Flood Damage $10 Million

Death Toll Listed At 8

GONZALES, Tex. (AP) — The cost of floods that took at least eight lives in South Texas in three days was estimated Saturday at $10,800,000.

The Corps of Army Engineers estimated the cost in dollars while crests on the Guadalupe and Colorado Rivers were still chasing cattle from lowlands in their paths to the sea.

The sun shone on the grimy work of cleaning up mud-caked hill country towns and farms.

Cloudbursts that measured up to 23 inches and sent rivers and creeks roaring from their banks broke the long and costly drought in the hill country. But the downpours and floods might have finished the destruction of cotton and corn crops started by long summer months of drought.

The Army Engineers said their damage estimate was only a preliminary figure — it could go higher.

The flood waters passed Gonzales last night with damage only to 10 river-bank homes. Some cattle were stranded and corn and cotton fields inundated.

Hill country towns such as a Boerne, San Marcos, Fredericksburg, Seguin and New Braunfels were at the job of cleaning up and getting back to business. About 700 persons were still homeless at New Braunfels, 100 at Seguin.

War Games Begun In North Sea

GOUROCK, Scotland (AP) — A powerful fleet of 16 warships moved out to battle stations in the North Sea for the Atlantic Pact's first big war games and promptly drew the fire of Moscow's editors.

The Soviet Army newspaper Red Star charged that the exercise, "Operation Mainbrace," was aggressively aimed by the Pentagon at clamping control over the Baltic, to the detriment of Russia and other Baltic powers.

Moscow dispatches said the tone of the vitriolic attack indicated Russia may protest officially to Norway and Denmark, among the eight nations taking part.

The large U.S. naval force involved had orders to stay out of the Baltic in order not to invite an incident with Russia. But the 3-day exercise includes an amphibious landing in Denmark and a counterattack against "enemy" invaders of Northern Norway. Norway's northern frontier touches Russia.

More than 85,000 men, including 40,000 U. S. sailors and Marines, are involved in the operation, along with British, Canadian, American, Belgian, Dutch, French, Norwegian and Danish warships.

The big U. S. carriers Franklin D. Roosevelt and Midway, a battleship Wisconsin, the smaller carriers Wasp and Wright, and numerous cruisers, destroyers, smaller vessels and a supply train are engaged.

Total rainfall for the week was 2.35 inches, all of it Wednesday. At 7:45 p. m. Saturday the thermometer read 78 degrees.

Nationwide Crackdown . . . Rome Police Close American Churches

ROME (I.P.) — A determined handful of American-led Church of Christ worshippers announced they will hold regular services here Sunday in open defiance of an Italian police ban.

Cline Paden of Brownfield, Tex., who heads the church in Rome, said the ban was part of a "completely unexpected" nationwide crackdown against the small Protestant group under laws of the Fascist era.

The Alessandria church was closed by force last Sunday, the Rome church was ordered to close, a third church was given one month to shut up and the other 19 Church of Christ congregations are probably to be closed, Paden declared.

In Alessandria's police headquarters, Dr. Michele Lomazzo said police had prevented "religious practices" by the Church of Christ last Sunday. He denied the use of force.

One of Paden's fellow missionaries, Carl Mitchell of Los Angeles, Calif., said Alessandria police forcibly prevented 25 members of church congregation from entering church and roughly handled four Church of Christ representatives in an effort to make them stop singing hymns.

Official action appeared to be limited to the Church of Christ. Other Protestant denominations, including the Baptist and Methodist, have operated in Italy for years without official action against them.

An informed Italian source said friction with the Church of Christ arose over missionary activities and efforts at conversion in this predominantly Roman Catholic nation.

Alice Officials Waiting Break In Floyd Killing

ALICE (AP) — A tense air of waiting settled today over the investigation of the bungled assassination plot aimed at a South Texas political leader and a district judge. Silent Texas Rangers went about duties expectantly as if a break in the case might be near.

Two men accused in the plot that went awry and proved fatal to Jake Buddy Floyd Jr. sweated in the hot, tiny Jim Wells County Jail.

Officers awaited the arrest of Alfredo Cervantes, third person charged in the plot.

These other developments hung fire:

1. Filing of new, detailed murder charges by Dist. Atty. Homer Dean.

2. Acceptance by Spurgeon Bell of Houston of a request he act as special prosecutor.

3. Habeas corpus hearings Monday for Mario Sapet and Nago Alaniz, dapper Alice lawyer who at a rendezvous told Jake Floyd Sr. that he and Judge Sam Reams were marked for death. Alaniz is charged with murder.

Floyd, prominent lawyer, said he was told that two professional killers had been imported from Mexico to do the killing and that politics was the reason. He said his son was slain by mistake.

Man Held After 3-Car Smashup

A man injured in a three-car collision was taken to a local hospital Sunday from which he took a walk-right into the arms of Policeman Jess Taylor who booked him on a charge of driving a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Ernest Miranda, Skellytown, was taken to the hospital where Dr. P. A. Gates found he had suffered a slight concussion and several small lacerations and bruises. Gates advised him to stay in the hospital overnight, but Miranda thought he had better go.

And he did—right to police headquarters. Taylor spotted him on the street, booked him on the drunk driving charge and escorted him back to the hospital.

The accident occurred about 6 p. m. Saturday in the 500-block of S. Cuyler, Taylor reported, when Miranda's car plowed into a vehicle driven by Milton Roy Sullivan, 909 N. Somerville, which in turn collided with a car operated by Ernest Jody Allen, 621 S. Russell. The Sullivan and Allen cars, Taylor said, were slowing down for a red light when the collision occurred.

Taylor termed the damage to the three cars as "heavy."

members of a nominating committee presented him as their choice.

Pampans Not Interested? Mills Places Pampa Oilers Up For Sale

Pampa is two weeks away from being without professional baseball.

In a specially prepared statement, R. D. (Doug) Mills, president of the Pampa Oilers, announced Saturday that the club was up for sale and it would be either sold or moved by Oct. 1.

"After long and serious thought, I have decided I will not operate the Oiler Baseball Club in Pampa another year," Mills' statement said.

"Three years of operations have convinced me of one of two things. The people of Pampa are not interested in baseball, or they do not approve of me as owner. In either event, I feel that it would be very foolish of me to continue. Not only for my own interest, but for that of the league as well, something must be done. There seems to be a great deal of consternation because of the fact that I plan to move the franchise; therefore, if any individual or group of individuals wishes to buy it, they may contact me. Otherwise, I will, of necessity, make different arrangements."

The Oct. 1 deadline date was set by Mills in order that any change in ownership, or plans to move the franchise, could be completed by the regular fall meeting of the league scheduled for Oct. 18 at Lubbock.

As far as moving the franchise is concerned, Mills said that he has had lucrative inquiries from Plainville, Elk City, Okla., Hobbs, N. M., and a few other towns. Hobbs has been wanting a professional franchise for years; Plainville has also been bidding strongly; and Elk City has sponsored a very strong semi-pro team in recent seasons.

Mills purchased the Pampa franchise from R. L. Edmondson in the spring of 1950. That year the club captured first place in the season race and lost the first Dimes polo fund drive in Pampa next January.

Hasse was selected by the Gray County Polio Board at its regular meeting Friday when members of a nominating committee presented him as their choice.

Rev. Edgar Henshaw, Dr. Ed Williams, Frank Leder and Ray Evans served on the nominating committee.

The board also authorized payment of $895.82 in bills to help care for polio patients from the county and they agreed to help care for bills of two new patients, both receiving treatment at Amarillo. One is a severe case and the other mild, according to the report sent to the board.

Another polio case of Gray County was the first one for the year at Skellytown in Carson county were reported to be receiving treatment in an Amarillo hospital yesterday.

Linda Jo Diggs, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Diggs, 844 S. Faulmer, was admitted to Amarillo hospital Thursday after receiving treatment for a few days in a Pampa hospital.

She is reported to have a severe attack of the disease. Her mother is staying in Amarillo to be with her.

Skellytown's first case is Jerry Weaver, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Weaver. His case has been diagnosed as the bulbar type and he was reported to be in serious condition.

Lefors Field Not Ready For Week

Perry Lefors Field probably will not be in operation until the end of this week, according to Wayland Merriman, county engineer who has prepared the plans for the new airport.

Although the runway is usable, Merriman said, the aprons and taxiway asphalt coatings have not yet been shot. Landing lights he continued, have been installed but will not be connected till Monday. One is a severe case and the other mild, according to the report sent to the board.

Adlai Backers Win Indecisive Battle

AUSTIN (AP) — Feuding Texas Democrats went to court Saturday to decide whether Republican Dwight Eisenhower gets on the Texas ballot as a Democratic presidential nominee.

Backers of Adlai Stevenson, the national Democratic hopeful, won a quick but indecisive first-round victory when a district judge issued a temporary restraining order to keep the new, pro-Eisenhower Texas Democratic Party off the ballot.

The Stevenson lawyers said the new party is trying to steal the "Democratic" name.

Dist. Judge Jack Roberts granted the order, which keeps Secretary of State Jack Ross from certifying the new party and its candidates until the judge hears arguments Tuesday and reaches a decision.

Attorneys filed the suit on behalf of Stevenson and his running mate, John Sparkman, this morning after telephone conferences with House Speaker Sam Rayburn, National Democratic Chairman Stephen Mitchell and other pro-administration Democrats.

Austin lawyers John Cofer and Fagan Dickson, two top leaders of the self-styled "Loyal Democrats," accused the hastily organized Texas Democratic Party of attempting to steal the name of the traditional Democratic Party.

The plaintiffs said the attempt to put two Democratic columns of the ballot was an effort on the part of "disgruntled Democrats" to confuse voters and to cause "an unfair decision in the general election to be held in November."

A meeting today in the Pampa Room at 2 p. m. of the second explorer, planning conference will be to plan activities for the next 12 months. Representatives from all Explorer Posts in the Adlai Walls Council are to be present.

R. J. Rust, Phillips, council explorer chairman, and W. J. Kilpatrick, council camping chairman, will be in charge of the meeting. Rust will be in charge of sessions and serve as advisor.

Man Loses Chance To Prove He's Alive

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A 25-year-old Texan, declared legally dead more than a year ago, lost his chance to prove in court he was alive.

René L. Hawkins, Fort Worth, was killed yesterday in an automobile accident near Calvin, Okla., while enroute to Norman to appear in District Court. Hawkins filed suit here last July, asking the court to set aside the earlier ruling he was legally dead.

Hawkins' sister, Mrs. Martha Martin, successfully petitioned the court in 1951 to declare her brother dead and to give her full title to the estate of her mother.

Hawkins stated in his petition he had worked out of the state and hadn't been in touch with his family. He contended he was very much alive and wanted the court to clear up the matter so he could share in his mother's estate.

Telephone Interview . . . Mayor Huff Says He Will Vote For Ward System Abolishment

By HENRY S. GORDON

Mayor C. A. Huff and two city commissioners this week publicly supported passage of the city charter amendments, up for election on Oct. 4, which would abolish the ward system in Pampa.

In a telephone interview with Mayor Huff, now in Minnesota, the mayor stated bluntly he firmly approves of electing all commissioners at large instead of from wards.

Asked what benefits such a system would have, in his opinion, Mayor Huff said:

"A commission elected at large would be united in thought and action. They would be pledged always to make their decisions for the whole of our city with none of them being hampered by a pledge to a particular ward or political ward boss, seeking personal gain."

The mayor said, "Historically, other cities and towns tell us Pampa took a backward step in home rule government when the ward system was adopted."

"Yes, Mr. Mayor," the mayor declared, "are not adequately represented since you have the privilege of selecting only two-thirds of the commission — the mayor and your ward commissioners?"

Asked if he thought the change would increase efficient operation of the city, the mayor declared: "Personally, I wouldn't want to be a commissioner handling the affairs of a city of 18,000-plus population with a valuation of over a $4-million when only a (See MAYOR, Page 2)

Blazing Plane Landed Safely

CARTERET, N. J. (AP) — A blazing engine, dropped out of a DCB twin-engine passenger plane on a test flight today, but the pilot guided the lopsided craft to a safe landing in a swamp near the New Jersey Turnpike.

The plane, trailered under the flames over the crash-conscious heavily populated area near Newark, N. J., where three airplanes crashed last winter with the loss of 118 lives.

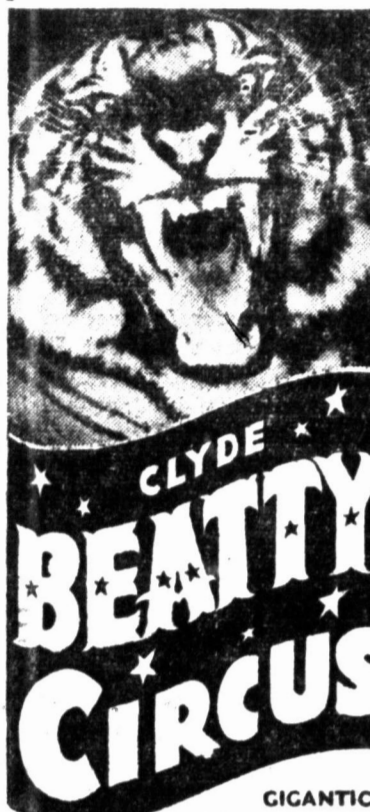

The three crewmen aboard — pilot, co-pilot and engineer — were uninjured. The fire was out when the plane came to a stop. Its landing gear ripped off by a shock absorber.

small part of the voters had the privilege of voting for or against it. It is much harder to develop and make Pampa grow with a commission representing four different parts of the city than it is for a commission of four representing the whole city."

Ward 1 Commissioner Crawford Atkinson, who is serving his sixth year as a commissioner, and who declared he is through with his job at the end of this term, also believes the ward system should be done away with.

He said there were no personal reasons affecting his decision to run again.

Atkinson said he believed it would be best for the whole of Pampa for the ward system to be abolished, and elect the commissioners at large.

He added, "This would make each commissioner responsible to the needs of every citizen. He would give every citizen the same voice in the city government, no more, no less."

Asked if he believed the ward system brought on sectionalism, Atkinson answered with a positive "yes" and said:

"This would lessen sectionalism and the evils it brings on. It would knock the influence of certain small cliques who have made it very awkward and unpleasant for the commission to function properly in the past."

He continued:

"When a commissioner owes his election to only a fraction of the citizenship, terrific pressures can be applied. This has been the case in Pampa. Important matters have been postponed so some members of the commission could first consult and advise with certain parties or pressure groups."

"Such action results in delays, bickering and confusion, and hinders efficiency."

Atkinson spoke sternly when he summarized the commission's post-war work and headaches by saying:

"We have had a busy schedule in Pampa during these post-war years, and have made much progress. The greatest hindrance has been the spirit of sectionalism. It has pitted one side against the other, with some individuals selfishly fanning the fires, constantly agitating, and with never a thought toward the promotion of harmony and unity in our common undertakings."

Atkinson said those were his reasons "plus numerous others" which prompted him to strongly endorse the charter amendment being submitted. He declared it was his belief the amendments passage would be "an important step in the direction of a greater Pampa."

Bob Thompson, representing Ward 2, compared city commission, working under the at large system, with an independent school district. He said:

"Our school trustees have their little technical differences at times. But there is no sign of sectionalism there one faction thinking they are getting less for their money than the other — and they usually come up as a unit with something bigger and better."

Thompson also cited his approval of an amendment which would permit the city commission to fill vacancies until the next election; the same as the school board and the county commissioner court.

He contended it would be a more efficient operation than having to go to the expense of a special election just for a few months.

Thompson also decried the mayor and Atkinson said the strong feeling of sectionalism in the ward system brings about:

"I believe that every qualified voter should have the right to vote on every member sitting on that commission. After all, the entire commission spends every citizen's tax money whether he votes for it or not. A commis-

Pampa Kiwanis Club Awarded Travelling Fellowship Drum

Pampa Kiwanis Club topped all other clubs in the district in inter-club visits this year to win the travelling fellowship drum, it was announced at Friday's regular meeting of the group.

The announcement was made by Claude Morris, district lieutenant - governor of Kiwanis, on his official visit. Morris spoke to the group and praised members for an outstanding attendance record and enthusiasm evidenced in activities.

He told the group that the drum, with all the money put in it by each club during the year, would be presented at the district convention in Austin Oct. 12 - 14.

Delegates to the convention are E. L. Henderson, president; Clinton Evans, vice - president; and J. B. Maguire, with Howard Buckingham, J. C. Cashion and Bob Curry as alternates.

Others from Pampa planning to attend are Leslie Hart, Ed LaPorte and L. N. Atchison.

Friday's program was directed by Archie Roberts who presented membership aprons for all Kiwanian's signatures to Gretchen Johnsen and Berhardt Brehm, the club's German exchange students.

Both students addressed the group, thanking them for their reception when they first arrived and for help given since they enrolled in Pampa High School.

A list of candidates for new club officers will be presented at next Friday's meeting by the nominating committee which met this week in the home of Leslie Hart. Election will be held at that time.

Residents Discuss City Requirements

Twenty residents of the southwest part of town, where the new elementary school is to be constructed, have been informed of technical details involved if their area is incorporated within the city limits.

At a meeting in the city commission room at 8 p.m. Friday, B. H. Cruce, city manager, and Ray Evans, director of public works, were on hand to answer questions.

No decisions were made as it was purely an informational meeting.

Main point covered seemed to be the question of when sewerage facilities would be provided if southwestern residents voted to become part of the city. The answer was sometime in 1953.

One problem, Cruce said, was whether the city or the school board was to pay for the 2-inch sewer line under Crawford extending from Prairie Village to Farley.

City officials told the gathering that residents of that area would probably break even financially — if the deal was consummated.

This was the first time any of the city commission, except W. B. (A) Neel publicly took a stand on the coming election. Neel has openly opposed it in letters to the News during the last few weeks. However, Commissioner W. D. Varmon, Ward 4, has steered clear of making any public statements on his own although he is generally considered as being opposed to passage of the amendments.

County 4-H Clubs Are Reorganizing

Reorganization of Girls and Boy 4-H Clubs throughout the county is in progress this week with meetings scheduled for each day in various schools.

Helen Dunlap, County demonstration agent, is meeting with the girls and Bill Goldston, assistant county agent, with the boys.

New members are to be accepted, officers elected and plans made for coming activities. Meetings are scheduled at Hopkins and Pampa High School Monday; at Grandview Tuesday; Pampa Junior High School, Wednesday; and Alnared and McLean, Thursday.

Miss Dunlap will meet with Leffors School to complete a girls organization there. Girls clubs have already been organized for the year's work in Wayside and Bell communities.

Panpan Fined $25 C. O. Frier, Pampa, has pleaded guilty in county court to a charge of aggravated assault and has been fined $25 and costs.

City officials told the gathering that residents of that area would probably break even financially — if the deal was consummated.

Residents Discuss City Requirements

Atkinson spoke sternly when he summarized the commission's post-war work and headaches by saying:

"We have had a busy schedule in Pampa during these post-war years, and have made much progress. The greatest hindrance has been the spirit of sectionalism. It has pitted one side against the other, with some individuals selfishly fanning the fires, constantly agitating, and with never a thought toward the promotion of harmony and unity in our common undertakings."

Atkinson said those were his reasons "plus numerous others" which prompted him to strongly endorse the charter amendment being submitted. He declared it was his belief the amendments passage would be "an important step in the direction of a greater Pampa."

Bob Thompson, representing Ward 2, compared city commission, working under the at large system, with an independent school district. He said:

"Our school trustees have their little technical differences at times. But there is no sign of sectionalism there one faction thinking they are getting less for their money than the other — and they usually come up as a unit with something bigger and better."

Thompson also cited his approval of an amendment which would permit the city commission to fill vacancies until the next election; the same as the school board and the county commissioner court.

He contended it would be a more efficient operation than having to go to the expense of a special election just for a few months.

Thompson also decried the mayor and Atkinson said the strong feeling of sectionalism in the ward system brings about:

"I believe that every qualified voter should have the right to vote on every member sitting on that commission. After all, the entire commission spends every citizen's tax money whether he votes for it or not. A commis-ioner elected at large knows he is equally responsible to every taxpayer and voter irrespective of where he lives."

This was the first time any of the city commission, except W. B. (A) Neel publicly took a stand on the coming election. Neel has openly opposed it in letters to the News during the last few weeks. However, Commissioner W. D. Varmon, Ward 4, has steered clear of making any public statements on his own although he is generally considered as being opposed to passage of the amendments.

Trailer Parks Are 'Home' To Two Million Americans

By PAUL RUSSELL LANE
 CHICAGO (AP) — Trailer coaches are "home" to nearly two million Americans today, and the nation's trailer population is still growing.

Approximately 37,400 trailers were manufactured during the first half of 1952 — about 5,400 more units than during the corresponding period of last year.

The majority of trailer dwellers live in their mobile homes of necessity — because conventional housing isn't adequate in their work areas.

But, says William H. Johnson, president of the Trailer Coach Dealers National association, "the proportion of those who really like trailer living is rising sharply, especially with those who own modern trailers."

Johnson says the "most popular models of 1952 trailer coaches run about 34 to 36 feet in length and cost a shade more than $4,000.

At that price, you get nearly everything except a basement. New trailers include deep freeze units, thermostatic control heating units, large stand-up type refrigerators with six or more cubic feet capacity; built-in television, and garbage disposal units.

E. H. Gubser, president of the Trailer Coach Manufacturers Association, says there are about 12,000 trailer parks in the United States. Of these, 1,500 are in Florida, and many of these Florida parks are beautiful sites.

Gubser says his association is currently making a survey of trailer parks and plans to compile a volume listing the best and indicating the type of facilities each provides.

US Producing Record Crop In Most Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is producing a record volume of crop and livestock products this year, but not all farmers are sharing in it.

In its September crop progress report, the Agriculture Department said livestock farmers in some sections of the South and Southwest face serious shortages of feed for their cattle and other livestock next winter because of drought damage.

The volume of crops indicated on Sept. 1 was close to the second largest of record, produced in 1949, the department said. The production of livestock products — meat, animals, dairy and poultry products and wool — will be the largest ever produced. As a result the combined production of crops and livestock products will set a new record.

A feature of this year's production is the fact that it is well balanced. That is, the prospective big production does not reflect record outturns of a few of other crops. Only in the case of winter wheat and rice are production records indicated.

The severe drought which affected wide areas in the East and Southwest as well as the South, west during July has raised concern among officials lest farmers be forced, by lack of feed, to sell off much of their livestock.

The new report said it had not turned out that way. Instead, livestock was said to have held up well, except in the very driest areas. Marketings have not been unusually heavy.

The vital hay crop was said to be turning out better than had been expected. The corn crop estimate was boosted 50 million bushels above the August estimate putting it at 3,185,000,000 bushels or 8 per cent more than last year.

The wheat crop remained virtually unchanged at 1,298,000,000 bushels, the second largest of record, and 311 million bushels more than last year.

The potato crop increased slightly to top last year's short crop by 12 million bushels, still leaving it short of the government's production goal of 350 million bushels.

Solomon returned to U of T and majored in journalism, then went back again to study law and won his degree this year.

Budget Hearing Set Wednesday

County Commissioners set Wednesday as the public hearing date for the 1952 budget, amounting roughly to $719,000, at a meeting Friday.

The commissioners still have to review the budget on an item-by-item basis before its final adoption.

The contemplated figure, Ray Wilson, county auditor, said, is the amount asked by the various department heads and each commissioner for his separate precinct and is subject to change.

The folding fan was invented by the Japanese in the 7th century.

Protect Roof Gutters

Copper roof gutters corrode under chemical action of smoke, soot and cinders. If your house is subjected to railroad or factory smoke it is wise to paint the inside of gutters with asphaltum preparations, using spar varnish on the outside for appearance. Painting prevents copper from staining white woodwork.

When To Zig And When To Zag

The art of national politics is knowing when to zig as well as when to zag, and this principle applies to Dwight Eisenhower's Far Western chances because:

1. He could lose out in Texas by not trying hard enough.
  2. He could lose out in California by trying too hard.
- The Texas situation as pertains to Eisenhower can be briefly summarized as a ripe apple on the bough. If Ike comes to Texas in a series campaign, if he gives the limb a good shake, the fruit will fall in his hands. He can win the Lone Star State if he sets his mind to it. In fact, he can't miss winning Texas unless he neglects to make the strenuous efforts which are normally required for any worth-while success.

But California is different. Eisenhower can get licked there if he lets himself get over-extended. There is, for example, an attempt to present Ike not only as a Republican but as a candidate who is above Republicanism. This method might work in the one-party South, but the effect in California is confusing. In beating the bushes for members to the Citizens for Eisenhower Clubs, the California Ike-backers are saying:

"You must support Eisenhower as an individual. You can do so without supporting the Republican party which is no good anyhow."

Now, this is obviously a method which can carry a disastrous backfire. It's true that Ike is a ready-made celebrity and a political newcomer with all the purity of inexperience. It's also true that the GOP minority political group with a long record of finishing second in presidential races. But there is no sense in pretending that Eisenhower is bigger or better than his party.

He and his backers put on an expensive fight to gain the GOP nomination. Moreover, Ike had two or more chances to accept the Democratic nomination at the hands of Democratic leaders. He rejected these all-but certain opportunities to run for the presidency on the majority ticket. He chose to stand for nomination and election as a Republican. It would seem that Ike is the last man in the country whose affiliations should be disguised. In a two-party State, it appears completely foolish to give the impression that the GOP candidate is ashamed of his party, or vice versa.

The GOP effort to attract the California labor vote is another example of over-doing the job. Speakers and pamphleteers are now carrying the GOP party line which states that Federal taxes are seriously hurting the middle income group. A big point is made of some figures which show that the bulk of taxation is paid by persons earning over $4000 and under $12,000 a year. The figures are being hawked around the neighborhoods where rentals represent this income spread and where the inhabitants trek off each morning for an industrial plant which pays them substantial wages.

Are these people about to change their party out of self-interest? No, indeed. They may be paying three-digit income taxes but they are drawing four-digit and five-digit wages.

The GOP is overplaying the taxation issue. There is not much chance that Eisenhower's election would lower either wages or taxes. There is no reason to think that Ike's victory would cause any lessening of the world's tensions or bring an end to the Korean conflict. Eisenhower cannot abolish inflation or war. It's doubtful if this giddy notion is really ready to vote for deflation and peace.

But what Ike can do, maybe, is to establish a government which does not rely on inflation and war. He can, perhaps, bring about a slow-down, then a halt, and finally a reversal of the destructive trend. To say this much — adding always the maybes and the perhappes — is about as much as the GOP can honestly claim for Ike.

Give Us Time

In 1913, after a sufficient number of states had ratified the 16th amendment, a seemingly innocuous law was passed by Congress permitting a levy on the income of individuals and corporations. Count von Bernstorff, then the German Ambassador to the United States, said: "You have adopted an income tax. That is the beginning. You will have more and more burdensome taxes. What amazes me is that your people seem intent upon following our example, instead of developing the system provided by your Constitution. Wait a few years and see the result!"

Von Bernstorff may have been a poor diplomat but he was a good prophet. Beginning in 1914, with a very modest share of the citizens earnings, this tax is now extracting from individuals alone more than 27 billion dollars per year or 450 dollars for every working person in the country.

Taxation in the United States has passed the point of oppression. About all that can be said is that the tax forms of our Internal Revenue Department do not yet bear the flourish of a royal decree.

United Country

We don't agree on everything — never have — never will — and wouldn't like it if we did . . . except about one thing — our right to disagree. Fools — and enemies — sometimes think those loud sounds mean we're not united . . . but we know our basic unity is there because now there are so many of us agreeing on that one important thing.

"Darkness At Noon In American Colleges"

As readers of this column well know, I have had a lot to say about what is being taught in grade schools, high schools and colleges. I have especially had a lot to say about the similarity of what is being taught in both private and public colleges to what is taught in every dictator country. There is quite an awakening among thoughtful American people as to the end results of such teachings.

If the youth of this land were taught to understand the Declaration of Independence, we would not now have the kind of candidates we have at the head of the two leading political parties.

With this idea in mind, I asked permission from the Human Events publication to reproduce an article by E. Merrill Root in its July 30 issue under the heading of "Darkness at Noon in American Colleges." It follows:

"The Battle of Waterloo may or may not have been won on the playing fields of Eton, but the battle of Freedom is certainly being lost in the classrooms of American colleges and universities, with few exceptions, are devoted to the dogmas that free enterprise is bad, that collectivism is good, that the trend toward centralization is 'progressive'. College faculties claim the right to teach such dogmas without criticism; they call this 'academic freedom'."

"Unless some general intellectual dynamic lifts the academic reactionaries of collectivism out of their fox-holes, we shall be educated into George Orwell's nightmare, '1984', where Big Brother peers from every billboard, 'double-talk' vitulates every word, yesterday's newspapers are rewritten to make Xaita look good, and 'thought-police' hunt down every Senator McCarthy and club every poet and prophet of individualism."

"For contrary to academic cliches, the intellectual Left dominates American colleges today. The apologists for collectivism try hard to hide this truth with platitudes and pious platitudes. In the most notorious case, the Communist Party of Princeton says that 'intellectual slavery' (he means individualism) in colleges is 'far advanced'. Kalmann Siegel (education reporter for the New York Times) talks about a 'campus strait jacket'. Their phrases are as phony as Big Brother's slogans in '1984'—'War is Peace; Ignorance is Knowledge; Slavery is Freedom;—or they deliberately lie."

"For collectivism is the blight of 'intellectual slavery' already 'far advanced' in American colleges; socialism is the 'campus strait jacket'. Collectivism is rampant in almost all colleges and universities in the U. S.; anyone who dares declare his faith in economic freedom and his hostility to the State (that 'coldest of all cold empires', said Nietzsche), is today an academic outcast. Colleges today are dominated by would-be People's Commissioners for the Suppression of Wild Flowers."

"I know American colleges and universities from the inside out and the outside in. And I affirm that (except for Roman Catholic, and a few small Protestant colleges), the academic climate is aggressively collectivist. It favors and fosters (as 'liberal' and 'progressive') all that socializes, collectivizes, enforces; all that reduces the uncommon individual to the hideous caricature called 'the Common Man'. There is constant pressure—a parlor witch-hunt, a faculty-tea lynching party—all on who dare differ from what is called 'the damned compact liberal majority'."

"To prepare all this, I need only ask a few simple questions. 'In what college will not the majority of faculty and students immediately—without debate or one grain of salt of skepticism—damn William F. Buckley's monumental 'God and Man At Yale'? In what college will not the name 'McCarthy' immediately—without discussion or evidence—provoke a sneer and a smear? In what college will each and every teacher (as 'liberal' and 'progressive') immediately ridiculed and attacked?—the profit motive, the opposition of Pasadena parents to indoctrination by collectivism, any criticism of textbooks as the Fundis of Collectivism miswrite them, capitalism as such, Senator Taft, 'Red Channels' or 'Counterattack', Whitaker Chambers (they still choose Hiss) the McCarthy Act, 'Americanism'?"

"In what college will not the majority of the faculty support the 'right of the many Communist professors to abuse America, and not shout about 'academic freedom' if they are enemies of freedom—are ousted?"

"In what college will not the majority furiously defend the muddled 'White Book' of Acheson and Marshall? Not immediately denounce Chiang Kai-shek as the patient spider of the Party Line long ago conditioned them to do? Or where will a majority of any faculty condemn Owen Lattimore, the IPR gang, the Amerasia conspiracy?"

"In what college are not students almost wholly conditioned into ignorance by the dogma that 'economic determinism' explains politics, art, religion, morality, every choice of the human spirit?"

"In what college is not the literature of nihilism—the 'realism' that reduced man to a spiritual amoeba thrusting out agonized pseudopodia in blind appetite for material things—dominant?"

"Such questions can have only one answer—if you know colleges today. And this makes it terribly clear that, in teaching you to walk intellectually, American colleges say: 'Use only your left foot!'"

National Whirligig... Anti-American Guff Broadcast Daily Around World By Reds

By JOHN FISHER

Malik's latest falsehoods hurled at General Eisenhower and his sidekicks at President Truman are part of the Communist global hate-mongering aimed to line up bystanders against the United States.

United Nations delegates are bored and the American public pays scant attention to the Russian's vicious tongue. They have heard his lies too often to be upset.

However, reports from abroad reaching Washington and the United Nations reveal that Soviet mendacity does us harm among segments of other nations. The untruths repeated over and over again with a few new trimmings to keep them fresh and, eventually, as in the case of some British Socialists, the gullible assume there must be some fire behind so much smoke.

A high government officer who had talked with the Red Dean on his visit to America, remarked that he believes the British churchmen really believe the lies that he has been told about America. Doubt as to our intentions and morals also is evident to Americans who have visited India and the Middle and Far East.

The representatives of Texas, the Soviet news agency, still denigrate presidential press conferences, pump department personnel and then phone their daily grip of news to their New York central bureau. There it gets its first doses of false coloring and is sent on to Russia, where the process is completed, and new falsehoods about America are just some amiable words in the China and North Korea. The broadcast and published in the far corners of the world.

The most malicious propaganda right now stems from Red China and North Korea. The most abominable words in the hate-mongering to describe alleged atrocities of Americans in Korea. Accompanying these canards are forged documents and fake pictures. Actual photos of war's inevitable damage also are used.

The blame for the results of military bombing are hung on us and not on the aggressors who started the war.

An idea of the unbridled vilification of Americans can be found in the following quotations from communist sources.

The original fake atrocity stories originate at the Korean front and are retold in the cominform radio and press.

The quotations may offend squeamish readers. But the American public should be made aware of the exact wording so as to understand how wickedly our boys in Korea are slandered and how evil and dangerous is the Red mind that concocts these terrible misrepresentations.

A Polish radio commentator read a letter from a peasant woman, who is supposed to have written: "I have heard much on the radio about American criminals who have contrived to the suffering of Korean mothers. I want to express my hatred of these murderers of innocent children who are now threatening us with a new war. We mothers are fighting to keep the plague-spreading American barbarians out of our country."

Another script says: "When I read the news from Korea, I am reminded of Harburg. The screams of dying children, the bodies of distigured victims, then I see Wall Street murderers swimming in the tears and blood of the innocent Korean people."

Fair Enough... Many Persons Mum As Time, Life Men Call For Interview

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate Inc.)

I have learned that in carrying on a developing story it is impossible to review the preceding material in each new instalment. The synopsis grows and the daily continuation of the story in "49 Blue Bottles" and "Old MacDonald" will proceed to proceed with the discussion of the queer personal, political and business relations of China-Boy Henry Luce and his wife, Clare, Paul Hoffman, the president of the Ford Foundation, William Benton, Robert M. Hutchins, and others.

Luce is the founder and principal practitioner of a monstrosity which may properly be called the new yellow journalism. He has many imitators, chief among them the Cowles interests, which publish "Look," and his jerked-on English affectation have gruesomely infected not only our daily journeals but the simian prattle of broadcasters. The Chicago Tribune called him the Peeping Tom of our journalism with reference to his lip smacking gusto over embarrassing misfortunes of prominent persons.

Henry's magazine "Time" is more a scavenger of news than a reporter. He hops awkwardly over the carcasses of events, and political and personal motives almost always are visible to the eagle eye of the professional in the emphasis and malice of "Time's" discussions. Some prominent persons absolutely refuse to say anything to "Time" or "Life" on the theory that it is impossible to distort nothing.

Nevertheless, this morose and touchy fellow has the audacity in Dec. 1942, to instigate and subsidize a completely unofficial and private "Commission" to attack the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press. Luce put up $300,000 and the Encyclopedia Britannica, of which he is a director, put up $15,000.

Frank Hughes, a truly professional reporter, spent three years investigating the character and works of this "Commission" and presented his expose of Luce, Hutchins, Hoffman, Benton and others in a solid work called "Prejudice And The Press."

The "Commission's" report was called "A Free and Responsible Press." The dust jacket of this document says Luce and Hutchins conceived this bright idea "during a lull in an encyclopedia board meeting." Although he and his wife profess to be Republicans and took an aggressive part in the Eisenhower pre-convention boom, they are political and social friends of Benton, a leading Democrat or Socialist, and of Hutchins, formerly chancellor of the University of Chicago, who is anti-Republican but otherwise too jumbled for classification.

Hughes reports that Luce, himself, in an edge-of-the-chair interview with him, limited to 20 minutes, said the idea was born not at a Britannica meeting but at another gathering at which he was host.

Hughes wrote that Luce said Hutchins drew up a list of twelve "commissioners" besides himself and admitted that he could have vetoed any or all of them but did not.

"Asked whether he was aware that the list included a few men of leftist leanings and that among them they had managed to amass at least 68 affiliations with organizations which the attorney general and congressional committees declared to be Communist fronts," Hughes reported that Luce refused to answer. He also refused to give his opinion of the "report" of the "Commission."

The vice chairman, under Hutchins, was Zechariah Chafee, a professor of law at Harvard, whose record in the files of the House Committee on Un-American Activities is enormous. This would be a timely place to note that when Luce's wife was a member of Congress, elected proposed changes to the city on the Republican ticket, she charter age a step forward, why we don't elect our state representative at large. Here again by voting against the creation of a permanent committee in 1948 and confirmed her position in 1952.

The earlier committee had been temporary. The Communists all opposed the committee on both votes and those Democrats who opposed it were mainly urban types and others who hoped to suppress the gain of the Roosevelt regime in fostering Communist treason. Mrs. Luce was more Democratic than Republican in all both terms, judged by her votes on party issues.

Miss Vivian Kellems, the independent Republican aspirant for city commission of Pampa. It appears to me that Pampa with its city commission is far behind the times; since in this whole state there are only four towns with a population of 12,000 up to 75,000 that use our present system of electing commissioners. Luce the risk of such a pre-termed States provides that the Senate shall be composed of senators from each state. This convention nominated Prescott Bush, a Wall-Street partner of Luce, as the far left-wing Democrat and from 1789, when the Constitution was adopted, until 1913 at erell Harriman.

When the method of election, in discussing the Ford Foundation, shall try to make the fact clear that this Foundation is state of Texas help select our state senators. Until this change takes were made in the selection of Paul Hoffman, Hutchins selecting our Senators now we as citizens each have the same man in power in selecting the men to sinuated dangerous Communists into our government, but they can be rectified.

Suppose there are two candidates running for the city commission from Mr. Whitlock's ward, and he openly supports the one that is defeated. Where and in the carpet-bag administration is Mr. Whitlock's representation of Germany which put great obstacles in the path for only one commissioner and ward peace and reconstruction he was defeated. Now, if there had been eight candidates running at large, Mr. Whitlock could have voted for four of the eight Eisenhower campaign and, as I have noted, signed off with a chance do we have of electing earnest, patriotic Tsalt following the commissioner: that we were permitted to vote for lucrative and fabulously powerful jobs as boss of the Foundation as it is elected now, does something that we do not like. We can appeal to only one man lately Hoffman himself is common with any degree of satisfaction, I find it beyond my ability to discern necessarily with what we mean the moment to establish the Iron resources are being developed to replace the dwindling reserves of the Lake Superior region. M. V. WARD serves of the Lake Superior region.

The trump got the usual question along with the hand-out. Luce—How did you happen to become a tramp? "Tramp—Doctor's order, ma'am. Luce—Oh, come, now, I can't believe that. Tramp—It's the truth. He told me to take long walks after meals."

Mr. Roy Whitlock is to be complimented for the manner in which he has given his reasons for leaving the charter as it now stands in a very polite and gentlemanly way in this column on Wednesday evening Sept. 10, 1952.

I cannot agree with his reasoning, but I am very thankful that in this city, state, and great nation Mr. Whitlock has the privilege of expressing his views and beliefs as he chooses, without being cut off at his door in the dead of night and removing him from his home because he has spoken his thoughts.

Mr. Whitlock states that quote, "The basic cause of Revolution in Pampa was taxation without representation." He feels that should our charter be changed to a like situation would exist in Pampa I cannot agree with his line of reasoning concerning representation. He has written Mr. Whitlock a voice in electing only one of our four commissioners, but under the proposed changes he would have a voice in electing all of our commissioners. It appears to me that he would of have much better representation if he could help elect all of the commissioners.

Mr. Whitlock wonders, if the proposed changes to the city on the Republican ticket, she charter age a step forward, why we don't elect our state representative at large. Here again by voting against the creation of a permanent committee in 1948 and confirmed her position in 1952.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By WARREN HASSA - News Editor

QUESTION: What horse won the first Kentucky Derby?
ANSWER: Omoo.

DOOMSDAY
Like the coming of the end of the world, we have been preaching that the end of professional baseball for Pampa was in sight. Now that time has arrived.

Yesterday R. D. (Doug) Mills, president of the Pampa Oiler Baseball Club, announced that the club would either be sold or moved to another city. The deadline for selling is Oct. 1 so that complete plans for the 1953 operation of what is now the Pampa franchise may be completed by the Oct. 13 fall meeting of the league. That meeting will be held in Lubbock.

That announcement will be the death toll for many loyal baseball fans who seldom, if ever, missed a home game. We can think of several faces who were ever-present when the Oilers were at home. Next year they will have to go to Borger or Amarillo, or perhaps trade their allegiance for softball, unless something happens in the next few weeks.

Well, first and most unlikely, Doug Mills might change his mind. He bought the club three years ago, and has lost money each season in large amounts. The fact he had a winner in 1950, the attendance has been about 40,000 each of the last two seasons, the poorest the club has ever had, and expenses have been at their peak this season. Here is the way attendance has run at Pampa since the war: 1946-32,312 (club record); 1947-56,282; 1948-71,677; 1949-57,280; 1950-56,000 (approximate); 1951-40,000 (approximate).

Lack of attendance this year is a good problem. The weather, in comparison to other seasons, was good all the way. For the first half of the year the attendance was the same and actually wasn't diminished from playoff contention until the final two or three weeks. In 1951, season the club was drawing 1,000 to 1,500 per night with bank nights. Then the Oilers hit a slump and won but bank night would bring the fans out. So, it appears that Mills will not change his mind.

Solution two is that an individual or group of individuals could purchase the club as has been done in Clovis, Abilene and Lamesa. These teams have survived under corporations.

Solution three is that if Mills moves the Oilers, Pampa can interest some other club owner in moving his franchise to Pampa. But it would have to be done before the league meeting and formation of the realigned leagues.

The later is probably an impossibility because league President Ray Winkler said last Monday that "this is the year for realignment. If we don't do it now, we won't get it at again for another ten years at least." That sounded out for the good of the league. It is his responsibility to the other league members, and to professional baseball, to see that his eight franchises are in the best towns.

Though trying to clip corners this season, the league has about gone broke, or is broken. The all-star game, which is supposed to net the league some cash, produced a profit of only $3.20 by the time the Clovis baseball club, host team, got all the bills paid. The league also collects a percentage of the Memorial Day and July 4 doubleheaders. The rest of the money comes from a league tax on each paid admission. And the paid admissions were nowhere near the 700,000 goal set by Winkler at the start of the season. So, it all adds up to attendance being the main factor in whether a town, any town, can support professional baseball.

Pampa apparently can't support professional baseball. We want to clarify one point in

Snead Paces Eastern Open

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sam Snead turned on the steam Saturday to leave the field in the dust at the three-quarter mark of the Eastern Open with a three-stroke lead.

The golf craftsman birdied his way to a four-under par 68 and 5-hole total of 206, 10 strokes better than par.

That put Snead in line today to break the record winning score of the past two tournaments 279 for 72 holes.

Snead broke from second position at the start of the third round, one stroke behind Johnny Bulla. But Bulla faltered in the heat and went two over par for the first nine.

Snead was three under after and kept winning away to beat par by another stroke on the back nine.

Bulla wound up two over par and dropped to a fourth place at 21 with Jimmy Clark, runner-up spot with a 69 for a total of 209. A stroke behind him were Ed Oliver who matched Snead's 68, and Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas, who had 71 on the third round.

Snead and Oliver were tied for the first nine. Snead was three under after and kept winning away to beat par by another stroke on the back nine.

New Stands For White Deer Fans

WHITE DEER (Special) — White Deer High School has made several changes for the athletic program for the year. The new visitors grandstand will be used for the first time in the game Friday between White Deer and the Amarillo Yaguans.

There will be no southwest conference games this year. The new entrance is located on the southeast corner of the park. The gates will open at 6:30 for a full football program to the start at 7:30 p. m. — Conference games at 8:30 p. m.

The junior class of the high school will have charge of the concession stand and will distribute free of charge. Game admission prices will be 50 cents and $1.00.

When the season ended Sept. 10, it also ended a hitting streak that the husky Oiler manager had stretched over the final 19 games of the season during which he raised his average 20 points, hit six home runs, and drove in 31 runs on 39 hits.

Runner-up among the regular who had been on the club a major portion of the year was Don Moore, who finished with a fine right hander from Fredericksburg

Coming on with a late rush the first 20 days of the season, Oiler Manager Jake Phillips raised his batting average to a respectable .345 to take the unofficial team batting crown according to Pampa Daily News figures compiled over the season. Phillips not only led the team in batting, but was the pacesetter in home runs (10), runs batted in (130), hits (172), total bases (297), and second in doubles with 31.

Reynolds Relief Works Whips Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — The New York Yankees nosed a game and a half ahead of the Cleveland Indians in their torrid pennant scrap Saturday by shading the Chicago White Sox, 6-5, on the second relief pitching of Allie Reynolds and Billy Martin's sharp hitting.

The victory, coupled with Cleveland's 4-3 loss to Boston, gained a full game for the Yankees, whose ace Reynolds came in with Sox on second and first in the ninth with none out and cleaned up things with only one score and not a ball hit out of the infield.

Luckless loser Marv Grissom, 35-year-old righthander, struck out 13 to tie the American League season high, but gave up 12 hits.

Reynolds came in after Johnny Sain, who had replaced starter and victor Vic Raschi at the start of the sixth, weakened in the last two innings and nearly drained away a 6-3 lead.

Reynolds got Billy Martin, top second straight day, belted across the third Yankee run in the fourth for a 3-1 New York lead and settled the issue in the eighth by punching a two-run single through the box to make it 6-3.

Jim Rivera singled to open the White Sox ninth and when Sherman Lollar poked another single the crowd of 25,542 began to roar. Reynolds came in to supplant Sain.

Reynolds got Hee Rodriguez to roll to short for a force play on Willie Miranda who ran for Lollar. Eddie Stewart also topped an infield roller, this time to second, and Rodriguez was forced. Rivera scoring, to leave New York ahead 6-3.

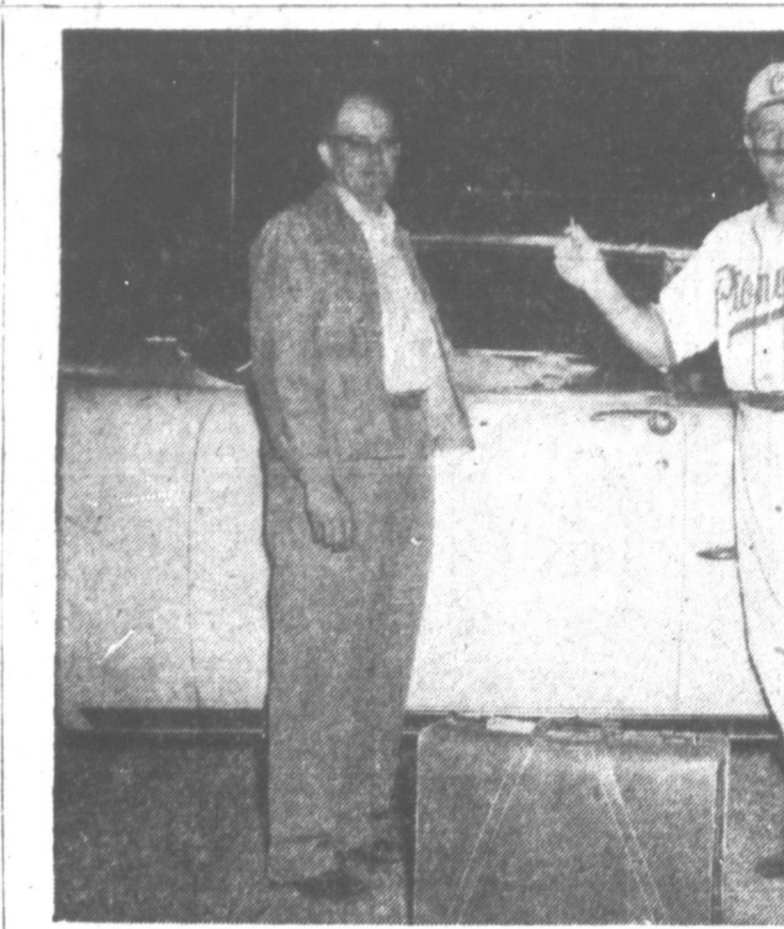

Then Reynolds got Chicago Carlesquel on a bouncer to third and the game was over.

There is no doubt about Lepic's 10th inning homer gave the Boston Red Sox a 4-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians Saturday. Lepic's homer was the first place New York in the hot Amer. Can League pennant race.

Texans To Play For Wounded

DALLAS (AP) — When the Dallas Texans open the National Football League season here Sept. 28 against the New York Giants they'll be playing for wounded American soldiers in Korea.

The Dallas professional team will give one reserved seat ticket to the game to each person donating blood to the Red Cross.

CLOVIS MANAGER HONORED: Grover Seitz, right, manager of the Clovis Pioneers, is in a joyous mood after being presented a new 1952 automobile by Clovis baseball fans. The presentation was made on "Grover Seitz Night" at Bell Park Tuesday, Sept. 9. Earl Beal, Clovis baseball booster, handed over the car's keys to Seitz during ceremonies at home plate between innings of the game with the Abilene Blue Sox. ## Stranahan, Ward In Western Finals

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Stranahan and Harvie Ward swept through the Western Amateur golf semi-finals Saturday to set up a championship feud prolonged since last June when the two rivals tangled at Prestrick, Scotland.

The 25-year-old Ward, at that time, trounced Frank, 6 and 5. Amateur. The Toledo star has been seeking revenge in a major meeting ever since.

The 36-hole title match today developed into a natural when Stranahan, the defending champion and seeking his fourth Western Amateur crown, played a game of constant, brilliant recovery shots to defeat Robert Knowles, Beverly Farms, Mass., 4 and 2.

Ward, the Allenton who won the 1949 National Inter-collegiate crown, made the final dual complete in the other semifinal by eliminating Dale Morey, Martinsville, Ind., 3 and 2.

When the season ended Sept. 10, it also ended a hitting streak that the husky Oiler manager had stretched over the final 19 games of the season during which he raised his average 20 points, hit six home runs, and drove in 31 runs on 39 hits.

Easley Finally Found A Home

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Robert Easley, a controversial figure in Southwest Conference football last year, enrolled Saturday at Texas A&M.

Easley attended Baylor last year but switched to A&M so he can play three years in varsity competition.

The Southwest Conference ruled in the spring of 1951 that if Easley attended Baylor he would be eligible for only two seasons of varsity play because of "alumni proselyting."

At A & M, the former all-city racked up 19 wins against 12 defeats. Moberg hurled four shutouts, including a one-hit game, and finished with an unofficial earned run average of 1.782. He also walked an average of but one man per every five innings worked. More remarkable was the fact that he started 32 games and completed 23 of those.

The following table, compiled by The News, gives the performance of each individual player under Oiler contract this year.

SWC Ready For 38th Football Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Another Southwest Conference football campaign with its glittering Saturday afternoons and its jarring upsets opens next Saturday.

This, the thirty-eighth year in the history of the storied circuit, is as wide-open as a barn door when the horses are cut to graze. Five teams are in the favorite class, either one of which could win the championship without an eyebrow being lifted.

Three of those five — Texas Christian, Arkansas and Texas — are among those opening the race this week. The other two, Southwestern and Baylor, will meet on Saturday.

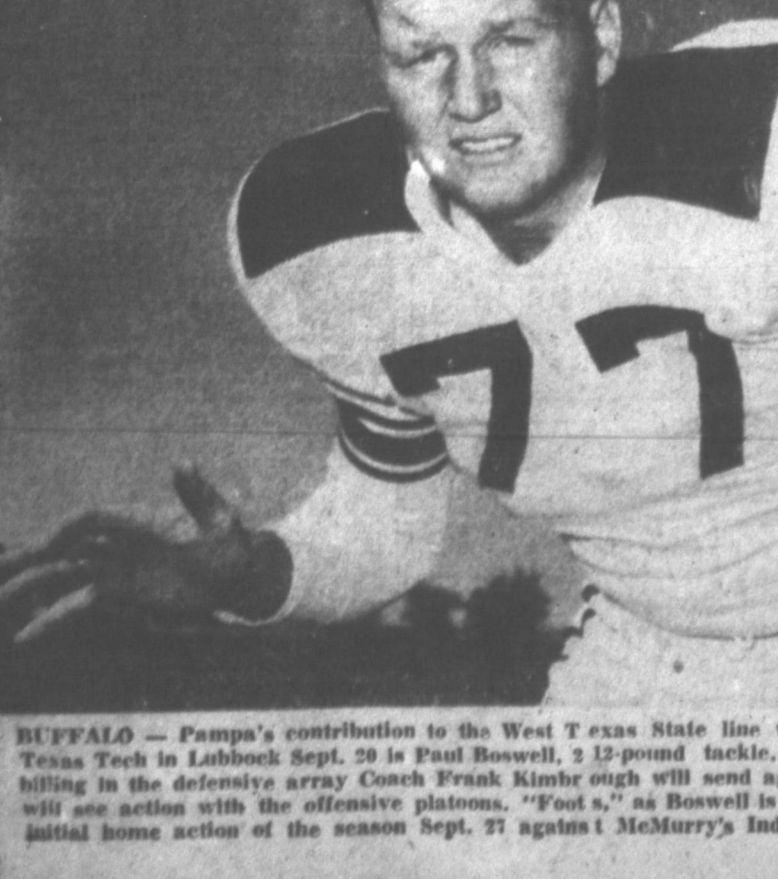

Texas Christian faces the toughest opener. The Horned Frogs, defending champions of the conference, play Kansas at Lawrence Saturday afternoon. Kansas, a 12-12 last year, was a vastly improved University loaded with talent and ready to repeat the victory it won last season in breaking a long TCU stranglehold.

Texas tackles a well-rated Louisiana State team at Baton Rouge Saturday night and won't finish the opposition easy. A 6-4 ship without an eyebrow being lifted.

Pampa Football Teams Open 1952 Season Thursday Night

Guerillas To Open Home Grid Season

This coming Thursday night will be a rather busy one for the Pampa football teams. The Harvesters, Guerillas and Reapers all start their 1952 seasons that evening.

The Harvesters open up against the El Paso Austin High Panthers in an 8 p.m. ball game at El Paso. The Guerillas meet the Amarillo Yammigans at Harvesters Park at 7:30, and the Lefors High School Reapers will battle the Lefors B team at Lefors' Shaw Field at 7:30.

All three clubs have been working out for two weeks in preparation for the season and with very few injuries. The Guerillas were the first struck, losing half-back Tony Gonzales with a knee injury that is not considered too serious. The Reapers then lost their quarterback, Buddy Sharp, with a broken leg, and the Harvesters were robbed of the services of Jean Martindale, promising young end, when an examination by a specialist indicated that a permanent back injury was too serious to permit playing football.

Rosters
Complete rosters of the three teams show a total of 143 boys unformed for football. They are:

Guerillas — Jim Green, Bud Crow, Marion Stone, Benny Cartwright and Pat Williams, ends; Eason Runyon, Dwight, Richard Hubert Duncan, David Hutchens, Ben Sturgeon and Marion Coleman, tackles; Jerry McNaughton, Roy Bonnal, J. P. Cross, John Schofield, Huey Burns and Billy Edwards, guards; John Watson, Jerry Holt, Rex Benton and James Holman, centers; Budal Moore and Harlan Boyles, fullbacks; Billy Fullenwider, Carl Blankvist, Bob Schofield, Bobby Marlar, Tony Gonzales and Tommy Darling, halfbacks; Robert Fleming, Jerry Neef and Red Carroll, quarterbacks; Bobby Conway.

The Harvesters had a fairly easy time last Friday, capping off their first two weeks of work. Head Coach Tom Tipps was in Fort Worth buying the Abilene Eagles as they turned in a 26-14 victory over Arlington Heights.

El Paso Austin was swamped by the Harvesters last season in a game at Pampa. But the Panthers get 12 lettermen back, ten of them regulars. The broods a third time ahead for the Green and Gold. Coach Reg Harris' squad will have speed, depth and power, but is expected to be weak defensively, as are the Harvesters. This fact, coupled with both clubs using the high-powered T-formation, might produce a high, free-scoring contest.

District 4A-2, of which the Panthers are a member, is usually considered a weak conference because of the split in the El Paso schools, four high schools there being in the same district. Austin is rated as one of the top teams in the city, however.

In other district games slated this weekend the Borger Bulldogs open against the Shamrock Irish. Plainview is at Lubbock. Sweetwater is at Odessa. Amarillo hosts Capitol Hill of Oklahoma City. Lamesa goes to Midland, San Angelo is at Big Spring, and Abilene has the date off.

Athletics Clip
Detroit Tigers
The Philadelphiastics crushed rookie pitcher Pat Black of the Detroit Tigers with five runs in the first inning and then scored six runs in the eighth to break a 3-3 tie and gain an 11-3 victory Sunday.

LEADERS ALL — Tri-Captains of the Pampa Harvester 1952 football team pictured above are Buddy Cockrell, Tommy Sells and Bill Phippen. The three were selected by their teammates last week to lead the Green and Gold during the season which opens next Thursday night at El Paso against Austin High.

Stinnett Rattlers In Upset Win Over McLean Tigers 6-0

Bucks Topple Tigers, 28-0

GROOM — The White Deer Bucks, dark horse favorites in the District 1-AA football race, opened their 1952 season here Friday night with a 28-0 trouncing of the Groom Tigers. The visitors jumped off to a quick 21-0 lead in the first period before the Bucks could get their footing and hold until the fourth period.

It was the first game of the season for both clubs. Veteran fullback Cordell Pugh accounted for two of the touchdowns. Ronald Mills one and Roy Eller, one half of the Ray and Roy twin combination, the final score.

Pugh started the scoring in the first few minutes of the game as he crashed over from the five. On the following drive the ball went over the defender's head, although it was touched. Mills, hustling down the field, fell on the ball in the end zone, for the second touchdown. Then Pugh tallied again before the first quarter ended, going over from the eight yard line for an all four extra points.

Eller trotted 15 yards for the final touchdown with Mills running over at all four extra points. It was the Bucks' initial game under their new coaching staff headed by James Love, former Lefors mentor. Next Friday the Bucks host the newest Amarillo Yammigans at White Deer.

Canadian 'Cats In Squeak Win

SPEARMAN — The defending champion 1-AA Canadian Wildcats ran into a near upset here Friday night as they escaped with a 14-7 victory over the Spearman Lynx.

It took a 34-yard, last period touchdown run by Jimmy Hodges to salvage the victory after Spearman had tied the game earlier in the period. For Hodges it was the second touchdown of the game as he scampered 26 yards in the third period to break up a scoreless contest. J. T. Hill scooped both extra points running the ball across.

McLEAN (Special) Before a well-filled stadium Friday night, class B Stinnett upset the Jim Dawson scampered over for McLean Tigers six to nothing in the first game of the season for both teams. In a strictly ground game shot through with penalties, both teams put on an excellent exhibition of defense.

In yardage gained and first downs, it should have been a McLean victory, but only crossing of the goal line counts. McLean made 10 first downs to 5 for the Stinnett Rattlers. The Tigers gained 152 yards rushing to 103 for the Rattlers. In penalties, Stinnett drew 9 for 65 yards while McLean drew five for 40 yards. McLean attempted 5 passes to gain 11 yards while Stinnett attempted 2 for 9 yards.

McLean kicked to Stinnett to open the game and after 3 ground plays with little gain they punted to the McLean 40. On the second down Mantooth got loose for a goal line scamper which was nullified by a clipping penalty. Late in the second quarter McLean lost the ball on the Rattler 1-foot line on a fumble. Stinnett kicked on the first down, the punt going over the head of Mantooth, the safety man. For a good 65 yards. The first half ended before play could be resumed.

The second half was a continuation of the ground game of the first half until late in the 4th quarter when Stinnett put

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The same old faces were in the top tier Friday night as the Texas schoolboy football campaign moved point - blank into the season.

Baytown, finalist last year in Class AAAA, powered Texasiana, Class AAA powerhouse, 42-7. Port Arthur slammed Odessa, 16-7 in the feature battle of the state — the clash of Class AAAA giants.

Breckenridge and Temple, finalists in Class AAA last fall, won their opening games easily. Breckenridge, the champion, licked Big Spring 33-0. Temple, the runner-up, raced over Denton 38-0. Two of the defending state champions did not play this week but will open the season next week. One was Lubbock of Class AAAA and the other was Arlington of Class AAA.

But Giddings, kingpin of Class A, was playing its second game of the campaign. Giddings was impressive in a 19-0 victory over La Grange of Class AA. Wink, a top - rated team in Class A, opened the season last night against Monahans of Class AA. Pecos, herald power of Class AA, started off with a 20-0 victory over Brownfield while Sulphur Springs went out of its class and downed Greenville of Class AAA 6-0. Wichita Falls of Class AAAA won over its long-time rival, Vernon 27-6. Vernon now is in Class AAA but the game with Wichita Falls always is a top game of the season.

Quanah Tribe Tops Shamrock Irishmen With 19-7 Victory

SHAMROCK (Special) — The Quanah Indians, using a passing attack for a war club, downed the Shamrock Irishmen here Friday night in the first game of the home season, 19-7. It was a non-conference game for both teams.

The Irishmen struck first but couldn't hold the lead. After the initial Irish drive had been stopped deep in Quanah territory, the Green blocked a Quanah punt, Jimmy Pennington recovering and racing to a touchdown. Don Carlton booted the extra point and the Irish led 7-0 in a hurry. But then Quanah took to the air and as the first quarter ended, was on the Shamrock 1-yard line. On the first play of the second period John McCrary plunged over and then kicked the point and it was a tied game.

On the last play of the first half, Bobby Williams lateraled wide to McCrary who threw a 30-yard pass downfield to Jack Cronan who hauled it down and outraced the Shamrock secondary for another 30 yards and the leading touchdown. The third quarter was scoreless, but in the final period Quanah blocked a Shamrock punt on the Irish 9 and four plays later McCrary passed to Williams for the final score.

The game was marred by heavy penalties and numerous fumbles. The visiting Indians used all styles of offenses to help battle the Irish defenders.

Around The Clock
 Babies, housekeeping 'n-meal-planning are big factors in the life of Pampa's young moderns, but they're fashion-wise, too, and are busy selecting around-the-clock wardrobes for fall. Mrs. Bill Clements, top left, chose a gray jersey two-piecer with matching hat for that special football week-end trip. Top center, Mrs. Gene Lunsford relaxes in red lounging pajamas before the morning routine begins with her baby daughter. For entertaining at home, Mrs. Joe Black, top right, likes a pink jersey with a matching jacket for "going places." Left Mrs. Creel Grady, Jr., starts to study club in a black and white tweed coat that tells the texture story this year. Mrs. Ewert Ray Duncan, below, picks an orchid net original gown "with a million ruffles" for that most-looked-forward-to formal at the Country Club. Right, Mrs. Francis Ward is ready for any occasion in a smart gray suit that is a must in any woman's fall wardrobe. ### MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

When Andy was a baby, visitors dropped in to see him and his mother. As she fed, powdered and pinned Andy, his mother would say, "He spit his carrots out again today. . . Oh, he's always pulling out of his covers like that. . . He's broken my string of pearls now. . ."

That was fine. We all talk like that babies, even though they may be sitting right in our laps and can hear every word we say about them. They don't understand English, so talking about their behavior in front of them doesn't matter to them.

But when they do begin to understand English, and become little girls and boys, we stop telling tales on them to other people where they can overhear us. Disloyalty, we know, may matter to them very much.

Andy's mother doesn't seem to grasp this. Though her child is now nearly five, she still talks about him as though he were either five months old or his hearing were impaired. She is constantly telling people things like this: "I couldn't get him settled last night until 9 o'clock. . . His father says I should slap his hands when he spills his milk. . . He's soaked to the skin again, playing with that faucet."

While she's talking, Andy may be playing train, not four yards away from her. Sometimes, as she speaks, her eyes look right at him.

It gives Andy an odd feeling, as though he were not really there, as though he were lost and disconnected from his mother. When this feeling gathers enough momentum, Andy has a tantrum. When he spills milk or makes a bedtime scene, he forces his mother to acknowledge his existence.

In a book called "Love Against Hate," Dr. Karl Menninger makes this statement: "Every child should be accorded the dignity of a separate individual, possessed of his own needs, rights and feelings."

To become more faithful to Andy, his mother will have to begin to accord herself some dignity, begin to accord herself "honor" and "worth."

Adults tattle on children for the same reason that children tattle on each other. Andy's mother reports his mistakes to people whom they do not concern because she needs reassurance. She is doubtful of the way she has handled his misbehavior that she wants someone to say soothingly, "He certainly is a handful. How tired you must be."

This soothing syrup is very cheap medicine, given not in a spirit of vigorous and helpful love but in the spirit of curiosity and secret criticism.

What Andy's mother must do is realize how she is weakening herself by exposing her self-doubt. Then she will begin to perceive how she has been weakening her little son's sense of his own goodness by exposing his shortcomings to anyone who will listen to her.

Parents who find themselves reproaching their children usually do so because they believe that they themselves deserve reproach. We must fight bravely for faith

Fred Thompson Is PTA Guest Speaker

"Know Your Neighbor" was the subject of a speech presented by Fred Thompson at the recent Horace Mann Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting.

"Belonging to your local PTA offers excellent opportunity to get acquainted with teachers and with each other," he said. "You learn their problems and in discussing them together you are able to solve problems more efficiently."

"We can appreciate our neighbors more by getting well enough acquainted that we can call them by first names, whether it is over the back-yard fence, or by knocking on the back door to borrow a cup of sugar."

"Criticism of any organization is usually the result of lack of information, or the lack of understanding on the part of the individual. Mothers and dads should learn the objectives of the local PTA groups and know what is going on in the school."

"Take part in your organization's program," Mr. Thompson said, "and help make it the best possible for the welfare of all concerned."

Harrah Methodist Church Setting For Wedding Of Betty Rich, Richard Cooke

Baskets of white gladioli accented with blue satin ribbon, and flanked by tapered candelabra formed a background for the marriage of Miss Betty Rich, daughter of Mrs. N. W. Rich and Mr. Richard L. Cooke, son of Mrs. J. M. Cooke of Mineola, Texas. The double-ring ceremony, read by Rev. Raymond Dyress, was performed in the Harrah Methodist Church.

Mrs. B. C. LaPrade accompanied Mrs. Tom Rich, sister-in-law of the bride, who sang "Because" and "Always." Mrs. LaPrade played a prelude of nuptial music, and Mrs. Rich sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

Mrs. Charlene Garner attended the bride as matron-of-honor. She wore a white eyelet-organza dress with blue and white accessories. Her corsage was blue carnations. The bride's brother, G. D. Rich, gave her in marriage. Miss Cooke gave her in marriage. The bride wore a white dress with a blue and white corsage. The bride's brother, G. D. Rich, gave her in marriage. She carried out the traditions of something old, new, borrowed and blue. The bridal bouquet of white orchids was carried on white ribbons. Streamers from the bouquet were tied in love knots with white carnations. Her only jewelry was a three-strand pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mr. Eldon Cooke, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Miss Peggy Olivola and Miss Rava Rose Laffern, nieces of the bride, were candlelighters. They wore blue organza dresses and blue carnation corsages. Filbert Cooke and Doyle Laffern were ushers. Mrs. Jo Ellen Laffern registered guests at the wedding and reception that followed.

The bride's mother wore a brown ensemble with white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations. The bride's sister, was the scene of the wedding reception. Mrs. Kathleen Braddock, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Dell Rich, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the table which was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered cake. Mrs. Cooke wore a pink and navy two-piece dress with pink and white accessories when the couple left for a wedding trip through East Texas. She wore an orchid corsage. ### Grace Friend:

Readers of The News are invited to send their problems to Grace Friend. Letters not published will be answered personally if stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Writers must sign their names although they will not be printed without the writer's permission.

Dear Grace Friend: While teaching away from home I met the man I am going to marry. He went home with me when school was out so he could meet my folks. It is obvious they do not like him. In fact, my father quarreled with him the very first night, and it was very upsetting. He said he would never forgive me if I marry this man, and he refuses to give me away when the wedding takes place next month. My mother tried to talk me out of the wedding, too. You see, my fiancé is very liberal in his politics and he does not belong to any church, though he was very willing to be married in mine. He moved to a hotel and I met him evenings for dates. He is now working in my home town and we had hoped to live here.

I am still going ahead with plans for the wedding, but should I give up the church wedding since my father will not give me away? Also, what about the reception line? I am going to pay for it all myself, but my fiancé has offered to pay half, since my folks will not do it. Should I accept? Or do you think we'd better have a quiet wedding, since the whole thing has been spoiled by my parents' attitude?

Dear Bee: Rather than have your fiancé pay for part of the wedding, it would be wiser to have a small one that you can afford yourself. However, if you want a church wedding regardless of your father's disapproval, go ahead with your plans for it. You don't have to be escorted down the aisle nor do you have to be "given in marriage." That part of the wedding ceremony is optional. Your father would not be in the receiving line after the wedding in any case although your mother should be.

Build School Child's Health At Breakfast

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Let's face it. Too many school-age youngsters are not eating enough breakfast. Now, with schools reopening, is the time to attack this serious problem. America's No. 1 official home-maker, Dr. Hazel K. Stuebel, chief of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, says: "In places where many children come to school hungry each morning, a school breakfast may be more useful than a special lunch at noon."

The first day of school is the time to set the pace for the rest of the year. Stick to the practice of a regular time for rising, for eating breakfast, dressing and doing the other things that belong on the morning schedule. A good breakfast is a big "must" in that schedule.

Nutritionists of the Department of Agriculture warn that, "Children who go with little or no breakfast are likely to be undernourished because they cannot take a large enough quantity of food at the other two meals to supply their daily needs."

The forgotten or hasty breakfast and the skimpy lunch may be responsible for Junior's drowsiness and low grades at school. Jane's poor appetite and loss of weight, father's morning temper, mother's overweight, and even grandma's edginess or "hurt feelings."

Here are some easy back-to-school breakfast menus for youngsters: Breakfast Monday. They will pay dividends in more health and improved school work.

Tideland Oil To Be Tapped By Use Of Man-Made Island

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An oil company is risking more than a million dollars on a new wildcatting technique designed to tap vast petroleum pools under the sea.

Monterey Oil Company plans to drill from a man-made island in the ocean-first of its type on the Pacific Coast.

An estimated four billion barrels of oil, more than a tenth of the nation's estimated reserves, underlie California's tideland waters.

Small portions of this fabulous deposit can be reached by drilling out under the sea from rigs on shore. How to tap the rest is a problem under intense study by the industry.

Volume production from undersea pools would be a tremendous asset for state and nation. It could make California—which now has to import nearly a million barrels of crude oil a month—self sufficient. It would insure defense planners an adequate supply on the West Coast—a strategic frontier.

Monterey believes the answer to reaching some subsea deposits is artificial islands. Other possible answers are drilling platforms supported by pilings or anchored barges large enough to support the weight of oil rigs.

Industry spokesmen say it may someday be possible to drill at points where the water is as much as 500 feet deep.

Monterey's pioneering project, however, is in water only 42 feet deep. The firm believes 100 feet in probably the practical limit for island drilling.

The firm has already driven pilings at the site of its island-to-be, a mile and a half off nearby Seal Beach. If construction proceeds on schedule, drilling will begin in October.

The island will be a circular steel structure 75 feet in diameter, filled with sand and clay and capped with a cement deck. Giant boulders around the base will bolster it against sea action. The installation will include a platform dock for loading and unloading equipment.

The drilling rig, supported by wooden pilings, will be located over a vertical access hole in the island's center.

Drillers are optimistic. The site is supplied by barge. Should the proposed wells prove productive, plans call for construction of a pipeline to shore.

The island is on a 1,225-acre sea tideland lease held jointly by Monterey and the Texas Company, with Monterey as the operator. Monterey, one of the larger independents, is successor to the Jergins Oil Company and operates in Texas and Oklahoma as well as in California.

There is never a "sure thing" in the oil drilling business, but the Monterey people discuss their project with a confidence indicating they don't consider it a great gamble.

The firm has been working on the idea of island drilling since 1944. It applied for a drilling permit in 1947, but got the go-ahead from federal and state agencies only this year. The delay, the company says, was due to the dispute between the federal government and the states over tideland oil.

Three Other Wells

To test its lease, Monterey angled three exploratory wells out under the sea in the director of the proposed island.

E. E. Pyles, vice president and director of the firm, says the first was abandoned. The second produced oil and gas for a short period. The third is the one that encouraged Monterey to go ahead with plans for the island.

Pyles declines to disclose what was learned from well No. 3, but says the air of a man who has a potentially good thing and knows it.

The oil industry which is watching the island operation with intense interest, knows this much: the well has produced East for a fine tune. This line of play would, of course, fulfill the contract.

This World Today... Ideas On Basic Foreign Policy Sound Different, Really Alike

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cut through the campaign oratory and exaggeration and the views of General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson come down to this: Both go along with the basic foreign policy of the Truman administration.

Which means: stopping Communism from further aggression by building our armed force; holding, helping and arming allies because they need us and we need them; giving aid to other countries to keep them out of communism.

The real difference between them, although it may sometimes get swept around a bend by the flood of words, is this: (a) How well has our foreign policy been carried out and (b) who could handle it better, Eisenhower or Stevenson?

Stevenson, of course, isn't emphasizing mistakes of the Truman Administration. Eisenhower, of course, is doing just that. He's hammering hard on the shortcomings.

He sometimes hammers so hard, in his zeal to get elected, that he may make it seem the Truman Administration, not Communism, is responsible for present world tensions.

For instance, in his Philadelphia speech last Thursday when he said the Truman Administration has "bungled us perilously close to World War III" and deplored ineffectiveness in the United Nations.

Eisenhower has been less careful than Stevenson in laying down his foreign policy views. Stevenson, in fact, didn't devote a full speech to them until Tuesday night in San Francisco, shortly after Eisenhower spoke in Indiana.

For instance, Eisenhower said we should tell Russia we'll "never rest" until the satellite countries are free.

This might have sounded encouraging to minority groups who are in this country, have relatives behind the Iron Curtain, and didn't pause to ask: Just how are we going to get them free without going to war?

It was a statement which alarmed our allies. And Truman and Stevenson both took Eisenhower in. He explained later he means doing everything peacefully.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Use Give-Up Play With Discretion

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

One of the most familiar plays in bridge is the "give-up" play. Its technique is very simple. You simply allow the opponents to defeat you.

Naturally I don't recommend this play but it would be foolish to ignore the fact that practically all players make use of this play more often than they should. In today's hand South timidly made the give-up play instead of fighting for his contract.

West opened the five of diamonds and declared tried to finesse dummy's jack. East won with the king of diamonds and returned the ten. West carefully played the queen of diamond.

on the second trick to make sure of being able to continue the suit.

When West was allowed to hold the second trick with the queen of diamonds he continued with the nine of diamonds forcing out dummy's ace.

Now declarer had to find a way to make nine tricks. He decided that even if the spades broke 3-3 he would still need the club finesse or a heart trick. He decided to establish a heart trick at once in the hope that East had the ace of hearts or that each opponent had four diamonds.

West naturally pounced on the king of hearts with his ace and set declarer immediately by running the set of the diamonds. play and deserved exactly what he got.

The correct play is to run the spades after taking the ace of diamonds. West is practically compelled to signal with first the seven of hearts and then the three of hearts. This warns declarer that the ace of hearts is held by West.

South can also feel sure that West began with a five-card diamond suit. If East held four diamonds, headed by king-ten he would diamond at the second trick instead of the ten of diamonds.

By this time, therefore, South

4 MILES EAST

Right Down the Miami Hyway from the Pampa City Limits

Lays a pretty good little 146 acre ranch . . . in fact its just a little over 146 acres, with about 85 or 90 acres of good farming land, and its owned by Mrs. Roy Sewell who wants awfully bad to sell or trade it off.

This little ranch is pretty well improved . . . the 3 bedroom is modern, most rooms carpeted wall to wall . . . big gas butane system . . . electricity . . . new windmill with large overhead storage . . . double garage and fair sheds . . .

Now heres what we want to do . . . We want to sell this place right now, and we will throw in everything that's out there, including the little Fordson tractor, all the implements and plows . . . the butane stoves . . . and anything else thats loose . . . We'll just price it lock stock and barrel, and you take over . . . We would consider taking in a pretty good 2 bedroom house on a trade as Ruth has to have someplace to live, or better still, we would rather have a good duplex . . . If you didnt want to pay all cash, we will take so much down with a note for the balance.

. . . I will say this much before closing this little ad . . . Personally Id like to own something like this . . . there's one thing about it, It'll make its own way . . . its not like owning a 60 ft lot with a 30,000 dollar house on it . . . you can run a few cows . . . some chickens and hogs . . . raise your own feed . . . have a nice place to live . . . and no City taxes . . . What more would you want.

When you read this join the Parade of Homes . . . You'll see some good houses and mabeey win a prize.

Auto Mileage Drops

NEW YORK (AP)—Traffic congestion, deteriorated roads and fear of accidents have reduced the annual average mileage of individual use of passenger cars to below the peak prewar rate, reports the American Automobile Association.

An analysis by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads showed the average individual annual use of passenger cars for 1951 was 9,942 miles, compared with 9,942 in 1946. The 1950 total was 9,930

Murder Rate Drops

ROME (AP)—The murder rate in Italy is dropping. The National Central Institute of Statistics says that since the end of World War II, murders have decreased 67 per cent.

In 1946 there were 2,334 slayings as compared to 767 killings in 1950, the last year for which official figures are available. The institute says 1,576 homicides were reported in 1947, 1,064 in 1948 and 807 for 1949.

Both 1950 and 1951 figures fell below the prewar peak travel of 9,285 miles in 1941. Forecasts based on the six-month estimates for this year, were reported, indicate the average may show further drop before 1952 is ended.

Tailors Must Know How To Make Use Of Miracle Fibers

By SAM DAWSON

NEW-YORK (AP)—Mapy a talk by Hart Schaffner & Mark. All of his old trade. Man may take Font, report many difficulties in still having to learn how to use

Blending synthetic fibers with wool or cotton is a growing trend. But the resulting fabric often doesn't respond at the cutting table and the sewing machine as natural fibers did. Take dacron. All-dacron suits were introduced three years ago by Witty Brothers. A dacron wool blend fabric was made by Deer-

the patterns by which they cut on a blend with wool. Tailors' all summer suits sold will com their all-wool suits wouldn't have to handle this bland dif- work with all-dacron. You ferently than all-wool but re- can't shrink the extra fullness port it is much easier to work out of a dacron seem with an iron as with wool So they made new patterns to fit pieces tighter together before sewing.

So the tailor leads a double life — one dacron, one wool. Witty Brothers however, are concentrating on all-dacron for summer suiting and say next year they will make no more tropical suits. They continue with all-wool winter suits. Milliken, running into the trouble of handling dacron, decided

PROCLAMATION

NATIONAL HOME WEEK
September 14-21, 1952

WHEREAS, more American families own their own homes than any other people in the world, and

WHEREAS, we all recognize that a city and a nation of home owners produces strong and self-reliant citizens; and

WHEREAS, in recent years the Home Builders, Realtors and Lumber Dealers of Pampa have broken many records in providing new homes for families of modest income levels, as well as in higher brackets; and

WHEREAS, in general the building industry, with the cooperation of financial, supply and sales institutions, has done a remarkable job in providing people with new neighborhoods, new public facilities and complete residential communities; and

WHEREAS, this industry has stimulated and aided home ownership to the benefit of our city and its citizens.

NOW, THEREFORE, I do hereby designate and proclaim the week of September 14-21, 1952, as NATIONAL HOME WEEK to the end that our citizens, together with the rest of the nation better can appreciate the values of the home and home ownership. I urge our people to visit the homes that will be opened for inspection in Pampa to view at first hand the great progress that has been registered by the home building industry in design, arrangement and construction of new homes and to learn of the permanent contributions being made to our welfare by home builders and others associated with them in this important enterprise.

Make Bedroom Serve A Triple Housing Service

Three for the price of one—now there's a great big bargain in any man's language.

Yet you can achieve this desirable effect in one room of your home set aside to do triple duty as a den or library, television room and host-hostess, guest bedroom.

The trick is to turn an ordinary bedroom into all three things for all people by substituting first a comfortable, sofa-like day bed or one of the new convertible sofas for the standard spring and mattress with headboard combination.

Once the bed has been "dressed up" as a lounge or sofa with deep bolsters and appropriate cover, move on to the placement of the television set.

Be sure that the screen is set at an angle that is best for viewing from all parts of the room. With this as the focal point, chairs and tables are set in balance.

Both for the pleasure of lounging in the "den" and comfort for televiewing, at least one deep lounge chair with ottoman should be included in the furnishings. (Remember the man of the house, who likes this combination). The ottoman will also provide an additional seat when needed.

A nest of tables are a wise investment here. They can be left in a compact group for the sake of appearance and then separated for their functional use when refreshments are served in this host room.

This room is also an ideal spot for one of the many new chairs that conform to the lines of the

Fabrics, Wall Coverings Inspired By Museum Pieces

Some of the newest and most outstanding wallpaper and home fabrics designs this fall will be reproductions of pieces used in homes almost 200 years ago.

Fabric and wallpaper designers are finding a wealth of ideas in museums throughout the country. In many cases old homes dating from the 18th century and set aside as historical landmarks provide the inspiration for new designs.

In other cases, individual articles such as patchwork quilts made by the early settlers, primitive paintings, and early needlepoint designs provide the inspiration for contemporary home fabrics and wallpapers.

Most designers believe that good design is ageless, that those body and aid in relaxation after a long day at work.

If one wall can be devoted to the placement of just the television set, the area around the set can be used as a "recreation wall"—with space for books, records, games, and bedding and clothing for the occupant who uses it as a bedroom.

Such a wall can be made up by simply stacking darwer, cabinet and shelf units from any one of the many interchangeable lines now in the stores.

Have you been looking for a room in which you can use a brock wall or simulated brick or wood effect simply by the application of wall coverings in those patterns?

Well there it is. Some home-makers have given new charm to their dens by building a fake fireplace frame of plywood. The TV set can be installed in the frame which can be installed with brick or wood effect paper. It gives the appearance of a major architectural change at very low cost.

Another furniture grouping to consider for this retreat from the confusion of the rest of the home is either a desk and chair or card table and chairs. They add one more note of utility to a bedroom that can serve more than the one purpose as sleeping quarters.

The gypsy language, Romany, is a modification of the language from which all the Indo-Aryan languages of India have sprung.

The Orinoco plains of Venezuela are covered with wry grass and dotted with scrubby trees.

Planned for informality the new carpeting has a tweedy texture with splatters of color or random furrowed lines. Elegance combinations of tightly looped pile at different levels to give an embossed and sometimes a shaggy cut pile can also create a luxurious look on the floor.

Cottons, whether woven on standard carpet looms or by tufting continue to answer the demand for budget carpets in high style colors.

New colors coming into prominence this fall include pale celadon moss and avocado green, a new gray that appears to be in the beige family and a wide-range of golden and earth tones derived from beige. These colors will fight to share the carpet spotlight with the always favored green, beige and gray.

Crayon and aqua blue, champagne and a pale red with lavender overtones are shades that may offer new ideas in the Texan's decorating plans.

Too bad Mark Twain didn't live a little longer. He might have taken back his remark that "Everyone talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it."

Today, lots of homeowners are finding they can do something about the weather—indoors, at least. With modern air conditioning systems, they can name their own weather and have it instantly.

Translucent materials for wall-to-wall draperies are featured for the modern home with wide expanses of glass to let in light and air, and yet assure privacy. They are available in white off-white shades and a wide range of colors as well and are also a favorite choice for glass curtains and for traverse drapes.

Richly textured surfaces, rustic linen and shantung weaves, are repeated in many smart drapery fabrics in solid colors and a wealth of distinctive geometric, modern print themes and abstract patterns.

White and neutral grounds are preferred. A pattern in a single color, or at most two colors, looks newer than the conventional multi-color floral designs. A "modern art" pattern in strikingly simple black and white.

Patterned stripes lend themselves to a variety of decorating uses. A striped fabric as a slipcover for an extra chair provides pleasing contrast when other slipcovered pieces in the same room are done in solid color fabrics.

Why It's Wise To Modernize A House Today

Colors in home furnishings this season take on all the thrilling hues and daring combination of Fall '52 fashion collections.

Black with white—very high fashion decor, particularly when spotted with bright color accents such as coral, red, vivid yellow, burnt orange or green.

Black with color is important, too—with red, with green, with gold, orange or mauve.

Earthy ones—very warm rich colors are pervading all levels of home decor. In prints and upholstery fabrics they're featured in the brown, persimmon, olive and gold tones. The olives extend to moss and avocado greens and the gold-hued, bronzed green.

The gold tones range from pale to deep mustard; the browns from taupe to warm brown, to blackish brown. Bright hues: coral to orange, to rust and copper are all key colors.

One and two color prints in both modern and traditional design are the big news this season. Although color ranges for and more diversified than ever, home furnishings are broader they are used more selectively so that a color scheme for a room may include fewer colors than before.

Translucent Draperies

Translucent materials for wall-to-wall draperies are featured for the modern home with wide expanses of glass to let in light and air, and yet assure privacy. They are available in white off-white shades and a wide range of colors as well and are also a favorite choice for glass curtains and for traverse drapes.

Richly textured surfaces, rustic linen and shantung weaves, are repeated in many smart drapery fabrics in solid colors and a wealth of distinctive geometric, modern print themes and abstract patterns.

White and neutral grounds are preferred. A pattern in a single color, or at most two colors, looks newer than the conventional multi-color floral designs. A "modern art" pattern in strikingly simple black and white.

Patterned stripes lend themselves to a variety of decorating uses. A striped fabric as a slipcover for an extra chair provides pleasing contrast when other slipcovered pieces in the same room are done in solid color fabrics.

PARADE OF HOMES

DESCRIPTION OF LOW COST HOMES

BUILT BY LYNN BOYD LUMBER YARD

Compiled by Jess Taylor for City of Pampa Tax Department

July 31, 1952

Amended — September 12, 1952

TYPE OF BUILDING:

Residential — 2 and 3 bedrooms — constructed by Lynn Boyd Lumber Yard and are known as his low price housing project. At the present time he has completed one block of 11 residences, in Block 18, Wilcox Addition, and houses built for individuals at 229 Tignor Street, 2107 Coffee Street, 2106 Hamilton Street, 2122 Hamilton Street, and 404 Doucette Street.

FOUNDATION:

Concrete slab, acting both as foundation and floor. This slab is poured over a bedding of sand, and is only on top of the ground, and no part of this goes beneath the surface of the ground. The slab is reinforced on sides with 1/2" steel bars, and throughout the level with steel wire reinforcing mesh. Around the edges, this concrete is 8" thick, and 8" wide, and the remainder of the floor is 4" thick throughout. Where there is a garage attached to the residence, that part of the floor is poured with the rest of the residence and on the same level.

FLOORS:

See Foundation for Base of Floors. Asphalt Tile is laid over the concrete in the residence, making the floor covering. Hardwood flooring can be used, at extra cost, and is only applied when purchaser requests this change. Several of the above mentioned homes have oak flooring instead of asphalt tile.

BOTTOM PLATES:

2x4 Redwood (which is an everlasting species of lumber) is placed over a water proof sill sealer so that no water can possibly get into the house under the bottom plates. The Redwood 2x4's — plates — are termite proof.

WALLS:

Interior: The interior walls are 1/2" Sheetrock, and some are finished with Textone, Rubberized Base Paint, and others have wall paper. Decorative sheetrock has been used on some of these houses, and does not need painting or wall paper on same. The cost is practically the same. The Decorative sheetrock is used in all closets including the hot water heater closet, and does not need painting, and this is done in order to save time in building these homes.

Exterior: Exterior walls are of various types, either Redwood, Douglas Fir or Yellow Pine wood siding, and some are sheathed solid with wood and asbestos shingles applied. The cost of these various types of exterior walls are very nearly the same, so the choice of the buyer is taken into consideration when completing the houses.

HEATING:

The 2 bedroom houses are equipped with a 35,000 BTU Coleman Wall Furnace. The 3 bedroom houses are equipped with a Duplex 45,000 BTU Coleman Wall Furnace.

INSULATION:

Walls and ceilings of all of these low cost homes are fully insulated with proper insulation used for that purpose, making a comfortable home inside in summer and winter.

WIRING:

These houses are well equipped for outlets, 2 in each bedroom, 3 in kitchen, 3 in living room, and one in bath. Each ceiling light and outside light is controlled by wall switch. Wiring and fixtures are suitable to type, but not elaborate.

PLUMBING:

Each house has modern plumbing with automatic hot water heater. Water lines are copper tubing. The water pipe is brought up through the floor through a tile placed in the concrete for that purpose, and the gas pipe is brought up beside the house on outside of walls, so that the only plumbing embedded in the concrete floor is the cast iron drainage system. The plumbing in kitchen and bath is back to back on the same wall, and in case of needed repairs, it is easy for the plumbers to get to the different pipes if necessary to repair same.

ROOF:

The roof is almost flat, having approximately 2" fall in 13 feet. It is built up of 2 layers of 55 lb. saturated felt applied with cold method cement and coated with a high grade asbestos roof coating, and is considered good for ten years or more. This roof will last many years if another treatment of roof coating is applied every 2 or 3 years.

LOAN VALUE:

These homes are being financed through the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association, of Pampa, and they carry a 75% loan, based on the selling price. This loan is on a 10 year pay out. They have a very unique and complicated plan for financing these homes, but a fair one, with seller and the loan company both participating in the loan until the seller receives his equity of the sale price, which takes 40 months for the seller to get his balance due him. These homes are not built under FHA or GI supervision, so FHA or GI loans are not available; however, they can be brought up to FHA and GI specifications by considerable extra cost and delay in constructing these homes.

SELLING PRICE FOR HOMES:

Residences without garages:

2 Bedroom — Approximately 666 Sq. Ft. . . . $4250.00

2 Bedroom — Approximately 694 Sq. Ft. . . . $4550.00

Residences with garages attached: Add $550.00

Size of garages — 12 x 22 — with concrete floors.

The above prices are figured on 50 ft. lot, valued at $500.00, and includes concrete sidewalks and walk to house.

3 Bedroom homes on 60 x 75 ft. lot with garage attached . . . $6500.00.

CONSTRUCTION:

These houses are constructed practically on an assembly lines basis. All the studs and rafters are cut to length and sizes needed, at the lumber yard, as this saves time in construction and reduces cost of carpenter labor. The floor construction has been previously explained. The walls are constructed with 2x4 studs on 24" centers when 1/2" sheetrock is used, and on 16" centers when 3-8" sheetrock is used. However, the majority of these homes have 1/2" sheetrock. The homes which have wood siding have insulation applied between the outside wall sides tacked in between the walls. The homes having asbestos shingles applied, have insulation between the storm sheathing and the asbestos shingles. The ceiling rafter and joist is a combination ceiling joist and rafter, and is tapered to make the drop in the roof and give the necessary pitch for drainage. The rafters are on 24" centers and have proper insulation between the roof and ceiling. On the 2 bedrooms with garage, it takes the carpenter crew an average of 7 to 8 days to complete the carpenter work, which includes the running of the concrete slab and the laying of asphalt tile floor. The job is then turned over to the painters who complete this home in about 3 days. The plumber has already finished his work. Then the electrician sets the fixtures. So, you might say within 10 days after a job is started, the home is ready for occupancy. All carpenters and painters and other workmen are first class workmen and draw top wages. Where the big saving comes in, is in the floor and the roof and the coordination of all workmen on the job.

PERSONAL SYNOPSIS OF WRITER:

The above facts have been gathered by the writer from the very beginning of construction of these residences, and are presented with my best efforts with all fairness and consideration, and as nearly correct as possible. Any error or misrepresentation has not been intentional. In general, these residences are very liveable, make a very nice little home, and are economical, but are not built to all the detailed specifications of FHA or GI homes, and only time will tell whether they have the durability of the supervised FHA and GI homes. If they do have the durability, they will have been a great boost to the low cost housing project of private enterprise. I am told, the principal reason for the building of these houses is to combat public housing, which is sponsored by the government with our tax money. The last statement is the spark behind the efforts of the builders and business men to start on these new projects, with the interest of our own particular locality in mind.

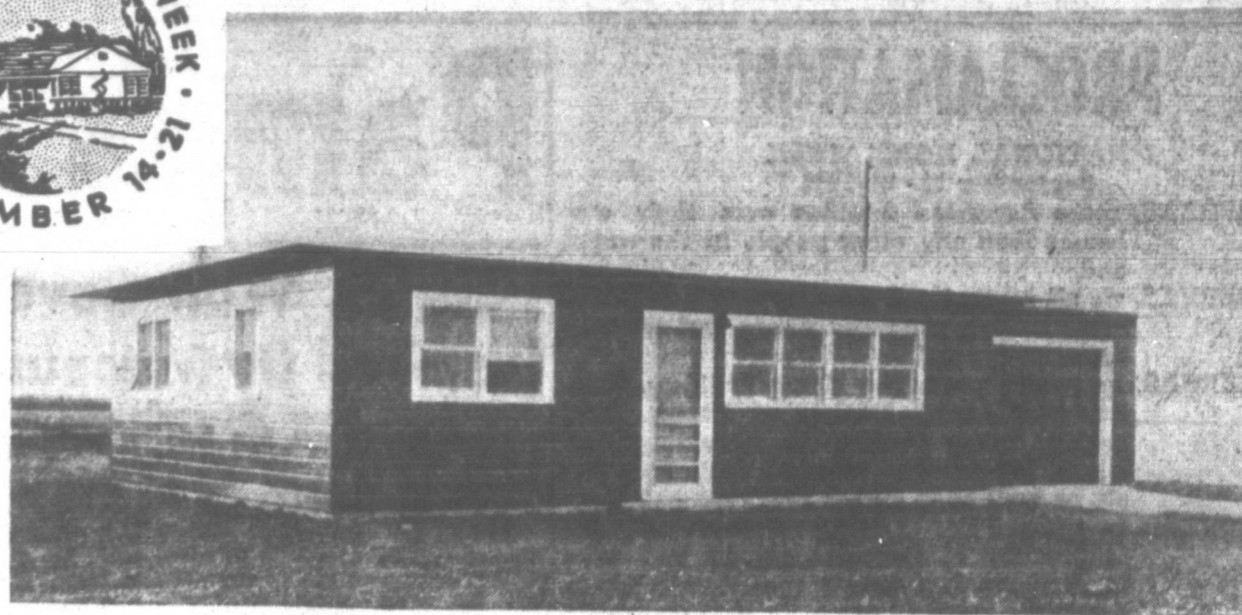

The original idea of these homes originated in San Angelo, Texas, by the Armstrong Brothers Lumber Company. They were built with concrete blocks. However, I believe the original plan has been improved on considerably, as these Pampa homes have a better roof, all windows and doors fully weatherstripped, and insulation in all walls and ceilings. Properly heated. Has closet space and more square feet in the house, concrete walks. All of which increased the price of each house approximately $1,000.00

Here Are Your Basic Decorating Rules

Are you furnishing a new home or redecorating this fall? Planning your home is probably the most important job you will ever do. You, your family and your friends will all be intimately affected by its success. Naturally, you will want to do the best possible job.

It is difficult to give rules which will apply to the decorating problems of every homemaker since every family's requirements differ in many ways. Here are a few rules - of-the-road, however, to help you along the way.

If you are starting out with a clean slate, select the furniture style best suited to your family's way of life. It is casual or formal, busy with drop-in-guests or do you entertain with careful precision and elegance?

Do you do your own housework as most American housewives do these days? Are there children in the house who will scer the finishes of highly polished surfaces and mark delicate upholstery?

Ask yourself these questions before deciding just what kind of furniture you will buy. Review carefully the many styles of furniture available in the market today. Your choice will set the pace and mood of your entire scheme so take your time and avoid a wrong decision that you will live with for a long time to come.

Modern, Traditional, Provincial - or a mixture of several? - One will be sure the right answer to your personal decorating quandary. The decorator or a qualified salesman in your local store will be glad to spend time with you and to help you make this important decision.

You may, on the other hand, want to add just a few new pieces and give your present possessions a new lease on life with fresh wall colors, and new accessories.

Traditional furniture will take on a new sparkle if you contrast its familiar warmth with the crispness of Modern and the sun washed colors of today's popular high key of background colors.

Whether you are planning your furniture arrangement for the first time or trying to improve its present state, it is wise to make a scale floor plan to save the inconvenience of wrong purchases and the back-breaking labor of unnecessary furniture moving.

Measure each room carefully, then, using one inch to represent one foot of actual dimension, draw an accurate plan of the floor area. Be sure to draw the doors and windows into their proper position, and to designate the position of any breaks in the walls since they will naturally affect the furniture arrangement.

Now cut out pieces of paper or cardboard to represent the furniture. These, too, should be drawn to scale. If you have not yet selected your furniture, use the average dimensions of pieces similar to those you expect to buy.

This is the time to get the whole family in on the project. Here are a few guideposts to save time and trouble. Caty-corner furniture arrangements are likely to make your room feel restless and are generally space wasters. This particularly applies to the main pieces: sofa, large chairs, tables and chests. Furniture should be properly scaled for your room. A small room furnished with massive, oversized pieces appears crowded in spite of careful arrangement.

Place major upholstered pieces for comfortable conversation and, if necessary, television. Chairs that must always be hunched out of place for convenient use will keep your house in constant disarray.

As a result of constant research and extensive plant modernization programs, better furniture is available at lower prices. Today even budget-priced tables boast finishes that have a remarkable degree of resistance to alcohol and cigarette burns.

When all of your furniture pieces are in place, and the floors and windows and walls taken care of to your complete satisfaction, series: the lamps, pictures, vases and bowls, ash trays, cigarette boxes, clocks and bric-a-brac - all the things that bear the indelible stamp of your own personality and taste.

Most lovers of Traditional furniture lean towards classic paintings, fine china, silver; the Modernist emphasizes texture and color, bright pottery, abstract pictures; while those with a preference for Provincial like pewter, copper, milk glass and samplers.

In choosing accessories, the new theory of Mix and Match may be applied to great decorative advantage. Many leading decorators dislike the all-Modern room because they find it stark and uninteresting. They add variety and sparkle by the addition of purely Traditional accessories. And there are traditionalists who find Modern accessories give an otherwise conventional room a stimulating shot in the arm.

Mix period, design and pattern seems to be the new order of the day. But by all means be practical. If you have small children, put your priceless heirlooms beyond reach until they are old enough to appreciate the value of fine things. And if you smoke or drink, have pets and serve meals all over the house, select accessories that will stand the gaff. Be sure that ash trays are commodious enough, especially if Dad smokes a pipe or cigars.

Protect your best ornaments of all periods and put them proudly on view. There are wall cabinets and brackets that will protect them from itchy little fingers.

The Victorian lady, in her pink and blue damask parlor with its clutter of dainty breakables was appropriate for her day. She didn't smoke, allow the family pet to stretch out on the sofa or tolerate guests who curled up on the upholstery. A cup of tea and an occasional glass of sherry was the

Beauty Of Wood Is High-Lighted

Once again the finish is in the wood and not on it, preserving as nearly as possible the extraordinary beauty of this miraculous material with its unlimited natural variations in texture, pattern and color. Warmer tones, the satiny smoothness of well rubbed surfaces, give it a greater importance as an integral part of the design story.

Metal combines with wood and other materials to produce a look of fragile tracery with strength of steel. Metal underpinnings support wood table tops sturdy cabinets and comfortably upholstered chairs and sofas. The light look so important to small homes and apartments is possible here with the strength and durability of massive furniture.

Make Accessories Be Appropriate

The fun of selecting just the right accessories to go with your new furniture acquisitions is the most exciting part of all decorating.

What to keep and what to discard and what to add is a perplexing but delightful project. When all of your furniture pieces are in place, and the floors and windows and walls taken care of to your complete satisfaction, series: the lamps, pictures, vases and bowls, ash trays, cigarette boxes, clocks and bric-a-brac - all the things that bear the indelible stamp of your own personality and taste.

Mix period, design and pattern seems to be the new order of the day. But by all means be practical. If you have small children, put your priceless heirlooms beyond reach until they are old enough to appreciate the value of fine things. And if you smoke or drink, have pets and serve meals all over the house, select accessories that will stand the gaff. Be sure that ash trays are commodious enough, especially if Dad smokes a pipe or cigars.

Contemporary Furniture Now Leading In Popularity Parade

Twenty years of experimentation with new ideas of design and construction for the furnishings in the American home are at last paying off. The story of the emergence of a new concept of home design will unfold as stores throughout the city set up special displays during Home Fashion Time Sept. 13-27.

The changes have been marked in three stages: First it was the waterfalls modern of the early thirties. The ultimate in beauty during that period was marked by curving lines intricate wood inlays and ornate trim.

Next came the "modern" or "Hollywood style" furniture that seemed to mimic everything plush that a set designer in the film capital could dream up. Here were the zebra striped fabrics, startling contrasts of black, red and green and the bleached woods.

By the turn of the forties designers from the architectural school blossomed with a crop of startlingly stark designs that did more to shock the public than to serve them.

While these eras of design had little to offer of lasting value, each in its way pointed the road to new developments.

Manufacturers were toying with new materials - plastic beauty made fibers foam rubber and pressed woods. Designers found that the new material gave them unprecedented freedom to make furniture both beautiful and practical.

The result is seen today in a new period of unusual beauty and even elegance of fashion for millions of American homes. This is the day of the "Mid-Century Modern" period of home fashion. Good modern furniture today is marked not so much by price as by the way it serves the needs of your particular pattern of daily life.

To meet architectural trends toward smaller homes and apartments and the open floor plan most of the new units are styled along trim tailored lines.

Excesses in size and ornamentation that eat up valuable space and run up the costs of manufacturing are a thing of the past. The overstuffed sofa has been replaced with lighter units that offer the same comfort in less space. Not only style changes but new techniques of construction make this possible at the same time passing on the savings in costs to the consumer. To add to the lighter appearance of all home furnishings many chests and chairs are lifted off the floor on light metal legs or stands with trim wood-wooden legs.

Since one room in the average home today may have to serve two or three purposes (such as the dining room, living room, guest room combination) there is new emphasis on furniture finished on all four sides so that it will stand away from the wall as a room divider.

The efficiency of dual and triple purpose equipment is a necessity for homemakers in small apartments where for instance, a single piece of furniture may serve as desks, dining table and storage chest.

In all price categories Mid-Century Modern is marked by an unusual elegance in wood finishes, and more wood is being exposed to view.

There is a noticeable modifying influence on new designs today that reflects the stylings of Early American furniture. One of the most noticeable is the turn toward more natural wood finishes rather than high polishes.

The keynote of all new home furnishings today - regardless of the style period - is functional practicality.

Plumbing Tricks Stop Condensation

New in plumbing fixtures is a water closet tank that doesn't sweat in hot weather. A heavy rubber insulating lining keeps the cold water in the tank from causing condensation on humid days.

The tank was exhibited among new products at the National Plumbing and Heating Exposition at Atlantic City.

Other new wrinkles shown for the bathroom and kitchen were: A sink for the center of the kitchen to make it handy from all directions.

A bathtub only 14 inches high to make it easier to step in and out.

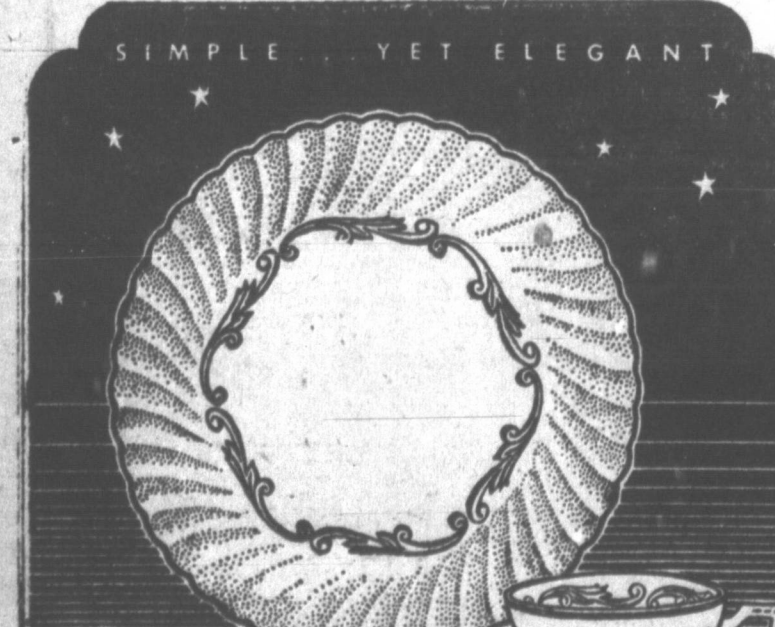

A baseboard heating unit with a sponge rubber dirt seal to prevent wall streaking from air leakage.

A shower head which drains automatically and flushes all matter that might clog its openings.

Sliding plastic shower bath panels in pastel colors.

Sink faucets that operate with finger tip pressure.

1952 Furniture A Better Buy

In addition to the style renaissance that is apparent in new furniture offerings, a veritable industry revolution has been going on almost unnoticed in furniture factories throughout the country. Furniture in the moderate and low price brackets offers durability, better finishes, comfort and style which have never before been possible.

As a result of constant research and extensive plant modernization programs, better furniture is available at lower prices. Today even budget-priced tables boast finishes that have a remarkable degree of resistance to alcohol and cigarette burns.

When all of your furniture pieces are in place, and the floors and windows and walls taken care of to your complete satisfaction, series: the lamps, pictures, vases and bowls, ash trays, cigarette boxes, clocks and bric-a-brac - all the things that bear the indelible stamp of your own personality and taste.

Most lovers of Traditional furniture lean towards classic paintings, fine china, silver; the Modernist emphasizes texture and color, bright pottery, abstract pictures; while those with a preference for Provincial like pewter, copper, milk glass and samplers.

In choosing accessories, the new theory of Mix and Match may be applied to great decorative advantage. Many leading decorators dislike the all-Modern room because they find it stark and uninteresting. They add variety and sparkle by the addition of purely Traditional accessories. And there are traditionalists who find Modern accessories give an otherwise conventional room a stimulating shot in the arm.

Mix period, design and pattern seems to be the new order of the day. But by all means be practical. Plan for a few light, moveable chairs for auxiliary seating. For entertaining and television parties, include several of those wonderful stacking or folding stools, or chairs, which may be conveniently stored when not in use. Don't overcrowd your rooms. # Definite Style Renaissance Appears In New Furniture

A definite and stimulating style renaissance is apparent in the new furniture designs being shown at current furniture markets, as designers and manufacturers develop furniture geared more closely to today's exacting living patterns. Comfortable, informal, easy-to-care-for, space-saving furniture seems to be the homemaker's order-of-the-day. That's what she wants, and that's precisely what the industry is producing.

The requirements for more utility and value per square foot of furniture has inspired designers and manufacturers to new heights in creating multi-purpose, flexible units. No longer considered "gimmicks", multi-purpose pieces play an important part in filling the requirements of small-space living.

High-top tables, cabinet pieces that conveniently conceal extension tables, pull-out writing surfaces, trim and comfortable lounge chairs that open into full storage space — such pieces are now well-designed and honestly useful, unlike the "patent" furniture of bygone years.

Similarly, the consistently growing space problem and the trend to better utilization of the floor area has heightened the demand for pieces that will serve as room dividers. As a result, manufacturers are showing new chests and other case pieces with backs finished to facilitate out-in-the-room arrangement.

Many are designed with opening on both sides in order to make their contents accessible either to the dining or living area. Such pieces may also be used in a bedroom where a study or television corner is divided from the sleeping area.

The much talked about trend to more coordination of furniture lines and accessory groupings continues to gain headway. There has been a definite swing away from suites, as in the past, to the coordinated group. Case pieces for the living room, bedroom and dining room are interchangeable.

Wood tones continue to move toward warmer, more natural finishes. Combinations of woods and finishes will be found more often in proportion to their popularity at the last markets.

Lighter weight upholstered pieces, many with tight seats and foam rubber cushions continue to gain in importance as easily moved and mobile furniture contribute to convenience in television room arrangement.

Temporary seating pieces and stacking pieces and stacking tables and chairs are high on the list of popular items.

American living continues to move in the direction of informality and manufacturers are supplying more and better designs to fill the ever-increasing demand for casual furniture.

Provincial styles of both American and French inspiration continue to produce a comfortable and casual environment. Graceful lines and warm natural wood tones, characteristic of Provincial styles are evident this year both in Traditional and Modern lines.

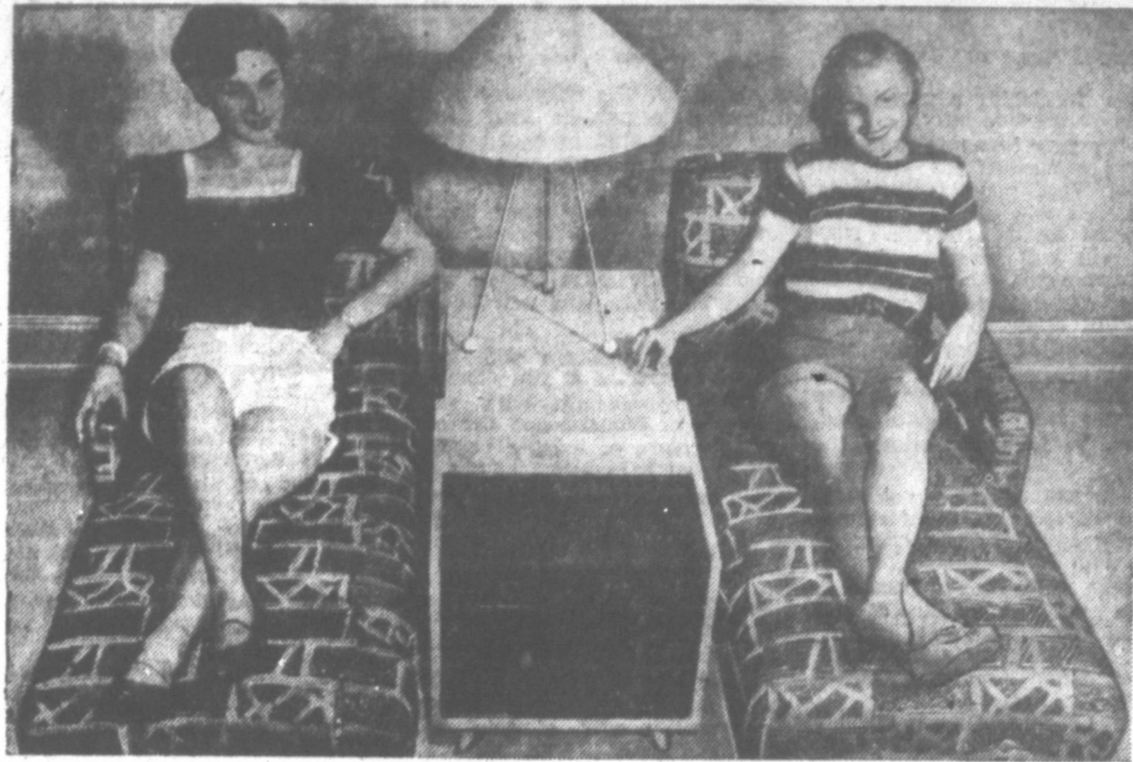

Modern lines show a number of new directions with influence from the Far East and our own Early American styles. The use of cane, rush and other woven materials in combinations with wood and metal, is evident again in both indoor and outdoor furniture lines.

The look of raw silk, the lustrous colors of dried grasses, the delineation of black iron and the flash of brilliant color — this is the palette of the new Pacific trend which is found as a black-and-white, plus color, becomes more attractive as designers and decorators apply it with interest and inspiration.

Natural textures, the contradictory look of luxury weaves in raw, rough fibers, the continued popularity of tweeds and woven textures — all of this and more, in exciting combinations of synthetic and natural fibers are found in the shops from coast to coast.

In addition to the style renaissance apparent in new furniture offerings, a veritable industry revolution has been going on almost unnoticed in furniture factories throughout the country. Furniture in the moderate and low-price brackets offers durability, better finishes, comfort and style which never before have been possible.

How To Install Cabinets To Carry Load Of Dishes

You can't trust to makeshifts when it comes to installing kitchen cabinets. The job calls for competent carpentry throughout. Fill a wall cabinet with dishes, canned goods and everything a woman packs into it, and you have a weight that is going to strain all but the strongest supports.

Since cabinets don't extend all the way to the ceiling, you have to build a soffit, or false wall above them. This space is so high that a woman can't reach it without a ladder, so it is usually killed off and decorated along with the other walls.

If you are building a new house this soffit can be built before the cabinets are installed. Frequently, it offers a convenient passage for a flue from a hooded ventilating fan over your kitchen range. But that is about all it is good for.

The soffit is built of the same material as the wall — plaster or wallboard. In a remodeling job, plywood or gypsum board are among convenient materials.

Building A Soffit

The simplest soffit is made by screwing a 1 by 3 inch board to the top front edge of the cabinet and screwing another board directly above this along the ceiling. Wallboard is then tacked to the front edges of these strips; molding or trim is applied and the soffit is ready for decoration.

However, it's easy to plan a soffit to accommodate concealed lighting with fluorescent tubes. You can plan the soffit back a few inches to allow the cabinet top to protrude, affording space for indirect cove lighting that will reflect up to the ceiling. Or the soffit can be built out farther than the top edge of the cabinet, providing space for a strip of frosted glass panels that will give direct downward lighting from the concealed fluorescent tubes.

Purpose of Hanging Strips

Wall cabinets are usually hung from horizontal wooden strips securely nailed into the studs. It isn't usually practical to attempt to fasten cabinets to studs. The studs are customarily placed at 16-inch intervals in a house wall and your cabinets may not conform to those measurements.

These mounting strips are usually plastered over in a new house, but in remodeling they are merely put outside the plaster.

This will make the cabinet stick out from the wall the thickness of the strip — roughly about 3/4 of an inch — but the empty space behind the cabinet is easily concealed with a filler strip.

Cabinets are then hung with screws and cup washers. It's important to have the cabinets straight and level. If the wall isn't straight and one end of the cabinet protrudes farther away from the wall than the other end, shims or wedges are inserted to true it up. Wooden roof shingles make good shims.

Good Signs In A House Plan

There never was a perfect house plan. Architects will tell you the perfect plan will never be drawn. A house that seems to fill all the needs and likes of one family will not necessarily appeal as strongly to another family. But certain features can mark any plan "good," or "not so good."

It's easy to recognize many of these signs when you look at a house plan. One good sign is the ease of circulation — the way you can move around in the house. Looking at a plan you can visualize how you would come in the front door, or back door. You can see the routes you would take from one room to another. These are traffic routes. In time they wear the carpets thin, but every house has traffic routes.

Some of these are sensible, some annoying and some expensive to provide for. It used to be that most houses were planned with long halls to take care of traffic. When building costs began to go up, architects figured that such halls were more or less waste space and they tried to keep this space down to about 10 per cent of the total floor area. When they succeeded, they called it a good plan.

Advantages of Center Hall About that time they rediscovered the advantages of the center hall plan, which distinguished many fine old colonial homes. The goal then became the planning of rooms around a center of circulation so that each room could be a dead-end room, whenever possible. This made it unnecessary to walk through a living room and on through a dining room just to get a drink of water in the kitchen. So a plan with dead-end rooms became a good plan.

This made it easy to plan a two-story house in the shape of a box when building costs shot upward again. Home buyers had to get as much house for their money as possible. A two-story square or rectangular house was the most economical. It packed a maximum of rooms in a minimum of outside walls and foundations. And it was economical to heat a house with some rooms above others.

A fairly big house could measure, say, 30x30 ft. That produced an area of 900 sq. ft. for each floor, or a total of 1,800 sq. ft. And the house measured 120 ft. around, calling for only 120 linear feet of foundation. If second story rooms were placed down alongside the first story, you'd still have 1800 sq. ft. of area but the foundation would measure 180 ft. — 50 per cent more excavation and concrete or masonry foundations — and the roof would be twice as big.

Other Economies Involved So the two-story house became a good plan. Other economies involved plumbing, wiring heating pipes and ducts. If a bathroom were placed over a kitchen, plumbing stacks ran straight up. In a one-story house the bathroom might be far from the kitchen, calling for long plumbing lines.

Then another jump in building costs made room sizes change. You'd look at a plan and instead of finding a room with an even 12 or 14 ft., it might be 11 ft., 4 in., or 13 ft., 4 in. This showed standard lengths of lumber to begin to go up, architects figured that such halls were more or less waste space and they tried to keep this space down to about 10 per cent of the total floor area. When they succeeded, they called it a good plan.

Grass Roots ideas And people living in houses found all kinds of things they considered wrong about their houses. For instance a little Cape Cod cottage lacking a front porch, vestibule or entrance foyer meant that in rainy or stormy weather people had to step directly into the living room with their dripping clothing. If a house had no outside cellar entrance, ashes and laundry from the basement had to be carried across the kitchen from wherever the cellar stairs were located.

Women never seemed to find enough storage space. They demanded more closets. But with building costs climbing to $10 to $15 or more per square foot, it was expensive to build closets. The storage wall offered a solution. This is a row of closets forming the wall between two rooms, with half the closets serving one room, half the other.

Since closets are good sound deadeners, plywood or other thin walls would be used to save space and sliding closet doors saved the space needed for swinging doors. Good signs in a plan.

Ranch House Revolution Then the so-called ranch house appeared. As arbitrary as the "new look" in styles at a time of fabric scarcities, this caused two-story economies to be temporarily forgotten. The elimination of stairs combined with other features of rambling one-story houses seemed to appeal to people, although building costs were going up higher than ever before.

Housewives Vote On Gas Range Ideas

Modern gas appliances are being designed by housewives through customer polls. The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association says at least 75 per cent of all domestic gas ranges being made this year have been designed on the basis of surveys.

Emphasis in the new gas stoves is on automatic clock controls for timed cooking. Expandable ovens, smokeless broilers, simmer type burners and restaurant style griddles are among other features of the modern range.

New gas appliances for the home also include: Automatic water heaters with temperatures preferred in bathing. Dishwashing, laundering.

Gas fired heating plants to provide airconditioning.

Clothes dryers in which the family laundry is fluff, dried in 15 to 20 minutes even on rainy days.

Gas incinerators that solve the garbage disposal problem.

Separate room heaters designed for use where a central heating plant is not needed.

Shower curtains are also reflecting style awareness on the part of manufacturers. They are being offered in a wide variety of modern fabric effects with abstract and expressionistic designs. Further embellishment is provided through the use of gold and silver paints to lend a note of elegance.

Grandees of Tunis in the 17th Century used clay tile to decorate the apartments of their harems.

Dinettes More Conservative

Chrome dinettes, well established as a favorite in the home furnishings field, continue to reflect a trend toward clean-cut, semi-conservative lines with much less nailhead trim, fewer pedestal tops, more stress on regular shapes.

Newer features revealed in current showings point up the addition of such details as foam rubber seats, greater variety of colors and finishes, and an overall more-streamlined look.

Gaining popularity are the baked-finish colors on tubs in the golds, bronzes and neutral greys that are receiving increased customer acceptance with homemakers who seek something "different."

Wrought iron dinettes in distinguished, graceful styles are shown in many collections. Wooden dinettes continue to be popular and they are offered in a wide variety of wood finishes, sizes and shapes.

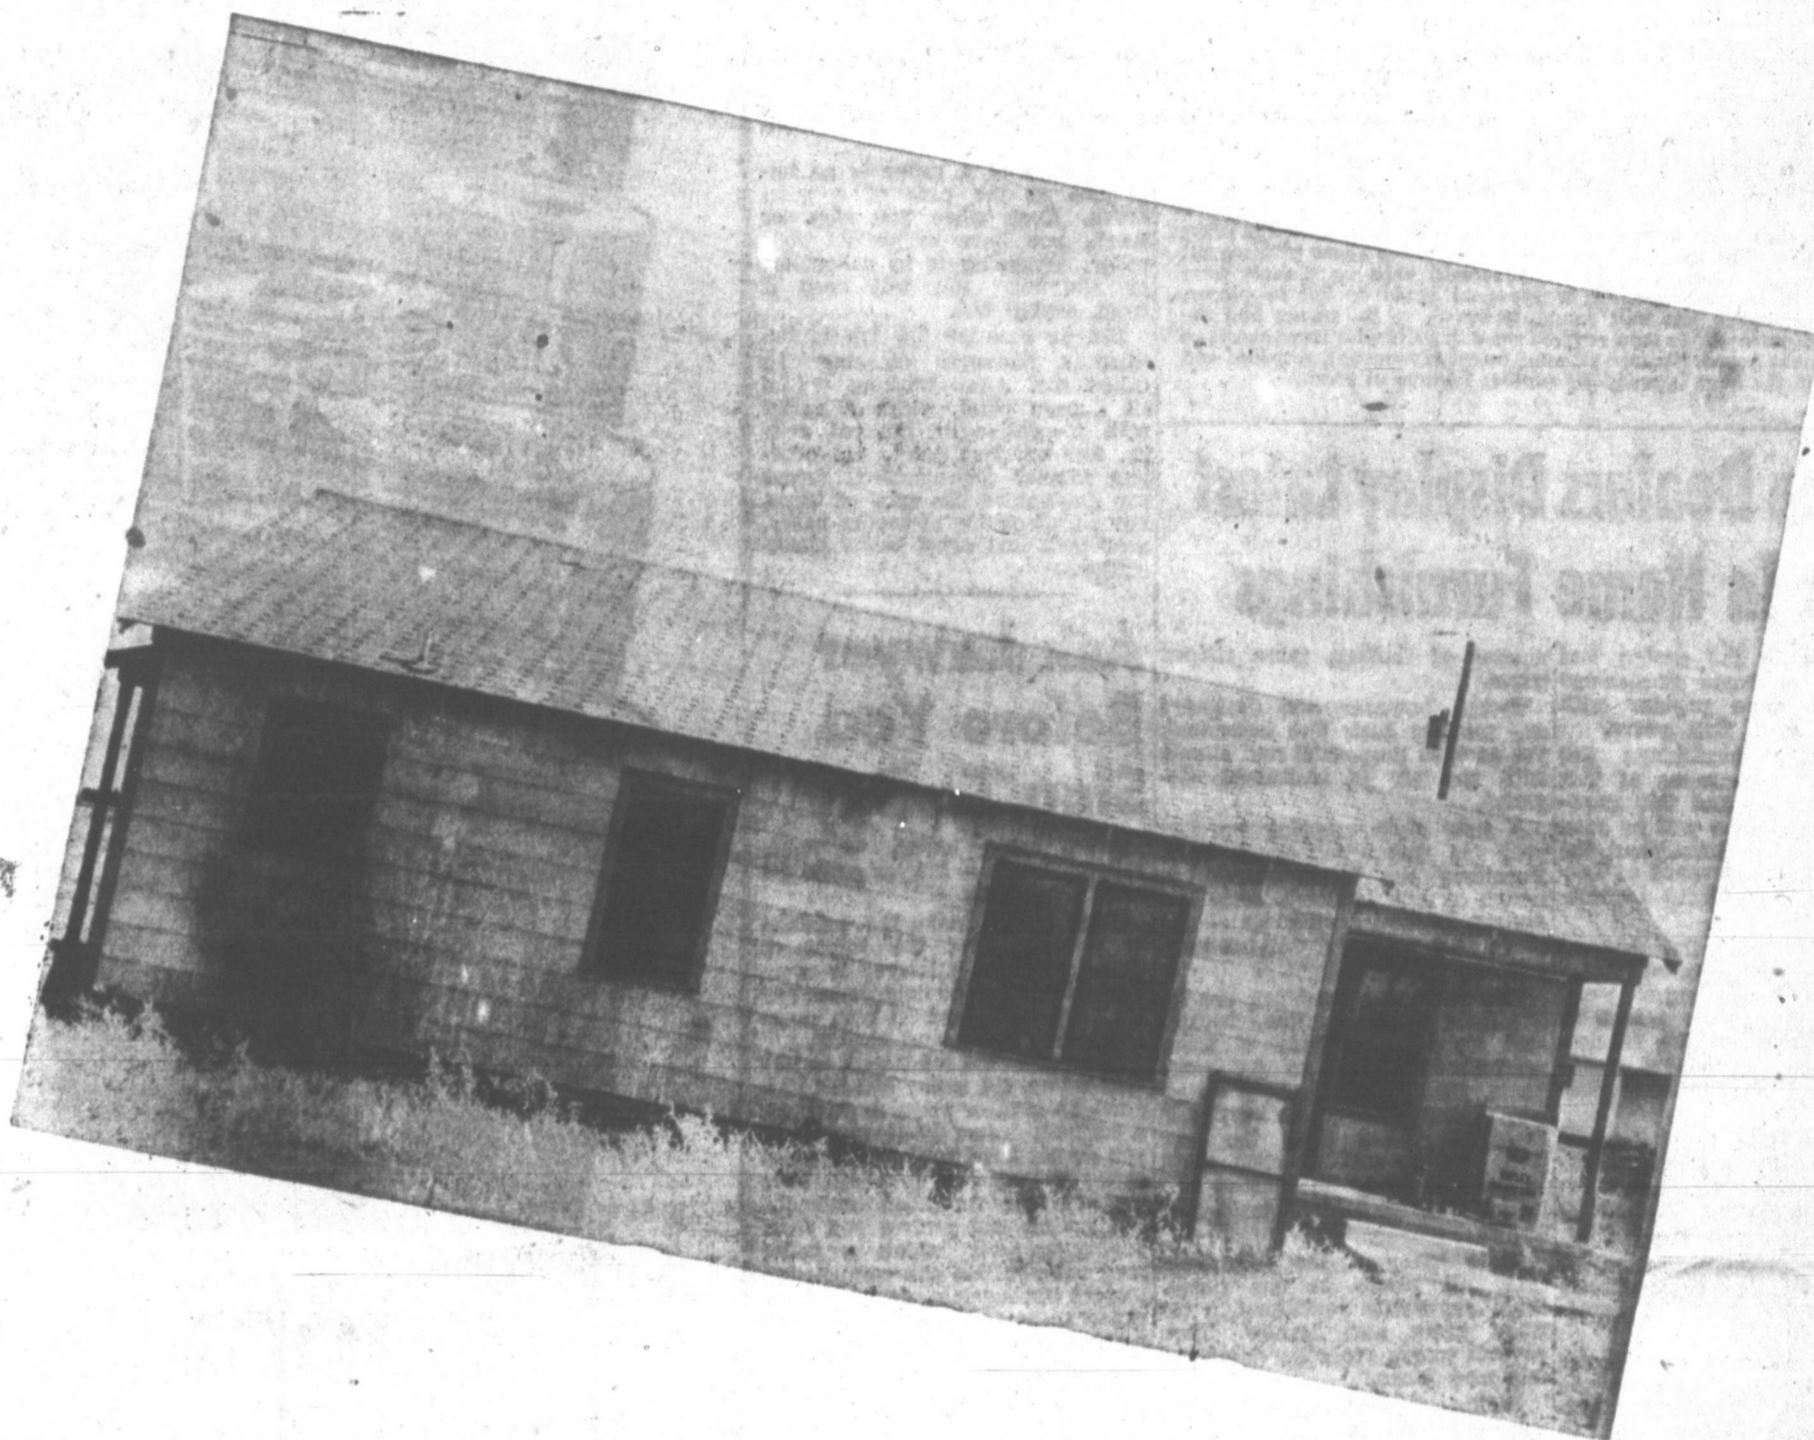

WALNUT AT ITS BEST—in a rich sable finish in this practical bed set shows to full for the first time. The bed with its bookcase headboard is shown with two separate three-drawer deck night tables. Companion pieces are an eight-drawer double dresser and mirror and a five-drawer chest.

ASBESTOS BOARD TO THE RESCUE

New Barn-Saving Technique

Even though they seem hopelessly dilapidated, old farm buildings often can be given new life by the use of modern materials. These pictures tell the story of the rejuvenation of a 70-year-old barn on a farm near Monica, Ill. Before remodeling, it appeared ready to fall to pieces. The framing lumber was still sound, however, so the owner had the building straightened. He then covered the sidewalls with large sheets of asbestos-cement board. Because asbestos board is fireproof, rotproof and termite-proof, the barn is ready for another lifetime of service.

Paint Roller Speeds Jobs For Amateurs

The use of paint rollers instead of brushes is becoming more popular. They are used in applying any type of paint that does not dry quickly — oil paints, enamels, latex-base paints and cold water-casement types — but not shellac and lacquer.

The covering of a roller determines the textured effect for the painted surface. Some rollers have a carpet-like covering. Others are covered with lamba wool, or synthetic fibers, such as nylon or orlon.

The common paint roller is dipped into a paint pan made especially for this use. It is a shallow pan, similar to a cake pan that is tilted at one end. The pan accommodates the size of the roller — ranging from two to nine inches. Most popular size with amateurs is the 7-inch width.

Some rollers have a hollow cylinder for a core. This can be filled with a paint at one time. Another has an attachment for an air-pressure feed line to a container which may hold five gallons at a time.

Some rollers have attachments for handling three or four feet long for painting ceilings and stairwells.

The care of a roller is as important as the care of a paint brush. Even when you stop for lunch, you have to protect your roller. Wrapping it in cellophane or aluminum foil will keep it from drying out.

But as soon as the job is finished a thorough cleaning is called for. After working with oil-base paint, clean a roller with turpentine or mineral spirits. For oilless paint, use odorless thinner for cleaning, unless you don't mind the odor of turps. For casein paints of latex bases, soap suds and clear water rinses suffice.

Pampa Dealers Display Latest Styles In Home Furnishings

New ideas in the design and construction of home furnishings have grown more popular with Texans the past five years.

Mid-century furnishings are changing the appearance of Texas home interiors and this growing trend acceptance will be seen in furniture stores throughout the city during the observance of Texas Home Fashion Time September 18-27.

The trend follows the demand for greater utility more informality and pieces which blend but do not necessarily match in color. Thus most of the furnishings you see in today's stores can be tagged "Mid-Century Modern."

Along with this trend interest is still seen daily in Early American and Provincial styles.

Each of the three periods of furniture design had marked effects on the others. But all in all mid-century modern continues to be the first choice of homemakers.

If a key word is needed for this trend it could best be the word "comfort." Texans a friendly people seek comfort and informality above all other features.

Do you wonder sometimes why home fashions change? Why period pieces your grandparents liked have been modified rather than preserved intact?

If you take stock of your present needs in furnishing your home, the needs to fit a mid-century tempo you'll answer the questions yourself.

First consider the size of the house your parents or grandparents lived in. They generally had a separate dining room. Today dining rooms are almost considered a luxury with the predominating ideas surrounding open space idea combining the living and dining rooms.

Homes today are smaller thus furnishings must be styled in proportion to less floor space. In bringing chairs tables and drawer units down to the scale of a room with smaller area and probably lower ceilings designers have left out a lot of the so-called "gingerbread" of detail that marked pieces of earlier periods.

In the case of the commonplace living-dining room seating units underwent radical changes. The sofas and chairs needed to be more versatile. Thus sectional sofas came into being. Homemakers can take a sectional sofa and make the pieces fit almost at will — in odd corners, turn corners making use of every inch of floor space.

Single chest units today take up little floor space but they may open into full length tables or a desk surface.

Many cabinet pieces are made with finished backs so that they may be placed out in the room as room dividers. "Two-faced" pieces are designed with storage space accessible from both sides to serve both dining and living area.

In the bedroom combination pieces are becoming more popular. Headboards have built-in shelves and storage space with tambour of sliding door closings so you may have a comfortable backrest while reading.

These design principles are applied to every room in the house. The demands of space are changing pace of life and homemaker wishes for more practical units are the major factors leading to the acceptance of mid-century modern as the leading home style.

Designers have experimented more than 20 years with new ideas to fill these needs. Results have not always been satisfactory.

Recently there was a period of strange designs without particular beauty, highly touted for the "functional" features. But rather than practicality, the period was mases of stuffing, zebra striped trims.

Today, however, the designers are making each line individual, yet each is purposeful and simple with the air of restrained elegance.

A new style cropping up this year is the "collection" look. Furniture no longer needs to match exactly in finish, color and styling. Rather, each piece stands alone as a part of a well-balanced scheme.

The decorator combines the ingredients of color, line, texture and style to produce a room particularly suited to its occupants. New furniture lines follow are "coordinated" rather than matching suites. And the new lines will be sold as open stock to each shopper; the pieces satisfying her individual taste and needs.

While many of the collections show all pieces in one finish, there are subtle variations in the wood grain and texture. Then several woods are often combined into one piece.

Richly figured walnut tables tops are framed by a banding of contrasting wood, cherry contrasts the cool blondness of maple or birch, and the endless patterns and textures of mahogany are combined in ingenious ways.

Thus designers are offering Texas homemakers the opportunity to express themselves in furnishings and originality.

Ask Lawyer Before You Sign To Buy

Every home buyer, or home builder, needs a lawyer when he signs a contract.

Many people make the mistake of thinking that the important time to call in a lawyer is when they take title. The smart man has his lawyer on hand on both occasions — contract and closing.

When you sign a contract to buy real estate, the seller has his lawyer with him, or presents you with a contract drawn by his lawyer. If you do not have your lawyer present, you may find that you have signed a very one-sided contract.

A lawyer can protect you from buying property which a seller may not own. He can competently inspect tax receipts, determine encumbrances and see that you have some guarantee that the seller will fulfill his obligations.

The seller may be your friend and you may trust him, but if he should die before the contract is fulfilled, you need legal protection.

Many people have signed contracts specifying, for example, that their house would be completed by a certain date. A lawyer will tell you that such a statement means absolutely nothing without the insertion of a legal phrase: "time of the essence."

City Cowpoke Ropes House

By SAUL PETT

Look here, pardners, maybe it's time we slowed down this stampede toward ranch houses.

So many people these days talk about, shop for and buy ranch houses you'd think we were all frustrated cowboys.

Take the married couple who live in a big city apartment. They've never been west of Hockley and as far as they know a sactus plant is nothing but an over-grown pin cushion. Suddenly, these folks and many like them start pouring into the suburbs.

They all come with the same notion. If they can only buy themselves a little ranch house, within commuting distance, they're going to live and flourish like an expanding prairie flower, with a grand feeling of the "wide, open spaces" — on a 60 x 100 lot.

Stranger, you can take it from an old, suburban cowpoke of three years standing, this kind of thinking can lead you up a wrong trail.

How You Get Corraled

It starts, I calculate, with a city woman drooling over one of those women's magazines. She sees beautiful color pictures of low, sprawling ranch houses, with some of the walls pure glass from gelling to floor so that the "interior and exterior will harmonize as one."

What the lady reading the magazine doesn't usually notice is the small print, where it says this house is located in California or Florida and surrounded by a couple or 300 acres.

It doesn't occur to the lady that in other climates the winter winds will whistle through the sides of the window and the cold will chill through the glass.

Only after they buy the house, does her husband realize that the big window needs special glass or expensive storm windows or both.

Also, this city couple quickly learns the facts of life with a picture window. A big picture window ain't much use unless you got a picture of something. And it ain't much of a picture looking out your picture window at your neighbor staring out of his picture window at your picture window.

Pretty soon, our ranch hands from the city find that after spending a lot of money to keep the cold out, they now want to cut down the size of the picture. This means more money for big blinds, drapes and a long, awkward valance.

Another thing about ranch houses that the magazines make much of. That's the "flowing design" of the interior which makes the whole house "so bright and airy and cheerful." With a minimum of doors and a maximum of L-shapes and U-shapes, the magazines say, "one room seems to flow into another."

That's fine, friend, except that every now and then a man likes to dam up the flow.

A man's house needs to be many things. It's got to be a place where he can be happy and sad, gregarious and lonely, the life of the party or a moody hermit. It's got to be all these things because men are all these things. A man not only needs space to be social, he also needs room to go off alone and have himself a su'. But with these new-fangled ranch houses, with a minimum of doors and a maximum of L-shapes, a man finds it hard to get off in a corner by himself, where he can not smell the cooking in the kitchen and can't hear the television comedians.

And No Ebb In The Flow

With all that flowing design, the family is always flowing into itself. The kids playing in the living room end of the L seem to be rattling the dishes on the dining room end of the L.

At such times, a man begins to wonder whatever happened to those good, old-fashioned thick walls and doors mother used to have. The fact is, friend, a good house needs to have compartments like the hull of a good ship. When too much goes on in one end of the house, you got to be able to stop the flow, to seal up your own little compartment. A man's home has got to be his castle, but he can't have a moat of flowing sound and activity connecting every room.

Beware Of Rats; Cover Garbage

Don't be squeamish about the subject of rats. They are one of the householder's biggest enemies and you can do much to fight them.

The common rat, called the domestic rat in spite of its being a wild animal and often attacking man, is far more numerous throughout all of North America than people. The food eaten by rats totals close to a half billion dollars worth per year. Furthermore rats are dangerous disease carriers.

Water Pipe Noises Can Cause Leaks

Water hammer — the banging noise you hear when water is turned off suddenly, as with a spring activated faucet — can be dangerous as well as annoying. It is caused by the sudden stoppage of the flow, creating a terrific impact in the pipes, sending energy waves rebounding through the water at high velocity. This makes the pipes vibrate, loosen pipe supports, strain the pipes and causes leaks at joints or other weak points. Water hammer in small pipes increases pressure in small pipes

Let Budget Guide Your Home Choice

The difference between salary and take-home pay has changed the old rule that what you can afford to pay for a house. Budget advisers in banks used to agree that a man could afford to increase pressure by as much as 65 pounds per square inch. This means that water flowing can build up a pressure of 275 pounds per square inch when a projecting pipe tightly capped and filled with water above a house hood plumbing system, keep. (If it costs $600 to paint your house, set aside $10 a month toward a joint job in five years. Home owners who must commute to work in large metro-polita areas are wise to figure out their months travel expenses. To find yourself house-poor, which must come out of the especially in these days of high living costs, does not make for close in may cost more, but a happy home life when every house farther out than com-movie or holiday home life

What Colors Do For Your Modernizing

Familiarity with color can offer real short cuts in modernizing an old house or in furnishing a new house.

Decorators divide colors into two groups: warm and cool.

The warm colors are sharp, chromatic shades, such as red and yellow. The cool colors, including blues, blue-green, violets and variations can best be used in warm and character to draperies and sunny areas. On the other hand, the warm colors will lend cheer and warmth to a room.

Color harmony results when two or more colors are so arranged that when seen together they are pleasing to the eye. The Colorizer Paint Council, which has devised more than 1,300 color formulas for household paints, summarizes the primary and secondary colors from which all hues derive.

RED—The most intense and warmest color. Too strong to use alone, it will vitalize any decorative scheme. Red gives vigor and character to draperies and upholstery fabrics. It is very effective as an accent.

YELLOW—A cheerful color. It is the best reflector of light and is a popular wall color.

ORANGE—Used in limited amounts in its pure form, it can have drawbacks as well as advantages.

They are designed to increase wall space to make it possible to place the heads of beds against any wall except those broken by doors and closets.

Being shoulder high, they insure privacy, requiring no blinds at all.

On the other hand, they may

VIOLET—Used in limited amounts in its pure form, it can have drawbacks as well as advantages.

High Windows Can Be Cold Near Bed

High windows in the bedrooms let in too much moonlight for your taste, and provide an excess of ventilation over your head.

They are designed to increase wall space to make it possible to place the heads of beds against any wall except those broken by doors and closets.

Synthetic And Natural Fibers Blended For Use In Clothing

Of special interest to the woman with a household of boys is the news of a clear interior varnish with improved wear resistance and beauty of finish which has just been placed on general sale by a well-known manufacturer. This superlatively tough finish, which may be used on floors of furniture, has superior resistance to alkali, extremely hot or cold water, alcohol, and many other substances which usually print, mar and scar ordinary varnishes.

This finish has been used with great success on gym floors and in schools, where scuffing feet take their toll of most varnishes.

Because of its resistance to extra hard wear, this is an especially effective varnish for use in houses where children are apt to treat their home as if it were a gym. It is ideal for furniture where a hard-wearing finish is required, and is particularly practical for floors, bar-tops, window sills, tables, and other surfaces which demand a superior varnish.

This new finish flows from the brush without excessive cross-brushing and without "picking up" that bugbear of amateur painters. When used on floors, this new varnish dries so that they can be walked on next day.

New Role For Plastic In Materials

Restrictions on the use of copper and other critical materials brought about by the Korean War resulted in the development of various new products for home use. The national Association of Home Builders contend that many of the new products will never be displaced when the materials they substitute are again plentiful in supply.

Plastic water pipes have been developed and are now being used. Plastic shower fixtures also are for both water and gas mains.

Plastic electric outlet boxes to house new low-voltage switch systems, allow the use of aluminum wire, which has not been as scarce as copper.

Plastic-like, long-life paints have been developed in multi-colors. They resist chipping and scratching, and because of non-static properties, they repel dust and dirt.

An inexpensive, gloss-coated metal faucet is being produced to resist rust and corrosion. This saves copper and brass and is installed in a radically new method that cuts home building costs.

Sewer pipes are now made to resist underground root growths which clog many drains. They require no lead capping or other expensive labor installation costs.

Laminated wood paneling has been fused under heat and pressure from wood flakes and chips producing a veneer that is stronger than most wood and costs less than plywood. Experts describe this as one answer to any threatened lumber shortage and call it the lumber industry's most outstanding development in 30 years.

It holds nails and screws near the edges without splitting.

Architects Have Revised Their Thinking Again

Architects revised their thinking again. Floor plans showed halls almost vanishing. Open planning—the elimination of many partitions—marked the plan. Space needed for passage could also be used for dining at a time when people would not be passing through. Dual purpose, multi-use rooms came in to keep extra living room and dining room were merged. Porch and garage were merged in a carport. Laundry and kitchen would be merged because of modern equipment.

This combined with new heating systems eliminated much of the need for basements. House plans changed radically.

Walls of windows became practicable with the use of double panes of glass sealing an insulating air space between them. This feature turned some houses around, putting the living room on the rear where a view could be created by landscaping the backyard.

Shortages of copper and other metals made it more important than ever to keep bathroom and kitchen adjacent. By placing them both in or near the front of the house, water supply lines were shortened; turning the house around was further encouraged, and these became signs of a good plan.

Exception Prove Rules

Here was proof that all so-called rules could be broken. You can compromise. Family needs, likes and budget become the final tests. But some things remain constant through all changes in plans. Privacy is fundamental. Wall space is essential. Cross ventilation is always important. A fireplace must be located for natural furniture grouping.

A good plan indicates that this is a house almost any family would like to live in.

The dust ruffe stays on to give the bed finished appearance. With the addition of an easy chair, an occasional chair, a desk, cabinet end tables, a drawer chest and a radio. You have a comfortable room adaptable to sleeping, lounging, reading and music appreciation.

Elimination of the bedframes saves floor space and this type of bed looks best placed against the wall. Leaving the center of the room free. Bookshelves and cabinets for toy storage can fill any empty wall space.

Teen-agers like this type of bedroom. They like to have a place of their own where they can do homework, entertain friends or pursue their hobby.

Guest Room - Den Is Easy To Make

You can transform the extra bedroom into the "most lived-in" room in the house with minimum expense.

Instead of the conventional beds with frames, good quality mattresses atop springs-on-legs are order for the guest room-den.

These beds can be slip-covered with attractive, sturdy material, and banked with pillows or bolsters. Slipcovers made in two pieces are especially practical because it's necessary to remove the snug-fitting top when the bed is to be used for sleeping.

Greater Utility In Fall For Furniture

Furniture created for twentieth century living will be seen in abundance during Home Fashion Time 1952.

At midcentury, American craftsmen and designers have produced furniture of such excellence and refinement of design that their names will go down among the great cabinet makers of history. Modern furniture has lost the hard, strained lines which characterized its earlier stages of development. Exactly suited to our living requirements today, midcentury Modern offers a casual elegance and versatile utility with softer, more livable designs than ever before.

Watch for these highlights in fashion, utility and value when you visit the stores to see the Home Fashion Time displays. Watch for new designs in combination pieces. Headboards have built-in shelves and storage space with tambour or sliding door closings providing a comfortable back rest for reading in bed. You will see dramatic sofas with foam-rubber comfort and tailoring, benchlike base extending to form an attractive and convenient lamp table.

Whether Modern or Traditional twentieth century furniture continues to add value for the consumer. Many cabinet pieces are made with finished backs in order that they may be placed out in the room as room dividers. New pieces are designed with storage space accessible from both sides to serve both dining and living area. As architectural trends popularize open floor plans and multi-purpose rooms, furniture makers are producing more of these versatile and attractive "two-faced" pieces.

There is more value in handsome cabinets and dressers designed for use in living-room, dining room or bedroom. Equally suited to silver and linen storage or clothing storage, these pieces are particularly good news to young people starting out in small apartments and wisely planning their own home for the future.

You will see a close kinship with the utilitarian furniture of early Americans in many of the finest new designs. Their essentially democratic honesty is expressed in the look of natural wood, and functional simplicity combined with graceful design and structural strength. Oval and elliptical tables, trestle tables, spindle backed chairs with comfortably formed seats, and many more familiar design principles will be found blending easily into a fresh world of contemporary furniture design.

You will see the new "sculptured" look with softly curving, flaring lines and gently tapered legs. The look of comfort and the lasting eye appeal of well-molded forms, the work of sure and competent artisans. Here indeed is a new note of maturity in Modern furniture design, furniture to live with and enjoy for years to come.

New combinations with more than one wood used in one piece of furniture add subtle contrast and design interest. Handsome table tops banded by slightly contrasting inlays, maple drawer fronts framed with warm cherry, chair and table legs terminated with neat boots of contrasting wood smoothly finishing their graceful taper.

There is new excitement in new materials in adventurous Midcentury Modern. Not bound by tradition, furniture designers today have tapped a vast storehouse of untried materials and find many new and stimulating ideas. Steel rod, wiremesh, rope, the constant appearance to new manmade synthetics and a host of other materials have become a part of the furniture makers' stockpile. One manufacturer has developed a process of pressing sea shells into a smooth, opalescent sheet, forming an extremely durable surface for tables.

The low horizontal look of comfort is evident in many seating pieces, cabinets and tables, keyed to the candid informality of our times and just right for the relaxed elegance of modern architecture. 1952 will be a year in which individual taste reigns supreme and the dictates of fashion will include the freedom necessary to make your home distinctly your own. Home Fashion Time displays to give you the perfect opportunity to study the wonderful variety now available, a chance to see the very best products of American designers and manufacturers, and to understand the profound contribution our rapidly maturing design concept is making to the twentieth century.

How To Get Satin Finish

Dull or satin finishes for varnish or enamel are obtained by removing the natural gloss with pumice stone and water or oil after the last coat has dried. Three to eight days are allowed for hardening.

The surface is rubbed lightly with special care being used on edges and corners to avoid rubbing through the finish. Moldings and carvings are rubbed with a short stiff brush instead of felt.

Pumice is washed off with clear water and wiped dry with a clean cloth. Corners and angles are cleaned out with an orange stick or other sharp instrument.

Both French And American Provincial Designs In Demand

The familiar warmth and candor of Provincial furniture are muted particularly well to the informal pace of today's living. American Provincial, as we know it today, has changed little from the basically honest and instinctively well proportioned furniture produced by our forefathers. Essentially American, and a sincere expression of the character and requirements of our democratic way of life, American Colonial furniture serves as an unending source of inspiration to the designers of today.

Outlines and soft finishes of the originals, but with the well planned storage space and durability of today's finest products. You will also see a closer bond between our Mid-Century Modern designs and the graceful but functional design of these early American styles. Our designers are no longer looking to other countries for stimulus, but are finding our greatest inspiration in our own history and its products. Another provincial style which has shown great adaptability to our own American homes came from the Provinces of France. Since all Provincial furniture is honestly designed to fill the needs of family life, it is inevitably functional and relatively simple in design. French Provincial represents the simplification of the lavish court furniture popular in Paris during the reign of Louis XV. As the years passed and this lovely furniture was adapted to modern needs, the massive scale of the original pieces was modified to suit smaller homes and apartments.

You will see French Provincial furniture to fit any pocketbook, on display during Home Fashion Time. Wonderful roomy cabinets are decked with open shelves to display your treasures. Often the deck is lined with delightful Provincial fabric to add a note of authenticity and a flattering background for your finest pieces.

The continued popularity of ranch style architecture and the necessity for easy to keep, comfortable and casual furniture promises increasing popularity for this versatile Provincial theme in furniture and decoration.

400 Texas Stores In Fashion Show

Furniture dealers throughout the state are joining hands under the slogan of "Friendly Texans Like Friendly Homes" during Texas Home Fashion Time September 18 through 27.

More than 400 stores in 140 Texas cities and towns are observing the celebrations designed to emphasize new styles and trends in home furnishings according to W. C. (Bill) Meyer state committee chairman of Fort Worth.

Backing the program to acquaint Texans with the latest in home fashions in this special period is the retail Furniture Association of Texas, largest association of its type in the nation. J. Frank Heath Amarillo is the 1952 president. He was elected at the association's convention and summer market in July.

"Our desire is to inform Texans that 1952 furniture is a better buy," said Mr. Heath.

In addition to Mr. Meyer other members of the state committee spearheading the special Texas celebration are C. E. Seeger, Austin; Royal F. James, San Antonio; H. E. Dill executive vice president of the state association and T. B. McClain, both of Dallas; Will Ed Kemble, Fort Worth; Byron Robinson and Jake Kamin both of Houston and Frank C. Allen, Corpus Christi.

Cupboards Set Tone In Kitchen

Cabinets are the most important part of the modern kitchen. They fill the greatest wall space. Their finish sets the color scheme and general tone of the room. They take the place of the old-fashioned pantry, saving the housewife unnecessary steps and providing efficient storage space within arm's reach. You can buy cabinets factory-built in units of various widths to fit into whatever space you have available. You can have them built on the job, or if you are a careful woodworker you can build them yourself—a big job, though.

In any event, installation is quite a trick and generally it's wiser to have a contractor do it. Measurements must be extremely exact. Supporting strength is required—a wall cabinet filled with dishes can weigh up to 200 pounds. And every part must be delivered before installation is started. On a small, missing detail can delay a job for weeks.

The importance of an advance plan of kitchen layout is cited by the General Electric Home Bureau in Bridgeport, Conn., which has done extensive research in the advantages and disadvantages of various types of cabinets. The bureau's experts strongly advise that you call in the man who is selling you the cabinets and have him measure the space himself.

Small left over space at the end of a row of cabinets can be killed off with a filler strip, but this is somewhat of a precision job both in fitting and finishing. Filler strips are used with either enameled steel cabinets or wood. However, if the cabinets are too long for the space, you are stymied.

Study Shows Fuel Is Saved By Use Of Storm Windows

According to a new study, if you live in a two-story house you can save more fuel by having storm windows and storm doors on all openings than you can by using a 4-inch blanket of insulation over the ceiling.

Also in a two-story house, insulation of the side walls is even more important than insulation of the ceilings in spite of heat rising.

This is because of the relatively large amount of exterior wall space in comparison to roof area in two story houses.

In a one-story house the comparison is almost always reversed. The roof area is larger so ceiling insulation is almost twice as important as storm sash and can be almost twice as important as wall insulation.

It's because of exposure.

Carpet Fashions Highlight Gay Colors And New Textures

Interest in living arrangements today is for increasing casualness, informality and maximum comfort. The impact of contemporary architecture has an ever-increasing effect on home furnishings designs.

Carpet stylists are well out in front in the creation of designs to fit the needs for casual living, informality and comfortable living.

The freshness of the designs and colors of the new carpets and rugs, shown for Fall, is enhanced by the wonderful values being offered. The dopin wool prices throughout the year has resulted in the prices of carpets and rugs dropping to anywhere from 30 per cent to 35 per cent at wholesale from the peak and these savings are being passed on to the consumer.

In addition to the attractive current price situation, the selection of carpet and rug designs has been greatly widened. Probably no other factor has been more important in influencing carpet design and color trends than the introduction of a variety of fibers. Wool and man-made fibers blended to get the best performance from both, continue to prove themselves on the floors of or and more homes. Clear colors, practicality and good value are the features.

Each season witnesses the introduction of additional fabrics made from 100 per cent rayon or acetate. The result has been novel textures, casual effects and a variety of tweedy irregular surfaces never known before and highly desirable in informal settings.

To a great extent cotton has been responsible for the increased appearance of high and irregular loops in all surface fibers. The perfect answer for the tufted varieties will be in evidence. Clear color achieved for budget carpets in high style colors.

There are a sufficient number of their debut this Fall to give a fresh look to soft floorcoverings. A number of neat and tidy small scale designs are to be found. These fall into the "calico" type which have been so popular. They answer the need for a carpet or rug that is not plain yet not highly patterned. They are a boon to the busy homemaker who wants a gay and colorful soft floor covering but realizes that junior and the dog must live too.

Carpets and rugs inspired by some of our traditional national motifs, such as Indian symbols, are in evidence too. Developed in today's colors these seem made for children's rooms and could well grow up with the child, providing an equally good foundation when more adult furnishings are called for.

Texture is leading with loop pile types — high, low and random. Nubby loop pile in self-tone, as well as two and three color effects and multicolor mixtures. These rough textured surfaces seem to be gradually replacing the ordinary twist textures in consumer appeal.

One of the important additions to the Fall 1952 carpet design picture is the very heavily textured pattern which has the distinct effect of cswel embroidery. This is the most effective with either formal modern or traditional dark woods. The more conventional design motifs include large, but red are in evidence, too.

not overscaled, freely drawn leaf designs very closely patterned which gives great depth to the third dimensional effect.

The range of novel textures is endless is endless. Wonderful bark-like rough and ready random weaves are to be found in many lines. Loop pile carpets that give a shaggy appearance are also a welcome note for modernists who like the softness of thick piled underfoot luxury in otherwise simple rooms.

One finds more textures composed of one type of yarn or in either all cut or all looped pile than heretofore. Combination of looped and cut pile are still available but not as many as in previous years.

Carpet colors do not change radically within a year but definite color trends should be recognized as they often become the popular volume colors of the grey and the spice tones in that order continue "tops" in favor, with gold and mustard tones continuing to gain acceptance. Colors to watch for are: avocado, moss greens, cool slate greys, aqua blues and all of the natural earth tones. Champagne, plum and

Nationalist Capital Leads Resistance

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — A great change has come to Taipei since it became the Republic of China capital in the dark days late in 1949 after the Communist conquest of the mainland.

Taipei today is a crowded, bustling and growing city. Many new houses have been built, but they cannot take care of the steady influx of Chinese and foreigners.

Authorities are carrying out an ambitious town improvement plan, although they are hampered by a lack of funds. Stately, tree-lined asphalted avenues are replacing the narrow, muddy streets. Large areas in and around the city are being converted into parks.

Foreigners increase

The foreign community was a mere handful in the spring of 1950, when a Communist invasion appeared possible. Now it is well over the 1,000 mark.

Most are Americans. And most of the Americans are with the group (MAAG) under Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, which is re-arming and retaining Chiang Kai-shek's forces.

A number of American and British firms are in business here. Missionary activities in Formosa are also expanding under the free rein granted by the nationalists. Some of the missionaries were driven from the mainland by the Chinese Reds. There are restaurants that close early, and there are some movies, but there is little else in the way of amusement. Most foreigners do their entertaining at home. If you are in the social swim it is a rare week that goes by without a dozen invitations to cocktail parties and dinners.

The climate, although not given to extremes, is trying. There are long spells of rain. During the summer it often is hot and humid. Authorities are planning to stir up tourist interest in Taipei. As one method of attracting tourists, they plan to modernize the Grand Hotel, perched on a tree-covered hill overlooking Taipei. At present the only half-way comfortable place in which the foreign traveler can stay is the Friends of China Club, where the amenities include good Western food and well-stocked bar.

Changes Planned At Skellytown, White Deer Schools

WHITE DEER (Special) — First two weeks of school at White Deer found various organizations making changes and introducing plans for coming activities.

Plans for rebuilding a school band for White Deer and Skellytown were laid at a recent meeting of students, parents and Mrs. L. Autrey, band instructor. Band was not offered during the past year because of lack of housing facilities and loss of instruments in the previous summer's tornado.

The band has 65 students enrolled for the year. The director plays first cornet with the Amarillo Symphony Orchestra.

A driver's education course is being introduced into the high school for the first time this year. Kenneth Livingston, newly elected assistant coach, is to serve as instructor and a car is to be furnished by the AAA and Culbertson Chevrolet, Pampa.

Sixty students, mostly freshmen and sophomores, have enrolled for the course which is to qualify students to take the test given by the Texas Highway Patrol for driver's licenses. Patrolmen will give tests periodically.

The course will require 30 hours of classroom instruction in addition to behind-the-wheel instruction. Present plans are to close one of the local thoroughfares during instruction hours.

The speech department has announced plans for the production of "One Man Night," a three-act play by James Reagh. Hobart McDonald is head of this department.

And the school cafeteria will begin operations next week with a complete set of new equipment. Inspection by a national coffee company was expected the first of the week.

Canadian Lions Celebrate 4th Birthday At Party

CANADIA (Special) — The Canadian Lions Club had a ladies' night in celebration of the fourth anniversary of its organization Thursday night. The "birthday party" was held in the WCTU Building, and was a covered dish supper served buffet style.

Lou A. H. Breazeale gave a comic, though factual, history of the club and its past presidents. He was aided by Boss Lion Tom Gray who presented gifts ranging from packages of candy to dill pickles, to former club officers as they were named and the organizational meeting of their accomplishments described.

Guest entertainers were the "Squeaky Doo Four" quartet from Pampa; Bunny Schultz, Red Wedgeworth, Mack Hiatt and Dude Balthrop. All four are Lions and two were present at the organized meeting of the Canadian Club, four years ago.

Officers of the Canadian Lions are Tom Gray, Boss Lion, (president); A. H. Breazeale, 1st vice-president; Carter McKemy, Lion Tamer, (official greeter); Bill Bartlett, Tail Twister, (sergeant-at-arms); and Hugh Wilson, secretary.

Music was printed soon after the invention of printing in Europe in the 15th Century.

Woman Says She Has Changed Sexes And Claims Baronety

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — Officials who guard the centuries-old protocol of British nobility are puzzling today over an unprecedented problem — a woman who says she has legally become a man and thus heir to a Scottish baronetcy.

Dr. Elizabeth Forbes-Sempill, 40-year-old sister of Baron Sempill, announced in an advertisement in the Aberdeen Press and Journal that "all legal formalities" had been completed for a change in her sex.

"In the future," the advertisement said, "she will be known as Dr. Ewan Forbes-Sempill."

The plump doctor, who years ago discarded dresses for men's suits, may now be in line for the baronetcy held by her 89-year-old brother. With it would go the title of "sir" and a castle.

Since the present Lord Sempill lacks a male heir his baronetcy will be passed to his nearest male relative upon his death. That would be Dr. Forbes-Sempill if the newly claimed sex status is accepted.

Dr. Forbes-Sempill, the only physician in tiny Alford, Shropshire, got approval from the district sheriff for a change in birth registry.

The London Daily Mirror said the doctor, dressed in a grey suit and wearing thin glasses, explained in an interview:

"I regard this as a prelude after 40 years of being mistaken

alternatively for male and female, from living a lie, trying to be something that I never was entirely — a woman.

"I underwent a course of medical treatment for several years finally to establish my masculinity. I was not involved in any operation and being a doctor myself, I knew what was going on.

"I have been biologically as well as socially a man for several months, leading a bachelor's life and discarding the lost remnants of my tedious upbringing as a girl.

"I have discarded all the relics of those years of torture—makeup, perfume, jewelry and so forth.

"I live alone. My housekeeper looks after the servants and domestic affairs—which I have always hated."

The Alford villagers were said to have deep love and respect for their doctor. They recalled Forbes never hesitated in the sternest winter snows to put on his skis and make his way to their bedside.

"Here in Alford, Forbes was quoted as saying, 'I have found peace because I am accepted as one of the chaps, but in the outside world life was becoming more and more unendurable.

"As far back as I can remember, I felt like a boy and wanted to be with other boys."

The interview told how Forbes had refused to go to a girls'

"This piano is dumb! If you'd put the money into a grand organ and monkey I could set up a nice little business!"

Agricultural Plan Formed

Administrative officers of the Production Marketing Association and county committeemen representing farmers from seven counties met in the Gray County court house Friday to formulate an Agriculture Conservation Program for 1952.

W. H. Seale, district field man, was present to outline the program as set up for the coming year and to explain mechanical details to officials.

The new program calls for closer contact between farmers and committeemen in selecting approved practices to promote conservation of soil and water on farms.

Counties represented at the sub-district meeting were Hemphill, Wheeler, Collinsworth, Donley, Roberts, Lipscomb and Gray.

Sitting Pretty In Brick Patio

By JOHN L. SPRINGER they simply must have one. Once, a fresh air-lover merely toward what real estate brokers moved his chair out to the grass. call "outdoor living" has raised or strung a hammock between the Problem of the Patio for two trees. Now, however, the ad- millions of old-time home owners have discovered that ally specify that you require an elaborate layout of flagstone or similar material to qualify for a sun bath. If the objective of getting outdoors is to keep cool, there is simply no substitute for grass. It absorbs the sun's rays and unlike stone does not reflect them back at you. Unfortunately, however, too much enjoyment of a grassy outdoor spot usually brings its own bitter conclusion: No grass. And since we are getting outdoors more and more often, the on- time once-in-a-while sitting place probably would turn into a mud-hole because of the vastly greater use it now gets. A Short Cut on Cost If you have convinced yourself that you must have a patio, you will doubtless consider such vital factors as cost of materials, ease of installation (especially if you are doing it yourself) and ultimate appearance. For combined low cost, anybody-can-do-itness and attractiveness, you might consider a patio of "used" brick. These are bricks, often in different colors, which have been salvaged from old buildings. They often are used in the patios you see pictured in the most glamorous magazines, yet they cost no more than a few cents apiece. On a cost per square foot basis, a used brick patio should cost less than half that of a concrete or flagstone terrace.

How It's Done Here's how to do the job yourself. First set out 1 x 4 lumber (4 inch side upright) all around the border of your future patio, making certain that these are level on opposite sides. You will want the patio to slope away from your house slightly, of course, to carry off rain water. When your 1 x 4s are firmly in place, measure off the shortest side and cut a 2 x 4 to fit loosely inside the patio from one

1 x 4 to the other. On top of the four inch side of the 2 x 4, nail two strips of board so that they extend evenly over the end of the 2 x 4 and the tops of the 1 x 4s which form your border. Now lay a few inches of sand all along the inside end of the patio and move the 2 x 4 over the sand to level it out evenly. When the sand is thus levelled, simply put the used bricks in place in any pattern that suits your fancy. After you have laid a few rows of bricks, add more sand and repeat the process until you reach the end of the patio. If it is necessary to call "Time!" before your task is completed, sprinkle sand generously over the bricks you have laid and then sweep it lightly into the cracks between the bricks. The praying mantis was believed by ancient Greeks to have supernatural powers.
