GOSSIP—THOUGHT POISON

Gossip is subtle thought-poison. The person being poisoned usually doesn't know it.

Gossip can reduce the size of our thinking by encouraging us to concentrate on petty, unimportant things.

Because it is based on a distortion of facts, gossip can twist our thoughts about people. If we have to face the person we have gossiped about, it may even make us feel guilty.

Conversation and gossip are not the same thing. Conversation provides us with a healthy social contact, information, or ideas. It can be encouraging and motivating. Constant gossip chokes a person, and may make them feel thwarted or even ill.

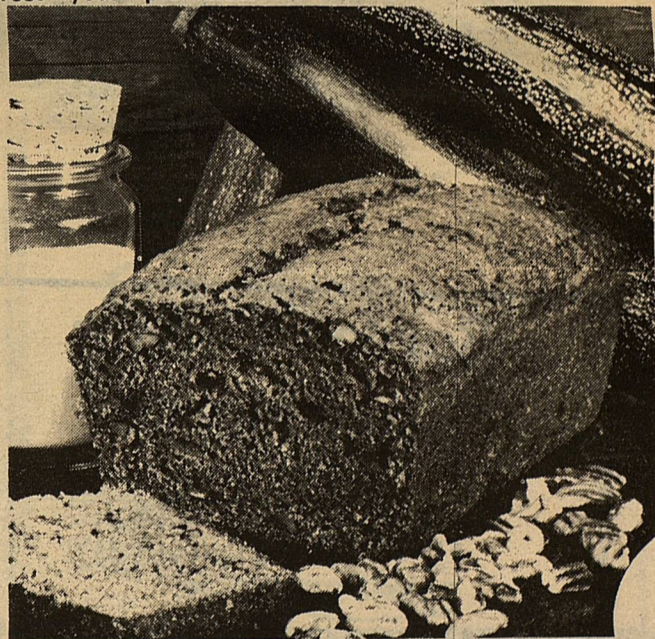

Women have no exclusive franchise on gossip. Men, too, live in a partially-poisoned environment of gossip.

If you talk about people, stay on the positive side. Test your proneness to gossip by answering the following questions:

1. Do you spread rumors about others?
2. Do you always say good things about others?
3. Do you like to hear scandal?
4. Do you judge on the basis of facts only?
5. Do you encourage others to share rumors with you?
6. Do you precede conversation with, "Don't tell anybody, but...?"
7. Do you keep confidential information confidential?
8. Do you feel guilty about what you have said about others?

Conversation, bull sessions, shop talk or "battering the breeze" can all be constructive. Gossip is negative thinking. Destroying someone else's integrity destroys your credibility too. The antidote for thought-poison is positive, truthful conversation.

QUAIL DOBBS TO MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE AT AJRA NATIONAL FINALS

It has been a long dream of the Snyder AJRA Rodeo Committee to include Quail Dobbs in the line up of feature stars for the AJRA National Finals. This year the committee spoke early enough to get the dates together and a long dream has actually come true. To have he and Rick Chatman together will have to be an eventful National Finals. They will also have another outstanding clown working with them, Stan Ham of Andrews, Texas.

Quail has received every honor a clown could receive in his twenty years experience in the business. He has seen a lot of changes take place in the business of professional rodeo. The most obvious of course, is the increase in purses for the competing cowboys...some of which are being made possible through national sponsorships. Another facet of rodeo that has undergone change is the old familiar "rodeo clown".

Actually, there aren't that many rodeoclawns around today. There are a lot of outstanding bullfighters, very few of which actually try or want to be funny. "I've always loved entertaining people", says Quail. "When I started clowning many years ago, I fought bulls, but I always tried to inject comedy into that part of it too. Sometimes, it's pretty hard to think about being funny when you have 1600 to 2000 lbs. of enraged beast zeroing in on you."

In the early part of Quail's career, he purchased a model-T-car from a friend and fellow clown. It has been through changes too. It was first called Gemini, then went through the Apollo phase, and now it's called Columbia II in accordance with the space shuttle program. During every performance, an interesting and unusual launch occurs! Quail also performs fill-in-acts, using a variety of animals and various other props.

The last few years Quail has left the cowboy-saving chores to the aforementioned bullfighters. He works the barrel now and finds a lot of humor and enjoyment involved in being a barrel man.

As stated earlier, Quail has been in this business many years and has garnered his share of accolades. He is one of two men who have ever worked the National Finals Rodeo in both capacities, as a Bullfighter in 1972 and as the barrel man in 1978.

SCHEDULE OF 1983 AJRA NATIONAL FINALS

The finals began each night at 8:00 p.m. There are several Borden County youth participating in the finals. Each night there is a dance in the alex for western and disco dance lovers. Friday night is reserved for members only.

USDA ISSUES EMERGENCY PROVISIONS FOR GRAZING CONSERVATION USE ACREAGE

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has issued special provisions that will allow producers in some drought affected counties to graze their own livestock on their own conservation use acreage (CUA).

Conservation use acreage is cropland that has been removed from production and devoted to approved cover as a requirement for the acreage reduction program, paid diversion, and the payment-in-kind program.

Request for permission to graze should be made to county offices of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Approval for the special grazing provisions will be on a county by county basis.

If approval for special grazing is granted, County ASCS offices will immediately notify all producers. Producers interested in conservation use acreage grazing then must notify county ASCS offices of their intentions.

These provisions are for conservation use acreage only, and do not apply to wildlife acreage. Grazing will be restricted to livestock owned by the producer as of August 1.

A producer may not let another use his conservation use acreage. It must be his livestock on his land. The permitted grazing must not remove cover to the extent that the acreage would lose its protection from weeds and from wind or water erosion.

These provisions take effect immediately and will apply for the remainder of the counties six month non grazing period.

USDA ANNOUNCES 1984 WHEAT PROGRAM

U.S. Department of Agriculture today announced provisions of the 1984 wheat program and set the signup period from Jan. 16 through Feb. 24. Because Congress took no legislative action on a proposed freeze in the wheat target price before its summer adjournment. Provisional measures previously announced of July 29, will now be put into effect.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is required by law to announce the wheat program for the following year no later than Aug. 15. The 1984 wheat program includes:

- A $4.45 per bushel target price.

- a $3.30 per bushel national average loan rate.

- an acreage reduction requirement of 30 percent.

- No advance deficiency payments.

- To be eligible for program benefits, producers must limit 1984 wheat planted acreage to no more than 70 percent of the farm's wheat base and devote to conservation use an acreage of eligible cropland equal to 42.86 percent of the 1984 planted and payment-in-kind (PIK) acreage.

- The 1984 acreage base will be the average of the acreage planted and considered planted to wheat in 1982 and 1983.

- Farmers participating in the acreage reduction program may divert an additional 10 to 20 percent of their wheat base and receive payment-in-kind equal to 75 percent of the established yield times the acres diverted.

- PIK program participants will not receive not receive wheat from Commodity Credit Corporation stocks.

Producers signing up in the PIK program will agree first to use their outstanding reserve or regular CCC price support loans. Producers with no outstanding loans agree to harvest for PIK. Those producers with no outstanding loans and who are unable to harvest for PIK will not receive a PIK payment.

- Land designated for conservation use must have been devoted to row crops or small grains in two of the last three years. The land must be acreage that would have been planted to small grains or row crops in 1984 in the absence of the 1984 wheat program.

- Haying will not be permitted on the conservation use acreage. However, the acreage may be grazed except during the six principal growing months.

- Offsetting and cross compliance will not apply to the 1984 program.

- There will be no immediate entry into the farmer owned reserve for the 1984 crop of wheat. Further, USDA intends to review the size of the reserve before regular price support loans for the 1984 crop reach maturity. A ceiling may be placed on the size of the wheat reserve at that time which will effectively preclude entry of the 1984 crop into the reserve.

- Contracts signed by program participants for either the acreage reduction of PIK program will be considered as binding and will provide for liquidated damages for failure to comply with program requirements.

PIK COTTON

A new Cotton Purchase Program has been announced. Anyone with outstanding 1980, 1981 or 1982 Cotton Loans are eligible to make offers on all Cotton in excess of PIK needs. Also the 1981 Cotton Loans that matured 7-31-83 were withheld and can now be offered. There is no limit on the number of bales you can offer for purchase, but CCC will evaluate the offers

PROGRAM COMPLIANCE

We are scheduled to be flown for Measurement Service and Spot Checks This week. As soon as you receive your Notice on Measurement Service, make all necessary adjustments, if any. Then come in and certify. Spot Checks will be made in the field and by aerial compliance.

Remember: Weeds on Conserving Use Acreage (CUA) need to be controlled to the extent that they will not spread and be erosion controlled to the extent possible. I know it is nearly impossible to do them both as dry as it is in the county, but your designated acreage needs to be kept in an acceptable manner.

FAILED ACREAGE

In order to keep your program planted acres eligible for Deficiency Payments, you must file an application for Disaster Credit before any other use is made of the program crops.

and determine how much they will accept by crop years, 1980, 1981 and 1982. They will accept offers up to a point as needs exist. Each Producer with eligible loans should have received a detailed letter, but if you did not receive a letter and think you may have an eligible loan, please this office. Time is a determining factor. All Producers on Joint Loans must sign the bid offer and return them to this office by August 24th, 1983, so if you have a landlord living out of town, you should act accordingly. Producers who submitted offers under the previous upland cotton Purchase Program may submit a new offer on the previously offered cotton. If a new bid is submitted, the previous offer will automatically be nullified, whether or not the new bid is accepted.

PIK BID START DATE: August 8th, 1983; STOP DATE: August 24th, 1983. The PIK FOR HARVEST requirements have been suspended at this time.

NOW: Get a clean start in '84.

Bindweed and other tough perennial broadleaf weeds keep coming back—getting worse every season. But you can root out bindweed and the rest of these stubborn weeds after harvest or on idle acres with Banvel® herbicide.

When you use Banvel herbicide at recommended rates in a Between Crops Application, you kill perennials clear through the roots—so they can't creep back. Use Banvel herbicide before a killing frost. It penetrates weed leaves. Is absorbed by the roots. Moves through the entire plant—leaf-tip to root-tip. Then rotate back to wheat, corn or milo.

Get the control you need for bindweed ... Texas blueweed ... woolly leaf bursage ... and other tough broadleaf perennials.

Root out your toughest perennial problems with a Banvel herbicide Between Crops Application. Get maximum production from those acres next season. See your ag chem supplier for the full story.
