26 Dead, Much Property Damage From Hurricane

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 20.—The interior of the Carolinas today felt the lash of the tropical storm which swept inland last night and headed slowly northward with decreasing intensity after killing 26 persons and doing heavy property damage in Cuba and Florida.

The Washington weather bureau announced in an 8:30 a. m. advisory that all danger of hurricane winds along the coast had passed. It said, however, that strong on-shore winds would continue all day from Wilmington, N. C., northward to Long Island, and that tides would be above normal but not dangerous.

High winds and drenching rains accompanied the storm in its path through the Carolinas. Greenville had a maximum velocity of 65 miles an hour early today while Charlotte, N. C., recorded 55 miles. Charlotte had 2.40 inches of rain in the 12-hour period ending at 8:30 a. m.

Little damage and no casualties were reported in the Carolinas, although Charleston was without power for more than six hours and low-lying sections of the city around the historic battery district were reported flooded.

Seventy miles inland, trees were uprooted and signs blown down at Florence, S. C. The Florence air base weather station recorded 40-mile winds.

The Atlantic coast line railroad through communication lines were down between Charleston and Mount Holly, S. C.

Residents of the village of Avon, N. C., just recovered from damage left by the Sept. 14 hurricane, were

Crude Allowable Reduction Asked

AUSTIN, Oct. 20.—West Texas oil operators today asked the Railroad commission for substantial reductions in daily crude allowances for November.

Reductions sought in Permian, Yates and fields north of Amarillo, Slaughter, Wasson, Seminole and other fields north of a 22,000-barrel reduction in sour crude output certified for November by the petroleum administrator for

The PAW certification for 2,133,000 barrels daily total crude production for Texas was unchanged from October, the 22,000-barrel cut in sour crude being offset by a recommended increase of the same amount in sweet crude from fields tributary to the war emergency pipeline.

Although operators asked an increase in sweet crude output there was opposition to increasing the flow from East Texas, principal source of sweet crude tributary to the pipeline.

H. P. Nichols of the East Texas Oil association asserted before the Railroad commission promotion hearing that the East Texas field cannot continue present withdrawal rates.

He took exception to the PAW recommendation for more sweet crude which the PAW recognized was in excess of the maximum efficient rate as determined by the federal agency.

"It occurs to me," he said, "that

Road Is Now Open Into Ruhr Valley

By WILLIAM L. RYAN Associated Press War Editor

The Nazi citadel of Aachen fell at 2:30 p. m. today (9:30 a. m., CWT) after 12 days of bitter fighting, and American troops have occupied all main parts of this first large German community to be invaded by the Allies.

Aachen, now a shambles from heavy air and artillery bombardment, fell to the U. S. First army ten days after an American ultimatum to the commander of the die-hard Nazi garrison and on the seventh day of its siege. U. S. casualties were said to have been the lightest ever sustained in an operation of such magnitude.

Capture of Aachen, sprawling city of 165,000, removes a major obstacle from the path of the Americans toward the great industrial Ruhr valley, the Rhineland, and the cities of Cologne and Dusseldorf.

Pockets Being Annihilated

Doughboys tonight jammed the Nazi remnants into the outskirts of the city and were mopping them up, dispatches said.

Canadians opened a new phase of the Allied drive to rout Nazis blocking use of Antwerp, prospective supply port for a massive offensive against the Reich, and the Russians applied heavy pressure against Germany from the east.

Jumping off in the new assault early in the morning, the Canadians gained several miles in flat, wooded country. One force, predominantly armor, followed a rail line, and infantry struck out along a highway from areas about eight miles north and northeast of Antwerp, with heavy air support and British protection on the right flank.

The extreme southern end of the Allied front, French and Americans outflanked the village of Venlo, entrance to a 15-mile pass opening on the Rhine valley only seven miles from Maastricht. They captured Bruyeres, one mile from Epinal, in a drive toward two more Voges passes.

Three Russian army groups threatened East Prussia and Berlin said still another struck out from the Narvik river area above Warsaw. Moscow was silent on the East Prussian front, but permitted radio dispatches to say the Red army had entered reich territory.

Berlin announced evacuation of Debrecen in a mammoth battle on the approaches to Hungary's capital of Budapest. The Germans said they destroyed 418 Russian tanks in 12 days at Debrecen, rail center 116 miles east of the capital. The Russians claimed 11,000 prisoners in six days.

A tremendous Russian army invading the pre-war reich has breached East Prussian defenses south of Eydtkau, Berlin said. The Germans yesterday had announced loss of Eydtkau—just across the Lithuania frontier. To the north the Russians struck against the Memel frontier, and south of Memel another army lashed out on a 65-mile front above Warsaw. Russian gains were registered in Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

Absentia Death Sentence Passed

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Pierre Laval has been sentenced to death in absentia by a Marseille tribunal, the Paris radio said today.

A warrant for the arrest of the Vichy chief of government, now sheltering with or held by the Germans, was issued by the tribunal two weeks ago and it was stated then that he would be tried whether he was present or not.

The Algiers radio reported that Jean Galliard, former director of the newspaper "Petit Marseille" was condemned to death in absentia by the same tribunal at the same time.

Wool Manufacturers Get World Orders

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The nation's wool manufacturers had before them today the first request from textiles from the United States relief and rehabilitation administration—a bid for 8,288,000 yards of wools for the last quarter of 1944 and 14,000,000 yards for the first quarter of 1945.

The procurement division of the treasury department also announced bids were sought on more than 2,800,000 women's, misses' and children's coats and dresses for the foreign economic administration to be distributed by the army in liberated areas.

Future of Palo Duro Park Said To Be 'Cloudy'

AUSTIN, Oct. 20.—The 49th legislature may be asked to clear up what the state auditor has described as the "somewhat clouded" outlook of the Palo Duro park, one of the state's most spectacular and best-paying recreation spots.

Reports from Amarillo were that boosters of a plan to make Palo Duro a national park by a similar process under which the Big Bend park was so converted, will ask the legislature to appropriate funds to retire the present indebtedness of approximately $400,000 against the 15,000-acre tract.

State Sen. Grady Hurdwood of Amarillo commented, however, that such appropriations was a possibility only if the mortgage holders will agree to equalize the price per acre in accordance with nearby land values.

State park board officials said they preferred not to comment at this time, but files of the board showed that there are two mortgages against the property, which, with accrued interest, total approximately $400,000.

The files also showed that despite the fact that the Palo Duro park leads all others in the state in revenues, there is back interest due on the first mortgage in the amount of $25,000. The only funds available to pay off the principal and interest on the property are the park's revenue; half of it is used for this purpose and the other half is earmarked for maintenance.

The Palo Duro situation was inherited by the present park board.

The board's records show that in July 1933, 15,103.85 acres of land in Randall and Armstrong counties were acquired for a total consideration of $377,596.25. This included $10 cash, a vendor's lien note of $263,887.96, first mortgage notes of $102,200, accrued interest of $11,198.29.

The vendor's lien or second mortgage matures July 23, 1948, and is held by a Chicago man. The first

President Osmena Goes Ashore Also

By LEONARD MILLIMAN Associated Press War Editor

Gen. Douglas MacArthur returned to the Philippines today and, in his own words, "at one stroke split in two Japanese forces" estimated at 225,000 defending the islands.

His troops climaxed a 2,500-mile advance through Japanese defenses in the last 16 months with three slashing landings on the broad sandy beaches of eastern Leyte island in the central Philippines.

"Our ground troops are rapidly extending their positions," said General MacArthur who was in personal command of the operation, "and supplies and heavy equipment are already flowing ashore in great volume."

An American network pool broadcast recorded by NBC direct from Leyte island at noon today (EWT) said that "our troops are having a tough time and are being subjected to heavy mortar and artillery fire."

"But then no one expected this to be an easy operation," the broadcaster added.

The reporter described the first landing and said that the first party had driven 500 yards inland before the Japanese fired a single shot.

He added that American battleships and cruisers were standing off shore, lending whatever assistance was necessary, and that divebombers "are still plastering the hills near all the beaches."

The broadcaster told of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's landing. He said the general came ashore with one of the landing parties "wading in near knee deep water." He quoted the general as saying "I will stay for the duration."

"Leyte," he added, "is only a way station on the road to Japan."

Japanese defending Leyte were caught by surprise when the assault waves stormed ashore Friday (Manila time), although three days previously American troops invaded three small islands guarding the entrance to Leyte gulf and minesweepers methodically cleaned a channel for a great armada of American and Australian warships.

No Japanese ships and only one enemy plane challenged the huge convoy.

In a massive union of forces, the assault was supported by a devastating bombardment from the big guns of Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid's Seventh Fleet, units of Adm. William F. Halsey's Third Fleet, an Australian naval squadron, planes from carriers, the Far Eastern air force and the Royal Australian air force.

So confident were the invaders of success that Pres. Osmena of the Philippines came along with his staff and a promise from President Roosevelt that MacArthur's men and their Filipino comrades "will drive out the invader."

When the conquest of the Philippines is completed by forces fanning out in other directions from Leyte, MacArthur said a half million enemy troops would be hopelessly cut off, Japan's defensive line pierced in the middle and the flank laid vulnerable to attack.

The defenders, expecting a landing on dully-bombed Mindanao Island to the south, were so taken by surprise that beachheads on Leyte three miles south of Tacloban, the provincial capital, "were secured with small casualties," MacArthur announced.

Another major force struck about 12 miles farther south and a combat team laid the groundwork for a possible enveloping move to seize the fertile inland valleys by landing near the southern tip of Leyte.

Supporting aerial sweeps were continued by Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier forces which have virtually neutralized air fields in the Manila area, and Southwest Pacific bombers and fighters making their heaviest strikes at Mindanao.

Simultaneously with the Leyte operation, Mitscher's planes destroyed 39 Japanese aircraft, sank six ships and damaged 23 others. They have wiped out 1,333 Japanese planes in nine days.

The mikado's headquarters, officially acknowledging a British carrier raid on the Nicobar Islands of the Indian ocean, claimed that a British carrier and destroyer were sunk, and a battleship and destroyer damaged.

British troops pushing southward from the enemy's fallen Triand base forced the Japanese out of Palau, an administrative center for the Chin hills.

Li. Col. Roy Webb Returning to Pampa

Li. Col. Roy Webb, son of Dr. and Mrs. Roy A. Webb, Pampa, is expected to arrive in Pampa on furlough the latter part of next week.

Dr. Webb said today he received a surprise telephone call from his son, a veteran of the air battle of France, from New York City this morning. Colonel Webb will be in New York for a few days and then go to San Antonio for hospital checking before returning to Pampa.

Colonel Webb has at least seven Nazi planes to his credit.

Corpus Christi Station Owners Will Be Queried

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The operations of radio station KWBU of Corpus Christi, Texas, principally controlled by Baylor University, Carr P. Collins and the two sons of Senator O'Daniel (D-Texas), are scheduled for a review by the federal communications commission (FCC) before it acts on the station's application for a regular broadcasting license.

Originally operated by Collins and others as XEAW at Reynosa, Mexico, the station was set up in Corpus Christi and program tests authorized Feb. 15, 1944, on a temporary basis. That authorization has been extended since, the last time for a 30-day period ending Oct. 22.

Objections on grounds of technical interference with station KILRA, Little Rock, Ark., have been filed with the commission by the Arkansas Broadcasting company. Because of a crowded docket the commission is not expected to find time for a hearing on this complaint before December.

Meanwhile, two members of the six-man commission have issued statements critical of the programs broadcast by KWBU. Commissioners Paul A. Walker and C. J. Durr, in a formal statement issued recently, said:

"It seems to us that the past record of the president and certain of the other officials and stockholders of the station in the operations of station XEAW, Reynosa, Mexico, and the programs which station KWBU was carried while on program tests raise a serious question as to the qualifications of Century Broadcasting company, as now constituted, to operate in the public interest."

FCC commissioners Walker and Durr, commenting further on the operations of KWBU, which broadcasts on 1010 kilocycles daytime only, said:

"The circumstances under which the station was removed from Mexico to the United States, together with the programs carried while it was on program tests, raise a question as to Baylor university's position in the arrangements under which the station was established and is to be operated."

"In view of all the past circumstances, it seems to us that before the station is granted a regular license, the commission should be assured, after a full hearing, that Baylor university will assume its full share of responsibility for the operation of the station and bring to bear upon its policies the influence to be reasonably expected of an educational institution."

After issuance of the statement, they made a brief visit to the FCC for a private conference.

More Than 1,000 Attend Concert

An enthusiastic audience of more than 1,000 persons realized that "togetherness" did exist when they attended the two-piano recital presented at the Junior High auditorium last evening featuring Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson.

The concert was the first in a series of Community Concert association events which will be presented in Pampa.

Selections from the old masters were presented in the first group which included "Fugue in G Minor" and the aria, "Sheep May Safely Graze" by Bach; "Scherzo" by Felix Mendelssohn and building up to "Pomp and Circumstance" by Carl Maria von Weber.

Serge Rachmaninoff's Suite No. 2 for two pianos was presented in the second part of the program. This Suite was composed by Rachmaninoff shortly before his famous Concerto in C Minor and has much resemblance to it in style and content. The duo presented "Valses," "Pomp and Circumstance" and "Tarentelle."

Present day composers were featured in the third part of the concert showing contrast from some of the leading foreign composers to the contemporary American composer, George Gershwin.

"Three Preludes" by Gershwin was presented along with "The Love and the Nightingale" by Enrique Granados, arranged by Bartlett and Robertson. The third presentation was the finale of Darius Milhaud's Suite for two pianos, "Brazilian Dances." It is based on a popular Brazilian dance-rhythm, the Samba, which attracted the composer during a visit to Brazil. The pianist repeated it as an encore.

Characteristics of the music itself by leading contemporary composers was emphasized in the fourth part. Brilliant and lively selections including "Summer Wind" by Camille Saint-Saens.

New Style Slant

From Zoe DeSalle

NEW YORK—If you're a fugitive from the straight-and-narrow line in clothes, you can escape into new slim-appearing wrap-around side-swept coats, dresses or suits which give the maximum in sweep and flare within the limits of WPB regulations.

Built on the surprise-closing principle, which provides plenty of leg room, wrap-around fashions the button or lace up at the side to give a good imitation of previous skirted fullness.

High-styled examples of those are popping up in many trend-making collections. Biggest hit in most fashion showings because it plays an important double-duty role is the wrap-around coat dress, good for wear as a coat until the snows fall, good for wear as a dress until the first crocus blooms.

Thanks to its asymmetrical closing—you see a high-styled example in the bride's gray English flannel shown at the right—it looks new, and thanks to an easy-riding neckline overlap, it flares gracefully on the figure.

Seen in an outstanding collection was a cape ensemble of parrot green wool featuring a side-swept three-buttoned skirt—you see it on the model at the left—which makes new because it makes a one-wardrobe outfit. When worn with a silver-slim palm print jersey dress and matching turban, as you see it pictured, this wrap-around skirt makes one imposing cape-enssembled outfit. When teamed with a striped jersey jumper and green felt hat—another one of its two-timing guises—it looks like a completely different ensemble.

We, the Women

War wives lower each other's morale by repeating stories of husbands who have written home to their wives that they have fallen in love with other girls.

And it looks as though the men overseas are making the same mistake.

Here's an excerpt from a letter that came today from a serviceman stationed in the South Pacific: "A good many fellows out here worry, some with genuine reason, about reports of a let-down in morals back in the States, from which many of them have been gone for too many months."

"There is the adage, of course, about absence makes the heart grow fonder, but it is pictured when a fellow who has been married for several years suddenly stops hearing from his wife, and then one day gets a letter from her saying that she has fallen in love with a man back home and wants to arrange a divorce as the best thing for all."

NO ISOLATED CASE

"That has happened within my own outfit, and it isn't exactly an isolated case. There have been several who, thinking only of the time when they will be back home with the girls, have received letters to the effect: 'I was lonely and I was young and—well, you know how it is.' There is so much of that, that when they played a record of that song, 'No love, no nothing—until my baby comes home'—the other night at the picture show, a 'wise-cracking' sailor remarked to 'another propagandist'—and—well, I guess it could be."

That last line is what is so bad about all this hushing over among service men and service wives of the cases where a husband or wife has said, 'I'm sorry, but I'm in love with someone else.'

Because the natural response to that is: "It could happen to my marriage."

So it looks as though the best thing to do for service wives and servicemen to do is not to pass on any kind of marriage crack-ups they happen to know or to have heard about.

And they might take a few other precautions. The men might think a long time before writing, "I had a swell time at a dance last night. There was one girl who—"

But if a husband does write something like that in a letter his wife should think a long time before retorting with: "I met the most attractive man at a party the other night."

Those are the letters that make it easier than ever for a husband or wife to think: "It could happen to my marriage, too."

Army-Navy 'E' Is To Go to Pantex

The Pantex Ordnance plant, near Amarillo, was scheduled to receive the Army-Navy 'E' this afternoon for sustained excellence in war production. Employees were to receive 'E' pins, and official 'E' banner was to be hoisted on a flagpole over the plant.

Col. T. C. Gerber of St. Louis, field director of ammunition plants, was to present the award in ceremonies beginning at 3:30. Col. Thomas E. Brown of New York City, a director of Certain-Led Products corporation, the prime contractor at Pantex, was to accept the banner for the plant and company.

Pantex, it was said, has received written praise from fighting commanders on major fronts for its production of war munitions. Despite the fact that manpower has been short throughout the nation, the plant has kept up production, it was stated.

It was at Mount Wilson observatory.

Y. W. A. Has Regular Meeting At Church

"Missionaries in the United States" was the topic for discussion when members of the First Baptist Y. W. A. met this week in the church. The program was taken from the Y. W. A. magazine, "The Window."

Taking part on the program were Joyce Stone, Freddie Brock and Margaret Davis. The devotional was given by the president, Louise Baker.

Plans were made to keep a scrapbook on activities of the year and Mary Myatt was elected as historian.

Those attending the meeting were: Freddie Brock, Olive Camp, Odean Camp, Mary Myatt, Alberta Williams, Inez French, Margaret Davis, Margie Nuckols, Joyce Stone, Margaret Singleton, Kathryn Rose, Mrs. Floyd Crow and Mrs. Don Egerton.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 23, 7:30 when the group gathers for a short business meeting and will then attend the revival meeting in a body.

Clever suggestions on that score came from Catherine Noone, 20-year-old whiz of a girl, who is secretary-treasurer of an advertising agency, copy writer and researcher. Catherine has the color scheme she plays up—red fuchsia, posed against summer blacks—one she plotted when she bought a lipstick of that color. With that as her color cue, she picked up a matching ribbon headband, a bow-tied comb, a pair of black gloves, trimmed with fuchsia, and a blouse.

Cesar's Triumph
James Caesar Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, has set a pattern as well as a precedent in his answer to President Roosevelt's mild and respectful request that he obey a long-standing War Labor Board order. We hope the pattern will be followed. But apparently it can be, and with impunity.

If you don't like a WLB order, all you do is say "No." Don't let it bother you if you had agreed to it before you would say "Yes." If the President of the United States asked you nicely, you can squirm out of it or just ignore it. Of course you want to be sure you're in a union official and not an employer, and that the government isn't going to take over the plant where your members are working.

You might give your reasons for refusal, as Mr. Petrillo has done. He says that to lift his recording ban would permit two unsigned recording companies to resume manufacturing, "with resulting tremendous profits to them," and take business from firms that have knocked down to his demands for royalty payments—payments which don't go to the musicians who make the records.

Mr. Petrillo is not only defying the government, he is also dictating what firms can do in the recording business, and steering the profits where he wants to see them go. And the profits he withholds are considerable, since the dominant recording companies are Columbia and RCA-Victor, the oldest and biggest manufacturers in the field.

Most of the artists have stuck with Victor and Columbia, and haven't recorded since. The public would like to hear them on some new discs. But Mr. Petrillo has not seemed to worry unduly about what the public wants. The signed-up companies, he says, "are now supplying the public with all necessary recordings." And that's that.

On the same day that Mr. Petrillo answered the President, Undersecretary of War Patterson told some striking musicians that the government of the United States will not be coerced by any group. But coercion is just what Mr. Petrillo is using. Seemingly the only way the government can get its secretary's order enforced is to rescind that order and make Columbia and Victor settle on Mr. Petrillo's terms.

So now what happens?

Scoreboard
The Nazis spent a lot of ingenuity, money and effort in building the Siegfried Line. They spent a lot of breath thundering to the world about its "impregnability." But they didn't give the tanks worth a darn. This was evident in a picture the other day which showed a group of G. I.'s listening to a World Series broadcast on a radio set up in a trench. Usually using a wall of the Siegfried Line for a scoreboard.

We rather imagine that this wonderfully casual calling of the Nazi bluff can be counted on to give the American soldier's chief assets. He respects the tangibility of bombs and bullets, but he simply refuses to be impressed by biostat propaganda. He will probably shoot craps on the sidewalk in front of the Reichschancellery in Berlin.

Bottom of the Barrel
As our armies begin to crisp with German strength, they can also learn of Germany's weakness. From the lips of Hitler himself. For in his last speech, Hitler did not extol the might of the tanks worth a darn. Instead, he called upon the new volunteers of the class of 1928 to set the people an example of fighting spirit, and fanatical sacrifice about the front. When Hitler must turn to 16-year-olds for spiritual example as well as material aid, the props of the Third Reich are beginning to crumble.

No Trick at All
Everybody seemed quite surprised at an aeronautical engineer's claim that practically anybody can learn to fly a small new civilian plane in five hours.
Well, that's all very nice. But if we didn't know that an airplane doesn't have to be backed out of a driveway or squeezed into a parking space between two other planes, we'd be a lot more impressed.

Incredible
A handsome young navy officer running for Congress in Maryland has offered, with a gallant gesture and a split infinitive, "to personally kiss every lady" in his district. It may be that there will shortly be added to the raucous literature of this election year charges aimed at the irresistible as well as the indispensable man.

The Nation's Press
MAKES US FEEL LIKE POPEYE.
(Portland-Oregonian)
In his war report to the House of Commons, and fully aware that millions of Americans would read it, Prime Minister Churchill noted a maddening finger in the American election by voicing a boost for Mr. Roosevelt. The intended inference was that the British prime minister and the American President get along just as though they both were the same old school tie, and that this close fraternity is highly significant. Of what? But, by-passing the query, let's mildly observe that we thought this was an American election.

The United Nations Force
The ease with which well-meaning people are fooled and misled is illustrated by the statements made in the unveiling of what is called a "bill-to-be-completed charter for a world peace organization backed by the armed might of its members and empowered to call on special air force units for 'urgent military measures.'"

Of course this United Nations movement, admits that it has not worked out the rule by which force is to be applied. Neither does it tell whether it proposes that the United States should give up its exclusive right to determine whether to declare war, or whether it proposes that other nations shall have the power to draft our men to fight in foreign lands.

Of course the leaders of the movement know such a proposal would be unpopular. For this reason they propose to mislead the voters, making them think that the advocates of this plan have some new way of "insuring" assuring peace by... If they had such a way it... could be the greatest leaders the world has ever known.

If they are right, the whole philosophy taught by Jesus Christ was in error. If they are right, when Jesus was wrong when He said, "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth." If they are right, then there are no principles but force. If they are right, we can educate by force rather than by persuasion. If they are right, then the worst nation in the world, if it had enough power, should dominate the world.

Peace will not be promoted by setting another group of bureaucrats on top of the present army of bureaucrats. The way to promote peace is to promote peace in our own country by getting people to understand that industry and labor producing wealth is not like war, where the success of one is the loss of another, but the success of one man is the gain of all.

If the people are not getting the message, that all men were equally free and that producing wealth was not harmful but beneficial to all, then they would not make laws such as tariff and immigration restrictions that are bound to bring on war.

It is a mockery, a sham and a delusion for the administration or the leaders of the Republic to say that they are promoting peace in their pretention that they can promote peace by another super government over present governments while our own nation is doing things that promote war both civil and international.

But if the present administration can make the public believe that they are doing something to promote peace, they will receive more votes. They must, therefore, be vague in order to keep the people in an uncertain state that instead of promoting peace they are only promoting larger and more continuous wars.

since George Washington's time, and the habit is a hard one to break. It is also dictating to us we are a trifle touchy about outsiders interfering with it. Even our vast admiration for Mr. Churchill cannot persuade Americans that he is commiseration to instruct us, indirectly or otherwise, how we should vote. And it is only with considerable effort, the aggravation considered, that we restrain our eyes from behaving like Popeye.

Cannot our too, too considerate country manage somehow to understand? Repeatedly these recent years we have been told that allies should understand each other and weary not in mutual fact and comprehension. What would the British say if we came starting in with set instructions to them on the management of their purely domestic affairs? Gor blimey! But let us put it even more plainly. What would Prime Minister Churchill say to some upstart American had the "frontony" to tell the British whom they should choose for their king? And "sag" down on that "their" it needs to be "cented."

NOT SO SMART AS THEY THOUGHT
(Fort Wayne News-Sentinel)
"Clearing everything with Sidney" hasn't turned out to be nearly as smart as had been believed by the New Deal camp-followers who started out to bulldoze the electorate with heavy betting-odds on the "Commander in Chief."

For one thing, the absentee voters cast by Maine's men and women in uniform in that state's recent election revealed that their opposition to Roosevelt candidates was just twice as great as the opposition of civilians.

Where the Democrats got one vote in four among Maine's civilians, they got only one in eight from those who were in the armed services.

Which reminds us of a letter from a Fort Wayne soldier, which we saw the other day. At the bottom, he had written: "Clear everything with Sidney" — again and again and again. And that, we think, said a mouthful.

Just a few days ago, Washington Columnist John O'Donnell reported that he had received letters from soldiers at the European front, saying that they were former Roosevelt supporters, but that now they were on the other side because they were "fed up" with the Roosevelt election propaganda in all the London papers; and from others who "have ripped the flyleaves from their issue Bibles—the page on which Franklin D. Roosevelt wishes them well." Things like this are sure to explain the wild New Deal jitters now to be observed, all over the country.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS
The National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER
(Now on tour, surveying political and reconstruction situations).
NEW YORK CITY—The glamorous Charles Bothe Luce is the flamboyant but enigmatic figure in the oratorical forces of both major Parties in the Presidential campaign. But the master minders at Republican National Headquarters here and in Washington are not yet certain whether the beautifully gowned and tailored playwright is an advantage or a liability to their side.

The gal from Greenwich has admittedly provided the only color and clever lines in a campaign that grows drabber and drabber as it nears its close. She has relieved the tedium of the endless repetition of phrases. Next to Governor Thomas E. Dewey himself, she is most in demand as a speaker from coast to coast.

They tell a story here about how she was asked to meet a few women at a private luncheon in a Pennsylvania city. But as word spread that she was to appear, the luncheon received so many demands for invitations that the Republican City Committee had to "hire a hall"—a large one, too.

Nevertheless, says G. O. P.-era doubt whether it pays to send her a-voyaging and wisecracking. They wonder if she does not appeal mainly to women who are already sold on the man in Albany. As to the crowds she draws, they recall that such other appealing figures as Willa Cather, Jennings Bryan and Alfred E. Smith drew vast audiences but not enough votes to win.

With no disparagement to Mrs. Luce's gifts and intelligence, they question whether she can sell the G. O. P. to the wives of workmen, to the thousands of women employed in war industries, to the mothers worried about their sons overseas. They begin to believe that such a contrasting type as Representative Jesse Sumner of Illinois, lawyer and statesman, might be more effective with the feminine masses.

But—to use another term popular in the district of Manhattan—"you don't take a show off the boards when it happens to be good box office!"

WOMEN—The female vote may determine who shall be the next occupant of the White House. Both national campaign managers realize this. They are working to win the vote of the women in a Presidential election. The size and activity of their get-out-the-vote staffs measure their concern over this group.

It is no exaggeration to suggest that two classes which never before participated in such a wide range of political activity had the final say on November 7. They are the mothers, who did not have the suffrage in past centuries, and their Servants. Women eligible to cast ballots outnumber the men by several hundred thousand. The soldiers' pieces of paper may up the scales in electorally decisive states. Thus husbands will take a back seat in a big way next month.

Peter Edson's Column:
CIVIL SERVICE CUTS IN THE OFFING

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Sizable cuts in the number of federal employees—now variously estimated as 2,000,000 by the Civil Service Commission and an all-time high on 3,113,000 by Senator Byrd's economy committee—are expected to be announced soon by the Bureau of the Budget. The cuts may come before election, but the real impetus behind them will be a couple of other factors, first, the federal employees' overtime pay act which requires every government agency to review its personnel requirements every three months, second, President Roosevelt's mid-September directive to Budget Director Harold D. Smith, ordering him to make immediate plans for liquidating wartime agencies and returning others to peacetime levels when the war is ended.

On receipt of that order, Smith instructed all federal agencies to make reports within 30 days on how personnel might be reduced, and these reports are now coming in and being reviewed by Budget Director Edson. Concurrently, every government department receiving a congressional appropriation is now bringing in its estimates on funds required in the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1945. These are the estimates that will be reported in the annual budget message next

January, and they are being prepared now to meet three possible situations, assuming continuation of the war throughout the year, end of the war in Europe, end of the war in Japan.
GENERAL HOUSECLEANING IN ORDER
All this reviewing of programs should give the government a "good look at its hand to see what kind of a general reorganization can be effected when the war is over. Regardless of who gets elected in November, this thorough overhauling of government agencies should have top priority for the new administration.
At present the authority to reorganize the government rests largely in the hands of the President who, since 1939, has put through two broad reorganizations and numerous shifts in the war agencies. On Capitol Hill, however, there has been increased agitation for a reorganization of the executive branch of the government by Congress, and something like this may happen in the next few years.
There have been all kinds of suggestions as to how the government should be reorganized and no two people familiar with Washington agree on what should be done with any given agency. As a first step in trying to pull all the conflicting proposals together, the Cit-

Letter From a Man Who Never Learned to Spell

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
Working in the movie annals, Fred Allen groaned. If he were one of those green herms, he would rush right back to New York and make with the jokes on the radio. That's his habit. Working in the movies isn't.

So today we give you Fred Allen's primer of minor Hollywood annoyances, titled, "What the Heck Am I Doing in the Movies?"
There is, for example, Hollywood's quaint little habit of saying everything is great. That annoys Allen.
"They shoot a scene," Fred said, "and the cameraman says 'Great!' The sound man says 'Great!' The director says 'Great!' The assistant director says 'Great!'"

Fred was talking into a telephone the other day for a scene in his new flicker "It's in the Bag." It was a very amusing scene. "So I look up for a second and I'm looking right into the face of a sailor who is visiting the set. We both get a shock and I forget all my dialog."
"You can't move around in front of the camera," Fred moaned. "You have to stay in focus and you can't spoil the lighting. The perfect actor supports all at once."

"An airplane flew over the sound stage," the soundman yelled. "The director says 'Great!' The assistant director says 'Great!'"

Around Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
Working in the movie annals, Fred Allen groaned. If he were one of those green herms, he would rush right back to New York and make with the jokes on the radio. That's his habit. Working in the movies isn't.

So today we give you Fred Allen's primer of minor Hollywood annoyances, titled, "What the Heck Am I Doing in the Movies?"
There is, for example, Hollywood's quaint little habit of saying everything is great. That annoys Allen.
"They shoot a scene," Fred said, "and the cameraman says 'Great!' The sound man says 'Great!' The director says 'Great!' The assistant director says 'Great!'"

WAR TODAY

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(Continuing from Beirut MacArthur's return to the Philippines with his usual flair for both confounding the enemy and staging a good show.

Sticking to what Churchill calls "triplibbons" force sufficient to give the Japanese a preview of what to expect against additional islands—his homeland, for instance—old "I will return" has by-passed so many enemy bases on southern Mindanao to obtain immediate objectives at minimum cost.

Even this force, however, is only a part of that available. The few days should provide a cleared view of what impends. It seems likely, however, that the Leyte action, undertaken primarily to obtain airfields from which to dominate the entire archipelago. One field, near Tacloban, is almost in sight, and (although the area offers plenty of room for more.

MacArthur developed a unique system of warfare in New Guinea with his specially-trained army. These units operate their own landing craft to strike quickly in relatively small strength at key coastal points. They drive the enemy back from the coast, cut off his supply routes and leave him in the jungle. Beachheads thus established immediately become bases for more of the same.

By this system the Sixth Army and others which will follow may establish quickly a series of bases which will resemble, offhand, an airplane-laid string of pearls, but which will choke all Japanese strength south of Luzon, where the principal battles between real armies can be expected.

Larger forces with formal naval support will be reutilized at some points, principally Davao, Cebu, Negros and Mindanao, which could contain air bases. Some of the coastal "pearls" probably will contain it, like numerous smaller islands.

The alternative would seem to be a direct massed assault on Luzon as soon as overwhelming air support from ground bases has been provided. As the Japanese did in 1941-42, this would leave most of the central and southern archipelago.

Heavy Clovis Team Here To Battle Harvesters Tonight

Pampa To Meet Tough Foe In New Mexicans

With perfect weather in the offing, one of the season's largest crowds is expected out at Harvester stadium tonight to watch the Pampa and Clovis high school football teams revive the old Texas-New Mexico gridiron rivalry.

Game time will be 8 o'clock.

Clovis, listed on paper as outweighing the Harvesters by about 20 pounds to the man, has won two out of three games so far this fall and Pampa has come out on top in two out of four.

The lone Clovis defeat was suffered at the hands of the snappy Hobbs, N. M., high team, 25 to 0. Pampa has lost to Midland, Texas, high and Central, Oklahoma, Oklahoma City, both by close scores.

Coach Otis Coffey was not over-optimistic about his chances tonight, but he will have ready the same starting lineup that opened the scoring spree that sent the Quahon Indians down to defeat here, 47 to 0, two weeks ago tonight.

The Harvesters will be going back into action after a two-week rest. They didn't play last week. Instead they went to Amarillo to do a little checking on the Amarillo Laddies as they watched the game from spectators seats and saw the Sandstorm defeat Norman, Okla., 42-25.

Incidentally District 1-AA fans will watch with interest the game between Brownfield and Brownfield field elevens, Pampa and Brownfield play at Brownfield next Friday.

Borger High, which began playing football again this fall after a year's layoff, will entertain Amarillo tonight in a conference game. Borger has not scored a touchdown in three games this year and has been beaten by Electra, White Deer and Panhandle. Coach Cricket Christian of Borger says that doesn't make any difference to his gamblers and they will go out tonight trying hard to whip down the Sandies' ears.

Amarillo will take a rest next week with an open date, and spend the time off fighting the best way to defeat Pampa which is the next game on their schedule at Amarillo on Saturday, Nov. 4.

Tonight's game between the Harvesters and Clovis will be broadcast over KFDN.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—Commander Gene Tunney, who ought to know something about the subject, says that to make a good boxer you should get a boy who is naturally just a little timid. "I don't mean he should be afraid," explains Gene, "but a boy who doesn't like to take a punch naturally develops the instinctive moves for good defensive boxing."

Since Coach Frank Murray introduced the modern "T" formation into southern football, his Virginia teams have played 20 games and scored 583 points—averaging better than 19 a game. . . . When Saint Thomas marched to the ring to be stiffened by Melio Bettina the other night, fiddler, Little David, followed playing "I'll be seeing you in all the old familiar places." . . . Sounds as if he had his spot on the canvas picked out.

HEADACHE FOR HOWLERS

The gasoline company that goes for football broadcasts has bought the rights to so many big games that it recently had to run a three-day school for announcers so it would have enough men to handle them all. . . . Many of the better-known broadcasters who work for other outlets have had to take less important games. . . . And, without mentioning names, we heard some spikers who sound as if they had acquired their football knowledge in three days.

DiMaggio Is Under Medical Treatment

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20 (AP)—Sgt. Joe DiMaggio, former New York Yankee outfielder, today was in a Hamilton field hospital after being flown back from Hawaii "for medical observation and treatment," the army announced.

The nature of his illness was not revealed by the army but previously published reports from Honolulu said he had been suffering from a stomach ailment.

Waco Squad Picked As State's Top 11

(By The Associated Press)

Coach Harry Stiteler of Waco will be glad to know he has the No. 1 schoolboy football team of Texas. That's what the sports writers say and naturally diplomatic Harry wouldn't insinuate they didn't know their stuff.

A poll conducted by the Associated Press drew votes from every section of the state today to rank the top ten teams in this order (rankings based on 10 votes for first place, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.):

1. Waco—159 votes.
2. San Angelo—132.
3. Lubbock—115.
4. Amarillo—87.
5. Highland Park (Dallas)—82.
6. Lufkin—67.
7. Tyler—62.
8. Vernon—34.
9. Austin—28.
10. Brackenridge (San Antonio) 27.

While Waco led in the total vote, it did not lead in first place ballots, an honor going to defending state champion San Angelo despite its early season loss to Lubbock. The Bobcats drew seven first place ballots while Waco had five. However, Waco was ranked second on eight ballots, third on three, fourth on one and fifth on one. San Angelo was second on three, third on two, fourth on two and sixth on one.

Lubbock drew two first place ballots as did Highland Park while Amarillo got one and Sunset (Dallas) one.

The second ten teams were as follows:

1. Sweetwater—25 votes.
2. South Park (Beaumont)—24.
3. Kerrville—21.
4. Port Arthur—18.
5. Sunset (Dallas)—14.
6. North Side (Fort Worth)—13.
7. Marshall—12.
8. Breckenridge—11.
9. Abilene and Waxahachie tied

Just out of the second ten with eight votes apiece were Wichita Falls and Temple while Edinburg and Goose Creek were next with four each.

North Side of Fort Worth continued undefeated and untied by whipping Masonic Home of Fort Worth 32-6 in a District Seven game—one of the few carded Thursday night. Reagan (Houston) beat St. Thomas (Houston) 26-6, and Stephen Austin (Houston) defeated District 13. San Antonio Tech beat Sidney Lanier (San Antonio) 14-2, in District 15.

White Deer Opens Grid Season Tonight

WHITE DEER, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Bucks' first conference game will be played at the home field tonight at 8 o'clock, with the Ferrion Rangers.

The Rangers have a hard fighting team this year, although they have lost two games out of four, while the Bucks have won their four games.

The Rangers' captain is an all-district tackle and does the punting as well as playing in the backfield. They use the T-formation and then shift into the Notre Dame box formation.

Lights Went Out—Who Won Game?

BIENVILLE, Pa., Oct. 20 (AP)—The lights went out with two minutes left in the first half and the score 6-0—who won?

Coach Ben Bream of Biglerville high school, whose team hadn't scored, wants to play it over.

Coach Charlie Spangler believes his Red Lion gridders can claim a victory because, he says, refusal of authorities to refund spectators' money makes last night's game official.

SLOW BILLING

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—A statement which Dr. J. E. Walter mailed to a patient in Waukegan on April 30, 1941, bearing the required 2-cent stamp, came back yesterday—undelivered because of insufficient postage.

Dr. Walter said he didn't need to re-mail the statement—the bill long ago was paid—but he was puzzled by the return of the mail since the intricacy first class postal rate increase to 3 cents did not go into effect until last March—almost three years after he sent out the statement.

Robertson Is Back Guessing Gridiron Again

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP)—A little more confident after picking the Cards to beat the Browns in the world series, we return to the weekly gridiron guessing game with the hopes that we'll be somewhere close to last week's performance of pitcher Fritz Howell. He came up with 38 wins, three defeats and one tie.

Navy-Georgia Tech—Unbeaten and unscathed on Tech may give the Middles an argument but this navy eleven is due to really break loose one of these days. This may be the day.

Great Lakes-Ohio State—There'll be no secrets since Lt. Paul Brown left the Buckeyes to coach the sailors and Carroll Woodcock was named by Brown as his successor. On the basis of a veteran line and a wealth of good backs we give you Ohio State.

Georgia Pre-Flight-North Carolina Pre-Flight—All-America Otto Graham to lead the Carolina team back to the victory trail after being tied by Virginia last week.

Tulsa-Mississippi-Tulsa—is looking for a bowl bid and "Ole Miss" isn't going to stop the Oklahomans. Wisconsin-Notre Dame—This'll be No. 4 for the nation's No. 1 team.

Illinois-Pittsburgh—The Illini haven't got much in the way of a defense but they have fleet Buddy Young and he'll take a lot of touchdowns to beat him. Illinois.

Service Game To Be One of Best

The Amarillo Field Sky Giants will meet their match tomorrow night when they come to grips at Butler Field with the Norman, Okla., Zoomer eleven in what may turn out to be the hardest, roughest and the best game in these parts.

The Giants have been publicized for their bruising line, but the Zoomers average 201 pounds a man on the line. The Giants average only about two pounds more.

McLean, Clarendon Will Meet Tonight

CLARENDON, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Clarendon Bronchos and McLean Tigers meet at Broncho field here tonight in a District 3-A conference game. The game is rated as a toss-up and each of the two teams will be trying for a win after losses over the past preceding weekends. The Bronchos will be trying for their first win over the Tigers in five years.

Coach Slick Naylor's Bronchos are in top shape after holding the soured Phillips Blackhawks to a two-touchdown victory last Friday night. McLean lost to Memphis, present district leader, 13 to 0 in their game last Friday at McLean. The two teams are evenly matched in weight with the Tigers holding only a four-pound advantage per man.

Lakeview Will Play at Shamrock

SHAMROCK, Oct. 20 (AP)—The Lakeview Eagles will come to Shamrock tonight for their annual grid tussle. This will be the third conference game for the Eagles.

Little is known here about the Lakeview eleven. But both teams have met the Wheeler Mustangs—and both have been victorious.

PALO DURO

mortgage notes matured Nov. 1, 1942, and are held by Scottish insurance interests. No payments have been made on the principal of either note, nor on the interest due on the second mortgage. This led to the auditor's report that the outlook for the park was clouded. "The records in the parks board files also show that in 1932, when the board accepted the deed, it stipulated that it would "in no wise be held liable for payment of the amount of purchase price" and that the purchase was to be paid from revenues only.

For the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1943, the revenue was $9,287 and for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1944, it was $9,852. Of this, only half could be applied on the indebtedness.

Commenting further on the situation, Sen. Huxford said the mortgages approximate $27.50 per acre and that this was too high when land in the vicinity is selling for $10 an acre.

"I believe those interested in the state paying off the mortgage should first convince the mortgage holders of the excess sales price," he said. "There is quite a difference between the figure asked for Palo Duro and the appropriation granted for the Big Bend park. I understand the $1,500,000 appropriated only figured at $1.50 and $2 an acre."

While backers of the republican presidential nominee, Governor Dewey, looked forward to his Pittsburgh speech tonight on labor matters (8 p. m. CWT over NBC) democratic Chairman Hannegan traveled to Washington to talk over Roosevelt campaign plans.

The Hannegan plans include a 50-mile motor tour of New York City tomorrow. Several millions may get a look at Mr. Roosevelt then prior to his foreign policy speech that evening.

Gov. John W. Bricker, G.O.P. vice presidential nominee, continued his own onslaughts against the P.A.C. in a Fresno, Calif., crowd that "the group of fourth-term supporters is carrying on a campaign of threats and intimidation" to get workers to vote the democratic ticket.

Democratic Governor Kerr of Oklahoma said in a broadcast from Wichita Falls, Tex., that "when Wendell Willkie died, the heart and conscience of the republican party died with him."

Put at Houston, Tex. Rep. Dies (D-Tex) gave an anti-Roosevelt rally this summation of the new deal: "A phony, extravagant, wasteful and meddling bureaucracy administered by 3,000,000 non-elected officials who have promulgated 16,511 decrees, regulations, directives, commissions and prohibitions," since 1933.

The house committee on un-American activities, which Dies heads, was criticized in a telegram to Speaker Sam Rayburn from four publishers who said it had made the "completely baseless charge" that Press Research, Inc., was "a communist front organization."

The signers, who said they were founding subscribers of this Independent Press Service, were Nelson Poynter, St. Petersburg, Fla., Josephus Daniels, Raleigh, N. C., J. David Stern, Philadelphia, and Mark Ehrhardt, Louisville.

Shipbuilder Henry J. Kaiser, a White House visitor, told Washington reporters that he is sure President Roosevelt will continue to do everything in his power to foster and encourage "free enterprise."

Secretary Hull Is Entering Hospital

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, 73, who has been kept from his office for three weeks by a throat irritation, is entering the naval hospital at Bethesda, Md., for a check-up.

Undersecretary Edward Stettinius emphasized that the condition was not considered serious.

Sae's was presented as was the Scottish folk-dance, "The Keel Row" by Thomas Austen. The tune in harmonic gueses was brought to a tremendous finale from where the duo went to Edward Greig's "Nocturne" which interpreted much of the charm of the strong strain of Scandinavian tonality.

Concluding the programme Bartlett and Robertson presented a Kovacs arrangement of "Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 2" by Frank Liszt, reflecting the characteristics of the Hungarian gypsy, his temperamental extremes of melancholy, and the exuberant buoyancy of his spirit.

To please the audience, the duo-presented "Liebestraum" by Franz Liszt; "Jamaican Rhumba," and concluding with Rachmaninoff's popular "Prelude in G Sharp Minor."

Miss Bartlett, with brown eyes and sleek dark hair worn low on her neck in the concert attire of head-dress, lent dazzling color to the gaiety and glamor of her brilliant red gown.

Following the concert a dinner party was given in honor of the artists in the home of Mrs. C. P. Buckler with Mrs. H. C. Weidner, Mrs. George Friauf and Mrs. Buckler as hostesses. Members of the concert executive board attended.

Bartlett and Robertson liked the way in which Pampanians received their concert.

"I like the way Pampanians treated you seem to have had such a good time at the concert and at the dinner party. So many of the critics in the metropolitan cities treat concerters like such stuffy, cut-and-dried affairs. And they have a lingo all their own. By comparison, reading some of them reminds me of a remark I once heard a conductor make to a seaside orchestra in England. They were going to play Schubert's Serenade, and the conductor, in a cockney accent, said: 'Come on, lads, put a bit o' dirt in it.'"

Apparently in the next concert presentation will be Alexander Kipnis, famous basso of the Metropolitan Opera Co., in recital in Pampa on November 6 at the Junior High school.

someone in Washington perhaps is bringing pressure to bear in order to attempt to compel better known field in the world, East Texas.

"I hope the commission will take the position it will continue to run the oil business in Texas." He added that while purchasers preferred to buy sweet crudes they can and have been using sour crudes from West Texas fields.

The one request for increased allowances from the southwest Texas district was in the Keeran field where Gulf oil corporation suggested an increase from 58 to 85 barrels in top per well allowable.

Crude coast operators generally testified there was no excess storage of crude in that district and some declared they were quite short on stocks.

In West Texas districts decreases were asked as follows: Permian 10,000 barrels, Slaughter 7,000; Wasson 6,500, Seminole 1,000, Yates 2,929. Two companies asked for a 100-barrel increase for key-stone-Ellenburger.

In North Texas an engineering committee representing the KMA field suggested two less producing days in November.

bers of his cabinet. The seat of your government is now, therefore, firmly re-established on Philippine soil.

"The hour of your redemption is here. Your patriots have demonstrated an unswerving and resolute devotion to the principles of freedom that challenges the best that is written on the pages of human history. I now call upon your supreme effort that the enemy may know from the temper of an aroused and outraged people within that he has a force there to contend with no less violent than is the force committed from without.

"Rally to me. Let the indomitable spirit of Batuan and Corregidor lead on. As the lines of battle roll forward to bring you within the zone of operations, rise and strike at every favorable opportunity. For your homes, and hearths, strike! For future generations of your sons and daughters, strike! In the name of your sacred dead, strike! Let no heart be faint. Let every arm be steeled. The guidance of divine God points the way. Follow in His name to the Holy Grail of righteous victory!"

The Philippines form the eastern shield of Japan's vital new empire. This string of more than 7,000 islands sprawls for 1,150 miles on the edge of the empire's last vein of shipping.

Severance of that vein, possible from the archipelago, will weaken the imperial war machine further for the decisive battles which may be fought on the Asiatic continent.

The American occupation of the Philippines also provides an Allied springboard for a double jump onward—northward to the China coast, southwestward into the Netherlands East Indies.

War industries in Japan and Manchuria are sustained by oil, rubber, tin, bauxite and other essentials from the East Indies and Malaya. These resources do not exist in war sufficient quantities elsewhere in the empire.

They can be shipped in quantity only across sea lanes stretching more than 2,500 miles east through the China Sea and past east China to the homeland.

Air and sea power based in the Philippines can sweep this sea route. From Davao, Mindanao—the archipelago's main southern island—the air distance to the French Indo-China is approximately 1,000 miles, across the southern China Sea, Northern Luzon is about 600 miles from the China coast.

Constant patrol will minimize the flow of war materials to Japan. The sea expenses are wide, and some ships probably will penetrate the blockade. But their cargoes will be small.

The imperial war machine then will be forced back on stockpiles accumulated feverishly during the past three years. These probably are sizeable. But without replenishment, they will prove a time limit on Japan's ability to wage large-scale war.

In Japanese hands the Philippines and Formosa—the northern geographical tail—barred the way to China. Fleet and aerial units based there present the greatest menace to American communication lines to be by-passed. Final occupation or neutralization of the main islands in this chain will permit the Allies to prepare their drive to the continent.

That will split the Japanese empire in half, isolating the newly-acquired southwestern domains. In effect, sizable Nipponese garrisons in and about the Indies will be by-passed on a grand scale, while the Allies punch ahead for a showdown fight with the continental army.

The U. S. Third army was mired in heavy rain on the central sector. On the southern end of the 400-mile front, American and French troops threw back counterattacks in the Vosges foothills.

'Get Acquainted' Dance To Be Held

The Pampa army air field Welfare association, made up of civilian employees at the local air base to promote social welfare, is sponsoring a dance for all civilian employees at 8:30 Saturday night in the post recreation hall, with the 18-piece Pampa army air field orchestra under direction of Warrant Officer Ken Carpenter providing the music.

Persons attending the dance were told by Max Pressnell, president, to enter the post through the main or south (chapel) gate. Admission to the dance, which Pressnell indicated is a "get-acquainted" affair, is free for members and 50 cents for non-member employees of the local air base.

The association was organized on January 25, to include all civilian employees at the air base and to promote social welfare, group recreational and spare-time activities, such as athletics and social events including picnics, dances and other forms of entertainment.

evacuated to Manteo and Elizabeth City, N. C., in army and civilian motor cars. Old and infirm residents were flown out in coast guard patrol planes.

Two persons were dead and damage unofficially estimated at $400,000 inflicted on the citrus crop in Florida as the hurricane swept across the state from the populous Sarasota-Tampa-St. Petersburg area on the west coast to Jacksonville on the east.

It turned out to sea at Jacksonville and began its swirling course up the Atlantic seaboard, striking Savannah and Brunswick, Ga., before moving into the Carolinas.

Related reports from Havana, where the hurricane first struck, said 24 persons were killed in western Cuba and that the coastal port of Surgidero de Batabanoo was destroyed.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't you in the newspaper business, are you?"

"No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sends them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several countries where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise', 'Bootleggers must post Ceiling Price', 'Federal Agents seize 'Trick' Liquor Trucks'. Doesn't that go to prove, Joe, that prohibition does not prohibit?"

"I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this country. The only thing I could see we got out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor... plus the worst crime and corruption this country has ever known."
