YOUTH RETREAT 1990

A youth retreat sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Gail left on an early Monday morning, April 19th traveling to Aspendale Baptist Camp near Cloudcroft, New Mexico.

The group of young people and adult sponsors were surprised to find the weather to be very mild and much of the snow melted. So the coats that were packed for cold weather were not needed most of the time.

The first evening was spend unloading and arranging sleeping gear, and the all important boxes and sacks of groceries. Everyone was then able to enjoy the solitude of the snow-capped mountains while listening to the night sounds of a crackling campfire, sizzling hot dogs and the coyotes' yelps. The purpose of the retreat was a time for fun and fellowship and an escape from the stress of everyday life and decision making.

A time of bible study and discussion held each morning and afternoon was taught by James Hooper, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Wickett, Texas. The topic of study was "Learning To Like Yourself".

After a period of study and serious thought, the group proceeded to another challenge. The challenge of flying down an icy mountain on a rubber tube or large plastic surf dish. It was a very thrilling experience until the rider came to an abrupt stop in the mud and grass at the bottom of the mountain.

With the sun playing havoc with the snow, the group decided to take a short trip to see the White Sands National Park. They also visited the Space Museum in Almagordo. The weather was made-to-order for an afternoon and evening playing on the sand dunes. Insulated coats and snow boots were quickly discarded for T-shirts, shorts and barefeet.

Although Mendy Hensley, Mandy Herring, Cody Cox, Seth Vestal, Kristi, Brandon and Hailey Adcock, Kerry Fryar and their adult sponsors Bro. Richard and Karen Leverty, Randy and Verna Adcock, Bob and Cookie Dyess, Bro. James and Judy Hooper had a super time getting to know each other and just generally having a good time, they were ready at the end of the week to leave the mountains and to return home.

Make plans now to be in on the fun being planned for "Youth Retreat '91" next spring break.

Dietary Calcium To Prevent Osteoporosis

Osteoporosis, or brittle bone disease, is a disorder in which bone strength is decreased due to a decline in the calcium content. Results from studies suggest that dietary calcium supplementation may decrease the rate of bone loss. It has been recommended that women consume 800 to 1,000 milligrams (mg) of calcium per day before menopause and 1,300 to 1,400 mg of calcium per day after menopause.

It is best to obtain calcium from the foods you eat. Here are some tips to help you select the best foods for your diet.

°Include milk in your diet regularly. Drinking 2½ cups of milk will meet 90 percent of your daily calcium needs.

°Use nonfat dry milk to enrich soups, stews, meatloaf, sandwich fillings and beverages.

°Read the label. Select dairy products fortified with "nonfat milk solids" to get additional calcium, protein and other nutrients.

°Use canned salmon in your favorite sandwich, salad and casserole recipes.

°Eat more kale, turnip greens, mustard greens, broccoli and collard greens because they contain calcium that is readily absorbed.

Physical activity as well as increased calcium intake is required to develop and maintain optimal bone density. If you are not getting enough calcium in your diet, start increasing your calcium intake and your activity level now.

Keep Salmonella Out Of The Egg Basket

A few simple guidelines can help keep salmonella, a food-poisoning bacteria that is linked to eggs, from spoiling this year's Easter activities.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture:

*Use only clean, uncracked, fresh, properly refrigerated graded eggs.

*Avoid raw and undercooked eggs.

*Discard eggs that are cracked.

*Serve hot egg dishes promptly.

New Minimum Wage Law Now In Effect

Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers of the Texas Employment Commission reminded employers today that the US Department of Labor has released interim final rules governing the subminimum training wage provisions of the new minimum wage law. The new law, which went into effect on April 1, 1990, raises the minimum wage to $3.80 but also provides for a lower training wage of $3.35 per hour. The training wage will apply only for certain employees under age 20 and can be applied only for 90 days of employment. It will expire March 31, 1993.

The new law covers all companies which have an annual business volume of $500,000 or more, while public agencies, schools, hospitals, and some other businesses will be covered regardless of their annual dollar volume.

The training wage will not apply to migrant or seasonal agricultural workers or to non-immigrant agricultural workers who perform temporary or seasonal work. Also, an employer can pay a worker the subminimum wage only until that employee reaches the age of 20, after which he or she must be paid at a rate not less than the minimum wage otherwise applicable under the FLSA.

Employees who have been paid the training wage for 90 days can be paid the wage an additional 90 days if the work for a different employer, and if that employer provides on-the-job training. The total period that an employee may be employed at the training wage by any combination of employers may not exceed 180 days.

In order to meet the training requirements of the rule, an employer must provide "job-specific skills training and personal skills instruction," according to the regulation. Also, the DOL interprets the training wage as meant principally for new hires. Therefore, any employee who has worked for an employer for more than 90 days is ineligible for the training wage.

SAVING FOR COLLEGE

The Borden County Extension Home Economics Committee is sponsoring a "Saving for College" seminar on Thursday, April 19, from 7:30 - 9:00 p.m. in the Borden County Schools conference room. Kathy Blaggrave with the Kathryn Blaggrave & Associates Insurance & Investments company will present a program on projecting future costs for colleges & universities and making an investment plan to meet those costs. It is important to begin planning for college while your family is still young in order to avoid placing a financial strain on your budget when your children reach college age. If you have young children and would like to begin planning for their college career, please plan to attend this informative program. Hope to see you there.

Texas A&M specialist says quality going up means cost coming down

COLLEGE STATION — America's competitive edge in the world market requires a cultural shift away from sometimes shoddy workmanship to increased perfection, says an industrial distribution specialist at Texas A&M University.

Contrary to traditional views, the improvements will actually lower costs and ultimately help keep prices down for consumers, says Dr. Don Rice.

"What happens is that when the quality goes up, the cost goes down and the company can use this to capture the market," he says.

Rice and other researchers in the Texas Engineering Experiment Station (TEES) at Texas A&M created a program initiating a North American "quality revolution" in industrial distribution. But the cultural shift must not be limited to industrial distribution, he says, it should be widespread in all facets of business.

Improved quality products and service will help firms live longer, healthier lives and create long-term employment opportunities for Americans.

UV Rays Have Hunters All Aglow

Every hunter has seen it happen at one time or another. They can sit still in treestand, the wind in their favor, and a nice buck will still spot them.

Any sportsman worthy of the name may gripe about it momentarily, resume hunting and never think about it again--until it happens another time. Then they begin wondering what causes deer to spook from their hidden, downwind position.

The reason is simple. The deer has seen them well, maybe not seen and recognized them as a human, but the buck or doe probably has seen their glowing camouflage clothing.

That's right. Deer can see camouflage clothing, and they can see blaze or hunter orange clothes.

Kurt von Besser, president of Atsko-Sno Seal, in cooperation with leading animal visual scientists, has determined that animals like deer, elk and many others see more in the short wave, ultraviolet (UV) light end of the spectrum than humans. In fact, what game animals see is a brightness in camo clothing that may or may not have been present when the outerwear was first produced.

"Scientific studies indicate that hunters who wash their hunting clothes to rid them of foreign odors and dirt of grime may be doing more harm than good," he said. "Why? Most detergents on today's market contain artificial UV brighteners to make clothing look brighter to the human eye.

"These brighteners are vivid when viewed under an ultraviolet light, and if humans can see the difference in brightness, think what a deer can see."

Von Besser said that detergents and many of the dyes used to color cloth contain UV brighteners. Some camo patterns have UV brighteners added to the fabric dyes, and when clothes are washed, detergents add even more UV reflective residue to the fabric. The increased brightness makes it easier for deer to see your clothes just as it's easier to see someone in a white shirt at a disco under a blue light.

The low-light periods of dawn and dusk are when most people hunt and most game is afield, and these are the peak times when ultraviolet levels are highest in the natural light. UV brighteners added to laundry detergent intensify and transmit UV radiation into the visible spectrum it makes clothes look brighter and whiter to our eyes.

"The result is that deer may not see you but they will see an intensified brightness in camouflage or other outer clothing," von Besser said.

Blaze orange clothing, he said, has been chosen by governments as the international safety color because it is the one color that humans can see best against any background. It falls near the peak of human sensitivity to color, and it is the only color to which human eyes are more sensitive than a deer.

RABIES VACCINATION CLINIC

The Borden County Extension Program Council and the 4-H & Youth Committee are sponsoring a Rabies Vaccination Clinic on Tuesday, April 24. Dr. Charles Church, D.V.M. of the West Texas Animal Clinic in Snyder will be administering the vaccines at a nominal fee. The clinic will begin at the Borden County Showbarn in Gail from 4:00 - 5:00 p.m. We will then travel to the Plains Community Center in Northwest Borden County where vaccinations will be administered from 5:30 - 6:30 p.m.

This should be an excellent opportunity to have your pets vaccinated without making an extra trip to town and your pets will enjoy a safer and healthier life with preventative vaccinations. Your assistance in bringing your pets on this day will help to make our clinic successful.

We hope to see you there!

Friday the 13th Fosters Fear

Forget walking under ladders or crossing the path of a black cat. That double whammy of bad luck, Friday the 13th, is right around the corner. Even people who think themselves entirely unsuperstitious may show slight symptoms of unease when the 13th falls on a Friday, as it will in April 1990. Fear of Friday the 13th evolves from "triskaidekaphobia," fear of the number 13, and the long-held notion that Fridays are unlucky.

The uneasiness about 13 may be related to the fact that 13 sat down to the Last Supper, that the Romans associated 13 with death and misfortune or that 13 is one more than 12, a number of completeness. The additional number, 13, has the connotation of dangerously exceeding proper limits, of going beyond a natural cycle, or starting on a new and uncertain course.

Every year has at least one Friday the 13th, but never more than three. Two Fridays in 1990 fall on the 13th day, the one in April and another in July. lil

"Deer will see any clothing washed in detergent brighteners as a bright glowing bluish white," von Besser, said. "What they see as a glowing blue is similar to what we see as the highly visible blaze orange clothing worn by a firearm-toting hunter. It's bright and dazzling, and nothing resembles these colors in the woods.

He said blaze orange appears as a shade of gray to deer in periods of low-light intensity if there are no UV brighteners placed on top of blaze orange pigments during the laundry wash cycle. On sunny days, or when light intensity is high, blaze orange will appear as a shade of yellow unless UV brighteners have been added during the washing process.

Things change when blaze orange is washed in detergents containing UV brighteners. The hunter's clothing will appear to be a bright glowing bluish white to a whitetail.

Now, U-V-Killer, a product that has been tested and perfected by Atsko-Sno Seal is available to treat clothing to stop all UV reflection from clothing. Hunters, naturalists, photographers and outdoor writers have recently learned that one application of U-V-Killer will stop all ultraviolet light reflection and glow on all clothing-blaze orange or camouflage.

It stops clothes from glowing in daylight, at dawn and dusk, in deep shade or at night. Sportsmen now blend into the animal's daylight and twilight worlds because the product effectively blocks the sun's ultraviolet rays from reacting to UV brighteners in the dye or those placed on the clothing during the wash.

This revolutionary new breakthrough in blocking ultraviolet ray reflection and what an animal can see will certainly be the hottest topic of the 1990s. For more information contact Atsko-Sno Seal, Inc., 2530 Russell SE, Orangeburg, SC 29115.

Granny Smith Apples Are Tops

Every home cook should have a few Granny Smith apples on hand. These shiny green apples top the list for both out-of-hand eating and baking because of their extra crisp texture and tart flavor. And Granny Smiths are available in peak form all year around.

When cooking with Granny Smith or other apples, remember the following helpful tips:

- About three medium apples make one pound.
- When diced, one pound of apples will yield about three cups.
- It takes about two pounds of apples to make one 9-inch pie.
- To prevent cut surface of the apple from browning, dip in citrus juice (lemon or orange).

Try the following terrific recipe with Granny Smith apples:

Fresh Apple Nut Cake

- 2 eggs
- 1 3/4 cups sugar
- 1 cup vegetable oil
- 2 1/2 cups sifted Martha White Self-Rising Flour
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- 3 cups chopped peeled apples

- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Cream Cheese Icing (see below)

Preheat oven to 300°F. Grease 13x9x2-inch baking pan; set aside. Combine eggs, sugar and oil in bowl; blend well. Gradually add flour, blend well. Stir in walnuts, apples, cinnamon and vanilla; blend well. Pour into prepared pan. Bake one hour and 10 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan. Frost with Cream Cheese Icing. Makes 12 to 15 servings.

Cream Cheese Icing

- 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, at room temperature
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 4 1/2 cups (16 ounces) confectioners' sugar, sifted
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Combine all ingredients in mixing bowl. Beat with electric mixer until smooth and creamy.
