Senate In Hot Debate Over Measures To Settle Strike

Red Attempt To Paralyze France Flops

PARIS — (AP) — A Red attempt to paralyze the French nation with a sit-down strike turned into a resounding flop today.

Premier Antoine Pinay, a shy but determined small businessman, met the newest Communist attack head on.

He gave orders to thousands of steel-helmeted policemen and gendarmes, many armed with tear gas bombs and masks, to mobilize throughout the country and let the Communist sit-down strike — if they did it peacefully.

As a result, most of the three million members of the Communist-controlled General Confederation of Labor (CGT) worked at their normal jobs.

Failure.

Up to mid-afternoon industry and transportation were normal. The strike, called by the CGT as a protest at the arrest of Jacques Duclos, acting Communist Party boss, was the worst failure the Communists have met west of the Iron Curtain in years.

Warming Up In Pampa

It's warming up in the area today after a rainfall last night of .05 inch. The temperature of 80 degrees at 10 a. m. today was slightly higher than the 76 degrees registered yesterday at the same time. Yesterday's high was 86 degrees and the low last night was 64.

Elsewhere in the state skies are partly cloudy and the weather bureau says temperatures will be in the lower 90s at most points.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture at Austin said today that moisture conditions in the state are the best in two years.

The last series of rains ranging from light to torrential fell in virtually all areas. Only southern counties in the High Plains still need more. The USDA's review of farm and ranch conditions through noon yesterday said:

Fannie Bell Patton Services Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Fannie Bell Patton, 83-year-old Pampa, will be held at 3 p. m. Thursday at the First Christian Church, with Rev. H. H. Tyler officiating.

Mrs. Patton died at 5:04 a. m. today at her home, 828 E. Locust. Born Jan. 4, 1869, in Kentucky, she had lived in Pampa for the past 45 years. Her health had been failing for several years.

Her survivors include: three daughters, Mrs. Lester L. Allam, and Mrs. R. B. Robertson, both of Pampa, and Mrs. G. P. Allam, Odessa; three sons, J. Kibel Patton, Bill O. Patton, and Fred E. Patton, all of Pampa; one brother, Fred P. Hayes, Sr., Pampa; eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Burial will take place at Fairview Cemetery by the side of her husband, W. T. Patton, who died March 1, 1945.

Pallbearers will be John Kirbie, Bob Kennedy, Earl Wallin, Alen Miller, Lee Roberts and Crawford Kuykendall.

Gas Injection Is Described For Rotarians

The benefits of gas injection — termed repressuring — to the life of an oil field were detailed today to the Pampa Rotary club by Fred Neslage, pool engineer for the West Pampa Repressuring Assn. and the Watkins Repressuring project.

By charts, Neslage showed the normal decline of the Panhandle field from 1943 until 1946 when repressuring was first started locally. The chart followed revitalization of the field from then on to the present time.

Following the program, G. S. "Pinkie" Vineyard announced that the Pampa club will put on the program for Amarillo's Rotary club tomorrow in the Rotary Hotel, Amarillo.

Reds Fire On American MP

BERLIN — (AP) — An American military policeman was shot and wounded by an East German police border guard on the outskirts of Berlin today.

Maj. Gen. Lemuel Mathewson, U. S. commander in Berlin, immediately denounced the shooting as a "barbaric and undisciplined act of violence by police under Soviet control." He demanded the Russians "severely punish the offender."

A bullet pierced the military police jeep and wounded the driver in the leg. The engine also was damaged.

The shooting occurred "without warning or provocation," while the Army vehicle was on routine official patrol on Meechow-Strasse near the United States sector-Soviet zone boundary, Gen. Mathewson said.

Earlier today the Russians had mysteriously released half of their two-way blockade of Allied military patrols on Berlin's life-line autobahn, allowing one-way passage to travel the 19-mile route from West Germany to Berlin but turning back both American and British jeeps when they tried to make the trip westward from Berlin.

Troops Tear Down Communist Flags

KOJE ISLAND, Korea — (AP) — American infantrymen and tanks today knocked down and burned Russian, North Korean and Chinese flags in three Communist prisoner-of-war pens, then hauled out unruly prisoner leaders.

Not a shot was fired. The Reds submitted meekly although only a few hours earlier they had boasted they would "fight to the death."

The smartly-executed one-two punch at Communist prisoner disobedience destroyed all Red banners that flew today over this once riot-torn island. But camp authorities expect more may appear tomorrow.

Seventeen anti-Communist prisoners, their hands bound, were rescued from one compound.

The soldiers marched 75 other POW's out of a second compound. The group included five Red leaders and possibly some anti-Reds.

A few tear gas grenades were thrown as the American soldiers rushed into the barred war enclosures, later they destroyed POW guard posts with flame-throwers.

Troops of the U. S. Second Division's 38th Regiment executed the operation. Their commander, Lt. Col. William E. Keenan, San Antonio, commented:

"We can go in any of those compounds anytime we want."

Big Gen. Hayden L. Boatner, Koje commander, personally directed two of the operations from a machine-gun tower. It was another step in his campaign to bring order inside prisoner enclosures.

And the fifth time tank-led troops had struck at POW disobedience.

PO Workers Still Payless

Although there were signs that funds to pay post office employees might soon be forthcoming from Washington, no money had found its way into the pockets of Pampa's by midmorning.

Having been concerned with the steel seizure, Congress has not gotten around to appropriating money for the Post Office Department. The Senate worked 12 hours yesterday to pass two appropriations bills which supply the funds for about 30 federal agencies. But whether the post office was included in that category has not been disclosed.

In Pampa, the two banks are reported willing to help out on an individual basis, any needy post office employee. Floyd F. Watson, vice president of Citizens Bank & Trust Co., said his bank "had lent money to some of the fellows." At the First National Bank there have been no applications for a loan; but Barnett D. Robison, vice president, said that the bank had "always tried to help them out."

It seems fairly certain, however, that pay for the postal employees should soon be on its way.

Prize Pig Found For Alanreed Boy

Lindsey Gilbreath, 11 boy from Alanreed, has his lost "prize" pig back.

Found Monday morning just at the edge of Lefors, 10-week-old Hampshire gilt was injured only slightly after being lost from its owner since Saturday.

The pig was awarded to the boy Saturday morning as a prize in the county-wide contest sponsored annually by the Sears-Robuck Foundation and that was lost on the way home.

A Daily News story Sunday was instrumental in getting the pig back to its owner, according to Bill Goldston, assistant county agent.

Tourist Packet Introduced For Use By Local Stations

Did you know that with 77 oil companies, Pampa is known as the "World's Cleanest Oil Town?"

Did you know that Pampa is the crossroads for five federal and state highways?

Did you know that the average size of farms and ranches in Gray County is 1,000 acres?

Did you know that Pampa contains 37 churches of all denominations?

Did you know that the Top of Texas Rodeo, held the first week in August, is one of the world's largest amateur shows?

These facts and many more — are disclosed in a tourist packet that is being sponsored on a trial basis jointly by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and the Gray County Service Station Association.

The packet was shown to a meeting of the Association last night by E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager. The packet contains a map of Pampa; a highway travel map of Texas, distributed by the State Highway Department; a picture map of the Panhandle area; and two brochures, one small and one large, dealing with the industrial, agricultural and cultural advantages of Pampa.

Wedgeworth said the aims of the Chamber and the association were the same and that by working together, the two organizations could help each other.

Harlan Sloan Fort Worth, vice president of the Western Fidelity Insurance Co., was a guest at the meeting. He spoke on the advantages of service station organization on a state-wide and nation-wide basis.

Another feature of the gathering was a tape-recorded speech by Robert (Bob) Fulgham, president of the State Service Station Association.

Maybank Offers Possible Solution

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate jumped into hot debate today on a bill that would (A) forbid strikes in critical industries for 120 days, (B) set up a board to recommend settlement terms, and (C) allow the President to seize the industry if the terms were not accepted.

The measure was offered by Sen. Maybank (D-SC), chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, as an amendment to the expiring economic controls law.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, a Republican presidential aspirant, quickly jumped on the Maybank proposal.

He said it would be "infinitely tougher on labor than the Taft-Hartley Act."

That law calls for an 30-day cooling-off period and a fact-finding board to report on the strike issues. The board, however, can not make settlement recommendations.

Under the Maybank proposal the President would "pay just compensation to the owners" after seizing a plant. He would not be allowed to change workers' wages.

The Maybank bill was the first more in Congress to resolve the dispute between Philip Murray's (D) steelworkers union and the (R) Taft-Hartley Act's opponents.

President Truman seized the industry to prevent a strike on April 8, but last Monday the Supreme Court ruled the seizure unconstitutional.

On Strike

The union promptly went out on strike.

Maybank told the Senate his banking committee, which recommended extending wage-price controls until March 1, had not yet seen his amendment.

The controls expire June 30 unless extended by Congress.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) demanded that Maybank send the amendment to the banking committee "for quick hearings."

"It may have very nebulous features, and then again it may not," Capehart said.

Maybank resisted that suggestion and told the Senate "I know management is not going to like it, and I know labor is not going to like it. But I like it in my own conscience."

Taft said he saw no material advantage in the Maybank plan except that it possibly would provide more time for fact-finding.

Margin Narrows In Taft-Ike Race For South Dakota Votes

SIoux FALLS, S. D. — (AP) — A handful of votes may tip the balance today in South Dakota's campaign for a potential primary battle between Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

As counting of yesterday's record Republican balloting resumed, Taft clung to a slender, narrowing lead in a contest for 14 nominating delegates and the promise of a victory in the final ballot box test before the Chicago convention.

The count from 198 of the state's 1,542 precincts was 46,750 for Taft, 43,129 for Eisenhower, 47,182.

There was some talk of a possible recount, which could mean a final selection of the state's delegates. Neither side wants to recount, both on the point of law and the practicality of the costly and time-consuming job.

Many of the 255 precincts, which are scattered over the state, were inaccessible by road in the late winter.

Both victories were uncommitted states in yesterday's heavy voting presidential primary came as no surprise. There was possibly wide significance, however, in the double rebuff suffered by Truman Democrats.

Warren won all 20 GOP delegates to back his quest for his party's nomination. He defeated a pro-Taft slate technically pledged to Rep. Thomas H. Weldon, who quarreled with the governor's espousal of progressive policies.

Warren, Kefauver Win Twin Rebuff For Truman In California

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Republican Gov. Earl Warren and Democratic Sen. Estes Kefauver captured California's big delegations to the national convention with better than 2-to-1 margins today.

New Garbage Collection Rate Is Set

A new garbage collecting rate was voted into effect for commercial establishments yesterday afternoon by the city commission.

The new rate had been worked out over a three-month period and was based primarily on the amount of time spent by trash trucks in picking up and loading garbage and trash at each apartment house, hotel, store, service station and other places where business collections are made.

Bills Vary

In the schedule several merchants will find their monthly trash bill down, a few will find it remaining the same, while others will see jumps of 100 percent or more.

Most of the increases come where there are community boxes, City Engineer Ray Evans said, and the merchants using them may divide the cost among themselves as they see fit, just so the city gets the money out of the trash box.

Widening of two other streets in Pampa — South Barnes from the underpass to McAllough road and Alcock from Dwight to Rider, may be had with state aid if the city meets certain requirements in participation. That information was sent to the city by the State Highway Department. However, the letter did not elaborate on how far the city was to go.

Bill Herr Named As Boys' State Delegate By Legion

Bill Herr, highest ranking junior boy at Pampa High School this past year, has been selected by the American Legion to attend the 13th Annual Boys' State in Austin next week.

About 450 high school youngsters from all over the state will meet and compose a complete set of state officials during the week.

Registration begins Sunday. A governor will be elected Tuesday and the legislature will inaugurate him Wednesday. Sponsored by the American Legion, the whole affair is designed as a practical course of instruction in how the government works.

The Pampa representative is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Herr, 1030 Fisher. He has been active in student council, served as student manager of the football team, and has been named to the National Honor Society during his high school years. He is the sixth boy sponsored by the local organization.

Water Well On NW Airfield

Once decided except for three minor details, the new water well on the NW Airfield will soon show signs of life as a result of city commissioners' actions today in authorizing a $67,750 water well and utilities contract to H. H. Heacock and Son, utility contractors.

Heacock will drill a water well, containing 20 gallons per minute of water, in a 100-foot diameter hole, and a 200-foot water line at one end and two 100-foot water lines at the other end. This will be one of the first of the new water lines to be laid on the airfield.

Engineers are now working on plans for repairing and sealing the runway and putting an apron on the runway and putting an apron on the runway and putting an apron on the runway.

Abilene Welcomes Ike Home

ABILENE, Kan. — (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower returned today to an open field beside the backyard of his boyhood home, and plunged into the final phase of a drive his backers hope will win him the Republican nomination for President.

Thousands of people gathered beside the railroad tracks, which run in back of his former home.

Some were former neighbors, some were the merely curious, and some were well-wishers who came to Abilene from a wide area of the Midwestern states.

Very few were devotees of the political implications of the occasion.

Officially, it was a welcome home tendered by a small town to a famous son.

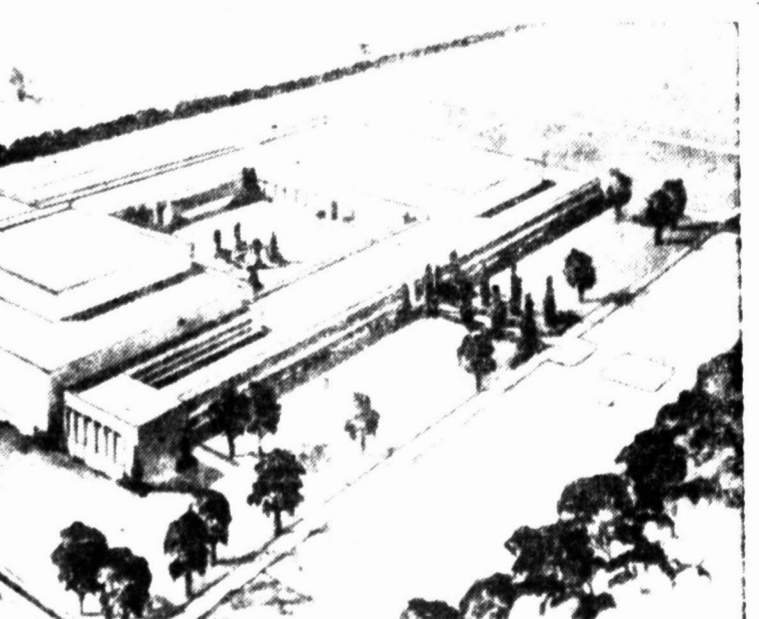

Actually, the ceremonies dramatized a new chapter in Eisenhower's life, his departure from the Army and his duties as supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and his entry, on a personal basis, into the political arena.

As such, they may constitute a critical point in the effort to make him the Republican standard bearer next month.

His backers are hoping that a 30-minute speech today and a big news conference tomorrow will put powerful impetus behind the drive. They will be reported by newspaper, radio and television, reaching millions of people.

Neutral observers feel that a had start here would cripple the drive at a crucial time.

The two-day celebration is (See ABILENE Page Five)

He's Gonna Stay Home Henry Decides New York Has Greenest Of All The Pastures

By HENRY McEMORE — they get home in the early afternoon that June is upon us, soon so they can clean up and rest. It behooves every family to start off on a vacation, there are exceptions, worrying about which is the best time to go, the weather, the cost, the place to spend a vacation, and so on. I don't believe the average family would have lasted as long as it has.

There is no such thing as a free lunch, and the same goes for a family vacation. The only way to get the most out of a vacation is to plan it well in advance. The best time to go is when the weather is just what you need, and the place is just what you want. The cost is just what you can afford. The only way to get the most out of a vacation is to plan it well in advance.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE Persistence A Mark Of Bridge Champ

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
When the New England Regional opens June 13 in Scituate, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ackerman, of New York, will turn up to defend the open pair championship which they won this tournament last year. The hand shown today helped them win the championship.

Mrs. Ackerman's bid of three spades on the North hand asked South to bid three no-trump, if he could supply a stopper in spades. Mr. Ackerman obediently did so, thus handing in a rather risky contract. West opened the six of spades and dummy won with the queen. Mr. Ackerman knew that the opponents would take four spades and the ace of diamonds as soon as they got in, so it was up to him to take nine tricks on the run, if he could.

Prospects did not seem very bright, but nobody ever wins tournaments by giving up before the last card is played. Mr. Ackerman therefore ran the five club tricks, ending in his own hand. West blithely discarded the eight of diamonds, and was still cheerful when he discarded the deuce of diamonds. His next discard was, however, not so easy to find.

Shake-Up In Red Standings

LONDON — (AP) — The shake-up in Romania's Communist government has kicked Premier Petru Groza upstairs and replaced him with Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej, long considered by many western experts the Balkan country's No. 1 Red.

The change, reported by Bucharest radio, followed the firing last week of two cabinet members and the removal of Foreign Minister Ana Pauker from the Government. As head of the Praesidium, Groza replaces Prof. Constantin Parhon. The radio said Parhon resigned to do scientific work.

The broadcast said the latest changes were made at a National Assembly session. It mentioned that Mrs. Pauker, who so far has retained her post as foreign minister, was present at the session. Her removal from the Politburo has stirred speculation that she might be on the way out.

Thoughts

For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure. Philippians 2:13.

There is nothing left to us but to see how we may be approved of Him, and how we may roll the weight of our weary souls in well-doing upon Him who is God omnipotent.—Rutherford.

OUR TOWN by Wanda Campbell

It's like Joe Gordon told Ivan and Gladys. Howard a few months ago. "Folks should have to apply for a permit to leave our town!"

"Most of them couldn't get one if they applied. But we would like a chance to keep people like the Howards."

"They moved to their ranch on Bush Creek in Southeastern Oklahoma. The B&PW lost two of its most faithful workers when they left because Ivan was always behind the scenes to help in the club's activities. Especially when Gladys was president and her willingness and efficiency earned her the title of "Little Beaver."

"We don't forget friends when they leave, and we don't like to say goodbye. That's such a final word. Now we learn that Dr. and Mrs. Orion Carter are moving to Big Spring where he will become superintendent of the Big Spring district. Everyone, the First Methodist Church in particular, will miss them when they leave. The Carters celebrated their Silver Wedding anniversary last month and shared that occasion with their congregation following a church fellowship. Whether in church or civic affairs, "sharing" has been one of the Carters' greatest community contributions, not long ago Mrs. Carter told us about their wedding. It was different in several ways. The organist, Mrs. Gaf Parker of Hereford, reversed the wedding marches, for one thing. And when they renewed their wedding vows last month at the anniversary observance, Mrs. Roy Johnson played the marches just as Mrs. Parker did. They were married after Sunday night church services in Hereford and the choir director was married following the Sunday morning service. "Probably a lot of people went to church twice that Sunday!"

Dr. Carter has been a member of the Kiwanis club and Mrs. Carter was a member of El Progresso. And like the Ivan Howards, the Carters will be remembered here.

Future Teachers of America at the annual meeting at Oklahoma City University. This office entitled her to attend the Institute of Organizations and Leadership to be held at Washington, D. C. She will be in Washington four weeks during the summer.

Mrs. Leland Finney Is Hostess At First Christian Church Meet

Mrs. Leland Finney was hostess to the First Christian Church Cuppie Circle when the group met this week in the church parlor.

Mrs. Bert Stevens opened the meeting with a prayer, and Mrs. Walter Higgenbotham presented the devotion.

Mrs. D. V. Burton gave the lesson, "Having a Christian Home."

Attending were Mrs. R. L. Parsley, James Washington, Glen Maxey, Doyle Ropper, Stevens, Finney, and Higgenbotham. Guests were Mrs. Burton, Mrs. John Zuerker, and Mrs. R. W. Rasmussen. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Rasmussen.

Before you let yourself get too frustrated over the fact that no matter how hard you work, your house never has the spic and span look of Mrs. So-and-so's, check a few small items in your own mind.

Does Mrs. So-and-so do anything besides keep a house looking spotless?

Are your children as welcome in Mrs. So-and-so's house as you make hers in yours?

Is Mrs. So-and-so a good company or is her chief topic of conversation her house?

Is Mrs. So-and-so the kind of person who will put herself out to help a friend or graciously change her own plans to fit in with someone else's?

Does Mrs. So-and-so feel any responsibility for doing her share of community?

Would you describe Mrs. So-and-so as being good-natured and easy to get along with?

Do Mrs. So-and-so's husband and children seem to enjoy their home?

Does Mrs. So-and-so have any interesting hobbies?

Does Mrs. So-and-so's face have a serene and untroubled look?

Does Mrs. So-and-so look as young as her actual years?

It's amazing how many of those questions when applied to a "perfect housekeeper" often have to be answered "No."

That's because a perfectionist usually gets that way by putting one thing ahead of everything else. So maybe you could be a "perfect housekeeper" too, if being one was more important to you than anything else in the world.

At least that is a comforting thought when a "perfect housekeeper" gets to feeling downright frustrated with your own home which seems to have more than its share of the lived-in look.

Onion Rings

For the best of French fried onion rings, slice onions 1/4 inch thick and separate into rings. Let rings stand in milk for about 30 minutes. Next, dip rings in seasoned flour and fry in deep hot lard (365 F.) until golden brown.

Tips For Jakes

Avoid cracking jelly glasses and fruit jars by first heating and setting them on a clean wrung out of hot water. Pour jelly on fruit slowly.

Cook's Nook

What to do with those fresh vegetables that are now at the grocers and in fruit and vegetable stands is no problem. Every family has its favorites. But here are two recipes that give a little different twist to old favorites — summer squash and garden fresh tomatoes.

SUMMER SQUASH WITH SAUSAGE
1 large crook-neck summer squash
1 pound bulk sausage
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped onions
4 cups corn flakes
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Wash summer squash and slice into 1/2 inch thick slices; scoop out center to make rings. Put rings in salted water. Crumble sausage into frying pan and cook 2-3 minutes. Add onion and celery and onion; cook until softened. Add slightly crushed corn flakes and pepper to sausage mixture. Drain squash rings, fill centers generously with stuffing and place in baking dish which has a little water in bottom; cover. Bake in moderate oven (375 F.) about 45 minutes or until tender.
Yield: six servings, one slice each.

BAKED TOMATOES WITH CHEESE

4 large tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper
1 cup corn flakes
1/2 cup grated American cheese
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons melted butter or margarine
Wash tomatoes, and cut in half crosswise. Place cut side up in baking pan; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs; mix with paprika and melted butter. Cover each tomato half with grated cheese; sprinkle with crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) about 20 minutes.
Yield: eight servings.

Corsages Studied At Merten Meeting

"Making Corsages" was the program at the Merten Home Demonstration club meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. P. J. Boyd.

During the business meeting, Mrs. V. Day was elected vice-president of the group, and Mrs. T. G. Groves elected secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Groves was also selected as delegate to the THDA state meeting to be held in Kingsville, Texas, during August.

Roll call was answered with "How to Wear Corsages," after which Mrs. W. T. Cass, Jr., presented the program.

Mrs. Cass explained that a corsage should always be worn as flowers grow standing up. "Never wear a corsage with the stems turned up," she said. "They should be worn on the left side, but on certain occasions can be worn on the right shoulder. They may be worn in the hair, at the waist, or worn as wristlets."

Mrs. Cass demonstrated how to make a corsage and pointed out that flowers, in particular rose buds, may be forced to open by placing them in warm water for a short time.

Following her discussion, Mrs. Cass urged each member to make a corsage for the clothing review to be held June 23 in the Lefors High School, and to invite members of her family and other guests.

For recreation, Mrs. A. M. Nash showed pictures sent her by her son, Major Albert M. Nash of Berlin, Germany.

Mrs. Boyd presented a yellow rosebud corsage to each member and served ice cream, punch and coffee to the following: Misses A. Smith, D. A. Rife, W. A. McCracken and Joan, Groves, Stewart, Cass, Nash, Day and Linda K. Day and one guest, Mrs. V. Smith, Jr.

Mrs. Cleo Edmondson, 401 Yeager, will be hostess at the club's next meeting, June 17.

Shannon Offers To Pay Government Science-Fiction Books In Library

LUBBOCK — A grain dealer testified in federal court yesterday that he can repay the government a $900,000 shortage if given the chance. G. L. Shannon, 48, of Sudan is charged in a 47-count indictment with converting that much grain to his own use. "I could repay them if they would give me the chance," Shannon testified. He estimated his assets, now in receivership, at more than a million dollars. "Did you ever intend to steal any of this grain?" Defense Attorney James O. Cade asked. "No," Shannon replied. He told of one shipment being consigned to the Commodity Credit Corporation being rejected because the CCC said it was unfit. That's why he sold it, Shannon said. Shannon said he didn't know how much he was short on grain stored in his warehouses. He thought it was about 10 million pounds. He blamed moisture, weevils and heating for some loss but couldn't estimate how much.

MARGIN

(Continued From page One) here, Taft was getting 50.3 percent of the vote. Eisenhower 49.70 percent — narrow margin in any presidential primary this year. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee took the state's eight Democratic delegates in stride. He defeated an unopposed slate which had planned to vote on the first ballot at Chicago for Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, although Humphrey said he wasn't running against his friend Kefauver here. This and victories elsewhere lifted Kefauver into a long lead in the Democratic delegate race. The Associated Press tabulation gave him 244 votes against 86 1/2 credited to his nearest rival, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia. Buzz Sawyer
Panel 1: Behind you, Jake! Look out! Oh, no! I'm not falling for any tricks!
Panel 2: Suddenly, a thump, darkness, the roar of the train speeding through the tunnel.
Panel 3: Then daylight again, and Jake Hawk is nowhere to be seen.

Jackson Twins
Panel 1: Looking for Henry Lee? Wow! I'm looking for a soundproof room if they let that cut-over TV. It'll burn out every speaker for a hundred miles!
Panel 2: You're doing better, Jan! But you still don't quite hit the notes! Well, let's start for our lesson!
Panel 3: It's too bad you only had enough money to pay for one lesson! Let's switch in the middle, twin, and each get a half hour! No, you need it most, Jan! You wait out here, I'll take fifteen minutes and then you can go in and have forty-five!

Blondie
Panel 1: We could use some new drapes. New drapes would make these rugs look shabby. And if we got new rugs, we'd need a whole new living-room set.
Panel 2: That would mean we'd have to have the whole downstairs redecorated. Forget the new drapes.

Alley Oop
Panel 1: Whooey! First it's one thing, then it's slimpin' else! Gad, I wonder what's next? Well, whatcha know... solid gold!

Bo
Panel 1: Those kids are sure stowing it away... I'll wait till they come out and then trail 'em again. Soda fountain. Sure, butch has the money to pay for it. We're in the cat. Shut up. Give this sack of candy to that mutt outside... I'm going to get some that's fresh. Kids get too much money these days... and then their parents wonder why they go wrong.

Ozark Ike
Panel 1: Uh... so that oil from Hawk-eye the detective is gonna cost you evuh cent yuh got, Ozark? An then some, bubuh... So ah'll have to pay him off a day or two. Uh... ain't it a shame, an' jus when yuh had enuff saved up fer a weddin' with Dinah? Yuh... evuhthin' wuz set 'cept th' date. But (chokes) now whut kin ah tell her? Uh... beats me, ah... but yuh'd better come up with somep'n fast!

Chris Welkin
Panel 1: Chris returning to earth with a full report on the flying saucers. Surely, Welkin, if they carry disease germs, we should have had plagues years ago! We've had plagues for 500 years, Colonel... The black plague, for example, and bubonic plague. In recent times we've had influenza, virus X, polio, just to name a few. Then our job is to find out where these saucers come from and why we're the target. I've got some ideas on that, sir...

Mutt & Jeff
Panel 1: Gee, we need a new toaster! Mutt, I ordered a new toaster today! Swell! You can't send a toaster? Why not? A month ago you ordered an electric fan... I can't send the toaster 'til you pay for the fan! Oh heck! I can't wait that long! Cancel the order!

Bugs Bunny
Panel 1: Mister Schnoodle is tied up... you'll have to wait. P.U. Schnoodle. It's gonna be fun watching Sylvester get cooled off like I did. Go right in! I want those suits back this afternoon! They'll be pressed and ready, sure!

Prefetta's Pop
Panel 1: My poor lummy, it sure feels sick! No wonder! Spending all your allowance on candy! Do you think you could take a little soda? I guess so, strawberry or chocolate??

OUT OUR WAY By J. R. WILLIAMS OUR BOARDING HOUSE with MAJOR HOOPLE

THE SET-UP
Panel 1: I've asked and asked both of them to take the wobble out of it, and I can't... so at least they'll take off what it doesn't need before they'll pack it around very much! Oh, I don't know... I've seen them do a lot of work to get out of a little!
Panel 2: Now that you've dragged me out here, Samson, what's up? He keeps his nose on that old flattened-out garbage can cover. The boys use for home plate when they play ball! Could it be possible that my nonchalant mate spaded up the whole yard hunting those jewels but didn't want to disturb home base?

Vic Flint
Panel 1: Archer focus of course! You mean the I thought I recognized him? A doctor gave him a shot for his heart attack. Anne think to call an ambulance? Too late for the hospital, I'm afraid, his heart has stopped. Police? Give me Inspector Groul in howlce. That's what I figured.

Little Doc
Panel 1: Eisenhower, Harriman, Warren, Kerr... Taft, Kefauver, Stassen, Humphrey... MacArthur, Russell... The Barber and Papa got into a political argument!

Wash Tubbs
Panel 1: Go away, you darned ole crocodile!!! SCAT!! HELP! Listen! It's tubbs over there some place! Sounds like a gators got 'em! Blazes, these mangrove islands extend for miles up the coast! It'll take a miracle to find wash!

Boots
Panel 1: Look, hon, I'd forget about Davey's tough talk for now... he's a swell little guy and... No, I'm s' serious, Rod! We've been so busy with our own problems, we've neglected Davey and his manners! Anyone get fresh today, shoot 'em dead! Bang!

Mickey Finn
Panel 1: Well, I'm afraid I'll have to go now, Mickey... much as I know that he shouldn't, if he doesn't tell me he was too tight to spend the money! That's what I told him, sergeant! But he said he doesn't care what anybody thinks! Okay! But I ought to go to bed! I'm afraid I'm coming down with a cold! Did your husband tell you how they took care of Phil Finn at the lodge last night, Mrs. O'Brien? Yes! Wasn't he perfect? He certainly has imposed on that millionaire friend of his long enough! I wouldn't be surprised if he doesn't go to the convention now... the way he hates to spend his own money! Yeah! He'll probably make out that he's sick... or too busy... or something!

Penny
Panel 1: Going out tonight, Penny? No, Aunt Ellen. Do you have a date coming here, then? I haven't a date, but Bruz will be here about eight. If you don't have a date, what makes you think Bruz will be coming? Elemental, love? We had a row this afternoon, and I distinctly told him I never wanted to see him again.

Freckles
Panel 1: Man, oh man! Listen to freck murder that punching bag! Hi, Champ! What's this chick-chack about June having another play-mate? Unfortunately, it's the truth, Nutty! Yeah, what's his name? Guess!

Donald Duck
Panel 1: Wah... ooh!! Wah... wuh!!

Drive-Ins Not Passion Pits, Declares Film Manager

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — It's time we took a look into the operation of a drive-in theater.

The drive-ins are getting to be a big factor in the movie business. There are 3,323 of them in the United States and more a-building every month. This compares to 16,330 indoor film theaters, a figure which has been shrinking yearly.

I dropped in on my neighborhood drive-in in Van Nuys to learn about how it is run. It's called the Victory Drive-In and the manager is a young fellow named Joe Pietroforte. He used to manage indoor theaters and has been at the Victory since it started three years ago. Here are some of the questions I tossed at him:

Drive-In Better
Q. Which kind of theater operation do you like best?
A. The drive-in by far. I like outdoor work anyway. And I don't have the kiddie matinees to drive me crazy.

Q. What are the details on the Victory?
A. It's an all-steel construction at a cost of about $400,000. The theater covers 14 acres and can park 350 cars at one time. The screen is about two-thirds bigger than those in normal theaters, requiring brighter projection.

Q. Do you have any unusual discipline problems?
A. No more than in any theater. I get the same amount of hoodlums and trouble-makers. We have a special problem with the sound speakers, which are attached to each car. Some people drive off with them in the car and others tear them out maliciously. They cost $15 apiece.

so that cuts into the profit. Passion Pits

Q. Do you have any trouble with romancers?
A. Just as much as you'd get in the balcony of a normal theater. Next door to the theater is a Catholic Church and one of the priests was commenting to me that drive-ins were called "passion pits." I invited him to stand by the entrance and see the kinds of people who drove in. He was surprised to learn that 90 percent of the patrons were people with families or older folks.

Q. Is business seasonal?
A. Very much so. We lose money in the winter and make it back in the summer. Often we can make enough profit in the snack bar to offset the loss on admissions. The snack bar is the other half of this business.

Q. Have you ever closed?
A. Only twice. That was last winter when we had floods in the San Fernando Valley. The only reason we closed was because nobody came to the theater. Sometimes the fog comes during a show and we have to issue fog checks, which are the same as rain checks.

Q. What kinds of pictures get the best reaction?
A. Different pictures get different crowds. When we have an action picture or western, we get family cars filled with kids. But you can't figure the audience. Sometimes I'll play a couple of old films and the place will fill up with Cadillac. The only thing nobody likes are the little B pictures.

Q. Has television hurt business?
A. It did at first. And it still does when a big event is on TV. But the novelty has worn off. People still want to get out of the house.

Q. Are the audiences particular?
A. Absolutely. You can't please everybody, even with the best of pictures I get complaints. The other night a man drove out because he heard the word "damn" in a picture. "Why don't you censor your pictures?" he demanded. "I've got two kids in my car." I had to give him his money back.

Q. Although the Alaskan fur seal spends much of its life in the water, it must learn to swim.

IT'S YOUR DEAL Follow Rules Of Chilean Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

In my previous column I discussed the basic rules of Chilean Canasta — the game that is played with four packs of cards, and in which you are allowed to meld a canasta of wild cards.

In this column I intend to take up some of the points on which the rules vary from one locality to another. In South America to another (to say nothing of the variations right here in this country).

Some players allow you to change a meld of wild cards into a mixed canasta of some other kind. For example, suppose you have a meld of three deuces on the table. You add four kings to the deuces, thus turning it into a mixed canasta of kings.

When this rule is followed, you are permitted to add four kings to three wild cards; or three kings to four wild cards; or two kings to five wild cards. If you have six wild cards all by themselves in a meld, you cannot add natural cards to them; they must stay as a meld of wild cards, waiting for you to add the seventh wild card.

In other localities, this procedure is not allowed. If you meld wild cards, you may add only wild cards to them. Either way of playing it is all right, but you would tend to alter your tactics depending on which rule happened to be followed in your game. Just make sure on this point, and on all other variations, that the players in your game know which rule is being adopted for that game.

If the player at your right throws a deuce, in some games you can take the pack with a pair of deuces. (You would need two jokers if the discard happened to be a joker instead of a deuce.) Other people follow the old-fashioned procedure, in which a deuce freezes the pack and cannot be picked up by the next player.

In some games your red three count against you until your side has melded a canasta; and some people count red three minus until the side has melded two canastas. However, there are many players who follow the normal Canasta rule in which a

Lines Form At Foodshops . . . Food Situation In Poland Is Reported Going Downhill

WARSAW, Poland — (AP) — Poland's food situation is going downhill.

Today there are lines of people outside the foodshop where rationed goods are sold, or where there are goods expected to go on the ration list soon.

The rationing has been introduced gradually by the Communist government in the last few months. First it was meat, fats and butter; then soap. Now it is sugar and sweets.

The rationing system is extremely complicated. The people of Poland are divided into two categories: Those holding ration cards and those without cards.

All governmental, state and social institutions issue cards to their employees. So do private enterprises. But the owner of a private enterprise is not entitled to a ration card. Neither is any person not holding a job.

Holdings of these cards do not receive the same amounts of rationed goods. There are 15 different kinds of ration cards for adults and six different kinds for minors. In addition, special coupons are issued to members of the diplomatic corps, entitling them to rations far above those of the average card holder.

There is another complication. The ration cards, theoretically, entitle the holders to certain quotas of rationed goods per week or month. In practice, however, the value of the ration coupons often varies from week to week, although never rising above the basic quotas.

In Poland, goods which are rationed can also be bought legally in the shops without coupons—but the price is much higher. For example, sugar with coupons costs 5.25 zloty for two pounds, but without coupons in the same shop it costs 15 zloty.

The drive to rife industrialization of this largely agrarian country is held partly responsible for the food situation. The industrialization drive brought a large scale migration of farm population into the cities and industrial areas.

In 1931, Poland's population was 61.4 percent agricultural. In 1950 the agricultural population had dropped to 45.75 percent of a total already diminished by the war. From 1949 to 1951 employment in non-agricultural pursuits increased by 1,200,000.

At the end of the war in 1945 there was an abundance of foodstuffs in Poland, and an influx from UNRRA (The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration) improved the situation.

However, in a comparatively short time the situation deteriorated. Contributing to this was not only the lack of reserves, but the drive to build heavy industry while reconstructing the cities.

Rationing was introduced in mid-1951. Shortly afterward the deputy prime minister and economic chief, Hilary Minc, said in a speech that the main reason for food difficulties was the lag between the development of industry and that of agriculture. He said "kulak-speculators" and "capitalist-speculator elements" made the situation more difficult. A kulak is a well-to-do farmer.

Authorities have indicated they will attempt to increase the food supply by measures encouraging and obliging farmers to step up their production under new agrarian laws.

Prices have been reported skyrocketing beyond the reach of the average wage earner, who might make as much as 600 zloty a month. Only about 15 percent of Poland's peasants are on collective farms or state farms and the rest stubbornly resist collectivization. This latest report indicates that the resistors are being severely squeezed.
