Deadline Near On Rendering Of Property

Pampa property owners have only five days to render their property for municipal taxation or have it rendered for them by the city tax assessor-collector.

Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones, according to state law, is responsible for getting taxpayers property on the tax rolls. Should property owners neglect to file their own renditions by Mar. 31, the tax assessor-collector renders it for them.

If the property winds up on the unrendered rolls and the owner not located, he will not be sent notification if the board of equalization increases his valuation.

Failure to render property also has its psychological effect when the board of equalization meets to assess property values, City Attorney Bob Gordon said this morning.

"The board is likely to feel that the property owner isn't interested in his valuation and may not be inclined to lower a valuation if it seems too high to a protesting property owner," Gordon said.

Jones reported a higher percentage of property owners rendering their valuations this year than last year.

"I don't have the exact percentage figures, but I do know from the activity here that more property owners this year have rendered their property than did last year," Jones said.

In the meantime the city tax office was getting into the preliminary work of re-aligning property valuations on residences in line with the recommendations of the city-school tax advisory board which were accepted Tuesday by the two taxing agencies.

Jones said a large portion of the alignment will be completed for use during the 1952 taxable year and should be 100 percent complete by 1953. The additional help authorized the city and school tax offices to work out the new schedules have yet to be hired by Jones and Roy McMillen, school business manager.

This should be done within the next few days, Jones said.

Mrs. Gene Fatheree Temporary Head Of Newcomers Group

Pampa Hospitality committee, the new group set up yesterday to plan welcomes for newcomers to Pampa, will be led temporarily by Mrs. Gene Fatheree.

Mrs. Iris Ragsdale, office manager of the chamber of commerce, will be temporary secretary.

The committee hopes to hold some type of affair in April. It will operate under and be sponsored by the goodwill and reception committee of the chamber.

Attending yesterday's planning session were Chairman B. C. Chamber president; Frank Fata, chairman of the goodwill and reception committee; Mrs. Clotilde Thompson, Mrs. Roy McKernan, Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mrs. Rex Rose, Floyd Inel, Mrs. Alice Vineyard, Mrs. Joe Key, Mrs. Clinton Henry, Mrs. Clyde Fatheree, Mrs. Lynn Boyd and E. O. Wedgeworth.

License Tag Sales Show An Increase As April 1 Nears

Last year's auto and truck license plates have a very short life expectancy as of today.

By state law, they must be removed from vehicles by midnight April 1, or a 20 percent penalty will be added to the registration fee.

Deadline for purchasing 1952 license tags is Mar. 31, but the state, by practice, has allowed the one-day grace period.

Chief Deputy County Tax Assessor-Collector Jack Back said many people have been "holding off" purchasing new tags because they haven't had their cars inspected. He added that under the recent state decision setting the inspection deadline back to Sept. 7, license tags may be purchased without showing a car inspection sticker.

As the deadline is drawing closer, license tag business in the county tax office showed a marked increase. By mid-morning today the counter was filled with tag buyers as clerks busily typed up the 1952 registrations.

New residents this year, will have to pay an additional $15 use tax when purchasing their Texas tags, the result of a law passed last year by the legislature.

All-Out War Of Ideas Against Reds Sought

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The State Dept. had military support today in urging that this country wage an all-out war of ideas against the Communists and a "sinister" hate-Americans campaign.

"We can not do the job halfway," Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, told a House appropriations subcommittee. "We must go all out in the battle of ideas. Only thus can we hope to convince potential aggressors that another war can not pay."

The committee released testimony supporting a 170-million-dollar State Dept. request for its overseas "campaign for truth" for the next fiscal year, starting July 1. That amount is more than double the 85 million dollars Congress approved last year.

State Dept. witnesses ran into sharp questioning from committee members critical of the size of the request.

Rep. Cleveland (R-Ohio) accused the administration of carrying on the "scare campaign" based on the threat of Soviet aggression.

Collins told the group this country must "enter into the struggle for men's minds with every resource at our command."

"We must make maximum use of every means of communication we possess," he said. "We must regain the psychological advantage. We must employ a positive approach instead of a negative defense."

Mose Harvey, chief of the State Dept.'s research division for Russia and East Europe, testified that America faces a new "sinister" twist in Soviet propaganda.

Where the Russians once "limited themselves to arousing antagonism against systems or ruling circles," he said, they have since Jan. 21, 1950, taught the individual Russian to hate the individual American.

This is being bolstered, Harvey said, with atrocity charges dating back to World War I and "is global in extent."

"The charges are skillfully detailed with dates, corroborative information, etc., and every means of presentation is used to get across the charges and drive them home," he added.

Harvey said the campaign is being carried on with "avowed deliberateness" in satellite countries and in China.

The current objective is to "isolate the United States, to force it out of Europe and Asia," Harvey testified. He estimated the Soviet propaganda outlay at more than $1,400,000,000 a year, which he said did not include costs of Communist party operations abroad.

Law Officials Stymied In Search For Clues In Robbery

DANVERS, Mass. —(AP)— Stymied in their quest for clues to the $681,000 robbery of a Danvers armored truck here, police and FBI agents today pushed a search for an eyewitness to the huge theft.

Danvers Police Chief Raymond Kirwin said law officers "can't find a soul" who saw the money taken yesterday from the truck as it stood unguarded outside a drugstore. Its crew was having coffee.

Three bandits, in a quick and obviously well-planned job, parked a stolen 1950 sedan alongside the truck, entered it without apparent difficulty and made off in a burst of speed down Danvers' main street.

"The FBI has combed both sides of the street," said Chief Kirwin, checking people who were in stores, but no one was found who saw it.

The possibility was not ruled out that some eyewitness hesitated to come forth with information in fear of reprisals—like the killing in Brooklyn of Arnold Schuster after he "fingered" Willie Sutton, his own trial for bank robbery.

The truck driver and his two guards were questioned until 10 to the night being permitted to go home.

United States Trucking Co. officials set the loot figure at $681,000, upping by $81,000 the original estimate.

Left behind in the truck by the time-pressed bandits was a $67,000, much of it in coins. While the probe here went on,

$2 Million Libel Suit Filed By Sen. McCarthy

Accuses Benton Of Slander, Conspiracy

WASHINGTON —(P)— Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) today filed a two million dollar suit against Sen. Benton (D-Conn.), accusing him of "libel, slander and conspiracy" to seek the ouster of McCarthy from the Senate.

The suit is based on Benton's assertions last September that McCarthy committed perjury, fraud and calculated deceit of the American people in pressing his charges that Communists have infiltrated the government.

Benton made the charges before a Senate elections subcommittee which has been looking into Benton's contention that McCarthy is unfit to serve in Congress.

Benton last week offered to waive the congressional immunity from suit. A section of the Constitution provides that members of Congress are immune from suit for remarks they make in Congress.

McCarthy said he was accepting Benton's offer to waive immunity.

There was no immediate comment from Benton. He is in Los Angeles, where a Senate Small Business Taxation subcommittee expects to open hearings tomorrow.

McCarthy said he plans to serve as his own attorney. He is a lawyer and was a judge in Wisconsin when elected to the Senate.

Asked whether there was any precedent for his suit, McCarthy replied: "I know of none."

Steel Scrap Simmers Down

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A bitter scrap among high administration officials over wage policy simmered down today as steel firms and the CIO steelworkers returned to negotiations.

A strike of more than 600,000 workers in the vital steel industry is threatened for April 8, only two weeks away. Officials urged both sides to work for a speedy settlement to avert a walkout.

Negotiations get underway this afternoon in Pittsburgh between the Union and U. S. Steel Corp. and Jones & Laughlin Steel, two of the largest producers. Talks with other major firms start tomorrow.

Turnout Expected To Be Good For Cooking School April 1 - 2

Hundreds of Pampa housewives are expected to attend the second annual all-electric cooking school sponsored by The Pampa Daily News April 1 and 2.

Mrs. Ruth Knight, home economist, will demonstrate a variety of recipes and will relate household hints in the junior high auditorium.

Twenty-one merchants are supporting the cooking school with donations of foods and prizes. These will include an electric range, an electric refrigerator, an electric freezer, an electric radio and other electric appliances.

Food, too, will be contributed by three Pampa stores: Elmers Super Market, Ideal Food stores and Furr Food store.

Mrs. Knight plans to give information on fancy dishes, everyday dishes and lunch book fill-ins.

"With the high cost of living, my hints will mean money in the pocket for you," she said. Admissions to the sessions is free, officials said.

The school "classes" next Tuesday and Wednesday start at 1:30 p. m. and last about two hours.

"The instruction and special tips you will receive during this two day all-electric cooking school will get you away to a flying start along the road to cooking success," the home economist said. If you are already along that road, it will help your travels considerably.

Mrs. Knight said, "It's a chance to turn those gaily kitchen chores into an enjoyable hobby."

Mercantile co-operating in the cooking school and their gifts include: Rinehart-Dosier, a General Electric range.

Monarch Hardware, a Westinghouse refrigerator.
Hogue Mills, an International Harvester Home freezer.
Bentley's, a ladies suit.
Electric Supply, a Hamilton Beach Electric Mixer.
Zale's, a Presto Dixie Fryer; Murree's, a Nelly Don dress; Smith's Quality Shoes, shoes, bag, and hosiery;
White's Auto store, an Arvin radio;
Cretney drug, Helena Rubinstein cosmetics;
Elmer's market, Ideal food, and Furr food, two grocery baskets apiece.
Sunshine Dairy products, Snow Corp Frozen foods and Town Talk bread are among the products to be used during the demonstration.

Celebration Is Scheduled Here Aug. 5-9

Decision to hold the Pampa 50th Anniversary celebration Aug. 5-9 in connection with the Top of Texas rodeo was voted at a meeting of the anniversary citizens committee last night in the chamber of commerce office.

Paul Crouch, Rodeo Assn. president, reported Association directors meeting last Wednesday night, promised support and cooperation.

C. P. Buckler, temporarily presiding in the absence of chairman M. K. Brown, appointed E. O. Wedgeworth, Gene Green and Gene Fatheree to select an executive working committee.

The 11 men chosen were Sherman White, George Scott, E. L. Henderson, James Evans, Dr. Walter Purviance, Mrs. Laura Fatherees, Ivey Duncan, Paul Crouch, Charlie Thut, Myrtle Jackson and W. B. Weathered.

The executive working committee will make recommendation reports to the general citizens committee at the next meeting which is to be held in the near future.

It was voted not to invite a representative from the John B. Rogers Production Co., Fostoria, Ohio, to Pampa for negotiation for professional promotion of the celebration.

Partial services by the company are tentative, however, and will be decided at the next meeting.

E. O. Wedgeworth announced that the Amarillo Air Force base 36-piece marching band will be available for the entire five days. Food and lodging is the only request made by the band which is donating its services.

Twenty-five members of the citizens committee attended the meeting.

Vega Pastor Speaks For Senior Party In Methodist Church

Rev. Charles Lutrick, Methodist pastor of Vega, Texas, will speak Thursday at the annual seniors dinner sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service at 7 p. m. in the First Methodist church.

All seniors are invited to this annual affair, of which Mrs. H. H. Butler is general chairman.

Other chairmen are Mrs. Paul Bower entertainment; Mrs. Carlton Nance, invitations; Mrs. V. Collum, decorators, and Mrs. W. R. Campbell, menu.

Miss Jamie Branwyn and Bill Hutchinson will sing, accompanied by Mrs. Sue Johnson.

Birthrate On Increase: Expansion Of School System Is Planned

Purchase of 8 1/2 acres of land in southwest Pampa is for a building-site for a new elementary school to meet the needs of a growing population. Supt. Knox Kinard said today.

"We now have the number of students we anticipated in 1955," Kinard said.

He cited figures to show that this increase is expected to be hiked rather than diminished. Enrollment in first grade in the fall term of 1951 was 478, compared with the 715 live births in Pampa last year.

"The 1951 birthrate is tremendous," the school official said. "It is bigger than the 1947 crop."

Children born in 1947 are expected to give the school system a record enrollment next year. While there has been no authorization to build a new elementary school, Kinard said school officials are "trying to get ready for future needs."

The school system recently completed a $1,400,000 expansion program which added rooms to all the elementary schools and built the Carver school, and new fieldhouse.

The new school land is two blocks west of Clarendon highway.

Its advantages, according to Kinard, are: (1) closeness to a growing part of the city; (2) good drainage; (3) good size and (4) distance from the highway.

The property was purchased for $7437.50 from Mrs. T. C. Neal, 124 S. Hobart.

School enrollment as of March 1 was over 4800. School attendance — always less than the enrollment number — Feb. 1 was 4548. Grades 1 through 4 had 268 attending school that day. Grades 7, 8 and 9 had 1126. Grades 10, 11 and 12 numbered 769. There were 114 students in all grades at Carver.

A-Bomb Is Dropped In Air-Army 'War'

FORT HOOD —(AP)— A mushrooming cloud of smoke, billowing lazily upward in a blue sky signaled the use of atomic weapons in a mock war that is coldly realistic.

An hour and a half after the brigade of 82nd airborne "aggressor" troops parachuted from giant transport planes yesterday, the atomic cloud burst over the drop zone.

The army communique — No. 2 of Operation Long Horn, biggest air-ground maneuver in U. S. military history — stated briefly without detail: "The U. S. ground forces delivered an atomic attack against the aggressor ground force." There were no U. S. planes in the air — aggressor aircraft controlled the sky.

Prior to the maneuver's start, Lt. Gen. William Hoge, Fourth army commander and maneuver director, had announced atomic "weapons" would be used in simulated fashion during the March 25-April 11 war game.

At the same time, the Army announced United States planes had simulated atom bombing Victoria, Beeville, Cotulla, Alice and Hondo, South Texas towns held by the aggressor forces in the strictly paper part of the operation that involves 115,000 men.

One paratrooper was killed in this war which was last night officially announced as a brigade in size — 2,310 men. Thirty-four were injured, including Col. Stanley Larson, youthful commander of the 325 airborne infantry regiment. He suffered a broken hip. Seven jumpers received fractured legs and one a fractured back.

Cpl. Andrew S. Mann, brother of Mrs. Alartie Elizabeth Russell of Route 3, Lakewood, N. J., was killed when his main chute failed to open. He was still frantically trying to open his reserve chute when he hit the ground after a thousand-foot drop. His brother Bernard, is in the same regiment. He made the jump okay.

America's Disregard Of Distance Amazes Visting English Couple

His work has been in petroleum research and cracking plant processes.

Last week end, Cities Service Co. representative here, Loy at Green and his wife took Mr. and Mrs. Green to Carlsbad Caverns. "That was really quite an adventure for us," Green said. But then he added how amazed he and his wife were at the way

"One of the strangest things we notice about your country is the way people suddenly dash two or three hundred miles distance and think absolutely nothing about it. Why, in our country it would take days to travel that distance and do all that you folks do."

An English petroleum chemist, Alan Green, here in Pampa doing research work with the Cities Service Oil Co., made the above observation in conversation yesterday.

Green and his wife are here in Pampa for a few days, while Green continues his work with Cities Service.

He is in this country on a scholarship sponsored by the ECA. He came from England last September and attended the University of Michigan one semester, and he is now spending an equal amount of time studying field methods. He is to be assigned to another firm after he finishes his Cities Service tour in a couple of weeks.

Green, 28 years old, is from Ashford, England, a little village in Middlesex county near London. He attended school at Cambridge university, graduating in 1944.

After graduation he went to work for Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. in London and through his company he obtained the scholarship to come to the United States.

Instead of majoring in petroleum engineering like one would in this country, in England, Alan studied what is known as the natural science tripos, which includes physics, chemistry, and geology.

THE STORY: Dr. Gus Logan, aged and failing, is shocked by insinuations of Maxwell Cota, hospital head, that Jennet Logan has been unfaithful to her husband. The insinuations were part of Cota's campaign to oust Peter who was interested in slum clearance. Cota is a large property holder in the slums. As a result, Dr. Logan has a heart attack and dies.

PETER was alone in Dr. Pelletier's office. The Department of Radiation Therapy was deserted. The last path it had been seen at noon, and the staff had sped off shortly afterwards to their weekend shopping and engagements. Dr. Pelletier had gone to the Logan funeral, cautioning Peter to lock up when he had finished stocking the cabinet with the isotopes he had prepared for the next week's treatments.

Hanks Testifies He Feared Oil Worker

STINNETT—(AP)—Testimony was to continue today in the trial of Clyde Davis Hanks, 32, charged with the fatal shooting last Sept. 24, of Eddie Brock, Berger drilling crew operator. The state yesterday presented seven witnesses who outlined events on the day of the shooting. Mrs. Pearl Brock Pierce, Brock's widow, described the slaying of the former amateur boxer from Abilene.

On the stand in his own defense, Hanks told the court, "If I hadn't shot him, he would've made me eat that gun." He said he had been mistreated by Brock numerous times at Abilene, Phoenix and Berger.

Rules Taft's Name Remains On Ballot

TRENTON, N. J.—(AP)—State Superior Court today ruled that Sen. Taft's name will remain in the New Jersey April 15 presidential preference primary.

JENNET lay straight and still in the enormous bed. He saw the faintness of her hair and the grotesque redness of her lips in the ashen blue face. He swept her up in his arms, cover and sheet, and nudged the nurse into forward motion with Jennet's hip. "Open the front door!" he yelled.

OH, doctor, I... The nurse was going to make more apologies. He cut her short with, "I'm not a doctor! Out of the way!"

"Come on, then," he shouted over his shoulder. But he never saw the woman again. The driver pulled away the instant the car doors closed.

Casino Can Be Challenging

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for N.E.A. Service

Most people think that Casino is a game for children, but it's actually a fine game of skill and one of the most difficult games to play really well. A good player doesn't win every game, but the long run he will give a fair deal to the unthinking player.

For example, suppose you are a dealer and that you have dealt the last cards of the deck to your opponent and yourself. You have already taken in cards, so that you need only see more cards to have a majority.

If you always knew how many cards you have taken in, you will just make sure of getting three cards. If you are uncertain you may take some chances and wind up without "cards" or with a tie.

A good player likewise keeps track of the spades and of all the cash points. For example, until Big Casino has been played you must avoid playing a card that will make a combination of 10 with anything on the table.

If your opponent builds a ten with a card from his hand, you may be unable to stop him; but at least you don't have to give it to him on a silver platter.

After you have played a few times, you will find it possible to keep track of all the high cards — the tens, nines and eights. These are the cards that are most useful in winning big builds.

Towards the end of any deal you have a big advantage if you know, for example, that there are no nines out but that there are still three eights to be played. That sort of information steers you towards safe plays and away from dangerous plays.

Very few card players can

Women Take Honor In Driving Survey

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — Note to male drivers: Stop complaining about women drivers!

The Oklahoma Department of Public Safety ended the endless battle of the sexes over which has the better driving habits.

In 1951, the girls took all the honors. And the department imposed mostly of men-backed its statement up with facts and figures.

Slightly less than 16 percent of all drivers involved in state accidents last year were women. And of the drivers involved in fatal accidents, only 8 1/2 percent were women.

keep track of all the cards. It's much easier (and almost as useful) to keep track of the unpaired cards.

For example, suppose your opponent takes a 5 with another 5. Those cards pair each other, so you pay no attention to them. But if he takes in a 2 and a 2 with a 5, all of those cards are unpaired.

As the game progresses, you keep in your mind a constantly changing list of the cards that are unpaired. This isn't very hard, especially with a little practice. When the last turn comes, you usually know every

Doctor Says Drive-In Hospital Can Supply Community Needs

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — (AP) — General Practice, represented 238 individual patients.

And he said that such an arrangement could allow a single rural physician anywhere — with a few capable assistants and proper, though sometimes improvised, equipment — to meet all but a few of the needs of a community of several thousand people.

He said such arrangements could take the place of actual hospitals built for rural communities with partial federal aid under the Hill-Burton Hospital Construction act.

"We maintain," he said, "that low income rural counties are

A kind of drive-in "hospital equivalent" — where you're in and out the same day, even for child-birth — can meet virtually all the hospitalization needs of a rural community, a country doctor says.

Dr. D. G. Miller Jr., of Morgantown, Ky., says he converted two small country stores into such a set-up and was able to meet the requirements of all but about three percent of his patients.

One of only two physicians in a "low-income" Kentucky county of approximately 12,000 population, Dr. Miller said he, two nurses, a laboratory technician and a receptionist handled 10,872 "office" calls for everything except major surgery.

In addition, he himself made 566 visits to homes, riding in a jeep for round-trip distances of as much as 60 miles.

The office and home visits, he told the American Academy of building too many Hill - Burton hospitals. These communities can ill afford the maintenance of such high-cost hospitals.

A doctor's office "hospital equivalent," he said, can be equipped for about $25,000 — provided the doctor uses such things as an eye-ear-nose-and-throat examining chair, and various Army surplus supplies.

There are no board and room charges at Dr. Miller's "hospital equivalent." If a patient stays long enough for meals, their relatives go out and buy them.

School Children Hear Recordings

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Kenneth Laycock, head of the history department at Shamrock high school is one teacher who believes in using visual and sound aids in the classroom.

Last week Laycock played a series of historical recordings, "You Can Hear It Now," directed by the famous CBS commentator, Edward R. Murrow. Voices of Roosevelt, Mussolini, Hitler and many others were brought to history students, too young to remember the incidents and speeches recorded.

Fewer Workers In Wage Disputes For February Says TEC

The Texas Employment Commission today revealed fewer workers were involved in labor-management disputes at the end of February than at the beginning of the month.

As February ended, 27 disputes remained unsettled involving 1794 workers, 758 less than the 2347 affected at the beginning of the month. A total of 1135 workers were still off jobs as the month ended.

During February 4288 workers returned to jobs after differences were ironed out in 12 of the 39 disputes existing during the month.

Dr. Logan's Wife

By Diana Gaines

THE STORY: Dr. Gas Logan, aged and failing, is shocked by insinuations of Maxwell Cota, hospital head, that Jennet Logan has been unfaithful to her husband. The insinuations were part of Cota's campaign to oust Peter who was interested in slum clearance. Cota is a large property holder in the slums. As a result, Dr. Logan has a heart attack and dies.

Peter was alone in Dr. Pelletier's office. The Department of Radiation Therapy was deserted. The last patient had been seen at noon, and the staff had sped off shortly afterwards to their weekend shopping and engagements. Dr. Pelletier had gone to the Logan funeral, cautioning Peter to lock up when he had finished stocking the cabinet with the isotopes he had prepared for the next week's treatments.

Peter had said no goodbyes, having agreed with his chief that the less fanfare connected with his departure, the better. So far, to his knowledge at least, his case had not been broken open to general hospital gossip, and no one in his department had seemed to know that this was his last day of work. It was too much to expect that the cause for his leaving would remain undisclosed for long, but Dr. Pelletier had apparently been successful in persuading the members of the Medical Executive Committee of the injustice of publicity on the affair, and he had bullied Cota into promising that no story on it would be released to the newspapers which were naturally on the lookout for any incidents relating to the loyalty oath controversy.

Suddenly, in the defunct quiet, the telephone began to scream. Back and forth, back and forth, in staccato demand until Peter decided that in decency to the gesture of the tossed keys he was not to go.

"I have an emergency call for Dr. Pelletier," the hospital operator said.

"I'm sorry, he's not here. The office is closed. You better leave a message with Dr. Pelletier's exchange."

"Is this Dr. Dunning?"

"No, this is Surinow. Dr. Dunning's gone too, a'd I'm just about to lock up. What's the emergency?"

"A patient of his just committed suicide—or tried to. I can't get it straight—the nurse who called in is in a tizzy. Dr. Logan's wife."

"What?" And then before the operator could talk again, he hung up. "I'll get her—I'll bring her in right away. Get me an ambulance at the emergency entrance. Call emergency surgery and tell them to get up. Call the Mountaintide Chapel at once. Dr. Pelletier's there. Tell him to get here at once—tell him it's Jennet Logan."

"Mountaintide Chapel," the operator repeated as Peter slammed the phone and began to run.

IN the hall, he ran full tilt into old Dick, the janitor, whom he caught and set aside like a bowling-pin, and ran on, not hearing the shouted curses of old Dick any more than he heard the unremitting siren of the ambulance as it careened around the bends of Sunset.

"Somebody you know, Doc?" questioned the driver who was not used to seeing white-coated figures show this degree of alarm.

"It's Jennet Logan, Dr. Logan's wife. She's dying, you chump. Step on the gas!"

"Say, you want me to wrap this bus right around your nose?"

"It'll be all right when we get there," Peter muttered, and he took a deep breath and relaxed enough to swing with the swerving car, and to hear the siren. The imperative sound was a relief to him.

"Look," said the driver. "I'll do the driving. Just keep your pants on, will you? It's only a few more blocks. Take it easy."

Despite his agitation, Peter noticed that the house had both dignity and beauty on a street that drowned in a peace that only money can buy. He might have known she would be living in a place like this, but he hadn't thought of it, and it seemed to set her out of his reach. That death might already have done so, that this was calamity and not crisis, did not cross his mind, and he took a subconsciously sadistic pleasure in running heavily across the close-shaven lawn.

He banged on the door and it flew open as if from the pressure of his fist. The nurse must have been watching for them. He took the stairs two at a time, and the nurse ran up after him, crying out bits of information. "Let her just a few minutes to make an eggnog. Said she was sleepy. Answered the phone near her bed and noticed that her face was blue—hardly breathing—took her pulse—fast and thready—shook her—then I realized. Don't know where she got it."

JENNET lay straight and still in the enormous bed. He saw the fan of her hair and the grotesque redness of her lips in the ashen blue face. He swept her up in his arms, cover and sheet, and nudged the nurse into forward motion with Jennet's hip.

"Open the front door," he yelled.

"Oh, doctor, I..." The nurse was going to make more apologies. He cut her short with, "I'm not a doctor! Out of the way!"

"Not a—well, then, I better come along."

"Come on, then," he shouted over his shoulder.

But he never saw the woman again. The driver pulled away the instant the car doors closed.

Hanks Testifies He Feared Oil Worker

STINNETT — (AP) — Testimony was to continue today in the trial of Clyde Davis Hanks, 52, charged with the fatal shooting last Sept. 24, of Eddie Brock, Borger drilling crew operator. The state yesterday presented seven witnesses who outlined events on the day of the shooting. Mrs. Pearl Brock Pierce, Brock's widow, described the slaying of the former amateur boxer from Abilene.

"On the stand in his own defense, Hanks told the court, 'If I hadn't shot him, he would've made me eat that gun.' He said he had been mistreated by Brock numerous times at Abilene, Phoenix and Borger.

Rules Taft's Name Remains On Ballot

TRENTON, N. J. — (AP) — State Superior Court today ruled that Sen. Taft's name will remain in the New Jersey April 15 presidential preference primary.

Judge Ralph J. Smally dismissed a state suit seeking removal of Taft's name after Attorney General Theodore D. Parsons told the court there was "an overriding public interest" not to remove.

Taft announced last week that he was withdrawing from the New Jersey primary election campaign and later wrote a letter to the Secretary of State formally requesting that his name be taken off the preferential ballot.

Eugene O'Neill's drama, "Where the Cross is Made," was presented last night by members of the speech department of the Pampa Senior High school.

Herman Van Sickle portrayed a one-armed youth whose mad father has taken him into the land of insanity.

O'Neill's theme concerns what is "reality" and what is "dreamed."

Others in the cast were Jerry Bray, Norma Qualls and DeWey Cudney. Members of the production crew were John Lee Welton, Joe Key, Jackie Weathered, Sally Cobb and Gail Finkelstein.

Miss Billie Hutchings directed the 20-minute, one-act play.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures were steady Tuesday on trade from New Orleans buying. Switching from the old crop to new crop months was fairly active, influenced partly by the continued drought in West Texas which poses a serious threat for the next cotton crop in that territory.

A leading spot firm sold about 5,000 bales of old crop May which was attributed to liquidation of spot cotton. Here was talk in trade circles of possible substantial deliveries of low-grade cotton against May contracts which influenced some switching from that month. Dealers reported that activity in the Worth street cotton textile market cooled down today following a flurry of buying in cloth lots last week.

Tunnel Blast Toll In Italy Reaches 39

CASERTA, Italy — (AP) — The toll from yesterday's tunnel blast near here rose to 39 dead and injured as the work of covering and identifying bodies continued today.

Only 20 of the mangled bodies thus far have been identified. A store of dynamite exploded midway in the three-mile hydro-electric tunnel. Most of the injured were reported not in a serious condition.

Father Says He Wants Good Home For Child

HOUSTON — (AP) — A Houston butcher who said he wanted a good home for his daughter was jailed at Pasadena, Texas, yesterday and charged with trying to sell the lot into adoption.

Steve Ribnikar, 27, was arrested by two probation officers who posed as wanting to adopt a 25-year-old Sharon Ribnikar. They said the father was willing to take $500 and a new automobile for the child.

"I wanted to get out of Houston and wanted my girl to have a home," Ribnikar told a reporter. "I owe board and room and wanted to pay her doctor bills."

Ribnikar and the child's mother, Mrs. Agnes Ribnikar, were divorced in 1951 in Pittsburgh, Pa., the father said. He added that he and his second wife were separated.

Navy Chief Cleared In Bus Accident

OAKLAND, Calif. — (AP) — A Superior court jury says a Navy chief was not responsible for the Bay Bridge bus plunge that killed eight persons and injured 21 seriously.

Orville C. Russell, Jr., 25, formerly of Independence, Kan., was prosecuted because his automobile had hit a bridge abutment and knocked a large concrete block into the traffic lane.

A few minutes later, a Greyhound bus crashed into the block and plunged over a bridge railing and 42 feet to the ground. The crash occurred in October. Acquittal was voted yesterday.

Fire Extinguisher Costly For Driver

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — (AP) — Squirting a fellow motorist with a fire extinguisher to resolve a traffic dispute was a costly affair for Barney Garrett, a 25-year-old truck driver.

In city court yesterday, Druggist Lamar Howe testified Garrett challenged him to a fight after a near traffic collision. Howe said he turned down the challenge, whereupon the truck driver let go with the fire extinguisher, drenching him and three other occupants of his car, including two women.

Judge John E. Scott convicted Garrett of disorderly conduct and sentenced him to six months at hard labor.

Casino Can Be Challenging

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

Most people think that Casino is a game for children, but it's actually a fine game of skill and one of the most difficult games to play really well. A good player doesn't win every game, but in the long run he will give a very bad heading to the unthinking player.

For example, suppose you are the dealer and that you have just dealt the last cards of the pack to your opponent and yourself. You have already taken in 24 cards, so that you need only three more cards to have a majority.

If you always know how many cards you have taken in, you will just make sure of getting three cards. If you are uncertain you may take some chances and wind up without "cards" or with a tie.

A good player likewise keeps track of the spades and of all the cash points. For example, until Big Casino has been played, you must avoid playing a card that will make a combination of 10 with anything on the table.

If your opponent builds a ten with a card from his hand, you may be unable to stop him; but at least you don't have to give it to him on a silver platter.

After you have played a few times, you will find it possible to keep track of all the high cards — the tens, nines and eights. Those are the cards that are most useful in winning big builds.

Towards the end of any deal you have a big advantage if you know, for example, that there are no nines out but that there are still three eights to be played. That sort of information steers you towards safe plays and away from dangerous plays.

Very few card players can keep track of all the cards. It's much easier (and almost as useful) to keep track of the unpaired cards.

For example, suppose your opponent takes a 5 with another 5. Those cards pair each other, so you pay no attention to them. But if he takes in a 3 and a 2 with a 5, all of those cards are unpaired.

As the game progresses, you keep in your mind a constantly changing list of the cards that are unpaired. This isn't very hard, especially with a little practice. When the last turn comes, you usually know every

Women Take Honor In Driving Survey

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — Note to male drivers: Stop complaining about women drivers!

The Oklahoma Department of Public Safety ended the endless battle of the sexes over which has the better driving habits.

In 1951, the girls took all the honors. And the department — composed mostly of men — backed its statement up with facts and figures.

Slightly less than 16 percent of all drivers involved in state accidents last year were women. And of the drivers involved in fatal accidents, only 8 1/2 percent were women.

Doctor Says Drive-In Hospital Can Supply Community Needs

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — (AP) — A kind of drive-in "hospital equivalent" — where you're in and out the same day, even for child-birth — can meet virtually all the hospitalization needs of a rural community, a country doctor says.

Dr. D. G. Miller Jr., of Morgantown, Ky., says he converted two small country stores into such a set-up and was able to meet the requirements of all but about three percent of his patients.

One of only two physicians in a "low-income" Kentucky county of approximately 12,000 population, Dr. Miller said he, two nurses, a laboratory technician and a receptionist handled 10,672 "office" calls for everything except major surgery.

In addition, he himself made 566 visits to homes, riding in a jeep for round-trip distances of as much as 50 miles.

The office and home visits, he told the American Academy of General Practice, represented 2389 individual patients.

And he said that such an arrangement could allow a single rural physician anywhere with a few capable assistants and proper, though sometimes improvised, equipment — to meet all but a few of the needs of a community of several thousand people.

He said such arrangements could take the place of actual hospitals built for rural communities with partial federal aid under the Hill-Burton Hospital Construction act.

"We maintain," he said, "that low income rural counties are building too many Hill - Burton hospitals. These communities can't afford the maintenance of such high-cost hospitals. . . .

A doctor's office "hospital equivalent," he said, can be equipped for about $25,000 — provided the doctor uses such things as a $25 onetime dental chair as an eye-nose-and-throat examining chair, and various Army surplus supplies.

There are no board and room charges at Dr. Miller's "hospital equivalent." If a patient stays long enough for meals, their relatives go out and buy them.

Fewer Workers In Wage Disputes For February Says TEC

The Texas Employment Commission today revealed fewer workers were involved in labor-management disputes at the end of February than at the beginning of the month.

As February ended, 27 disputes remained unsettled involving 1794 workers, 753 less than the 2547 affected at the beginning of the month. A total of 1135 workers were still off jobs as the month ended.

During February 4288 workers returned to jobs after differences were ironed out in 12 of the 39 disputes existing during the month.

Jim Rivera Said To Be Close To Ty Cobb As Baserunner

By BEANS REARDON
21 Years in National League
NEW YORK—(NEA)—Q. What happened to Zack Taylor?
A. Last year's manager of the St. Louis Browns has signed to skipper Scranton of the Eastern League this season.
Q. How much did Detroit pay for Ty Cobb when he came up from Augusta, Ga., in 1904?
A. Frank Navin, Detroit owner for many years, perhaps made the greatest baseball buy in history when he paid out a paltry $700 for the Georgia Peach.
Q. What would be the ruling if a player hit a home run, but fell dead running to first base?
A. The padded cells are crammed with stove leaguers who've gone nuts trying to solve that. The rule says a batter who hits a fair ball over the fence or into the stands is entitled to a homer — "when he shall have touched all bases legally." Let's in the proper order. Most umpires, however, would award the deceased a home run.

U.S. President William Henry Harrison died only one month after his inauguration.

Groning around, we suggested that it didn't make sense that a man could consistently light out and run the bases against his best and has never understood how it was possible for a fellow who will have his Hornsby's permission to run almost as he pleases and who will prove to a lot of skeptics brought up in the era of the rabbit ball that the old timers aren't just dreaming.
If you've followed the sports pages at all this spring you know the player — Jim Rivera, a 30-year-old outfielder coming up to the St. Louis Browns from Seattle, where he helped Hornsby win a coast league flag last year with a .352 batting average and 33 stolen bases and just about every other honor that wasn't nailed down.
Jim has had what they call a checked-out career. He was brought up in a rough sector of upper Manhattan and has had his difficulties, when he has managed at a late date to summit. Hornsby isn't interested in that. Al Lopez knows it that here like a man digging up a diamond in his back eighty, he has come upon something out of the past. At least, Lopez says he has.
"He's the only player in the game today I'd pay my way into the park to see," he says seriously. "He's a little tight now. He's been reading them a couple about himself. Sit wait until he settles down. He'll show you something like you never saw before."

Hubbell Calling For Rookies
PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — A new York Giant farm Director Carl Hubbell is in camp today and that means bad news for the rookies.
Hubbell is expected to take some of the youngsters with him when he returns to Melbourne, Fla., the Giants' minor league camp.
Rookies slated for further seasoning include Catcher Ray Katt, Pitchers Vince D'Amico, George Eamberger and Jake Schmitt, and Infielders Ron Samford and Merv Blaylock.
Leonardo da Vinci, the painter, was also a sculptor, architect, engineer, philosopher and physicist.

SEATTLE — (AP) — It will be Lovellette & Co. of Kansas against the great hitters of St. John's for the national collegiate basketball crown tonight.
Kansas got to the throne room doorway the easy way in the semifinals of the NCAA playoffs last night, as big Clyde Lovellette led the way to a 74-55 victory over Santa Clara.
St. John's of Brooklyn got there by the margin of a game-ending gasp, with a 61-59 win over favored Illinois.
In the title classic tonight it will be the clever passing game of St. John's against the power that comes from having a lower of strength like 6-foot-9-inch Lovellette in the slot.
The big Kansas center scored 33 points against Santa Clara and he stood out as a playmaker and backboard bulwark as well as a scorer. His 33 ran his threegame NCAA 1952 playoffs total to 108 to set a new record. The old mark, in four games, was 83. It was set by Don Sunderlage of Illinois last year.
Kansas won a 52-51 victory over St. John's when they met last year in Madison Square Garden.
But these St. John's hoop magicians have thrown the book out the window. The experts didn't even think they would get to the national playoffs. They did it hard way, in the regional tourney, by beating Kentucky, No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll. Illinois, the Redmen's victim last night, was the No. 2 rated team in the same poll.
Their semifinal victories qualified both St. Johns and Kansas for the U. S. Olympic games trials.
While Lovellette stood out as the semi-finals, St. John's flashed the star of its own who may give the Kansas center a run for his money tonight. He was center Bob Zawoluk, a mere 6-foot 6-inch. He tallied 24 points, including nine field goals.
In the opening St. John's-Illinois contest the boy from Brooklyn held a 61-55 margin with a minute to play. But the fighting Illini made one last bid. Sub Guard Herb Gerecke cut loose with two field goals in the final minute, but it wasn't enough.
St. John's led 32-27 at halftime but the Illini deadlocked it 43-43 at the end of the period. Zawoluk's 10 points in the final quarter carried St. John's over the hump. Jim Bredar and Rod Fletcher led the Illini scoring with 14 points each.
In the second game, Kansas took a quick lead, Santa Clara tied it at 7-7, then Kansas pulled steadily ahead. It was just too much for Lovellette for the scrappy broncos.
His 12 field goals raised his total for the 1952 playoffs to a new record of 41. The old record, also in three games, was 14 by Alex Groza of Kentucky in 1949.
Kansas ran up a 38-25 halftime lead.

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — The voice of experience in the form of Oscar Vitt is prepared to warn the New York Yankees that they are going to miss Joe DiMaggio more than they have any idea, and to say that the world champions will be in trouble without the Jolter, who retired during the past winter.
Old Oss, himself, is taking it easy these days. The onetime Detroit star quit the game shortly after the "cry baby" episode at Cleveland in 1940, when his players revolted at what they considered cruel and inhuman treatment and forced his resignation. He never talks about that, feeling no doubt, that such a shabby item is best forgotten, but he maintains a keen interest in the sport which was his life for so long.
"I don't care who the Yanks put out there in centerfield — Mantle, Jensen, Woodling, C. C. or whoever," he says, "but I'm only talking about his fielding, too."
"Believe me, I know. H. murdered me in the three years I was at Cleveland. I can remember at least a half-dozen games we lost to those guys that we could have won if they had caught three Joe made at a crucial point. I never saw one to equal him in that respect, no matter what my old teammate Ty Cobb says about the moderns."
"I'll never forget one important game we lost to the Yanks 2 to 2. The first time Hal Trosky came up with two out and men on base he hit one a country mile out by the flagpole at the Stadium. I didn't think Joe had a chance at it, but he went back on those long legs of his and hauled it down. Stayed in the coaches' box until he came in, and I won't tell you what I said to him."
"Next time Hal came up I waved to Joe to go way back, muttering to myself, and he took me up on it. He trotted out several more steps, and I could see him grinning at me. This time Trosky banged as pretty a Texas Leaguer as you ever saw out over second, and as it cleared the infield I cupped my hands and yelled "Get that one, you so and so."
"Well, I'll be damned if he didn't. He came in and made one of the prettiest shooting catches you ever saw. I didn't have anything more to say that day."
"And don't think that just because he showed up some in the last few years that he wasn't still making them. His sense of anticipation became more wonderful with the years."
Vitt, who batted just in front of Cobb for seven years in the semifinal of the modern game in only one principal respect. The present day batter, Oss says, does not know the art of bunting and faking bunts to unsettle the opposing infield and pull it out of position. He names Richie Ashburn of the Phils as the one exception.
Cobb was a fierce man to precede in the lineup, Oss says, for when he came to bat he had his own set of complicated signals to advise the base runner what he intended to do. If he hitched his belt and lifted his left heel it meant one thing. If he just lifted the heel it meant another.
"He changed 'em every few days and it was enough to run you crazy," Oss says. "He was always accusing you of getting them wrong and there were a lot of hot words. It's no wonder the other teams never caught on to Ty's signals."

Midwestern Files Suit Against TIL

WICHITA FALLS — (AP) — Midwestern University has filed an injunction and damage suit against the Texas Interscholastic League over a TIL order prohibiting the annual Oil Bowl charity football game.
The suit, filed yesterday in 5th District Court, alleges that the university has a contract with the Wichita Falls Independent school District to play and exhibit six games a year in Coyote stadium, the high school football field, and the district is being restrained by the league from fulfilling the contract.
The league voted last year to restrict the number of all-star games to the one held annually by the Texas High School Coaches Association.
The university asks a permanent injunction restraining the league from suspending the district if the contract is carried out for the remaining six years.
In the alternative, Midwestern asks damages of $17,000 annually for the six years of the contract. The figure is reported to be based on the gate receipts for the Oil Bowl game in 1951. The suit asks that both the school district and the league be made liable for the damages claimed.

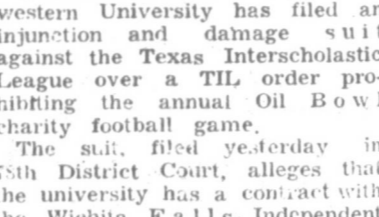

SWC Nines Gain Three Of Four Wins

By The Associated Press
Three of four Southwest Conference baseball teams won victories yesterday as Rice Institute dropped a 4-3 decision to Sam Houston State's Bearkats at Huntsville.
Southern Methodist's Ponies and the University of Texas Longhorns pounded out lopsided diamond wins as Baylor's Bears edged Minnesota in a baseball thriller.
Cotton Davidson's slick relief pitching brought the Baylor's a 5-1 victory over the Gophers despite five Bear errors.
Davidson relieved starter Milt Jensen in the sixth after a big fifth inning in which the Bears scored four times and the Gophers crossed the plate twice. Minnesota had led, 4-1, as the first Baylor batter came to the plate in the fifth.
Solid hits by Mickey Sullivan and Larry Isbell, three walks and two Gopher errors were enough. Davidson blanked the Gophers the rest of the way as Eaylor nipped two Gopher rallies with fast twin killings.
The Longhorns won their third in a row with a 12-hit, 10-4 decision over the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys. Texas took a two-run lead in the fourth and was never headed, turning on steam as the game grew older.
Righthander Dick Robertson started for Texas and didn't allow a Cowboy on base until one was out in the fifth. The performance gave him seven and one-third innings of perfect pitching.
Southern Methodist used 13 hits and played errorless ball to whip Carswell Air Force Base of Fort Worth, 14-5.
The Ponies' sturdy righthander, Holly Morton, blanked the Almer for four innings before Coach Alex Hooks p led him. Carswell made three runs in the fifth, but SMU pulled away in their half of the inning to make it 6-3, then wrapped it up in the seventh stanza with an eight-run springer.
Rice bowed to Sam Houston as Jess Hernandez, a sterling righthander, let the Owls down with five scattered hits, struck out ten and singled in two runs to provide the tying and winning runs.
Sam Houston bunched six of its seven hits in the fourth to score all its runs as two Rice errors helped the Bearkat cause.
Bobby Sheridan, who took over the Rice mound chores in the fifth, hurled a less ball the rest of the way, but the harm had been done.

Archie Wilson Tops Yankees

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (AP) — Outfielder Archie Wilson, the International League's most valuable player in 1951, is leading the New York Yankees in hitting.
Wilson, up from Buffalo, is socking at a .438 gait. He has collected seven hits in 16 trips. Outfielders Jackie Jensen and Mickey Mantle are next with marks of .378 and .375.
Andrew Jackson, as a boy, received a sabre cut because he refused to black an officer's boots.
"Machine-Gun" Kelly is credited with first using the "G-men."

Gal Grapplers Appear On Mat Card Tomorrow Night

Three years ago Jo Ann Mullenx hardly knew the meaning of "wrestler." It was about that time that some of her school chums talked her into going to a wrestling match one evening.
It so happened there were girls on the card that particular night and Jo Ann was fascinated by their expression by them. On her way home she told her friends, "I'm going to be a girl wrestler!" "They all laughed," says Jo Ann, "but it's my turn to laugh now."
The 150 pound, 5 foot, 6 1/2 inch robust young beauty will be part of the main event tomorrow night when Promoter Howard Vineyard brings girl grapplers to Pampa for the first time.
Her opponent will be beautiful blonde, Loraine Johnson of Red Wing, Minn., Loraine, who stands 5-7 and weighs 140 pounds, was a great high school athlete who was brought up a tomboy by her athletic father. A natural athlete, her timing and coordination are very good. At times, her temper gets the best of her.
This pair will team off in the main event tomorrow night, going two out of three falls in a 60 minute time limit affair.
On the supporting card in the semifinal will be popular Billy Hickson of Knoxville, Tenn., who will meet Benny Trudell, the Canadian badman. It is another two-of-three falls go, with a 45-minute limit.
In the opening match, John Povich of Hungary, a good-looking Tommy Martindale in a 20-minute, one fall affair.
Tickets will be on sale at the Southern Club, site of the matches, from 5 p. m. until bell time at 8:15. The matches will be aired by radio station KPND, starting at 8:05.

KINER IS TOUGH

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Ralph Kiner is not only the most consistent home run hitter who ever wore a Pittsburgh Pirate uniform but he also is one of the most indestructible. During his six years with the Pirates, Kiner has appeared in 905 contests — an average of 151 a season.
Only one other major league star can show a better mark than turned in by Kiner during the same period. He is Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals who participated in 915 games from 1946 through last season, an average of 182 1/2 a year.
French is the chief language of Haiti.

Fish Tagging Satisfies Curiosity

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

A Chicago attorney by the name of Sherman Barnett deserves the thanks of every fisherman in the nation. Of all the fishing gadgets turned out in the last 20 years, his is by far the most practical — a pair of stapling pliers for tagging fish.

For $12.50 you can become a member of the Fish Taggers Association, equipped with pliers and supplied with tags bearing your name, address, and a request that information regarding this particular fish be forwarded to you.

The tag is attached to the fish by a metal staple. All you have to do is pop one of your markers in the place and slip the gadget under the bony plate of the gill cover. When you snap the handles together the fish is secured with your tag on his neck.

Curiosity is a virtue that all fishermen have in abundance, and there's no reason to believe that you won't be learning about the recapture of your fish a month or even five years later. Members of the association can make important contributions to our knowledge of fish movements, growth, and survival. Even more important, this goes for most panfishes of the future.

It is fairly well known that in some waters certain species are not taken in sufficient quantities to insure good sport — the fish being both numerous and stunted. This goes for most panfish and also for black bass under some conditions.

More such fish die from old age than get into frying pans, thus, overpopulation and stunting are common problems. But with trout, bass, muskies, and the like, locked salmon in most public waters, it's another matter. To keep on having fun, we've got to find a substitute for killing as many fish as we once did. Barnett's solution is perfect.

Fish tagging is not a new idea. Fish have been marked since before the time of Isaac Wallon — and as early as 1832 efforts were made to gain fundamental facts by marking fish with fine silver wire. More than 15 years ago he was engaged in official tagging operations.

Not long ago a salmon tagged in Newfoundland turned up in Ireland. Such an international incident is important knowledge to the men of science.

Although modern tags are external metal or celluloid discs, a good many fishery studies have been successfully carried out by using internal tags. The Bureau of Fisheries studied the herring fishery of Alaska by using a labeled strip of metal, which was pushed into the body cavity of the fish. Herring are too delicate for outside tagging.

These tags were placed in thousands of fish, and were later recovered in the plants manufacturing fish meal and oil by an electromagnet. The magnet snapped up every tag passing along the assembly line.

Irishmen Turn To Track Workouts

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock Irish coaches, chagrined that cold weather prevented their tracksters from entering the Panhandle invitational track meet last Saturday, have plunged back into the thin-clad sport for further encounters.

Jimmy Don Lamb, fastest man in the Irish backfield last fall, is trying out for the 100-yard dash this spring. Lamb will make a dash men look to their laurels. He may also have aid from fleet Van Pennington, all-state end in 1951.

Don Carlton, ace Irish halfback last fall, is out for broadjump and pole vault, seeking to take up the slack left by the graduation of Vernon Tarbet, pole vaulting star, and Don Lea, dash man and broad jumper.

George Hendrick, center on the 1952 Irish basketball team, is running the 440 and also will use his height to compete in the high jump. A field in which the Irish have been needing a good man.

Big Dwayne Hager, 210-pound all-Southern tackle last fall, is back again at his favorite track chore, hurling the shot put. The big hulk is expected to give area shot putters a bad time this spring. Also hurling the shot is Billy Frank Pavlosky, a guard in football and a 175-pound 1952 boxing champ.

Three others trying out for the 440 quarter-mile are Eugene Smith, J. R. Stansell and Bill Parks. In addition, Parks also will run the half-mile.

After spring grid training starts next week, Coach Scott McCall and his assistants, H. W. Callan and Clarence Morris, will leave the track chores to B. L. Hill, junior high coach. In the meantime, all football men are running to speed up their game.

Big Field For Bluebonnet Meet

BROWNWOOD — (AP) — More than 600 schoolboy tracksters will compete here Saturday in the sixth annual Bluebonnet Relays. There also will be a golf tournament as this meet, one of the biggest in the state each year, expands its activities.

Fifty-five high schools have entered 667 athletes and there will be a few more by entry deadline.

Preliminaries will be held Saturday afternoon with finals at night.

Amarillo, the defending champion; Austin and Brady, both former champions, and Dallas and Fort Worth schools are among the entries. McAdoo Keaton, track coach of Southern Methodist University, is the referee and C. J. Alderson of the University of Texas the starter.

The golf tournament, over 36 holes at Brownwood Country club, has drawn entries from Abilene, Breckenridge, Lampasas, Brady, Brownwood, Anson, Austin, Cisco, Poly (Fort Worth), Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) and Weatherford.

SOUTLAND'S VISITORS

MIAMI — (AP) — Like tourists, horses come from all over the U. S. to Miami in the winter. Recently at Hialeah, race horses bred in five different states won on the same day. Florida and California breeds won successive races. Other winners hailed from Rhode Island, Virginia and Kentucky.

Training Camp News Briefs

ORLANDO, Fla. — (AP) — Mickey Harris makes his 1952 mound debut for the Washington Senators against the Detroit Tigers today at Lakeland.

Harris was due to open here yesterday against the Philadelphia Phillies but rain washed out the exhibition game. He pitches four innings today after Bob Porterfield hurled the first five.

BRADENTON, Fla. — (AP) — General Manager John Quinn said today "there is nothing new on Bob Elliott," the Boston Braves lone holdout.

Quinn said his last telephone conversation with Elliott, who is at his San Diego, Calif., home, was four days ago.

"Our differences are wholly financial and Elliott has no desire to leave Boston," Quinn said.

SARASOTA, Fla. — (AP) — The Boston Red Sox have no game scheduled today but Manager Lou Boudreau said he would put the team through a long workout.

Boudreau said he was pleased with the showing made to date by Jim Piersall, infielder-outfielder, and rookie Pitcher Dick Brodowski.

"Piersall has surprised us by the way he came along at shortstop but he also will be a stand-in for Dom DiMaggio in center field," Boudreau said.

LAKELAND, Fla. — (AP) — Trade talks are still simmering between the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

Top men of both clubs conferred yesterday and said they'll meet again in a week or 10 days.

The Tigers would like to get Boston's infielder Johnny Pesky and the Red Sox want a second baseman and an outfielder.

There's a chance Detroit's Johnny Groth might be swapped to Boston in return for Pesky and Outfielder Don Lenhardt.

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Shorn of a six-game winning streak, the Chicago Cubs will try to snap the New York Giants six-game victory streak in a rematch today.

The Giants edged the Cubs 7-6 yesterday.

TUCSON, Ariz. — (AP) — Paul Richards, Chicago White Sox pitcher, will send Chuck Stobbs against Cleveland's Bob Feller today with the hope that the Palehoses will snap back on the victory trail.

Yesterday's 7-5 loss to the Indians was the Sox's fifth defeat in their last six games, all with major league opposition.

TUCSON, Ariz. — (AP) — Put down an assist for track star Harrison Dillard in the making of a new Larry Doby, Cleveland's centerfielder.

Last year, Doby suffered from leg pains — knotted muscles and so forth. This year, after learning a set of leg exercises from Dillard, who works in the Indians' front office, Doby says:

"No sign of any trouble. I'm sure it's the exercises Harrison gave me."

TAMPA, Fla. — (AP) — Luke Sewell believes he has his Cincinnati Reds' infield problems all settled.

Trade of Connie Ryan to the Philadelphia Phils left the Reds a bit short at second base but Sewell expressed the opinion Grady Hatton will handle the keystone job very successfully. That will permit Bobby Adams to play third.

Ted Kuszewski, of course, figures to be the first baseman and it will be either Virgil Stallcup or Roy McMillan at short.

The Red Sox pilot said he'd have Ken Raffensberger and Ewell Blackwell do the pitching today against the Philadelphia Phils at Clearwater.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. —

WELL PADDED—Bill Chapman, 405-pound umpire, gets some help from Howard Green, president of two Texas ball clubs, trying to squeeze into a regular chest protector. By the time the Big State League opens, Chapman will have a tailor-made protector. (NEA)

GRAPEFRUIT LEAGUE

By The Associated Press

WEDNESDAY'S SCHEDULE
Chicago (A) Vs Cleveland (A) at Tucson
Washington (A) Vs Detroit (A) at Lakeland
New York (A) Vs St. Louis (A) at St. Petersburg
Philadelphia (A) Vs Baltimore (IL) at San Bernardino
St. Louis (A) Vs Pittsburgh (N) at Chicago (N)
New York (N) Vs New York (N) at Phoenix
Cincinnati (N) Vs Philadelphia (N) at Clearwater
Brooklyn (N) Vs Boston (N) at Bradenton

TUESDAY'S RESULTS
Brooklyn (A) 7, Chicago (A) 5
St. Louis (A) 6, Pittsburgh (A) 2
New York (N) 5, Chicago (N) 6
Pittsburgh (N) 7, Seattle (PCL) 6
Other games cancelled, rain.

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The Pittsburgh Pirates will start the long eastward trip today after meeting the St. Louis Browns in an exhibition.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — (AP) — Pitcher Russ Meyer of the Philadelphia Phillies says you can erase that adjective "fiery" from in front of his name. He's all through with being Peck's bad boy of the National League.

"Let somebody else do the arguing, the fighting, pay the fine, sit out the suspensions. I'll just sit back and keep my big mouth shut."

Reason behind the change in temperament, he says with a grin, "I'm getting too old for that stuff."

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — Billy Hitchcock says he's finally learned his lesson about batting.

Not a Philadelphia Athletics "re-discovery," Hitchcock has been belting Grapefruit League pitching for a lusty 476 average.

The lesson? "I've finally learned it's easier to get a base hit by just meeting the ball instead of trying to belt each pitch out of the park," is Hitchcock's answer.

BURBANK, Calif. — (AP) — The St. Louis Browns close their spring training camp today.

Following this afternoon's exhibition game against the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Browns start a two-week road trip back to St. Louis. Earl Harrist and Ned Garver were the Browns' pitching selections for today.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — (AP) — Outfielder Harry (Peanuts) Lowery is the St. Louis Cardinals' top hitter after 17 games this spring. He has a .487 average.

Stan (The Man) Musial, National League batting champion the last two years, is well down the list with .271 but he has driven in nine runs to lead the team in that division.

BRADENTON, Fla. — (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers are hunting for an all-around utility player and there's a strong possibility that 38-year-old Bert as may land the job.

Haas, who starred in the Cuban winter league this fall, is the property of the Dodgers' St. Paul team of the American Association.

Shamrock Gridders Start Work Monday

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Coach Scott McCall will call out his Irish gridders for spring practice next week.

Shamrock's head coach and his assistants — H. W. Callan, line coach, and Clarence Morris, end coach, have been running their men hard for a month, putting them through the paces with the track team of Coach B. L. Hill. Now they think they have the answer to their greatest grid-need — more speed.

Speedy Jimmy Don Lamb, 100-yard dash man for the tracksters, appears as a strong contender for a backfield slot this fall. Jimmy Pennington and Don Carlton, top halfbacks in 1951, will be faster in 1952. Opponents won't like that because each of them scored 74 points last fall.

Bill Parks, 440 and 880-yard dash man, appears a strong prospect for one of the wing posts, with Norrell Perkins likely to hold down the other end slot. At tackle, tough Paul Cooper, a brilliant understudy to Dwayne Hager, all-Southern tackle, will cavort, with James Henderson, a big 170 pounder, at the other tackle spot, while guards likely will be Ronald Settle, 1951 halfback, and Bobby Johnson, boxer. Kay Nunn or Lee Roy Passons will hold down the big spot left vacant by graduation of all-region center Bill York.

Replacing Charley Francis, quarterback who graduates, will be Jack York, a fine passer and runner. He will have competition from Dwayne Beay.

Pennington and Carlton are clinches to come back to the backfield. Johnnie Hartwick, a part-time half last fall, is a likely back, but so are John Moree and Jimmy Don Lamb.

Shamrock may have more speed, but will be hard pressed to replace probably the greatest line in Irish history, with all-region Bill York, Mack Terry, all-state Van Pennington, all-district Bill Harris and Eugene Collinsworth, all-Southern Dwayne Hager, and Bobby Campbell, defensive end, all gone.

In the face of this loss, Coach McCall and his cohorts have lined up one of the toughest schedules in recent years, a schedule that pits the Irish against Dalhart, Borger, Duman, Phillips, Perryton, Memphis, Paducah, Wellington, Quanah and Childress.

Dowell's Girls Lose At Wichita

WICHITA, Kas. — (AP) — The defending champs still are going strong but last year's runnerup has stumbled in the National AAU Women's Basketball Tournament.

Hanes Hosiery of Winston-Salem, N.C., had little trouble in handling Dowell's Dolls of Amarillo, Tex., 55 to 39 last night in a second round game. The North Carolina team won the tourney last year.

Wayland College of Plainview, Tex., the 1951 runnerup, went down 45-44 before Iowa Wesleyan College. A field goal by Connie Lou Cornick in the final seconds gave the Iowa team the win. Earlier the American Institute of Commerce, Davenport, Ia., breezed past the Okaloosa, Ia., Van Zea 44 to 27.

Nashville, Tenn., Business fought from behind to edge the Denver, Colo., Viners 27-26 in another second round contest.

Varietas Study Club Has Annual Guest Day Tea

Mrs. M. E. Cooper reviewed "Tara's Healing" at the annual Varietas Study club's guest day tea Tuesday in the City Club room.

Mrs. R. W. Lane presided at the guest register, and Mrs. H. Price Dosier, Mrs. C. L. McKinney, Mrs. J. C. Vollmert and Mrs.

Daughters of Nile Have All-Day Meeting

The Pyramid club, Daughters of the Nile, met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Frank Morris for an all-day sewing session. The group worked on tea towels which they will sell for the orthopedic fund.

During a business session, members planned to attend the annual election of officers Thursday of the Avink Temple, Daughters of the Nile, in Amarillo.

The next meeting of the group will be a dinner honoring Mrs. A. E. Hickman and Mrs. Frank Morris who are moving from the city.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. Emmett Forrester, Paul Crouch, John Pitts, M. P. Downs, Mrs. Hickman and Mrs. Morris.

Two Borger guests, Mrs. L. V. Lively and Mrs. G. E. James, were also present.

Tips For Tasks

(Housewives are invited to send in household tips which may be a saving in either time, money or energy.)

If a sheet splits in the middle, rip all way down the center and sew selvages together. Hem the outside edges and you have an almost-new sheet.

Luther Pierson were in the receiving line.

Mrs. Dosier is this year's president, and Mrs. Vollmert was recently elected 1952-53 president.

The tea table was covered with a yellow cloth and centered with a yellow and orchid floral arrangement.

Miss Ann Jordan provided music during the tea hour.

Special guests included Mmes. Charles Woolley, James Hopkins, Bob Allford, Cloud Drew, Joe Shelton, F. E. Imel, Loyal Davies, Alan A. Green, W. C. Hutchinson, E. H. Eaton, J. W. Graham, Jr., R. L. Edmondson, Hugh Ellis, Jim White, William A. Wagoner, J. H. Lutz, Malcolm Denison, H. B. Howse, P. H. Summers, T. C. Lively, H. L. Kinnison and R. W. Sidewell.

Members present were Mmes. H. H. Butler, J. C. Cargile, J. G. Doggett, Dosier, S. C. Evans, H. T. Hampton, Lee Harrah, Dow King, J. E. Kirchner, Lane, McKinney, Vollmert, Sherman White, Otis Nace and W. L. Reynolds.

Hostesses were Mmes. McKinney, Lane, Thomas, Harrah, Evans and Pierson.

Miss Jordan's program consisted of a medley of popular tunes, including "Getting Sentimental Over You," "Once in a While," and "Desert Song." Johnny Campbell played "The Little Burrow," and Miss Gull played "The Little Elves."

During the business meeting, Mrs. Myles Morgan was elected delegate to the district convention in Borger.

The next meeting, April 8, will be the club's guest day, and Mrs. Margaret Kirk, freelance writer and lecturer, will be guest speaker.

Members attending the meeting were Mmes. Jeff Bearden, G. L. Craddock, J. R. Donaldson, M. P. Downs, Philip A. Gates, James Edminster, H. H. Hahn, H. Hart, E. L. Henderson, Rufe Jordan, Marsh, Morgan, Doyle Osborne, E. E. Shelhamer, N. Duddy Steele, Mike Wilson, L. J. Zachry and the hostess.

American Music Is Topic Of Twentieth Century Culture

Mrs. Cameron Marsh discussed "American Folk Music" as an introduction to the Twentieth Century Culture program Tuesday on great American music. Mrs. V. L. Hobbs was hostess.

Following Mrs. Marsh's discussion, Miss Ann Jordan, Johnny Campbell and June Gull played selections in American music.

Mrs. Perry Gout was elected president of the Beta Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma at the recent meeting of the group in the high school cafeteria.

Other officers include Mrs. Quentin Williams, first vice-president; Mrs. Raymond Salmon, second vice-president; Miss Olive Carter, recording secretary; Miss Sibyl Turner, corresponding secretary and Mrs. W.M. Karr, parliamentarian.

Mexican Culture, the program theme, was carried out in the entertainment. Malcolm Brown, Jr., gave the piano selection, "Malegona" by Ernesto Lecouand, and as an encore, "Butterfly" by Lovely Martha Skelley, accompanied by Nancy Coley, did the Mexican Hat Dance.

"The Culture of Mexico" was the topic for a panel discussion. Mrs. Kittle Allison discussed the economic and political history of Mexico. Mrs. Allison expressed the belief that even though Mexico's past has been tragic, she is just beginning to develop her resources and to take her place among the other countries of the Americas.

Mrs. Williams discussed "Mexican literature." As early as 1855 a literary contest was held in Mexico City in which 300 poets competed. The seventeenth century was one of literature and culture. Mexico City is still most culture-conscious, she said.

"Music of Mexico" was the topic Mrs. Sullivan's discussion. The first school of music on American soil was established in Mexico. The first book of Mexican music was printed over 400 years ago. Mrs. Sullivan played a recording of "Estrellita," the first Mexican song to become famous.

New Officers Elected At Delta Kappa Gamma

Mrs. Perry Gout was elected president of the Beta Delta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma at the recent meeting of the group in the high school cafeteria.

Other officers include Mrs. Quentin Williams, first vice-president; Mrs. Raymond Salmon, second vice-president; Miss Olive Carter, recording secretary; Miss Sibyl Turner, corresponding secretary and Mrs. W.M. Karr, parliamentarian.

Mexican Culture, the program theme, was carried out in the entertainment. Malcolm Brown, Jr., gave the piano selection, "Malegona" by Ernesto Lecouand, and as an encore, "Butterfly" by Lovely Martha Skelley, accompanied by Nancy Coley, did the Mexican Hat Dance.

"The Culture of Mexico" was the topic for a panel discussion. Mrs. Kittle Allison discussed the economic and political history of Mexico. Mrs. Allison expressed the belief that even though Mexico's past has been tragic, she is just beginning to develop her resources and to take her place among the other countries of the Americas.

Mrs. Williams discussed "Mexican literature." As early as 1855 a literary contest was held in Mexico City in which 300 poets competed. The seventeenth century was one of literature and culture. Mexico City is still most culture-conscious, she said.

"Music of Mexico" was the topic Mrs. Sullivan's discussion. The first school of music on American soil was established in Mexico. The first book of Mexican music was printed over 400 years ago. Mrs. Sullivan played a recording of "Estrellita," the first Mexican song to become famous.

Mrs. Massa Hostess To Local Club

Mrs. James Massa was hostess to the Twentieth Century club Tuesday afternoon when members met for a program steered "Education for Citizenship."

Mrs. Joe Gordon, program leader, introduced Miss Belle Hutchings, drama teacher at Pampa High school.

Miss Hutchings introduced four high school students, Miss Virginia Jones, Miss Doris Huffhines, Miss Mildred Waters, and Dale Fannon, who formed a youth panel, discussing education for citizenship.

Miss Jones led the discussion and introduced Dale Fannon, who said: "In building citizens of tomorrow, first one must seek and obtain an honest job. Working citizens are assets to good government. Though most people complain about taxes, it is important that a portion of a citizen's honest wage goes to supporting his government. He stressed importance of voting. In order to vote wisely, he said, one must know the responsibilities of a citizen, which are: the newspapers, foreign and domestic; learn the needs of your community; help in civic club work; and know what is good about persons seeking public office. These are a few of the important activities which promote good citizenship, he concluded.

Miss Huffhines emphasized the importance of education in helping to form one's own ideas. She mentioned the registrar, principal, counselor and others who help students select vocational interest. Tests are given to show student, ability and social adaptability of student, and if student desires, he may graduate from high school well grounded in occupational knowledge, and trained in activities of leadership in his community, she said.

Miss Waters spoke on the importance of the study of Civics. It teaches organized government, and the business law of the city, state and nation. Student council is an example of student government. It trains for leadership, and H-Y, Tri-Hi-Y teach citizenship.

Mrs. Gordon said, "We depend on schools for our leaders of tomorrow, and with such programs as these so well presented by our students, we know we can depend on our youth to preserve our American heritage."

Attending were Mmes. E. L. Campbell, W. R. Campbell, Jack Foster, J. W. Garman, Lloyd Hicks, Roy McKernan, Fred Nease, H. R. Thompson, George Vineyard, Ray H. G. F. Branson, and Mrs. Massa.

El Progreso Has Meeting In Home Of Mrs. G. C. Walstad

"Individuals Who Have Made Our Freedom Safe" was the program at the El Progreso club meeting Tuesday in the home of Mrs. George Walstad.

Program participants included Mrs. Carlton Nance, who spoke on James Madison; Mrs. Dave Pope, who discussed the life of Alexander Hamilton; and Mrs. Hardy Pitts, who discussed Thomas Jefferson's life.

During the business session the yearbook and social committees for next year were announced. Mrs. Eam B. Cook will lead the yearbook committee, assisted by Mrs. H. H. Tyler. Mrs. Nance and Mrs. Hardy Pitts, Mrs. P. C. Ledrick will be social

Child Study Club Announces New 1952-53 Officers

MIAMI — (Special) — Mrs. Willis Clark was hostess to the Child Study club recently at which time new officers were announced.

With the president, Mrs. J. Clyde Loper, presiding, the meeting was turned to Mrs. R. E. Haynes, who gave a discussion of the work of Women's Federation of clubs. Mrs. Bill Tolbert gave the special feature, a humorous contest.

The nominating committee's report was given by Mrs. Theo Jenkins, and the following officers were elected for next year: Mrs. D. Paris, president; Mrs. James Flowers, vice president; Mrs. D. J. Faggard, secretary; Mrs. Randal Gill, treasurer; Mrs. Elden Saul, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John F. Pennington, critic; Mrs. Ray Manning, parliamentarian and Mrs. Jimmy McCormick, reporter.

"During a social hour the hostess served refreshments to Mmes. Ralph Byrum, J. Clyde Loper, R. E. Haynes, James McCormick, Theo Jenkins, Bill Tolbert, Grady Adcock, Ray Manning, John Flannery, members; and two guests, Mrs. Frank Russell and Mrs. W. F. Locke.

Mrs. Schackleton Is Hostess To Civic Culture Club

Mrs. E. A. Schackleton of Miami was hostess to Civic Culture club members Tuesday. Mrs. Schackleton, program leader, discussed mental illness and its care.

"Mental illness has been one of the most frightening things the human being can contemplate. Today, however, we know it is not a one-way ticket to darkness and doom. Many mental illnesses are curable and even more important, mental illness cuts down 150,000 Americans annually, and alone accounts for more than 600,000 or two percent of all hospital patients."

Refreshments were served to the following guests: Mrs. R. J. Thompson, Mrs. Harry Haradin, Mrs. W. L. Lard, and the following members: Mrs. Leo Paris, Irvin Cole, A. C. Houchin, J. E. Townsend, L. D. Hills, M. M. Moyer, John Brandon and the hostess.

First Baptist Circle Has Breakfast Meet

The home of Mrs. Dewey Johnson was the scene of a breakfast recently for the First Baptist Little Hundley circle. Mrs. H. C. Wilkie was hostess.

Following the breakfast, Mrs. H. H. Stull led a prayer, and Mrs. Shirley Nichols taught the mission book.

Attending were Mmes. W. E. Henry, W. R. Bell, O. J. Moore, A. A. McElrath, H. L. Musgraves, E. R. Henry, Jess Reeves, E. W. Slaton, T. G. Turner, Mable Winter and Mmes. Stull, Johnson, Wilkie and Nichols.

Two new members, Mrs. Russell Pugh and Mrs. Homer Hayden, and three visitors, Mrs. E. L. Edmondson, Mrs. H. M. Stokes and Miss Jean Musgraves, were also present.

Mrs. Frank Craig Feted At Shower

MIAMI — (Special) — Mrs. Frank Craig was honored with a pink and blue shower recently in the home of Mrs. J. W. Thompson. Mrs. Matt Day, Mrs. Nancy White and Mrs. W. F. Locke were assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Locke read a poem, "A Child at Last," and presented the array of gifts, arranged in a bassinet, which was centered with a large pink and blue stork. Tall blue candle accented the color theme, and tiny pink baby dolls were the plate favors.

The honoree was assisted in opening and displaying the gifts by her mother, Mrs. J. H. Gentry, Era; and her sisters, Mrs. W. W. Canik, Seymour; and Mrs. C. M. Maxwell, Greenwood.

Pink iced cakes, coffee, mints and salted nuts were served by the hostesses. Present and sending gifts were Mmes. Craig, Canik, Maxwell, Gentry, Don Myers, Bob Ford, C. W. Bowers, R. E. Thompson, John Cantrell, Anne O'Loughlin, Dan Graham, Ed Haynes, Earl Breeding, A. H. Gordon, Wayne Maddox, Johnny Pennington, C. T. Locke, S. W. Corbin, H. H. Haradin, Ray Manning, A. G. Greenwood, Jimmy McCormick, Gail Jackson, Loron Grantham, Ed Schmidt, Bill Tolbert, Harry Craig, and Misses Mary Lynn Allen, Juanita Haynes and Adelia Jana Craig.

Bell Demonstration Club Has Meeting In Roland Dauer Home

Mrs. Roland Dauer was hostess to the Bell Home Demonstration club recently for a study of home nursing.

Mrs. Walter Noel presented the program, assisted by Mrs. Connor O'Neil, Mrs. T. D. Anderson and Mrs. D. W. Swain.

During the business session the club voted to send a cash donation to the Cancer Crusade.

Members attending were Mmes. Joe Gallia, J. B. Jones, Ernest McKnight, Charles Warrminski, Emmet Osborne, Jack Morris and Mmes. Noel, Cole, O'Neal, Adderwald, Swain and the hostesses.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. George Seitz, Mrs. A. C. Greenlee, and Mrs. L. W. Tomlin.

Business Leaders Generally Confident For 1952 Outlook

(Editor's Note: How's business so far in 1952? How will it be the rest of the year? A lot of people are asking that question these days. There is a falling off in some lines and some areas. To show the state of business and industry, the Associated Press made a state-by-state survey of the country. The following article is the first of a series of three showing conditions nation-wide.)

By the Associated Press

In the midst of some sales and production slumps that cause grave worry, business leaders today are generally confident. This is the main finding of a coast-to-coast Associated Press survey in which business and industrial officials were asked: "How's business?"

Outright pessimists were few and far between. Optimism was widespread if somewhat cautious. Leaders reported some major industries so harried there is talk of recession, even while others continue to boom.

Retail sales have fallen behind scare-buying 1951 over most of the nation. Many prices have been reduced. Some manufacturing has been cut back.

The big problems are high taxes, rising labor costs, lower margins, buyers' resistance. But despite the "soft spots," business is reported generally good by comparison with most recent years.

Washington reports bear this out. Government economists estimate that gross national production — value of all goods and services produced — in the first three months of 1952 is at a rate of more than 338 billion dollars annually. This is 19 billion higher than it was a year ago.

There are other current Washington estimates: National income at an annual rate of more than 285 billion dollars against 269 billion a year ago.

Personal income more than 257 billion against 243 billion in early 1951.

Unemployment 2,100,000 persons in February, or 300,000 less than year earlier.

Among those responding to the survey, industrialists who expect to maintain high production output number those taking a dim view. Retailers concede there is consumer resistance and it has hurt. But most are confident that values over the rest of 1952 will attract enough buyers so volume will come close to that of last year.

Principal areas of industrial distress are found in textiles, shoes, appliances automobiles and hard coal.

Rapid expansion is the rule in steel, aluminum, oil and defense manufacturing.

The survey disclosed retail sales in ten or more states — mainly in the West and Deep South — are running surprisingly ahead of the early 1951 period of frantic scare buying. Many felt present prices would be fairly well maintained; that high personal incomes and a rising rate of defense spending would mean rozier outlooks for both retailers and producers.

Reclouding all predictions is this unknown: the time bomb of a series of strikes could shut down many industries and alter business prospects drastically.

The second quarter of 1952, starting April 1 is the period in which government economists said we would see the greatest pinch on materials.

But as it approaches, what is the picture?

Defense production officials are considering relaxing controls on some types of steel and aluminum in ample supply. They're giving a go-ahead to commercial and non-defense industrial construction.

April could tip the balance. A series of strikes would make supplies short again, bring tightened controls and keep many construction workers idle.

Wage-price increases in steel and other industries could set off a new inflationary spree. This might start a new scramble for goods and materials, another wave of frantic stocking of inventories.

Customers for finished products have been led (some say mistakenly) to expect no price increases in coming months. Thus they have been in no rush to buy. Because of this, retailers still clearing stocks have held back on re-orders to manufacturers. So there have been production cutbacks in some lines.

Against this background, here are results of the AP survey of business and industrial leaders:

Retail sales in 33 states have fallen behind 1951, in many cases by 10 to 15 per cent. But comparisons with 1950 are mostly favorable. And states showing increases over last year's level include Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Kansas, North Dakota, Wyoming, Arizona and West Virginia.

There is widespread consumer resistance. Seller's markets are virtually extinct. Many store heads report customers increasingly "value-conscious." Some say it takes really deep price cuts to bring dollars out of hiding.

Savings which expanded from 3.6 per cent of income, nationally, in the first quarter last year to 9 per cent in the final three months, are remaining near the higher level. Retailers eye this reservoir of buying power hopefully as a source of future business.

Prices of many food products have declined, but the overall picture is reported stable. Many declines are called seasonal.

Unemployment is a serious problem in relatively few areas.

The government has designated a score of labor surplus areas for special consideration in defense contracts. Michigan is hardest hit by the partial change-over of the automobile industry to armament output. Oversupply in the textile field has caused idleness in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, New York and North Carolina. Dwindling markets for attractive reduced employment lists in parts of Pennsylvania.

School Board Contest Hot

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Fifteen aspirants tee off in the final round of the campaign for school board member at Shamrock in the April 5 election.

Two more announced last week. They are Neal Wilson, vice-president of the First National bank here, and W. J. Gillis, a local rancher.

Flings end today with seven board members to be chosen. One of the hottest contests in years is in prospect, as all seven board members must be elected, following annexation of Bethel district last May 19.

Five incumbents are expected to have a flying start in the contest. They are Al Ryan, former president of the Irish chamber of commerce; I. C. Mundy, a local gasoline wholesaler; E. C. Hofmann, former board president, a local implement dealer; J. B. Henderson, Twitty farmer, and M. H. Clay, Jr., funeral director, appointed in January to succeed Ben Parks, board president who resigned on moving to Memphis.

Pursuing the incumbents hotly are the other aspirants: Glen LaDue, Woodrow Henry, Guy Hardin, Beauford Brown, Rufus Dodgen, Glynn Bell, Rhuel Wilson and A. C. Brown.

Wilson, manager of the local bus station, made a rough cam- only be guessed at. Some may paign last spring when he got be strong enough to come in 130 votes to come in eighth, with about 40 votes behind the lowest, Sol Blonstein and Lyle Holmes, candidates. Ben Parks led with incumbents, declined to seek an- 210. Wilson is expected to be other term Both won in 1951, strong, but strength of the oth- ers, besides the incumbents, can

Business And Industry Ask More Credit And Materials

NEW YORK — (AP) — More than changed to one-fourth down materials and easier credit — to and 24 months to pay.

Easier terms would open up a fresh field of customers—those who can't get up the cash and the higher payments under the present rules, what with the price of cars having gone up this year.

What the credit curbs (or may be the high prices) have done to the great American habit of buying cars on the cuff is shown in the latest federal reserve figures on auto installment credit. Outstanding at the end of January was $3,970,000,000 owed on cars being bought on time, down a million dollars from December, and comparing with the peak of $4,175,000,000 in September, 1951. Both the auto makers and the finance companies would like to get some of that business back.

Installment credit in general was down in January to $13,313,000,000 from $13,508,000,000 in December. When inflation was more of a threat, this high total volume of installment debt was viewed with alarm by some officials. Now buying on the cuff takes on more of the aspect of a pump primer.

And in Chicago at the National Installment Credit conference, W. Harold Brenton of Des Moines, vice president of the American Bankers association, points out:

"Mass production and installment selling have been instrumental in changing the way of life for our people. Our entire economy has been changed. Our standard of living has been raised."

MODERN LIVING IS ELECTRIC LIVING!

COMPANY COMING? NOTHING TO IT, JUST PUT THE AUTOMATIC ROASTER TO WORK!

Family feasts were quite a chore in the old days. Not too much fun for the womenfolk for they were in the kitchen for days before the feast and all day on the day of the occasion. The heat of old-fashioned cooking methods, and its slowness, made such feasts just plain hard work. But that's all changed now — thanks to modern electric cooking. Family coming for dinner? Bring out your electric roaster. Added to the oven and surface unit capacity of your electric range, the roaster makes feast preparation a snap. And it doesn't take hours of watching or heat up the kitchen either. Like your electric range, it's the coolest cooking method known — most efficient, too.

One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers

Published daily except Saturday by The Pampa News, Atchison at Bonerville, Pampa, Texas...

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Voices From The Past Sound Warning

In the year 1820, the Edinburgh Review published an article by Sydney Smith. The Freeman magazine recently exhorted a paragraph of it from the dust of antiquity and reprinted it under the apt title, "Worth Hearing Again."

This is an appeal to the Congress of the United States in the form of a Constitutional Petition for Redress of Grievances. It is maintained to support an investigation of conditions threatening the National Security.

Lord Acton, another wise voice from the past, said, "power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely." That has been true ever since the institution of government began.

The public schools are being dominated and framed by the men who wrote the Constitution. Our guide for the future must be found in our magnificent heritage.

By R. C. HOILES "A Bill Of Grievances" I am glad to know that the Sons of the American Revolution, both nationally and from the State of California, realize the socialistic propaganda that is fed to the youth of the land in our public and private schools.

The Sons of the American Revolution is an organization composed of individuals who are descendants of persons who took part in the American Revolution. It is the same kind of organization as the Daughters of the American Revolution. Only those people who are descendants of someone who took part in the American Revolution can be members.

I received the other day from the Constitutional Foundation of San Diego a copy of this Bill of Grievances. It was prepared by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, Washington, D. C. and the California Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

In the forward to their Bill of Grievances they make this statement: "Our schools are being converted into agencies for the dissemination of radical propaganda, much of which originates in communist front organizations and other pressure groups. Gullible or indoctrinated 'liberals' supporting these organizations appear to be responsible for this situation."

"We believe the people, and particularly the parents of children in our public schools, have a right to know what is going on, and what is proposed for American youth."

These two organizations have filed a petition to the Congress of the United States asking Congress to set up an impartial committee to let the public know what is being taught in the textbooks in the United States. They heard it "in regard to Proceedings for Investigation of Subversive Propaganda Affecting Public Schools in the Several States." They summarize the purpose of the petition as follows:

"This is an appeal to the Congress of the United States in the form of a Constitutional Petition for Redress of Grievances. It is maintained to support an investigation of conditions threatening the National Security. It concerns the dissemination of subversive propaganda to undermine the Constitution and nullify its effectiveness."

"Citizens' groups and local authorities attempting to eliminate subversive teaching are invariably confronted with the resistance of 'progressive' educators in the Schools of Education of our leading universities. Propaganda originating from that source is being introduced in high schools and colleges in the elementary grades. Much of this material is slanted to favor Socialism and Communism. Some of it is designed to convert this country into a Social Welfare State."

"This is part of a program to use the public schools to build a New Social Order—an activity being carried on without the knowledge, consent or approval of the children at an impressionable age and being indoctrinated with propaganda against the will of their parents."

The petitions are submitted herewith. One is an application prosecuted by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution as a direct appeal from the proceedings commenced in the legislature of that state. The other is a petition maintained by the National Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in its own interest and that of other State Societies equally affected.

The brief filed herewith contains a documented analysis of the evidence sustaining both applications. The public importance of these questions justifies the immediate adoption of a resolution taking jurisdiction of the entire matter and providing for a committee to conduct a hearing on these petitions and to thereafter make a fair and impartial investigation sufficiently broad in scope to determine the facts and communicate them to the people with appropriate recommendations.

Not that this patriotic organization says what this column has been saying "that the elimination of a particular book is generally followed by the introduction of another containing the same kind of propaganda."

There is a definite reason why this is always true in government schools. It cannot be otherwise. Tax supported schools are a part of Communism, and people who believe in any part of Communism cannot effectively teach or advocate free enterprise any more than an atheist could successfully teach Christian faith.

By WHITNEY BOLTON MIDNIGHT MEANDERS: All of Broadway, which amazes with more ease than any other area of the United States, is amazed by the extraordinary resemblance between the hunted hoodlum, Freddie Z. Tenuto, and Marlon Brando, the actor, currently available to the eye in the movie, "Viva Zapata!"

Not many hours after "Tenuto" was being hunted in connection with the murder of a Brooklyn lad who led police to Willie Sutton, the night papers came out with giant photographs of Tenuto topped with the word: "WANTED."

Half of the stay-up-lates never bother to read the caption underneath, they simply cried: "Hey look, the cops want Brando!"

I mentioned a place where the haute monde in a French phrase for people with money) goes to buy cheese and other delicacies, and added that two kinds of cheese can't be shipped. Now comes Phil Albert with an invitation to come to the unveiling of the 367th variety of cheese he carries in his Cheeses of All Nations place. I've never been to see it, but I know that I will still be there when he doesn't have Aztec Cheddar or Tibetan Yak Cheese among his 367 varieties. All I need now is to find out that he has carried them for years. That being my usual luck with prophecies.

Constance Q. Lawler, South Orange, N. J., wants to know whether my novel, "The Rosewood Jail" has to do with the story of a concert pianist who walks away from a rosewood piano after 40 years of disappointments. No, it doesn't. And I'm still safe, no one who has detected the perfectly obvious source of the title. Want to read something good? Get Celestine Shipley's column from The Atlanta Constitution, the one that won this year's Christopher Award for her. It is a success with the Thanksgiving cover that Norman Rockwell did for The Saturday Evening Post, and which also should have won a prize.

There was a small town election in Michigan the other day, a little place of 800 souls, and when the votes were counted the men decided once more to let the women run the town for another year. Apparently the women, from village president to trustees, do a good job of managing the town. The only thing that puzzled me was that no one commented on the address of the town's name, MEN-DON. The growing custom of male submission in this country has fascinated even Andrew Maurois who, in the April "Esquire," tells fellow Frenchmen of weird table manners in America. "The men must push in his partner's chair," he writes, "a useless gesture and generally rather uncomfortable for the lady, but it is a sign of submission." The other thing that puzzled Maurois was the American custom of sending greeting cards on every possible occasion: your dentist's birthday, your pastor's sacerdotal jubilee, a suggestion of friendly divorce and your boss's 50th year in business.

Friend of a mine who manages to put away a thousand or so a year, always blows the savings on only of those 18-day cruises to the West Indies. He goes on a small boat, goes ashore as often as possible and loses himself in the native quarter, being unwilling to spend money sharing a table with tourists, like himself. He tells me that the newest thing in the music line down there is a Steel Band, and that these Steel Bands are all over the place, threatening the reign of calypso singing for which no one can be much dismayed. A steel band is a collection of musicians, anywhere from 5 to 15 men, who pat their hands rhythmically on steel oil drums which have been cut down to various heights to provide the different notes. When a dozen of these boys invert their truncated drums and begin beating the musical effect is prodigious. They play anything from New Orleans jazz to sacred music and the letter, boomed out from steel drums, is tremendously effective. He describes hearing Gounod's "Ave Marie" on 14-toned drums and said that no cathedral organ in the world had ever given it such majesty and importance. When the lower notes are struck by several players in unison, the air vibrates for yards around and strange, compulsive humming fills the ears.

PROFIT - It is expected that the board, which has been holding hearings at Washington, will hand down its major decisions fairly soon. If adverse to the Reds, it could be a campaign ten-strike for the Democrats, no matter who heads the presidential slate. It might even profit a renominated Truman.

A sweeping or selective anti-Communist ruling by SACB might help to purge the administration of laxity and leniency toward Moscow and its domestic agents. It might lead the voters to forget or forgive Truman's "red" hearing comment on Congressional pursuit of Alger Hiss, and Dear Acheson's Christian-like but controversial statement after conviction of the traitor: "I will not turn my back on Alger Hiss!"

A night resident Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois to consideration as a presidential candidate, despite his trial deposition on behalf of Hiss, and their close association in Agriculture and the State department.

National Whirligig.. Bill Truman Tried To Kill Looks Valuable To Democrats

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON The Democrats may reap a rich harvest of November votes through the operations of a hit-or-miss strategy of Communist agents.

The Democrats may reap a rich harvest of November votes through the operations of a hit-or-miss strategy of Communist agents. The AG has submitted a long list of returned Reds of the Budenz type. FBI undercover agents and students of Communism strategy and tactics in an effort to show that the party here takes orders from Stalin. The Reds' lawyers, ex-Representative Vito Marcantonio and John A. Blum, an alleged Communist and Hiss cronie, have found admission to this kind of evidence.

FEAR - No matter how these hearings evolve, they have already damaged the party financially. Legal fees and transcript costs, already numbering more than 10,000 pages, are draining the Reds' tin treasury. Follow - flying "angels," fearing adverse publicity, are withholding contributions for the defense.

INEPT - Characteristically, the Reds' attacks on SACB's current hearings have been as inept as Ushinsky's tirades before the United Nations. SACB wisely employed an information officer to explain its purpose and function. The New York Daily Worker accused the agency of "press agency" and "planting news tips" detrimental to the defendants.

RESTRAINT - The Reds' restraint is surprising, in view of the conservative character of the SACB board. The original chairman was Seth Richardson, who had been accused of Administration sympathies in his conduct of the Pearl Harbor inquiry. When he resigned because of ill health, the Senate refused to confirm Truman's appointment as chairman, ex-Senator Charles F. La Follette of Indiana.

BRANDED - In view of recent rulings by the supreme court, which accepted the McCarran instead of the original Truman-McGrath philosophy, even these noncriminal "Commies" would be barred from employment by federal state or local governments, by defense plants and by our schools.

Indeed, anybody so branded would find it hard to get a job anywhere. They must also register as Reds. Finally, all their finances and propaganda would fall under permanent federal scrutiny. It would put the party out of business.

If they should go underground, falling to comply with the law as applied by SACB, they would be liable to criminal prosecution.

Now tell me everything you did while I was out of town.

The American Way

By George Peck RAD BUSINESS Where Government (Federal, state or local) is competing with private enterprise, in all too many cases Government is doing so at a loss, making up such deficit from the general tax fund. It follows that where Government is competing with private enterprise, it is engaging in an unfair competitive practice, one which is undermining the economic and social foundations of the nation, while at one and the same time increasing taxes on the public enterprises themselves and on the general public. Where Government competes with private enterprise at a loss, ALL OF THE PEOPLE are forced to pay a share of that loss, WHILE ONLY THOSE WHO PURCHASE OR UTILIZE such governmentally-produced goods and services actually obtain any benefit. This is unconstitutional—it abridges the right of the people to make their own choices as to what they shall purchase. If forces many people to pay through taxation for things that they themselves either cannot use, or would prefer to purchase elsewhere, it is a waste of money. History reveals that there are many reasons why it is impossible for a government to carry on a business as effectively and economically as it can be done by a private-operated company. The principal one of these reasons is that when Government owns and operates a business, it is forced to set up a bureaucracy. This bureaucracy, in spite of the efforts of those in government who may have executive ability, inevitably becomes involved in a network of red tape that makes for delay, waste and expense.

Perhaps the most serious consequence that usually follows governmental competition with private enterprise is the fact that Government agencies, so engaged are not required to pay taxes in the same manner and at the same time as is demanded of private enterprise organizations. This is a most disruptive influence, makes unfair competition, and very often seriously affects the income of states, municipalities and local governments.

All the evidence would seem to prove that Government in business has had business—bad business—badly all concerned—not only for the private enterprises with which it unfairly competes, but for the taxpayers and for the state or community in which it operates. A halt must be called to further encroachment of Government into the affairs which time and experience have proved rightfully belong to private enterprise. Further Governmental activity must be made to remove its paralyzing hands from numerous undertakings already usurped.

One of the first and most important duties of Congress should be to stop the expansion of Federal Government into the field now served so well by private enterprises. Its next most important duty should be to eliminate those federal agencies, bureaus, departments, commissions and other Governmental activities which compete with, infringe upon or interfere with private enterprise.

Make sure that the Congressman whose district whether they be Democrat or Republican, for whom you vote next November 4th are definitely committed to a policy of having the Government keep its hands off private enterprise.

That is the way to stop the forward march of socialism in free America. Make no mistake, government in business is socialism, in addition to being BAD BUSINESS.

The Nation's Press

MIRAGE OVER THE SEA (The Wall Street Journal) Yesterday the new British Conservative government presented its budget to parliament. It gave the already gloomy citizens an even gloomier picture of the state of their economy.

Yesterday a new would-be French premier wrestled with the problem of forming a cabinet giving France a government. The crux of its problem was the problem that has thrown a long succession of French cabinets, is the budget. Where is France to get the money to support the burdens it has assumed or which have been placed upon it? The why and wherefore of the troubles of each of these countries have local complications. But the root of the trouble in both places is economic. And the trouble in both places is so great in strength that the only way to dissolve an embargo and forewarn us against seeing another one.

The old mirage is that this country, by pouring out billions of dollars to subsidize an "inferior" pump. The outpouring since the war has reached such staggering proportions that we have lost accurate count, and it was all done, and agreed to by the people, on the theory that if we would just give Britain a loan or France some Marshall Plan aid we should "tide them over," prevent more "worse worse crises."

Yet these two countries have staggered from one crisis to another and now to the worst one. The fact is that all these U.S. billions have done nothing more than alleviate such crises as it appeared; the dollars have cured nothing. It is likely that both countries are the worse off for them because they gave a temporary sense of well-being, permitting Britain to go on enjoying its welfare state and France its fiscal apathy; but even if this is not so, it is certainly so that "all this talk of recovery through handouts was a mirage and forewarn us against seeing another one."

But the making of mirages is not over. This time we are told that with a few more billion U.S. dollars we are going to prime Europe's defense pumps; we are going to erect in Europe a great war machine and keep it sitting there. And our dollars for all this are, at the same time, to help build a sound European economy.

But how much weight can you put on a foundation whose strength is largely a mirage? The cornerstones for this proposed fortress are France and Great Britain. Looking at Britain's budget and France's difficulties in even achieving a budget, how much of his rearmament burden can be supported? And if France and Britain can-

Fair Enough.....

Union Boss Ducks Interview On AFL Activities In Europe

By WESTBROOK PEGLER I have come upon a rage of propaganda in the strange little magazine called "Time" of the China - Boy - Luce axis, designed to lead glibly readers to regard Irving Brown, the roving ambassador of the AFL in Europe, as a missionary of "Democratic" unionism.

On the contrary, Brown is a radical Marxian socialist. His parent union is the Garment Workers union, an autocracy ruled by David Dubinsky which has scattered to the winds almost 22 millions taken from Dubinsky's subjects for political and "charitable" purposes, which he and Louis Antonini, his chief lieutenant, have favored.

This largeness of course has a glorified Dubinsky and Antonini. Irving Brown never was a garment worker. My knowledge of his career, which is extensive, though I have not completed some details, does not indicate that he ever engaged in any other activity than extreme left-wing Socialist politics, promoted through Dubinsky's union. The union was a big treasury and does not I suspect in Dubinsky's subjects what he does with their money.

For example, Dubinsky informed them in his official publication that he spent unspecified amounts on "underground" activities, (which would be espionage in Europe during the war.) When I was in Europe, from last October until the middle of March, I made several efforts to interview both Irving Brown and his assistant with jurisdiction over Germany, Harry Rutz. I asked that Dubinsky, who is married to a German girl. On the steamship bound to Europe I met a Miss Rutz, as she was listed on the manifest, an Austrian woman said to be a scientist, who proved to be Mrs. Harry Rutz. Our meeting was perfunctory.

Another woman, a native American, who conversed with Mrs. Rutz, said Mrs. Rutz told her that she had just completed her naturalization in the United States and was glad to return to Europe to "grab" the job. She did not permit persons who obtain their citizenship by naturalization to return to their native lands, but that is not our custom.

In Frankfurt, I got Mr. Rutz on the phone one day but he said he was moving, then another day he was busy packing and, anyway, did not look for a friendly approach by me to his official activities. I assured him that I did not endorse the activities of the AF of L in Europe, nor in the United States, for that matter, nor support it, can we support it all?

Well, you may say, the obvious answer to this is too gloomy and defeatist to be considered. The defense of the western world is too vital to be turned aside by such calculations however real. This conclusion seems to abandon all hope.

We must say again we do not think so. It sometimes happens that when you face a problem truthfully you find it has no solution, but it always happens that when you do not face it that way the solution is never found.

The two great nations of Europe—Britain and France—have great resources of strength despite the post-war dislocations. The United States has great strength that its mere presence is a powerful force for peace and order. If, in turn, does not dissipate its strength. The British and French can, we believe, solve their own problems if we do not on the one hand aggravate them by piling upon them too much a defense burden and on the other hand, encourage them to postpone a solution by endless and unlimited subsidies.

But in any event we will gain nothing by chasing fruitlessly one mirage after another.

ter, but said I thought I should see him just as I had tried to see his chief, Irving Brown, in Paris. We set a tentative date "Time" of the China - Boy - Luce axis, designed to lead glibly readers to regard Irving Brown, the roving ambassador of the AFL in Europe, as a missionary of "Democratic" unionism.

I suspect that like Brown he was afraid to submit to examination and desired concealment of this fact that this whole project is a program of world Marxian Socialism and a dictatorship of the proletariat to be achieved against capitalist society. This brand of socialism professes to abhor Soviet Communism and a brand that may be so. But it also abhors with equal fury the capitalism of western civilization.

Mr. Brown's publicity unflinchingly refers to his physical strength, vigor and pugnacity, but I found him strangely shy, which he and Louis Antonini, his chief lieutenant, have favored.

This largeness of course has a glorified Dubinsky and Antonini. Irving Brown never was a garment worker. My knowledge of his career, which is extensive, though I have not completed some details, does not indicate that he ever engaged in any other activity than extreme left-wing Socialist politics, promoted through Dubinsky's union. PAMPA

Sports Activities For The Entire Family

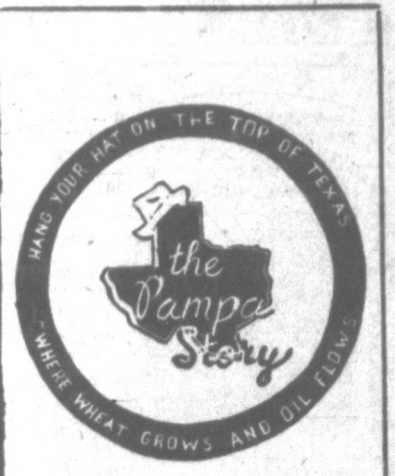

For the lover of sports, Pampa offers all forms for the entire family. Professional, amateur, spectator and participant sporting events are held the year round in the fine Panhandle climate.

For the spectator there is professional baseball played in the strongest Class C league in the country, the West Texas-New Mexico, playing a full 140-game schedule. The high school produces the finest athletic teams which are members of the state's strongest conference. There is professional wrestling weekly, amateur boxing in season, horse racing, stock car racing, motor boating, fishing, hunting, and any other sport desired.

For those who like golf, Pampa offers one of the finest 18-hole golf courses in West Texas, with a summer program filled with top tournaments, climaxed by a three-day Top O' Texas Labor Day meet.

A summer softball program occupies the youngsters, both boys and girls, with a swimming pool to take care of them during the daylight hours. Tennis courts are freely sprinkled throughout the city. Bowling alleys, with men's and ladies' leagues, are busy the year 'round.

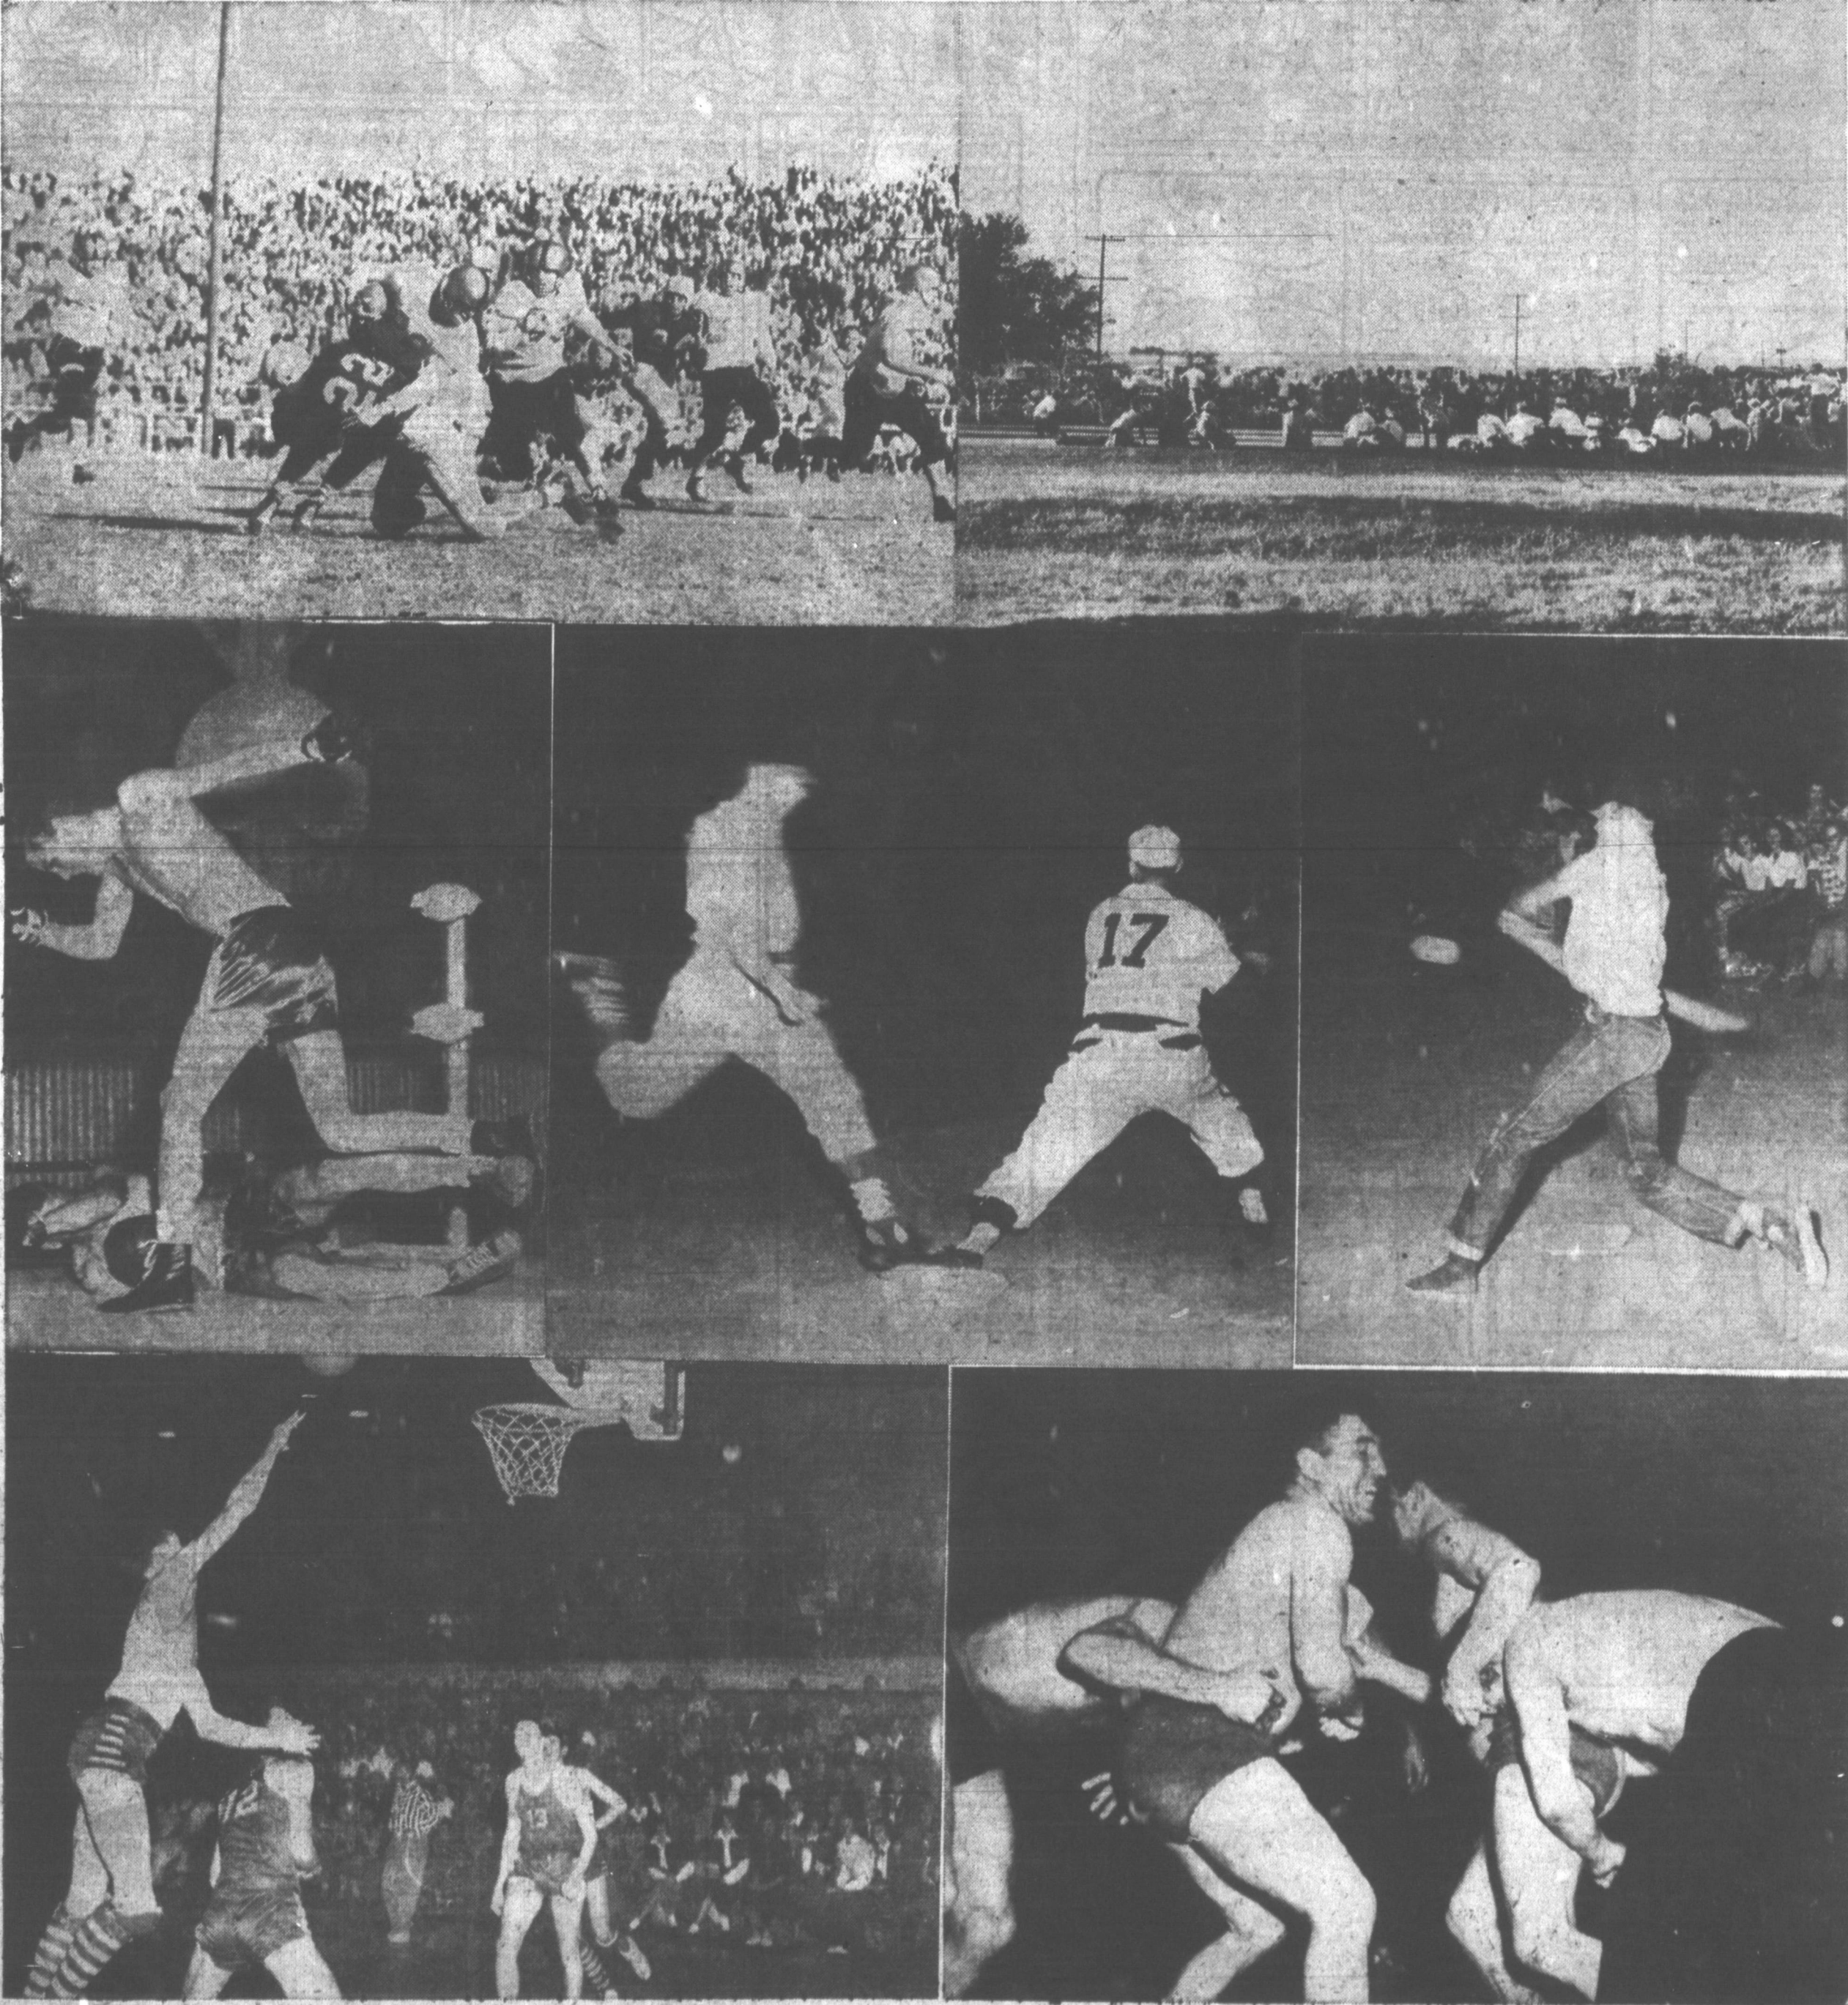

The Pampa area can indeed offer the finest in recreation for those who settle in its confines, the heart of America's industrial future.

In the interest of building PAMPA, the following individuals, business, industrial and professional firms join in presenting this series of informative pages designed to show why PAMPA is a better town.

Investigation Is Promised In Ann Sterling's Story Of Beating

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Actress Anne Sterling's story of being beaten by four thugs was promised full investigation today as detectives tried to piece together some conflicting details.

"We're going to round up and question all concerned, including Miss Sterling, to get at the bottom of this," said Detective Inspector Gordon Bowers.

There was no question that the shapely actress had been beaten systematically if not critically. The blonde 26-year-old film and television actress said the four men kidnaped her as she was returning to her apartment early yesterday.

She said she finally managed to escape from her assailants after they beat and kicked her. She collapsed while being treated by a doctor and was taken to a hospital.

The detectives said that in her account, at times hysterical, Miss Sterling at one point said she was taken home about 3 a.m. yesterday but later said it was around 6 a.m. This followed a night of dining, night-clubbing and breakfast with friends.

Miss Sterling said she was waylaid as she was entering the apartment building where she has been staying recently with a friend, Ann Jackson.

Detectives said she related that her assailants drove her to an empty house in the Hollywood hills — "There was a big window all along one side, and I could see the lights of the city" — and there manhandled her.

She said the only thing she could remember any of the men saying was "this will teach you." Miss Sterling told the officers she did not know what that remark meant.

Finally, she said, she managed to escape from the place and get a ride with a motorist back to Miss Jackson's apartment.

Miss Sterling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ingrassia of St. Louis, Mo., recently has been in a court squabble with her former roommate, fashion designer Yolanda Elliott. Miss Sterling accused Miss Elliott of stealing a $2000 marten fur piece. A jury acquitted Miss Elliott, who thereafter filed a $100,000 damage suit against Miss Sterling, alleging malicious persecution. This case is pending.

Painless Life Under Study By Doctors

BOSTON — (P) — A way of making life painless is being studied here, as an aid for cancer sufferers.

Deep in the center of the brain is a spot which scientists believe is the crossroads of pain pathways, for most pains you feel.

Here at Massachusetts General hospital, scientists are experimenting with an electric needle. They plan to push it into this point in the brain, and destroy the crossroads with an electric spark.

Destroying it would apparently mean freedom from pain, a Godsend for many cancer patients.

The electric needle method has been tried so far on monkeys, preparatory to human trials, said Dr. William H. Sweet, neurosurgeon. Apparently, he said, this method could kill pain easily without changing personality.

Pain can be stopped by cutting the nerves in the front of the brain, in an operation called pre-frontal lobotomy, but this often brings bad personality changes.

If the needle method works, a person might feel no pain, from almost anything. Complete freedom from pain could be bad for normal humans — you wouldn't, for example, know that you were burning your fingers with a lit match.

Big Day For Harry Was When He Carried Bess' Books Home

By HENRY McLEMORE

I had always thought the Department of Agriculture was in charge of corn in this country until I read "Mr. President," a 262-page collection of the diaries and private memoranda of Harry S. Truman.

It is an obvious appeal to voters if he runs again, or to well-wishers if he chooses to retire. Corn never grew faster in Iowa than it does on the pages of "Mr. President." Indeed, I was tempted to make my copy and put it in an old-fashioned popcorn snaker, cover it with butter and salt, and eat it, not read it.

What Mr. Truman has to say about Mr. Byrnes, Mr. Baruch, and hundreds of others does not interest me. Let those skilled in Washington politics take care of that phase of the book. I'm only interested in the grammar school cliches he scatters throughout, his holy righteousness, and the first germ of love that entered his Missouri heart.

Not since he has been President has there been anything but words of niceness said about his wife, Miss Bess. After reading this book, the only thing that one wonders is why she married Harry. Let me quote: "When I was about six or seven years old, my mother took me to Sunday School and I saw the prettiest, sweetest little girl I had ever seen. I was too backward even to look at her very much, and I didn't speak to her for five years. From the fifth grade in school until I graduated from high school we were in the same classes. If I succeeded in carrying her books to school or back home for her I had a big day."

Can you imagine Churchill writing that?

Can you imagine any average boy being scared of his sweetheart? Can you imagine the average girl being proud of a boy who followed behind her, wanting to carry her books?

Most of the grammar school boys I've ever heard of or known took a little upper hand. The boy who climbed trees and jumped off barns were the ones the girls admired. As best I can recall, the boys the girls liked were the ones who caused them torment. We dipped their hair in inkwell, refused to let them play games with us, never sent them anything but ugly Valentines, and called them sissies from morn till night.

Mr. Truman tells how heroic he was in not being married before he went off to World War I. He didn't think it fair, he explained, to tie Miss Bess down to a possible cripple. That is golden bantam nobility at its best. You can eat that with butter and salt and no holders at each end. I guess his noble aim was to come back intact, fall in haberdashery, rise through the Pendergast Machine, be elected vice-president on a fluke, and give Miss Bess a home in the White House.

The book, "President," can't miss my readers to weigh Mr. Truman's words against the words of almost any outstanding man you can name. Wouldn't you like him better if he'd made Bess carry his books while he rode a bicycle with no hands, or walked on the tallest pair of stilts ever built in Independence?

This is a tough age, and what we need is a tough and upright man. Not one who says that he is tough and upright, but one who proves it day by day.

Magellan began his voyage around the world in 1519.
