Military Calls Near-Record Number For Army Draft

53,000-Man Goal Is Set For February

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military stepped up its call for draftees Saturday to a level unprecedented since early in the Korean War. It asked Selective Service to induct 53,000 men, all for the Army, in February.

The Defense Department's official explanation for the big levy on manpower was that the terms of service of many men drafted after the outbreak of the Korean War are expiring and their places must be filled.

But it appeared there might be other factors contributing to the largest draft call since the first three months of 1951.

A check of calls since last spring showed some monthly totals as low as 10,000 men. Why the calls were held down when the department knew that a large number of original draftees would be eligible for release this winter and spring was not clear.

Under Pentagon policy, each of the services can submit its estimate of men needed, but the final decision is made by the department's assistant secretary in charge of manpower, Anna Rosenberg. Army sources have declined to disclose what that service's monthly requests to the Defense Department, for transmission to Selective Service, have been.

As has been the case since last May, the Navy, Marines and Air Force have made no requests for draftees, depending on recruiting and re-enlistment to keep their strengths at required levels.

The Army's current strength is about 1,522,000. But in planning to hold the force at about that level, Army headquarters here and in the Far East obviously have had to consider such factors as these:

1. The effect of the soldier rotation program, under which men are brought back from combat and must be replaced by others.
2. The release, in addition to Communist U. S. casualties during a week mounted to an average of about 1,200. For the last (See MILITARY, Page 3)
3. Replacement of battle casualties. This has not been a major factor in recent months, although during the fall offensive of the Communist U. S. casualties during a week mounted to an average of about 1,200. For the last (See MILITARY, Page 3)

Christmas Seals Bring In $2,000

More than $2,000 has been contributed for Christmas seals throughout the county, according to B. R. Nuckols, treasurer of the Gray County Tuberculosis Association.

"Probably a little more" will be received by GCTA by Jan. 1, Nuckols said, although "the sale of seals has slowed up considerably."

A total of more than $2,000 was contributed last year to GCTA, he continued, and this year "we might not reach it—but we still may."

Each year the association sends out sheets of Christmas seals to residents of the county, requesting that they mail back their money for them. They sell for $1 a sheet.

Ferguson Urges Armed Forces To Purge Its Ranks Of Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) Saturday urged the armed forces to "purge their ranks" of known and suspected Communists.

Ferguson, a member of the Senate internal security subcommittee, said subcommittee members "are of the opinion and have some knowledge that there are many Communists among commissioned grades in active service and in the reserve."

Ferguson is the senior Republican member and presumably will head the group if it is continued. Its authority now is scheduled to expire Jan. 1, when it would have to return to the Treasury unexpended balances of more than $300,000 Congress put up to finance its work.

The report argued that "if subversive elements in the United States can be discovered and controlled, there need be no fear of a shooting war in America."

Justice Inquiry Demanded

Investigation Of Tom Clark Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Hillings (R-Calif.) Saturday called for a "full inquiry" into the administration of the Justice Department during the 12 years Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark was in it.

Hillings said Clark should be summoned before a House subcommittee which issued a report Saturday criticizing Clark for what it called an apparent "gross departure from the usual channels of authority" while he was attorney general.

"Many people in Washington regard Mr. Clark as some type of sacred cow because he is a justice of the Supreme Court," Hillings said in a statement. "I do not share this opinion."

"Ivy Tower," a Supreme Court justice should not cling to the sanctity of his ivory tower and deprive congressional committees of the opportunity to obtain necessary information.

Hillings is a lawyer. He also is one of the three Republican members of the seven-man judicial subcommittee which has been investigating the Justice Department for months.

In a report released a few hours before Hillings' statement, the subcommittee said Clark "interfered with routine functioning" of the department in the Kansas City vote fraud case.

The subcommittee also chided Clark, as well as former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath and Peyton Ford, who was Clark's deputy, for what it called an "indifferent attitude."

Hillings declared the subcommittee's report "shows the need for a full inquiry into the administration of the Department of Justice during his Clark's tenure as attorney general and during the time he occupied subordinate positions."

Clark entered the department in 1947 and in 1948 President Truman made him attorney general. He served until 1949, when Truman elevated him to the Supreme Court.

There was some talk a long subcommittee members last October of inviting Clark to appear before the group, nothing ever came of it.

Clark himself has taken no public cognizance of the investigation. In Saturday's report, the House group concerned itself mainly with T. Lamar Caudle, the former assistant attorney general who was fired by Truman in November, 1951, for "outside activities."

Gray Polio Board Gives $2,500 To Augment Amarillo Facilities

A growing polio ward at West Texas Hospital, Amarillo, received a $2,500 shot-in-the-arm here Saturday when the Gray County Chapter of the National Polio Foundation donated a major portion of its 1952 surplus to the institution.

The gift was made yesterday to Potter County polio officials in the Chamber of Commerce offices by Mrs. Arthur Teed, vice chairman of the Gray County chapter.

Donating the money was done in complete accord with the National Foundation, New York, because it will be used to purchase needed equipment for the new ward. When completed, polio workers here said, the ward will offer Pampa residents the most modern and complete polio treatment center in the country and do away with lengthy trips to Warm Springs, Ga., Gonzales and other points where polio is treated.

Surplus of $3,500 The local chapter had been asked by the National Foundation to send its unexpended balances to the National Epidemic Aid Fund at the end of the year. The Gray County Chapter, following a light year in polio cases locally, had approximately $3,500 remaining in its treasury. This, in spite of the fact Texas suffered its worst epidemic of polio in years. In previous years when Gray County was hit hard, mostly 1949 and 1950, it received up to $6,000 in aid from the National Epidemic Aid Fund.

Bob Russell, representative of the National Foundation for North West Texas in Abilene said it was his belief that the donation of $2,500 to the growing center at Amarillo would be of far more benefit in the long run to the residents of this area if it was used there.

The hospital is now in the midst of purchasing equipment with the funds donated by individuals. or (See GRAY POLIO, Page 3)

Accidents Pile Up In City; Surpass One-A-Day Average

Five automobile accidents, involving a total of 12 cars, have been reported by city police within a 24-hour period, raising the 1952 collision toll to 373—seven more than an average of one-a-day for the year.

Two of the cars involved were described by officers as a "total loss." Damages to the others were estimated at $745.

Within minutes Friday night, two accidents were reported to police—a mishap involving four vehicles and another which completely wrecked two cars and sent both drivers to the hospital.

William M. Hale, 30, of Phillips, had stopped in a traffic lane on Hobart, west of Kingmill, about 7:15 p.m., according to police, when three other vehicles following behind tried to pass but were unable to do so because of ice on the street.

Operators of the others were Chester L. Williams, 30, of Surrey; Eugene R. Sidwell, 22, of 915 N. Gray; and Solon J. Wingard, 29, of 517 N. Dwight. No citations were issued and there were no injuries.

Ira T. Clark, 17, of 400 N. Nelson, and Orval L. Adair, 40, of 228 N. Nelson, were headed in opposite directions in the 700-block of Foster, west of Ward, about the same time, police said, when Clark tried to pass another car. (See ACCIDENTS, Page 3)

Condon Is Target Of Committee Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House committee on Un-American Activities asserted Saturday that Dr. Edward U. Condon was not qualified for any position involving national security because of his "propensity" for associating with persons of questionable loyalty.

Dr. Condon, who heard about the committee's report in advance of its release, told reporters in St. Louis today that the committee's "lying dishonesty" toward him was based on "political spite work."

Dr. Condon, who will be installed this week as president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, said he learned from friends in Washington that the House committee "has given the press a statement renewing its attack on me."

"The House committee's lying dishonesty in its attitude toward me is a shocking thing to all decent Americans, especially to my many friends, who know my 12-year record of important service on a wide variety of secret military projects, coupled with the complete absence of any evidence of failure on my part to safeguard security on these projects."

"The committee says my friends are of 'questionable loyalty,' but nobody has questioned it but the committee itself."

"The committee initiated its attack on me because of political spite work for the part I had in bringing about passage of the act establishing the Atomic Energy Commission. It is furious with itself because, after five years of spending thousands of dollars of (See CONDON, Page 3)

Army Recruits 484 From Iron Curtain

FRANKFURT (AP) — The U. S. Army has recruited 484 aliens from 11 countries behind the Iron Curtain. Army authorities reported Saturday.

This is far short of the goal of 12,500 set for the experiment which lets aliens enter the U. S. Army abroad for the first time in history. But at least the program appears to be picking up speed.

In the first year only 220 recruits were sworn in, while 264 have been added in the last nine months. Hundreds of new applications still are pending.

All these volunteers come from Communist-ruled countries. They are willing to fight if necessary even against their homelands in exchange for American citizenship.

Ike May Discuss Stalin Talks With Senate Republican Heads

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower may discuss Premier Stalin's world peace overtures with Senate Republican leaders to get their views on feasibility of conference with the Russians.

That possibility developed as a Eisenhower met at his Columbia University residence Saturday with Lewis W. Douglas, former ambassador to Great Britain in the Truman administration.

The general and Douglas—who backed Eisenhower for the presidency—were together for 30 minutes and Douglas said afterward they had talked "very slantingly" about Stalin's latest peace statement.

Douglas did not elaborate. He said the conference also dealt "briefly" with the forthcoming visit of Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill to the United States.

Churchill is scheduled to arrive in New York on Jan. 5. He plans to confer with Eisenhower here and with President Truman later in Washington.

"We wandered all over—from football to water conservation," Douglas told newsmen after his meeting with Eisenhower. "I was here to renew an old association."

Eisenhower already has announced plans to get together with GOP Senate leaders to discuss the new administration's legislative program.

No date has been announced for the conference, but the general's headquarters said earlier it probably would be held before the 83rd Congress convenes next Saturday.

City Plans Signs For 114 Streets

Orders for enough signs to properly identify 114 additional Pampa street intersections will be placed in a few days by the city following completion of a street survey last week by the Department of Public Works.

The order will consist of 442 name plates and the necessary adapters, spacers and tops to go with them. Delivery is expected, Ray Evans, director of public works said, within 60 to 90 days. Street department employees will install the sign posts.

When the new signs are installed, every developed intersection in Pampa will be equipped with identification markers. At most intersections the name plates will be doubled—back to back—so they can be seen from both directions.

The survey was the second yearly check made on this order (See CITY PLANS, Page 3)

Weather Bureau Plans New Type Tests For Rainmaking

WASHINGTON (AP) — The weather bureau announced today it will make a new and different attempt to see whether man can make rain fall on a big scale.

Instead of trying to make apparently dry skies drop rain, the bureau will go to the wettest place in the United States—the Pacific Northwest—and see how much, if any, wetter it can make it.

The experiments will be conducted from the U.S. Naval Air Station at Sand Point, near Seattle, from late January to May and again during the fall and early winter of 1953. Ferguson Hall, weather bureau specialist in rain-making experiments, will be in charge at Seattle.

"Controlled" Tests
At the start, a Weather Bureau spokesman said, the cloud seeding will take place over the southwest corner of the state of Washington, but the area may be extended or changed.

The idea is to carry out something like a medical experiment, where one group of patients is used as a "control," permitting better scientific judgment of the results.

Like the doctors, the Weather Bureau wants to know not only what happens under treatment, but what would have happened had there been no treatment.

That is why the rainy Pacific Northwest was chosen for the experiment. The area has more rainy days than any other in the United States. This, the announcement said, will give the rainmakers a choice of only a few days when it is raining or practically certain to rain. On some of these "favorable" days planes on loan from the Navy will go aloft to seed rain clouds with the two standard weapons of commercial rainmakers—dry ice pellets and silver iodide fumes.

Some Days, Nothing
On other favorable days, nothing will be done.

In this way, the Weather Bureau spokesman said, it is hoped to discover how much rain falls, if any, when clouds are seeded on days when rainy conditions are present.

The Weather Bureau conducted rainmaking experiments, mostly near Wilmington, Ohio, in 1947 and 1948. It came up unconvincing that rainmaking is practical. The results, according to the Weather Bureau, showed:

1. Seeding could cause changes in cloud structure.
2. It apparently could cause some rain to fall, but how much was not clear.
3. Seeding only "milked" clouds of what rain moisture was at rest in them. That is, it did not set up conditions in which new moist air rushed in, building up new rain cloud formations.

Won't March This Year... Western Europe Feels Kremlin Will Keep The Cold War Hot

By RICHARD O'REGAN
VIENNA (AP) — Western Europe is looking toward the new year and the East with a general conviction that the Russians will hesitate to march in 1953 but will keep the cold war hot.

Many European statesmen, led by Winston Churchill, believe the danger of a shooting war has receded although the Kremlin still seeks Communist domination of all Europe.

Fear Speed-Up
Against this, military men fear a recent speed-up in Russian and satellite military power. The generals, led by Gen. Matthew Ridgway, supreme Allied commander in Europe, caution that the Soviets may be approaching the strength they need to overrun the continent at the same time that Europe relaxes its vigilance.

That confidence is based upon the improved unity of the Western alliance. But crucial days lie ahead for the North Atlantic command, new disagreements within the West. If unity is not preserved, fragile peace may crash into the abyss of atomic war.

Statesmen and soldiers alike agree that whatever else this year brings it will see no let-up in Russia's needling, probing and bullying. But they will have a hard task to keep alive any sense of urgency among masses of Europeans who, more and more, are reassured by Stalin's "peace" talk.

Russia Breeding
Western intelligence, however, agrees the danger has by no means passed. Soviet military manpower and supplies are fast being increased behind the Elbe River. There are an estimated 150 Russian and satellite divisions in Europe. European Russia and her East European puppets. The aim of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was 96 divisions and 9,000 by 1951. But that goal became only a dream in mid-December when NATO cut its 1953 program because of confidence among politicians, combined with public pressure to cut expenses.

In this Russian-encircled eastern-most European outpost of the Western world, some top flight intelligence men appraise the cold war outlook for 1953 as follows:

Russia, rather than the West, controls the situation. It can take the initiative and make the West jump. What Russia will do may depend upon developments within the Western alliance.

The West's unity primarily is based on French-German relations and the planned contribution of 12 German divisions to the European army. If this plan fails, the Atlantic nations will have to scramble to put together a new defensive alliance. Russia will have gained an important victory without war.

Faces Two Choices
She will gain, too, if the West's peace contract with Germany is not ratified, if the Schuman coal-steel pool plan fails, if France and Germany can't solve their differences over the rich Saar Basin or if general unrest continues in North Africa.

But if the peace and European Defense Community treaties are approved, if Europe's economic recovery is speeded, if the situation in North Africa is nailed down, then, these intelligence men say, Russia has two choices for 1953:

First, the Kremlin can set back its timetable for Communist domination of Europe but keep the cold war brewing. This is the expectation of British intelligence which reportedly believes the cold war will last until 1957.

Alternatively, Joseph Stalin may consider that, in view of growing Western strength, it is time to take a calculated risk of war by a series of tough moves to strengthen Soviet positions in Europe. One such move may be a new blockade of West Berlin, or the Soviets may drop the Iron Curtain in strategic Austria.

Whether the Russians act in war or for doubtful peace, intelligence men say there is no doubt that:

1. Russia will continue to rearm its East European satellites, and ribbon with two campaign stars even now have an estimated 1 1/2 million men under arms.
2. World communism will intensify its world-wide "peace" campaign. By this, the Soviets hope to relax more than ever Western efforts to rearm. Further cut-backs in rearmament might leave Europe open for a quick Soviet military adventure or for economic difficulties that could bring a growth of communism.
3. Communist agents will stimulate colonial unrest to drain the armies and economies of Britain, France and Holland.
4. Russia will attempt to end the strategic blockade of the Iron Curtain countries by encouraging more East-West trade.
5. The Kremlin and its puppets will try to win Yugoslavia back into the Eastern fold. Tito and his people are said to be unhappy because they feel they are second-class allies of the West.

few weeks casualties have run between 200 and 400.

The official Defense Department announcement of the February call noted that the rapid expansion of the Army after outbreak of the Korean War required induction of large numbers of individuals, with the peak of 80,000 per month reached in January, February and March 1951.

Replacements Needed

"Now, two years later," the statement said, "these men must be replaced as they complete their two-year period of active service in order to maintain approved strengths. The increase in the call for February over those made during previous months is a direct reflection of these increased losses."

"It also should be considered in light of the plans for earlier release of Army inductees veterans of Korea announced Dec. 22, 1952, by Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr. These release plans will effect increased economies in the assignment and utilization of personnel."

In answer to a question, a Defense Department spokesman said the increased draft call had "no connection whatsoever" with President-elect Eisenhower's recent trip to Korea, where he saw manpower problems first-hand.

Asked about a delay in announcing the February call, the spokesman said it was caused by consideration of the budget for the 1954 fiscal year starting next July 1. He noted that past annual budgets submitted to Congress by the President have included no provision for conducting the Korean War, that being one each year since the war started by supplemental appropriations. Call Held Back

When consideration of the new budget was started, the question of inclusion of funds for the war was considered. Until decision was made to put that request into the initial budget message, the draft call for February was held back, the spokesman said. Usually, the Defense Department attempts to notify Selective Service of its monthly manpower requirement at least 60 days in advance.

To another question, the spokesman said the Selective Service Act imposes no ceiling on the total of the monthly call.

public funds it has not been able to find the slightest evidence of misappropriation on my part.

So it again resorts to the smearing tactics for which it is so notorious.

Disgusting as this committee's antics are, I am sure the country's scientific program is strong enough to forge ahead despite the harm that is done to it by these dishonorable representatives of the people.

Dr. Condon, former director of the National Bureau of Standards, was accused by the committee in 1948 of being the "weakest link" in the chain of security protecting atom bomb secrets.

He said at that time:

"If I am one of the weakest links in the nation's atomic security, this is gratifying information, because I am absolutely reliable and therefore we have nothing to worry about. The country can relax."

A number of officials and Congress upheld Condon's loyalty.

House subversive hunters continued their feud with the former government scientist in their year-end annual report.

organizations, and others. The Gray County donation will be used toward purchase of arm, leg and lid hydromassage equipment; a respiration dome attached to the basic iron lung; a diathermy machine and other items of smaller nature.

Although the ward at North West Texas Hospital is still incomplete insofar as equipment has been concerned, it does have a full-time registered physiotherapist, Mrs. Dennis Webb, who moved there from Children's Hospital, Oklahoma City. Mrs. Webb, a registered nurse, graduated from Mayo Hospital, Rochester, Minn.

Ed Smith, chairman of the Potter County Chapter, National Polio Foundation told reporters:

"This donation will be of great benefit to a lot of people in the Panhandle in the immediate future and will help to make the polio ward at the hospital one of the most modern and complete such wards in the nation."

He said an Amarillo man recently donated sufficient funds to purchase a Hubbard hydrotherapeutic tank, a unit which can easily accommodate a person more than six-foot-tall. Complete immersion of the body for massage treatments can be had with this tank, Smith explained.

Husse Issues Plea

At the same time the donation was made, Warren Husse, chairman of the 1953 fund raising drive in Gray County issued a plea for its support during January and said:

"We were lucky last year, but that doesn't mean we won't have a repeat of what we had in 1951 and 1950. So we cannot afford to be complacent when it comes time to make our contributions to the March of Dimes. An epidemic could come to us this year, just as it has to our neighboring counties last year."

The 1952 March of Dimes amounted to about $16,000 here of which $8,000 was turned over to the National Foundation with the remainder being retained by the Gray County chapter.

After deducting the donation from its balance the local chapter expects to wind up with a balance of a few hundred dollars.

Representing Pampa and Gray County during the short presentation ceremonies here Saturday afternoon were: Evans, Dr. Douglas E. Nelson, county chapter chairman; Mrs. Teed and E. O. (Red) Wedgworth, manager of Pampa Chamber of Commerce; Representing Amarillo were Smith, Dennis Deane, campaign chairman of Potter County for 1953; A. D. Foreman, president of the North West Texas Hospital Board of Directors; and F. S. Walters, superintendent of the hospital.

Manila Stages Sweeping Raids On Subversives

MANILA (AP)—A spokesman for the National Defense Department said several ranking Chinese leaders in the Philippines and at least 200 members of their underground organization were arrested Saturday in sweeping raids.

The Manila Times said nearly 350 persons had been arrested so far.

They included prominent businessmen, teachers and professional men.

The surprise raids climaxed at most two years of preparation, the defense spokesman said. They were made simultaneously in Manila and in several provinces.

The spokesman said another 100 persons may be taken into custody before the raids are completed.

The spokesman for Defense Secretary Ramon Magasaysay said information by William J. Pomeroy, Rochester, N.Y., an American veteran who served with the Communist Huk in the Philippines recently and was captured earlier this year, aided the preparatory work for the drive. Pomeroy is under sentence of life imprisonment.

Adair's condition was reported "good" and Clark has been dismissed from the hospital.

Posts $3,000 Bond For Throwing Acid In Officer's Face

The woman who flung a bottle of lye into the face of G. W. Callahan, city patrolman in The Flats, has posted a bond of $3,000 and been released pending the next meeting of the grand jury.

Fita Mae Washington, who lives in the 500 block of Maple, was charged with molesting by District Attorney Tom Brady before Justice of the Peace J. V. Andrews Friday morning.

Callahan, injured in the eyes and face by the caustic, was reported in "good" condition Saturday night in a local hospital. Earlier, his condition had been called "fair."

Mrs. Washington was released from county jail Friday night, according to Sheriff R. C. Jordan.

The mishap occurred when Ed Johnston and J. B. Pritchett, city patrolmen, and Callahan were breaking up a fight Thursday night in front of the Owl Bar, 403 Maple.

All new developments and fringe streets—those bordering the city limits—are included in the order for signs. Additions within the city limits which have only streets and lots marked off, but have no houses yet, are not included.

The signs will be on 12-foot poles; anchored two feet below ground with the street nameplates standing 10 feet above ground.

Pampa Boys Club Entering Fifth Year Of Operation

JAMES RECEIVES BUILDING CONTRACT — Oren James, president of the Boys Club, is pictured receiving a contract from Warren Hassel, formerly of the Pampa Daily News and now of Station KPBD, for permission to use the old Pampa Daily News building for boxing workouts. The Boys Club has been using the building for the past 18 months. ## Boys Clubbers Meet Clovis In Boxing Duel Here Saturday

The Pampa Boys Club is in its fifth year of operation and the same group of men who originated the club are still devoting their spare time to running the club's activities.

The club, at present, is making it possible for all boys who are interested to compete in the boxing sport. But future plans call for other sports to be added to the program, such as basketball, swimming and other sports.

Oren James is the president of the club. Other officers are Ollie Wilhelm, vice-president; Jack Vaughn, secretary-treasurer; T. J. Watt, boxing coach; and Venus Collum, W. H. Cooper, Ham Luna and A. L. "Red" Weathered, board of directors.

These men have devoted much of their spare time in the past five years to keep the club going. While boxing has paid its way for the most part, there has been times the above men have dug into their own pockets to keep the club in operation. Donations have also come from other Pampa business firms and individuals when the going was the roughest.

The Boys Club, currently, is preparing Pampa boxing enthusiasts for the coming District Golden Gloves here, Jan. 21-22-23. Saturday night the Boys Clubbers meet Clovis in a return match. The two teams broke even in 10 matches at Clovis recently, 5-5.

Win Team Trophy
The Boys Club has won the team trophy at the regional Golden Gloves tournament at Amarillo in the past two years. Last year they won eight out of nine weight divisions in which they were entered.

The Boys Club winners last year and who all are due to defend their titles this year are:
105 — Gary Phillips
112 — Eddie Clemmons
126 — Kenneth Woods
128 — Jimmy Thompson
133 — Bobby Wilhelm
147 — Gene Baird
155 — Floyd Hood
175 — Dick Murray.

The Boys Club furnished one other trophy winner last year in Dan Jameson who was runner-up in the 160 pound division.

T. J. Watt has possibly put in more time with the boys than any other member. Watt, an ex-Golden Glove, drives in from his home, in Skellytown six days a week to hold the boxing workouts from 4 to 6 p.m.

An estimated 50 boys have been working out at the old Pampa News Building, site of the workouts, the past two winters.

Watt puts in equal time with all the boys, Ollie Wilhelm and James assist in the workouts.

Coy Palmer has been named District Golden Gloves director for 1953.

Trophies On Display
Trophies for the district Golden Gloves winners will be put on display at Adington's Western Store after the first of the year. Winners and runnerup in each division will receive trophies. All trophies for the winners and runnerup regardless of the weight division will be the same.

James and the other Boys Club officials still invited any boy interested in taking part in this year's tourney to report to the site of the workouts daily except Sunday.

This year's district Golden Gloves tourney will be held at the Southern Club Sports Arena.

Terrell Batters Yoakum For Title

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Terrell's Tigers who swept through 15 games without a loss, held the Class AA Texas school-boy football championship Saturday.

They won the title with an awesome flourish as they battered Yoakum, 61-15, in the finals here. Lavon Cox, who rambled for 146 yards and scored two touchdowns, led a blistering Tiger attack that rolled up 336 yards on the ground and 95 in the air. But most all of the Tigers accounted for points.

The first seven times Terrell had the ball 31 yards, Yoakum got 50 yards rushing and 208 passing, the latter by talented Quarterback Bobby Manning, who threw for the second Bulldog touchdown with only 15 seconds remaining in the game. It was an 81-yard gainer to Ken Williams.

The first Yoakum score was on a 73-yard drive with John Hamman blasting over from the Terrell one. This came after Terrell had piled up a 26-0 lead.

Yoakum fumbles set up two Terrell touchdowns and a Terrell fumble led to the other in the first period. This one came when Tiger Fullback Wayne Boles dropped the ball as he smacked into the line from the

All-College Cage Field Is Wide Open

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The 17th Annual All-College Basketball Tournament, granddaddy of all the holiday cage meets, opens a three-day stand Monday with one of its sharpest and most wide-open fields.

Four teams, the Oklahoma Aggies, defending champion Oklahoma City University, Tulsa, and Western Kentucky, are expected to put up the biggest fight for the title.

The tourney kicks off Monday with two games in the afternoon and another brace at night. The semi-finals are Tuesday night and the windup Wednesday night.

The opening double-header finds Western Kentucky meeting Idaho and Tulsa testing Wyoming while the night card pits the Aggies and Penn State and OCU and Bowling Green.

Oklahoma A&M is favored to end up in the finals as the Aggies go after their 10th all-college crown.

The Aggies, No. 9 team in the nation, have won seven games in the past season, that a last second defeat by Colorado, 56-55.

Sam Houston Wins Shrimp Bowl, 41-20

GALVESTON (AP) — Sam Houston State College, led by little all-American Don Gottlob, exploded for four touchdowns in the third period Saturday to take a 41-20 victory from Northeastern State of Oklahoma in the Shrimp Bowl football game.

Gottlob combined his passing talents with the all-around ability of Billy Nelson to rout the hitherto undefeated Redmen after the first half had ended, 6-0, in favor of the Texans.

About 3,500 fans saw the rough game from which three players from each team were ejected for fistfuffs.

The 160-pound, cotton-hatched Gottlob completed 15 of 32 passes for three touchdowns and 22 yards while Nelson led the Bearkats in scoring with four touchdowns.

Sports Shots Erratic Year In Texas Sports; SWC Football Hit Lowest Ebb

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

It was an erratic year in Texas sports — away up here, away down there —

Two champions of the Olympic Games headed the accomplishments. The other extreme was the low ebb to which football sunk.

Failure of Dallas to make a go of professional football created more talk than ever the championships Texas athletes won.

For the first time in years there wasn't a Texas golfer to win a national title although Jack Burke took the Vardon Trophy for the best scoring average. It was marked by the virtual retirement from competitive golf of Ben Hogan, the greatest linksmen of history.

The big prizes were international — Walter Davis' victory in the Olympic Games high jump, Shippy Browning's victory in the Olympics diving. Other Texans distinguished themselves in the Olympic Games but Davis and Browning were the only ones to take first places.

Betsy Rawls was the leading money-winner in women's golf. Betty Jameson won the women's division of the George S. May golf tournament at Chicago — the richest prize sought by the feminine linksters. Betty took down $5,000.

The North Texas State golf team won the National Collegiate Championship for the third straight year but Billy Maxwell failed to defend his national amateur title. Don Cherry, the crooner, was the sensation of the national amateur although being eliminated in the semi-finals. The Wichita Falls linkster put more color into the big tournament than anybody to come along in quite a while.

Wharton JC Cage Champs
Wharton County won the national junior college basketball championship, a pleasant surprise.

College football in Texas this year was the poorest in many seasons. The inter-sectional record was worse than mediocre. The only team gaining national renown was East Texas State, which swept through the season undefeated and untied.

Dallas men brought professional football to Texas with a big flourish. There was no doubt as to its stability — the men who got the National League franchise were said to have more money than they knew what to do with and wouldn't mind dropping three-quarters of a million dollars just to get pro football started. But after losing $225,000, these men turned the franchise back to the league. They hadn't expected to lose in the first place, they said, and besides they lost too much.

The fans, it seemed, didn't want pro football like it had been anticipated. Not a game drew as many as 20,000 fans — it takes 25,000 to even pay expenses. Failure of the team to win a single game contributed to the lack of interest among the fans.

But Texans did shine in professional football. Bobby Lane and Doak Walker were keymen in Detroit's surge to its division championship in the National League. Layne was the top back of the season. Walker, out for a long time with injuries, got back just in time to spark Detroit to victory over Los Angeles in the showdown game.

Then, there was Bill Howton, the former Rice star, who was the top offensive end in the pro league in his rookie season. Other Texans including Tex Coulter and Tobin Rots, also stood out in pro football.

But the year also marked the retirement from the play-for-pay ranks of Sam Baugh, the Texan who is ranked with the football greats of all time. Baugh quit after 16 years in the pro league — the longest any man ever played there.

Hogan faded from competitive golf after winning the Colonial National Invitation at Fort Worth but losing out in his bid for a fourth National Open Championship. And he faded in his own state — the National Open was held in Dallas this year. But Hogan was picked as the greatest golfer of all time by the National PGA because in his career he won every championship offered.

It was a year in which a Negro played professional baseball in the Texas League for the first time. Dave Hoskins was signed by Dallas and proved to be the savior of the Texas League — his drawing power was the greatest of any player in the league's history. Without Hoskins the circuit would have been far down in attendance. When the Dallas experiment paid off other leagues in Texas used Negro players.

It was a hectic year for the Southwest Conference. Texas Tech and University of Houston tried to get in but were turned down, not directly but through adoption of a rule that no school would be admitted to the conference unless invited.

Oklahoma made a left-handed bid for membership, sending a man down to "explore" the possibility of entering the conference. Oklahoma got no encouragement.

University of Texas dominated the year in conference sports, winning five of the nine championships. Football, baseball, swimming, golf and tennis went to the Longhorns; Texas A&M won cross-country, track and fencing, and Texas Christian won basketball.

Championships were split up in the Lone Star Conference. Southwest Texas State won basketball, East Texas State track and football. Lamar Tech tennis and Stephen F. Austin golf.

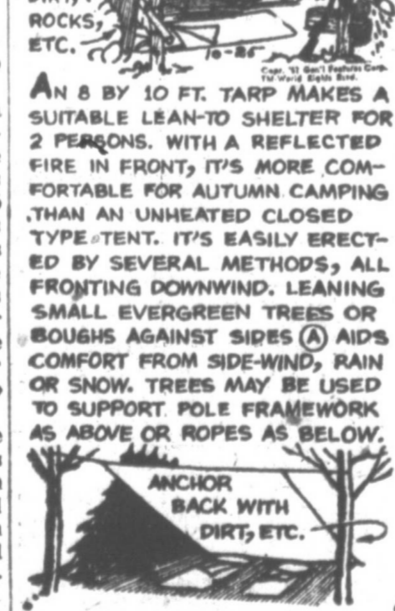

In a Border Conference sports West Texas State tied for the basketball title with New Mexico A&M and Hardin-Simmons won golf.

The Gulf Coast Conference had only football and basketball. Midwestern and North Texas State tied for the basketball title; North Texas State won football.

Ablene Christian College won two championships, and tied for another in the Texas Conference. ACC won track and football and Sid Howard Payne and McMurry in basketball. Texas A&I won tennis and golf.

Tech's Mitchell Is New Kansas Coach

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The University of Wichita yesterday announced the appointment of Jack Mitchell, backfield coach at Texas Tech and former Oklahoma University star, as its new head football coach.

Mitchell, due to arrive next week, will be allowed to choose his own assistants.

The university yesterday said contracts of Head Coach Bob Carlson and his three assistants would not be renewed. Carlson was given the option of remaining as coach of minor sports and physical education teacher. He has not said whether he will accept the post.

Novel Neve, director of athletics at W. U., said he felt a change in coaching staff would benefit the school, the student body and the community. Carlson has been head coach for the past two seasons. In that time, Schocker teams have won only Salad Bowl, Phoenix, Ariz.: San Diego Naval Training Center (10-0-0) vs 101st Airborne Division (8-0-1); 3 p.m.; 18,000; $500,000; regional radio only, no TV; $250.

Five games, to 13 losses and one tie.

Mitchell, 29, was all-state star while playing at Arkansas City, Kan., and was an all-Big-Seven quarterback for Oklahoma. He piloted the Sooners to victory over North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl Jan. 1, 1949.

The new Wichita mentor coached at Blackwell, Okla., High School, then became an assistant coach at Tulsa University. He has coached at Texas Tech the last two years.

Addition of Mitchell will give the university one of the young athletic staffs in the country. Neve is 38, head basketball coach. Ralph Miller is 35 and his assistant, Dick Miller, is 31.

Neve notified Carlson in Minneapolis Thursday that his contract would not be renewed. Dismissed with Carlson were his three assistants — Jim Valek, George Bernhardt and Earl and Hamilton.

WELL QUALIFIED—Jess Hill, who now leads Southern California against Wisconsin in the Pasadena Rose Bowl on New Year's Day, was the Trojans' track coach when he handled the football portfolio. Hill set a new ICA4A broad jump record of 25 feet 3/4 inch, played halfback for Troy and outfield for the Yankees. (NEA)

Injuries Altering Odds On New Year's Bowl Tilt

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Adhesive tape and shin splints threaten to replace the slide rule in determining odds on the major football bowl games Thursday with the toll of pre-game casualties reaching 10,000 proportions.

Southern California's Rose Bowl hopes have been jarred by loss of Jim Patisis, ace defensive back, through ineptitude. The Trojans' Pasadena opponent, Wisconsin, has its fastest runner, Richard Carl, hobbled by a twisted knee.

Tulsa, Florida's opponent in the Gator Bowl, has two line backers on the shelf and a halfback of doubtful list with a severed achilles tendon.

Two Million Gate
Alabama, which takes on Syracuse in Miami's Orange Bowl, is racked with colds and minor injuries, most serious of which is a leg ailment suffered by first string tackle Jack Smalley.

At last reports, however, the big holiday football festival was to go on as scheduled.

Some 430,000 fans will pay more than two million dollars to watch the eight games on New Year's Day and the Senior Bowl event at Mobile, Ala., the following Saturday. Millions of others, comprising what is expected to be the largest football viewing audience in history, will witness the battles by television.

The four big bowls all have national television commitments. NBC will telecast the Rose Bowl as well as the Cotton Bowl fray between Tennessee and Texas. ABC will put the Sugar Bowl tiff between Georgia Tech and Mississippi on the picture tubes, while CBS will do the Orange Bowl at Miami. The Sugar, Orange and Cotton Bowl games all start at 1 p.m. (CST) while the Rose Bowl begins at 4 p.m. (CST).

103,000 At Rose Bowl
The largest turnout in the fresh, as usual, will be in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, the granddaddy of the post-season extravaganza. A crowd of 103,000 is expected and receipts totaling $400,000, not counting TV and radio proceeds, would make it a near million dollar enterprise.

Southern Cal. beaten only by Notre Dame, is favored by a touchdown over Wisconsin, the Big Ten co-champion, but the Trojans' odds may be changed by the loss of Patisis, a great offensive back.

Tennessee will be without top scorer and ground gainer, Andy Kozar, and the chief of the brains department, Gen. Neyland. Kozar has a fractured pelvis and is almost certain not to play. Neyland has been ordered by doctors to rest. He may view the game as a spectator, while Harvey Robinson fills in as head coach.

Texas In Top Shape
Texas appears in top shape and rules a 1-2 point favorite to whip the Volunteers, their upset conquerors in 1951 at Dallas.

None is in much worse shape than Georgia Tech, which carries its unbeaten record against twice-tied Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl. Billy Tech's has a broken collarbone and Leon Hardeman has a bum ankle. The Engineers' top ground gainers with more than 1,400 yards between them both are doubtful starters.

This could radically alter odds which favor Tech by seven points. Mississippi, seventh ranked nationally, had the country's ninth most effective offense during the fall, with an average of 383.1 yards a game.

Alabama Favored
Despite nagging colds and minor ailments, Alabama is a whopping 13-1-2 points choice in the Orange Bowl. Syracuse is making its Bowl debut.

Although Syracuse Coach Floyd Schwartzwalder calls the Tide "the most powerful team I ever saw," he hopes to spring an upset with Pat Stark, a good passing quarterback, and Bill Weizer, 205-pound fullback.

Florida's ambitions of whipping Tulsa in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville have been tempered by the loss of Doug Dickey, No. 1 quarterback, who is out with a pulled leg muscle.

Tulsa Crippled
Tulsa has two line backers injured — Angelo Praxas with a bum leg — and a halfback, Gene Helwig, out with a severed achilles tendon.

The Salad Bowl at Phoenix pits the San Diego Naval Training Center against the 101st Airborne Division.

The Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., matches East Texas State and Tennessee Tech.

And the Sun Bowl at El Paso sends Mississippi Southern against College of the Pacific.

Lions Favored To Beat Browns Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — Detroit's Lions, hot after their first pro football championship in 17 years, move into the pay-off game today against the "worried" Cleveland Browns.

Around 50,000 are expected to turn out in sub-freezing temperatures and possible snow.

Odds favoring the Lions jumped after Cleveland Coach Paul Brown announced end Mac Speedie and halfback Dub Jones would miss the game because of injuries. Speedie leads the National League in pass catching. Jones, also a nifty ball grabber, once scored six touchdowns in one game.

"This really hurts us," Brown added. "There is the crux of our offense all shot to pieces. We'll be without our top scoring threats."

Coach Buddy Parker of the Browns expressed doubt the two key men would really miss the game. "I'll believe it when I see it," he declared.

With or without Speedie and Jones, the Detroit coach still thinks it will be an "even-Ste-Stater, are rookies.

phen" game between "two great clubs."

He said the kiting odds wouldn't affect his team. "After all, they've played the Browns before and know what Cleveland has," Parker said. "Odds mean nothing to players. Neither does being an underdog."

Detroit beat Cleveland, 17-8, earlier this season.

Underdogs First Time
Brown asked for the underdogs roll in the past six championship games, but now he says it isn't "nearly as much fun" as he expected. This is the first championship game in which the Browns have been on the short end of the odds.

"In all probability," said Brown, "We'll start Horace Gillom at left end for Speedie and Rex Bumgardner at right half for Jones."

"We'll let them get it under way and play until some of the tension is lifted. But we have a lot of plans for Derrell Brewster and Ray Renfro."

Both Brewster, formerly of Purdue, and Renfro, ex-North Texas State, are rookies.

WORK GOES ON—Coach Ivy Williamson goes over a play with Wisconsin backs, Roger Dorenburg and Jerry Witt, pointing. The Badgers lost no time starting to prepare for scrap with Southern California in the Pasadena Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. (NEA)

Two Wheeler Road Projects Are Approved

SHAMROCK (Special) — Two Wheeler County road projects have been included in a program of work to be done during the next two years while a third project in the county has been omitted from the list. The State Highway Commission, according to D. C. Green, state highway engineer, will hard-surface the roads from funds that will be available during the next two years from federal and state funds. The two roads, designated as Farm to Market Roads, will be improved subject to the condition that Wheeler County will furnish all required right-of-way free of cost to the state. After construction, the roads will be maintained by the State Highway Department.

The project holding the greatest interest to the people of the Shamrock area calls for the hard surfacing of what is commonly known as "the cemetery road. This is a strip of road from Railroad Avenue to the Shamrock Cemetery designated in the project as 1.7 miles of road to be improved to provide a two-lane, dustless surface from U.S. Highway 83, one mile south of U.S. 66, east to road intersection.

The other project is the hard surfacing from the end of Farm-to-Market Road 48, two miles north of Mobeetie, north to the Hemphill County line, a distance of approximately 41 miles.

A third project which was set up in the program by the Wheeler County Commissioners Court and which holds the greatest amount of interest to Wheeler residents was the hard surfacing of the Wheeler "cemetery road." This project was rejected because of lack of funds.

A LONG, LONG WAY FROM YALE — But six Yale men did manage to get together Friday afternoon for a discussion of the Yale-Harvard football game and other important matters. Laughing over the way in which Yale's manager made the 11st point, left to right, are Ed Nash (class of '50F), 712 W. Francis; W. T. Glidden ('44), 1312 N. Russell; John Friauf ('54), 806 N. Somerville; Bill Loving ('54), 1308 Charles; Dave Lamb ('53), 1123 Christie; and Fred Nadherny ('50), 1328 Col. Glidden rubs his hands in gleeful remembrance of the game while Nadherny points out another phase of it. The others are quite sympathetic. First meeting of Yale-in-Pampa was held in the Nadherny home. (News Photo)

Communist Party Faces New Dilemma

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Communist party of the Soviet Union appears to have pushed itself gradually into the horns of a dilemma which so defies solution that an intraparty crisis could well be in the making.

The evolution of the party over 35 years has produced a paradox which, judging from the implications between the lines of the Soviet press, has the Kremlin leadership biting its nails.

The paradox is this: In growing old the party is becoming young. The dilemma is this: The fiery fervor for revolution change which was the cement of the old Bolshevik party has given way to complacency and dedication to the status quo.

"The wisdom of leadership consists in the ability to see the danger at its beginning and not permit it to develop into a threat," said Georgi Malenkov, now obviously the top party boss under Stalin, in a report to a party congress on Communist "shortcomings."

The threat, as Malenkov saw it, was the development of "such ugly phenomena as bureaucratism, rotting and even decay of separate parts of our organization."

Still Scheming

This seems to be the nub of the developing crisis. The Communist parties in other lands do not have the same problems. They are still scheming for revolution, and the goal is the adhesive holding them together. But in the Soviet Union, revolution is a thing of the past.

Since 85 per cent of the Communist party is 30 years old or under, there are dominant in its ranks now children and grandchildren of the original Bolsheviks. Anyone less than 40 years old can have no memory of the pre-revolutionary fervor of the party. Actually, such persons grew up as the children of a privilege class, and today are anxious to retain such privileges.

There are only six million Communist members in the USSR, ruling 200 millions—as small and tightly organized an upper class as could be imagined. The position of these persons gives them prior rights on the good things of life—the better living quarters, the automobiles, the better goods, the better incomes and the authority which all go with privilege.

The party must have militancy. It was born out of struggle, lived by struggle and needs struggle to exist. But instead of struggle, many Communists in the USSR are falling into easy habits of complacency and smugness.

Thus, the almost frantic lashing of party "shortcomings," such as "formal - passive attitudes" to their duties, carelessness in the selection of their cells to maintain worker-discipline, and even the graft and subversion which come with the corrupting force of too much power.

The tedious complaints in the Soviet press — unending carping on failures and shortcomings — are all directed toward Communists. Invariably any person singled out for harsh criticism is a Communist. Grown too jealous of their positions, many Communists obviously are being looked upon as potential enemies of the concentrated power at the top of the Pyramid.

Malenkov conceded in his report that the party had lost many members during the war years on the battlefronts, and that the ranks had to be replenished. This, he conceded further, "led to a certain lowering of the level of political con-

Henderson Leads Final Kiwanis Meeting For 1952

Kiwanis President E. L. (Smiley) Henderson told the year-end meeting of the club that he "will long remember and long enjoy the memories" of serving it and handed over the pin of office to Clinton Evans.

President-designate Evans will preside Friday over the new year's first meeting at which the district governor, Bailey Choate, Sweetwater, will be honored guest.

Thanking "each and all for the privilege of serving as president," Henderson presented pins of office to Warren Hasse, new secretary, and Aubrey Steele, new treasurer.

Recognizing Henderson's "carrying of the load," Evans congratulated him on his "big year in Kiwanis."

Gretchen Johannsen and Burkhard Brehm, Kiwanis - sponsored

Pampa High School students from Germany, made speeches expressing their thanks to Kiwanians for their interest in them during the past year.

Gretchen and Burkhard held open house for all Kiwanians Monday night. And Kiwanians played Santa Claus for them on Christmas Day. Gretchen also received a formal gown from the club and attended a recent dance at the country club.

A plaque for "Honorable Mention, Achievement Award, Silver Section, Texas-Oklahoma District; Under the Leadership of Leslie H. Hart, President, 1951" was given by Henderson to Hart, who, in turn, willed it to the permanent trophy case.

The award is given to various local clubs for sponsored activities and year-long achievements. Praising the committee chair-

Pampan Wins A&M Honors

Roy F. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Roy Sullivan, 909 N. Somerville, was recently accepted and initiated into the restricted honor society, Ross Volunteers, at Texas A&M.

Sullivan is the only Pampa boy ever accepted by the group which serves as honor guard for the governor at all state inauguration ceremonies. It is the oldest undergraduate organization of the college.

A group of 80 candidates — all juniors — was initiated into the 125-member society on Dec. 11, according to The Battalion, student newspaper.

In order to make the RV grade a Texas A&M student must maintain 2.0 military/science grade and a 1.5 scholastic grade. Sullivan is an agricultural student.

When the Volunteers first organized in 1887 it was planned to change the name of the group each time a new college president went in office. However, the plan was dropped and the organization retained the name of Ross Volunteers in honor of Lawrence T. Ross who served both as president of Texas A&M and governor of Texas.

The group is also the college drill team and serves as an escort body at special occasions. Their special uniform is made of white duck, trimmed in gold.

Decorations Come Out Already For New Orleans' Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Decorations are coming out of mothballs, costumes are being retouched, invitations are in the mail. One of the nation's oldest and finest shows — the New Orleans Mardi Gras — is officially underway.

The Chamber of Commerce is getting inquiries from all parts of the country.

"Where can we get tickets to a Mardi Gras ball?" "Which is the best hotel?" "What will the weather be like and what clothes shall we bring?" Thousands more questions like these will be answered in the next few weeks.

Although the big day isn't until Feb. 17, thousands of krewe members, their guests and tourists are hard at work on plans for the season which opens officially tonight with the Ball of Harlequins.

Sixty carnival balls are scheduled to be held in the Municipal Auditorium between now and Mardi Gras day. There will be only two nights with no dancing in the auditorium. These come next week when the Sugar Bowl basketball games are played.

Admission to carnival balls is by invitation only, and the members of each carnival organization, or krewe, have only a limited number to send to their families and friends.

So, unless out-of-town visitors know someone in one of the organizations they may find themselves watching the invited guests, dressed in their finery, entering one of the two designated entrances at the auditorium on the night of the ball.

Other carnival organizations founded in recent years and unable to get a date at the auditorium, hold their gala affairs at smaller halls throughout the city.

A dozen street parades are already on schedule, starting with the Krewe of Carrolton Parade on Sunday, Feb. 8. More may be added before the final Parade of the Comus on Mardi Gras night.

Mardi Gras day is a continual parade with maskers romping through the streets from sunup till sundown, moving aside only when the Parade of Rex, Lord of Mis-

Douglas Nonpartisan In Economy Demands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), who often irked Truman administration officials by frequent demands for cuts in government spending, says he will continue his economy drive when the Republicans come into power.

"I should not want to be accused of partisanship during the next session," said the former University of Chicago economics professor.

MIRROR, MIRROR ON THE WALL

Holiday Gaiety

Holiday season means party-going and many social events. It is a time of gaiety when you see old friends home from college, on vacation or those you haven't enough time for visiting as much as you like in the busy work-a-day world. Then too, it's a time to meet new friends. Here a cross-section of Pampans put on their best bib and tucker as they get in the spirit of the holidays and begin celebrating the end of an old year and the beginning of a new one.

MIRROR, MIRROR, ON THE WALL — Reflecting one of Pampa's fairest, Miss Harriet Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Schwartz, 1616 N. Russell, as she prepares for a holiday party.

I'LL BE READY — Says Gaye Nell Carter in answer to Lee Fraser's query, "Tonight at eight?" Gaye Nell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Carter, 1157 N. Starkweather.

HEY! THE SOAP — Max Hukill, 126 S. Sumner, may have forgotten the soap but is not too unhappy about it as he gets ready for the evening's entertainment.

PATIENCE REWARDED — Who knows who has the greater amount of patience, Pat or Ann Bednorz. Anyway, Pat stands like stone as Ann struggles with the proverbial problem tie preparatory to "partying." The Bednorzes live at 518 N. Ward.

TONIGHT AT EIGHT? — It doesn't take spring to turn a young man's fancy — not with Gaye Nell Carter on the other end of the line. Here Lee Fraser, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Fraser, 102 W. 18th, asks "steady" Gaye Nell about a planned social.

A HOLIDAY EVENING — Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Arndt, 1124 N. Starkweather say goodbye to children Janis (left) and Gay Lynn as they leave for a holiday evening. That is Grandmother, Mrs. W. F. # Peg O' Pampa

THE SONG "I'M DREAMING OF A WHITE CHRISTMAS" came true for all of us in the Panhandle this year when a blanket of beautiful white snow covered the ground just in time for Christmas. Can still hear early morning echoes of "Mommy! Daddy! Get up and see what Santa left us last night." Yes, Christmas has come and gone for 1952, but there are still the remains of wrappings, ribbons, cards, and the limp but still standing Christmas tree, and Peg hopes most of the same wonderful spirit that comes to us all at this time of the year.

THE EXCITEMENT OF getting up and looking over all the toys (for the kids) and the presents (for us grown-ups) is still with us and the remembrance of seeing old friends and meeting new acquaintances during the "going-ons" through the holidays. There were the open-house and egg-nog parties, Christmas dances, where everyone put on their best "bib and tucker", and the beautiful Christmas Eve services held at the various churches.

OUT AT THE COUNTRY CLUB'S Christmas formal, the ladies were visions of loveliness come to life in their flowering nets, inky black velvets, crisp, shining taffetas, and lovely chiffons. Saw former Pampans, Cleora and Kenneth Carman who are visiting her mother, Mrs. Alta Stanard. The Carmans live in Chicago now and are loving it. Joyce and Chick Hickman were there from Tulsa and were enjoying talking with old friends. Frances Garman looked exceedingly lovely in a two-tone green chiffon that Peg bets was one of the purchases she made while in Europe this summer. Harriet Hampton looking radiant in red and feeling fine after the birth of little Raymond several weeks ago. The Frank Chambers of Canadian with their daughter, Frances, and son-in-law, Warren Fatheree, who have recently moved into the Osborne Apartments. WE LIKE THE new trend in chokers, with a new young sophisticated charm. You will find a wide variety shaped as a belt, embroidered leather or plain velvet with a jewel buckle. Lovely on a slender neck, they are just the thing to finish the simplest neckline with the touch of beauty.

Leopard skin, in small doses, provides the dramatic touch your winter clothes need. You will find it as a trimming in a pair of black gloves, or as a strap on a suede bag. Wear it and watch your drabest dress come to life in the subtle elegant way that makes you fashionable.

LOVE DOROTHY STATTON'S HOUSE on Hobart. It has everything she would want from a fireplace with soft, comfortable pillows around it where she can sit and enjoy the fire, to a grill in the brick wall of the kitchen where she fixes those delicious charcoal steaks. Her oven is also built in a wall and in east side of the kitchen, there is a big rack for magazines, cook books, etc. The paneling in the living room is done in mahogany, and her drapes are dark green which all go together to give that "Better Homes and Garden" picture look to her house.

WITH NEW YEAR'S DAY coming Thursday, there is still time for you to make out those New Year's Resolutions. Peg never makes a list, 'cause when she's asked then she can say she has never broken them.

Happy New Year,

MATURE PARENT

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. P. has four youngsters. Some time ago, their father decided that he wished to marry his young secretary. So he was given a divorce and in exchange, gave money to support his children and their mother. On Saturday afternoons, he and his new wife come to collect the children in their big maroon sedan. The children are delighted to spend the day with him.

It is a relief to get away from the mother who hasn't time to take them to football games. It is fine to escape from the person who has to buy shoes and oranges instead of ice cream desserts in fancy restaurants. It is thrilling to be with the high-spirited father who puts $1 bills in their pockets and never reminds them to make beds or get homework done. It is such fun that when they come home to the woman who is raising them, they are often rude and disparaging.

"My sister's heart is broken," writes the children's aunt. "The children don't know the whole story of their father's disloyalty. Should their mother warn them against trusting this irresponsible man?"

No. Their mother would do better to stop fooling herself. She is jealous of the maroon sedan. As always, jealousy is the result of self-depreciation. That is the real problem here. So the answer is not attack upon the father, but better self-value for the mother.

If there is any sliver lining to divorce, it is its power to shock us into a shift of standards. In our new scales, we should be able to weigh human value more efficiently.

It should become easy for us to see that love is not the purchase of ice cream and tickets to football games, but the steady and conscious support of children's self-esteem. If we are giving this kind of love, our new sense of value should confirm our right to place high worth upon our gift.

This mother is suffering because she has not accomplished this shift of standards. Though deep down she knows material giving means nothing, that knowledge has not yet become truth to live by. So, emotionally, she is deeply impressed with gifts of $1 bills and rides in big sedans. I hope the day will soon come when she is so certain and clear about the value of what she herself gives that she will be able to stand up and defend it.

To the disparaging children who flaunt the $1 bills, I hope she will say, "Though it is kind of your father to give you money, I want equal appreciation for the dinner I have prepared for you. If you do not learn to recognize love that is given to you, you are going to become poor children. So stop trying to threaten and hurt me with the gifts of money you have received."

We cannot speak truth with conviction if we do not believe in it with our whole hearts. Learning to believe in it is the answer to this mother's problem.

Heap on more wood! — the wind is chill;
But let it whistle as it will,
We'll keep our Christmas merry still.

MIAMI (Special) — The First Christian Church was the scene, Sunday afternoon, for the marriage of Shirley Broaddus, niece of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Broaddus, to Royce Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Bailey.

Rev. Barrett T. Moore, pastor of First Christian Church, Panhandle, read the double-ring ceremony. Baskets of white gladioli decorated the altar.

RUTH MILLETT

Said a checker at a supermarket: "We have some women customers who run into the store and buy a few groceries two or three times a day."

They are probably all women who tell themselves how rushed and overworked and hurried their lives are, women who spend half their lives running errands because they don't plan ahead.

Such women rarely do a anything or buy anything until the last minute.

The day of a party they decide they haven't a thing to wear and rush downtown to buy anything that will "do."

They groan that they have to make a trip to town to get a present for Junior to take to a birthday party when more far-sighted mothers pick up small gifts whenever they happen to see them and put them away for just such emergencies.

Planning Affects Home

They are the same women who neglect small household repairs until an article becomes unusable and then fret and worry because they can't get a job done the minute they want it.

They often drive over practically the same route several times in one day, each time doing a different errand, instead of combining them on one trip. Then they complain about all the driving they have to do.

Such women are always in a last-minute dither over something or other for the simple reason that they don't plan ahead and anticipate future needs.

Sees Early Test Between Ike, Taft On Aid Harmony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) has predicted the chances for harmony between President-elect Eisenhower and Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) will get an early test on the issue of U.S. aid to Europe.

Monroney, just back from a overseas vacation tour, told reporters he found sentiment strong in Europe for "a shift from the dote system of direct aid to one of self-help through increased trade with this country."

The European quest for a bigger U.S. market for their goods to replace shrinking dollar aid, he said, will present what he termed "the problem of whether the internationally minded Eisenhower people can prevail over the Taft people's high protective tariff views."

Monroney said he agrees with the recent recommendation of Secretary of Commerce Sawyer that virtually all outright grants of economic aid to Europe should be ended.

WHY RUSSIA WANTS ALASKA is perfectly obvious when you see how strategically close it lies to Russia's Siberia.

Red Press Screams Tsar Lost Alaska To Yank Card Sharps

EDITOR'S NOTE: The author of the following report is Professor of Russian Civilization and Language at Colgate University.

Another reason why Alaska should be returned to the Russians, they claim, is the strategic peninsula as a jumping-off point to grab Siberia.

Should you run into Soviet soldiers and officers in Berlin Vienna or other few remaining points of our contact with Stalin's men, and should you manage to strike up conversations with them, they will tell you:

Alaska is ours! The American government has always, ever since 1867, tried to use the strategic peninsula as a jumping-off point to grab Siberia.

Group Hints Cure To Medical Ills Lies Outside Profession

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cold cash appears to be the main prescription of President Truman's special health commission for curing the nation's "demonstrable, well-documented health needs."

Encouraging the organization of doctors and other health workers into team-like "groups" in all parts of the country — a system which the commission contends would go far towards meeting the country's health needs.

Family doctors and specialists are to be often in "isolation" in the medical profession hasn't made completely adequate provision for the continued, up-to-the-minute education of the family doctor after he sets up practice.

Building more hospitals, particularly in rural and other areas reportedly short in them. Spurring medical research, especially against such things as cancer and mental illness.

Putting medical and hospital care on a prepaid insurance basis for everyone, with federal and state governments teaming up to help people who can't pay for their own insurance or can only pay part of it.

Making such a prepayment system cover all phases of medical and hospital care. The commission says some of the present prepayment plans, while having the funds to encourage treatment.

Mrs. Van Fleet 'Just Another Army Wife'

By PATRICIA SCOTT
SEOUL (AP) — "Why, I'm just another army wife attached for rations," laughed Mrs. James A. Van Fleet.

The wife of the commander of the Eighth Army was talking to me at her husband's headquarters where she was entertaining luncheon guests. She has been in Korea since last month as a guest of President and Mrs. Syngman Rhee.

An alert and intelligent woman who discusses anything from European history to the latest Paris fashions, there is a special ring to her voice when she speaks of her husband.

"Van has so much energy, it's impossible to keep up with him. He works so hard, I don't know how he keeps up the pace," she said. "Do you know that Thanksgiving Day he took me to visit seven different command posts here?"

If it weren't for his timing and judgment, Lewis would run so wild he could only play ranches.

Mrs. Van Fleet reminisced over her years of marriage.

"I always liked to ride," she said. "Even as a little girl, I would go horseback riding whenever I had a chance; but Van used to tell me that I never really rode I was just a passenger."

"Anyhow, I continued to ride and one day I rode in a horse show for the first time. I rode an awful looking horse. It had lumpy legs and long ears and everyone was very surprised except Van when I won the ribbon."

"He said, 'Darling, you were wonderful.' I was waiting for him to say it was all the horse's fault that I won the ribbon, but that was the first time Van ever complimented my riding."

Mrs. Van Fleet recalled her general's years of service in foreign countries and the problems they had shared.

She spoke of young Jim: "You know, we got so many telegrams after James was reported missing. I got at least a hundred. I'm sure Van got over 200 messages. So many of them came from people who had gone through the same experience, and they all told us not to give up hope.

"It wasn't just that they were telling us to have courage. It was knowing that we weren't alone, that so many others knew what we were going through."

"Somebody changed the subject. 'What did you think of Gen. Eisenhower?'"

"In a way he's a lot like Van," she said. "He isn't concerned with his own well-being and safety. He just wants to do what is right."

Asked how she felt about the years of separation that she, like every army wife, has experienced, Mrs. Van Fleet recalled her first years of married life.

"Van had to leave almost immediately for Texas and the Mexican War. That was the first time we were separated. Of course I cried, but an older army wife told me: 'You mustn't cry and carry on. You know, the Army just does this to us to make us love our husbands more when they come back.'"

PMA Allotments Are Cut $7,000 In Wheeler County

SHAMROCK (Special) — PMA allotments for Wheeler County farmers in 1953 have been cut almost $7,000 Joe Weatherly, county PMA administrative officer, announced this week. The 1953 figure of $81,500 for PMA soil conservation practices in Wheeler County drops from the approximately $88,500 spent in 1952.

Weatherly said approximately three times more requests for soil conservation practices have been received this year than last. He announced that since requests far exceed the allotted funds a limit of the number of practices approved will be only the first practice applied for by each individual. In some cases even these will be curtailed to a certain extent.

Approvals of PMA soil conservation practices for 1952, must be back in the local office before Jan. 1, in order to receive payment.

Jerry Lewis Termed Zaniest Of All American Comedians

By HENRY McLEMORE
HOLLYWOOD — Being a half-wit myself, nothing gives me more pleasure than to encounter a man who appears to have fewer sane moments than I do.

I enjoyed this treat today when I visited the Riviera Country Club where Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis are making a picture centered around the ancient game of golf.

It was my first personal contact with Lewis, and I am happy to report that he is the zaniest American produced in this country since the landing at Plymouth Point.

He is a combination of Peck's bad boy, a run-away locomotive, a circus trapeze act, a chicken with its head cut off, an arsonist in a celluloid collar factory, and a half acre of Kitzbühner Kids.

From the moment he arrives on the set to the moment the shooting is finished, he bedevils everybody in sight. That goes from producer and director right down to the lowest paid extra.

He always arrives on the set loaded with trick devices from novelty stores. During the shooting of one of the big scenes in the picture, he somehow managed to slip seven or eight ice cubes into Dean Martin's trousers pockets, and the scene had to be shot all over again when Martin discovered he had suddenly become a refrigerator.

When director Norman Taurog chided him for this, he gave Taurog a five-minute lecture on how he didn't have any sense of humor and should be shooting sea epics. He continually halted the cameras to demand a comb for those idiotic locks of his. The fact that all this tomfoolery was costing a ton of money, and some of his money because he and Martin own a third of the picture, didn't bother him a bit.

Four great golfers are playing in the picture — Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Jimmy Thomson, and Byron Nelson — and they have been in mortal fear for their lives. With all this golf talent around, Lewis decided to take up golf and has averaged hitting four hundred golf balls per day. He doesn't care where he aims, he just lets fly. He's hit Hogan twice, Snead twice and Thomson half a dozen times.

Ben Hogan said that Lewis is the only golfer he's ever known who could break Lloyds of London if Lloyds were foolish enough to insure him.

The paradoxical thing about Lewis is that, crazy as he acts, he is recognized as one of the best business men in the movie business. It is the zany Lewis who is the business manager of the team. He signs all the contracts and makes all the bookings. Half a dozen executives told me that once people started talking money to him he became just as much of a clown as the president of the United States Steel Corp.

No one sells Martin short, either. A fine comic and singer in his own right, he is recognized as one of the great straight men to come along in a long time.

Shoigun Poker Will 'Kill' You

By OSWALD JACOBY and ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Written for NEA Service

If you play in a regular poker game and like to introduce an occasional variation, you will enjoy the game known as "shoigun." We think that the name comes from the fact that the beginner at this game has less chance to escape with a whole skin than in almost any other game.

Each player is dealt three cards face down, as in draw poker. There is a round of betting on these three cards, after which one additional card is dealt face down to each player. There is another round of betting on the fourth card, and each player gets his fifth card for a third round of betting.

After this there is a regular draw, as in draw poker. Finally, there is a round of betting after the draw just as in ordinary draw poker.

If you want to play this game skillfully, you must learn to drop out at the earliest possible moment when you have very little chance to win. You should not invest a single chip on your hand unless you have either a pair or three cards of the same suit among your original three cards:

When you receive your fourth card, you should drop out unless you have a good sized pair, a four flush, or an open-end straight. (You probably shouldn't be in the pot with that open-end straight, since this means that you stayed with a bad hand to begin with.)

After you have received your fifth card, you should value your hand exactly as you would in ordinary draw poker. There is this exception, however: There have already been two rounds of betting, which will indicate about the strength of the various hands.

In this game the betting has a way of getting rather complicated, and for simplicity's sake it is customary for the player at the dealer's left to open the betting on every round.

Very often this player will check to the man who has been doing the heavy betting. When the player at dealer's left opens the bidding, however, the dealer is list to speak and therefor has a slight advantage.
