Western Powers Agree; Germany To Be Admitted

Four-Day Conference Is Held To Decide Matter

LONDON — (AP) — The foreign ministers of the three Western powers and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Western Germany said today they have removed obstacles to Germany's entrance into the European community.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman listed in a communique seven points which they said assured a successful conclusion of talks now going on in Bonn and Paris. The three ministers and Adenauer have been engaged in conference since Saturday in an effort to smooth out German-French relations, open the way for creation of a European army in which German and French armed forces would be united and pave the way for a "peace contract" between Western Germany and the occupation powers.

Ship Concern Under Senate Probe Today

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Joseph E. Casey, Washington lawyer and former Congress member, was called today to tell senators how he helped run a $101,000 cash investment in surplus ships into a 3 1/2 million dollar profit in three years.

C-C Approves Publication Of Pampa Story

A recommendation to publicize Pampa through Texas Parade, official organ of Texas Good Road Assn., was accepted by directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development during a meeting of the group yesterday.

The recommendation was made by the publicity and advertising committee of the chamber, which voted recommendation for approval during a meeting Thursday. The story of Pampa probably will be published in May, Roy Smith, chairman of the publicity and advertising committee stated. Cost will be $1050. Twenty five hundred magazines will be sent to key industrialists throughout the United States to stimulate interest in moving industries to Pampa, and the local chamber will receive 500 copies. Circulation of the magazine, 21,000. It was decided 56 area firms will be contacted for donations.

In other action it was announced Joe Key, Gene Green and Roy Smith have been appointed to attend a chamber of commerce meeting for area cities in Amarillo, Friday, to discuss action to be taken on a Panhandle-wide industrial survey. A nominating committee consisting of Gene Fathcer, Floyd Imel and Hugh Burdette was named to submit to the city commission names of two men to fill the vacancy term of O. E. McDowell who recently moved from Pampa.

C. P. Buckler was appointed to an advisory committee to make plans in celebrating the 50th anniversary of Gray county this year. Mrs. Clotilde Thompson, chamber of commerce employe, announced that expenses from the 1952 teachers' banquet were equalled by funds from purchase of tickets to the event.

Draft Call Lowest Since September

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Defense Dept.'s 19,000-man draft call for April is the lowest total since 16,900 were called last September.

Announcing yesterday that the Army needs 15,000 men and the Marine corps 4,000 in April, the department said fewer draftees were being called because more men are volunteering and more veterans are re-enlisting.

The April quota is the third lowest since the outbreak of the Korean war. The lowest was 15,000 men called into the Army in July, 1951.

The new call raises the total number of draftees since selective service resumed in September, 1950, to 817,000 for the Army and 77,430 for the Marine Corps.

OLAN L. STATTON

Statton Rites Wednesday

Funeral services for Olan L. (Hi) Statton, who died from a heart attack last night, will be held at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the First Methodist church. Dr. Orion W. Carter and Dr. Douglas Nelson will officiate.

Mr. Statton, district engineer for Skelly Oil Co., died at 6:25 p.m. Monday at Highland General hospital where he had been taken following a heart attack at about 6 p.m. near the bus station.

Funeral services for the service Wednesday are Harvey Nensel, Clinton Henry, E. J. Dungan, Jr., Harold Wright, Silverman White, Jake Cannon, Earl New and Bill Heskew. Members of the American Legion Post 334 and Lions club will be honorary pallbearers.

Following services here, the body will be sent to Chickasha, Okla., for burial Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Statton, 47, had lived in Skellytown before coming to Pampa 10 years ago where he lived in the Skelly district camp one mile west of town.

He was active in community affairs both in Pampa and Skellytown and was a member of the Lions club, Law Law and Do Si Do Square Dance clubs and past commander of the local American Legion post.

He spent four years in the service during World War II and gained the rank of captain in the Army Engineer corps. He saw service in the South Pacific theater.

Mr. Statton, who had been with Skelly for 19 years, was a graduate of Oklahoma A&M college and while in this area had been active in youth work along with his wife who is a Girl Scout training officer.

He was a former member of the Methodist church but for the past few years had been a member of the Skellytown community church. He had been in poor health for several years.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Statton; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Statton, Chickasha, Okla.; a brother, D. W. Statton, Oklahoma City; and two sisters, Mrs. Jim Ballard, Chickasha, and Mrs. J. B. Nantz, Tyler.

Funeral services are under the direction of Duengel-Carmichael Funeral home. Beautiful new colors in Fiesta Ware at Lewis Hilde. Good fire 2x4 and 2x6, $7.25 per hundred. White House Properties.

Woman Charged With Murder In Infant's Death

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (AP) — The strange case of a 14-year-old girl, charged with murder in the death of her infant daughter, was reported in a fair condition today.

Mrs. Diane Lilly, 27, was found in the bathroom at her sister's home in Westwood, Texas, in a pool of blood. Her throat and wrists had been slashed. The infant, 10-month-old Emily Lilly, was found dead in its crib in Mrs. Lilly's bedroom.

A charge of murder was filed against the mother in justice of the peace court by County Attorney Homicide Sergeant Lewis Yates. Justice Jones said last night an autopsy showed the child died of "violent strangulation."

He said he would return a coroner's verdict today. Mrs. Lilly, wife of Dr. Jack Lilly of Richmond, was visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Capt. and Mrs. W. V. Owen, who said Mrs. Lillys were estranged. He said he heard a noise in the bathroom about 7 a.m. "as if someone were falling." He rushed in and found Mrs. Lilly.

Lilly, who operates a Richmond medical clinic, was reported en route to San Antonio last night. Owen, of Columbus, O., the stationer at Randolph Air Force base here.

Sgt. DeFazio will be in the Army and Air Force recruiting office in the basement of the post office between 5 a.m. and 5 p.m. She will also be able to help women interested in direct commissions in the WAC, WAF and Army Nurses corps.

Hoover Report Committee Launches Lobbying Effort

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Urged by former President Herbert Hoover to help wipe out the "humiliation" of government scandals, the citizens committee for the Hoover report today launched a lobbying effort in behalf of six major federal reform proposals.

Heading the list of projects it will push is a Senate-approved bill to remove many jobs from political patronage, provide for advancing able workers in government careers, and facilitate the removal of incompetents. Hoover told the National Reorganization conference last night that the "sickening conduct" of some officials recently exposed is an indictment of the government's method of choosing and managing its 2 1/2 million employes.

"No one can ignore the flood of exposures of less than sacred honor or real patriotism by employes in many agencies of the government during these recent years," the ex-President told 500 civic and business leaders and government officials.

Rogers Seeks Increase For Exemptions

Personal income tax exemptions will be increased from $500 to $1,000, if a bill introduced in Congress by Rep. Walter Rogers is passed. The same bill would also increase exemptions for dependents from $600 to $750.

Rogers said he introduced the bill because income taxes are "still the number one worry of the low income groups with prices steadily rising on all of the necessities of life." He declared, in his weekly newsletter, that "it is the lower income groups that suffer the most and the higher prices go, the harder the struggle for existence becomes."

He added there would be no discrimination against the higher income groups because the law would affect every taxpayer the same way — $100 personal exemption and $750 for every dependent.

As an example of what the bill would mean, Rogers said that a man earning $3500 per year and supporting a wife and two children would not pay any income tax.

The congressman said also that many people have complained of excessive low income brackets from taxes is unfair. He derided this by saying, "the greatest amount of federal taxes that all of us pay are hidden taxes on commodities that we buy."

Another bill soon to be introduced by the Pampa congressman would allow all medical bills and fees connected with the birth of a child to be deducted from income tax.

Passing the personal exemption increase bill is not going to be an easy task, Rogers said, adding: ". . . But I intend to do my best to get some relief so that these low income people can feed and clothe themselves and children."

On the Buffalo Lake question that recently was spread all over in Amarillo, Rogers said: "I am getting together a lot of facts on these Soil Conservation projects that are going to be mighty interesting. This situation may develop into a full am sure the people of the Panhandle would welcome. One interesting point is that Buffalo Lake has cost the government about $350,000 since 1939. According to the records I have been able to get hold of to date, the government's net out of the $71,000 gross at Buffalo last year was approximately $8,000. Another record I have shows an expenditure last year by the government of $5,806 up to October 1st. The commissioner's contract calls for the project to be kept in good repair and fully maintained. If the government spent $5906 by October 1st last year, the chances are that they spent by the end of the year all of what they collected, and more, on the project. This means that the government is furnishing a project in good repair and fully maintained for approximately $350,000, and the only person making any money out of it is the concessionaire. That doesn't look like good business to me from the taxpayers' and the fishermen's standpoint."

IS SPRING HERE? — It's hard for Pampans to decide — is it spring — or winter? But at least two local residents have their own idea — it's near enough to start spring training for summer-time activities such as baseball. The balmy weather coupled with the fact that the major league teams began spring practice Monday might have prompted the local big leaguers into getting ready. Jerry (Yogi Berra) Drake, 10, is set for a pitch ball which Donald (Ted Williams) Denton is going to paste over the fence. The two boys are students at Sam Houston. Weather forecasters predict winter is still trying to get back in the Panhandle. Forecast is for fair and colder weather in the area today with lowest temperatures 20-30 degrees here. (News Photo)

Rescue At Sea And Story Of Man Who Died A Hero Told

CHATHAM, Mass. — (AP) — Seven seamen were known to be dead and some 46 others were unaccounted for early today as three sections of two broken tankers drifted on wild courses in gale-whipped seas off Cape Cod.

Thirty-two seamen were rescued from the fourth section by the light of flares in a daring, split-second operation carried out in the face of screaming northwest storm off perilous Chatham Bar. A moment after the rescue, that section of the split tanker from the Pendleton's bow in an attempt to reach a nearby Coast Guard motor lifeboat.

Positive identification of the lost men could not be determined immediately. Some 38 men are believed aboard the two sections of the Fort Mercer but their fate is not definite. Its stern was last reported 48 miles off Chatham, separated early today when it leaped from the tossing bow of the Fort Mercer and missed the bouncing life rafts put out by the Coast Guard cutter Yakutik west of the Pollock rip light-ship. Coast Guards were taking the 32 in Nantucket sound.

One of the survivors of the wrecked tanker was Douglas E. Lewis, 21, Coast Guard lifeboat crew working in the dark against terrific odds. We will be indebted for the rescue crew braved buffeting seas to make repeated passes at the Pendleton's stern as a plane dropped flares to light the scene. Each time the lifeboat passed, one man leaped off the derelict stern.

Boatswain's mate, first class, Bernard C. Webber, who was in charge of the 36-foot open lifeboat, told about the rescue later: "We lost our windshield on the way out. The snow kept hitting my face so hard I could hardly keep my eyes open. I couldn't see which way to steer most of the time."

'Seems Clear She's Deranged,' Slain Officer's Father Says

EL PASO — (AP) — A writ of habeas corpus was expected to be filed today in an effort to free Mrs. Richard O. Parsons, charged with murder in the death of her Army lieutenant husband. Atty. W. H. Freyer said he would file the writ if bond was not set today for the pretty blonde, 22, daughter of an oil-rich Tulsa, Okla., family.

Parsons was shot to death with her about one and one-half Saturday about 11:30 a.m. Mrs. Parsons surrendered to police Monday, not examining trial about 7:30 p.m. accompanied by her father and some two attorneys hired by her father expected before Friday. List her after long distance telephone Atty. Winham Clayton said her conversations. The father is in would ask Justice of the Peace industrialist A. B. Flegler, Charles Winberg to bond her without bond.

A psychiatrist hired by Freyer visited the slender, blue-eyed Parsons, New York City nurse and said he found her showing sane executive and father of the very little emotion. "Or if she seems clear to us, and to the parents of the girl, that she was deranged." Dr. Arlin Cooper said the young woman gave "short simple answers to all my questions." Cooper said he would have no comment on Mrs. Parsons' them "in every way." In a written condition with her father, statement to police, she said studied his findings and inter- this led to an argument that viewed her again. He talked eventually ended in the shooting.

Eastwind Moves To Side Of Mercer

CHATHAM, Mass. — (AP) — The Coast Guard cutter Eastwind moved to the side of the severed stern-section of the tanker Fort Mercer in rough seas today and planned to tow the wreck and the 33 crew members aboard to Boston.

Skies were clear, the sea was running about 18 feet and the wind 25 to 32 knots at mid-morning when the cutter moved toward the Mercer's stern. Meanwhile the stern of the tanker Pendleton, which suffered a similar fate as the Mercer in yesterday's fierce snowstorm, floated more than five miles south of Chatham Light. It was believed there was no one on the Pendleton.

Seven men are known to be dead from the crews of the two ships. Thirteen others are unaccounted for and 35 were rescued last night by heroic coast guards who battled mountainous seas during a driving snowstorm. The Coast Guard said it was deemed more practical to attempt to tow the stern of the Mercer into port than to try to remove the men in the rough ocean.

The Mercer's bow is about 40 miles from the stern. No one was believed aboard the bow. The stern's position this morning was about 55 to 70 miles southeast of Nantucket. The hazardous task of rescuing the 33 men was in the hands of Capt. O. A. Peterson, skipper of the Eastwind.

Trailer Home Solves Housing Problem For Many Couples

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent
WESTPORT, Conn. (NEA)—When Arthur Diver retired in 1939, he found himself face to face with a problem. He and his wife were rattling around in a 12-room house set on 3 1/2 acres of pretty Connecticut soil. His daughter was married, his son in the Army.

So he bought a trailer.

The idea was first suggested by Mrs. Diver, but he didn't think too much of it.

"I always thought a trailer was just a box on wheels and that only gypsies lived in them," he says, looking over his spectacles with his twinkling blue eyes. "But Mrs. Diver, she said, 'Well, it can't do any harm to look at them.' We bought one, and I've never regretted it; wish I'd a-done it ten years sooner."

The Divers are representative of a trend among retired people to live in trailers or "mobile homes," as some of them prefer to say. According to the Trailer Coach Manufacturers Association, which keeps track of such things, retired persons are the third largest market for trailers.

Actually, Diver, says, 15 percent of all trailers are occupied by the pensioned set. The two bigger classes of purchasers, incidentally, are mobile workers and temporary home-seekers.

For a retired couple, a trailer offers certain advantages. The initial expense is low, upkeep and operating expenses are low, they provide mobility — and the housework is simple.

These factors have helped boost trailer sales, 400 percent since 1937. In that year, $4,500,000 worth of trailers were sold; in 1950, the figure was $22,500,000.

With people retiring earlier in life, because of pension plans, the trailer manufacturers expect the trend to continue. A contributing factor is the spread of trailer parks, where trailerites can live permanently. Some of them, such as a big one in Badenton, Fla., accommodate as many as 2500 trailers.

The Divers' trailer, after logging 136,000 miles, is now at home in a trailer park on the busy Boston Post Road at Westport. The wheels are off, there's a cement patio in front and a little plot of ground.

"The rental here is less than $20 a month," he says, "and that includes all utilities. Everybody has a plot of about 30 by 50 feet. There are 110 families here, about 20 of them retired people. The others are nurses, accountants, real estate men, sales executives and the like. We're all very congenial."

Some of the residents had fixed their "mobile homes" into miniature estates. There were picket fences and rose-covered trellises, patios with big awnings covering them, television aerials sprouting from the roofs, and that absolute sign of permanence — the "mobile" box — outside every front door.

Today, said Diver, many people buy trailers because it offers such cheap living. You can get a four-room trailer for somewhere around $5500, and that includes all furnishings.

"Lots of folks buy them without ever intending to pull them," he says. "They buy them, take the wheels off and then sell the tires back."

To the argument that they're cramped, Diver points to his Thanksgiving dinner. He spent the holiday with his son, who has a trailer in Naugatuck. There were 14 people in the trailer's dining room, with plenty of room for the turkey.

"The only thing we lack," he says, with a smile, "is an attic and cellar for storing things. But that's a good thing. We keep only what we really need."

"When we bought our first trailer, Mrs. Diver had three sets of china — the everyday, the Sunday and the Best set. She decided to keep six settings of each. She put it all in a basket. I didn't say nothing, but I was chuckling to myself. She was over in the trailer with that basket a few minutes, trying to put the things away. Then she come back. She wound up keeping a serving for four of just one set!"

Driving a trailer was no problem, after he got used to it.

"The first day, I sweat blood," he remembers. "I worried something awful. I'd turn my head around every 10 seconds to see that the trailer was still there. But I learned there are only four things you have to remember.

"A trailer is eight feet wide, a car only five. You have to allow for that extra width when you're passing. Then you have to learn to use the trailer brakes — they're mounted on the steering wheel and you operate them with one finger.

"You have to learn to make a bigger sweep for a right turn. And lastly, you've got to be awful careful driving through a city."

Questions and Answers about Newspaper Advertising

Q. Do you know of any measure for the value of newspaper circulation to an advertiser such as the standards that a business man uses in buying merchandise?

A. Yes. In the well-known standards that have been approved and adopted by advertisers—namely A.B.C. standards.

Q. What is A. B. C.?

A. A.B.C. stands for Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative association of 3300 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers in the United States and Canada.

Q. What is the Bureau's work?

A. To audit the circulation of newspapers and periodicals so that advertisers can buy space on the basis of definite standards and verified facts and figures.

Q. How does A. B. C. accomplish this?

A. The Bureau has a large staff of experienced auditors. They visit the publisher members periodically and make audits of their circulation records. This information is then published in A.B.C. reports for the use and protection of advertisers.

Q. What do these reports show?

A. A.B.C. reports tell how much circulation a newspaper has, where this circulation is, how it was obtained, how much people paid for it, and many other verified facts that advertisers should know when they buy advertising.

Q. Are all publications eligible for A. B. C. membership?

A. No. Only those with paid circulation. This is important to advertisers because it is the best proof of interest and purchasing power on the part of the readers.

Q. Is this newspaper a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations?

A. Yes. We are proud of our circulation and we want our advertisers to know just what they get for their money when they advertise in our columns. The audited information in our A.B.C. report issues them the complete facts.

Dr. Logan's Wife

By Diana Gaines

THE STORY: Janet Logan's experience with "doctor's parties" had always been horrendous, until she attended one at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Felletier. There, in company with her husband, Dr. Gus Logan, Janet introduced to Peter Surtinov, a young biophysicist, engaged in research in atomic medicine at Angel's hospital. Janet suddenly realizes that her own life is blank. She has no children, no outside interests, no hobbies. Her husband is in ill health and much older than she. When Peter brings out a switch and Janet is entranced. On the way home, Janet tells Dr. Logan that she thinks she will take a volunteer job at Angel's hospital.

Janet snapped off the switch that controlled her blanket, flung herself out of the bed, and pressed the wall button which would ring in the kitchen, thus informing Ingrid that she would soon be ready for her breakfast tray. This morning the button-pushing embarrassed her, pointed up the pampereous purposelessness of her existence.

She brushed her teeth dutifully. There was a rap at the door.

"Your breakfast is served, Mrs. Logan."

Ingrid entered with the tray. "The doctor is in bed this morning," she told Janet. "He has a little cold."

"He has a cold?" Janet's hand froze to the cup. "Oh, heavens, you should have called me. Is it a bad one? I'll get him some aureomycin and some..." She started up, and then sat down again, reminding herself of Dr. Flynn's edict: "No over-solicitousness. Be casual about slight disturbances. Don't let him get the idea he's an invalid."

"No," she said aloud. "I'll finish my breakfast first."

"Why, sure," Ingrid agreed. "The doctor is fine. I gave him orange juice and canteloupe and English muffins with poached eggs. Two cups of coffee. At all that he can't be very sick. He's reading the paper."

JANET smiled, comforted by the orderly picture Ingrid painted. It was hard to praise Ingrid directly; instead she joked, "Ingrid, I think I see canary feathers on your mouth!"

Ingrid's free hand went over her lips, her pale eyes blank. Janet explained kindly, "I mean like the cat that swallowed the canary. I mean you're glad to have a patient to take care of. I believe you enjoy fussing over the doctor."

"Nothing I'm not willing and glad to do for the doctor," Ingrid insisted, as if the staunchness of her tone would clothe the shame of her plethoric face. "He's a very fine man. Not to say I wouldn't do as much for you, Mrs. Logan."

Gus heard her coming down the stairs. "That you, huddy?"

Her heart sank at his nasality. "Be right in, dear. Just going for the mail."

On her way back, she glanced through the letters. A thick, brown, windowed envelope from her mother, several bills.

"Good morning, poor love," she said, entering Gus's room. She tossed all but her mother's letter onto the bed.

Gus picked up the bundle of canceled checks. "Look at this, check made out to cash, April 15, $200. What was that for?"

JANET sucked her thumb, frightened in spite of a clear conscience. "April 15, two hundred. Gosh, and then 'Oh, I know. That was for those cases of Scotch you had me pick up. And I made it out in round numbers so I'd have some cash."

"Um. Well, look, Jenny, try to make a few checks out to cash as possible. When income-tax time comes, I've got to know what our dough went for. For deductions, I mean. Make the checks out to a firm name."

"I know, darling. I'm sorry. I'll try to remember. Also, I'm afraid I forgot to record some counter checks last month. What's our balance?"

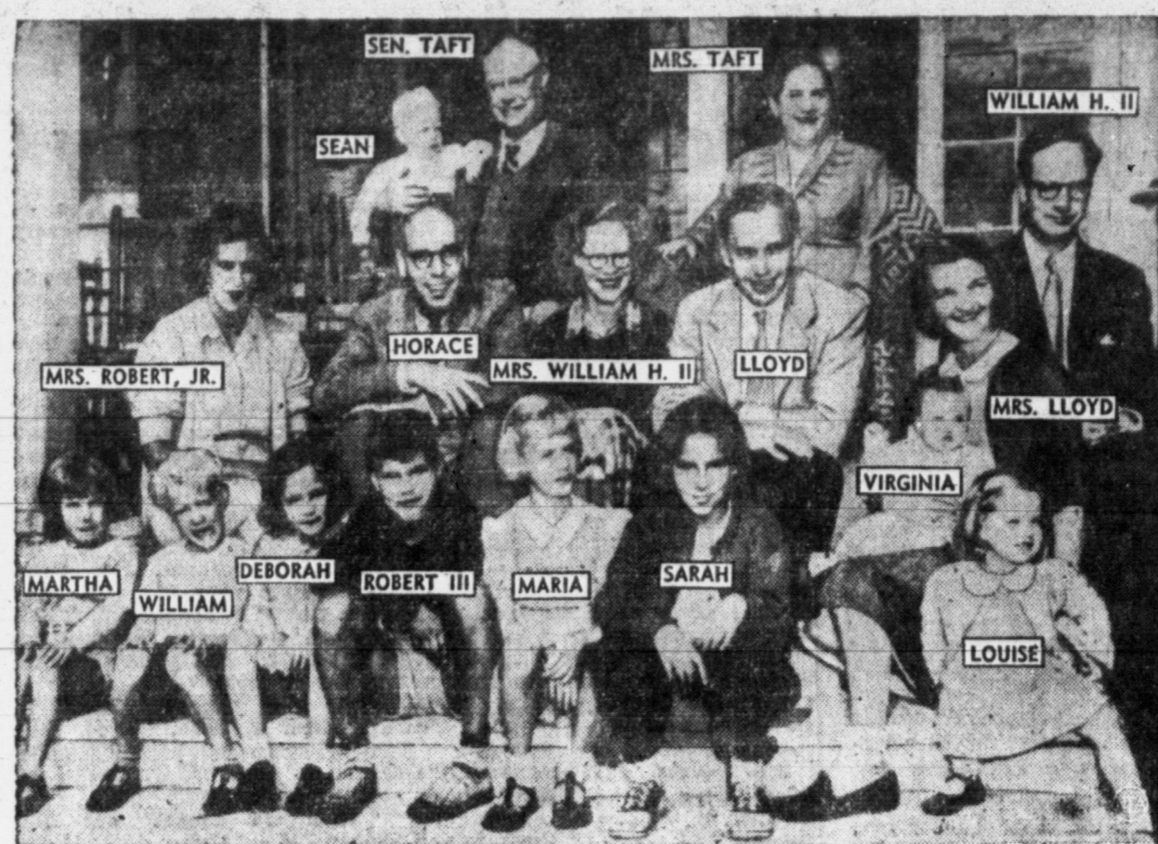

"I'll correct my check book from the beginning."

Gus shook his head. "I guess you wouldn't be a woman if you didn't think that banks were infallible."

(To Be Continued)

JANET awoke the next morning with a tingling, not entirely unpleasant sense of fear. She was cognizant of having dreamed, although the dream content minutely escaped her. The fear, however, seemed to come not from the dream but from the danger of having awakened. She considered going back to sleep but the day was already a bright insistent presence in the room. It lay cool on her cheeks, prickled her nostrils, and outside her open windows it swung on frail pepper leaves, tentative with dew, unused and setting such a high standard for use that pain was added to fear. She glanced at the clock—8:30—and she thought of Gus who was, undoubtedly at this moment threading the curves of Sunset Boulevard, the top of the convertible rolled back and the sun blown about his visor-capped head.

She envied Gus the necessity of being somewhere at a certain time, of a day filled with pre-ordained appointments, obviating the responsibility of choice.

TAFT SUPPORTERS ALL—They're not all of voting age yet, but if they were Sen. Robert A. Taft would have 18 votes right in his own family. The Ohio Republican Senator, who is seeking the presidency in 1952, is seen with his children and grandchildren on the front porch of the Taft summer home at Murray Bay, Que. One son, Robert Jr., was not present when the photo was taken. The family photo was released recently by the Senator's office in Washington.

Early Day Hilarity Marked Birthday Of Washington

By DOUGLAS S. FREEMAN (Written for the AP)

If the celebration of Washington's birthday is marked by more of hilarity than of solemnity, blame the precedent, not the present. The most violent celebrations were the earliest. That of 1779 among the first and certainly was the most exciting of them all.

At Williamsburg, Va., in the year when Washington would reach his forty-seventh birthday, the students of the College of William and Mary decided to have a ball at the Raleigh Tavern on the night of Feb. 22, and they circulated a subscription list for the affair.

One of the first on whom the student committee waited for endorsement and contribution was Gov. Patrick Henry. He shook his head sternly. No, sir! When the country was at war and was facing the worst of danger, he could not think of any sort of rejoicing. Two members of the Council of Virginia were of the same mind. A ball, they said, would be wasteful and out of place, even for Gen. Washington.

The students went ahead with their plans and they had the hearty support of Lt. Col James Innes, a retired officer of the fifteenth Virginia, continental line, and one-time usher of the grammar school of the college. Col. Innes was a Navy commissioner at the time and, as one of Washington's veterans, was determined that the celebration should be emphatic.

On the night of the ball, Col. Innes and some of his friends seized two cannon belonging to the state of Virginia and brought them to the door of the tavern to punctuate the toasts to Washington and to the Army. Unfortunately, no powder was found with the cannon. This necessitated visits to nearby citizens, with requests that they pour out a little of their private stock to load the cannon.

Before a sufficient supply for a salute could be begged, one of Henry's officers, Lt. Vaughan, came to the tavern and demanded the return of the cannon. Instead of restoring them to him, the subscribers to the ball carried him inside, gave him as much punch as he would drink and paid no heed whatever to his statement that he had orders to recover the guns by force if necessary. He was laughed out of the Apollo room and soon was knocking at the governor's door to report his failure. Henry referred Vaughan to Capt.

Digges, who called up 60 militia men and marched them to the Raleigh.

There he drew them up in line and demanded the field pieces at the point of 60 some-what reluctant bayonets. Col. Innes shook his walkingstick at the captain and swore before all men that he would cane the officer in the presence of the militia company if Digges did not forthwith leave. The captain repeated his demand — and let it go at that.

By this time the students and townsmen who had been collecting powder arrived with enough for a round or two — but there were no shot with which to charge the guns. That did not deter Innes. He had the cannon loaded with brick bats and defied Capt. Digges to open fire. Prudently the captain retired. The ball doubtless was resumed and was continued as long as the punch held out. The next day, Innes was summoned to court for inciting a riot, and at the bar he was confronted by Capt. Digges. The colonel repeated his threat to cane his accuser, whether Digges had on a red coat or a black. Thereupon the judges indulgently dismissed the case as a frolic in which nobody was hurt. Innes, who later had a brilliant legal career, left the courthouse in triumph.

An account of this birthday celebration in Williamsburg was printed in the Virginia Gazette of Feb. 26, 1779, and was read, no-doubt, in Winchester, of the same state, with some perplexity. Winchester, too, had observed the birthday, not for one day but for three — and had started on the 11th of February, rather than on the 22nd. The reason was that Washington had been born before the change in the calendar, and saw the light on Actor Now In Argentina Compares It To The U. S.

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Today's travelogue comes from actor Hugh Marlowe, who has just returned from making a picture in Argentina. Marlowe, along with Gene Tierney and Rory Calhoun, went to the southern republic to film "Way of the Gaucho."

This is believed to be the first full-scale movie to be made almost entirely in South America. I quizzed Marlowe on his reactions to the Argentine. His comment: "It is very much like the United States. Both our countries have good supplies of beef, good women and wheat. Man could exist on these three things alone."

Taking most important things first, I queried him about the women.

"They are very charming and very beautiful," he remarked. "They wear their clothes very well, too. From all I could observe, there are no fashions in the Argentine. The women appear to have no need for them. I am at a loss to account for this. Perhaps it is because the women lead active lives or because they eat a great deal of meat."

That was the other thing that impressed Marlowe — the abundance of beef. Beleguered U.S. housewives will be pained to learn that Argentines don't bother with such penny-savers as hamburger and hot dogs. They eat filets.

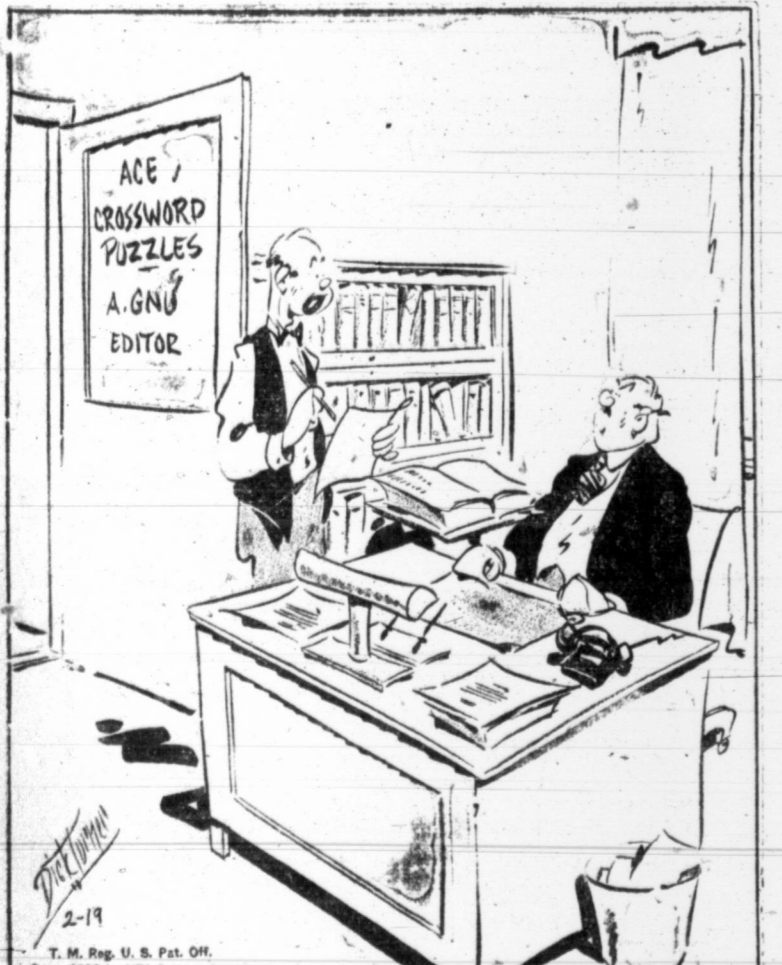

"It was an amazing sight at noontime to walk past a building that was under construction," the actor reported. "The workers would stop their work and build a fire and cook huge pieces of juicy beef for their lunches."

"Another Argentinian custom is something similar to our barbecues. They roast whole racks of lamb or sides of beef over glowing coals. The guests take knives and slice off as much meat as they can eat."

My hunger was growing, so I switched the subject to less gastronomic matters. Marlowe said the film company shot for about two and a half months in Argentina, traveling all over the country, from the Pampas to the Andes.

"The face of the country is very much like ours," he remarked. "They have the same vast spaces, since the Argentine is a third the size of the United States. The only different thing they have is the Pampas, the vast areas with rolling grass."

"In other respects we are much the same, too. Their gaucho is similar to our cowboy. And they have the same frontier tradition. But, except for Buenos Aires, the country is not as modern."

"I'd like to discuss with you, sir, a five-letter word meaning more money!"

Feb. 11, "old style." Winchester had selected the "original" and Williamsburg the "corrected" date.

Like confusion lasted for years. In 1790, during Washington's first term as president, some of his friends inquired of his secretary, Tobias Lear, whether they should observe the 11th or the 22nd. Lear replied that the 11th was "old style" but that, unhappily, some of the almanac makers had set the birthday "down opposite to the 11th day of February of the present style."

Two years later, when Jefferson made a similar request concerning the proper date, Lear wrote him, "The President considers the 22nd day of this month as his birthday." That fixed it. America has observed the 22nd ever since — but never as exuberantly as at Williamsburg when the Declaration of Independence was only three years old.

Cap Mossman Sits, Dreams Of Days Of Wild Southwest

ROSWELL, N.M. — (AP) — In the days when New Mexico was a sprawling rough and violent land, it didn't take much pressure for a strong-willed youngster to go bad and join the wild bunch.

One who didn't was Burt Mossman, but his initiation into the fabulous Southwest was a rough one.

It is in this manner that Frazier Hunt sets the stage and the theme for his story of Burton C. Mossman. He takes the easy path of familiarity which is a part of the Southwest and titles his book simply "Cap Mossman." — Last of the Great Cowmen.

The story of Cap Mossman—who sits today on his porch at Roswell and dreams of days gone by—is the story of one of the most colorful cowmen of the Great West.

Illustrated by Ross Sandee with a touch that perhaps only those who love the Southwest can fully appreciate, Hunt's biography of one of the top-notchers in a land of great men covers more than 70 years. The setting swings a wide lariat stretching from the range lands of Sonora and Chihuahua in Old Mexico far north to the grass lands of Alberta, Canada.

The story is one of grass—that giant question mark of the cattle industry—and those who knew it, feared it, loved it, and understood with rare insight its potentialities.

Mossman got his big chance as a cowman when still under 20, he signed on with Warren Carpenter's Bar A-Bar outfit near what is now Truth or Consequences, N.M. as a hog rider and later as a roundup representative.

Cap Mossman learned early the cruel hard lesson of the range that he was never to forget:

"Bad weather and low prices—those are the enemies that never let up on a cattlemán. Either one is tough enough, but when they join together you're finished."

That warning singing in his head, Mossman became foreman of Bar A-Bar and boss man over 8,000 head of cattle when he had barely turned 21. The die was cast and his career—so aptly and with so much understanding told by Hunt—never turned from the cattle he knew so well.

Mossman went on to manage the famous Bloody Basin ranch in northern Arizona, later faced disaster as general superintendent of the Hash Knife of Arizona which encompassed two million acres of range and 60,000 head of cattle, and formed the legendary Arizona Rangers to clean the state of its legions of bandits and toughs. The story of his capture of Augustin Chacon, the wild bandit of Mexico is in itself a thrilling story.

The Turkey Track outfit of northern New Mexico was the next stop but it wasn't long before Mossman found the place he had wanted—a great rolling prairie, wide and deep and rich in grass, sun and rain. He took over the land in the sprawling Cheyenne River Reservation in South Dakota.

It is somewhat ironic that one of the greatest cowmen of them all pioneered the sheep raising industry in the Southwest. Cap Mossman swallowed a lot of cattle pride and in later days his holdings on the Pecos river in New Mexico echoed the baa's of woolly animals.

Cowboy Dress To Be Feature Of Brownsville Charro Days

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. — (AP) — still be there. This includes the mammoth Grand Balls, the result in some changes this year in Brownsville's Charro Days, probably the Rio Grande Valley's most colorful fiesta.

No longer will citizens wear full beards and the tattered clothes of a Mexican peon. Instead, the costumes will be authentic representations of the Mexican cowboy — the Charro.

The Charro is a national Mexican hero," explained W. P. Schrader, Charro Days president. "Our portrayal of him in authentic manner is a great compliment. The portrayal in an unfavorable light defeats the whole purpose of Charro Days."

It was Schrader who said the change was asked as a result of unofficial diplomatic hints. The real Charro's costume includes embroidered short jacket, a big sombrero and pants tight in the lower leg.

This year's Charro Days celebration is set for Feb. 21-24. The State Dept. has described the pre-Lenten carnival as a prime example of international cooperation.

Texas Industry Week Set First Part Of April

HOUSTON — Industry in Texas will show its wares and tell its story to the public during the first week in April of this year, Ed C. Burris, executive vice-president of the Texas Manufacturers Assn., said today.

Governor Allan Shivers recently proclaimed the period of April 17 as "Texas Industrial Week," the association executive added.

And at its last session, the Texas legislature set that week aside for annual observance by organizations and citizens of the part industry is playing in the economic expansion and development of the state.

According to Mr. Burris, TMA members and numerous chambers of commerce will carry out industrial - emphasis programs in many areas of Texas during the special week. Included will be industrial fairs, showing products that are made in the different communities, industrial exhibits and speakers in schools, "open houses" for plant tours by school children and the general public, and joint meetings between teachers, legislators, and businessmen to discuss mutual problems.

For the third successive year, Mr. Burris added, TMA will sponsor a competition for the best industrial - emphasis programs arranged and carried out by local chambers of commerce.

Last year the chambers of Amarillo and Pampa were awarded plaques for their programs. In addition, the association gave certificates of merit to the chambers of Texarkana, Palestine, Lufkin, Coleman, Denison, Falfurins, Sulphur Springs, Jacksonville, Jasper, and Taylor.

Tall Bride Just Didn't Love Him

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Pretty Lois Weiland, the bride-to-be who jilted her fiance two days before their planned Valentine's Day marriage, is back home again.

A stunning brunette secretary, Miss Weiland disappeared Wednesday, leaving a note saying she couldn't go through with her marriage to Edward Wiegner, 33, of Chicago.

She returned yesterday. Before seeing her mother or father, she met newsmen saying she hoped her family would be left alone if she answered all questions at once.

Capt. Rose Kennington, head of the police department's bureau of missing persons, had been searching for Miss Weiland since her disappearance and was one of the first persons to learn of her return.

Miss Weiland said she left because she couldn't convince Wieg-ner she did not love him enough to marry him.

"I told him I didn't love him enough, I realized that if I stayed home, I'd have to marry him. So I left. As long as he was here, I wasn't going to come back. I have no intentions of marrying him. That's final. Please send him this message: 'No deal — the deal's off. I'm very sorry. I'm not under any strain. I've thought it over carefully and I just don't want to marry you.'"

Here's the big new '52 FORD
... most powerful car in its class!

Designed to out-perform... out-ride... out-size any other low-priced car on the American Road!

● Never before did so little money buy performance to match that of the '52 Ford. You get a choice of two great power plants—the new Mileage Maker Six, or the Strato-Star V-8.

No other car in its class can equal Ford's smooth-riding, corner-hugging roadability. No other can match its new Coachcraft Bodies... its huge one-piece windshield and carwide rear window... its convenient Center-Fill Fueling... its Power-Pivot Clutch and Brake Pedals.

Here is a car that is truly the ablest car on the American Road... a car that meets the widest range of motorists' needs... a car that does more things for more people at lower cost. Examine it carefully. "Test Drive" it. You'll agree you can pay more but you can't buy better!

FORDOMATIC DRIVE—You'll discover that Fordomatic Drive for '52 is the most versatile, the quickest and smoothest responding automatic drive of any in its field. You get the smooth power flow of a Fluid Torque Converter... the get-up-and-GO of Automatic Mechanical Gears... plus the savings of having the exact power you need, when you need it!

NEW! 101-h.p. High-Compression MILEAGE MAKER SIX!
It's the only completely new, the only low-friction engine in the low-price field! It delivers high-compression "go" on regular gas.

NOW! 110-h.p. High-Compression STRATO-STAR V-8!
For '52, Ford's famous Strato-Star V-8 is stepped up to 110-h.p. It's the only V-8 and the most powerful engine in its field. Like the Six it has the economy of Ford's Automatic Power Pilot.

NEW COACHCRAFT BODIES
Styled to stay beautiful... built to stay young
They embody the newest in body-building techniques. They're longer and stronger... provide greater comfort. New hull-tight construction seals out water, dust and drafts.

Beta Sigma Phi Has Modern Dance Program

Three students of Mrs. Jeannette Willingham presented three phases of modern dancing at the Beta Sigma Phi meeting in the City Club room Monday night. Program participants included Miss Maynette Loftus, Miss Susie Fillman and Miss Jan Dyer. Miss Ann Jordan accompanied the dancers.

Program chairmen of the evening were Mrs. Norman Fulps and Mrs. David Tubbs.

In giving the history of the dance, Mrs. Tubbs explained that folk dances have existed as far back as history goes. Nearly every country had folk dances ranging from the highland fling to the western square dance.

"Somewhere along the progress of the dance, it became a popular entertainment," Mrs. Tubbs explained. "Originally the ballet was an Italian stage dance of the Middle Ages which spread first to France, Russia and other countries of Europe and finally to America. In the early Twentieth Century a group of Russians wrote special music, designed special stage sets and costumes and introduced a new dance form, transforming the traditional ballet into the ballet-drama and it has been in this new form that the ballet has become world-famous."

Miss Loftus then did a ballet number to the accompaniment of the "Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy" from the Nutcracker Suite. She is the daughter of Mrs. Azelle Loftus and is 11 years old. She has studied dancing four and one-half years and does ballet, toe, tap and acrobatic dances.

Miss Fillman did two tap dances, demonstrating one of the most popular dances in America today. The tap dance came to this country with the Irish who did clog dances in wooden shoes.

"This complicated rhythmic music of the feet has been developed to an extreme fineness in dances of Ireland," Mrs. Tubbs said. "The most difficult of these are the Irish jigs, reels and a few feet tap the floor 75 times in hornpipes. In some of these the one-fourth of a minute they were welcomed in this country, but have nearly suffered oblivion because of the inevitable fusion with the clog and shuffle dances of the American Negro."

In recent years the movements have become broader, the rhythms more intricate and more and more stress is placed upon the music of the feet."

Miss Fillman has been studying dancing two years. She is five years old now, and last summer appeared on the Louis Dufrenoy television show, while studying in Hollywood.

The last guest to appear was Miss Jan Dyer, who is 12 years old. She has studied ballet, toe, tap and acrobatic dancing seven years. She also studied in Hollywood last summer and is ready to start her practice teaching. She is the daughter of Mrs. Erdine Dyer.

Mrs. Harry Hight of Denver and Mrs. George Mealy, of Pampa, were special guests at the meeting. Mrs. Hight was introduced to the club.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Bill Bridges, Betty Brock, J. F. Campbell, Stanley Chittenden, R. L. Edmondson, Jr., Joe Fletcher, Marion Fugate, Leonard Smith, Virgil Hamilton, G. L. Heister, Dortha Kutz, Travis Liv-

The Three Hairstyles For Spring

Seven Pampa beauty operators were among the 4,000 professional beauty operators who attended the All-Texas Beauty show in Dallas last week at which the three hair styles for spring and summer were presented.

Beauty operators from Pampa, members of the Texas Association of Beauty Culturists, attended the convention — Mrs. Billie Lane W. Fountain, Mrs. Billie Ferguson, Mrs. Mildred Faulter, Mrs. Hazel Lockhart, Mrs. Euna Lee Moores, Mrs. Doris McClure, Mrs. Rosemary Tinsley, Lydia Standefer, Bo Jack Phillips, Mrs. Ella P. Hlips and W. A. Phillips.

These Pampa operators brought home the know-how on the top styles — the poodle, modified short and the chignon style — but regardless of the new style, you select, your hair will be contoured and winged-up.

Two outstanding guest artists, Miss Grace Doran of Hollywood and Darwin Jones of Portland, Ore., gave special classes during the three-day convention at Hotel Adolphus. Miss Doran lectured and gave make-up demonstrations along with hair styling. Mr. Jones displayed techniques of the poodle cut and its variations — Paris, Hollywood and New York are again setting the pace in hairstyles. Paris is crusading the color sprays and sparkle treatment. New York likes the short poodle cut, and Hollywood, true to form, holds out for the longer hair.

The poodle is the most talked about style for spring though it's the only one of all three new styles that can not be adapted to every face. A poodle cut calls for a round, pike, doll-type face, and even with all the modifications of the poodle, every woman can't wear it.

The modified-short style is good for an oval face, but it is a versatile style that can be adapted to any face. The chignon, too, can be varied for any type face. With slight alterations about the top or around the face, the chignon is becoming to most any woman.

While the poodle cut is considered "the latest" it is actually a cut women have been getting since the roaring 20's when it was called a pineapple bob and was worn by only the most daring women. Amelia Earhart did a lot to set the short style, too, and movie stars wore what they called a bubble hair-do in the early 30's. And remember the feather cut from the early days of World War II? Then came Mary Martin and her triumph in "South Pacific" when she kept her hair cropped for her number, "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Right Outa My Hair."

As Mr. Jones pointed out in the Dallas style show, "In those early days of the short haircut, we didn't understand the art of cutting hair to a woman's features. Today we are giving the poodle cut variations to blend with a customer's face and personality."

For the woman with a round face, the top curls are brought to the side and the sides swept back in soft waves. For the woman with a long, slender face it is smooth and the curls brought to the side, giving width to the face.

Oddly enough, the "pony" did not rate mention in the Dallas show, which is considered second only to Chicago's annual beauty show. Still, some Pampa careerists and athletic-minded women are wearing the pony because they like its smooth, casual effect.

Little hats are big news this spring, and they complement all three of the season's hairstyles. From any angle, it looks like hats and hair are going to team this spring and summer to make big news. —WJC

Cook's Nook

Like one young housewife said recently, "I don't know what we'd do if there were not so many interesting ways to use ground beef!"

Ground beef is a good standby, and it doesn't take the young homemaker long to learn that it's one of her best friends because it is versatile and slightly easier on the budget than many other meats.

Here's an appetizing vegetable meat pie made with ground beef crust. The vegetable and meat dish calls for a salad, dessert and coffee — no more. Can there ever be too many one-dish favorites in your recipe file?

- CRUST:
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup milk
3-4 lb. ground beef
1 egg
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- FILLING:
3 tablespoons catsup
Combine crust ingredients and press into nine-inch pie plate.
- 1-4 cup grated onion
2 tablespoons margarine
1/2 teaspoon flour
1 cup (meat) whole kernel corn
1 cup (meat) lima beans
1 cup (meat) tomatoes
Drain corn, lima beans and tomatoes. Cook onion in margarine, blend in flour. Slowly add the tomatoes, lima beans and corn. Place filling in meat crust. Bake for 40 minutes at 350 degrees F. Recipe serves six. (Note: Make certain that vegetables are well drained.)

Spring Football Biamed For Drop In IL Baseball

AUSTIN — (AP) — A sharp drop in the number of schoolboy baseball teams competing this year may be the result of restoring the spring football practice rule.

Athletic Director Rhea H. Williams said so Thursday as he released the tentative list of schools that will take part in the interscholastic League baseball program.

Only 664 schools have signed up, compared with 723 last year. Williams said the removal of restrictions on spring football training was the only apparent reason for the decline in baseball interest.

- The tentative list carries 87 Class AA teams, 148 A teams, and 429 B teams.
- Conference AA teams will include these by districts:
1. Amarillo, Big Spring, Borger, Lamesa, Lubbock, Odessa, Pampa, Plainview.
 2. Austin (El Paso), Bowie, (El Paso), Thomas Jefferson (El Paso), Ysleta.
 3. Abilene, San Angelo, Stephenville, Sweetwater.
 4. Childress, Quanah, Vernon, Wichita Falls.
 5. Ft. Worth: Arlington Heights, Carter-Riverside, Ft. Worth Tech, North Side, Paschal, Polytechnic.
 6. Dallas: Crozier Tech, Forest Avenue, North Dallas, Sunset, Addison, Woodrow Wilson.
 7. Corsicana, Hillsboro, Temple, Waco, Waxahachie.
 8. Denton, Grand Prairie, Highland Park, Irving.
 9. Denison, McKinney, Sherman, Sulphur Springs.
 10. Gluewater, Henderson, Kilgore, Longview, Lufkin, Marshall, Texarkana, Tyler.
 11. Beaumont, Orange, Port Arthur, Fort Neches, South Park (Beaumont).
 12. Bryan, Conroe, Freeport, Galena Park, Galveston, Robert W. Lee (Baytown), Pasadena, Texas City.
 13. Houston: Miloy, Jefferson Davis, John H. Reagan, Lamar, Sam Houston, San Jacinto, Stephen F. Austin.
 14. Alamo Heights (San Antonio), Austin, Harlandale, Victoria, New Braunfels.
 15. Alice, Laredo, Roy Miller (Corpus Christi), W. B. Ray (Corpus Christi).
 16. Brownsville, Edinburg, Harlingen, McAllen.

STOPPED — Eugene Cooper, above, lethal Pampa left-hander, was stopped in his bid for his third state championship last night by a cut eye in the first round of the semifinal bout. He was stopped by Roy Harris of Cut and Shoot, who won the championship in a similar manner.

Amarillo Team Is Second In Points

By WILBUR MARTIN
FORT WORTH — (AP) — El Paso won the team title at the annual Golden Gloves, but the Border city battlers couldn't take a single individual championship. They 16 points El Paso built through the semi-finals brought Chuck Whitlock's entry the big trophy last night.

But the titles went to: Flyweight, Pat McCarthy, 113, Amarillo. Bantamweight, Henry Miramontes, 118, Dallas. Featherweight, Raymond Riojar, 126, Fort Worth. Lightweight, Pete Perez, 134, Amarillo. Welterweight, Johnny O'Glee, 138, Dallas. Middleweight, Roy Harris, 160, Brownwood. Light heavyweight, Alphonso Merino, 168, Wichita Falls. Heavyweight, Campbell Woodman, 179, Wichita Falls.

Just one of the champions won a key and that was an automatic technical recorded by Harris when he opened a cut over the eyes of Billy Haynes, 158, at 48 seconds of the third round. Harris, who came to the tournament three years ago from Cut and Shoot, in deep East Texas, scored the biggest upset of the meet in the semi-finals, when he stopped defending champion Eugene Cooper, 161, Amarillo, after 53 seconds of the first round by opening a cut over the eye.

Riojas is the only champion to repeat this year, but McCarthy and O'Glee are former champions. McCarthy, who won the flyweight title here in 1950 and the California batamweight champion last year while in the Marines, beat Pedro Melendez, 113, El Paso.

Wrestling Set For Thursday

GEORGE OVERHULS

A pair of villains of the ring, Lubbock's Ray (Big Train) Clements and Amarillo's George Overhuls will blend their ring ruddiness Thursday night in a tag team match against veteran Billy Weidner of Boston, Mass., and Bill Sledge, Thornton, Tex., broncbuster.

The tag match will be the feature event on the opening card of wrestling in Pampa in three years. The matches will be held at the Southern Club, south of Pampa, Thursday night starting at 8:15. They are being promoted by Howard Vineyard, in cooperation with Dory Detton, well-known Amarillo matchmaker. The matches will be broadcast by radio station KFDN, direct from ringside in the Southern Club. In the supporting card, former Golden Glove champion Alex Perez of Amarillo, will tangle with Gene Detton, younger brother of Dory. It will be a one-half, 20-minute time limit semi-final.

In the curtain raiser, Weidner and Clements will battle in another one-half 20-minute limit engagement.

Advance tickets will be placed on sale at 9 a.m. Thursday morning and be one sale until 5 p.m. at the box office at the Southern Club. Prices are 1.50 ring-side, $1.25 reserved, $1 general admission, and fifty cents for children under 12.

Paso with 14 points. Fort Worth had 13, Dallas, 12; Wichita Falls and San Antonio, 11; Austin 7, Tyler and Brownwood, 6; Commerce and Beaumont, 5; Abilene and Odessa, 3; Waco and Houston, 2; McAllen 1.

Reapers Sneak Past Borger To Hold Onto Second Place

Phillips Junior High school retained its one-game lead over the Pampa Reapers yesterday afternoon as they defeated Price College 54-14 while the Reapers edged out Borger, 41-39.

Each team has two games left on its schedule. Next Thursday Phillips plays its toughest foe of when it goes to Borger to play time, and 35-26 at the start of the fourth quarter. But then the Poodles started to roll, hitting long set shots over the top of the zone defense employed by the Reapers.

The Reapers appeared to be going to have their hands full with the baby Bulldogs. And they did. The Poodles narrowed the

Norwegian Speedskater Hits Triple Slam In Winter Games

By BEN PHLEGAR
OSLO, Norway — (AP) — Hjalmar Andersen, Norway's sensational speedskater, virtually dominated competition after the world triple slam in winter Olympics Trondheim next month, won the history today when he shattered his own recognized world record of 16:37.4 set last year. He also had an even better time of 16:32.6, made in an international meet at Hamar, Norway, nine days ago, up for recognition.

Andersen, who plans to retire from competition after the world triple slam in winter Olympics Trondheim next month, won the 5000 meter race Sunday in the Olympic record time of 8:10.6 and the 1500 meter race (120 yards less than a mile) in 2:20.4.

The quiet, modest ice star was clocked in the third pair to take the grind of approximately 6-1-4 before a roaring crowd of over 25,000, including Crown Prince Olav and his son, Prince Harald, in Bislett Stadium.

Olympic races are decided on the first seven finishers came close to his clocking and none of the other 22 skaters in the field is expected to approach his sensational time.

His time today was far under the Olympic record of 17:24.2 set by another Norwegian sports hero, Ivar Ballangrud, in 1936 at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany. Ballangrud captured three gold medals that year but not on successive days.

While it will be the third gold medal for Andersen it will be the sixth for Norway, the host nation.

Norway zoomed far in front in the team standings yesterday by sweeping all three first places and a total of 42 points for a grand total of 74 points. The Norsemen, at home in the snow and on the ice, are expected to race away from all opposition.

Until today, Austria was second with 41 points and the U.S. third with 34 1-2.

Johnny Werket, the mighty mite from Minneapolis and one of Uncle Sam's chief hopes in the 10,000, dropped out at the halfway mark of his heat. He had just recovered from a bout with flu and obviously wasn't feeling too well.

A third Norwegian has won three Olympic gold medals. In 1924 Thorleif Haug took the 18 and 50 kilometer cross country ski races and ski jumping at the first winter games at Chamonix, France.

Ballangrud, now a business competitor of Andersen, won the 500, 1500 and 10,000-meter speed skating races in 1936.

The men's special slalom is the other main event today and the favorite is another Norwegian, Stein Eriksen, Andersen's only rival for the affections of the country's sports population.

Eriksen won the men's giant slalom at Norefjell Friday. Today's race is at Rodekveia in the hills back of Oslo, a course Eriksen knows like a book.

While skiers and speed skaters are busy with the final events, the 14 men figure skaters start the first half of their show — the tedious school figures.

Dick Button of Englewood, N. J., who has been winning men's figure skating championships all over the world since he grabbed his first Olympic title at St. Moritz in 1948, is favored.

Spring Training Underway As Majors Ready For '52

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK — (AP) — The spring training season was underway today amid pep talks by managers, sipping stars and assorted rookie prospects.

The almost-victorious Brooklyn Dodgers pitched camp in Vero Beach, Fla. When the entourage arrived, it was greeted by Gil Hodges, homerun king of the team, young infielder Rocky Bridges and pitchers Ralph Branca, Carl Erskine and Clyde King.

The only player on the train was Carl Furillo, who joined the group of writers and club officials at Philadelphia.

The New York Giants, who beat out the Brooks for the National League pennant in a playoff, got a one-day start along with the St. Louis Cardinals, Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Giants arrived in Phoenix, Ariz., yesterday and no sooner did they check in than Manager Leo Durocher had the batterymen out drilling. But with all his men, Durocher probably is worrying more about the absent Sal Maglie than anyone.

Maglie remains in his lair at Niagara Falls, N.Y., determined to get more money than the National League champions have offered so far.

Rookie Manager Eddie Stanky sent his Cardinals through a limbering up period after talking to the assembled athletes for 20 minutes.

By The Associated Press
Today a year ago — Joe Miceli outpointed lightweight Champion Ike Williams in a ten-round non-title bout at Philadelphia.

Five years ago — Fiery Dawn and Bud's First won the first and second races at Hialeah to produce a daily double of $2.63, the largest in the track's history.

Ten years ago — Mal Edward resigned as head football coach at Purdue to return to the Navy.

Twenty years ago — Haakon Pedersen of Norway won the 500-meter world's skating championship at Lake Placid, N. Y.

Jackson Twins

HERE WE GO WITH SHANTY'S LATEST TURKEY, 'THE TWINS' SONS!

OH, MY JILL SHE IS A PRETTY THING WITH LONG AND WAVY HAIR! BUT I NEVER KNOW JUST WHO'S MY LOVE FOR HER TWIN IS JUST AS FAIR!

NOW I HAD A DATE WITH JILL ONE NIGHT, BUT TWAS JIM WHO ANSWERED THE DOOR! SHE SMILED AT ME WITH AN ANXIOUS EYE AND I THOUGHT IT WAS JILL FOR SURE!

JUST THEN MY JILL CALLED DOWN THE STAIRS! HAD I MISSED HER? SHE WANTED TO KNOW I MISSED HER? WHY, MISTER I'D JUST KISSED HER SISTER SO I DECIDED THAT I'D BETTER GO!

I SAID I'D GUESSED WRONG, AND BOTH TWINS GOT SORE, AND QUICKLY TOGETHER THEY BANDED THEMSELVES AS I RAN OUT THE DOOR, FOR ONE'S LEFT AND THE OTHER'S RIGHT-HANDED!

YAY HA HA HA HA HA

Blondie

BLONDIE! OUR DAUGHTER IS SITTING ON THE SCOTCH HOLDING HANDS WITH ELMO!

THEY GROW UP SO QUICKLY!

HURRY BEFORE HE PROPOSES TO HER AND SHE ACCEPTS!

OKAY ELMO YOU WIN-- LET GO OF ME AND I'LL TELL YOU WHERE I HIDE YOUR MARBLES!

PHEW!

I GUESS WE WON'T HAVE TO WORRY FOR A LITTLE WHILE, YET!

Alley Oop

WE FEED UM CORN, YOU WASH UM POTS! SQUAW HAPPY/CHIEF HAPPY! WHY YOU SAYUM "WAT"?

IT'S NOT ONLY ME THAT NEEDS CORN, IT'S EVERYBODY IN JAMESTOWN!

UM! TELL HIM... BZZZZ

BIG CHIEF OWANAN HIM SAY "NO DEAL!"

BUT THAT'S INHUMAN-- TH' ENGLISH MEN WILL STARVE!

GORRY, BUT IF ALL ENGLISHMEN WASH ALL INDIAN'S POTS, THAT IS BAD! ALL SQUAWS THEN GET FAT AN' LAZY!

Bo

WOW...WHAT A COMMOTION THAT SNARLING DOG IS MAKING OVER THE NEWSBOY TOSING A PAPER ON THEIR PORCH!

IT'S A GOOD THING THEY KEEP THAT VICIOUS DOG LOCKED UP!

OH, HE'S NOT REALLY VICIOUS...

KIDS THROWING SNOWBALLS MADE HIM THAT WAY. YOU CAN'T BLAME HIM, I'LL COME BY WHEN HIS OWNERS' HOME AND GET TO KNOW HIM. THEN HE'LL BE OKAY.

THERE'S A LESSON FOR DOG-HATERS IF THEY'D BE...

EXCUSE ME, STRANGER, I'D LIKE A WORD WITH YOU...

Ozark Ike

NO DOUBT THEM PRO CHAMPS ARE FAVORED I BEAT US HOT SHOTS T'NIGHT... BUT WONDUH WHUT TH' POINT SPREAD IS...

YUP... MESSIN' WITH THEM POINT SPREADS KIN GIT YUH IN TROUBLE FASTER N YOU KIN SAY FIX' AN MAKE BAIL!...

... BUT NOBODY KIN POINT A FINGUAH AT US IF N WE BEAT TH' SOCKS OFF N EM.

OH, HE'S NOT REALLY VICIOUS...

WOLFGANGS FAVORED OVER HOT SHOTS BY 15 POINTS

Buzz Sawyer

YIP-PEE! A RESCUE PLANE!

AGAIN THE PLANE CIRCLES, LOWER.

THAT'S SAWYER, ALL RIGHT!

HEY! THEY'RE SHOOTING AT US!

KA-POW! JUMP!

Chris Welkin

I'VE BEEN WAITING FOR YOU TO CONTACT ME, BOLERON.

FIRST CHANCE I HAD SINCE THE EARTHEN LANDED?

WELKIN AND AMAIZA ARE IN THE VALLEY WEST OF OUR LANDING SITE. DO YOU KNOW THE LOCATION?

I'VE SEEN IT. EXCELLENT!

WE'LL CAPTURE WELKIN AND THEN THE FLYING TERRIBLE WILL BE OURS!

Mutt & Jeff

HEH-HEH! YESTERDAY I TOLD JEFF I'D CHOOSE HIM FAIR AND SQUARE TO SEE WHO DID ALL THE HOUSEWORK--JUST BECAUSE I OUTWISHED HIM I WON!

HMM, WHAT'S THIS? SOME DOCTOR SAYS THAT BALDNESS IS A SIGN OF GREAT INTELLECT-- THAT MOST MENTAL WIZARDS ARE BALD!

HE MUST BE THE EXCEPTION THAT PROVES THE RULE! HE'S GOT A MIND LIKE A CHILD!

WHEN!

JEFF I THINK WE ARE INTELLECTUAL OPPOSITES! DO YOU KNOW WHAT I MEAN BY THAT?

SURE! I'M INTELLECTUAL AND YOU'RE THE OPPOSITE!

Bugs Bunny

SORRY, BUD, NO RIDERS UP HERE... GET IN TH' BACK!

Priscilla's Pop

A GOLD STAR IN SPELLING! I'M SO PROUD!

IT'S FINE TO BE PROUD, PRISCILLA! BUT YOU MUST ALSO BE MODEST!

ALWAYS BE HUMBLE! NOBODY LIKES A BRAGGART!

YES, MY GIRL IS A REAL PRODIGY!

GOT A GOLD STAR IN SPELLING!

ENSONS STEAM LAUNDRY

HEY, BLUEGILL, GO AN SEE IF MY BABY SISTER IS WARM AN' COMFORTABLE ENOUGH THERE AT TH' LAUNDRY GRATIN!

EGAD! IT'S YOUR TRAITOROUS INGRATITUDE THAT STABS ME TO THE CORE, NOT THE $500 YOU'LL MAKE ON THAT DRAUGHTED NAPOL-EON VEST!

WISH I COULD JOIN YOU IN A BATH OF TEARS, BUT I CAN'T SHAKE OFF THE VULGAR THOUGHT THAT YOU RAIGED THE ANTE $100 WHEN WE BOUGHT A FEW ONIONS!

YEAH, THAT WAGNT A BOOK OF MATCHES YOU TOOK FROM US-- GO TRY TO BORROW $100 AND A FEW ONIONS!

THE WHOLE DEAL SMACKS OF CRASS COMMERCIALISM!

BORN THIRTY YEARS TOO SOON

Vic Flint

MY HUSBAND-- ONE OF THE BURGLARS KNOCKED HIM UNCONSCIOUS! I'VE BEEN TRYING TO REVIVE HIM.

I'M AFRAID THERE'S NO USE TRYING ANY FURTHER, MRSEWORTHMORE.

I'M GETTING OUT HERE YOU GUYS GET THIS TRUCK INTO THE GARAGE AS FAST AS YOU CAN, SEE YOU BOTH TOMORROW.

CHECK, RAUL!

THERE THEY ARE, TORSO! THE COMPLETE WORTH-MORE COLLECTION!

Little Doc

WUXTRA! EISENHOWER, KEFAUVER, STASSEN-- TAFT!

WHY DONT THEY RUN A WOMAN FOR PRESIDENT?

IT SURE IS A MAN'S WORLD!

APPLE STRUDEL IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD!

MY POP SAYS...

WHEN A MAN'S BORN, PEOPLE ASK "HOW'S THE MOTHER? WHEN HE MARRIES, THEY YAP "WHAT A LOVELY BRIDE" WHEN HE DIES, THEY INQUIRE "HOW MUCH DID HE LEAVE HER?"

Wash Tubbs

JANET, THIS IS THE LAST STRAW! YOU'LL HAVE TO FINISH THIS TRIP ALONE-- YOUR KNACK FOR INVITING TROUBLE IS MORE THAN I...

MISS TULLIS? HAVE YOU MARRIED THAT BIRD YET?

WHY, NO... NOT YET, OFFICER. BUT I'M WORKING ON IT! WHY? HOW DID YOU KNOW?

YOUR FATHER FOUND OUT AND HE'S FRANTIC! BUT I'M WORKING ON IT! WHY? HOW DID YOU KNOW?

HATE BITTING IN OTHER PEOPLE'S AFFAIRS, MISS, BUT I HAVE A DAUGHTER OF MY OWN, AND I KNOW HOW MR. TULLIS HATES TO SEE YOU SADDLED WITH A NORTHLESS HUSBAND!

IT'S SO SWEET OF YOU TO WARN ME, OFFICER! GO ON...

HEY, WHAT IS ALL THIS BESIDES JUST WHAT'S WRONG WITH ME? I'D LIKE TO KNOW!

Boots

REIN UP, WILL YOU? CAN'T HELP IT, BUNCY; I FEEL SO ALL-FIRED GOOD I JUS' CAN'T LIGHT!

RUTHERFORD B. PHIPPS, COME BACK HERE!

WELL, IT WENT ON AND ON LIKE THAT! IT TOOK ME HOURS TO QUIET HIM DOWN!

BUT MY GOODNESS-- MR. BUNCE-- TELLING A STORY!

Mickey Finn

HELLO, PHIL! I'M SO GLAD I FOUND YOU HOME!

AND I'M GLAD TO SEE THAT YOU'RE SELLING CARS NOW, EH?

SELLING CARS? NO? THEN-AH-WHERE DID YOU GET THAT NEW ONE OUT THERE?

I BOUGHT IT, PHIL! AND DROVE IT UP HERE!

IN WASHINGTON? Y-YOU'VE BEEN DOWN T-TO WASHINGTON?

YES, PHIL- AND I HAVE WONDERFUL NEWS FOR YOU! THE FLASHMORE ELECTRICAL RESEARCH CORPORATION HAS BOUGHT MY ELECTRON INCAMBUlator!

Penny

ALINT ELLEN, DO YOU REALLY THINK THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART IS THROUGH HIS STOMACH LIKE YOU SAID?

YES! WELL YOU KNOW THE FUDGE CAKE I SO... I BAKED TO IMPRESS TED LAST NIGHT?

DIDN'T HE LIKE IT? HE ADORED IT?

HE SPENT OUR WHOLE DATE EATING IT AND NEVER ONCE LOOKED AT ME!

SIMIAN SERENADE—"Pepi," a hep guy with a castnet, leads the simian symphony at Ascot, England, through a number—probably "Down in Jungle Town." Starring on the clarinet is "Bobo," the chimp, while "Mendi" tickles the ivories, "Janet" strums the ukelele and "Billy" bangs the drums.

LINCOLN HEAD OF SAPPHIRE—The world's largest polished sapphire was carved into the likeness of Abraham Lincoln, and is on display in New York City, with proceeds going to the Damon Runyon memorial fund for cancer research. Here, the head, valued at $300,000, is compared with a rough stone of comparable size. The jet-black sapphire weighs 1318 carats, and required two years to carve.

Poodle Haircut Stirs Up Quandary Among The Girls

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (P) — About this matter of poodle haircuts, beauty expert Buddy Westmore declares: "If you follow the mass, you may end up a mess." Buddy is makeup chief at Universal-International studios and member of the famed family of beauticians. As co-owner of a leading beauty salon in Hollywood, he likes to see such fads as the poodle haircut come along. But as a man whose job is to make women beautiful, he warns against faddism.

"Except for the business it brings in, I hate to see fads like the poodle," he remarked. "The women go wild and adopt the fad, whether or not it is suited to their appearance and personality. There's nothing wrong with the poodle, nor is it especially new. But it is suitable for only 20 percent of the women."

"The poodle is best for women with oval-shaped face and well-formed heads. If a tall woman with a long face wore a poodle, she would look ridiculous. Also, it takes a certain kind of hair to adapt to a poodle. Women with heavy, silky hair shouldn't try it. Those without naturally curly hair would find the poodle expensive. To look well-groomed, they would have to get permanents whenever the hair grew out."

"But for women with naturally curly hair, it is a good, lazy way to keep their hair. It requires little care for them. Westmore remarked that several movie and television stars had tried the poodle and found it was a failure for them. Faye Emerson is one of these. Per-

Tax Bureau Doubtful On How Much Information Due Public

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Bureau is doing a bit of soul searching on just how much information it should give the public.

The question would have lots of tough, complex angles at any time. Now it's doubly troublesome in the spotlight of recurring tax case scandals.

On one side is the taxpayer's basic right to know what's going on in his government; on the other side is the need to guard much of the confidential information a man or a business firm discloses in tax returns; the desire to protect those who make honest mistakes — or those involved in cases where right or wrong is a very close, debatable question.

Answers to some of the questions under study may lift, at least partially, what some newspapers and officials have called an "iron curtain" or secrecy surrounding the tax service.

Here are some of the issues under study:

First, it's against the law for revenue officials or employees to disclose amounts or sources of income as revealed in tax returns. There's little disagreement with this basic law.

However, this law has been extended in actual practice to ban release of any information whatever on almost all tax delinquency cases and their disposition, except for the few cases that come up in court.

It is argued in some circles that at least some of the most aggravated tax delinquency cases — now settled in secrecy out of court — should be made public. Many of the current scandals involve charges of collusion or fraud in these secret settlements.

The possibility of publicity itself, so the argument goes, is likely to deter would be wrongdoers in or out of the government.

On the other hand there's the chance that publicity could be grossly unjust to a citizen who only made an honest mistake on his tax return, or where revenue agents were wrong in evaluating a debatable case.

The Office of Price Stabilization announces all its cases of alleged price ceiling violations when they are turned over to the Justice Dept. for possible court action. Some say the revenue bureau could do the same.

But beyond the scope of the secrecy provision of the law some revenue officials concede privately that the tax service policy may have backed out much information which could be released.

The bureau announced last November, for example, it would issue a monthly report on its activities as part of a program to keep the public better informed.

The report dealt only in total figures, not specific cases. Release of that first report brought a flurry of publicity on such things as total uncollected tax delinquencies, the number and disposition of tax fraud cases, and the number of revenue employees fired.

Since then the monthly reports have been withheld. Officials said the first report, because of its technical nature, was misunderstood by the public and the bureau was unduly placed in a bad light. But now the idea of releasing such a report is being studied anew.

Still another major question under discussion is how much information should be released about disciplinary action against revenue employees.

In many cases, notably when 30 employees were fired in one swoop last November, the bureau announced dismissal of workers charged with dishonesty or improper deals with taxpayers. It gave a general description of the charges, but no details.

Since November, however, the bureau has made no announcements of disciplinary action. Several announcements of disciplinary action have come from officials in local tax offices involved, but not from the bureau here. This might tend to keep down national publicity and national totals on the firings.

Russell Winner Of Ball Tourney

MEAMI, Fla. — Jack Russell, the new baseball players' golf champion, is better known to pop than the younger generation.

When Russell knocked off Dick Barter, Detroit Tiger coach, 3 and 2 in yesterday's 18-hole final, the crew cut asked "Who's Russell?"

The righthander 46, pitched for the Boston Red Sox, Washington, Detroit, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cards in his career stretch-me from 1928 to 1940. Along the way he made two world series — with Washington in '33 and the Cubs in '38.

The young blood was sitting on the sidelines when they played the finals. Lou Kretlow, Chicago White Sox pitcher who knocked out defending champ Alvin Dark of the Giants, was beaten by Dick Bartell, 6 and 5, in the semi-finals.

Russell outstaided Bartell in the finals. He was only one over par when he closed out the match by sinking an 18-inch putt
