BRACES, SPLINTS SAVE PRIZE MARE

Rosine Princess, registered brood mare belonging to B. R. Barfield, Amarillo, hobbles around on braces and splints applied by Dr. L. M. Griffin after an accident which fractured a shoulder. Dr. Griffin said the treatment will be successful, and he plans to remove braces in a week or two. (See Texas Today on Page 9).

Senator Taft Denounces Bretton Woods Proposal

Ratification of Charter Without Change Is Urged

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Representatives of a score of organizations urged Senate ratification of the United Nations Charter without change today as the foreign relations committee brought its hearing toward a close.

Dr. Helen Dwight Reid spoke for a dozen major groups in behalf of the Charter but she declared that its usefulness "depends on the quality of our participation."

Dr. Reid was listed as spokesman for the American Association of University Women, the Association for Childhood Education, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Girls' Friendly Society of the U. S. A., the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., National Congress of Parents and Teachers, National Council of Jewish Women, National Education Association, National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, National Service Star Legion, National Women's Trade Union League, United Council of Church Women.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio), today denounced as "profligate lending" the international bank proposed under the Bretton Woods agreement and asked that senate consideration of the measure be postponed.

Majority leader Barkley (Ky.) has insisted that the house-approved monetary plan be taken up Monday and pushed through ahead of the United Nations charter.

In a speech prepared for floor delivery, Taft concentrated his fire on the international bank half of the Bretton Woods proposals. They call for an $8,800,000,000 international fund to stabilize world currencies and the $9,100,000,000 bank to support loans for reconstruction and industrial development.

Taft described the bank as a "device for draining our savings out of the United States for the benefit of the rest of the world."

Suggesting that this government make direct loans of five or six billion dollars during the next few years to help war-torn countries back on their feet, the senator proposed that the pending legislation be tabled until such emergency rehabilitation measures can be taken.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—The senate finance committee today unanimously approved the nomination of Gen. Omar N. Bradley to be administrator of veterans affairs.

BRUSSELS, July 12 (AP)—Regent Prince Charles and high leaders in the Belgian government left by plane today for St. Wolfgang, Austria where the question whether King Leopold will abdicate is being discussed. The government has denied yesterday that Prince Charles planned such a trip.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 12 (AP)—Regent of Texas, Gov. James B. Eads Padilla as Mexico's foreign minister was expressed today by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson.

"I've always had a high regard for him. He has a fine attitude toward Mexico and the United States of America," the governor said at a press conference.

TERRELL, Texas, July 12 (AP)—Voices of cadets and officers at the British flying training school here, east in Great Britain's general election, have been forwarded to RAF headquarters in Washington, where they will be sent to London to be counted with other British servicemen's ballots July 26.

BERLIN, July 12 (AP)—Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov received Britain's high order, grand commander of the bath, from field marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery at military ceremonies of the Brandenburg late today.

MEXICO CITY, July 12 (AP)—The first national revolutionary congress of agrarian law, in session here, approved yesterday a recommendation to establish a 20 per cent tax on the earnings of community lands, to be applied to irrigation works for their benefit.

Heavy Rain and Wind Hit Pampa

High winds and thundershowers hit Pampa and vicinity last night, bringing 80 inch of rain, the local United States weather bureau reported today.

Although high winds prevailed in the Pampa area, no damage had been reported today.

Over the state, according to the Associated Press, the nine-day rain marathon was generally confined to slow drizzles.

Amarillo received 27 inch and scattered showers were reported in the Lubbock vicinity. Dallas received 20 to bring the total 1945 fall in that area to 25.37 inches, just shy of the yearly average of 26.16 inches.

Most flood threats, brought about by rains which claimed the lives of three persons and destroyed thousands of dollars in property have been alleviated.

Overnight falls included Houston 5.4, Port Worth 6.9, Galveston 0.4, Del Rio 0.4, Port Arthur 1.4, Lufkin 2.3, and Fredericksburg 3.0.

STRONG CONSTITUTION

TACOMA, Wash., July 12 (AP)—The 17-month-old Orljenjak (CQ) child ate the family's $5 automobile stamp, the mother, Mrs. Alexis Orljenjak, told the internal revenue department.

As the clerk was making out a substitute stamp, Mrs. Orljenjak told him that the stamp hadn't made the baby nearly as uncomfortable as the swallow of turpentine he took while her back was turned the day before.

REMAINDER OF SECOND INFANTRY SAILS HOME

By The Associated Press

All remaining units of the Second Infantry division sail for home today (Thursday) from Le Havre, in addition to advance units of the 28th Infantry division. Advance units of the second left there June 30.

The following army units arrive in the United States today from Europe:

All Russian Regulations To Continue

BERLIN, July 12 (AP)—The Inter-Allied kommandatur of Berlin announced today that all existing Soviet regulations and orders would be continued in force "until special notice."

The announcement came a few hours after red army authorities formally relinquished control of 12 of Berlin's 20 boroughs to American and British officials.

There was no observable change in the Russian pattern of rule.

U. S. detachments which had been waiting since midnight of July 4 took over authority in the American zone at 9 a. m. The British got started legally at noon.

American truck convoys were being organized to feed 750,000 "Bec-liners" in the U. S. sector from Western Germany and the British also assumed responsibility for 900,000 city dwellers.

Berlin's outward life went on undisturbed. Soviet-authorized schools were open, communist party district headquarters were as active as ever, bucket brigades of civilians were still picking up rubble stone by stone, and "fraternization" cafes were ready for the mid-afternoon rush of Allied and German patrons.

In American-run boroughs military government officers frankly said they would "not change any previous important Soviet directive" unless the multi-Allied command for Berlin so decided.

British officers also were expected to follow this general policy.

So, temporarily at least, the British and American governments in Berlin differed radically from those in Western Germany.

American counter-intelligence officers are now screening Soviet-appointed German administrators and policemen for possible nazis, but it was indicated that none have turned up yet.

Spanish 'Sky Fire' Total Mystery

MADRID, July 12 (AP)—While scientists, reporters and movie cameramen waited today in La Roca, Almeria province for a glimpse of the recurring "sky fire" reported to have terrified villagers and scorched buildings, another mountain village announced a similar occurrence.

The mayor of Lechon, in southern Zaragoza province, wrote that during a storm on June 5 a whirling column of air struck the ground near the village "with a tremendous noise like a gigantic bomb bursting" while "flames more than 30 yards high leaped in the sky."

The Lechon phenomenon was witnessed by a nearby weather observatory which called it "a complete mystery."

RODEO COMMITTEE Chairmen Meeting

All committee chairmen for the Top O' Texas rodeo and horse show were urged to be present at a meeting tonight in the chamber of commerce office.

According to O. W. Hampton, general manager of the show, the meeting will begin at 8:30 and various phases of the rodeo will be discussed.

FORCES REVERT TO National Control

PARIS, July 12 (AP)—Supreme headquarters allied expeditionary force will be dissolved at 12:01 a. m. on July 14, it was announced today soon after General Eisenhower returned to the continent which his combined command help free.

The American, British and French forces which served under the supreme commander will then revert to national controls. The SHAEF announcement of its imminent dissolution contained no details.

Eisenhower will step over to the command of the Americans and to his place on the inter-allied council for defeated Germany.

An announcement several days ago said dissolution of Eisenhower's supreme command would be delayed only until he could return from the United States, say goodbye to his staff and direct the final ceremonies.

Stars and Stripes Second Only To Letters in Morale

Letters from home are more important in the soldier's life than any other factor, according to former S/Sgt. Frank Thomas of the army newspaper Stars and Stripes who is visiting in Pampa after his recent discharge from the army.

Thomas is here at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mollie Thomas, and brother, W. I. Gilbert, 919 E. Fisher street, before returning to civilian newspaper work in Texas.

"You have no idea how much letters from home bolstered the soldiers' spirit," he said. "When Eisenhower ranked those letters first as a morale factor, and the Stars and Stripes second."

Incidentally, the native Texan said that 1,600,000 copies of the Paris edition of Stars and Stripes were published on VE-day and rushed to the troops by air. Thomas declared that Stars and Stripes was regarded by many critics as the "free-est" newspaper in the world. Its policies were formulated and news handled largely by the GI Joes themselves.

"Gen. Eisenhower would never permit 'the brass' to dictate or interfere," Sgt. Thomas commented.

One of the most popular features of the paper, which produced such artists and writers as Bill Mauldin and H. K. Hodenfield, was the B-Bag department in which any GI Joe in the army could "blow off steam" or register his likes and dislikes a la Vox Pop, the Pampa soldiers' newsletter.

Thomas said the European war "is old stuff now" in view of the great blows now being struck in the Pacific, but it was not too long ago that he was under day and night buzz-bomb attack at Liege, Belgium, for more than three months. More than 5,000 persons were killed and 21,000 wounded in Belgium by the missiles.

"I leaped into Cologne, Germany, on the day that the Americans captured that city," Thomas said, "and carried 50 copies of Stars and Stripes along to test reader reaction among the fighting men. Amid machinegun and artillery fire the excited (or maybe I was the only one excited) doughboys and tankers went for the papers like hot cakes. But curiously enough, they were more interested in the comics than in the headlines which proclaimed the capture of one of the largest cities in Germany."

"On another such trip as this, Ken Zumwalt, my billets-mate at Liege, took off for a one-day visit to the front, and we didn't hear from him until 10 days later. He was riding on the tanks with the doughboys as the Americans spear-headed toward a juncture with the Russians."

Add To Airlines' Burdens?—No Blood in Turnip

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Travelers—discouraged by the restrictions on Pullman cars—should think twice before trying to board airplanes without priorities.

An official of the air transport association of America said today that "No one, unless he's crazy, would try now to travel without a priority."

This same official scoffed at the idea that Pullman car restrictions would add to the airlines' burdens. "Where would we put them?" he asked.

People without priorities are being "bumped" all over the country. "This is the way the official mentioned above told the story:

Before Pearl Harbor the airlines in this country had 366 planes. Came Pearl Harbor. The armed forces needed planes in a hurry. They took from the commercial lines. The domestic planes dwindled to 185.

The arm began turning transport planes back to the private lines in the spring of 1943. Now those lines

Construction Industry To Get Boost

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Fred M. Vinson shortly will create a new committee to give the near-dormant construction industry a boost toward reconversion.

The inter-governmental agency group, under a chairman to be installed in Vinson's office of war mobilization and reconversion, will guide a concerted effort to help the industry in matters of materials, prices and relaxation of federal controls.

Vinson holds that building activity, now stripped down to wartime low of about $4,000,000,000 a year, should reach $15,000,000,000 level in order to fill a postwar role in stabilizing the economy and providing jobs. This would be about 15 per cent higher than any previous volume of construction.

Construction has lagged far behind other industries in relaxation of controls, largely because of the lumber shortage which now appears a major problem.

Housewives Advised About Used Articles

Housewives were advised about used articles by Duncan Campbell, district price specialist, last night at the tri-county dealer's trade meet here.

Campbell pointed out that used articles come under price regulation and, before selling, housewives should consult the local board.

POOR BIRMINGHAM—NO LI'L ABNER:

PUBLICATION OF THREE PAPERS IS SUSPENDED AS RESULT OF STRIKES

(By The Associated Press)

Labor disputes affecting publication and distribution of newspapers in Birmingham, Ala., and New York City headlined the nation's strike news today.

Publication of three Birmingham newspapers was suspended indefinitely following a walkout by union printers as New York City publishers moved to have 14 major metropolitan papers distributed, despite a continued strike by 1,700 deliverymen.

Four of Detroit's seven strikes ended during the last 24 hours, including the stoppage by 1,000 dairy workers. But for the fourth straight

Closer Allied Ties Will Be Truman's Aim

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—President Truman is expected to seek closer and more continuous diplomatic ties with Britain and Russia when he meets Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin at Berlin.

The objective will be to assure day-to-day handling of current European political problems which grew out of the war and for which quick solutions are considered vital to a workable peace.

At the heart of whatever proposal Mr. Truman makes along this line—probably to create an international commission—is the need to promote Big Three cooperation at a time when some forces are working to weaken it.

In some respects the stresses on this conference will be greater than those under which the late President Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin worked at Teheran and at Yalta. The biggest difference, of course, is that the three Allies no longer are bound by the compelling need to defeat a common enemy.

They are confronted with the necessity for writing a common peace, but in this political and economic difference of approach pose problems which the purely military considerations of the past never brought up.

This time too the real blue chips of international politics are bound to come into play more than ever before. Issues no longer can be resolved in broad statements of principle. They are concerned with specific questions of boundaries, political alignments and territories.

FEPC Supporters Today's Victors In Hectic Fight

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—The house refused today to restrict future activities of the fair employment practice committee to those connected with its liquidation.

It turned down by a teller vote of 188 to 116, a southern-backed move to prevent the FEPC from using any of its new funds for normal operations and then moved to give that agency $250,000 for its normal operations for the current year.

The action was subject to a later roll call but there was little doubt that FEPC backers had the votes to give that agency $250,000 for its normal operations for the current year.

The legislative skids were greased to shove the big bill through by nightfall and send it to the White House tomorrow. Not until it is signed into law will 16 home-front war agencies have money with which to operate.

Today's action to break the deadlock that gripped the bill more than a month ago will start in the house, with a vote on an appropriations committee recommendation.

Gas Coupon Value May Be Reduced

DALLAS, July 12 (AP)—H. F. Carmichael, district OPA director, said here that there is a possibility the value of a gasoline coupon may be reduced due to what he called over-issuance of gasoline to C card holders.

Carmichael declared yesterday that a spot check of 109 C card gasoline issuances would be made at each of the district's war price and rationing boards to determine whether or not such gasoline for preferred mileage is being seriously over-issued. Indications are, he said, that it is.

Yank Landing Near Japan Is Forecast

BULLETIN

GUAM, Friday, July 12 (AP)—An air fleet of from 500 to 550 Superfortresses poured more than 3,000 tons of flaming and explosive bombs before dawn today on four Japanese cities and oil centers spread over 400 miles of the home islands of Honshu and Shikoku.

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Imminent Allied invasions at either end of the Japanese empire were predicted today in Nipponese news reports amid growing criticism of the Mikado's government.

Tokyo indicated both assaults would be air bases to support large scale invasion of Japan and either the Malay peninsula or Sumatra.

The enemy's Domei news agency said 217 British carrier planes bombed Sabaru island in the Indian ocean off the northern tip of Sumatra, yesterday morning in support of a contemplated landing on Car Nicobar island. Car Nicobar is within fighter range of Sumatra and the Malay peninsula, where amphibious forces might land for a drive on Singapore, greatest pre-war naval base in the Pacific.

An American landing close to Japan to seize more island air bases to support the eventual invasion of the homeland was forecast by the Tokyo newspaper Mainichi. Tuesday's carrier raid on some 70 Tokyo airfields was merely a forerunner of such a landing, Mainichi said, and it predicted planes from Vice Adm. John S. McCain's Task Force 38 would return to Tokyo "again and again."

The fleet has been under radio

Amarillo Man Is Facing Charges

PANHANDLE, July 12—Charges have been filed against L. B. Thresher of Amarillo and G. R. Davis for the theft of a 750-pound safe robbed June 10 from the Purr and Sewell grocery store.

Sheriff Williams said Monday that a statement, made by Thresher, has been filed in Carson county.

About $500 was taken from the safe, and $100 was in change.

Leo Guffey, butcher, reported the robbery when he opened for business Monday, June 10. The men had gained entry to the building by smashing a panel out of the door and tearing off a padlock.

Thresher's statement was taken by Sheriff Williams on July 8.

Marine Recruiter Is Wanting Applicants

Daniel M. Pope, marine recruiter from Lubbock, is in Pampa today and is welcoming more applicants from youths 17 years old for the marine corps.

Pope pointed out that one out of every three men go into the aviation branch of the service and that 90 per cent of the marine officers come from enlisted ranks.

"Men with mechanical and technical knowledge are also in great demand at this time" Pope said.

Write or call 217 post office building in Lubbock for further information.

"When writing it is important to include your birth certificate."

'Destroyed in the Ruhr' Ended Nazi Divisions Career

By GEORGE TUCKER

12th ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, Germany. — The allied juggernaut that destroyed German power in western Europe destroyed at least 161 enemy divisions or similar major units between D-Day, June 6, 1944, and May 9, 1945.

Many were annihilated on their first contact with American or British arms. Others were mauled beyond recognition and their elements absorbed into other divisions.

Some like the famed Panzerlehr division, were wiped out time and again, only to reform and fight on until finally crushed in the Ruhr. A few fought all the way across France into Germany and still were on their feet when the remnants of the Wehrmacht surrendered unconditionally. But the over-all picture is one of destruction never before equaled by English-speaking armies.

The 353rd German infantry division was the first to be destroyed. It was hit by the U. S. First infantry division and the 116th infantry regiment of the 29th division on Omaha beach on D-Day in one of the most terrific fights of the Normandy campaign.

It reappeared later at Aachen, where it received another beating. Its remnants finally were absorbed by the 175th infantry division which in turn was destroyed in the Ruhr.

"Destroyed in the Ruhr" is the tagline that ended the career of more than 20 German divisions. No single pocket yielded a greater bag of prisoners to the allied armies.

The final count showed 327,000 Germans in the bag.

The real core of the German army, however, was destroyed west of the Rhine.

The graves of its crack divisions are to be seen along almost every road in France from Bordeaux to Strasbourg, and the record of their demise like an official moribund's report. "7th infantry division destroyed in Normandy." "22nd infantry division destroyed in Brest and on Crozon peninsula." "331st infantry division destroyed west of Seine." "462nd infantry division destroyed south of Seine."

Before Pearl Harbor the commercial planes were in the air seven to eight hours out of 24.

Now they're in the air 12 1-2 hours, a figure beyond which they cannot fly with safety. Before Pearl Harbor they traveled about 1,100 miles a day. Now they're doing 1,800.

In April 1941, the domestic lines carried 308,644 passengers and traveled 114,748,987 passenger miles. In April of this year they carried 482,821 passengers and traveled 256,511,544 passenger miles.

St. Bernardine, a celebrated ecclesiastic in the 13th century, taught bare fist pugilism, and is really the "father of boxing."

Nesselrode Pie Is Party Dessert

Nesselrode pie can be made at home.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer
For that warm evening informal on the porch, serve this popular home version of the Nesselrode pie which you always ask for as dessert in your favorite sea-food restaurant.

Nesselrode Pie
One envelope plain, unflavored gelatin, 1-4 cup cold milk, 1 cup milk, 4 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup light cream, 1 teaspoon rum flavoring, 1 tablespoon finely chopped maraschino cherries, 1-2 cup chocolate chips.
Soften gelatin in cold milk. Scald 1 cup of milk and add slowly to slightly beaten egg yolks, 1-2 cup sugar and salt which have been combined. Cook in top of double boiler until of custard consistency, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool and add cream and rum flavoring. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites to which remaining 1-2 cup sugar has been added, and the chopped maraschino cherries. Pour into baked pie shell or ornate crust and chill until firm. Sprinkle top of pie with chocolate chips just before serving.
Either iced coffee or iced tea—strong and freshly made—goes well with this dessert. To make iced tea for 5, follow these tested directions:
Iced Tea
Scald teapot with boiling water. Measure 10 teaspoons tea into pot. Bring 5 cups freshly drawn water to a galloping boil; pour into teapot. Cover; let stand 3 minutes; strain. Pour hot tea infusion over ice in tall glasses. Serve with lemon-slices. Serves 5.

quotes from the 1940 census to show that of the 37,000,000 dwelling units in this country, 14,000,000 had no flush toilet, 12,000,000 no private bath, 11,000,000 no running water.
To build homes for people with incomes under $2,000 she believes there must be cost reductions all along the line in materials, labor, taxes, interest, land values; improvement in zoning regulations; stable, efficient neighborhood control.
Mumford's book consists of six republished essays: "The City," "The Metropolitan Milieu," "Mass-Fraction and Housing," "Report on Housing," "The Social Foundation of Post-War Planning" and "The Plan of London," the last two printed for the first time in the U. S.
His observation on the nature of cities, delve so profoundly as to suggest why Americans, and perhaps British, too, entered this war with reluctance.
The big city, London, New York or Chicago, has been built, he claims, for economics and industrial purposes, not for human ends; that is, the London County Council plan for rebuilding is that it aims to keep the capital's present enormous population.
He favors the "garden city." For all his radical attack on huge urban centers, he is just an old-fashioned man who wants family life revived.

Books of Today

By W. G. ROGERS
"CITY DEVELOPMENT," by Lewis Mumford (Harcourt, Gray, $2); "A MILLION HOMES A YEAR," by Dorothy Rosenman (Harcourt, Gray; $3.50).
Devoted to the subject of what we're going to give in, and where it will be, these two uncommonly valuable books are written by experts. They deserve a wide audience; they require little technical knowledge on the reader's part, and are so aptly, so intelligently phrased that they make pleasing reading.
They're for the man in the street, Mrs. Rosenman wants to get him out of the street into a comfortable, efficient, inexpensive home; Mumford wants him in a less crowded street. Few people have the information to argue with these authors.
Mrs. Rosenman, chairman of the Nation Committee on Housing,

Woman Wanted for Theft Is Held Here

Local police are holding a woman wanted by Miami Beach, Fla., authorities for theft of several hundred dollars worth of clothing and jewelry.
Chief of Police Louie Allen said the woman has traveled over the country, registering at different hotels and "looting rooms of other guests."
Patrolmen Jim Conner and Ernest Wipborne arrested her as she was entering a local theatre last night. The patrolmen had been supplied a description of her by Miami Beach police.
Allen said that she still had some of the stolen articles in her possession.

Hobbies Help Pep Up Personalities

Best antidote to that not uncommon feeling that you're growing stale or that your personality is closing in instead of sprouting out, is a new interest — one that takes you into unfamiliar surroundings or plunges you into unusual activities.
If you feel that way, hie away to some place new on your vacation or next holiday. If you stay at home — a decision Uncle Sam will approve — look for a hobby. There are plenty of hobbies that will guide you in your choice.
A stay-at-home acquaintance of mine found her hobby in language study, and the fun she's had from mastering a new tongue is only half of it. Her interest in the language has blazed a trail into amusing restaurants, foreign language theaters and homes. It's opened up a new world, made her new friends, given her a flock of new interests and a winning personality.

We, the Women
By RUTH MILLETT
Ever since the war shortages first began to cramp the living style of Americans we've had a horrible fear — what if we should get caught without any of this or that soon — how scarce an article? And so without feeling in the least like hoarders we've put away a little supply of this and a little supply of that and bought things before we actually needed them or just because some salesman let drop the hint, "These are the last we'll be getting."
That fear of being caught without any extra shoes on our shelves, liquor in the cabinet, or canned goods in the basement has haunted us enough to make us fork over cash for things we wanted at the moment — only because we might not be able to get them at some later date.
But now there's a little story that ought to give us a new fear to replace the fear of being caught short.
A Michigan man recently died and in his house were found a thousand cases of canned goods, sacks of sugar, a refrigerator full of meats, cases of beer and ale, and in the yard drums of gasoline and two brand-new tires.
TOO MUCH, TOO SOON
So the new fear ought to be that instead of being caught short some of us might be caught with too many things stored away.
How would you like to be caught with 20 pairs of shoes in your closet — with 40 pounds of sugar in the storeroom with canned goods in cases, with cartons of cigarettes?
Now we can think before we rush out to buy a supply of a soon-to-be-scarce commodity. "Would I want to be caught dead with these?" instead of the old worry, "What if I'm caught without any of this or that?"
We can rationalize and defend our stocking up on scarce commodities when we're alive — but you have to be alive to try to convince people it's anything but just plain hoarding.
There are 852,000 municipal employees in the cities and towns of the United States and they have a payroll of $122,000,000.

Take Off Ugly Fat With This Home Recipe

Here is an inexpensive home recipe for taking off ungainly weight and help bring back slender curves and graceful lines. Just get from any drugstore, four ounces of liquid Barcol Concentrate. ### Auto Controls for Disabled GIs

Shown above is Studebaker's application of the devices developed by the automobile industry to make driving simple and safe for GI amputees. Vacuum power centers most stop-go effort in a single lever under the steering wheel. Advanced, the lever engages the clutch and opens the throttle; retarded, the lever disengages the clutch and applies the brakes. Other features: a knob on the steering wheel for either dress artificial or hook hand; starter and dimmer switches on dash where they can be reached by knees; an "eye" on the emergency hand. Lower illustration, Mike Daugherty, who lost a leg on Guadalcanal, demonstrates.

Most Glaring Example of Inflation Exists in Greece

(Editor's Note: Following is another of a series of articles written by Gene Worley of the 18th congressional district, in which he relates experiences on his recent European trip.)

By GENE WORLEY
The United States has had inflation since the war began. Prices have fluctuated rather wildly in many instances but on the whole the government price control system, which admittedly has numerous defects, has still worked much better in this country than in most places I had an opportunity to visit and observe.

The most glaring example of inflation at its worst exists in Greece. I priced a pair of sandals seen in a shop window. No one in this country would have looked at them a single time because the sole was made from an old worn discarded tire casing with two straps of artificial leather. This pair of so-called sandals cost at the then rate of exchange $50. I priced a pair of fairly good men's shoes which were handmade because the Nazis left the Greeks with very little machinery of any kind. The storekeeper quoted a price of $150. I journeyed through the public market in Athens and saw the natives bargaining and buying what they could under the terrific price schedule which prevailed. One native had a hen—which obviously was a sick hen, for which he asked $20. He half-way apologized for this high price by pointing out that the hen was about to lay an egg, and eggs were valuable in their own right.

Prices were very high in all countries I visited except Germany. Prices were sagging there. All stores in the smaller German towns still left standing had been ordered closed by the American military government. I saw very little trading or commerce of any kind going on in Germany.

The British seemed to have controlled their inflationary tendencies fairly well and one way this was done was by increasing the tax rates which were extremely high.

In France prices were also very high. During the German occupation the Nazis kept the French money presses rolling day and night with the result that there was three times more currency in circulation under the Nazi regime than France ever had in her most prosperous years. Food and clothes and practically everything else is very scarce in France. Under those conditions black markets are flourishing. The army has set up a number of post exchanges for members of the American forces where they can buy such things as perfumes, handbags, jewelry, and other things which they want either for themselves or to send back home to the members of their families. It might be of interest to point out that many French women have volunteered to assist a number of our organizations in helping the boys wrap their packages for shipment back home.

While the French rate of exchange is obviously not equitable to the Americans over there, additional steps have been taken to correct these inequities to some degree. Another example is illustrated when the army took over the Grand hotel in Paris which is one of the biggest hotels in Europe. This place is thrown open to all members of the Allied forces where they can buy a good meal for ten francs, which is twenty cents, get a nice room where royalty used to sleep for 40 cents a day. And they can play pingpong, dance, or even get a dish of good old American ice cream—with chocolate. This is one of the most popular places in all of Europe and the boys seem to thoroughly enjoy all the privileges offered. In addition there are numerous USO and Red Cross establishments scattered in or around Paris. One thing the boys would like to do is to go up on the Eiffel Tower. However, when I was there the army was using the top of this tremendous structure as a radio station. The Champs-Elysees is always crowded with American soldiers.

The Arch de Triomphe, Cathedral of Notre Dame, War Building, Latin Quarter, Sorbonne, Versailles and many other points of interest were very popular with our boys also. And they all seemed to be thoroughly enjoying the conducted tours.

At the end of the 15th century public baths were forbidden in Germany in an effort to curb epidemics.

Oil Co. President Says Europeans Are Shell Shocked

NEW YORK, July 12—(AP)—Eugene Holman, president of Standard Oil Co. (N. J.), reports that Americans dealing with European businessmen must consider them "a bunch of shell-shocked people for which recovery will be a long, drawn-out process."

He said that although physical bomb and war damage to plants in Europe were huge, this was greatly outweighed by the "terrible moral damage to nationals there, many of whom appear on the verge of nervous breakdowns."

Holman, a native of San Angelo, Tex., gave his opinions in an interview after studying notes brought back July 3 when he returned by clipper after three weeks in Britain where he conferred with Standard Oil representatives from all over Europe, many of whom were nationals of Belgium, The Netherlands and other countries. He has been president of the big petroleum company for about one year.

"It is important for us to get American technicians in Europe as numbers but in know-how," said the large-framed, soft-spoken former Texan. "They must exercise the utmost care in their relations with nationals there."

"Many of these persons can't even think clear right now. They do want to talk to someone they know and can trust, however. They want to find out what has been going on in the past four or five years while they were held virtual prisoners."

"Some were in concentration camps or held as hostages. After spending these war years knowing they were not devoting their time to a useful purpose, they want to get back in harness as soon as possible. They want someone to hold their hands."

"The sooner they get started on reconstruction through the help of American technicians, the sooner their nervous tension will disappear and along with the look as if they expected someone to stick a gun in their back at any time."

Holman said damage to bulk oil stations, warehouses and similar facilities would mean installing more

Your Mutual Minute of Prayer

Inspired by the late President's suggestion to pray for an early Victory, made at the time of the Pearl Harbor tragedy. This prayer is that of

THE REVEREND DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN
Minister, Christ Church
New York City

Let us pray:
Great God and Father of mankind, not in anger, but in penitence, we come before Thee. Not in fear, but in faith, we put our trust in Thee. Give us—blessed and guidance in the fathers of our nation. Comfort and sustain the mothers and fathers of the world this day. Walk with the boys that march and stand beside those who suffer. And, O God, speed the triumph of right over might that peace may come. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

modern equipment in many cases but that it would take two or three surveying crews approximately a year to find out what is needed and another year or so to get necessary materials and manpower to make and install it.

The oil executive said it was difficult to appraise world export questions at this time but that they might be more answerable after a meeting of the big three.

He held out little improvement in United States civilian oil supplies, saying he thought limitations would continue for the duration because military requirements were so high.

District Railroad Director Reports Grain Increases

Reports that railroad grain loadings in the western districts of the United States had totaled 844,256 cars in the first half of 1945 as compared with 914,450 in the corresponding period of 1944 were in the hands of E. O. Walker, district rail director, office of defense transportation, today.

Walker said in Dallas that loadings in western districts the week ending June 30 were 45,973 cars, an increase of 3,539 over the corresponding week of 1944.

More wheat, grain and grain products were carried by American railroads during the first half of 1945 than in any like period in the nation's history, the ODA official announced. The total movement for 1945 up to June 30 was 1,243,473 cars, compared with 1,309,403 cars in the first six months of 1944, and 1,281,061 in the same period of 1943, previous high.

This record was made at a time of acute shortage of boxcars. At the same time an easing of the grain storage situation is indicated by a decrease of grain in storage in elevators from 115,016,000 bushels on June 23, 1944, to 109,287,000 bushels on June 23, 1945, a drop of 5,729,000 bushels, grain stored at ports decreased in the same period from 26,013,000 bushels to 25,995,000 bushels.

Although there were 211 country elevators closed July 2, 1945, as compared with 207 on July 2, 1944, there was virtually no grain on the ground July 2, 1945.

It is estimated that the 1945 supply of lead will be approximately 20 per cent below requirements.

Churchill Works With Canvass

ST. JEAN DE LUZ, July 12—(AP)—With a soft gray felt hat on his head and a cigar clenched between his teeth, Prime Minister Churchill works daily with canvass and brushes, painting this picturesque little basque seaport with the Pyrenees range towering in the background. "I wanted to paint this scene ever since I first saw it 20 years ago," explained Churchill, who is resting here between his strenuous general election campaign and the Potsdam meeting of the big three. Churchill is at his easel every afternoon, guarded by six husky plainclothesmen from Scotland Yard while 500 or more curious Frenchmen watch from 50 feet away. It is the first time he has been able to indulge in his favorite hobby since he went to Marrakech, French Morocco, in 1943 to recuperate from illness. Meanwhile his wife and daughter spends most of the morning reading. The prime minister has been sleeping until 9 a.m. instead of rising at 6 as he did in London. He spends most of the morning reading London newspapers and mail.

The average American consumes more than 3,000 calories a day; Parisians get along on 1,900; and the Greeks survive on 700.

Squadron B, Kimboys Win as First Half Nears End

Baseball Swings into Vital 2nd Half Today

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Baseball swings into a fourth vital inter-sectional series today with the Chicago Cubs and Detroit Tigers, respective league leaders, showing largest gains over their 1944 mid-season standings.

A year ago both the Bruins and Bengals were mired deep in seventh place while today's won and lost records show Chicago one game ahead of the national pack and Detroit with a 4 1-2 length advantage in the American League.

Both 1944 champions, the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns, are behind their '44 pace, the Cards 9 1-2 games off last year's pace and dropped from lead to third, Luke Sewell's "Cinderella Gang" has had tougher sledding, dropping from first to sixth, six games behind their pennant-winning gain.

Detroit has been first since June 12 and comes east to open in Boston with a chance of building a solid lead by a repetition of their first successful road jaunt.

Charles Grimm was just beginning to right the Cubs a year ago after their disastrous early-season record when they dropped 11 of their first 12 starts, now Chicago has just returned from a sizzling eastern trip on which they won 13 and 16 and displaced Brooklyn in first place.

The Boston Braves, who were manhandled by the Bruins 24-2 and lost an entire series to Chicago at home, lead the invaders into Wrigley field followed by New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia. The Dodgers open their drive to regain the lead in Cincinnati and third place St. Louis, only 1 1-2 games off the pace, open a series of night engagements at Sportsman's park with the Giants.

Detroit comes to the Atlantic seaboard with Dizzy Trout and two lesser pitchers on the ailing list but with Hank Greenberg making his first swing around the circuit and Hal Newhouse burning up the loopy at his 1944 pace.

More than one baseball expert returned from the west with the conviction that Washington represents the east's number one flag contender on its five-star pitching staff.

Medics Win from K. P. Lodge; Merchants Drop 2nd Straight

With only three more games to play, the Squadron B team of the men's senior softball league appears to have the first half tie "in the bag," although the Kimboys are uncomfortably close.

Both teams emerged from last night's games with easy wins, the Squadron B team taking the measure of last place Cargray 7 to 0 and the Kimboys winning 7 to 4 over the Odd Fellows.

One of Squadron B's games is with the Kimboys, one is with the Base Communications and the other with the Junior Oilers Friday night.

The Kimboys, besides their Squadron B game, are slated to play the Phillips Oilers tonight.

Dates and places of the other games have not as yet been set.

The Pampa Merchants went down to their second defeat in a row as they dropped a 6 to 3 decision to the Base Communications.

Schmitz of the Communications hurled 4-hit ball.

In the Squadron B - Cargray game, Mathis allowed the Cargray hitters four bingles and struck out 13 as two of his teammates, Walker and Tash, hit home runs.

Muraczewski slammed a three run homer to spark the Kimboys' victory over the Odd Fellows. The Odd Fellows were held scoreless until the seventh when their four-run uprising, which was too little and too late, came.

Cubs, Indians Dominate '45 All-Star Nines

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs and Cleveland Indians led their respective leagues in men selected for the "mythical" 1945 all-star game Wednesday by vote of 13 of the 16 big league managers in a poll conducted by The Associated Press.

Seven Cubs were picked on the National League's 25-men squad and five Indians surprisingly made the American list for the game that never will be played.

The '45 all-star tie, scheduled to have been played Tuesday in Boston's Fenway park, was called off in cooperation with the ODT and replaced by a two-day schedule of exhibitions for war relief.

Reversing the usual procedure, the National team would lean heavily on power hitting from the bats of Tommy Holmes of Boston, who leads both circuits with 401 and has hit in 37 consecutive games, and Chicago's Phil Cavarretta, batting .372.

7 AL Teams Experience Alarm at Detroit Pace

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Lifted a disturbed eyebrow early in the season when the Detroit Tigers, riding on splendid pitching, suddenly barged into the American League leadership.

But now, with the race entering its second half, you can feel a sense of alarm among the seven other contenders. For the Tigers, nobody weak as a run-making club, have improved with the return of Hank Greenberg's occasional home run and the tardy awakening of Rudy York, hard-swinging first baseman. It no longer appears likely that Steve Veal's Bengals will fall back on their own accord, anyone who wants to pass them will have to beat them.

Detroit's steadiness is not the only surprising factor brought out in the first half of the scramble which opened with the Browns and Yankees as co-favorites. The Browns, defending champions, had only slightly hit by player losses, still find themselves wallowing unhappily in the second division. Their chances to repeat are now admittedly remote. The Yanks, pared of their punch with the induction of Johnny Lindell, hang among the leaders but find it impossible to muster a convincing win streak.

The White Sox, off to a grand start, are gradually sagging back to their old neighborhood. The Red Sox have been cold, hot and then cold again, even though rookie Bob Ferris continues to pile up victories.

Cleveland has not yet borne out the forecasters who maintained the Indians must be re-koned as a potential champion.

Along with Detroit, the Washington Senators have taken a most amazing turn, climbing steadily from seventh place to a spot in contention. Fine pitching by Leonard, Wolf, Pieretti and Niggeling, who accounted for 34 of the Nats' first 36 wins, has been the major factor in this work's turning. Few believe the Nats can hold the pace.

Philadelphia, deep in last place, has been a surprise, too. But in reverse. Not seriously looked upon when the season opened, the A's remounting turn, climbing ideas when they broke their Maryland camp. We can still hear the words of one of their players: "Wow, this is a wonderful thing for Mr. Mack—winning a pennant in his 32nd year?"

Judging from the current standings, we'd say it certainly would!

Judging from the current standings, we'd say it certainly would!

Chandler Takes Over Baseball's 'Biggest Worry'

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—A. B. "Happy" Chandler, baseball commissioner, sits down today to become better acquainted with the men who hired him.

Some of the big league clubowners never have met the man they selected as successor to the late Judge Keesaw Mountain Landis in the game's highest position.

By a characteristic Chandler stroke, the Kentucky senator will preside at a joint major league session in his first formal meeting with baseball's bigwigs.

Current transportation problems. Transfer of the finances of the commissioner's office to Walter W. Mulbray, secretary-treasurer under Chandler.

Salaries to be paid Mulbray, Leslie M. O'Connor, special assistant to the commissioner, and office help.

Nelson Meets Turnesa In PGA Tournament

By FRITZ HOWELL
DAYTON, O., July 12.—(AP)—Mike Turnesa, 36-year-old golf star from White Plains, N. Y., goes into today's 36 hole second round matches of the 27th PGA championship hoping he can do as well as his kid brother, Sgt. Jim, did three years ago.

Mike has the chore of playing Byron Nelson, the Toledo umbrella man transplanted from Texas—and that considered the toughest chore a pro can face. Nelson, favorite for the title, has won 30 of his 36 matches in PGA play.

But three years ago, at Atlantic City, Sgt. Jim Turnesa handed Nelson one of his six defeats.

Nelson breezed into today's second round with a 4 and 3 win yesterday over Gene Sarazen, three-time winner of the tourney, while Mike registered a 5 and 4 verdict over Johnny Gibson of Wilmette, Ill.

Along with Evansville, Ind., and Perry, Mike, 14 other survivors of yesterday's setups and upsets were in there firing today—including Sgt. Jim Turnesa who blasted by Harke of Bensenville, Ill., 9 and 7.

Defending champion Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., and Perry, Wash., failed to get past the first round, dropping a 5 and 4 job to Jack Groat, the giant killer from Rinsdale, Ill. Other topflight victims included Harold (Juf) McSpaden who bowed 5 and 4 to giant-sized Clarence (Bull) Doser of Hartsdale, N. Y., and Sgt. E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, with the army air corps at nearby Wright Field, who overcame a five-down handicap at the end of 18 holes only to lose on the final hole to Sterling Johnson of Norristown, Pa., one down.

Along with Evansville, Ind., and Perry, Mike, 14 other survivors of yesterday's setups and upsets were in there firing today—including Sgt. Jim Turnesa who blasted by Harke of Bensenville, Ill., 9 and 7.

Work Clinics Planned For Postwar Activity

LONGVIEW, July 12.—More than twelve chambers of commerce have planned work clinics to map their postwar activities following the Longview recently by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The organization service department of the regional organization has noted an increased tempo in postwar planning during the last several weeks.

Work clinics have recently been held in Kilgore and Mexia, with a combined attendance of more than 50. Other towns that have planned similar clinics include Hillsboro, Conroe, Huntsville, Paris and others.

Cognizant of the fact that many men are returning home from the service now, the organization service department of the East Texas Chamber is free to all communities in the region served by the organization.

Racing Asks for Clarification of Johnson's Order

NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Latest Racing will ask for a clarification of the government's reinstated ban on shipment of horses.

Harry A. Parr III of Baltimore, president of the Thoroughbred Racing Association, said last night he has an appointment today with Col. J. M. Johnson, director of the Federal Transportation, who announced the prohibition.

Transportation of racing and show animals by railroad and common or contract truck carriers was forbidden, effective last night, until next July 1, unless modified or lifted in the meanwhile.

Farr said that some of the tracks still were in doubt as to what to do.

This latest restriction—the second applied to racing since the first in the year—had the effect of confining the billion-dollar sport to tracks now operating.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, July 12.—(AP)—Latest report, from a source that can't be questioned, is that Frank Leahy will not become post-war coach of the Los Angeles club of the all America football conference.

And isn't it about time to Leahy off rumors about that guy? . . . About next week the National Boxing Association will suspend bad boy Bobby Ruffin for his recent cut-up in Elizabeth, N. J., to show that "no boxer is bigger than the profession which he is part of."

At the naval academy they tell this story about Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., who died leading his troops to victory on Okinawa. . . . When vice admiral (then captain) Robert E. Giffen was director of athletics at the academy in 1936, a husky army officer paddled up to the sea wall to kayak and asked for Giffen's office. . . . It was Buckner, then commandant of cadets at West Point and a close friend of Giffen. . . . enroute to Fort Monroe, Va., he had paddled from West Point to Annapolis in the tiny craft they seafering men at Annapolis say it proved Buckner had real strength as well as great confidence in his ability to make such a voyage.

Spots Before Your Eyes
The Memphis Chickies who sold Pete Gray to the majors, have invited Joe Cager, one-armed Peoria, Ill., semi-pro, to have a tryout. . . . When he learned that his brother, Capt. Leo Frazier, had entered an army tournament in Paris, Sonny Frazier, the Atlanta City golfer, sent Leo his last three prewar golf balls. . . . Novelty note: The publishers of the official football guide promise the book will be out on time this year—probably early in August.

Only Love Is Blind
Ross Badger, a pony league umpire, and Lucy Hubbard at Gastonia, N. C., were married at the home plate before a game at Jamestown, N. C., the other night. . . . presumably the bride promised to love, honor and never dispute a decision.

Amarillo Has Polio Suspect

AMARILLO, July 12.—(AP)—The first polio suspect for the Panhandle was taken to an Amarillo hospital last night.

The child, Charles Bray, 2 years old, is suffering with his left leg, but the attending physician has not yet definitely diagnosed the case as infantile paralysis.

Two years ago a wave of paralysis hit the Panhandle, but this year the polio cases have appeared downstate and this section has not been affected.

Charles, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bray, Dumas, was taken to Amarillo on the recommendation of the Moore county health officer.

Allies Devise Air, Sea Rescue Plan

LONDON, July 12 (AP)—The allies have bridged the Atlantic with the greatest air-sea rescue system ever devised in dispatching planes and men home from Europe. Many of the men and machines are crisscrossed straight for the Pacific.

The United States, Great Britain and Brazil have marked two direct paths across the ocean with chains of ships, stationed like beacons to guide planes along the way and help any which may be forced down.

Brig. Gen. Earl S. Hoag, commander of the European division of the United States air transport command, described the mass movement of men and machines today as the "greatest aerial elevator of all times."

Of 4,157 Flying Fortresses, Liberators, two-engine bombers and transports starting across the Atlantic, only two have been lost without trace.

More than 60,000 troops have been flown home since April 20.

The U. S. 8th, 9th and 12th air forces are moving en masse. Many bombers which survived rough raids over Germany are headed for Japan. Although combat veterans, flying long water stretches usually is new to bomber pilots. They are given brief instructions in celestial navigation. Naval men say the ships have been important psychologically.

Much of the air-sea rescue system still is secret. The number of ships cannot be disclosed. The Brazilian cruiser Bahia sank last week while on air-sea rescue duty, presumably after hitting a floating mine.

Ships standing watch have a tedious job, broken only by exchange signals and greetings to the homing air crews.

Long range land planes such as the American Catalinas and British Sunderlands stand ready on both sides of the Atlantic and on islands in between to speed to the scene of any crash.

The earliest use of colored glass in spectacles authenticated by the record is a public announcement by a maker of spectacles in 1561.

It's Safe for "Baby"

This little miss believes in starting the day with a big glass of orange juice and dolly seems to want the same glass. Mother needn't concern herself, for baby's drinking glass was made for rough handling like this. It's one of the new "heat-treated" tumblers, just released to civilians, and is much more resistant to shattering and sudden temperature changes than ordinary glassware.

4-H Cooks Learn To Limit Meals

Legions of 4-H girl cooks throughout the nation will have the 1945 wartime objective of making the greatest possible use of home-produced foods in preparing and serving wholesome, balanced meals to their families.

This is reflected in the enrollment of currently 170,000 club members in the recent Servel 4-H food preparation activity, in which they will also acquire knowledge of nutritional needs of various age groups, as well as in the wise selection of purchased foods through a study of costs and rationing.

Outstanding records of achievement in this activity are rewarded with silver medals to county winners, an all-expense trip to the 24th national 4-H club congress in Chicago next December to each state's champion, and a $200 college scholarship to the highest rating participant from each of the four extension sections, and two at large.

Some idea of the participants' achievements may be gained from the estimate that during the war years of 1942-45 the 4-H cooks prepared 40 million family meals, in addition to innumerable special dishes and school lunches.

The activity is being conducted for the 11th consecutive year by the extension service of the state agricultural college and USDA cooperating. County extension agents will furnish details.

Stars and Stripes

Thomas says the real "glamour boys" of Stars and Stripes (although they despised the term) were the field correspondents who faced all kinds of danger to get the news—jumping with the paratroops and gliders, going on bombing missions and even scaling the cliffs of Normandy with the "Fangers." Fellows like Bud Hutton, Andy Rooney, Hootenfield, Earl Maso, Vic Dallaire, Peter Furst and Ed Clark figured in some of the most thrilling episodes of the European war," he declared.

"And through all of it their copy was set up, for the most part, by French or Belgian printers who seldom could distinguish one English word from another and had to guess where to divide a word at the end of a line. Somehow though they managed to make deadlines on time with the tabloid-size papers which were full of news, if not always artistic.

"Although the combined circulation of the several editions ran into the millions daily, few copies ever found their way back to the United States. Hence, the home front had no way of knowing what a pal Stars and Stripes was to every GI Joe in the European war," Thomas continued.

Not long ago the first Stars and Stripes editor was established in Honolulu, and others probably will extend the service of the state agricultural college and USDA cooperating. County extension agents will furnish details.

'Taint the Heat

silence since Tuesday. Land-based fighters and bombers have filled the sky. Aircraft from Okinawa flew through stormy weather yesterday to further neutralize suicide air bases on Southern Japan's Kyushu island and Tokyo reported 180 returned today but failed to make any mischief.

"The elimination of the Japanese air force as an effective weapon is the first job of American air power," Undersecretary of Navy Artemus L. Gates said in Washington. He expressed belief this "will be accomplished shortly."

Japanese news reports questioned whether the country was prepared to meet the increasing American aerial raids and told of "deserters from the defense front" trying to "escape to a safe place." The cabinet was criticized as being "irregularly inactive" and "wasting precious time in idle deliberations" while Japan was "confronted by its most serious crisis."

Two troop convoys attempting to carry troops from Shanghai to the homeland, possibly to reinforce garrisons guarding the invasion coasts of Japan, were broken up by the American naval air blockade.

On the South China coast, however, the Chinese high command admitted Nipponese troops have recaptured Tinpik in an apparent attempt to strengthen overland communications between Canton and Hainan Island. Tinpik is a highway town on the northeastern corner of Luichow (Hainan) peninsula 170 miles south of Canton.

Japanese counter-attacks on the Indo-China border were reported beaten back. North of the border, Chinese forces drove from the recaptured U. S. Luchow air base toward Kweilin, 32 miles distant and most important of the lost American air bases in South China.

Isolated Japanese in rainswept South Burma were reported digging in near Nyaunkashe and to have occupied the town which British troops evacuated two days ago in the face of Nipponese attacks.

Australians captured Sepinggan air field near Balikpapan. Dutch fliers will use the airfield, the third captured in the 12-month-old invasion of Southeast Borneo. Aussies drove a three-mile wedge into defense lines in one sector and broke up a counter-attack in another.

Edible birds' nests have the size and shape of a half teacup, and are attached to cave walls in great numbers at the darkest and least accessible places.

Fruit Production Marks Up Record

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Orange production is estimated at a record 103,810,000 boxes, as compared with 103,050,000 boxes last year.

The agriculture department's estimate represents a decline of 100,000 boxes under last month's prediction.

Conditions of citrus crops on July 1 was above average in California, Arizona and Texas but below average in Florida.

Production estimates by states this year, compared with last year's harvest, respectively, included; California, 58,500,000 and 51,900,000 boxes; Florida, 42,800,000 and 46,200,000; Texas, 4,000,000 and 3,550,000; Arizona, 1,150,000 and 1,100,000; Louisiana, 360,000 and 240,000.

Grapefruit production was estimated at 51,905,000 boxes as against 55,570,000 last year. Estimated production by states as compared with last year's yield; Florida 22,300,000 and 31,000,000; Texas 22,400,000 and 17,710,000; Arizona 3,800,000 and 4,080,000; California 3,405,000 and 3,189,000.

News Strike

(Continued from Page One) to return the 14 papers to the streets "as rapidly as possible." It did not indicate how or when the deliveries would be made. The association's action followed refusal of union members to obey the war labor board's third directive to return to work or lose their closed shop and other benefits.

Other strikes settled in Detroit sent 3,616 workers back to their jobs in war plants, while three continuing strikes kept idle 4,100. A temporary end to a strike by 1,000 CIO oil and gas workers which tied up operations of the United Fuel Gas company in six Eastern states was announced by union leaders. The strike was over wage increases and the return to work was conditioned upon assurances of a WLB hearing next week.

A strike continued to keep idle 16,500 workers at the Firestone Tire & Rubber company in Akron, Ohio.

Tying up work on eight construction projects valued at $20,000,000, an estimated 1,500 workmen in Washington, D. C., continued to refuse to pass picket lines established by the AFL International Federation of Technical Engineers, Architects and Draftsmen. The dispute was over union recognition. Most of the construction projects are for the army and navy.

FEPC Fight

(Continued from page one) to give FEPC the $250,000 voted by the senate. It was the senate action, after the house originally had denied funds for the agency, that precipitated one of the longest appropriation stalemates in recent years.

The compromise allows the FEPC to use the $250,000 for its normal activities during the current fiscal year. Although it calls for liquidation of the agency, no time limit is set for liquidation.

FEPC supporters said the agreement was all right with them, even though it called for less than half of the budget estimates. They claim that the liquidation provision was meaningless and not disputed even by FEPC foes.

That the senate would accept the compromise was predicted by members of a senate-house conference committee who met late yesterday to discuss 32 other differences in the bill.

Allied Ties

The job at Potsdam will be mainly one of arranging the transitions from war to peace.

This may be broken down into four main categories:

1. Long-range control of Germany.
2. Disposition of territories. There are more than 30 disputed boundaries in Europe, and there are Italian colonies to be disposed of.
3. Peace conference: Some Allied officials have contended that the job of liquidating the war should be accomplished in a series of small conferences and some argue there must be a single peace conference for Europe, before the end of the Japanese war. The Big Three are expected to decide which it shall be.
4. Political and economic questions.

PRINCIPAL NAMED PANHANDLE, July 12 (AP)—At a meeting of the board of education, James Cox, teacher in the Ponder public schools for five years, was elected principal of the Panhandle high school.

Construction

Associates of Vinson said he was equally concerned, however, with the fact the vast industry is loosely organized. Hence it has no representation like that of the automobile industry which can sit down and work out its problems with the government.

In addition to dealing with controls, it is reported that the new committee also will attempt to coordinate private building with public works. Vinson has asked for a "large shelf of public works in the blueprint stage" to enable prompt start of a government building program as a stimulus to private business.

The public works program, in Vinson's view, should be retarded when private construction hits good levels and accelerated again when private activity falls off, and this function as a stabilizer for the industry.

Great Doctor Says Hitler Had No Knowledge of Good or Bad

By CURT REISS
(Copyright, 1945, NEA Serv., Inc.)
BERLIN, July 11—Dr. Ferdinand Sauerbruch, world famous physician who was often reputed to be Hitler's doctor, told me in an exclusive interview that he had no doubts that "Hitler was pathological to insanity." He insisted he had never been Hitler's doctor.

"Hitler had no morals, no knowledge of good or bad, right or wrong," Dr. Sauerbruch told me. "On the other hand he had a flair for people and knew with an almost unerring instinct what they would do for him. He also had a strong hypnotic influence. But Goebbels was infinitely more intelligent and was the man who really guided the leader whom he pretended to follow."

In Dr. Sauerbruch's opinion, the Nazis were nothing but a bunch of crazy people, sick people and criminals. He violently disapproved of the so-called "mercy-killings" and said he hopes that all Nazi doctors mixed up with the killing of the old or insane—not to mention the minority victims of Nazi bestiality—will be speedily hanged.

The 70-year-old doctor emphasized that he was neither a Nazi nor Hitler's personal physician. Saying that "no physician should ever mix in politics," he explained the fact that he had accepted the title of "Staatsrat" (a Nazi-coinced title) only upon guarantee by Goering that his personal and political liberty would not be infringed. He made it explicitly clear at the time, he told me, that he would not join the Nazi party.

While it is obvious that today no Nazi denial of Nazi activity can be taken at face value, Dr. Sauerbruch's statement is given certain credence by the fact that the Russians, on Marshal Zhukov's personal insistence, placed him at the head of the Berlin health service in the new city regime installed by the Russians.

"I didn't seek the job," the doctor said. "I'm terribly overburdened already." This is undoubtedly true since he is one of Germany's most famous physicians. Despite his 70 years he is still spry and lean, with an extraordinarily intelligent face. He took on the job in addition to the fact that the Russians ordered him to because "I wanted to help my fellow Germans who needed doctors more than ever." He went on to explain that during and after the battle of Berlin there was an indescribable medical mixup. Most of the important Nazi physicians, including the fuhrer's doctors, fled.

Nazis Destroyed Statistics
Dr. Sauerbruch told me that he hasn't any idea as to the extent of German losses, since the Nazis destroyed all statistics. He believed that casualties were high, than any estimates he had seen. "During the last 10 days of the Berlin battle," he said, "I alone treated 2,743 wounded."

In discussing the general state of health in Germany today, Dr. Sauerbruch turned very serious. "There is still grave danger of epidemics in Berlin," he said in conclusion. "Imagine how many dead bodies there must be slowly decaying, buried under the ruins of the city. Thank God for the rain of the last few days, for the flies who might have started epidemics on an unheard of scale. But the danger isn't passed yet. "What will happen this winter is anyone's guess."

It says here in a memo from the boss that it's about time we got around to writing a column about the birds and the bees.

Take the gentleman from Hillsboro with bats in his barnyard. The Lowry values breed dangerous dead bats and practically made pets of them.

He fed the mother bat milk by dipping his finger in a bottle and holding it in her mouth. Later she drank from a container much as a kitten, Lowry said.

He has released the now-healthy bats in his orchard, where at last reports they were flying around happily.

An often-repeated Texas tragedy has been the necessity of shooting a favorite horse when it broke a leg.

But in Amarillo when B. R. Barfield's registered brood mare broke a leg, Dr. L. M. Griffin, a veterinarian, applied braces and splints which enable Rosine Princess to hobble around.

Americans Force Young Okinawans To Attend School

By BONNIE WILEY
OKINAWA—(AP)—School attendance on Okinawa is being enforced by the American military government, partly to keep the children from hampering military traffic.

Young Okinawans quickly discovered that Americans are free-handed. They line the roads, unless they are kept in school, begging for candy with outstretched hands.

In school, they are being taught to speak English as well as Japanese.

L. Leroy Brown, former county school superintendent at Heflin, Ala., is in charge of one of the largest schools, located in a thatched-roof building of Kager village. The sides are open, it has dry grass floors and no furniture.

Brown said the children "were eager to speak English because they like Americans."

"They like school so much," he continued, "they want to be here all the time."

"We have no books, few pencils, little paper and one blackboard—for 800 pupils. But after two weeks, most of them have learned the English alphabet and the names of the days of the week."

"We have nine native women teachers and two native men."

One of the native principals said he thought the American way of teaching was an improvement over strict Japanese methods, which had emphasized bayonet and sword drills and Ju Jitsu. The principal, who has been teaching 32 years, declared: "I teach my students respect and to be kind." He bowed almost to the

Food Is Reported Tight in Norway

By BARBARA WACE
OSLO, Norway—(AP)—Nobody cares for coffee in Norway; newspapers tell parents to forbid children to ask "any gum chum," but food is tighter and store shelves emptier than anywhere else I have been in Northern Europe.

Bronzed by the sun and full of happiness, Norwegians at first sight seem to belie the scanty rations of the last five years. But official reports state that the average loss of weight has been over 12 pounds per person.

Fish has saved Norway. But an unrelieved fish diet, even for ten days which was all I was on it, can be monotonous and not very filling. We had salmon and mackerel and trout which the Germans had kept for themselves, for five years the average Norwegian has subsisted on a diet of endless cod, and herrings—dried, salt, fried, boiled steamed, pressed and soaked in cod-liver oil. But always herrings. Even the bones are made into a kind of meal and sold for housewives to convert into cakes and mush.

Breakfast and supper are exactly the same in Norway today. Cold fish, herring, cod, rollops, and a little black bread. For lunch there will be hot fish of sorts if possible. When fish is in short supply, the Norwegians eat potatoes, the only vegetables to grow universally in the thin soil of that rocky country.

Besides fish, the civil population owes much to Denmark and Sweden parcels from these countries, especially during the last two years, have been priceless in keeping up the health of the children. Danish and Swedish soup, provided to Wichita Falls reports an international visitor—a peculiar insect which flew all the way from North Africa as a stowaway in a plane. It was two inches long, beady-eyed and unsocial.

Then take fish. Anglers at Lake Texoma admit it's "a-uh, not bait, that lands the big ones. A 10-year old Oklahoma boy was lugging a string of sandbass while "experts" with expensive lures and reels went empty-handed.

The boy used, he said, a cane pole with crawfish for bait.

ODT Asks Pullmans To Discontinue Services

The Office of Defense Transportation has ordered the railroads and the Pullman Company to withdraw from service by noon, July 15, all sleeping cars operating between points 450 miles or less apart.

The order will withdraw 895 sleeping cars from regular civilian use and add that number to those available for the exclusive use of military personnel.

The action was made necessary, it was said, by the unexpectedly heavy arrival of troops from Europe, well in advance of the schedule originally announced by the War Department.

The 450 miles distance specified in the order will be measured by the shortest rail line over which regular passenger service is operated between any two points.

Seventeen American ships have been converted to mule carriers at an average cost of $317,133 each.

STAY UP, AMERICA!

Should Compulsory Arbitration Replace the Strike and Lock-Out?

As debated by
Raymond H. Bannell
Vice-President
Hartford Steel Ball Company
Hartford, Connecticut

MR. BANNELL OPENS: In post-war America the organized strike and lock-out should not be revived. They must be prohibited by law. We know our democracy, based on the premise "might makes right" is on trial. Democracy will still be on trial after the war. We will have seen the collapse of the concept "might makes right". To revert to pre-war methods of settling grievances through the economic leverage of strikes and lock-outs is to prove we have gained little from the terrible experiences of this war. Once the grievances of management and labor have been established they should be referred to an impartial individual or tribunal mutually agreed upon. The arbitrator or tribunal should have authority to make final determination of the dispute. If the parties cannot agree on this procedure, voluntary arbitration, the law should compel them to plead their cases before a judicial body with power to enforce the award. This is the peaceful method. Management and labor should resort to it as a definite example we have learned "might does not make right". We cannot convince beaten, bewildered peoples of the world we are capable of leadership unless our own house is in order.

MR. NUNN OPENS: Admittedly, strikes and lockouts are wasteful of economic resources; are destructive of community values; breed dangerous forms of class warfare. Even so, I cannot agree they should be prohibited by law in the post-war world. One cannot outlaw differences of opinion. Since these differences are going to continue, those who argue for legislation to outlaw strikes generally wish to see established some form of compulsory arbitration centering around Industrial Relationship Courts. The picture usually given is that the participants of a dispute appear before impartial judges and plead their respective cases around a chancery rail; finally, they are required by law to abide peacefully by the decision. However persuasive this may sound, the whole idea rests upon assumptions which are alien to our economic and political institutions. Wages, hours, seniority status, working conditions, policies of hiring and firing—and all other controversial issues—in the field of industrial relationships—will be established by law under any such system of compulsory arbitration. In my opinion, this is industrial autocracy. I favor the extension of existing mediation and arbitration agencies on the federal, state, and local levels, short of compulsory arbitration, because I think such plans lead to industrial democracy.

MR. BANNELL CHALLENGES: It is because I believe in democracy that I oppose legislation to outlaw strikes and lock-outs. Neither England nor America in this war has found it necessary to prohibit by law either strikes or lock-outs. If such legislation, which is advocated by my opponent, is desirable during peace it clearly should be even more desirable while the nation is fighting for its very existence. Actually, one of the issues of this war is the right of workers to organize and bargain collectively for wages, hours and working conditions. No such right exists in the totalitarian countries; these are democratic institutions.

MR. NUNN CHALLENGES: The right of workers to organize and bargain collectively for wages, hours and working conditions is unquestioned. These rights are truly democratic. The right to collectively enforce demands by force, through the strike or lock-out, and thereby denies the orderly methods of adjudication, is not democracy. Legislation compelling disputants to place their grievances before an impartial tribunal when voluntary methods have failed is most desirable in war or in peace. Victory gained by strike or lock-out is not proof that the side which lost is wrong, or the side which won is right. It merely demonstrates the theory "might makes right".

I fervently hope that the cynics who speak disparagingly of the United Nations prove to be as wrong as the cynics were at the time the 13 colonies began their great venture.—Comdr. Harold E. Stassen.

Invasion Planned By Eisenhower in 1940, Says Look

General Eisenhower planned the invasion of France in 1940 according to an article in LOOK Magazine. Eisenhower was then a brand-new brigadier general, assigned to theoretical invasion planning by a group of far-sighted army officers. At the same time the British were optimistically working on similar plans—and when we finally entered the war, our plan proved identical with theirs. These and other hitherto secret facts are revealed in the LOOK story by Merrill Mueller, NBC War Correspondent.

The actual invasion was first attempted on June 4, but Eisenhower called the ships back because of a sudden storm. The 6th was to be the last good day for weeks, weather experts warned, so that was the new day set. Bridges across the Loire and Seine rivers had been bombed out, but Eisenhower's maneuvers had been directed toward Calais to confuse the Germans and by D-Day, a month after two tons of bombs a minute had dropped on the continent, Calais was again heavily hit.

Off-balance and their bridges blown, the Germans were in a traffic snarl that froze them 100 miles from the Normandy fighting. LOOK's story shows the enormous amount of preparation of material that preceded our "throwing the book" at the Nazis, and even for one picture censored by the War Department just before publication, reveals the background of many of the "surprises" our armies handed the enemy.

Cherbourg fell a week behind the Eisenhower schedule, Mueller states in LOOK, but army engineers worked miracles. A 17 track terminal was boosted to 200 tracks for invasion supplies. Our divers searched out German pressure mines undersea with electric torches, split them off by hand. By delaying tactics and resistance, the enemy had estimated Eisenhower would land more than 15,000 men over the beaches every three days after invasion—but on the 28th day, July 4, the 1,000,000th combat soldier had come ashore. Eisenhower's invasion plans gave way to tactical warfare.

Steam Heat Is Source of One Air Conditioning

By JACK RUTLEDGE Associated Press Staff
It doesn't make sense and it probably causes some people to perspire just to think of it, but one type of air conditioning equipment is operated by—of all things—steam heat!

But that's just the half of it. Engineers report it takes twice as warm in winter. much steam heat to cool a place in summer than it does to keep it warm. Take the Conway plant in Fort Worth. It uses a peak load of 75,000 pounds of steam heat per hour in winter. But when the weather is warm, it takes 180,000 pounds per hour to keep the place cool!

Statistic-minded engineers figure this amount of steam heat could melt 40,000 worth of ice a day or, conversely, is equivalent to the cooling capacity of 240,000 average-sized ice boxes.

Almost everyone talks about the weather these days. What nine out of ten persons say can't be reported by the Associated Press. Strangely enough, some people like the heat, however.

Col. Hal Dungan of Wichita Falls says he likes this weather. But Col. Dungan explains that he spent nearly three years in cold and damp England. He said he has had all the cold weather he wants.

"I used to dream of warm summer days in Wichita Falls," he says, happily wiping his brow.

And Murray Russell, a former Milwaukee aYnkee now living in San Angelo, is reported as being very satisfied with the heat. In fact, he was described as "beaming" when he took an armload of trousers to a tailor shop for alterations.

The heat had caused him to lose two inches around the waist.

We are going to do things not for, but with, the survivors of the greatest tragedy in Jewish history—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, president, American Jewish Congress.

Reporting Under Pacific Dateline

By ROBBIN COONS
GUAM—The old Okinawa farmer had found his place in the sun but, recalling him now, it is hard to imagine what his last thoughts might have been about the shattered Rising-Sun emblem of Japan.

He was obviously a simple man and a poor one, for his black quilted kimono was tattered and dirty. He sprawled dead in the life-giving sun, surrounded by his cabbages, cune and carrots.

War, which had struck him down, had rolled southward on Okinawa. The warm sun was peaceful. Memory of the old farmer came as I sorted odds and ends of Okinawa mementos. There was the little Japanese school text marked "Summer Exercises" for studying the English language. Printed prior Pearl Harbor, it was used in Okinawa schools.

The pamphlet, described as for use as a refresher text during summer vacations, said in the first exercise: "Japan does not want China's land."

"Japan does not want China's land," said R. W. McPhillips, secretary, U. S. Civil Service board at the Pampa post office, yesterday.

But our greatest interest is in Commander Ira E. McMillan of Fort Worth and Honey Grove, and Sgt. Norman Jesse C. Fitzgerald, Mesquite, Dallas county, he continued.

"They have been highly honored for their heroism in saving the ship. Now it is the duty, even the privilege of others to repair and send the Newcomb back to fight with even more punch. If we don't, what profit in their heroism?"

"Now the navy needs electricians, machinists and sheet metal workers for Pearl Harbor, Puget Sound, Hunter's Point and Mare Island navy yards to keep the Newcomb and others in the fight. Qualified men are hired and on their way in a day if they are burning to go. Transportation and meals en route will be furnished and living space reserved for men accepted."

"Information and applications may be had at the Pampa post office from the U. S. Civil Service commission, Dallas, Texas, or New Orleans, La."

Being petted by June Yarbrough, above, aircraft plant time-keeper in Downey, Calif., is "Towser the Terrible," a poochy looking essential metal part in bomber assemblies manufactured there. 'Towser's tail' that's to give the brush-off to the overly inquisitive.

Workmen Needed In Naval Yards

"Heroes all, were men who saved the stout ship Newcomb from seven Jap snipers off the Ryukyus in April," said R. W. McPhillips, secretary, U. S. Civil Service board at the Pampa post office, yesterday.

Oslen as secretary and treasurer and Dr. L. M. Hicks is the new secretary-at-large.

The newly elected directors are Douglas Carver, Irvin Cole, Marshall Hubbard, Hugo Olsen, Russell Chisholm and L. M. Hicks.

They will be assisted by the officers—Vicars, Heard and McClellan.

Heard commended the Rotarians' friendship and high principles which have been displayed, during his presidency, and praised the work of his secretary, Hugo Olsen. Olsen, who has been in Rotary work for the last 15 years, said this has been one of his most enjoyable years.

Vicars introduced Travis Lively who presented office-holding pins to the outgoing officers. Guests included E. Knacker, Amarillo Rotarian, Wood Myers, Oklahoma City, Ross A. Richey, White-deer, and Clifford Braly.

Expert Parts Replacement Deemed Vital

Expert auto parts replacement is one of the vital factors in the upkeep of your car. Parts should be installed that are made for your car expressly and Motor Inn Auto Supply 107 E. Francis, has general parts for nearly every make of car.

SMITH STUDIO — FINE PHOTOGRAPHY

Expert photography is reflected in this exterior view of Smith Studio, corner of West Foster and Russell streets. Irl Smith, owner and operator of the studio, offers fine quality, dignified work on all types of portraits and photographs.

Tull-Weiss Proud of Integral Part In Growth of Industry, Agriculture

Pampa prides itself on its industrial and agricultural growth. From a town of less than 2,000 in the middle twenties, the city has grown into one of the most important manufacturing, industrial and agricultural cities of the Panhandle.

14 went to the armed forces. Mr. were cargo ships turned over to Sanford said. Five of this group military use and nine were built as military types. The military vessels included four transports, the construction of this type of ship now being of the utmost urgency.

Auto Makers Still Lack Giant Presses

The war production board recently granted the automobile manufacturing industry priorities for about 4,000 new machine tools according to Nations Business, but industry spokesmen say that this action should have come a year ago.

Such of the $40,000,000 worth of equipment — drills, grinders, planers and milling machines — will be delivered in good time but the giant presses for stamping out body panels, fenders and other sheet metal parts may not arrive by September.

Industry Estimates Reconversion Time

In its time-table for war plant reconversion, the war production board lists estimates given by members of 72 industries as to how long it would take to reach the "break even" point and "all out capacity."

Limitations on Sale of Typewriters, Steel Office Articles May Be Lifted

Definite indications that steel filing cabinets and some other articles made scarce by war requirements may soon be back on the market have been received by L. N. Atchison, owner of the Pampa Office Supply company, 21 N. Cuyler.

Under this program, "farms must be purchased within their earning capacity value as determined by long time prices."

Veterans' Loan Fund Increased

Congress has increased the loan authority of the farm security administration by $25,000,000 to permit loans to returning veterans for the purchase of family sized farms and ranches.

OPA Asks Farm To Abide by Rules

The office of price administration is issuing an appeal to farmers and other users of non-highway gasoline to see that gasoline rations issued for farm use stay on the farm.

14 of 107 Merchant Ships Go To Army

With delivery of 107 ships of 1-101,519 deadweight tons in June, the merchant ship construction for the half year of 1945 stands at 693 ships of 6,959,254 deadweight tons.

The auto industry figured eight and 15 months respectively. Thirty-four industries indicated they would require no time at all for "break-even." For jeweled clocks and watches, a full year will be necessary, the longest for any industry.

Edible Birds' Nests Made by Swift Family

Edible birds' nests are made by various pigmy members of the swift family, from a sticky, whitish secretion of large glands in the mouth of the bird.

Edible Birds' Nests Made by Swift Family

The same thing applies to typewriters and adding machines. Atchison suggests that firms place their orders for Royal Standard and Royal portable typewriters and for Allen-Wales adding and calculating machines as all orders for machines will be filled according to the date the order is received by the Pampa Office Supply.

Records Show that 150,000,000 Gallons of Gasoline Coupons Have Been Stolen or Unlawfully Used Since 1942.

That amount, Williams said, was almost as much as the entire amount of gasoline used in the 71 counties of the Lubbock OPA district for all types of operation, which was 193,518,000 gallons.

The Uncommon Man

Above the noise of clashing economic panaceas and general confusion there has been heard a lone voice crying for consideration of the "uncommon man." The voice belongs to Dr. William C. de Vane, dean of Yale college. And it might be a good idea if we all hushed up and listened to him.

"Some things," he says, "have not changed since the dawn of history, and bid fair to last out time itself. One of these things is the capacity for greatness in man—his capacity for being often the master of the event and sometimes even more—the changer of history itself."

It is his conclusion that today's life and thought may be stifling that capacity for greatness, "a very precious gift," and that democracy cannot thrive without "the uncommon man."

We agree with Dr. de Vane. And we think one of the first and best ways of promoting the uncommon man's welfare would be to banish the term, "common man" from our speech and thinking.

The term is meaningless. The very fact of being human commits man to individuality, not commonness. No man in the honest depths of his heart thinks of himself as being "common." And when you hear an individual thump his breast and piously exclaim, "I am just a common man," put him down as a thundering hypocrite and hang onto your pocketbook, because he's got something—usually votes or money.

Those who speak of the common man as someone apart from themselves may be motivated by sincerity and good intentions — those durable paving stones of the nether regions. But they are guilty of a snobbishness as stuffy as that of any blue-blooded, gouty old money-bags.

What the well-intentioned and social-conscious man by the common man is the poor man, the unfortunate man, the exploited man, the uneducated or unintelligent man. But they have coined the euphemism "common," and have tried to convince the people to whom they apply it that commonness is a virtue, and that it is a mark of honesty to be stripped of individuality and branded as one of a herd.

They have fostered the idea that by the mere fact of being classed as "common" a segment of society has the right to receive some of the world's goods from its uncommon brethren and give nothing in return. They have put the witch's curse on individual ambition. They have confused the mere fact of wealth with evil, and of poverty with good, and regard for attendant circumstances.

It is certainly the duty of all men to try to improve the society they live in, to increase opportunities, and to distribute that society's wealth in such a manner that each member may live in decency and comfort. But men should not get the idea that decency and comfort are the end, or that any one of their fellow men must be compelled to live by bread and sociology alone. Decency and comfort should simply be the setting and the background for the dignity of being a man, a setting in which whatever promise a man has of uncommonness and greatness may develop unfettered.

The Nation's Press

THE OKINAWA CONTROVERSY (New York Herald-Tribune) The difficulties and dangers of long-range criticism of military operations are obvious enough. The American press cannot afford to surrender its right to present such criticism, for that would be to waive the power of protesting, which is one of the mainstays of a democracy which might cost American lives and endanger the very existence of the Nation. But newspapers and newspapermen do have an obligation to the soundest possible foundation of fact, and always with a profound realization of the effect of their strictures upon the morale of their own troops, as well as upon those of the enemy.

The Okinawa campaign has been long and costly. Mr. Homer Bigart, who has represented this newspaper on the island and whose experience, competence and fairness have won him the respect of military authorities, wrote a dispatch on May 28 that pointed out the difficulties faced by the attacking Americans because of the decision to employ their entire force in a frontal attack on the narrow Shuri line instead of making new landings behind that position. This dispatch was used by Mr. David Ladd, who was being "hushed up," and Okinawa campaign a worse example of military incompetence than Pearl Harbor.

To that charge Admiral Nimitz has replied with considerable heat. He answered the main point that concerning the failure to make an "end run," with the statement that new landings would have had to be made over unsatisfactory beaches against the odds, and that they would have involved heavy casualties and a very unacceptable supply problem. Admiral Nimitz also

Common Ground

By R. C. HOILES "Individuals in the aggregate can possess no right which did not pre-exist in individuals as such." —Bastiat.

Illustrating the Minimum Wage Dilemma In a recent issue I attempted to explain the dilemma faced by minimum wage advocates.

When the advocates are faced with the fact that minimum wages put slow workers out of jobs invariably they say that the fast workers should also be paid the same rate per piece. What this means is that if the minimum wage rate is $3 a day and a fast worker can pick 100 boxes of oranges a day and is willing to be paid for 100 boxes then the man who can pick only 20 boxes a day could not be employed because his wages would be $2 instead of $3. Then of course he would not have a job.

So advocates of the minimum wage propose, in order to correct this inconsistency, that the fast workers also be paid 50¢ a box. But this remedy, of course, means that we not only have minimum wages, but we have piece work wages established for every worker. This is what I tried to make clear in my former article.

Since all labor unions are based on the theory of minimum wages, it is of the utmost importance that people come to understand that minimum wages eventually lead to a totalitarian state where the government determines what each man shall get and prevents all competition from determining what can best serve.

Yes, minimum wages are doing as much to bring about a totalitarian state and a lower standard of living as most any other economic fallacy. We have been trying it now for a decade and things are getting no better. The only way to get out of the present state of affairs is to get rid of the minimum wage law.

Just Another Price Blunder The proposal by the House of Representatives to take the hands of the OPA price fixing for agriculture products is just another blunder.

The reason the present organization couldn't get production was not because of the whole scheme is impractical. There is nobody living who can keep down the price of things by fiat.

The federal government's proposal to follow Hoover's suggestion is just another way of saying government control means what Thomas Jefferson said, "When the government tells people what to sow and when to reap they will soon want to be bread." That is, when the government fixes prices which is the same thing as telling them what to sow and what to reap production will be greatly put out of balance and people will be more and more in need of food.

The sooner people realize that all people must have the right to help establish values, to help tell the producer what to produce by what they are willing to pay the more and more in need of food. Karafuto would give the U. S. another great advantage. It lies only about a thousand miles north of Okinawa, which we have seized and consolidated. Between the two islands — Karafuto and Okinawa — stretches the Japanese homeland.

A study of even rough newspaper maps reveals the ease with which the big B-29s, using those southern and northern bases, could commute every hour of the day above the enemy's territory.

Our diplomatic and military experts still remain silent on Russia's prospective role, but they are not fooling anybody in Washington.

RUSSIA — The American navy's sorties against the Karafuto portion of Sakhalin Island furnish fresh evidence that Russia will eventually, and perhaps sooner than expected, cast her military lot with the United States and Britain against Japan.

His shaggy hair, his gestures, even his somewhat flamboyant oratory, symbolized the vast resources of the West and Southwest, whose bounty of oil, cotton, cattle, ships and planes contributed so much to the final conquest of Hitler.

Tom's physique and personality were a daily topic of conversation among the foreign groups, including even the British. As President Roosevelt had planned when he chose the Golden Gate metropolis as a meeting place, they had glimpsed America's mills, mountains, rivers, prairies and wheat fields on their trip across the country.

The other Americans — Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Lieut. Com. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, Representative Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey and Sol Bloom of New York — might have been fellows from any of numerous nations represented.

But "Tawn" epitomized the power beyond the seas which, twice in a generation had swept European civilization from complete collapse.

LOSER — The Elliott Roosevelt-John Hartford transaction should carry a moral for every American businessman who has even the remotest dealings with any branch of the American government — legislative, judicial, executive. It is this: Don't try to "buy influence."

Despite Mr. Hartford's silence, he must prove before a congressional committee that he was not seeking political favors when he advanced $200,000 to the son of the late chief executive, who was then only twenty-nine years old. So must some of the others who were so generous to a young man who had no bankable collateral or evidence that he would ever be able to repay.

The lesson of Edward L. Doheny and Harry Sinclair, the paying principals in the Teapot Dome scandal, should have been sufficient warning. Their reward was indictment, and in the case of Sinclair, a conviction. Many another individual before them had suffered likewise. Indeed, it is almost an axiom that every industrialist or entrepreneur who has paid or "loaned" money to any public official, whether he be a cabinet member, has always been the loser!

Peter Edson's Column: 'CONDOMINIUM' IN GERMANY

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Four-dollar name for the kind of Allied control government now being set up in Germany is "condominium." What happens in a condominium is that the conquering powers "con-dominate"—you can have the verb for uniform, joint government of dominion—two bits more, please.

All this 94-75 combination of polysyllables means is that two or more powers jointly administer another government or a protectorate. Agreement on details of a plan for uniform, joint government of Germany is one of the most important subjects to be discussed at the coming Big Three conference of President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

General objectives for the peace terms to be imposed on Germany have been written in broad outlines at the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting in Yalta last February. But between the stating of these principles and their execution there is an immense gap to be filled in with specific policies, and this subject has now become particularly hot.

Testimony by State, War and Treasury experts before Senator Harley M. Kilgore's Military Affairs subcommittee has just revealed that German roots for world economic domination run deeper than most people had appreciated. German industrialists may have secreted billions of marks in Swiss bank

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — For a fellow who had been in mothballs for two years, Robert Alda looked mighty healthy. But waiting two years to have your first motion picture released can get a little monotonous and also embarrassing. Especially when you have a flock of relatives back in New York who keep writing:

"We thought you went to Hollywood to become a movie star?" "Traveling around in incognito was easy, though," Alda laughed. "Nobody recognized me."

Two years ago Warner Bros. straight man Robert Alda to Hollywood to play George Gershwin in the film biography of the composer, "Rhapsody in Blue." It was completed 18 months ago but not until last week, in New York, was Alda unveiled for... all to see the film's world premiere.

The picture clicked and Alda, who looks a great deal like Cary Grant, clicked with it. "I guess it was worth waiting for," he said, "but I bet I smell like mothballs for the rest of my life."

Alda wants to deny, though, that the theater has been picked over for earlier leading roles by his relatives. "They could fill it a couple of times, though," he laughed. "There are 'thousands' of D'Abuzzos in New York, he said. That's his real name—phonetic Bohemio John Joseph D'Abuzzo. His father, now a barber on Wall Street, came over from Italy when he was 14. Alda was born in a tenement near the Third Avenue L.

I wrote my mother that we ought to have a little get-together with the relatives next time I came to New York. She wrote back: "Yes, I guess we can squeeze in 300 somewhere, but what are we going to do with the rest of 'em?"

Alda knows for sure, however, that his 81-year-old grandfather was the premiere of "Rhapsody." Grandpa can't see very well but refuses to wear glasses. "For a week before the film's opening he went into training," Alda chuckled. "He stopped reading newspapers and magazines. He read three times a day—getting in shape so he could see me."

Robert Alda, as we said, is a graduate of burlesque. For seven years he toured as straight man with eastern runway nudist shows, going for $40 a week to $400 a week. He worked on the same bill with Lou Costello before Lou even met Bud Abbott. There were also night club engagements, unsponsored radio shows and "weeks when I didn't earn a dime and when my dad would say, 'So why don't you become a fireman or a policeman? At least you'll have a nice pension in 20 years.'"

UNCLES, AUNTS, COUSINS But the theater has been in his blood ever since the age of 14 when he saw a vaudeville act. "I remember contest singing 'Merely Mary Ann.' 'The only reason I won,' he said, 'was that the point was packed with my relatives. There was only one face I didn't recognize—I never did discover how he got in.'"

Texas Directors To Plan Home at Dallas Meeting

COMMERCE, Texas, July 12. (AP)—Directors of the Texas society for crippled children will meet in Dallas July 21 to lay plans for a greatly expanded program including the establishment in Dallas of a convalescent home, according to Dr. Sam Whitley of Commerce, president of the society. The proposed home is to be in the vicinity of the new Southwestern medical foundation.

New Texas legislation providing special educational services for Texas' thousands of exceptional children has released the full facilities and resources of the Texas society for crippled children to the locating, procuring of medical treatment and rehabilitation of the handicapped child, Dr. Whitley pointed out. The recently passed bill, drafted and sponsored by the Texas society, the result of long range planning by which the society has enlarged the educational services of Texas to provide for less fortunate children who previously have had little or no opportunity for education.

"Although several chapters of the society have provided special classes and schools for handicapped children, the prime work of the society has been in aiding children in need of medical attention and rehabilitation," Dr. Whitley said. "With classrooms under state supervision, the work of the society will be multiplied in locating and preparing these children so that they will be able to take advantage of this new opportunity."

The bill, as drafted by the society and passed by the 49th legislature, provides that any child of exceptional physical handicaps such that he can not be educated in regular school classes, be furnished transportation and education in special classes. Classes may be established in any community where there are five or more of these exceptional children. In districts where there is not a sufficient number for the organization of a special class, exceptional children may be transferred to a district where the special services are provided.

Directors of the Texas society for crippled children who will meet in Dallas are Dr. Whitley, Roscoe L. Thomas, Dallas; J. J. Gibson, Dallas; Mrs. Hal Horton, Greenville; Mungar T. Ball, Fort Arthur; Sydney Gaines, Wichita Falls; John Broome, Lubbock; and Martin M. Ricker, executive secretary, Dallas.

GRACIE Consolidated News Features Our nice President Truman only recently returned from a vacation, and now Prime Minister Churchill has gone on his. I think it's kind of cute to see how vacation habits differ between these leaders of two great nations.

Churchill took his point box with him. George says an American president wouldn't do that, because his political opponents would criticize his paintings. Our president always plays safe and goes fishing. Goodness knows, it's hard to criticize a fish, especially these days, with food so hard to get.

Also I notice Mr. Churchill looks his butter along with him to France. He probably wanted to finish it before his meeting with Truman and Stalin in Potsdam. The whole world may be divided up at that meeting and Churchill apparently didn't want to take any chances with his butter.

Kiss and Tell

By F. HUGH HERBERT

THE STORY: Corliss Archer and Mildred Pringle are presently selling guest towels at a USO bazaar, and are actually selling well. Business is brisk and all goes well until their mothers suddenly put in an appearance.

IV AN MOVING SEDAN—DAY TRANSPARENCY The Pringle sedan, with Mrs. Pringle at the wheel, is moving through a residential section. Next to Mrs. Pringle is Mildred and next to Mildred is Raymond. In the back seat Mrs. Archer is seated between Corliss and Dexter.

CORLISS: (protesting shrilly) Honestly, Mum, I don't know why you're making such a fuss! It was only— MRS. ARCHER: Be quiet, Corliss. Corliss subsides in a martyred manner. Mildred looks at her mother's angry face.

MILDRED: I'm sorry you're so upset, Mother, but I don't see any harm in what we did. Mrs. Pringle has no comment to make, but Mrs. Archer leaps into the breach.

MRS. ARCHER: Possibly not, but you are nearly 18 and Corliss is not yet 16—and you have been raised quite differently. Mrs. Pringle turns around to glare at Mrs. Archer, almost letting go of the wheel.

MRS. PRINGLE: I resent that remark! MILDRED: (hastily) Mother, please—look where you're driving. Mrs. Pringle grabs the wheel just in time to avert a collision.

World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The fierce aerial bombardment which Admiral Bull Halsey's carrier-based warplanes have administered to Japan has led the Tokyo radio commentators to speculate whether this is the curtain-raiser for invasion.

Well, it could be, but the signs are that (Barring some unexpected development) the Mikado's moth-tensiling will undergo an awful offensive lap before we send our island troops up onto the beaches of Japan's serrated and strongly defended coast. Undoubtedly the little men of Nippon would like to see us strike now, before bombs have anesthetized their home-land.

How long will it take to reduce the main islands to the point where we can carry out amphibious invasions without undue casualties? That's a matter of pure speculation, of course, but it's safe to say we can do it much more expeditiously than in the case of Germany. There are military experts who believe we could knock Japan out completely by bombing, but that remains to be demonstrated and can't be assumed at the juncture by any means.

Many observers have the feeling that the bombing of Japan may continue for several months as a preliminary to invasion—always making allowance for some fortuitous circumstance which would involve an earlier landing on the Japanese mainland. However, by October we should have a good idea of how things stand.

By 1850, most of the U. S. toll roads had become free highways.

SHOOTING TOWARDS FRANKLIN HOME Dexter remains for a moment staring after the receding car. MR. FRANKLIN: What's up, son? DEXTER: (morsely) Oh, boy, is Mrs. Pringle good and mad? MRS. FRANKLIN: (to Dexter) What's wrong, dear? DEXTER: Plenty, Mom. Tell you later. He hurries down the driveway in the wake of Corliss.

EXT. PRINGLE HOME The Pringle sedan has just pulled up into the driveway, and Mrs. Pringle, with a very grim expression, is getting out followed by Mildred and Raymond.

MILDRED: (soothingly) Honestly, Mother, I really think— MRS. PRINGLE: Just wait until I tell your father what she had the nerve to say! MILDRED: Oh, Mother, you're making mountains out of mole-hills. Ignoring this comment of her daughter's, Mrs. Pringle marches into the house. Raymond looks at his sister and raises his eyebrows eloquently.

RAYMOND: Oh, boy, by the time Pop hears about it, it'll be a whole range of Alps! Mildred looks at her little brother menacingly. MILDRED: (grimly) And if you— Raymond strolls away with his hands in his pockets. RAYMOND: (bored) Don't worry about me. I think it's all very dumb.

Improgved Negro Schools in Texas Are Advocated

AUSTIN, July 12. (AP)—Better schools and stricter attendance requirements for the Negro are needed to bring Texas up from the 35th place on the scholastic ladder, said Texas state superintendent of education.

Quoting from a book on educational statistics, "Paths to Better Schools," recently published by the American Association of School Administrators, Dr. Woods said that based on the quality of white schools and number of years children attend, Texas ranks at the top, based on Anglo and Latin-American attendance Texas ranks 17th. When the Negro is taken into consideration, Texas drops to 35th place.

Dr. Woods emphasized he was not advocating the entry of Negroes into white schools as "we are not ready for such a program in Texas and it would be unwise to even suggest it."

He said, in fact, he did not believe the Negroes wanted to attend the white schools; they prefer good schools of their own. They do not get these schools for several reasons, estimates Woods.

In some districts there are not enough Negroes to form a school without heavy transportation expense. A lot of white trustees use money allocated by the legislature to build up the white schools and give the Negroes only what is left. The Negro is incultured with the idea he does not need to attend school regularly; in some agricultural areas is deterred from doing so.

"We talk a lot about democracy but we don't always practice it," said Woods, "our law reads that per capita school apportionment should be 'irrespective of race or color but it does not always work out that way.'"

Seventy million persons in the U. S. live in rural areas, or in urban places that do not maintain transit facilities.

Will Authority Of Representative Be Held Back?

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—There's a delicate spot in our joining the United Nations to keep peace in the world. It needs tender treatment.
 It's this: how much authority—and what kind—will our representative on the security council have?
 The security council is that branch of the United Nations which can call on members' armies to keep peace.
 The council is composed of 11 members; six small nations, and five large nations, including our own.
 The vote of our representative will either send our forces into action or keep the United Nations from acting.
 Remember: If one of the five big powers votes against taking action to keep peace, no action can be taken.
 The senate is almost a cinch to vote approval of the United Nations charter.
 Some senators may want to add some reservations to it, particularly about the authority of our representative on the security council.
 They're not likely to be able to change one word in the charter. They'll probably be beaten down and the charter will go through as is.
 But—that won't change the need for deciding something definite about the authority of our representative on the council.

 This it seems sure, will be taken care of later by the senate—or the full congress of both houses—in some special legislation. Here's the problem:
 Only congress can declare war under the constitution. Would our representative have to wait—before voting "yes" on using our armed forces to keep peace—for a war declaration by congress?
 If he did, quick action by the security council in an emergency might be paralyzed. On the other hand: It isn't likely that a situation would arise so suddenly that the security council would have to act overnight.
 Would it be all right for our president—with a war declaration by congress—to tell our council representative how to vote?

House Committee Arrives To Tour Texas Waterways

GALVESTON, July 12.—(AP)—The construction of protective works to stop beach erosion has been urged by Galveston officials at a hearing before members of the House Committee of Rivers and Harbors.
 Seven members of the committee, including Chairman Mansfield (D-Texas), arrived here to begin a week's tour of Texas ports and waterways.
 The committee spent the morning on an inspection tour of the gulf shoreline here, then to receive data from local interests on proposals providing for protection against beach erosion, westward extension of the Galveston seawall, and relocation of the intra-coastal canal in Galveston channel.

 John N. Klingman, senior member of the Army Engineers Beach Erosion and Navigation Boards, accompanied the committee here by plane from Washington.
 He told the Galveston officials Army engineers should determine the need and justifications of beach protective works.
 Mansfield noted that congressional legislation is pending which would authorize surveys and improvements wherever needed throughout the country.
 Galveston County Judge T. R. Robinson urged the projects to protect federal properties and as an aid to navigation.
 The committee also heard various individuals connected with flood control in navigation associations in the lower Trinity river valley urge that improvements be authorized by Congress for that waterway.
 Guy C. Jackson of Anahuac said there was a need for a reservoir on the Trinity above Liberty to serve both for flood and navigation during droughts.
 Mansfield and Reps. Peterson (D-Ga.), Boykin (D-La.), Larcade (D-La.), Zeelan (D-Conn.), Angell (R-Ore.), and Cole (R-Mo.), will visit Orange, Port Arthur, and Beaumont areas tomorrow.
