MARK WALKER AND TERI HAYES

TERI JO HAYES AND MARK SHANE WALKER WED

Miss Teri Jo Hayes and Mark Shane Walker exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon, July 23 at 2 o'clock in Roosevelt's First Baptist Church, with Dr. Paul Miller, pastor, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Terry E. Hayes, Roosevelt, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Dyess of Borden County.

Mrs. Van Kountz of Klondike, presented an organ arrangement of wedding music before the ceremony and also played the traditional wedding march and recessional. Marjorie Seay of Slaton, pianist, accompanied Lori Drachenberg of Smyer, in solos of Theme from "Ice Castles" and "If" and "You and I" with Scott Barton of Levelland.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding gown. It was fashioned of bridal taffeta overlaid with bombazine and Alecon lace. The basque bodice featured a scalloped square neckline enriched with seed pearls and sequines. Long sheer sleeves of lace tapered to petal points over her hands. The wide, cutaway skirt, edged with scallops of lace at the hemline was detailed in back with a three tiered, lace-trimmed tunic which flowed into a chapel length train. Her waist length veil of bridal illusion edged with lace fell from a modified Juliet cap and she wore a string of pearls given to her by her grandmother. For something old she wore a pin worn by her great-grandmother and two other generations of brides at their weddings. She also wore the traditional blue garter and a garter with the UT insignia that her future husband brought from Austin.

To compliment her gown, she chose a cascade of silk candlelight gardenias surrounded with gardenia buds and sweetheart rose buds. Pearl centered gyms in nectar were scattered throughout the bouquet which was accented with gyp, English ivy and a large lace bow flowing into long streamers tied in love knots.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Debby Buckman of Lubbock. Her bridesmaids were Suzanne Walker of Borden County, sister of the groom; Jan Hobgood of Lubbock, cousin of the bride; and Lori Drachenberg of Smyer.

The attendants wore tea length dresses of candle-light lace over nectar taffeta. Each dress featured a blouson bodice with a sheer yoke trimmed with flat satin braid, long sleeves gathered at the wrists and a narrow ruffle accenting the hemline. A ribbon of nectar satin was tied around their waists and fashioned into a bow at their sides. They carried colonial styled nosegays edged with wide Alecon lace, featuring silk gardenias surrounded with nectar feathered carnations, camellia petals and sweetheart rosebuds. Flower girl was Jessica

The first pep rally of the year was held last Friday before the Dawson vs Borden Game.

Cheerleaders Kelli Williams, Kim Wills, Cindy Balaque, Shana Bradshaw, Roxie Wolf and Tammy Miller teamed with twirlers Kristi Stone and Rene Telchik to boost team spirit.

In the pep talk, Coach Frisbie said that the Borden Coyote Football Team had been working out and training since August 8. He said that the school has provided the best in equipment for the team.

Sammy Williams gave the team talk. He said "The Coyotes are on the way back with a winning season. We hope we can all hang in there to get a shot at the play-offs.

We are pretty good as a team right now."

We really played pretty good ball, Kirby Williams, Chris Cooley, Sammy Williams, Robin Hood, Glen Bacon all played extremely well", said Coach Frisbie.

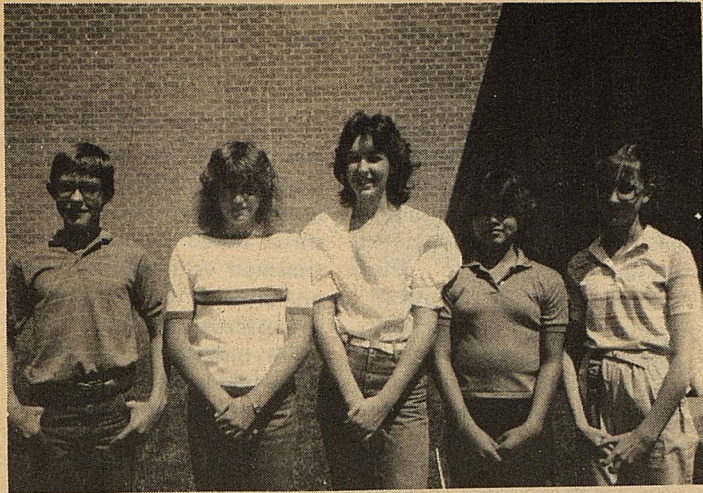

The only serious injury was to Charles LaRue (left knee) and he will probably be out about two or three weeks.

The Coyotes travel to Midcats on September 9th

RANCHING HERITAGE CENTER PREPARES FOR 1983 GOLDEN SPUR

Something for everyone is the goal of Livestock Day, Sept. 16, at The Ranching Heritage Center of The Museum of Texas Tech University. All events, except the luncheon, are free and open to the public.

The day starts the National Golden Spur Weekend honoring South Texas rancher John B. Armstrong. The National Golden Spur Award is presented annually to an individual who has made significant contributions to the ranching and livestock industry.

The morning session, beginning at 9:30 a. m., will feature ranch management consultant Dr. Stanley D. Parsons with a slide-lecture on a ranch management system he developed with Allan Savory.

The Savory Grazing Method promotes livestock concentration on smaller pastures and frequent livestock rotation to make the best use of rangeland while improving environment for wildlife.

The system's profit comes in greater carrying capacity for land and fewer livestock losses.

Parsons said, "The technique has been highly refined as a sophisticated technology which enables the rancher to reverse range deterioration, dramatically increase stock numbers and improve individual animal performance."

Other morning activities include a beef jerky demonstration by Linda Pittman, home economist. The continuous demonstration from 9-11 a.m. will show jerky making procedures using an oven or food dehydrator.

"Beef jerky was sun-dried, generally on a windmill so that the flies couldn't reach it. The long lean strips of round or flank provided excellent nutrition on trail rides," Clara McPherson said.

Amateurs can test their skills with professionals in a livestock judging competition from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Classes will include Angus cow-calf pairs, Angus heifers, Rambouillet and Suffolk sheep and two classes of quarter horses. The audience will compare their scores with those of professional livestock judges, says Dr. Robert A. Long, professor of animal science. Results will be announced after lunch.

Tickets for the $8 luncheon, catered by the animal Science Department's Saddle and Sirloin Club, are available through the College of Agriculture.

Student clothing designs, created in natural fibers, will be shown following the luncheon.

The luncheon and style show will be in a tent set up on the grounds. Portable livestock pens for animals to be judged will be set up south of the parking lot.

Livestock Day is presented by the Texas Tech Colleges of Agricultural Sciences and Home Economics. It is sponsored by the American National Cowbells, American Quarter Horse, National Cattlemen's, National Wool Growers, Ranching Heritage, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers, Texas Cattle Feeders and the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers associations.

Ranch Day will be Saturday Sept. 17 and will be featured in the Sept. 14 issue of The Borden Star.

Smith of Denver, Colo., cousin of the bride. She wore a dress of candle-light lace over nectar taffeta styled similar to the bridesmaid's. A wreath of nectar and ivory silk sweetheart rosebuds was in her hair and she carried a white basket with nectar and ivory rose petals.

The groom wore a charcoal grey classic cut-away jacket with pin striped pants, a white tucked shirt with a light grey vest and a striped grey ascot. His boutonniere was a rosebud inside a nectar carnation.

Steve Slade of Houston, served as best man. Groomsmen were Loy Fralin of Morton, Mike Trostel of Dallas and Mark Wege of Yukon, Oklahoma. Ushers were Bill Spiller of Brady and Byron Bullock of Austin.

The ushers also served as candlelighters. They wore identical classic grey tuxedos with striped ascots over white tucked shirts. The ringbearer was Todd McCormick of Roanoke, who was also dressed like the groomsmen. He carried a heart shaped white satin pillow trimmed with white lace.

RECEPTION

A reception followed the wedding and was held in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table, which was covered with a pink cloth overlaid by a hand crocheted lace cover made by the groom's grandmother, featured a three tiered wedding cake trimmed with nectar roses and small flowers with mint green leaves. Wedding bells were placed on top along with two white doves. The icy peach fruit punch was served in a beautiful crystal bowl. The nectar mints with a "W" on top were made by the bride's mother. The centerpiece was the bride's bouquet.

The groom's table was decorated with an ecru lace cloth over a coffee satin cover. It featured a square chocolate cake with the University of Texas initials on the top. Finger sandwiches were also served. White mints with the groom's fraternity Chi Phi symbols were made by the groom's mother. Coffee was served in a gold coffee service and the table centerpiece was an arrangement of navy and mauve tiger lillies in an oblong brass container. In the arrangement was a heart shaped plaque with the bride and groom's pictures from past years made by the groom's mother.

After a wedding trip to Hilton Head Island, South Carolina, the couple will reside in Austin.

The rehearsal dinner hosted by the groom's parents was held at Tara Restaurant in Lubbock.

KRUEGER CONFIDENT

In the wake of John Tower's surprise announcement not to seek re-election, Bob Krueger, the leading contender for the U S Senate post, indicated he believes Tower's decision will guarantee that the Democrats will recapture the U S Senate in 1984, according to a recent news release.

Concerning Tower's decision, Krueger said: "John Tower has always been a formidable opponent, and I know him to be a tough campaigner. His absence will give Texas Republicans little continuity, and will negatively affect their strength in Texas.

"It is the Democrats who have always offered the greatest sensitivity to the small business owners, farmers and ranchers, who are the mainstay of the Texas voting public. It is this same group that has suffered immeasurably from the Republican policies of the federal level," Krueger said.

Krueger narrowly missed defeating John Tower in 1978 when he came within three-tenths of a percentage point of representing Texas in the U S Senate. News reports throughout the country indicated Tower's decision not to seek re-election may have been triggered by the strength of Krueger and his statewide grassroots organization.

Even before Tower's announcement, Krueger's grassroots campaign had active organizations in more than 120 counties.

"Tower's decision can only strengthen and enhance our efforts, both organizationally and financially," L D Brinkman, Krueger's finance chairman, said.

DOGGETT FEELS CAMPAIGN GIVEN A BOOST

AUSTIN—"Another boost to my already growing campaign," is the way Senator Lloyd Doggett (D—Austin) described John Tower's announcement that he would not be seeking re-election.

"Texas is ready for a new, energetic voice in Wahington to fight for our state as I have fought for its people in the Texas Senate," Doggett told reporters at a news conference in the Senate Chambers to discuss the effect of Tower's withdrawal on his candidacy.

With Tower out of the race, Doggett is the candidate with the most money and the greatest amount of experience as an elected official. "Senator Tower's decision can only advance my campaign," Doggett noted. He brought the advantages of seniority and incumbency to this election. I understand the value of seniority, and what it means to be a senator from my own ten years of service in the Texas Senate."

Doggett told reporters that he felt Tower's decision would have a positive effect on the state's two-party system. "Tower's action," Doggett noted, "should increase the opportunity for Texans of both political parties to participate in contested primaries to select the nominees for their particular party."

The Doggett campaign organization, which was recently described by a San Antonio daily newspaper as "several laps ahead of other Democratic contenders", is expected to be aided by a contested Republican primary. "As a Democratic loyalist," Doggett said, "I never expected to benefit from the crossover of Republican voters in the Democratic primary. Now these folks have reason to vote in their own primary."

Doggett says he plans to continue campaigning full-time through the May primary and up until Election Day in November. "I am pleased," he said, "with the success our campaign has generated in fundraising, in grassroots organizing, and among the constituencies that will constitute a majority in the Democratic primary and afterwards in the general election. As I travel across the state, I find that I am rallying people who have never before been involved in the political process: people who want fresh ideas and innovative approaches, and who are eager to join me in a vigorous and viable campaign."

Elected to the Texas Senate in 1973 in his first bid for public office, Senator Doggett now ranks eighth in seniority in that body. Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs, Doggett is known for his stands on behalf of consumers, education, senior citizens, equal rights, and family farms.

Doggett has twice been selected by Texas Monthly magazine as one of the "Ten Best Legislators". An Austin native, he resides there with his wife Libby, a specialist in education, and their two daughters Lisa and Cathy.

STATE IMPROVEMENT PLANS CAPITOL COMMENDED

Two resolutions commending state government leaders for their role in formulating rehabilitation plans for the east wing of the State Capitol building in Austin were passed by the Texas Historical Commission (THC) at its quarterly business meeting in Austin last month.

The 1888 Capitol, constructed of pink granite, is a landmark of great historical and architectural significance. When the second floor of the building's east wing was seriously damaged by fire on Feb. 6, 1983, state lawmakers allocated $7 million to repair the damaged structure and voted to create a State Preservation Board to monitor the building's preservation, maintenance, and restoration. As repair work begins in September, the Board will assume responsibility for the Capitol, and a master plan will be prepared directing the landmark's complete restoration.

The first THC resolution commends Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Hobby; their staff and architects; Sen. Roy Blake (D-Nacogdoches), chairman of the Senate Administration Committee; and Berry King, Secretary of the Senate, for their diligence and sensitivity in renovating the (fire damaged) area in a way which will be compatible with the long-range restoration of the entire Capitol.

The second resolution expresses appreciation to state government leaders for passing the Capitol Preservation Act, which, in addition to creating the Preservation Board, allows for the employment of an architect and curator to prepare a master plan for restoring the Capitol to its original grandeur. The resolution calls this act "a significant advance in historical preservation."

Texas Historical Commission architects Stan Graves and Robert Mabry have worked closely with state legislators to formulate the Capitol restoration plans. The executive director of the THC and the chairman of the Texas Antiquities Committee, an entity housed in the THC, will serve on the Preservation Board's Advisory Committee.

Officers of the THC are chairman George Christian, Austin; Vice-chairman Mrs. H. L. Long, Kilgore; and Secretary Duncan Boeckman, Dallas.

LUBBOCK, Friday, September 2, 1983

Provisions of the 1984 cotton program, according to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, should be aimed at two major objectives—a year-end balance of supply and demand plus reasonable protection for producer income.

To reach these goals the PCG Executive Committee August 31 developed eight specific program recommendations. The U.S. Department of Agriculture asked for comments on the 1984 cotton program in the August 5 Federal Register, giving interested parties until October 4 to respond. An announcement of final decisions is expected no later than November 1.

PCG's comments will call for USDA to take the following actions.

1. Set the loan rate for 1984 at the maximum level permitted by law. (It now appears that loan-setting formulas in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1981 will mandate a loan at the statutory minimum of 55 cents per pound).

2. Abandon its proposal to freeze the target price for 1984 and 1985 at the 76-cent level in effect for 1983, allowing a target price increase to 81 cents in 1984 as scheduled in current law.

3. Make advance target price deficiency payments available to producers in 1984, as was done in 1983, to aid with production financing and encourage program participation.

4. Announce a 30-percent acreage reduction program, in which producers will be paid for one-half the reduction at a rate sufficient to secure a high level of participation.

5. Hold open the option to announce a payment-in-kind program for 1984 similar to the 1983 program, recognizing that a substantial reduction in planted acreage, if needed, can only be assured with an attractive PIK program that overrides the payment limitation that exists under the current law.

6. Continue the upland seed cotton loan program to facilitate the use of cotton modules.

7. Make no change in 1983 regulations as they pertain to offsetting compliance.

8. Maximize the use of credit guarantees, blended credit programs, the export credit revolving fund and all other means available to encourage U. S. exports of raw cotton.

A filing with the Public Utility Commission of Texas has been made by Texas Electric Service Company for a fixed interim fuel factor pursuant to the formula set forth in P.U.C. Sub. R. 052.02.03.033. This rule provides that no automatic fuel adjustment clauses will be allowed in the tariffs of investor owned utilities. ### IS HONEY HEALTH FOOD?

Health food advocates often claim that honey is a special food. But is honey really more nutritious than sugar?

Table sugar, called sucrose, breaks down during digestion into two simple sugars, glucose and fructose. Honey also makes these sugars during digestion, although honey contains more fructose than glucose.

Fructose is about twice as sweet as glucose. Some people report using less honey than table sugar to sweeten beverages because of its sweeter taste. The difference in amounts used is normally so small, however, that there's probably no real savings in calories.

As far as the body is concerned there seems to be very little difference between the final fate of the two sweeteners. Both are used in the body either for immediate energy or for storage in the form of fat.

Honey seems to have no advantage nutritionally over table sugar. There are very small amounts of some trace minerals and vitamins in honey that table sugar does not have, but the amounts are insignificant. For example, 1 cup of honey supplies about the same amount of iron as 2 slices of whole wheat bread.

Research has shown that honey does not have any special health-giving properties.

Letter to the Editor

In October 1939, two men from Chickasaw County, Miss. went to Gail, Texas to visit their cousin, J.R. Roper. One of the men named King, and other Evans, both of whose Mothers were named Roper. While on this trip, Mr. Charles Evans had a heart attack and died in a hospital at Snyder, Texas on 16 of October 1939. J. R. Roper of Gail, Texas signed his death certificate. I recently tried to locate any of the Roper descendants still living in Gail, but was told by phone operators that none of the Ropers by the name was listed there. If anyone of the residents know anything of this family, where they may now be living, I'll greatly appreciate being notified. The purpose of this is the fact that a book of the family is in preparation.

Thanking you, I am
Sincerely,

The Banvel® herbicide advantage...Roots out bindweed on Set-Aside/PIK or harvested acres.

NOW: Get a clean start in '84.

Bindweed and other tough perennial broadleaf weeds keep coming back—getting worse every season. But you can root out bindweed and the rest of these stubborn weeds after harvest or on idle acres with Banvel® herbicide.

When you use Banvel herbicide at recommended rates in a Between Crops Application, you kill perennials clear through the roots—so they can't creep back. Use Banvel herbicide before a killing frost. It penetrates weed leaves. Is absorbed by the roots. Moves through the entire plant—leaf-tip to root-tip. Then rotate back to wheat, corn or milo.

Get the control you need for bindweed...Texas blueweed...wooly leaf bursage...and other tough broadleaf perennials.

Root out your toughest perennial problems with a Banvel herbicide Between Crops Application. Get maximum production from those acres next season. See your ag chem supplier for the full story.
