spirited song service and devotion. Dr. J. N. Hunt, Pastor of the Calvary Church, Borger, spoke from the subject, "The Pastor's Part in the Success of the Sunday School."

Mrs. Clyde Love, Amarillo, used as her subject, "The Importance of the Nursery and Cradle Roll Department."

Mrs. R. E. Burnett discussed "The Necessity of the Extension Department in Every Sunday School."

Ray Rozelle, director of Religious Education of the First Baptist Church, Amarillo, closed the afternoon's discussion with his topic, "The Road Ahead for Adults."

Dinner was served by the host church, after which the group reassembled in the First Baptist auditorium and heard Mr. E. E. Gatlin, Sunday School Superintendent of the Palo Duro Association. After a 30 minute period for departmental reports, the group reassembled in the auditorium and heard M. G. Upton, White Deer, J. W. Sizemore, Amarillo; Rudolph Q. Harvey, Pampa; and Jim Wilson who represented the youth of our church. The inspirational address was delivered by Mr. H. Kay Killingsworth, manager of the Baptist Book Store in Dallas.

Mrs. H. L. Powell, a Modern Sunday School Worker in a Post-War World.

This was the latest meeting that has been held in the Palo Duro Association in the last five years.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET HELD AT McLEAN MONDAY

McLEAN—The Rainbow Girls held a Mother-Daughter banquet at the Methodist Church at 8 p. m. Monday. Around 80 attended, including members and guests.

Leta Mae Hughes was toastmistress and gave the welcoming address while Mrs. Daphne Morris gave the response. Mrs. Anne Shadic gave the toast to the daughters and LaWand Shadic gave the toast to the mothers.

Honor guests for the occasion were Mrs. Martha Marie Whitfield, Dallas, who is Supreme Deputy for the Texas Rainbow Girls, and Mrs. Edyth England, Amarillo, who is active in Rainbow work and has charge of instituting Rainbow Assemblies in this part of the State. She instituted the McLean Assembly a year ago.

Following the banquet those present adjourned to the Lodge Hall for initiation ceremonies, to have the Assembly constituted, and to receive the charter. The Assembly will be known as McLean Assembly No. 154. J. A. Williams was initiated into the Order in a beautiful and impressive manner.

Among those present were: Gwendolyn Boyd, White Deer, Grand Representative; Hazel Boyd, Shalottown; and Meses. Fay Montgomery, Lela Kureh, Atkinson, Benson, and Nix of Shamrock. The Shamrock ladies met with the Supreme Deputy and they plan to organize an Assembly in the next fortnight.

There will be a public installation of officers on Jan. 27 at 7:30 with Gwendolyn Boyd, White Deer, as the Grand Installing Officer.

Breakfast Held by Lefors T E L Class

LEFORS—The T. E. L. Class of the Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. George DeLver Wednesday morning for a breakfast and class meeting.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Dever. Visitation was discussed and plans made for a class party to be held in the near future. Mrs. J. B. Horn gave the closing prayer.

Breakfast was served to: Meses. W. T. Hill, D. E. Stokes, G. W. Teets, J. B. Horn, Ben. Cheek, P. F. Scurlock, Lee Dick, Henry Maple, and J. T. Rodgers.

Small Fry Aren't Up to Permanents

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer
The mother badderger for a permanent by a daughter can say "No," if the child is under 12. Hollywood stylist Wally Westmore backs Mom up.

At 12, he says, a youngster comes of permanent-wave age, because by then she has learned to take care of her hair.

He likes to see the hair of young beauties bounce naturally, shimmer like aspen leaves, and charm an audience by its naive styling.

Insisting that every small fry aren't up to the job of taking care of a permanent, he believes in deferring one until they are. He says he is reluctant to put machine-made curls in the hair of very young professional children, even though stage roles often require them. When there is a choice, he makes the most of their pitfalls, straight locks brushed back over forehead ribbons or simple bobs that can be made to curve in or out at the ends, when properly coaxed.

Friendship Circle Club Holds Meeting

PANHANDLE—(Special)—Mrs. George Hankins, president, presided at the first meeting of the year of the Friendship Circle Club when it met Thursday in the home of Mrs. H. L. Powell.

Mrs. Van Carter presented the new yearbooks to the club after which Mesdames Paul Dauer and Frank Robinson were welcomed as new members.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Earl Cox, of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Louise Hanneman of Rochelle, Ill., guests, and members: Mesdames Wade Johnson, Van Carter, J. B. Howe, M. E. Callahan, Frank Robinson, Walter Lill and George Milton.

Mrs. Lewis Heads Thursday Literary Club in Shamrock

SHAMROCK—(Special)—The Thursday Literary Club held its annual business meeting with election of officers on Thursday, Jan. 16, in the home of Mrs. L. S. Griffin.

Mrs. J. R. Benson presided and the following officers were elected: Mrs. R. C. Lewis, president; Mrs. Charles Green, vice president; Mrs. L. E. Davis, recording secretary; Mrs. H. B. Hill, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ben Skidmore, treasurer; and Mrs. Hubert Bratcher, parliamentarian.

Following the business session, Mrs. H. B. Hill gave the history of the Declaration of Independence and read the document.

Mrs. A. N. Holmes read "The Constitution," and "The Bill of Rights," was given by Mrs. H. C. Weatherly.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to the following members: Meses. J. R. Benson, Hubert Bratcher, W. Y. Burden, J. B. Christopher, L. E. Davis, H. T. Fields, Charles Green, H. B. Hill, A. N. Holmes, R. C. Lewis, Ben Skidmore, H. C. Weatherly and B. A. Zeigler and one guest, Mrs. H. C. Gordon.

Advice to Teens: Pull in Your Claws

By BETTY CLARKE AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor
Teen-agers snatching a leaf from Big Sister's book are likely to get the impression that their nails are unadorned unless they are long and pointed and painted with two or three coats of polish.

Actually the reason Sis' nails are long and tapered is that she probably took good care of them when she was a teen-ager. She didn't start her polish experiments until she had a good foundation on which to work. And she didn't get pretty nails by covering up defects with bright polish.

Constant buffing and nail oil treatments when you are young will keep your nails smooth and pretty. If you notice at an early age that your nails are inclined to be brittle, your doctor may be able to suggest a diet or treatments which will help strengthen them. Often the addition of calcium to the diet will prove beneficial to nails, teeth and hair.

A steel file is to be avoided. An emery board will give a quicker, smoother file without causing nicks. A young girl should keep her nails as short as possible without making her fingers look stubby.

Frequent use of a nail buffer and nail oil will keep a youngster's nails smooth, and an up-from-the-tip motion when buffing will encourage the cuticle to grow back, making her nails appear longer.

A coat of natural nail polish goes well with the shiny, outdoor look that teen-agers love. So if a school girl does feel the need of some nail lacquer she might experiment with

Shamrock Athenaeum Club Is Entertained

SHAMROCK—(Special)—The Athenaeum Club was entertained in the home of Mrs. Louis Hill Friday afternoon.

Yellow snappers and joulais were featured in the attractive decorations arranged for the occasion. The program subject was "Pan-American Day." Mrs. Fran DuBose presided and roll call was answered with "Mexican Shrines."

Mrs. J. W. Gooch gave an interesting travelogue of her trip to Old Mexico. "Highlights On Mexican Celebrities," was given by Mrs. B. F. Holmes.

Refreshments were served during the social hour to Meses. W. S. Pendleton, B. F. Holmes, B. F. Kersh, Earl Koger, Harry Mundy, O. T. Nicholson, Hubert Tridall, Temple Atkin, J. B. Clark, E. K. Caperton, J. M. Tingall, J. H. Caperton, F. P. DuBose, and J. W. Gooch.

Texas Today

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff
Business before pleasure:
Birt Camp, a Flatview druggist, didn't have to go into a sales talk when a harassed customer dashed in to ask if he had any fire extinguishers.
"Yes," said Camp, "we have them for sale."
"Gimmie one quick," the customer said. He grabbed it and ran to the door, shouting over his shoulder that he'd be right back to pay for it.
His car was parked outside, smoke belching from it. The extinguisher worked, the fire was put out, and the customer came back to pay for it.
He told Camp he was a satisfied customer.

Eight prominent men met in Denison and re-elected themselves directors of a railroad. A nine-mile-long railroad.
The line is the Texas branch of the Kansas, Oklahoma and Gulf Railroad. It runs between Denison and the Red River. Texas law requires that any corporation operating in the state have a Texas headquarters.
The directors are W. L. Steakley,
Oliver W. Hayes, C. W. Wilson, Bill
Howell, Frank Jennings, Leo Murphy, Ross Stoddard and E. M. Tanner.

It was monkey business for Harvey Ashford of Texarkana. One of his suits returned from the cleaner with the right sleeve cut off at the elbow. He says it's nice for washing his right hand, but says he's unable to find any such fashion approved in esquire.
But he hasn't given up hope.
After the zoot suit, he figures anything can happen.
Wes Mabrito's bug business is trying to remember telephone numbers. He says his are confusin' but not amusin'.
His San Antonio office number is F-2441. His father's office is F-3211. His mother-in-law's is F-2211.
But that's not all. The night phone he sometimes uses is F-2582, and his parents' home number is F-2586.

Arkansas Drops Non-League Tilt To Oklahoma Ags

(By The Associated Press) Basketball fans who like to make their predictions on a comparison of scores found little help today in the records of Southwest Conference teams.

Arkansas, which currently shares the conference lead with the University of Texas, dropped a close game to Oklahoma A. and M. last night at Little Rock, 42 to 38.

The Oklahoma Aggie team defeated Texas, by a one-point margin, 40 to 39, at the all-college basketball tournament held in Oklahoma City during the Christmas holidays.

Whether that makes Texas better than Arkansas was a question likely to stir up some hot arguments.

In last night's only conference game Rice scored its first victory in four games, the defending champions, 55 to 49.

Browns Planning New Park for San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—An architect from St. Louis is expected here today for conferences with Charles Dewitt, road secretary of the Browns, and William Osley, president of the San Antonio Missions baseball club, concerning a ball park for the Texas League team.

The St. Louis Browns, owners of the Missions franchise in the Texas League, are proceeding with plans to build a ball park. It is understood that one question to be studied at the conferences today is the problem of moving the grandstand at Tech Field to a new site.

NEW YORK—Survivors of the New York Boxing Writers' annual eating and drinking derby were buzzing today with talk of a Hall of Fame for the sport and a campaign to curb punch-drunkenness.

Actually, last night's party in Ruppert's Brewery was put on to present the Edward J. Neil Memorial award to Middleweight Champion Tony Zale as the man who did the most for boxing in 1946.

The trophy is awarded in memory of the Associated Press sports writer and war correspondent killed during the civil strife in Spain in 1938. Former Postmaster General James A. Farley, a one-time New York boxing commissioner, made the presentation.

In addition, the Gary, Ind. Steel-Mill Puddler also took home The Ring magazine's award as 1946's "Fighter of the Year." Promoter Mike Jacobs, now recovering from a cerebral hemorrhage, won the Boxing Writers' trophy for "long and meritorious service" to the sport.

But aside from the post-throwing for Zale and "Uncle Mike" Jacobs the large hangover from the oratorical capitol of doing, was the suggested plans for the Hall of Fame and the drive in New York to keep fighters from winding up with bells ringing in their heads.

Abe J. Greene, president of the NEA, came up with the suggestion for the Hall of Fame, built something along the lines of the baseball shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y., and Brigadier General Reed Kilpatrick, president of Madison Square Garden, offered a part of the proposed new block-square Garden as the site for the hall.

Then Eddie Egan, New York commission chairman, without mentioning "punch-drunkenness" revealed that the commission is exercising double precautions now, not only in examining fighters the days they fight, but in watching their records from bout to bout to determine if they are suited for sweating and capable of doing, same without suffering permanent bodily harm.

The accident seemed to distract the Canadian girls for a time, and they lost the game 20 to 41.

The boys' game that followed was a hard-fought thriller. It ended 39 to 13 in favor of Shamrock.

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK

Metz Disciplined by PGA; Banned From 2 $10,000 Tournaments

PHOENIX—(AP)—Officials of the Professional Golfers' Association announced early today that Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kans., has been suspended from competing in the next two PGA-sponsored golf tournaments.

The disciplinary action came as the aftermath of an incident at Carmel, Calif., two weeks ago in which it was charged Metz struck Fred J. Corcoran, PGA tournament bureau manager.

The suspension was voted by a newly-formed PGA tournament players' committee headed by George Schneider of Ogden, Utah. The committee found Metz guilty of violating PGA's code of ethics for "conduct likely to injure the reputation and standing of the association or any of its members."

The two tournaments which Metz may not enter are the $10,000 Phoenix open which starts Friday, and the $10,000 Tucson, Ariz., open the following week.

By SCOTT RAFFERTY

So theilly-white club owners of the National grid league are pulling Happy Chandler stunts and thinking up some way to make Merle Hapes and Frank Filchock look like a couple of the lowest type human being there is. That is really something to see. The way the National pro leagues are sickening their hands out to be admired for cleanliness, you'd think they were a bunch of professors at a National Collegiate Athletic Association meeting.

The utterly stupid, the stuffed shirt, the righteous club owners I have taken toward the cases of Filchock and Hapes have proved to this writer that they are nothing but a bunch of self-purified promoters, eager to make it look like they are upholding the high ideals of any of sports—as sports are defined in the play-off business.

National League Commissioner Bert Bell (and you can nearly bet your best or only white shirt on this) is about to pull a Happy Chandler act and say to the two offending players "Go, and never darken these playing fields to the realm of clean sports again."

Oh, brother.

"Banished for life. Oh, agony. Oh, misery."

Filchock and Hapes will probably become hermits—were they not fine, young men.

This writer feels that the case will set an example for the public to hold up and ridicule. That of the righteous club owner who is shocked beyond words when ugly rumors start around that somebody is trying to bribe "my boys."

Through the hubbub of it all, the owners of the New York Giants have never offered to come to the assistance of Hapes and Filchock—especially Hapes during the Paris trial.

Stout Steve Owen of the Giants has never publicly "stood up" for his players.

Incidents such as these will ruin pro football. The owners treat the players like slaves and the latter, many of them just kids not more than college age, turn to some other quarter for friendship. It all winds up with the owner making money (and going to church every Sunday, no doubt) while the players end up suspended for life or failure to report that somebody tried to bribe him.

Bill White, Former Baseball Coach, Dies

ROME GA.—(AP)—W. P. (Bill) White, 57, one-armed athlete and one-time baseball coach at the University of Georgia, died yesterday at Eatey State Hospital. Funeral services will be Friday at Riverdale Cemetery in Columbus, Ga.

White, who lost his right arm in the accidental discharge of a shotgun when he was 12, played football for Atlanta High Schools and later for Mercer University.

Canadian Girl Hurt In Basketball Game

CANADIAN, Special. Louise Parrish, Canadian forward, suffered a broken ankle in the first quarter of the Canadian-Shamrock basketball game here Tuesday night. She was taken to the Canadian hospital for treatment, and her condition is reported satisfactory.

The accident seemed to distract the Canadian girls for a time, and they lost the game 20 to 41.

The boys' game that followed was a hard-fought thriller. It ended 39 to 13 in favor of Shamrock.

Pensacola Selected As Dodger Camp Site

PENSACOLA, Fla.—(AP)—Pensacola has been selected as the site of the spring training camp for more than 10 minor league clubs of the Brooklyn Dodger baseball organization. President Branch Rickey said today.

Fort Worth of the Texas League, manager by Les Burge, former Atlanta first baseman, will train at Legion Field in Pensacola while Asheville, Danville, Nassau, Cambridge and other teams will train at Elliston Field.

FLYING MOOSE

BOSTON—(AP)—The eyes of Bostonians burying along busy Boylston Street popped open at the sight of a moose up in the air.

Their vision obscured by fog and rain, the pedestrians saw at a second look that it was a stuffed moose being lowered by hook and tackle from the second story of the New England Museum of Natural History.

The antlered creature's ignoble descent was necessary to clear the second floor for a women's fashion shop. He was too large to negotiate the stairs.

Before World War II there were about 788,000 miles of railroad in the world.

East-West Baseball Game Being Planned

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)—Plans are being worked out for an All-Star college baseball game at the end of the 1947 season with teams to be drawn from the East and West, with the Mississippi river the dividing line. Lil Dimmitt, Texas A. and M. baseball coach and first vice-president of the American Association of Baseball Coaches, said today.

'How's My Credit?'

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texans are paying cash for only about half of the purchases they make, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

December sales show 46 percent on credit. In December, 1945, only 31 percent were credit sales.

On the other hand collection of customer outstanding accounts was down from 97 percent for December, 1946, to 89 for last month.

Credit sales were greatest in large department stores where 51 percent of the business was on credit.

At the age 37, John Hancock inherited and became head of one of the largest commercial houses in Boston.

League Considers Broader Powers For Head, Strict Watch on Players

Texas Christian Grid Card Drawn

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Four inter-sectional games, one of them a trip by air, are on the schedule of Texas Christian University for next fall.

Coach Dutch Meyer said his squad would again fly to Miami to play the University of Miami, Kansas, Oklahoma A. and M. and Oklahoma are on the 1947 schedule in addition to the usual six Southwest Conference games. The schedule:

Sept. 20—Kansas at Kansas City (night).

Sept. 27—Oklahoma A. and M. at Fort Worth.

Oct. 4—Arkansas at Fayetteville.

Oct. 10—Miami at Miami (night).

Bird Seed for Husband Trap

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Man is a beautiful thing, a butterfly born in a foggy day.

He is also a fading fugitive—and the nature of his woman.

"Therefore it comes as a surprise when the 'office girls' of the Goodrich Company in Akron write in to ask 'how we girls should go about picking a husband.'"

"This is like a fox asking one rabbit how to catch another rabbit. It is also a bit insincere, because—let's face it, girls—the problem isn't so much how to pick a husband as how to grab one.

Nature operates under the old economic law of supply and demand, and unfortunately for the sex who in the old days rode side-saddle, there are now more women than men.

So most of you girls who want to leap up in marriage instead of punching a typewriter or hurling adverbs at somebody else's children—well, you just have to believe the fact that it is a buyer's market. And

DANCE to VIC DIAZ AND HIS SEXTETTE ORCHESTRA Every Saturday Nite

RESERVATIONS? YES!

In regards to reservations, it's true the Southern has a per person charge of 25c on their tables. It's also true the orchestra has been improved, but the admission has not been raised.

It would be easy to add the table charges to the admission price, and lead you to believe you were getting your table free. We have lots of customers that then, would be paying for a table at the door, still not getting a table.

As it now is, you pay only the admission at the door, then if a table is desired, a small fee is charged. If no table is used, or you sit in with friends, there still is no table charge.

As we only have 74 tables—if one is desired—call 9545 and a table will be waiting for you. You are cordially invited to come out for a pleasant evening anytime, and especially on our Official March of Dimes Dance, January 30th. It would be well to make table reservations early.

SOUTHERN CLUB

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Willie Goes to School at 23

Everybody's joshing Willie Wells about going back to school. They remember when Willie would hide out in the woods—scared to bring his report card home to Pa.

But under the G. I. Bill of Rights, Willie (who has a wife and baby) is getting a free education at the Agricultural College. And Uncle Sam is giving him a fine report: "Dependent, excellent; Progress, above average."

That goes for all those undergraduate veterans. Like Willie, they appreciate an education more than ever now. They're industrious and well-behaved—their favorite beverage is milk, or a temperate glass of beer. For them the "three R's" seem to mean: Responsibility, Resourcefulness, Restraint.

From where I sit, cynical folks who thought veterans wouldn't want to return to school—wouldn't stick to steady habits of work and moderation—have their answer in "undergraduates" like Willie.

Answer to Previous Puzzle men are the buyers. What have you got to sell?

"You can't make it yourself, sonny boy," you tell the frustrated pay-check you latch upon, "but maybe if we have a boy, he will."

And thereupon the disillusioned man makes a down payment on posterity. That fulfills your destiny—to be the link that keeps mankind a going concern.

But you probably know this already—as every woman does, and fight it as you will. Yet you still want to know how to catch that husband? You practical thing, you!

If you are a beautiful girl, go for a homely man. He'll be grateful, and keep your beauty green when it is as old as memory as five-cent beer.

If you are the kind of girl with hair like hemp and teeth like a fractured buzz saw, try for a handsome man. You'll make him look good in the later days when he needs the benefit of contrast. And anyway plain girls, by God's bounty, develop personality and character that outwears gold—or beauty.

Man is a victim of appetite. You have to bait the trap for a husband just as you would if you were going to catch a bear. Feed him when he is hungry, stroke him when he is angry. Give more than you get—at least until he leans upon you. Make yourself his habit.

When the be-uddled thing can't quite do without you, lead him slowly and gently to the altar. Now you have your husband. But can you make him wear the bride?

Sportsmen and Game Growers Seek Several Changes in State Game Laws

By WILBUR MARTIN Associated Press Staff
At a meeting in Fredericksburg, 325 sportsmen and game growers from 20 counties met and proposed a number of changes in game laws. Among suggestions put forward were these:

A group of sportsmen met at Fredericksburg to propose a single, over-all game and fish law for Texas. Some of the changes the Fredericksburg group would like to see include a shorter season on deer, legalize killing of spike bucks, a tag law allowing sale of deer hides, prohibit killing with a 22 caliber gun, reducing the number of deer to one per hunter, a closed season on bucks with an open season on does. They'd like to see the season on turkey closed for five years to build up flocks.

VERBAL GRATIAS
Vito Marcantonio, the New York representative, a few nights ago said at a banquet in his honor it was just a coincidence that, during his years as a public servant, he had seen eye to eye with the Communists.

Well, in our opinion, and from this distance, we would say the representative did a lot of intellectual gymnastics to bring that one out.
That's somewhat the same kind of thinking expected of a dog who did not wish to be a member of the canine family. He just happened to have ears like a dog, that's all.

Congressman Marcantonio, the anticapitalist who, incidentally was guest of honor at a $10-a-plate testimonial, was also quoted as saying "I will not appear in the war against the monopolists and those who seek to plunge America into another imperialist war."

Of course, to those of us who remember, that, too, is a joke. "Imperialist" war. It does not take an elephant to recall that it was Marcantonio who, before the invasion of Russia on June 22, 1941, cried "for shame" when America was making an effort to arm herself in defense. It was "imperialist," he said.

But on that date, the mother of communism was being threatened, and then it was a war of survival—not an "imperialist" war, as he had called it.

The congressman is like a lot of other politicians—he's got verbal gratias.

MARCH OF DIMES
The people of this community, through posters and other media of communication, are being asked to give dimes in order that little children afflicted with infantile paralysis might have the chance to walk again.

Every community is facing the same problem, and they are fighting this dread disease with their dimes and their dollars. The chairman of the drive has not made a great appeal to the people, isn't going to do so. Because he thinks the people know the drive is on, and that they are not going to need "selling" on the importance of raising money.

Let's "hit" the little banks hard. They are all over the county.

Your child might be next.

PUERTO RICO GOVERNOR LOOKS TO VETERANS IN INDUSTRIAL PROGRAM
By VERN HAUGLAND AP Staff Writer (Subbing for MacKenzie)

Puerto Rico's Governor Jesus T. Piñero says the island territory is looking to its 60,000 war veterans to lead it into an industrial economy. Piñero, visiting in Washington, said in an interview: "We cannot survive on agriculture alone. We are on the verge of beginning a vast vocational education program, starting with our veterans—with the aid of the veterans administration and the department of education."

He pointed out that Puerto Rico suffers from chronic unemployment and said at least one-third of its people live just above the starvation level. But, he continued: "Our young men cured of their diseases and well fed in the service, and they have returned with an unusual test and spirit. Many of them are trying to get their eighth grade diplomas, and we hope to give all a chance to educate and train themselves to the level they desire. We are counting heavily upon their help in our efforts to bring industries to Puerto Rico."

The industrialization effort already has started in a modest way, Piñero says. The new enterprises include: a second cement plant, erected by private industry, to supplement a government-built plant; a glass factory to manufacture all the bottles it needs for its major product; a paper-board factory, manufacturing containers from cane fiber; a shoe factory; a clay products factory.

Puerto Rico also has decided to introduce modern fishing methods and Piñero says he sees Puerto Rico as the principal trans-shipping point for goods from the United States to the Caribbean area and Central America "as soon as we can get the shipping."

MORE ABOUT BEANS

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A recent piece in this space seems to have stirred up the animals. It was about beans.

It tied off on a statement by Dr. Ralph Robey, chief economist for the National Association of Manufacturers. Admitting that all prices were low, Robey had said that if meat was too expensive people could go to eating beans for a while longer, until prices came down.

The fan-mail reaction which came from writing what seemed to be a factual account of the "Let 'Em Eat Beans" theory was not unexpected, but it was immediate and slightly terrific.

For instance, from the Newark, Ohio, Advocate comes an editorial, "In Defense of the Bean."

"Out here in Licking County," it says, "we don't like the implication of the economist in that unfortunate advice, and yet neither do we like the implication of the writer."

"The economist's implication was to heck with 'em." The columnist's implication is that beans are something beneath the consideration of man as food.

"We rise to the defense of the bean. . . To our palate, no more delicate dish is put on the table than baked beans. Boston style, baked in an earthen pot for the better part of a day.

toover Not Had Enough Yet
Judging from an article by Herbert Hoover in a recent issue of the Los Angeles Times under the heading of "The Right to Strike," it is evident that Herbert Hoover has not yet had enough of socialism, of statism, or of collectivism.

And the pity is there is little chance Mr. Hoover ever learning the meaning of the Ten Commandments. And the primary reason that Mr. Hoover can never learn moral laws is that he continues to make arbitrary statements and will not attempt to answer questions which would prove to any rational man that his theories are impractical. Mr. Hoover seems to think that if he gives away his salary no matter how much poverty he causes by his socialistic leadership that he is a great leader and a great humanitarian. Few men in the United States have ever done as much to cause poverty and misery as Herbert Hoover by his blind socialistic leadership. He has even so exalted himself that he thinks he has a right to speak for every other person in the United States.

Listen to this: Hoover denies that there is a right to strike. Mr. Hoover has no justification for attempting to read the minds of other men. Only a dictator at heart would attempt to do that. Gas Dyer, for many years professor of political economy for the Vanderbilt University, says "The right to strike—worse than treason." Any man who makes any pretense of understanding political economy and who answers questions does not believe that men have the right to strike. Because striking is in the final analysis a conspiracy to rob other workers to prevent them having an equal right to compete. The right to strike is an attempt to put in the caste system. And men of morals do not believe in any such right.

NO PRINCIPLES
Hoover thinks principles can be carried to extremes. Just listen to the absurdities of Mr. Hoover's article. Now he proposes compulsory arbitration. Just more statism. And that is the natural result of anybody that is so blind that cannot see a striking is human. It is robbery.

And Hoover sees the dilemma of large strikes. But if the principle is right on a small scale, it is right on a large scale. Enlarging or diminishing of a principle does not change it. But here is what he says: "I have always opposed compulsory arbitration as a limitation on the right to strike, but I think it has now been carried to extremes." But a right cannot be carried to extremes any more than a principle can be carried to extremes. The way to test anything is to enlarge and to magnify it so the practicability, or the honesty, or the goodness of the act can be more easily seen. But when we enlarge and magnify a strike most everyone can see that they are wicked, that they are harmful even in the long run to the very men they would help. But Herbert Hoover has a mentality that he cannot understand that reducing a bad right or principle does not make it good. No wonder this country has so deteriorated in morals. No wonder it has so much moral delinquency, so much corruption, when the two great parties select such men as Herbert Hoover and Franklin Roosevelt, both of them collectivists at heart to be our leaders. They do not have reverence for the dignity of every individual. They do not seem to understand that we are both a collectivist and an individualist; that you can not have both collective planning and individual planning. You must have one or the other in principle. They do not seem to know that our unemployment, that our trouble comes from trying to mix them. We can have full employment with either complete collectivism or complete individualism. Under the system of collectivism our freedom will be lost and our standard of living will go down even if full employment is achieved, but to the degree we adopt free enterprise, the character of men will develop and we will have an ever and ever increasing standard of living.

If Herbert Hoover's theory is right then a little lie is alright, but a big one is harmful—then a little stealing is right but when you steal too much you are bad. And now poor old bewildered exalted Herbert Hoover proposes that we adopt more collectivism, more statism by way of compulsory arbitration rather than repeal the laws and practices that such men as he have brought on this country that got us into the trouble.

Of course the columns of this newspaper are open to Herbert Hoover if he will ever answer questions. If he should accept then he might learn his errors and not be subject and have to submit to such scolding denunciations as the above. A man of principle and a Christian is never embarrassed. He never has uncomfortable moments because if he is in error he is always willing to correct the error. Not so, however, with men like Hoover who exalt themselves as he has.

He Turns to Life Of Real Frivolity
From the February edition of The Reader's Digest:
Some years ago the city of Los Angeles reached far into the mountains of California in search of water. Among the poor farmers who received considerable credit for their property and water rights was an old hillbilly named Jesse. "Well, Jesse," I asked, "what are you going to do with yourself now that you are a rich man?"
"Wal," he drawled, "first off I'm gonna wailer around in bed till six o'clock every drained morning of my life."

ALL BALLED UP
The CIO Streetworkers have just sat down with the Steelmaster in Pittsburgh to work out what may or may not be a start on a second round of wage increases. It's that or lower prices. Unfortunately, so far the drop in prices has been slight, though lower prices are what wage-earners need more than general wage increases. It's the same old story.

Some leaders of business are now talking big about having a "moratorium on prices and wages." The time for that was a year ago, when these same men were strangely silent or violently opposed to further controls on prices. If they could have managed their moratorium then, there would be no second-round threat today.

Meanwhile, school teachers, white-collar workers and others whose incomes are less than the estimated cost-of-living break-even point of $44 a week in the cities are apparently in genuine hardship. If the leaders of labor were smart, they would confine their demands now to giving these low-income workers a better break. If Congress had been smart, it would also have raised the minimum wage levels last year.

But the leaders of labor or the congressmen are no smarter than the leaders of business or the collectivist or anyone else. We all like to do things the hard way. We probably have more strikes in steel and coal. And people will have to go on eating beans till they get smart enough to manage their affairs without that hardship.

QUICKIES By Ken Reynolds

"Stop worrying about this basement apartment we got with a New Year Ad—it's probably just a heavy log."

this total was allotted for radio and radar.
The figure asked for the 1948 fiscal year is $1,000,000. With the private lines planning to spend only $1,000,000, it is obvious that not even the next two years will see a serious approach to the problem of air fatalities.

CRASHES—The terrific number of air crashes and deaths in the fairly favorable flying weather of the first month of 1947 has precipitated a back-stage row at Washington over basic responsibility for the toll. It involves Army-Navy aviation experts, the Civil Aeronautics Administration, the private airline companies and an investigation-minded Congress.

Although few of the principals in the conflict will talk for publication, everybody involved lays the blame on another agency. Military and naval electronic experts, who are being asked to develop radar and glide control instruments, charge that CAA has been delinquent in adopting these devices in the civilian service.

COST—The CAA maintains that it has been conducting research to the limit of its financial resources, but that it has not yet found any foolproof safety mechanism. Privately, officials say Congressional anger has been chiefly responsible for the failure to install and operate even the safeguards now available. Private companies, which have suffered financially, are difficult to convince of the expense for ground installation and for payment of fairly extensive operating crews would be large. It could be a major piece of surgery on our nation-wide aviation system.

In fact, some experts believe that the initial expenditure would be as high as $50,000,000 with proportionate annual operating charges.

BUDGET—If Congress wants to know the reasons for these accidents and deaths, it should put in the government aviation official, "let it first investigate the amount of money which it has appropriated for the safety of commercial plane travel." He pointed out that the CAA's 1947 budget for research and development of all kinds was merely $1,000,000, and that only $100,000 cannot see a striking is human. It is robbery.

And Hoover sees the dilemma of large strikes. But if the principle is right on a small scale, it is right on a large scale. Enlarging or diminishing of a principle does not change it. But here is what he says: "I have always opposed compulsory arbitration as a limitation on the right to strike, but I think it has now been carried to extremes." Gracie Reports

By GRACIE ALLEN
Well, I see where Sir Thomas Becket, who held a government war job in Great Britain, told London women that housework isn't so hard and that women love it.

He said that males who helped around the house during the war found that "washing up" as he called it, wasn't nearly so tough, either, as they had been led to believe. I maintain that housework here is much harder than in England because we have soap operas to compare with just scrubbing. The kitchen floor may not tire you, but it, meanwhile, you listen to John's other wife leave him again, a girl at home, and a couple of murders on Life. Can Be Beautiful, you wind up pretty exhausted.

Besides, lots of women tackled men's jobs during the war and found they weren't so tough, either. We'll soon find out about all this. I've sent George to the kitchen while I take over his office.

YOU CAN'T BUILD AS CHEAP AS YOU CAN BUY THEM

Wanna buy a nice home that is a home? Well, you can quit looking any further. You've just had it listed with me for sale. This is a beauty, and it is in the best part of Pampa. The street is wide and paved and there are no noisy houses next door. It's really in the top neighborhood, just a few walking distances from the downtown district. It has a nice large living room with a fireplace, dining room, two bath, bedrooms, a beautiful bath, extra large kitchen, with a built-in cabinet that won't quit, and a dandy breakfast room. Has cedar lined closets, utility room, so you don't have to stoop when you stand up in it. Has a beautiful fenced in back yard with a swimming pool with plenty of cooking contraptions that I've ever seen. Good wash house and laundry room, with its own individual automatic hot water heater, with double porcelain wash tubs, and a good floor drain that drains into the sewer. Well built double garage, with a real concrete floor. This house was designed by architect, and that's something. Another feature about this good home is that it can be financed for no telling how much, if you don't want to pay cash. This house belongs to a friend of mine, and he has given me exclusive listing on it, so if you would be interested in it call me up and I'll take you out, or I'll call and tell him you are coming.
