Youngsters to exhibit in Houston Show

Eleven 4-H and 12 FFA members from Yoakum County will join other 4-H and FFA members from throughout Texas for show-ring competition at the Houston Livestock Show Feb. 20 through March 7 at the Astrohall.

Supervised by Terry J. Millican, Yoakum County 4-H member Marshall Bales of Denver City will exhibit a beef heifer and participate in the beef scramble competition. Chase Clanahan of Plains will exhibit a market barrow. Marcy House of Plains has three exhibitions in the show - a market steer, market lamb and a market barrow. Yancey House's contributions to the show include a market steer and a market lamb. Market barrows owned by Amanda Koncaba, Nancy Koncaba, both of Tokio and Tony Lazos, Jr. of Plains will be featured in the show. Four market steers, each exhibited by Plains members Ashlei Mason, Kelton Mason, Kendall May and Kelly

Little Dribblers make some changes

Plains Little Dribblers Association held a public meeting Jan. 21 at 7:30 in the Yoakum County Clubroom for the purpose of electing officers and setting policy guidelines for the 1993 year.

Past president Chris Winn conducted the meeting. A treasurer's report showed that the association has approximately $2,600.

Officers for the 1993 year are Manuel Estrada, president; Cindy Koncaba, girls' vice president; Ace Hamm, boy's vice president; Kay Guetersloh, secretary; Sharon Willis, treasurer; and Donna Diamond, concession stand.

Motion was made and passed by a vote of 24-7 to charter with the Little Dribblers Association.

Motion to have "All Star" teams from Plains attend the National Tournament in Brownsboro April 28-May 1, failed by 21-12 vote.

Motion passed for President Estrada to pursue outside concession stand services for the local games with the Association receiving a percentage.

Motion passed by a 23-0 count not to have a concession stand nor to collect an admission charge at season games.

Danny Bell requested public input concerning him picking his own team of players and taking them at his own expense to the National Tournament under Plains' Little Dribblers charter.

Motion passed by a vote of 16-15 to allow Bell to do so, provided parents give their approval and they went under another charter. Bell said that due to the closeness of the vote, that he would not take a team of players to the national tournament.

McGinty, are also listed as contestants.

An estimated 20 animals from the Denver City FFA, supervised by Geoff Cooper, are expected to be in the show.

Denver City FFA member Christi Bethany will exhibit a market steer and a market barrow. Lance Blount and Lea Carmichael both have market lambs and barrows in the show. Connie Escobar and Cathy Snider each have only one exhibition - a market lamb.

Eric Harrel's contribution to the Houston show is a market steer and a market barrow. Mandi Kleam and Misty Kleam will both exhibit their market lambs and market barrows. John McPherson is planning to showcase his market barrow. Michael Prichard's market lamb and barrow will also be featured in the show. Chris Valverde will exhibit a market lamb, and Cody Williams has a market lamb and market barrow.

These FFA and 4-H exhibitors compete in one of two divisions of the Houston Livestock Show - the junior show division. The other division, the open show, attracts its exhibitors from the world's agricultural industry, who are primarily professional breeders and ranchers.

Representing 862 Texas 4-H clubs and FFA Chapters, the junior show is expected to exceed 11,000 entries this year.

PLAINS STATE BANK

Sandy Land receives state recognition

The Texas Water Development Board would like to recognize the Sandy Land Underground Water Conservation District for conserving the water resources of Texas. As the state agency mandated by the Legislature to help water managers incorporate water conservation into their water management policies and practices, the Board expresses appreciation for such efforts in this regard.

Although the Sandy Land Underground Water Conservation District was just created in 1989, the District has already instituted a very active agricultural water conservation program. Using $47,000 in grant funds from the Board's Agricultural Water Conservation Grants to Districts Programs, the District has purchased electronic flow meters to measure irrigations wells and evaluate irrigation systems, water quality testing equipment and LEPA sprinkler system for demonstrations to show its water use and yield versus that of conventional sprinkler irrigation systems. District reports since 1990 indicate that the flow meters have been used 200 to 250 times each year and 300 to 400 water quality analysis have been conducted each year as well. The District has also participated in the Board's technical assistance program which provides irrigation system evaluations for farmers in the District.

The District has closed one Agricultural Water Conservation Loan from the Board for $490,000, and currently has an active loan commitment for an additional $600,000.

The Board particularly applauded the District's willingness to apply for and administer these loan funds so that area farmers have this funding source for the purchase and installation of more efficient irrigation systems.

The staff associated with these successful efforts are to be commended, says a board member. "The Board is grateful for your District's attention to the preservation and wise use of the state's water resources."

Bird feeding, topic of garden meeting

Bea Pippin presented a program, "Birds of the Back Yard" for members of Plains Dirt Gardeners Club Monday.

Citing ways to attract birds, Mrs. Pippin explained that water must be kept available for birds at all times. Shelter and safe nesting places should also be provided and may be as simple as using an empty milk carton with an opening cut to allow the bird to enter and build a nest. The top should be kept closed and the carton hung high enough to prevent cats from getting to the nest.

Showing pictures of various birds, she explained how certain types may be identified.

Christine Edwards, hostess, served cookies, Cokes and spiced tea from a table decorated with a Valentine theme.

RESERVE CHAMPION STEER - Christi Bethany of Denver City, alongside Gary Six.

RESERVE CHAMPION LAMB exhibited by Yancey House and congratulated by Gary Six.

RESERVE CHAMPION SWINE trophy presented to Ashlei Mason by Gary Six.

SWCD announces contest winners

Ryan Sanders of Denver City and Krystal Blundell and Bryan Covarrubias, both of Plains, are winners in the Yoakum Soil and Water Conservation District's annual poster contest. Sixty-eight works of art were judged by Erma Wagnon, Hoss and LaVern Newsom and Christy Brink.

Cooperating teachers were Joyce Pierce of Plains Junior High and Denver City teachers Philis Esquivel, Judy Riker, Sherri Curry, Dolores Moore, Mitzi Welch, Linda Stewart and Cynthia Trout.

Fifty dollar savings bonds were earned by Roseo Canales, Lenny Morrow and Jennifer Day in the annual essay contest. Judges were Jim Risley of Denver City and Joe Pierce and Ann Graham of Plains.

There were 52 essays on "Soil and water resources are vital for providing us with the necessities of food and shelter." Melissa Rogers of Plains was cooperating teacher.

Sherri Curry of Denver City and Helma Cheatham of Plains are participating in the "plant a tree" offer sponsored by Yoakum SWCD.

David Turnbough, local SWCD director and Sandy Land Underground Water Conservation District president will be Resident Conservation Farmer entrant. He has served 24 years and plants cotton in strip tilled wheat to control wind and water erosion.

Mario Avila, district conservationist, has spoken to several classes in the county about conservation and career opportunities in conservation.

Mrs. Pierce's fifth and sixth grade science classes; all third graders in Denver City Elementary; and Ms. Roger's English classes have learned how to become stewards of land and water.

Working on the educational awards program were SWCD directors Neal Newsom, Linda Powell, L.J. Sanders, Chris Winn and secretary Beverly Lowrey.

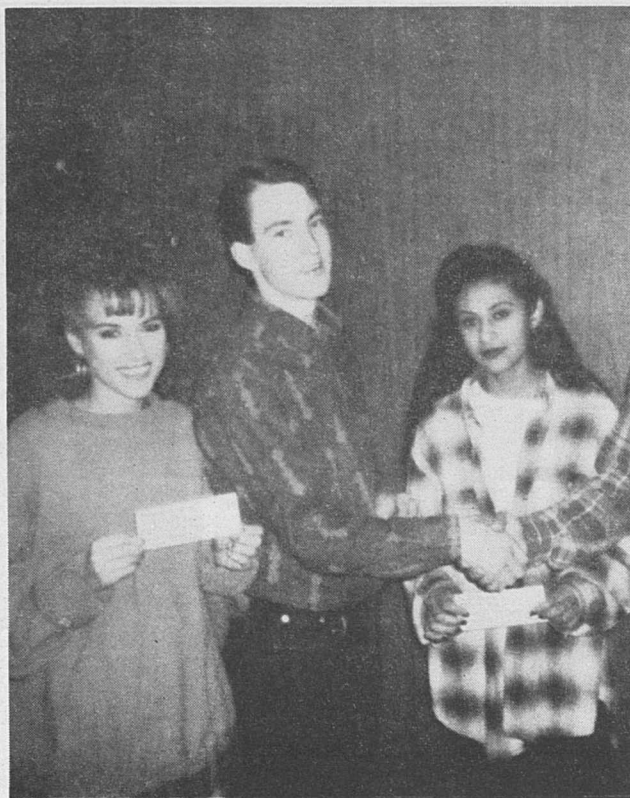

"We would like to thank Denver City and Plains administrators and faculty, as well as the students for their efforts in learning about conservation citizenship," says Mrs. Powell. "Our students are learning to care about and become responsible for our environment. This is important not only for the present, but the future of Yoakum County and the world."

SWCD still selling trees until Feb. 25

The Yoakum Soil and Water Conservation District is again selling windbreak trees.

The last day to order is Feb. 25, 1993 and delivery will take place at the Soil Conservation Service office in Plains on March 4.

Those interested may contact Beverly Lowrey at the Soil Conservation Service office in Plains at 456-3703, for further details.

WILLIAM MATTA

Matta places 2nd in Plastics Repair

William Matta of Plains was one of five students in the South Plains College automotive collision repair program that brought home awards from a recent regional Vocational Industrial Clubs of America meet held in Amarillo.

Matta placed second in plastic repair.

Local gin manager participates in Cotton Leadership Program

Ron Craft, manager of New-Tex Gin, is one of 100 persons chosen to participate in a ten-year-old program, the Cotton Leadership Program. He is a member of the 1991-92 Cotton Leadership Class.

Through the program, Craft gained insight and skills needed to help solve industry problems. The program is sponsored by Cotton Foundation through a grant from DuPont Agricultural Products. A decade of DuPont commitment to strengthening the U.S. cotton industry has given 100 men and women the opportunity to understand more about each of the industry segments and to expand their roles as effective representatives of American cotton.

During week-long sessions, the program brings representatives of producer, ginner, warehouse, merchant, crusher, cooperative and manufacturing segments together to encourage better communication and problem-solving.

Classes visit farms, government offices in Washington, D.C., aerial applications services, textile mills and other industry sites to broaden understanding of cotton from field to the consumer. Other trips include the New York Cotton Exchange and offices of Cotton Incorporated as well as research and promotion areas of the industry.

DuPont Agricultural Products has invested more than one million dollars in the program to date.
