$200,000 Fire Hits Amarillo Business Area

A fast-moving fire which broke out shortly before noon today destroyed a two-story frame building and two other small stores adjacent to it in the west section of Amarillo. At 2 p.m. it was considered under control.

Damages to the Bray building, 1201 W. Sixth, 12 blocks west of Amarillo's downtown business section on U.S. Hwy. 66, were estimated at $200,000 by Clyde Bray, owner.

The Bray Building was occupied by the Tri-State Advertising Co., the Bray offices, and the group of insurance company offices and the Texas Mercantile Co. No estimate had been made at 2 p.m. today of the loss of a beauty shop and machine shop, both of which are at the rear of the Bray Building.

Threatened for a while but now considered safe were the Wood Webb Lumber Co., 1200 W. Seventh, Alamo Cafe and OK Cleaners. The latter two are adjacent to Texas Mercantile Co.

Foreign Children Due Yule Gifts

At least 131 children in foreign countries will receive gifts this year. That number of wrapped presents were sent Monday by local school children as part of a National Junior Red Cross project.

Each box contained school supplies, health items, toys and a personal letter. The boxes were prepared by the Pampa Chapter of the Red Cross. Mrs. Lee Harrah, volunteer worker, assisted Mrs. F. W. Shovel, executive secretary, in packing them.

Local firemen tied the cartons for mailing.

Amarillo Wants Local Meat Check

Possible appointment of a licensed veterinarian to supervise production at the Panhandle Packing Co. was brought before the city commission this morning as the result of a letter from the Amarillo Health Department.

The commission took no action today, but will recess its regular meeting until Friday to continue the discussion.

Meat Being Aged

According to the letter received by B. H. Cruse, Amarillo's health official, what they described as "bad meat" in an Amarillo grocery store which they said came from Panhandle Packing Co. However, the meat, Paul Crouch, operator of the packing company here said, had been hanging in the grocery department for several days to age and had acquired what is known as "hair" around the edges. This, he added, is usually trimmed by the meat cutters after the meat is properly aged.

Amarillo wants to be assured, the letter indicated, that a licensed veterinarian be appointed to supervise production at the packing company by Dec. 1, or Crouch's permit to operate in (See AMARILLO, Page 2)

Recovering From Rare Operation

HOUSTON (AP) — John James Smith, 62, is recovering here today from a rare abdominal operation, probably one of three in all medical history.

A section of Smith's aorta, a main artery in the abdomen, was removed 13 days ago and replaced with a five-inch segment from the aorta of a 26-year-old person fatally injured in a traffic crash.

Because doctors here do not want to excite him, Smith — a quiet little painter — has not been told of the rarely and dangerous operation. He has a weak heart, and surgeons said they performed the operation only to save his life.

The replaced section of the abdominal aorta had a large "blister" on it similar to one on a weakened tire inner tube. When it burst, surgeons said, Smith would have been killed.

At George Washington University hospital in Washington, a surgeon said at least one such abnormality had been discovered in a French surgeon described a successful graft recently.

Doctors called the operation "always dangerous" and "spectacular." Similar aorta grafts have been successful in the chest, the surgeon said.

Near U. S. Fleet Russian Jets Are Shot Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy reported today that two Russian-made jet fighter planes had been shot down only 35 miles — just a few seconds flying time — from U. S. Task Force 77 off the East Coast of Korea.

A third Russian-made aircraft was damaged in the action, which took place late yesterday, the Navy said. It placed the scene in the Sea of Japan, about 100 miles southeast of Chongjin. It said Navy jet pilots shot down the two MIGs.

Although Navy planes were credited with one of the first downings of a MIG jet in the Korean War — in the autumn of 1950 — Navy and Marine air encounters with the enemy fighters have been rare, only five MIG kills having been credited to Navy and Marine pilots throughout the conflict.

The Navy had few details of the action but was able to report that four Panther jets flown by pilots of Reserve Squadron 781 from Las Alamos, Calif., fought the battle near the task force late yesterday. One of the American planes was hit during the encounter but was able to return to the carrier Oriskany, its home base for the squadron.

One MIG pilot was seen bailing out. A second Red plane was last seen in a steep spiral dive and smoking badly. A third MIG broke off the action after having been damaged.

Wed To 'Robin Hood's' Sister Young Sicilian Fears Murder

WACO (AP) — A Sicilian who said he fled Italy to escape political persecution yesterday was denied bond in federal court pending the result of deportation proceedings.

Pasquale Sciorino, 29, was returned to the Bexar County jail at San Antonio after the ruling of U. S. Judge Ben Rice Jr. The judge said the law permitted him to act only if the U. S. attorney general had acted arbitrarily or capriciously in refusing the bond. He was unable to find that this was the case.

Sciorino testified that if he is returned to Italy he will be murdered.

The Italian government would charge Sciorino with membership of a bandit gang of the late Salvatore Giuliano.

Sciorino was arrested in Genoa in 1947. He jumped ship in New York on "Robin Hood" bandit. He was married in Sicily to Marianna Giuliano, sister of the "Robin Hood" bandit. He was married again in Grand Rapids, Mich., in July, 1951, to Roze Geluso under the name of Anthony Vena. They have a son. He joined the U. S. Air Force last June and was a model airman. He was arrested in San Antonio by immigration officers Aug. 31 after returning from St. Louis.

From there on the stories differ.

J. W. Holland, district director of the U. S. Immigration Service, testified to the following:

Truman, Ike Seek Way To Transfer Command

Historic Conference May Be Kept Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower and President Truman sat down together today to talk over ways of keeping the ship of state on an even course as command shifts from the old captain to the new.

Their meeting — the first face-to-face since June 2 when Eisenhower came back from command of European defense forces — was set for 1 p. m. (CST).

Much of the initial drama may never be known to the public. White House arrangements call for Eisenhower and Truman to be alone in the President's office for the first 15 minutes.

Those minutes will present an opportunity for personal exchanges which might erase some of the bitter things said in their political campaign when Truman battled so furiously against the election of Eisenhower as his successor.

From the President's office, they go to the Cabinet Room where key advisors will join them for formal discussions of the problems with which the Truman administration is now grappling and which will confront Eisenhower and his appointees when they take over Jan. 20.

Truman was reported to be hoping the meeting would produce, at the least, an agreement for a joint statement assuring the world of the country's basic unity and position in the United Nations on the Korean issue.

But some of those close to Eisenhower described the Republican President-elect as determined not to make any pre-inaugural commitments on vital matters.

Goes To New York

A spokesman for Eisenhower told reporters that unless the general changes his attitude there may be no statement at all — or at most a brief one.

Eisenhower, who has been resting at Augusta, Ga., since the election, left there by plane at 9:38 a. m. (CST) to fly here.

His plans were to leave Washington by plane at 3:45 p. m. (CST) for New York. He has a conference scheduled there tomorrow with a group of Republican congressional leaders.

Truman prepped for his conference with the general by holding a series of last minute meetings with top advisors. Frederick I. Lawton, director of the budget, was a forenoon visitor.

Secretary of State Acheson, Secretary of Defense Lovett, and Averell Harriman, the mutual security administrator, were asked to come in at 11:30 a. m.

Eisenhower's topic in advance of the conference with Truman, was described by a spokesman as welcoming the opportunity for a briefing on government problems but as wanting no strings tied to him.

This spokesman said the President-elect feels that unless there is some unexpected development of world-shaking proportions, he should refrain from even suggestion any course of action on domestic and foreign affairs.

The president-elect will be ready to act quickly, this source said, when he takes office Jan. 20. In this connection, Republicans looked toward New York conferences Wednesday between the general and GOP congressional leaders as likely to be decisive in charting the opening course.

Maj. Elliott Sees But Three Alternatives For Ike In Korea

By The Associated Press

Maj. George Fielding Elliott, famed military affairs commentator, says President-elect Eisenhower has only three alternatives in Korea.

And the Korean Republic's ambassador to the United States believes one of the alternatives, increasing military pressure, should be used at once.

Elliott, in San Antonio for a chit lecture, said Eisenhower — on his projected trip to Korea — could only survey the tactical situation with the commanding officers and get the views of the combat troops.

After that, Elliott said, the three alternatives open to the president-elect are:

1. Continue negotiations for peace.

2. Pull out of Korea completely.

3. Increase the military pressure.

In Houston for a speech Tuesday night at a World Service dinner, Dr. You Chan Yang thought the third alternative a pretty good one. He told inter-

South Koreans Blast Chinese From Sniper

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean infantrymen in savage hand to hand fighting today blasted Chinese Communists off a vital knob on blood-soaked Sniper Ridge, lost to 175 screaming Reds a few hours earlier.

Even as the battered Chinese retreated from Rocky Point, a new Red buildup was spotted at the northern end of Sniper. Allied war planes, tanks and artillery hammered the Communists with high explosives and searing napalm.

Superforts Active

Ter U. S. B29 Superforts last night pushed the Korean air war right to the doorstep of Manchuria. The B29's smashed Cheek, a Red mining and processing center within sight of the Yalu River and 800 off a chain of huge fires and explosions. Other Superforts blasted a Communist ammunition dump near Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

The bitter fighting for the Kumhwa ridges on Korea's Central Front roared into its 36th straight day when 80 Chinese attacked Rocky Point at dawn. The Point is an important knob on Finger Ridge, which juts out from the main line of Snipers.

Assault Hurdled Back

The first Red assault was hurled back in close quarter fighting.

Legal Encirclement Tightens On Key Underworld Figure

NEW YORK (AP) — State crime probes watch their main underworld target, Thomas (Three-Finger Brown) Luchese, confront two separate courts Tuesday in a tightening legal encirclement. Luchese, reputed successor to imprisoned Frank Costello as czar of the rackets, faces the initial action of a possible U. S. move to deport him in Brooklyn Federal Court. His own motion to avoid testifying before the New York State Crime Commission comes up in Manhattan State Supreme Court. With the spotlight, temporarily at least, on the Luchese court cases, the commission planned to go ahead with its inquiry into political-underworld relationships. The group was expected to look into judicial patronage today.

Carmine G. DeSapio, chief of Tammany Hall (Manhattan Democratic organization) created a sensation at yesterday's hearing when he clashed with the commission and denounced phases of its inquiry.

Doesn't Want Smear

DeSapio, 43, who admitted he won a draft deferment as an essential worker during World War II when he didn't have a regular job, said he did not want to be smeared or lynched by implication.

The commission refused to allow DeSapio to read a statement in rebuttal of previous testimony and then ordered him off the witness stand.

U. S. Atty. Gen. James F. McGranery moved in Washington yesterday to strip citizenship from Luchese by directing the filing of denaturalization proceedings against the Sicilian — born ex-convict and wealthy garment manufacturer.

The Justice Department said the denaturalization proceedings would charge Luchese, listed in department records as Luchese, concealed arrests in connection with homicides when applying for citizenship. Luchese who was convicted of grand larceny but not of homicide, was naturalized nine years ago.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress today opened an investigation into tax-exempt philanthropic and educational foundations with the declared purpose of finding whether any of them are engaging in "un-American and subversive activities."

The inquiry embraces, more than 600 such organizations, including the Rockefeller, Carnegie and Ford Foundations, whose activities reach into almost every corner of the world.

Chairman of the special House investigating unit is Rep. Cox (D-Ga.).

Indian POW Plan Gets Cool Reception

 Amarillo has several other packing houses inside and outside its city limits. Crouch has been selling about 10 tons of meat weekly in Amarillo.
 Crouch told the commission that the Indian resolution calls for a four-nation commission to take charge of repatriating prisoners of war as soon as an armistice is reached in Korea.
 The Indians suggested two Communist and two non-Communist nations — Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Switzerland. But they added if this wasn't acceptable four other states not participating in the Korean hostilities — excluding permanent members of the Security Council — could serve. The commission would choose a neutral umpire to vote in case of a 2-2 deadlock on decision.

County Court Has Its Shortest Case

A fine of $250 and court costs was imposed by a county court jury on Clarence B. Miller, of Borger, yesterday afternoon in one of the shortest cases on record.
 Time consumed in trying the case was less than that used by attorneys in examining the jury and other pre-trial preparations. The only witness to take the stand was Patrolman Joe Brewer who testified he picked Miller up on June 16, 1952, near the postoffice.
 County Atty. Bill Waters rested the state's case after about five minutes of direct and cross-examination. Defense Atty. Don Cain rested his case without calling a witness. The jury returned with its verdict about six minutes after it received the case. Both attorneys used a total of two and a half minutes to argue the case.
 Judge Bruce Parker dismissed all jurors until Dec. 11 when the remaining criminal cases on the docket will be called for trial.

Miami Man Escapes Injury In Accident

A Miami truck-driver has escaped uninjured from a truck-train collision in East Amarillo.
 Alton Gill, 47, driver, and owner of a truck and semi-trailer, had just loaded 23 head of cattle and was preparing to return to Miami when the accident occurred about 6:50 p. m. Monday at a crossing, one-fourth of a mile north of the Western Stock Yards.
 A west-bound Santa Fe freight train struck the rear end of the trailer and demolished it. Both truck and trailer were slung around toward the west by the impact and the trailer was smashed against a steel signal station.

 A reserve officer said reports the transports are "not suitable" for arctic operations have been on file with the Air Force since April.
 Asked Replacements
 William H. Jay, former commander of the 65th Troop Carrier Squadron, said he and another squadron commander filed reports, now a commercial airplane pilot, Jay said the reports recommended the Boxcars be replaced by C-54s and C-124s.
 Another report, Jay said, was submitted by Maj. Ned M. Letts, now with the 77th Squadron on duty in Alaska on operation Warmwind.
 Jay said both reported serious difficulty in operating the planes in arctic weather.

Nehru Ponders Discrimination

By SELIG S. HARRISON
NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru cannot decide whether a proposed new anti-discrimination law will help or hinder the cause of India's 60 million still outcast "untouchables."

Technically they are already touchable. The Indian Constitution rules out all discrimination and lays down special guarantees of political and social equality which run for a decade.

But ancient custom is enshrined in the villages of rural India. As always, an orthodox high caste woman may throw away food handled by an untouchable. Untouchables remain apart, in segregated quarters at the village outskirts, low men socially and economically on the Hindu caste ladder.

May Pass Law

Legislation putting teeth into the constitutional guarantees of equality may be introduced in the next session of Parliament. If the government Congress party goes ahead with the bill and wins passage over high-caste opposition, acts of discrimination would become statutory punishable offenses for the first time.

However, the Nehru government's own official charged with protecting the rights of untouchables, L. M. Skikant, opposes such a move. So far the Premier has not taken a personal stand in the behind-the-scenes controversy.

Skikant, a businessman active in social welfare organizations sponsored by Brahmins and others of high caste for the advancement of the lower castes, advocated financial help for "non-outcast groups working for the uplift of the scheduled castes and for the strengthening of public opinion for the removal of untouchability."

Urges More Action

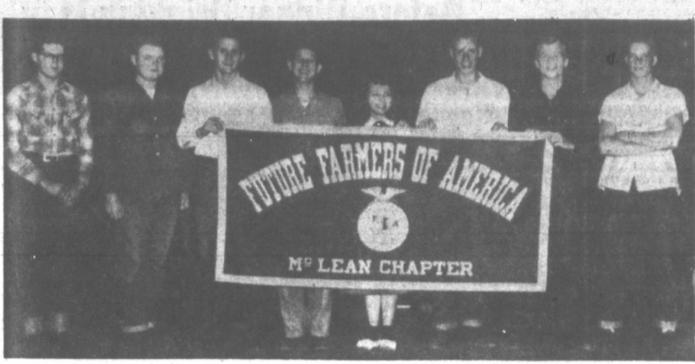

He also urged greater emphasis on action by state governments, especially in compiling a record of villages where untouchables still suffering under social disabilities.

The late Mahatma Gandhi gave untouchables the name Harijans, which literally means "children of God."

Largely through the efforts of caste Hindus, most states have passed laws prohibiting interference with the use of wells and access to temples and other public places by Harijans. But Skikant reports that "very few cases have been recorded in the courts of law for breach of the provisions of these acts."

Have No Courage

The main reason, he explains, "is that Harijans have no courage to come forward either to draw water from the common

Rogers Discusses Indochina And Korean POW Situation

Rep. Walter Rogers devoted his entire weekly newsletter today to an analysis of the prisoner of war obstacle in the truce talks for months in Korea.

The Pampa congressman also included a short analysis on the Indo-China situation and its tie-in with the Korean War.

Rogers said:

"From the lack of progress that has been made in the solution of the issue, it would seem that an irresistible force has met an immovable object.

Russia and her satellites have taken the position that all prisoners of war on both sides shall be returned to the sources from which they were captured, irrespective of the desires of the prisoners.

"The position of the United Nations is that these prisoners should be thoroughly screened and that those sincerely and honestly desiring to remain under the jurisdiction of their captors should be dealt with by the wells or to go to public places, since they are generally economically dependent upon non-Harijans."

Economic discontent among the Harijans, who make up most of India's landless agricultural labor, is beginning to find political expression. Communist success in organizing landless untouchables in some areas was mainly responsible for South Indian Red victories in the general elections.

front for stepped up action against the French.

"This will require France to call for immediate all-out aid from the UN or permit Indo-China to fall into the hands of the Reds. Russia figures that such action on the part of Red China will force the U. N. to move into Indo-China, as they did in Korea, or refuse to France the all-out aid that would be necessary.

"She figures that in the latter event, France would be forced to commit practically all of her forces to the salvation of Indo-

China, and that even though she was able to prevent the Red menace from taking over, she would break with the NATO countries and at the same time measurably weaken herself at home.

"On the other hand, if the UN does move into Indo-China and stops the Red menace there, Russia can always return to Korea to keep the fire smoldering; truce or no truce. She is in the position similar to a checker player in the double corner.

The problem of the United Nations is to get her out of that double corner without permitting a third world war to start. An effective prohibition against these new starts by Russia must be devised if the purpose of the United Nations is to be realized.

Several Plans

"Several plans have been advanced to solve this tough problem.

"One of these before the United Nations calls for the formation of a neutral screening commission to separate the sheep from the goats.

"Another plan receiving some consideration calls for a return of all POW's upon commitments from the country receiving them that they will not be mistreated.

"Such agreement would call for periodic checks on the status of each returned prisoner. Should the Reds yield from their present arbitrary position and accept the first of the above solutions, much progress could be made towards a quick and final truce.

However, it must be remembered that out of this solution would come other serious problems.

"Number one would be the location of a country that would give these POW's asylum.

"Number two would be the question of jurisdiction over these POW's; that is, whether or not they would be under the jurisdiction of the UN or the country in which they sought asylum. Should they be under the jurisdiction of the UN, they would still be indirectly under some control from Russia since Russia is a member of the UN.

"If a separate protectorate of the UN should be set up to provide asylum for these POW's, it would mean that Russia would still have some control in their government.

"If they were permitted to take citizenship in the country to which they were removed, the question of control would be settled.

However, it is doubtful that many countries would be willing to take on a substantial number of these prisoners. Certainly I would not want them in the United States because it would afford Russia an opportunity to infiltrate this country with more Red spies. I am sure that many of the other countries would take the same position.

Rigid Censorship

"If these prisoners were returned to the country of their origin under the second proposal, it would be administratively impossible to keep up with them, because of the rigid censorship behind the Iron Curtain and the further fact that most of the information we could obtain on them would be highly questionable. I do not believe that Russia would agree to this second proposal. If she agreed to the first proposal, I would entertain great fears that she would attempt to infiltrate UN countries with Red spies by this medium.

"One of Russia's prime objectives is to bring about a major breach in the NATO organization. She obviously thinks that her best chance lies in causing friction between France and the other NATO countries. It presently appears that should a truce be concluded in Korea, the Red Chinese will promptly move men and supplies to the Indo-China

Believe Mt. Everest Climb Is Completed

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Swiss and Nepalese mountain climbers trying to scale the world's highest peak were believed today to have either completed Mt. Everest or to have failed in their attempt.

A nine-day-old report, brought here yesterday by native runner, said the Swiss-led expedition then had established its eighth camp only 150 feet from the top of the more than 29,000-foot-high Everest. That, itself, is higher than man has ever climbed and lived to tell it.

Experts said they were certain that by now "the attempt is over and the Swiss are on the way down, whether they have won or lost," because it would hardly be possible for them to remain long at such a height.

Canada, and that even though she was able to prevent the Red menace from taking over, she would break with the NATO countries and at the same time measurably weaken herself at home.

Canadian Paving Project Completed

CANADIAN (Special)—Removal of the barricades on Furcell Street saw the completion of Canadian's most recent paving program.

Stuckey Construction Company of Wichita Falls has just completed a contract for 16 blocks of concrete pavement with integral curb and gutter, and their employees appear to be preparing the machinery for "winter quarters" since the company has no new project to move to at this time.

The 16 blocks of paving just completed is considered one of Canadian's most important improvements because it connects several previous projects and provides continuous pavement in the important areas around the schools and the Hemphill County Hospital.

Also, the job just completed included the two steep blocks of Furcell Street which has been costly and troublesome to maintain.

Canadian now has more than 103 blocks of paved streets.

Good Word For Dewey . . . Hank Says The 1952 Election Was Triumph For U. S. Voters

BY HENRY McEMORE
Private Opinions Made Public
I wish that Gov. Dewey would reconsider his decision to finish his term as the head man in New York, and become a member of the Eisenhower cabinet. The man is as honest as the day is long, and I would like him to hit the lid off what went on in Washington since 1948.

The governor may not have the rasping voice of Rudolph Halley, but he'd find out the truth. When Gov. Dewey had finished, the American people would have a good idea of Washington between 1948 and 1952. Who was nothing, who stole, and who did nothing while getting paid. If the governor wants to do this country a service he will ignore every job except that of attorney general.

27 Pampanos To SMU Homecoming

DALLAS — Twenty seven Pampano residents, active members of the Southern Methodist University Alumni Association, have been invited to attend SMU's annual homecoming celebration Nov. 21-23.

More than 18,000 former students of SMU throughout the nation have been invited back to the Dallas campus for the event, and the university is looking for its biggest group of visitors yet to those yearly affairs.

The three-day celebration, to be the most ambitious and colorful in the school's history of reunions, will have a circus motif. George E. Bushong, executive secretary of the SMU alumni association says that this homecoming is intended to be "the greatest show on earth."

The program begins Friday noon, Nov. 21, with registration at the Student Union, and continues through noon Sunday, closing with a special homecoming convocation at the Highland Park Methodist Church on the SMU campus.

Over the big week-end, exes will attend receptions, open houses, parties, traditional undergraduate contests, barbecues, parades, the 1952 Pigskin Revue, football game Saturday afternoon, Nov. 22, between SMU and Baylor University, and go on guided tours of the campus to acquaint themselves with their university's many new buildings.

Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., alumni will have a pre-game picnic in Agricultural Building, near the Cotton Bowl. Entertainment at the picnic and the football game's half-time will develop the circus atmosphere.

I would like to say in print what a fine man I believe Adlai Stevenson to be. He would have made a much closer race of it had he declared from the start that he, Adlai, would be beholden to no one, and that he would go down swinging without the Democratic party hanging about his neck like a sick albatross.

The man who lost was not Mr. Stevenson, but Mr. Truman. He saddled the Democratic candidate with a burden too heavy for any man to bear. Adlai was forced to say things he didn't believe — I won't believe that Mr. Stevenson thought the general was a worthless man, incapable of making decisions. But that is the sort of talk the party made him make.

The election was a heartening thing, not just because Gen. Eisenhower won, but because he American people, once aroused, will find their own destiny by the ballot. Labor fought the general right to the hilt. A machine built up over 20 years fought him to the death.

But there is no buying the American voter. When he detects dishonesty, he casts his vote to put honest men in Washington.

The 1952 election was a triumph for the voter. The general should feel humble, because it was his people, people like himself, who said by ballots, "We'll take Ike."

GOVERNOR ALLAN SHIVERS signs the official memorandum designating the period from Nov. 17 to Dec. 25 as Christmas Seal Month in Texas. Mrs. Francis Rains, Seal Sale director for the Texas Tuberculosis Association, looks on. Inset: Dr. Z. T. Scott, retired Austin physician who instigated the first Christmas Seal Sale in Texas in 1909 and now serves as treasurer for the state-wide organization.

Tiny Scraps Of Paper Lead In Fight Against TB In Texas

By HELEN COLBURN
AUSTIN — A bright little scrap of paper which challenged mankind's deadliest enemy almost half a century ago will reach more than a million Texans through the mails this week.

It is the Christmas Seal. And it has powered the campaign of tuberculosis associations throughout the nation to bring under control the disease which has taken more human lives than all others combined.

Gov. Allan Shivers has designated Nov. 17 to Dec. 25 as Christmas Seal Month in Texas, calling attention to the "needless waste of human life and resources" caused by TB and its "staggering" cost to Texans.

It is the forty-fourth annual sale in Texas. One man, just launching his career in medicine, was directly responsible for the first Christmas Seal Sale in the state. He is Dr. Z. T. Scott of Austin who still serves the TTA as treasurer.

Dr. Scott, now retired from active practice, relates that he American people, once aroused, will find their own destiny by the ballot. Labor fought the general right to the hilt. A machine built up over 20 years fought him to the death.

But there is no buying the American voter. When he detects dishonesty, he casts his vote to put honest men in Washington.

The 1952 election was a triumph for the voter. The general should feel humble, because it was his people, people like himself, who said by ballots, "We'll take Ike."

Dr. Brumby has said that during those years the U. S. Bureau of Vital Statistics reported 173 of every 100,000 persons in Texas dying of tuberculosis.

"The tiny seal proved a potent weapon," Dr. Scott says with understandable satisfaction. "The TB death rate has been brought down to 24 per 100,000. But every one of the 1962 deaths from tuberculosis in the state last year was needless. "Nobody need die of TB," he reasons. "Nobody should even have it. It is preventable and yet Texans are dying of it, spreading it — and paying for it — at the rate of more than a seventeen and a half million dollars a year.

"Pretty, isn't it?" the retired physician queried fingering the yellow and green 1952 stamp with its red double-barred cross. "Yes, the Christmas Seal means many things. It means a sanatorium kept open for 'doomed' men and women, and a new lease on life.

"It means a shivering Delaware newsboy quietly placing a penny on the first Seal table with terse instructions, 'gimme one, my sister's got it.' "It means laboratories that have brought succeeding better drugs to combat the destructive germ.

"It means greater knowledge and improved medical treatment. "It means lives saved and lives lengthened, families reunited and children saved from orphanages. "It means the enemy that for centuries struck from the dark has been brought into the light and stripped of his terror.

"It means the strong hand of humanity firmly supporting its own. "And, without question, it means the greatest health insurance policy ever written. "That," declares the man who has given a lifetime to his stricken fellowman, "is your Christmas Seal."

Before-Dinner Drinking May Bring Alcoholism, Doctor Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The "social drinker" who imbibes two high balls every night before dinner may be in danger of becoming an incipient alcoholic, a psychiatrist from Richmond, Va., declares.

Dr. Howard R. Masters said "it has always been my belief that the normal, well-integrated individual who drinks socially will not become an alcoholic unless through disease, injury or conditioning there is some personality change for which he is not entirely responsible."

But, he told the Southern Medical Association there's a possibility that regular drinking every night before dinner can build up such a "conditioning" in a "normal social drinker."

Such an individual, he added, might establish a "conditioned reflex demand" for alcohol so that "when an environmental situation becomes intolerable and he is physically or psychologically unable to meet the situation, he may become an incipient alcoholic and potentially a sick man."

Medical College of Virginia doctor asserted: "Any time an individual drinks enough to be absent or late to his work and low on the job, he is drinking too much and, if this is a regular or frequently recurring thing, he may be classified as alcoholic."

It is estimated, he said, that there are between three and five million "excessive" drinkers in the United States, "and of these some 800,000 or more are chronic excessive drinkers and may be classified chronic alcoholics."

Boyle's Column ... There's Only One Sure Way To Fight Evils Of Martini

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — In the present reach for a better world, now seems the opportune time for government to do something about the martini.

The problem of the martini and the people who inhale martini is one above the boundaries of science, politics, race, age or sex. The flat dictum of many bartenders is:

"They'll never have peace anywhere in the world so long as they allow martini. Congress ought to abolish them by law if possible—or by force if necessary."

One oldtime bartender said: "You know when you serve a man or a woman an ordinary drink, you have some idea what it will do to them—and they have some idea, too."

"But when I mixed a martini for a customer for the first time I always have a sense of curiosity. No matter how well I thought I knew him before, I see a new side to his character once he switches to martinis."

"The only thing I'm sure of is that he will behave differently than before. But what will he do? Complain against the dear old mother he always praised before on a burbon ration? Fight the memory of his father or the nearest man within reach? Or will he just start flapping his arms and try to fly through the mirror?"

"I tell you the uncertainty gets a man down, particularly after a lifetime in this business. The martini quaffer is a lonely but proud figure. The majority of mankind, taking the human race around the globe, is and usually always has been heavily against the imbibing of alcoholic beverages in any form. They figure this has caused more trouble to more people than it has been a benefit to."

But even among the gentry who share a liking for the flowing cup that cheers them there is a strong prejudice against those who seek mellowness in mixture of gin and vermouth.

★ WASHINGTON COLUMN ★ President-Elect Must Think About Anti-Inflation Plans

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Present wage and price controls expire April 20, 1953. That puts it right up to the New Man in the White House to recommend to Congress what kind of an anti-inflation program he wants for his new administration.

President Truman talked thoughtfully during the summer about a special session of Congress before the year is out to deal with this question. When the old Congress should not only no interest in the proposal, but downright opposition to it, the idea was modified.

A special session would be called only if it got worse. It has not got worse. So anything that is done from here on in will be up to the new President.

Only about half of the items priced by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in determining its cost-of-living index are now under price controls. All fruits and vegetables were specifically exempted from price controls by Congress. Rent controls expired on Sept. 20, except for defense areas and communities continuing their control under local authority.

With this much of the economy already decontrolled and with the price index actually down by two tenths of 1 percent from Aug. 15 to Sept. 15, there is considerable feeling that the economy is now proceeding well in balance. In this situation there is strong agitation from business interests to take off all controls.

WBS To Close Its Doors
The Wage Stabilization Board will go out of business April 30, if the board itself doesn't fall apart before that time.

The fiasco over the coal miners' wage case, following on the heels of the steel wage case which wrecked the first wage board, is sure to leave a bad taste in many labor and management mouths with no appetite for any more such monkey soup in the future. Yet it is recognized there can be no inflationary controls if both prices and wages are not under ceiling and restraints of some kind.

Lawmakers will never solve the problem and there is only one real solution.

"That," he said, "is for a burbon man to side up to a martini man every time he says, 'Give me one—and make it dry,' and then himself ask for a martini and say, 'Make mine wet, please.'"

The regular martini man will succumb of sheer horror on the spot. And I guess that's the only way we'll ever get rid of them."

Eisler Using 15,000 Spies In Germany

BERLIN (AP) — Propaganda boss Gerhart Eisler has more than 15,000 personal spies in the Soviet zone of Germany, but the Russians contend that still is too few.

The spies are known as "People's Correspondents" and they exist in every tiny village, county, city and state. To call them newspaper reporters would be a travesty but that is precisely what they pretend to be.

The Volks Correspondents were established several years ago to be the eyes and ears of Eisler's Office for Information. The Communist rulers ordered the East zone press to add such "correspondents" to their staffs, with full credentials. Their reports do not go into the press; they go to East Berlin for Eisler's staff to sort.

"Progressive" As "progressive" correspondents, the young Reds are told it is their duty in plant, mill, mine, on the streets, in the theaters and on the trains to report what people are saying and perhaps even thinking. Many a mid-night visit from the dread security police cannot be explained any other way.

Eisler's office never would admit how many of these snoopers are running up and down the Soviet zone. But the Russians casually did recently. The Red Army newspaper Tagliche Rundschau apparently felt called upon to put some kind of a blessing on the Volks Correspondents.

After praising the movement as a direct outgrowth of Lenin-Stalin teachings, the Russians said in a front page article that there were already more than 15,000 "People's Correspondents" from the Elbe to the Oder.

Not Enough Yet But, Rundschau complained, this is not enough. There should be many more. Part of the blame was put on the editors of the newspapers. Some are still "reactionary" enough to think a reporter ought to be a trained journalist delivering facts of public interest rather than just a keyhole peeper looking for Hans or Fritz to pull a boner and maybe criticize the regime.

It is necessary, the Russian organ declared, for every East zone editor to install one of the correspondents in each branch of his editorial section. This is like ordering a man to hire another whose sole purpose is to spy on his boss. But the editors of the East have little choice in the matter.

Anybody Want A 4-Man Jail?

GILBERTVILLE, Pa., (AP) — For sale—a nice four-man jail with two folding cots in each cell. Mayor B. J. Schmit, 39, explained: "We don't have much use for it. There hasn't been a prisoner in the jail in the five years I've been mayor and probably longer than that."

The jail is located in the Gilbertville Fire House. "Besides," the mayor said, "our new fire trucks need the extra space."

Harvesters' Walker Bird Out For Year

Walker Bird, reserve end, became the third Harvester in two weeks to be sidelined for the season due to injury.

Bird suffered a wrenched knee in Saturday's tussle at Odessa and has been advised to sit out the remainder of the schedule.

The other two Harvesters who have been forced to the sidelines for the year are Gene Beatty, guard, and halfback Ken Hinkle.

Orville Lewis, assistant general manager, gave a report to the QB Club on the Harvesters' final game of the season last week at Borger.

Spartans Continue As AP's Top Team

NEW YORK (AP)—Michigan State, leader for most of the season in the Associated Press poll of the nation's top college football teams, apparently has only to beat Marquette Saturday to wrap up its first national football championship.

Michigan State's impressive 21-7 thumping of Notre Dame, combined with Georgia Tech's close call against Alabama and Maryland's upset loss to Mississippi, left the undefeated Spartans off by themselves with nearly two-thirds of the third-place votes from 127 sports writers and broadcasters participating in this week's poll.

Michigan State was named first by 80 voters and piled up 1,168 points on the usual basis of 10 points for first, nine for second and so on down the line.

Despite its close game with Alabama, Georgia Tech managed to retain second place. The writers appeared about evenly divided in their regard for third-ranked UCLA and fourth-ranked Southern California.

Oklahoma, bouncing back from its Notre Dame loss, jumped from eighth place up to fifth, with 541 points.

Mississippi climbed from 11th place to sixth with its upset and in the process knocked Maryland from third down to eighth.

Others receiving votes included Virginia Villanova, Navy, Florida, Ohio State, Purdue, San Jose State, Illinois and Kentucky.

DALLAS (AP)—The Cotton Bowl did quite all right. It will have a game to compare with any of them Jan. 1. There is a possibility it will be the top game.

Texas, the new team, has only Texas A&M to play. It should win that one. Tennessee has Kentucky and Vanderbilt to play. Despite the loss of its great fullback, Andy Kozar, with an injury, Tennessee ought to win those games.

Thus the Cotton Bowl would have Tennessee with a record of nine victories and one loss and Texas with eight victories and two defeats, the losses to such fine teams as Oklahoma and Notre Dame, neither of which plays in a bowl game.

The Sugar Bowl scored a ten-strike when it grabbed Mississippi. The Cotton Bowl undoubtedly could have gotten Mississippi.

pl but the chance appeared too great - Mississippi had to play mighty Maryland. No one figured Mississippi would even play Maryland a close game much less beat it.

Pioneer JC Title At Stake

By The Associated Press

Arlington State and Tarleton State play at Stephenville Saturday with the Pioneer Junior College Conference championship on the line.

Arlington has won two and tied one. Tarleton has won two and lost one. This game is the last of the season for both.

Ranger plays Schreiner at Kerrville in another conference tilt Saturday but it has no bearing on the championship race.

San Angelo closes out the season Friday against Paris of the Big Six Conference at San Angelo.

Last week Schreiner beat San Angelo, 20-15, while Ranger was downing Henderson County of the Texas Junior College Conference, 12-6.

But there's relief coming to the sponsors of the bowls. We have it on good authority that the NCAA is going to vote for bowl games at its next convention. It would be a committee of the NCAA investigated the situation and could find nothing wrong with the bowls.

Comes an unsigned letter protesting against running the Southwest Conference down on the basis of its terrible intercollegiate record this year.

"How old are our Southwest Conference players?" the letter asks. "Ever heard of the 8-and-10-semester high school rule? How many boys can play in high school until they are 18? Has the Interscholastic League killed our football?"

This is easy to answer. The boys were no older in other years when the Southwest Conference made a good showing in 18-year age limit in the Texas Interscholastic League for a long time. It wouldn't be having its effect only this year. In fact, there now is a 19-year age limit and a 10-semester rule.

While other states may have higher age limits for high school football, it is doubtful if the boys in the colleges are older than those in Texas and the Southwest. A boy finishes high school these days when around 18 - that is, if he follows the normal course.

The Southwest Conference should make no alibis for its poor showing this year. It just didn't have the football teams - the cycle had run out. It'll come back - and with 18-year-old boys.

Bears Drill Hard While Other SWC Members Take It Easy

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

Baylor's Cotton Bowl pointing to the annual Baptist-Methodist tussle with Southern Methodist Saturday in Dallas, worked hard again Tuesday after heavy scrimmages Monday.

For the most part, the rest of the Southwest Conference members took it fairly easy.

The University of Texas Longhorns voted to represent the conference against the University of Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl game - and surprised nobody.

Both the Longhorns and the Texas Aggies were idle Tuesday since neither team plays Saturday and will wait until Wednesday to start getting ready for their traditional grudge game Thanksgiving Day.

Texas emerged from their 147 win over Texas Christian last week in good shape and Texas A&M hopes to have Ray Graves back at quarter and Pete Mayeaux back at half when the annual Texas-Texas A&M classic rolls around. Graves was hurt a fortnight ago in the game with SMU and Mayeaux suffered a neck injury in the game with Arkansas last week.

While Baylor went right into hard work preparing for the Mustangs, the Methodist watched moving pictures of last year's SMU-Baylor tussle, and called it a Texas Christian-getting ready for Rice was due some heavy work Tuesday after a light workout yesterday. Rice, the Frogs' opponents Saturday, scheduled long workouts Tuesday and Wednesday to give the Owl seniors a chance to win their first game from the Christians.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, still groggy from their 27-17 loss to SMU last week, scheduled heavy workouts Tuesday for their final game of the season Saturday with the University of Tulsa. The Porkers called off drills Monday when rain chased them under cover.

Phillips Meets Dumas In AA Top Attraction

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Phillips and Dumas, two of the top teams of Class AA schoolboy football and both undefeated, met and unworried except about each other, clash at Phillips Friday night in one of the season's feature games.

Unfortunately they are in the same district - No. 1 - and only one of them will be able to move into state-wide play.

This is the only battle of unbeaten teams in the state this week as Class AA decides all district championships preparatory to the fight for the state title.

15 Champs Decided

Fifteen district champions have been determined and 16 more will be by Saturday. There are 31 districts in Class AA.

District champions decided are: District 4 - Seymour, 5 - Stamford, 6 - Tahoka, 7 - Graham, 15 - Clarksville, 16 - Center, 17 - Jasper, 20 - Huntsville, 21 - Lavaca, 22 - Killen, 25 - Bay City, 27 - LaMarque, 29 - Yoakum, 31 - Arkansas Pass, 32 - Weslaco.

Arkansas Pass and Weslaco already have arranged their bi-district game. They will meet at Alice, Nov. 23.

Class AA might have the same finalists as last season although neither of those teams - Arlington and Lavaca - appear anything like as strong as in 1951. But Lavaca, which lost to Arlington in the finals, already is back for state play and Arlington can make it if it beats Mineral Wells at Mineral Wells Friday night. This game decides the District II title.

Ten Perfect Records

There are 10 undefeated, untied teams left in Class AA. They are Floydada, Phillips, Dumas, Stamford, Terrell, Mt. Pleasant, Center, Killen, Huntsville, and Wadley.

Farmer Jones Murdock Seeks Revenge Over Ivan Kalmikoff

Tickets for tomorrow night's wrestling show at the Southern Club which pits Ivan Kalmikoff and Farmer Jones Murdock in the feature attraction will go on sale Wednesday morning at 9 at the Sportsman's Store.

The duets will remain on sale at the store until 5 p.m.

Kalmikoff is the current Southwestern Junior Heavyweight champ but he will not risk his title in tomorrow's clash.

Both Kalmikoff and Murdock fought in last week's main bout. They were on opposing teams in a tag-team match and Kalmikoff, who was teamed with Jack O'Reilly, was on the winning team. Murdock was teamed with his brother, Frankie Hill.

The third fall decision in last week's bout was viciously protested by the Murdock brothers but to no avail. Farmer Jones thus will be out to get revenge over the Mad Russian.

Frankie Murdock will appear in the semi-final event, going against popular Tommy Martindale from Amarillo and Milwaukee.

Both the main and semi-final events will be the best-two-out-of-three falls. The main event will have a one-hour time limit while the semi-final will be limited to 45 minutes.

Meeting in the preliminary will be Gust Johnson and George Overhus. The show begins at 8:15.

Millard Crawford of Garland said he killed a 14-pointer in the Possum Kingdom area. Junior Hendricks of Waco got his season's limit, a six and eight pointer, in 15 minutes near Fairfield.

And 11-year-old Gene Rowell of Austin killed a nine-point buck with his .22 rifle. It was the lad's first shot at a live target.

Dodgen says a lot of out-of-state hunters are in the state. He estimates about 150,000 to 200,000 Texans will try for a deer before the season ends Dec. 31.

New Head Of Hwy. 83 Group

CANADIAN (Special)—Clarie Calaway, veteran Canadian lumberman and civic leader, was elected president of the Texas division of the U. S. Highway 83 Association at a recent meeting of the national association at Garden City, Kansas.

Canadian citizens have long taken an active part in striving for the betterment of the two transcontinental highways that cross the Canadian River here—U. S. 83 which runs from Canada to Mexico and U. S. 80 from the East to the West Coast—and for the past several years Canadian men have served in official capacities in both these highway associations.

It is believed efforts of these highway groups are largely responsible for such improvements as the new bridge now under construction that will carry these highways across the Canadian river here.

Warren Harrington, manager of a tourist court here, is a director, and Howard Buckingham of Pampa is president of the Texas division of U. S. Highway 60 Association.

Good Season Predicted For Deer Hunters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They were bringing home the venison in Texas Tuesday.

The deer hunting season moved into its third day. And hundreds of sharp-shooting Texans were hauling carcasses of freshly killed bucks to their freezers.

But the big six-week season had a long way to go. Favored areas of the state still echoed rifle shots Tuesday as other hunters went after their limit.

Good Season Ahead

Generally, it's going to be a good season, according to Hovey Dodgen, Texas Game Commission executive secretary.

Dodgen said at Austin the total kill might exceed the average. And despite the long drought, the deer are fat, probably because they've been eating acorns, Dodgen noted.

A norther whipped through the state was viewed as a boon to hunters. That's because cooler air will doubtless make the elusive deer friskier - and more susceptible to showing up in a man's gunnysack.

Dodgen said don't let the unusually large numbers of carcasses brought to ice houses during the first two days of the season fool you. He says this doesn't necessarily mean a lot more deer are being killed this season.

Warm Weather Helps

Sunday and Monday were warm over most of Texas and hunters brought their game in as fast as they killed it. Had there been an opening-day cold snap, like last year, Dodgen added, deer hunters probably wouldn't have hurried to town so quickly.

That's why Dodgen believes the season's kill will be good but not as great as indicated by the first two days' reports.

Thus far there have been two fatal hunting mishaps. Both occurred Sunday. Two other hunters died of heart attacks Monday.

About 200 deer carcasses were in a Kerrville storage vault, according to Kenneth Force, outdoors editor of the Dallas Morning News. Forty deer were reported in storage at Fairfield and 368 at Llano.

About 600 killed

About 600 bucks were reported bagged in Gillespie County, in the Hill Country, opening day. But hunters were doing all right in North Texas, too. Game Warden Red Burks estimated 200 fat and lazy bucks were killed in Red River County. Another 100 were reported bagged in the White Oak bottoms of Hopkins County.

Millard Crawford of Garland said he killed a 14-pointer in the Possum Kingdom area. Junior Hendricks of Waco got his season's limit, a six and eight pointer, in 15 minutes near Fairfield.

And 11-year-old Gene Rowell of Austin killed a nine-point buck with his .22 rifle. It was the lad's first shot at a live target.

Dodgen says a lot of out-of-state hunters are in the state. He estimates about 150,000 to 200,000 Texans will try for a deer before the season ends Dec. 31.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE

Marshal L. Shepherd of Myrtle Beach, S. C., wants to know something about the origin and development of the fish hook.

According to Shepherd, the Congressional Library has nothing on the subject, so I'll try to bring you neo-historians up to date.

Double hooks were used before single hooks, but this was long before the appearance of the modern hook as we know it today. No one knows exactly when fish hooks were first used by man, but the first hook-like instrument recorded in history was the gorge.

During the Stone Age the gorge was made of wood, stone, flint, bone or shell. Sharpened at both ends, it was buried lengthwise in the bait. A line was tied around the middle of the gorge and when the fish swallowed the bait, a pull on the line crossed the gorge in the fish's stomach so that he couldn't eject it. In a sense you might call this a double hook.

At any rate, the next step was a more positive one, and the primitive angler found that the gorge was more effective when bent up on each side. The time he realized the curved point was superior—it was around 500 B.C.—the single hook came into existence.

Shortly afterward—a few thousand years—a barb was added. The barb was simply a sharp piece of wood lashed to the hook near the point. Samples of these crude hooks, but having ivory barbs, may be seen in museums among the weapons and fishing equipment gathered from Indian and Eskimo tribes of the Far North in comparatively recent times.

Many unusual types of primitive fish hooks have been unearthed in various parts of the globe. The early Chinese used a different version of the gorge, for instance, a splint of bamboo tied in a flexed or bent position. When the line was pulled, the splint straightened out and jammed in the fish's stomach. Later attempts in other parts of the globe are whale bone, reindeer horn, and wild boar tusk hooks all polished with some scraping instrument.

In this country, early people used a cactus spine hook, which was tempered with heat and moisture. The Polynesians made hooks of human bone and then made a bronze gorge with a U-shaped bend in the center for tying on the line.

Even today, in out-of-the-way places, primitive hooks are still in use. In some cases these fish snatchers are more effective than the moderns, because they are designed for highly specialized commercial angling.

When the Chinese made the first steel needles (12th Century) the groundwork was laid for commercial hook making. The fish hook industry, large as it is, is carried on principally in only three countries today: Norway, America, which has more recently entered the field, and England, the home of the oldest factories in the fish hook world.

Problems Ahead

The embittered, high-powered campaigning that marked the closing weeks of the presidential race largely drove from the headlines many a news story of long-pull significance — even as it diverted public attention from developments of top importance to the entire world. High on this list have been the course of the cold war and the status of the hot war in Korea.

Certain facts seem to be self-evident. First, the idea, which was hopefully held some time ago in various quarters, that the Soviet Union wished to come to some sort of reasonable terms with the United States, no longer has any credence. It is clear that the only terms in which the Politburo is interested are those which would work 100 per cent to Russia's advantage. In his last major speech, before the U. N. General Assembly, Vyshinsky followed the standard Soviet line for well over an hour, accusing this country of practically every crime in the calendar, including the germ warfare charge, and the assertion that the Korean war was being deliberately prolonged so as to profit American billionaires who lust for blood money.

Second, current Soviet strategy has as its basic aim the splitting of the Western powers, to be followed ultimately by the isolation of the U. S. This certainly isn't a new technique, but the work is being intensified. Soviet officials are being very polite these days to certain of the Western nations — particularly those in which there are substantial anti-American blocs, and in which the governments are something less than stalwart in their allegiances. The officials are trying hard to sell the idea that Russia has no designs on these nations, and wants to be friends.

Third, Russia is going all out to strengthen and harden her agents and sympathizers in the Western countries, with special emphasis on the U. S. The American Communist party has in large part gone underground. It is reported that membership requirements have been greatly stiffened — no weak sisters are wanted. It is also reported that Russia's system of schooling her foreign agents is really in high gear. The curricula is an extensive one, including everything from propaganda techniques to sabotage of industrial plants, power and rail systems, and other key installations.

Fourth, the problem of what to do about Communists in our government is more crucial than ever. The testimony of Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, head of our top intelligence agency, in this regard was most revealing. Gen. Smith, an extremely able officer who was Eisenhower's chief of staff during World War II and afterwards ambassador to Russia, said that Communists had wormed their way into important places in his agency and elsewhere. Also revealing is the charge of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that American Communists have gained key positions in the United Nations Secretariat.

Last, but certainly not least, it is clear that we are as far from a Korean truce as ever, and no one in a responsible position has any definite plans for ending the bloody struggle, and that the Kremlin will do everything possible to keep it going and to force us to spend material and manpower there in an endless stream.

The campaign is over, the candidates have said their say, and the people have supplied the decision. But the great problems confronting the American government and the chosen representatives of the American people remain.

Convincing Facts

If you listened only to the arguments of those who favored socialized medicine or some variant of it — such as Federal compulsory health insurance — you'd be justified in reaching the conclusion that our standards of medical care are disgracefully low, and that little or nothing has been done to improve them. Actually, under free medicine, the past half century has been a period of amazing progress in prolonging life, and reducing the ravages of some of the worst bacterial killers the world has ever known.

In 1900 the mortality rate was 17.2 deaths per 1,000 population — in 1949 it was 9.7. The population doubled in this time, but the number of persons over 65 quadrupled. And life expectancy, according to the actuaries, rose from 47.3 years to 67.6.

Even these figures, experts say, underestimate the progress that has been made, for the reason that they cannot take into consideration constantly improving health conditions that may further lengthen life. It is manifestly impossible to accurately chart the average age at death of infants born in any given year until all have died. What is probably a more accurate comparison is that in 1900 death occurred at the average age of 36.9 years, while by 1948 the figure had jumped to 58.6 years — a gain of almost 60 per cent.

Many factors helped make this record. None was more important than a vast increase in medical knowledge — along with ever-improving care of the sick. Our health standards in this regard are infinitely better for the most part than those nations where medicine is socialized or politically-controlled. Here is a case where the facts speak for themselves.

How Confused Can Ministers Become

When I learned that several Presbyterian and Methodist ministers in Orange County, Calif., were opposing relieving non-profit grade schools from taxation, I could not help but wonder how un-Christian ministers can become. The same feeling came to me when I read E. Stanley Jones' books.

I could not help but think of these ministers when I read an editorial in "Christian Economics" under the heading of "The Gospel of Christ vs. the 'Social Gospel'." I think it well describes these ministers. I quote:

"The Gospel of Christ seeks to save the individual from sin, to make of him a new man with a sensitive conscience who tries to open his life to the leading of the Holy Spirit and to follow the highest and the best he knows."

"The social gospel would save men, not by internal regeneration — that is, being born again, but by the material means of giving them goods taken in from others."

"The social gospelist covets the wealth of those having more than the average, and proposes to seize it by force for distribution to those having less than the average. The social gospelist says to others: 'If you will not use my conscience as a rule to govern your conduct, we will forcibly compel you to use it. We will take from you by force and give to others what we think is right and without regard to your conscience or opinion.'"

"Jesus never did that. He sought to sensitize the conscience of all and not to force His own conscience upon others."

"When goods are forcibly taken from one and given to another, there is no salvation for either. On the contrary, covetousness, avarice and hatred are encouraged. 'You cannot teach the coercion, violence and theft of the welfare state — of the social gospel — and expect people so indoctrinated to hold sacred and to abide by other parts of the moral law.'"

"You cannot preach successfully the gospel of loving one's neighbor on Sunday, if at the same time you are planning to do and despoil him with confiscatory taxation on Monday."

"You cannot win respect and adherence to the whole gospel of salvation from sin, if you violate the social gospel of despoliation. 'You cannot choose which parts of the moral law you will observe and which you will violate, and expect the fruits of righteousness to accrue on that portion which you observe and no punishment to follow on that portion which you violate.'"

"No part of the moral law can be violated with impunity. The moral law applies to the economic affairs of men the same as it does in other relationships of life. Economic laws are a part of the laws of God, as are the laws of physics, chemistry and moral law. Violation of any of them exacts its penalty. Imposing Their Own Conscience On Others"

"Those who would substitute their own laws for God's laws, who would impose their own conscience as a governor for the actions of others; those who would substitute the social gospel for the Gospel of Christ, which is the fruit of right, might well be likened unto the false prophets and false teachers described in the second chapter of II Peter."

"We agree that Peter was not speaking of this particular matter, but if he had been doing so could he have stated the case more forcefully. Consider a few passages from this great chapter."

"But there were also false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you. . . ."

"And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you. . . ."

"Can anyone deny that the merchandise of the social gospel or the welfare state is covetousness? Or that he trades wealth seized by force in return for political support?"

"Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings while they feast with you. . . ."

"The advocates of the social gospel, alias the welfare state, occupy high positions in the councils of the Christian churches and feast with you while 'sporting themselves with their own deceivings. . . ."

"Which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam. . . ."

"These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest. . . ."

"For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh. . . ."

"While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption; for of whom a man is overcome, of the same he is brought in bondage. . . ."

"Can any real student of the matter deny that the welfare state, with its promise of liberty, leads in the end to the coercion and bondage of the totalitarian state?"

"Have you seen a better description of those who desert the Gospel of Christ for the social gospel than the following words of St. Peter?"

"For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning. . . ."

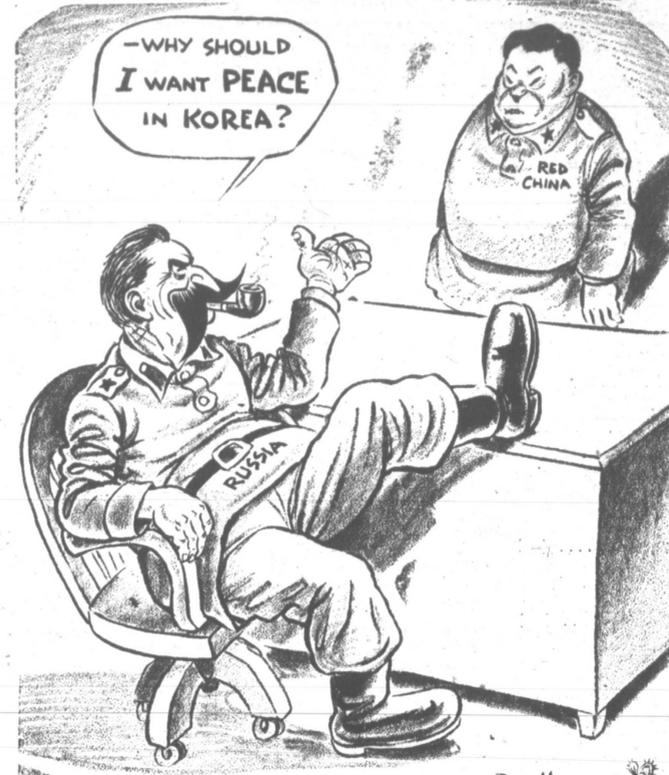

"For it had been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, then, after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered unto them."

"Because these ministers are violating moral law is undoubtedly the reason they hide behind their tax exempt pulpit to preach their 'social gospel' and refuse to permit their fallacies to be questioned."

National Whirligig.. Ike Must Face Fact That UN Is On The Brink Of Disaster

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A grave problem confronting the incoming Eisenhower administration must be the recognition that the United Nations, the only remaining bridge between the free and the slave worlds, is tottering because it has generated disillusionment abroad and in the United States.

In U. N. circles there is a growing belief that it must be scrapped or strengthened, and only the United States can undertake that task.

Trygve Lie's resignation and his despairing farewell address, as well as the revelation that Communist sympathizers have served on the staff of the U.S. delegation, have precipitated a crisis recognized but not advertised at New York and Washington. Members of Congress are now questioning openly the usefulness of the international body.

U. N. A PAWN IN COLD WAR — It has been criticized by the American Legion on the ground that Russian obstruction, as exemplified in its veto power, blocks any constructive action for world peace or economic restoration. It has been assailed by the Daughters of the American Revolution because it jeopardizes the sovereignty of our federal and state governments.

Foreign members share our disappointment. France threatens to walk out if the U. N. dares even to debate its disputes with Tunisia and Morocco. The Asian-Latin American bloc consistently lines up against the Anglo-American faction with the argument that Washington and London have made the U. N. a pawn in the cold war with Russia.

AMERICAN APATHY — But it is American apathy which constitutes the most ominous threat, although both presidential candidates declared their support of the U. N. and the theory of collective security embodied in regional treaties, this was probably the least effective issue with the voters.

What bothered 60 million voters was the organization's failure to achieve either a victory or a peace in Korea, not to mention Malaya, Burma and Indo-China.

Another nationwide grip of the spectacle of the Soviet, although a key member of this peace-loving body, waging war against several fellow members.

KEYSTONE OF FOREIGN POLICY — U. N.'s decline in prestige at home is attributed by American attaches and correspondents stationed at New York headquarters to other causes than its palpable failures and Russian recalcitrancy. It is in this field that Eisenhower may be able to improve conditions.

in the first instance, both F. D. R. and Truman oversold and magnified the organization's possible contributions to international order, justice and peace.

Disregarding Moscow's hostility, they made the organization of the U. N. the keystone of their foreign policy, and as such described it as a partisan achievement. Thus the voters' repudiation of Truman foreign program was an indirect criticism of the United Nations.

AMERICAN DELEGATION — The American delegation to the U. N. has never been a particularly forceful group of individuals, even though it includes such distinguished figures as Warren Austin and Eleanor Roosevelt.

The Russian representatives, Malik, Gromyko and now Vishinsky, have frequently outmaneuvered and outtalked them. As a publicity forum, it has been of more advantage to Stalin than to Truman or Acheson.

the presence of Red sympathizers on our staff, as disclosed by a congressional committee, may have been partially responsible for these failures. The prospective shakeup of the State Department after Jan. 20 may correct that situation, especially if Eisenhower names more effective delegates.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

On hearing something about "we've had doctors in our family for generations" or "So-and-so's father, grandfather and great-grandfather were all musicians," John Quale Cannon is tempted to smile. He knows that the passing along of trades and professions does not always hold true.

If it were true in his case, he would be a newspaperman. John Cannon's father was editor of the Salt Lake City "Deseret Evening News" and his grandfather was one of the founders. John had a spare time job as a reporter while attending the University of Utah.

However, to John Cannon, freedom to choose one's profession or occupation was more than just a statement. To him, an individual's free choice and resulting contentment was all-important.

After combining newspaper work with his law training, Cannon worked for various branches of the government for 15 years and then went into private industry, joining RCA Victor's legal staff. Last May 9, he had the high post of secretary of the parent company, Radio Corporation of America.

Following the occupational groove in families is all right for some people," says John Cannon. "But I had other ideas." To John, the recognition of an individual's right of choice, with respect to other matters as well as professions, is one of our most cherished rights.

Rather than being told "You must do this kind of work. . . .," an individual decides for himself and then goes ahead, to the best of his abilities. John Quale Cannon made good use of his abilities and privileges.

American delegation to the U. N. has never been a particularly forceful group of individuals, even though it includes such distinguished figures as Warren Austin and Eleanor Roosevelt.

the presence of Red sympathizers on our staff, as disclosed by a congressional committee, may have been partially responsible for these failures. The prospective shakeup of the State Department after Jan. 20 may correct that situation, especially if Eisenhower names more effective delegates.

HONEST APPRAISAL — A honest appraisal of U. N.'s seven-year record, although neither its friends nor enemies agree on the conclusion, shows that it has been something less than a success. Although comparisons are dangerous, the ill-fated League of Nations had hung up a better record of achievement over a similar period, even without U. S. membership and support.

The U. N., for instance, has accomplished nothing for international disarmament, especially atomic control. It has not been able to organize the proposed mobile, international army as a police force. It has not settled the problem of "colonialism" to the satisfaction of the great powers or the victims of this system.

It intervened in Korea in only a "token" manner simply because Russia happened to be boycotting the Security Council at the moment. It has not been able to settle conflicts there or in other sections of the world.

Fair Enough . . . Government Employees Should Wear Tags Of Identification

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Every employee of every phase of government in our country should be compelled to wear a colored tag on his lapel, a badge, or some other device, on duty or on his or her own time. This includes the President, the Supreme Court, the ten million sedentary workers in federal buildings, county seats and city halls, highway laborers, and all commissioners, deputies, administrators and trial examiners, except only agents of the FBI and Secret Service and police detectives within reason.

This reform would bring the people with stunning proof that we are tilling much of our time to carry a ruinous payroll. As long as a county judge, a congressman or a field agent of the Internal Revenue is permitted to hide the appearance of a productive taxpayer, the terrible truth is hidden from the people whose earnings are always under a first lien for their support. If we could observe that one person in 19 in any average crowd is in fact parasitic we would find a way to remove it.

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

The trouble with having a lot of money, apparently, is that few brides go with it and those who have it may run loose in a maverick way doing hideous damage. If you think this is going to be a socio-economic piece today you are wrong. It is only going to be a sad look at a young man who blew $150,000 cash in a theater, venture and ended up with nothing more than committing murder on an as fine and lusty a sample of American folk song as there is around: "Frankie and Johnny."

I think most of us were brought up on "Frankie and Johnny," and most of us took it to our hearts in the same series of progressive steps: we learned when we were young enough to think of it as a really fly stuff, shocking and daring. Then as we grew a little older, it became something to sing at parties late in the evening when the boys were flowing and the pretty girls all looked beautiful while the plain girls looked real pretty. Finally, as maturity came, we recognized it and treasured it for what it is: a charming, wonderful and loony folk song born of a colorful era and gaudier times.

Now young William de Lys, with a load of loot and a burning wish to convert it into a fortune, is in Greenwich Village into a sparkling jewel box of drama, for which no one successfully can see him since dreams don't come under the law, decided to give "Frankie and Johnny" with live actors and actresses and have them play out the noted plot: Frankie loves Johnny, Johnny is two-timing Frankie, Frankie hears of the double-cross and Nellie Bly, she picks up a 44, goes to the saloon, asks for her boy friend's whereabouts, learns where he is, goes there, shoots him down, makes him bleed, she finishes him, and then willingly, happily faces the noose. Simple, as simple as "Casey Jones" and twice as delicious.

Mrs. de Lys cleaned the theater out well to wit, the Beale of East 11th floor, fine, comfortable seats with lots of leg room, draped walls and ceiling in gun-metal stain running a horrid price per yard, installed a small but efficient stage with a semi-circular drape curtain, and then put up an orchestra platform to the side, where, on Opening Night, a fine, snazzy six-piece outfit beat out the blues with good stomp and effect. They were the best things in the show and a boy in the brass section had a trumpet solo to remember. When he got hold of the Beale of East St. Louis," he walked way down deep with it and came up slow.

The trouble with Mr. de Lys is that he took the money and ran to the Ozarks, and instead of giving "Frankie and Johnny" a good rowdy dramatization he gave it a death-blow. Indeed, it was so bad that the show only played the one night. It never reopened for the second show, which is a shame, because that kind of show deserves to be done with loving care and to run forever. The humor was heavy and stumbling, the girls tried hard but never looked like anything but hired actresses trying to be what the girls in the song are. The boys weren't any better, and although they talked big they didn't act big and what the girls didn't do to mangle the show the boys finished.

The chances are that Mr. de Lys is going to be able to dredge up another bundle of loot on the pretense that if you can get hold of $150,000 once it isn't too difficult to do it again. If he does, I hope he engages some shrewd Broadway advice to go along with his pretty little idea. It would be much more than money was some tough, cigar-chomping uptown boy with a hard head and no nonsense to shout and yell and beat showmanship in the richers opportunity that has come along for years. "Frankie and Johnny" had a ready-made audience of literally millions, if only it had had one ounce of showmanship.

As it is, alas, that gamey old song is gone forever as a show item. Which is too, too bad.

disputes in Israel, Indonesia and in Pakistan, although certain basic difficulties remain unresolved. But it was able to do so only because all and weak nations were involved as was true of the League of Nations. It has fallen down on all the big jobs.

All feminine branches of the Armed Services should be wiped out. They are an affliction, inappropriate to our chivalry and absurdly expensive. A few months ago the army "released" a photograph of a couple of ladies' tails with the tails of the captain and major of a special quartermaster branch, fitting a couple of WACS with a new design. A hell of a business for a captain and a major!

Every three months a bevy of professional models strut for the new uniforms for women. Women never necessary in any emergency. The manpower they were said to have saved in the big war was squandered a thousand times over on featherbedding, whistle-jumping strikes and snug harbors for slackers, most of them captains or better. In various "intelligence" layouts, T. H. B. had his heroes but it also had a large proportion of fakers planted by friends in Washington so that they could duck the draft and combat.

Army and Navy Nurse corps should be abolished and male nurses should be substituted. Their highest rank should be that of warrant. Women nurses shove the dirty work of nursing off onto males, called orderlies, anyway, and their pay and perquisites are a silly extravagance.

The Veterans' Administration should bar all patients suffering from liquor complaints, wounds suffered in saloon brawls, backache, lassitude and senile decay. A veteran has no more right to free hospital service and all that that extra means than a non-veteran for any ailment not honestly chargeable to something that happened when he was under arms. Non-service ills of a service veteran should be regarded as his own hard luck. If he must have free treatment, he deserves it the same that is available to non-service citizens.

Let us talk sense about expense. Bored—You're really a very pretty girl. Silly—Now, now! You'd say so even if you didn't. Bored—Sure. And you'd think so even if I didn't say so.

Grace Friend:

Grace Friend: My goodness, you'll tackle any kind of question from baby sitting to old married folks, now won't you? Well I see you don't usually pull any punches in your answers, and I would vote for you if you would run president. Now comes Grandma with a scorch for the poor man who wants to go to the end of the road in this world. He knows of no such pleasures in the next.

Grandma says the lady is worn out. Wonder if she has read in the Good Book that Hannah conceived and bore a son at the age of 96? Medical men say there is no such thing as too old. At any age an attractive wife can still interest her husband and can enjoy all of the pleasures of married life.

If the woman will read the article in Readers Digest on page 6 she will get some dope on married life. The author knows her way around and should get a prize.

I think women of today are self centered. They don't give enough consideration to the provider of the home and they take exception at the least little thing.

You have a lot of touching love tales by teen-agers. They should skip love at least until they are dry behind the ears. They should get some contact with the world and life before they fall for the mushy stuff.

Pat said that whiskey improves with age and so does humanity.

LIKES ADVICE

Dear Grace Friend

I enjoy your column very much. Mrs. H. F. makes me mad. Don't you think, Dear Grace that she was impudent to advise a man or a married couple what to do? Mr. L. E. is a healthy normal man, something to be proud of at his age when so many younger men are worn out from various excesses.

Mrs. H. F.'s light must have gone out years ago. I give three cheers for your answer to Mr. L. E. man has to woo a woman to gain her love no matter what their age. His love gives life to the vow they made so long ago.

It gives me hope for a better partnership when I get to that age. A man should never be too old to love the man she married.

There is some justification in stepping out when there is no warmth in the home.

White Fruit Cake

1-2 pound butter
2 cups sugar
4 cups flour
1 cup milk
3 teaspoons baking powder
White of 3 eggs-well beaten
1-2 pound candied pineapple
1 pound candied cherries
1 pound citron
1 pound pecans
1-2 pound almonds
Leave cherries and pecans whole.

The almonds may be chopped or left whole. Cut candied fruit into one-cube cubes. Grate fresh coconut. Combine fruits and nuts and sprinkle with flour. Cream butter; add sugar gradually and beat until well blended and light. Sift flour, measure and combine with baking powder. Add flour and milk alternately to the mixture, starting and ending with flour. Add fruits and nuts. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Grease pan; line with waxed paper or heavy brown paper. Grease paper. This helps prevent the crust from becoming too brown, thick, and dry during baking. Bake in a slow oven 250 degrees F. The baking time depends on the size and shape of the loaf. Heart Cases Plugged Into AC Outlet

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—A method of keeping people alive by virtually plugging them into an AC electrical outlet has been described by the New England Journal of Medicine.

The regional medical publication says that to "hook up a patient in 'simple' and describes it this way.

A thyronator stimulator, about the size of a table radio—"which provides the missing heartbeat"—is plugged into an ordinary alternating current electrical outlet. It converts the electricity into waves or impulses.

Needles Carry Pulse

Then hypodermic needles connected to the machine are inserted into each side of the patient's chest.

"The needles carry the electric pulse through the thick outer skin which is resistant to electric current," the Journal of Medicine says. "The electrical impulse then travels from a negative electrode, clamped on one needle, across the heart to a positive electrode on the other needle."

"The paper says that 'if the heart can be kept beating and pumping blood over a period of time, there is a good chance that the normal heart beat will resume again.'"

The article adds, however, that "if the heart beat stops for long the patient dies."

Two Already Saved

The new method of giving failing hearts a second chance to take up normal functions was developed by Dr. Paul M. Zoll, associate in medicine at the Harvard Medical School and chief of the cardiac clinic of the Beth Israel Hospital.

He said in his published report that the lives of at least two patients already were saved by this method.

The heart of one patient was kept pumping by electrical impulses for five straight days.

"Whenever the electric stimulator was stopped, the heart beat failed. During a period of 62 hours, not a single natural heart beat or a single ventricular muscle was observed when the electrical stimulator was turned off.

Started Beating

After 82 hours, the heart started beating slowly by itself. Electrical impulses were used to speed up the beat from time to time. Eight days after the treatment began, the patient's heart was pumping adequately on its own."

It was reported that "standstill, or stopping of the heart beat," occurs as a medical emergency in severe cases of heart disease, in shock or drowning, and rarely during anesthesia or surgery. In these cases," the report said, "the new method provides a quicker and simpler method" than by injecting the drug epinephrine directly into the heart muscle or cutting open the patient's chest and massaging the heart by hand.

Plymouth Cuts Four Prices

DETROIT — Four of the outstanding cars in the new 1953 Plymouth line are priced substantially lower than in 1952. John P. Mansfield, Plymouth Motor Corporation president, announced today, and no models are increased in price despite advances in engineering and design.

Substantial reductions have been made in the factory retail price at factory, Detroit, Mich., of the 1953 Cranbrook Belvedere and Cranbrook Convertible. The convertible at $2120, is priced $38.08 lower than the 1952 model and the Belvedere, at $1975, has been reduced $78.46.

The Plymouth Suburban, which appeared in the 1952 Concord line with a price of $2002.06, is available in the Cambridge line for 1953 and is priced at $1925. The Savoy, which also was a Concord model in 1952 selling at $2117.13 is available in Plymouth's Cranbrook line for 1953, priced at $2058.

Prices of the 1953 Cranbrook 4-door sedan, Cranbrook Club Coupe and Cambridge 4-door sedan are unchanged or nominally reduced.

The Cambridge club sedan and the Cambridge business coupe are new in the 1953 Plymouth line, which does not include the Concord models offered in 1952.

Survey Reveals North Korean Morale At Catastrophic Depths

TOKYO (AP) — An Allied Intelligence survey says civilian morale in North Korea has dropped to "catastrophic depths" and the majority of the population would welcome a U. N. offensive to terminate the war.

The survey, compiled by Gen. Mark Clark's Far East Command, says an all-out Red offensive is extremely remote and nearly impossible from a supply standpoint. The report makes these main points:

North Korea probably would collapse immediately without Russian and Chinese Communist backing.

Troop morale at the Red front is good. But the soldiers are being fed at the cost of near-starvation among civilians.

Cities Abandoned — Near-famine conditions exist in many areas. Much of the civilian population is migratory, looking for food.

About 75 per cent of North Korea's food production is confiscated for the armies. Communist leaders maintain control only through iron-fisted police state methods.

Civilians have all but abandoned the cities. The Red capital, Pyongyang, has only one tenth its prewar population of 500,000. North Korean workers receive the equivalent of 50 cents a day. An ordinary aspirin tablet costs a day's wages.

National Voters Begin Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Board of the League of Women Voters began a week-long meeting here today to lay plans for carrying out program adopted by the league's convention in Cincinnati last May.

The program includes measures to help world peace, with emphasis on use of the United Nations; and means to improve congressional budget procedures, in order to get more responsible and economical federal spending.

Farmers and other civilians are forcibly conscripted to repair roads, rails and fortifications. The North Korean economy is virtually non-existent. Rear area industry is on a shoe-string basis.

North Korea can produce only small arms and light equipment and that in limited amounts. Heavy equipment such as tanks, aircraft, artillery pieces and big shells must come from Russia or Red China.

The report was compiled to determine some of "the broad effects of air power as employed in Korea."

The Reds have been forced to bring in precious generators, auxiliary power from Manchuria to support the Antung MIG fields and nearby industrial installations. Previously Korea exported power to Manchuria.

"A great percentage of the population of Korea is now of the opinion that the increased bombing effort is a prelude to a United Nations offensive," the report said. "Even more important is the attitude of the majority of the population which now would welcome a United Nations offensive to terminate the war."

Live Goose Awaits Eisenhower's Return

NEW YORK (AP) — When President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower returns here tomorrow he will have to decide what to do with:

A live goose, a pair of baby blue undershorts decorated with white elephants, gold golf tees, fishing flies, a white pipe, two cans of grub for fishing, a horseshoe once worn by Kentucky Derby winner Citation, and socks knitted with an "I like Ike" pattern.

These items are among the many gifts arriving here in daily floods at Eisenhower's residence. There is also a pile of 35,000 letters and telegrams.

10,000 French On NATO Airfield Jobs In Europe

PARIS (AP) — In the most gigantic construction job known in postwar Europe, 10,000 Frenchmen are working to build 40 military airfields for defense of the West.

The half-billion dollar project is being paid for by the North Atlantic Treaty Allies. The work is being done almost entirely by French technicians and laborers with French materials.

Although the job has been under way slightly less than two years, the work already equals, in quantity of materials and manpower used, the building of the vast and costly Maginot Line.

A qualified source gave this picture of the present stage of construction: Of the 40 airfields, 25 will have all their runways, taxiways, drainage and electric power outlets — but no hangars, shops or barracks — by the end of the year.

For An Emergency — In other words, these fields will be so they could be used in an emergency by straggling and working in tents. These 25 fields are to have hangars and shops, but maybe not barracks, by the end of 1953.

Fourteen of the 40 airfields will have hangars and shops, but no barracks, by the end of this year. These fields will have barracks and other buildings by the end of 1953.

One airfield — the Royal Canadian Air Force base at Gros

Tenquin — will be complete by the end of the year with barracks, mess and recreation halls and all the trimmings.

Three NATO airfields for French use are expected to be brought up to this top construction level early next year.

So far, among France's NATO allies there are Americans at three airfields and Canadians at one.

Costs $10,000,000 — It costs about 3 1/2 billion francs (10 million dollars) to build a field with concrete runways, taxiways, hangars, shops and underground fuel tanks — but no barracks — an informed source said. This is the stage of development that SHAPE, which sets the airfield specifications, requires of the French builders.

Another 3 1/2 billion francs are needed to finish up an airfield to best peacetime standards with prefabricated barracks, mess halls, theaters, clubs and hospitals.

The cost of the runways, taxiways and electric power terminals, fuel tanks and sometimes hangars is borne jointly by NATO. The rest of the construction is paid by the country using the fuel.

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — The wife of Gen. James A. Van Fleet arrived in Japan by ship today and quickly boarded a special plane to fly to her four-star husband in Korea.

Low Culture Comes To Cultural City From Free-Spending, Easy-Money Yanks

OXFORD, England (AP) — British Reds and red light ladies are cashing in on one of the biggest booms to hit Oxford in centuries — 8,000 American airmen.

Scores of prostitutes have trooped into this ancient cultural city to grab easy money from free-spending Yanks on leave from the three big U. S. air bases nearby.

And a few unpleasant incidents involving Americans and Britons have provided big headlines for the sensational press and fresh propaganda for the Communists' "Yank go home" campaign.

Both U. S. Air Force officials and Oxford city authorities do not believe the situation has reached the serious stage yet. But both are anxious to do something about it.

commanding general of the Third Air Force in Britain, this week began a series of flying visits to all nine major American bases in England to lecture the 45,000 airmen on good behavior.

The three bases in the Oxford area—Upper Heyford, Brize Norton and Fairford—are on the general's itinerary.

The Air Force also has begun "re-orientation" courses on friendly Anglo-American relations. The Air Force action followed a report by a private British-American group which said there is "bad feeling" between American airmen in Britain and the British public. Oxford was one of the areas covered in the group's five-month study.

Prostitution Problem — Both the Air Force and Oxford city authorities insist that the 18,000 American airmen in this area have behaved as well as can be expected. They agree the real problem is prostitution.

A week-end visitor to Oxford finds American airmen by the hundreds crowding the city's main streets, cinemas, restaurants, bars and dance halls. So do the girls—many hardened prostitutes from out of town, others local girls out for a good time.

Scores of the girls are in their early teens. To Americans out for a good time, it's easy to get a girl.

Often there's a bit of free and easy necking under a street lamp or in a doorway. This shocks some of Oxford's older citizens.

Gangs of young toughs, or "spivs," many dressed in American-style "zoot" suits, sometimes roam the streets looking for trouble.

Occasionally, there's a carroum fight, a quarrel over a girl or a drunken argument involving Americans and Britons, but most of these are of minor nature.

To Oxford's small but active Communist cell, it's open season for stirring up anti-American feeling among local British inhabitants.

Ernie Keeling, veteran Communist party organizer for the South Midland district of England, has angers workers at Oxford's big saw. "They ankaiavetu angues workers at Oxford's big motor works and steel plant. He says, "The Yanks have turned Oxford into a city of shame."

Some of the workers listen. But the majority of Oxford citizens don't blame the Americans so much.

They know that Oxford has always had its seamy side, even in Edwardian days.

And the Americans are not blamed directly for the fact that Oxford's rate of illegitimate births last year was seven out of every 100 babies, nearly double the national average. The rate has grown since 1950.

Most authorities believe a better solution to the problem can be found in organizing more and better recreation facilities for the airmen off duty.
