Gulf Oil Corp. Brings In New Pool Sixteen Miles Northeast Of Pampa

Cable-Tool Test Shows 78 Barrels, 51-Gravity

An oil discovery of major proportions has been made by Gulf Oil Corp. 16 miles north of Pampa in Roberts county. The well, which opened an entirely new shallow pool for the Panhandle, is Gulf's No. 2 John Haggard. The cable-tool test flowed 78 barrels of 51-gravity oil in six hours after hitting gas at 3998' and again at 4005'.

The oil was hit in brown dolomite at 4009'. It began flowing at this point with flowing pressures increasing to the 4015-foot point where operators shut-in the well to move in a 500-barrel tank.

This is one of the most important strikes in the Panhandle since the regular field was opened in the mid-1920's.

Mercury Dips As Cool Wind Hits Pampa

A heavy blow from winter in the Rocky Mountains was responsible for dropping temperatures in Pampa and the Texas Panhandle today. Temperatures began slipping downward shortly after 7 a. m. today as the wind shifted from south to north-northwest and velocities climbed from 19 miles an hour to a puffing 25 to 31 mph blow by 8:30 a. m.

Snow, hail and rain hit a wide area from the Rocky Mountains to the Great Lakes region today. Snow fell in parts of Montana, Idaho and Wyoming, with a fall of more than seven inches at Butte, Mont.

By mid-morning today, Pampa's temperature stood at 60 degrees after dropping from 68 degrees at 7 a. m. The mercury registered 62 degrees a few minutes after 7. Thursday afternoon a 94-degree high greeted delegates arriving for the 22nd annual convention of the National Hwy. 60 Association, but today visitors and residents can expect cooler but windy weather.

Second First Aid Course Held Here

The second in a series of first aid courses was taught by Frank A. Stallings last night in the Red Cross room of the city hall. Nine were present for the study on wounds and their care. This lesson will be continued next Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the Red Cross room.

Girl and Boy Scout leaders and mothers are enrolled in the first aid course which when completed will qualify them for a 3-year certificate. The course is open to the public and free.

Credit will be given to those enrolling not later than Thursday, said Mrs. F. W. Shottwell, Red Cross executive secretary.

Little Girl Gets A Break From Hizzoner

Seven-year-old Susan Burke wanted no trouble with the law. She wrote Birmingham's Mayor Donald W. Kramer: "I want to run a lemonade stand this summer. Do I have to have a license?"

Susan won't need one, the mayor said.

Although production is from the prolific brown dolomite, the formation from which Panhandle gas is produced, the gravity of the oil and the pressure indicate an entirely new structure.

Virgin pressure for the regular Panhandle field was about 400 pounds while the No. 2 Haggard showed pressure in excess of 800 pounds at 3998 feet.

In addition to this the regular field produces oil with gravity ratings from 49.43 whereas the oil from the Haggard No. 2 is 51 gravity. Oil and gas ratio for the pool opener is said to be exceedingly high, particularly at about 4009 feet.

The first show of oil was obtained at 4008 feet. Gas at this point gauged 8,300,000 cubic feet. Oil began spraying at 4009 feet. Some local observers believe the well can produce more than the 13 barrels an hour it has registered so far. Accurate gauges cannot be taken until the well is completed.

An increase in drilling activity is expected in the area within the next few months. There is no way of determining the size of the pool except by more drilling.

Gulf has a 25-section block leased in the area with Magnolia, Phillips and Sinclair close-by.

Oilmen are hoping the well is on the flank of another buried mountain range which will run generally parallel to the buried Amarillo Mountain range on whose flank the regular field is producing.

There are no check points on this however. The only other point is the Texas company's No. 1 Holt, some 35 miles northwest of the No. 2 Haggard. The Holt topped the dolomite below 3200 feet.

It is felt the test will force oilmen to reexamine their findings made in other wells drilled several years ago. In most cases, the dolomite gave showings of oil and gas, but were not considered good enough.

Jordan Named To Represent Pampa Lions

Rufe Jordan is to represent Pampa at the District Lions Club Convention in El Paso this weekend, it was announced Thursday at the regular Lions Club meeting.

Jordan's daughter, Ann, has been selected as the local sweetheart to compete with other club sweethearts of the district for a trip to the national convention in Mexico City.

Miss Jordan and the other club sweethearts for each month were the special guests at Thursday's meeting. Boss Lion Sherman White presented each with a compact from the group.

The program for the meeting was furnished by Eoy Johnson, minister of music of the First Methodist Church, who sang three numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson at the piano.

Murray Stands Pat . . . Steelworkers Want WSB-Okayed Hike

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Steelworkers Union Chief Philip Murray said today he is willing to renew labor peace talks with the steel industry, but stressed he's still standing pat on his demands.

Murray told reporters at the union's big convention that it would be up to the industry to initiate new negotiations, and that he was always ready to accept a bid.

Murray made it clear in his remarks to the convention that he was unwilling to retreat from the eventual 26-cent an hour "package" plus union shop, recommendations of the government's Wage Stabilization Board (WSB). The industry has balked at the WSB proposals.

"This organization is not going to compromise any more on this issue," Murray told the cheering delegates. "Our demands already have been compromised by the WSB. We didn't get all we wanted by any means. And we're in no mood to compromise any more with anybody."

Settlement To Western Union Strike Sought

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Clyde Mills, assistant chief of the Federal Conciliation Service, called union and company officials together today in another effort to settle the Western Union strike, now in its sixth week.

Mills' personal participation in the latest attempt to bring a settlement in the deadlocked dispute appeared to indicate some change in the situation.

But neither Mills nor officials of the company or union would comment in any way on what new plan, if any was in the wind.

In a nationwide radio broadcast (ABC) last night, Adolph Brungs, chairman of the Western Union division of the AFL's commercial telegraphers union, launched an attack on the company which hardly laid the groundwork for peaceful talks today.

Brungs said Western Union is "using the strike to blackmail Congress into requiring American Telephone and Telegraph Co. to turn over its network of teletype communications known as TWX to Western Union."

The union chief said the union would not go back to work without an honorable settlement.

The last joint meeting between union and company officials ended one week ago with no progress.

An estimated 31,000 telegraph operators and technicians of Brungs' union walked out on strike April 3 over demands for higher wages. The company said it could not raise wages without going bankrupt.

Since then, the unions demands have been reduced to two: reinstatement of the contract which expired in April and which included a union shop provision and a general 15-cent hourly wage boost to be used to bring about a 40-hour work week, with no loss in pay.

Senate Approves Tidelands Bill; Goes To Truman

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate passed a bill today giving the states clear title to oil-rich submerged lands off their coasts. This sent the legislation to President Truman, for approval or veto.

The Senate acted by voice vote on which members are not recorded.

The issue is state-vs-federal ownership. Truman vetoed a state ownership bill in 1946 but has not said publicly what he will do about this one. Most Capitol guesses were he would veto it.

California, Texas and Louisiana are most directly concerned. Experts have estimated the worth of oil in the submerged lands off their coasts at anywhere from 22 to 39 billion dollars.

The Supreme Court has ruled three times that the federal government has "paramount rights" over the lands, but state ownership sponsors contended the court never nailed down the question of actual ownership and they offered the bill to give the states clear title.

Brownie Picnic Held In Skellytown

SKELLYTOWN (Special) — The Brownie Scouts of the Skelly Schuler Camp went on an outing and picnic Tuesday evening.

Sandwiches, cookies, and drinks were served to the girls after their hiking trip.

Those on the outing were: W.onia McBee, Jan Aulbert, Rita and Rosalie McAllister, Joyce Ann Powell, Kaye Stephenson, Beverly Heston and Jean Beise.

Mrs. F. E. Stephenson, Mrs. Val McAllister, Mrs. W. L. Aulbert, Mrs. Fred Powell and Donny were chaperons.

Oil Locals To Settle Strike; End Due Soon

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The summering oil strike started to cool off today.

Government officials, who fear what one of them called a "pretty critical" shortage of aviation gas, set up 15 bargaining sessions between union and oil company negotiators across the country.

C. A. Knight, leader of a coalition of unions which have been on strike for 16 days, said in an interview that "we have called off the strike" and most strikers should be back on the job soon.

Before that could happen, the 22 unions and 90,000 strikers in involved would have to sign hundreds of local bargaining agreements with more than 70 oil companies.

Some tentative agreements, worked out on the basis of a Wage Stabilization formula, were being reported last night. Others were being awaited today.

15 Cents An Hour

The WSB formula said local contract agreements could provide no more than a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase, except in possibly a few unusual circumstances.

But the unions have already announced they would accept the 15-cent ceiling, and companies employing a total of more than 20,000 workers had already offered that much before the WSB came up with its formula.

Thus, it seemed just a question of time before the several hundred local bargaining groups sign new work contracts and submit them to the WSB for approval under stabilization rules.

Some Texas workers already have returned to work.

However, on the Texas Gulf Coast oil refineries are still struck and plant to plant contracts must be signed before they are opened.

Phillips Settles

In Wichita Falls, union and company officials scheduled a meeting today in an attempt to settle the strike at the Continental refinery there.

Yesterday the WSB approved a 15 cents an hour general wage boost for employees at the Phillips Petroleum Co. plant in Borger. The contract recently was agreed to by the firm and 2000 non-striking members of the International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL). The new wage scale is retroactive to May 1.

POWs Ask Not To Be Returned

PUSAN, Korea — (AP) — The Republic of Korea National Assembly said today it had received petitions from 17,000 Communist prisoners of war pleading not to be returned to Communist Korea.

The petitions were received three weeks ago from the Allies' Koje Island POW Camp. They presumably were made out before the Allied redistribution of anti-Communist prisoners was completed.

The Assembly said 2,900 of the prisoners submitted letters written in blood.

The petitions pledged the prisoners' loyalty to the Republic of Korea and willingness to fight Communism.

'60' Delegates Urged Burglars Hit County Home West Of City

U. S. Highway 60 boosters were urged to battle the slowly building pressure for toll roads this morning in the keynote speech of First Ansley, Amarillo hotel executive, as the 22nd annual U. S. 60 Assn. convention got underway in the junior high school auditorium.

He declared use of toll roads would force the public highway system back to the old method of county road systems where a heavily populated county could afford to build main highways, but a sparsely settled county would have to be content with unpaved roads.

Describing the cost of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, known as U. S. 30 — the speaker said it has already made 200 ghost towns through the heart of the Keystone state. He warned super highways will carry traffic away from cities like Pampa, Abilene, and other towns along main highway routes used mostly by tourists.

Draft To Take Ten Men June 6

The local draft board will send out 10 men for induction into the armed forces June 6 and 20, the board announced today. The board for physicals June 12. But, main highway routes used mostly by tourists are expected to be increased.

A Texas draft call for 1,251 men in July more than three times the number called for June has been announced by Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director. A call for pre-induction examination of 2580 men in July also was announced.

But today the local draft board had not received its quota for July, but, in keeping with the statewide call, an increase in the number of men from this area is expected.

The July draft call will be filled with men 20 and older. Wakefield reported Texas has on only about 300 examined and acceptable men 21 or older, which means the remainder of the 1,251 quota will come from the 20-year-old group.

Pre-induction and induction draft calls will be mailed to local boards beginning today.

The June draft call was for only 384 men, and the induction call for July of last year was only 367.

Wakefield said the increase bears out his earlier prediction that draft calls would begin to rise this summer and be heavier next fall.

The July draft call is the Texas share of a national quota of 33,600.

Local boards will not be able to induct any man below 20 with the exception of draft delinquents and "self education" in pro- quents and volunteers.

Liberty Network Folds; Charges Baseball Monopoly

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS — (AP) — Gordon McLendon, the youthful Texan who built a fabulous radio empire by bucking the laws of baseball to bring major league broadcasts to the hinterlands, gave it up today at least until "the courts grant me relief."

The man who first had to get his play-by-play reports of major league games by listening to a New York radio station then send them to Dallas via teletype, announced that his Liberty Broadcasting System, which grew to 458 stations, was suspending operations.

He charged that the major and minor leagues entered a conspiracy to deprive him of his rights to broadcast and said the Justice Department "didn't have the guts" to fight baseball's violation of the law.

McLendon started his major league broadcasts in 1948 at the Several hundreds of dollars in personal effects were taken by thieves in the house burglary of Kenneth Conner, west of the city along the Amarillo Highway, police reported this morning.

The Conners were away from home since Wednesday and returned late yesterday. Chief of Police Jim Conner said this morning.

Included in the loot, Conner said, were: three small diamonds in yellow gold settings, a ladies wrist watch set with three diamonds on each side of the case, a man's wool coat with fur collar; a pointed Land camera and flash attachment; several pieces of costume jewelry and a Remington electric razor.

The thieves broke into the house through a West side window. Before leaving the premises, they removed the camera from its case and tossed the case under some shrubbery along the west wall of the house, Conner said.

TOLL ROADS

In his report, McWhirter asked that the association name a full-time man as president and that national officers of the association be named by the board of directors. This would mean a constitutional change for the organization.

Emphasizing importance of newspaper advertising the association president urged the various state associations to raise funds for carrying on a "Travel U. S. 60" advertising campaign in local newspapers. This, he added, should be augmented by nationally circulated magazine advertising to be paid for by the national organization.

He also pointed to the large number of travelers who leave points east of the Mississippi and said they are the ones the advertising of U. S. 60 should be aimed at to encourage them to travel the coast to coast highway. He added larger traffic counts on the highway are the chief factors in getting funds for better roads that would automatically provide safer driving conditions.

He called for "face lifting" along the highway where it intersects with other north-south main roads and also interchanges with other east-west highways.

He said properly erected and placed billboards advertising cities, towns, and communities. The communities benefiting in such a way from such signs should be the brunt of their construction and maintenance. As an example he said three points in Texas had each contributed $100 on construction and maintenance of a billboard in the northeastern corner of Oklahoma, near Vinita. "That is getting away from the 'gimmie-its' of letting the other fellow do it," McWhirter said.

In the Middle Ages many leading poets and thinkers of ancient times were widely supposed to have been magicians.

Death Comes To Ailing Sweetheart Of Railroaders

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (AP) — Death has ended the hard-luck story of Minnie Rose Webb, 19-year-old sweetheart of the Illinois Central railroaders.

Minnie died yesterday. In 1942 an appendicitis operation left her a crippled invalid. Railroaders soon noticed her waving to passing trains from a front porch chair at her home near Covington, Tenn.

Seven years ago Conductor J.W. McNamara stopped a freight train to say hello, and saw Minnie's plight.

Soon afterwards the railroaders sent the young girl to St. Louis, where noted surgeons operated on her at the Shriners' Hospital for crippled children.

Even so, Minnie could never walk for long without pain. A little more than a month ago she was stricken with meningitis, and yesterday she died.

It's a cinch that Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Brown will drive in from Westchester to defend their mixed pair title, won last year. They played the hand shown today in last year's tournament, which may

Customs Officials Hard To Convince

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — It took an art dealer 30 minutes to convince customs officials that one of three bright-colored posters by famed French Painter Henri Matisse actually is art.

Three customs officers decreed that the object was "backing material" and therefore subject to duty. Frank Perla, the dealer, won his point by arguing that regardless of how it was shipped, the poster is art and is part of a Matisse exhibit to be shown this month in Beverly Hills.

South would have made his contract very easily, of course, if West had taken the first diamond trick with the king. Declarer could win any return, draw the last trump, and run the good diamonds.

Activities Set For Armed Forces Day Here Saturday

A number of activities are planned here for the observance of Armed Forces Day, Saturday.

The National Guard Armory will be open all day Saturday for visitors and inspection. Members of the 47th Field Artillery Observation Battalion will be on hand to answer questions and demonstrate equipment.

At the same time, officers of the unit will hold a counseling program for young men and parents of young men that may be subject to military service. This program has a two fold service of keeping parents abreast of legislation affecting the military future of their sons and advising them on how they may fulfill their military obligation.

The counseling program Saturday has been inaugurated because members of the National Guard unit here in Pampa have authoritative information that may be valuable to both young men and their parents.

During the counseling period, parents may get the answers to questions such as: How does Selective Service affect my boy? Is he subject to military service? If so, where and how can he serve. And how can he continue his schooling? Of course there will be many other questions that can be answered. One of the goals of the program is to bring about a better understanding of military service to parents so that they can better advise their sons as to what is best for them.

The open house and counseling service Saturday will begin promptly at 9 a.m. and will continue to 4 p.m.

Declarer led the king of hearts, and Mrs. Brown took the ace of hearts and went back to clubs in order to make declarer ruff again.

South next led a second round of trumps and entered dummy with the king of spades in order to finesse the queen of diamonds.

Mr. Brown made the key play of the hand by dropping the four of diamonds instead of winning with the king. What's more, he made the play with great nonchalance as though he had never

Stassen Makes The Issues Clear

The battle line between the forces of Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for the Republican nomination are being more sharply drawn as time for the convention approaches. This was indicated by the statement of Harold Stassen who has now admitted he hasn't a chance to win the nomination...

Stassen is also reported as saying that he would have supported Gen. Eisenhower instead of running himself if a general's campaign had started earlier. Here is a far cut indication that the New Dealers in both the Democrat and Republican parties, are not concerned with principle but politics...

As we have said here before, there have been many things taken by Taft that we feel he will live to regret. We feel that he will learn to regret that he championed public housing, regardless of his motive and will discover that it is impossible to embrace such a socialistic theme with one arm while assailing socialism with the other...

With Stassen virtually eliminated and now working for Eisenhower, with Earl Warren of California standing as an outstanding New Dealer in the Republican party and Eisenhower the obvious choice of New Dealers everywhere, the broad general issues are becoming more sharply enjoined. If we are ever to start throwing off the shackles of New Dealism we can only do it presenting a clear-cut issue to the workers and hope that they have the wisdom to vote for liberty.

What they won't do for a yen in Japan these days! The latest money-making dodge reported from Tokyo is this: A fellow takes a 1000-yen bill, cuts it into 15 pieces, and then reassembles it, minus one piece. With such extra pieces, he makes a new bill. The Bank of Japan is legally obligated to pay in full for any damaged bill if at least two-thirds of it is held by the person presenting it.

There must be a less tedious way of making money. Do you suppose the people out there haven't heard about the surplus property deals, or Internal Revenue Bureau jobs?

We Can Teach Japs How To Make Money

THE NATIONAL Safety Council throws out a statistic or two that should give us warning of peril on the highways in the months ahead. Gasoline consumption in the United States for the first two months of 1952 is up 10 per cent over 1951. This figure is generally used by the Council in computing highway travel.

Cynical Excuse

These deaths are the grimmest of all reminders that this country doesn't have its highway problems even half solved. When will we get around to facing up to this difficult situation? NEGLIGENCE — When word of profits from these practices swept through the farm areas, warehousing government surplus beef became a popular political enterprise. Party workers entered the business directly or through concealed corporate connections. They leased storage space from War Assets for almost nothing, and then rented it to the Commodity Credit Corporation for bonanza figures.

Although the offices of War Assets and COC were then only a few blocks apart at the Capitol, there was never any cooperation or checkup by the two agencies to prevent this dishonest doubling of Uncle Sam. Neither group of officials had ever been asked to explain this negligence.

SKULDUGGERY — Agricultural officials showed more consideration for these political leaders than for trusting farmers or the taxpayers. They signed storage contracts for damp, tumbledown and makeshift bins and warehouses, although they knew that the food would rot. In some instances, they guaranteed contractors against any loss from deterioration.

It should be noted here that Republicans as well as Democrats

Do We Want Leadership? A presentation that was rather new to me was published by "Threefold," a Movement Opposing Social Centralization. The address of "Threefold" is 318 West 56th Street, New York 15, N. Y. It is edited by Ralph Courtney. This publication wants names for its mailing list.

"The United States is busy picking a new President. As the campaign progresses, the statement is often made that this country needs leadership. Thus, a student at the University of Virginia complains that the existing parties 'have failed to offer anything vital enough to arouse our enthusiasm or win our loyalty'...

"There is much confused thinking about the value of 'leadership.' The believers in leaders overlook the fact that leadership is not a remedy, but more of the same disease from which the world has suffered. Are not the so-called leaders of the world from Kaiser Wilhelm II down to Stalin, including to some extent, at least, our own leaders, the men most responsible for the wars and social chaos of the times?"

"Leaders" are in varying degrees, all megalomaniacs. Their abnormal personalities appeal to the potential fanaticism of the people. The rule of lunacy and the "leadership" of lunatics are not always apart. No matter how impressive their following, leaders can do irreparable harm to their country and to the world. They have little respect for common rights. They use discrimination and privilege to attain their objectives. Good men are being held off by them.

"The Founding Documents of this country were designed to preserve the people from leadership and the need for leaders. Its government was to be one of equals among equals. The earlier 'Society of Privilege' in which the King could 'do no wrong' was to be replaced by a social order in which the government was to be deprived of the power to do wrong. It was instituted as the guardian of men's common rights and was not, itself, to be able to violate these rights. This American way of life, as originally conceived, has never really been tried. Although it is already failing it is not too late to try this way, before the whole of social life falls under the control of leadership-politics.

"In such a decentralized society, political could not be used to create privileges. The very nature of its government, restricted to the function of guarding common rights, would have nothing to offer to corrupt men or leaders. Citizens would have cultural and economic freedom on the basis of their common rights. The time for political leaders would be over. Good men could and would then return to public life and one of them would be President."

"The Freeman" magazine also quotes from another copy of "Threefold." This is what it quotes: "If schools are to be free to educate as they may determine, it follows that citizens must also be free, in the name of their inalienable rights, to accept or reject the kind of education that any particular school offers. Thus, the ultimate answer to the educational problem when all else has been tried, is the Threefold proposal that the money available per child for education be paid to the school, whether public or private, of the parents' choice."

"The Freeman" magazine admits that Mr. Courtney of "Threefold" was inconsistent for advocating any form of taxation for public schools. It comments as follows: "If tax money were to be released to the parents of children of school age to spend on the school of their choice, there would be a rapid diminution of all our quarrels over 'released time' for religious training or 'progressive' versus classical education, and so on."

"The Freeman" magazine hopes that Mr. Courtney can build up some steam behind his movement. Of course, any competition for education is very dangerous. It would be of course less dangerous and less tyrannical if the money collected in taxes were distributed on the above basis. Of course, there cannot be real education on these most important things in life, liberty, when there is any compulsion connected with it.

COGNIZANT — Too many high officials at Washington and in the field were cognizant of these activities for them not to be known and recognized as illegal practices at Agriculture. More than a score of key men here and throughout the country have been convicted, indicted or suspended.

But, just as former Treasury and Internal Revenue higher-ups tried to cover up personal and official dishonesty in that department, so Agriculture kept the lid on its family skeletons.

SYSTEM — If a defaulting warehouse contractor could make good his thievery by replicating the stolen goods, he was not indicted. His wife was given warning, and his future handling of government property was scrutinized more carefully. No complaints or requests for prosecution were forwarded to Justice by Brannan.

Before the Korean "police action" began on June 25, 1950, this system of tolerance and giving graft operated smoothly. A thieving warehouseman could replace the stuff he had stolen by buying an equivalent amount on the open market.

Sometimes he profited from a lower figure than he had sold. In fact, some of these dishonest dealers, as in the purchases of Egyptian cotton, are said to have had "inside information on market conditions and prices."

UNFORTUNATE — Unfortunately for these grafters and their protectors, the North Koreans struck without warning and the President acted with equal haste. Another unfortunate factor was the outbreak of hostilities occurred at Saturday midnight (our time, when the great grain markets and commodity exchanges were closed. There was no chance to run for cover.

Prices of the missing surpluses shot skyward. The political warehousemen were caught with their bins empty. The stolen goods could not be replaced without tremendous losses. Simultaneously, there were demands for government stocks that were not there.

EXPOSURE — "Operation hush-hush" broke down. Smart investigators for a House Appropriations Committee handling agricultural funds were tipped off by honest farmers and dealers. It was not dreamed then, however, that the cheating had been conducted on such a big and broad scale. Not until then was the Senate Agriculture Committee able to single a $50,000 appropriation so that it could make a real investigation of this situation. Thus, had it not been for world events over which Washington had lost control, exposure of the first major scandal in the politically advantageous farm program would have been suppressed until after November.

A Doctor—See here, I told you to stick to vegetable diet, and you're eating Mr. Nicksleigh—It's all right, doc. This rabbit's the one that ate up my vegetable garden.

MIDNIGHT MEANDERS: You walk along Eighth Avenue, with Madison Square Garden looming up above you, and you run into Roland Butler, chief press agent for the Greatest Show on Earth... You stand on the midnight curbstone with Mr. Butler, one foot hitched up on the rim of a fireplug, and he tells you something you never thought about before...

REPORT FROM THE FARM: This is National Cotton Week and I'm going to write about it as I know it. My story about cotton will not deal with shirking from England, the plaid gingham for ladies, or the spinning of the market by brokers...

REPORT FROM THE FARM: Three days later I was on my way to Statesboro. Both Mama and Papa saw me off on the train. Funny thing, as I remember, Papa had to wipe his eyes more often than Mama did, and it was Papa who slipped a quarter in my hand and whispered in my ear, "That's extra spending money."

REPORT FROM THE FARM: Back to cotton. It's pretty hot in Georgia at cotton-picking time. My uncles met me at the train, and so did my aunts. They came very close to feeding me to death that night, but at daybreak I was up and a-pickin'. I got a penny a pound for the cotton I picked. Cotton doesn't weigh very much, unfortunately.

REPORT FROM THE FARM: Quick to realize that I would not get rich picking cotton, I started putting boulders in the crocus sack into which I threw my cotton. But my uncles found the rocks and whipped me. They told me that if I didn't pick cotton without cheating, I would be completely unfair to those who were picking it honestly. I remember Uncle Clabe calling my father and saying, "We'll make a man out of this kid yet."

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

The fellow who said that there's "no sure road to success" must have been the world's worst pessimist. It's true we can't all get on the same road, but there are hundreds of different roads for each of us.

Take the case of the factory worker in Detroit. He was a skilled worker on a mile long assembly line. He was contented with his job—wasn't even looking for a boost when success struck like lightning. All because he made one little move.

One day walking through the plant, he slipped on a bolt that had fallen off the line. This started him thinking. He was a good worker himself, and yet every day he lost plenty of time stooping for parts that dropped to the floor.

At lunch he sketched a crude little drawing of a cloth hammock that could be hung beneath the edge of the assembly table to catch parts dropped by the workers. His supervisors were enthusiastic when he showed his idea. He got a raise and a promotion within days.

Today he's all it took. He began to search for new ideas and soon came up with two other timesavers. He was advanced again.

Success is there for all of us if we just take the trouble to look.

Henry Says He Couldn't Get Rich Quick Picking Cotton

By HENRY McLEMORE

My story about cotton will not deal with shirking from England, the plaid gingham for ladies, or the spinning of the market by brokers. I got to know cotton first-hand. I got to know it when I was a little boy and Mama and Papa sent me to spend a "vacation" with my uncles Orville and Clabe. My uncles had cotton fields, and it was my "vacation" to help pick the cotton.

I'm quite sure that Mama and Papa thought that picking cotton under a hot Georgia sun would make a man of their son. I am not drawing very tough on my imagination when you give me the following conversation: Papa: Minnie, Henry looks and like you think?

Mama: Minx (Mama never called Papa anything but Minx; I don't know why, but it's the truth), he does look a little run-down.

Papa: Clabe would like him to come to Statesboro and spend a few weeks with him. Mama: He's so little to go so far by himself. And what will he do when he gets there?

Papa: Clabe and Orville have cotton fields that need picking, sweethearts. I think it would be good for Henry to pick a little cotton.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

Socialist Failure In England

BY HON. ALFRED EDWARDS (formerly member of the British Parliament and the Labor Party) (Christian Economist)

After preaching socialism for many years in an out of Parliament, I was a member of the party that formed the first socialist government with a sufficient majority to introduce socialist legislation.

We went ahead and did a lot of things we had promised without giving much attention to the question of paying the bill. We had always taught that the unearned profits and salaries of capitalists were too high and that by redistribution of income we would improve the standard of living of working people with the result that happy workers would put much more effort into their work, bringing ever-increasing prosperity.

Unfortunately the scriptural injunction to count the cost before you begin to build was ridiculed and the penalty, as was foretold in the scriptural reference, was inevitable. The health services cost three times as much as was expected, and the output of the workers did not on the whole increase. In making up the difference, money was transferred from the rich. Capital investment became less lucrative and there was less available. Ask the socialist where it will come from and you get the classic reply—of Philip Snowden, the first socialist chancellor of the exchequer in the present socialist government: "We will take it from the only place where it is. Meaning, of course the rich."

But long ago the chancellor of the exchequer in a modern socialist government, Sir Stafford Cripps, had to admit that he had impoverished the rich but had not succeeded in enriching the poor. He quite honestly told the working people—as did his successor, Hugh Gaitskirt—that there was no more he could take from the rich to help them. The only possible way to improve their standard of living was through their own efforts. In other words, they had to work harder.

So the socialist dream of getting something for nothing has been completely falsified and we are back to private enterprise as the only means of enriching the nation or the individual. In the recent election the socialist party did not even mention further nationalization. Socialism without nationalization is like the Cheshire Cat in Alice in Wonderland. It had nothing left but the smile.

No intelligent socialist in the British Parliament believes in the socialist program we were originally elected on. They would have become quite naturally the Liberal Party of British politics, but for the appearance of a socialist lightning force to prevent the deviancy from carrying them into the communist camp.

Is Bevan a communist? I am frequently asked that. I would refer you to the Apostle James for reflection. "...shew me thy faith without thy works, and I will shew thee my faith by my works." James 2:18. Search the words and acts of Mr. Bevan, and see if ever they were unfavorable to the communist cause. He always fought for communist affiliation with the Labor Party. A cat and canary coalition. Shades of Czechoslovakia!

I do not know if Bevan is a communist. No man knows that, perhaps, but himself. I do know that nobody has done more to convince innocent people that to weaken the Anglo-American understanding would be in their best interests. Could Stalin ask for a better friend and ally?

I have one word of advice to sincere doubters. When reading what appear to be plausible articles by apparently impartial writers, watch their final conclusions. You will note that they never vary—those who are fellow travelers in the last conclusion. Either do nothing or else do something which, you will always find, is exactly what would be beneficial to the communists. It is sometimes said to me at meetings at educationists: "The way you talk, one would think there is a communist under everybody's bed." I have but one reply: "Young man—look under your bed."

Quick to realize that I would not get rich picking cotton, I started putting boulders in the crocus sack into which I threw my cotton. But my uncles found the rocks and whipped me. They told me that if I didn't pick cotton without cheating, I would be completely unfair to those who were picking it honestly. I remember Uncle Clabe calling my father and saying, "We'll make a man out of this kid yet."

The CTA said tokens will be sold at present fares, five for 85 cents for street car and bus rides and five for 90 cents for elevated and subway trains.

Abilene All Set For Ike's Big Homecoming Celebration

By HAL BOYLE
 ABILENE, Kan. — (AP) — This celebrated old cow town is looking forward with somewhat worried pride to the return next month of one of the local boys who made good.
 He used to work at the creamery here, where other employees taught him how to shoot craps. There wasn't much of a crowd at the railroad station to see him off when he went east, years ago.
 But Abilene, a town of about 7,000 population, is expecting 50,000 to 100,000 visitors to help welcome back its favorite son — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Residents here aren't sure whether the event will tear the town apart. But it is no secret that most hope it will springboard "Ike" into a Republican presidential nomination. The biggest disaster that could happen hereabouts right now would be if you want to know how the people here feel about Ike, go out on the street and call him a bad name — and see how quick something happens to you."

 Above the main street floats a giant sign saying: "Eisenhower For President." It has fallen down, or been blown down, four times since last November. Now it is firmly cabled to two banks. "We've spent $150 to keep that sign up," said Henry B. Jameson, young newspaper executive here who served as a war correspondent with Eisenhower's forces in Europe. "I'll stay up now even if the bank walls fall down."
 Despite the sign, Jameson, one of the committee members in charge of the Eisenhower celebration, said that "his welcome home is not set up on a political basis. We have Democrats on committee."
 The planners are expecting at least ten state governors for festivities. Among the scores of special trains will be two from Texas — one containing 115 horses, the other containing 100. Some 700 peace officers in all parts of Kansas will be brought here to handle traffic. One of the more delicate issues involved is how long General Eisenhower plans to remain in first visit home. "Naturally, we want him to stay on as long as he can," said one resident, and added charge of the Eisenhower celebration, said that "his welcome home is not set up on a political basis. We have Democrats on committee."

Actors Debate Whether To Campaign For Candidates

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Movie maker Mark Robson is heading for the South Seas to film a realistic land epic — or as real-life as the censors will allow.

Director Robson is the kingpin of Hollywood's first major invasion of the South Seas in decades. His open Productions will film one of the James Michener stories, "Return to Paradise" on the island of Upouli in Western Samoa. A cast and crew headed by Gary Cooper is being exported here for the project.

Robson scouted over a large portion of Polynesia before finding the scale he felt was suitable. One of his main problems now will be to keep his picture suitable for the censor's tastes.

"We want to include the native dances," the director remarked. "But it may be difficult, because they are so sexy. One of their main dances is based on the mating instinct in no uncertain terms."

"When I was at a party in the islands, the others urged one of the men to dance. His wife wouldn't let him, and later I found out why. He danced with another woman. It would have been the same as having an affair with her."

"The dress of the natives might present problems," he added. "For the past 100 years in Polynesia," he said, "the church groups have been trying to get the native women to clothe themselves above the waist. They have been largely successful."

"But in many of the small vil-

CONFUSING "JOY" — A visitor to the current exhibition at the Museum of Modern Art in Paris is a little bit confused about the statue she's studying. "Joie de Vivre," by Jacques Lipchitz, doesn't seem to look particularly joyous, nor does it seem lifelike.

Jim Fox, Dallas, Texas, businessman, who lives at 4625 Junius in Dallas, is a mighty happy and enthusiastic chap these days. And why, you might ask? Very simple; Jim Fox is feeling good again. For a time he wasn't able to eat much of anything. . . . He simply had to force himself to eat, so quite naturally he had a tired worn-out feeling and felt generally run-down which can be caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. When he heard about BIG 12 and what it was doing for other folks suffering from similar conditions and he began taking it, Now Mr. Fox is enthusiastically praising BIG 12 to his friends and relatives. This is what Mr. Fox said: "I never had much of an appetite and have always had to force myself to eat. As a businessman with a dead job, I had little or no opportunity to take exercise and food just never appealed to me. I realized I was not getting enough of the essential food elements necessary to good feelings and spirits, and when I heard about BIG 12, I decided to try it and after taking 3 bottles, my appetite improved and I feel much better and now enjoy my meals." Yes, BIG 12 helped Jim Fox. Just as it has helped scores of Texas folks of all ages and from all walks of life who were suffering lack of appetite, stomach distress, listlessness, nagging aches and pains in the neck, arms, shoulders and legs, to feel good again when their ailments were caused by lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron which their systems needed.

BIG 12 is that amazing new pleasant tasting iron tonic that is helping folks of all ages and from all over Texas regain their life-time energy and feeling of well-being. (The daily dose of BIG 12 contains as much of the new Red Vitamin B12 as a doctor usually gives in an intra-muscular injection.) It is the kind of medicine folks have been looking for the kind to buy and start taking at once. Try a bottle of pleasant tasting BIG 12 today. Sold only by drug stores.

usual dress is the Lava-Lava. The men wear it around their waist and often the women do, too. It is more comfortable for them that way. It is not uncommon to see women bathing completely nude in the ocean."

Robson will be filming "Return to Paradise" in the small village of Lefaga. His negotiations for use of the place were a large-scale production.

"We had to sit down with all the family heads of the village," he recalled. "We drank the local drink and there was much ceremony. Only 5 or 10 percent of them had ever seen a movie, so we had to start from scratch and explain just what we were going to do. This took about four or five hours. Finally the big chief got the idea. The only thing he wanted to know was: "How many years will it take you to make the movie?"

Actually, the filming will require at least three months. Aspen Productions has had to ship equipment for an entire studio. A special generator, described as the biggest in the film industry, was built and sent to the island to provide power for the lights.

I asked Robson why he couldn't shoot the picture at Catalina, as most island films are.

"It would still look like Catalina," he replied. "We wouldn't be able to get the real natives nor the real village. Besides, we have an agreement with Michener, the author, to shoot it in the genuine locale."

Robson added that some of the natives are avid film fans. One of his guides expressed an admiration for Roy Rogers and Tom Mix. Asked about Gary Cooper, the native commented: "Great Indian fighter."

The native also had another idol — "That wonderfully cruel man, Humphrey Bogart."

Singer Johnny Ray To Marry May 25
CHICAGO — (AP) — Johnny Ray, who cried his way to fame and fortune with emotional renditions of two songs, says he will be married on May 25 to Miss Marilyn Morrison in New York.

Ray, 25, said he and Miss Morrison, 22, daughter of a Beverly Hills, Calif., night club operator, agreed on a wedding date after a long distance telephone talk yesterday.

Mrs. Day, Mr. Boyd Win Costume Prizes Of Merten Gypsy Social

Mrs. V. Day and Mr. P. J. Boyd won prizes for wearing the best costumes at the Merten Home Demonstration club gypsy party this week in the City Park.

Mrs. Boyd wore a dusty rose shirt with black ruffles, a green and yellow blouse with blue ruffles, and an orange sash. She wore a green stole. Mr. Boyd wore a yellow and orange shirt with a wide red sash. They were head scarves and gypsy jewelry.

Games were played during the outing. Mr. J. C. Steward won the sack race for men, and Mrs. V. Smith won the statue race for women. A new twisty race was introduced.

Guests cooked food over a charcoal fire. The menu consisted of hot tamales, hot dogs, Spanish omelets, chili pies, and candied apples. Guests saved apple seeds, added one copper to them, and had their fortune told in a gypsy tent by Mrs. Clyde Edmondson. Mrs. Edmondson, club recreation chairman, planned the party.

Guests who signed on a wooden board were Mr. and Mrs. V. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. V. Day and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Prather, Mr. and Mrs. John Branson, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McCracken and Joan, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Steward, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Nash, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Edmondson, Mrs. William T. Cass, Jr., and Miss Helen Dunlap, home demonstration agent.

Ruth Millett

A number of persons were recently asked the question: "What is at the bottom of most divorces?"

One woman's reply to the question was: "Either too little or too much money."

It's a pretty safe bet that too much money is harder on a marriage than too little. For while living may be an awful struggle for the family getting along on too little money, that very struggle often keeps a couple close.

It gives them a chance to fight a common problem together, to be real partners in the fullest sense of the word. And every small thing they are able to accomplish seems like a big thing.

Also the couple struggling along on a little money always have goals to work toward and to strive for.

Too much money can deprive a couple of many of those benefits. The wife doesn't have to be a real partner in the working sense of the word. The husband doesn't have to make any real sacrifices for his family.

Goals can be achieved so easily that they are hardly goals at all, but mere desires, quickly fulfilled.

And all too often the couple who stood side by side as partners during the lean years begin to grow apart when money becomes plentiful. One is likely to become dissatisfied with the other.

Life may become pretty dull without anything to strive for. Things too easily acquired soon give little pleasure.

So if you are struggling through lean years now, don't think all your troubles would be over if you had all the money you needed.

You'd still have problems only they would be different ones.

Cook's Nook

Shrimp are on their way to becoming America's favorite seafood dish. Last year, almost 200,000,000 lbs. of these popular crustaceans were caught by the shrimp boats and sold in every part of the nation. This year, even more shrimp are being eaten in America's homes than ever before.

Quick freezing has made possible the national distribution of what was once a luxury seafood. And inventive seafood packers have now taken all the guess and smell out of the home preparation of shrimp. Today, any American housewife can serve shrimp in any number of tasty dishes with no more effort than taking this highly nutritious product out of its package and cooking it.

SHRIMP KABOB
1 green pepper
2 tomatoes
1 large onion
1 package frozen breaded shrimp

Cut green pepper, tomatoes and onion into 1 1/2 inch cubes. Alternate slices of pepper, tomato, onion and shrimp-in-a-jacket on 8 inch skewers. Brush with melted butter. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place four inches below broiler heat. Broil until pepper and onion are done and the shrimp crusty brown, turning occasionally. Serves 6.

SHRIMP CASSEROLE
ST. SIMONS
1 onion
1 green pepper
1 package Shrimp
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
4 slices process American cheese
Mince onion and green pepper. Saute with 1/2-cup melted butter or margarine to a crispy brown. Add tomato sauce; bring to a boil. Turn into greased 1-quart casserole. Top with cheese slices. Bake in moderate oven (350°) until cheese melts. Serves 4.

Dr. and Mrs. Carter Observe Silver Wedding Anniversary

Dr. and Mrs. Orion W. Carter observed their silver wedding anniversary at a church dinner held this week in Fellowship hall. The couple was married May 15, 1927, in the Herford Methodist church. The late Rev. H. W. Carter, father of Dr. Carter, performed the ceremony, assisted by the late Rev. A. B. Davidson.

Fellowship hall was decorated with iris and snowballs for the anniversary celebration and the last quarterly family dinner of the local church. The platform was centered with a lace-covered table on which a large wedding cake was placed. The white cake was decorated with a silver heart, and silver numerals, "25."

Dr. and Mrs. Carter were married following a church service. The last song in the service was "Wonderful Words of Life," and following the dinner the guests sang that song. Roy Johnson, accompanied by Mrs. Johnson, sang "Because."

Following music, Dr. and Mrs. Carter renewed their marriage vows, with Rev. W. E. Hamilton, district superintendent of the Clarendon district, officiating.

Mrs. Johnson reversed the traditional wedding marches, just as Mrs. Gaf Parker of Herford did when the couple was married in 1927.

Mrs. Carter was attired in a pink dress and large pink picture hat, similar to her wedding costume worn 25 years ago. She wore an orchid corsage.

After the exchange of vows, Dr. and Mrs. Carter served cake to members of the First Methodist church, where Dr. Carter has been minister three years. They are former residents of Abilene, where Dr. Carter was district superintendent of the Abilene district.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The fact that man in God's likeness is immortal and spiritual—a fact capable of present demonstration—is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon "Mortals and Immortals" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Romans: "They that are in the flesh cannot please God. But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you" (8:8, 9).

There is a way to master the discordant material senses and this is indicated in the following Bible verse included in the Lesson-Sermon: "He that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting" (Gal. 6:8).

This statement from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, deals with the supremacy of the Spirit, which annuls the claims of matter, that mortals can die of mortality and find the indissoluble spiritual link which establishes man forever in the divine likeness, inseparable from his creator" (p. 491).

House plants, such as geraniums, begonias or ivy, which bend over or partially break off, may be mended by wrapping cellophane tape around them.

Empty the bag of your vacuum cleaner on several thicknesses of slightly moistened newspaper spread on the floor. The damp paper settles loose dust quickly.

Mend small holes in lace girdles with loose darns of matching thread.

The Lela Lar circle met with Mrs. Hugh Ellis for Bible study. Mrs. W. A. Breining taught the lesson, "Where Unto It Shall Be Liked." Mrs. L. H. Green and Mrs. Louis Tarpley gave the opening and closing prayers.

Attending were Mmes. Foy Chism, J. H. Richey, Q. B. Beavers, Ruben Hilton, and C. L. McKinney.

During the business session, the meeting time was changed to 9 a. m. on Wednesday.

Trucks' No-Hitter Poses Question:

Are The Pitchers That Good? Or Are Hitters That Weak In Majors This Year?

Lucky Shoes Aided In Trucks' Chore

DETROIT (AP)—Virgil Trucks, the speedballing southern gentleman ignored by other clubs in trade talks, rubbed his lucky borrowed baseball shoes and gloved today over his no-hit, no-run game—the first of the 1952 season.

His Detroit Tiger teammates, outfielder Vic Wertz, also gloved, Wertz, a big room of three days, boomed a ninth-inning, two-out home run to end yesterday's thriller suddenly and gave Trucks a 1-0 victory over the Washington Senators.

Trucks, 33, from Birmingham, Ala., hadn't won a game in four starts. And the Chicago White Sox shelled him for 13 hits the last time out. What happened to change things?

"I just figured I was throwing a little too hard and it was hurting my control," said Trucks.

"So I eased up a trifle. I used my fast ball sparingly. Had good control. I used my fast one to strike out Vernon."

Only 19 days ago in the same park Tiger Art Houtteman had a no-hitter going with two out in the ninth. But he saw it spoiled with a single by Harry Simpson of the Cleveland Indians.

Coincidentally, Trucks wore the same shoes that Houtteman wore. When Trucks complained of tight-fitting shoes just before the game, Houtteman offered his.

Pitchers Win In Texas Play

By CHARLIE ESKEW
AP Sports Writer

How to get ahead in the Texas League? Take the pitching and let the hitting go.

While the second division slugged its way around in slugs last night, league-leading Beaumont, second place Fort Worth and third place Houston demonstrated the winning formula—good hurling.

Houston got the short end of the slab in its duel with Beaumont, but nevertheless saw its hurlers Mike Clark and Bob Clear throw a three-hitter identical to the Roughnecks' Hank Wyse. Beaumont sneaked in single runs in the second and sixth innings off Clark to register a 2-0 shutout.

Rookie Elroy Face twirled a seven-hitter for Fort Worth in shading Dallas 4-2.

Tulsa climbed within one percentage point of fourth place, beating Oklahoma City 10-5, when reliever Norman Bell stopped the rampaging Indians bats in the last five innings. Otherwise, Tulsa's Oilers accumulated 15 hits in their eighth home triumph in the last 12 games.

Virgil Trucks' fine no-hitter and the covey of major league shutouts raise some old questions. Are the pitchers that good? Or the hitters that weak?

The correct answer probably is somewhere between the two extremes. Certainly, there is no doubt that Trucks' brilliant no-hit, no-run game for Detroit against Washington yesterday was a superb effort. He walked only one, struck out seven.

But the batters in both leagues did little. They performed like trained seals leaping for a flounder. The combined batting average of both leagues for the day was a sick 167. But for the Philadelphia A's 10-hit burst against the St. Louis Browns, it would have been much worse.

It was shutout day in the majors, with four of the five games in that category. The Phils' Robin Roberts was the only winner allowing a run. And he gave up only one while throwing a five-hitter.

Dramatic Finish.
Trucks, Ray Scarborough of Boston, Alex Kellner of the A's and Billy Loes, Brooklyn's bonus baby, all blanked the enemy.

If manager Red Rolfe had written the script, the Tigers couldn't have arranged for a more dramatic finish for Trucks' no-hitter. Tangled with Bob Porterfield in a scoreless struggle, Detroit went down to the last out before winning the game, 1-0.

With two outs in the last of the ninth, Vic Wertz blasted a home run into the upper right field stands. Rightfielder Jackie Jensen didn't even bother to run back. He just trotted off the field.

Porterfield matched Trucks' in the early going, pitching no-hit ball for 5 2-3 innings. He gave up only four hits in all.

The no-hitter, second ever pitched by a Tiger hurler, was especially welcome to Trucks as his first win of the season. The 33-year-old righthander had a 0-2 record and had been roughed for 13 hits in 8 1-3 innings in his last previous start against Chicago.

Blue Sox Knock Oilers Into Fifth With 28-12 Victory

Every year about this time the Pampa Oilers and Abilene Blue Sox engage in a game of knock each others brains out, and last night the visiting Abilenians took the lead in the game with a 28-12 win.

It was just a year and two days ago, May 13, that the Oilers edged by the Hose, 24-22, in another such melee at Oiler Park.

Last night's loss snapped a four-game Oiler winning streak, their longest of the season, and also knocked them out of third place in fifth as the Lamesa Lobos downed the Lubbock Hubbers.

Tonight the two clubs resume the hatched swinging with veteran righthander Freddie Schmidt scheduled for the Hose against young fireballer Morris Shipman for the Oilers. The game is "Ladies Shoe Night," with three pairs of ladies' shoes scheduled to be given to the three lucky ladies.

Ten Starters Due For 76th Preakness Runs Saturday

BALTIMORE (AP)—The names of two "big" horses, Sub Fleet and Blue Man, are expected to be dropped into the entry box along with two others this morning, thus completing a lineup of 10 starters for the 76th running of the Preakness Stakes at ancient Pimlico tomorrow.

The mile and three sixteenths gallop, carrying $75,000 in added money, drew six entries yesterday when the secretary's office opened the box for Preakness horses.

But Sub Fleet, the Dixiana Stable express which got second place behind Hill Gail in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago, and A. W. Abbott's Blue Man, which rushed up to get third at Louisville, are yet to be named for the Maryland classic.

Dukes Blast Out Win Over G-Sox

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The Albuquerque Dukes supported lefty Joe Hinchman with a booming 18-hit attack last night to help the outpace to his fourth win as Albuquerque defeated Amarillo 10-2 in a West Texas-New Mexico League baseball game.

It was the third straight win for the Dukes in their current home stand.

Art Cullitt of the Dukes and Merv Connors of Amarillo each slammed 423-foot homers over the left-centerfield fence. Monk Webb, first of two Amarillo pitchers, was charged with the loss.

Lobos Trim Hubs In Opener, 6-4

LUBBOCK (AP)—Ralph Carrier and Harry Pilarski scattered 13 Lubbock hits effectively here last night as the Lamesa Lobos took a 6-4 victory in the opener of a two-game series.

Single runs in the fifth and seventh provided the Lobos with their winning margin, after each team had scored in the first. Lamesa took a 4-2 lead in the second and had enough to stave off late Hubber threats that failed to materialize enough for runs.

Huffman Quits New Mexico U.

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Berl Huffman, athletic director of the University of New Mexico for the past two years, resigned as manager of the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce.

The appointment is effective June 16. No successor as athletic director has been named.

Huffman, 45, came to the university as head football coach in the spring of 1947. A graduate of Trinity University, San Antonio, Tex., he spent a number of years as head basketball and assistant football coach at Texas Tech.

He left Tech to join the Air Force as a private in 1943 and had risen to rank of captain when he was discharged in 1946.

Huffman was head football coach at New Mexico during the 1947-48-49 seasons and coached the basketball team for one year.

Contacted in Roosevelt, N. M., where he was giving a commencement speech, Huffman said "it is such a challenging position that I cannot afford to pass it up."

He will get a salary of $9,000 a year in the new post, compared with $7,200 he drew as athletic director. In addition, he will be allowed $1200 a year car expenses.

Pioneers Blank Gassers, 5-0

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP)—The West Texas-New Mexico League leading Clovis Pioneers shut out the Borger Gassers last night, 5-0, in one of the best-played games here so far this season.

Young righthander Jack Gaines scattered seven Borger hits and chalked up his fourth win of the season against no losses. Only two Borger runners advanced as far as third base.

After the first two innings, Gaines and Ed Flanagan, big, lanky Borger righthander, settled down into a pitcher's duel that left little to be desired. Each gave up only five hits in the last seven innings, which were scoreless.

Gaines' control was superb. He walked only two Gassers, one of them intentionally. He struck out only three men, but had Borger batters hitting into easy outs—including three double plays—all evening.

DALLAS (AP)—Jim Lansford, University of Texas tackle, and Bert Clark, Oklahoma University linebacker, signed contracts today with the Dallas Texans of the National Football League.

Question: Why do they call a home run a gopher ball?

Answer: It's a baseball expression of recent vintage. A home run disappears like a gopher or any other rodent.

Q. How did it get its name?

A. The fine Athletics' first baseman, 1913's American League batting champion with a fat 344 average, was born in San Antonio, Tex., 30 years ago. Fain makes his home at Orinda, Calif.

Q. How many hitters in modern big league history have batted .400?

A. Only seven—Joe Jackson (1911), Ty Cobb (1911-22), George Sisler (1920-22), Rogers Hornsby (1922-24-25), Harry Heilmann (1923), Bill Terry (1930), and Ted Williams (1941).

Q. Who holds the major league record for most games lost in one month?

A. The Washington Senators of 1909. The Nats dropped 29 games.

Looks like there'll have to be an engineer with every track meet if records are to be recognized.

The engineer will have to see that the ground is perfectly level in front of the high jump pit. In the Southwest Conference track and field meet held at Dallas last week, Walter (Buddy) Davis, the Texas A&N stringbean, leaped 6 feet 11 1/2 inches. But it was found that the ground in front of the crossbar was an inch higher than the ground on which the standards rested. So, an inch had to be taken off Davis' leap.

But it robbed Davis and the Southwest of a world's record. The 6-11 1/2 hop was a half-inch more than the record set 11 years ago by Les Steers of Oregon. Davis might have broken the record anyway had he known that leap wasn't going to do it. There was a long discussion after the jump while Davis cooled his heels waiting for them to make up their minds. When it was all over, he was all cooled and even his enthusiasm was gone. He probably couldn't have made 6-4 then.

Davis though the was jumping at seven feet and a quarter in the first place. That is why the standards showed but you measure the crossbar at the middle and it sagged there. Anyway, it behooves the conference fathers to see that all conditions are right when there is an athletic contest. There wasn't even a wind gauge at the field. If somebody had run a 9.2 hundred no claim for a record could have been made.

Oh, Those Names
Radio announcers and sports writers must be having trouble pronouncing and spelling the names of baseball players in Texas leagues this season. The most unusual and hard-to-pronounce names of all confront you in the box scores.

Look over these: Scenclawicz, Isinghaus, Carballera, Dlugoczek, Radulovich, Izaguirre, Yzquierdo, Ankoviak, Peraza, Pfeiffer, Brzesowski, Turturo, Carcatera, Pilarok, Wojelchowski, Gionfrido Mierkovicz, Szekely, Trienen, Arcebia, Menapace, Rutelo, Diego, Caballero, Guerrero, Tayaon, Sakewits, Grajeda, Traspueto Carreras, Gryzwacz-wow!

Buster Hale, Longview, sports writer, while covering a game between Waco and Longview looked at Carcatera and Turturo in the Waco lineup and D. e. p. e. r. s. c. h. m. i. d. in the Longview lineup and mused: "Imagine what a double play between those guys would come out in a newspaper - Carcatera to Turturo to Deperschmidt!"

Satch Suspected Hornsby Was Training For Army

By HARRI GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
NEW YORK - (NEA) - Rogers Hornsby bore down hard on the Browns, including Satchel Paige. That was something new for Paige, whom some claim is as old as Cy Young.

One day in training the remarkable right-hander shuffled up to the manager and said: "Mr. Hornsby, there's something puzzlin' me. Are you trainin' Ol' Satch for pitchin' baseball or for the Army?" Magnificent condition is not the least reason for the surprising St. Louis American's early foot. "I couldn't have them looking like the same old Browns," says Hornsby.

The little Brownies will stir up trouble as long as Satch Marion is present to hold them together. He has Second Baseman Bobby Young looking like Gerry Coleman. Marion, 34, is going around the league playing shortstop as though he was conducting a clinic.

Yanks Wish They Had Him
Marion, the tall South Carolinian, was a picture in the first game of the double-header split with the Yankees. He acted as the middle man in one double play, started another. He pulled down a line drive that little Phil Rizzuto hardly could have jumped and caught.

He singled to left firing up a four-run first-inning attack, subsequently drove in two runs with doubles down the two foul lines. He is batting .357.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK - (AP) - The New York Giants breathed a sigh of relief today. Willie Mays will be around for a few more days. But it is only a question of time and when that time comes it'll be a day the Giants long may remember.

The feeling here is that the Giants, with Willie playing centerfield every day, would slowly but steadily increase their lead over the National League and finally win their second straight flag eased up. With the 21-year-old Negro playing for Uncle Sam, they might find themselves battling Brooklyn right down to the wire again. Especially if the Dodgers get Pitcher Don Newcombe back from the Army, as now appears more than likely.

The feeling about Willie's importance to Leo Durocher's club possibly requires some explanation because the Alabama kid is hitting only .214, far down in the batting order. Few teams could afford to carry an outfielder with such an anemic average. Most Important

But Willie is different. Even if it were not known for certain that he would add about 60 points to his present mark before the season ends, the Giants would be more than happy to go along with a boy who might just possibly be the greatest fielding centerfielder the game has seen. Leo never wavered on him when he went to the Army last year after reporting from Minneapolis last May 25.

Those who have been close to Durocher day after day in recent weeks declare the little manager has worried more about Willie's approaching departure than he did after his other fine Negro outfielder, Monte Irvin, broke his ankle in a training game at Denver. Irvin led the league in runs batted in last year and was the club's clean-up swatter.

Blessed with a great pitching staff and an infield which will in time be recognized as the best in either league, the Giants have found they can get along with patchwork leftfielding. Veteran Jim Elliott, obtained from Boston, has hit fairly well and Chuck Diering, a good glove man, has gone in during the late innings to protect a lead. They've missed Irvin's potent bat, but still have managed to pull out in front of the field.

This has been due in no small part to the fact that a grinning, leather-footed kid named Willie Mays has been covering the great expanse of centerfield like the dew, from a few yards back of second base out to the most distant fence for approximately a mile on either side. When either of the other Giants pickets has made a catch he generally has had to yell Willie away.

Tops Them All
We were not privileged to have seen Tris Speaker at his best after his other fine Negro fielder, Monte Irvin, broke his ankle in a training game at Denver. Irvin led the league in runs batted in last year and was the club's clean-up swatter.

Canadian scored three runs in the second inning, three in the fourth, and three in the seventh. In the second inning Mitchell of Miami doubled, went to third on an error, and a grounder to short brought him in to score. Miami bunched five hits in the third inning to score four runs, and although they went hitless for the final six innings of the game, two walks and an error on a long fly to center allowed them to score in the sixth inning for their final tally. Joe Morgan was the big gun at bat for the Cats as he collected a single, a double and a triple for five times at the plate. YANKEE ROOKIE CRACKS UP AGAINST FENCE - Bob Cerv, New York Yankee rookie outfielder, smacks his side hard against the left field fence in Yankee Stadium in game with Boston Red Sox. Bob was going for lazy fly ball hit by pitcher Maurice McBroom when it chut the fence. At the right, Bob is slumped on the ground as centerfielder Irv Noren and a field attendant go to his aid. Cerv, badly shaken up, dropped the ball and hit was ruled a home run that scored three men. Cerv walked off field under own power. (AP Wirephoto)

McLean Softball Schedule Ready

McLEAN - (Special) - May 27 has been set as the date for the opening of the McLean softball season, sponsored annually by the Lions Club. Tuesday and Thursday nights have been designated as game nights and two games will be played each night. Six teams, each sponsored by some business or other organization, have been signed to play in the league during the season just opening. These teams are from McLean and surrounding territory and are as follows: Kellerville Oilers, Warren Petroleum, Holloway Station, McLean Post Office, the First Methodist Church, and the Future Farmers of America.

This is the fourth season for the league, and the purpose of the project is to furnish entertainment for the people of the community during the long summer evenings. The grounds are situated in such a manner that those desiring to sit in their cars may do so, but for others there is plenty of bleacher space available. No admission charge is made for the regular league games.

During the season, two tournaments will be held and for these a small admission fee will be charged, and the funds raised through these tournaments will be used to defray the expenses of the league. Dates will be announced later.

was relieved by Matthewson in the sixth who gave up no hits in the final four innings. Gene Hodges went the route for the Miami team, and gave up 13 hits in the seventh. Winning pitcher was Frank Young.

SWC Baseballers Finish Today

By The Associated Press
The Southwest conference baseball campaign ends today with four teams still fighting for higher positions in the standings. The only definite spots before today's games are the conference title, iced away by Texas several days ago, and the cellar, occupied by Rice.

Yesterday Texas downed Texas A&M 5-0. Texas Christian took Southern Methodist 4-2 and Baylor won a doubleheader from Rice 3-1 and 6-0. That put Baylor in second place, TCU third and SMU and A&M tied for fourth.

A win by TCU today over SMU would give Rice lots of company in a three-way tie for last place. Baylor's Ray Fitzpatrick and Joe Mac Gresham gave Rice to a total of 11 hits yesterday. Gresham got a two-out shut-out in the seven-inning night cap. TCU shattered the jinx the Mustangs have had on the Fort Worth school, getting its first win in four games this year with SMU Morris (Knobbs) Graves held SMU to five hits. Champion Texas shut out the Aggies behind the good right arm of Luther Scarborough. He scattered eight hits, allowing no more than one per inning except in the second. The Longhorn infield rattled off three double plays to back up Scarborough.

GOOD GOLF'S EASY... NO. 13

Do You Slice Or Hook? Analyze And Improve Game

(Tenth of a series as told to Harry Grayson, NEA sports editor.) By JACKIE BURKE Golf's Newest Star

Even when you are playing better than your average game, it pays to analyze each round in retrospect. Most good golfers replay their games mentally, trying to discover where they can lop strokes from their scores. You'll always find room for improvement. And the best way to find out what's wrong with your game is to check back and analyze.

To analyze your round, you must remember what happened on individual shots. If you don't happen to have that kind of photographic memory that can recall in exact detail every stroke, devise some system of scorecard symbols to help your recollection. If your memory is very untrustworthy, make notes after each hole. This takes only a few seconds. If your putting was off - and this will be a contributing factor to an unsatisfactory score often than you might suspect - analyze just exactly what went wrong with each stroke on the greens. Were your putts consistently short? If so, either you weren't hitting the ball hard enough or your stroke wasn't smooth. Did your putts curl away from the hole or rim the cup? If so, you were drawing the club across the ball, imparting spin.

Were you slicing or hooking? If so, your basic swing was wrong, so far it is pieces on the practice tee, starting with the grip and hands. A simple check to be sure your right hand is in the correct position is to see that the V formed by the thumb and index finger points directly toward the right shoulder. Did you consistently overshoot or were you short with your iron? If so, the chances are you weren't selecting the right club. You probably were either underclubbing or overclubbing. One of the duffer's greatest faults is not getting his weight forward onto his left foot fast enough at the beginning of the downswing. The result is that he strikes the ball with too much of his weight still back on his right leg, and this almost invariably means he will chop into the ground behind the ball. On every shot but the putt and drive, you hit down on the ball. Particularly is this true of iron shots. The heart and soul of the iron shot is to strike the ball first and then take your divot in front of the ball. To accomplish this it is necessary to overcome the strong natural urge to get the ball up by scooping behind it. Just remember to hang right down on the ball with a smooth, deliberate motion. You'll be surprised at the distance and accuracy you get. NEXT - Practice.

"My knee is all right," explains Marion, "but my back gets tired when I'm out there too long." Casey Stengel and the Yankee brass are kicking themselves for not picking up Marion when he was released as manager of the Cardinals.

"All we had to do was pay him more than Bill Veck gave him," moans Fred Hamey, George Weiss' assistant. "They told me he was a cripple," cries Manager Stengel. "I'd hate to have to contend with him were he all in one piece."

With Coleman gone and Dr. Bobby Brown going, the Yankees could make good use of an infield stylist like Marion, especially as a backstop for Rizzuto. No Special Privileges

Next to Hornsby, Jim Rivera, the new center fielder, and the rest look up to Marion. "He's a real pro," says the Brooklyn-born Puerto Rican. "Hornsby treats us all alike. He is treated no different, is given no special privileges. He's one of us, which is why there is unison on the club. We're playing together."

"Marion is a leader. The younger and less experienced fellows look to him. Most guys in his shape would be applying for a one-way ticket to a cemetery, but he's out there hustling like a man of an iron. It's hard to believe he has a bad back, sore enough to keep him from playing both ends of a double-header."

Marty Marion says he has never had so much fun playing baseball in his life. Rogers Hornsby, Sports Shirt Veck and the Browns fervently hope he continues to enjoy himself.

Longden Rides Winner No. 4,000

INGLEWOOD, Calif. - (AP) - Johnny (Moneybags) Longden has set a new American record of 4,000 winners and today was embarked on a riding campaign for his 5,000 victory. The 42-year-old jockey bagged his 4,000th winner at Hollywood Park yesterday in the third race. Longden is the second jockey to ride 4,000 winners. His friend, Gordon Richards of England, is well ahead with 4,431, but Longden's competition is tougher and he has not been riding as long as Richards.

And Doug Ford with plus 4, and Jerry Barber, plus 2, were the only others on the positive side as the field of 16 went into today's two rounds with different pairings.

 LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — A 21-year-old student nurse was the heroine of a near tragedy on the Lincoln Highway near here yesterday when she grabbed the wheel of a careening bus after the driver had collapsed. She guided the big vehicle through a field of trees to a safe stop.
 The nurse, Mary Jane Bailey, of Wrightsville, Pa., was sitting behind the driver, H. Edwin Smith, of Philadelphia, when he was stricken.
 She reached over his prostrate form and took the wheel as the careening bus left the highway.

Supreme Court May Give Steel Issue 'Run-Around'

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON (AP) — In the steel dispute which is argued today the Supreme Court can do several things without deciding flatly on the basic question before it: The constitutional limits on a President.
 Usually the court doesn't hand down a single, flat opinion on broad constitutional questions. Instead, it decides specific issues which may be part of a broad problem without running head-on into the problem itself.
 For example, this court has handled case after case involving the wide question of segregation of Negroes. It has never ruled on whether segregation as a whole is good, bad, constitutional or unconstitutional.
 It has ruled on specific examples of segregation brought before it. It has said Negroes must not be forced to ride in the rear of buses crossing state lines. And it has so ruled that Negroes now are admitted to white graduate schools in the South without saying Negroes had to be admitted to white high and grammar schools. When it got a case involving graduate schools, it limited its ruling to graduate schools.
 And, without giving an opinion of any kind, the court can send the steel dispute back to the U. S. Court of Appeals or even to District Judge David Pine for more arguments or findings. It was Pine who said the President exceeded his power in seizing the mills—and ordered them given back.
 If it wants to give an opinion the court could do so quickly, perhaps in days. Maybe in weeks. Or it could delay its opinion. If it was long delayed a steel settlement might then make an opinion unnecessary.
 quarts were recovered from the waters that, until now, were famous only for salmon.

The Justice Department law are no limits on a President's years representing President Truman don't argue anymore — as they did before Judge Pine, who turned them down — that there court last week they said:
