new federal budget is the goal of two Republican leaders - if President Truman's budget request calls for the 85 billions some predict.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP's Senate Policy Committee, told a news conference yesterday his target for the fiscal year beginning next July is a 70-billion-dollar budget.

Taft said he and President-elect Eisenhower, at their Sept. 12 meeting in New York, agreed upon this as well as upon a 60-billion-budget goal for fiscal 1955. Barring any interfering commitments, Taft added, tax cuts of 12 or 13 per cent would be theoretically possible in 1955.

The Ohioan and other Republican leaders in Congress are discussing legislation with Eisenhower at a conference today in New York.

Not President Yet

There have been numerous expressions of alarm throughout the country over the plan of Dwight Eisenhower to visit the Korean battlefront with accompanying advice that he call off the promise he made in the heat of the political campaign.

We doubt very much if these alarms or the advice to stay home will greatly influence the general. He said he would go to Korea and undoubtedly he will - although what purpose will be served, other than morale building and promise fulfillment — we can't imagine.

There is not as much danger in the trip as some people would indicate since, certainly, his welfare will be safeguarded to the utmost degree — with even the time surely kept a close secret — and nothing can happen to him that could not happen accidentally within the boundaries of the United States.

Incidentally, it is probable that if Eisenhower goes to Korea he will do so before he becomes in actuality President of the United States.

Although his landslide sweep of the nation's votes is duly recorded, he doesn't become President until Jan. 20 of next year and he doesn't become, officially, President-elect until next month.

U. S. voters do not cast ballots directly for their President. They vote for a lot of presidential electors who will meet the first Monday after the second Wednesday of December — Dec. 15 this year — in their respective state capitals as a rule, and cast votes for their choice of President and Vice President. They are only bound by tacit agreement and moral obligation to vote for the candidate they represented on the ballot — but there is no serious question how they will vote.

Not until that vote is cast do Dwight Eisenhower and Richard Nixon become President-elect and Vice President-elect respectively. In fact, the results will not be counted until Jan. 6 when the certified vote of each state's electors is announced by the president of the U. S. Senate in the presence of both houses of Congress.

Everybody's Fight

A good many people may believe that the drive to socialize the electric power industry is small potatoes to them — that it is of real interest only to those who are owners of employes of the power companies. If that is so, they should read a recent report on the progress of the socialistic program in the United States made by the Council of State Chambers of Commerce.

The report observes that "the issue of socialism stands forth as a basic question before this nation today." It describes what has been done to extend socialism in various realms of enterprise. It observes that the socialist program calls for state ownership or control of electric power, steel, oil, coal and transportation. Then it says, "Nationalization of electric power is most important because it would enable the government to control the decisions of all industries, large or small, on where they might locate, what they might produce and whom they might employ.

In other words, socialization of power is an essential step if the fullest possible realization of the socialist program is to be attained. The socialist planners know that well - and it's a tragic fact that many people who pay lip service to the cause of freedom and would be the first to say that they stand solidly against all the authoritarian doctrines don't seem to realize it at all. These are the people who are taken in by phony blandishments of politicians about "cheap government power" - which is cheap only because it is tax-free and tax-subsidized - by the application of verbal camouflage such as flood control and land reclamation to projects whose overriding aim is more socialism.

It's time the nation awakened to one fact. The fight against socialism — wherever socialism may appear is the fight of every man and woman who prizes free-

Business 'Don'ts'

The Washington News Letter of the National Retai Dry Goods Association recently observed that the hiring and firing procedures now in effect in the Federal government would make the blood of any store executive run cold. It cited a case where one agency incurred c $10,000 expense in laying off 32 employes - which works out to $312 per employe, not including the salaries of those responsible for the training and retraining of employes reassigned, nor the vast amount of paper work involved. It cited another case where an agency desired to separate 164 persons from government service. In the end, four and a half months later, 25 were dismissed instead of the 164, and the direct cost of the operation was $33,500 and the indirect cost $125,000.

Such instances are typical, rather than unusual. And they help to indicate why there are now 2,500,000 people on the Federal payroll — and why, according to the Bureau of the Budget, another 1,500,000, for the amazing total of 4,000,000, will be added by next June.

Suppose manufacturers, retailers, or other businesses dealt with employe problems as does the government. The cost of carrying on business would zoom - and, of course, it would have to be paid for by the consumer who bought the goods and services they sold. And we're in exactly the same position when it comes to government. The consumer — that is, the taxpayer — must do the paying. And is he paying today!

Regardless of the party in power, it's time for a lot of changes in Washington.

BETTER JOBS By R. C. HOILES

The Election Proves Labor Bosses

Cannot Deliver Votes For years the politicians have oed and cowed to labor bosses. They were willing to promise almost anything to the labor union osses, believing that they could deliver to them the votes of their members. This policy was pretty largely exploded in the present Presidential election. It will be rememhered that the AFL and CIO and did other candidates who were not endorsed by organized labor. He

It will also be remembered that when Senator Taft was a candidate in Ohio the unions had him on the liquidating list. They spent New Deal did all it could to defeat Senator Taft-largely on the argument that he was against union labor. A man cannot be for labor as a whole and be for union labor. This is true because union labor's aim is to take away from an individual laborer his right to use his initiative, to use his judgment and to use his conscience. All Union Closed Shops

We hear a great deal of argument against a closed shop, but every union contract is a closed shop whether all men have to belong to the union or not. The union sets the wages and the conditions that non-union men must work under, whether they want to or not. Unions are thus a form of closed shops. Besides they are a form of slavery and slaves never produce as much as do free men.

What most people do not seem to realize is that labor unions never produced a nickel's worth of wealth and have prevented billions of dollars' worth of wealth from being produced. Therefore, the total wages and the total profits, which are nothing but a vage for efficiency, must of necessity be a great deal less because of labor unions. And yet labor leaders and a lot of college professors and preachers and politicians have been contending for years that labor unions are good for the working man and that if it wasn't for cause there would be a great deal more produced and what is pro-

The way the votes went throughout the country and especially in the industrial states, it begins to look as if more and more people are coming to realize that organized labor is not moral and is nothing but a racket promoting labor

The result of the election should give men seeking office or holding office courage. They should begin to realize that the public in the ong run wants men to promote justice for all people-not a form of dictatorship, as the labor bosses would have, but a government where all people are equal before the law.

Self-Appointed

Most every writer or politician who leans towards collectivism likes to smear any individual who advocates respecting human initiative. One of the words they have developed is "self-appointed." Any man who rises up and objects to |ed. the various smears of collectivism is branded as a self-appointed in-

The question arises as to whom should appoint an individual other than himself to do the things that he believes are in harmony with moral law. Of course, all collectivists like to imply that a man who is alone and isn't standing with the majority or isn't representing ome committee is a man who has no moral right to do what he is doing. All men who believe in selfcontrol, no more, no less, are selfappointed individuals. They are the salt of the earth because they respect every other individual's right to use his initiative to develop his character and develop his material well-being.

A nice example of using this self-appointed term was made by John Bainbridge in his article on Dangers Ahead in the Public Schools." Anybody who sees what is happening in our public schools and has the courage to express it is branded as a self-appointed in-

Why should not every human being have a right to help everybody have a better education? We certainly will never get better education - understanding - by letting the majority or the state determine what is education. Their whole idea of education is granting them more and more power over the lives of individuals,

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M.D.

There are not many people in this world who work hard for something which will cut down on their income. This, however, is exactly what the great American dental profession is now doing in its campaign to add a substnace to the water supply which reduces dental decay.

There are three ways, it is said, to reduce the rate of dental decay among our people: 1. Increased emphasis on dental health education. 2. Increased emphasis on dentistry for children. 3. Controlled fluoridation of public water supplies. It is the latter which is the subject of today's column. It was some years ago that fluorides were found to add to the hardness of teeth. Patient study of the effect of fluorides on the teeth was then conducted for many years, and finally the practical value was considered proved and the campaign was begun to fluoridate the public water supply so that tooth decay—and incidentally, the work of dentists in filling cavities would be decreased. What can be expected by con munities which add fluorides to the water? In Newburg, N. Y., which nstituted fluoridation of its water in 1944, there has been a 47 per cent decrease in the rest of tooth decay among elementary school oupils. This figure was obtained dren in a neighboring city, Kings ton, in which the water supply was

As self-appointed booking agent for Mr. Truman I have worked out a schedule which I think will please not only him, but the American people at large.

As soon as he turns over the presidency to Gen. Eisenhower Mr. Truman will fly to the Pacific Coast and catch a roundthe-world liner. A slow liner, too, one with a boiler missing. This should keep him gone for quite

To keep him from being lonesome, and to afford amusement for the other passengers when they get weary of shuffleboard and horse racing, Mr. Truman will be allowed to make a whistle-stop speech.
But only into the wind. With a tail wind he will be asked to keep to his cabin and read his old campaign speeches, especially the ones in which he called Gen. Eisenhower everything but a tramp in baggy trousers.

These papers, some of the finest ever written by a world statesman will, of course, be kept under lock and key until they can safely be laid to rest in the Truman museum. I want to visit the museum, just as I am sure that you do.

Vaughan will be chief caretaker, and that Dean Acheson will serve as head guide. The architecture - and this is only a rumor is going to be startling. The main building will be in the form of a red herring with dormer windows of mutation mink, with the grounds beautifully landscaped in excess taxes. Mr. Truman himself will be on between the hours eleven and noon, reading Mr. Churchill's utterances. Upon his return from round-the-world trip I have busy schedule worked out for

He will open at the Paramount doing a single. He should wow them without much trouble. I want him to give an impersonation of a humble man becoming so arrogant that he thought the world was not only 5 his oyster, but his bowl of clam chowder as well.

I picture him the night he was elevated to the presidency by the death of Franklin Delano Roose-

If I remember correctly he said he "felt just as if a load of hay had fallen on his head, and asked the prayers of the nation." A quick switch and he'll be on his late whistle-stop tour, insisting that he was the Democratic Party, and that Stevenson must run on his Fair Deal program. Incidentally, just from talking to folks, the biggest liability Stevenson had was Mr. Truman. For vote he gained he lost a dozen.

This over, Mr. Truman will go into his lame duck act. This is exceedingly funny and is almost certain to roll the customers into the aisles. Even though I am do-so good, did you?" on and the act will be over

FISH STORY?-Chuck Reynolds, of Los Angeles, tells a fish story with teeth in it. Chuck swears that the large-mouth bass, above, was sporting a lower denture when he caught it in the Colorado River. Either some luckless fisherman lost his teeth, or there's an underwater dentist in the depths of the Colorado.

BIG DAM ILLUSION-This may look like the prow of a ship under construction, but it's just an illusion. Turn this page one-quarter turn to the right, and you'll see Chief Joseph Dam, at Bridgeport, Wash., mirrored in water covering the concrete "floor" of the downstream spillway. When completed, the dam will play

When a man turns out to be a bad risk-what can a poor girl do?

When a woman selects a branded product, however, she knows pretty much in advance just what she is getting! If it doesn't live up to her expectations, she can quickly switch to something else-and it's just too bad for the manufacturer whose product disappointed her. That's why the makers who proudly put their names on their products work overtime to make them better, less expensive, and more desirable-all to please you, the American consumer! That's the way our competitive system works. Manufacturers of trademarked products try to outdo each other to win your favor.

This means constantly better things for more peoplethings you can enjoy and trust and believe in-like the products advertised in this newspaper.

For convenience, confidence and satisfaction-trade at the stores where you see these brands featured.
